Wheeler's Park Is Up For Sale

"Smile Smile Smile". That's the way the Harrington Journal advertising copy for William Albert Wheeler's appliance store ended in days gone by.

And now, nearly 88 years from the date of his birth near Bethel on July 20, 1890, Mr. Wheeler is still smiling and has his usual keen wit. But, his eyesight is failing. And, of Wheeler Park which he founded in 1927, he says he "just can't handle it anymore".

So, Wheeler Park is up for sale complete with 30 acres, the buildings, a Spider Monkey, a pair of donkeys, some geese, a couple of ducks, and seventy feet of what Mr.

Wheeler says is "the world's longest concrete picnic table".

This unique private park started as a hobby and has ended as a hobby, never yielding to the temptations of commercialized amusement park glitter. For many years, admission was free. Then to help defray expenses as attractions grew, the grand sum of fifteen cents was charged all who came to enjoy. Beyond that, support for the park has been "donations" and Mr. Wheeler's willingness to maintain it.

"Our first ride", he recalled as a pair of Baltimore Orioles dressed in black and orange, sang from a tree top, "was what we called the Fountain of Youth. That was a pump, and got sort of laughed at until Harrington ran out of water one time. Then the whole town had to come here for water".

The park, through which Brown's Branch flows, grew over the years into a landmark. Swings, picnic facilities, ponds, and animal attractions were added. And, the facility has been often used for outdoor activities by numerous organizations including the air force. The trees are large and vegetation lush on the thirty acres, and there's a mile long nature trail frequently used by school groups for nature study. Mr. Wheeler says he started his business career as a painter. Then he spent 46 years as a railroader and finally went into the appliance business where he sold "the first radio ever sold in Harrington and the first television, a six inch set." He says he even sold a set in Florida "because of an ad in the Harrington Journal".

But for all his accomplishment, it seems assured that Mr. Wheeler will be longest remembered for the park that bears his name.

What will become of it, remains to be seen. Reportedly the State isn't interested in maintaining it as a park. And as yet, the City of Harrington hasn't been approached. Neither has the Federal Government for whatever public park funds might be

Bank Gets Cleaned!

Banks have been robbed, embezzled, and even gone broke. This one, The First National Bank of Harrington has gone to the cleaners. Or more properly, the Cleaners have come to the bank and such was the scene Tuesday when the place got steamed, the outside that is, in yet one more case of building improvement in downtown Harrington. Woodbridge Board Accepts Two Retirements, Approves Trips

The Woodbridge Board of Education met last week and accepted with regret the retirement of two teachers, Mrs. Francis Norris and Mrs. Barbara Short. The Board also approved eight field trips for elementary, junior high, and high school students scheduled to visit such diverse places as Wallop's Island, Virginia and Hershey, Pennsylvania.

In other action the Board heard recommendations for teacher re-employment, transfers, tenure, and non-tenure re-employment. Also heard were details connected with proposals for reduction in force.

Approval was granted the Bridgeville Volunteer Fire Company to use school property as a location for a circus which they will be sponsoring May 21, 1977 providing the function would not interfere with any School activities.

Mr. David Winski, Principal, Bridgeville Elementary School and North Bridgeville Elementary School, stated that two (2) new freezers have been installed at North Bridgeville School and Greenwood School. The cost of the freezer at North Bridgeville was Federally funded 75% and an application has been submitted to the Department of Public Instruction, Food Services, requesting a similar funding for the freezer at Greenwood. Hopefully, the application will be approved at the May Meeting of the State Board of Education.

Mr. Winski also reported that the ESEA Title IV project application, "Diagnostic Prescriptive Arithmetic", had been given tentative approval for Fiscal Year 1978. Final approval is subject to action by the State Board of Education and the availability of Federal funds.

The President stated that Mr. Winski should be commended for his services.

The Woodbridge High School and the Woodbridge Junior High School Athletic Budgets were tabled for further study. The Board was informed that the Greenwood Lions Club has volunteered to purchase benches for the Girls' Softball Diamond. A letter of appreciation will be sent to them.

The next Board of Education Meeting will be May 18, 1977, at 7:30 p.m. in the Woodbridge High School Library.

No Shots Fired

State Board To Arbitrate Lake Forest-Woodbridge Border War

No barricades have been built and no shots have been fired but a border war still goes on between the Lake Forest and Woodbridge school districts. Neither has the matter yet gone to the United Nations for arbitration.

But, it has been brought to the attention of the State Department of Public Instruction for consideration by the State Board of Education. An account of the affair was published as follows in the minutes of the board meeting on April 21 under the headline "Lake Forest Claims Property Taxed By Woodbridge".

