Local Man Is Named Fireman Of The Year

Henry S. White, better known to Harringtonians as Smokey, was one of three Delaware firemen to be named Fireman of the Year last weekend.

White, of the Harrington Fire Company, was given the award by the Delaware State Fire Chiefs Association on Saturday, September 11th at the Delaware Volunteer Fireman's Association Convention held at Beaufort.

This award is presented to firemen who perform acts above and beyond the call of duty and/or acts of heroism.

President of the chief's association, Bruce Ennis of Citizen Hose Co. of Smyrna, read the resume submitted by the Harrington Fire Company while the plaque was presented by White's chief Joseph E. Green.

White's selection was based on an incident that happened earlier this summer.

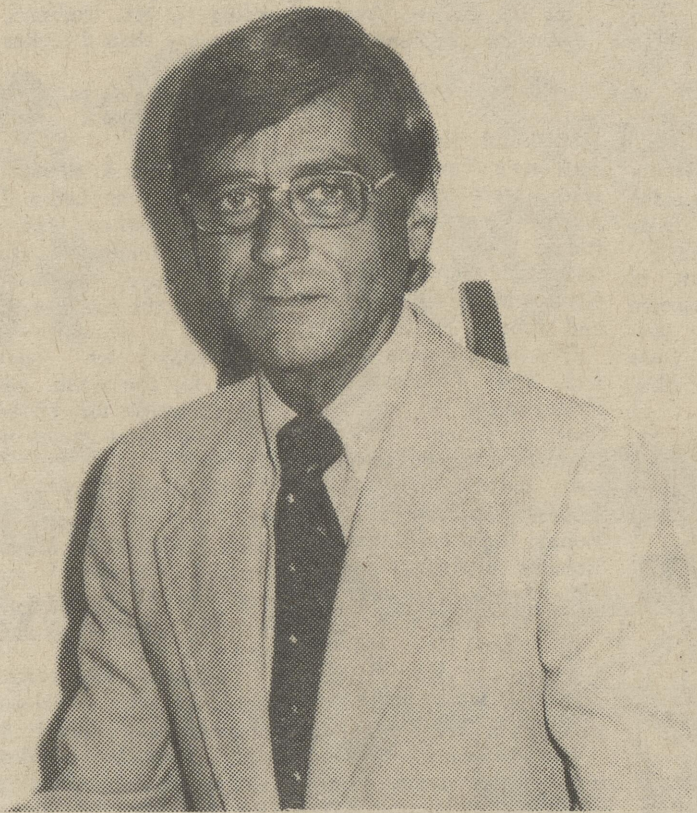

Smokey lives across the street from Dr. Vincent Lobo, one of the city's two physicians. When Mrs. Martin Jarrell drove her husband into town early the morning of June 15 and tried to get the doctor to come to the front door, Smokey went up the back stairs to bring the doctor out front. By this time Jarrell had lapsed into unconsciousness because of a bee sting. White assisted Lobo in the mouth to mouth resuscitation.

A well known city resident, White was recently made an honorary lifetime member of the local fire company, having served continuously on active duty for the past twenty years. He is employed by D P & L and is an avid sports fan, having worked with the Little League for many years.

He and his wife Clara have two children, Mrs. Joan Nicholls of Felton and a son, Robert, who lives near Harrington.

The Delaware Firemen's Association meeting for their 56th annual convention hosted by the Brandywine Hundred Fire Company, elected Morris W. King of Hartly as their new president, E. James Monihan, Jr. of Lewes as their 1st Vice President and Raymond McCall of Christiana as 2nd Vice President. Also to serve will be William K. Smith, Treasurer, Townsend, Paul Neeman, Secretary, Harrington and Rev. James B. Dough-ten, Chaplain, Greenwood.

Council Denies Quillen Leave

HARRINGTON--City Council here Monday night denied a request by City Manager Bobby Quillen for a leave of absence beginning the first of October. Quillen, who had requested the leave to campaign for his bid for the senate seat in the 16th district, reported being "a little disappointed" at the result of the executive session held by the Council following the regular session Monday night.

Quillen told the Journal Tuesday he will resign as manager at the end of September.

