What A Mess!

The wall separating a metal shop from a home economics sewing laboratory was the location of the fire that broke out shortly before school's dismissal last Wednesday. These firemen were among the four companies responding to the alarm. Photo By Ray Blanchette

Quick Reaction Prevents More Damage Lake Forest Fire Is Minor

FELTON. Four fire companies swiftly sped to the Lake Forest School last Wednesday afternoon to extinguish a fire in the metal shop area of the school.

The fire alarm was turned in around 2:50 p.m., and was confined to a relatively small area of the metal shop wall and ceiling.

According to Melvin Luff, district administrative assistant, the fire caused around $2,050 damage and apparently was caused by defective wiring between the metal shop welding area and home economics sewing laboratory wall.

It appears, according to information Luff received "...a wire somehow had defective insulation." The wire came in contact with a metal conduit to cause the fire to break out in the wall. From there it spread from the junction box up the wall to the ceiling but did not spread beyond the wall and ceiling area in the immediate area.

A Seaford firm had done the initial electrical work in the area where the fire occurred.

Luff said the small amount of damage was largely due to the rapid response by the Felton Fire Company, who were also assisted on the scene by units from the Harrington, Frederica and Houston Fire Companies.

The repair work will be done by Conventional Builders and Satterfield and Ryan, the latter of which will do the electrical work.

Luff said the fire did not interrupt the instruction normally planned for the shop, since the fire was contained to a small area.

Rotary Still Seeks Award Winners

HARRINGTON. The Harrington Rotary is continuing its search for persons interested in an international fellowship that would entitle them to study abroad for a year. The search is part of Rotary International.

Rotary International District Governor Edwin Pierce has announced the availability of 2 Rotary Foundation educational awards for young people in his District for study abroad during academic year 1978-79. The awards cover the costs of language instruction, transportation, food, lodging and tuition.

The local search is being headed by Melvin Luff of the Lake Forest School District. Mr. Luff said one person in the area has responded to date, and that perhaps more people are reluctant to apply, fearing they might not be eligible.

The only way to find out, however, is to apply. There is time to do so, until March 21 through the local Rotary Club.

Awards will be made to scholars who are "well-rounded, articulate, outgoing people who can interpret their homelands as well as absorb the cultures of their country of study.

twenty (20) awards. Up to 120 Teachers of the Handicapped awards will be presented the same year.

None of these awards can be made to Rotarians or their families.

Interested people should contact Mr. Luff by calling 398-3244 or by writing in care of him at 28 East Camden Wyoming Ave., Camden, Del.

Banks Robbed

HARRINGTON. Banks Convenience Store, located on U.S. Rt. 13

was robbed at pistol point last Thursday night, around 10:22 p.m., when three black males wearing ski-type masks entered the store, demanded all the money in the cash register, pulled the telephone from the wall and fled.

It was estimated $25 to $30 was taken in the robbery.

Kathleen Roberts, the clerk on duty, reportedly quit her job following the incident.

According to state police, a similar robbery took place Tuesday night near Lincoln by a trio expected to be the same who robbed the Banks store here.

City Office

Closes Monday

Due to George Washington's birthday, the City Office of Harrington will be closed Monday, February 21. Hours will be back to normal Tuesday.

Rotary and Lions Hear Athletic Complex Plans

HARRINGTON/ FAIRGROUNDS. Melvin Luff, Deputy Superintendent of Lake Forest School District told a joint meeting of Harrington Lions and Rotarians on Monday night how the School District came about receiving the Federal grant of $1,589,000. Most of the reasons given were explained in that the District was fortunate enough to have someone filling out the application who knew what they were doing. Luff working with the architects for the addition to the school were able to fill the application out accurately, which was one of the chief criteria by the Government.

Luff also pointed out that this was for an athletic complex, which is totally different from the addition currently under proposal which was voted on by referendum. Some of the features to this athletic complex are a swimming pool, football stadium and 8 lane all weather track. Luff pointed out that the seating capacity of the new stadium would be 2500, and this would enable the School to be eligible for state play-offs and major high school athletic events. Luff, Harrington Rotarian, was well received in his presentation to the civic groups.

Bridgeville Council Gives Floating Holiday

BRIDGEVILLE. The Bridgeville Town Council on Monday night voted to allow the Town employees one floating holiday at the convenience of each Department. It was also announced that a new street had been opened up and would be named Radcliffe St. It will run from Market to Union Alley.

Amendments were made to the sewer ordinances regulating the use of private sewer and drains. One of the ordinances will now read that "the costs attributable to the determination that materials discharged into the public sewer system of the Town are to be born by the user." Another ordinance allowed that "... any settleable solids in excess of 150 ml/l; any suspended solids in excess of 1000 mg/l and any biochemical oxygen...in excess of 1000 mg/l" will also be controlled.

Bank Seeks Branch Office At Canterbury

First National Names Richardson A Director

HARRINGTON. Joseph T. Richardson of Harrington was elected to the Board of Directors of the 1st National Bank of Harrington Tuesday at their annual stock holders meeting. Richardson who heads the largest mechanical contracting firm on the shore, Joseph T. Richardson Inc., has been in business for the past 25 years. He employs about 80 people. Richardson is a native of Philadelphia who later moved to Doylestown where he spent his early years. He came to Harrington in 1950. He is married to the former Virginia Collison of Andrewville.

They have one child, Mrs. James (Virginia) Schweiger. Mr. Richardson's mother, Mrs. Grace Richardson, and sister, Clare Richardson, also live in Harrington. Mr. Richardson fills the vacancy on the Board left vacant by Arnold Gilstad.

Tuesday's stockholders meeting drew a large number of stockholders from both within and outside the State. David Jones, Executive V.P.

and Cashier of the Bank made a slide presentation to the stockholders. It was announced at the meeting and explained through a slide presentation that 1st National of Harrington had filed with the Administrator of National Banks in Philadelphia an application to construct and operate a branch bank in the Canterbury area. In addition a complete review of 1976 was made and it revealed substantial increases in all areas including earnings.

Houston Candidates To File

The town of Houston will hold nominations for the town's election Saturday, February 26.

In order to run for the town council, one must be 21, a town resident of at least one year and must have paid one's town taxes.

All that is necessary to file is to sign the log which will be available from 2 to 4 p.m. at the Houston Fire House.

