Democrats
Celebrate Their 25th

The 35th Democrat Club held a 25th birthday celebration Monday night with a host of dignitaries and guests present. To help in the birthday celebration were the local officers of the club, who posed before cutting the huge cake: [l to r]: former Secretary of State Robert Reed, [guest speaker] Laura Bell Wilson, president; John Shaffer, vice president; Evelyn Lare, secretary and Edie Hemphill, treasurer. According to the first president of the club, Harold "Bailey" Minner, there were large bowls of peanuts on the tables, in honor of the president of the United States, Jimmy Carter, who just happens to be a Democrat too.

Frederica Doesn't Like Street Job

FREDERICA. With growing concern over the condition of the streets as a result of the installation of the sewer lines in the Town, the Town Councilmen, as one member stated, do not know "just what to do, but we will do something toward getting someone in here to help us correct the problem". Ira "Jim" Woodland called a special meeting Monday night inviting Rep. Ruth Ann Minner (D-District Kent County) to explain the problem to her.

In absence of Mayor George (Bud) Nashold, Blaine Tucker conducted the meeting and for the most part attempted to narrate the happenings which have led to the complaints of the installation of the sewer line.

Tucker said that the complaints which the Council received range from broken curbs and sidewalks to faulty compaction to the streets. "In some areas like in front of Brownie's Barber Shop and White's Restaurant, (both of which are located on Market Street) that part of Market Street has sunk", according to Woodland.

Both Woodland and Sam Shumar speculated this shrinkage which they believe to be due to faulty compaction was largely part of the problem the Town now faces with frozen water lines. Many people of the Town are still without water and have been for the past two to three weeks. The Town has paid out nearly $2,000 for plumbing bills arising out of frozen water lines.

According to Tucker as well as the other Councilmen present, Gordon "Tom" Betts, Sam Shumar, and Ira "Jim" Woodland, all of these complaints have been formally registered with County Engineer Walter Fritz. Tucker went on to point out that a walking tour "was taken of the Town back in November together with Fritz and a representative of Justin & Courtney (the engineers on the project) in which some 72 grievances were registered and Fritz recorded them in a tape recorder. I believe Bud (Mayor George Nashold) has a copy of the complaints which were registered.

The Editor of THE HARRINGTON JOURNAL walked with us and wrote an article on it", according to Tucker.

Other objections which Tucker recited to Mrs. Minner were the location of laterals connections, which according to Tucker appeared in some places in the sidewalks, while in others appeared on private property. "Yet when we questioned them about this in a special meeting sometime in October they said that they could not go on private property to correct the matter", said Tucker. Tucker went on to say that they have gone on private property to install clean outs for the laterals.

Betts pointed out that in one incident a water valve, previously installed prior to the excavation for the sewer lines, was covered over, "and they don't know exactly where it is located".

Frederica Streets

Broken sidewalk on the east side of Market Street near Wooten's Store is part of the area which councilmen Ira "Jim" Woodland explained to Rep. Ruth Ann Minner as being an example of what he believed was caused by improper compaction which caused this settling.

This hole on the south side of Lowber Street is about a foot deep, but covers a larger area under the macadam than the surface hole shows.

Houston Announces Election

HOUSTON. The Houston Council met last Thursday, but not having a quorum they were unable to act on any business related to Town affairs. Interim Council President George Marvel was out of Town and unable to make the meeting. Councilman Bill Sapp, recovering from attack of high blood pressure was not in attendance due to his wife's illness. Councilman Tom Surdukowski and Mrs. Virginia Twilley were the only council members present.

It was announced the town's election will be March 26 and the filing date is the 26th of February. Notices for filing will be posted 10 days prior to the filing date and the same will apply for the election. Three council seats will be up for election.

Mrs. Pauline Morgan, the Town's bookkeeper and treasurer, reported there are 28 tax delinquencies in the Town and that two of the number were three years in arrears. The matter will be referred to the Magistrate's Court for collection.

Budget Up and Approved

Council Views Budget, Rehires

HARRINGTON. The city council in a near record-long meeting covered a variety of topics during its Monday night meeting, including the city's proposed budget for 1977.

Normally presented in January, the budget was a month late, partially due to the fact of the change of city managers late last fall.

In the anticipated budget, the estimated income is $321,293.00 while the budget the previous year reflected $295,193.00. The expense projected for 1977 is $281,744.63 while last year's was $236,170.00.

The council rescinded a previous five percent discount to anyone who paid water, sewer and trash bills a year in advance. There are no discounts on bills paid in advance, with the exception of a $2 break for people paying garbage bills a year in advance.

All city employees were given a five percent cost of living raise as well as a one half of one percent raise for every year of employment, not to exceed a total of 5 percent for ten years or more. The measure was introduced by City Manager Dave Peterson. The city has a total of fourteen employees.

Felton To Elect Two

FELTON. At the town's monthly meeting, a proposed sewer hearing, town elections and town improvements were discussed.

Town board president William Myers announced a tentative public hearing for the sewer system will be either March 15, or March 22, in the evening at the fire hall. The date will be confirmed and announced when known.

The town will have two vacancies to fill on its board, if Joe Wining and Dwight Stevens do not change their minds. Both men are up for reelection, the second term for Wining and the third for Stevens. Both say they do not intend to run again this time. Wining said "You have good people here," who could run for the spot.

Notices for filing will be posted on February 15, with all interested persons filing by February 21. Elections will be held Monday, March 7.

To be eligible to serve on the town board, one must be 21, a property owner and resident of the town of Felton for a year.

In order to vote in the election, anyone who is eligible for taxation may vote.

The town does not have a provision for write-in votes.

A report was made that the fence is now complete around the water tower and plans are beginning to be made to paint the tower.

Frederica Repairs Termed 'Staggering'

FREDERICA. At last Wednesday's town meeting, Mayor George Nashold heard reports of staggering expenses for the repairs of the Town's water lines. Thus far the expenses of repairing the water has reached nearly $2,000 and yet there are many townspeople who are still without water.

