Final Federal Approval Pending For Athletic Complex

$1,589,000 Earmarked For Lake Forest

HARRINGTON-The Lake Forest School District Administrative office was notified Thursday, December 23 the school district is one step away from final approval of a $1,589,000 federal grant to build an outside athletic complex at the district's high school, located near Felton.

Pending approval by the Economic Development Administration, the district will be in line for a complete outside athletic complex which will include a football stadium, a baseball field, an eight-lane running track, a hockey field, a soccer field, a practice field for football, fencing for the total complex as well as bleachers, locker rooms, training rooms, sound and lighting systems and public rest room facilities. The grant also calls for a natatorium (swimming pool), inside and outside, with locker rooms, storage and spectator areas as needed in relation to community use and needs. All monies are to be federally granted, under the local public works Capital Development and Investment Programs. If the plan meets final approval by the EDA, it will be the biggest single grant in the state of Delaware, according to school board president E.B. Warrington. When Warrington learned about the grant, he says "it was unbelievable.....we got the whole works." The grants are being approved for areas where unemployment is high and where facilities requested do not exist. According to the application sent in by the district, work may begin in January to be completed in a 16-month period. Warrington says the plans will be fully discussed during the January board meeting.

Burton Smith, Sport Shop Owner, Dies

Burton T. Smith

HARRINGTON-Burton T. Smith, 63, of 237 Delaware Ave., died Sunday in Kent General Hospital, Dover, after a short illness.

He was the owner of the Sports Shop in Harrington for 37 years, although several generations of Harrington residents refer to the shop as Burton's.

Displaying several pieces of his antique collection in the store, Mr. Smith was seldom far away, often serving stories of days past as well as anecdotes with the soup and sandwiches.

Bikes often lined the sidewalk in front of Burton's in the afternoon, and according to his brother Norman, Mr. Smith has "built up a heck of a friendship" with the youngsters in town over the years.

Initials of teenagers who are now adults still adorn the booths in Burton's and today's youngsters in Harrington have frequently been seen pouring over the penny candy after school.

When he was not in his store, or frequenting sales to add to his antique collection, Smith enjoyed traveling. Among the trips he took were an extensive trip to Mexico several years ago, and a lengthy trip through Egypt.

He would recall these trips, with a flair of the true story teller as he sat at the counter with a cup of coffee, next to a customer who would be tempted to linger a little longer to exchange comments.

Mr. Smith is survived by his wife, Alma; a son, Randall T., of Dover; a brother, Norman S. Jr. of Harrington, and four grandchildren.

Services will be this afternoon at 1 at the McKnatt Funeral Home, 50 Commerce St., Harrington. Interment will be in Hollywood Cemetery, Harrington.

There's Still Time To File For Election

HARRINGTON-As the time dwindles for filing for the city election Tuesday, January 11, two people have filed for office.

