

Easter: A Day Of Hope

Ed. Note: The following article was submitted by a long-time Sunday School teacher of Trinity Methodist Church.

by Manlove S. Bradley

What a glorious day is Easter! For the Christian, the Easter story comes alive again with new power.

As we approach Easter morning in the church today we experience a mounting joy. We know what took place, and we are prepared to enter into the meaning of the Resurrection with faith and a sense of victory.

The followers of Jesus came to the first day of the week after the Crucifixion with very different feelings. Fear, frustration, disappointment, and sadness dogged their steps.

Joseph of Ar-i-ma-the-a with the help of Nicodemus (who came to Jesus by night) wrapped his body in linen and put in Joseph's own tomb hewn in rock, where never man had lain.

Pilate grants a guard and they put a seal on the tomb lest the disciples steal the body of Jesus. Truly this was the darkest day the world has ever known.

The Pharisees were probably gloating over their triumph—truly as it seemed He saved others—Himself He cannot save. It is finished.

Then on Easter morn, with the break of day, the risen Lord appeared before Mary in the garden, and then to the disciples and in a burst of heavenly splendor there broke upon the world the dazzling proof that the eternal qualities of the Master's life and soul had conquered death.

The grave can claim no victory over the soul that has its trust in God. The soul of a saved man never dies. It's the soul that lives. Kingdoms and empires come and go; gold and silver may turn to dust and mighty armies lose their strength; the shams and petty schemes of our life fade into nothingness, and all earthly things eventually disappear from view. But for the soul that has been filled with the life of eternity as found in Jesus Christ, there is the Easter promise of life indestructible, eternal and that fadeth not away.

Who can separate such a soul from the love of God? Neither death, nor life, nor angels, nor principalities, nor any other creature, shall be able to separate us from the love of God, which is in Christ Jesus our risen Lord.

A belief in the resurrection has been producing spiritual fruit in the lives of Christian disciples through the centuries. The Christian soul does not live and thrive on a lie.

The fact of the resurrection is not just a great historical occasion for us to believe. It is something for us to live day by day. It did not occur 200 years ago just to astonish a few people who still managed to keep their faith in the crucified teacher of Nazareth.

Is it any wonder that Easter is called a day of Hope?

Chambers Announces For School Board

William Clifton Chambers

by Margo Farrow

CANTERBURY. Cliff Chambers, 48, announced Tuesday he will seek the one opening on the Lake Forest School Board when elections are held next month.

By making the announcement, Chambers joins David L. Whitt of Felton and Elizabeth Ashley, also of Canterbury in the race shaping up when long time board member James Pizzadilli retires.

When asked about his decision to seek the seat, Chambers remarked, "I've been active in the Athletic Booster Club and the Band Boosters for the past three years and I think I can help."

Chambers says he has been attending the Lake Forest School Board meetings on a regular basis for the past six months or more and he feels it would take any new board member about a year to get oriented as to the board's scope in dealing with so many people and the size of the budget.

He did not have any specific areas in which he feels needs immediate attention in the district, but he quipped, "I'm not afraid of problems."

A native Delawarean, Chambers has lived in the Canterbury area for 47 of his 48 years, having attended the then Felton school system, and graduating from Caesar Rodney High School.

His wife, Anne, has taught school for 18 years, for 17 years at Felton in the fourth grade, and only this year switching to teaching kindergarten at Lake Forest South Elementary B.

The couple has two sons, Scott, 15, a student at Lake Forest High School, and Tom, 9, a student at Lake Forest North Elementary.

Chambers told the Journal sports is a large part of his life, during business, as well as leisure hours, being presently the manager of the Delmarva Sporting Goods, Dover.

He is also active in the Little League program in Felton, as well as the Senior and Big Leagues in Harrington, having served as vice president of the Senior League last year.

He is also a member of the Odd Fellows Lodge No. 30 in Felton and has served in numerous capacities with the organization.

He has also been president of the Boosters' Club for two years.

Chambers said he had the required number of signatures required for petition, which he intended to file Tuesday.

Filing date for the Lake Forest School Board is Friday.

Margaret Turner, David Hooper and Kathlyn Gray are among the teachers visiting Kent County on an exchange basis from Kent County, England. The teachers will be in the county until April 18 observing, speaking to classes and taking in the sights.

Kent, England Meets Kent, Delaware

Thirty-one teachers from England are observing Delaware schools in an exchange program organized by the State Department of Public Instruction.

The Lake Forest School District is being visited by three of the visitors, all of whom are at the Lake Forest High School. During their stay, the teachers will address the students until the Easter recess. They will later tour state agencies and historical points in Delaware as well as area points of interest.

All are traveling at their own expense, with lodging provided by Delaware teachers.

The three teachers visiting in the Lake Forest School District are Margaret Turner (history), David Hopper (industrial arts) and Kathlyn Gray (history and economics). Their host teachers are: Mrs. Eileen Redden, Dover; Mrs. Judy Marsh, Milford and Ronald Gumienny, Felton, respectively. The host teachers locally will, in turn, be hosted by their English counterparts this summer.

When the Journal interviewed the three visitors, they were just recovering from jet lag and the six hour time difference they were experiencing here. None had known each other previously, although all were employed by the Kent County School System in England.

First impressions ranged from remarking over the expanse of wide, open spaces in Delaware to a reaction to an American television show, "The Price Is Right."

Of the trio, David Hopper has been in the United States several times. While in Delaware, he had hopes of viewing an apiary as well as doing some sailing. He remarked on the climate in Delaware, which reached the high 70's on the day of the interview, as being similar to the English summer.

Miss Gray said she had done quite a bit of comparison shopping and that prices were comparable, although the group agreed the standard of living was about half as high in England as they had had the chance to view in Delaware.

Of American television, Hopper quipped "How do you stand it?" All agreed they felt the overall quality of public television in England without commercials was higher than what they had seen to date here.

The student body at Lake Forest was observed as being relaxed without losing their overall purpose of learning.

The three Lake Forest teachers will no doubt look forward to their trip to England as much and will have as many plans crammed into the three weeks as their English counterparts are currently undertaking.

According to Mr. Gumienny, anyone could apply for the exchange trip, and he feels fortunate in having the opportunity to view the original Kent County, which has its own Dover, by the way.

Local Students Tour Spain

A group of local students will be spending next week in Spain this year. The participants and Mrs. Faith Carroll, chaperone, will leave Saturday, April 2 from Kennedy International Airport and return Easter Sunday, April 10. Their itinerary includes Malaga and the Costa Del Sol, Sevilla, Cordoba, Granada, Toledo and Madrid.

