Speedy Conclusion

On Monday morning members of the Harrington Volunteer Fire Co. responded to this accident on County Road 314 north of Farmington. Trapped in the car is the one passenger of the single car accident Anthony Burton of Harrington, while members of the Fire Co. use the Hurst tool to free him. Burton was taken to Milford Memorial Hospital where he was treated for lacerations of both knees and released. He was charged with operating a motor vehicle at an unsafe speed. Harrington Study Varied, Costly

Sewer Hearing Set

by Margo Farrow

HARRINGTON. Sewer problems continue to plague small communities, and this community is no exception. In the past ten years, Harrington has installed a new sewer plant, only to find something must be done to correct the plant by June 1978. Present state environmental regulations have made the plant used by Harrington, which consists of aeriators and lagoon system unsatisfactory.

Since the City's treated materials empty into waters that eventually end up in McCaulley's Pond, a fresh water body of water, the restrictions on the treatment of sewage here are even more strict, according to Peterson.

The City's present system has algae and phosphorous, both undesirable residues.

The result of the sewer study is now available in City Hall and citizens are encouraged to view it prior to the public hearing on the matter to be held April 1 at 7:30 p.m. at the City Hall.

Among the suggestions to correct the problem are to alter the present treatment plant by relocating the aeriators in the lagoons or by adding to the existing plant by adding a clarifier.

Having been informed of this fact, the City engaged the firm of Richardson Associates of Newark to conduct a study last summer to deal with the problem facing the city. Included in the $93,000 study was some test grouting, which was to take care of part of the City's infiltration problem. According to City Manager Dave Peterson, the corrective grouting will be tested next month when the water table rises to see if the work done will help correct the surface water infiltration that was causing part of the problem.

Think Before You Dial

As of yesterday, Delaware residents may think several times before dialing Directory Assistance. As of that date, people will be able to make three dialed calls per line to Directory Assistance each billing period, and ask for two numbers each time, at no additional charge. For every call over the three calls per billing period, the Diamond State Telephone Company will charge 20 cents per call charge on the telephone bill. Calls placed to Directory Assistance with the help of the regular operator will be billed at 40 cents per call and are not included in the three call allowance.

So, as the telephone company suggests, keep directories near the phone, keep a personal list of new numbers as they are learned and if moving, be sure to notify family and friends.

A final change is that the old 411 number has been replaced by 1-555-1212. For numbers outside Delaware, dial 1, the area code, then 555-1212.

Two Will Seek Lake Forest Board Of Education Seat

by Carole Glasspool

FELTON. Two residents of the Lake Forest School District, Elizabeth Ashley of Canterbury and David Whitt, of Felton, have announced they will seek the school board seat to be vacated by James Pizzadilli of Felton this spring.

Pizzadilli has been a member of the Lake Forest School District Board of Education since its inception eight years ago and served one year as President. Prior to that he was a member and president of the Felton School Board for two years.

Mrs. William (Elizabeth) Ashley, 32, of Woodbury Acres was raised in Milford and graduated from Milford High School in 1962 after which she attended Lee College in Cleveland, Tennessee. She married William Ashley in 1965, the Ashleys now have two children, Jennifer, age 10, and Billy, age 6.

They have lived in the Lake Forest School District for five years.

Ashley is a member of the Parents Advisory Council to the Title I program, secretary of the Lake Forest North P.T.A. which she helped organize, and past President and founder of the Woodbury Acres Civic Association.

Also announcing his candidacy is David Whitt, 44, of Felton.

Whitt was born in Pageton, West Virginia and is retired from the U.S. Army with twenty-one years service. (Continued to page 7).

Sutton Named Acting Woodbridge Head

BRIDGEVILLE. Robert C. Sutton last Wednesday night was named acting Superintendent of the Woodbridge School District and Executive Secretary of the School Board.

Sutton is a native of Sanford, North Carolina. He began his studies at the University of North Carolina, but gained his bachelor's degree at Atlantic Christian College. He received his Masters degree at Appalachian State University and is continuing his studies toward a doctorate at the University of Maryland.

The acting Superintendent came to Woodbridge four years ago from the University of Maryland, and assumed the role of Administrative Assistant to Superintendent Flint.

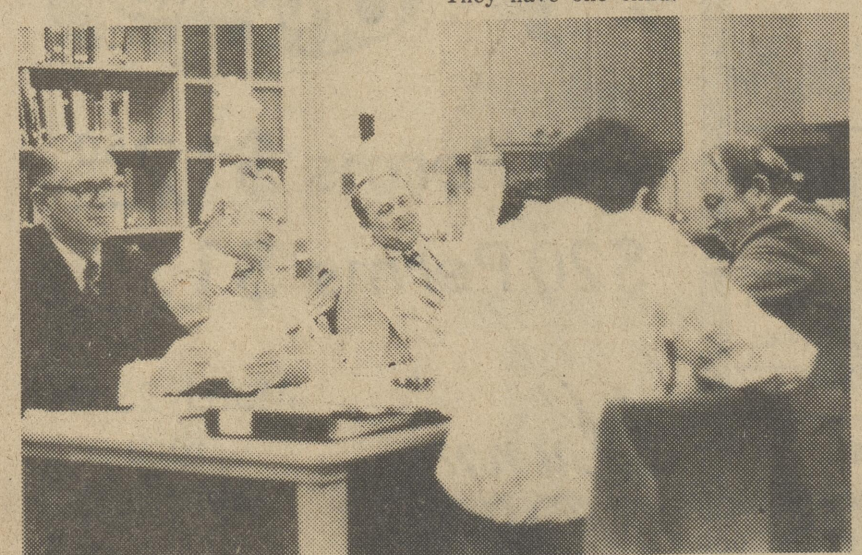

For the past two years he has been both Administrative Assistant and acting high school principal. The latter role was made necessary when Principal William Tatro left Woodbridge High School. Sutton is married to the former Glenda Sigmund. They have one child.

Fire... the swift destroyer

These two photos show how quickly a fire can consume a home, as members of the Felton Volunteer Fire Company and Greensboro Fire Company attempted to save the residence of Steve Rinaldi, located at the intersection of County Roads 110 and 256. The fire destroyed the dwelling last Wednesday, March 23 at 1 p.m. (Staff Photos by Ray Blanchette)

Felton Application Authorized

DOVER. Walter Fritz, Kent County engineer was granted authorization by Levy Court to make an application to the Environmental Protective Agency for phase two of a Felton sewer project.

Members of Levy Court and Fritz were among officials who had met with Felton residents earlier this month to discuss the future of Felton's sewer problems. The county system was primarily discussed at this meeting held March 15 in Felton.

While saying the move was one to save possible time, it does not mean Felton is obligated in any way to pursue the county system. Fritz explained the funding for such projects ends in October, and he wanted to have the application filed in the event a decision was reached by Feltonians. In the event Felton decided against the project the application will be withdrawn, according to Fritz.

No monies would be expended, according to the report for filing for the phase two portion of the project.

The sewer project loan for Fredrica was refinanced, with a three and a half interest rate on $497,827.95. The starting date for the project use is May 2. It was reported no final payment will be made on the project until existing problems are ironed out.

A Milford contingent appeared before Levy Court to request $10,000 in a grant for the city's parks and recreation program. Included would be $7,066 to bring the boat ramp on the Mispillion River up to federal standards as with the remaining portion used at the city's mini-park. The Levy Court is considering the request.

Houston Elects Three

HOUSTON. This community held town elections Saturday, returning George Marvel for another term of office, and electing Connie Morgan and Ted Yerkes.

The newly elected councilmen will be sworn in at the town's next monthly meeting.

Charter Meetings Continue

HARRINGTON. City Council has set April 6 as the next meeting to view the city charter. Councilman William Shaw, who has headed the charter revision committee, said the city should have the charter revision completed on or before May 15.

Council has met on several previous occasions reportedly to view the charter, but because of a lack of quorum or discussing other matters, not much headway is being made on the charter at present.

Citizens are encouraged to attend the charter meetings. All meetings are at City Hall at 7:30 p.m.

Happenings

by Carole Glasspool
Stephan Merritt, son of Walter and Michelle Merritt, of Ocean Drive Manor near Frederica, who was seriously injured in a diving accident last September, has been transferred to the A. I. Dupont Institute in Wilmington. Stephan is now allowed to come home on weekends and would enjoy hearing from or having visits from his friends in the area.

It was "time to dance" Saturday night when Miss Laurie Glasspool entertained fifteen of her friends at a party to celebrate her fourteenth birthday.

