Democrat Club Celebrates 25th Anniversary

The 35th District Democrat Club will celebrate its 25th birthday Monday, February 7th at the New Century Club. A covered dish dinner will begin at 7 p.m.

The club was originally organized on Feb. 12, 1952 as the old "9th District Democrat Club of Harrington."

The club has met monthly over the years at Harrington and Farmington. It now meets at the Harrington Century Club on the first Monday night of every month. Past Secretary of State Robert Reed helped organize our club and also many other clubs throughout the state. He presided at the organizational meeting until the Officers were elected and installed.

Harold (Bailey) Minner was the club's first president. After many clubs were formed in the state a Federation of Democrat Clubs of Delmarva was formed at a Convention held in Dover on the First Saturday in April, 1952. Robert Reed was elected the first President of the Federation and served in that post for two very successful years.

Former Governor Bert Carvel was the speaker at the club's first meeting which was held at the American Legion Home on Route 13. There were over 100 members present that night. Gov. Bert has spoken to the club many times since.

Governors Carvel and Secretary Robert Reed will be with the club to speak and newly elected officers will be installed.

Jimmie Enberlain, "the Fiddler," will provide entertainment.

A covered dish is required of all who will attend to help celebrate the club's birthday.

Signing autographs is always a part of the job of sports celebrities and the Ninth Annual Milford Rotary Sports Banquet was no exception. Above Tom Underwood of the Philadelphia Phillies (l) and Randy White of the Dallas Cowboys do just that. See additional pictures on page eight.

Ninth Sports Banquet Draws Large Crowd

by Ray Blanchette

The talk of how important a role attitude plays in sports and the appearance of many big name stars highlighted the 9th Annual Milford Rotary Club Sports Banquet Saturday night.

The guests attending the banquet included Hank Leonard who was the toastmaster for the evening. Leonard has been the keynote speaker for the past 15 years at the Heisman Trophy Awards Banquets which annually proclaim the college football player of the year.

Other athletes who came were Jeff Cannon, former lineman and now assistant freshman football coach at the University of Delaware; Eduardo Garcia, tennis pro at the DuPont Country Club; Brett Lunger

Grand Prix driver from Delaware; Vince Papale, wide receiver from the Philadelphia Eagles; Tom Underwood, pitcher from the Philadelphia Phillies; Jeff Sapp, All-American middle guard from the U.S. Naval Academy; Dave Sigler, golf coach at the University of Maryland; and Randy White, a Delawarean who is now a linebacker for the Dallas Cowboys.

Cannon was the first to speak of the role of attitude in sports as he discussed how it feels to be on both ends of winning and losing. Cannon played on nothing but winning teams at the University but prior to his becoming coach at Delaware Cannon also felt the failure of not making it as a professional player and also in his first assistant coaching job did not fair well. (Continued to page 8).

Obscene Phone Calls Made

HARRINGTON. Several residents have reported obscene telephone calls to the local police, according to police chief Ed Layton.

He advises anyone receiving such phone calls to report them to the telephone company at once. Layton said people bothered with such calls could blow on a whistle into the receiver to discourage further calls. The best course to follow however, according to Layton, is to hang up.

Members of the Harrington and Felton Volunteer Fire Co.'s battled this 1:30 p.m. blaze, last Wednesday, about two miles south of Felton on Rt. 284. The blaze is believed to have originated near the main electric panel on the second floor. The house is owned by Herman Waikoski and was unoccupied at the time of the blaze. Dave Lawson (below) of the Harrington Volunteer Fire Co. attacks the blaze at a second story window.

Will Participate In Presidential Classroom

FELTON. Lake Forest High School students continue to participate in the Presidential Classroom program, held in Washington.

From February 26 through March 5, Miss Peni Sue Galentine and Russell John Knaub will participate in the program which gives young Americans the opportunity to see their legislative process at the national level.

Miss Galentine, a senior at Lake Forest High School, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Galentine of Harrington.

Russell Knaub, a junior, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Knaub also of Harrington.

These young people join thousands of students on the high school, undergraduate and graduate levels who have the opportunity to view the governmental processes first hand.

Corporal Punishment Aired

by Margo Farrow

FELTON. The Lake Forest School District opened its doors of the high school cafeteria Thursday for a public hearing regarding the district's proposed corporal punishment policy. The drafted form was distributed, read and received comment during the two and half hour hearing.

An estimated sixty people, consisting of the district's complete school board, some teachers, students and a majority of parents were present.

According to Delaware law, each school district must adopt a district policy dealing with corporal punishment. In this district, the proposal is in keeping with state law to permit a teacher to administer a spanking in the presence of another adult, after other methods of a corrective nature have been tried.

The parents voicing opposition ranged their comments from a "no hands on my child at any time" attitude to "call me before spanking my child."

Parents and teachers speaking in favor of corporal punishment received greater response than those speaking against the policy.

Principal William Griffin, of the Lake Forest High School, called for response to the proposal and suggestions. Of the latter, James Pizzadilli, a school board member, called for more specific definition of the term spanking.

According to Griffin, Lake Forest is the only school district in southern Delaware that has opened its doors to public input to the proposed policy for corporal punishment.

The proposal was to face another hearing before going to the district's school board for final inspection and passage.

According to Griffin, corporal punishment has been a part of the Delaware law since 1953, which gave administrators the authority to administer it.

New state law permits teachers to use corporal punishment when deemed necessary. The district policy, according to Griffin establishes guidelines in the administering of the state law.

