High Bids Force Cuts

Lake Forest Board Trims Addition

FELTON. The Lake Forest Board of Education took a closer look at its proposed $1.5 million building addition plans last Thursday night. The action was prompted by the results of submitted bids, all of which amounted to $1.59 million. All bids have been rejected and will have to be submitted again.

According to Melvin Luff, of the Lake Forest District Office, a district committee had initially planned to expend $1.3 million in actual building. The remaining $200,000 was to have been expended for furnishing and equipping the new area, and to total the $1.5 million voted on during referendum, which passed in every area of the school district in November, 1975.

Since the bids totaled more than the entire monies that will be available in taxable revenue, the School Board and architects Buchart Associates of Lancaster, Pa., sat down to reclassify priorities.

The original work was to have called for a 1,200-seat auditorium, which included several instructional areas, eight new classrooms, an expanded gymnasium, a science laboratory and an industrial arts shop, all to be constructed at Lake Forest High School. At Lake Forest North Elementary, an expanded cafeteria has been planned.

Although the new bids will essentially be considering the same general items, Luff said the industrial arts shop and science laboratory will have to be figured as alternates, with the other items being considered essentials. By shifting these areas to alternates, $112,000 of the monies have been relocated. Some of the furnishings and equipment for these areas were also deleted.

In all, approximately $187,000 was trimmed from the original plan. Of this amount, over $25,000 will be cut from the proposed auditorium, the only one to exist in the Lake Forest School District.

Luff said lowering the ceiling several feet and painting it black, as well as eliminating a cat walk to get to stage lighting and a stairs will be a substantial savings. The new ceiling will eliminate two proposed sprinkler systems, only one of which will be required with a lowered ceiling.

Also trimmed from the auditorium was the proposed double coil wall, which would have nearly sound-proofed the individual instructional areas. Now there will be a single coil wall in the area. These specialized movable walls are estimated at $12,000. (Continued to page 4).

Four File At Houston

HOUSTON. Four filed for three seats on the Houston Town Council. Of these, only George Marvel is an incumbent. Throwing their hats into the ring are Connie Morgan, Edwin Walls, and Ted Yerkes.

The town's election is set for March 26 and an announcement regarding the election is expected to be read during Thursday night's meeting. The town had consulted its legal firm, Ridgely and Ridgely about areas of its charter dealing with elections and anticipates hearing a final decision at Thursday's meeting.

Up In Smoke

This barn fire, on the Amos Brown property, on the Whitleysburg road, caused Harrington Volunteer Fire department members to battle the blaze for over two hours. The cause of the blaze is currently under investigation by the State Fire Marshall's Office. (Staff photo by Ray Blanchette).

Woodbridge Calls For Music Upgrading

BRIDGEVILLE. The Woodbridge School Board heard James Johnston, Woodbridge High School principal, last Wednesday night discuss the need for a reading program in the district's high school. Johnston said the school has enough students reading below level to require a specialist in the area. Board member William Tull called for a specific number of students who are in need of the proposed specialist.

Richard Milne, music director of the high school spoke to the board about what seemed to be a lack of proper funding for the district's music program. Last year the high school band was budgeted $358, while North Bridgeville, for example, received $290. The monies were used to purchase text books and related materials.

Dr. Beckert, board president stated he felt the program needed upgrading, including a bigger and more complete budget for the band.

A possible coaching dilemma was also touched upon during the board meeting. It has been discovered there is no one available to coach the junior high school softball team this spring. According to calculations at this time, there may also be no one to coach the high school's football team next fall. No decision was reached on the matter.

Karen Minner, a Harringtonian, and teacher at Woodbridge High School, reported to the board she and her students had raised all but $300 of the required $1260 needed to send her Office Education Association students to the state's convention later this month. The group had sold numerous items, from candy to sponges. The School Board voted to make up the remaining $300 to send the entire group to the meeting that will be held at the Sheraton Inn March 17 and 18.

Town Election Is Monday

Two File For Felton Council

FELTON. Two openings are available for the Felton Town Council and two candidates have filed.

Trying for a second time is housewife Mary Stumpf, 32. Mrs. Stumpf is a Delaware native, growing up in the Petersburg area. She has worked for the State of Delaware for 12 years and is working on an associate degree in data processing from Wesley College.

Mary Stumpf

"If I'm elected, I'll be the first woman ever in history to sit on council", said Mrs. Stumpf.

Although she has no specific platform, she cited the town's sewer system as the "...big thing coming up."

She is married to Walter Stumpf and the couple has one son, Scott, age 4.

Fred Caspar, a 38 year-old Felton native, also filed for council.

The father of three children aged 14, 12 and 10, he says he too has no specific platform but that he was "interested in seeing things head in proper directions."

Both candidates have never held office before and both say they have been encouraged by members and the community to run for the council.

Election date for the town is Monday, March 7.

JAYCEES Gear Up For Prayer Breakfast, Softball

Along with the annual Jaycee Mayor's Prayer Breakfast which is to be held this Sunday, the Harrington Jaycees are busily preparing for several other projects.

The breakfast will get underway at 7:00 a.m. Sunday morning, at the Harrington Fire Hall and will feature guest speaker Ed Bennett. Mr. Bennett is the 32nd District Representative, having been elected to that post this past year. He replaces Jim McGinnis, who is now the lieutenant governor. He will speak on the topic of "Young Men's Involvement in Government."

Breakfast will be served by the Harrington Volunteer Fire Co's Ladies Auxiliary and tickets may be obtained for $3.00 from any Jaycee member or at Taylor's Hardware Store. All interested women are also invited to attend.

The Jaycees are also currently in the process of having a membership drive in hopes of getting new ideas and people to stimulate the group. Last Friday Jaycee National Vice-President George Connolly along with John Bartsh, Capital District Director, visited several of the area's businesses in hopes of gaining the support of several employers, and also gaining several new members.

The group is holding a special meeting next Thursday night at 8 p.m. for the purpose of talking with prospective new members. Everyone eligible who wishes to attend the Jaycees meeting is encouraged to do so.

It was also announced Monday night that the organization's bid had been accepted to host the annual Jaycee state softball tournament. The tournament will be held the first and second weekends in August at W.T. Chipman Junior High School.

The group also announced plans to once again participate in the Andrewville Softball league as they have done for the past few years.

State Board Nixes Felton Request

DOVER. The State Board of Education has ruled against the request of eight students of Lake Forest North Elementary, whose parents had requested transportation along Road 245 at state expense.

The ruling was recommended by the Hazards Committee, who noted the route has sidewalks, improved shoulders, or grass walkways where the questioned route exists.

The students live within the walking distance requirement of the state.