The "super groovy group" attending included Lisa Stubbs, Diana Voshell, Lori Clough, Shelley Chandler, Tammy Hinson, Robin Kashner, Rhonda Whitt, Kay Sylvester, Loretta Latacha, Kenny Clark, Jay Conley, David Bullock, Bryan Moehlenkamp, David Lekites and Ernie Salaz.

The basement was decorated in green and gold crepe paper with green lights and twenty foot long "things" that looked like bamboo shoots. I don't know what they actually are but I do know quite a few guests took them home as party favors. Note to parents: "It wasn't my idea but you must admit they are quieter than those traditional party noise makers!"

While fifteen were hustling and bumping in my basement, ten times that many were enjoying the country and western sounds of "The Thunderbirds" at the V.C.F. Ruritan building in Viola.

Among those at the Ruritan dance were twenty-eight members of the Parents Without Partners Organization plus Ruritan members Margaret and Bill Luff, Gardner and Grace Kersey, Mildred and Bill Warren, Clarence and Louise Hurd and Elbert and Fern Harrington.

If you missed this dance, "The Thunderbirds" will play a return engagement at the V.C.F. Ruritan building on April 23. Charles Bostick is in charge of the dances and can be contacted for tickets.

This Saturday, April 2, the Ruritans will be holding their annual ham and turkey dinner served family style from 3 p.m. until 7:30 p.m. Catered by the Ruritanettes (gals with a reputation for some kind of good cookin'), tickets will be $4.50 for adults and $2.25 for children. Takeouts will be available at $4.50 each. It's open to the public so y'all come.

A 236.2-inch refracting telescope, the world's largest, can pick up a flickering candle at 15,000 miles. It's located in Russia's Caucasus Mountains.

Pharmacy director for the chain, and Skip Rotenberry, right, store manager.

Happy Harry Comes To Dover

DOVER. Last Wednesday Harry Levin of 1962 in North Wilmington, now has two stores in Kent County and nine in New Castle County. The other Kent County store is located in Smyrna.

Mr. Levin is married and makes his home in Brandywine Hundred near the City of Wilmington with his wife Diane. The Levins have two children, Carol a freshman at Tulane University in New Orleans, and a son Alan who is an aide to Senior Sen. William V. Roth, Jr. (R. Del.)

The Levin trademark is to offer to the general public a discount on the complete health, beauty and prescription products. He employs a licensed pharmacist at all times in each of his operations. Most of the stores now offer "foods like chips, peanuts, and cookies", according to Robert Duffy of Newark, the Director of the Chain stores.

Levin is the example of the American dream where a small businessman can rise to heights of field through hard work, planning and good organization.

The new Happy Harry Store in the Bay Court plaza enjoyed a tremendous opening day crowd.

Mrs. Mildred Holiday of Felton and Mrs. Lucy Irvin of Harrington are patients at Milford Hospital at this time.

Our Kitchen Band have their weekly get-together on Monday morning and are getting better all the time.

Mrs. Burdette had a very interesting Bible Study on Tuesday morning and stayed to have lunch with us. After lunch Mr. Elbert Stevens showed slides of some of his trips to the states.

About 22 members went to Dover on Wednesday for a county wide meeting of Senior Citizens at Fellowship Hall in the Church. It was a good entertainment.

After lunch Thursday the D.A.S.T. Bus went to the mall to take those who wanted the Diabetic tests that were given there.

Mrs. Vineyard is still with us teaching knitting which is enjoyed by those who are learning.

Plans are under way for a new floor in the living room and central heating in the near future.

Bowling was as usual on Friday afternoon. Mrs. Marian Russum was high for the ladies. Mr. Elbert Stevens was high for the men.

Delicious Alternatives To Coffee

The increase in coffee prices may be a hidden blessing. It has shocked Americans into considering alternative beverages in an effort to break the coffee habit.

Delaware extension home economist Sue Matusiak points out that many of the alternatives offer the double bonus of nutritional benefits plus a pleasant change for the taste buds.

Fruit juices are available by the score, many equally delicious served hot or cold. They may also be combined with each other, or sparked with spices or citrus slices. An example is apple juice or cider. Ms. Matusiak suggests heating it with cinnamon, cloves, orange slices for a cozy drink on a chilly day. Iced apple juice or cider is also delicious combined with cranberry juice.

The truly American fruit juice, cranberry, is usually served cold. Try serving it hot for a change, with a sprinkling of ground cloves and a slice of lemon.

Orange, grapefruit, pineapple, and grape juices may be combined with each other, or served with crushed fruit added. People who prefer fruit drinks on the tart side will enjoy the addition of a little lemon juice. Vegetable juices offer another alternative, suggests Ms. Matusiak. Most cookbooks provide a variety of ways to dress up tomato juice, hot or cold. For example, it may be heated half and half with beef bouillon, or combined with clam juice and served over ice. The addition of lemon slices, onion or celery salt, Worcester or Tabasco sauce, or other flavorings will perk up vegetable juices straight from the can.

Nutritionally, milk is still tops as a beverage, reminds the home economist. For variety add maple syrup, raspberry or strawberry jam or juice, chocolate, or molasses. If you must have the flavor and lift of coffee in the morning, serve it half and half with hot milk, as the French do.

Many milk and juice beverages are available in single-serving cartons and cans. These are handy for work, picnics, travel and other outings.

While teas offer few nutritional benefits, they are available in a great variety of appealing flavors, points out the extension specialist. Don't stop with the standard brews, she advises. Explore teas made from fresh or dried herbs such as alfalfa, mint, sage, thyme, herb geranium, rosemary, marjoram, basil, clover, camomile, sassafras and others. Health food and specialty shops often stock a wide selection. You may also use dried herbs from your kitchen condiment shelf, or grow your own fresh ones.

For strong herbs, Ms. Matusiak recommends one-half to one tablespoon fresh, or one-quarter to one-half teaspoon dried per cup. Double that amount for mild herbs. Pour boiling water over herbs and steep for ten minutes or longer.

Outstanding 4-H participants from all over the country will gather in Washington, D.C. next month for a week-long conference. Scheduled for April 23-29 at the National 4-H Center, the annual conference will focus on the involvement of youth and adults in program development and public relations efforts.

Four Delaware delegates will attend the conference, according to James Baker, state 4-H leader. They are: Kim Wipf, New Castle; Carlton Parker, Bridgeville; Cheryl Ann Kieffer, Wilmington; and Tina Bravata, Dover.

Delegates are chosen for their leadership potential as well as their wide range of 4-H participation, says Baker.

Kim Wipf is a freshman at the University of Delaware who has been involved in 4-H for 10 years. She represented Delaware in the National Dress Review at the National 4-H Congress in Chicago and is currently president of her county 4-H Junior Council.

Carlton Parker has been a member of 4-H for five years. He is vice-president of his county's Junior Council and a member of the County 4-H Planning Committee. His 4-H projects have included photography and music.