Trash Discount Announced

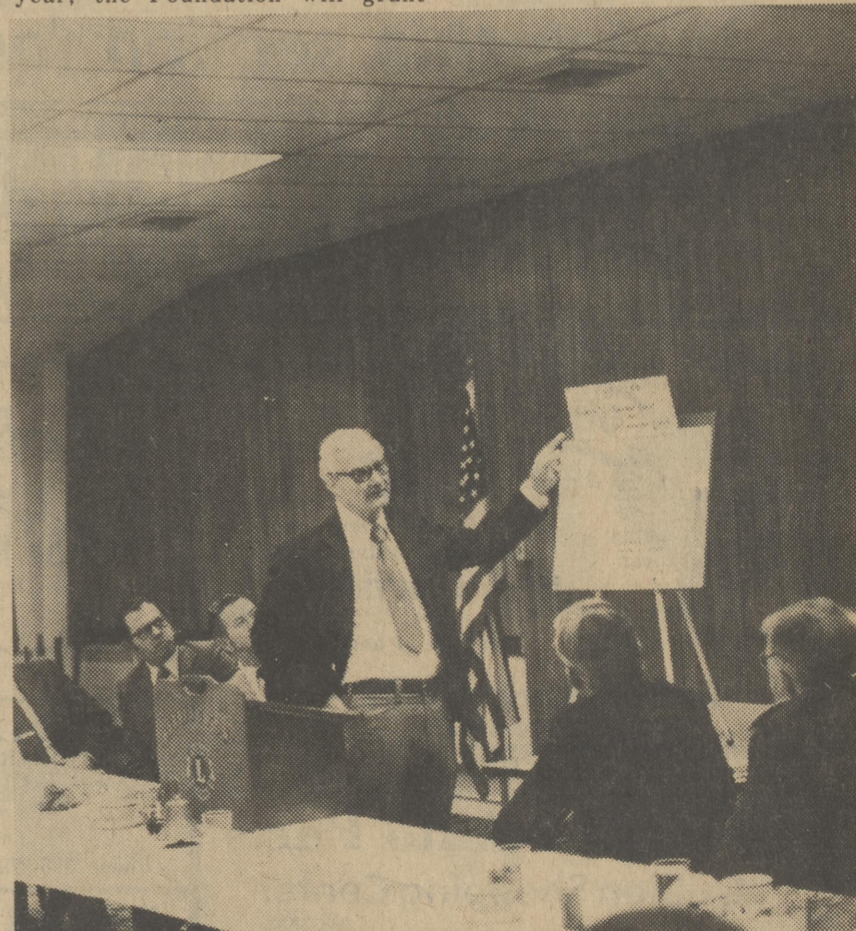

The City of Harrington announced at its last council meeting that residents will be given a $2 break on trash bills paid a year in advance. This item was reported in last week's issue of The Harrington Journal. The $2 break will be given only to those who pay the bill within thirty days after receiving it.

Weather Brings More Problems

The weather in the lower Delaware area has been nearly balmy during several days last week, with temperatures soaring to the mid 50's. Far from relief, however, is the rising temperatures, since they have also brought a too quick thawing process, which is showing itself in cracks, potholes and crumbling road shoulders.

According to the next week's forecast, however, residents may expect more cold weather, if not as severe as was experienced in January.

Melvin Luff of the Harrington Rotary and Lake Forest School District office explains the athletic complex soon to be built at Lake Forest High School. The talk occurred during a joint meeting of the Harrington Rotary and Harrington Lions Club Monday night. The complex will be built as part of a public works project, and will be totally federally funded.

Many local merchants are holding special George Washington Birthday sales you will read about in this issue.

We urge you to support them during this special sale.

The action begins in the small duchy of Gran Fenwick. From there, the plot thickens and begins to backfire when the Fenwickians seem to gain the upper hand.

Lead parts are played by Kim Roe-Gloriana; Clinton Graham-Tully Bascom; Steve Kish-Count Mountain; Dan Twissleman-David Benter; Mike Harding-The President; Larry Riser-Professor Kokintz; Mark Homewood-General Snippet; and Edie Morris-Ms. Boston.

The play will be staged on March 10, 11, and 12, one performance each evening with an additional afternoon performance on Saturday. For ticket information, call the Lake Forest High School Office.

Be Prepared With An Emergency Food Supply

If you were snowed in for several days and couldn't shop, or cook because of a power outage, how would you eat?

University of Delaware extension nutrition specialist Marguerite Krackhardt warns that severe winter storms, floods, hurricanes and other natural disasters can occur at any time of year. Because they often cause disruption of electrical service, an emergency food supply can be a great help.

Ms. Krackhardt has compiled a buying guide and two weeks of menus that require no cooking or heating. Homemakers may wish to modify these menus, or develop their own to meet family needs and preferences. Baby foods, dietary foods and other special foods have not been included and should be added when required.

The nutritionist recommends choosing canned or securely-packaged goods for extended shelf life. Crackers and cookies should be double-wrapped and stored in tight metal containers or large jars with screw-top lids. Select milk, tea and coffee in instant form. Seasonings and sauces which do not require refrigeration can be included to make cold vegetables and meats more appetizing.

Date containers at the time of purchase and rotate their use. In most instances, foods should be used within a year, although some foods will have a shorter shelf life. Use foods from the emergency supply as needed, and replace them when you shop.

Remember to include a hand-operated can opener with your food supply.

Paper plates, cups and napkins, along with plastic knives, forks and spoons are also convenient.

In areas where drinking water might not be available, store a supply of bottled water along with the food.

If you would like to receive a buying guide for an emergency food supply, plus two weeks of menus requiring no cooking, write to the Mail Room, Agricultural Hall, University of Delaware, Newark, DE 19711.

Did You Know?

Tomato lovers might like to know that tomatoes got the name "love apples" because the first tomatoes being yellow were called by the Italians pomo d'oro "golden apples." To the French that sounded like pommes d'amour or "apples of love."

From The Frying Pan

Apathy...our biggest enemy. Numerous leaders through the country's history have warned against the downfall of the country, coming not from outside, but from the country itself and through its citizens. In our governmental situation, apathy is the biggest friend of bad government and politics around. We often adopt the attitude that "Well, what can I do, I'm just one person". One voice may not be heard, but then again, if it is persistent and loud enough and heard by the right ears, something is done. There is much truth in the adage "The squeaky wheel gets the oil". Harrington and several surrounding communities are in the process of overhauling their charters, the foundations on which the city and town governments are run. Since it is a lengthy process, involving drafts, that are polished and presented for legislative approval, there is an opportunity for citizen input in the process. It is a good time to do something positive, instead of griping over the back fence or clothes line and wasting a lot of misguided energy. How many times have we thought "Something should be done about this...it should be in the charter." The time is rapidly approaching where there will be an opportunity to take action. Since these charters are costly to prepare, and are done so only every quarter of a century or so, this is the time to act. The Harrington City Council and City Manager are meeting tonight (Wednesday) in a work shop at the City Hall to view the type of government they feel is best for the town, from a field of three possibilities. It is our hope that interested citizens will be on hand in the discussion. No action will be taken at the workshop, but it is an opportune time to take part.

Interested Men Needed

Remember the Christmas Parade? How successful and pleasant an afternoon it is yearly, for young and old alike? The Harrington JAYCEES have been responsible for the parade for nearly a decade now, having shouldered the rather formidable job. Like most organizations, it too needs new blood. Plans are underway for a membership drive in this area. Once there are new members, to increase the current active list of 15, the scope of the JAYCEE chapter here is almost limitless. They already have a few good men, but they need more. Get involved...

