AFS Walkathon Is Saturday

May 1st is the date set for the annual AFS Walkathon. The yearly walk begins at 9 a.m. when members will be leaving from the Lake Forest High School parking lot, to wend their ways along a 15-mile hike across the countryside, ending at the picnic area of Killen's State Park.

The walk will again be made to raise funds for the American Field Service Foreign Exchange Student program.

At 10¢ per mile, each walker will be sponsored by friends, relatives and neighbors. Along the route there will be six rest stops where a registration card will be validated. Refreshments, water and emergency First Aid for blisters, etc., will also be available there.

This year for the first time runners and bicyclists who will be taking part will begin at 10 a.m. in order for all participants to arrive at the check-in area in Killen's Park at about the same time.

At the final check point in the Park hot dogs and drinks will be served as the walkers and runners arrive.

Mrs. Leon Kukulka and Mrs. William Smith are serving as co-chairmen of the Walkathon. They are signing up walkers and providing them with their sponsor cards at Chipman Junior School and Lake Forest High School.

Both Hilary Robb and Francisco Morales are expected to be on hand to signal the beginning of the walk.

There will be a bus transporting those too young to drive or those who have no transportation to the high school. A bus will stop at the W. T. Chipman School at 8:15 a.m., at Lake Forest North at 8:30 a.m. and at Lake Forest East at 8:45 a.m. for these participants to take them to the high school. They will be returned by bus following the walk between 2:30 and 3 p.m.

Funds collected during the drive will be used to bring an exchange student for another year, and for the summer and winter Americans Abroad programs. To date, Valerie and Barbara Blackman have taken part in these, having spent a year in South Africa and a summer in Turkey. Jamie Warren has been notified of her acceptance in the summer program this year, although placement is not known at this writing.

Harrington and the Lake Forest School District has had at least one exchange student continuously for the past decade. This year is the first time there have been two foreign exchange students in the district.

Lake Forest Registration Date Set

Registration for children who will be attending kindergarten in September in the Lake Forest School District is set for the week of April 26-30. Parents should also register next year's first graders who will be entering an elementary school in the district for the first time in September.

Registration centers will be open from 9 a.m. to 2:30 p.m.

Farmington Mystery Still Unsolved

Even five months after it happened, there is still an unsolved mystery in Farmington.

Theories fill the air, from scientific to ridiculous, but the fact is there for non-believers to see on the wall of Norman Toadvine's taxidermy studio.

Somehow, a five and a half foot, 68 pound Atlantic sturgeon found itself in a tax drainage ditch near Farmington last November.

How the creature found itself in the drainage ditch is the mystery. How it got to Norman Toadvine's is not so difficult.

It seems a group of young deer hunters during the first day of deer season, having spent the day without success, heard thrashing noises as they were returning to their cars.

Thinking the noise might be coming from a wounded deer nearby, they followed the sounds and came upon the sight of the muddy sturgeon flailing around in the drainage ditch.

It can't be determined why, but the hunters shot the fish after several unsuccessful attempts. It was discovered upon closer examination the fish had five rows of 75 bone-like plates on its body. Two of the men came later to the Toadvines' store near Farmington, The Honey Bee for sandwiches. In telling the Toadvines about their experience, they mentioned that they were planning to throw the fish away, and always a seeker of unusual items in the taxidermy line, Mr. Toadvine expressed an interest in having the fish. At this time, no one really knew what the fish was.

As soon as he saw the sturgeon, however, Toadvine said he knew what it was. He told the Journal he had mounted a much smaller sturgeon in the late 1930's when he first started in taxidermy.

The first sturgeon he had seen had been caught in the Wicomico River. It created a sensation at the time, Toadvine recalls, because it is a rare sight, indeed, to sight one of these fish anywhere in this general area.

So when he found himself in possession of a second one, he did what was natural for a taxidermist. The result of his labors of nearly a month is hanging in his studio for all to see.

As it views its surroundings with glassy eyes, it dwarfs the bass and trout companions. And the mystery of how it got into the Delaware tax ditch remains.

Toadvine says he has heard many theories during the months since the young men brought the fish to his door. Two that are most popular are that the fish got there via the Delaware Bay from the east or by way of the Chesapeake Bay from the west. Toadvine favors the latter theory, because he says there are waterways open that can be traced from the tax ditch on the property of Timothy Slabaugh (where the fish was found) to the Nanticoke River to the Chesapeake Bay. Toadvine believes the female fish had spawned and had lost her way back to the Chesapeake Bay somehow and had perhaps been following a primitive instinct to locate the largest body of water when she foundered in the 18 inches of water in which the hunters found her stranded. This might explain how the fish seemed to be heading toward the Delaware Bay.

Normally the ditch had from three to ten feet of water, which would have allowed for enough passage space, but the ditch was a dead end, according to Toadvine. Where it became a dead end, Toadvine felt would have not allowed

200 Voices Needed For Bicen Group

A state-wide choral group of 200 voices is being organized to form a Delaware Bicentennial Chorus. The group, open to all interested singers and requiring no audition, will perform in Philadelphia July 1 and 2 during the reenactment of the ride of Caesar Rodney from the Dickinson Mansion near Dover to Philadelphia.

Applications of interested singers will be accepted until sections are filled. Tenor and bass voices are especially needed.

Rehearsals began Monday night in Dover at the People's Church, South Bradford and Reed Streets. They will continue on Monday evenings at this location at 7:30 p.m.

Music will be furnished for the forty-five minute concert. The only cost for those joining the chorus will be to provide their own costumes.

The chorus is being organized by Mrs. William J. Storey, Resource member of the Delaware American Revolution State Bicentennial Commission. She is being assisted by Mrs. Sigurd Swenson of Chadds Ford, Pennsylvania.

Margaret Stockton Storey has been a well-known name in musical circles in the area, and throughout the state, having founded the Dover Century Club Chorus (later named Community Singers); and the Choral Society (later named The Delaware Choral Society), and in 1973, The Singing Players. The latter group will form the nucleus

Scouts To Stage '76' Encampment At Killen's Pond

Scouts of the Del-Mar-Va Council, Inc., Boy Scouts of America, will stage their big Bicentennial "Encampment '76" at Killen's Pond State Park, Felton, on May 7, 8, & 9. Veteran Scouter and Jamboree coordinator J. J. Pizzadilli will be the chairman of this unusual bicentennial celebration.

The Encampment is intended to reinforce Scouting's objectives of character building, citizenship training, and mental fitness. Scouts from the entire Delaware Peninsula will be participating in this three day experience.

The activity will get underway with Scout troops checking in Friday evening at the Pond between 5 and 7:30 p.m. After checking into their district headquarters, they will set up camp and each of the eleven districts of the Council will participate in a Colonial Campfire in their own area.

Saturday will be a full day for the Scouts; following breakfast and camp clean-up, there will be district competition by patrols in each of the districts during the morning hours. In the afternoon, the activity will be known as "Involvement '76" and will be held in the main activities area.

In the evening, there will be a grand bicentennial show in the Main Arena with all the Scouts participating in the activities.

Cub Packs have especially been invited to attend on Saturday to participate and watch their brother Scouts demonstrate Scouting skills.

Sunday morning, breakfast and clean-up, worship services for all denominations will be held in the Main Arena. This will be followed by the closing show, retreat, and award ceremony. Following this ceremony, the units will return to their sites, pack their gear and check out. It is planned that the area will be cleared by 12 p.m.

Scout craft skills in the competition will include knots; first-aid; sound communication; stalking; tent pitching; axmanship; tent-making; lashings; compass; measuring and firebuilding.

Lake Forest Board Meets

On Monday evening the Lake Forest School Board held their monthly meeting in the Lake Forest High School Library.

Topping the meeting was the appearance of Mrs. Guy Johnston, representing the Parents Advisory Committee, who appeared before the board to see what steps the Committee could take to see that the Bond Bill, passed by the State Legislature. The board responded that one or more of the representatives could use to be called by a lot of the people to show that there really is a need for the expansion.

Also appearing before the board was Mrs. Frances Jefferson who pleaded with the school board to toughen discipline and drug related problems. Mrs. Jefferson agreed to meet with high school principal William Griffin to go over some of the problems Mrs. Jefferson talked about regarding teachers.

In other matters, the board approved an overnight trip to New York for the high school band on June 12; approved the principle the 1977 Minor Capital Improvement Program to remodel the serving lines and dishwashing area at the Lake Forest North Elementary School Cafeteria; approved the purchase of a 20 x 24 name plaque to be located in the addition at the Lake Forest East Elementary School; accepted the resignation of Mrs. Lulu Macklin and Mrs. M. Louise Kulhanek and renewed the contract of Howard Perry for the 1976-77 school year which places him on tenure.

2 Nabbed For Trespass

Sunday night at 10:15 p.m. Steve Wingo, 20, of Harrington and 16 year-old juvenile were arrested for trespassing on the Burris plant property behind Reese Avenue here, according to police.

Wingo was taken to Magistrate Court 7, where he entered a plea of guilty and was fined $25 and court cost. The juvenile is facing pending charges in family court.

Circumstances surrounding the reason for trespassing are still being investigated by police.

Mrs. Helen Welch Galenski

Former Harringtonian Named Outstanding Teacher

Helen Welch Galenski, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold R. Welch Jr., was elected Outstanding Young Educator by the faculty at Colonies North Elementary, San Antonio, Texas, where she teaches second grade. She was recommended for the city-wide Jaycees' Outstanding Young Educator competition by her principal, Mr. James Carson.

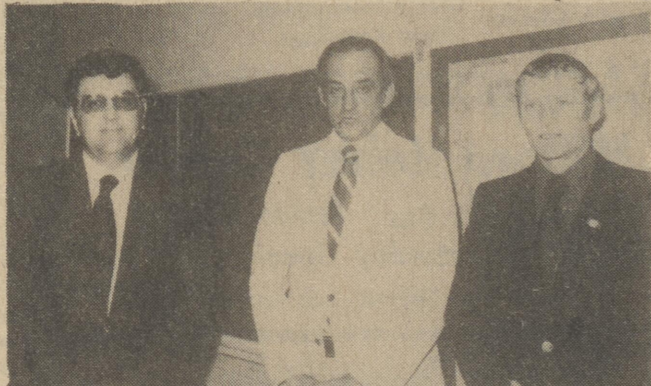

In his letter recommending Mrs. Galenski, her principal, J.L. Carson stated "Mrs. Galenski is a very successful teacher because she is so conscientious and strives hard to take care of each individual student's needs...works hard to stay up with current trends in education...reports for work about 7:30 each morning and stays late in the afternoon in preparation for her students...has excellent rapport with her students' parents..."