"The Board heard a boundary dispute between Lake Forest and Woodbridge regarding a triangle of land that includes the Tharp and Taylor farms. William Lee, Woodbridge attorney, said the property is assigned to

Woodbridge according to a boundary drawn in 1970 and adopted by the Lake Forest Board in that year and by the Woodbridge Board in 1974. In 1975, when part of the land was sold, the County Board of Assessment said the property was located in Lake Forest. But Lake Forest had acquiesced in the assignment of the land to Woodbridge for many years, Mr. Lee, argued, and so the line should be corrected to place the area in Woodbridge. Robert Messick, member of the Woodbridge Board, said the land has been considered part of Woodbridge or of its components since before 1950. Melvin Luff, Lake Forest deputy superintendent, said his district adopted the boundary based on a 1953 description which he knows was erroneous. Twenty-two students live in the disputed area; three go to Lake Forest schools. Charles Murphy, a surveyor retained by the State Board, said the boundary described in 1953 differs from that drawn in 1970; the discrepancy measures about a fifth of a mile at one point. The 1953 boundary could be reconstructed only by a costly tracing of physical evidence, such as ditches and fences. The Board agreed to render its decision promptly."

Butterflies By Summer

Felton Beseiged By Dogs, Cats, And Caterpillars

Felton. The Town Council meeting last night drew many complaints about the growing problem which exists with stray dogs and some cats in the Town which have become a nuisance. Mayor William Myers said "...dogs are running loose in Felton, and I am aware of it. The doggone truth of the matter is that they are everywhere and the cats are just about as bad too. I called the dogcatcher last week on five different occasions, but he showed up in Town only three times... that I know of. I asked the dogcatcher to come in Town Between 4:30 and 5:00, but you know what he told me... I am sitting in my house at that time and I am not coming out for any doggone dogs". Myers went on to describe the problem mainly due to dogs tearing open bags of trash and garbage. "You know if a dog goes by a Bag of

Felton Couple Arrested On Prostitution Charges

A Felton pair, Lester and Phyllis Mears, lately charged with prostitution and conspiracy and Mr. Mears with conspiracy.

According to a State Police spokesman, the charges were brought by a State Police undercover officer investigating complaints which alleged prostitution. Mrs. Mears, 25, was arrested last summer on charges of lewdness and disorderly conduct but the charges were dropped when a Common Pleas Court Jury failed to reach a verdict.

Some Rode Bikes

Although it was a walkathon some choose to ride to raise money for the American Field Service and among them were this years exchange student Ute Wichels [right] and Mary Lou Tilghman of Harrington. Over 100 bikers and walkers were involved in this annual fund raising activity.

Harrington Police Report Quiet Week

The Harrington Police Department reported the city quiet this week with only minor complaints recorded along with the usual inquiries for directions and a few traffic tickets. A very minor accident was reported at Fleming and Liberty following an improper left turn, and a hearing in connection with the fender bender is scheduled for a later date.

One item of success on the police blotter for the week was the recovery of some tractor parts reported stolen from William Stoltzfus last week. The Police investigation of the matter led to the arrest and conviction of a juvenile who was fined $100 and costs at Magistrate's Court six.

Sunday, May 1, 1977 was Children's Day. It was celebrated by a very excellent program put on by the Felton Methodist Church Choirs and children in the Sunday School at the 10:45 service. Mrs. Van Hobbs was in charge.

The Wm. Biddle family and the Donald Jacob family spent the day in a Maryland State Park called, "Martinak." It was a beautiful day. There were all kinds of contests to watch. Some of them were greased pole climbing, log cutting, canoe races, and many others. A little league provided food stands of hamburgers, hot dogs and all the trimmings; also a fish fry. The children enjoyed the greased pole climb the most.

Don't forget this Sunday is Mother's Day.

Sat., May 7, Felton Meth. Sunday School will have a yard sale and bake 9:30-3:30 p.m. behind the church; if rain it will be held inside. Please bring things to the church 9:30 a.m. or Friday night to the home of Barb Jacobs, Chairman.

A surprise bridal shower was given for Rayna Welch on Thursday, April 28th, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Kelly. The shower was given by Ms. Linda Moffett and Ms. Becky Collins. Around forty friends and relatives attended the shower. Ms. Welch will become Mrs. Michael Kelly on May 28th.

The Felton Alumni Association had their annual banquet and dance on Saturday, April 30th. Mrs. Estella Brittingham was honored as the oldest alumni guest. The classes of 1927, 1952, and 1967 were honored. Scholarship awards were given to four Lake Forest Students. The Lake Forest Band Boosters catered the banquet. Mrs. Grace Turner entertained her former classmates at her home after the banquet.