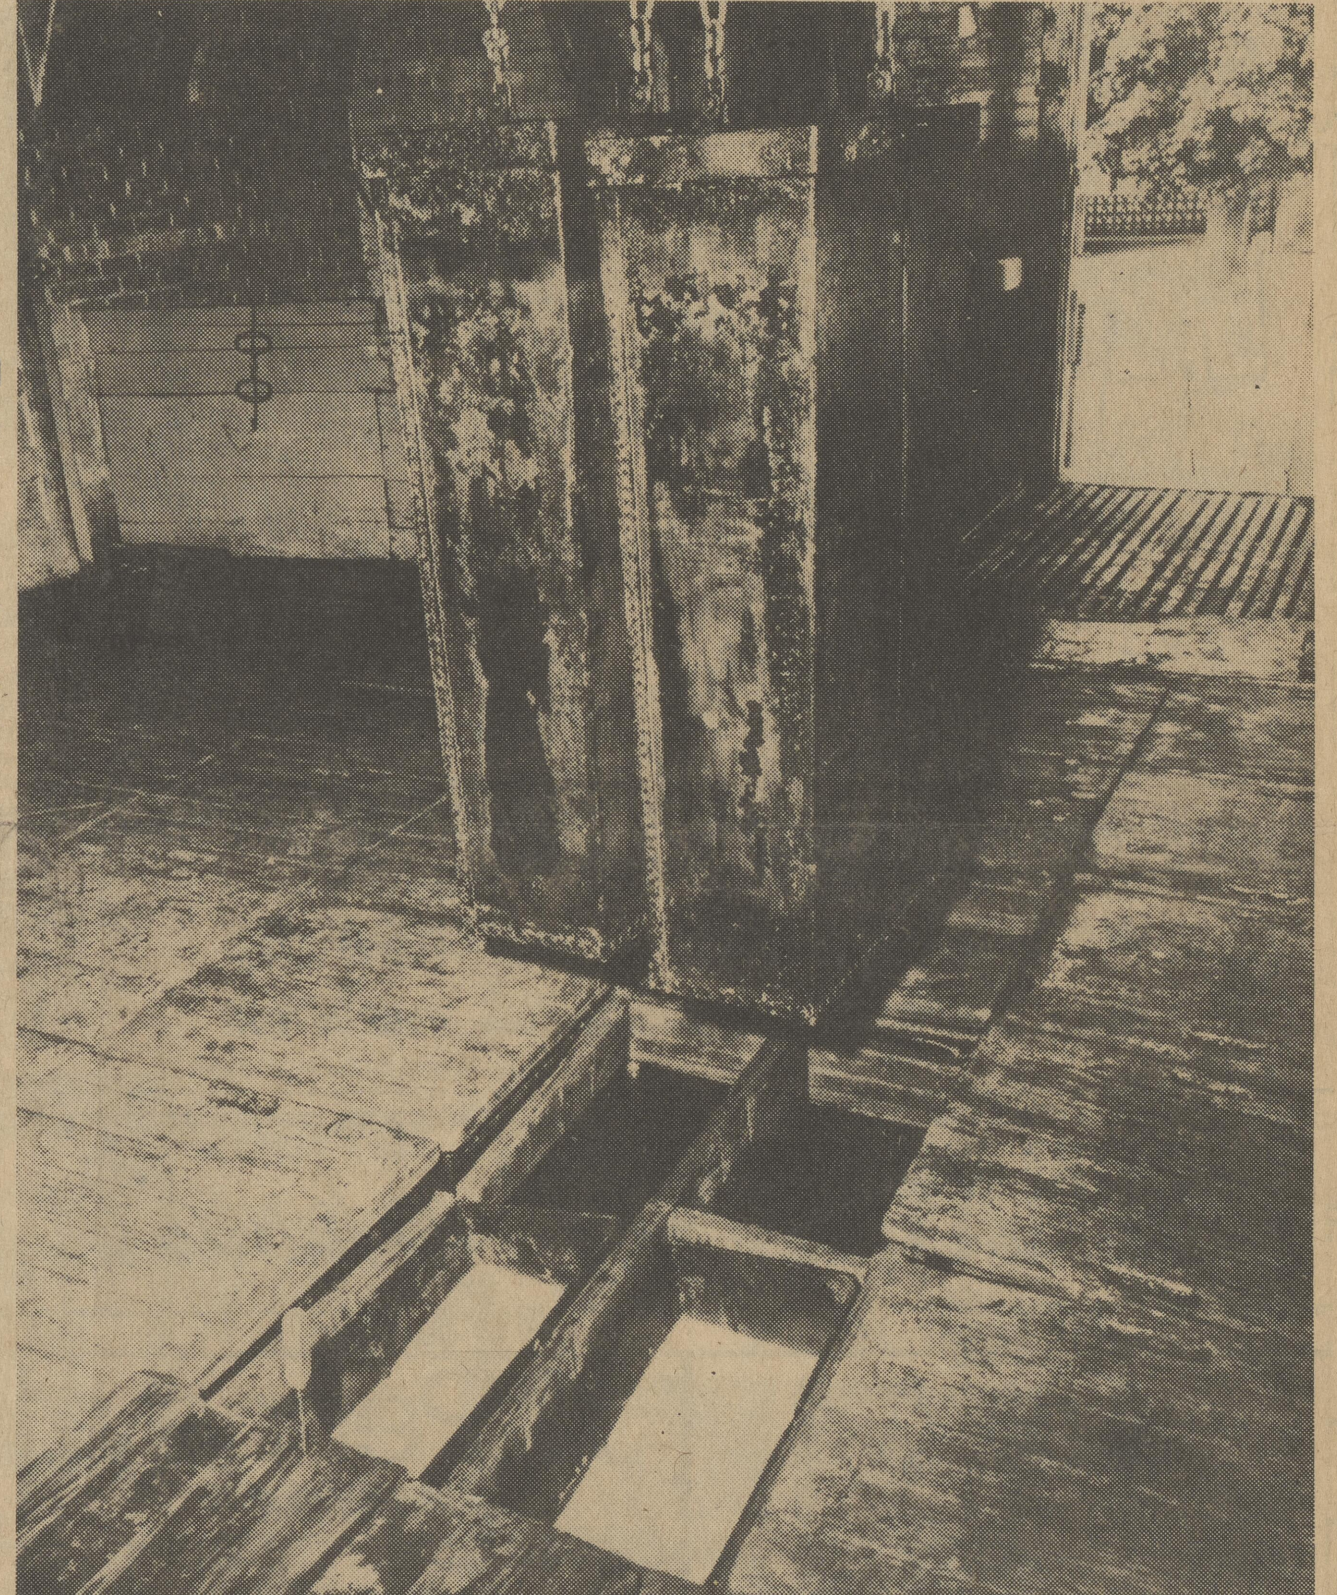

As reported in last week's Journal, Arthur "Buck" Cahall has filed for the office of mayor.

Since last week, Dr. Vincent Lobo has filed for council of the third ward.

No one else has filed for mayor or council. Jack Wyatt of the first ward had not filed as of Tuesday afternoon, the only other council seat up for reelection.

Persons interested in filing must do so by January 1. Dave Peterson, city manager, told the Journal the city office will be closed December 31 and January 1. Anyone interested in filing should do so by the time city hall closes on December 30 at 4 p.m.

According to the charter, filing for election must be completed 10 days before the election, which is the second Tuesday in January. This year's election is January 11.

An exhibit entitled, "To Market, To Market: Industry in the Service of Agriculture," opened at the Margaret M. O'Neill Visitor Center in Dover on December 27. This exhibit is based on the Historic American Engineering Record survey of Delaware's early industrial sites, conducted during the summers of 1975 and 1976.

The HAER Delaware Survey is the only statewide survey of early industry completed to date. The sites range in age from fifty to two hundred years, and they are located from Yorklyn to Delmar. "To Market, To Market" spotlights ten early industries whose products or services had an effect on the development of Delaware's agricultural industry.

Shown here is the interior of the Milford Ice Plant, one of the first ice plants in Delaware. Founded in the early 1880's by George H. Draper and associates, the plant made ice by the ammonia process until it closed in 1976.

The exhibit will consist of measured drawings of the sites, photographs, and related objects.

The Margaret M. O'Neill Visitor Center is located on Federal Street in Dover, just behind the restored State House and is open Tuesday through Saturday from 10 to 4:30, and on Sundays from 1 to 4:30.

Local Police Are Busy During Holiday

HARRINGTON-Police here report several incidents during the past week.

Shooting Complaint

On December 23, around 6:30 a.m. Delaware State Police at Troop 3 received a complaint from Mary Harris of 116 Mispillion Street who told police her husband Kenneth was intoxicated and reportedly had a handgun and a shot gun.

State police and Harrington police stood by as Harris' brother went inside to talk to him. He was found asleep in a bedroom, with a 25 calibre automatic in a pocket of his trousers.

He was taken to Milford Memorial Hospital where he was treated for bleach being thrown into his eyes during the incident.