The students will also have the chance to participate in an optional excursion to Tangiers, Africa, via hydrofoil where they will see Cape Spartel, Hercules' Cave and the famous Casbah.

The group is traveling with the American Institute for Foreign Study (AIFS), which is one of the largest and most experienced foreign study and travel organizations in the world.

Mrs. Faith Carroll is the Spanish teacher for Chipman Junior School and Lake Forest High School. She has chaperoned two other study-travel tours which went to Spain for six weeks in 1972 and to Mexico in 1975.

Among the students for the district who are planning to participate in the tour with Mrs. Carroll are: Ellen Baker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clark Baker of Harrington; Brenda Courtney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Courtney of Felton; John Callaway, son of Mr. and Mrs. Nyle Callaway of Harrington; Aaron Moore, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Moore of Viola; Carla Moore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Griffith of Harrington; Carole Muehleisen, daughter of Mr. Tom Muehleisen of Felton and Mrs. Mary Muehleisen of Harrington; and Melanie Ware, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Ware of Felton.

This year the Spanish Club at Lake Forest High School earned enough money to pay the way for one student to go free to Spain. A drawing was held on January 26 when Mr. Griffin, principal, drew the lucky name. The recipient was Brenda Courtney, a third year Spanish language student. Brenda hosted a Panamanian exchange student for four weeks this year and also plans to go to Panama this summer on a similar exchange program.

Council Changes Meeting Date

HARRINGTON. Citizens normally expecting to read about the Harrington City Council meeting in this week's issue of the Harrington Journal will have to wait, since the council decided last month to change meeting nights to the second Tuesday of the month.

At this writing, eleven items had already accumulated on the agenda for the meeting. Although not listed at this writing, one item no doubt facing council discussion will be the city's sewer problem, for which there was a public hearing last Friday night. (See related article).

Felton Gets Radar

FELTON. During this community's town council meeting Monday night, it was announced the community's newly purchased radar unit will be installed April 11 in the town's police car. The town's policeman Carl McIlroy will be instructed in how to use the unit and will be qualified upon instruction of teaching others to use the unit.

The unit will be certified yearly for the next five years at no charge to the town. After the five years,

To View Housing Code

DOVER. Kent County Levy Court announced a public hearing will be held April 26 regarding a housing code for the county. The hearing will take place during the Levy Court's monthly night meeting, which begins at 7:30 p.m.

Hearing Had Everything But Public

by Margo Farrow

"Due to a lack of interest, tomorrow will be cancelled"

In our so-called enlightened age we presumably make feeble attempts at being informed, but not through public hearings.

Those are the all-important meetings, advertised publicly a month or more in advance dealing with plans to begin, change or do away with citizen services. Almost always they mean spending money, and most frequently they are forgotten, ignored or avoided.

Then, after decisions are made, the roof is raised. "Why didn't I know about this?" irate Joe citizen snorts, over his second cup of coffee as his frame drapes comfortably over a stool at a local eatery. "If I'd been there, I'd have said... At this point, it's too late usually, to do anything, but pay up and shut up."

Harrington had another public hearing Friday night, this time about the future of the sewer system, which has until July 1, 1978, to shape up or face possible legal action.

Any suggested solution will cost money, and it will be the council's ultimate decision finally to determine what route the community will take.

Of the six council in the community, only Councilmen Gary Home-wood and Earl McColley attended the meeting. Also present were Mayor Arthur Cahall and City Manager Dave Peterson. Also present were two engineering representatives from Richardson, Associates, who were available to explain the result of the detailed study prepared by the firm to solve Harrington's present sewer problems. Other than one member from the local press and several city employees who were present for only brief intervals, not one citizen from the community came. As one of the city fathers observed, "We could say there was no citizen dissent."

True, not at this point; that will come when the decision is made, and the bill is ready to be paid. Then the councilmen's phones will be jumping off the hook.

There is a complete booklet available at City Hall which gives a detailed accounting of numerous possible alternatives the City could take for correcting its sewer problem, which costs us now.

It is still not too late to speak up, but it soon will be.

The council will no doubt view the possible solutions at its April 12 meeting, since something should be started by April 15 if the city is to hope for getting any grant monies. If we miss out on the grant monies, we may have to foot the bill ourselves, an interesting prospect when we're already in the red.

Armed Robbery Attempt

HARRINGTON. Local police were notified through a citizen band radio alert last Thursday afternoon around 1:15 p.m. of an attempted armed robbery at Peck Brothers, the local Southern States store. A juvenile, whose age has been given as 14 and 16 years, entered the store located on Harrington Avenue, and allegedly drew a knife on store co-owner Tom Peck with intent to rob him.

According to police, Peck went for a gun, and the juvenile fled from the store with Peck in pursuit. With the assistance of Sterling Mock, of the Harrington Food Rite, and a passenger in the Mock car, who were passing by, the juvenile was apprehended by Peck.

Local authorities arrested the youth and charged him with attempted armed robbery, possession of a deadly weapon during commission of a felony and conspiracy in the second degree.

Also arrested after further investigation of the incident was Richard M. Mitchell, 18, of Harrington. He was charged with conspiracy in the second degree and was committed to Sussex Correctional Institute in default of $1500 bond.

The juvenile was committed to Stevenson House in default of a $1500 bond. The case is pending.

This is the result of a fire of suspicious origin. Several of these fires have ravaged local buildings in recent months. See page 4 for more.

Garden Revolution Sweeping Towns And Cities

What can you do with a tiny backyard, soil like concrete, polluted air and the neighbor's cats and dogs? These are only a few of the difficulties that face the would-be urban gardener. But, says University of Delaware extension garden specialist Dave Tatnall, these are no reason for despair. There's plenty you can do.

The green, gardening revolution hasn't stopped at the suburbs—it's sweeping towns and cities, too, these days. Suddenly the city dweller is taking a second look at his surroundings and deciding that, like his country cousin, he can grow big luscious tomatoes, crisp cucumbers and heaps of green beans.

Tatnall says there are many reasons for this garden renaissance—higher food costs; more concern for health, nutrition and the environment; reaction to the ever-increasing sophistication of life; and so on.

But what's really making today's backyard garden possible is the great advance in technology.

This has spawned an amazing assortment of garden aids—new kinds of fertilizers, pesticides, plant propagation systems, vastly improved plant varieties, etc. All these are making gardening a lot easier, with better results than ever before.

Informational services have improved, too. There is more and better coverage in newspapers, magazines and even in garden catalogs. Radio and TV play an important part, too. There also has been a virtual flood of garden books and government publications in recent years.

