"Proclaim Liberty Throughout The Land"

Independence Bell - July 4, 1776

Since Bicentennial activities seem to center around the '76 "Ring of the Liberty Bell" it is only reasonable that many are led to think it was broken at that time which is not the case and warrants more information on its actual history.

As the World Book tells us, the historic Liberty Bell was made in England in 1752, brought to this country, and cracked when rung. It was recast in 1753 in Philadelphia and was rung each year thereafter until 1835 when it cracked during the funeral of Chief Justice John Marshall. The inscription on the bell is from the Bible (Leviticus 25:10) "Proclaim Liberty throughout the land to all inhabitants thereof". The Liberty Bell is a treasured relic of the early days of American independence. It was rung July 8, 1776 to call together citizens to announce the adoption of the Declaration of Independence.

The following poem of unknown origin appeared in my 4th Reader when I was a lad in grade school. It had been written to commemorate the 1876 Centennial and memorizing it was a requirement I have appreciated many times since then.

Staff Writer Hired

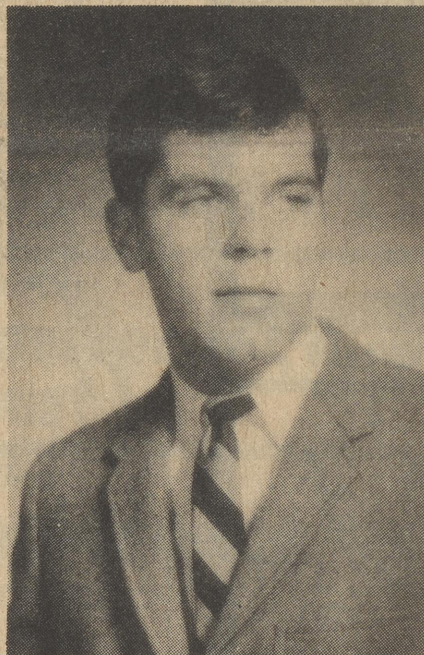

James L. Cresson, Milford, has been named staff writer for the Harrington Journal newspaper, effective July 1.

Cresson's duties will be as a general-assignment news and photo reporter for the Kent and Sussex areas served by the Journal.

A graduate of Fishburne Military School, Waynesboro, Va., Cresson attended the University of Maryland and Tusculum College, Greeneville, Tenn., where he studied journalism.

A veteran of service in Vietnam, Cresson spent a year in Saigon as a journalist for the Army and the Air Force. Locally, he covered Sussex County news for the Delaware State News in 1969 and has since been living in Johnson City, Tennessee, where he wrote copy for an advertising agency.

Area residents with news or views for the Harrington Journal should contact Cresson at the Journal office, Commerce St., Harrington.

Nabbed On Police Steps

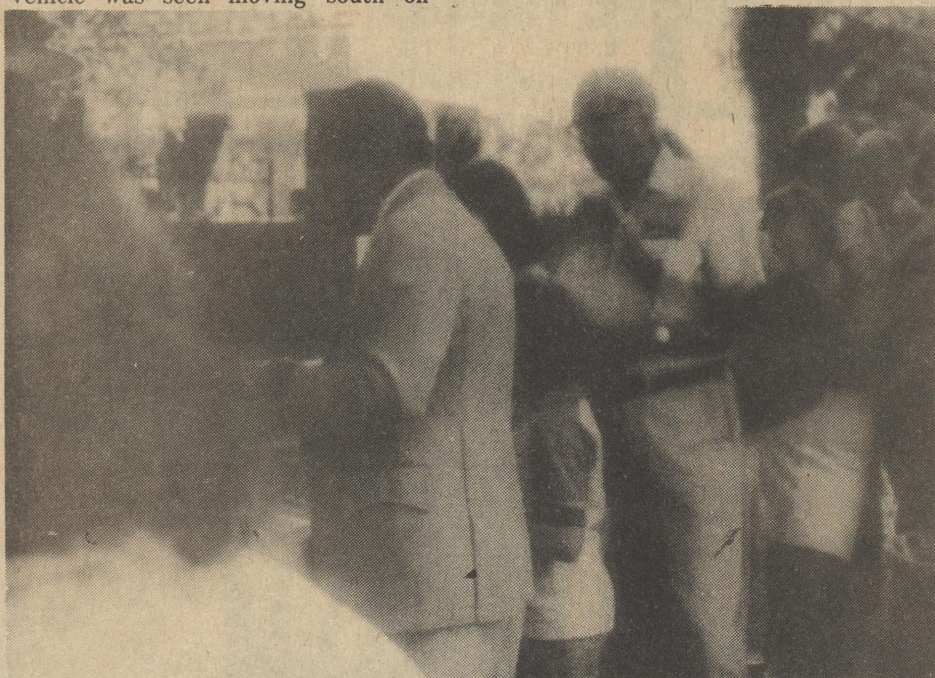

A Viola man is in Delaware Correctional Center this week after a late-night incident on Fleming Street last Wednesday.

William P. Brown, III, 20, was charged by Harrington Police Chief Ed Layton with possession of a concealed deadly weapon and three counts of contributing to the delinquency of minors. Brown was the passenger in a vehicle that was stopped directly in front of the city police station for travelling the wrong way on a one-way street.