Career Corner

24 To 1 Odds Against Federal Employment

The U.S. Civil Service Commission, the employment agency of the Federal Government, knows a sure bet. And one of the surest, it says, is that there will be 24 applicants for every government job in the country - a far cry from the 50's and early 60's when the tables were turned, according to an article in the December 28 Washington Post. In fact, the Commission gives anyone who gets a score lower than 95 in the Professional and Administrative Career Exam "a slim chance" of getting in. The exam is needed to qualify for many entry-level Federal jobs and competition is fierce. For example, in 1975 there were 222,000 PACE-takers for 11,000 jobs. secretaries, computer operators, pipefitters, and those in health care exceed applicants. A substantial number of 17-year olds are heading for double trouble, according to a study by the Education Commission of 100,000 Americans aged 13 to 35. The study found that 44 % of the 17-year olds surveyed want a professional career - about twice the number of currently existing jobs, according to an article in the Christian Science Monitor. In addition, inadequate preparation for any career will add to the disillusionment, ECS fears. It also found that only 24 % of youths included a return address on a job application letter, guaranteeing that most could not get the position. There are a few niches where qualified people are in demand by Federal agencies. Vacancies for

Felton Election

Dear Sir: On the front page of the 9 February 1977 issue of your newspaper you reported the Election to be held in the town of Felton on March 7, 1977. Your statements concerning Felton Law are not correct. The Charter for the town of Felton, Chapter 208, Laws of Delaware, page 476, begins... "Section I: There shall be five Commissioners of the town of Felton, all of whom shall be residents therein (three of whom at least shall be free-holders in said town)." Since the three men whose terms do not expire are all property owners,

School District Questioned

Dear Editor: It has been brought to my attention that Delaware students progressively drop below the National average. In grade one students tested at 8.5 above the National average. Fourth grade 1.1 below and eighth grade 6.7 below. Surely these results leave some questions to be answered. Where does our district rate in comparison to other districts in the State? How do our children compare to the National average? Does this downward trend also hold true for the Lake Forest District? What was the basis used for selecting district Math and Reading programs? Were any Public meetings held to give the parents a chance to voice their

the two chosen in this current election must only be residents within the town limits. There is no minimum age specified for candidates. There is no reference to requirements for filing nor intent to file. There is no provision for write-in votes, however that right is guaranteed under the Constitution of the State of Delaware as confirmed by Mr. Richard R. Wier, Jr., Attorney General. Felton's Charter is archaic but until it is changed it is the Law and prevails except in those instances where it is in conflict with Delaware State Law and the Constitution of the United States. Sincerely yours, Frances J. Jefferson

Ed. note: The information from the article to which Mrs. Jefferson is referring was provided by William Myers, president of the Town of Felton's commissioners. Regrettably we do not have charters for each community, and rely on the information provided by the town or city fathers. We were quoting a source, not the charter as written.

opinion, also to help them understand the benefits and draw backs of the district's selection? Surely since it cost so much to revamp that we as tax payers should be given what ever information is needed to keep us informed by the district. Our budget last year was over $4 million dollars. How much was used for the Holtmath and the Wisconsin Design Reading Program? Are these programs working as well as expected? Another interesting fact after experimenting with the individualized instruction in which teachers most of the time had to teach each page or skill 30 different times in most cases it has finally been decided to go back to the traditional way of group instruction. It seems that 60 % of our children are not motivated enough to work in the independent program. Surely the administration was aware of this before implementing it into the elementary level. Six months of time was lost if not more. What frustration for teachers and children alike when there wasn't enough time to explain each new step to each child every day. It seems there are a lot of questions to ask. I have found that in some areas in the district you have a hard time getting questions answered. I wonder how many other parents feel the same frustration. I would like to hear from you. Sincerely, Elizabeth Ashley

Thoughts....

From Senator Roth

For the past few years, I have been urging Congress to enact legislation to index, or adjust, the personal income tax system by the rate of inflation. I have been arguing that this "tax indexing" proposal is necessary for the long term because, under our progressive income tax system, the hidden tax of inflation keeps pushing taxpayers into higher tax brackets. For example, a worker who receives a 10 percent cost-of-living salary increase during a year of 10 percent inflation would expect to be able to maintain his same standard of living. But under our present tax system, his 10 percent salary increase will only push him into a higher tax bracket, and he will end up with less than he started with before his salary increase. This hidden inflation tax also supplies the Federal Government with a continually-growing supply of tax revenues, and allows Congress to continue

Weekly Report

by Senator Joe Biden

Over the past months I have received many letters and phone calls from small businessmen in Delaware who are worried. They are worried about the income they are losing because of the severe weather and the shortage of natural gas. Quite frankly, I don't blame them. That's why this week I introduced a bill, the Energy and Weather Adjustment Assistance Act, that will help those businesses, workers, and local governments that have been adversely affected by the weather and energy shortages. The purpose of the bill is to aid businesses that have suffered severe economic loss because of the weather and energy shortage, to insure that no Delawarean loses his or her income, and to aid local governments who may have to cut essential services because of the emergency.

just been completed which might provide enough impetus to help get the tax laws changed. This new study, conducted by the staff of the Joint Economic Committee, found that the present income tax system contributed to the 1974-1975 recession by pushing taxpayers into higher tax brackets even though real incomes were falling. The committee study said that the heavier tax burdens reduced consumer purchasing power and demand, thereby lowering production, employment, and incomes. Under this Act businesses could qualify for grants of $50,000 or 4 % loans; eligible employees could receive up to 85 % of their wages for three months; and, local governments could qualify for grants of $150,000 or 2 % loans. Hundreds of Delawareans have been laid off. The State has suffered more than $4 million in damages, as well as production losses. Many of our small businesses are fighting for their lives. One small business man told me this week that he has already had to lay off 200 people because of the shortage of natural gas. And the situation, we are told, is likely to get worse. The disaster relief that is now available is nowhere near sufficient to deal with this problem. That's why I've asked the Senate to act upon this legislation now.

Tax Reforms Won't Affect Most Farmers

Though the federal government changed some of the tax laws in 1976, the revisions won't greatly affect most farmers, says W.T. McAllister, extension farm management specialist with the University of Delaware. According to him, farmers can remain on top of the tax-filing situation if they keep in mind that cash operating expenses, investment credits and depreciable items are still the three most important considerations in figuring taxes.

"Most farmers probably know that cash operating expenses can be fully deducted from their income," states McAllister. "But they should take full advantage of this deduction, being careful to list ALL consumable supplies used on the farm during 1976."

Not only does the term "consumable supplies" refer to those items actually consumed by the farm last year, it applies to those supplies which are in the process of being consumed-as long as their useful life is less than three years. This stipulation means that cash operating expenses cover temporary fencing material, repairs to buildings and machinery, paint used on farm buildings, and machinery parts such as tires and batteries as well as feed, fertilizer, gasoline and livestock bought to feed and sell.

But if an item bought for the farm has a serviceable life of more than three years, it is a depreciable item and is eligible for investment credit. It is also entered on the depreciation schedule.

"Investment credit was extended at the 10 percent level until 1980 by the 1976 Tax Reform Act," says McAllister. "This means that the farmer can claim 10 percent of the cost of a depreciable item, except buildings, as an investment credit during the year of purchase. But he must plan on owning the item for at least six years in order to claim the full 10 percent. He may claim only one-third of the 10 percent if he plans on owning the item three to four years, two-thirds if he plans on owning it for four to five years and the full 10 percent for any greater length of time."

In figuring depreciation, the farmer determines the useful life of the item at the time it is purchased. He then subtracts the expected salvage value at the end of that time period from the actual cost of the item. The resulting figure is then plugged into one of several formulas devised for determining the amount that can be claimed as depreciation this year.