And then there's that old gardener's friend, the Cooperative Extension Service. Rural folk have long known about this government service which is administered through state land-grant institutions (such as the University of Delaware). Now urban people are getting the word, too. The Extension Service offers a wide selection of publications on vegetable and other types of gardening, most of them free and available through your county extension office.

Once armed with determination and a little knowledge, the urban gardener can set about selecting his little plot of ground and get his garden under way. The requirements for success are simple, mainly plenty of sunshine, good soil drainage and a reasonably level surface.

You can grow a productive garden in quite a small space—a 10 by 15 foot area, for example. Or your garden may be limited to a balcony or even your windowsill. The person who doesn't have any chance to garden at home might try one of the new community gardens or rental plots that are springing up in many areas.

Selecting vegetables for a small garden is easy. Many varieties take up amazingly little room. These include popular types like onions, leaf lettuce, radishes, carrots, snap beans and tomatoes (which can be easily staked to take up less room). Repeated crops can be harvested from the same piece of ground when quick maturing kinds are planted. Remember though, cautions the specialist, to plant only those varieties you and your family enjoy eating, regardless of garden size.

Soil preparation is the next big step. It's a miracle what a bale of spagnum peat moss or a load of mushroom soil from a local mushroom house can do for typical city soil.

Thoroughly work this needed organic matter into the upper six or eight inches of existing soil. Remove rocks and other debris in the process. Add necessary amounts of ground limestone and fertilizer. There are general recommendations that tell you how much to apply, but usually a soil test is more accurate.

The University of Delaware offers a soil testing service for a nominal two dollar fee. Special soil bags are available for this purpose from your county extension office in Newark, Dover or Georgetown. You can also get additional information on vegetable gardening by contacting these offices.

If you want a specific extension publication, write directly to the MAIL ROOM, Agricultural hall, University of Delaware, Newark, 19711.

Capt. Crawford Is Instructor

Captain Robert H. Crawford Jr., son of retired Army Lieutenant Colonel and Mrs. Robert H. Crawford of Rt. 1, Harrington, is a member of a unit which recently acquired the newest airborne defense system in the Air Force inventory.

Captain Crawford is an instructor with the 552nd Airborne Warning and Control Wing at Tinker AFB, Okla., whose aircrews fly the E-3A aircraft.

The E-3A Airborne Warning and Control System is a modified Boeing 707 designed for airborne radar surveillance and control.

The captain, a 1962 graduate of Haverford (Pa.) township High School, received a B.A. degree in 1966 from Gettysburg (Pa.) College where he was commissioned through the Air Force Reserve Officers Training Corps program.

His wife, Linda, is the daughter of Mrs. C. Douglas Motley of Dover.

Miss Teen Pageant Set

The 1977 Miss Delaware International Teen, USA Pageant, a preliminary to the Miss International Teen, USA Pageant will be held June 3-4, 1977 at Wesley College, Dover. The Pageant is open to contestants between the ages of 14 through 18 years of age who are judged on scholastic involvement, poise, personality, leadership and appearance. There is no swimsuit competition.

The state winner will receive a 9 day travel scholarship to Europe; London-Paris-Amsterdam, sponsored by the Reader's Digest Foreign Study League. Those interested in being contestants are invited to request applications from Eastern Division, P.O. Box 110933, Nashville, Tn. 37211 or call (615) 832-4731 or 832-1609. Thank you.

'Murder On Center Stage'

by Jerry Tweed
Woodbridge High School is presenting this murder mystery April 20 & 21 at 8 p.m. in the school auditorium. Tickets are $1.50 Adults, and .75 for students & children.

The story is about a psychotic janitor, who out of jealousy and fear, attempts to put an end to the lives of the directors.

There is plenty of action stemming from a stabbing to strangulation.

Tim Chambers and Diane Gross are the college janitors. Molly Lewis and Janet Cannon play the directors. Gordon Clarkson, Lisa Green, Nora Cannon, Jeff Wharton and Chris Shroch are the college students.

Cindy Mack and Grey Kelsey direct the play.

By H. G. Farrow, Jr.

"...for years we have been our own worst enemy."

For the past several years, things have been very quiet around Harrington. Things started to take shape when the People's Bank started a program of purchasing several buildings in the downtown district and demolishing them. Except for the old Reese Theatre which will be the site of the new People's Bank, many of the other buildings were not landmarks. The theatre was part of the community...in a very big way.

No one seems to remember the hour or the day when the deteriorating process in the downtown district started. It is a fact though that any downtown district can go down very quickly...but the rebuilding process takes much longer and of course many many dollars.

What does it mean to a community when stores become vacant in a down town business district? It means a loss of tax revenue to the City government. It broadcasts to the world a downgrading and deteriorating community. In our case in Harrington, literally thousands of vehicles pass through our community on a weekly basis. What these passerbys see are broken and boarded up windows which symbolize the filling of a cavity...the closing of doors to a once prosperous business establishment.

There are many reasons for this down fall. One of the chief reasons was "business success". I can remember as a youngster growing up here when the stores would close on Wednesday afternoons. A store closed for business allows shoppers to go elsewhere. From Wednesdays they turned to Fridays and closed early. Many of the old timers tell me they remember when the streets were lined, and it was difficult to move about on a Saturday night. The stores in those days stayed open until the early hours of Sunday morning. People were still buying groceries and other items at that hour of the night. Why...because the stores were open.

I won't pretend to know all the answers, but I feel that I am right in saying that what we allowed the downtown district to become was a signal to the outside world that this was a reflection of the rest of the community. And the outside world downgraded us. The truth of the matter is that this is not a true reflection of our community, our churches, our schools and our people. On the contrary we have the best and we are going to get better...and the rest of the world will stand in awe of us someday. I believe this with all of the power that makes me go.

I feel sometimes we have lost our pride and what sounds like determination has turned instead to bitterness.

Work hard to make this community a better place to live...and shopping community a better place to shop. With that philosophy no one can hold us down again.

Letter To The Editor

These buildings, some of historic value have, of recent months, fallen victim to fire, of a suspicious nature.

A barn fire on Whiteleysburg Road about a month ago.

House fire on Frederica Road about two months ago.

House fire near Vernon last year.

The letter below is by a Harrington fireman, who has some personal reflections on the fires.

Dear Sir:

On Saturday night about 11:30 p.m., the Harrington Volunteer Fire Company was alerted to a barn fire near Whiteleysburg. Here we go again! was the thought going thru our minds as we approached the distant amber glow.

As the enclosed recent pictures bear witness, the number of fires of suspicious origin has increased recently.

The fire Saturday night was typical in cost and time to the Fire Company. Approximately 75 fire fighters from Harrington, Houston, Farmington, and Felton were in service from 11:30 p.m. until 7 a.m. the following morning. If cost to the fire companies on this fire alone was computed, it would probably exceed the money raised in several months of putting on Bingo and serving dinners.