Upon release from the hospital Harris was charged with discharging a firearm in the city limits and reckless endangering.

On December 24, around 9 p.m., Harrington police charged Robert Cerklefskie with driving while his license was revoked.

Truck Stopped

On December 25, around 1:45 a.m., Harrington police received a complaint from state police at troop 3 that a Suburban gas truck was stopped in the middle of U.S. #13, south of the intersection with U.S. #13 and rt. 14 on the northbound lane.

Carroll Dunning, 54, of Dover, the driver, was charged with driving under the influence when, according to police, they found him slumped over the wheel of the vehicle. Dunning refused to take a chemical test.

Knifing Reported

At 3:45 a.m. on Christmas morning, Lynn Tribbitt of Harrington was taken to Milford Memorial Hospital where she received 36 stitches on her head, seven stitches on her wrist and treatment for multiple scratches.

According to police, while Mrs. Tribbitt was visiting with friends on East Street, Marjorie Anderson went into the kitchen of the home, returned with a butcher knife, and inflicted the wounds on Mrs. Tribbitt's head and wrist.

Police said the incident resulted from the consumption of alcohol. Mrs. Anderson was charged with assault in the second degree.

An accident involving three out-of-state trucks occurred December 27 when a tractor trailer ran into the back of a tractor trailer stopped for a light at the intersection of U.S. 13 and rt. 14, in the northbound lane. The tractor trailer that was stopped ran into a pickup truck in front of it, pushing it into the intersection. No injuries were reported in the accident.

Mrs. Viola Hill Has Retirement Party

DOVER-On Tuesday, December 2, Mrs. Viola Hill was given a retirement party by her co-workers in the Kent County Receiver of Taxes office.

Mrs. Hill, who resides on Paradise Alley and is a native of that area, began to work in the Tax Office in June, 1963 under the then Receiver of Taxes, Dorsey Torbert.

In her official capacity as clerk she handled many jobs in that office including the writing of checks.

Prior to working in the Receiver's Office, Mrs. Hill worked at The Harrington Journal as a proof reader and in the classified department. Prior to that, she worked as a nurse's aide at Milford Memorial Hospital.

At the retirement party, Mrs. Hill was given several presents including a silver necklace and an owl as an ornament, a Christmas plate, a bottle of perfume, and an arrangement of yellow roses from her daughter Mrs. June LeKites, her son-in-law, Walter LeKites, Jr. and her two granddaughters, Mrs. Cheryl L. Lyons and Carol LeKites all of Paradise Alley.

Harry Greenberg Celebrates 85th Birthday

HARRINGTON-Harry Greenberg celebrated his 85th birthday last Friday.

Under the Jewish calendar his birthdate was on the 16th of December. Mr. Greenberg was born in the Ukraine (Russia) in 1891.

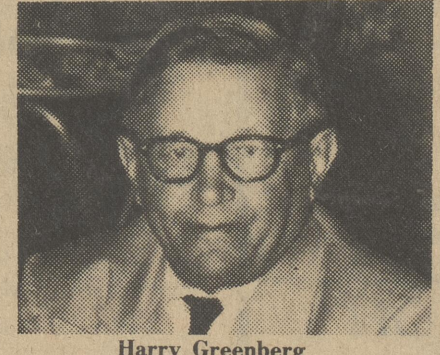

In 1911 he started a 50 day trip across Europe to the boat in France which brought him to America.

He was interviewed by The Journal on his birthday and was asked how he came to escape from Russia and come to this country. "In Russia (as Mr. Greenberg referred to his native land), (he) had gotten a fairly good education, and I had read about America as the place of great opportunity," stated Mr. Greenberg. He had been in the cattle business with his father in Russia, which was the trade he pursued here in America.

The conditions in Russia in 1911 were very primitive and bad, according to Greenberg. "There was just one radio in the Town," said Mr. Greenberg, "and Jews were not permitted to live and have property holdings in many of the towns of Russia. There was a great deal of discrimination even then," continued Mr. Greenberg.

When he arrived in this country he took a job in Philadelphia. He knew very little English, but he communicated with his associates in Yiddish. He worked for E. B. Martin Co. in Philadelphia. Some years later, Mr. Greenberg brought his parents to this country to live. They soon sent him on his first mission and that was to lower Kent County to purchase cattle. He met with the Hughes family and in particular the late Randolph Hughes and his brother Winfred. He came in contact with Charles Murphy, Sr. in Harrington who according to Mr. Greenberg was a very fine person, for it was Murphy who got him interested in going into business for himself. Mr. Murphy went so far as to open an account for Mr. Greenberg in the 1st National Bank of Harrington. The amount was $100.00. "When I found out what Mr. Murphy had done, I went to look for him, because I couldn't understand why any man would do that for me," commented Greenberg. "Let me tell you there was no finer man than Charles Murphy," added Greenberg.

Since coming to this area Mr. Greenberg has been engaged in the buying and trading of cattle and real estate. He once owned the liquor store on the southeast corner of Commerce St. and Fleming St. in the downtown district of Harrington. He was a member of the Chamber of Commerce for many years and continued attending the monthly meetings long after he had gotten out of business until he began to have problems with his sight.

Days Of Our Years

Ten Years Ago

Fri., Dec. 30, 1966

The residence of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Tucker, 324 Dorman St., took first place in the Christmas lighting contest for homes, sponsored by the Harrington Chamber of Commerce. The award is a $20 gift certificate.

Senior Center News

by Cleota Willey

We have had a busy week but a nice one for most all the members. Band practice as usual on Monday with a class for physical fitness. It is quite a bit of fun. We had our members Christmas dinner on Tuesday about 1:30 with about 80 members present to enjoy a meal catered by Mrs. Marian Moore.

Wednesday we had a film shown by Mr. George Goodge. After lunch it was bingo with some of the members. Some of the members went to Dover Y.M.C.A. for swimming with Dr. Lloyd.