Police Busy Here Again

HARRINGTON. After several weeks of cold weather and a quiet city, the local police once again report a busy week.

On January 25, state police relayed a reported hit-and-run call near the Banks Market on U.S. Rt. 13. According to the caller, a young woman walking along the highway south of the market had been struck by an automobile that subsequently left the scene.

Upon investigation, police found no evidence or justification for the call.

Chief Ed Layton said the case is still under investigation, which may be made easier since calls received by the state police and the fire board are recorded.

Filing a false complaint could draw a $500 fine.

On January 27, police arrested Cynthia Graham, 22, of Dormant St. on a bad check warrant from the Milford Police Department, which had been issued through the alderman's court. Graham was taken to J.P. Court 6 where she was turned over to a Milford officer to answer the charge.

On January 28, at 7:30 p.m. Edward McCormick of Harrington reported an attempted breaking and entering of his home. Someone apparently had attempted to gain entry through his front door. Entry was not gained, and the incident is still under investigation.

Albert Simpson reported a criminal mischief complaint January 30 around 11:30 p.m. when someone threw a rock through an upstairs window in his residence.

Two males were seen close to the area when the incident occurred, and a description has been given to the police. The incident is still being investigated.

At any given moment there are 3,200 thunderstorms in the world, some of which can be heard at a range of 18 miles.

The residents on Fleming Street may be wondering just where they do live these days, as the wind, or perhaps a prankster, helped to rearrange the directional sign sometime this week.

Happenings

by Carole Glasspool

Two dozen friends of Miss Sherrie Hinson gathered at her Canterbury home recently for a mid-winter get together. They enjoyed dancing and snacking throughout the evening but the most fun of all came when the departing guests tried to make their way down the Hinson's driveway. It has to be the steepest hill hereabouts and Alice, Sherrie's mother, said it was really interesting to watch people who couldn't get foot traction trying to push cars that had no tire traction. Some fun!

The following evening the V.C.F. Ruritans had one hundred fifty people in attendance at their dance held in the Ruritan Building in Viola.

Among those dancing the evening away to the music by the "Thunderbirds" were Charles and Doris Bostick, Elbert and Fern Harrington, Gardner and Grace Kersey, Clarence and Louise Hurd, Bill and Bonnie Walsh, and Irene Kersey and spouse.

Tickets are on sale now for the next Ruritan winging which will feature the country and western sounds of "Delaware Country" on February 19.

The Delaware Junior Quarterhorse Association will be holding their year-end awards banquet this Saturday, February 5 at the V.C.F. Ruritan Building in Viola, catered by the Ruritanettes. Mr. Paul White, of Sugar Creek Farm, Viola who is the youth advisor for the Association was telling me what an active group they have. Last year this group represented the state in national competition in Ohio and finished tenth out of all the states. On February 26th an English Equitation Clinic sponsored by the Delaware Junior Quarterhorse Association will be held at the Whites' Sugar Creek Farm in Viola. The clinic conducted by Mr. Peter Hedin of Hickory Bottom Farm, New Jersey will be from 10 a.m. until 3 p.m. The fee is $5.

Miss Anna Jackson and Miss Jean Gustafson were at their respective homes this past week enjoying a mid-winter break from Golly Beacom College in Wilmington.

Ron Jester was the guest soloist and organist on Sunday evening at "A Night of Music" held at the Felton Methodist Church. The evening began with a covered dish supper followed by performances by the Cherub Choir and the Chapel Choir. In addition, an instrumental group directed by Don Claycomb performed. This group is comprised of Sunday School Students in grades 9-12 who are also active in the high school band. At the conclusion of the evening all of the groups joined together to perform a "Litany to America."

The Felton Methodist Church will be sponsoring a dinner on February 12th which will be open to the public.

A couple of weeks ago in this column I was bemoaning the fact that I was stuck here in frigid Delaware while some people, like Mr. and Mrs. Paul McGinness, were in Florida. It was Florida alright but the weather was more like Delaware's as temperatures hit 10° and snow fell.

Also traveling to Florida to enjoy the snow and cold weather were Harry and Louise Fisher of Felton who would have made the trip anyway to see their son Mike graduate from law school.

The Felton Firemen will hold their annual chicken salad, oysters and dumplings supper on March 19. This annual event usually draws 1500 people. With all the other dinners open to the public that are scheduled, it looks as if Weight Watchers might have an increase in their membership along about May.

Finally, a great big "Happenings" congratulation to Bill and Kathy McGinness whose 7 lb. 10 oz. son, William Bryant McGinness arrived January 29. That makes seven grandsons and four granddaughters for Bill's Mom, Katherine, of Viola.

Local AFS Chapter Seeks Hosts

Once again the local chapter of the American Field Service is offering an opportunity to the citizens of the Lake Forest School District to take part in the Foreign Exchange Student program. Mrs. Leon Kukulka, president of the chapter, has invited any family group to apply as a host for the school term 1977-78.

Application forms or information about the program are available from Mrs. Albert Mason in the Lake Forest High School Guidance Office, or from Mrs. Kukulka, Delaware Avenue, Harrington.

The AFS program in Harrington began more than 10 years ago when Mr. and Mrs. William Taylor were American parents to Toby Kristvendotter from Iceland. Since that time students from Norway, Japan, Australia, Switzerland, Costa Rica, South America and other corners of the earth have found new homes and families in America for the short time of a school year.

Every family has found the experience one that they will remember with the fondest memories over the years to come. It is truly an exercise in International Understanding based on love and respect for each other.

