Is There A Police Commissioner? Harrington Council Erupts At End

All business of the Harrington City Council meeting ended Monday night when Councilman William Shaw moved to name Jack Wyatt police commissioner. Following a second by Councilman Earl McColley, Mayor William Minner remarked he did not feel the City needed such a commissioner and called in Police Chief Layton who related an incident earlier in the year. "It was my feeling at the time the councilman was interfering 'involving an arrest of a person, a councilman and the arresting officer. Wyatt said he knew who the chief was referring to (himself).

A flurry of remarks followed, and during Minner insisted "I'm not going to appoint a police commissioner." With the question being called for by Dr. Vincent Lobo, Minner's gavel hit the table. He moved to adjourn the meeting and left the council room.

The meeting continued and Vice Mayor Shaw called for the vote. The remaining five councilmen voted unanimously to name Jack Wyatt police commissioner. (Councilman John Satterfield had left the meeting with Mayor Minner, whose parting remarks were "I'm still mayor and don't you forget it...I'm still mayor until January."

Following the meeting, Vice Mayor William Shaw remarked he felt legal opinion probably should be sought regarding the naming of Wyatt as commissioner by the Council.

In other moves the Council heard a financial report during which it was reported the City is in the red about $2200 annually with trash collection. The Council voted to jump weekly trash collection rates to 75 cents, a quarter increase and send

Outstandings Named At Local Moose

Each year the Harrington Moose honors the most outstanding man and woman of the preceding year. This year's selection for the Woman of the Year is Terry Clegg and the Man of the Year is Dick Crouse, the Governor of Harrington Lodge.

A large class of 25 was enrolled in their honor. They were:

From Harrington - Michael Stayton; Frank R Mitchel.

Lewes - Howard W. Bowman, Jr.

Georgetown - Robert E. Betts; Elmer M. Wilson.

Blades - Ronny L. Wheatly.

Seaford - William R. Bennett.

Laurel - William R. Willey.

Cambridge, Md. - Herman E. Clay.

Baltimore, Md. - Charles B. Mitten.

notices of trash billing with the water and sewer bills, (which will reportedly be a savings of $1732 for staff and mailing present trash notices. The landowner will be responsible for paying for tenants trash pick up (disputed by Councilman John Satterfield) and persons must pay for 52 weeks a year unless proof can be given that a property is not occupied for at least a quarter of a year. A separate account will also be set up for trash collection and will be self perpetuating.

It was the feeling of the Council these moves would help stem the $19,884.19 it takes to run the trash collecting in the City, with no principal being paid on the $13,000 still owed on the packer. "Trash should at least pay for itself" said a member of the committee.

Council also moved to borrow $6700 from the Peoples Bank to pay on a sewer bond. The next move was to give a six to 10 percent pay increase to most of the City's employees. All were given salary raises.

Citizens appeared during the meeting to make the following requests: Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lare of Del. Rt. 14 complained about the amount of trash on the empty property next to them. "There's a truck load still out there" quipped Mrs. Lare in response to City Manager Quillen's statement that the City had cleared away what they could.

A group of citizens led by Jack Redden of Weiner Avenue, who complained about the catch basin behind Harold Tibbett's property. This has been a continuing problem, according to the group, and presents somewhat of a health hazard according to them. "At one time the water never laid there" said Hal Hitchens. The fire company will attempt to blow out the line as soon as weather permits.

Other action taken during the meeting included:

The City gave $100 to the Bicentennial Committee to sponsor a contest to design a City crest. Representatives Joann Clough and Bernadine Butler made the plea to the Council as did Councilman William Shaw, who heads the committee.

The Council, prompted by Councilman Earl McColley moved to begin whatever process is deemed necessary to begin ultimate removal of truck traffic from the City, a move which would involve rerouting on existing streets.

The appointment of Arthur "Buck" Cahall as chairman of the Planning and Zoning Commission, leaving a vacancy, which was tabled for next meeting.

School Crossing Solution At Bridgeville

Mrs. Barbara Slacum, President of the Bridgeville PTA, came before the Bridgeville Town Council on Monday night to voice her group's veto of using cross-guards for certain areas of the community during the morning and evening when students are going and coming from school.

A topic of discussion which has bounced back and forth between the Woodbridge School Board meeting and the Town Council meetings was finally put "...to sleep", on Monday night when Mrs. Slacum announced her group would not pursue it any further. However, she did request the Town provide a "...blinking light like the ones in Milford to take the place of crossing guards." Norman Powell, President of the Town commissioners patiently explained to the group attending the Monday night sessions that the Town's Solicitor had advised the Commissioners that the guards would have to be sworn in... and be under the absolute jurisdiction of the Bridgeville Police Department". In doing so, the guards would be sword members of the police force and be required to uphold the law. These crossing guards would be insured under the Town of Bridgeville. The possible dilemma and confrontation which could be brought about was in "...in a situation where the child of a crossing guard was injured by a motorist...and the crossing guard was required to make the arrest". This could cause possible problems, according to these present at the meeting.

It was decided blinking lights would be sufficient to solve the problem. Mrs. Slacum thanked the Council for its aid in solving this problem. President Norman Powell appointed Commissioners Willey and Ewing to meet with Mrs. Slacum and work out the details for obtaining the blinking lights and signs.

In other matters before the Board, Richard Thomas, a member of the Bicentennial group formally presented a plaque to President Norman Powell commemorating Bridgeville's part in the Bicentennial coming up this summer. Powell and the other commissioners present then heard a discussion by Ray Montasch of Delaware Blue Cross and Blue Shield on proposed insurance coverage for the Town's employees. No action was taken on Montasch's proposal.

The next scheduled meeting was to be held on Wednesday evening as The Journal was going to press. The scheduled meeting will be a joint meeting with the Greenwood town council on waste treatment. The matter of Pet Poultry dumping waste into the sanitary drainage and causing repeated stoppages will be part of the main topic of discussion.

Bicentennial Baby Entries Pour In Response to the Bicentennial Baby Contest that began in THE JOURNAL last week has been overwhelming. Since one winner and two runners up will be selected each week, it may be some time between the time parents send in entries and when their children actually get into the paper. But, keep watching, each little one properly entered will appear in the contest.