Report from Hickory Ridge Congregational Methodist Church: On Sunday, Mr. Brook Nagel spoke to us on behalf of Gideon's International. A collection was taken to help spread the Bibles over all the world.

A collection was also taken for the Children's Chapel of Delaware. It will be used to train teens to help win boys and girls to Christ. We are grateful to Janet Symons, director of Children's Chapel, for her faithfulness in helping to train our teachers. Stacy Everline enrolled for two weeks of this training and she conducted Bible classes in several homes this past summer.

On Mother's Day the men will honor mothers by serving breakfast at 8 a.m. at the church. All ladies are invited. Even if you do not have a child of your own, you may have helped to mother some child at some time. In the worship service we will honor the youngest, oldest, and mother having the most children present.

The Hickory Ridge Women's society will be holding a bake in front of Reynold's Market on May 7 beginning at 10 a.m. The proceeds from this will be for the carpeting of the sanctuary.

Mrs. Eddie Worm and Mrs. Blanche Perry of near Preston entertained Mrs. Helen Workman for dinner in Easton on Tuesday, and a tour around Easton, visiting many of the lovely churches and other points of interest.

Mrs. Helen Workman was delighted to receive two cards from her son, Ralph Harmon. They told her that he was in London England on business for his company, Stone & Webster of New York. Ralph is stationed in Algeria, but resides in Barcelona. During his stay in London, his room is about a block from London Bridge.

We have a correction to make. In last week's paper we congratulated Mrs. Irene Willey on the birth of a grandchild. We reported a boy, but the baby is a girl, and her name is Amy. She is the child of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Willey and she joins two little sisters, Ronica and Stephanie.

Mr. and Mrs. George Von Goeres and daughter Beverly attended a luncheon at the University of Delaware on Sunday, May 1. The luncheon was for all future nurses in their sophomore year.

The luncheon marked a half way mark for the future nurses to be.

Cheer Center News: Week April 25-29 We are glad to report that our representatives, William Anderson, Lowell Andrews, and William E. Horner from Greenwood Cheer Center attended the County Government Day in Dover on April 25.

On April 26, the project Council meeting in Georgetown was represented by Mrs. Beatrice Horner and Mrs. Eliza Foreman from our Cheer Center.

Mrs. Henrietta Watson, the Nutritionist, was here to show a film on food preparation on April 26.

On April 28 we had our monthly birthday party and sing along. The birthdays celebrated for April were Belle Allen, William E. Horner, Orath Thawley and Helen Workman.

On April 29, Mr. Bill Phillips showed a film on Oral Cancer, "Priceless Gift."

On May 4 there is a R.S.V.P. Banquet scheduled for Georgetown. It is requested that the Greenwood Cheer Membership be well represented at this banquet.

There is an Oral Cancer screening project to be held at our Cheer Center from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. on Wed., May 4. The public is invited to take advantage of this free service. All ages are invited.

We feel quite happy and honored to have Mrs. Eliza Foreman from our Greenwood Cheer Center to be selected as an intern for Senior Intern Week May 16-20 under the sponsorship of Senator Roth in Washington, D.C.

There is to be one representative from each county in Delaware, selected to attend and we are so glad to have Greenwood chosen to represent Sussex County.

Mrs. Doughten was able to be back with us for a couple of days this week. All are happy to have her with us again.

The sympathy of the community is extended to the family of Mr. Edgar English, who passed away on Sunday morning, May 1 at 3 a.m. His witty and delightful personality will be much missed in Greenwood.

Mrs. Delema Smith and son, James Smith attended the wedding of Pamela Jean Oliphant and Dana Glenn Black in Wesley Methodist Church, Dover.

On a recent Sunday, Mrs. Delema Smith and son, James, visited her sister, Mrs. Bessie Howard in Rehoboth and enjoyed dinner together.

Sunday dinner guests of Mrs. James Smith were her sister, Mrs. Anna MacDonald and Mrs. Phyllis McNulty from Wilmington and James Smith from Rehoboth.

The United Methodist Women of Greenwood Church met on Monday evening, May 2

Overnight guest of Mr. and Mrs. Paul McCreary was Mrs. Esther Hughes of Cambridge, Md.

Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Allison Davis were Mr. and Mrs. Graydon Hurst of Wilmington. Callers were Mr. Carl Hoey and Mrs. Ann Wilson on Friday from Milford.