On the program, Shirley Loockerman portrayed Kate Smith, singing "When the Moon comes over the Mountain"; Duane Anthony captured his audience with his excellent mimicry of Elvis; Mr. Wm. Horner, on trumpet/Andy Anderson on clarinet/and Mrs. Delema Smith at the piano rendered musical selections; Janet Durig was splendid as "Minnie Pearl"; our own pastor, Jim Doughten sang "How Great Thou Art" as George Beverly Shea.

On Friday evening Mrs. Delema Smith celebrated her birthday with members of her family present to enjoy dinner together.

On Sunday, January 30, Mrs. Lena Barwick celebrated her birthday with dinner at her home. Her guests were Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Barwick and Patty and John of Newark; Mr. and Mrs. James Barwick, who have just returned from Oklahoma; and her sister, Mrs. Belle Allen.

Report from Hickory Ridge Congregational Methodist Church: We were pleased to welcome 97 people Sunday morning. Mrs. Mary Uhler, our sec. treas. of our W.M.S. brought a beautiful little ceramic church with a sign: "Help Build Our Church", which she will bring once a month for donations to our building fund. They had previously collected $25, then the congregation made their donations, amounting to $82.25. We are deeply grateful to the ladies of our WMS who have contributed $11,000 to the church building fund. This is a small group of ladies, most of whom are Senior citizens, but they work hard, and we give God the glory.

From The Frying Pan

Houston is a small community perhaps representative in size of several area communities in their part of the state.
In recent weeks, there seems to have developed, or surfaced some serious problems. On the surface only, there seems to have been some 'bad press' concerning a former councilman and the fire company.
In a town the size of Houston it call ill afford a rift.
It should, instead, address itself to updating its feudal charter, which all but calls for a poll tax to vote.
As stated, one must be 21 and a tax payer to vote. To represent the community, one must be 21 and a landowning tax payer.
It sounds like shades of taxation without representation, as one visitor at the last regular council meeting commented.
Being a councilman in any community is often a painful chore. Being a councilman with a dreadfully antiquated charter is almost as bad as being a policeman without bullets in his gun.
The Houston Council had directed the town's attorney, Ridgely & Ridgely to answer five questions relating to voting and who is eligible to be a town councilman, as well as the legality of write in votes, which the current council has ruled illegal.
If the town thinks it has had trouble recently, unless the charter gets an update and facelift, they probably don't know what trouble could result.
It does seem to have taken a first step in a very necessary process.

In My Opinion

by Carole Glasspool

On Thursday, January 27, a public meeting to provide a forum for citizen input regarding the corporal punishment proposal for the Lake Forest School District was held. I have always advocated public meetings for citizen input relative to decisions being made by elected public officials. Now I am questioning my own concept of citizen input. To me this has always meant constructive criticism: the opportunity to offer specific suggestions to improve a plan of action being considered that will affect all of the citizenry. What we were treated (?) or subjected to at Thursday night's meeting was a pro and con debate of corporal punishment. Very little constructive criticism was forthcoming. As a matter of fact, many citizens at this meeting seemed to arrive at the meeting and maintain throughout the meeting an attitude of "my mind's made up; don't confuse me with the facts."
Everyone received a copy of the proposal as they entered this meeting. There was ample time to read through it at least once. It was then read aloud at the beginning of the meeting by William E. Griffin, Principal of LFHS and Chairman of the Disciplinary Committee. It seemed to me that the proposal was written in simple, easy to understand language. Yet, the same fears were stated and restated by parents throughout the entire evening. These fears should have been allayed by the specific statements that are in the proposal.
The term paddling or spanking to one means a swat or two on the buttocks. To some persons at the meeting paddling or spanking means "a beating." Is that the way they spank their children?
One constructive suggestion directed to the disciplinary committee came from board member James Pizzadilli when he suggested that the committee define paddling or spanking in the proposal as "a swat or two on the buttocks." I find it amazing that paddling or spanking needs to be defined for some parents of this school district; but the fact that it needs to be defined was certainly made evident at this meeting.
I think perhaps it would also be helpful to have a detailed description of the "district approved paddle" included in the proposal because some people seemed to be under the impression that teachers are going to be issued whips or chains or worse.
With so much misunderstanding prevalent about a proposal that is so clearly written, I have one other constructive suggestion.
How about a remedial reading course for some adults in this school district?

Letter To Publisher

Letter to Publisher:
In reference to your issue of Wednesday, January 19, 1977, the article titled "Two To Study In Washington," concerning Mary Lou Tilghman, stated "Miss Tilghman is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Shaw, Jr., of Weiner Avenue, Harrington." I should like to emphasize that Miss Tilghman is also the daughter of Cornelius A. Tilghman, of Dover, Delaware.

I would appreciate a correction to the above mentioned article and hope any future references to my daughter (and my son Kit, as well) would include an acknowledgement that I am the father.
Respectfully yours,
Cornelius A. Tilghman, Jr.