To make it easier (for us) please write the child's name lightly on the back of the picture. That will help to prevent any confusion. The entries are from all over the area, and the hardest part is the judging (which neither the publisher nor editor do). It is done by a staff member, however, and perhaps is that person's toughest job!

So, watch for that special tot's photo in the Bicentennial Baby Contest, but remember, little ones have to be entered to be in the contest. See page two for details and this week's winner and runners up.

FFA Week Set

Members of the Lake Forest FFA Chapter join with over 485,000 other FFA members in the United States in celebrating National FFA Week which starts February 21.

Throughout the WEEK the state's 16 chapters are planning activities to support the theme, "A Future For America."

Houston Taxes Are Going Well

Mrs. Pauline Morgan, Treasurer and Receiver of Taxes for the Town of Houston, told the Council she collected $3,397.34 in way of taxes on real estate in the Town limits of Houston. During the Thursday night session she remarked "...all but 12 have not paid, and I expect most of that in soon." She gave a further breakdown to be that seven had not paid for '75, two had not paid during '74 and '75, and three had not paid for '73, '74, '75.

The Town is still in search of a new filing cabinet for the Town records. The last filing cabinet owned by the Town was vandalized in recent months. Mayor Leonard Rollison announced that a new frozen food plant maybe coming to Houston and occupy the same premises as the now defunct Mark VII. This will be a frozen fish food distribution plant as well. The contract to purchase the plant formerly occupied by Mark VII is still in the negotiating stages.

Mayor Rollison also announced plans for the Town election to be held on the 27th of March. Deadline for filing is the 28th of February between the hours of 2 p.m. and 4 p.m. in the Firehall. Two council seats are up for election, those of Gary Evans and Leonard Rollison. They will be for three year terms each.

Historic Car Club Met Here

The Historical Vintage Car Club of Delaware, Inc. held its Annual Banquet and Installation of new officers for 1976, at the Moose Hall in Harrington. The antique car collectors travelled from Pennsylvania, Maryland and all parts of Delaware to watch as outgoing President George Rubenson of Dover presented the Outstanding Service Award to Elmer Walls of Georgetown, and the Outstanding Member of the Year Trophy to Raymond Montsch of Dover.

The following new officers were installed: Raymond Montsch of Dover, President; Jeffrey Edwards of Camden, Vice President; Mrs. Gene Morris of Harrington, Secretary; Mrs. Mary Ann Montsch of Dover, Treasurer. Elected to serve on the Board of Directors for the year were Robert Cannon of Denton, Maryland, Clayton Lord of Milford, Pat McCann of Smyrna, and Elmer Walls of Georgetown.

Carl June

June Is Harrington JAYCEE Choice

The Harrington JAYCEE'S have selected Carl June as their nominee for Delaware's Outstanding Young Man for 1976. The selection was based on June's works and interest in the Harrington community.

The thirty-four year old pharmacist owns and operates the Harrington Pharmacy, having purchased it from Tom Clendening in 1972. He is also President of the Harrington Senior Center, Vice President of the local Chamber of Commerce and is also on the State Board of Pharmacy. He is a graduate of the Philadelphia College of Pharmacy and Science.

June is one of seventeen candidates nominated by JAYCEE chapters throughout the state.

The Outstanding Young

Man Program is designed to bring recognition to a young man between the ages of 18 and 35, who is deserving of an award for his service to the community.

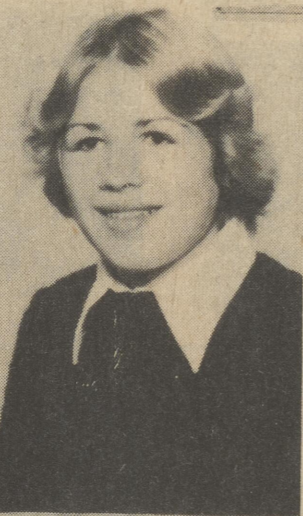

The award banquet at which time the winner of the Delaware Outstanding Young Man will be announced will be at the Ramada Inn in Dover Saturday night.

June and his wife Lorraine live east of Harrington with their two children, Carl Jr. and Carla.

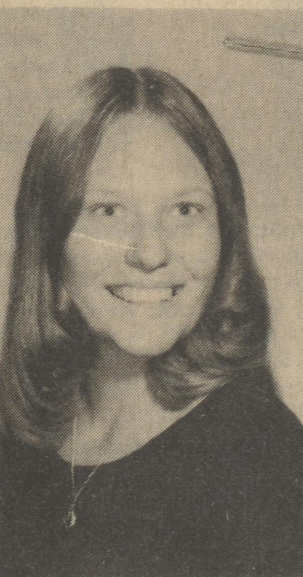

Chambers Hospitalized

W. Cliff Chambers, Canterbury, was taken to Milford Memorial Hospital Monday with an apparent heart attack. Chambers remained in intensive care over night before being moved to a semi-private room. At this time no diagnosis of the ailment has been made. He will undergo tests and is stated to be sent home toward the end of the week.

In recent months, Chambers has displayed his interests in The Journal in connection with Lake Forest School affairs. The entire newspaper staff extends "Cliff" a speedy recovery.

Janie Warren

Sherri Swain

Barbara Richter

Ruth Griffin

Four students from Lake Forest High School have been selected to take part in some on the scene studying of government, where government is the main business, in Washington, D.C.

Staying a week in February to view the governmental processes are Sheri L. Swain of Frederica; Barbara L. Richter of Felton; Janie E. Warren of Felton and Ruth E. Griffin of Harrington. Miss Swain and Miss Richter spent this week in Washington, while Miss Warren and Miss Griffin are scheduled to attend from February 14 to February 21.

All part of "A Presidential Classroom for Young Americans", the young people had to meet the $250 expenses involved during the week. It is estimated a total of 2,200 students will participate in the program during the school year.

Since its inception in 1968, the nonprofit, nonpartisan Presidential Classroom has hosted over 11,000 students in the Nation's Capital. The Classroom program is "designed to promote a greater understanding of the Federal government through personal contact with its institutions and leaders." Students live in a Washington-area hotel, and attend seminars and discussion groups led by key Washington officials. Past speakers have included Senators, Congressmen, Supreme Court Justices, Cabinet Secretaries, members of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, White House staff members, foreign ambassadors, members of the news media, and representatives from many different Federal agencies.