The Council reviewed a twelve-point list of regulations for the city police department. One item regarding disciplinary action a policeman

Quillen's Resignation Letter

Dear Mayor and Council,

As I was not granted a leave of absence as I requested at the Council Meeting on 13 September 1976, I am hereby resigning the position as City Manager, as requested, effective 1 October 1976. It has been a pleasure working with the Mayor and Council, office employees, Police department, and the street and sewer men. I have found it to be rewarding working for the citizens of Harrington and hope I have contributed in some way in giving the people of Harrington a greater pride in their town. A thought that occurs to me which will make a town successful is that we have to work together and every problem should be taken care of today and not tomorrow.

Sincerely,
G. Robert Quillen

Bridgeville Commission Reports on Sewer Study

BRIDGEVILLE--A summary report of an ongoing sewage treatment study shared the agenda with a new juvenile delinquency problem at the regular monthly meeting of the Bridgeville Town Commission, Monday.

The Sewage treatment summary was given off hand by Town President Norman Powell after several residents attended the town meeting to voice their dissatisfaction with the sewage plant and the sewer system in general.

The residents in protests claimed the plant not only gave rise to obnoxious odors, but the sewer system itself was becoming a conduit for sewer rats.

The rats, they claimed, have been on the increase and are now posing a threat to the community.

However, as Powell pointed out, both the odors and the rats have been an acknowledged problem with the system and the town has already taken steps to combat and erase both nuisances.

"Within the past 18 months, Bridgeville has had more consultants and engineers looking into the problem than anyone could imagine," Powell said as he began to outline the town's $40,000 study.

The Calhoun family - Leroy, Doris and their four children celebrated the opening this week of L & D Electronics at its new location, 27 Commerce Street.

Highlighting over a week of grand opening activities will be an on-the-spot remote broadcast from WAFL from 10 to 1:30 on Saturday and a drawing for a Zenith console stereo later in the week.

Leroy Calhoun is optimistic, expressing his satisfaction at being in a new location with a new outlook and a lot more space. He says the business indications from his first three weeks at the new location are good.

Reveiling Change, He Sees More Ahead L F Superintendent To Step Down In June

by Jim Cresson

LAKE FOREST--After more than forty years of teaching and administering in Delaware public school systems, Lake Forest superintendent Albert White Adams, 61, will retire at the end of this school year.

A native of Laurel and graduate of the University of Delaware and Bucknell University, Adams began his teaching career in 1936 as a science instructor at Bridgeville.

From there he moved to Laurel schools where he taught social sciences before and after World War II.

It was during those war years that Adams began his long duty with the Delaware Army National Guard, duty that eventually earned him the rank of Major General before retiring last year.

In 1948 he left the teaching aspect of academia to become chief school officer for John M. Clayton High School, Dagsboro. He remained in that capacity until 1960 when he was selected to replace Jacob C. Messner as superintendent of Harrington Schools.

During Adams' sixteen years at Harrington, and eventually Lake Forest, he has seen much change.

Working with such school board presidents as Roland Hitchens, Keith Burgess, Musetta Cox, William 'Pete' Shaw, James Rash, Melvin Wyatt, Robert Holloway, Albert Price, Marvin Brown, James Pizadili, Donald Garey and E.B. Warrington Jr., Superintendent Adams has guided the district schools through some major decisions and a great increase of operation.

Looking back through the years, the superintendent recalls the 1965 school integration and the 1969 district reorganization as two highlights of his Harrington service.

"I suggested the integration move at a board meeting one night," Adams remembers; "and although I expected a good deal of community opposition to the idea, I was surprised at how well Harrington received the proposal and how smoothly the integration went."

Adams said he suggested the move because of basic logistical problems at Harrington. "It seemed the only way to go," the superintendent recalls, "and the school board, under the direction of Roland Hitchens, took the bull by the horns and agreed to adopt the plan."

At the direction of Delaware courts in 1968, Harrington, Felton and Frederica schools were faced with a complete reorganization, calling for the three separate high schools to consolidate and form what is now Lake Forest School District.

Adams recalls there was no great sympathy for the directive in the Harrington area, but there was no alternative, either. The reorganization had to be.

"Felton had the responsibility of building the new high school, and we had to remodel the old Harrington High School into what is now W.T. Chipman," Adams remembers. When Lake Forest opened, Adams was its superintendent.

Consolidation, originally a testy issue among former rivals Harrington and Felton, managed to get through its opening year with what Adams recalls as a surprising spirit of unity.