It was further reported some bacteria was reported in the water system. The percentage was found harmless, but Mayor Nashold ordered the placing of Clorox in the system in an effort to clear the water of the bacteria. The latest test shows that the water is free of bacteria.

A building permit was granted to Fred White of White's Restaurant for the construction of an addition. It will be 14 1/2 ft. wide by 50 feet long. White was requesting a variance so that he could build up his property line.

The Board set the Town elections for Monday, March 7. Mayor George Nashold and Councilman Tom Betts are up for reelection.

Candidates are required to file ten days before the coming election.

The Board generally agreed the provisions of the Charter would be followed and that no write-ins would be permitted.

The following hirings and appointments were made: Maxon Terry, Jr. rehired as city solicitor; Lawrence Price rehired as acting alderman; Dr. Vincent Lobo will chair the Board of Health committee; Jack Wyatt was renamed Police Commissioner; Gary Homewood was named chairman of the Streets and Utilities Committee; William Shaw was named revenue chairman; Earl McColley was named chairman of truck bypass committee and general complaints chairman. The charter committee is headed by William Shaw, with the entire council as members.

Council also voted to pay Henry Flood of Laurel $1000 for the charter he is in the process of rewriting. The charter was to have been completed by February 1, but there has been some difficulty getting council and Flood together for final reading, reportedly due to council and not Flood, who has received payment in full for the work.

His plans allow for a selection of three forms of government: mayor-council, council-city manager, and councilmanic. The present city government is primarily council-city manager-mayor, with the latter having little authority.

Jimmy Callaway was named chairman of the Planning and Zoning Commission. He replaced Buck Cahall, who resigned upon being elected mayor.

Ernest Killen and a group of concerned residents of Delaware Avenue and the Harrington Manor area came to the meeting to voice their concern about the "unbelievable dust conditions causing traffic and health hazards." They were discussing the top soil being blown from open land owned by Joseph Richardson. The city and Mr. Richardson are going to install snow fences in order to try to alleviate the dust from blowing.

Is One Of Six In State

W.T. Chipman Junior School Becomes Accredited

The Lake Forest School District has recently learned its W.T. Chipman Junior School has received accreditation from the Middle States Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools. This is a distinctive honor, shared by only five or six other middle schools in Delaware. Dover Central Middle School and William Henry Middle School are two of the number, having received accreditation during a pilot program for middle school evaluations several years ago.

Principal Earl Griffin, of the W.T. Chipman Junior School, said the process of being accredited is part of a long-range project, with a three year preparation period, followed by the accreditation study, and a follow-up implementation of recommendations made by the evaluating committee.

W.T. Chipman Junior School was visited by a team of professional educators last March for a three-day period, during which the school was intensely evaluated. The work now, according to Griffin, will be to carry out the recommendations made by the committee.

The evaluative report submitted to the school by the visiting committee contains extensive lists of commendations and recommendations encompassing every area of the school's operation. Major areas of commendation related to: professional attitude of the entire staff, high standard of student conduct, thorough self-study done prior to the evaluation visit, realistic understanding of pre-adolescent education indicated by the school philosophy and wide variety of programs offered, excellent community support (financially and philosophically), and co-ed classes in all school programs.

Primary areas of recommendation centered around: increased efforts to improve student reading skills, improved articulation with elementary and high school programs, teacher in-service programs for individualizing instruction, new teaching strategies, and greater flexibility in student scheduling.

Of the recommendations, Griffin said the improvement of student reading skills would definitely be of primary concern to his staff. The school is in its second year with a reading program for a small number of students, which is funded by Title I. Griffin said plans are being developed to develop reading skills among the Chipman teachers through inservice programs.

Gene Price and Sabra Cello were among those receiving citations during the United Way luncheon in Milford Tuesday. Price, the chairman for this area, said the drive was very successful, with $2800 realized, an increase of 1000 percent from last year.

Mrs. Frances Mason also was present to accept an award for Lake Forest High School, also cited for its contribution.

Peal Derrickson and Bobby Taylor, both directors from the Harrington area, were present at the banquet.

Monies raised from the United Way drive benefit several organizations here, including the Scouts and Senior Citizen Center.

Greenwood Looks For Federal Money

GREENWOOD. The Town Commissioners for Greenwood at last Tuesday night's meeting discussed prospects of continuing to look for federal monies which other communities in lower Kent and Sussex Counties have come by recently.

Talks centered around funds which would be made useful for updating the sewer system for the Town as well as prospects for funds for a new fire hall, which some of the fire company members, had talked about at the January meeting.

They claim credit, but for which they have no Form W-2, the IRS said.

Taxpayers who receive a Form W-2 after they filed their income tax return, and find that their estimates of income and withholding taxes were incorrect, should file a Form 1040X, "Amended U.S. Individual Income Tax Return," with the IRS Service Center where they filed their return. The 1040X should include a copy of the formerly missing Form W-2 plus a check or money order, if any additional tax is due.

If employers have not provided the missing W-2 forms within a reasonable period of time from the date the taxpayers contacted them, the taxpayers should call their local IRS office for assistance, the IRS said.

Although some of their employers may not have supplied W-2 forms, taxpayers must still file their tax returns on time. Taxpayers who do not have all their W-2 forms should report all of their income and attach a statement explaining how they figured any tax withheld for which

"Pete" Hinson of Canterbury and Jowana Daniels of Viola went dancing Friday night and Saturday night; non-stop dancing for twenty two hours at the Dover Central Middle School "Danceathon" to benefit the handicapped in Delaware. On February 16 at 7:30 p.m. the Felton Little League and Little League Auxiliary will hold a meeting at Lake Forest North Elementary School. At this meeting officers in both organizations will be elected and decisions will be made as to when tryouts will be held and the selection of a date for opening day. The Little League will select a vice president, secretary and player agent. The Auxiliary will be voting for president, vice president, secretary and treasurer.