Thoughts....

by Senator Roth

As last week drew to a close, it seemed apparent that the Congress would finally address the knotty, but vital, issues of natural gas. The tragedy is that it required a severe winter, plant closings, layoffs, and potential cutbacks in gas for home furnaces before the Congress as a whole would do what I and others have been urging for almost three years.
It was two years ago that I first introduced legislation to allocate natural gas among the various pipelines, thus assuring that all states, including Delaware, would receive a fair share. The proposal by President Carter which appears likely to soon become law is similar to my original bill in intent.
But the Congress failed to act on my bill or any other, precipitating a series of minor crises which attracted relatively little public attention. It was only three weeks ago that I intervened in a hearing before the Federal Power Commission, seeking an emergency supply of natural gas for Delaware. The FPC approved the emergency sale, but to get through the winter safely we still need an allocation program.
Allocation is not a long term solution to our natural gas problems. At best, it is a short term answer. Allocation will not eliminate shortages of natural gas; it will only spread the shortages more evenly, helping to prevent an economic disaster in one region while other regions are untouched.
In the long term, we need to increase the production of natural gas. Today, it represents well in excess of one-third of all the energy consumed across the Nation. It serves nearly one-half of our country's industries and 150 million Americans in their homes. In Delaware, literally thousands of jobs depend on the availability of natural gas.
Ultimately, a program with long range solutions to alleviate future shortages must be developed. As soon as we can solve the immediate problems, I intend to turn my attention to these larger issues. Hopefully, with this winter serving as a stark example, other Members of the Senate and House will act this time in a matter of weeks - not years.

Weekly Report
by Senator Joe Biden

I was greatly encouraged by the Supreme Court's ruling this week that overturned a lower court decision which had ordered large-scale busing of children from the city of Indianapolis out to the suburbs.
It took three long days of debate on the floor of the United States Senate for me to be able to pass the first and only piece of antibusing legislation that has ever been passed by the Congress, which states the Department of Health, Education and Welfare can no longer order the forced busing of school children.
Recently, the Federal Courts have begun to move in the direction of curtailing busing decisions by the lower courts. Most recently, the Supreme Court of the United States has ruled that a lower court in Indianapolis applied the wrong standard in ordering children to be bused. The Court said that there could be busing only if it was proven that the local authorities intentionally tried to prevent black children from attending a certain school.
I think that this is a good sign for the Wilmington case that is now on appeal. The standard which the Court should apply is whether or not public officials, in this case the State Legislature, intentionally attempted to segregate black students. The lower court in Delaware said that it need not be intentional in order to have city-wide or city-county busing. However, this recent Supreme Court case, decided January 25, 1977, specifically ordered the lower court to reconsider whether or not the school officials in Indianapolis intentionally segregated black students.
It seems to me that this represents a clear and convincing signal from the Supreme Court to all Federal Courts that in all desegregation cases the standard which they must apply is whether or not there is an intentional attempt to segregate. If that intent cannot be found then it is obvious, in light of this decision and a number of other recent decisions that the Court will not allow busing orders to be put into effect as a remedy.
The recent trend in the decisions of the Supreme Court is away from allowing busing as a remedy in school desegregation cases. The Court is indicating, and indicating very strongly, the Federal judges should limit remedies for segregated schools to only the clear-cut, intentional segregation.
I think that all of us in Delaware should be heartened by this decision.

Educational Bill
Termed Devastating

Two Bills have been introduced in the State Legislature which, if passed, will have devastating effects on the educational program of the Public School System.
Senate Bill 57, sponsored by Senator Nancy Cook, changes the method by which pupil units are calculated from one based on number of pupils enrolled on September 30 to one based on the average daily attendance for the preceding school year. A pupil unit is twenty pupils for secondary levels, and twenty-five for elementary. (The elementary pupil unit will be reduced to twenty by 1983).
Teachers' salaries plus the funds to operate the schools are appropriated on the basis of the number of units of pupils in a school district.
The effect of this Bill on the Lake Forest School District would be to reduce the number of units by eighteen and the amount of State appropriated funds by $238,500.
If this Bill is passed the Lake Forest District would be forced to raise taxes by as much as 58¢ per $100 of assessment in order to

Open Letter To Chipman Parents

Dear Parents,
I shall be distributing and interpreting Differential Aptitude Test scores to the eighth grade classes this week. It is my hope that you will remind your eighth grader that you would like to share this information and discuss it with him or her. These students will, however, as the semester progresses, need these scores with them when they come to guidance class. Please use your influence to see that the report forms are in a notebook or a folder which the student customarily carries with him at school.
During each class period this week I will explain what these scores mean in terms of abilities in those areas which the test attempts to measure. Remember, what we are really looking for are areas of strength for each individual student. This provides a reasonably objective starting point for making plans for 'high school. To this information must be added the student's interests, willingness to work, and at least the broad field to work being considered. As you and your boy and girl discuss all these factors, you will both see that realistic plans require very careful consideration. Your discussions will inevitably lead you to think of still other factors, such as how long a student is willing to continue in school. The cost of certain types of education and job opportunities. Ultimately each student, with parental approval, will reach a decision as to what he or she could choose to take from among the courses offered to ninth grade students at Lake Forest High School. To date I have not received any information regarding new course offerings there for next year. As soon as possible I shall supply all eighth grade students with a listing of those courses which are available to them as ninth graders.
Two points I should like to make clear here. First, I am willing to advise on the basis of test scores, past performance, teacher recommendations, and what I know of a student's work habits; but in my opinion, the final choice should be the student's after consultation with the parents. Second, I hope every student will choose a program where his or her chances of success are high, for thus his or her self esteem and confidence will be enhanced. Your son or daughter will be provided with an official course selection form reflecting his or her choices and a space for your signature when it meets your approval.
I will be glad to meet with any of you who desire to discuss the results of your son or daughter's "DAT" scores. Simply call Mrs. O'Neal in the Junior High School office, telephone no. 398-8197; and she will set up an appointment.