The Straight Line Method is the simplest procedure provided by the IRS to determine depreciation. According to McAllister, however, other more complicated methods usually bring a greater return to the farmer during the first year or two that he owns the item. A thorough discussion of the different methods of figuring depreciation is given in the Farmers Tax Guide-available free from the county extension offices in Newark, Dover and Georgetown.

"There is no standard depreciation rate that all farmers must use," says McAllister. "The tax people will generally accept a rate that is reasonable and which conforms to the habits of the individual farmer. If you usually keep a tractor for only four years, the IRS probably will accept that as the useful life of a tractor on your farm."

In addition, McAllister reminds farmers that they can claim depreciation on items not in use if they are still within the useful life period established. If a farmer bought a potato digger last year, for example, and didn't plant potatoes this year, he might possibly forget that he owns this piece of equipment and neglect to claim depreciation.

"The best advice I can give farmers on filing an accurate tax report is to keep records on everything," states McAllister.

Open Letter To Chipman Parents

Dear Parents, The guidance office continues to be so busy with second semester adjustments that I have not yet been able to reestablish appointments for those students who were seeing me on a regular basis. I hope to have such a schedule by the end of this week.

I have talked with a number of parents this week, some of whom were discouraged by their eighth grade son or daughter's Aptitude Test scores. Please do NOT interpret those percentile scores on a pass-fail basis. You cannot fail an aptitude test anymore than you can fail on a "school picture." The purpose of the test is solely to help the students and you to determine in which areas they have the most ability. In other words, to determine what are their best features. Please, please do NOT find fault with your child for his performance on his aptitude test.

On February 21, teachers will have an in-service day. In our school we will spend the day analyzing the results of last spring's state test and making plans for improving student achievement in those areas where our students did poorly. To know that we do look at what we are doing and make a continuing effort to improve the instruction in our school should be encouraging and gratifying for you to know. Sincerely, Sarah S. Help For Elderly Offered

The Division of Aging has organized community resources in each of Delaware's three counties to help elderly persons cope with problems associated with the recent extremely cold weather.

Through April 1, 1977, the Division of Aging will coordinate a network of community agencies to help persons 60 and older meet emergency needs, such as emergency food or fuel, including utilities, home repair, snow removal, clothing and transportation to medical appointments.

Mrs. Eleanor L. Cain, director of the Division of Aging, says that although many persons are faced with higher fuel bills and other cold weather problems, such problems hit hardest the poor and the elderly on fixed incomes.

"Although this program is primarily to help the elderly, anyone faced with emergency problems brought on by the unusually cold weather we've had in the last several weeks can call upon this network for help," Mrs. Cain adds. Persons who need emergency assistance are asked to call the following telephone numbers.

In Kent County: Monday-Friday, 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. 678-5335. All other times including weekends 678-3600.

In Sussex County: Monday-Friday, 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. 856-5550. All other times including weekends 856-7303.

Elderly persons who would like to participate in the Title VII nutrition program, either going to a nearby nutrition site or receiving a home-delivered meal should contact the following persons for information.

In Kent County call Florence Hoffman at MANNA; the telephone number is 678-3600.

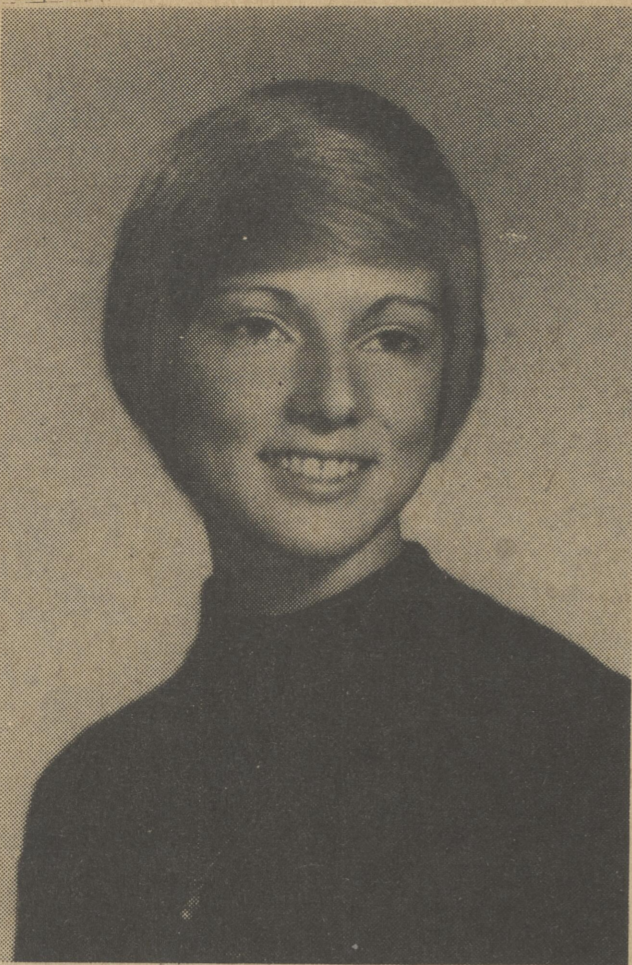

In Sussex County contact Madonna Perkins at CHEER; the telephone number is 856-7021.

For Your Information

Dear friends,

We have been asked this question, "What should be done when death comes to a loved one at some distant point?"

We suggest that the next of kin immediately phone his hometown funeral director who will then make all arrangements for the care and return of the deceased.

This will avoid possible misunderstandings that can so easily occur.

Respectfully,
William C. Berry, Jr.

Tips

Perk Up Meals With Onion Cheese Muffins

Bake Onion Cheese Muffins to brighten up an ordinary meal or add a special touch to company fare. These little breads have all the makings of a family favorite—good taste and a mouthwatering appearance that will appeal to hungry appetites. Serve them piping hot with casseroles, luncheon salads or hearty soups and watch how fast they disappear.

Onion Cheese Muffins are similar to cornbread and yet a little different. Bite-size toasted corn squares replace part of the flour and provide a very subtle corn flavor that goes well with the bits of sautéed onion in the batter and the perky sour cream and cheese topping. You'll find the cereal easy to use, too. Just crush to the correct measure with rolling pin or in your blender and stir into the liquid ingredients.

ONION CHEESE MUFFINS

- 3/4 cup finely chopped onion
 - 1 tablespoon butter or margarine
 - 1 cup sifted all-purpose flour
 - 1 tablespoon sugar
 - 2 1/2 teaspoons baking powder
 - 1/2 teaspoon salt
 - 1/8 teaspoon onion powder
 - 1 egg, slightly beaten
 - 3/4 cup milk
 - 2 tablespoons vegetable oil
 - 2 1/2 cups Corn Chex cereal crushed to 3/4 cup
 - 1/4 cup dairy sour cream
 - 1/4 cup shredded process American cheese
- Preheat oven to 400°. Grease 12 medium muffin cups. Sauté onion in butter until tender and golden, about 5 minutes. Set aside. Sift together flour, sugar, baking powder, salt and onion powder. In mixing bowl combine egg, milk, vegetable oil and 2 tablespoons sautéed onion. Stir in crushed cereal. Add dry ingredients. Stir only until moistened. Fill muffin cups one-half full. Combine remaining onion with sour cream and shredded cheese. Top each muffin with a rounded teaspoon of cheese mixture. Bake 20-25 minutes or until cheese is browned and crusty. Makes 12 muffins.