A meeting was held the third week in January to elect officers but only twelve to fifteen adults attended. It was felt that with over one hundred children involved in Little League play another meeting should be held in order to try to get more parents involved in the decision making and elections. There will be signs posted at the entrance to L.F.N.E. school advising parents which room the meeting will be held in.

That same evening, February 16, at 7:30 the Lake Forest North Elementary PTA will be holding a meeting in the cafeteria of that school. Their meeting will be primarily to elect a nominating committee to select a slate of officers for the coming year.

THE LITTLE CHARMERS

RUNNER UP
Little Miss Rachel Lynn Baker, two and one half year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert W. Baker of Milford.

WINNER
Little Miss Michelle Emory, 15 month old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Emory of Dover.

RUNNER UP
Master Christopher Parsons, three and one half year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Cagle of Harrington.

Correction: Last week's Little Charmers runners up were reversed. The little cutie in the sink is the son of Peter and Karen Hutnick of Felton, and was four and a half months old at time of photo. The little fellow on the right is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Keel of Bridgeville, James Frank, who was a whopping two days old at time of photo. Our apologies for the obvious error.

It's easy to enter the Little Charmers Baby Contest. Just send in a picture of your pre-school child (with a self-addressed stamped envelope for return photos) to be judged. Be sure to write clearly the name and age of your child and include parents' name. Weekly winners will receive $5. Periodically there will be grand contest winners, each of whom will be awarded a $25 savings bond. One winner will be selected each week, and runners-up for the week will also be announced. Later in the year there will be grand contest winners, each of whom will be awarded a $25 savings bond.

Mail the entry today to The Harrington Journal, Box 239, Harrington, Del. 19952.

The Green Thumb

This winter has been the coldest in years. This has resulted in frozen water pipes and frozen liquid pesticides. In the fall, we reminded everyone to store their pesticides under lock and key. Liquids, we said, should be stored where the temperature will not go below 40°F.

Below 40°F some pesticides are damaged and will not be effective because the chemical separates. Glass and plastic containers of pesticides can freeze and break. Not only is this messy but it is also hazardous.

The liquid that leaks out of the broken container can contaminate other packages. This liquid is also a hazard to anyone who has to work in the storage area. The chemical can get on clothing and enter the body through the skin. The product may produce toxic fumes depending on the product.

You should check your storage area often this winter to make sure the pesticides don't freeze. If you find a broken container wear rubber gloves to handle broken glass and clean with. You may need to wear an approved respirator and ventilate the room. The more toxic the pesticide the more precaution you need to take.

Sawdust, kitty litter, or even soil can be used to absorb the spilled chemical. The containers and the material with chemical can be buried in a safe place.

Since the ground is frozen you can store the material in a can for later disposal. Any contaminant products should also be disposed of as directed on the package.

Hydrated lime, fine lime stone or a strong solution of bleach (1 pt/10 qts water) can be used to help deactivate the chemical. As with frozen water pipes, once you had a broken container, you take enough precautions next year to prevent the problem.

Pesticides are expensive.

can be hazardous and should be handled with care in both use and storage. They all have instructions for storage on the package. Read and follow the storage directions as you would directions for use.

February is the time to fertilize strawberries. Apply one pound (about a pint) of 5-10-10 fertilizer per 50 feet of row. If you had a mulch last fall, the fertilizer may be applied right over it and the plants.

Freezing and thawing can push the plants out of the ground. This damages the root system and can even kill plants. Since we haven't had much thawing a light mulch will keep the soil cold until spring, thus avoiding an early thaw. Alternate thawing and freezing causes the winter damage, if you prevent the thawing you have prevented the problem.

Harrington Police Report 'Quiet Week'

HARRINGTON. Police reported a relatively quiet week with only three complaints turned in to them.

On February 4, Gary Pace of Center Street reported a large group of dogs had torn open cages holding three of his pet rabbits, which the dogs killed.

The SPCA was contacted, who in turn sent a dog warden to the scene. Later in the afternoon four of the dogs were picked up by the warden, two of which were unidentified and two of which the owners were issued summons by the SPCA agent for dogs running at large.

Chief Ed Layton stated allowing dogs to run at large could cost up to $50 in fines and court costs. The owners were to be charged at a later date.

Chief Layton warns dog owners of their responsibility to keep dogs on leashes at all times or to keep the animals under control at all times. Dogs in fenced-in yards do not have to be leashed, said Layton, but if they get out of the yard, they must be leashed or the owners will have to pay the consequences if the animals are caught by a dog warden. Layton continued to say the dog warden has been asked to make frequent trips through the city to be on the look out for dogs running loose in the city.

Terry Johnson reported a stolen battery early Saturday morning. The battery was stolen from his car behind the Quillen Apartments on Commerce Street. The battery was valued at $39. Police are investigating.

Also on Saturday, Louisa Howard of Dorman Street reported a beer bottle had been thrown through the front storm window of the home where she and her mother live. Police have a description of a vehicle seen in the area near the time of the incident. The Howards live next door to the Albert Simpsons', who had a window broken in a second-floor bedroom last week.

From The Frying Pan

Hats off to the Felton City fathers...we need more of their frugality in government. We attended a meeting in Felton Monday night where the city fathers gave a long, look at $48 before they decided to spend it on a publication, that, if they are not able to use it, will have a prorated refund of their money. A case of having their cake and eating it too, so to speak. Maybe more of our town, county, state and federal operations need to take a page from the Felton town fathers manual on how to say no to whatever spending situation opportunity arises. After three years of attending meetings, one wonders where it will all stop. We would like to have a quarter for every time we've heard "It won't cost us anything, the federal government will pay for it."

Now, let's hear another one, folks, because like it or not, that's us the town, city, county, state and federal fathers are talking about, and we don't feel that we are all sitting at the end of the rainbow.