All four girls will have the opportunity to study all three branches of the Federal government, in depth, and to gain an increased understanding of the issues and personalities which directly influence the conduct of political affairs on the national level.

Upon their return home, many students are asked to be guest speakers before local community organizations, and share their Washington experience with others. A significant percentage of Classroom students are sponsored by local citizens' groups, such as the Rotary Club, Lions, Kiwanis, and Civitan.

Enrollment for the 1976 High School Program has already closed; all available spaces have been filled. However, Classroom officials recently announced that applications for the Presidential Classroom Summer Program are now being accepted. The Summer Program is designed to meet the specific needs of a different population - educators, administrators, government employees, employees of government-related programs, graduate students and undergraduates majoring in political science or government.

Those seeking more information about the Summer Program, or about the 1977 High School Program, should write directly to: A Presidential Classroom for Young Americans, P.O. Box 19084, Washington, D.C. 20036.

Schools Close Early

Schools of the Lake Forest School District will be closed on Friday, February 13 since this is an inservice day for teachers and administrators.

Monday, snow and ice and old age just does not mix. The center did not open this day because of it. Lunches were delivered by the Delaware National Guard.

Tuesday, Mrs. Ruth Nasser visited the center and played a tape recording to the members present. Twenty braved the cold day and came out.

Wednesday, there were more out on this day it being warmer and the sun was out to melt the snow and ice. Plans were in the making of ceramics for the spring bazaar. In the afternoon several played Sweet Tooth Bingo.

Thursday was spent in making birthday gifts for the 15 members who celebrated birthdays this month. The birthday party will be combined with a hobby show. If you have a hobby let us know, any hobby such as collecting pitchers, vinegar cruets, salt and pepper shakers, pictures, pencils, clocks, guns, spoons, or any thing. May be it could be shaving mugs, or old mustash drinking cups. The more we get the better show we will have. Come in one and all.

Friday, more ice, center not open. But the Guard delivered the home bound lunches. Thanks to you young men your kindness will not be forgotten. God Bless you.

There were only four of our bowlers this week with George Goadge getting 280 pins, Fred Littmann 276, Andy Anderson 240 and Dan Noels 210. The other bowlers were scared off with the ice and cold weather.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Stevens and Mrs. Charlotte Welch are on the sick list this week.

This week the spot light falls on another one of our members from our neighboring community, Farmington, about four miles from our great center. Stella Foskey is quite a worker at home in civic affairs as she is at the center she helps out the Farmington Fire Co. with their dinners and banquets and in the kitchen at the center.

Stella has three sons one living in Farmington one in Dover and one in Maryland. They all visit her regularly since losing her husband a year or so ago.

Stella likes her home and it is a pleasure for her when they are all together. Stella comes to the center on the bus and also enjoys herself very much and gets along with everyone very well.

Bicentennial Issue Set For 'Halwalker's Guide'

Woodbridge High School's Hallwalker's Guide will be putting its Bicentennial supplement on sale beginning February 18. The four-page publication, which will cost 10 cents, will feature early history of Greenwood and Farmington. The two Sussex County, Delaware communities are part of the Woodbridge School District. The paper will be on sale at the school. For more information, call the school at 337-8289 (8280) or advisor Jym VanSiver at 337-7570.

The fanciful photo shown in last week's edition brought numerous suggestions as to the identity of Ray Blanchette's subject matter his camera caught Monday morning following the freak winter storm here. Suggestions ranged from: it's a cornfield, the inside of an aquarium or greenhouse, to icy weeds in a field. For those of us [pre-storm window days people] who searched in memories, we remember the fantastic things warm and moist windows could create when they came into contact with a very cold day. Such was the case. This was the view from and into the Journal's window early Monday morning, one of the few pleasant aspects we could find about the storm last week.

Felton Alumni Seek Scholarship Applicants

The Felton Alumni Association is announcing that applications are now available for scholarships.

The Association has sponsored two fund-raising dances, and are starting the annual fund drive. Members have worked vigorously to provide substantial scholarships for deserving seniors within the district who need financial assistance.

All seniors who attend the Lake Forest High School who intend to further their education are eligible to apply for a scholarship. There are no limitations established as far as the type of training, be it college, nursing, business school or a vocational school. Also, scholarships are awarded to all seniors in the Lake Forest District.

The Association requirements are:

1. Be available for a personal interview;
 2. Attend the Association's annual banquet if you are selected to receive a scholarship - April 24;
 3. Relinquish the scholarship if one receives another scholarship from another Alumni Association.

"...firm but fair"

Reaction to medicine following the removal of my tonsils caused me to be unable to perform any functions at The Journal last week. It was the week following the death of Jacob C. Messner, and I wanted to offer a few words for what he meant to me.

The last time I saw him was in May 1951. Up until that point I had escaped his grasps. . . and he had eluded mine since '51. He was a man. . . I believe, who dwelled on perfection. From his background I could understand why. Of course little do we realize today what a superintendent in a special school district did in those days. In short he did everything that 20 some administrators do today. He did them all and more too. . . and did them with perfection. I believe he always sought the best in an individual. . . be that person student or teacher. Teachers liked him because they knew where they stood with him. So did the students for the same reasoning. I have heard teachers say later that "he expected you to take care of your own disciplinary problems as best as you could, but if you couldn't handle the problem send the student on down to him. Of course he added you did lose prestige when you were forced to send a pupil down to him".

I have heard it said of him that he thought of himself as "...always firm, but fair". This was his trade-mark. I visited his office in May of '51 because custom and practice had it that all graduating seniors would visit him as sort of a farewell. His remarks to me were very crisp. He said that he was very disappointed in my last year's performance. I had slipped in his estimation of my ability. At one point, I was afraid he was going to keep me back. Although there was no danger of that, it was the scare and the unchallenging attention I always gave him. I drove a wide path around him, but held him in high respect. He concluded the interview by telling me "...that I was a slow learner, but once I got it I shook it for all that it was worth. Where ever you go, you must work hard for everything you get." I never forgot it. . . I have been running scared ever since. My interview with him that day took all of five minutes. I left his office wringing wet and scared half out of my wits. We will all remember him, for he played a big role in all of our development, and we are much the better for it. With all said and done we all know that in his life he was "...firm but fair."

FROM THE FRYING PAN...