The Hazards Committee is composed of state police, Delaware Safety Council, crossing guards, Division of Highways and local school district representatives.

The decision was acted upon during the board's monthly meeting.

Night Prowlers Beware

A person or persons slashed one of William C. Brannock's car tires Friday night. The work apparently was done by knife. The half inch puncture was done to a car parked in front of Brannock's residence. Police are investigating the incident as well as several similar incidents in the community.

In conjunction with this incident, Chief Ed Layton warned residents there is a night prowling ordinance and any person regardless of age who is found upon the streets of Harrington after midnight without lawful business on the streets, whether walking or riding in a vehicle will be stopped and are subject to arrest for night prowling.

The fine for night prowling ranges from $1 to $100 and up to 30 days in jail.

Layton said the ordinance is enforced and the department has made several arrests under the ordinance, although not recently.

The Hearing No One Heard

HARRINGTON. The City of Harrington has held two public hearings this month, both regarding revenue sharing.

The first, according to City Manager Dave Peterson, was to allow interested groups to apply for a share of the city's revenue sharing during the next fiscal year. He stated no one had applied.

No one attended the public hearing Monday either, which was a general one, for those interested in getting answers to questions about revenue sharing and its role in relation to and separate from the city's entire budget.

Peterson said the amount the city receives is determined by numerous factors computed and compiled federally. The City has received $52,181 annually, according to Peterson since inception of the revenue sharing program.

The budget breakdown of the revenue sharing is: $15,000 for payment of electric street lights; $24,000 for payment of electric at the water and sewer plants; $7,500 for police vehicle repairs and gas; $5,000 for a proposed new police car and $1,681 on reserve for emergency.

The city's fiscal year ends September 30.

Police Beat

i.d. note: Due to the Monday closing of City Hall last week, two weeks' worth of police reports in this article.

On February 14 the Division of Soil and Water Conservation reported the theft of a spare tire and a set of West Coast chrome mirrors taken from a vehicle parked in the garage behind the department's office on Commerce Street. The items stolen are valued at $130. Police are investigating.

On February 15, a complaint was received from Quillen's Market of theft under false pretenses. A person had entered the store, presented a note supposedly from someone asking for a $15 loan. The note was later discovered to be false, and a warrant was issued for the arrest of William Pitts, 24, of Harrington.

On February 17 reports were received of three separate thefts from trucks awaiting unloading at the Burris Plant. Items stolen included: 14 cases of frozen cheese pizzas valued at $108.50; nine cases of crinkle cut french fries valued at $60.57 and six cases of frozen orange juice valued at $7.2.

The items were taken from three separate trucks, all of which had the door seals broken. The case is under investigation, and police report there are several leads.

On February 22, Harrington Police were contacted by Magistrate Court 7 who advised the local force they were having trial scheduled for James E. Russell, 34, of Clayton. Harrington police had warrants for Russell for three worthless checks, all written to Food Rite. Russell was turned over to the Harrington force, where he was taken to Court 6, entered a plea to the charges and was sentenced to 30 days for each check, and ordered to make restitution, for $304.

On February 25, a complaint was filed by Earl Quillen for the same person, for three checks, valued at $10. Warrants were signed for Russell by Donald Wilson, representing Quillen's Market. Russell will be returned from prison at Smyrna upon release to answer to the additional charges. It is expected he will receive similar sentencing.

On February 22 during a state police traffic stop, it was learned a person had been stopped who was wanted also for writing worthless checks. Thomas W. Derrickson was wanted to answer warrants signed by Food Rite and Harrington Pharmacy. Derrickson was arraigned at Court 6 where trial was scheduled for March 4.

From The Frying Pan

How to stretch a buck...or when will the sales tax start? Both could easily be titles for blues songs from the Delaware Governor Pete duPont and or the legislature. The public will also be singing right along, all sharing the community crying towel.

We will have to pay our bills, one way or another. The question is, and will have to be answered very soon, how?

From "off the record" conversations with several lawmakers, it appears the all for one, one for all approach (sales tax) may be the direction to which the deficit will be pointed for curing. The only problem with a sales tax is one of escalation. Once it starts, that's it, it continues to grow.

Every time we turn around, we hear different groups saying they need this or another needs that. Now, if all facets of the services offered by the state continue, they will have to be paid for.

We have to wonder however, if there is not duplication that could be done away with to save some money. If not duplication, could there be services moderated in a way to produce much the same effect, but at a lower price to the taxpayer?

It behooves the legislature to take a long, hard, serious look at the gross deficit and how it can sensibly take measures to correct it.

If we do have to go to the sales tax, get ready, because once it gets a foot in the door, that is the beginning only.

The gym storage room and office have been deleted which were estimated at $23,000 and a team room, which was estimated at $18,000. According to Luff, the proposed public works project that will construct an athletic complex at the high school would duplicate some of the items the district had thought about adding in its building program. He says the district hopes to utilize the facilities at the project which would have duplicated the items trimmed from the gym area last Thursday night.

By changing the area in the main lobby of the new gymnasium area from brick walls to glazed block, the district will also find their plans closer in line with biddable figures. The addition at Lake Forest North Elementary was unchanged.

Senior Citizens May Have Tax Break

Certain taxpayers 65 years of age and older can take advantage of a new, more liberal, tax credit to reduce taxes on their 1976 tax returns, the Internal Revenue Service said. This new tax break, retroactive to January 1, 1976, is a credit based on all types of income. For many taxpayers, the new credit can reduce taxes by a larger amount than a previous retirement income credit, because the old one was figured only on retirement income such as pensions and annuities. The new credit, however, also applies to earned income such as salaries and other pay, the IRS said.

In addition to being at least 65 or older to be eligible for the credit, individuals must be U.S. citizens or residents, and have income. Also, there are special rules for persons receiving public retirement income even though they are under 65.

Single persons and married persons filing joint returns (and only one spouse is 65 or older), are entitled to a credit of 15 percent of up to $2,500, to a maximum of $375, the IRS said.

up to $3,750 - to a maximum of $563 for a husband and wife who each meet the age requirement and file a joint return.

The amount on which the credit is figured is reduced by Social Security and Railroad Retirement benefits dollar for dollar. Thus, a couple receiving $2,500 in Social Security benefits can only figure their credit on 15 percent of $1,250 ($3,750 minus $2,500).

Another limitation on the credit is the ceiling for total income - $7,500 for single persons, and $10,000 for a couple, the IRS pointed out. When income is above the ceiling, the amount on which the credit is figured is reduced by $1.00 for every $2.00 above the limit.

For example, if a couple had income totalling $11,000, their maximum credit would be 15 percent of $3,250. First, the $10,000 income ceiling would be subtracted from the $11,000 income received, giving $1,000. Half of the $1,000, or $500, would then be subtracted from $3,250, to leave the $3,250 on which the 15 percent credit is figured, the IRS said.