When families don't have the money, they tighten the belt and do without. We think it's time these municipalities do the same. After all, it's our money that eventually has to pay for the bills, whether directly or through "the federal government."

To Friend and Partner

DOVER. Ralph R. Tischer, 81, a name long to be remembered in the real estate field died Monday, Jan. 31. Mr. Tischer had been hospitalized for the week previous at Kent General Hospital. A native of Ohio, he grew up near Springfield, Ohio on as he always referred to it, "a hog farm." In his early years, he worked for the railroad there in and around the telegraph or message center.

Shortly thereafter he joined a national firm and sold incubators for the chicken broiler industry. He often remarked that he had actually been in every city in the U.S. with a population of 10,000 or more. The broiler industry took him from Vancouver and British Columbia in to the Delmarva peninsula where he worked extensively throughout Sussex County in promoting what we know today here on the peninsula as the broiler industry.

In 1950 he suffered a severe heart attack, and immediately retired from the automobile business. In 1957 he became active again in the business world joining the real estate office of G. Leslie Gooden. In the mid-50's he opened his own office at 304 South Street and continued to operate the real estate office as Ralph Tischer Realtor until 1971 when Harry G. Farrow became a partner and the office became Tischer & Farrow Realtors.

The firm continued until 1974, when due to failing health Mr. Tischer retired altogether from the real estate business.

Mr. Tischer was the first realtor from this area to hold a national office with the National Real Estate Board. He was elected at that time as Regional U.P. Locally, he was way active in community affairs

Thoughts.... From Senator Roth

This week the Senate began work on a proposal to reorganize the Senate committee system for the first time in more than 30 years.

It had become increasingly apparent that the present committee system was unwieldy, burdensome, and inefficient. In some legislative areas, such as energy and environment legislation, so many different committees claimed jurisdiction that it had become impossible to develop integrated legislative programs. Moreover, the responsibilities of Senators were inequitably distributed -- some senior senators served on as many as 3 major committees and 3 more special, select, ad hoc, or joint committees. This resulted in a situation in which the senators had a great deal of power and a large staff, but could not possibly fulfill all of their responsibilities effectively and conscientiously.

Last year, the Senate established a temporary committee to study the committee system and make recommendations for reform. At the beginning of the year, this committee presented its recommendations, and for the past month there has been additional testimony and hearings by the Rules Committee.

I believe that many of the proposals will help streamline the work of the Senate and redistribute the work load among Senators more equitably. For example, under the new proposal, with few exceptions, each senator can serve on only two major committees and one "third committee". To prevent the mushrooming of subcommittees, each senator will be limited to 3 subcommittees on his major committees and 2 subcommittees on his "third committee."

Under the Senate reorganization proposal, several standing committees would be eliminated, including the Joint Committee on Atomic Energy, the Joint Committee on Defense Production, the Select Committee on Nutrition and Human Needs, the Committee on the District of Columbia, the Special Committee on Aging, and the Committee on Post Office and Civil Service.

It has also been recommended that the Veterans Committee be eliminated and its functions assumed by a new committee on Human Resources. This new committee would also handle such diverse subjects as school nutrition, railway labor and retirement, arts and humanities, student loans, and unemployment.

With a few modifications, I believe the Senate reorganization proposal will be a major step forward in making the Senate more responsive and efficient in serving the people.

In an earlier meeting between the Chief Engineers, Justen & Courtney the County Engineer, Walter Fritz and members of the sub-contractors Central Construction Co. of New Jersey, and the Town Councilmen, Tucker said that the engineer (County) admitted the "...specifications were unclear as to where the laterals were to be put". It was at this meeting that the Engineers explained that it would cost approximately $20,974 to correct the lateral problem. The Town Councilmen feel helpless according to Woodland and this is why they are now seeking Rep. Minner's help.

It was also pointed out by Tucker "...that the streets were to be left in as good condition as they were prior to the construction...if not better", which allegedly was spelled out in the specifications for construction. This matter was referred to the Town's Solicitor who in turn referred the matter to Richard Haber, Director of Highways and Transportation. In a letter dated the 5th of October 1976, and sent to Nicholas Rodriguez, the Town's Solicitor, Haber stated the resurfacing of the streets in Frederica would cost about $75,000. Haber went on to say that the Division of Highways was "not satisfied with the condition of the Streets as they were patched after installation of the sewer." Haber stated ed further "The installation of the sewers in Kent County is being done as part of a grant from EPA, and that EPA would not participate in patching of that area". Haber concluded that "we are however placing these streets in our FY 78 program to be submitted to the General Assembly for funding," "Insuring that the laterals are run to the property line is not the responsibility of the Division of Highways." "I suggest you pursue that point with the County", according to Haber's letter.

According to the Council members, the County Engineer, Walter Fritz, does not share their feeling on the complaints enumerated. As far back as Jan. 18, 1976 in a meeting with Levy Court representative of the area, James McIlvaine, who requested that Fritz give Nashold an answer by Friday morning "regarding why the some 75 laterals were in the sidewalks and private yards instead of the streets", according to Tucker, has never been answered.

Woodland related a story relating to the time when a woman, allegedly from the State lab, came to Frederica and entered a hole in the ground where excavations for the sewer had been made and took samples of the dirt at 5 ft. The results of the tests according to Woodland had 4 of the 5 samples failin, the compaction test and one passing. "Two weeks later another report was made allegedly of the same soil samples and found that 4 passed the compaction test and one failed." Woodland pointed out "...right there where was a wide range reported to us, which was somewhat confusing and misleading".