Following Monday night's explosive ending (first and second) of the Harrington City Council meeting, the dust cleared away and left some rather unpleasant questions and ramifications. (See article on page one for details of Council meeting). At the root of much of the existing friction which surfaced Monday night is the City Charter and the interpretation of the same. Are the citizens and city government to follow the charter some of the time, all of the time, or will there be exceptions, and if what and who will the by?

Since attending the Council Meetings, reference has been made to the Charter as if it were some sacred cow, yet when it comes down to the nitty gritty, as with Monday night's naming of Jack Wyatt as police commissioner there seems to be a rising problem of interpretation of duties.

According to the Charter, "The Mayor shall be the executive of the City. He shall preside at meetings of the Council, but shall have no vote except in the case of tie...and shall have all and every power conferred and perform the duties imposed upon him by this Charter and the ordinances of the City." Nowhere (at least where we could find in reading what is written) is there an appointive power granted the Mayor as his prerogative with the exception of naming members of the Planning and Zoning Commission. Yet the Mayor has frequently referred to his appointive powers as he did again Monday night.

If it is there, where is it? Are we to be strict interpreters of the City Charter or will we be loose interpreters?

Will Monday night set the tone for future meetings? With most of the Council at loggerheads with the Mayor? It's a tug of war, from observation, the City has been through similar situations before, and not to its ultimate benefit.

Because of the outcome of Monday night's meeting, a lawyer's opinion will be sought to determine the legality of the Council's action following the Mayor's adjournment which was done without calling for adjournment while a motion was on the floor - something done in very infrequent occasions in Legislative Hall and not normal procedure for a council meeting.

Until Monday night's meeting, the rules of parliamentary procedure have been followed. Not the case Monday night. The Mayor's gavel crashed down on a table with a motion and a second left hanging. He dismissed the meeting without calling for a motion to do so, with a motion on the floor. Not done, said the following actions of five or six of the Councilmen. (John Satterfield left as the mayor did) nor is this the case in "Roberts Rules Of Order."

Perhaps the solution, if there is one, is to have the Mayor and Council meet in a workshop session with the City Solicitor to review and interpret the Charter in order to define duties, since there is such a rift now in interpretation.

Consumer Bill On Generic Drugs Passes House Vote

The issue of whether pharmacists can substitute drugs unless specifically disallowed by the prescribing physician in writing on a prescription order, came before the State House of Representatives for Delaware recently in the form of H.B. 757. The bill was sponsored by Reps. Daniel A. Kelly, (D) Brack-Ex and John P. Ferguson, (D) New Castle.

The bill was amended to fuller protect the consumer by addition of two amendments, one sponsored by Reps. Robert Byrd, Sandra Whorton, Thomas Brady and Ronald Darling. This amendment in effect changes the term "...generically equivalent drugs (which means any drug with the same chemical name can be substituted) to the term therapeutically equivalent drug (which means, a drug may be substituted "...that will provide the same blood or organ concentration as the brand name drug").

Scientists have proven that some drugs, even though they have the same chemical name, are not properly absorbed in the body to treat the disease with proper concentration. An example of this arose a few years ago when tetracycline manufactured overseas and purchased by the Armed Forces was proven to be ineffective in the body even though it possessed the same chemical name...as well as content, as the American name brand. The American brand was actually absorbed into the blood stream and issue of the body much faster and more completely by way of concentration than the foreign brand. This is the hidden danger which the amendment to H.B. 757 protects against.

Letter To The Editor

To The Editor:
The trailer fire last Monday was not a loss of Stevens.

Shirley Mooris rented the trailer. The trailer and household contents, besides a used stereo, a used console television and a sofa bed, belong to Rosalie Jackson.

Albert Stevens and Marvin Stevens lived with Shirley Mooris and her children. They were at home with the children when the fire started, but they made no attempt to find out where the smoke was coming from. Instead, they past clothes outside, near the next door trailer which amounted to two large garbage bags, when picked up.

The two Stevens, said the next thing they did was shut the stove off inside, took the children out and shut the oil off outside, being a very little oil if any in the drum.

The Steven walked past my house, where he usually comes to make phone calls. The same phone he uses has the emergency number on it, which is visible as soon as you lift the receiver.

There was an adult and my daughter at home who would have put the alarm in for him but he did not stop for help.

Fire number two a few hours later on Coleman St., where Carrie Bryant is a tenant was caused by an overheated chimney.

Carrie has a huge wood stove that resembles a 50 gal. oil drum and nearly the size of one. She was burning seasoned wood in the stove without a draft damper in the stove pipe The winds being 50 miles an hour Monday, pulled to much blaze up the chimney, causing it to get overheated. Thank you, Rosalie Jackson

Dear Editor,
Thank you for printing the letter last month relating to information about Milford La Leche League. For interested readers may I add that Milford LLL is part of a rapidly growing movement throughout the world to inform and encourage women in the womanly art of breastfeeding.

The amendment also goes further to change the section of the Bill which reads "A pharmacist may not dispense a drug product with a total charge for the drug product and professional services that exceeds the total charge of the drug product originally prescribed." The amendment states "...the pharmacist must inform the patient...of the savings...as a result of substitution" and passes onto the patient the full difference in actual acquisition costs between drug prescribed and drug substituted.

The crux of the amendment relates to the writing on the prescription blank and that is as follows: proper space provided for the physician's signature to state either "dispense as written" or "substitution permitted." In this fashion, the patient is made aware of any substitution and the physician is made aware of which drug is being substituted. This is another built in protective device between the patient and the physician.

The second amendment was sponsored by Reps. Ronald Darling, (D. 35th

Weekly Report

By Senator Joseph Biden

This week, the Senate passed two bills which I first introduced last summer.

One bill would strengthen Federal prohibitions against discrimination in the granting of credit; the other bill would insure that more information is made available to consumers who choose to lease--rather than purchase directly--such goods as automobiles or furniture.

In earlier editions of this column, I explained the purpose of these bills, and how they would operate. Needless to say, both are consumer protection bills designed to extend Federal protection in two important areas. As Chairman of the Senate Subcommittee on Consumer Affairs, I found it encouraging that both pieces of legislation

by Senator William Roth

Efforts to prevent court-ordered busing have met with little success to date, but there are some areas where I believe the Congress has authority to act. One step it could take would be to limit the jurisdiction of the lower Federal courts, which were created by Congress in the first place.