Contrary to popular belief, volunteer firemen do not get their thrills riding on the backs of fire trucks or squirting water on fires. What they do get is heartbreak at seeing a little child's Christmas destroyed, or the fear at seeing a brother fireman fall thru the roof of a burning house, and occasionally the good feeling from saving a friend's house or life.

The purpose of this letter is to inform everyone that arson is not a victimless, fun-seeking act-it is a crime. It is as serious as robbery or, may God forbid that any innocent bystander or fireman be hurt, as serious as murder.

Sincerely yours,
A Fireman

Weekly Report

by Senator Joe Biden

This week I requested the Chairman of the Senate Subcommittee on Public Works Appropriations, both by letter and in testimony before his committee, to approve an appropriation of $200,000.00 to accomplish the dredging maintenance of the Mispillion River.

In the last few years, due to the existing shoaling problem, the Mispillion River channel has become nearly impassible and reports on commercial barge traffic have gotten progressively worse.

A recent study prepared by the Milford Chamber of Commerce seems to indicate clearly that a significant economic potential exists for the area served by the Mispillion. Furthermore, should the River eventually be returned to the full modifications established in 1954, businesses directly dependent upon the condition of the Mispillion River stand to prosper.

Additionally, the Baltimore Canyon area off the Delaware coast has been leased to the oil industry for exploration. Should significant discoveries of oil and gas be located, the Mispillion is likely to play a substantial role in onshore support for this type operation.

I am convinced that maintenance dredging of the River will bring a genuine interest for further progress. What is needed is a federal commitment to insure that the Mispillion be maintained at the six foot depth and eventually to the full modifications as authorized by the Rivers and Harbors Act of 1954.

With the continuing plight of the Nation's rail roads, coupled with the geographical isolation of the Delmarva Peninsula, waterways are continuing to have an impact. Not only are the rail lines in poor condition, but the Peninsula is served by only one track to the north and one track to the south. Commercial and industrial shippers have found significant savings in transportation costs through waterborne commerce.

Thoughts..

from Senator William Roth

One of the problems with a honeymoon between the President and the Congress is a tendency to enact what a new Administration requests without close enough scrutiny.

This was one of my principal concerns last month when President Carter sent to Congress his proposal to create a new Department of Energy. I suggested then that Congress postpone action until the President's energy policy recommendations had been received. I was very pleased therefore that Senator Ribicoff announced recently that our Committee in the Senate, which is conducting hearings on the reorganization plan, would wait for the energy policy recommendations.

Another of my concerns about this reorganization bill is that it has not yet been subject to the close analysis which a bill of its importance deserves. We are structuring a Department which will be the most powerful in the government. Without the exception of the President, the Secretary of Energy will wield more power than any person in the United States. We have referred to him as an energy 'czar' but he could just as easily become a despot or a benevolent dictator. A proposal of such magnitude deserves to have every line examined.

For this reason, I have requested the Congressional Research Service of the Library of Congress to provide me with a comprehensive analysis of the bill.

The first of the Service's reports deals with the technical amendments contained in the energy reorganization. But even technical amendments can have substantial impact. And, quite frankly, some of the bills provisions are curious.

For example, one provision of the bill repeals Section 17 of the FEA act. This section requires diversity in advisory committees to ensure that consumers, state and local governments, and other such groups are heard in the decision making process.

Another provision of the bill repeals Section 308 of the Energy Reorganization Act. This section requires the Administrator of ERDA to keep the appropriate Congressional committees fully informed on his agency's activities. Presumably, this section was repealed because the Administrator's office is abolished, but since his other functions are transferred to the new Secretary of Energy, why isn't this requirement to consult with Congress?

In addition, the CRS analysis discloses a few drafting errors. For example, a section of the bill would amend a Section 502 of the motor vehicle, Information and Cost Savings Act. Unfortunately, lawyers at the Library of Congress are unable to find a Section 502, organization so presumably it does not exist.

Many of the bill's provisions are no doubt the result of hasty draftsmanship resulting from a commendable desire for us to get on with the job of solving our energy problems. Personally, I agree with the need for quick action, but I think we must carefully study the implications of this reorganization before we move.

Career Corner

It's JOBTIME, USA again for high school seniors seeking permanent employment, summer job searchers, and wise ones planning ahead for part-time work in the fall.

So you won't be among the many thousands of young people who can't get or hold jobs because you don't know what's expected, here are 10 of the most common errors, as noted by the New York State Department of Labor:

1. Your appearance can be the difference between getting the job and getting the "brushoff."
2. Attitude and behavior play almost as important a part in getting and holding a job as does skill.
3. Ignorance of labor market facts can result in costly mistakes.
4. Misrepresentation is bound to be discovered and work against you.
5. Unrealistic wage demands can keep you from getting hired.
6. Absence or lateness without good reason can put you on the unemployment line fast.
7. Insisting on doing the job your way can put you out in the cold.

8. Balking at entry requirements may cause you to miss a good opportunity.

9. Inability to get along with others is one of the main reasons why people get fired.

10. A reputation for unreliability can wreck your future.

Students drawing Social Security for a parent's disability, death or retirement are reminded they are bound by limits on earnings. If you expect summer job or part-time earnings for the year will total more than $2,760, you should notify your local Social Security office now to avoid owing Uncle Sam later. Benefits are cut, on an annual basis, $1 for every $2 of wages over $2,760.

But if you work only during the summer months at high pay, you may come out ahead because of another rule: no matter how high your annual earnings, a full Social Security check is paid you for any month in which you earned $230 or less and did not do substantial work as a self-employed person.

Horseradish -- One Of The Five Bitter Herbs Of Passover

Horseradish does not lend itself well to mechanization. Each root has a multitude of lengthy runners branching from all sides and these must be separated from the root itself. The "runners" are the planted for next year's crop. Appenzeller "never did plant from seed," having gotten runners from his father, who got runners from his father, and so on down the line. Any variety distinction has long since disappeared.

After the roots are sent through a tumbling machine (which serves to dust them somewhat and remove all extraneous material), workers sort them according to size and bag each 100 pounds in burlap bags with polyethylene liners. A glass of water is poured into each bag because "horseradish must be kept moist at all costs...if it dries out, it will shrivel up," says Appenzeller.

Processors buy horseradish by the truckload for grinding and bottling. In addition to the pure horseradish (diluted only with vinegar), processors produce cocktail sauce, hot mustard and a sauce made with mayonnaise designed for use on cold beef.