Thursday we had another turkey dinner prepared by M.A.N.N.A. for those at the center and the home bound. After lunch we had a dried flower arrangement instruction by Margaret Crawley, which was chanced off and won by Gladys Hill. The centennial afghan donated by Mrs. Anna P. Tucker of Greenwood and chanced off was won by Mrs. Elizabeth Donovan of Clark St., Harrington.

The winners of last week's bowling were Mrs. Marian Russum for the ladies and Mr. Norman Harris for the men.

Those present were: Mrs. Anne Sisson and son from Waldorf, Md., Mr. and Mrs. Donald Lynch and son from Selbyville, Mr. and Mrs. Ward Meredith from Wyoming, Mrs. Violet Bringham from Viola, Mrs. Minerva Wheatley from Seaford, Mr. and Mrs. Granville White, Mrs. Julia Alcott, Miss Virginia Ray, and Mr. and Mrs. William Ray of Bridgeville; Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Meredith, Jr. and family of Wilmington, Mrs. Allen Johnson of Milford, Mr. Vernon Lynch of Ocean View, Miss Irene Lynch of Wesley College and Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Meredith.

Mr. and Mrs. Gary Bollinger and Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Hatfield entertained at their annual Christmas Eve dinner for a large group of family and friends. House guests of the Bollingers were Gary's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Bollinger of Lewisburg, Pa., and his aunt, Miss Catharine Stahl of Swarthmore, Pa.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Meredith entertained on Christmas Day members of her family from Dover and surrounding area.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Davis of Federalsburg were Wednesday evening callers at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Allison Davis.

Recent Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Allison Davis were Mr. and Mrs. Gary Davis and family, Mr. Edwin Davis and Mark Dennis of Solebury, Pa., and Mrs. Barbara Sparks of Harrington. Sunday evening supper guests were Mrs. Delema Smith and son, James. Mr. and Mrs. Edward Snyder were recent guests of their daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Muller of Mineola, N.Y. The Mullers will be their Christmas guests over the holidays. Recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Patterson were her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Smeal of Bloomsburg, Pa. Their Christmas guests were Dale's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Larry Patterson of Paulsboro, N.J. Mrs. Helen Workman has received word from her son, Ralph Harmon, that he is happy with the position he has accepted with a company in Algeria. His family is residing in Barcelona, Spain for the duration. They report that it is very cold there now.

Begonia plants often suffer from edema during the winter. What is edema? It is a non-parasitic disease associated with excessive soil moisture and retarded transpiration. What you see are small water soaked spots, which later become brown and corky on the underside of the leaves. The leaves turn yellow and drop off. Sometimes corky ridges develop on the petioles and stems. Edema is likely to develop when the soil is moist and warm and the air is moist and cool. These conditions result in the rapid uptake of water that cannot be expelled through the leaves. Some cells in the leaves will swell and burst because of the extra moisture. Control is simple but sometimes hard to do. Give your plants adequate air and light without excess water. Affected plants usually recover when you give them good growing conditions or when set out-of-doors in warm weather. Save wood ashes from the fireplace for use as fertilizer in the garden or sprinkle them on the compost pile. They contain 4 to 6 percent potash, but no nitrogen or phosphorus. Turn the compost pile one more time to mix in late fall additions. Apply a liberal sprinkling of 5-10-5 or 5-10-10 fertilizer to produce better humus. December and January are good months to place orders for next year's garden. If you are interested in new varieties of plants, it is the early order that gets them. However, be sure that the plants you want will grow and flourish in our area. We are in plant hardiness zone 7. Plants which are listed for zone 8 and higher live in the warm regions of the country and may not survive here.

Sunny Side Up

Housewise Helps from the Delaware Cooperative Extension

by Lynn Hershey
"When something can go wrong, it will, even at Christmas."

Ben Franklin didn't say it, but he certainly should have.

Christmas is a time of glowing red candles which turn out not to be dripless after all, especially when your best white damask cloth is on the table.

Christmas is a time when your husband sends you a regal poinsettia—and the cat chews it to shreds without even having the decency to get sick afterwards.

And of course Christmas is food, sometimes uncooked.

One year I asked the neighbors over for Christmas brunch.

I planned to don red velvet hostess pajamas and preside at a beautifully-decorated table. There would be a waffle iron on my left, a pancake grill on my right, and I would dispense these delicacies with effortless and queenly grace to our admiring guests.

Well, the waffles stuck like barnacles, and the pancake grill only got luke-warm. I still shudder at the memory of all those hungry, expectant people eating a festive Christmas brunch of cornflakes, with sausage on the side.

I found out later that using several appliances on a long extension cord can cause the appliances to under-heat, and the cord to overheat. Extension home management specialist Coral Morris recommends using a heavy-duty extension cord, the shorter the better, with electric appliances. As for colored candle wax on a white tablecloth, Coral says it's important to act quickly. (This is a good rule for treating all stains, since some can become permanent after about 10 days.)

Scrape off as much wax as possible with the dull edge of a knife. Place the stained area between two paper towels and press with a warm iron, shifting the towels several times to blot up as much stain as possible. Then soak the waxy spot in a dry cleaning solvent, letting the solvent soften the wax and carry it onto an absorbent towel. Finally, wipe the waxy area with solvent-soaked cheesecloth. Carefully wipe toward the center of the stain to prevent a ring. If traces of the stain remain, bleaching may be necessary.

About that black cat straddling the red poinsettia on the green lacquer table—maybe I should have taken his picture.

Who would have thought a new bedspread could cause such chaos?

All I had to do was buy it and put it on the bed, right?

WRONG! The spread canceled out everything else in the room. So I had to re-paint, make new draperies, buy a new rug, and engage in a fruitless search for watercolor prints of desert scenes (the spread has a cactus design). Have you ever ransacked Delaware for a picture of the Great Southwest? Don't. I even had to explain where Arizona was to one shopkeeper. Our family did without meals while I got the painting done—two coats. They endured my terrible temper tantrums when the draperies didn't hang right.