Mrs. Galenski is a 1969 graduate of Harrington High School and a 1973 graduate of the University of Delaware. She received the Zita Z. Hatfield Scholarship and the Harrington Teachers' Association scholarship at the Harrington Alumni Association's annual banquet in 1969.

While at the University of Delaware she was named to the Dean's list for three semesters and was a member of Kappa Delta Pi, and Education Honor Society.

She has served as the Colonies North representative to the Classroom Teachers Association and has worked on the Legislative Committee of the Northside Independent Teachers Association in San Antonio. She has been teaching for three years.

She is married to Joseph Galenski, a law student.

Charles Davis, Robert Bennett and H. C. Davis III, are School Board candidates.

McNatt Returned; 4 Elected To Milford Council

Nearly 1,000 voted Saturday to re-elect Mayor Herman S. McNatt and to choose four town councilmen in the Milford city election.

McNatt ran unopposed and received 959 votes. Re-elected to the first ward seat was Joseph R. Rodgers, manager of the Milford Cafe, who defeated J. Clyde Draper, a retired horseman and Harrington raceway employe by 235 to 195.

Virginia H. Glenn, president of Mispillion Realty beat teacher Paul S. Woehrl by 294 to 215. She will fill the second ward seat, vacated recently by William Patterson who resigned. Reese Phillips was unseated by Jack A. Nylund, manager of the Bata Shoe Store in Milford in the third ward by a 159 to 152 margin.

William S. Fountain, fourth ward incumbent, retained his seat by defeating Maxine Turner by 293 to 65.

Plant A Tree For Arbor Day

Delaware, along with the rest of country, celebrates Arbor Day on April 30, the last Friday of this month. This special holiday was first conceived back in 1872 in the state of Nebraska as a day to encourage the planting of trees.

The importance of trees in the environment was a readily understood fact to the settlers of the Great Plains. Over a million trees were planted on that first arbor day. Since then, many other states have developed programs to encourage the preservation and renewal of our tree resources.

This kind of renewal is just as important today as it was in the past, says Dr. Charles Dunham, extension horticulturist at the University of Delaware. Though large scale conservation projects need our support, each person can do his part independently by planting trees on his own property. Our cities and suburbs could be made more beautiful and more habitable if each of us planted even a single tree in honor of the event this year.

There are many kinds of trees to choose from, says Dunham but he advises homeowners to put careful thought into selecting a tree for a particular location.

The first things to look at are soil and the exposure in which the tree must grow. Is Sweet Gum, Swamp Maple and Willow Oak, for instance, in the soil wet, dry, poor or rich? How close is the drive, sidewalk or street to the planting site? What about utility lines? Each of these factors requires special consideration. You will have better results if you select a tree with them in mind. stance, are good large trees for wet soils. While Honey Locust, Japanese Pagoda (Sophora japonica) and Chinese Elm do well in dry, poor soils.

Size is important, too. Many lots are better suited to medium-size trees. Good ones to consider are Cork Tree (Phellodendron), Chinese Elm and Little Leaf Linden. Flowering trees can often double as shade trees. Trees that are attractive in flower and also qualify as good medium-sized shade trees include some of the larger crab apples like Malus floribunda, the Goldenrain Tree (Koelreuteria) and many of the flowering cherries--especially the Yedo and Sargent cherries.

If space is a critical factor and a small tree is needed, the Cornelian Cherry Dogwood (Cornus mas), Pauls Scarlet Hawthorn and Japanese Maple are good choices.

In buying a tree for home planting, the best bargain is what a nursery man terms a "landscape size" specimen. This will be large enough to have an immediate effect in the landscape when planted. It is also large enough that its chances of survival are greater than for small trees, which are easily stepped on or broken. Large shade trees of between one and one-half to three inch caliper (trunk diameter) and flowering trees six to ten feet in height are usually your best buys. Most nurseries will deliver and plant these for a percentage of the original cost of the tree.

If you prefer to plant your own tree, you may find it helpful to consult a copy of the fact sheet, "Planting Trees and Shrubs." This was prepared by the Delaware Cooperative Extension Service and is available from county extension offices in Newark, Dover or Georgetown. You can also obtain a copy by writing Mail Room, Agricultural Hall, University of Delaware, Newark, DE 19711.

FROM THE FRYING PAN...

The council that prays together, stays together.... In the past two council meetings in Harrington, one councilman has been absent twice...

We realize this paper had the date incorrectly noted....could we have been the culprit in the poor showing of Councilmen Sunday?

In the churches this past Sunday was known as Low Sunday...because of a lack of attendance following the pre-Easter and Easter activities...

Were there too many conflicts? The Mayor had to change plans to be in attendance, could other plans have been altered somewhat for the day?

Hopefully the reason is a simple one as one of those mentioned. We realize being a councilman is a thankless job, and often (perhaps such as now) one may be unjustly viewed for one's actions when there is a plausible and simple explanation for one's actions.

We trust all absences could be explained. Last year the turnout was very good for the breakfast by members of council...this year only one councilman showed up.

Two parting thoughts...maybe it was too early (didn't Daylight Saving time go into effect overnight?). It couldn't have been the menu.... the Ladies Auxiliary cooks well.

The fact remains...one out of six represented isn't a smashing number in attendance.

Harrington, George Won't Do It Again...

The Bicentennial...how many people are sick of it already? Apparently quite a few, with a goodly number of them in Harrington.

There has been a very active Bicentennial group busily meeting at City Hall all winter making plans for the City to have a unique opportunity to get together for a day to remember the sacrifices made by those forefathers who went before them.

This committee is also planning a day of fun and celebration of the Bicentennial.

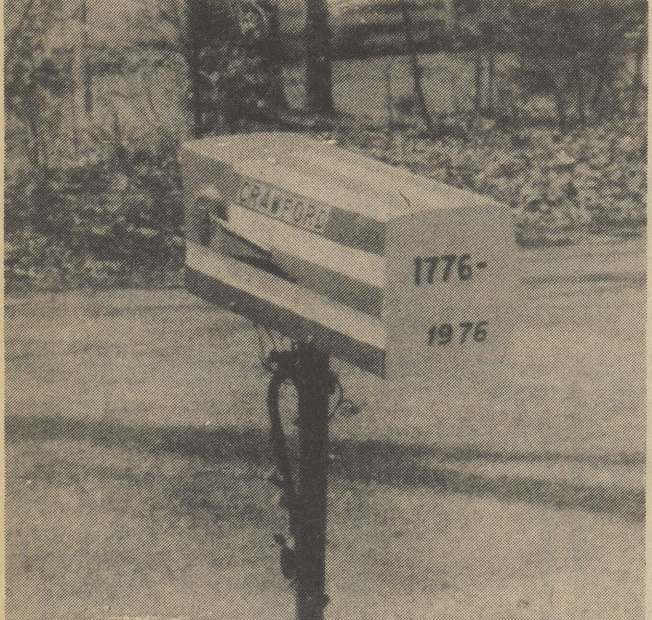

Yet, it has come to our attention that some groups in the community, for the lack of ideas, are not really enthused, or interested in even seeing that a one-day community observance is a success.

Already there are rumblings about a conflicting activity elsewhere, but the plans for the all-day event here on May 31 give the opportunity for people to attend several activities if they are so inclined.

To simply shrug off the idea of a community observance because there aren't any ideas forthcoming from an individual group is definitely not in the American tradition of Yankee ingenuity.

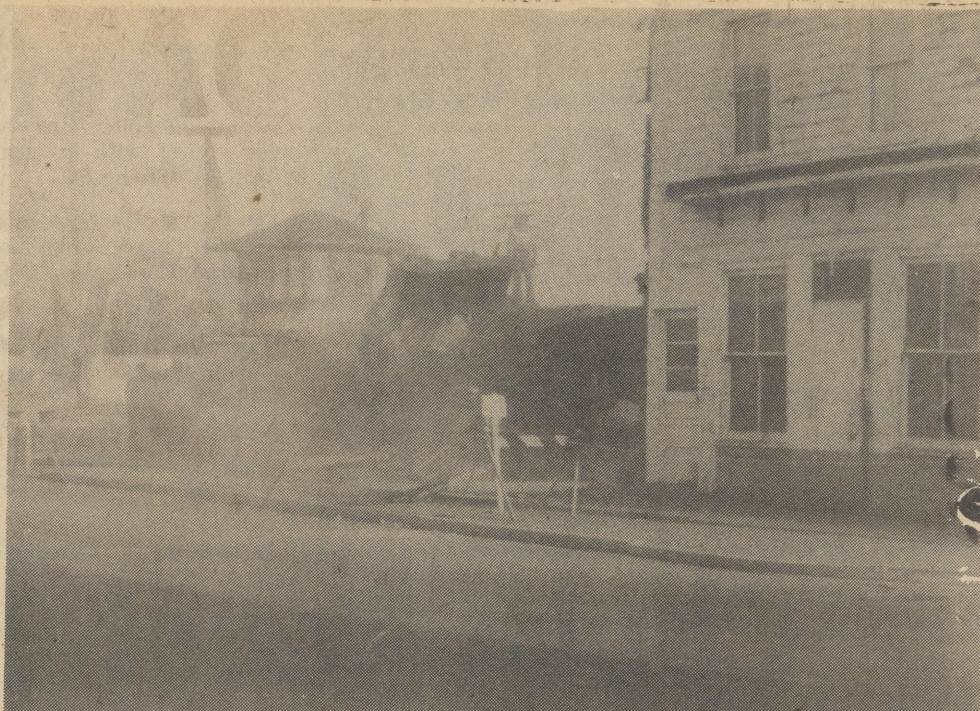

Until now the Bicentennial Committee has left the plans of individual groups up to those organizations to allow for creativity to take place. However, for groups who do not have any definite suggestions about the hour of time requested of them to fill with some activity, it would be better for the committee to make a specific suggestion than to see that hour unfilled for the lack of a suggestion from an organization.

Where is our esprit de corps? George can't do it again, he already did it once...can't we handle one little day?

On Roughley Hill Road a bit of the Bicentennial spirit is observed on the mail box of the Robert Crawfords.

Keep up with what's happening. Read the Journal.

A bit of history disappears from view in Harrington last week as one of the oldest, if not the oldest, commercial buildings makes way for what will eventually be the site of the new People's Bank. Three buildings were demolished in this group on Clark Street.