A Dedication and Open House was held on Sunday afternoon at 5:30 at the Gary and Ellen Bollinger House, dedicating the house for service to the community. Over 50 persons were present to share the program. The group sang "We Gather Together" followed by the Lord's Prayer. Carl Peters and Paulette McCreary explained the program planned by the Youth Group. Flora Snyder read a beautiful poem, entitled, "Bless This House". Ellen Bollinger told something of the purpose and aim for this house, followed by two numers from the Junior Choir of the Greenwood Church. The Rev. James Doughten spoke briefly and formally led in making the Dedication. At the close, Jeanette McCreary sang, "Bless This House", after which a period of fellowship with light refreshments and inspection of the house itself ended the ceremonies.

Saturday, May 21, the Greenwood United Methodist Women will sponsor a "Birthday Party" in Fellowship Hall. Adults $1 and 50 cents for pre-schoolers. Tickets are limited. Get 'em early! Good eating, cake and ice cream and entertainment.

Energy Idea

If the President and the Congress would agree on it, and they would if there was some public pressure, there is a way solar energy development and application could be speeded up.

What we suggest is a law be passed and signed that would make tax exempt, for a period of seven years, all profits derived from the design, manufacture, sale, and installation of solar energy heating and hot water systems for homes and business.

If this approach was taken, imagine the diverse industries in these United States who would jump into the solar heating business. Imagine the billions of dollars in private funds that would get spent on research and development. Imagine the oil companies, already in the energy business, jumping into the solar energy market in order to cash in on a bonanza far more lucrative than things like "oil depletion", or price rigging they get accused of, but which we don't really believe. Imagine the response to this tax incentive by the broad spectrum of American industry, and imagine all the local heating contractors who would gear up for installing solar systems in both old and new housing.

If the President and the Congress want to give all the buyers of such systems a tax credit for the installation of same, fine. But, if we are "at war", as the President suggests in the matter of our energy problem, then extra incentive is needed that we might have total mobilization like we had in World War Two, when American industry turned production from plowshares to swords almost overnight.

To not do this; to not provide these incentives is to maintain the development of solar energy at a snail's pace and keep whatever systems are produced at a prohibitive price.

What we are suggesting will trigger mass production and maximum competition that will bring the price per unit ever downward, and the efficiency of units ever upward.

It can't be argued either, in case anybody is looking for negatives, that such an idea as making solar energy production tax exempt will deprive the government of much needed revenue. We are not talking about making an existing enterprise tax exempt. We are talking about a brand new one that will build to an enormous volume in the seven years of its honeymoon; a brand new industry that will be taxable after the seven years is up.

Another possible argument for negativists might be that the notion is "unprecedented" and "discriminatory" against existing energy producers. Not so. The idea is rooted in the Constitution itself which provided for the United States Patent Office, created to encourage manufacture and commerce for the common good of all the citizens. Plainly, the development of solar energy is in the common interest of all the people. And, concerning the term "discriminatory", that isn't so either because anybody is free to get into the solar energy business and enjoy the tax exemption.

Finally what would be the result? If solar heating systems reduced fossil heating fuel consumption in the country by only thirty percent we would have no energy crisis for a long, long time.

If readers agree with this idea, we hope they will take the time to clip this editorial and send it to the White House, A Senator, or a Congressman.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Editor,

In last week's Harrington Journal there appeared an editorial entitled, "Johnny Go Home." It is my feeling that this editorial represents a departure from the editorial policy of your newspaper.

Normally, you offer constructive and well written editorials. This one was designed to paint every school administrator in the state with the same brush. It offered not one constructive suggestion and was filled with such generalities that it is very difficult to answer.

I would like to know where the person who wrote it obtained their facts. I firmly deny that there are "more non-teaching personnel in the schools than there are teachers." For instance, in our own Lake Forest District there are 16 administrators for a staff of 182 teachers. Is the writer referring to cafeteria workers, custodians, secretaries and nurses in his count of non-teaching personnel? If so, it can readily be seen that reducing the number of these support personnel will not affect the teaching load in any of our classrooms.

Frankly, I would be amazed at any administrator who did not get upset about the consequences of the proposed budget cuts. The fact that education costs more today is no different than the fact that everything else costs more today. I would remind you that you published in your paper two weeks ago the fact that if the rest of the State budget had risen at the same rate as education has risen in cost over the past five years we would have a $17,000,000 surplus instead of a deficit.

Please, offer us something concrete and constructive in the editorials. Leave the sweeping generalities to newspapers with no concern for factual or helpful reporting.

Sincerely yours,
William E. Griffin

Editor's note:

We regret the above letter arrived too late for publication in last week's Harrington Journal. We also regret that the author of the letter seems to feel we in some way singled out the local schools in our editorial, "Johnny Go Home", of two weeks ago. We did not. In fact we singled out no school, and mentioned none.