It was the new room-size rug, however, that caused real havoc in the house. We laid it ourselves, and discovered the store had delivered five more feet of rug than there was bedroom. To cut it, or fold it under "in case we move"—that was the question. I won. It was folded under. Now the bed has a permanent tilt, causing my husband to roll downhill and crash into me at about twelve every night.

The rug also turns his trousers sea green with lint. And I tried so hard not to drop anything on it that I dropped a lipstick right in the middle.

At times like this, extension home management specialist Coral Morris is a friend indeed. Linty rugs and lipstick stains are right up her alley.

Coral explains that lint attaches itself to shoes and pants because of static electricity in a dry house.

There are several solutions. Many new carpets incorporate anti-static construction. (Now she tells me!) A one-room humidifier, or a humidifier built into a central heating system can solve the problem, but not cheaply.

A less expensive option is one of the anti-static carpet sprays. Coral says most of these are effective, but choose with care—some leave a sticky residue that attracts dirt.

As for the lipstick stain, a solution of detergent and warm water should do the trick. Coral recommends applying the solution with a sponge, working from the outer edge to the center. Be careful not to get the carpet excessively wet. Rub gently, blot with paper towels, sponge with water, and blot again. If the stain is not completely removed, lightly sponge the area with a household dry cleaning fluid.

Here's a final tip from Coral. If the legs of heavy furniture have caused deep dents in your rug, place a damp cloth over the flattened area and press lightly with a hot iron. The nap should rise to the occasion.

Our sea green rug, sea green walls and sea green draperies look lovely. There's only one trouble. When we look in the mirror, our faces are sea green, too.

The "Kings" Three will be appearing at the Harrington Century Club January 3 at 8 p.m. during the 35th Southern Democrat Club's meeting. People attending are asked to bring a covered dish.

December 30 - State Christmas Dinner and Dance, 6:30 to 11 p.m. (Grange Hall, Dover)
January 9 - Leader-Link Dinner, Substation
January 12 - Public Speaking Entry Deadline
January 15 - Link trip to Ice Follies, meet at Substation at 1:30 p.m.
January 22 - Public Speaking Contest, Substation, 1 p.m.

What kind of Christmas gifts are you giving this year? Are they expensive? Will they last? One of the greatest gifts anyone can give is that of his or her own time. Consider becoming a volunteer 4-H leader. It will not take that much of your time. We need two main types of adult leaders. An Organizational Leader is the main local 4-H club leader who works with the club officers in planning and conducting their monthly business meetings. This is also the main contact person between the club and 4-H Office. The rewards of working with today's youth will be far greater than the task.

A second type of leader is the Project Leader. This person meets with small numbers of 4-H'ers to train them in various project areas such as clothing, gardening, automotive and foods. If you have any special talents in these or other areas, why not volunteer to be a 4-H Project Leader?

Don't forget the State Dinner and Dance on December 30th. This is one event you will not want to miss. Sussex County's own private DJ's "L & M" will be providing the music. Remember that Sussex County is responsible for dessert dishes! The fun begins at 6:30 with a covered dish dinner and it ends at 11. If you are a Jr. Council Member, why not make plans to attend today?

The 1977 Public Speaking Contest will be held on Saturday, January 22 at the University of Delaware Substation. The holiday season is an excellent time to prepare your speech. If we can help you find any information, please don't hesitate to call on us. This year's contest begins at 1 p.m. Let's all start the new year with a bang! Get involved and enter today!
Age divisions and speech length requirements are in your December newsletter. The entry deadline is January 12, 1977.

Sunshine

Reported by Connie Harrington

The meeting was called to order by president Mike Everline. Brent Muran led our club in the pledges. Dale Jarrell and Lisa Welch taught the club a new song. Minutes were read by secretary and a treasurer's report was given. We had a visitor this month. Ellen Baker who has come from a 4-H club in New Jersey.

Dale Jarrell gave a safety report titled "Home Safety." Doug Crouse reported on our Parent's Banquet. Kelly Ryan reported on Operation Reindeer. Lisa Bostick reported on the Food Drive our club participated in. April Testerman reported on Thanksgiving Favours we made for local nursing homes. Duane Hammond reported on the Skating Party. Mike Everline reported on the Christmas Parade in which our club received first in the 4-H division.

Kurt Ryan reported on Public Speaking contest.

We had five member participate in this contest: Bobby Vincent, Kelly Ryan, Kurt Ryan, Lisa Bostick and Mike Everline. A demonstration was given by Connie Harrington entitled "Breakfast and a Bright Life" and also Dale Jarrell gave one entitled "How to make a Christmas Decoration." Kurt Ryan and Melinda Larimore seconded it. Refreshments were served by Marsha Butler and Ruby and Brent Muran.

Gab Fest

by Pat Hatfield

Christmas has come and gone! By the time you read this, as the old saying goes, "It will all be over but the shouting." But no. This is the time the shouting should start, and it will never be over, for us who carry the message of the Christ Child in our hearts.

But, today, as I manufacture a bit of time for our Gab Fest, it is the Monday before Christmas. I am sitting here with a great feeling of satisfaction. After church on Sunday I mixed up several batches of pie crust and stashed them in the refrigerator. As soon as breakfast was over this morning I hauled them out and began an assembly line of pies. Now there are eight large pumpkin pies cooling, ready for the freezer. I kept not coming out with crust and filling, so I ended up with three more pies to eat immediately, with a tiny one for the children to divide after school. (I may say that this was greeted with much enthusiasm.)

Did you ever hear of an oven stew? Well, you've heard of one now. I had been so busy with pie-making that I had made no plans for dinner. The only thing in the freezer was a package of lean beef cubes which I had been planning to put into the old iron pot and make a savory beef stew some day. Today, I was too tired to stand and brown the meat slowly and so on, so I laid the frozen package of cubes on the bottom of the small roaster, added whole carrots and sliced up a Bermuda onion, added seasonings, and a bit of water. It was delicious when done and so easy. I thickened the liquid and made a rich, brown gravy. With this I made some top of the stove stuffing and it was a fine meal.