Letter To The Editor

Letter to the Editor:
Several Avon orders were stolen from my car over the weekend. If your child or teenager took them I would appreciate it if they are returned to me and I promise not to do or say anything about it.

However if you know about this and don't make the child return the merchandise, you as a parent could encourage your child with your approval to continue to steal or do even worse; but if you are an adult, I suggest if you want Avon you contact a representative and buy it - what happened to me would be the same as someone taking your paycheck since I must pay the company for what was taken.

Weekly Report

by Senator Joe Biden

This week I announced that I intend to co-sponsor the Financial Privacy Act of 1977. This Act will ensure that the disclosure by financial institutions of the details of their customer's bank accounts to government officials and agencies will be governed by procedural safeguards.

This bill will set out the basic requirements that must be met before federal, state, and local government officials can have access to the records of customers of financial institutions.

As we all know, an individual's bank account can be rich in details of his or her personal life. The information revealed by checks, withdrawals, or deposits is evidence of groups he joins, political causes he espouses, the publications to which he subscribes, charities he contributes to, the debts he owes, the purchases he makes, the sources of his income, his personal relationships, and many other details of his private life. This same information can be just as revealing if the account holder is a political, social, charitable, or religious organization.

At the present time bank customers do not generally know that their banking records are being inspected by government officials until long afterwards. In some cases, the customers never find out at all. The constitutional rights are not even considered when this sensitive information is disclosed to the government.

This bill will require that notice be given to the bank customer of the government's wish for access to his or her records. The customer will then have the opportunity to assert his procedural rights to oppose disclosure. The customer will have the same rights, no more or no less, than he would have if the records were in his personal possession.

Weekly Report

By Tom Evans

This week I introduced legislation to provide for an annual 6/23% increase in Social Security benefits for those persons between the ages of 65 and 72 who voluntarily choose to delay their retirement. The legislation would give individuals who are not forced into retirement at the age of 65 the ability to continue work without being penalized in their Social Security benefits.

As it stands now, individuals are literally forced into retirement in order to receive the maximum benefits from Social Security, regardless of whether that man or woman desires to or is capable of continuing work.

This bill would increase benefits at the same rate as the Social Security benefits are decreased for those who elect to take an early retirement. The bill does not effect the current law regarding early retirement or retirement on schedule at age 65. It does, however, remove barriers which now exist against those who wish to remain on the job.

Open Letter To Chipman Parents

Dear Parents,

On our last in-service day, when your boys and girls were at home and the teachers were in school, a lot of hard work was done. Examination of Chipman achievement scores in last year's Delaware Assessment Tests was carried out by participation of the total faculty. Strategies for improvement in areas of poor performance were planned. Means of reinforcing certain learning by cooperation among departments were explored. You would have been pleased by the concern expressed and the effort made to provide more effective learning experiences for Chipman students.

The high school counselors are to meet with our eighth grade classes on March 7th and 8th. At that time they will bring the materials our eighth grade students need to become familiar with before they choose their high school program. Mr. Grimm told me that the High School Open House for eighth grade parents is scheduled to take place on the evening of Tuesday, March 15th.

Again I extend an invitation to you to meet with me to discuss your child's Differential Aptitude Test scores. While these scores do not provide all the answers, they should be taken into consideration before ninth grade course selections are made.

For various reasons a few students are still requesting schedule changes. Teachers are assuring me that it is far too late to make such changes. The student's chances of success seem to be greatest if he or she stays in the present placement and tries new or improved study techniques. Some students have asked me to help them to devise plans for improving their grades.

Correction

In last week's Lake Forest School Board meeting report it was stated Mary Celine Phillips would become the principal at Lake Forest South. The new principal's correct name is Mary Celine Gilbert. We regret the error.

This I am always glad to do. It is my opinion that every opportunity a young person has in which he finds a way to help himself (or herself) adds to his confidence and promotes a healthy sense of responsibility and independence. Home and school should provide many such opportunities. Sincerely, Sarah S. Webb Counselor

Days Of Our Years

Ten Years Ago

Fri., March 3, 1967
Cold weather and cold winds have not deterred the blooming of bulbous plants. City Clerk Kathryn Derrickson reports her hyacinths in bloom, and adds she has seen crocus and candytuft blooming on Weiner Avenue.

The Wonder R, long-established Harrington restaurant and package store, was destroyed by a fire early Sunday morning. Seven fire companies battled the blaze in subzero temperatures and a raging wind. Cause of the holocaust has not been ascertained. Damages were estimated between $50,000 and $70,000, although they are not final figures. The business was being run by owner, Joseph Mooney, who purchased the business last year from Mr. and Mrs. Henry Bullock. Mooney said he plans to rebuild.

Loren Booker Harrington, president of The First National Bank of Harrington, was taken to Milford Memorial Hospital early Saturday evening. His ailment was termed infirmities of age. As of Wednesday evening, he was improving.

Leon Porter of Harrington, has accepted chairmanship of the 1967 Easter seal campaign. William A. Kohel, commander of Callaway-Kemp-Raughley-Tea Post No. 7, American Legion, presented a certificate to Chief of Police Franklin Rogers for his part in the maintenance of law and order in the past. The commander said Rogers "...couldn't be beat for a small town."

Mrs. Reginald McKnatt is in Milford Memorial Hospital under observation.

When David had open heart surgery not long ago, he needed six vital units of blood, type O Neg. All of it was obtained, processed and provided by the Red Cross blood center.

We're not the heroes of this lifesaving story (the six wonderful blood donors should get the medals). But we (and other voluntary blood centers) do need your continued support. Blood, you know, doesn't grow on trees. It comes from donors. Like you. And we need more people like you. Call your Red Cross or other voluntary blood center soon. Please.

Thoughts..

From Senator Roth

Last week the United States Commission on Civil Rights issued a report on Metropolitan School Desegregation.

As many of you know, I differed sharply with the report's conclusion that "A metropolitan school desegregation remedy is required under the Constitution and applicable Supreme Court decisions." The report states, in support of this conclusion, that "one of the principle obstacles to a sensible and effective remedy is the negative climate that has been fostered by the statements and actions of some of our political leaders. A few years ago Congress took the first step toward fostering cooperative efforts to desegregate public schools in metropolitan areas. Unfortunately, this fine beginning has been obliterated by the wave of negativism of recent years."

To describe legitimate dissent as fostering a "negative climate," as this report does, is contrary to the great principles that have made and kept our country great. We in the Congress, as elected representatives of the people, have a duty to uphold the Constitution and to speak out on what we believe are the people's legitimate concerns.