According to Chief Layton, the vehicle was seen moving south on the northbound Fleming Street about 11:45, June 30. The chief pulled the car over and noticed alcoholic beverages in the front seat. Further investigation revealed a .22-caliber pistol beneath the rear seat. And since Brown was the only legal adult, he was further charged with contributing. The three minor occupants were also charge with possession of alcohol.

Brown is currently awaiting preliminary hearings on the charges and remains in custody in lieu of $1,500 bond.

Howard Dill, Harrington postmaster, was seen in the long line Thursday morning at Christ Church, Dover, where ceremonies were held to introduce the new nine-cent Caesar Rodney postal card. Mr. Dill was among the honored guests, and was among the more than 1000 spectators who attended the brief but impressive ceremony. Many stamp and card collectors, as well as history buffs joined the lines to purchase the "First Day Of Issue" cards. The date of issue coincided with the first day of Caesar Rodney's ride to Philadelphia to cast his tie-breaking vote which paved the way for Independence.

The big day has come and has begun to pass into memory. Since it would be impossible to have been in attendance at the many activities throughout the state, we decided to take our readers along on a reenactment of perhaps the most famous of the acts leading up to the formulation of the Declaration of Independence, Caesar Rodney's ride. The rest is history now, and was relived by many of us during the past week.

Cliff Miller, poet laureate of the Harrington Journal has come out of retirement to dig into his memory for the famous poem he recalls having learned as a youth. Since we felt it symbolizes the acts we have re-witnessed and will witness in the days and weeks ahead, we have decided to share it with our readers.

There was a tumult in the city
In the quaint old Quaker town,
And the streets were rife with people
Pacing restless up and down -
People gathering at corners,
Where they whispered each to each,
And the sweat stood on their temples
With the earnestness of speech.

As the bleak Atlantic currents
Lash the wild Newfoundland shore,
So they beat against the State House,
So they surged against the door;
And the mingling of their voices
Made the harmony profound,
Till the quiet street of Chestnut
Was all turbulent with sound.

"Will they do it?" "Dare they do it?"
"Who is speaking?" "What's the news?"
"What of Adams?" "What of Sherman?"
"Oh, God grant they won't refuse!"
"Make some way there!" "Let me nearer!"
"I am stifling!" "Stifle then!
When a nation's life's at hazard,
We've no time to think of men!"

So they surged against the State House,
While all solemnly inside,
Sat the Continental Congress.
Truth and reason for their guide,
O'er a simple scroll debating,
Which, though simple it might be,
Yet should shake the cliffs of England
With the thunders of the free.

Far aloft in that high steeple
Sat the bellman, old and gray,
He was weary of the tyrant
And his iron-sceptered sway;
So he sat, with one hand ready
On the clapper of the bell,
When his eye could catch the signal,
The long-expected news to tell.

See! See! The dense crowd quivers
Through all its lengthy line,
As the boy beside the portal
Hastens forth to give the sign!
With his little hands uplifted,
Breezes dallying with his hair,
Hark! with deep, clear intonation,
Breaks his young voice on the air.

Hushed the people's swelling murmur,
Whilst the boy cries joyously;
"Ring!" he shouts, "Ring! Grandpapa, Ring! oh, ring for Liberty!"
Quickly, at the given signal
The old bellman lifts his hand,
Forth he sends the good news, making
Iron music through the land.

How they shouted! What rejoicing!
How the old bell shook the air,
Till the clang of freedom ruffled,
The calmly gliding Delaware!
How the bonfires and the torches
Lighted up the night's repose,
And from the flames, like fabled Phoenix,
Our glorious liberty arose!

That old State House bell is silent,
Hushed is now its clamorous tongue;
But the spirit it awakened
Still is living - ever young;
And when we greet the smiling sunlight
On the fourth of each July,
We will ne'er forget the bellman
Who, betwixt the earth and sky,
Rung out, loudly, "Independence";
Which, please God, shall never die!

BRIDGEVILLE BUGLER Russell Lee Chaney plays the national anthem, Sunday, as local residents celebrated July 4th and dedicated a new town monument and garden.

Bridgeville Dedicates Bicentennial Monument

Dark clouds and intermittent rain dampened the day but not the spirits of local dignitaries and guests on hand, Sunday, for the official bicentennial celebration and dedication of the town's new monument. Festivities began as community churches joined others across the nation in the "Ring of the Bells" for freedom.

After a flag raising ceremony conducted by the Bridgeville American Legion Post and Boy Scout Troop 166, town council president Norman Powell and bicentennial chairman Kyle Ewing unveiled the monument.

Located in a park next to city hall, the monument recognizes Bridgeville as having been established in 1730 as the village of 'Bridgebranch', renamed in 1810 as Bridgeville and finally incorporated in 1870.

With the salute ending the ceremony, guests then toured the town and viewed an antique auto show, exhibits and craft displays as the sky again darkened and rain threatened the occasion.

KYLE EWING, Bridgeville bicentennial chairman unveils the new town monument that traces the city's history back to 1730 when it was founded by John Nutter. The village was originally named Bridgebranch until 1810 when it acquired its present name. It was incorporated in 1871.

Holt Resigns At Houston

Giving health problems as the reasons for his resignation, Police Chief of Houston, Al Holt, turned in his resignation at last Thursday's Town Council meeting.