"I think sports was the binding key to Lake Forest unity that first year," says Adams. "We had a winning season in almost every sport in 1969 and the students found out they were on the same side of the field regardless of former rivalries."

Museum Opens Here

WALT MESSICK AND THE WATERLOO BOY, first of the many collected tractors in Messick's museum.

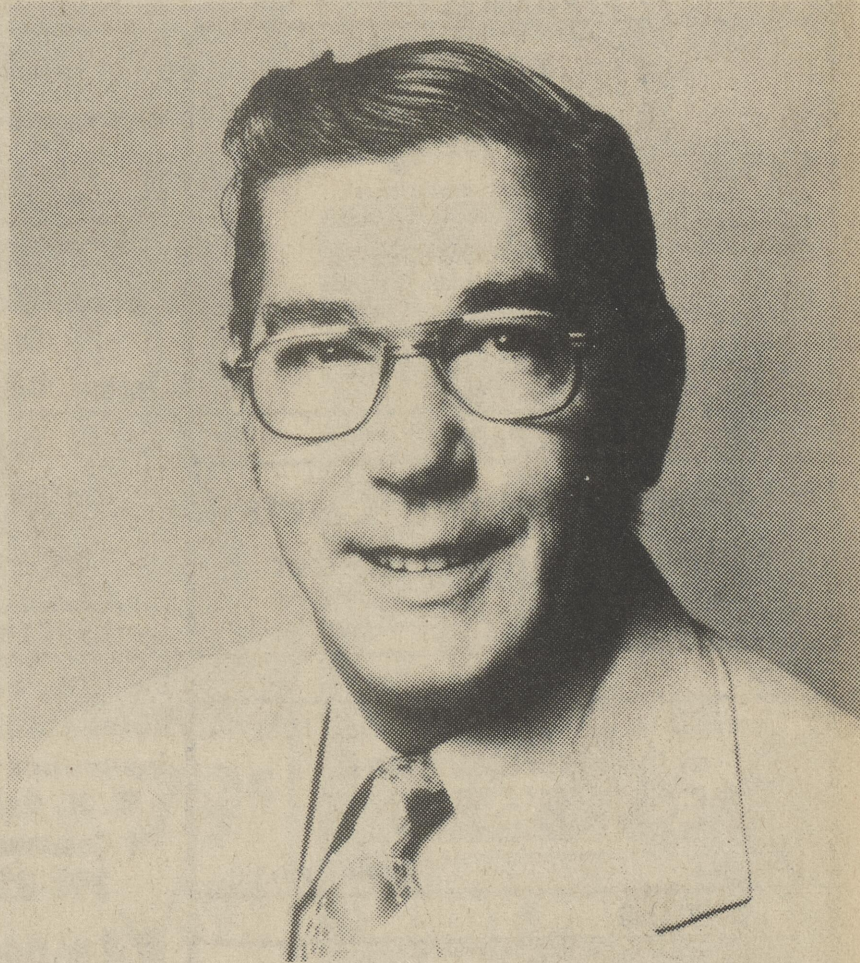

HARRINGTON--An antique farm machinery museum opened in Harrington, Saturday, and the 600 folks who turned out to see it had themselves a real outing.

Crowds witnessed a unique sky-diving exhibition, a ribbon cutting ceremony and a tour through one of the most interesting museums on the east coast. And they owe it all to one hard working, big hearted man.

Harrington businessman Walter Messick, owner of Taylor & Messick John Deere farm equipment center, is the man responsible for the unique private museum.

Messick, who supplies Delmarva farmers with modern day farm equipment, has been collecting old tractors, gas engines, and horse drawn farm items for nearly 30 years.

This year he decided to show the public what farming was like in the old days; and if the museum's grand opening, Saturday, was any indication, the public is anxious to look back into the past.

Harrington Is Lucky To Have Messick

The opening of Messick's Antique Museum couldn't have seen a better day. It seemed that even the weather had agreed to be favorable for another first for Harrington, and for the entire state of Delaware.

Walter Messick, in the 28 years of collecting farming equipment, has, in essence, traced the evolution of farming from hand operated and horse drawn implements to earlier models of engine powered machinery. Also are several interesting side items that complement the collection.

Of particular interest to the hundred plus who were on hand were the rooms off the museum's entrance. Comments about the kitchen and how it used to be in days past filled the room, as visitors passed through the rooms and memories.