Weekly Report

By Senator Joseph Biden

Another potential example of why people become cynical about government programs surfaced a few days ago: the Administration released $500 million in extra funds for rural housing, but promptly short-changed those States where the programs involved are most popular.

One of those states is Delaware.

The story goes back to last year when it became apparent that there would not be enough funds in Delaware (and several other states) to meet the demand for rural housing loans under two programs administered by the Farmers Home

Administration. Given the importance of the programs, which not only encourage housing, but also serve to put people back to work, several of us in the Senate pushed for a supplemental appropriation of $500 million which could be used for these FmHA programs. The appropriation passed in December.

At first, the Administration balked at releasing any of the money. But finally, earlier this month, the funds were released. The trouble is that the Administration apportioned the extra funds in such a way that States which have no need for extra money get an even bigger surplus of funds, while States with the most need are shortchanged.

Out of the $500 million, Delaware will get about $2.2 million, of which $1 million will go for single-family home loans under what is known as the "502" program.

To take that "502" program as an example, existing obligations for loans in the current fiscal year in Delaware total nearly $13.4 million, which is far above the $10.7 million originally allocated for the program in Delaware. Yet, out of the extra $500 million, Delaware will get only $1 million in new funds - which still leaves a shortfall.

That kind of situation also applies in several other states.

Meanwhile, other states are getting funds to pile on already existing surpluses. For example, New York has obligated only $57.9 million in "502" loans for the current fiscal year out of a regular appropriation of $83 million. Yet, the state will get an additional $8.3 million from the $500 million appropriation.

As this is written, I am circulating to a number of my colleagues a draft letter to be sent to the Administration protesting the way these extra funds have been allocated. I hope that as many Senators as possible from the affected states sign this letter to demonstrate that we are unhappy with the administration of a program which is not only very popular, but which could be used to generate badly needed housing and, in the process, create thousands of new jobs - jobs which are badly needed in our economy.

Thoughts.....

By Senator William Roth

In the past few years, the cost of a college education has increased so much that many middle-income families are finding it impossible to send their children to college.

Affluent families can afford college expenses, and poor families are eligible to receive Government loans and assistance. But the increasing tuition costs are squeezing the children of middle-income families right out of higher education.

I believe there is a pressing need for legislation to provide relief for these families, and I have introduced legislation to provide tax deductions for college education expenses.

My legislation would provide tax deductions of up to $1500 a year for college tuition and fees. The tax deductions would apply to attendance not only at colleges and universities, but at vocational schools as well.

Every year the Federal Government spends billions of dollars on education programs. But the programs providing college aid and grants are directed primarily at low-income families. I support providing aid to needy children, who would otherwise have absolutely no opportunity to obtain a college education. But we must not lose sight of the fact that the middle-income people who are paying the taxes to finance this aid are finding it more and more difficult to educate their own children.

The middle-income people have worked long and hard to get where they are, many times with both the husband and wife working, only to find out that inflation and taxes make them unable to afford to send their children to college.

I think these people are getting a raw deal, and it is time we returned some of their tax dollars to them through tax deductions for college education expenses.

The Senate Finance Committee is now working on a tax reform bill. I believe the best tax reform Congress could enact would be a bill providing more tax relief for middle-income families, and I plan to work for the enactment of this legislation to provide tax deductions for college education expenses.

TV Advertising-Can Children Tell Fact From Fiction?

Many parents carefully screen the television shows that they allow their children to watch, but it is nearly impossible to screen commercials aired on even acceptable children's shows. According to Mary Ann Finch, extension family and child development specialist at the University of Delaware, the average elementary school child is exposed to 22 to 25 thousand TV commercials each year.

Surveys show that ninety-seven percent of U.S. homes have at least one television set. For this reason, television has become a dominant educational force in American life. Just how dominant can be seen from statistics gathered in television viewing studies. It's been shown that the average viewing time for elementary school children is 21 hours weekly, which includes nearly four hours of advertising.

The main reason parents become upset over advertising aimed at children is that children are unable to separate advertisements from programs and consequently accept ads as "gospel." In addition, ads on children's programs are usually for sugared cereals, candy, cookies, and sugared beverages. Children are unable to assess the claims made by the advertisers, and in many cases, these are the very products parents don't want their children to consume.

Some companies even advertise vitamins on children's programs, making them sound attractive and tasty. Vitamin pills are the second most common form of poisoning among children under the age of five.

The major criticism leveled at toy advertising, another prevalent type on children's programs, focuses on the tensions created in families. This is especially true in low-income families, but applies in any family where children ask for toys which parents find too costly, poorly constructed, or otherwise unsuitable for the child.

Other critics of advertising aimed at children point out that commercials, as well as television programs, are an important source of children's expectations and prejudices. Advertising aimed at children often portrays women and minorities in limited roles or suggests that certain roles are appropriate only for men and others only for women.

Ms. Finch suggest that parents concerned with possible harmful effects of this type of advertising should consider courses of action. Forming groups to study the problems, writing to sponsors and stations, and working for government regulations are all important ways concerned adults can voice their concern.

Making TV Work For You And Children

Television has become an educational force to be reckoned with, especially where young children are involved, and whether it teaches our children what we want them to learn is really up to parents. According to Mary Ann Finch, extension family and child development specialist at the University of Delaware, television can be a good source of education when used correctly.

What is correct use of television? For the most part, the single most important thing that will make television useful to you as an educational tool is watching it together with your child. According to Dr. Lois-Ellin Datta, chief of the Head Start evaluation branch, Sesame Street gains are greatest when parents watch the show with children, discuss the program, and do the suggested activities together.

Dr. T. Berry Brazelton in a speech to the American Academy of Pediatrics, cautioned against overuse of the TV as a babysitter. "Healthy emotional and intellectual development is fostered in the young child by interaction with adults who care about him."

Parents who are not willing to supervise their children's viewing or spend time interacting, discussing, and sharing ideas with them, must be made to realize they are by-passing their greatest opportunity to impart their own values. Instead, children's values, ideas, and attitudes become those of television set, often shallow, distorted, and unrealistic.

An additional problem occurs when parents neglect to watch television with their children. Children, particularly very young ones, often misinterpret or fail to understand what they see on television. If the parent is watching and is knowledgeable, he can put things in perspective for the child. He can help the child learn to draw the line between fantasy and reality, to bridge the gap between his own family life and the idealized family life of "The Brady Bunch."

The Greenwood Wesleyan Church on Addix Avenue will be having special services on Sunday, May 2, when they will be burning their parsonage mortgage at 2:30 p.m. The order of the day will be Sunday School and worship service, beginning at 10 a.m. with the Rev. and Mrs. Paul D. Dieter, district superintendent and wife speaking.

The house was purchased four years ago from Nanticoke Homes. Following the service, there will be an open house.

At 7 p.m. there will be a "Platform Service" with the Rev. and Mrs. Lloyd Harris, with youth groups from Mardela, Md. and elsewhere, participating with music, singing and speaking.

Report from Hickory Ridge Congregational Methodist Church: Everyone enjoyed the covered dish dinner Wednesday evening, followed by communion.

Attention Ladies: As many of you know, the ladies of our WMS try to visit the Delaware Hospital for the Chronically Ill at Smyrna each month. The Women's Auxiliary at the Hospital is sponsoring a "Door to '76" Bicentennial Celebration to be held there on May 12, 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. We plan to have a table of miscellaneous items...White elephant type items, costume jewelry, plants, handmade things, baked goods, etc. All proceeds will be used to buy an electric door for the building which contains the Gift Shop, Recreation room and Occupational Therapy department. Let us know if you wish to help with a donation or a service.

Remember those who are ill...Mrs. Orath Thawley at Peninsula; Mr. Walter Mills at Nanticoke; Milford, Mrs. Ida Jones, Mrs. Mary Wiseman; and Robert Willey.

Cheer Center News: Week April 19-23: The first thing on the agenda this week was the Cheer Program Project Council Members meeting agenda this meeting on April 20 at Georgetown to consider the new menu. Mr. and Mrs. Edgar English and Mrs. Eliza Foreman represented our site.

Mr. Goodge was here on Wednesday to show a film, "Portrait of Washington." It was a lovely film and appreciated.

On Thursday seven of our members went shopping in Seaford.

Miss Pam Andrews was a volunteer worker at our site on Thursday. We hope she enjoyed being with us.

Mrs. Charlotte Shea worked for the site manager on Tuesday so she could attend a meeting at Georgetown.

Birthday congratulations were extended to the following who celebrated their birthdays this month: William E. Horner, Orath Thawley, Helen Workman and Belle Allen, also to our homebound members, George Chaffinch, Hazel Trice and George Collins.

Mr. Walter Mills, one of our members, has been in the Seaford Hospital this week for treatment.

Mrs. Orath Thawley fell last Saturday night and broke her hip. She is now in Peninsula General Hospital, Salisbury. We wish them both a speedy return to good health. They are greatly missed at the Center.

Mrs. Lena Barwick spent the Easter holidays in Newark visiting her son, Ralph and his family.

Mrs. William E. Horner, Mrs. Bertha Prettyman and Mrs. Belle Allen spent the Easter holidays in Philadelphia with relatives.

On Tuesday, Mrs. Belle Allen visited in Newark, Del.

Mr. and Mrs. Gary Bolinger were Tuesday evening dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. William Post in Seaford.

Mrs. Blanche Perry and Mrs. May Worm of near Preston were Thursday guests of Mrs. Helen Workman. They enjoyed dinner together at Dillard's in Greenwood and then did some visitation at the Country Rest Home.

Sunday dinner guests of Mrs. Helen Maloney were Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Webb, Jr. and daughter, Mona.

Saturday overnight guests of Mrs. Theresa Oty were Mr. and Mrs. Robert G. Clarke of Mt. Holly, N. J. They returned home on Sunday taking with them their daughters, Mary Ann, Kathy and Dawn, who had been spending the Easter vacation with their grandmother.

The Women's Auxiliary of the Greenwood Little League Association will hold a bake sale at 10 a.m. on Saturday, May 1, in front of Reynolds Market.

Contributions of baked goods, canned goods or cash will be greatly appreciated. For further information, contact Donna Henry, 349-4804 or Beth Schulze 349-4159.

Felton News

by Barbara Jacobs

Hurry! Hurry! the 200 Felton Bicentennial plates arrived last Friday and 100 have been sold. Mrs. Robert Hemphill has the other 100 for sale at $4.50 per plate. Also the Felton History Book will be available. The cost is $4.50 or $5 per copy.