I recognize that the U.S. Civil Rights Commission is concerned with the advancing of rights of minorities and women. But in this report it has gone beyond the bounds of good advocacy by its unobjective and biased tone and prejudice of the facts.

Our Constitution guarantees freedom for individuals to live where they wish, move where they wish and to associate with whom they wish. It does not require that ethnic or racial communities be destroyed; only that no individual be confined to them by law.

Career Corner

by Buck Thompson

Are you likely to get caught if you fib about your background when you apply for a job? A surprising number of employers rely on the applicant's truthfulness without checking the person out. But - and it's a big but - the vast majority of firms recently surveyed by the Bureau of National Affairs, Inc. say you'll be bounced if your lying is discovered.

From the Bureau's new study on employee hiring practices for nonmanagement personnel, these interesting highlights:

Nearly half of responding firms do not verify educational records. Many employers do so only when the applicant is a recent grad with scant work history.

Nearly all firms verify employment records, but only about one-third follow up on personal references. Nearly two out of ten employers ask about and investigate prior police records.

Only 4% give polygraph (lie detector) tests to applicants, but 75% require physical exams.

Over 90% say the job interview is the most important - or of equal weight with test results and other hiring techniques - when deciding whom to hire. Only 8% view the interview only as a final check to verify data from other sources.

The final decision to hire is made by personnel department people in just 19% of surveyed companies - often when factory workers are needed. Otherwise, the hiring decision is made by the immediate supervisor, and somewhat less often by the department head. (Tip: You may have to go through the personnel department, but try to work your way to the person who actually makes the hiring decision.)

Starting March 29, 1977, using your telephone book could mean avoiding Directory Assistance charges.

Most calls to Directory Assistance are for numbers already in the directory. These calls for Delaware numbers are rapidly increasing, and so are our costs. It's only fair that the small number of people who make most of these calls should pay for them. That's why, starting March 29, 1977, we'll begin charging for certain calls to Directory Assistance. But, at the same time, our cost savings will be passed along to you by reduction of your basic monthly telephone rates. As of March 29, we'll reduce basic telephone rates to Delaware customers by $700,000 in 1977.

What about numbers that aren't in the directory? That's what Directory Assistance is for. And you'll be able to make three dialed calls per line to Directory Assistance each billing period, and ask for two numbers each time you call, at no additional charge. Every call over three calls each billing period will result in a 20¢ per call charge on your telephone bill. (Calls placed to Directory Assistance with the help of the regular Operator will be billed at 40¢ per call, and are not included in the three call allowance). Business customers, please refer to your bill insert which explains the Directory Assistance Volume Control Plan.

Other calls to Directory Assistance which will not be billed:

- Calls to Directory Assistance for numbers outside Delaware. However, to avoid a charge, you must dial 1, plus the area code, plus 555-1212.
- Calls from coin telephones. (Consult the dialing instruction card).
- Calls from hotels, motels, and hospitals.
- Calls made by people who are handicapped in the use of their directories. Contact our Business Office for details.
- Calls for mobile or maritime services.
- Calls from interconnected lines of radio common carriers.

If you're a business customer, we've prepared a special bill insert for you. Business customers should be aware of the effect that the Directory Assistance Volume Control Plan could have on their business telephone bills, and should notify employees of the changes in Directory Assistance service. Business customers with Centrex service should pay particular attention to the bill insert.

If you're like most of our customers, you'll probably never see a Directory Assistance charge on your telephone bill, because most of the numbers you need are in your directory.

In addition, there are a few simple ways you can help reduce even further the need to call us for a number:

- Keep your directories near your phone to make it easier to use them. If you need additional directories, call our Business Office and ask for the directories for the Delaware communities you call frequently.
- Keep a personal list of new numbers as you learn them.
- If you move or have your number changed, notify your family and friends. It will help them reach you without having to call Directory Assistance.

Your number for Directory Assistance will change, too. If you must call Directory Assistance for numbers in Delaware, dial 1+ 555-1212 instead of 411. For numbers outside Delaware, dial 1, then the area code, then 555-1212.

If you have any questions, please feel free to call our Business Office.

Greg Rowe

Rowe, Bailey Are Impressive In Track

BRIDGEVILLE. Woodbridge High School went to, saw and conquered a tough spot in track competition recently when it landed a state shot put champ. To make matters worse for the competition, 16 year old Greg Rowe is only a tenth grader, with two more years ahead of him.

The 6'11" 200 pounder won his championship spot in an impressive 52-foot throw. The throw was made Thursday night, February 24 at the University of Delaware in state-wide competition. Rowe brought home the only state win for Woodbridge in the sport this year, having gone against nine competitors in the state.

Rowe's throw is a winter track record for Woodbridge High School, according to his coach, Bill Degnan.

The only other Raider in competition was Howard Bailey, also a sophomore. The 15 year-old placed seventh in the 60 yard high hurdles in a time of 8.3.

All Tied Up

Lapinsky, Frisby Capture State Championships

One of the biggest surprises of the State Wrestling Tournament held last Friday and Saturday at Cape Henlopen High School was Lane Lapinsky. Lapinsky a senior at Lake Forest easily won the State Title at 98 pounds. Above Lapinsky works on Phil Tissue of Newark in his finals match which he won 9-1. (Staff photo by Ray Blanchette).

Coach Gary Bottiger of Woodbridge High School wrestling team stated "I am a pessimist, I always expect the worst". However, what he and coach Dean Wern of Lake Forest got was the best, a state champion wrestler for each.

For Wern, first year head mentor for the Spartans, it was Lane Lapinsky who got him his first state championship as Lapinsky dominated every wrestler he faced in last weekend's state tournament.

For Bottiger it was Alonzo Frisby who captured the first state title for any Raider wrestler.

Lapinsky, a senior and the team's co-captain this year, capped off what began as a disappointing season for him, after having finished second in the conference and fourth in the state a year ago. Going into the season, Lapinsky was everybody's favorite to be the 98 pound champion. Disappointment started his season as he had to settle for third place in the Milford Invitational Tournament after an illegal body slam disqualified him in his semi-final match.

Also as the season began Lapinsky was fighting weight problems and in the team's first match of the season he had to settle for a tie against Caesar Rodney's Ed Roloff, a wrestler he would later gain revenge against. Entering the conference tournament at the end of the season, that one tie was not the only blemish of his record since he had suffered another tie and also one

In the conference tournament two weeks ago Lapinsky took second as he once again lost to Marshall, this time by the narrow margin of 2-1. But this second place finish advanced him to the state tournament where he wrestled as good as he ever has.