"We sell most of our horseradish to a processor in Baltimore," says Appenzeller. "The biggest markets for their products are seafood restaurants-which buy the cocktail sauce-and fast food roast beef sandwich places-which contract for the special mayonnaise sauce." In addition, horseradish is considered one of the five bitter herbs of the Passover and thus a large Jewish trade in this country depends on its production for use in this annual ceremonial dinner.

Yes, the world would be a mild place without horseradish, yet neither Appenzeller nor Mulrooney expect that production will increase very much in the near future. "Most farmers don't want to mess with it," says Mulrooney. "It's more work for them and a lot different from their other crops."

Perhaps an even bigger reason, however, is that the market for horseradish is pretty well filled right now. Thanks to boron and a few other ingredients for the salvation of Appenzeller's crop this year, there will be no shortage of this hot stuff for years to come.

When he began his harvest last fall, he knew the program had worked-the roots were solid and white and fit for the processor. But since there was no control group in Appenzeller's experimental spray program, it was not evident which of the sprays cured the crop. He doesn't give the boron the full credit but feels it must have been a combination of all three ingredients.

"Of course the factors are all interrelated," says Mulrooney. "Since all Applications were foliar, the fungicide made the leaves healthier and better able to aid in boron uptake."

At any rate, Appenzeller had harvested enough of his crop before Christmas last year to know that the rest of it was healthy-even though it was forced into temporary cold storage underground. That part of the crop didn't see the light of day until early March-a good two months behind schedule. Appenzeller had converted horseradish root and the greater bulk of dirt pulled up with it. But he still had to harvest at a much slower pace than he could have so he wouldn't get ahead of the rest of the operation which requires intensive hand labor.

Using your telephone book can mean avoiding Directory Assistance Charges.

On March 29, 1977, we reduced basic monthly telephone rates and began charging for certain calls to Directory Assistance. Every billing period, you can make three dialed calls per line to Directory Assistance without incurring additional charges, and you can request two numbers per call. Every call over three calls each billing period will result in a 20¢ per call charge on your telephone bill. (Calls placed to Directory Assistance with the help of the regular Operator will be billed at 40¢ per call, and are not included in the three call allowance.)

Other calls to Directory Assistance which will not be billed:

- Calls to Directory Assistance for numbers outside Delaware. However, to avoid a charge, you must dial 1, plus the area code, plus 555-1212.
- Calls from coin telephones (consult the dialing instruction card).
- Calls from hotels, motels and hospitals.

- Calls made by people who are handicapped in the use of their directories. Contact our Business Office for details.
- Calls for mobile or maritime services.
- Calls from interconnected lines of radio common carriers.

Your number for Directory Assistance has changed, too. If you must call Directory Assistance for numbers in Delaware, dial 1 + 555-1212 instead of 411. For numbers outside Delaware, dial 1, then the area code, then 555-1212.

If you have any questions, please feel free to call our Business Office.

Robert A. Short
 Robert A. Short, state insurance commissioner for 13 years, died last Tuesday night in his sleep at his family farm near Georgetown. He was 54. The cause of death was an apparent heart attack. Short was insurance commissioner from 1963 until he resigned a year ago to become president and chief executive officer of Sussex Trust Co. As insurance commissioner he made many important contributions toward improving insurance laws in Delaware. He was widely respected in the insurance industry and was regarded as fair and objective. A popular vote getter for the Republicans, he had been on the Republican State Committee since 1952. Mr. Short is survived by his wife, Carla P. Short, a son, Robert A. Jr. of Maui, Hawaii; four daughters, M. Carol Short of Atlanta, Ga., Deborah A. Short of San Francisco, Nancy J. Short of Newark and Andrea K. Short of Georgetown; his parents, Alden P. and Doris Messick Short, living on the family farm, and four sisters, Sara S. Stevenson and Iva S. Booth, both of Georgetown, Edna S. Marvel of North Wales, Pa. and Ann S. Wilson of Somerville, N.J. A memorial service was Saturday night at 8 at Georgetown Presbyterian Church. Interment was private.

Harrington Baptist To Host Good Friday Service

The community Good Friday service will be at the Harrington Baptist Church at 7:30 on April 8. The Rev. Wayne Grier of the Trinity Methodist Church will be the speaker. The Rev. Alvin Willink, Bruce Shortell, and William Miller will also have parts on the program of this important worship service. The choir of the Harrington Baptist Church will sing a portion of their Easter cantata. Pastor Duke Watson invites everyone to come join in the devotional experience. Other local churches participating in the Good Friday Service will be Asbury Methodist, Calvary Wesleyan, St. Stephen's Episcopal, and St. Paul's A.M.E.

Greenwood Kawanis Plan Sunrise Service

Plans have been finalized for the community Easter Sunday sunrise service which is being sponsored by the Greenwood Kiwanis Club. The service will start at 5:30 a.m. at the downtown plaza. There will be group singing. Special music will be furnished by the Embletones. The following ministers have been active in the planning sessions. Rev. William Fleischer of the Hickory Ridge Congregational Methodist Church, Rev. John Ferguson of the Greenwood Wesleyan Church, Rev. Thomas Courtwright of the Mt. Hebron Church of God, Rev. Grayson Ferguson of the Denton Church in Christian Union, Rev. Mark Swartzentruber of the Greenwood Mennonite Church, Bishop John Mishler of the Cannon's Mennonite Church, Rev. Roy Murray of the Spirit and Life Tabernacle, Rev. Richard Melvin of the Bethany Church of the Brethren, Rev. Mark Yoder of the Laws Mennonite Church, Rev. David Alwine of the Tressler's Mennonite Church and the Rev. James Doughten of the Greenwood United Methodist Church. The public is urged to attend. The newly organized Ki-Wives Club will serve coffee and doughnuts.

Love one another
 "Anyone can love those who love them. Love your enemies." Jesus' Christ said. Malice, hatred and prejudice destroy us on the inside. God's answer to these wrong attitudes is love. Jesus was the love of God in human flesh. God's love is so different from the love of the world. It is a "God kind of love." It is love that loves the unlovely, that asks and expects nothing in return. That kind of love can fill hearts with peace and lips with kindness. Jesus Christ said, "You shall love the Lord God with all your heart and your neighbor as yourself." (Matthew 19:19) You can discover this love by knowing and trusting Jesus Christ as Lord and Savior.

We will receive a percentage of the order which will help our building fund. We also invite you to visit our Thrift Shop in town for the Special 5, 10, and 25 cent sale during the month of April. Many bargains!

A Community Sunrise Easter service is being planned to be held at the town Plaza at 5:30. There will be a special Communion Service Wed. at 7 at our church.