The entire editorial was drawn from figures we saw a couple of years back that listed more non-teaching personnel in the public schools in the State of Delaware than teachers.

These figures were supplied by the State Board of Education. Admittedly, they are old figures. But, we have no reason to believe they have changed very much since there have been no major overhauls in the State of Delaware to correct the situation.

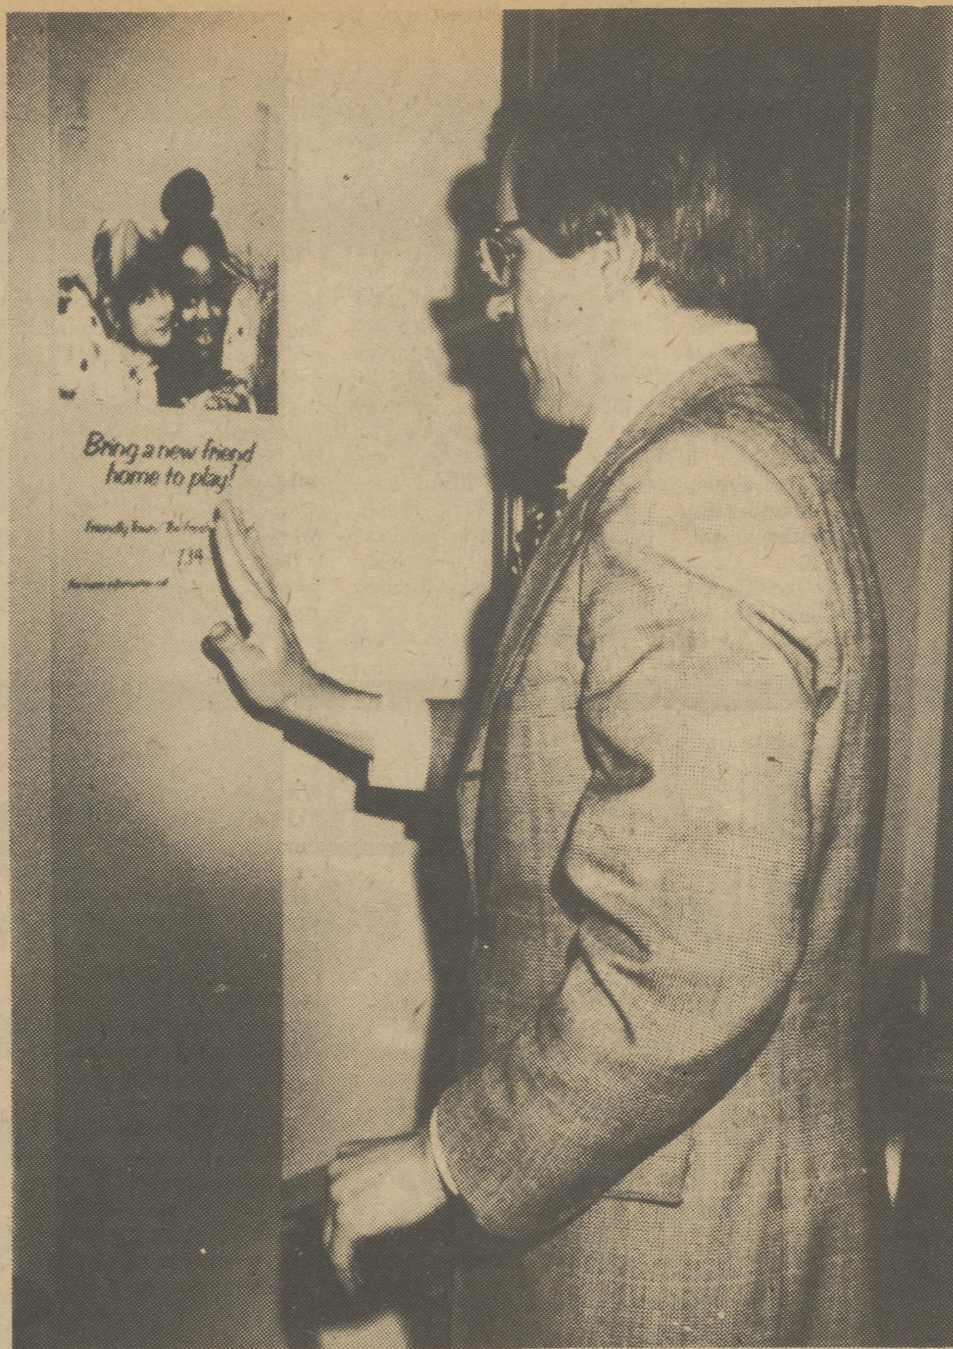

Finally, the Harrington Journal published the editorial in question as a positive suggestion, not a negative, and it was written in a statewide context because the problem is statewide as is the fiscal crisis of which the state school system is a part. We would hope the author of the letter above will carefully re-read the editorial. He might find that instead of it being very general, it was really quite explicit.