All weekend long only one wrestler even scored a point on Lapinsky. This came from Phil Tissue of Newark High, who scored on an escape right at the end of their match in the finals. But by that time it was too late as Lapinsky had already built up a 9-0 lead. Earlier in the tournament Lapinsky had defeated both Greg Thomas of Saint Marks (6-0) and Roloff of Caesar Rodney (8-0).

For Frisby the win was not much of a surprise but in the finals he had to face one of the hottest wrestlers in the state tournament, Rodder Purnell of Sussex Central. Purnell had earlier beaten a defending state champion in his opening match.

However, the Frisby-Purnell match was not all it was built up to be. It took Frisby only until the second period to put Purnell on his back and gain a pin victory.

Frisby, who, like Lapin-sky is a senior, went undefeated this season, 25-0, while capturing four titles. Besides winning the state crown at Cape Henlopen High School this past weekend this Raider also won the Milford Invitational, the J.M. Bennett invitational and the Henlopen Conference crown. Before the season began Frisby set the goals to be 25-0 and to win a State Championship. He did just that.

This season was a big loss, that coming at the hands of freshman sensation Marvin Marshall of Indian River.

difference for him as last year he was also favored to win the conference crown but suffered two straight losses in the tournament and failed to qualify for a state tournament spot. Frisby has only been wrestling for three years, lost only one dual match which coming from Sussex Central's Doug

Mays as a sophomore. Woodbridge's other wrestler in the tournament didn't fair near as well, as junior Rocky Flem was soundly defeated in each of his two matches. However, unlike Lapinsky and Frisby Flem is a junior and still has one more shot at winning a state title.

Woodbridge High School had their fair share of glory also in last weekend's tournament. Like Lake Forest they had one individual champion. For the Raiders it was 105 pounder Alonzo Frisby. Above Frisby gives his semi-final round opponent, Ray Roenne of Christiana, a lift in his 7-2 victory.

Mike Bensen shown running above in football action last fall has been selected to participate in this year's Blue-Gold All-Star Game. Bensen last season was 2nd team all conference, honorable mention all state and one of three Lake Forest boys to be named All-American.

Flattened Out

Frisby had to face one of the hottest wrestlers in the tournament in his finals match but he wasted no time in cooling off Sussex Central's Rodder Purnell with this second period pin.

Spartan Lapinsky dominated every wrestler he faced in last weekend's tournament and Caesar Rodney's Ed Roloff was no exception. Above Lapinsky comes close to pinning him but had to settle for an 8-0 decision victory.

Spartans Play 'Best Game' Lose 65-59

by Millard Ellingsworth III
"I think it was the best game any Lake Forest team has ever played, at least since I've been associated with Lake Forest," said Spartan coach Buck Starkey the afternoon following the Dover game.
The Spartans started the game sharing the points in the first quarter 15-14. Dover, Ron Shockley had five of the 14.
Sam Carey led the scoring in the second quarter to boost the Spartans over Dover 35-32 at half-time.
Spartan play-maker Frank Corsey led the third quarter scoring with seven of the 16 points. Dover dropped two more points behind and the Spartans started the final quarter with a five point lead, 51-46.

With only five minutes of playing time left, the Spartans had an 11 point edge. At this point Coach Starkey commented, "They got the breaks at the end where it counts... We couldn't miss in the third quarter, they couldn't miss in the fourth."
Dover exploded with 19 points which boosted them past the Spartans and gave Dover a 65-59 victory to keep their record unblemished.
Coach Starkey stated

further "It's not a game to be ashamed of, I think our kids did a heck of a job... They were playing so intensely that two of our guys went after that they both lost out-of-bounds."
Several Dover fans were heard to reportedly have said that if it hadn't been for the officials, Dover would never have won. To this Coach Starkey answered, "I didn't like it (the officiating), but the officials didn't cost us the game. Officials are like players, no one call or play can cost the team a game."
Ron Shockley, supposedly the best defensive player in the Henlopen Conference, held Dover's backbone, Joel Coppodge, to only 11 points. Coppodge normally averages 19.
Sam Carey led the scoring with 17, his highest game since he scored 22 against Laurel, ten games ago. Frank Corsey followed with 14 points, his first time in double figures since Indian River on February 1.
This past Friday, the Spartans mounted a new high game of 90 points with Phillip Bowers layup, to close regular season play, against Caesar Rodney.
The Spartans five starters took control and made almost absolutely sure that Caesar Rodney would not catch up. With about 1:30 remaining in the first quarter, CR scored their first basket. Lake Forest already had 17 points, added seven more and allowed CR one more basket to take a 24-4 first quarter lead. Bill Johnson scored 15 of the 24 points in that quarter.

Lake Forest continued to lead and took a 39-22 lead into the lockerroom.
Under the gun of Bell Johnson, the Spartans outscored Caesar Rodney two for one in the third quarter for a 60-32 lead.
Playing their final quarter of regular season basketball, the Spartans decided to go out with a bang. They mounted a 30 point quarter, their highest of the season. Jerry Custis came off of the bench to make 12 of those 30 points.
Bill Johnson scored a season high of 29 points. His highest career mark, and the highest individual score for any Lake Forest player this year. He was followed by Jerry Custis with 16, Jack Coker 13, and Sam Carey 10.
The Spartans will play their first round game of the state championship against Concord at 8:00 p.m. on March 5. The location has not as yet been announced. Advance tickets will be sold at the high school.

Gab Fest

by Pat Hatfield

Yesterday was a glorious day. The warm air and the hot sunshine gave us a real lift. As the little girl said: "Spring had sprung and summer had come." Of course it was a false spring, but I look upon it rather as an assurance from our Creator that spring will come again and soon, and it gave us a memory to hold in our hearts.

Today is gray and nippy and the raw wind warns us that March is yet to come. After the kids got safely on the school bus I went out with breakfast for the birds and I looked around for other signs of spring. And sure enough, on the ends of the dry hydrangea stalks were small "live" buds. I looked up at the gnarled old oaks, veterans of many winters and many storms, and saw that they were flaunting their small red blossoms on every twig. How a few hours of sunshine will quicken the life that is there waiting to burst forth. No sign of daffodil growth yet. I guess they can't get through the frozen ground.

Blustery old March will soon be with us. But there is one group who will enjoy the wind, and that is the kite-flyers. And no doubt my own sycamore will be sprouting several gay kites in her top branches. Another sign of spring will be knots of small boys shooting marbles from their grubby little fists. I guess children no longer roll hoops for fun. No doubt the skateboards have topped this. For twelve years I was an only child, and I was eight years old before I knew about rolling hoops. It was when Great-Aunt Rebecca was visiting one summer that she took my mother to task. She said, "Sallie, do you mean that this child does not know the joy of rolling a hoop across the yard and down the hill?" So, Great-Aunt hid herself behind the barn and found a barrell hoop and a stout stick and she proceeded to demonstrate. My mother thought it extremely amusing to see this dignified lady of 65 years galloping across the yard in pursuit of a hoop. But I loved it, and spent many happy hours with this activity.