The community should be grateful that someone like Walt Messick is part of it. No only has he brought business and created jobs for area people, he has given of himself to the community...sometimes too much for some individuals to handle.

Since Mr. Messick isn't sure when the hours of the museum will be open, it is best to be on the lookout for its next open date. It is truly an addition, and one that we as Harringtonians and Delawareans should be proud to have.

Gets Tough On Bikers

HARRINGTON--City Council here has passed the word on to the local police to get tough... with bicyclists. Councilman Earl McColley, stating he has repeatedly brought bicycle misuse to the attention of the council, was instrumental in bringing the council to a vote on the policy Monday night. McColley reported incidents of "kids weaving up and down the middle of the street" and seeing a youngster pedal in front of a tractor trailer in his ward recently.

Bicyclists must register bikes for use in the City at City Hall. All rules governing automobiles also apply to bicyclists. Bike riders should become aware of the law, since ignorance is no excuse. From now on in Harrington, use the bikes lawfully, or get ready to pay fines.

Summer Wrap Up Dominates Bowers

BOWERS BEACH--End of summer issues were raised and discussed at the regular monthly meeting of the Bowers town council, Wednesday.

Foremost on the agenda was the still unsettled questioned of why voter registration was low for the mid-summer town elections.

The mayor and council heard Phillip English complain that something must be done about keeping the town office open more regularly prior to an election so residents can register with less difficulty.

However, council secretary Elizabeth Banks, who has been responsible for the registration, answered English that notice was duly posted in The Harrington Journal newspaper and ample coverage of the election and town office hours had been published. "We posted signs all over the town," said Banks. However, it was noted that the signs were vandalized shortly after a being posted.

Mayor John King told English and others present he was pleased to see residents come forward with their views and hoped the council could work in interested citizens in an effort to improve town problems.

Another problem to arise was the issue of trash collection at the beach. As usually occurs at a resort area, out-of-towners have been overloading trash dumpsters causing a shortage of trash disposal space for residents.

To this question, Mayor King said authorities would be on the lookout for trash violations in the future and fines would be issued for offenders.

Citizens at the meeting also requested the council to ask town resident Britt Hollinger to construct a high fence around the new fish pond he recently dug on his property. Certain citizens, though in favor of the pond in general, feel it is safety problem if unguarded.

On a positive plane, the council was told more than 8000 visitors toured the new maritime museum which opened June 19, the guest book showed the over the nearly three month period since opening day, an average of more than ten visitors viewed the Bowers Museum daily.

"Every plant (Bridgeville has four food processing plants) is checked every morning for proper waste treatment," said Powell. "Already two plants have installed new treatment equipment because we (the town) are watching them closely."

Powell went on to say that although one plant remains a problem area for those conducting the study, consulting engineers are sticking close to that operation and will be making recommendations soon.

As for the rat problem, Powell agreed to have town water and sewer commissioner John K. Simons look into the matter for the present.

"However," Powell told the residents, "this problem will be eliminated as soon as the legislature approves Bridgeville's request for municipal street funds and the town can go ahead with current plans to build storm drains and relieve the sewers of much of their overload and their openings into the street."

Complaining of an increase in loud, disorderly conduct and nightly bottle throwing and littering, residents asked police commissioner Kyle Ewing what would be done to apprehend the violators.

Noting that Bridgeville police patrol the one-by-one and a half mile town both in squad cars and on foot-commissioner Ewing asked citizens to work with him and the police in an effort to eliminate the mischief.

Looking at the 1969 consolidation on an overall basis, Adams believes many benefits have been realized for the student as well as the district taxpayer.

"The district tax base has increased from $10-million at Harrington to $30-million at Lake Forest," says Adams, "and this is enabling the district to provide a much wider variety of courses and services than could have been offered at any of the three old high schools."

The growth Adams has seen from his arrival in Harrington in 1960 until school opening this year is statistically impressive.

There were 43 faculty members, 60 employees and 1500 students in the Harrington system when Adams arrived. This year, his last, there are 181 faculty members, 300 employees and 3600 students.

"Most of the real growth came the first few years after consolidation," Adams recalls. Because of that growth, there are currently new classrooms and facilities planned for winter construction at the high school.

Looking at the future of Lake Forest district operation and scholastics, Adams sees more change ahead.