This is the intent of legislation I have just introduced. Twenty other Senators, including my colleague, Senator Biden, have signed as co-sponsors of the bill.

The legislation would eliminate the authority of the lower Federal courts to order busing of school children for desegregation purposes. One section would nullify court-ordered busing already in effect.

The bill would exercise Congress' prerogative, pursuant to its authority under Article III of the Constitution, to regulate the jurisdiction of the courts it has created.

I believe this approach would pose few, if any, of the Constitutional difficulties raised by other statutory proposals to limit judicial authority in school desegregation cases.

It would not withdraw all Federal court jurisdiction to hear school cases involving asserted denials of Constitutional rights, or place an absolute restriction on the availability of any remedy for such denials. It would merely substitute the state courts for the lower Federal courts as the appropriate tribunal in cases where busing may be ordered as a remedy under standards set by the U.S. Supreme Court.

The lower Federal courts would continue to have concurrent jurisdiction with the state courts where busing is not an issue. The right to appeal rulings of the state courts to the U. S. Supreme Court, which derives its authority from the constitution, would be preserved. This appears to be necessary to meet Constitutional requirements.

The state courts are close to the people and well aware of the local impact of sweeping court orders. I believe they would be far more hesitant than the lower Federal courts have been to impose requirements that are extremely costly and disruptive.

One of the difficulties is to find an approach that would not only be effective but could win the support necessary for adoption by both the Senate and House of Representatives. Until now, the pro-busing forces in Congress have been successful in enacting legislation that would put a stop to compulsory busing.

received such wide support: both passed the Senate without opposition, and similar bills have already passed the House of Representatives--leaving only the need to iron out differences in a Senate-House Conference Committee.

Having said this, however, I would like to call special attention to the bill dealing with consumer credit.

This bill is not only a major piece of consumer legislation; it is also something much more basic: it is a reaffirmation of Congress' continuing commitment to the end of discrimination in all segments of American life.

In 1974, Congress passed legislation barring discrimination in granting credit on the basis of sex or marital status. The bill that passed this week takes that commitment a step further: it bars discrimination on several other grounds, including race, religion, age, color or national origin.

When finally enacted into law, we will have made it clear that no longer will it be possible to refuse credit to a man or woman just because of that person's age, or color, or the church he or she might attend.

There is one other factor involved in this legislation. As an opponent of forced busing of school children, I am sometimes asked for "alternatives."

I think that this legislation is part of what it means to have alternatives to busing. It is an important part of the commitment to equality of opportunity that we must demonstrate. Other things still need to be done, including increased action to insure jobs, provide better schools, improve housing, and guarantee voting rights. But this bill is one part of that picture.

I think that in passing the equal credit bill, the Senate has passed important legislation, and I am proud that my name is associated with it.

Open Letter to Chipman Parents

Dear Parents,

Last week's letter was so long, and the week was so unusual that I really do not have much to say. School days were like days at home: plans were made only to be changed as the weather dictated. Lesson plans had to be tailored to the days. Not all classes met an equal number of times. Many teachers as well as students were out because of illness. In fact, there were so many students absent either because of illness or because of the weather that the usual listing of absentees on the daily notice was omitted. The week was unusual for the number of substitute teachers and for the large number of requests for student assignments. Sometimes I think the substitute teachers are among our unsung heroes. Many of them come on very short notice and leave important business of their own to help keep the schools going.

I should like to say a little more about requests for assignments. This evidence of your interest and of the importance which you attach to your child's education is most gratifying. At times like this, however, we are sometimes unable to provide the service we would like to. The very simplest way to get assignments is to have your child call a responsible member of his class each night. If this method is not a possibility, please make your requests to us very early in the day whenever you can to give us a chance to get the assignments without our having to ask each teacher to interrupt her or his class to write down the assignment on-the-spot.

Until next week. Sincerely,
Sarah S. Webb

Milford Merchants Launch New Sales Program

Four weeks ago, a band of Milford merchants set out to protect their business interests and endeavor to preserve and stimulate business into their district. In the beginning around 13 businesses joined in with the hope that their plan would cause increased traffic to the downtown sector of Milford. The notion was prompted primarily by the closing of the Grants store in the downtown section. The merchants began to feel that the loss of one of their cornerstones in the downtown sector might cause business prospects to go sour.

Jack Nylund, manager of Bata Shoe store and very active in the Milford Chamber of Commerce, and Paul Cosden, owner of the Milford Hardware (formerly Humes Hardware) as well as Dot's Card and Gift Shop in the downtown sector, originally forged this idea of Friday night specials in an effort to increase business.

According to Nylund, "...we merchants were concerned not only with the loss of Grants to this sector, but we were also aware of the fact that we were not getting the traffic through this area. It was going around the City". Cosden expressed hope that other merchants would join in with their plan for a long range program of getting shoppers into the area. After the first week, about half of the original number have kept up the program. Mrs. Pat Carman, who manages the Fashion Outlet Store and primarily distributes Hand-over House products, is another of the most enthusiastic for the Friday night specials. She confessed that since the first Friday night special, she has experienced a greater volume of traffic and felt that the planned program was well received. In citing one example, Cosden (Milford Hardware) placed crock-pots up as a special sales item. He claimed to have had calls on these items until the following Wednesday. "The response was unbelievable," according to Cosden. He said "...that he would like to see a long range program rather than a six or eight week program."

The merchants of downtown Milford are not only fighting to keep business in the downtown sector...as well as stimulating more business, they also are competing with the Plaza Shopping Center located on a plot of ground adjoining the intersection of U.S. #113 and Rt. #14, which is sometimes referred to as the Ames Shopping Center or Plaza Shopping Center. The Center was recently purchased by Thomas Draper, who also owns the two radio stations in Milford. Draper is on the move to build the shopping center to full capacity. With this wave of excitement hovering over the heads of the Milford businessmen, rumors continue to circulate that a major tenant from the downtown sector will relocate soon in the new Draper Center. As the plight of the downtown businessmen mounts they wait each day for breaking news of some enlightenment. Some of the downtown merchants feel that high fuel costs and utility costs will cause shoppers to remain at home and save their money buying only needed items. Others say that the fear of crime in the area will deter others. Most merchants discount the fear of crime, for as they say "...there have been little or none reported."