Just prior to the meeting, Holt asked Mayor Leonard Rollison if he could speak to the council members in an executive session. The outcome of that meeting was Holt's resignation. During the meeting, it was announced that Holt had also recommended a fellow police officer and resident of Leipsic to take his place.

The Council agreed to wait until they have had an opportunity to discuss the matter further at a later date. (Continued on page five)

Happenings

by Carole Glasspool

When is a Fourth of July party not just a Fourth of July party? The answers, friends, is "when it's also a promotion party". Bill and Betty Reiriden had just such a bash on the Fourth to celebrate our country's 200th birthday and Bill sewing on his M/Sgt. stripes on the first of July.

There were wall to wall people enjoying spicy hot crabs, Betty's marvelous potato salad and cole slaw, hamburgers, hot dogs, punch and that amber liquid that comes in a keg. What is it called? Well, anyway, there was plenty of everything but most of all fun and congenial company.

Among those participating the conviviality and extending congratulations to Bill were his brother Dave and wife Reena and son, David visiting from Leominster, Mass., Barbara and Jack Comeau and daughter Debbie from Billerica, Mass., Jo and Jack Farley, daughter Susie Peters and son Dave Carter and his wife Vicki over from West Virginia, Sandy and Bill Burke, the Bill Landings, Col. and Mrs. White, Carolyn and Russ Chaney from Smyrna, Pat Robinson, Mrs. Welch and daughter Lori from Harrington, Miss Cindy Bell, Steve Giles and Ralph Langlois from Dover A.F.B., Major and Mrs. De Witt, and Col. and Mrs. Hatcock and, of course, the seven Reiriden kids.

It was also a pleasure to see Don and Donna Claycomb (looking great) and the handsome Ryan Matthew who is now two years old.

Seven gals from Lake Forest High School attended Howie Landa's Basketball Camp at Pocono Pines, Pa. last week. Not only did they learn lots of practical pointers to use on the court, they also won top honors for having the cleanest cabin in the camp.

The seven "neat" girl stars attending were Judy Moehlenkamp, Brenda Teat, Doretha Dukes from Canterbury; Paula Jackson, Chris Morrow from Felton; Barbara Williams, Sandtown; and Laura Newnom from Harrington.

Ann Morrow of Felton took the girls up and brought them back which is and of itself doesn't sound terribly exciting except for the fact that Ann had never seen the mountains before and had never driven through a mountain tunnel. Isn't that a fitting way to start this country's 201st year? Discover America! How about a trip to the Rockies, Ann?

Barbara and Charles Kersey of Woodbury Acres held a two day barbecue and swim party for their respective families on July 4th and 5th. Half of the families could come Sunday and half could come on Monday, so Barb and Charles just had parties both days. Now that's an accomodating host and hostess!

RODNEY ENROUTE! Capt. W. W. David of the Delaware State Police sits atop one of four mounts he used in rotation for the two-day, eighty-mile ride from Dover to Philadelphia.

WILLIAM PENN'S LANDING has been commemorated by the City of Chester, Pennsylvania with a stone marker. Unveiling of the marker was planned as a bicentennial occasion for the city and the honors went to Delaware's Caesar Rodney as he passed through the city enroute to Independence Hall. The marble slab shows the Penn family seal and is inscribed with the date of his landing, October 28, 1682.

Beneath the statue of Delaware's revolutionary patriot, Wilmington Mayor Thomas C. Maloney honors the bicentennial hero with a present from the people of Wilmington.

RODNEY SQUARE CELEBRATIONS -- Thousands stood and applauded as the bicentennial Rodney dismounted his horse and mounted the platform in Rodney Square, Thursday. Left to right are: Mrs. Wallace David, who joined her husband in the procession up Market Street; Capt. David; Mrs. Jeanne Tribbitt and Gov. Sherman W. Tribbitt, himself in portrayal of Continental Congress delegate Thomas McKean.

Massachusetts Had Revere, But Delaware Had Rodney!

Rodney Rides Again....In '76

by Jim Cresson

It was 200 years to the day between historic rides for Delaware's Caesar Rodney and perhaps the only thing that remained the same was the distance between Dover and Philadelphia.

On July 1, 1776, at the urgent request of Thomas McKean, Rodney left Byfield, his family farm south of Dover, and rode horseback over the 80 miles to the State House in Philadelphia.

Although the Continental Congress had been in session for weeks, Rodney had been called away from his duties as delegate there to return to his native lower Delaware and help quell Tory uprisings around the town of Lewes. During this time the Continental Congress put to a vote Richard Henry Lee's resolution for revolt against England and adoption of the Declaration of Independence. Delaware's two other delegates, George Reed of New Castle and Thomas McKean, a Philadelvarean, were in opposition, with Reed opposing the measure and McKean favoring it. Knowing Rodney's intense revolutionary sentiment, McKean summoned him back to Philadelphia in hopes of breaking the deadlock.

The ride itself was heroic not just because Rodney suffered from cancer and resulting maladies, but also because he rode the entire way through a tremendous thunder and rain storm. For two days, with only brief stops for food and a change of mounts, Caesar Rodney splashed through flooded marshland until he finally arrived in Philadelphia exhausted and covered with mud.