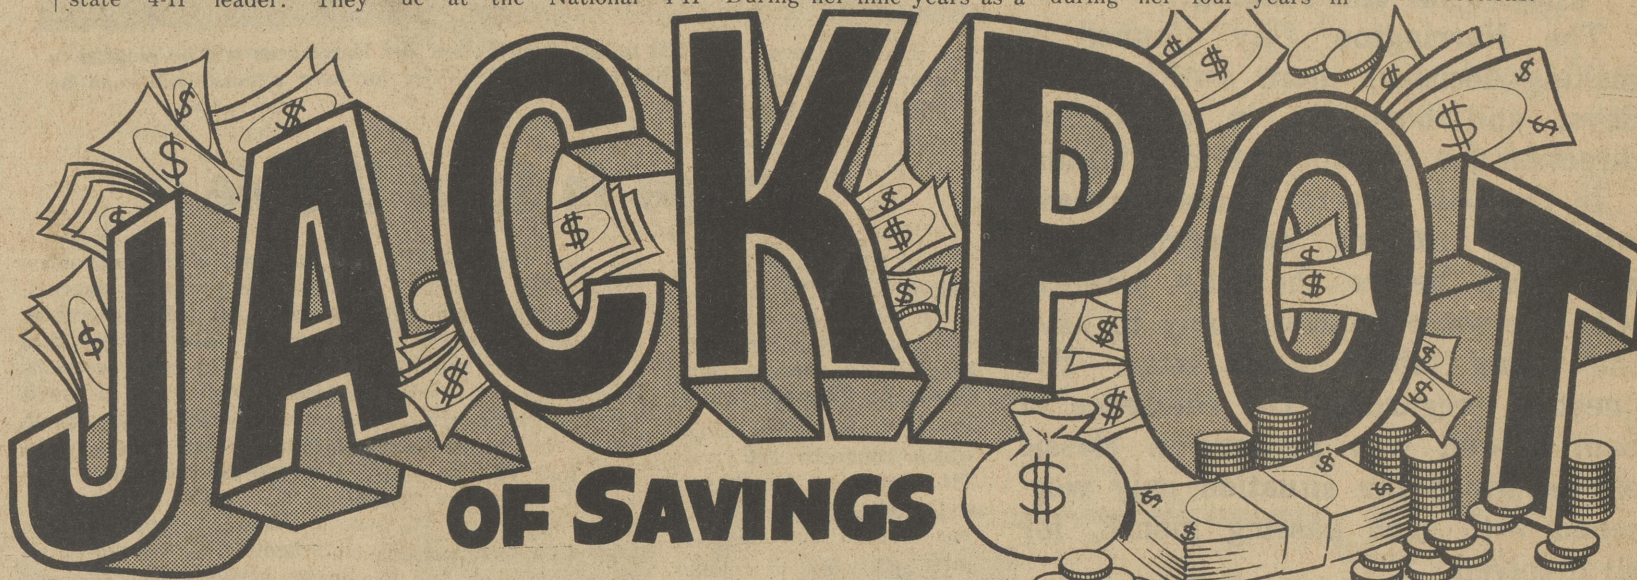

Cheryl Ann Kieffer represented Delaware in swine production at the National 4-H Congress. During her nine years as a 4-H member, she has worked on livestock and crafts projects, taught underprivileged children, worked as a counselor and served as president of her local 4-H club.

Tina Bravata is a member of the Kent County 4-H Expansion and Review Committee and serves as president of her county Junior Council. She has participated in various foods and clothing projects and worked as a counselor during her four years in 4-H. For the first time this year, delegates will actually take part in the conference program, according to Baker. The change was made to provide more opportunities for youths to participate in determining, implementing and evaluating the programs in which they are involved.

The 1977 Conference format features consultation groups, talks and work sessions.

From The Frying Pan

"They're off and running..."

The Harrington City Council is making decisions more swiftly these days, and hopefully in a positive direction for the City of Harrington.

In the past several years we have witnessed citizens appearing again and again before the City Council, with the same requests, only to have the items tabled until...later. The question regarding the residence of Sam Powell was perhaps a classic one in which the situation only worsened with each passing month, for all involved.

It is a fact that while we do not always agree with the moves of the city fathers, we are at least somewhat encouraged by the fact they are moving more decidedly on issues.

Yet, there is much to be said for deliberation and viewing all sides of situations before acting on items.

As a result of the Sunshine legislation, the city agenda for meetings is posted now, and it behooves the citizenry to scan these agendas before the meeting nights, which now are the second Tuesdays at 7:30 p.m. Prior to the change, the meeting nights had been on the first Monday for many years.

Now, there are some meetings scheduled for Thursday nights, where the proposed charter is being viewed, but the progress is slow, as it should be, but not a great deal is getting done, because of the lack of a quorum. This is the time, too, when citizens should be present to voice views.

With the advent of the posted agenda, thanks to the Sunshine law, there is more of an opportunity for citizens to be aware of specific items to be considered for that specific meeting.

Read the agenda and keep informed of the proposals headed for consideration.

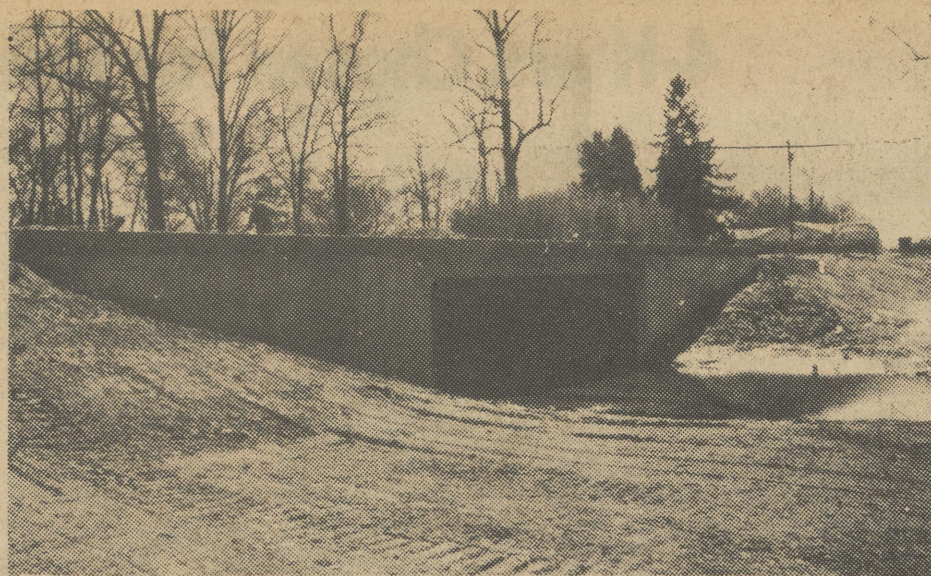

Delaware's Forgotten Pupils

the forgotten pupil...

With the proposed legislation facing the General Assembly, thousands of Delaware dollars could find their way into Delaware school coffers directly from school districts; and not district level, there is something as equally critical to view here, the from the state. Although the property-owning taxpayer will have to foot the bill, whether on the state or Delaware public school student.

While the teachers have their union representation, the students are between the devil and the deep blue sea, with the state deficit on one hand, and property owners on the other, the latter of whom feels he is overtaxed now.

Very little has been said about raising the unit level of classes in Delaware, from 20 to 22, which would be part of the Delaware package cut to education. Two students don't sound like much of a difference, but taken on the whole, the idea behind the arrangement needs

Travelers along road 284 to and from Felton and Harrington will be pleased to know this bridge which has been out of service for over a year, will soon be reopened for traffic.

Bridge Is Soon Usable

Road #284 between Harrington and Felton. The Sante Volpe Inc., a construction firm from Wilmington, is nearing completion on "Project Bridge #284-A". This is the bridge which connects the road 284 between Harrington and Felton. The bridge was washed out July 15, 1975 and work to rebuild the stricken site was begun in August 1976. The bid to reconstruct the bridge was $86,000, but bad weather has caused overruns on the job.

There have been three supervisors on the job since work began. Fred Price, the present supervisor told The Harrington Journal work was slowed due to wash outs. He also claimed to have constructed an abutment and wing wall, two coffer dams (steel sheathing) both on the north and south sides, and dug down approximately 20' below the river bed in order to get firm footing. On prior occasions the current is so swift through this tiny stream that it had washed the bridge away again.

Black topping is scheduled to be placed on the bridge this week and traffic will commence in about two weeks.

Weekly Report

by Senator Joe Biden

On Friday, March 25, I introduced legislation that will forbid courts from ordering busing unless they can find that there was an intent to discriminate by the local school authorities. This is the bill that I kept referring to during the hearings on the nominations of Judge McCree and Drew Days. I have been working on the precise language of this bill for the last month.

My bill will prohibit the courts from ordering the transportation of any student unless the court first determines that a racially discriminatory purpose was the motivating factor in the constitutional violation for which the transportation is proposed as a remedy.

The important distinction of this bill is that the discriminatory intent must be found to have been on the part of the local school authorities.

This legislation strikes at the heart of the injustice of court ordered busing. It prohibits the federal courts from disrupting our educational system in the name of the constitution where there is no evidence that the local school authorities intended to discriminate.

This bill impacts directly on the Wilmington case. In that case the district court said, "In short, the record does not demonstrate that a significant purpose of the Educational Advancement Act was to foster or perpetuate discrimination through school reorganization."

In my opinion this language strongly precludes a finding of racially discriminatory intent or purpose in the Wilmington case.

This legislation protects legitimate constitutional rights without permitting the extreme remedy of busing where it is not justified.

Microwave Class Planned

A free class in microwave oven cooking will be held in the showroom of Wiley Fuel & Appliances, 18 S. Walnut St., 7 to 9 p.m. Monday, April 4. Linda Reisen, Managing home economist for Amana appliances in the tristate area, will conduct the session. She will discuss the principles and benefits of microwave cooking, and prepare a full-course gourmet meal.

A graduate of Drexel University School of Economics, Reisen is associated with the Elliott-Lewis Corp., distributors for major home appliances sold through area dealers. No advance registration is necessary.

Motor Vehicle Changes

This newspaper in conjunction with your Delaware State Police would like to inform the motoring public of recent changes in the Delaware Motor Vehicle Code.

Since August 5, 1976, several new laws have been in effect. One such law is Section 4103, which now reads:

(a) No person shall willfully fail or refuse to comply with any lawful order or direction of any police officer or authorized flagman or fire policeman or uniformed adult school crossing guard invested by law authority to direct, control or regulate vehicle and pedestrian traffic. This section shall not operate to relieve a driver of the duty to operate his vehicle with due regard to the safety of all persons using the highway.