Woodland later recalled the October meeting with the Engineers, the County representatives in which many residents were present. Mrs. Jane Brown, Town Clerk and Secretary then read aloud the minutes of the January 12, 1976 meeting in which Reynolds Gooden was present. Mr. Gooden, who recently retired from State Highway Construction questioned the officials at that meeting at great length. According to the minutes of that meeting Gooden asked (Walter) Fritz to state in his opinion the "haphazard manner in which the operation of the construction of the sewer lines was being carried out. He cited his reasons as being the failure to cut before excavating on each side of the pipe and not covering with suitable material. He witnessed the contractor roll back with the dozer and use "some material with no tamping," according to Gooden's line of questioning and statements which were reported in the minutes of the meeting. Gooden asked for "a confirmation of the liability of the contractor."

From time to time the Town Councilmen have engaged the contractor on the job complaining about the way certain situations were being carried out, and according to Tucker and Betts, the contractor reported that their responsibility was to the County and not to the Town of Frederica. At this point in Monday night's meeting, Rep. Ruth Ann Minner asked "...if they knew the laterals were installed wrong and they have not turned them over to you to use as yet...and further to correct the wrong would cost $20,970...how do they expect you to finance these needed repairs." Tucker said "...this is what gives us problems which we do not know how to cope with."

Tucker further stated that through out the Town meeting for the past year there is evidence that the Council suggested and asked the County for more inspectors on the job. "The County's response was that it is not necessary". Tucker stated to Mrs. Minner "...that from the first meeting when I asked one of the inspectors what the compaction ration was to be...he was unable to give me an answer." "He simply did not know, and said so", according to Tucker. "I told him that if he did not know what he was inspecting how could he carry on an inspection", Tucker told Mrs. Minner.

As the meeting broke up, Woodland also asked those present at the meeting how could a Town which is predominately composed of senior citizens, people on fixed in-

by Buck Thompson

If you are interested in a firefighter's career, there are a few things you should know, among them:

There are about 220,000 firefighters in the country and the profession is likely to grow by several thousand a year over the next 10 years.

Most of the growth will be in suburban towns; the best pay will be in the West, the lowest in the South. Big cities like New York, Chicago, Los Angeles and Atlanta have starting levels of $16,870, $18,000, $17,796 and $9,334, respectively. In the average town, the starting pay ranges from $9,200 to $11,000 a year. Most departments furnish such equipment as helmets, boots and rubber coats.

The hours are not good. In some cities, a fireman is on duty for 24 hours, then off for 24, with an extra day off at intervals. In others, there is a day shift of 10 hours and a night shift of 14, with the shifts rotated frequently. But the average work week still adds up to 52 hours.

Because it's high risk work, most departments provide for retirement at half pay at age 50 or after 25 years of service. There are paid vacations and health and surgical plans are also offered.

The competition is stiff. To win a job, you have to be 18 and pass a written intelligence test, a medical exam, and tests of strength, physical stamina, and agility. Both men and women have to meet height and weight requirements and they must have high school diplomas.

If you still want to become a firefighter, you can get more information from the department in your own city or its local civil service commission office. Also from the International Association of Fire Fighters at 1750 New York Ave. NW, Washington, D.C. 20006.

Open Letter To Chipman Parents

Dear Parents,

If you are one of the early readers of this letter you will recall that I began to write it because I felt a need to communicate some of my ideas to parents. This will be such a letter.

One of the inevitable costs of enlarging school districts is the removal of the possibility for all teachers and all parents in any one district to know each other. Today teachers and parents, all too often, get to know each other only when a problem has arisen at school. Consequently, today's child does not have the same assurance that the child of yesterday had. That child knew that his teachers knew who he was and that his parents knew his teachers. He knew who he was; he knew he was somebody; he had a sense of personal worth. While today's child is learning to cooperate in a larger society, he has the same need to know that he is valued, that he is important as an individual human being. We all need to work together to be certain that in our effort to offer more academic and vocational opportunities we do not forget the danger of depersonalization, of creating feelings of aloneness, of being only one of a group, of not having much worth as an individual. Every student needs to know that there is "somebody" here (at school). I need to know that you are there. That is why I welcome opportunities to meet you and/or talk with you on the telephone. I need to know how you feel and what you think about those things which concern your child. I need your cooperation in order to do the most for your child.

I do not see myself as a disciplinarian. That part of operating our school is managed by Mr. Griffin and Mrs. Davis. I tell students my office is for talking. I have found providing a place for students to talk things over often eliminates the need for any sort of disciplinary action. Sometimes, in my presence, they talk out their differences. Many times we find someone has been misunderstood or misinformed. Talking together, describing their own feelings, finding out how someone else feels, all these things tend to make differences become smaller. Somehow problems generally begin to appear solvable.

As I see it, school is the bridge from home to the big world out there. My business is understanding and helping your child to help himself to develop the finest in himself as a human being, to decide upon his goals as a student and later as a part of the world of work, and to discourage him from making decisions and engaging in behavior which will lessen his opportunities to be the healthiest, most capable, and the happiest person he can become. Because adults have different values, different ideas of what is right and what is wrong, there are times when I would like to know your point of view. Parents, however, are accustomed to being asked to consult with school personnel as to what is in the best interest of their child. Many parents interpret any call from the school as a notice that some punishment is being considered, and they find it difficult not to be either exasperated or angry and defensive. This knowledge troubles me because I would like to feel free to call when I feel the need, without jeopardizing the child's relationship with his parents or my effectiveness as a counselor.

Some of you have already given me the kind of understanding and cooperation I am asking for. I am hoping that this letter will help to pave the way for a more open-door relationship between the counselor and the families of the Chipman school. Sincerely, Sarah S. Webb

 The quickest way to a child's heart is through his sweet tooth. Treat your young valentines to Sweetheart Floats and Cupid's Grape Bars. Both of these nutritious recipes use convenient, delicious concord grape products—the children's favorites.