"I'm expecting another major district reorganization with the next five to ten years," says Adams. He is referring to a recent New Castle County court order to consolidate schools there of a county level with one county governing body and administrator.

As New Castle schools go to the county system, so should Kent and Sussex Adams forecasts. He foresees such a county consolidation in Delaware as offering a much wider tax base from which to operate the schools, but he also sees a breakdown of local autonomy in school matters.

"The major change under such a system would be the loss of local administrators on the school board levels," says Adams. He feels a single county level school board would be less personal and less representative of individual schools. However, he points out, both Maryland and Virginia have operated successfully on a county school system for some time.

But that is all professional speculation into the future, and Superintendent Adams will be spending his days pursuing the leisurely life of fishing, wood carving, tennis playing and travelling when-

PTA May Start At North Elementary

by Carole Glasspool
"It is important for parents to be involved in the educational process and the P.T.A. is one excellent way to get involved." This statement made by E.B. Warrington, President of the Lake Forest School District Board of education, earlier this week was his way of lending encouragement to a group of parents in Woodbury Acres who are attempting to form a P.T.A. at Lake Forest North Elementary School.

The prime mover in the project, Mrs. William (Elizabeth) Ashley, stated the main purpose of the group is to improve communications between parents and teachers and between parents and administration of the school. A beneficial side effect of an active P.T.A. could be the raising of funds for educational needs; but Mrs. Ashley stressed that first and foremost is problem solving which cannot take place without communication to bring these problems to the forefront.

Assisting Mrs. Ashley in this endeavor are Karen Grisson, Winnie Wittboldt, Karen Wilmore and Kathy Gregory, all of Woodbury Acres. They have received excellent support from the teachers and administration of L.F.N.E. and are anxiously awaiting parental response to letters sent home this week via L.F.N.E. students. Date for the first meeting is tentatively set for September 28th at 7:30 L.F.N.E. auditorium. The date is tentative pending approval of the use of school by the district office. A confirmation of the date or, barring that, a new date will appear in next week's Harrington Journal. For further information, contact Elizabeth Ashley at 284-9784.

Sewer Bill Same For Bowers Residents

There would be little difference in cost to part-time as opposed to permanent residents of South Bowers for sewer maintenance and treatment.

That was the conclusion presented by the County Engineer in a report to Kent County Levy Court Tuesday morning. The Engineer's office recommended there be no difference in charges made to residents whether they stay at Bowers for the summer or year round. No specific action was taken by the Court.

According to the County Engineer the major portion of the cost to the individual home owner is the amount necessary to recover the capital investment plus the maintenance costs for the system. That figure would be the same for everyone in any event.

The only differentiation possible would be on the amount of use from each unit and would require individual meters. At present the only metering is at the pumping station.

No individual meters are planned. Costs at present are set up and billed on a unit basis. To change the billing system and install meters would require an extensive operation cleared through the Environmental Protection Agency to comply with the requirements for the 75 % federal funding Protection Agency to comply with the requirements for the 75 % federal funding of the project. Cost at present to the users was quoted at $150 per annum.

In other business Levy Court held a public hearing of the establishment of the Garrison's Lake Sanitary District - Extension #1, Hickory Ridge. After some discussion and questions, the Court moved to establish the district.

However, six private homeowners were assured they would have the option of remaining in the district established in Extension 1 or joining proposed Extension 2 later. Should a Sanitary District be established for Extension 2, public funding is available. Extension 1 is privately owned. Its sewer facilities are being built by Garrisons Lake Developers at their expense and are to be turned over to the county for operation and maintenance. The property in question is completely surrounded by land projected for development by Garrison's Lake Developers.

Gov Visits Sussex
GEORGETOWN -- Little business prevailed at the Sussex County Council meeting, Tuesday, until Governor Sherman W. Tribbitt walked in.

For once, once in a long time, the council had very little business to cover in its regular meeting.

But in walked the Governor. Tribbitt and his aide de camp opened the chamber doors and brought some life to the slow proceedings of a rather tedious week of business for the council.

"I was just in the Sussex area today," said Gov. Tribbitt, "so I thought I would stop in for a visit." However, the Governor's visit was not just pleasure. While in the county chambers he signed a bill entitling the county to the property once occupied by the old Motor Vehicle Lanes.