On Sat., April 2, our covered dish supper was held, after which Miss Charlotte White showed slides of her trip to Alaska.

Report from Greenwood United Methodist Church: We remind you of the Sunrise Service, community wide, sponsored by Greenwood Kiwanis.

Greenwood Sunday School Easter Egg Hunt at Greenwood Elementary School at 1 p.m. (if you would like to donate one dozen colored eggs, please give them to Mrs. Catharine Marvil by Friday evening.)

On Thursday evening there will be silent communion at Greenwood Church from 7 to 8 p.m.

Greenwood church members are reminded to return their special Lenten folders during the morning service.

On Wednesday, March 30, Mrs. Belle Allen entertained Mrs. Grace Brown of Harrington, Mrs. Katie Ayers of Pottstown, Pa., Mrs. Bertha Prettyman and Mrs. Lena Barwick of Greenwood to lunch.

Saturday morning callers at the home of Mrs. Belle Allen were Mrs. Katie Ayers of Pottstown, Pa., Mrs. Grace Brown of Harrington and Mrs. Imogene Umphlett of Hertford, North Carolina.

On Sunday, Mrs. Belle Allen called on Mr. and Mrs. Norman Allen, Sr. in Laurel.

The Greenwood Volunteer Fire Company announces its annual spring supper on April 17, serving the usual menu of fried oysters, chicken salad and dumplings from 1 to 6 p.m.

Mrs. Margaret Baker spent the weekend with her daughter's family, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Dixon of Wyoming. She was their guest for dinner at a restaurant and then on to see "Finnian's Rainbow", at Dover Middle School. A personal friend of theirs, Craig Holloway, received a standing ovation for his role as Finnian. His mother and father were there from North Carolina to enjoy his triumph.

Cheer Center News: Week of March 28-April 1.

It was quite evident that everyone was in good voice on Tuesday for the sing along. It was much enjoyed by everyone and they hope to repeat it soon.

On Wednesday night the members journeyed to Dover to see "Finnian's Rainbow". All were pleased with the performance.

Our musical trio, Mr. Horner, Mr. Anderson and Mrs. Smith will be traveling to Wilmington, Dover and Georgetown for concerts in May. All our Senior citizens will be invited to attend these concerts.

The Bible Study, Friday afternoon, led by Mrs. Milliner was much appreciated. She knows the Bible well and discusses it thoroughly.

Our new members this week were Charlie Robinson and Laura Gross.

The site will be closed April 8 in observance of Good Friday. Happy Easter to everyone.

We regret that Edgar English remains in the hospital. We welcome the news that Mrs. Doughten is home. We wish them all the best.

Mrs. Jacob Hatfield was a Monday evening dinner guest of Mrs. Theresa Otey.

Mrs. Peggy Antine of Milford was a recent caller at the home of Mrs. Jacob Hatfield.

Mrs. Gary Bollinger and Garith and Mrs. Jacob Hatfield enjoyed a Monday morning coffee break at the home of Mrs. Helen Maloney.

Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Hatfield and Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Case of Newark were Sunday evening dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Gary Bollinger in Bridgeville. Later in the evening, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Laughery and Mrs. JoAnn Davis and children joined them for coffee and to enjoy the slides shown by Ronald of his daughter, Karen's wedding.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul McCready attended the recent dinner given by Delmarva Drilling's owner, A. C. Shultz for the office personnel to celebrate the re-modeling of Delmarva Drilling.

On Saturday evening Mr. and Mrs. Paul McCready and family attended a birthday party given for Paul's brother, John and daughter, Jennifer, at Centerville, Md.

Saturday dinner guests of the McCreadys' were Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Bishop of Felton and Paul's cousin, Frank Sharpneck of Hartley, Del.

After testing all sorts of exotic dishes, judging colorful place-settings and well balanced menu plans, judges for the 1977 Reddy Foods Contest came up with 17 4-H'ers who will represent Sussex County at the State Contest, held in July. The winners are as follows:

Senior Division: Main

Dish, Sandy Carter, Lord Baltimore; Dessert, Jane Collins, Broadkill; Breads, Jim Hukill, Hollymount; Small Appliance, Kim Knopp, Hollymount; Snack Tray, Janet Cannon, Bridgeville Livewires.

Junior Petite Division: Breads, Christine Steele, Hollymount; Small Appliance, Jacalyn Taylor, Seaford Blue Jays; Snack Tray, Mary House, Hollymount; Dessert, Dawn Dorman, Hollymount; Main

Dish, Carole Fleetwood, Bridgeville Wildcats.

These 17 4-H'ers did an excellent job preparing their dishes and we wish all of them the best of luck at the state competition. Closely following the winners were state alternates. They were Nikita Fletcher, Heidi Inderbitzen, Terri Martin, Karen Taylor, Cindy Baynard, Christine Sharp, Faith McIlvain, Shelly Grove, Becky Inderbitzen, Jenny Smith, Tina Hastings, Melissa Wilson and Dawn Beauchamp. We also would like to congratulate our runners-up!

Those 4-H'ers receiving BLUE RIBBONS were: Carla Vanderwende, Christina Bassols, Amanda Nicholson, Emily McQuaide, Sue Cooper, Marcia Smith, Melissa and

Those receiving RED RIBBONS were: Carol Collins, Pam Knopp, Anne Vincent, Susan Justice, Jeanette Poole, Maria Markowski, Gail Justice, Rhonda Radish, Bonnie Bradner, Rachel Bryan, Kim Wagner, Chris Majchrzak, Susan Calvanesa, Cathy Mariner, Sheila Truitt, Kim Baker, Melanie Stephans, Sonja Truitt, Susan Wheedleton, Trace Seabrease, Robyn Holston and Donna Fleetwood.

We would like to thank our judges for the day. Look in next week's paper for a few of the winning recipes.

Lime... the fertilizer stretcher

Lime stretches nitrogen supplies. Acid pH's slow down the reaction of micro-organisms in the soil. This results in the slower conversion of urea and ammonia forms of nitrogen to more readily available nitrate forms. It reduces the microbial breakdown of organic materials which release nitrogen to your crops. Proper liming makes more nitrogen available for healthy growth.

Lime stretches phosphate supplies. Low pH causes phosphate to be tied up in unavailable compounds of iron and aluminum. At pH levels of 6.0 or higher, iron and aluminum precipitate out, making them non-reactive with phosphate. So more phosphate is available for crops production.

Lime stretches potash supplies. Calcium, magnesium and potash can partially substitute for each other in the crop and on the soil colloid. If calcium and magnesium are low, more potash enters the exchangeable form on the soil colloid and less remains in solution form for crop uptake. With proper liming, less total potash is needed.