Should you desire further information regarding this law, contact your nearest Delaware State Police Troop.

to be viewed as closely and as carefully as the proposals to transfer the budgets onto the local districts.

What would keep the unit, which as been set at 20 since 1951, at the proposed 22? What would keep the ceiling there? It is a means to equalize the numbers of the classes, and not a true number at that.

On the elementary level, the unit is based on a one to 25 basis.

The headlines scream of Delaware unions suing for the 2 percent cost of living raise for state employees but very little is being said about the unit size of Delaware students.

If there were no formula at all for determining class sizes, one can only shudder at the system used for determining class size. It is not a system to be tampered with lightly in any event.

It is as critical as raising local taxes.

Open Letter

To Chipman Parents

Dear Parents,

Another marking period is ending this week, and that leaves one more in the school year. With spring in the air and more hours of daylight after school, it becomes increasingly hard to buckle down to doing homework assignments. For many students, however, this marking period will determine whether they will be promoted or have to repeat the grade. Thus, it is important to get in all notebooks and other long-term assignments by the end of this week and then begin, with renewed determination, to do a good day's work each day of the final marking period.

The first three days of this week I shall be administering tests to students who were absent during last week's testing.

I have been concerned because I have so little time for individual counseling lately. It will help, I am sure, if you take a little extra time for listening at home. Encourage your child to express, or describe, his or her feelings about things. Let it be known that you are interested in feelings as well as in facts. And don't forget those positive strokes—those words of encouragement, those honest compliments, and the small courtesies, which we are quite willing to bestow on those outside the family. Someone has said that when we ask a child to do something, we should make the request as if we were speaking to one of our best friends. Do any of us do that? Think about it. What would happen in our families if we were all to try to put that suggestion into practice? Imagine...being polite to our own kids...

Sincerely,
Sarah S. Webb

FOOD MARKETING ALERT

USDA
Agricultural Marketing Service

As of mid-March, the supply situation in April is expected to look like this...

RED MEATS

Beef... plentiful. Production to average at least as large as record levels of April 1976 and about 4% above the 1974-76 average for the month. Nonfed beef output to be down from year earlier. A slight increase is expected in fed beef.

Pork... plentiful. Production to be seasonally large and average 20-22% above low level of April 1976 and 11% above the 1974-76 April average.

POULTRY & EGGS

Broilers-fryers... plentiful. April marketings to be about 6% above the April 1976 record and 12% above the April 1974-76 average.

Eggs... adequate. April 1977 output to be up slightly from last April's level and to approximate the most recent 3-year average.

Turkeys... adequate. Seasonally light new crop marketings in April to be about 2% more than a year earlier and about 7% above the 3-year average. April 1 cold storage holdings around 4% more than last year, but 25% less than the 3-year average. April supply of all turkey will be up about 3% from year earlier.

MILK & DAIRY PRODUCTS

Milk and dairy products... plentiful. April milk production to continue above 1976 levels and the 3-year average. Seasonal increase through April should provide additional supplies for manufactured products. Preliminary figures for Feb. indicate butter production was 15% higher than Feb. 1976 and American cheese production up 8%. In Jan. nonfat dry milk production was 7% over last January and 4% above the 3-year average.

Commercial stocks of butter on Feb. 1 were 46% above the previous 3-year average and the highest for this month in almost a quarter century. Commercial stocks of American cheese on Feb. 1 were 21% above the 1974-76 average. Nonfat dry milk stocks were 86% above last year and 16% above the Feb. 1 3-year average.

FRUITS, VEGETABLES, NUTS

Fresh citrus fruits and juices... adequate. Orange production was reduced 2% from the Feb. 1 forecast but expected to be 1% above 1975-76. Florida prospects are slightly lower than last year. The 1976-77 Florida and other grapefruit crops to be only slightly below the 1975-76 level. Lemon production to be 49% above 1975-76 but 10% lower than the record 1974-75 crop. Stocks of Florida frozen concentrated orange juice on Feb. 26 were 20% less than at same time last year. Juice yields substantially lower in Florida as a result of the January freeze.

Fresh noncitrus fruits. Winter pears... plentiful. As of March 1, Pacific Coast winter pear holdings reported by industry at 50% more than March 1, 1976.

Apples... adequate. Cold storage holdings of fresh apples on Jan. 31 were 15% less than a year earlier.

Canned noncitrus fruits... adequate. Jan. 1, 1977 canners' inventories of pears and fruit cocktail were 10 and 3% above the level of a year earlier, but stocks of canned applesauce and peaches were down 13 and 10%.

Raisins... light. 1976 production was much lower than year earlier because rains caused heavy crop losses. Dried prunes... adequate. California 1976 production estimated 3% less than last year but 3% above the 1974 crop.

Processed vegetables... mostly adequate with a few items plentiful. Canned sweet corn and green peas... plentiful. On Feb. 1, 1977, canners' inventory of sweet corn was 29% above the 1973-75 average, and green peas, up 45%. On Jan. 31, holdings of frozen corn-on-cob and cut corn were 39% and 11% above average. Also, frozen green pea stocks were 4% above average.

Potatoes... plentiful. Fresh stocks on Mar. 1 were record high, 7% above a year earlier and 14% above the 3-year average. Frozen potato holdings were 19% heavier than average.

Peanuts... plentiful. Commercial stocks on Jan. 31 were 6% lower than a year ago, 1976 production 3% lower than the record 1975 crop. Almonds... plentiful. California 1976 crop to be record high, about 44% more than the 1975 crop.

Walnuts... plentiful with 1976 production around 7% less than the record 1975 crop.

GRAINS AND LEGUMES

Rice... plentiful. Smaller acreage led to production 9% lower than 1975's record, but 5% above the 1973-76 average.

Wheat... plentiful, with large carryin. Production at record 2,147 million bushels, slightly more than 1975's record and 14% above the 1973-76 average.

Corn... plentiful. The 1976 crop at 6,216 million bushels surpassed 1975's record by 7% and the 1973-75 average by 16%.

Dry beans... plentiful, with production 1% less than 1975 and 5% below the 1973-75 average. Dry peas... adequate. Production 21% under 1975 and 15% under 1973-75 average, due to reduced acreage.

Greenwood

by Pat Hatfield
The sympathy of the community is extended to the families of Jessie Williams and also that of William Wilkerson, both of whom passed away very recently.

Report from Greenwood Charge: The Charge held Family Night on Sunday evening, March 27, with a covered dish supper at 6 p.m. and a program of music from the Georgetown Old Time Religion Gospel singers, the program being arranged by Todd's Chapel.

Report from Hickory Ridge Congregational Methodist Church: We have selected pews for our sanctuary, and we hope to have both pews and carpet installed by Christmas.

Our next monthly covered dish supper will be Saturday, April 2, at 6:30. Following the supper, Miss Charlotte White will show us slides of her trip to Alaska.

Cheer Center News:

Week March 21-25: The best news we had this week was that Mrs. Doughten was feeling some better. We hope she will be home soon. Mrs. Anna Elliott is able to be back at the Center after an illness. We are glad to see her.

Three of our members, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Horner and Mrs. Eliza Foreman went to Roxana to meet with the Governor's Advisory Committee on Wed.

Happy birthday wishes were extended to Dorothy Kefauver, Ida Wooters, Daisy Bynes and Rosalie Hamilton, at our monthly birthday party, March 24.

Our Center was glad to welcome Estella Higgins, Georgianna Hobbs and Elmer Tull as new members. We are glad to have them.

Visitors with us this week were Babs and Jimmy Baynum, guests of Mr. and Mrs. Horner. Believe it or not, but members are getting their voices in shape for a Sing Along on Tuesday. Most members are looking forward to Finians' Rainbow, Wed. evening, by the Community Players of Dover. Just heard that several at the Center are planning a bus trip to Vermont this summer with some folks from the Roxana Cheer Center. More about this later.

OBITUARIES

Dover Man Dies In Headon Collision

FREDERICA-A Dover man, driving on the wrong side of U.S. 113 near here, was killed when his car collided head-on with a tractor-trailer, state police reported Saturday.

Clarence Hall Davidson, 33, of the Lakeland Trailer Court was dead on arrival at Kent General Hospital, Dover, after the 10:15 accident Friday night. The trucker, John Bivens, 44, of Pocomoke City, Md., suffered minor cuts and scrapes.

Davidson was driving north on U.S. 113 in the southbound lane just north of Little Heaven intersection when the two vehicles collided. Police are unsure why he was in the wrong lane.

The death brought to 28 the total killed on Delaware roads this year, compared to 21 in the same period last year.