While our evenings still make us want to snuggle down with a lap robe over our knees, I told myself sternly that I should get more solid reading done to improve my mind as it were. There are many things in the classics and near classics that I have missed along the way. I'm always promising myself to read Lytton's "The Last Days of Pompeii". And so I am enjoying it very much, especially the descriptions of the houses of that time. They were so spacious and elaborate with marble halls and garlands of flowers. I note that even in the smaller homes there was always an entrance hall or area to receive visitors who were not in the inner circle of friends or acquaintances, and, therefore, not ever received into the personal quarters. And the flowery and elaborate language which the young men and old used in their conversations is laughingly disgusting.

And the importance of the bath! Outside of the dice throwing and the combats in the arena between the gladiators and the wild animals, baths were the chief form of passing time. Entering the baths three times a day was considered normal, but many of the idle rich just spent all of their days there, socializing and having the slaves steam them, soap them, rinse them, spray them with perfumes, then reclining on the soft cushions, only to start the ritual all over again.

I wonder what they would have said to our swimming pools. "Absolutely barbaric" I can imagine them saying, as they folded their togas more closely about their well-washed persons.

Building Hobby Greenhouses And Other Gardening Structures

Home gardeners find it both exciting and useful to be able to control plant growth. This can be done in many ways—in everything from cold frames to greenhouses. The choice of structure and equipment is so broad that it can be confusing.

Before you decide what type of structure to build, take a look at the kind of gardening you want to do, advises University of Delaware extension agricultural engineer Ernest W. Walpole.

If you're a plant lover with very little time for gardening, the best choice may be an area or room in your home that you turn into an attractive, low cost indoor growing place. Many gardeners find that fluorescent light fixtures are an inexpensive installation that can provide good light for houseplants or seedlings.

A cold frame is another option, if you just want to start a few seedlings in the spring. You can even build a heating cable into it for better environmental control for the plants you start there.

And then there's the glass greenhouse, which can become an attractive, permanent, addition to your home landscape. One drawback to this type of structure is that it and its associated equipment costs several thousand dollars to install. This makes it too expensive for many people.

A less expensive option is to construct a plastic covered greenhouse. This type of structure is somewhat less attractive and less durable than a glass house, but it will provide a pleasant, protected working area during the blustery, wet days of spring. Add a heater and a ventilation fan and you can use the structure for a longer season and greater variety of plants.

Whichever of the above growing systems appeals to you, there's lots of good information available on installing and operating it in a new, soft-cover book which has just been published by the North east Regional Agricultural Engineering Service, of which the University of Delaware is a member. The book is called "Hobby Greenhouses And Other Gardening Structures". It contains both information and plans for a variety of hotbeds and cold frames, growth chambers, and greenhouses. Copies of this publication cost $2 each and are available by writing the Department of Agricultural Engineering, Agricultural Hall, University of Delaware, Newark, DE 19711. Make checks payable to the University of Delaware.

Warren H. Mumford [left], Mumford Sheet Metal Works, Selbyville, who is Delaware Chairman of the 1977 Delmarva Poultry Industry, Inc. Fund Drive, presents a fund drive packet to Charles Peck with Peck Brothers Farm Supply Co., Harrington. Peck is chairman of solicitations in the Harrington area. Goal for the current membership drive is $160,000. Funds received will be used to support the work of the regional poultry trade association in research, product promotion, consumer information and legislative problems.

Which Seeds? Leftover Or New

Most gardeners have some seeds left over from last year and it is always a question, should I use this seed or buy new?

The cost of seed is usually a small item compared to the loss or delay in starting vegetables or flowers in your garden. Yet most of us are reluctant to throw away good seed. University of Delaware extension horticulturist Dr. Charles Dunham says two things influence the ability of old seeds to germinate—the kind of plant they're from and the way in which the seed has been stored.

The life of most common flower and vegetable seeds can be greatly prolonged by storage in a dry, cold atmosphere. But if you're like most of us, last year's seeds are still sitting in a box in the garage or basement where storage conditions are anything but ideal.

Some kinds of seeds will tolerate this type of storage much better than others, explains Dunham. Among vegetable seeds, those of cucumber, endive, melons (both cantaloupe and watermelons), squash, pumpkin, cabbage, cauliflower, eggplant and radish are usually perfectly good. Bean, tomato, beet, pepper, celery, carrot, lettuce and pea seeds are usually all right if you plant them a little thicker than normal. But corn, onion, parsley and parsnip seeds should be thrown out and new ones purchased.

Among flowers, most of the common varieties keep very well—those like aly-sum, calendula, cosmos, petunia, marigolds, zinnia, pansy and nasturtium. China aster, strawflower and dusty miller seeds will probably be all right if sown heavier than normal. Seeds of delphinium, candytuft and burning bush (Kochia) should be thrown away.

The surest way to know the viability of seed is to run a germination test. Take an 11" x 14" section of paper towel. Moisten it and space the seeds along one side so that they will be covered as the towel is rolled up. Space more rows of seeds along the towel as it is rolled.

Roll the towel loosely to make about five layers. Fold it in half and place it in a quart jar. A little bit of water (perhaps an eighth of an inch) in the bottom of the jar will keep the towel moist. Cover the jar and place it in a warm place (70-80 degrees). When the seeds germinate, count them to determine the percent of germination.

***** Sunny Side Up *****

Self-taught cookery leaves much to be desired, especially in the matter of seasonings. My husband will never let me forget the Thanksgiving his new bride served him pumpkin pie, crunchy with whole cloves.

The recipe said "cloves". So who's supposed to know it meant ground cloves? Once I started a terrific-sounding new recipe for meat balls in spicy sauce. Halfway through I realized I didn't have the red wine called for, and used wine vinegar instead. Don't try it. The sauce will make your tongue roll up in a permanent curl. As the years passed there was oven-fried chicken sprinkled liberally with red pepper instead of red paprika; chili that turned us all into fire-breathing dragons; and 10-year-old poultry seasoning that refused to season anything, even when added by the cupful.

I always thought basil was a town in Switzerland, and that marjoram was a girl's name (like rosemary). I still don't know what fennel seed is. (All right, smarty, you tell me!)

All this leads me to conclude that every youngster, male and female, should learn basic cooking either at home or at school. And the lessons should include the use of herbs, spices and other seasonings. A little dash of this, a wee daub of that can turn an ordinary dish into something special—provided the right condiment is being dashed and daubed.