Dear Editor,

On Saturday May 7th, Harrington Little League's opening day, Paul Rash will deliver a check to the League in the amount of $700. This represents the sum of the contributions made to Little League from friends and patrons at Stone's Hotel during 1976.

My reason for writing this letter is to publicly express my appreciation to the many people who do

Fresh Air

After signing House Resolution sixteen commending families participating in the Fresh Air program, Governor Pete duPont put up a Fresh Air poster outside his office last week. He didn't really mean to cover up the telephone number, 734-3739, the number to be called by those wishing to invite a child or learn more about the program.

"Invitations for New York inner-city children to spend two weeks in area homes are greatly needed," says Barbara Kaspar, Fresh Air Committee Chairman for Dover.

The Chairman of the Milford-Harrington Fresh Air committee is Nancy Campbell, 422-4454.

Weekly Report

by Senator Joe Biden

This week I voted for an amendment that would have given a permanent tax break to those people whose income is $20,000 or less. This was not what President Carter wanted but I felt that on this issue his was the wrong position.

I have been concerned about the slow recovery of the economy and particularly the very high rate of unemployment we have been suffering. Therefore, I thought that we ought to do something constructive to encourage consumer spending that might in turn increase industrial production and create more jobs. I was particularly anxious to do something that would create jobs in private industry rather than creating even more temporary government jobs. For this reason, I felt that some kind of tax relief that would put more purchasing power in the hands of consumers would be a good idea.

Then the new administration came up with the idea of a tax rebate. In 1975, I vigorously opposed the tax rebate program on the floor of the Senate. This time, however, I thought that circumstances were different and that people would be more inclined to spend the money rather than save it. In addition, I wanted to give the new administration a chance to work out its own solutions to the economic problems of our country. So I told President Carter that I would support his program.

Then the President with drew his proposal and it was apparent that it could not pass the Senate. A replacement for the rebate was offered in the form of a permanent tax cut which would largely benefit low and middle income taxpayers. I have long felt that the tax burden on middle income Americans has been growing intolerable, particularly with the impact of inflation on their income. I also believed that such a tax cut would offer an opportunity to put some money in the hands of consumers to encourage production of goods and creation of priate jobs. I did not agree with the President that with unemployment over the 7% mark there was no need for tax reduction to create employment.

So the permanent tax cut offered, it seemed to me, an opportunity to create jobs and give a tax cut to those middle and lower income Americans who are now bearing the brunt of both inflation and taxes. What is more, the proposal offered a chance for Democrats and Republicans to join together in support of a proposal that did not give tax cuts to the wealthy. I had hoped other Democrats would have joined me in using this opportunity to provide bipartisan support for the kind of tax cut that was so badly needed.

The Evans Report

by Congressman Tom Evans

This week my office called over one hundred Delaware families as part of my "Keeping in Touch" program to get their reactions to President Carter's energy proposals.

I have reviewed the answers and would like to share some of them with you. An open-end question was asked: how do you feel about President Carter's energy proposals? In other words, we didn't ask about individual aspects of the proposed energy plan, so the answers reflect only those specific opinions voiced by those called.

One issue stood out above all others: the President's proposed higher tax on gasoline. Delawareans are very conscious of the possibility of the higher tax and are strongly opposed to it. They question the effectiveness of such a tax. As one Sussex County resident said, "Increased gasoline prices have not decreased consumption." We made many calls in rural areas where Delawareans rely on their autos for their livelihood. They are deeply concerned about the inflationary results of such a tax and the effect it would have on the economy. Many rural dwellers pointed out that there is no public transportation available to them; they must use their cars and fear the economic impact of a higher tax. A Middletown housewife said clearly, "If people don't have the money, how are they going to pay for the higher cost of energy?"

Many families gave thoughtful suggestions about the need for the development of alternative energy sources, particularly nuclear and solar. A Newark resident commented, "I am bothered by the emphasis on conservation—there should be more on alternate energy sources." Others mentioned our country's scientific resources and asked, "If we can put a man on the moon, why can't we lick the energy crisis?"

The proposed excise tax on "gas guzzlers" received a lot of negative comment. Those expressing opposition felt that the right to buy an auto of their choice is being taken from them, while others pointed out the economic effects on the U.S. auto industry. A New Castle man asked, "Why lay off people here — put them on relief while employing someone in another country?" Concern was expressed that foreign cars will glut the market. Several weeks ago I wrote to President Carter proposing a tax credit for the purchase of small American made cars, because I anticipated the move to tax large cars and the resultant effect on the U.S. auto industry.