Sincerely,
Sarah S. Webb

Approximately 80,000 Americans earn at least part of their living by teaching foreign languages and literatures; some 50,000 teach in junior and senior high schools, 25,000 in colleges and universities, several thousand in elementary schools, and the remainder in commercial and government-operated language schools.
In addition, a sizeable number teach English to Americans who speak languages other than English as their native tongue, more than 18 million Chicanos, Eskimos, Puerto Ricans, Navajos, and others. Still others teach in bilingual education programs, where students whose native language is not English follow a regular academic program in both their native language and in English.
The job market for foreign language teachers, except in the fields of Asian languages, bilingual education, and TESOL (Teaching English to Speakers of Other Languages), has become more restricted since 1968.
Frequently school districts now require prospective foreign language teachers to have at least a bachelor's degree with a major in one or two foreign languages or a major in one language with a major or minor in another field that they can also teach, plus appropriate preparation in teacher education courses; some experience in practice teaching; a teaching certificate from the state; and prior travel or residence in the foreign country.
Usually teachers of foreign languages in elementary schools are subject specialists. However, they are required to have professional training for elementary school teaching as well as some practice teaching at that level.
At present, language teachers just out of college may have an easier time finding jobs than many more experienced colleagues; not only are they more willing to move to where jobs are available, but their starting salaries are also much lower, an asset from the school district's point of view.
Private and parochial schools frequently hire non-certified teachers and may provide smaller-sized classes and sometimes better working conditions, but pay scales are generally lower than public schools and their other requirements may be just as demanding.
Since 1968, job opportunities at the 4-year college level have become more scarce. Language professors at 4-year colleges are often expected to have completed or to be completing doctoral programs, including the dissertation, and to continue scholarly research and publication throughout their careers. Salaries range from $6,000 to over $20,000. Graduate students especially at large universities, often can support themselves and gain experience by teaching undergraduate language courses.
Professors at the rapidly growing number of 2-year colleges are required by some states to have teaching certificates; almost invariably they are also required to have completed master's degree programs and, increasingly, doctoral programs. Requirements for research and publication are less stringent than at the 4-year colleges, and teaching loads consequently are much higher. Salaries generally are somewhat lower than 4-year colleges.
Translators and interpreters are employed in various agencies of the U.S. Government. By far the largest staff is in the Language Services Division of the Department of State. Here a sizeable number of qualified linguists serve as interpreters and translators at official talks and conferences and during escort assignments, using both the simultaneous and consecutive systems of translation.
The Federal Bureau of Investigation and the Immigration and Naturalization Service both employ full-time interpreters, and the FBI employs some translators. Other departments in the U.S. government use either the Language Service Division of the Department of State or staff members who happen to be bilingual to meet their language needs.

Installs Burglar Alarm

Leroy Calhoun of L & D Electronics has taken steps this week to burglar proof his store on Commerce Street, Harrington.
Over a year ago, Calhoun had a narrow call when police thwarted an attempted burglary that could have been disastrous to L & D.
Unknown persons were in the process of making off with a van full of new audio equipment when they were surprised by the police, but made their getaway.
Now, Calhoun, after installing a burglar alarm system that works both by electricity and battery, feels a little better. "It is a deterrent for someone trying to break in", stated Calhoun, as he viewed the decorative looking silver lined windows, that are really part of a sophisticated system.
Calhoun has been in business here for the past decade.

Order Plants From 'Reliable's'

This is the time of year to browse through garden catalogs and plan next summer's garden. It's easy to do, sitting in an armchair in front of the fire while the wind blusters outside. All kinds of plants, including trees, shrubs, hardy perennials, bulbs and, of course, seeds can be ordered through the mail. You can even buy garden tools and supplies this way.

Shopping by mail is convenient. But how reliable are mail order purchases?

According to University of Delaware extension horticulturist, Dr. Charles Dunham, old established firms like the Burpees, Kelly Brothers, Buntings, Parks and other have reputations built over many years. They wouldn't be in business unless they continued to provide good service.

On the other hand, be wary of the firms that advertise in the Sunday magazine sections and other pages of otherwise reputable newspapers cautions, Dunham. Most newspapers take no responsibility for their advertisers, he explains. These advertisers often make extravagant claims, such as "the world's fastest growing" shade trees, fruit trees that bear huge crops the first year and flowers that produce "hundreds and hundreds of blooms" and will be the "envy" of all your neighbors.

Unfortunately experience does not always bear out these claims. For one thing always be sure the size of the plants you order is clearly stated. Otherwise you may be surprised to find that what you bought for $10 to fully landscape your lot arrives in a package small enough for the postman to deliver along with the regular mail. They may get there in good shape, but it will be several years before the plants are big enough to landscape anything.

Garden catalogs are a valuable source of information, giving descriptions of the kinds, colors and sizes of plants, as well as comments about the outstanding merits. They also contain valuable cultural information, such as which plants need shade or sun, when they bloom, and whether they are hardy in your climate area. These catalogs can be a great aid to garden planning.

The advantages of ordering by mail are the convenience and the great variety offered. Many times the only way to get certain desired plants is to order this way. Mail order houses may offer a bewildering number of options, but most of their catalogs indicate the most popular, or recommended varieties.

choose an established firm, preferably one that has a catalog. Get your order in early. This will help both you and the company. Be sure to read the instructions for making out the order and include the necessary postage. If you want your order on a specified date, indicate this and most companies will oblige. Otherwise, they will send the order at the time they deem proper for your area.

Addresses for mail order catalogs can be obtained from most garden magazines and many house and garden publications.

Save Fuel By Locking Out Cold Air

Most Americans waste as much energy as they use, and every year they pay more for it. Coral Morris, extension home management specialist at the University of Delaware, says nine out of ten homeowners in the Northeast are spending as much as 30 percent more than they should on home heating fuel.