Extension home economists at the University of Delaware point out that ground herbs and spices don't maintain their quality very long—only about six months under the best storage conditions (airtight containers in a cool, dry place). However, whole spices (such as stick cinnamon, whole cloves and vanilla beans) keep their flavor indefinitely. Herbs generally lose their flavor more quickly than spices. Many cooks are either too timid or too enthusiastic about using seasonings, including those who should know better. If you want to be overwhelmed by sage, restaurant poultry stuffing will do it every time. There is no rule for the correct amount of flavoring, since each is different. In general, start with one-quarter teaspoon for each pound of meat or pint of liquid. But be conservative with red pepper, curry, chili, and garlic powders—start with one-eighth teaspoon instead.

Ground spices may be added near the end of the cooking period, since their flavor is released immediately. On the other hand, whole spices are best for slow-cooked dishes such as stews. The long simmering brings out their full flavor and aroma. If you don't know paprika from peppercorns, cloves from curry (or basil from Geneva), the extension service can come to your aid. The U.S. Dept. of Agriculture has compiled a complete list of herbs and spices, plus the foods for which they're best suited. For a free copy, write to the Mail Room, Agricultural Hall, University of Delaware, Newark, DE 19711.

And the next time you see Marjoram, tell her hello for me.

Landscaping To Save Energy

How would you like to save on winter fuel as well as summer air conditioning costs? One effective way to do this is through landscaping, says University of Delaware extension horticulturist Dr. Charles Dunham.

Proper planting can climatize the environment around your house, making it warmer in winter and cooler in summer. Not only can the right kind of landscaping increase your comfort indoors, it can also save you considerable money.

The way to do this in winter is to cut down on the velocity of wind that strikes the house. You can do this by planting some kind of vegetative barrier. Studies show that in this part of the country use of a protective belt of trees around a house can reduce home heating bills by as much as 10 percent.

In planning a winter windbreak, study the orientation of your house, the location of neighboring houses and the direction of the prevailing wind. In most of Delaware, prevailing winter winds come from the north and northwest. The trick is to divert them.

In some ways, the movement is like the flow of water. The wind will follow the line of least resistance. Like water it will flow downhill and it increases in velocity when channeled through narrow areas. Keep these points in mind in planting a windbreak.

The most effective barrier would be a row of large evergreen trees located to the north and northwest of your house where they will blunt the force of the wind and re-channel it. Pines are one of the best trees to use for this purpose. One of the most beautiful and adaptable of these is the white pine. Hemlocks are a good second choice, says Dunham, if the exposure is not too severe. You can also use trees like Douglas fir and Norway spruce.

Deciduous trees can be used to extend the planting or as a second row of facing plants to further reduce winter's icy blasts. Ornamentals such as arborvitae, the Pfitzer juniper and California pri-vet will also help. In summer, your environmental problems are different but they can also put a strain on the pocket and boost energy consumption. During hot weather it is important to shade your house from the sun's short rays. To do this, the south and west sides of the building are the key planting areas to develop. If you plant deciduous trees in these locations, they will shade the house in summer, but in winter their bare branches will let in the warming sun. Place trees intended for summer cooling so that they provide shade during early to late afternoon.

Choose trees whose size will be in proportion to your house, advises the horticulturist. Medium size trees can be planted as close as 10 to 12 feet from the house; larger trees should be twice that distant. Some good medium size trees to consider are the Chinese elm, Zelkova, the golden rain tree and the Norway maple. Some good large trees to use are the willow, red and pin oak, red maple, Japanese pagoda tree and little leaf linden.

Another good way to keep cool in summer is to use plant "awnings" and arbors along west and south walls. Either a trellis or wire netting can be fastened above the windows close to the house. Vines like wisteria, silver lace, wild clematis or Dutchman's pine can then be trained up the wire to form a cooling barrier from the sun. Arbors or pergolas can also be built to shade both the house wall and the floor of a west or south facing patio. Again, train vines up and over the framework to provide cooling shade.

There are some fringe benefits to such environmental modifying practices, of course. Besides cutting down on energy costs inside the house, these ideas can enhance the beauty of the landscape, increase your sense of privacy even in a crowded neighborhood, and shelter your home from noise and dust.

Check Seed Treatment And Planting Depth

Farmers who've had trouble in the past getting a good stand of soybeans may not realize how critical planting depth can be—especially when they're using weak seed. If soybean seeds are planted too deep they may never grow to see the sun, cautions University of Delaware extension agronomist Dr. William H. Mitchell.

Tests show that weak seeds produce weak seedlings, he explains. If covered with too much soil they simply do not have enough energy for normal emergence. The result will be a spotty stand, excessive weed competition and, possibly, a replanting.

Mitchell says there is a wide variation in germination among soybean seed lots. In some cases seed treatment with a fungicide can improve germination and seedling emergence. In other cases, where poor germination is a result of mechanical damage associated with harvesting when beans are too dry, treatment may be of little value.

A recent seed treatment and depth-of-planting study at the University of Delaware with Emerald soybeans underlines the importance of these practices in obtaining good stands. Soybean seeds were divided into two groups. One group was treated with the fungicide Arasan. The other served as the control. Seeds of both groups were planted in greenhouse pots filled with loamy sand soil. Planting depths ranged from 1/2 to 1-1/2 inches. Water was added as needed to prevent moisture stress or formation of a soil crust. What happened in this study illustrates what is probably happening in a great many cases on farms around Delaware, says Mitchell. Results with this lot of soybeans showed that the best planting depth was 1/2 inch and that seed treatment improved germination as the depth of planting increased.

At the half inch depth there was 90 percent emergence of seedlings from untreated seeds and 92 percent emergence from treated seeds—nearly equal success. As the planting depth increased, the number of seedlings gradually dropped for both treated and untreated seeds, with treated seeds sprouting better than untreated ones by an increasing margin. At the inch and a half depth, only 29 percent of the untreated seeds emerged, while 54 percent of those treated sprouted and emerged.

Mitchell urges soybean growers to consider both seed treatment and depth of planting as they prepare for the growing season, if they wish to improve stands in their own fields this year. The Delaware Department of Agriculture provides a seed testing service which can tell you how strong your seed is. They can also run comparison tests which will tell you whether seed performance will be improved as a result of treatment.

In cases where the tests indicate weak seed which is not suffering from mechanical injury, it will probably pay you to treat it and plant it shallow.