Here's a Happy New Year for you! It is written by Elaine V. Emans and she calls it "Happy New Year."

Had I not swept the old year out so many Times previously, half-glad to see it go.

Yet sorry, too, and turned to the new penny Brightness of every new year with a glow

Of irresistible anticipation Knowing so clean a thing must bring me good, Accepting eagerly its invitation

To grow a little, as I knew I should, And never once been disappointed, then

This morning I should not be wishing you Happy New Year with confidence again--

Certain, for every gray day, there'll be blue

And gold ones; sure, if you will seek, this year Holds good for you not visible from here.

Do you all feel young and gay as we enter this New Year? The second day of the New Year will be my birthday, and I shall be 73.....a grand old age, eh? But I can still say with the poet, Edwin Markham who wrote on his 80th birthday..."I look to the years ahead; Come on, I am ready for you!"

Future Job Outlook

by Buck Thompson
The Job Outlook This Year and Next

Thinking about the kind of work you'd like to do when you get out of school? It can be confusing! There is an enormous variety of jobs and careers in the vast and varied land.

Narrow down the possibilities, it helps to think of the broad categories of jobs available. First, there are blue-collar jobs and white-collar jobs. But blue-collar jobs are shrinking in numbers and are likely to continue to do so. The top people among the blue-collar workers, and those with the most secure job outlook, are the craftsmen. They are the highly skilled, usually unionized and best-paid workers: the machinists, printers, cabinet makers, jewelers, mechanics, repairmen and the various skilled workers in the building trades, such as carpenters, electricians, plumbers, structural metal workers, etc.

Most of the shrinkage in the blue-collar labor force is occurring among the less skilled factory workers, manual laborers and farm workers. The reason is the increasing mechanization of both industry and agriculture.

For white-collar jobs, which are expected to continue to grow in numbers, the government keeps track of five main groups: PROFESSIONAL AND TECHNICAL WORKERS. This is the fastest growing job group, over-all. And it is an increasingly varied group, including many more jobs than just those for doctors, lawyers, engineers and laboratory technicians. It also includes such diverse workers as accountants, airline pilots, chemists, clergymen, librarians, reporters and writers, social workers, teachers, actors and dancers, golf pros and a great variety of workers in the health field.

As you can see, most of these jobs require a college education or training past the high school level. And scientific or technical training is at a premium in the fastest growing fields such as environmental protection, urban renewal, mass transportation and the development of fuel and energy sources. MANAGERS AND ADMINISTRATORS

This is the highest-paid job group but, of course, it includes few so-called entry-level jobs for those with no previous work experience. Here again, a college education and scientific or technical training are required by many employers. But most supervisory jobs are filled by promotion from within the business or government organization. Employers most often want to know that, besides educational credentials, the college graduate has the necessary work skills and attitudes, plus the ability to get along with people in a large organization.

CLERICAL WORKERS
Here are many of the entry-level jobs for high school graduates. But major changes are under way in this job group. The rapid adoption of computers and other advanced office technology is reducing the need for relatively unskilled clerks to do filing, payrolls, control inventories of goods and supplies, and customer billing. A good command of English and basic math is essential and, of course, computer skills are most highly sought. But another group of workers is expected to be immune to the revolution in technology. These are the secretaries, typists and receptionists.

SALES WORKERS
This job category includes two main groups: clerks in retail stores and salesmen of goods and supplies in wholesale trade. But changing techniques in merchandising, such as self-service stores, supermarkets, automated check-out counters and vending machines are likely to limit the need for retail sales workers.

SERVICES WORKERS
This category includes policemen, FBI agents, beauty operators and barbers, cooks and waiters, janitors, security guards, hospital attendants, practical nurses, social services aides, airline stewards and stewardesses, and so on. This group is growing and changing fast.

Expanding business activity, increasing leisure time and rising personal incomes all mean that households and businesses alike are in the market for new, increased services.

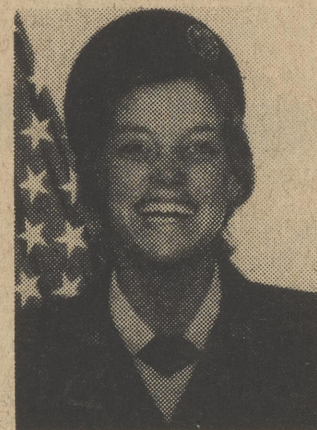

There are two other dimensions to the choice of a career: time and place. Some jobs, and the industries that provide them, are on the decline and others are on the rise. The dimension of place means region. Are you in the right place for the kind of job you want? If you want to be a farmer or forester and you now live in a large city, you are going to have to move. If you're thinking of factory work or you want to become a skilled craftsman or technician, you should know that the growth of heavy industry in the Northeast and the Midwest has slowed, although these are still major employment areas.

The search for new sources of energy plus the growth of such other industries as aerospace, defense, mechanized agriculture, and leisure and recreation, has meant that the fastest business and industrial growth is now in the Southeast and the West. In Texas and Oklahoma, the search for oil and natural gas leads the way.

In Utah and Wyoming there are huge deposits of coal which may be tapped. Throughout the farm belt are the centers of such varied industries as milling, meat packing, aircraft manufacturing and insurance. Such industries attract workers and the growth in population in turn generates expansion in other businesses and industries to serve the growing numbers of people. And that means jobs of many types.

Most people now work for large business and government organizations and the vital requirement for such jobs is a sound education, whether it be on the high school or college level. And, for those with the head for it, a background in science or technology seems to offer the brightest future of all.

Airman Susan Haymaker
Airman Haymaker
Completes Training

Susan A. Haymaker, has been selected to receive specialized training after completing Air Force basic training at Lackland AFB, Tex.