We are all watching the new addition to the Felton Hardware Store being put together. Already they have in supply almost anything you need. With the added space I'm sure they'll be even better stocked.

We are also going to have a ceramic shop across from Felton Hardware. We are all anxiously waiting for the opening. Maybe we are going to have a real business district in town again.

All you good citizens of Felton please don't forget about our Pitch in Program. Pitch in, don't litter.

If you are lucky enough to have one of the Bicentennial trees planted by your home would you please see that it gets watered in between the regular watering times through the dry spell we are having. All of you Felton area readers please call me with your news. If you don't call I can't have it printed in the column. Thank you. 284-4096 after 3 p.m.

Felton Church News:

There were two babies baptized this Sunday. They were Elizabeth Ann Harrington, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elbert Harrington, Felton and Robert Wesley Thompson, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wesley Sr.

Felton Charge had a lovely service for the conformation class Sunday. The sermon was directed directly for the young men and women joining church.

Members of the class were Kenneth Rider, Cathy Harrington, Joy Starkey, Daniel Moore, John Green, Cheryl Dignantes, Douara Kay Wood and Royette Mears. Adults joining the congregation included: Connie Harrington, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Rider and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Thompson. A reception and fellow ship hour was held following the service.

Kids and parents don't forget to get Camp Pecometh registrations in. Rev. Paul has them. To support this we are having a backyard sale May 22 at 9:30 a.m. Barb Jacobs is Chairman. All good junk should be brought to Mrs. Jacobs' house or to the Felton Church at 9:30 a.m., day of sale.

Also a Bible hike is planned for May 16th. More information will be available at a later date.

Remember Bible School is coming up. Tentative date is August 16.

Marine College in Lewes, who favor the theory of the fish coming from the Chesapeake Bay.

Sturgeons are normally found in fresh waters and seas of the North Temperate Zone. According to World Book encyclopedia, they are caught primarily for their flesh, which is usually smoked and for their eggs, which are used in the preparation of caviar.

They search for food along the bottom usually, feeling for food with four or more barbels (fleshy projections).

Norman Toadvine displays the Atlantic sturgeon found not far from the taxidermy studio in Farmington. The fish was in a tax ditch.

When they sense something, the small, tube-like toothless mouth sucks up the food. Toadvine said he could see taste buds around the edge of the sturgeon's mouth, which was located on the underside of the fish's head.

A single dorsal fin rises on the back of the fish. Most migrate from salt to fresh water to spawn.

They belong to a very ancient line of fish. The five rows of armorlike bony plates and the tube-like mouth are carry overs from earlier periods in history.

It has been reported some branches of sturgeons grow to 14 feet and weigh more than 3,000 pounds.

North American sturgeon were in abundance at one time, but overfishing, dams and pollution have reduced their number.

No matter how the fish got to where she did, the Toadvines did not throw away opportunity. They ate most of the fish, and gave samples to a few people. The meat tasted somewhat like veal, said Mr. Toadvine. He does regret discarding the fish's bladder, from which isenglass is made. He also says the bladders are used in the distillation of wine, which the Toadvines make on a small scale.

What will Toadvine do with the mounted sturgeon? He says he will keep it and make reproductions of it for sale.

One thing is almost certain. The mystery behind the Farmington sturgeon will probably never be solved to everyone's satisfaction, and since a sturgeon can produce between 2 and 3 million eggs, according to one source, can we look at those tax ditches again and be sure there is only drainage water in all of them?

Caesar Rodney Sought... A Replacement, That Is

Governor Sherman W. Tribbitt and the Delaware American Revolution Bicentennial Commission are looking for Caesar Rodney.

Not for the real Rodney, but for someone to portray him on the Re-enactment of Rodney's Ride from near Dover to Philadelphia on July 1 and 2.

State Police Lt. Gerald R. Pepper of Hartly, who was scheduled to play the part of Rodney has been hospitalized and ordered to rest for 10 to 12 weeks, which means that he will be unable to go through the conditioning necessary for the 80-mile re-enactment on horseback.

Telephone at the DARBC office is 571-1776. Governor Tribbitt will appoint the rider.

Miss Reiff Is Engaged

Mr. Alfred K. Reiff of Glen Burnie, Maryland, has announced the engagement of his daughter, Linda Anne Roberts, to Charles Ronald Rapp, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Rapp of Harrington. Miss Roberts is also the daughter of the late Mrs. Lillian Reiff.

Miss Roberts is a 1972 graduate of Northeast Senior High School of Maryland.

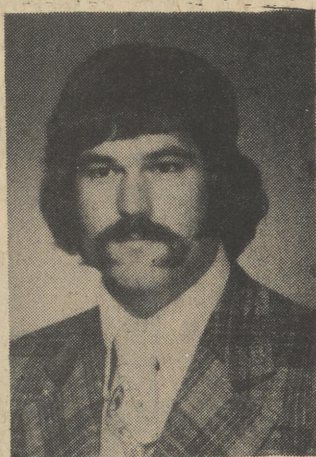

Her fiancé is a 1971 graduate of Lake Forest High School and is employed at Quillen's Market of Harrington.

No date has been set for the wedding.

leus of the Kent-Sussex section of the Delaware Bicentennial Chorus.

This is the third statewide chorus Mrs. Storey has organized.

Evelyn Dickinson Swenson, a lateral descendant of John Dickinson, and a well known music director throughout Delaware, directed a chorus in Seaford and the Choral Society of Dover in the early 1960's. She is rehearsing the New Castle county and greater Wilmington area singers joining the Delaware Bicentennial Chorus using Aldersgate Church Choir as the nucleus of this group. Others are invited to join by attending rehearsals at the church on Concord Pike on Thursdays, at 7:30 p.m., beginning April 29.

For further information call Mrs. William J. Storey at 734-2094 or Mrs. Sigurd Swenson at 478-2575 or 459-5443.

To Receive Divinity Degree

Michael Leigh Price, son of Warren K. and Katie T. Price of Viola, will receive his Master in Divinity degree from Wesley Theological Seminary on May 3.

Mr. Price received his B. A. degree from Delaware State University in 1973. He finished first among the B. A. candidates in 1973.

He is presently serving the Bethel-Concord-Wesley Charge, in Seaford. He is married to the former Betty Anne Wyatt of Felton, Delaware.

Felton's New Bicentennial Flag Waves

On Tuesday V.F.W. Auxiliary Post No. 6009 presented through V.F.W. Bicentennial Queen a "76" flag to the town of Felton. Pictured [l] are Margaret Kates, postmaster of the Felton Post Office, Salena Sherwood, president of the V.F.W. Lake Forest Students Invited To Milford Career Day

Lake Forest High School students have been invited to participate in the Career Conference Day activities which will be held at the Milford High School on Saturday, May 8, from 1 to 3:30 p.m.

Included in the program will be an address by Mrs. Mary Ann Radebach, employment counselor with the Delaware Department of Labor, who will speak about future job markets in the state. Following this, students will have an opportunity to talk personally with adults who are currently engaged in the following vocations: accounting; advertising/public relations; agriculture; architecture; airline stewardess; art; auto mechanics; airline pilot; air-line mechanics; broadcasting; T.V.; clergy/religion; conservation; construction; dentistry; data processing; electronics; fire service/rescue; chef; banking; interior design; law; police; parole officer; nursing; physician; military; printing; professional sports; psychology; secretary; social service; veterinary medicine; journalism; medical technology; truck driving.

This is a unique opportunity for students to talk with persons who are already involved in occupations in which the students themselves might be interested. Interested parents are also invited to attend with their children.

Observe Power Mower Safety

The blade of a rotary power mower turns between 2,000 and 3,600 revolutions per minute. Blade tips can reach a speed of about 200 miles an hour. At that speed, they'll cut or throw almost anything in their path. When power mowers aren't operated properly mangled toes, cut fingers and injuries from flying objects can easily occur.

University of Delaware extension agricultural engineer, Tom Williams, has these safety tips on the safe operation of power mowers.

Always disconnect the spark plug wire before checking the blade. Turning the blade with the spark plug connected is the same as pulling the starter rope.

Before mowing always inspect the lawn for toys, stones, wire and other objects. These not only damage the blade but can also become missiles launched with sufficient force to kill.

Be sure the engine on your mower is shut off and cool before refueling. Otherwise your summer may be ruined in one fiery blastoff. Also, refueling should be done outdoors where a breeze can carry the vapors away. Store your gasoline in a properly labeled, leak-proof can out of reach of children. Never put fuel in a glass container.

Keep hands and feet away from blades and starter pulley at all times. When starting the mower, place one foot firmly on the ground and the other on top of the blade housing deck and give the starter rope a steady pull.

When mowing, always look ahead three or four feet so the mower can be stopped before the blade picks up (Continued to page 12)

Woodbridge's second baseman Jim Vanderwende gets a base hit in action Monday with Delmar.

Raiders Defeat Delmar

In baseball action Monday, Woodbridge defeated previously unbeaten Delmar.

For the winners, Mike Richards drove in Barry Breeding to start a three run second inning and that was all Rick Tull needed to gain his second conference victory this year against no losses.

Delmar added its only score in the bottom of the third when an error by left fielder Barry Breeding allowed third baseman Johnson to reach third.

The Raiders added two insurance runs in the sixth inning on an error by Delmar second basemen Barry Budd.

Leading the Raiders to victory was center fielder Mike Richards who went two for four with one RBI. Tull went one for four with two RBI.

Woodbridge snapped a two game losing streak that started at Caesar Rodney and continued by Indian River in a non-conference game over Easter vacation.

The Raiders were winning the game eight to seven going into the bottom of the seventh when losing pitcher Full struck pinch hitter Brian Banks with two outs. Then Bill Wingate came to bat and after pinch runner Jamie McVicken reached third on a throwing error, hit a home run over the center field fence.

"That's always a tough way to lose" said Raider Coach Jym Vansciver "but I'm glad it was here and not in the conference game."

The Raiders are back in action Thursday (today) against Milford who is 2-2.

Van Sciver Sees Ray of Sunshine With Victory Over Delmar

With the win over Delmar Monday, Raider coach Jym Vansciver sees a ray of sunshine in a baseball season that was beginning to cloud up. Vansciver feels that with the win Monday, the Raider players feel more confident in their ability to play heads-up ball. Several times third baseman Kevin Dewey made shining plays to throw out wildcat runners, and senior first-baseman Gary Baker made a spectacular tag on a runner that almost beat out a bad throw caused by a strong wind blowing in from right field.

When Tull is on the mound, the players seem to have a sense of security, and this helps to make us stronger defensively" commented Vansciver.