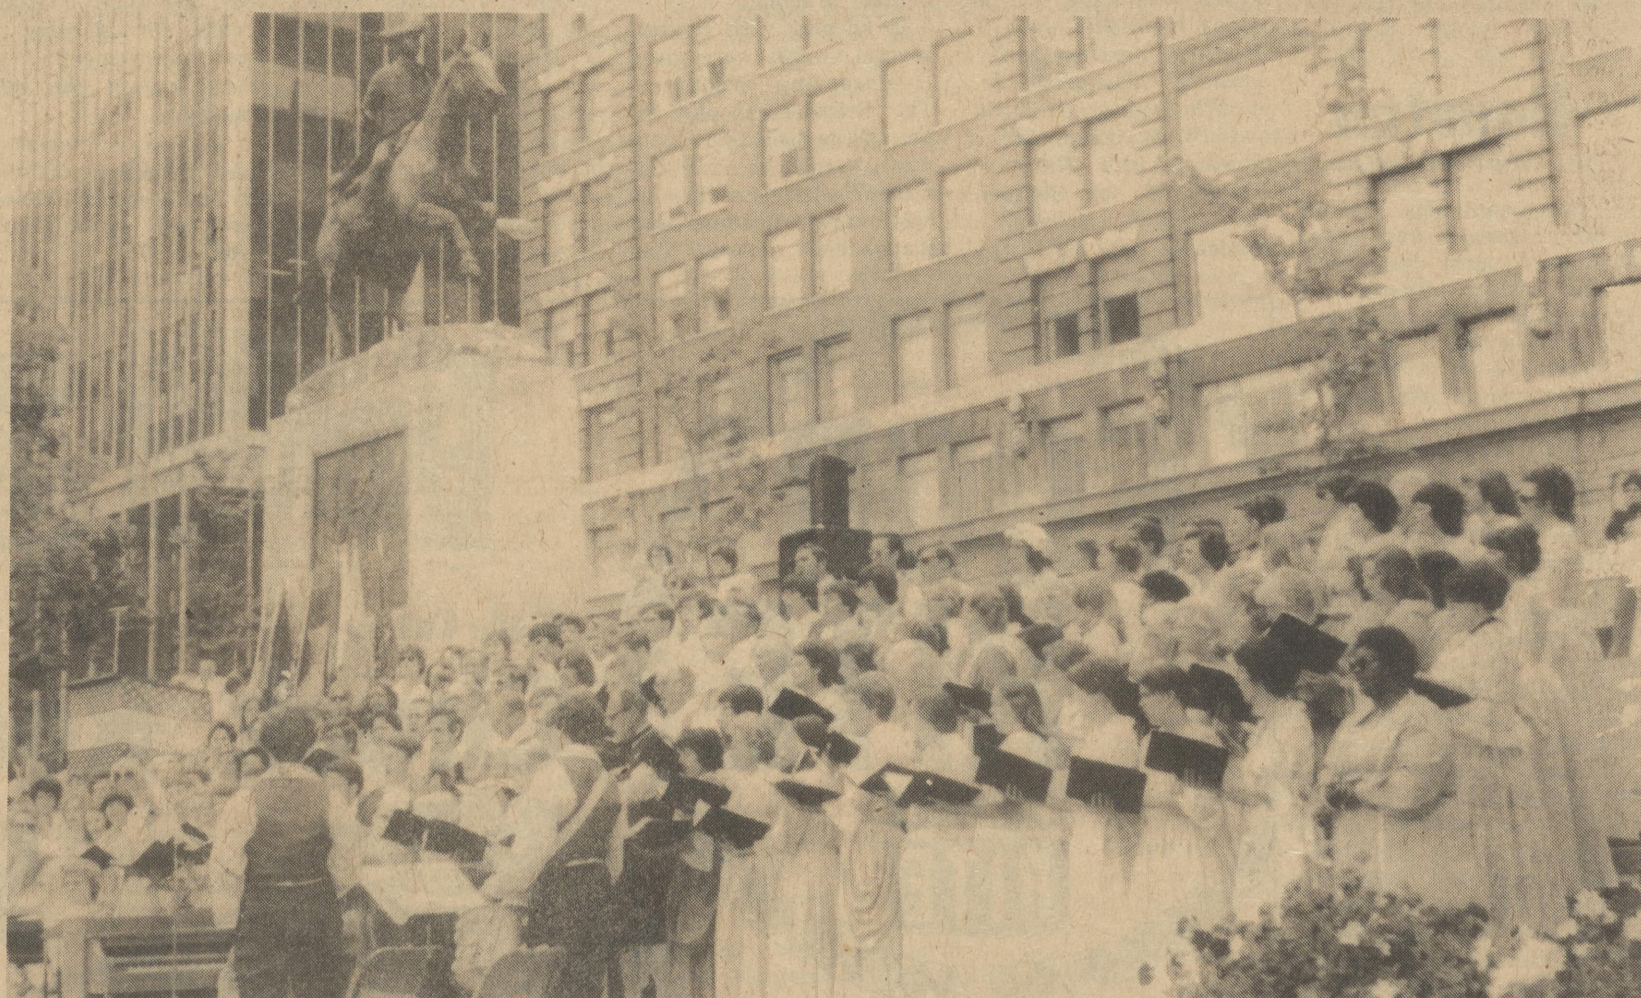

And of course the ride was historic, because once arrived, Caesar Rodney cast his vote supporting Lee's Resolution which opened the way to freedom for the colonies.