Airman Haymaker, daughter of Mrs. Beverly J. Dudley of R.D. 2, Wyoming, Del., now goes to Chanute AFB, Ill., to attend the Air Training Command's survival equipment specialist course.

The airman, a 1972 graduate of Caesar Rodney High School, Dover, Del., attended Wesley College there. Her husband, Air Force Sergeant Donald G. Haymaker, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence W. Haymaker of West Terre Haute, Ind.

The largest hailstone on record fell on July 16, 1938 in Potter, Nebraska. It weighed one and a half pounds and was the only one that fell there that day.

Chemical Drain Cleaners Are Dangerous

This year an estimated 35,000 Americans of all ages will be injured by cleaning agents and caustic chemicals, warns Coral Morris, extension home management specialist at the University of Delaware. The U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission rates these products as the fourth most dangerous items around the home, especially to children under ten.

The specialist notes that among cleaning agents, the chief offenders are chemical drain cleaners that use dangerous lye and acid to dissolve clogs in drains. These liquids and crystals combine with standing water to create a colorless, odorless acid. The acid is poisonous if swallowed, and has caused chemical burns on children and adults who have been accidentally splashed.

Ms. Morris urges consumers to seek other ways of cleaning household drains. The old-fashioned plunger and plumber's helper are still reliable, she says.

Among commercial drain cleaners an alternative product is called "Drain Power." It's a new drain opener that contains no lye or acid. Instead, "Drain Power" uses pressure to push against the stoppage, sending it through the pipes and out into the sewer. As an added safety factor, this product requires the use of 30 pounds of pressure to discharge its contents. That's much more than the average child can muster. "Drain Power" has also been sniff-proofed to prevent misuse by breathing its contents.

Regardless of where or how often they are used, Ms. Morris recommends keeping all cleaning agents in locked cabinets, out of the reach of children.

Breast Screening Project Scheduled

An opportunity will be given to area women to get the latest information about the Breast Screening Project on January 4 at Delaware Technical and Community College (Sussex Room), Georgetown, at 7 p.m.

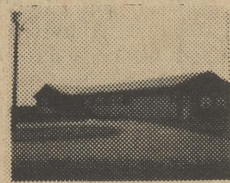

Dr. Leslie W. Whitney, Project Director, will discuss the new National Cancer Institute guidelines, updated information on thermography and mamography and the latest statistics from the 29 similar projects, each having examined 10,000 asymptomatic women, throughout the U.S. Time will be set aside to answer questions.

Residents are urged to attend this meeting. For further information call the American Cancer Society office, 856-2855.

What America Means To Me

America! America! What does it mean to me. America means much to me, a way of life and plans for the future.

A-in America means advertising, attractions and athletics.

Advertising means the seller bringing his wares to the attention of the buyer. To sell a new article or product that competes with similar items already on the market, advertisers must present to buyers definite reason to buy this product. They must persuade the buyers that the product is much better and costs less. The daily use of many devices such as neon, televisions, magazines and newspaper ads, to promote products has become a part of our life.

Attractions have caused many foreigners to come here to view its beautiful vistas and historical sites. Athletics-the sports Americans play have made up happy people, allowing us to play as hard as we work. All Americans that want and are physically able, can participate regardless of race, religion or creed.

M-in America means money, machinery and music.

Money-the medium of exchange has given us a high standard of living. Our money in the economy represents jobs, taxes, goods and services greater than any other nation possesses. The type of life we live is based on how we choose to use our money. Money, we might say "Is the root of good or evil".

Machinery plays a very important role in America's industry. Without it we could never have developed the economic growth and standard of living we enjoy today.

Music, the song of America expresses feelings, of our people and communicates the message to the people of the world. The music that describes America best is "God Bless America". That popular piece of music is a feeling expressing how one feels towards America.

E-in America means Education.

Americans are glad for their children to go to school. Education is the means by which people achieve realization of their abilities and dreams. From our emphasis on education our nation produced inventions and workers who have made our Industrial, social and economical position possible.

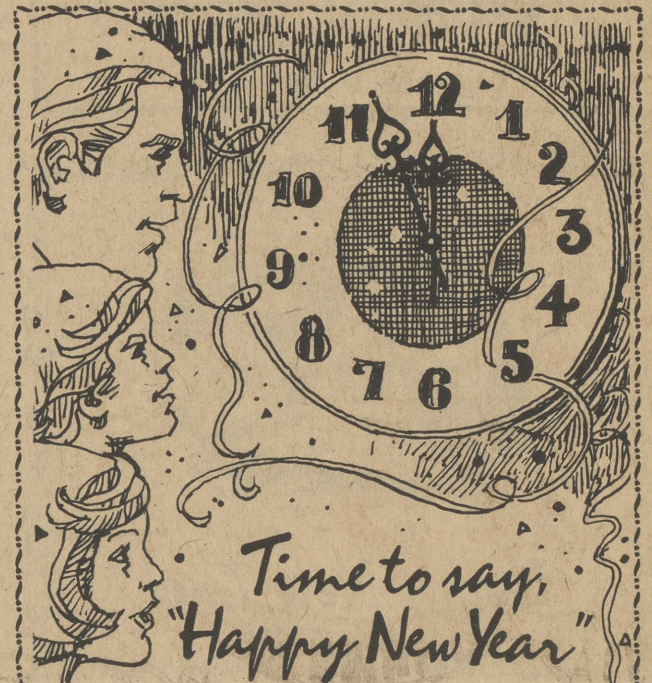

R-in America means rights, and respect. Respect to Americans would include, keeping our country clean and honoring it and its constitution and being proud to be a part of it. I-in America stands for the individual who is protected in his rights and freedom by the supreme law of the land. As the individual has his rights and freedoms he has the responsibility to use his talents and abilities to get as far in life as he can. We also have the responsibility to maintain the freedoms of the individual for ourselves and others.

C-in America stands for citizenship.