"This isn't important to me," said Gov. Tribbitt, "but there are some important matters to discuss." The important matters represented a request by the Sussex Council for the future meeting of the Governor, John C. Bryson, secretary of the Delaware Natural Resources and Environmental Control (DNREC), directors of the Delaware State Waste Authority (DSWA) and both the Kent County Levy Court and the Sussex County Council.

The Governor said, Tuesday, that he thought the request could be handled easier through channeled steps of the DSWA in Sussex County.

If, however, proceedings failed to progress, Governor Tribbitt said he would then meet with county officials to attempt to solve the problem of solid waste disposal in Sussex, as well as Kent County.

As the Governor left to tour the Georgetown courthouse and then proceed to Delaware Technical & Community College, business at the county meeting settled back into its quiet, laid back agenda.

Little was proposed, decided or unsettled as the county leaders went through business and adjourned without any major issues, other than the Governor, appearing before them.

Lime... the fertilizer stretcher

Lime stretches nitrogen supplies. Acid pH's slow down the reaction of micro-organisms in the soil. This results in the slower conversion of urea and ammonia forms of nitrogen to more readily available nitrate forms. It reduces the microbial breakdown of organic materials which release nitrogen to your crops. Proper liming makes more nitrogen available for healthy growth.

Lime stretches phosphate supplies. Low pH causes phosphate to be tied up in unavailable compounds of iron and aluminum. At pH levels of 6.0 or higher, iron and aluminum precipitate out making them non-reactive with phosphate. So more phosphate is available for crops production.

Lime stretches potash supplies. Calcium, magnesium and potash can partially substitute for each other in the crop and on the soil colloid. If calcium and magnesium are low, more potash enters the exchangeable form on the soil colloid and less remains in solution form for crop uptake. With proper liming, less total potash is needed.

Lime... for the good of it!

Liming always has been, and today is even more so, the most profitable fertility practice you can undertake. And right now is the time to do it!

For Your Information

Dear friends,

We recently listened to an address in which the speaker said success in any line depends upon one's usefulness. In other words, we succeed or we fail in proportion to our usefulness to the people we serve.

We have always believed in that idea. Every improvement we have made, each item of new equipment, each new service has been added with a view to increasing our usefulness to our patrons.

Respectfully,

William C. Berry Jr.

Harriers Run Well At Rockford

by Keith S. Burgess
 Wilmington's Rockford Park has been the scene for fine cross-country efforts, by area harriers since 1957.

Jim Blades' Lake Forest cross-country squad, state champions in 1973-74-75 did very well at Rockford in a Saturday scrimmage with nearby Tower Hill School.

The Hillers, coached by one of Delaware's top thincled leaders, Bob Behr, had a third place finisher in veteran Kit West but couldn't do much with the Spartans otherwise.

Dan Parker and Chris Palmisano, last year's top runners, recorded 11.54 and 12.03 on the 2.1 miles Rockford hilly layout.

Freshman Bill Mitchell and Randy Ramirez were next, followed by Brian Eckenrode, Lee Turner, Craig Fry, Mike Emory and Paula Mosley.

Dave Richter, a junior with impressive distance running credentials, didn't compete. He and Wilson Fry, a track two-miler, are key men in Coach Blades' attempt to win a fourth straight state championship.

Marcus Bray and Kelly Woodward haven't reported yet, but demonstrated fine ability last year. Eugene Butler, John Nickle, Walter Willey and Dale Jarrell are other returnees.

Nathan "Top Cat" Morris reported Monday. He, Mitchell and Ramirez were the best W.T. Chipman School harriers last autumn.

Some thirty seventh and eighth grade students attended the W.T. Chipman cross-country meeting Monday. We don't have names yet but Maurice

Clending, who placed

Frank Jenkins and a talented tyro, Hank Edwards loom as future stars, at both Chipman and Lake Forest, Gary Ott is doing well, also.

Friday, September 24th the 19th annual Lake Forest Cross-Country Invitational will be held at Killen's Pond State Parks recently lengthened 2.9 miles course. Invitations have been sent to several states, in an effort to line up another interesting field.

Cross-country continues to be big at Lake Forest, as evidenced by the recent announcement that the 1976 state meet will be here, for the third time.

second in the Shawnee Invitational at Milford's Shawnee Country Club two weeks ago, came back last weekend to finish third in Georgetown's Sussex Pines Invitational.