Everyone who attended the Annual 4-H Talent Show was thoroughly entertained! We didn't know 4-Hers had so many talents! The acts were divided into the areas of dance, musical and skit. The talented winners were as follows:

Our trophy winners had various talents. They ranged from tap dancing to piano playing. We also have our own Edith Ann, known to all as Robyn Holston. And any time you need a friend to talk to—call Jeffrey Wyatt, he will at least tell you a bedtime story. Other talents included a gun twirler. Vicki Morrone dressed in a flashy band uniform and performed her act with strong powerful concentration. The highlight of the afternoon centered around two people. They were Mark Coyle. It sounds as if I made a mistake...but believe me I didn't. Mark Coyle presented himself as half man and half woman. What a sight! At least he didn't have to look for a dance partner! Other blue ribbon winners were Denise Passwaters, Rebecca Kennedy, Brent Hopkins, Marsha Lubinieski, Shelly Grove, Brenda Hudson, David Coyle, Stephanie Truitt and Demporis Waples. Red ribbons went to Cynthia Coyle, Bonnie Bradner, Renee Vincent, Shelia Truitt, Wendee White, Chris Majchrzak, Chris Kittila and Susan Phillips.

We would like to thank our judges, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Kuennen of Georgetown, Bob Zapke of Concord, and Mrs. Jean Cranston of Dover. Congratulations to all!

Younger Member Week-end has grown to be the most popular activity during the year! We are sure you don't want to miss out on all the fun. This year it will be held on April 2 and 3 at Cape Henlopen State Park. Like camp, we accept applicants on a first-come-first-serve basis. 4-Hers from every club will be there. You will get a chance to make new friends and see your old ones. Campers always have fun keeping their counselors up during the night too! Other activities include singing, camp fire, track meets and exploring Nature Trails. The entry deadline is March 25 but don't wait until then. There are only a few places left. Look for the entry in your February newsletter. See you there.

into her speech. She compared the Great Depression of 1930's with the Great Inflation of the 1970's. Karen interviewed a few people who were around during the days of the depression. They told her, "It was a bad time when nobody had money or made any money. We went to the grocery store every two or three weeks for such items as sugar, salt, coffee and kerosene. Our home had no plumbing or electricity but we made out fine. Families and neighbors did a lot of things together and there was a great deal of closeness with each other—more than today!" This lady now lives on a fixed income, and went on to say that the Depression years were not as bad for her as the past three years of inflation. Another thing she pointed out was that during the Depression, people took care of their old folks at home instead of sending them off to a nursing home, like we do today.

Karen concluded her speech with, "People today do not want to do without, thus the battle against inflation continues. With all kinds of government aid, people of today can walk off their jobs and demand more money and succeed in getting it. The quality of work has decreased. With continuous pressure from our schools for higher education, the labor force has changed. The people of the 1970's could not cope with a Depression like that of the 1930's, so we are forced into the Great Inflation of the 1970's. Where will it end?"

THIS BROWNI-EST BROWNIE IS DELICATELY SPICED

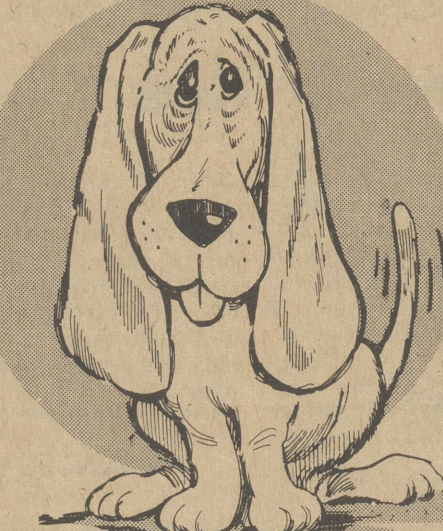

Chocolate brownies are an American invention and loved from coast to coast. This recipe makes a rich, "fudgy" treat, fragrant with cinnamon to enhance the chocolate flavor. As a bonus, it's very easily made.

CINNAMON BROWNIES

- 3/4 cup butter or margarine
- 4 squares (1 oz. each) unsweetened chocolate
- 2 cups sugar
- 4 eggs
- 1-1/4 cups all-purpose flour
- 1 tablespoon ground cinnamon
- 1 teaspoon baking powder
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon grated orange peel
- 1 cup coarsely chopped walnuts

In a medium saucepan melt butter and chocolate over very low heat. Remove from heat; stir in sugar and eggs; set aside. In a medium bowl combine flour, cinnamon, baking powder, salt and orange peel. Stir into chocolate mixture just until smooth and well blended. Stir in nuts. Spread in a greased 13 x 9 x 2-inch baking pan. Bake in a preheated moderate oven (350°F.) until mixture starts to come away from sides of pan, about 30 minutes. Cool slightly on a wire rack. Cut into squares; remove from pan and cool completely. Sprinkle with confectioners' sugar, if desired. Yield: About 30 brownies.

Town And Country

Asparagus is a delicious and nutritional vegetable which is harvested in late spring. As early as 200 B.C. the Romans had how-to-grow directions for asparagus. They enjoyed it in season and preserved it for later use by drying. Its characteristics were so well-known to the ancients that 1st century Emperor Augustus described haste to his underlings as being "quicker than you can cook asparagus."

A 16th century Englishman said of 'asperage': "It is delicious eaten with oyl and vinegar." Records of plantings in American gardens attest to the long life of this vegetable. From the Middlebury, Vt., Register in 1917: "There is an asparagus bed in the Elios Lyman farm...which was started 101 years ago and continues to this day to yield a generous crop."

When you grow asparagus you are joining Mother Nature in a classic demonstration of her growth power. What a manufacturing plant!

In summer, its graceful, fern-like foliage stands tall to the sun. The leaves are manufacturing food in excess of their needs for growth and are storing the excess in the roots. The big transfer to storage will come when the tops die.

With the warming of the soil the following spring, stalks rise from the crown to renew the plant. All growth now is on stored food in the roots. (The manufacturing plant is on battery power.)

Many more shoots will form than are needed for the renewal of the plant. So you prune the shoots--a few or more the first year. More the second. The third year should give you four weeks of cutting.

Most of the strains of asparagus sold today have been selected from the Washington cultivar. The two most popular and disease resistant strains are Martha and Mary Washington. Both of these strains should remain productive for 15 to 20 years and are somewhat resistant to rust. Purchase of strong one year old crowns rather than seed will assure the grower of asparagus the following year. It is recommended to plant strong one year old crowns, since less vigorous or older crowns may result in lower yields and a shorter productive period. Remember you are putting in crowns that have the potential of producing spears as long as 20 years.

If you would like further information on establishing asparagus in the home garden, please call us at 736-1448 and request our handout on asparagus for the home garden.

If you want to see one of nature's most remarkable producers do its thing, you might take a drive on some of Kent County's back roads during late May or early June. Many of these tasty little spears can be purchased from local growers.