Top each with a scoop of ice cream and garnish with whipped cream.
CUPID'S GRAPE BARS
 (Makes 8 Bar Cookies)
 1 package (8 ounces) pitted dates
 1 cup chopped dried apricots

 3/4 cup softened butter or margarine
 1 cup firmly packed light brown sugar
 1-1/2 cups raw quick-cooking oatmeal

In a small saucepan, combine dates, apricots, grape jelly, and orange juice. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until mixture is thickened (about 5 minutes). Remove from heat; stir in walnuts. Cool.
 Sift flour, soda and salt; set aside. Cream butter and brown sugar until light and fluffy. Add flour mixture and oatmeal. Mix well with hands until blended thoroughly.
 Press half of oatmeal mixture into lightly greased 9-inch square baking pan. Spread with filling. Cover with remaining oatmeal mixture; press lightly with hands. Bake 30 minutes, or until golden at 375°F. Cool slightly. Cut into 8 bars while warm.

Farm poultry flocks have become more popular in recent years. Keeping a small flock of second year layers obtained from a commercial poultryman or raising a flock from day old are good ways to provide all the eggs, and some of the meat your family needs. Second year layers will produce about 12 dozen eggs per hen per year provided they are properly managed.
 An important aspect of a good management program for egg production is use of artificial lights in the laying house. The performance of a mature hen is greatly affected by light. The rate at which a hen lays is controlled by the activity of her pituitary gland which is primarily stimulated by the amount of day length. Light striking the eye of the hen stimulates the pituitary gland causing it to release certain reproductive hormones which cause growth and development of the reproductive system. The result of this process is egg production.
 During the laying period, layers should have 14 to 16 hours of light per day and they should never be exposed to a decreasing lightday. This becomes very important now when daylight hours are decreased. Artificial light should be used to hold the light-day constant and prevent layers from being exposed to a decreased light-day. This can be accomplished by using artificial lights for a few hours each morning and evening. Use a time clock to turn lights on and off automatically.
 For morning lights, set the clock so the lights come on before sunrise and go off after sunrise. Evening lights should come on before sunset and go off after sunset.
 For chicks that are to be raised for layers, light should be restricted during their growing period to delay sexual maturity. Better egg production will be obtained if birds are not allowed to mature too rapidly. At about 12 weeks of age light should be increased approximately 15 minutes a week until the desired day length is reached.

 One fixture with a 40-watt light bulb will provide enough light for 200 square feet of laying house space. This fixture should be attached to the ceiling directly above the feeding area.
 If you want to keep your hens laying regularly in winter, use electric lights a few hours each day from October to March. Be sure layers get enough light to make a total of at least 14 hours a day. Lights in the poultry house will give you more eggs during the winter months.

Damping-Off -- A Problem of Home Grown Seedlings

(Editor Note: The second of two articles on starting seeds indoors.)

It may be the dead of winter, but many home gardeners will soon be starting their own plants from seed for use in summer gardens. These seeds and resulting seedlings must be grown indoors or in a cold frame for an extended period of time. During this time the young plants are susceptible to a disease called "damping-off" or "seedling blight."

Damping-off is caused by fungi which attack the seed or seedlings either before they come through the soil or after the seedling is up. According to University of Delaware extension plant pathologist, Dr. Robert B. Carroll, there are several fungi involved. They all cause a blight or rot of the lower stem and roots of the plants. Affected plants will often appear to have broken off at or near the soil line. Many different kinds of plants are susceptible to damping-off. Peppers, tomatoes, cabbage, impatiens and coleus are among those most frequently affected.

The best method to control damping-off is through cultural practices that eliminate or inhibit the disease-causing fungi. Start with "clean" soil or planting media—that is, soil that is free of the disease-causing microbes. You can do this by using pre-packaged soil mix. Or, if you prefer a homemade mix that contains garden soil, pasteurize it before use.

Soil can be pasteurized very easily in your oven, says Carroll. To do this, place the soil evenly in glass or metal baking dishes at a depth of no more than four inches. Cover tightly with aluminum foil. Place a meat or candy thermometer through the foil into the center of the soil. Set the oven to 180-200 degrees Fahrenheit, and heat the soil for 30 minutes after the soil temperature reaches 180 degrees as registered on the thermometer. Allow it to cool and you have "clean" soil ready for use.

Pasteurized soil won't stay clean if you re-contaminate it by using pots or tools that are "dirty", cautions the pathologist. These items should be disinfected by cleaning in hot water (160 degrees F.) for 30 minutes or in a household bleach solution (one part bleach to nine parts water) for 30 minutes. Always use a freshly made bleach solution and clean items as thoroughly as possible before soaking. Bleach solution can cause corrosion, so be certain to rinse tools thoroughly with water after the disinfection process.

In addition to these sanitary measures, it is important to grow seeds and seedlings under conditions that discourage damping-off. Don't sow seed too thickly or too deep. Seeds of some plants can be sown right on the surface and covered lightly with sphagnum moss. Water soil lightly—excess moisture favors damping-off fungi—and place in a warm location until seedlings emerge.

When seedlings are up, they should still be watered sparingly. And when they are ready to transplant, take care again to use clean soil or planting mix and equipment. Make sure the transplanting soil drains well. Don't over-water or over-fertilize, since these practices will encourage diseases.

If you follow these steps, says Carroll, you should have early plants that are vigorous and healthy—ready to perform well in your flower or vegetable garden.

Did you know that this week is "National Children's Dental Health Week?" Its purpose is to prevent dental disease through education.

Your teeth are as important to you as any other part of your body, so you should take very special care of them.

Dentists recommend that you brush your teeth after every meal or more, if possible, if not, at least twice a day. Besides preventing cavities, brushing your teeth eliminates food fragments that cause unpleasant breath.

It is recommended to use a small, straight, and fairly stiff toothbrush. It is further recommended to visit your dentist regularly and follow their advice in order to avoid serious tooth and gum diseases.

In the midst of one of the coldest winters ever, with fuel shortages and lower thermostats, the problem of keeping warm becomes a challenge.