Citing a report by the Cornell University Energy Task Force, Ms. Morris points out that most consumers can eliminate this excess by making a few inexpensive, do-it-yourself home repairs and adjustments.

The first step in detecting energy loss is a thorough examination of the home for air leaks. All homes, especially older ones, are susceptible to cracks around doors and windows.

No matter what the material—stone, stucco or brick—masonry exteriors often develop cracks which should be repointed. But old or new, frame or masonry, insulated or not, all homes suffer some heat loss.

Heat escapes and cold air enters wherever two different materials or parts of a house join. Cold seeps in through small openings between heated and unheated areas, or the interior and exterior of a home.

To remedy this situation, Ms. Morris recommends caulking and weather stripping. These are among the least expensive of energy savers, and in most cases they are do-it-yourself jobs.

Caulking compounds come in a variety of types and are usually applied with a putty knife or caulking gun. Cracks should be thoroughly cleaned before being caulked. Deep or wide cracks should first be filled with caulking cotton, sponge rubber or mineral wool. Then each crack should be completely filled with a good quality caulking compound.

Outside the home heat may escape through these cracks:

Around window and door frames, sills, and joints

At corners formed by siding

Between porches and main body of home

Where chimney or masonry meets siding

Inside the home look for cracks in these areas:

Between concrete foundation and wood construction base of house

Around ceiling fixtures,

exhaust fans, water pipes, and drains

Where furnace flue goes through attic

Around attic entry

Between heated and unheated areas such as an attached garage, or a crawl space.

In addition, a great deal of heat escapes around windows and doors. These should all be checked for drafts and sealed with a durable weather stripping material.

Ms. Morris recommends consulting a reputable building materials supplier for information on caulking compounds and weather stripping for your particular job. Dealers can usually answer questions about proper installation and application.

Woodbridge Girls Win No. 8

The Woodbridge High School girls' basketball team continues to lead the Southern Division of the Henlopen Conference as they have amassed an 8-0 record.

During the past week the team won two games as on Tuesday they easily beat Dover Air, 49-12, and on Friday they squeaked past a spunky Sussex Central squad by a 39-26 margin.

Leading the girls in their victory over the Golden Knights on Friday was the team's leading scorer, Zarata Hickman, who knocked home 14 points. The Raiders led but by three points at the half after being held to a 6-6 tie in the first period. Sussex Central had won but two games on the year previous to the game. Woodbridge opened their lead to seven by the end of the third period and ran away with the game in the fourth as they held the Golden Knights to just two points.

In the game earlier in the week the girls had no problem disposing of winless Dover Air as they took a 25-4 lead in the first half, holding the Falcons scoreless in the second period. Alena Conaway led the scoring in this game as she scored 15 points. Lois Sampson chipped in with 13 points.

Currently the Raider girls lead the Southern Division of the Conference by only one half game over Indian River (7-1). Laurel is only one game back and is 7-2 for the season. On the other side in the Northern Division Seaford and Milford are battling it out for the top spot with Seaford currently up by one half game. The winners of the two respective Divisions will meet at the end of the season for the Henlopen Conference Championship. Along with a chance for the Conference Championship the winners of each Division are also guaranteed a spot in the State Tournament.

Spartan Bill Moore goes up and tries to block shot by Dover's Gary Buckland but was unsuccessful as Buckland scored two points.

Raider Grapplers Split 2 Matches

Woodbridge High School wrestling coach Gary Bottiger and his team got just what they expected in last week's competition as they split two matches.

The earlier match in the week against Smyrna was the most assured loss before the match started, not only because of sickness and injury which struck the team but because of Smyrna's unbeaten record. Smyrna wasted no time in asserting its superiority as the Raiders won only three matches on the night along with a tie gained by G. L. Jefferson in the heavyweight class. This loss marked the fifth straight time the Raider grapplers had been defeated on the season following two opening season victories. The final score was Smyrna 38, Woodbridge 13.

Later in the week it was a different story for the Raiders as they once again got back on the winning track, defeating Dover 30-26. The win was a come from behind victory as the Raider wrestlers had to win three of the last four matches by way of pin to insure themselves victory.

Wrestlers who continue to fair well individually for the Raiders are first of all 105 pounder Alonzo Frisby. Frisby is trying for his second successive undefeated dual match season and is well on his way to accomplishing just that as he is currently 8-0 on the season.

At 167 pounds Rocky Flem was not as lucky as Frisby to keep his undefeated record going as he fell victim to Smyrna's Art Carrow in the Woodbridge loss last Wednesday. However, Flem redeemed himself later in the week and his record for the season currently stands at 6-1.

This week the Raiders face one of their toughest of the season as they take on once beaten and once tied Sussex Central Wednesday. On Saturday they meet undefeated Caesar Rodney. The Raiders then have two matches left on the season, one each against Lake Forest and Milford.

Delaware Driving Championship Scheduled For Sunday

DOVER. The second annual Delaware Driving Championship is scheduled to be conducted at Dover Downs Raceway this Sunday.

This special event features competition among the Dash (most wins) and U.D.R.S. (Universal Driver Rating System percentage) Champions from Brandywine, Dover

Downs, and Harrington harness tracks. Current plans are for three races to be conducted in the competition.

Hayter was the decisive winner in last year's Driving Championship with two wins and a fourth place finish in the three races.