Lime... for the good of it!

Liming always has been, and today is even more so, the most profitable fertility practice you can undertake. And right now is the time to do it!

Custis Sets Track Mark

Lake Forest's track team had a couple of interesting non-conference matchups with Dickerson High of the Blue Hen Conference and Kent County High of Worton, Md.

Dickerson and the locals turned out to be very evenly matched, while the Spartans had the edge on the Marylanders.

Mike Benson (19-2) edged teammate Stacy Sams in the long jump at Dickinson, Milton Justice leaped 18-6 to insure a Spartan sweep.

Benson and Sams were first and third in the triple jump. Coach Jim Blades lost four sprinters for various reasons, so was forced to switch the versatile Benson to the 100 yard dash. Mike ran a good 10.8 for second place.

Newcomer Tony Barner, a fine 440 man, won in 58 flat, with Ron Loper, Joe Custis and W.L. Parker finishing in just over 59 seconds on a poor track.

Jerry Custis was runner-up in the high hurdles with 16.1, then came in third behind Billy Moore in the intermediate hurdles.

Billy Moore, another all-around athlete was third in the discus (111-2) while Manny Christopher (111-5) was second.

Danny Parker was second in the mile run with an excellent March clocking of 4:49.7. Chris Palmisano and Louis Thomas got the next two places.

Dave Richter and Dan Parker went 2-3 in the 880, as did Wilson Fry and Paul McLellan in the two mile and Milton Justice and Ron Loper in the 220.

Joe Nored was runner-up in the high jump, as Tim McCombs took third. John O'Toole's 41 feet, 4 inches toss of the 12-pound shot was one of the best such efforts here in the last two or three years. Gusty Voshell was second in the pole vault, clearing 10 feet.

The Spartans outran the Trojans at Worton, Md.'s fast all weather track. Dan Parker, Louis Thomas, Paul McLellan and Dave Richter captured a windy two-mile relay in 9:10.

Jerry Custis sped over the 110-yard high hurdles in 15.8 seconds, erasing Don Bryant's 15.9 of two or three years ago, from the record book. Bill Moore, Tom Ott and Pete Hinson were next, the latter duo tying for third.

Despite the loss of several Spartan sprinters, Lake Forest managed a sweep behind Mike Benson 10.6, Baron Harmon and Chris Rosario.

Long jumpers Mike Benson, Stacy Sams and Milton Justice improved to 20-4, 19-31/2, and 19-1 respectively, for a second straight sweep.

Moore, Custis and Ott went 1-2-3 in the intermediate hurdles, another event which may see a new Spartan mark soon.

Mike Benson won his third event of the day with a leap of 39 feet in the triple jump.

John O'Toole hurled the 12-pound ball 41 feet and Manny Christopher was second with 40 feet. Christopher threw the discus 113 feet for another second place.

Gusty Voshell's 10 foot leap was the best pole vault of the day. Tim McCombs and Joe Nored went 2-3 in the high jump as did Tony "The Burner" Barner and Ron Loper in the 440 and Dan Parker and Louis Thomas in the mile run.

Wilson Fry was second to Maryland State two-mile and cross-country champ, Randy Mitchell, in the two-mile run. Dave Richter, Craig Fry and Paul McLellan were 2-3-4 in the 880-yard run. Fry's 2:17.5 was a pleasant surprise, indicating his arrival as a prospect.

Although losing the mile relay, Lake Forest's 3:47.5 clocking was a very good effort in the wind. Loper, Moore, Joe Custis and Barner ran very well. Joe Custis and Milton Justice are two talented trackmen who are going to be even tougher once they gain more experience.

Coach Blades and his assistant, Jim Fleming, have molded a team that can run with most of the Henlopen squads, providing that they don't lose more key personnel, like the quartet of departed dashmen.

Ruritans Help Harriers

Each time Jim Blade's Lake Forest cross-country team wins a state championship, it has become traditional to reward the hard-working harriers with various types of awards as visible, concrete evidence of their achievements.

The school gets a huge trophy and medals are given to any boys who finish in the top ten runners in the state meet. Coach Blades like to see all his runners receive something, yet the Spartans win so often, he's reluctant to make a public appeal each time. So it has gradually evolved that such an appeal will be made every other winning year, with a few sub rosa contacts being made to individuals and organizations in the alternate years.

Lake Forest's 1976 champs were the fourth in as many years here so seven of the top ten runners already had state championship jackets. The Viola, Canterbury, Felton Ruritan Club had never been contacted previously and generously agreed to buy the three jackets needed with the help of the distaff members of their club who are known as the Ruritantes. Everyone connected with the Lake Forest cross-country team appreciates the help given by the Ruritans and Ruritantes.

If Blades and his troops can do it again in 1977 it will be a public appeal season again. Forewarned is forearmed.

Singleton Is New Record-Holder

Karen Singleton, former Spartan record-hurdler in the mile run, is now a hurdler and a good one. At Worton, Md. in her first start of the spring track season, Karen tied Denise Johnson's Lake Forest 110 meter hurdles mark of 16.8, then set a new Spartan standard of 33 seconds flat in the 200 meter hurdles.

Miss Singleton and quadruple winner, Karen Harris, enabled Dave Buck's Spartans to easily outpoint the host, Kent County, Md. High.

Karen Harris won the 100 with Tina Durant and Patsy Watson, third and fourth. She then annexed the long jump, followed by Watson and Durant, then led off the winning 440 relay foursome. Karen Hall, Debbie Hawkins and Patsy Watson helped here.

The time was a good 56.9. The 880 relay was captured in 1:57.5 by Hawkins, Watson, Durant and K. Harris.

Maxine Harris was first in the mile in 6:17. Patty Irish also ran well here. Maxine then tied Karen Singleton for second in the high jump.

Joyce Ewing spun the discus 80 feet, 5 inches. Debbie Moulton was third. Joyce was runner-up in the 440 with Lois Russum third. Barbara Williams won the shotput with Ewing 1/4 of an inch behind.

Change Proposed In Athletic Code

by Ray Blanchette

A proposed change in Rule 19-A of the Delaware Secondary School Athletic Association Code has sparked a difference of opinion among local school district athletic directors on whether the change would be for the best.

The proposed change would allow non-faculty members approved by the local school boards to serve as head coaches in minor sports and assistants in all other sports.

The major sports are classified as football, basketball, baseball, softball, field hockey, soccer, wrestling and track.

The minor sports are tennis, golf, cross-country and volleyball.

George Durig, athletic director at Woodbridge, stated "Individually I'm in favor of it." To the larger schools who offer more sports it could be very beneficial. It would be up to the school districts to come up with a pretty good screening process before accepting any coaches."