On Jan. 19, Mr. Davidson was admitted to Kent General Hospital, Dover, with three bullet wounds of the upper body. His brother, John and John's wife, Margaret, are awaiting trial for attempted murder, police said.

In August 1975, Mr. Davidson walked away from a work-release project at Sussex Correctional Institution, where he was serving five years for burglary and breaking and entering. He also had a prior criminal record for a variety of offenses.

Mr. Davidson was unemployed.

Surviving are his wife, Jean P.; a stepdaughter, Wanda Hill; his parents, Clarence A. and Dora Myrtle Davidson, of Frederica; four brothers, Gene W. and D. Glenn, both of Dover, Philip N. of Frederica and John L. of Harrington; and four sisters, Grace Kimple of Columbia, S.C., Janice Santoro of Canoga Park, Calif., May Jo Emily of Frederica and Martha McCall of Smyrna.

Services will be this (Wednesday) afternoon at 1 at the Berry Funeral Home, NW Front Street, Milford. Interment will be in Odd Fellows Cemetery, Milford.

Guardsman Graduates

Coast Guard Chief Warrant Officer Charles J. Cannon Jr., whose wife Patricia is the daughter of John Ellingsworth of Milford, was graduated from Junior Officer Leadership and Management School.

The three-week course at the Coast Guard Reserve Training Center, Yorktown, Va., introduced the students to the latest leadership, training philosophies and techniques. They received instruction on the principles of group dynamics, interpersonal communication and motivation. In addition, they studied how to effectively plan, organize and control both personal work and that of their subordinates.

For Your Information

Dear friends,

We wish to reiterate that it is advisable to call the funeral director of your choice promptly after death occurs, regardless of the hour of the day or night. If your clergyman was not in attendance at death, courtesy dictates that he also be notified during the day, not that he first read of the death of a church member in the obituary column.

Respectfully,

William C. Bery

A Severe Winter For Plants

As almost everyone realizes, this has been a severe winter for broad-leaved evergreens. Plants like camellia, holly, evergreen magnolia and azaleas appear hardest hit, reports University of Delaware extension horticulturist Dr. Charles Dunham. But others, depending on exposure and age, are also damaged to varying degrees.

Despite the fact that the ground was frozen quite deeply, damage—at least at present—appears to have been caused mainly by drying out of plant tops. The youngest, most exposed leaves and twigs and those on the south sides of plants show the most injury.

Surprisingly, in light of the severe cold, the flower buds of deciduous trees and shrubs like forsythia and peach appear in relatively good shape. Damage to broadleaved evergreens will become more apparent as spring temperatures warm up, predicts Dunham. It is probably advisable to go ahead and start pruning out the obviously dead wood. This will make you feel better, anyway, as plants will look less unsightly. Some potential sources of disease will also be removed by doing this.

Prune back to what appear to be live buds and wood. It will probably be necessary to do the job again at a later date.

Don't be in a hurry to pull up damaged plants even if they appear dead, cautions the horticulturist. Many plants possess dormant buds which have the potential for growth when younger, more active buds are killed. These won't break into growth as soon as normal buds. Feeding plants with a soluble fertilizer will often aid in forcing these buds into earlier growth.

Since a great deal of pruning needs to be done and many open wounds are exposed for invasion of diseases, it is important to do some preventive spraying this spring. Bordeaux, if available, is an old standby which is safe to use on a large number of plants. But more modern fungicides like Benomyl will also be useful in some cases. Read the labels before applying.

In pruning out dead wood a careful job will pay big dividends. Prune back to live buds and branch angles and try to leave as little stub as possible. This will help wounds to eventually heal.

To help weakened plants become reestablished give them some extra TLC this summer, advises Dunham. Keep an organic mulch around their roots.

Make sure they are watered during dry spells. Feed them with an organic fertilizer now, or feed them monthly with a soluble fertilizer up until early July.

He has lived in the school district for six years and is employed as an Agricultural Products Inspector for the State of Delaware. In addition, he has accumulated sixty-six credits towards an associate degree in Business Administration at Delaware Technical and Community College, Terry Campus.

Whitt has been active in working with young adults in both Senior League and Big League baseball in Harrington.

He and his family attend the Felton Methodist Church where he is a member of the Board of Trustees, Council of Ministries, and the Pastor-Parish relations Committee.

He holds the office of past-Vice Grand and is a member of the Independent Order of the Odd Fellows, Felton Lodge #30, and was recently inducted into the Sarah Rebekah Lodge of Felton.

The following questions were asked of each candidate.

Q. Why are you running for the school board?

Ashley: "I feel that more parents should be involved and participate in school affairs."

Whitt: "I feel that there are a lot of things our school board has accomplished but there are many things that could be better."

Q. What improvements, if any, would you like to see in our school district?

Ashley: 1. "More communication between teachers, parents and administrators. 2. "I'd like to see a district wide parents advisory council to help coordinate programs as they are implemented in the district."

Whitt: "The one big improvement I would like to see is the board members going deeper into the background of prospective teachers and administrators." "I'd like to be assured that each student taking a required course would have a text book for that course. I would like to see the district establish an 'Outstanding Teacher of the Year' award which would provide an incentive for all the teachers in the district."

Q. Do you think the lines of communication between the school board and residents of the district are satisfactory? If not, how could they be improved?

Ashley: "No, it would be helpful if a representative of the teachers and a representative of the parents could have some input into the hiring of teachers and administrators. I'd like to see a committee selected to do a confidential survey of teachers and parents to ascertain how well they feel the district is meeting the needs of their children and ask their suggestions for improvements. Thereafter, the committee would report their findings to the school board."

Whitt: "No, I feel that rotating the location of school board meetings to the various communities that comprise the district could improve communications. I feel that more publicity prior to school board meetings and information to make the public aware of how they can go about expressing their concerns to the school board would be extremely helpful."

Q. There has been a great deal of talk about going to county-wide school districts. How do you feel about that? Ashley: "I don't like it because I feel it's removing the control from the parents. If they're going to be paying taxes to support it (the school) they should have more to say about what they want and need."

Whitt: "I'm for keeping the school districts the way they are now."

Of his ten years as a school board member Pizzadilli said, "I've thoroughly enjoyed it. I've learned a great deal particularly about tolerance. It's made me a better person and I feel I have contributed something to the community. Our school board has been a great group to work with; and although we do not always agree, we have always worked together as a unit to improve education for the children of the district."

A member of the State School Board Association for eight years, Pizzadilli was chairman of the Legislative Committee for four years, a delegate to the National Convention for four consecutive years and this past year served as President of the Association.

School board elections will be held on May 10. In order to file to run for the school board one must be a citizen of the State of Delaware and the Lake Forest School District. A prospective candidate must also secure fifteen signatures on a petition supporting candidacy. This petition can be obtained from the Kent County Clerk of the Peace located in the basement of the Kent County Court House, The Green, Dover.

Final date for filing is April 9.

Apr. 11 - Dress Revue Entry Deadline

Apr. 23 - Dress Revue Sussex Central High School, Georgetown, De.

4-Hers from Sussex, Kent and New Castle Counties are participating in the 28th Junior Broiler Contest which started March 18th.

Each contestant received 50 chicks, donated by hatcheries and service clubs. Members will feed and care for them over an 8-week period. After the 8-week period, the birds will be judged according to dressed weight, conformation, condition, appearance and uniformity. The Junior Broiler Finals are planned to be held on May 9-10, 1977.

Our 1977 Dress Revue

will be held April 23rd at the Sussex Central High School. The contest is designed for all 4-H members taking clothing projects. Members construct a garment and then model it the evening of the contest. The competition begins early in the afternoon with the judging of the garments. While the judges are hard at work -- so are the 4-Hers. They are busy modeling, making sure each turn is perfect, holding those shoulders back and of course practicing on a big smile.

After the stage is decorated and all scripts are perfected -- the show begins! The final product is a fantastic fashion show featuring the latest styles, beginning at 7:30 p.m. Anyone is welcome to attend -- after the show a Dress Revue Queen is named and she is accompanied by a five member court. All girls planning to enter this contest should send their entry in as soon as possible. The deadline is April 11.

Younger members are getting ready for the coming weekend. This Saturday and Sunday, Cape Henlopen State Park will be invaded by excited 4-Hers. The weekend includes recreation and educational programs. We will be featuring a special article and pictures at a later date -- Don't miss it!

F. Gary Simpson, right, recently has assumed the position of Publicity Director of the Harrington Raceway. He replaces Kenneth Walls who has taken a state position. Standing with Simpson are Robert Salmons, left who is holding his four year-old pacer, Pop Pop Skunk and groom Eugene Jordan.