Some of the ladies are busy making lap robes and others are crocheting various articles.

Weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred McMillane were their nieces, Rhonda and Alice Wissemann of Lincoln.

Recent caller at the McMillanes was her brother, Alvin Wissemann, who is home for a few days from his work, which is on the barges bringing oil to Seaford and Salisbury.

Scouting News: This month is Boy Scout Month their 67th anniversary! Greenwood Boy Scout #242 has a window display in the fire hall. Some of the Scouts and their leaders were dinner guests of their sponsors, Greenwood Kiwanis Club on Thursday evening. At this time they presented their program and their activities to the Kiwanis members. Leon Rust is chief committeeman and Charles K. Elliott is the I.R. Officer for the Scouts from the Kiwanis Club.

The Scouts do a lot of good work in the community but do not get much credit for it as a lot of people do not know of their activities. Would anyone like to be their Public Relations man? I feel that is why a lot of the Scouts drop out. Then, some of them can't hack the time or the work it takes to become a good scout. The Scouts have had various programs, but the parents don't seem to be interested.

Starting this year we have a Scout that I feel the whole town knows. He has worked long and hard and is now trying to get his Eagle project started. Tom Jones is a hard worker and a good leader. He has helped his fellow Scouts as well as himself in getting promoted in the ranks. Tom is our Junior Assistant Scoutmaster and Richard Finkbinder is the Assistant Scoutmaster.

Good scouting, Joseph Harris, Scoutmaster. Don't forget the Book Fair at the Greenwood School Feb. 15 through 18, 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Open House on the 15th at 7:30.

Saturday guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Mills was her son, L. Lewis Harrington from Voohrees, N.J.

Recent Friday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Mills were Mr. and Mrs. Margaret Baker's children surprised her on Saturday night with a birthday party. Her birthday was on Sunday, Feb. 13 and Saturday was also the birthday of her daughter-in-law, Carolyn Baker of Farmington.

Mrs. Frank Gordy of Georgetown, who have just returned from Florida.

The McCreary Family especially want everyone to know how much they appreciate the help which has been given to them when their home was damaged by a recent fire.

Thanks to all who have helped in any way. Special thanks to Gary and Ellen Bollinger for supplying them with a place of temporary residence; to the Women's Society for a nice dinner; and to the many friends and neighbors who prepared food and brought needed clothing, bedding, etc., to the Greenwood Lions Club for stocking their pantry; and to the Greenwood Church for their Love Offering presented on Sunday morning.

Steve McCreary went with his aunt, Mrs. Esther Hughes of Cambridge, Md. to spend a weekend in Allentown, Pa.

Weekend guest of the Paul McCrearys was her sister, Mrs. Loretta Reiter of Allentown, Pa.

Mrs. Margaret Baker's children surprised her on Saturday night with a birthday party. Her birthday was on Sunday, Feb. 13 and Saturday was also the birthday of her daughter-in-law, Carolyn Baker of Farmington.

Sunday visitors of Mrs. Margaret Baker were Mr. and Mrs. George Leighty of Milford, Sunday also being Mrs. Leighty's birthday. Calling also on Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. Ralph C. Baker of Bridgeville.

Mrs. Baker also enjoyed a telephone call from her sister, Mrs. Rose Chandler of Haddonfield, N.J., telling her she would see her this coming weekend. She will be in this area, at the Dover Armory, for the Thursday, Friday and Saturday Antique Show.

TWO-DAY GEORGE WASHINGTON BIRTHDAY SALE

Madison Avenue vs. Ms. Consumer

When you traipse through the supermarket pushing that ever-lovin' cart, do you sometimes feel that Madison Avenue is out to get you?

Well, it is. America's high-powered advertising and promotion industry can come up with more ways to separate consumers from their cash than the Carters have peanuts. And, for the most part, that's good, because advertising creates demand; demand generates sales; and sales bring about greater production which stimulates the economy.

But all the same, consumers need to hang on to their wits as well as their wallets when they visit the modern supermarket, because each aisle is an obstacle course.

Coral Morris, extension home management specialist at the University of Delaware, says market research has shown that the average supermarket shopper makes about half his or her purchases on impulse, and makes a buying decision in one-fifth of a second.

If this is true, there must be a lot of people out there eating some awfully strange meals.

Supermarkets capitalize on our impulse-buying tendencies, so as you walk down the aisles, be alert for these pitfalls along the way:

PIKE'S PEAK: A mountain of cookies or paper towels at the end of an aisle, marked "Special Low Price." Mammoth displays suggest reduced prices, but such is not always the case. Compare prices.

FUN ON THE FREEWAY: Dozens of shopping carts lined up bumper to bumper near the entrance, loaded with canned goods, jars of pickles, or window cleaner. This type of display does not necessarily mean lower prices.

LUMBAGO LEAN: Sugar, crackers and other staples arranged on shelves an inch from the floor; cookies and other luxury items displayed within easy reach at eye level.

FANCY RABBIT: Expensive bottled gourmet salad dressings displayed in the produce section next to the romaine and the radishes.

CARD SHARK: Pick a pair, any pair. Two-fers and three-fers suggest pennies saved, but look twice. Do you really want two cans for 39 cents instead of one can for 19 cents?

KING KONG: Super-duper giant economy-size cans and packages that cost more per ounce than smaller ones.

ORGY: All the temptations of Adam and Eve closing in on you while you're standing in the checkout line. Glossy magazines, newspapers with panting headlines, candy bars, gum, cigarettes, breath mints, chocolate Easter eggs.

It's not safe to look to the right or left. Just hang on to your corn flakes, pay your bill, and run (don't walk) to the nearest exit!

Police Busy Here This Week

Harrington Police have been issuing warrants for several persons who have written worthless checks.

A warrant was signed by Harrington Food Rite for Donald Draper, Sr. Draper was taken to Court 6, fined $10, $11.50 for court cost. Draper also has to make restitution on the check.

Draper also had to make restitution on a check written to Stone's Hotel in 1975.

On Wednesday, February 9, the Milford Police Department contacted the Harrington Police to determine if they had any reference of bad checks for Gordon M. Tupper, II. Investigation revealed Quillen's Market had several such checks written by Tupper. Mr. Quillen signed four warrants for Tupper for bad checks.

Tupper was arrested and taken to Court 6 where he pled guilty and was fined $25, plus $13 for court costs and received 30 days imprisonment for each charge, the latter of which will be suspended if fines, costs and restitution are made within ten days.

Gab Fest

by Pat Hatfield

I was amused at Jim Miller's article in the Delaware State News describing his bird-feeding problems. He does not want to hear the expression, "eating like a bird" anymore if it refers to a delicate eater. He is amazed at the amount of food the birds can consume in a day's time. Me, too. We sometimes have to fill ours twice a day. We put it out in the morning, and by the time our cardinal gets there about four in the afternoon, it is usually empty and we have to scurry out with more. The doves usually come in the morning. The cardinal stays so late I can barely see him under the Japanese bush. The starlings and blackbirds enjoy the leftovers from the kitchen. I put out all the stale bread and cake crumbs and pancakes and they have a rowdy time gobbling.