The Milford Merchants are seeking ways to cope with their dilemma, meanwhile they are testing the market with "...extra special bargains on Friday nights in the downtown sector" hoping the buyer will find more than just one bargain there.

Jack Nylund of Bata looks on as the customer go through the Friday night specials in his store.

Attend Conference

The building firm of Diamond Builders, Inc. of near Bridgeville recently attended the 20th Annual Pork Producers Conference held at Raleigh, N.C. The two day conference was held at the Royal Villa Inn in Raleigh January 14 and 15 as part of the program of study of the Department of Agriculture at the nearby college of North Carolina State University.

In the group were Dan Nissley, Roy Mast, and Fred Slabaugh all from Greenwood and Bridgeville.

The primary topic of discussion was the outlook for hog products in 1976 plus new procedures in housing and ventilation. Other topics of interest revolved around marketing of hogs...the best procedures, and how to obtain and use borrowed money which was a panel discussion. Two outstanding lecturers in this field, L. B.

Driggers on ventilation and Dr. C. M. Stanislaw reported on N.C. Swine Development Center, where extensive experimentation with hogs is carried on. Nissley told THE JOURNAL "that the trip was well worth the time spent".

#5 of a Series: The onshore impact of offshore oil

Will there be a forest of oil platforms on the horizon?

Not likely. The federal offshore lease tracts in the Atlantic now being proposed for sale are well out of sight of land off the Delaware-Maryland-New Jersey-Virginia coastline.

After their sale, exploration for oil and natural gas will be accomplished by mobile drilling rigs. Several years of exploratory drilling may elapse before it can be determined whether oil or gas is present in commercially producible quantities.

Only then, perhaps in three to five additional years, would the first drilling and production platforms be placed.

Platforms are costly, so if oil is found, the industry will place as few of them as possible to get the job done. Each platform will service multiple wells.

Onshore processing facilities will not be needed unless and until operations move into full production. Again, some time from now. Until then, exploratory drilling operations can be supplied from small onshore supply bases, most likely using existing docks and facilities.

If drilling would begin tomorrow, and if oil or gas were found, it could be 1980 before the first product of offshore oil reaches consumers.

So the impact of offshore oil will be gradual, providing plenty of time for planning; that's the nature of these operations.

If there's oil out there in the Atlantic, Amoco and other oil companies will conform to rigid industry standards and federal regulations regarding the environment.

For more information, write Public Affairs Department, Amoco, 300 East Joppa Road, Towson, Md. 21204.

Film Set For Hickory Ridge

The color motion picture, "Journey To The Sky", will be shown at Hickory Ridge Congregational Methodist Church, on U.S. 13 north of Greenwood on Sunday, February 15 at 7 p.m.
Filmed in India, Switzerland and at the Ken Anderson Films Studio in Winona Lake, Indiana, "Journey To The Sky" chronicles the life of Sadhu Sundar Singh, a young Indian who forsook the security of an affluent home to trek the dusty roads of India as a Christian apostle.
Because of its subject matter, the film has a special appeal to contemporary young people searching for realistic forms of identity and relevance in a world that confuses them.
In addition to the showing of the film, the evening program includes hymn singing.
If there are questions, call Pastor William Fleischauer Jr., 349-4569.

It Seems To Me

Stretching your money these days? Aren't we all? One of the easiest ways to make money stretch is with clothing purchases--or possibly lack of purchases.

Fashion is on our side, too, because an easy way to be in style with last year's clothes is to take advantage of the fashion for separates. Single items can be purchased at moderate cost or made at home to mix with garments on hand. This can give us the clothing lift we all like now and then without wrecking the budget.

Separates are practical for both adults and children and are helpful in adapting the wardrobe to any changes in size or weather. They allow for variety and personal taste in the way the garments are combined and accessorized.

High fashion can be introduced with accessories you make yourself. The current trend to handmade items can inspire you to use treasured craft items you may have been saving. That hand-woven piece can be made into a purse, a necklace redesigned from past favorites, a scarf from fabric remnants.

If you must purchase more expensive items such as a coat, suit or shoes, choose simple, classic styles that can be worn for a variety of occasions and for several years. Fad fashions have a short-wear life and are not considered very wise buys if you have a limited amount to spend for clothing.

Shopping at outlet stores has become a favorite way to buy new items at lesser prices. This can be an excellent way to save if you're tempted to overbuy and if you can find what you want. If you must travel a distance to an outlet store, add your car expense and time onto the price. Best bargains at outlet stores go to those who

Meg Gagne of Harrington with silver medals in the girls 25 yard freestyle and back stroke as she represented the John Charlton School of Rising Sun in the special olympics held at the University of Delaware's Carpenter Hall.

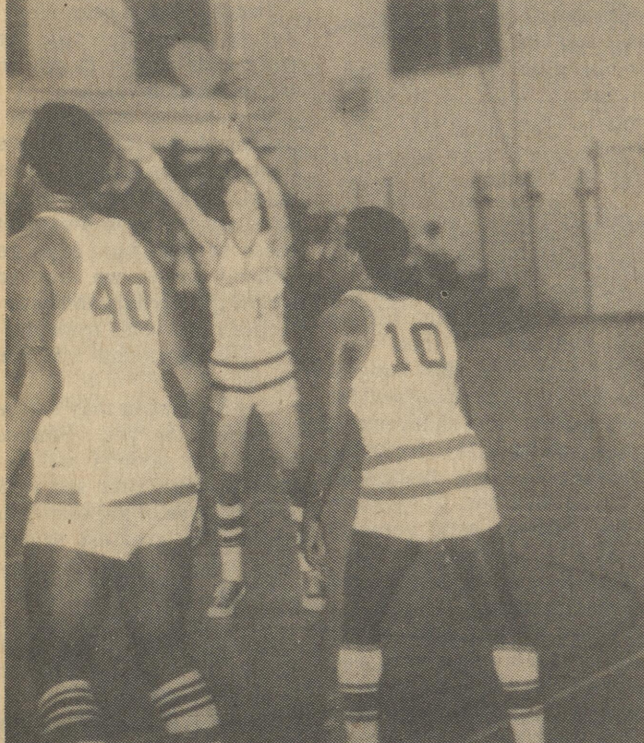

Harrington Resident Oberle Snipes poses with Gold Medals won in the boys 25 yard freestyle and diving competitions. He was also part of a relay team that won a bronze medal in the special olympics which were held at the University of Delaware's Carpenter Hall.