As a tribute to Delaware and the nation in this bicentennial year, Caesar Rodney's ride was recreated, July 1 and 2. Portraying Rodney during the two-day journey was Delaware State Police Captain William Wallace David of Red Lion. And though the ride followed somewhat the same route as the original, much was different in 1976.

Rodney's 1776 home no longer stands so the departure point this year was the nearby Dickinson Mansion south of Dover. And, unlike 1776, there was no thunder and no rain.

It is assumed Caesar Rodney departed Dover alone and travelled that way the entire trip, but not so with the bicentennial Rodney. In the early pre-dawn stillness at Dickinson Mansion, Thursday, some 200 guests and members of the press assembled to hear Governor Sherman W. Tribbitt bid 'God-speed and safe journey' to the rider and his entourage.

For the next 13 hours Capt. David, flanked by State Police escorts and followed by a dozen horsemen, rode steadily up U.S. 13 towards Rodney Square in Wilmington. And

Members of the Delaware State Bicentennial Chorus, 150-voices strong, were on hand in Wilmington last Thursday afternoon to take part in activities leading up to the reenactment of Caesar Rodney's ride. The group performed in Philadelphia on Friday and many were present when the journey ended behind Independence Hall.

WITH A SALUTE TO THE CROWD at Prospect Park, Pa., Rodney leaves for the last leg of his famous journey. Although there were 10 miles remaining to historic Philadelphia, Capt. David was nearing the end of his saddle time at this point. From the outskirts of Prospect Park he and his mount were trailed through the heavy tourist traffic into Philadelphia where they finished the journey with a four-block jaunt down Chestnut Street to Independence Hall.

FINALLY IN PHILADELPHIA Capt. Wallace David holds aloft a handpainted china plate depicting the Signing of the Declaration. The plate was a gift to Capt. David from Philadelphia Mayor Frank Rizzo. Behind him is a statue of Admiral Barry, founder of the American Navy. The world famous Independence Hall is shown in the background.

whereas the original Caesar Rodney saw few persons other than innkeepers and ferrymen, the bicentennial Rodney saw thousands upon thousands.

Eight times the procession paused in Delaware communities for official ceremonies. At the historic Corbit-Sharp house in Odessa, Rodney lunched with Governor Tribbitt and state dignitaries and later in the day stopped at Buena Vista, the Governor's home for an official reception.

At every stop the pageantry drew crowds of well-wishers and scores of proclamations for Caesar Rodney. When, in the waning hours of daylight, Capt. David and party clattered up Market St. to Rodney Square in Wilmington, the excitement was at a peak. A crowd of thousands had gathered for his arrival and had witnessed fine colonial-theme entertainment by the New Ark Fife and Drum Corps and a splendid recital by the Delaware Bicentennial Chorus.

After accolades and presentations by John Warner, the national chairman of the American Revolution Bicentennial Commission, the Governor and Wilmington Mayor Thomas C. Maloney, Rodney retired for the night and the crowd of thousands drifted out of Rodney Square.

The following morning saw the bicentennial patriot into Pennsylvania, up the old Philadelphia Pike for more stops and ceremonies and finally into historic old Philadelphia to the steps of Independence Hall.

There a tired but smiling Capt. Wallace David was met once more by cheering crowds who proclaimed the American Spirit of '76 and congratulated him on a job well done.

And a job well done it was. Despite heavy traffic and ninety-degree temperatures, Capt. William Wallace David's spirit never waned. All along the route he returned children's waves, salutes to passing motorists and smiles to everyone. He even showed his gratitude to the many camera buffs and reporters who ventured in for a close photo as the procession passed.

Although the original Caesar Rodney may have been, as Massachusetts delegate John Adams remarked 200 years ago, "the oddest looking man in the world," his bicentennial counterpart in Capt. David was resplendent in his red and blue colonial finery and handsome beneath his tri-cornered hat.

In fact, Delaware's Captain William Wallace David was most impressive in his manner and surely would have made Caesar Rodney, Esq., as proud as he has now made Delaware. And considering the immense amount of logistical planning by the Delaware Bicentennial Commission, the Delaware State Police and many local communities, Caesar Rodney's ride was indeed as spectacular and heroic in 1976 as it was in 1776: a tribute to the state and the nation.

Southern States Co-Op Meets

Report of elections of the local Board, Farm Home Advisory Committee members and operations reports will highlight the Southern States Cooperative's membership day for Mills Supply Company, on July 15. The event will be held at Mills Supply and will begin at 10 a.m. The business session is slated to start at 1 p.m.

"The Membership Day," according to manager Alvin Mills, "will give patrons and members the opportunity to become better acquainted with our facilities, products and services. All stockholder members are particularly urged to attend the business session."

Herbert Lane of Greenwood will serve as chairman of the local meeting.

J. L. Pryor of Seaford, a member of Southern States Cooperative's regional staff, will report on the over-all Southern States operations. His report will also place emphasis on the importance of the cooperative movement to members, obstacles the movement has had to overcome, and the members' stake in keeping their cooperative healthy so as to be able to serve their needs.