We know the robins have wintered in Delaware for some years now, but they usually do not come around the homes until nearly spring. This winter Jim Miller has had them at his feeders. One supposes that they have eaten all the woods provide or else it is so frozen they cannot get at it. And this winter, Mary has had a brown thrasher at her feeder. Also Dad saw one in a thicket between here and Bridgeville. They are such lovable birds and usually come in late May at least. If they chose to winter over, this surely was not the winter to do it!

The ground is frozen so far down, we wonder what is happening to the bulbs. Usually the daffodils start peeping through by now, but so far, we haven't seen a tip of green showing.

I had such a nice lunch at Ellen's today, chicken divan, glazed carrots and apricot cheese pie. After all this I'm not much interested in dinner preparations, but Dad will be hungry, so I'm making another oven beef stew. I do not know whether I'm tired or just lazy, but this is such an easy way with stew. I just dump the frozen beef cubes into a casserole, add water, onion and seasoning and cook at 375 until the beef is quite tender. Then add thick potato slices, peas and carrots and simmer gently until all is very tender. The gravy may be thickened a bit before serving. A salad and hot bread make a well-balanced meal.

So many calls have come in about the Peach Pie Supreme and everyone liked it. One caller was telling me about a delicious Strawberry Pie she had last summer in Lancaster, Pa. This reminded me of what my mother used to do with left-over strawberries after the meal was finished. She dumped them into a stewpan, possibly adding a bit more water and when they came to a boil, she thickened them with a little cornstarch and water and cooked, stirring, until the cornstarch cleared. Sometimes she put this into a baked pie crust and sometimes we ate it in custard cups, always with whipped cream. She called it Strawberry Mash. That sounds so good, I think I'll get out some frozen strawberries and make some right now.

1977 All-America Flower Selections

Four handsome new flower hybrids will be available to home gardeners for the first time this spring, according to University of Delaware extension garden specialist Dave Tatnall. Top scorers in trials across the U.S. and Canada, the 1977 All-America flower selections include a distinctive carnation-flowered marigold, a vigorous hedge-type marigold, a double-flowered petunia and a showy geranium that is easily grown from seed.

'Primrose Lady,' the carnation-flowered marigold just released, is a creamy, primrose-yellow flower in the "First Lady" class. The plant grows to a height of 20 inches and produces blooms up to three and one-half inches in diameter. It shows good weather tolerance and will resist breaking apart in blustery weather when blossoms and foliage are heavy with rain. The plant is strong-stemmed, bushy and needs no staking.

Outdoors, 'Primrose Lady' blooms in July, well ahead of most marigold hybrids of the erect, large-flowered type. Blooming continues until frost. Developers of the hybrid also recommend its use as an indoor pot plant. For mid-March bloom, sow seeds in early November and give 60 degree night temperatures. When winter-planted, 'Primrose Lady' will flower at about six-inch height, with the large blossoms in striking contrast to the squat plants.

The second marigold among this year's All-America winners is 'Yellow Galore'—a sparkling yellow, hedge-type plant. Grown en masse, its buttery-yellow color and lush green leaves are especially striking in low background plantings. Tatnall says the plant is also recommended for use in formal landscaping and containers.

The stocky mature plants of 'Yellow Galore' reach a height of 14 to 18 inches and are characterized by masses of four and one-half inch double flowers, which bloom only 70-80 days after seed is sown. Peak bloom occurs about four weeks after the first flower appears and lasts for over a month. Because of the self-cleaning nature of this vigorous hybrid, the plants are constantly covered with a solid mass of fresh blooms. Unlike some varieties, 'Yellow Galore' will not "burn out" before the end of the season but will continue to grow and bloom until killed by frost. The plant is also resistant to some disease-bearing insects.

A double-flowered petunia with a soft, salmon pink color, 'Blushing Maid,' also makes its appearance this year. This hybrid adds an entirely new color and ornate flower configuration to the "Grandiflora" class of petunias. Layers of moderately fringed petals unfold from plump, crinkled buds to form three to three and one-half inch blossoms.

'Blushing Maid' begins to branch and flower while plants are quite small and continues to grow all summer. Plants, which are somewhat smaller than standard varieties, reach about 10 inches in height and spread to 16 inches at maturity.

The fourth of this year's selections is 'Showgirl,' one of the new generation of geraniums that grow quickly and easily from seeds. 'Showgirl' is more compact and about six inches shorter than other seed-grown rose pink geraniums. It also flowers two to three weeks earlier than competitive varieties. The plants branch heavily from the base to produce dense growth and numerous ball-like flower heads. While the bright rose pink blossoms are not quite as large as tall geraniums grown for cut flowers, the early, heavy and prolonged flower production of this hybrid guarantees more color per square foot in the garden. Plants continue to grow as they blossom, reaching about 18 inches at maturity.

Tatnall says both seed packets and plants of all four new flower selections should be available this spring.

Woodbridge Wrestlers Defeat Lake Forest 33-23

by Ray Blanchette
In a mild surprise last Saturday the Woodbridge High Raiders wrestling team defeated Lake Forest 33-23.

The Raiders were 3-7 entering the match while the Spartans were 3-6-1. The Spartans took a quick lead as Lane Lapinsky won by forfeit at 98 pounds. The lead was short lived as undefeated Alonzo Frisby and Landy Correll both captured quick first period pin wins to put the Raiders up 12-6.

Lake Forest once again took the lead back as Jamie Simpson won a 24-4 decision worth five team points and Dennis Wheeler also won by decision giving the Spartans a 14-12 lead. The Spartans stretched that lead to 20-12 as senior co-captain John Moffett gained a pin.

Woodbridge didn't take long to erase that margin and put themselves in command as they captured five of the last six bouts including the last four straight. Of those five victories only one came by way of pin, that being senior heavyweight G. L. Jefferson. Louis Hendricks was the lone winner for Lake Forest.

Both squads have one match left on the year before next weekend's Henlopen Conference Wrestling tournament to be held at Caesar Rodney High School.

Several wrestlers for both squads have a chance to finish in the top three of their respective weight classes and therefore advance to the State Tournament to be held the following weekend.

Probably the surest bet for either of the two teams is 107 pound Woodbridge senior Frisby. Frisby, as last season, is undefeated on the year in dual matches and was also a winner at two tournaments before the season began.