Simpson Is New Publicity Director

Harrington Raceway announces that Kenneth C. Walls, their Publicity Director has recently resigned his position with the Raceway. Walls will be assuming new duties in the Department of Administrative Services for the State of Delaware.

Mr. Walls, a lifelong native of Kent County, has been associated with Harrington Raceway for the past three years and before that was employed by the Delaware Standard-Bred Development Board.

Mr. Walls' duties at the popular downstate racing oval will be taken over by Mr. F. Gary Simpson, who presently handles the Special Events Department for the Raceway.

Simpson will continue his duties in Special Events, booking parties for their Spring Race Meet which began March 27th.

Simpson, 29 years old, is a graduate of Milford High School and holds a Masters Degree from the University of Delaware in Agricultural Economics. After a short tour of duty with the Army Medical Service Corps, he joined Anderson-Stokes, Inc., a firm selling real estate in Rehoboth Beach, De. Since 1974, Simpson has been employed as Assistant Manager of the Delaware State Fair.

Simpson, born in Houston, is now living in Milford with his wife, the former Deborah Betts and daughter, Lindsay. His new duties at the track have already begun.

Sports Financial Statement Rendered

BRIDGEVILLE. The financial picture for the winter sports program at Woodbridge was exposed at last Wednesday's School Board meeting.

The breakdown was as follows:

The basketball program showed a loss of $372.86. This prompted H.S. Principal Johnston to deliver a message to the School Board when they were discussing the scheduling next year of either 17 games or 12. Johnston pointed out that with state cuts eminent, the Board should look at ways to conserve money, because "...after all aren't we here primarily for the academic program rather than the sports". Johnston also pointed out basketball should be cut for it is costing the School District based on the figures $21 per game which is a loss. Johnston also pointed out the State is talking and discussing the prospects of closing the schools in the coldest part of the winter next year, which means that the 12 game schedule would suffice for it would be at a time when the students returned at the latter end of January or first of February.

Wrestling Receipts (6 Matches) $1107.57.
Ticket Takers $45.
Police $105.
D.W.O.A. $250.
Basketball Receipts (19 Games) $2051.64.

Fish Attractors Evaluated

The Division of Fish and Wildlife is evaluating the effect of fish attractors in two of Delaware's freshwater ponds. Two brush shelters have been placed in McGinnis Pond near Canterbury. The shelters consist of Christmas trees bundled together, weighted and sunk in about eight foot of water. The Shelters, which should concentrate panfish (especially crappie) are marked with floating buoys to aid in their location by fisherman.

An artificial tire reef has been placed in Blairs Pond in Milford with the aid of members of the Delaware Federation of Bassmasters. Small fishes are attracted to the reef and in turn attract large game fish such as largemouth bass, crappie, yellow perch, white perch and pickerel. Stakes and a floating buoy will mark the reef for fishermen.

Fisherman interviews in 1976 provided background data on fishing pressure and angler harvest. This information will be collected again in 1977 and compared with the 1976 information to determine if the fish attractors affect angler success.

Each time you use car-top carriers, check all straps and clamps before you drive off, warns the Delaware Safety Council. Double check an hour later and each time you stop for gas or coffee.

Sports Program In State Of Flux

BRIDGEVILLE. The Woodbridge School Board heard from High School Principal James Johnston last Wednesday night when he said that with the State cuts proposed for the school for the coming academic year, with the pending resignation of George Durig as Athletic Director, and the loss of high school assistant Principal Ingram the sports program at Woodbridge was in deep trouble. Johnston said "...gentlemen, I cannot assume the entire load... alone. He also pointed out that head football coach Jim Foster had resigned and as yet there was no replacement. To replace Foster, the Board must make room for a new coach on the faculty.

Durig also pointed out some changes by the Henlopen Conference relating to the basketball schedule next year. The conference recently brought forth a program whereby the schools in the conference next year will be required to play only 17 games, but the last 12 games of the year will be conference games. Most of the coaches want to play a seventeen game schedule in order for their team to be in shape in case they make it to the playoffs.

Coach Kay Smith of Woodbridge told Durig that she preferred a 17 game schedule in order for her girls to be prepared for games in case they got to the playoffs against upstate teams...who would be prepared.

Durig pointed out that the most favorable solution would be "...to recommend adoption of the 12 game schedule, because you can always play five games before the 12 game consecutive conference schedule begins.

It was also reported by Durig that beginning next year, the conference will require scorekeepers to be 21 years old. Board member Robert Messick of Farmington said "...the conference many times gets us into expensive situations."

Durig also reported that Col. Richardson in Maryland had served notice on the school that they would not play Woodbridge on September 30th at the opponent's field. The Maryland School has been instructed by its conference to play 10 games within the conference. Their first game is scheduled to be held on September 30 with a conference opponent. The Maryland school had a two year contract with Woodbridge. This leaves Woodbridge with a nine game schedule. As yet W.H.S. does not have a high school football coach, and Durig pointed out to the Board that maybe they should try to reschedule the game with Col. Richardson because the new football coach at Woodbridge may want to play a 10 game schedule. At the present time, the prospect of getting an outsider for the role of football coach seems remote... because there is simply no room on the faculty. Board member Messick suggested that Durig not pursue the Richardson matter to compel enforcement, but to try to schedule a game with someone else.

Woodbridge Junior High will have a softball program this Spring since Joseph Pietrowski has consented to assume this role.

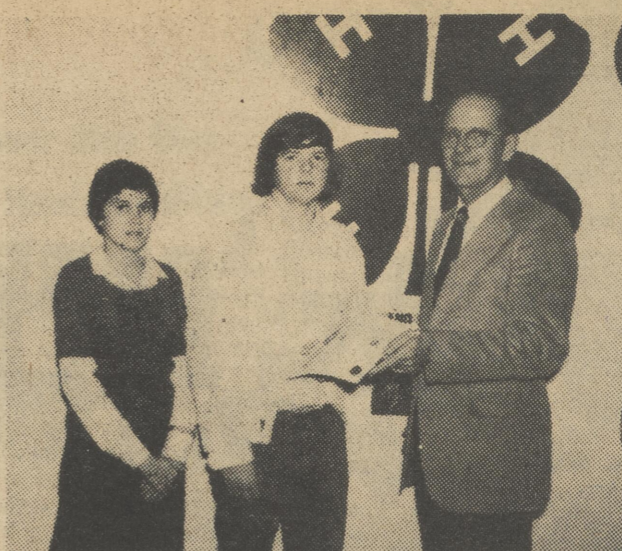

Harness Season Ends

DOVER-Dover Downs Raceway concluded its 1976-77 harness season Saturday night before a crowd of 3392 fans who wagered $256,152 on the 12 race program.

Average attendance for the meeting just closed was 2096, down 11 % from the 2361 average registered during the 122-day meeting conducted in 1975-76. Average handle for the season was down 4.2 % with $149,320 wagered on the average night compared to $155,911 last season.

Jim Porter of Goldsboro, Md. was the Dash Champion for the meeting. His 62 wins was tops among all drivers at Dover Downs and his 423 starts set a record for a single season at Dover Downs.

Hubert Jackson of Queen Anne, Md. was the U.D.R.S. Champion for the meet. After battling down to the wire with Wayne Smullin of Seaford, Jackson managed to finish on top with a 354 percentage compared to 352 for the second place finishing Smullin. Sam Belote of Harrington finished second in the Dash category and third in the U.D.R.S. division.

Receiving the 1st Annual 4-H State Camp Scholarship Award is Karen Taylor, Seaford Blue Jays 4-H Club and John Reed, Greenwood Hi-Flyers 4-H Club. These 4-H'ers were selected for their outstanding 4-H club work in Sussex County. Presenting the awards is Mr. Ken McIlvain, president of the Sussex County 4-H Leaders Association.

Sunny Side Up

Somewhat I've never thought of chickens as being either stringy and gaunt, or tug-bottomed, obese and awkward. But that's how Erma Rombauer and earlier generations of cooks had to size up the chickens they prepared for Sunday dinner.

In an older edition of "The Joy of Cooking," Mrs. Rombauer says chickens, however shaped, are world citizens to be classed along with Coca Cola, the Singer Sewing Machine, and the Christian Science Monitor. Here in Delaware no one would argue with that.

Fortunately for the consumer, chickens have been re-designed since the tug-bottomed days. They are now uniformly plump and tender. But I think some genetic scientists have gone too far. They have developed a featherless chicken.

These experimental chickens are as naked as jaybirds, and they're embarrassed about it. They are prone to ulcers, chills, nerves, and depression, which is entirely understandable.