Local operations and services rendered to agriculture in the community will be discussed by Mills.

Theme of the meeting will be "Mind Your Own Business-It's Your Cooperative!"

There will be special recognition for local board members and Farm Home Advisory Committee members who retire this year.

Nominees for the local board are: Charles K. Elliott, George Green, Timothy Schlaback and Gene Wells all of Greenwood.

Ladies nominated for the Farm Home Advisory Committee are Mrs. James H. Huey, Mrs. Robert O. Bier, Mrs. Mark Prettyman all of Greenwood.

A number of door prizes will be given away during the day.

OBITUARIES

Albert E. Breuer

Albert E. Breuer, 79, of near Harrington, died on Monday in Milford Memorial Hospital after a long illness. He retired about 12 years ago as a painter in the Wilmington area. Mr. Breuer's wife, Elizabeth, died in 1974. Surviving are a brother, Theodore, and a sister, Pearl, both of Philadelphia.

Services will be held at 2 this (Thursday) afternoon at the McKnatt Funeral Home, 50 Commerce St., Harrington. Burial will be in Hopkins Cemetery near Felton.

Charles A. Erdle Jr.

Charles A. "Reds" Erdle Jr., 65, of Plaza Apartments, died Saturday at his residence after a short illness.

He was employed as a night superintendent at the Plaza Apartments.

Mr. Erdle was separated from his wife. He is survived by two daughters, Betty McWilliams of Dover, and Nancy Potter of Burlington, N.J.; two brothers, Frederick of Dover, and Francis of Silver Spring, Md.; a sister, Mary McKee of Dover; and six grandchildren.

Graveside services were Wednesday morning at 11 at Barrett's Chapel in Frederica.

Emma K. Fisher
Emma K. Fisher, 65, of Greenwood, died Thursday, July 1 at her home after a long illness.

Her husband, Mathew, died in 1968. There are no immediate survivors.

Services were Saturday afternoon at 2 at the Fleischauer Funeral Home, Greenwood. Burial was at Mt. Calvary Cemetery, Bridgeville.

Roy W. Turner
Roy W. Turner, 47, of Houston, died Thursday,

July 1, at the Veterans Hospital, Elsmere, after a long illness. He was an employe of the International Playtex Corp., Dover.

He was divorced. He is survived by a daughter, Thelma Ann Turner of Harrington; three brothers, Clinton, Carl of California and Conley of Baltimore; and six sisters, Mina Hendricks of Rockport, W. Va., Bethel Kisamore and Blanche Miller of Broadway, Va., Carrie Liller of Fairfax, Va., Clara Dobson of Lincoln and Cleo Messick of Milford.

Services were Sunday afternoon at 1:30 at the Berry Funeral Home, Northwest Front St., Milford. Interment was in Henlopen Memorial Park near Milton.

The Male Quartet from Kentucky Mountain Bible Institute, Jackson, Ky., accompanied by the president, Dr. Karl S. Paulo, will be at the Greenwood, Del. Wesleyan Church, Addix Ave., Tuesday, July 20, 7:30 P.M., for a special service.

Woodside Emeralds

The Woodside Emeralds have been very busy at many different projects and events. Seven of our members attended Kidz Kamp and enjoyed the weekend very much. Those attending were J.R. Blackburn, Sandra Warren, Holly Webb, Charles Moller, Renee Bryant, Barbie Warrington and Jesse Wright. Cindy Warrington and Maria Warren, two of our Jr. Council members helped as counselors.

Five of our 4-Hers entered county demonstrations and will be in state competition in July. They are Donnie Warrington, Wayne Carlisle, Barbie Warrington, Shari Brown and Lynn Webb.

Our club held a Parent's Night on June 13th to give the parents an idea of the many different events we participate in. The Jr. Council members planned the event headed by James Leavitt as chairman and Maria Warren, co-chairman. The evening consisted of a fashion show, speeches, demonstrations, ceramics, club and project books, trophies, crafts and table settings. There were approximately 60-65 attending and the evening was enjoyed by all.

We were shown slides of Finland at our June meeting by a 4-H exchange student from Finland. She will be touring the United States for five months and stayed at the home of Mary Bea Gooden during her visit in Kent County. Our club also participated in Woodside's Bicentennial Day held on June 12th. The committee planning this was John Leavitt-chairman, Donnie Warrington, Natalie Badell, Carrie Hollinger and James Leavitt.

For Your Information

Dear friends,
When is a funeral well conducted? We would say that when those in attendance are not conscious that it is being conducted at all. When the details of direction are unnoticed, when the program moves quietly and smoothly.
We try always to make our own presence as inconspicuous as possible.

Respectfully,

Housewise Helps from the Delaware Cooperative Extension Service
 By Penny Frey

While "home making" is common to all homemakers, similarities beyond that are strictly coincidental. You can't make assumptions anymore because all homemakers are not even (necessarily) the same sex! It's just as well that home economists frown on the use of the word "housewife" these days because otherwise we'd need "househusband" which is a mouthful, or "houseperson" which sounds like a subcontractor for the building trades.

Today's "typical" homemaker is not typical at all. You may find great satisfaction in shiny floors or gourmet meals, or, like me, you may have had no-wax floors long before they were invented.