Locals Star In Special Olympics

Special Olympics Oath by Joan Oakley. "Let me win, but if I cannot win, let me be brave in the attempt." This oath that was taken by all of the participants at the opening of the Special Olympics at Carpenter Fieldhouse on the University of Delaware Campus was enough to stir the heart of anyone. As the Olympics go on in Innsbruck, Austria, those held for these Special children seemed no less important. There were five events: 25 yard freestyle, 25 yard backstroke, diving, 50 yard freestyle, and 100 yard relays in all age groups from 8 and under to 28 years. Harrington's own Shirley Blackburn captured a silver medal in the 25 yard freestyle and a gold medal in the 25 yard backstroke. Her teammate, Meg Gayne, captured two silver medals in the girls 25 yard freestyle and backstroke. Oberle Snipes and Alfonzo Smith both won gold medals in their respective 25 yard freestyles and diving competitions and bronze in their relays. Alfonzo is only 12 years old, Shirley is 13, and Oberle is 16. Shirley and Oberle represented Delaware in the International Special Olympics in Michigan last summer and seem destined to repeat this year. These students train at the Dover YMCA as a regular part of their curriculum. Special Olympics are for very SPECIAL people.

Woodbridge Loses

Woodbridges Kevin Dewey takes a foul shot while Spank Neal [40] and Louis Dexter [10] looks on.

The Bottiger maulers journeyed to CR on Saturday and for the first three matches pushed and pinned CR wrestlers all over the mats. The lower three weight classes continued to give Coach Gary Bottiger a tremendous start. Landy Correll, who has moved up to the varsity squad took the opening match with a pin of Riloff in the third period. Alonzo Frisby followed in the 105 lb. class with a pin of Bivins, and old reliable Mike Richards with a decision over White. The Richards match was close to a pin several times by Richards, but he just could not work his opponent into a decisive situation. The three victories spotted the varsity with 15 points, but the quick success quickly left them. CR won the next eight matches in a row getting five pins along the way. Paul Cahall of Woodbridge was decided by his opponent Courtney on a questionable call (reverse) which gave the CR boy three quick points. The match turned on this note. In the final heavyweight class LeRoy Tingle pinned his man Sapp. Woodbridge is now three for seven for the season. The next match is with Lake Forest at Woodbridge on Saturday afternoon at 1:30.

Woodbridges Alonzo Frisby pins another of his opponents as he continues his way to an undefeated season so far.

Losing Streak Snapped

A five game losing streak was snapped Friday night as Coach Jym Vansciver's Woodbridge netters grabbed off a sound victory over a lack-luster Smyrna five. Woodbridge won the game 56 to 49. Woodbridge was never behind and went into the dressing room at half time leading by 12 points. Smyrna was unable to make up the difference and their ball handling and shooting got worse as the Blue Raiders pressed on for the victory. Coach Van Sciver got a good game performance from Glen Morris, who not only scored 12 points in the victory, but collaborated with big center Nathaniel "Spank" Neal in grabbing off 18 rebounds. This was the real turning point in the game with both Neal and Morris controlling the boards. Not since the early part of the season has Morris played so well. His steady play undoubtedly kept the Raiders in the game and out in front of the Eagles from Smyrna. Neal tallied 21 points for the Raiders.

Lake Forest's Vivian Sudler adds two more points for the Spartans in their 22-18 edge of Sussex Central.

Wrestlers Lose Two in Gallant Efforts

by Ray Blanchette

During the past week the Lake Forest wrestling team came up with two efforts that Spartan coach Tom Meulheisen termed "Beautiful." However, both were losses. The first by a 23-21 score to Dover Air and the second by a 41-24 score to Sussex Central.

The Spartans entered the match last Wednesday against Dover with a 1-6 record while the Falcons had cons split by Rick Mertz scored a four pointer by virtue of his ten point margin of victory. Winless on the season, Louis Hendricks recorded his first victory of the season against the Falcons as he recorded a four point decision to give the Spartans an 11-6 lead.

Following John Moffett's loss, undefeated Bill Jackson recorded a well wrestled 4-0 decision. Jackson had expected to wrestle another the Spartans a 21-20 lead going into the heavyweight match. Spartan Dean McCombs put up a gallant effort before losing 6-3 on a questionable call.

McCombs had just tied the match at 3 all when he was making a move. The referee awarded his opponent 2 points for back points. Since McCombs put himself there no points should have been awarded.

Against Sussex Central on Saturday night the Spartans took a 24-11 lead through the first eight matches. Again Lapinsky led the way this time with a pin over the highly touted Rodder Purnell in the first period. After Shultie was pinned by the highly experienced Doug Mays gully Rick Mertz recorded another Spartan pin.

In the 119 pound match Spartan Pete Fraley had the tough chore of having to wrestle Steve Bastianelli. Fraley put up a gallant effort before being pinned late in the second period. After Hendricks was defeated Moffett used a reverse cradle to pin his opponent. Next Jackson recored a 7-0 victory and really started to look like the excellent wrestler he is. He hustled through the whole match and never appeared to get tired. After Larry McCombs won a decision victory the Golden Knights captured the final four matches by six pointers.

The Spartans next match is this Saturday at Woodbridge with the match starting at 2 p.m. They then close out their dual match season next Wednesday at home against Cape Henlopen.

undefeated wrestler in this match but Ramos of Dover Air moved up a weight class rather than wrestle Jackson. Larry McCombs handled Ramos well but let him escape near the end of the third period to tie the score at 2-2. This made the score 15-11. Dover Air captured the lead 2-15 as they won the next two matches. Gary Grove won the 185 pound match by forfeit to give

Lake Forest Basketball News

Sussex Central until Wednesday, Feb. 4. It was a close game all the way with the Spartans outscoring the Golden Knights 2-1 in the first quarter and then the Knights outscoring the Spartans to tie it up at half-time 14-14. In the third quarter, both teams scored only two points, leaving it tied again. Finally, Lake Forest put it all together and scored six points to Sussex Central's two, giving them a 22-18 victory. Newnom and Dukes both led the Spartans with eight points a piece.