Citizenship means full membership in a country. A country grants certain rights to a citizen and expects certain duties and responsibilities in return. American citizens guide the destiny of this country, by voting and obeying its laws. The faith and beliefs of our heritage has kept the spirit of liberty alive and binds us together in the American tradition of freedom.

The last A-in America is for Action, doing something. Our people actively take part in preserving our democracy and helping those in need. America offers a helping hand to many nations of the world.

As the old year nears completion, we look forward to the new... with thanks in our hearts for our good fortune!

Junior Spartan Bill Moore releases a jump shot in the tournament game.

Holiday Tournament

LF Downs Crisfield High

by Millard Ellingsworth III
Lake Forest's explosive brand of basketball surprised Crisfield High School in the first round of the holiday tournament being played at the Civic Center in Salisbury, Maryland.

The tournament is not arranged so that one team will return victorious. Two Delaware teams, Lake Forest and Indian River, were invited to play by Washington High, the tournament's coordinator. Crisfield was the other Maryland School invited. Each Delaware team plays each Maryland team on different nights, but there is no intentional "show-down" for the winners.

During the first quarter, it looked as if the Spartans had met more than their match. Early in that period, the Crisfield Crabbers had a 10-1 lead over Lake Forest with the one point coming from Bill Moore. The Spartans, however, called a quick time-out to settle down and were able to close the gap to four points, 14-10, Crisfield, by the end of the period.

Lake Forest outscored Crisfield 15-12 in the second period and gained the lead for a short while. The majority of Spartan points came early in the period to give them a two point lead. Crisfield was able to close the small gap and manage a four point lead late in the second quarter. Sam Carey hit for a free throw and a basket to close the half with Crisfield leading by 26-25.

The third quarter was nothing outstanding. The Spartans outscored the Crabbers again, but only by three points to give them a two point lead going into the fourth period.

Lake Forest played a devastating fourth quarter scoring 34 points to Crisfield's seven. The attack was led by Lauren Burris with eight points followed by Sam Carey with five and Bill Moore, Jerry Custis, Jack Coker, Bill Johnson and Frank Corsey all with four. Final score for the game was 73-44 Lake Forest.

Five Spartan players were in the double figures with Carey scoring 16 points, Moore and Johnson 12, and Burris and Corsey 10. Jack Coker had 8, Jerry Custis four and Glen Whitt one.

Against Sussex Central last Tuesday, the Spartans played extremely sloppy ball despite a decisive victory.

Spartan play was blemished by poorly aimed passes and poor teamwork, but the Spartan shooting was at its best with the team hitting 31 of 52 shots on the night for 60% effectiveness. They also made 19 of 25 free throws for the game.

It was totally, a Lake Forest victory from the start. At the end of the first quarter, the Spartans led 25-8 with Sam Carey contributing eight points, Frank Corsey seven and Bill Moore six.

The slaughter continued with the Spartans scoring 15, 18, and 23 points in the remaining quarters to total a year high 81 points for the game. Final score was 81-50.

Jack Coker had his best night so far this season with 17 points. He was followed by Sam Carey and Frank Corsey with 16 and Bill Moore with 12.

Torbert Named To Kent County ASC

Homer W. Torbert, a well-known Kent County grain farmer, was named to the Kent County Agriculture Stabilization and Conservation (ASC) committee by delegates to the ASC county convention, held December 15th at Dover.

The delegates also elected Joseph S. Hughes of Felton and Carlton M. Davis of Clayton as first and second alternates to the committee.

The Kent County ASC Committee for 1977 will be as follows: James S. Metz, grain farmer from Magnodia will be Chairman, J. Heyman Roosa, grain farmer from Milford will be Vice-Chairman, and Homer W. Torbert, the newly elected committeeman, from Frederica will serve as regular member.

During the December ASC mail election, Mr. Torbert was elected as community committeeman from Community E. Now that he has been named to the county committee for a three-year term, he will no longer serve on the county committee. He will be replaced by first alternate, Richard McCloskey, a grain farmer from Felton.

Paul W. Carter, a live-stock-grain farmer west of Felton has served on the County Committee for three years. During his term, the administration of federal farm programs in the county were very successful. Homer Torbert fills the position vacated by Mr. Carter.

The County ASC committee is responsible for local administration of government farm programs such as ACP, Feed Grain and Wheat programs, Grain facility and dryer loans, Price support programs, Beekeepers Indemnity Programs, Wool Programs and program compliance.

The vacancies were filled by farmer-delegates who are newly-elected ASC community committeemen for 1977. Community committees assist the county committee in farm program administration and help keep informed of program provisions.

Dover Downs Reopens

DOVER Dover Downs Raceway will reopen its 1976-77 harness season today with an 8 p.m. post time. The track has been closed for the Christmas holidays since December 20th.

Announcing a change in the Sunday racing format once the meet reopens, Dover Downs president and general manager, John Riddle said that two races have been added to the Sunday racing program for the balance of the meet. "We'll have 12 races every Sunday," Riddle said. "We've added an 11th race Exacta and a 12th race

Trifecta. "We think the fans will like the extra Trifecta also," Riddle added. "So far the triple has proven to be a popular replacement for the Big "E" and we hope everyone will stay for the 12th race to play it."

Riddle added that the track has a number of special events lined up for the coming weeks at Dover Downs including some special races at a mile and a quarter, the 2nd annual Father and Son Driving championship, and the 2nd annual Delaware Driving Championship.

A very festive time was reported by all.

An unconfirmed report to the U.S. Weather Bureau states that on July 16, 1949 a freak heat wave in Portugal brought the temperature up to 158 F. for two minutes.

About 200 words make up more than half the words used in ordinary speech and written language!

Greetings from the Felton Bank

The Directors and staff of the Felton Bank take pleasure in sending you the warmest greetings of the Christmas season.

It has been our pleasure as a good neighbor to serve you in the past and we now wish for you a most glorious Christmas season and that the coming year may prove to be a healthy, happy, and prosperous one.