Woodbridge currently offers all of the major sports with the exception of soccer but offers none of the minor sports, some due to a lack of funds and others such as cross-country which have fallen because of lack of student participation.

athletic director Dave Adams doesn't share Durig's enthusiasm for the proposed rule change. "I am against it" stated

Adams who also added "it would then be the community and not the school." The only way Adams stated he would be in favor of the change was that if prospective coaches attended night classes to actually become qualified to coach and learn about the prevention of injuries in their particular sports.

by Leah S. Wheeler.
Ten women from the Kent and Sussex area will be leaving from the Philadelphia Airport on Fri., Apr. 8, for Milwaukee, Wis., to participate in the 1977 WIBC Championship Bowling Tournament being held at the Red Carpet Celebrity Lanes.
Of the ten women entering the competition, only three are making their debut: Pat Brittingham, Norma Littleton and Fran Bergold. The other seven members having had at least one year's experience in a national tournament. Ken and Mary Bergold, of Magnolia, who sponsor bowling teams all during the winter bowling season at the Brunswick Milford Lanes, are the sponsors of the two teams, which comprise the following ten women, whose interests and occupations vary from horseback riding to sand painting and from housewives to secretaries: from Dover, Fran Bergold and Pat Brittingham; Little Heaven, Norma Littleton; Felton, Susan Comegys;

Magnolia, Mary Bergold; Millsboro, Jean Brown; Harrington, Doris Buck, Cheryl Wingo and Leah Wheeler; Lincoln, Deanna Thistlewood.
Squad time for the team event is scheduled for Sat., Apr. 9 at 7:30 p.m. Double and singles events are slated for Sun., Apr. 10 at 10:15 a.m. After a tour of points of interest in Milwaukee, the members will board a plane for their expected arrival home on Mon., Apr. 11.

Harrington Asbury, Houston Methodist Plan Special Easter Services

Easter Sunday services for the Harrington Asbury and Houston United Methodist churches will begin with a Sunrise Service at 7:00 at Blair's Pond parking area, continuing a tradition which began several years ago, and sponsored by the Houston United Methodist Church.

A brass ensemble from Asbury Church in Harrington will play and accompany the hymns, and some of the youth will provide special music as well. Some Houston youth will participate in leading portions of the service. The Rev. Alvin Willink, pastor of both churches, will bring a brief Easter message. Worshipers are asked to bring a folding chair if possible. In case of inclement weather, the service will be held at the Houston United Methodist Church. Following the service, the United Methodist Women of Houston will serve coffee, hot chocolate and donuts to all.

An early service of worship will be held at Asbury Church at 8:30, with the Chancel Choir and other teenagers participating. Mr. Willink will bring the message, and James Olson will be the organist. This service will conclude at 9:20.

Morning Worship will be held at Houston at 9:30, with the Children's Choir and the Senior Choir providing the anthems. Mrs.

Eleanor Yerkes will be the organist, and Mr. Willink will preach the Easter sermon.

The Morning Worship Service at Asbury Church will be at 11:00 with the Cherub, Crusader, Chancel, and Cathedral Choirs all participating. Mrs. David Dill will be the organist.

On Thursday evening of Holy Week, a Silent Communion Service by candlelight will be held from 6:30 to 8:00 in the Asbury Church sanctuary. This service was begun last year and was so meaningful to those attending that it was called for again.

Hickman

by Mrs. Isaac Noble

Thursday, April 7th is the Communion Service at Union Church. This is a charge service.

Easter Sunrise Service at the Greensboro Carnival ground. This is a community service. Time is 6 a.m. Should the weather be bad it will be in Wheatley Hall. The church service will be at the regular time.

In 1974, an uneaten portion of Queen Victoria's wedding cake (1841) was sold for $154.

Never store lettuce next to apples, plums, pears, avocados, tomatoes or melons. These fruits give off ethylene gas which can spot lettuce.

Sunny Side Up

Normally I'm not concerned about keeping up with the Joneses or anyone else. The car I drive is twelve going on thirteen. My favorite coat is even older, and came from a mail order company. And the last time we barbecued a sirloin out of doors was back in 1969.

But there's one thing the neighbors have that we don't, and it used to bug me. Their lawns are predominantly green, while ours is a carpet of yellow.

I read a description of a dandelion once. It said dandelions are native to Europe and Asia, but their seeds have traveled far and wide. How's that for the understatement of the century?

The dandelions in our yard have certainly arrived from far and wide—Europe, Asia, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Maryland. They hold a convention in our yard every spring. If there were a national dandelion-growing contest, we'd win hands down.

So this spring, while the neighbors are mowing their useless green grass, my family is enjoying healthy salads of tender young dandelion leaves. They really taste great, the supply appears to be limitless (sigh), and the price is right.

Dandelion greens are also packed with nutrition. Delaware extension home economist Sue Matusiak says they rank high in vitamins and minerals, especially Vitamins A and C, iron and calcium. If you pick tender young leaves and prepare them properly, they can be the surprise hit of the season at your house.

Young leaves without stalks are best for salads, says Sue. Wash thoroughly, drain, and chill them ahead of time. You may serve them alone with your favorite dressing or in combination with lettuce, spinach, escarole, chickory or other greens. If you really want to be fancy, dress the greens with hot bacon drippings, vinegar, and crumbled bacon. Yummy! If you have a super-abundance of dandelion greens, pick a couple of quarts and cook them in milk for a wild-flavored vegetable, suggests Sue. Use a heavy saucepan with a tight cover. Add shredded greens and one-half cup of hot milk. Stir the greens well so that all the leaves are coated with milk. Cover the pan and simmer gently for about six minutes, until the greens are tender but still an attractive bright color.

Season with salt and a dash of nutmeg if you wish. Garnish with slices of hard-cooked egg, crisp bacon, or a spoonful of sour cream and a dash of paprika.

Lately I've noticed people eyeing me as I harvest our crop before dinner each evening. And a few days ago a little boy came over to borrow a quart of greens for his mother. So perhaps the neighbors are beginning to realize that a green lawn isn't all it's cracked up to be. After all, you can't eat bluegrass unless you're a horse.

Film To Be Shown

A Christian film, "The Sound of the Trumpet", will be presented Easter Sunday evening, April 10, in Calvary Wesleyan Church, Harrington, at 7:00 p.m.

The film presents a refreshing, persuasive look at the coming return of Christ through the eyes of a newsman. Viewers will see the promise of the return of Christ as it relates to Bible teaching, current events, and their own personal lives.

The Rev. William H. Miller, pastor of the church, extends an invitation to those in the Harrington area to share in the special showing of this film.