The emphasis is no longer on "keeping house," but on "making a home." Part of the reason is liberation.

Liberation is polyester, T.V. dinners, dishwashers, disposable diapers, and self-clean ovens. We have been freed from beating our clothes clean on a rock and from grinding our own flour from wheat (which, of course, we grew first in our spare time).

No longer are we bound by a home whose only labor-saving device is a larger bucket for carrying in water from the well. An old cookbook I was reading this week pointed this out. One of the steps in a cake recipe was "beat the eggs until stiff or until your strength gives out."

While most homemakers find their "strength" does indeed give out at least several times in an average day, it is for different reasons. For one thing, operating a home is mostly a one-person job, for better or worse. The crew

"upstairs" doesn't live there any more.

And another thing is that many of us are spending more time outside the home--and not just in the yard, either. We are attending classes in wood-working, belly dancing, macrame, and karate. We're going back to school to pick up where we left off or to get advanced degrees. And we're getting jobs.

But we're still "homemakers". And we're still largely responsible for the health, safety, happiness, and, yes, even laundry, of our families. Our choices are greater--a can of soup or a gourmet meal with home grown herbs--but our responsibilities remain the same.

The infinite number of areas which are involved in homemaking are important enough to the family structure in America that many men and women have devoted their careers to getting the facts and then getting the facts out to us.

The Delaware Cooperative Extension Service has state specialists in home management, family and child development, and nutrition, in addition to county-based home economists who specialize in all areas of homemaking. I'll be calling on them for help.

So, whether you've got "ring around the finger" and sometimes feel like you're living in a shoe, or whether there's just you, keep your sunny side up!

Minor League Rolls To Victory Over Little League

The Minor League nine rolled over the Little League reserves 26-13 behind the combined pitching efforts of Jeff Beene and Stacy Rothermel last Tuesday evening to culminate a very successful season.

Scoring was as follows for Minor League Team: Jeff Beene - 2 runs on a single and base on balls;

Stacy Rothermel - 1 run on base on balls; Mike McColley - 3 runs on base on balls; Mike Collins - 2 runs on base on balls;

April Hurd - 3 runs on a single, double and base on balls; Jimmy Green - 3 runs on 3 singles; Scott Fleming - 1 run on base on balls; Bobby Grant - 3 runs on 2 singles and base on balls; Kermit Cales - 1 run on base on balls; Eddie Dennis - 2 runs on a single and base on balls; Billy Haggerty - 2 runs on a single and base on balls; John Donato - 1 run on base on ball; Allyson Koppock - 1 run hit by pitcher; JoAnne Krouse - 1 run base on balls.

Runs scored by Little League Team: Jerry Wyatt - 1 run on a single; John Miller - 1 run base on balls; Scott Swafford - 1 run base on balls; Jay Bowden - 1 run on a single; Renee Dill - 1 run in the Park HR; Todd Colison - 2 runs on 2 singles; Shirley Cerlefski - 2 runs on a single and a double; Kibby Way - 1 run on base on balls; Glen Homewood - 1 run on base on balls; Steve Taylor - 1 run on a single; Gary Price - 1 run on base on balls.

over Rehoboth Avenue at what seemed like rooftop level and for the next half hour they zoomed, soared, climbed and dove at speeds of nearly 1,000 mph.

Flying in tight formation, often upside down, the Thunderbirds awed spectators on the beach, boardwalk and boats as they screamed across the sky. As the Air Force narrator said through the loudspeaker, "They are the greatest air team in the world."

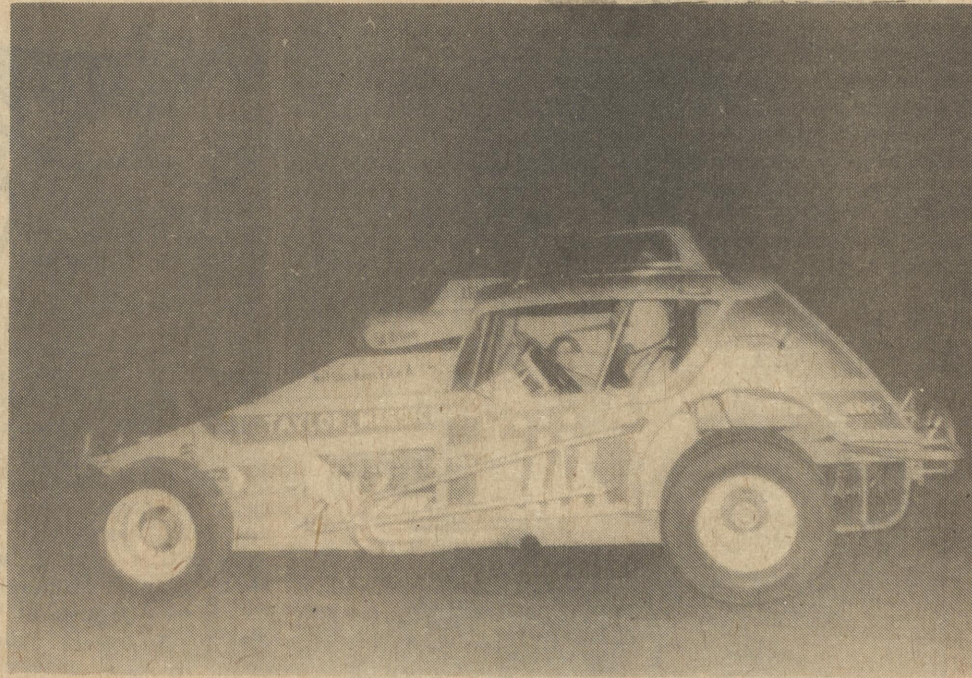

Formed in 1953 with only twenty-two personnel, the Thunderbirds now have a team of eight pilots and sixty-eight support personnel. In their twenty-three-year history they have flown in all fifty states, forty-five countries, two-thousand air shows and before 200-million people.