His second place scores at the Peninsula Gold Association Senior Tournament at Chester River Yacht & Country Club, Saturday, capped three weeks of good golf and prizes for Clending.

expansion will mean the junior varsity and varsity teams will have experienced talent to draw upon in later years."

To start the ball rolling, the school has ordered complete new equipment and uniforms for a team of 40 players.

But, says Andres, what is most important at the early levels of football is to give the kids exposure and experience. Therefore, he says, he will not cut the roster to just 40 players, instead he will coach and play every interested student.

"If I have to swap uniforms for an entire squad, I will," the coach maintained. "If a boy wants to play, he will get the chance during our season."

Most important to Andres and assistant coach Steve VanSant are the three realistic goals they have set for themselves and the team. "We want to finish our schedule properly, have as few injuries as possible and be competitive," the coaches say.

Noting the squad will surely be an underdog team during competition this season, Andres claims that within a couple of years the team can be a real competitor against other junior high teams in the conference.

The season this year will be kicked off October 7th with a home game against Seaford. The next three games will be away: Oct. 14 at Caesar Rodney; October 21 at Selbyville and October 28 at Delmar. The last scheduled game will be at home against Laurel, Nov. 4.

All home games will be played at W.T. Chipman School Field and game time will be at 4 p.m.

SPARTAN SCOREBOARD

Lake Forest Spartan Bill Moore carries through the line for a couple of his 81 yards which he picked up on 14 carriers. The Spartan lost their season opener 21-6 to the Smyrna Eagles.

Team Looks Good, Say Spectators Spartans Drop Opener To Smyrna

by Millard Ellingsworth III
"I was very disappointed in the loss but I thought they played a good game," stated Coach Jim Fleming after his Lake Forest High Spartans dropped their season opener to Smyrna last Friday night at Smyrna 21-6.

Everyone thought the Spartans had what it would take to make "Buz-zards" out of the "Eagles" but Smyrna's Bill Hartnett picked his way through the Spartan defense with his passing arm.

Coach Fleming commented they had gambled on pressuring Hartnett but found that it wasn't as easy as he had hoped. Hartnett hit 11 of 14 for 101 yards and three touchdowns.

Offensively, though, Lake Forest looked good. Greg Shortell led the team at quarterback, completing 6 of 10 passes for 66 yards and rushing for 12 yards on six carries. Billy Moore carried 14 times for 81 yards. Mike Benson 3 for 6 yards, and Ricky Loper 3 for 8 yards. Jerry Custis tagged four passes for 44 yards and a touchdown and Larry Smith caught one for five yards.

After the toss, Lake Forest took up position to receive the opening kick-off. After a short possession, they turned the ball over to Smyrna. Smyrna moved the ball well for a few plays but then was forced to punt it away. Unfortunately, on the play there was a penalty on Lake Forest to give the Eagles a first down and another chance. Smyrna took immediate advantage of the opportunity with three running plays and two passes to score their first touchdown over the Spartans.

With Lake Forest's first series of plays in the second quarter everything was looking good until Mike Benson fumbled Shortell's pitchout. Benson recovered the ball but the Spartans were forced to punt it away. Smyrna moved forward with three first downs until Hartnett completed a pass into the arms of Spartan Kevin Hutchins. On the first play, Moore moved the ball forward 12 yards. Shortell went to Moore again but this time he lost the ball and Smyrna took over again.

The ball was still slippery when the Eagles got it because after two plays, Smyrna also fumbled it, to the joy of many Lake Forest spectators.

With very little time left in the half, Shortell started to move the ball quickly downfield. After a succession of short gains, Lake Forest was penalized 15 yards. The Spartans recovered quickly and found themselves within touchdown range near the end of the half.

On third-and-seven, Shortell looked to the air to tie the game up but wasn't able to find a receiver so tucked it under his arm and gained five yards. Six seconds remained in the half when Shortell gave the ball to Benson who threw it over the head of Custis who was waiting in the end zone.

The third quarter saw another Smyrna score.

Smyrna again had possession as the fourth quarter started. On successive plays, the Eagles moved in for yet a third touchdown. After the kick, Lake Forest settled down to score. After a pass to Custis and several runs by Moore, Shortell found himself on the twenty-four yard line. He gave the ball to Moore who burst up the middle for ten yards and then threw a touchdown pass to Custis. The extra point attempt was wide by Moore.

As was expected, Mike Benson attempted the on-sides kick, but although the Smyrna receiver bobbled the ball for a moment, the Spartans weren't fast enough to get it away from him.