By breeding them without feathers, growers might raise them more economically in the future because ordinary chickens spend about one-fourth of their food intake on developing feathers. There's no demand, however, for Kentucky fried chicken feathers.

On the other hand, naked chickens use all their food to grow bigger. According to the developers, these birds also have less fat and shrink less during cooking. But some poultry specialists question the practicality of featherless fowls. They say the quality of the meat might be reduced because the protection of the feathers would be lacking. Also, the whole poultry industry would have to be drastically revised.

And what chicken grower could endure being surrounded by thousands of neurotic chickens without getting a bit balmy himself?

Well, we likely won't have to worry about that for a while.

In the meantime, extension food and nutrition specialist Marguerite Krackhardt has some pointers about buying chickens. First of all, she says chickens are classified according to weight, not according to the way they are often cooked. Broilers and fryers are the same thing-tender, young chickens about eight weeks old, weighing 1-1/2 to 3-1/2 pounds. A roaster is about three weeks older and weighs up to five pounds. Roasters may cost more per pound, but have a higher proportion of meat. Although the meat of the younger bird is a bit more tender, Marguerite says there is no reason why you can't cook any chicken any way you like.

Chickens packaged in so-called bonus packs, family packs, or value packs may or may not be a good buy for your family. The reason, says Marguerite, is that they usually contain three of everything, including three sets of giblets, necks and backs. The price per pound may be lower, but if you won't use the etceteras, these family packs may not save you any money.

As far as I'm concerned, the proponents of featherless poultry are missing the boat. They should concentrate on developing a giblet-less chicken with only legs, breasts and wings, and a very short neck.

Museum Opens

The Section of Archaeology of the Division of Historical and Cultural Affairs announces the opening of the Island Field Museum to the public for the 1977 season. The Museum will be open weekends from April 2 and 3 through May 28 and 29, then daily May 31 through September 2.

Arrangements for group tours can be made by contacting Cliff Lefferts, Historic Site Supervisor, or Abbey Feisterstein, Secretary, at the Division of Historical and Cultural Affairs, Section of Archaeology, Island Field Museum and Research Center, R. D. 2, Box 126, Milford Delaware 19963 or at (302) 335-5431.

Gab Fest

One of my favorite writers, Joan Mills, says: "Oh, the promises of April! They are made in bitter winds, in sleet, in thunder rolling down the mountainside. They are made in frosty mornings, in clouds thinning where the sun insists, and in single souls like mine. It's a long way out of winter through April. But the promises are kept...and everyone is green."

Now is the time to share another beautiful poem by Milford's Cheryl Hoey: She calls it "Hope". It is cold and dreary. There seems no relief. I examine the bushes... No sign of a leaf. The birds are huddling on wires overhead. The stubble of the field is shredded and dead. Is this the same yard which once was so green? The winter has cropped it; the wind swept it clean. The dead flowers stand bedraggled and charred. And life's at a standstill All over the yard. That bleached clump of weeds...I'll go pull them out!

Green shoots, Were you hiding? Oh, why did I doubt? Tulip bulbs down below Have again given birth,

Girl Scout News

For the past ten weeks a group of Kent County Girl Scouts has been learning to roller skate in order to earn skating badges. On March 19, the girls passed all their requirements and will now receive their badges. The lessons were given at the Diamond State Roller Rink, Felton, and the instructor was Mrs. Shirley Jones. From Greenwood Troop 138 were Julie Henderson, Josephine Harrison, Karen Drummond.

From the Harrington Troop No. 686 were Linda Paskey, Jo Ann Krouse, Roberta Ricker, Christy Wise, Stacy Moffett, Allyson Coppock, Toddy Hughes, Rebecca Brown, Lori Ann Wyatt, Cheryl Morris, Michelle White, Nancy Fleming, Julie Paskey, (a Brownie), Faith White and Michelle Hill. The Harrington leader was Mrs. Barbara Brown. That concludes the Girl Scout lessons for this season.

And pushed their young offspring up through the hard earth.

Oh, there's joy in the promise...Hope fills the hearts of men

God, in His goodness, Will bring Spring again! This year, it seems that March insists on going out like a stubborn old goat, galloping his wild horses of winds over the fields, kicking up dust storms, and around the house, rattling the windows until we become weary at the antics of something with which we cannot cope. On the practical side, the tractors are buzzing in the fields, turning over the good earth, and the screaming of the gulls is heard in the land.

Morris, my yellow kitten has evidently heard the call of spring and when he was allowed out to play, he took off and did not return home for a day and a half. He returned, tired, hungry and cold, but I would not say penitent. I do have a hard time keeping a yellow cat.

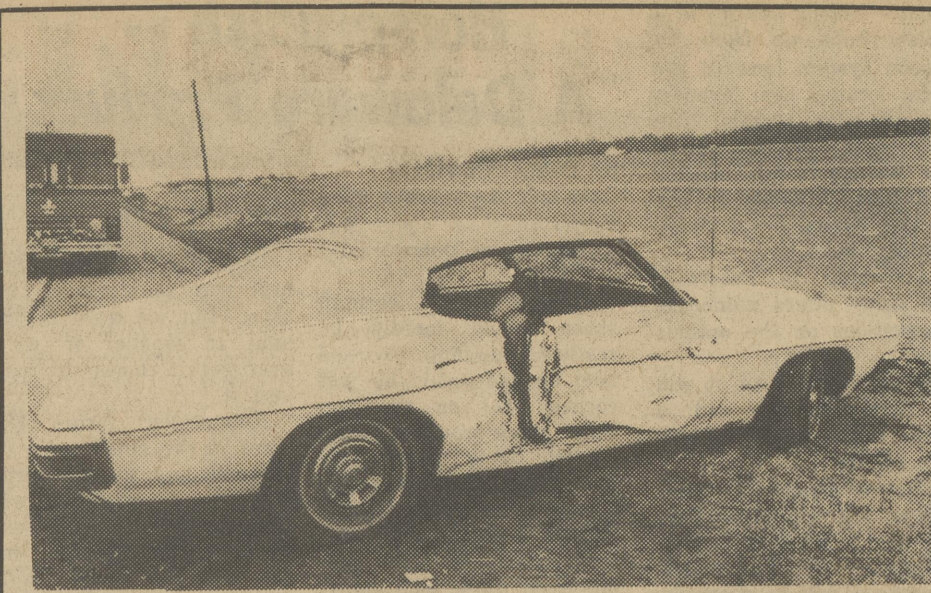

This was a special week for our family. On Wednesday evening, our Karen was married in a candlelight service in their church in Newark. Weddings are so lovely. There is nothing quite like the drama of that moment when the first notes of the organ sound, calling for the bride and she comes down to the altar to meet the man of her choice. All brides are beautiful; I have never seen a homely one, but of course this one was our own Karen, and to us she was very precious and lovely. And, Matthew, standing tall and handsome in his uniform was special and well-loved also. As a family, we are most happy with her choice.

Time is really hastening on. I realized how soon summer would be here, when I heard Dad ordering supplies for the Lions Club Chicken Barbecue, which will begin Memorial Day weekend. That means that we won't have to worry about what to have for Sunday dinners. The chicken, right off the grill, and wrapped well in aluminum foil will keep hot for three hours. Many stop and have it packed thus for a picnic. One time we picked some up and drove to Media, Pa., which is about a three-hour trip, and it was hot and no need of re-heating. It is so handy to entertain a large group in the summer. Sometimes I make a bowl of potato salad. The rolls that come with it are fine, but when grandson, Blair, is a guest, Grandmother makes him hot baking powder biscuits, because he loves them so.

The howling winds of March induced me to make up a big pot of homemade beef soup. That will take us through the weekend. I like corn in my soup, but Dad doesn't. I've just learned. I did not put it in because I cannot handle it, minus the upper teeth. But there are lots of string beans, carrots, turnips, celery, tomatoes, onions, green peppers and cabbage. And for dessert I made a big batch of custard pudding. (No, I did not forget the cornstarch this time!!)

In ancient Rome, sprigs of parsley were passed around during funeral orations and nibbled on by the audience.

On Monday afternoon the intersection of County Road 385 and State Route 12 was the scene of a minor two car accident. The 68 Ford in the top picture was operated by Lois Foraker of Frederica, who was transported to Kent General Hospital by the Felton Volunteer Fire Co. Ambulance where she was treated for a bump on the head. The operator of the vehicle in the bottom photo was Willis Townsend of Felton. A passenger in Townsend's car, William M. Vincent Jr., also of Felton, was transported to the Dover Air Base Hospital by the Felton Ambulance where he was treated for a bruised right thigh. Townsend was charged with failure to remain stopped. (staff Photo by Ray Blanchette)

Funds Approved For Woodbridge Schools

BRIDGEVILLE. Title I Coordinator Miss Marie Shockey told the Woodbridge School Board last Wednesday night that the Federal Government has approved the Woodbridge School District for $146,286 for the next academic year. In order for this program to become finalized, it must receive

Ruritan Club Sponsors Dance

The V.C.F. Ruritan Club sponsored a benefit dance for a heart surgery patient at the Felton School on March 5th. Net proceeds totaled $1,200.00.