This past Friday Lake Forest played Dover Air, as did the boy's team, the girls obliterated the Falcons. Scoring for this game went much as that of the Sussex Central game. Lake Forest jumped to an early lead, Dover Air tied it up at half-time 13-13, and both teams scored the same number of points (six) in the third quarter, leaving it tied.

The main difference is that the Spartans really turned on the juice and outscored the Falcons almost 5-1 points with a fourth quarter score of 25-5. Final score for this game, in which Anna Jackson scored 10 points, Vivian Sudler 13 points, and Laura Newnom nine points, was 42-24, Lake Forest.

Everything would be looking up for the Spartans if Cheryl Lissy would recover from a knee injury she received during the Caesar Rodney game last week. Very likely, with a win over Indian River, they could be on the way to another Conference Championship, and possibly the state.

Bowling News

Lads and Lassies

by Terry Clegg

With next Monday night ending the second third, we find the Misfits and the Spares battling it out for the top slot with each team having 29 wins and 11 losses.

The Misfits continued their winning streak as they collected three games from the Goldiggers. Patti Friedline rolled a 182, 183 and 163 for a 528 series and her teammate Gail Lutz rolled a 189. Gary Singleton the fire cracker of the team, was as hot as ever rolling a 215, 194 and 203 for a 612 series. For the third week in a row Gary captured high game and high series for men. Mary Bergold's 213 and 163 (534 series, high game and second high series for women), and Doris Buck's 162 helped their team the Goldiggers add one game to their win column.

The Spares stopped Friends Four dead in their tracks as all team members showed them their skill on the bowling lanes. Martha Vogan lead the way rolling a 210, Earl Vogan chipped in a nice 203, Jay Lewis a 202 and Velma Slack a 191. Dick Clegg rolled a 206 and Terry Clegg a 187 and 163 but Friends Four were just out bowled by their opponents and lost all four games.

The Strikers seem to be bouncing back after having a few rough weeks as they took all four games from the Pinbusters. Nancy Daniels, a sub for the Strikers, rolled a 181, 186 and 184 for a 551 series (high series for women). Pinbusters Edna Mae Layton rolled a 188 and 162 but could not get much help from her teammates and went home with a four game loss.

Mickey Moose and the Dy-no-mites found themselves in head to head combat Monday night and both teams had to go home with two games each.

Moose's winning streak came to an abrupt end Monday night as the 4-Aces turned on and put four games in their win column. Joan Edwards paved the way for her team rolling a 169 and 162 and all team members followed suit. Ken Baker of Moose I rolled a 190 but his teammates just couldn't get going.

The No-Mads were another team that pulled together with each team member pulling their own weight much to the dismay of the Campers. Leading off was Linda Cooper with a 177, followed by Doris Moffett's 162, Tom Passwaters 204 and Jim Webb's 191. These scores gave the No-Mads three games. Betty Lyons 178 and 166 and Mary Friedline's 167 helped the Campers gain one win for their team. It seems that their men folk could not do anything to help them.

Last but not least we come to the M and P's and Moose II. Both of these teams have been having trouble with injuries and sickness. The M and P's using two subs again this week managed to take all four from Moose II. Claire Melvin's 174 and 166 and Al Melvin's 204 lead the way for the M and P victory over Moose II. I sincerely hope these two teams can get themselves together for the final third. Both are good teams when all members show up. Until next week, treat yourselves to some fun, go bowling!!!

Spartans Romp

by Millard Ellingsworth III

After a romp over Dover Air Friday night, the Spartans are 9-4 in the conference. At the onset, it looked to be a Spartan victory as Lake Forest was quick to score. By half time the Spartans had a comfortable eight point lead. In the second half, they tightened up their defense and allowed Dover only 16 points in the entire half; they have scored this many in the second quarter. The final score was Lake Forest, 68, Dover Air 40.

Billy Moore led Spartans triumph with 19 points. Ron Shockley followed with 14 points. Sam Carey, Frank Corsey, Charlie Scott, Bill Johnson and Neal Smith followed with five or more points apiece.

Lake Forest was open Tuesday night, so they only played one game last week.

Doug Warrington, Mr. B. H. Baby, General Sales Manager of Massey-Ferguson, Inc., boys from Kentucky and South Carolina.

Warrington Is Named One Of The Winners In National Competition

Doug Warrington was one of three young men in the entire United States to receive a "Youth in Business" Scholarship sponsored by Massey-Ferguson, Inc. The $500 scholarship and a plaque were presented to Doug by Mr. B. H. Baby, General Sales Manager of the United States, at a dealer council meeting held in Detroit, Michigan, last Thursday.

Warrington was chosen from a field of eleven boys to represent the Northeastern Region for his outstanding performance in machinery demonstration and knowledge of the farm equipment business. This program began during the summer while young Warrington participated in an around the Felton-based businesses. While in Detroit the Warringtons toured three Massey-Ferguson plants during the two days of activities surrounding the council meeting.

Doug is fifteen and the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Warrington, Jr., of Felton. He attends Lake Forest High School where he is active in FFA, band and football. Most of his summer and school holidays are spent at his father's farm equipment business in Felton. Doug plans to attend college, majoring in agribusiness and to join his father in the family business upon graduation.

Quilting Is Making A Comeback

Quilting is enjoying a comeback on today's fashion scene. Go into any fabric store and you'll find special materials and patterns for making quilted garments and accessories. The technique isn't hard to pick up if you know how to sew, though it does help to know a few tricks.

Recognizing its growing popularity, the Delaware home economics extension service offered a course on the subject last fall in New Castle county. The instructor was Mrs. Beulah Somers, a volunteer who has been teaching sewing classes for the extension service for a number of years. Since she hadn't done much quilting herself prior to the course, she approached it as a kind of experiment and her enthusiasm soon caught fire. At the last of the four two-hour sessions, class members brought in the garments they had made. There were a wide assortment of items to show, ranging from "coolie" jackets to vests, skirts and handbags which had been wholly or partially quilted—some by machine and some by hand. Quilting has a long fashion history. Janet Reed, extension clothing and textiles specialist at the University of Delaware, feels that there are probably several reasons for the present revival in quilted garments. For one thing, the technique fits in with the current interest in early American handicrafts. For another, the fashion reflects a growing fascination with the oriental—apparently as a by-product of the new U.S. rapprochement with China.