Once you've increased the insulation, checked the furnace, and applied the other heat-saving tricks at home, there is little you can do but bundle up. However, certain techniques in dressing can help your clothing provide the warmth you need—at home, at work, or out of doors.

Janet Goszyk, Delaware extension home economist, says the key to keeping warm is layering several garments on top of each other. A heavy long-sleeved sweater will keep you comfortable at a temperature 3.7 degrees cooler, she says. Wearing three or four layers of lighter clothing traps warm air and makes you feel more comfortable than wearing one heavy layer. If you get too warm, you can just peel off a layer or two.

You should also know the fiber content of your garments. Ms. Goszyk points out that cotton, wool, and other natural fibers retain heat best since they absorb the perspiration which gives you that cold, clammy feeling. Polyester and other man-made fibers do not have this absorbency and thus are not as warm when worn next to the skin. A further advantage of wool is that it traps pockets of air in the fibers themselves to retain body heat, so wool is especially desirable for thermal underwear.

Almost any clothing can be layered. Heavy cotton panyhose, wool knee socks, turtleneck sweaters, and cotton sweatshirts can all add to your total warmth. When you sit down to work or watch T.V., a quilt or blanket tucked around your legs makes a noticeable difference.

At work the challenge is to keep warm while looking presentable. Fortunately, the layered look is very much in fashion. Dresses go over slacks, vests go over dresses. Turtlenecks team up with blouses, and bulky sweaters go over everything. If your boss keeps the thermostat really low, long underwear can ward off the chill. Wear it under slacks, and who will ever know? Ms. Goszyk says some newer types of long underwear are made to be seen. They are stylish, thermal, and knit of machine-washable wool.

Those who spend time out of doors in freezing weather should take precautions against frostbite and chilling. Skiers have been teaching us this lesson for years. The rule is to wear several layers of lightweight, loose clothing, keeping natural fibers next to the skin and donning outerwear of nylon, orlon and wool. Long underwear is essential; a hat or cap should always be worn. Ms. Goszyk warns that nothing chills the body faster than a bare head. In fact almost 90 percent of the body's heat loss is from the head, she says.

Lightweight cotton gloves with heavy mittens on top provide maximum hand warmth. This allows you to move the fingers and keep circulation going. It's also important to keep the feet dry. Wet feet chill the body more quickly, and are more susceptible to frostbite. Several pairs of lightweight, loose-fitting socks are preferable to heavy, restrictive stockings which can slow the circulation and make the feet chill faster.

Sunglasses may be necessary when driving in winter. Sun reflecting off snow can be blinding warns the Delaware Safety Council.

Gab Fest

by Pat Hatfield

Shop duty this morning gives me time to chat, if I can think in this uncomfortable atmosphere. We want to do our part to conserve energy, of course, so our thermostat is set at 58. I have on slacks, a sweater and a coat, and I am sitting by the window where the sunshine will fall on my knees. But my feet and hands are cold and my nose is cold. We are willing to do this, but I do not believe it is healthier to be chilled and shiver. It's healthier than freezing if we look at it that way. Maybe now I will realize that I am 73 and my circulation is somewhat sluggish. Ah, well, too long we have had it too good and we do not know how to live in a state of hardship when our push buttons do not work.

I grew up in the days when you scooted out of a warm bed and hurried downstairs to dress in front of the old iron kitchen range, because mother or daddy had come down early and built up a fire from corncobs or kindling prepared the night before. After breakfast, the kerosene lamps were filled again, the wicks trimmed and the chimneys washed and polished ready for that evening. More chips and kindling were brought in and wood stacked up in the back porch. We were fortunate in our own home, because in the sitting room we had a coal heater and the fires in this were banked overnight. On top of this we heated flat irons and wrapped them in towels to take to bed and put at our feet. Oh, those ice cold beds! In case of illness, the bed was moved downstairs by the sitting room stove. When grandmother's children were ill, she had to go out and rake the coals away in the fireplace and throw on another log, while she heated a bit of onion to place in a baby's aching ear. Sometimes she would still be rocking there when grandfather went out to the frozen pond to tend his traps. He used to say he did not know which he dreaded worse...the tending of the traps for the hides or going out into a mosquito-filled woods in the summer when the temperature would often go to 90 degrees.

Dad has gone into the wood today to get fireplace material. We never did get our crane in the fireplace. It would be fun to experiment with some cooking. My friend, Gladys Taber uses and often makes up a pot of beef stew or toasts bread on long forks. Right now I am hungry for the chicken fricasee my mother used to serve her guests. You fry the chicken nice and brown and when it is about half done, you add water to about cover. Continue to simmer and about twenty minutes before serving time, place on top small spoonfuls of fluffy dumpling dough. Cover and do not peek for twenty minutes. This is very good. Usually the gravy is thick enough, but if not can be thickened some more.

Well, I hear now that the people we speak of as "the authorities" have decided they've been wrong about the diet for diabetics all these years. And they have made some drastic changes in the diabetic diet, such as now...they may have as many as eight French fries, or 25 potato chips. Well, if it doesn't hurt now, it would not hurt then. It just makes you wonder exactly where we are. The excitement has subsided about the cereal having no food value, and the cranberry juice causing cancer, and the artificial coloring doing something else, so they are going to rearrange all the problem diets. I still say the only sensible diet is to eat a bit of everything, making sure of a balanced meal but eat extremely small portions.

Electric Space Heater Could Be Safety Hazard

The combination of an electric space heater and inadequate wiring could create a safety hazard, according to Delmarva Power & Light Company.

The Company advises all users of electric space heaters to be sure that their wiring system can handle the demand that an electric space heater could place upon it. The Company advises, if necessary, the consulting of an electrician.

Although their wasn't much offense in the game against Smyrna last Friday Spartan Jack Coker did lead the team in scoring with 21 points. At right and left Coker lets go with two of his scoring shots.

End Three Game Losing Streak

Spartans Win Two Straight

by Millard Ellingsworth III

The Lake Forest Spartans walked over Smyrna to stage their second win since their loss to Seaford last Friday.