"One good sign is that we are doing a lot better with teams that beat us last year, a win over Smyrna and a win over Delmar," he stated.

"Delmar really hurt themselves, second baseman Barry Budd allowed Kevin Baker and Mike Richards to reach first on bad throws, it was mistakes like that that hurt us last year" asserted third year coach Van (that's what the kids call him).

All in all it looks like the Raiders might have a shot at a tournament berth if they play heads-up ball like they did against Smyrna and Delmar.

Lads and Lassies Bowling News

by Terry Clegg

With thirty two weeks down and only one week to go in the 1975-76 Lads and Lassies bowling season, the Pinbusters, winners of the first third, are still hanging on to the top slot. Their four game win over the Moose II team, gives them twenty-nine wins and eleven losses. Edna Mae Layton did her thing Monday night with a 178, 206 and 175 for a 559 series. These scores gave Edna Mae high game and series for women. Her teammate Mike Fry, captured high game for men with a 232. Donnie Hopkins chipped in a nice 192 game. Leah Wheeler tried to put a stop to the Pinbusters' winning streak with a 163, but her teammates couldn't help her out. This four game loss for Moose II puts them down to the eleventh position on the standing sheet.

The 4-Aces are still hanging in there and putting their bid in for the top slot of this, the final third of the bowling season. Linda Johnston was the spitfire of her team firing in a 193. Other members of her team chipped in good games and added three big ones to their win column. The opposing team, the Dy-no-mites, gave it their best effort but only succeeded in taking one game from the 4-Aces. Joe Dopirak showed his strength in bowling with a nice 222 game. This gave Joe second high game for men. Nice rolling Joe!!

The Goldiggers' three game win over the M & P's puts this team only one game out of the top slot. It is anyone's guess as to who will win in the last week of bowling.

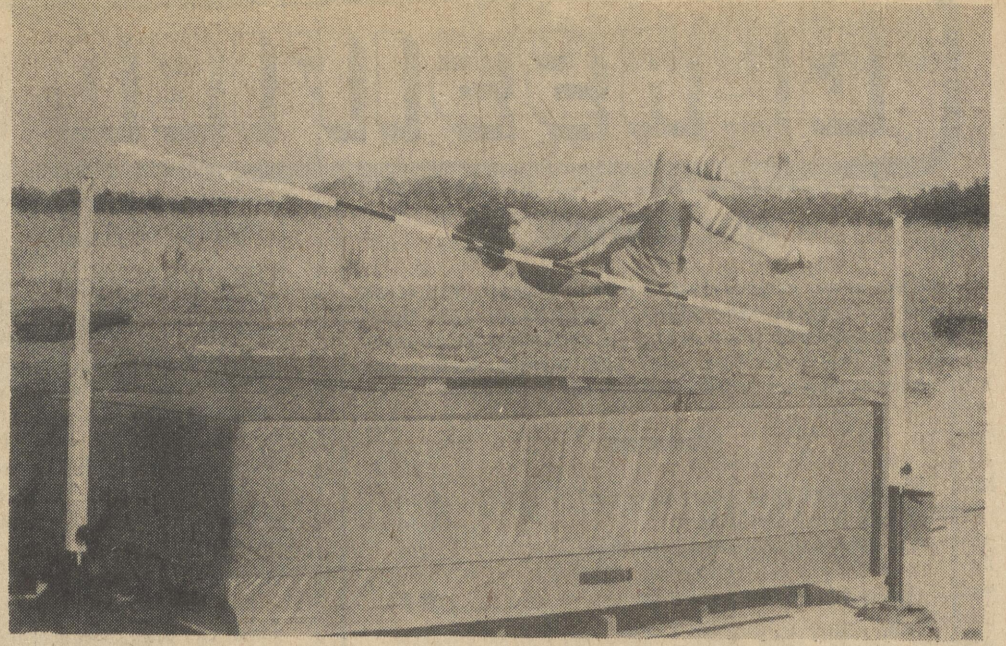

The women of the Goldigger team carried the menfolk with Mary Bergold rolling a 175 and 173 and teammate Doris Buck adding a 171 and 164. The M & P's, winning only one game, dropped down to the sixth position and all but out of this year's race for a trophy. Claire Melvin and Linda Porter tried to slow the Goldiggers down with a 178 and 263 respectively. Mike Hastings, subbing for the M & P's, tried to help with a 191 but the Goldigger team was ready for their opponents and only let one game slip by them.

Moose I applied the pressure to the Campers and added three more games to their win column. These games helped the Moose I team stay in contention for the top position and they remain only two games behind the 4-Aces. Sharon Anderson rolled a 170 and 183. These scores certainly helped Moose I with their victories. The Campers couldn't seem to get it all together and won't get into the roll offs this season. Also Friedline rolled a 198 which helped his team take one game.

The Strikers have struck out for this season's bowling even though they took three from the Misfits. I must say that this team gave it all they had but couldn't gain enough games these last few weeks to stay in contention. Jeff Fry's 201 and Nelson Kenton's 211 and 217 helped them coast to their three game win. Misfit Patti Friedline rolled a 163 to help her team take one game. The Misfits were the winners of the second third and are assured of being in the roll-offs.

Monday night proved to be a night of doom for the Spares as they went down to a four game loss. The only member who seemed to be able to roll good games was Earl Vogan with a 300 and 207. Way to go Earl!! The 'No-Mads' rallied this week and went home with 4

Senior Spartan trackman Bob Mullane encounters one of his misses in route to his victory in the high jump on Tuesday. Mullane jumped 5'8" in the Spartans victory over Laurel.

Benson, Carter Lead Spartans

Double victories by Mike Benson and Chuck Carter, led Jim Blades' Lake Forest track team in a 99-42 rout of Laurel's Bulldogs Tuesday. Lake Forest now has a 2-3 record. Two of the losses were by narrow margins, to Milford and Woodbridge.

High winds made it impossible to record any impressive clockings in the meet Tuesday.

However, Benson's 40 feet 3 1/2 inch leap in the triple jump, was a fine effort. Mike Quail and Stacy Sams completed a 1-2-3 sweep. Mike took the long jump with 18-7 followed by Sams and Quail.

Carter ran 440 yards in 56.4 with ron Loper third. (Chuck then annexed the 880 in 2:16.8 with Dave Richter, Dan Parker and Louis Thomas, all finishing ahead of Laurel's Evans, a top-flight distance man, who was second to Parker in the mile. Parker's 4:49.8 was excellent in all that wind.

Bob Mullane, one of the Spartan's top scorers, won the high jump (5-8), was second in the 330 intermediate hurdles and shared third place with teammate Gusty Voshell in the pole vault.

Steve Salisbury cleared 10 feet, 6 inches to win the pole vault. Tim McCombs and Salisbury came in second and third in the high jump.

John O'Toole, a promising sophomore weightman, spun the discus almost 105 feet to win that event and hurled the 12 pound shot 38-feet, 6 1/2 inches, for the runnerup points.

Chris Palmisano won again by a big margin in the two-mile run, clocking 10:59, despite poor racing conditions.

Jerry Custis, a lanky hurdling tyro, won the high hurdles in 17.9. He's doing an outstanding job in a difficult event and could eventually set a Spartan record or two.

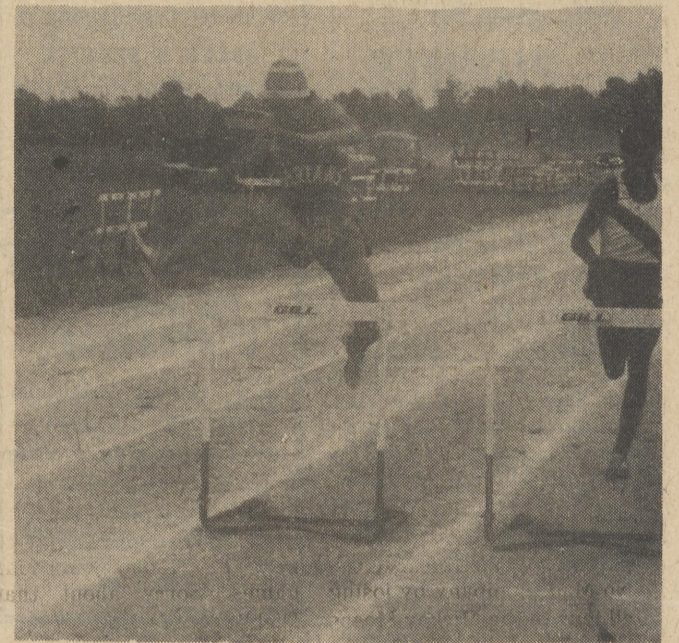

Tony Smith and Charley Scott ran second in the 100 and 220 yard dashes, respectively, then teamed with Grayson Barthlow and Greg Pritchett to take the 880 relay in 1:40.8. Mike Benson, Smith, Scott and Pritchett ran 48.4, to capture the 440 relay.

Dave Richter, Ron Loper, Craig Kashner and Harry Benson did an unpressed 3:57 in the mile relay.

John Moffett was three-tenths of a second, out of third place in his best-yet 330 hurdles test.

Lake Forest is definitely respectable again in track. Only Dover, in the Henlopen Conference, is appreciably better and the Senators are defending Group I state champions, who are a strong threat, to repeat.

Spartan hurdler John Moffett clears his last hurdle in route to a fourth place finish in the 330 intermediate hurdles.

Breeding Picks Up Where He Left Off

by A. G. Keller

Federalburg's Walt 'Stevie' Breeding picked up where he left off one year ago in winning George-town's inaugural Modified feature driving an immaculately prepared Taylor &

Messick-Smithville Farms Chevy Powered Gremlin. Larry Tucker of Milford kept Breeding in sight behind the wheel of the Absher Racing Team-Jay's Construction Vega scoring second under Starter Bill Lawson's coveted victory colors.

Glenn Wilson from Houston was a strong competitor chaffering the Bill's Performance Center-Houston Oil Co. Vega taking third which was up for grabs throughout the event. Milford's Bob Passwaters anchored fourth driving the Shawn's Hideaway-J.C. Miller Trucking Vega home ahead of Bridgeville's Stan Busby recovered from a first lap spill scoring fifth place respectively for Dillard's Restaurants-J.O.B. Const.

Convey's Car Care. Paul Walker, Jr. was sixth for Coastal Construction.