Coach Fleming commented the team "played with a lot of intensity, a lot of enthusiasm..." He said a few critical defensive mistakes caused a lot of problems and that much of this coming week's practice will be on defense.

His defensive leaders were Mike Benson with seven unassisted tackles and seven assists, Billy Moore with one unassisted and 12 assists, Ricky Loper and four unassisted and three assists, and Jon O'Toole had two unassisted and five assists.

Doug Warrington

Meanest Man Award

Ed. Note: This season the "Meanest Man Award" is being instituted by the Lake Forest Spartan Coaching staff. It goes not to the player who was the star but the player who was the most aggressive on the field.

Named as the first recipient of the "Meanest Man Award" is 5' 11", 190 pound, junior Doug Warrington. Doug is both a starting offensive and defensive tackle for the 1976 version of Spartan football for whom Coach James Fleming has high hopes. Doug, the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Warrington of Felton, is currently enrolled in the Ag Program at Lake Forest.

Turn In Chipman Physicals

W. T. Chipman Junior High Football coach Andres wishes to remind all 7th and 8th grade football signees to remember the required doctor's physical due next week. No student will be allowed to dress out for practice until the physical has been received by the coach.

Local Father and Son Team Shoots Way To Skeet Titles

by Jim Cresson

HARRINGTON—A father and son team from Harrington has been making its mark in skeet shooting circles recently as they walked away with two first prizes and two second prizes at the Delaware State Skeet Shooting Association championships last month.

Earl Yoder and son, Terry, of Dickerson Street, Harrington, made their regular appearance at the championship matches held at Dover Air Force Base in August and proceeded to shoot their way to the top of their classes in 28-gauge and 12-gauge competition.

Terry Yoder captured first place in class A division of the 28-gauge skeet shoot by breaking 94 out of 100 clay targets. His father, Earl, took first place in class C of the 28-gauge division by breaking 91 out of 100 of the fast-moving targets.

Earlier in the state competition, Terry earned runner-up in class B shooting of the difficult 410-gauge.

And later, in the heavy duty 12-gauge event, Terry Yoder stunned everyone as he broke 99 out of 100 and forced a shootout with prominent skeet shooter Richard Kane from Newark.

Yoder lost the doubles shootout by just one target as he shot 22 out of 25 to Kane's 23 out of 25. But it was a triumph for the Harringtonian.

To illustrate the intensity of the match for Terry Yoder, one should realize this year's state championship was held in honor of Richard Kane. For Terry to even tie the invincible shooter was something near incredible.

The Yoders are relatively new in skeet shooting circles around Delaware. Although the sport dates back to 1920, popular interest in it did not surface until after World War II.

In Delaware, the local club is the Dover Skeet and Trap Club which operates out of Dover Air Force Base and has at its disposal the Dover Air Force Base skeet shooting facilities.

Says club president Bob Lee, "Skeet is more in tune to bird hunters since it has varied releases, varied angles and extremely varied distances to its targets."

As for Earl Yoder, who spent his war years as a medic and does not like to hunt, "there is an easier feeling among skeet shooters than trap shooters."

"Skeet may be known as the gentleman's sport because there is more money and less sport resting on the trap shooter's prize," said Yoder. "But the sport is really there in skeet and the sport is what Terry and I enjoy."

The Yoders began shooting skeet in 1973, and both Earl and Terry shoot all four divisions: the terrifically tough 410-gauge, 28-gauge, 20-gauge and the heavy-duty 12-gauge. They both use Remington model 870 pump guns, the only pump guns used in regular skeet shooting at the Dover club.

"There is a little more work to shooting with a pump shotgun," says Yoder, "but we prefer them to the automatic or the over and under models."

Apparently the Yoders know the right gun for them as they have been winning prizes at skeet shoots in Dover, Sudlersville and Easton since they began competition three years ago.

Of course their favorite shoots are those held at Dover Air Base and their favorite competition is the Delaware State Skeet Shooting Association's state championship in which they did so well this year.

AFTER THE SHOOT everyone relaxes, compares scores and offers each other tips on how to shoot better next time. Left to right in the Dover team are: George Baird, Wilmington; Joe Sajewski, Dover; Terry Yoder and father Earl Yoder of Harrington; and referee Robert E. Lee of Dover Air Base.