Lake Forest mounted a 15-five first quarter lead with Sam Carey contributing seven points. During the second quarter, Jack Coker hit for nine points to pace the Spartans to another 15 point quarter. The Spartans allowed Smyrna seven points to leave for the locker room with a 30-12 halftime lead.

During the third period, the Spartan's dropped to only nine points during the quarter. As the fourth quarter opened, the Spartans were in control 39-17.

Competition seemed to have been sparked in the fourth period as the two teams seemed to think the entire course of the game could be changed if they didn't start to work. While Smyrna nearly doubled its score, the Spartans added 23 with Coker again scoring nine to pace Lake Forest to a 62-33 victory.

Jack Coker led the Spartans with 21 and Sam Carey followed with 14.

Fortunately, more excitement and just as much success were present at the Indian River showdown.

Lake Forest built an 11-nine lead with three minutes left in the first quarter before they gave two consecutive turnovers to Indian River which gave the Indians a 13-11 lead.

Lauren Burris tied the score with thirty seconds left in the quarter. Sam Carey put the Spartans in front to help them to a 25-23 first quarter lead.

Indian River was never in the lead again as Bill Moore and Frank Corsey combined for 17 points in the second quarter to lengthen their lead to 49-42.

Both teams scored 16 points in the third period to keep the Spartans seven points out in front.

Burris exploded for the Spartans in the fourth quarter, scoring ten of the Spartans' 20 points on the way to an 85-73 victory over the once - defeated Indians.

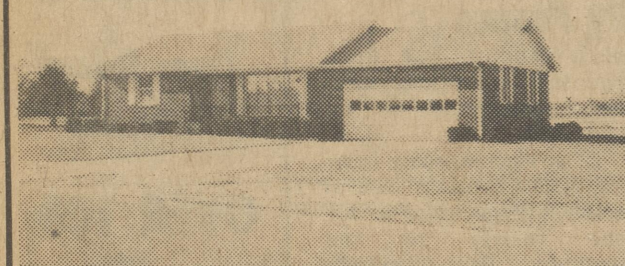

Lauren Burris led the offense with 23 points followed by Bill Moore with 21 points. Moore also had 29 rebounds to cover the boards for Lake Forest.

Frank Corsey had 18 points and Sam Carey and Bill Johnson 11.

New Tax Law

Thousands of Delaware taxpayers who work or attend school and pay someone to care for their children or for disabled dependents can take advantage of a new child care credit on their 1976 Federal income tax return, even if they do not itemize their deductions.

Under the new law, eligible taxpayers can claim a credit of 20 percent of their child care expenses, up to a maximum of $400 for one child and $800 for two or more. The credit is subtracted directly from the tax liability.

The credit can be taken by couples even if one or both spouses works only part-time. But, in these situations the eligible expenses are limited to the amount of earnings of the spouse earning the smaller amount, or in the case of a single person, to his or her earnings. Separated, divorced, or widowed parents with custody of children are also eligible.

The credit is also available to married couples where one spouse works fulltime and the other is a full-time student.

Other features of the liberalized child care law are that relatives who are not dependents can now be paid for child care so long as Social Security taxes are withheld from their pay; there is no longer a distinction between child care performed inside and outside the home; and persons who use the standard deduction can also claim their child care expenses but must file a Form 1040.

Ten Lake Forest High School students have been named to Who's Who Among Music Students in American High Schools. Among the criteria for eligibility are: outstanding musical ability and contribution to a school's overall music program, personal growth and development through participation in band or orchestra activities, school and community citizenship and service, and a grade of C or better

Name to Chorus was: Don Lloyd, Felton.

The instructor is Dale Burkhard.

Bridgeville To Correct Drainage

Bridgeville, The State of Delaware has estimated $300,000 to correct an age old drainage problem along Railroad Ave. in Bridgeville. The water will be drained into the Storm drain on Laws St., which is also a State maintained Street by way of an easement along Delaware Ave. There will also be a storm drain put on Delaware Ave. to correct the situation which exists there now where the storm drain dumps into the sanitary sewer. At the present time when an inch of rain falls approximately 240,000 gallons of water passes through the sanitary sewer plant. This Construction will correct that problem. The town also received an easement from T. G. Adams & Son to maintain the drainage situation along a rail spear coming into the Adams place of business on R.R. Ave.

Delaware state band. The two Lake Forest High School students are the third and fourth members of the school population who have ever been junior and plays baritone horn. Cathy McKnett, a senior, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald McKnett. She plays the bass clarinet. Both young people will join the other members of the state band in a concert in March.

They're Fighting for His Life.

Each year heart attack accounts for over 350,000 deaths which occur before the victim reaches the hospital. It doesn't have to be that way.
What is done for a victim within the first few minutes after a heart attack may determine survival or death. Cardiopulmonary resuscitation (CPR) could make the difference. And you can learn it.
Some day, with CPR, you could save a life. Some day, your own life could depend on it.
CPR is a basic life-saving technique, performed after a person has suffered "cardiac arrest" - that is, after the heart has stopped beating. It provides emergency life support until more advanced support is available, through a combination of chest compression and mouth-to-mouth breathing.
Trained instructors, certified by the American Heart Association, can teach you CPR. It takes several hours. It could mean a lifetime.
Contact your local Heart Association for more information on this program.

PERSONAL

In loving memory of Marie S. Shultie, who departed this life four years ago, February 6, 1973:
God saw the road was getting rough,
The hill was hard to climb.
He gently closed your weary eyes, and whispered, peace be thine.
You toiled so hard for those you loved.
Your love for your family always true.
You did your best for all of us.
We will always remember you.
For many years the family chain,
was closely linked together,
But on the chain is broken now.
The main link is gone forever.
Sadly missed along life's way, lovingly remembered every day, by husband, children, grandchildren and great grandchildren.