Richard Malnor of Berlin returned a Sportsman feature winner piloting the Wilkin's Farm Service-Russell Repair Shop Ford Powered Colt to a flawless triumph over Georgetown's Bodie Bodenweiser who was second. The Lewes Dairy Market Special and Bodenweiser remained no more than a car length behind Malnor for the distance as both drivers found the high speed groove to their liking. Donnie Joseph from Bridgeville a 'hot-shoe' in his own right scored third behind the wheel of the James F. Givens, Inc. Shore Roofing Mustang. Ralph 'Speedy' (Continued to page 9)

Cape Henlopen Drops Spartans

With their loss on Monday to Cape Henlopen the Lake Forest Spartan Baseball squad dropped into last place in the Southern Division with a 1-3 record.

The Cape entered the game with a record of 0-2 but picked on the Spartans for their first win of the season by a score of 5-2. The Spartans took a quick lead when after the first two batters were retired quickly Jeff Chambers and Neal Smith picked up walks and Lester Blades knocked then in with a two run scoring triple.

The Vikings wasted little time in retaliating as they got back one run against the Spartans pitcher Greg Reagan. Both teams were held scoreless over the next two frames but Cape Henlopen took a lead in the bottom of the fourth as Thurman Batson's two-out double drove in the tying run with John Stevenson. After Bob Maul singled Batson to third Mike Schlitter singled Batson home with the winning run.

Lake Forest as a team is batting .372 with Blades leading the way of the regulars with a .636 batting average. This is Blades first season on the varsity squad and according to Coach Bill Falasco he and Billy Jackson are the brightest Spots this season offensively. Jackson is batting a strong .400. Of the regulars only Ken Crouse and Jeff Chambers are batting under .200.

The Spartans next game is Monday against the Dover Senators. Either Junior Greg Reagan or Senior Frank McCullough will oppose Dover and Mike McGinnis will face Seaford on Thursday.

It's time for Little and Senior Leagues to start their annual season play and above two teams tune up for Saturday's Opener.

Dover Downs News

Race fans will get the thrill of a lifetime on Saturday, May 8th when for the first time they will be allowed to drive their own cars on the high banked superspeedway at Dover Downs.

Dover Downs President, John Riddle has declared that from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m. on May 8th Dover Downs will conduct an open house in preparation for the eighth annual Mason-Dixon "500" Winston Cup Grand National race scheduled for May 16th at Dover Downs.

"We'll have policemen on hand to insure that speed on the racetrack is controlled," riddle said, "so that no one is injured. We want people to have a good time when they come out and be able to grasp how the speedway looks to the NASCAR drivers."

dian River, and H. C. (Brud) Davis, III owner of H. C. Davis, Co. of Bridgeville, addressed the group.

Each candidate spoke for five minutes giving his reason for running for the lone seat. Bennett pointed out the "...need to return to the 3 R's". He further cited the discipline problems at North Bridgeville Elementary recently which prompted him to announce his candidacy. Bennett did not elaborate on the discipline problem recently experienced at N.B.E.

Charles Davis, who likes to be called "Chuck," said the prime need "...is curriculum...as opposed to program of studies." "Curriculum," he said is "everything from busing and riding to school to classroom work." He went on record as saying "...some people think that I have a personal vendetta to bring against the school... and the Board. This is not true. I had three enjoyable years on the faculty at Woodbridge and I have had three enjoyable years at Indian River." "I want to better the school program," he said. "I feel the areas being cut are the ones which are being cut every year... and we should not be cutting these areas of study."

The areas Davis referred to were the ones related to the academic fields. He went on to say that too much emphasis is being put on the slow to medium student and

"...the bright student is being overlooked to the extent that he or she is not getting the proper attention needed. "...not only have they watered down the English programs, but they have watered down everything", according to Charles Davis.

H. C. (Brud) Davis, III owner of H. C. Davis meat company in Bridgeville told the group of mostly women he had "...no big ideals on what to do...nor will I try to institute any big changes". "I have definite ideas on things as anyone who knows we will admit", said Davis, who is no relation to Charles Davis. He further stated that he felt the primary responsibility of the School Board is to get the best education for the "...dollar and this means getting the best teachers as well."

Both Bennett and Charles Davis were questioned by PTA members on their stand on discipline and smoking area for students. Bennett said "...there was a need to improve the situation at North Bridgeville." He feels that the teachers need "backing up". He was also in favor of a smoking area for students. Davis (Charles) took the stand on discipline that "...it was an individual situation, and that it would be necessary to deal with the issue at hand". He too felt that a smoking area was a good idea. The school Board election will be held on Saturday.

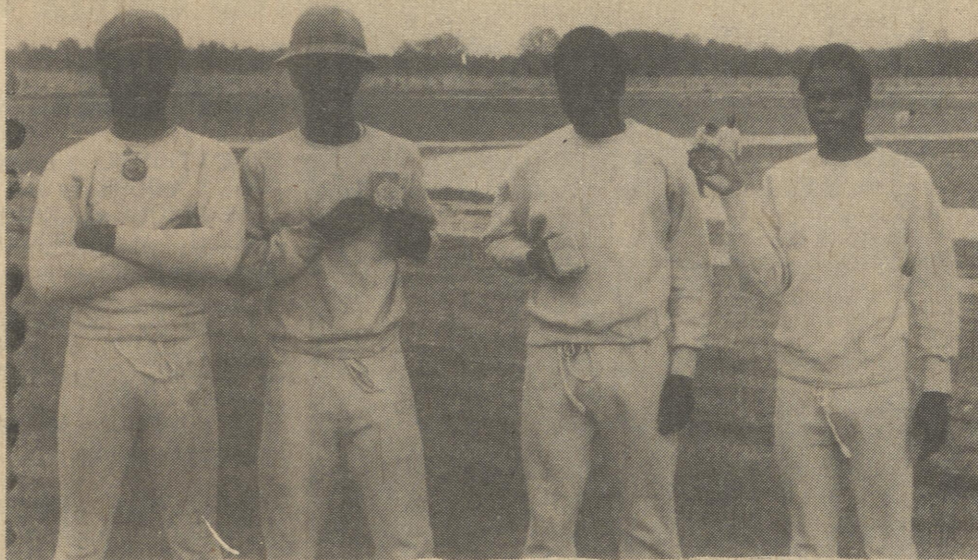

In other matters before the group, Cpl. Vickers of the Delaware State Police gave a film presentation on "Drugs and Alcohol." He pointed out the menace that exists in school today with drugs and marijuana. He quickly pointed out that he has not made any arrests in the Woodbridge School this year.

The film was a narration on three students, two of which died as a result of high potency drugs mixed with alcohol.

The talk followed with a question and answer period. During this period Vickers pointed out that possession of marijuana is a misdemeanor which does not carry with it a jail sentence. The dealers of narcotics and drugs is convicted and sentenced for a felony.

ALTHOUGH MUCH ABOUT THE INFANTRY HAS CHANGED OVER THE YEARS, ONE FACT REMAINS. THE INFANTRY OFFERS A SPECIAL CHALLENGE TO A SPECIAL BREED OF SOLDIER. THOSE LOOKING TO TEST THEMSELVES AND THEIR WORLD MAY FIND WHAT THEY'RE AFTER IN THE INFANTRY!

Victorious at the Wilmington Relays for the Spartans was the Distance Medeley Relay team which consisted of [l-r] Ron Loper, Harry Benson, Charlie Scott and Dan Parker.

Azaleas Are Popular Shrubs

Evergreen azaleas are one of the most popular shrubs in Delaware landscapes. There are a few basics, though, which must be followed if azaleas are to thrive here. These basics include proper soil, good mulching and a suitable location in the garden.

The first basic is soil. Azaleas need an open, loose soil with an abundance of organic matter. In Sussex county they are often sandy and excessively dry in summer. The soil can be improved for azaleas by the use of the peat moss or other acid compost.

We suggest that you follow this soil conditioning procedure when planting a new azalea. Prepare a hole about three feet in diameter...do this even for a small plant. Mix the soil removed with a fourth to a half as much peat moss by volume. Then refill the hole with the mixture to a depth that leaves the new azalea plant raised slightly above its original depth. This is extremely important, as azalea roots grow close to the soil surface.

Next, backfill around the plant and with the remaining soil create a saucer around the outer edge of the hole. Water the plant thoroughly. A soluble fertilizer may be mixed with the water at planting, if desired.

Another key to the successful growing of azaleas in this area is mulch. To keep the soil surface from packing and to provide a favorable environment for the shallow roots, apply about two to three inches of mulch around azaleas. Any of a number of materials may be used.

Wood chips or bark, pine needles and licorice root are good mulches. Leaf mold compost can also be used.

Proper exposure is an important consideration for evergreen azaleas. They need sun in order to flower well, but high shade or an east or north exposure that screens out hot afternoon sun is ideal. Also avoid windy, open exposures for evergreen azaleas. Wind can often be blocked by planting needle evergreens where they will offer protection to azaleas.

Azaleas need relatively little care, once they are established. But newly-planted shrubs should be watered as needed throughout the summer. Plants need only to be fertilized once a year, in the spring. If any pruning or shaping is needed it can be done as soon as the plants finish blooming. The only insect problem usually encountered with azaleas is lacebug and this is easily controlled if detected early before damage occurs.

Lake Forest Track Fems Down Dover

Lake Forest's distaff track team easily handled Dover High's girls' team in an abbreviated track meet held at Lake Forest, last week.

The Spartans won six of seven events enroute to a 42-22 victory.

Brenda Teat was a double winner, capturing the 100 and 220 yard dashes with Sabrina "Beany" Pizzuto finishing third in the century.

Karen Singleton won a windy 6.50 mile, then finished a tenth of a second behind teammate Denise Johnson in the 110 yard low hurdles, 17.2 to 17.1.

Patty Irish was second in the mile, while Dorie Johnson was second and Paula Jackson was third in the 440.

Paula Mosley and Valerie Davis were first and third in the 880 yard run.

Mosley, Johnson, Jackson and Joyce Ewing made up the winning mile relay quartet.

Coach Dave Buck has molded another winning team, despite the loss of several key performers, who are still in school, but aren't out for track, for one reason or another.

House Plants Need To Adapt

Unless you are willing to change the humidity and temperature conditions in your house, you would be wise to grow house plants which can adapt themselves to your living conditions, says Dr. Charles Dunham, extension horticulturist at the University of Delaware.

Different plants have differing needs for light, temperature, and humidity. Low, medium, and full light requirements will dictate where certain plants are placed.

Among the plants which will tolerate very low light conditions are many palms and many of the aroids, such as philodendron, China-reen, and Dieffenbachia. These can be placed away from windows in a room. Some plants, like English ivy, will tolerate low light conditions, but would do better with more light.