The Rehoboth air show was one of a hundred they will perform this year, all in honor of the country's bicentennial.

Their purpose, well hidden behind the obvious, is to demonstrate the vast capabilities of America's outstanding personnel, equipment and technology. Whatever the reason, Rehoboth loved the show.

Walt Breeding slips under Paul Walker enroute to Friday night's victory at the Georgetown Speedway.

'Nothing Runs Like A Deere'

by Charlie Brown

The slogan "Nothing Runs Like A Deere," which appears on the hood of the Taylor & Messick modified, held true as Walt Breeding added to his impressive list of feature wins at the Georgetown Speedway Friday evening.

The tone of the modified feature was set early in the event as Milton's Snookie Vent flipped off of the first turn on the second lap. Vent was uninjured but the H.R. Bailey, Inc. Gremlin was finished for the evening.

The restart of the second lap looked like an instant replay as Harrington's Bill Towers went end over end at the same spot as Vent. Towers escaped in much better condition than his Towers Gulf Ford and was also done for the night.

When things finally got rolling, it was last week's winner Wayne Cusick out front followed closely by Gary Trice and Glen Wilson. Breeding, who had started back in the pack, was rapidly picking his way through traffic headed for the front runners.

A spin by Ed Brown, Jr. near the half way mark brought out the caution once again allowing Breeding to move into fourth position behind Haines Tull. Trice got crossed-up in turn three and Breeding shot past both Tull and Trice into second followed closely by Stan Busby of Bridgeville.

Cusick began to fade back into the field with mechanical problems leaving Busby, Tull and Harold Bunting to chase the leader. A caution with four laps to go closed what small lead Breeding had built, but the Chevy powered Gremlin got a good jump on the restart and went on for the win.

Busby finished in the runner-up spot followed by Tull, Bunting, Paul Walker, Jr., Trice, and Jimmy Clark. Vernon Collins in the Demnoff Furniture Camera jumped into an early lead in the late model feature. Collins looked like a sure winner as he pulled away from the rest of the field.

Back in the pack a group of five cars were swapping positions as they moved through the rest of the field. Bob Wilkins, Ronnie LaVere, Dave Fowler, Dave Ennis, and Mel Joseph, Jr. began to close in on Collins with time rapidly running out.

Joseph moved swiftly into second using the high groove. With two laps to go he had caught Collins and had begun to challenge for the lead.

On the final lap Collins went high going into turn three and Joseph slipped underneath for the victory. Second went to Collins followed by Wilkins, LaVere, Ennis, and Fowler.

Once again Georgetown's Bodie Bodenweiser out-classed the sportsman field which was opened to small block eight cylinders for the first time Friday evening.

Bodenweiser battled with his constant rival, Richard Malnor, from start to finish but Malnor was unable to gain the advantage. Nelson James finished third followed by Donald Rose, Ron Roberts, and Joe Ellingsworth.

The hobby event was won by John Martin of Lewes.

Trice Captures First Victory of 1976

by Charlie Brown

The Fourth of July was truly a day to remember for Parsonburg's Gary Trice as he collected his first modified victory of the 1976 season Sunday night at the Georgetown Speedway.

Trice had worked throughout Saturday night to repair damage his Gremlin had suffered in a crash at Delmar. The Parsonburg crew were still making final adjustments at the track prior to the evening's program.

The number 33 began to outdistance the rest of the field right from the start and had gained a half lap lead before hard charging Walt Breeding could work his way up to second.

Slowly Breeding began to gain on Trice and by the half way mark he was dueling for the lead. Trice made a slip going into turn three allowing Breeding to take the lead with less than five laps to go but Lady Luck was not in favor of the Taylor & Messick team.

Stan Busby spun coming out of the fourth turn putting Breeding back behind Trice on the restart. Trice was not apt to make the same mistake twice and held off Breeding until the finish.

Finishing in the third spot was Wayne Cusick followed by Jimmy Clark, Haines Tull, and Harold Bunting.

Bodie Bodenweiser collected his second sportsman win of the week but not without a strong challenge by Richard Malnor and Nelson James.

Several times both James and Malnor were able to pull along side of the Lewis Dairy Mustang but neither were able to gain the advantage.

Malnor managed to hold off James for second with third going to Tom Rice followed by Tom Walker, Ralph Seaton, Al Carpenter, and Will Ferguson.

Mel Joseph, Jr. continued to dominate the late model ranks with an impressive victory over Ronnie LeVere of Milford.

Third went to Bob Rogers followed by Vernon Collins, Jim Goslee, Wayne Ingram, Bob Williams, Les Nailor, and Bob Wilkins.