Almost half the families contacted feel that there really is an energy crisis. Many of their answers reflected not only frustration about their own ability to cope with the higher cost of energy, but some also (Continued to page 5).

The Village Idiot

—by R. B. R.

Just about everything, in these days of inflation, state bankruptcy, and assorted global political flapdoodle, has gone backside to.

There are, in fact, more non-teachers working in the public schools than there are teachers. There are more employees in the United States Department of Agriculture than there are farmers. A Russian Ruble is worth more than a Dollar. And, whiskey is now cheaper than coffee, a circumstance not necessarily to be judged all bad, since it makes it a little more possible for a poor man to more easily cope with all the rest.

Actually, maybe things aren't any more backside to than they always were, especially in the United States.

Consider Ralph Nader. Nader is said to be a new kind of hero in the land of the Stars and Stripes; somebody the likes of which we have never seen before; somebody who reflects a change in the national criteria for heroes.

Baloney! Ralph represents no change whatever. In fact, as a hero in America, he is cast from the same mold as all the rest of our heroes.

There was Jesse James, Al Capone, Pretty Boy Floyd and Wyatt Earp. Then there were the Dalton Boys, Ma Barker, and Bonnie and Clyde.

What they all had in common with Ralph Nader was elevation to sainthood by way of a compulsion to raise hell with the institutions of civilized society. As Billy the Kid shot up a stagecoach, Ralph shot up a Chevrolet.

That sent him to prominence on front pages across the nation.

But at least Ralph has more imagination. While Jesse James, and most of his crowd, stuck mostly to banks and trains, Ralph diversified, and over the years has shotgunned everything from oil companies to the duPonts. And that, in this fast moving age, is what has kept him on the front pages.

What a waste. Why couldn't Ralph get a white horse, a long lance, and go around the country sticking holes in windmills. 'Twould stop 'em from squeaking and bothering people.

In My Opinion

by Carole Glasspool

Open Letter to the Lake Forest School District Board of Education:

At an open meeting on April 19 at Lake Forest North Elementary School relative to the Governor's proposed budget cuts to education, the subject of the Lake Forest School District referendum construction project was brought up. I asked Senator Nancy Cook what private citizens and residents of this school district could do to persuade the Governor of this state to release to us the frozen funds that were included in last year's capital bond bill so our much needed construction could get underway. She responded that she didn't think letter writing could accomplish this task and suggested a meeting with the Governor of private citizens and school board members. A couple of days after this meeting I learned that one or more school board members discussed this suggestion with the legislators present at the meeting after the meeting was over. It was decided then that the board of education should "go it alone." It was evidently decided that residents of this school district had nothing constructive to contribute to the cause.

Now, I'll grant you that the board is elected to represent us but there are times when additional pressure or help from private citizens could be beneficial to achieving a goal. This situation certainly seems to be one that warrants that type of action. I consider this action by the board to be a slap in the face to every concerned, thinking, intelligent parent who would have been willing to take part in such a meeting. However, one concerned parent, on her own, struck a blow on behalf of all of the citizens of this district who are concerned about this construction project. She gathered all the statistical information relative to this project and articulated our case in a most impressive manner to a member of the Governor's Capital Improvement Projects Review Committee.

I publicly salute this individual for having taken this action.

To the school board member or members who didn't think we could be of any help to them, I give an "Archie Bunker type" raspberry. There is always much discussion about whether or not parents really care about their children's education. The board has said "Yes, we want citizen input." Your action on this matter leads this writer to wonder if you aren't just paying lip service to the citizen input concept. Your attitude does nothing but perpetuate apathy which is a subject I have addressed in the past. People can only be slapped down just so many times before they reach the height of their frustration and tolerance level. I, for one, don't want to see that happen. Do you?

Next Tuesday, May 10, a new member will be elected to the Lake Forest School District Board of Education to fill the vacancy created by the retirement of James Pizzadilli. There are three candidates for this seat which makes this the first contested school board race in three years and the first time there has been more than two candidates in six years.

All of the candidates are concerned, caring people. I urge you to get out and vote for one of them. If voter turn-out is small it will tend to discourage people from running for offices in the future.

Three candidates for a non-paying job on the school board is an indication of a healthy interest in education in this school district. Let's keep it that way! Vote on Tuesday, May 10! The polls will be open from 2 p.m. until 9 p.m. at Lake Forest East Elementary, Frederica; Lake Forest North Elementary, Felton; and Lake Forest South Elementary, Harrington.