Plants which will do best with medium light conditions are the beefsteak begonia, variegated "gold dust" plant, spider plant, and most ferns. Among those plants which require full light conditions are geraniums, herbs, coleus, flowering begonias and succulents. These will need to be placed in a west, east or south window for best growth.

In choosing a growing medium, a general soil mix of one-third garden soil, one-third sand, and one-third peat moss is usually your most useful soil mixture, advises Dunham. To one bushel of this mix, you can add five tablespoons lime, three tablespoons 10-10-10 fertilizer, and two tablespoons phosphate.

Dunham cautions that soil should be sterilized, especially if used in terrariums. This eliminates the possibility of weed infestation in your plant containers. To sterilize soil, put it in the oven at 180 degrees F. for one-half hour.

If you prefer the synthetic soil mixes, Dunham recommends buying a ready-made mix. However, to prepare your own, mix two parts peat, one part vermiculite, and one part perlite. To one bushel of this mix you must add one-eighth teaspoon of chelated iron, eight tablespoons of lime, and three tablespoons of 10-10-10 fertilizer. The addition of one-quarter teaspoon "wetting agent" is beneficial but not absolutely necessary. It will help water to penetrate the soil better.

You are able to purchase soil mixes, says the horticulturist. Some specify that they are for terrariums, but humidity, Baby tears, dwarf ferns, Selaginellas and earthstar are good examples. Dunham cautions about using rapid-growing plants in a terrarium because they quickly outgrow their container.

DEFENDING THE FLAG

The U.S. Marines helped to defend the flag in the sea fight between the Bon Homme Richard and the Serapis, September 23, 1779, when John Paul Jones made his defiant retort: "I have not yet begun to fight," according to the U.S. Marine Corps Reserve.

Marines carried the Stars and Stripes to the "Shores of Tripoli" where it was hoisted at Derne, April 27, 1805, the first time our flag was flown over a fortress of the Old World. The Marines also took part in the defense of Fort Mchenry during the night of September 13, 1814, where, on the following morning, our flag inspired Francis Scott Key to write the Star-Spangled Banner.

White ribbon winners were: Lestine Spady, Regina Batson and Nikita Fletcher.

Serving as Master of Ceremonies was Mike Hudson, President of the 4-H Jr. Council. Narrators were: Kim Knopp, Carla Parker, Katrina Caphas, Carol Loockerman, Marion Hopkins, Pam Correll and Vicki Morrone.

Serving as escorts were: Sam Hopkins, Clay Vincent, H.D. Parsons, Carlton Parker, Mark Melson, Steve Cooper, Chuck Derickson, Mike Hudson, Landy Correll and Monty Bryan.

A special thanks to the leaders who worked with the models: Mrs. Tricia Repper, Mrs. Pam Wells, Mrs. Kathy House, Miss Nancy Cephas, and Miss Teresa Rich.

The judges for the event were: Mrs. Jean Cranston, Mrs. Ernest Bennett, Mrs. Gwen Basemore, Miss Pat

Harrison, Miss Kathleen Weibel and Miss Kathleen O'Neal. Thanks go to the Sussex County 4-H Leaders Association for providing the dinner for the contestants and help during the day. Thanks also go to the Sussex Central Senior High for the use of their facilities. Club meetings for next week are: Broadkill Kool Kats and Slaughter Neck Peach Blossoms on Monday.

Greenwood Hi-Flyers Meet

The Greenwood Hi-Flyers 4-H Club had their annual family night dinner Friday, April 23.

Kay Pratt, president, welcomed everyone to the dinner. Carol Cox, vice-president gave the flag salute; John Reed, Treasurer, gave the 4-H pledge and Connie Eskridge, secretary, invocation.

After dinner Kay Pratt introduced guests Ted Palmer, County Agent, his wife and family and Jimmy Moore, assistant for the work study program.

Mr. Palmer showed slides of the 4-H Parade in Milford last year. Connie Eskridge, 1976 Dress Revue Queen, Carol Cox, member of the Senior Court, Dawn Hall and Karla Cranmer topped the evening off with a Mini Dress Revue.

Farmington

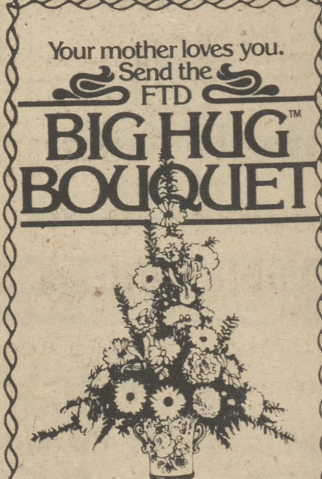

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Slater Sr. and children and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Slater and daughter, Eloise visited Mr. and Mrs. Watson Walkup in Hamstead, W. Va. for a very nice weeks vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. William Messick, Mr. Lewis Slater Jr. and Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Divine and son Wayne of Felton enjoyed dinner in Dover Sunday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Robichaud celebrated their anniversary Monday April 26th by having dinner out and visiting her aunt Mrs. Doris Kemp of Milford.

Mrs. Preston Beebe is home from Salisbury Hospital where she underwent surgery on her arm.

It Seams To Me

Hot weather is coming. If you work in an air-conditioned building, you may find the thermostat has been adjusted to conserve energy. So if the temperature seems too warm for hot, sticky days what can you do about it?

Dress cool. That's one thing you can do. We all know that the less clothing worn the cooler we stay. But do you realize how much? The figures may surprise you. For example, a man who removes his jacket, replaces a long-sleeved shirt with a short-sleeved shirt, takes off his tie, and opens his shirt collar remains as comfortable at 79 degrees as he was previously at 76 degrees.

A new report prepared by the Office of Energy Conservation and Environment says if we adopt the cooler mode of dress and raise thermostat settings in all air-conditioned homes and businesses by only one degree F. America would save the equivalent of 100,000 barrels of oil a day. Building owners and business operators can encourage employees to abandon the warmer, more formal dress styles. This dress code runs counter to longstanding traditions in some banks, offices, restaurants and stores; but maybe we should look at this code realistically. As the report indicates, workers in warmer countries function quite successfully while dressing comfortably and avoid the intense air conditioning addiction of our society.

For women, if light slacks are replaced with a light skirt the thermostat setting can be raised 1.5 degrees F. and one can be just as comfortable. Figures indicate she can also keep cooler by removing stockings, by replacing pumps with sandals, by wearing a half slip instead of a full slip.

The fashion trend to lightweight, open-weave, gauzy fabrics will also help one keep cooler. Open-weave fabrics allow more air to circulate. Natural fibers, such as cotton and linen, are absorbent and therefore, cooler for many people than fabrics of man-made fibers. They do tend to wrinkle more, but the wrinkled look seems to be in fashion in some circles.

And light colors are cooler than dark because they reflect rather than absorb heat.

So...this summer dress cool, man! And if your friends tell you you don't look so hot, maybe you take it as a compliment.

Ag Day Set

The First Annual Agriculture Day, sponsored by the Ag College Council at the University of Delaware, is scheduled for Saturday, May 1, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. The raindate will be May 2.

Located outdoors on the main mall (between Memorial Hall and Delaware Avenue) of the University campus, the event will offer displays of beef and dairy cattle, turf and lawn weeds, soybeans, young farm animals, house plant care, and landscape design.

Agriculture Day is presented as an educational and recreational public service. It is free and open to the public. For more information, call 738-2508.

Slaughterhouse, Where Are You?

This is a question the Louis Kemps, who live two miles west of Harrington have been asking themselves and the neighborhood since April 10. For it was on this date their 600-700 pound year-old Holstein steer was last seen.

Mrs. Ann Kemp, a Harrington Journal employe, told the Journal she missed her steer upon returning from visiting her husband, Louis, in Milford Memorial Hospital on April 10. After discovering the steer was missing, Mrs. Kemp and her son, Tim got into the family car and drove down road 279 in hopes of locating the wandering steer. Mrs. Kemp said she felt Slaughterhouse had just jumped the fence and had wandered off.

Both Mrs. Kemp and her son located the steer around dusk with several other cattle in a pen next door at the neighbor's. She said she assumed the neighbor, Clifford Hudson, had put the steer up with his when he had seen it loose. The Hudsons, however, were away at the time and did not return until Monday evening. They knew nothing about the missing steer.

Mrs. Kemp and her son, feeling the steer was safe, returned home. Little did they know it was their last glimpse of Slaughterhouse. Sometime in the night, as the Kemps told the State Police, they feel someone came in and helped themselves to their steer, which they thought was safe. The Kemps said they felt someone had taken advantage of the situation when the steer got loose.

Slaughterhouse's whereabouts are unknown at this writing. Holsteins are basically black and white. This steer is described as having no white below the knees, having a white left hip and a small white spot under his neck.

Anyone having any information regarding the whereabouts of Slaughterhouse since his disappearance April 10 should contact the Kemps or Troop 5, Bridgeville.

Unusual Picture, Unusual Name

You are not looking down the barrel of a huge shotgun, but rather an assembly line of horizontally stacked "hog heads"—the life blood of the $7.5 billion a year tobacco industry. These hogs heads, (shown) which are being processed at the $200 million Philip Morris Operations Center in Richmond, Va., contain nearly 1,000 pounds of tobacco which is stored by computer operated machinery and aged until ready for use.

Last Wednesday members of the Harrington and Farmington Fire Co. battled a large woods fire in Farmington. The white areas of the picture is a heavily wooded area which is covered by the dense smoke.

objects. Always push the mower ahead of you so that objects are thrown to the side. Pulling the mower toward you also throws grass objects toward you. Keep children, pets and adults completely out of the area. Even 100 feet is too close. Mow inclines back and forth, never up and down.

Never leave a running mower unattended. Always stop the engine and disconnect the spark plug wire when leaving. This will prevent children from finding a dangerous toy.

We wouldn't think of allowing our children to play with or handled a loaded gun without first being sure they were capable and completely trained in its safe use. Neither should we permit them to handle a power mower before they are strong enough to control the machine completely and well enough informed to use it safely.

Safety-toes shoes are the ideal footwear when using a power mower, says Williams. Tennis shoes and bare feet are strictly taboo.

The most frequent accidents that occur with all types of power mowers seem to be cut or amputated fingers and toes, and bruises and punctures from flying objects. Riding mower accidents include overturn, backing over children, putting feet on the ground in the path of the blade when feeling insecure, or jumping off.