Davis and Crank are the only two drivers who are not current Delaware track champions, but they were invited to compete for Dover Downs as past Champions in place of Hubert Jackson and Jim Porter who, in addition to being the reigning Dover Downs Champions, are also the current track Champions at Harrington Raceway.

Points will be awarded to each driver based on his performance in the three races and the one with the most points will become the 1977 Delaware Driving Champion and will receive the championship trophy in winners' circle ceremonies following the competition.

You can get a big jump on the growing season by starting seed indoors, adds Dunham. Depending on the plants, it's possible to get anywhere from a three to eight week advantage over outdoor seeding times this way. The difference will depend on what you are growing.

Some seedlings, like cabbage, lettuce, broccoli, larkspur and delphinium, if properly hardened, will stand frost and can be set out in early April. Other plants such as tomato, pepper, marigold, petunia and impatiens, are tender and can't be set out until early May after all danger of frost is past. Consult seed labels to determine proper timing, allowing for germination as well as growth afterwards.

Starting seeds indoors requires three things: (1) disease-free growing medium; (2) a warm temperature for germination (70-80 degrees Fahrenheit); and (3) adequate light.

A warm germinating temperature is easy to obtain with a thermostatically-controlled heating cable. Without this aid, you just have to make do with what is available. A small quantity of seeds can be germinated on the back of a stove. Or a light bulb can be used to provide both light and heat.

As soon as seeds sprout, the seedlings need light. Place plants in the best window available or use artificial light. Cool white is the best fluorescent light to use. With this, place seedlings so that their tops are six inches

Starting Seeds Indoors Can Be Tricky

(EDITOR NOTE: The first of two articles on starting seeds indoors.)

Starting plants from seed indoors can be tricky, but there are several advantages for the home gardener that can make the effort worthwhile, says University of Delaware extension horticulturist, Dr. Charles Dunham.

Sometimes it is the only way to get the kinds of plants you want. Using plants started indoors rather than seed sown in the garden also makes it easier to plan, in that you can more readily see the effects of everything you introduce. Plants started this way have a head start, too, on the weeds which inevitably sprout along with seed in the garden.

Everyone's vocabulary consists of the same words these days and the topic of most conversations centers around ice, sleet, snow, cold, frozen pipes, etc. We were congratulating ourselves, that except for one frozen waste pipe, we had no trouble. We soon found we were laboring under a false security. The famous poet, Bobby Burnes, was right when he wrote, "The best-laid plans of mice and men, etc." I planned to get ahead of the season and do a bit of upstairs housecleaning. So I threw a couple of bedspreads into the washer gaily. After a time, I went to check and see if they were ready for the dryer. I was horrified to discover the washer still plugging away, but the utility room was under two inches of water! After a long time of mopping and bailing out, we called the serviceman. The trouble was a frozen waste drain deep in the ground, so all we can do is wait.

We did have a bit of lift to the spirits last night when we sat down to dinner at 5:30. Suddenly, we realized how much more daylight we had at that time. A few weeks ago, 5:30 was dark black. Now we could see the swelling of the little buds on trees and bushes by the red glow of the sunset, and we knew that we were moving toward spring. However, the weak January thaw did not bring us the sounds of the little Peepers; it will take a February thaw to do that. Then we will hear once more their bell-like music, and the heart will lift and from the tube. If you intend to rely on daylight, remember that seedlings of sun-loving plants will require a minimum of six hours full sun or they may become weak and spindly.

It saves space to germinate seeds in some kind of tray and then transplant seedlings to individual pots as soon as they are large enough to handle. Seeds must not dry out during germination. Soak the seeds and the growing medium well after planting and then place the container in a plastic bag or cover it with plastic. This way seeds will usually sprout before needing water again. Even so, it's best to check pots or trays daily and water if needed.

Before plants are set out in the garden they should be hardened for the cooler temperatures they will experience there. This can be done by placing seedlings outdoors during the day for four or five days. Bring them in at night or cover them with newspaper. Just be sure they have a protected, sunny area outdoors or they will grow very slowly.

The better your seed growing facilities, the earlier you can start seeds indoors. However, it never pays to start plants so soon that they get large and pot-bound before they are set out, cautions Dunham. Small, husky plants will establish better than large ones. If your facilities are makeshift at best, plan to start seed only two to three weeks before seedlings will be put outside.

We will know that truly spring will come again. The cherry pie filling that I had made and set to cool yesterday has been on my mind, so I proceeded to make the pies this morning. I do feel so comfortable with pies or cake in the house. My recipe for pie crust makes supposedly two crusts, but we like our crust rolled much thinner than average, so I always have a single crust left over. I scouted around for pie timber. Apple sauce pie would be nice. Then I saw some canned peaches, so I decided to make a Peach Pie Supreme, using canned peaches instead of the fresh ones I use in summer.

The process is the same. Line an unbaked pie crust with peach halves, pit side up. Then into a bowl, put 1 cup sugar, 2 tablespoons of butter and 2 tablespoons of flour. Mix with fingers until crumbly. Beat 2 eggs and add. Pour over the peaches. Bake 450 for ten minutes and then 350 about 30 minutes or until custard is set. Happy baking to you!

Sigler, who currently has former Milford star golfer Larry Jones in the fold at Maryland, discussed how important it was to keep your cool in the game of golf because the harder you try to hit the ball the farther off course it goes.

Sapp and Papale were probably the most far reaching and touching speakers of the night as Papale proclaimed the real heroes as people who have had defects since birth or have been injured during life and still keep on enjoying life. He said just because he had not played college football and was a rookie last season in the National Football League at age 30 was no reason to proclaim him a hero.