The Magnolia Ruritan Club together with the local Fire Company and REACT members is well on the way to organizing a Community Watch Program. The neighborhood watch programs are being used in New Castle County as a method of crime detection and prevention.

These community groups work in close contact with the Delaware State Police. Robert Wrenn, Ruritan National Vice President will be the key not speaker at the Spring Rally to be held by the Delmarva-New Jersey District on April 23rd at the Hebron Fire Hall, Hebron, Maryland. All Ruritans, wives and guests are invited to attend.

In ancient Rome, sprigs of parsley were passed around during funeral orations and nibbled on by the audience.

State approval. Miss Shockey also addressed the Board concerning the "Right to Read Program", which will become official in April if approved. If approved the project will be funded for $82,000 (approximately $41,000 for each year). The program calls for the hiring of reserve teachers...1 for each elementary school to work with children and teachers and to provide in service training for classroom teachers. "Last year" ...as Miss Shockey pointed out, no school district in the State was approved for the Federal funds.

David Winski North Bridgeville principal reported on the Federal program, Project Childfind, which attempts to locate school age and pre-school handicapped out of school youngsters or any type of handicapped. This year's funding is for $4,912 with the first part location and identification of youngsters to serve them if services currently exist. Future funding would be concerned with the development of new programs where they do not now exist.

Both programs at the Woodbridge School District under the past superintendent, Dr. Foster Flint, have rated high priority. In other matters before the Board, the approval of the purchase of a freezer for the North Bridgeville and Greenwood Elementary was granted. Mr. Winski developed a plan whereby the District could receive supplemental revenues from the State. He reported the State under one plan would pay 75 % and the District 25 % for the cost of the freezers.

Watch Out For Poison Ivy!

Spring! To my ninth grader it means fishing worms. To my husband it means crabgrass (the only kind we grow). For me, spring dampness means the frizzies. But in our older son the arrival of spring can cause blind, unreasoning panic if he doesn't maintain a good grip on himself. To him, spring is Poison Ivy. In fact, just the words can make him break out.

I have tramped through woods, meadows and underbrush all my life, in all part of the country, and have never had a sign of blister or itch. Instead, the wrath of the Poison Ivy God has been vented without mercy on Chris. It usually happens to him at the worst possible time, such as when he wants to look gorgeous for the spring dance.

His blistering rash is never confined to a patch here, a blotch there. The burning, itchy evil creeps all over eyes, ears, mouth between fingers and toes, even his nostrils. His 24-hour-a-day agony lasts about three weeks and is enough to make a mother's heart bleed.

According to home management specialist Coral Morris, poison ivy causes temporary insanity in about 80 percent of us each year. She says dermatologists have indicated anyone can get it, at any age, any season of the year. It's unlikely that a person will ever develop an immunity, even after repeated exposure. The odds are never in our favor. If we happen to brush against the plant and don't wash immediately, we're likely done for.

This Al Capone of the plant world is found in one form or another in every state, growing under many different conditions. It may appear as a spreading ground cover, a woody shrub, or a vine traveling up a tree or telephone pole. The only sure clue in identifying the plant is its infamous three-leaf structure. But the leaves are foolers, too. Their edges may be smooth, toothed, or lobed, sometimes all on the same plant.

Avoiding the plant won't necessarily save you from your fate. The poisonous substance can be transferred to your hands from clothing, tools, the fur of dogs and cats. Even smoke from a burning poison ivy plant can cause a severe reaction. Chris claims he can get a rash if the wind blows the wrong way.

If the worst should happen, our family medical book cheerfully advises "avoid scratching." That's like telling Charro not to shimmy.

Coral's advice makes more sense. She says keep the affected areas clean and use a bland lotion such as calamine. Wet compresses may help, and perhaps soaking in a hot tub. Normally it isn't necessary to see a doctor. But occasionally the poisoning can be extremely severe, with swelling, nausea and weakness. When this happened to Chris, the doctor treated him with cortisone, which provided quick relief.

Poison ivy isn't contagious, although it certainly looks as if it ought to be. The juicy blisters can't spread the rash or give it to another person, according to dermatologists. Only coming in direct contact with the poisonous sap will cause the rash.

So even though luck has been with me so far, I'm still going to treat that innocent-looking three-leaf plant with respect. This just may be my year to suffer with the rest of you.

Lions Club Hears 'Weatherman'

The local Lions Club members were entertained at their regular meeting last Monday evening by James Baxter, President of the Delaware Weather Modification System. He explained the importance of getting sufficient amounts of rainfall to obtain maximum crop yield and subsequently boosting the agriculture economy for Delaware.

tions. Among these is a direct hook up from the lagoon system here to the plant located near Frederica via pipe system. The City could possibly store the sewage in our lagoons and pump steadily to the county system or to install holding tanks.

According to Peterson, the study offers numerous suggestions on the options open to the City.

One thing is sure, it will all cost money, and a great deal, possibly a million dollars.

Citizens should be present to ask questions Friday night, since a representative of Richardson Associates will be available to answer questions about the study they have submitted.

This is a direct opportunity to take part in the future of the community, since whatever decision is ultimately made, present and future residents will have to help pay for it.

Horseradish -- A Delaware Product

by Debbie Clayton Assistant Agricultural Editor University of Delaware

Without it, cocktail sauce would merely be zestless ketchup, corned beef on rye would be just corned beef and Tiger sauce would be tame indeed. Some people hate it but those who like it hot wouldn't be caught without horseradish.

If you're like most people—even those who eat it regularly—you probably thought horseradish was manufactured, not grown. Or else you never thought of it at all.

Horseradish is, however, cultivated in this country and the farmers who grow it give a great deal of thought to this unwieldy annual root crop. In fact, Delaware horseradish producer Don Appenzeller thought about it the entire two months his 50-acre crop was frozen into the ground this winter.

"Actually, that's the best way to store it," he says. "But we were beginning to wonder if we'd ever get a chance to harvest it."

Appenzeller farms 450 acres in the small town of Magnolia, on the outskirts of Dover. Though his primary crops are potatoes, soybeans and peaches, he also manages to get in a small cash crop of horseradish each year. He plants it in early spring but doesn't begin harvesting until November since horseradish makes its greatest growth during the late summer and it "takes a good frost to kill the leaves before we begin digging the roots," according to Appenzeller.

Harvest usually extends well into January, yielding an extra crop during what are otherwise unproductive months. But this year Appenzeller barely got his horseradish out of the ground before it was time to plant it again.

Appenzeller shows Kent County Agent Bob Mulrooney one of the horseradish roots harvested this year. The solid, white portion in the center of the root was almost hollowed out on much of his previous year's crop and Mulrooney helped him work out the problem.

If it seems fitting that a small state like Delaware should produce a small crop like horseradish, consider that the state's two growers—both located in Magnolia—produce a sizeable portion of the East Coast supply of this hot root. Though the national crop is too small for accurate records (farmers must list it under "Processing Vegetables" on the Crop Reporting Service forms), Appenzeller estimates that about 10 percent of the country's horseradish is produced here. Other than a small cluster of growers in the St. Louis area and scattered acreage in Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Maryland and California, there is no commercial production in the U.S.

Not really a radish at all but a member of the mustard family, horseradish is more than a kassin' cousin to the turnip and the rutabaga. The major difference, of course, is the fact horseradish's strong, hot flavor. It is so hot, in fact, that most insects and diseases won't touch it.

Thus Appenzeller was understandably alarmed in the winter of 1976 when—after 20 years of producing the solid, white horseradish root preferred by the processors—he found that much of his crop was hollow in the center with brownish-colored inner walls.

"It was still edible," he says, "and the processors accepted a lot of it, but they wouldn't have for long. What it boiled down to was: either solving the problem or going out of business."

Appenzeller went to his county agent for advice. From Kent county extension agent Bob Mulrooney, he learned there was a possibility his horseradish was suffering from a boron deficiency. And, though he had never sprayed his horseradish crop for anything, he set about planning a spray program.

"We had had some minor problems with flea beetles and leaf spots in the past," he says. "So I decided to hit all of the possible trouble areas at once. We sprayed with boron, a fungicide and an insecticide all at the same time. We did it first in July with a ground rig and then came back in August and flew it on."

Conclusion to Appenzeller's spicy problem next week.