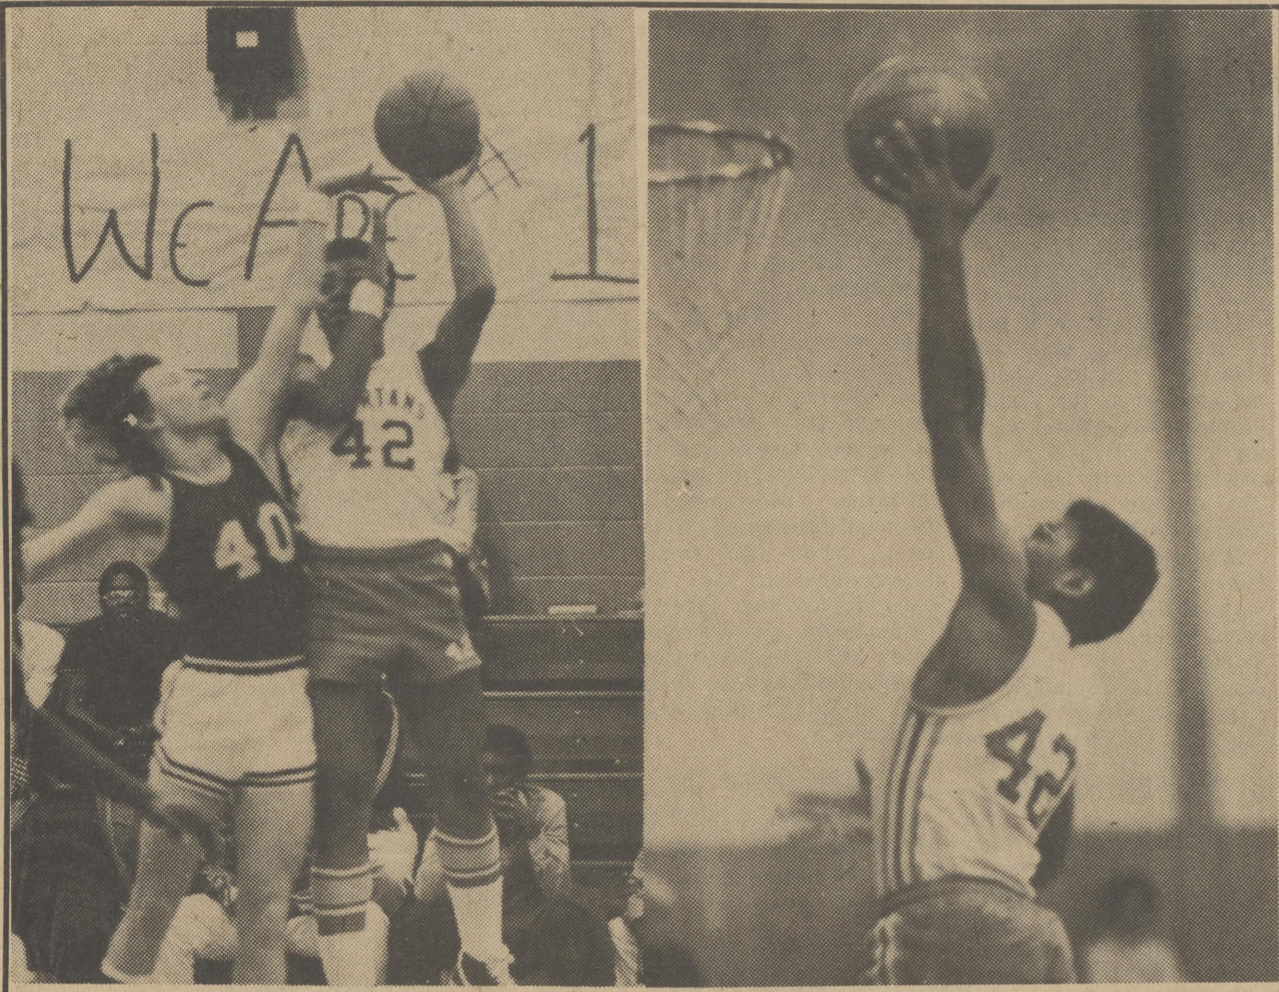

Last season he was also a favorite in his class going into the conference tournament but was upset twice and finished a disappointing fourth. As a senior this will be Frisby's last chance to win a championship in high school.

Other strong bets for the Raiders to finish in the top three are Landy Correll (112), Tom Jefferson (155), Rocky Flem (167), and G. L. Jefferson (hwy).

The Spartans' best hope for a championship lies in senior co-captain Moffett. Moffett has lost just one match this season, his opening bout against Caesar Rodney senior Kevin Hauer.

At the beginning of the season Moffett was wrestling at 138 but following his fourth place finish in the Milford Invitational, Moffett decided to drop down one weight class to 132. He is probably the most improved wrestler on the team this season following a disappointing year last season.

It wasn't even close when the Spartans took on Caesar Rodney last Friday as the final score was 88-25. The Spartan bench played a big part in the win as Phillip Bowers scores two of his baskets.

Spartans Win Final Home Game 88-25

Coach Buck Starkey's Spartans played a thrilling game while walking over Caesar Rodney 88-25 for their last home game of the season.

Although the game was never very close, the Spartans played hard constantly, never letting up for a second. It paid off too. With two final baskets, the first by Ron Shockley and the second by Jack Coker, the Spartans set a new high game of 88 over their previous high of 85 against Indian River. Lake Forest also set their best defensive record, allowing Caesar Rodney only 25 points.

Sam Carey also added a little spark to the crowd during the third quarter as the excitement of winning was wearing off. Stealing the ball from a Caesar Rodney player, Carey moved under the basket and scored his first dunk, which brought the crowd, cheering, to its feet.

The Spartans started off strong with a 23 point first quarter while allowing Caesar Rodney six points. From here, quarter by quarter, the Spartans simply enlarged upon their comfortable lead. CR played a hard game but to no avail.

Bill Johnson led the offense with 18 points followed by Jerry Curtis with 15, Sam Carey 12, and Jack Coker 10.

Several days earlier at Woodbridge, the Spartans staged another victory. Again, Lake Forest jumped to an early lead, 17-9 at the first quarter, and continued to build on it. At the end of the third quarter the Spartans led 60-24. Until this point, Lake Forest had not allowed Woodbridge more than nine points a quarter, but the Spartans slacked up and allowed them 21 points to their own 24. Final score was 84-45.

Bill Johnson was the game's high scorer with 20 points. Sam Carey and Jack Coker followed with 13 and 12 points, respectively.

Woodbridge Girls To Meet Indian River

It's showdown time for the Woodbridge Raiders girls' basketball team as they meet Indian River this Friday.

The Raiders are leading the Southern Division of the Henlopen Conference with a 9-1 record while Indian River is right on their tails with a 9-2 record.

The two teams met last week in a non-conference game with the Indians winning by a narrow four point margin.

In the past week the Raiders kept on winning as they defeated Dover 59-22, Lois Sampson and Alena Conway combined for 31 points with Sampson scoring 19. Woodbridge wasted no time in getting the lead as they jumped out to an 11-3 lead at the end of one quarter and 24-10 at the end of the half. They then outscored the Senators 35-12 in the second half to assure themselves of their ninth victory.

Last season it was Indian River who killed the Raiders' hopes of going to the State Tournament as they defeated them in a playoff for the final tournament berth. The Conference championship game will be played on Monday with either Indian River or Woodbridge playing Seaford or Milford.

Right now Seaford is in the lead with a 9-1 record while Milford is 8-2. Milford was the conference champion last season as they defeated Lake Forest in the title game.

Wesley Sophomore Sets Scoring Pace

DOVER. Wesley College sophomore Beverly Mack, a 6-1 former Lake Forest all-around athlete, is setting a torrid scoring pace as one of the mainstays on this year's Wesley women's basketball team which currently has a 11-1 record and is rated as one of the top teams for Region XIX Junior College honors this year. Last year with a 15-2 record the Wesley five went to the final game of the Region tourney before being eliminated 60-55.

Last year as a freshman Mack was the offensive leader in the First State Conference and Region XIX with an impressive 25.4 average. She gained All-Conference and All-Region berths.

The former Lake Forest standout gives all indications of bettering last year's performance. She has already sewed up the First State Conference scoring honors. She has a 29.1 average at the present time with a record single high game of 41. Lacking only 242 points, she has the potential of hitting 1,000 points in her two-year Junior College career.