Sapp talked about how important self confidence was in not only football but in life. He stated that football had been a great preparation for life as no matter how many times one ends up on the losing end the next game or challenge has to be prepared for.

Lunger, Underwood and White were the biggest name stars at the head table. Lunger talked of times when he had tried to drive too hard and had ended up wrecking instead of finishing the race. Lunger is the only native-born person from the United States to be driving the Grand Prix circuit.

Underwood credited being batted around real hard in his pitching debut, which was on National Television, for some of his success in later pitching. White credited his coach at the University of Maryland, Jerry Claiborne, for much of his success as a college and pro player as he told him just how much he would have to put out to be an All-American.

The annual Rotary Banquet is held for the benefit of giving a scholarship to a deserving Milford High School athlete. Last year's recipient was Miss Sandy Klein who is currently attending the University of Delaware. This year the club hopes to expand its scholarships and possibly give two and maybe in the next four years give as many as four scholarships each year.

"We had an eleven point lead going into the fourth quarter and at that point we didn't put out good enough effort to bring it on in. We relaxed and lost our momentum," commented Coach Buck Starkey after his Spartans were upset by Seaford last Friday night.

Spartans Drop 2nd And 3rd Straight

The Spartans were head-to-head with Seaford at the end of the first quarter with the score at 10-10, but exploded with 15 points in the second quarter while holding Seaford to four points. Scoring was more even during the third period as the two teams scored 12 points each.

Entering the final period with an eleven point edge, the Spartans began to ease up while Seaford capitalized on Spartan confidence, outscoring Lake Forest more than two-to-one to hand the Spartans their third straight conference defeat, 51-49.

Frank Corsey scored 14 points to lead the Spartans while Bill Johnson followed with 12, Sam Carey with eight and Bill Moore with seven.

Earlier in the week, the Spartans faced what had been billed as the largest, most important conference game of the season to that point, their match up with Dover High. Before a standing-room-only crowd, Lake Forest bowed to Dover, but not until after the fight was over.

Jumping to an 18-8 first quarter lead, Dover definitely dominated the tempo of the game. With the ten point lead well in hand Dover made the mistake of easing up on the Spartans. Ron Shockley and Bill Johnson combined for 12 points to lead Lake Forest to a 19 point quarter.

At the same time, the Spartan defense held Dover to only nine points to tie the halftime score at 27-27.

The scoring was much more balanced in the third quarter with Dover only managing one more point than the Spartans to end the third period of play at 44-43, Dover.

With the final eight minutes of the contest coming up, the Spartan five started to show signs of fatigue. Having to jump against a taller team all night had taken its toll.

Dover's one point lead was enough and they were able to add six more points to it to leave the court with a 66-57 victory.

Ron Shockley had his highest scoring game in three years of varsity basketball with 16 points. He was followed by Frank Corsey, ten points; Bill Moore, nine; and Lauren Burris, eight.

Raiders Pick Up Another Win

The Woodbridge High School boys' basketball team has fallen on hard times this past season as they have won but 2 games while dropping 6.

However, the Raiders did pick up their second win of the season during the past week as they blew out Dover Air in a battle for last place in the Southern Division. In this game Louis Dexter and Nelson Burbage combined for 53 of Woodbridge's 73 points on the night, while Dover Air managed only 53 as an entire team. Dexter had 27 points while Burbage had 26.

Later in the week the Raiders were not quite so lucky as Sussex Central, who came into the game with a 1-7 record, knocked off Woodbridge by a 66-59 margin. Again Dexter led the team in scoring as he canned 21 points.

Woodbridge currently stands in fifth place in the Southern Division with their 2-6 record just ahead of Dover Air who is 2-8 and right behind Delmar who is 4-5.

They won the first four matches as following a forfeit win by Lapinski, Dave Brown recorded a superior decision and Shultie a regular decision victory. Simpson then recorded a third period pin win.

After Delmar picked up their first points of the night on a pin win Lake Forest got those points right back when senior co-captain Moffett got a pin early in the second period of his match. However, the Spartans downfall came at the end as they lost 5 of the last 6 matches with only Louis Hendricks at 145 picking up a tie with Delmar, 29-29.

Lake Forest Wrestlers Drop To .500

The Lake Forest Spartan wrestling team suffered through an unlucky week and by virtue of this their record dropped to .500 at 3-3-1.

On Wednesday last week the Spartans dropped a match to the extremely strong Indian River wrestling team, by a 40-16 score. Things went wrong from the start as previously undefeated Lane Lapinsky lost by decision, 7-0. The Spartans won only four matches on the night as David Shultie, Jamie Simpson, John Moffett, and Tim McCombs recorded decision victories.

On Saturday the Spartans managed to gain a tie with Delmar, 29-29. They won the first four matches as following a forfeit win by Lapinski, Dave Brown recorded a superior decision and Shultie a regular decision victory. Simpson then recorded a third period pin win.

After Delmar picked up their first points of the night on a pin win Lake Forest got those points right back when senior co-captain Moffett got a pin early in the second period of his match. points for the Spartans. Louis Hendricks at 145 picking up points for the Spartans.

Moffett continues to be the team's most victorious wrestler as he leads the team with six wins against only one loss, that suffered in the first meet of the dual season against Caesar Rodney. Other wrestlers who had a fine week for the Spartans were Shultie who recorded a superior decision and a regular decision during the week while Simpson also won twice, once by pin and once by decision.

This week Lake Forest wrestles against Dover Air on Wednesday and against Sussex Central on Friday.