Play it safe. Don't let your summer turn into a nightmare because of carelessness with power mowers.

Leaves and dandelions are good in salads and can be cooked as well. Some people prefer them to spinach, and they're just as rich in vitamins and minerals.

Milford Library District Created

The Kent County Levy Court created the Milford Library District, which will raise funds for the Milford Public Library and raise the taxes of about 400 homeowners in southern Kent County Tuesday night.

The library district takes in households that are in the Kent County section of the Milford city limits plus those Kent County households in the Milford School District.

The district will be taxed to provide a Kent County share of the expenses of the Milford Library, which is in Sussex County.

Court commissioner estimated the shares will be in the neighborhood of $9,000.

This is approximately an additional taxation of about four cents per $100 valuation.

The residents of that area paid that amount to the Milford School District until last year, when the tax was abolished after libraries came under county control.

p.m. at the following locations: the nurse's office in the W. T. Chipman Junior High School in Harrington (Dorman Street), the nurse's office in the Lake Forest East Elementary School in Frederica and the nurse's office in the Lake Forest North Elementary School in Felton. If these times are not convenient call the nurse in your district.

Parents are asked to register their children in the building located in their elementary attendance area. Children now attending kindergarten in the district are considered to be registered for first grade; nothing in the way of registration is required of their parents. Children in the age group for kindergarten attendance starting in September (those who will be five years old on or before January 1, 1977) must be registered. Also to be registered are prospective first graders who will be six years of age on or before January 1, 1977, but who have not been attending kindergarten or are newcomers to the district.

Parents must present the child's birth certificate at the time of registration. Immunization records must be presented at this time also.

Gardens From Past Make Comback

For anyone who is a garden enthusiast, the bicentennial is an opportunity to renew, strengthen and enrich our gardening heritage. We have many fine gardens that have come down to us from the past. These were in general the gardens of the well-to-do who had the means and the leisure time needed to develop and care for them.

At no time in our history has the interest in gardening—and the means to indulge it—been available to so many people as it is today. Gardens planted now in the spirit of the bicentennial can enrich our lives, the lives of our children and even our children's children.

A bicentennial garden may be anything that you want it to be. It may be a garden of the past, modified and changed to fit the needs of our time. It may be a garden of 1976 based around patio, a balcony or a rock garden. You can also commemorate the bicentennial by planting a tree. This would be particularly appropriate since a tree lives for many years and throughout its lifespan will remind you of the occasion for which it was planted.

If I were to select one feature of early colonial gardens which is particularly suitable to today, I would choose the kitchen garden. This was a utilitarian garden then, providing food for the table and a supply of herbs for the numerous home remedies used for minor ailments. The kitchen garden was usually laid out in a formal geometric pattern, with walks dividing the area into beds for easy maintenance and access. It was located close to the house for convenience. It was enclosed by a fence to keep out meandering livestock and also to provide shelter for early and tender plants.

A well laid out kitchen garden is just as valuable today as it was in colonial times and it makes an attractive addition to the landscape. Choose an area which has full sun and good drainage. Enclose it with some kind of fence. This can be as simple or elaborate as you like, depending on the general style of the surrounding area.

Divide the garden into beds with walks. These may be some kind of brick or stone, but they don't have to be. The beds should be a minimum of three feet wide to a maximum of six feet. Length will depend on the size of the garden. The beds should be raised and surrounded by an edging of wood or brick. Mulching them will greatly reduce maintenance.

Herbs, flowers and even dwarf fruit trees can be planted in the outside beds. The inside bed or beds are devoted to vegetables. Properly laid out, this kind of garden is an attractive addition to the landscape. It has a permanent framework that gives it year-round interest. It is truly a garden to be proud of, and one which can yield a great deal of pleasure over the years.

Plans for laying out a small kitchen garden, as well as a fact sheet on growing herbs, are available by writing the Delaware Cooperative Extension Service, Mail Room, Agricultural Hall, University of Delaware, Newark, DE 19711.

Chamber Meets

The Harrington Chamber of Commerce held its regular monthly meeting at the Fairgrounds restaurant Tuesday afternoon.

President Leroy Calhoun introduced two speakers, Michael Foley and Mike Rapp, who spoke to the chamber members about the possibility of hospitalization under the United Chamber Trust Insurance Co. If the local Chamber's insurance persons express an interest, such a plan might be available in the future to Chamber members.

Colonial Diet Varied

The following is an account from James Tilton, colonial Delaware agriculturist and physician, talking about the diet of farmers in 1779:

"The inhabitants of Delaware use a great proportion of animal food. Few men breakfast without a portion of meat; and it is an universal practice to dine in the middle of the day, upon a fullmeal of meat, with bread and vegetables. The meanest slaves have this indulgence. Supper is usually our lightest meal.

"There is also an excessive use of tea and coffee in this state. Every housekeeper that can afford it, breakfasts upon one or the other; and the genteel people generally indulge in the parade of tea, in the afternoon. Butter is much used, especially at breakfast; cheese but little.

"Salted pork and bacon are the meats most used in winter and spring; fresh killed mutton and other cattle, with poultry, fish etc. in the summer and fall of the year. Salted meats of every kind are boiled. Fresh meats, are oftener roasted than boiled. Soups are not much in use. We abound in vegetables of various kinds, adapted as sauces to the various preparations of our meats. The more wealthy inhabitants make their bread of wheat flour; the poorer sort generally of indian meal."

Men with a genius for crystal-logic and cut every piece by hand, with love like all art. Waterford grows in value with the passing years.

#11 in a Series: The onshore impact of offshore oil Will offshore oil operations affect the fishing industry?

The fishing and shellfish industries on the Atlantic Coast are an important segment of the economy. So naturally, people are hoping that offshore oil operations will not adversely affect them.

Our experience in offshore operations in the Gulf of Mexico is reassuring. Amoco and the oil industry won't claim that our offshore operations have improved fishing in the Gulf of Mexico, but over the past 25 years the commercial fishing catch in the Gulf has actually increased. This was a period of rapidly expanding oil activities in the Gulf. There are currently some 2,900 offshore oil platforms in Gulf of Mexico waters.

We can say for certain, however, that offshore oil operations have not harmed fishing. This view has been borne out by testimony of public officials, scientists and educators who have carefully studied the issue.

The shellfish industry would not be affected, since offshore Atlantic activity would be far beyond the shellfish beds.

Similarly, pleasure boating and swimming in beach areas, hunting in wetlands or marsh areas, and sport fishing at sea would be unaffected.

Future energy is important to America. But the conservation of our natural resources and prevention of pollution are equally important.

THE BICENTENNIAL KITCHEN

COLONIAL RECIPE COMES FROM WILLIAMSBURG

Step into the past, three centuries ago, when Williamsburg, Virginia, was the capital of the colony and the center of its hospitality.

One of the "musts" in colonial Williamsburg was a variety of desserts to offer guests—puddings, pastries, jellies, sweetmeats. Cakes were closely associated with family and social life, whatever the occasion.

Williamsburg Orange Cake was a favorite all-occasion dessert. This version is a simple one layer cake, flavored with orange peel, raisins, walnuts and the buttery taste of Blue Bonnet Margarine.

Try a memory from 18th Century Williamsburg for dessert, served with hot tea or coffee.

WILLIAMSBURG ORANGE CAKE 1/2 cup (1 stick) softened Blue Bonnet Margarine 1 cup sugar 2 eggs 1 teaspoon vanilla extract 1-2/3 cups unsifted flour 1 teaspoon baking soda 1/2 teaspoon salt

"Queen Anne's Crafts Festival"

The fifth annual "Queen Anne's Crafts Festival," sponsored by the Rotary Club of Centerville, Md., will be Saturday, May 15 and Sunday May 16.

An admission of $1 for adults which includes parking and 50¢ for children of school age will be charged. Meals and snacks may be purchased on the grounds.

This Williamsburg-inspired Orange Cake brings memories from three centuries past. It is flavored with orange peel, raisins and nuts and is topped with a sherry-orange flavored frosting.

1 cup sour milk or buttermilk 1 cup chopped dark seedless raisins 1/2 cup coarsely chopped English walnuts 1 tablespoon grated orange peel In a large bowl, cream together Blue Bonnet Margarine and sugar until light and fluffy. Beat in eggs and vanilla extract.

TV-Is it Suitable For Children?

Last of a four part series. Parents who are concerned with the amount and type of television their children watch may think that watching television is an "all or nothing" proposition.

A parent can judge a program as to its suitability for young viewers. Since each child will react differently to programming, parents are in an excellent position to pass judgment on the basis of their own children's feelings.

There are some general guidelines, says Ms. Finch, which will help parents choose suitable viewing matter. In general, judge a program undesirable if it's overly exciting and emotionally disturbing by showing excessive torture, terror or punishment.

In addition, a program is undesirable for young viewers if it is prejudiced, unrealistic or presents persons as stereotypes or glamorizes crime, greed, cruelty, and other undesirable qualities.

What, then, makes for good programming? A good program will aid the child in understanding himself and others and help him or her to develop suitable ideas, values, and beliefs. It should add to a child's information and promote the growth of interests, as well as present experiences suited to the child's degree of maturity.

Good programming for children will also promote language development and use clear, correct, and interesting conversation or discussion. It will provide enjoyment and be related to wholesome interests, play, and other activities.

Webelos Dens may camp overnight on Saturday and should make arrangements with their Scout Troop to camp in with them.

The Saturday afternoon activity Skill-o-Rama will be in the nature of a participation show in which each of the various troops and patrols will be demonstrating various skills which will include: rope making, leather making, edible plants, etc.

materials and stimulates wide reading. Judge it desirable with a capital "D" if it can meet these criteria and foster an understanding of the world and of the child's responsibility for growing up to be an informed and responsible citizen.

This is a tall order, says Ms. Finch, and certainly not every "desirable" program will meet all these needs. If you as a parent can keep television in proper perspective as an educational tool, you can use it to supplement your family dialogue, communication and interaction.

Benefit Games Day Planned

Plans are underway for the 16th annual benefit games day sponsored by the Officers Wives Club at Dover Air Force Base. All will meet all these needs. If you as a parent can keep television in proper perspective as an educational tool, you can use it to supplement your family dialogue, communication and interaction.

This year's benefit will be held Tuesday, MAY 11 at the Dover AFB Officer's Club, with play beginning at 10 a.m. (500 points for being on time), and continuing throughout the day.

Admission is $4.50 which includes $2 for lunch and a $2.50 donation. Ticket sales close May 7 and no tickets will be sold at the door.