Winning scoring titles is nothing new for the Wesley sophomore. At Lake Forest she was the leader in the Henlopen Conference in her Junior year with a 21.0 average and in her Senior year with 20.0. She is very effective under the boards and can hit from anywhere around the key.

Wesley coach Joyce Starkey feels she has the potential to continue her scoring pace at a four year school after leaving Wesley this year.

"Offensively Bev (Mack) has been the spark of our team," said Starkey, "and she plays well under pressure as was demonstrated in the Stanton game when she converted two foul shots with 3 seconds left to break a 68-68 tie and give Wesley a come-from-behind victory. She has good size and is strong and uses these attributes to good advantage. She needs to improve on defense but is showing much progress and I feel she would be a worthwhile addition to any four-year college."

Mack is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Mack, RD #3, Box 27, Felton, DE. Physical education is her field of study at Wesley College.

Field Crop Meeting Set For Feb. 22

Will there be a wheat and barley crop this spring? Can Mexican bean beetles be tricked into feeding on only a Trap Crop? These questions and many others will be answered on February 22 at the University of Delaware Substation. The field crop meeting will begin at 9 a.m. and will conclude about 3:15 p.m. There is time for open discussion to answer questions on new herbicides, new cultural practices or any other question that you might have. Dr. Bill Mitchell, Extension Agronomist, will discuss post emergence weed control in soybeans. He will also discuss the use of planter fertilizers, as well as crop rotations and nitrogen sources. Tom Williams, Extension Ag Engineer, will look into the future and explain what corn tillage systems he believes we should be using. Dave Woodward, Kent County Extension Agent, will discuss last year's results with dinoseb on corn. How to control insects and weed control in white wash or use white notil corn will be covered by Frank Webb, Extension Specialist Agronomy. Lunch will be available at the Substation for $2.00. The field crop meeting is a good place to get your soybean and corn production problems solved.

Pruning fruit trees is usually done between Thanksgiving and early spring. Because of the very cold weather there is the possibility of bud kill. Fruit trees, especially peaches, should probably be pruned at bloom when these conditions exist. At this stage you will know how much winter damage has been done. Winter injury is one major reason the peach trees are short lived. If you can see and weed control in latex on your trees every fall you may be able to increase the life of your trees.

The Green Thumb

After a long and dreary winter, spring is a welcome sight. You can bring spring into your home right now. Those brown stems on your Forsythia and other spring flowering shrubs will burst into bloom if you bring them inside.

The flowering plants have had their cold requirements satisfied and should burst into full bloom in a short time. The stems of many types of flowering shrubs and trees may be used for beautiful winter arrangements.

Do not be afraid that you will damage your shrubs by the removal of such stems. The cutting of branches from vigorous shrubs is a beneficial part of the pruning operation. However, pruning should be done when the temperatures are above freezing. This will help to renew the growth, and keep the bush in a low, well proportioned form.

When cutting stems for indoor use, select those with well-spaced side branches. Make a slanting cut at the base and place the stem in a container of cool, fresh water. Remove the buds and leaves from the basal part which will be under the water. Place the dormant branches in a warm, well-lighted room until the flowers appear.

You need open, spreading type growth to give good stems for arrangements. Therefore, the best branches will be secured from shrubs at the edge of the open lawn area, or in a wide mixed border planting. Shrubs in the foundation planting around the house which are usually quite heavily pruned, will not provide attractive, well-shaped branches.

Many types of flowering shrubs and trees will add interest and beauty to your landscape and supply branches for decorative use. If you don't have them already, plant some of the following kinds this spring:

Forsythia is one of the most popular spring flowering shrubs with gay yellow flowers which appear before the foliage.

Fragrant Viburnum is a tall, erect shrub which has fragrant pink to white flowers in late March.

Japanese Andromeda is a tall compact, bushy evergreen shrub with white, urn-shaped flowers in sprays like lily-of-the-valley in late April.

Pussy Willow has large silky gray buds which add unique interest to early spring flower arrangements.

Fruit trees of many types will provide branches for early spring forcing. The flowers of cherry, pear and plum are white. Apple and peach flowers have attractive pink tones.

Native red maple produces interesting stem forms when the small flowers develop and the young leaves first appear. For really gay arrangements try some of these branches during the drab days of late winter and early spring.

In the language of flowers a petunia means, "Your presence soothes me."

During the past week several grass and brush fires like the one above have been reported throughout Kent and Sussex County. The one above was caused by open burning. Members of the Harrington Volunteer Fire Co. responded to the blaze next to Gruwell's Greenhouses. Above Harrington Firemen Richard Shultie [with hose] and John Curtis hose down the area under the watchful eye of assistant chief Robert Taylor. The Chief of the Harrington Volunteer Fire Dept. Along with the State Fire Marshall's office would like to warn people to be careful when burning. Although there is no burning ban at the present time open burning should be avoided if possible or extreme caution should be used.

Winter Is For Children

The capacity to enjoy blizzards and icicles decreases rapidly with age.

Children clearly have the advantage this winter. While we grown-up types try to get our cars started, the youngsters bombard them with snowballs. While Dad grumps off to another workday in a cold office, Junior is ecstatic over the fifth school cancellation. While parents shiver and turn blue, children romp rosy-cheeked in the snow like happy polar bears.

Children seem to stay warmer than we do, partly because of their constant activity. But it's important that they dress properly for wintertime play out of doors. Otherwise they can be subject to chilling, frostbite, and even overheating.

Extension clothing specialists at the University of Delaware remind us that hands, feet, arms and legs act as radiators. Keep them warm, and the rest of you will stay warmer. If your youngster wants to go out with a bare head, bare your fangs, Mother, and say no. Nothing chills a body faster than a bare head. In fact, almost 90 percent of the body's heat loss is from the head.

For a youngster, "boots" is the most hated word in the dictionary. But wearing warm, water-repellent footwear is a must. Damp, cold feet can quickly chill the rest of the body. So, if necessary, lock up the sneakers in the trunk of the car and wear the key around your neck at all times.

Layered clothing (including layered socks) is as sensible for children as for adults. What retains body heat is layers of clothing that trap heat in the air space between layers. However, mothers who act on the theory that if two layers are good, four are better, have a surprise—and maybe a cold-coming. Overheating may set in, the body thermostat may run haywire, and—goodness!—Junior may miss a week of school.

The layered look can cause other problems for mothers of little ones. Very small children have trouble with all those stubborn zippers, buckles, and buttons. It can take half an hour to dress them. I remember spending one frantic winter getting a pre-schooler dressed and outside every morning, only to have him reappear five minutes later needing to go to the gentlemen's room. I dared not take half an hour to undress him.

A Public Service of the newspaper & the Advertising Council

The rampaging typhoon that smashed Guam on May 22, 1976 isn't on the front pages anymore. But it will be a long time before the people of Guam forget it. And it will be a long time before Red Cross forgets it. Because we were there, too.

Believe it or not, Guam was only one of 30,000 disasters in the last 12 months where we were called on for major help.

Which is the reason our disaster funds are disappointingly low. And an important reason why we need your continued support. Help us. Because the things we do really help. In your own neighborhood. And across America. And the world.

Guam counted on us.

We're counting on you.

Red Cross. The Good Neighbor.