Thoughts

by Senator Bill Roth

In this, the second of my reports on my recent trip to China, I'd like to discuss a far-from-simple issue: the future of U.S.-China relations.

As I reported in my column last week, the Chinese are deathly afraid of the Soviet Union. They view the world in triangular terms. At one corner of the triangle is the Soviet Union, which they see as an aggressive, expansionist power. The countries at the other corners — the United States and China — have parallel interests in containing Soviet expansion, the Chinese say.

The United States, of course, adopted a policy of containment many years ago, and we support a defense budget of more than $100 billion a year to maintain the balance of power. To the extent that (Continued to page 5).

China shares our views and can be of help, this is to be welcomed.

The Sino-Soviet split in the early 1960's was one of the most favorable international developments for the United States in many years because it increased American bargaining leverage with both powers.

The Chinese leaders have indicated that they would like to improve relations with the United States. But at the same time, they say that there can be no significant improvement until we change our policy on Taiwan.

I am opposed to any abandonment of Taiwan. We have had a long commitment to the government on Taiwan and to abandon a faithful ally for expediency's sake would lead many other small countries around the world to question the reliability of America's word.

Our government, therefore, is facing a major challenge in our relationships with China and Taiwan. On one hand, we have an interest in improving our ties with mainland China to help contain the Soviet Union.

There is no easy answer to this dilemma. Some Far East experts believe that China is more flexible than her rhetoric indicates and that she also wants to improve relations with the United States, no matter what our relationship with Taiwan.

Todd Wise Takes First Prize In Chipman Talent Show

by Carole Glasspool

Todd Wise of Harrington on a darkened stage attired in a white gi and twirling bright red nunchakus walked off with first prize in the second annual W.T. Chipman Band-sponsored Talent Show on Friday, April 29.

A total of seven hundred tickets were sold; and if all of the patrons weren't present, a very large proportion of them did attend. The often-noisy, jam-packed audience saw a total of eighteen acts make their presentations when it officially opens on June 3. The two-day event (June 3 and 4) will be held at the Delaware Technical and Community College, Southern Campus in Georgetown, Delaware.

Krypton, a local rock group from the high school, performed their original composition "Gone" to thunderous applause from the comparatively young audience and were awarded second prize for their effort.

Elaine Homewood and the Twirlettes, six little gals Elaine has taught to twirl the baton, gave an excellent exhibition of baton twirling with recorded back-up music by the group "Brick" doing "Dazz".

Timmy Rains, billed as "The Little Guy With the Big Voice", took third prize for his vocal rendition of "Joanie, Don't Cry".

Entrants were judged, on a scale of one to ten, on poise, effect, originality and audience response. Judges Butler, Coates, Walters and Way had their work cut out for them as there were several other noteworthy presentations.

Thus Wheeler Park might have a future as a park. And maybe future generations will be able to enjoy the trees, the birds, the great outdoors, and thus be provided a reason to always "Smile Smile Smile".

Think Metric Week

Delaware schools will hold parent workshops, field days, and poster contests to celebrate Think Metric Week May 9-13.

The observance is meant to inform the public and to help the schools convert to teaching metrics as ordered by the State Board of Education, according to William Geppert, state supervisor of mathematics at the Department of Public Instruction.

To switch over from the traditional English measurements in pounds, inches, and gallons, the schools this year began teaching the international metric system, based on decimal units, as the primary method. Each school district has named a person to coordinate the changeover. Dr. Geppert said, and last December, Caterpillars- (Continued from page 1) trash, he is darn sure going to tear open that bag of trash, and this is the big problem", according to the Mayor.

Mayor Myers said that the biggest problem is catching the dogs. John Hopkins a resident of Felton said "...you can call the dogcatcher, but they want you to catch the dogs for them". He did not feel this was right Mayor Myers said "...why sure, because it is a job. Now there are some dogs around here you can call to you and catch them right away. There are young dogs too than can be caught rather easy, but you take some of these old dogs who have had the darts (tranquillizer) shot at them are smart enough that when they see you coming they go the other way".

Other than dogs and cats running loose in Felton, the wild cherry trees that the Town planted during last year's bi-centennial have created another problem. A large influx of caterpillars have begun to build "nets" or webs in the trees in the north portion of the Town. Attempts are now under way to deal with the problem. Ex-Town Councilman Joe Winger appeared before Council to report that a spray will be used in the next few days to eliminate the problem. One remarked at the meeting that if something isn't done soon "...there will be butterflies all over Felton by summertime".

Mrs. Joyce Jefferson voiced objections on several topics from the need "...today for tomorrow and the futures" for Charter changes to the need to do something about clearing up the water. Mrs. Jefferson said that from time to time her wash is orange in color, and it will ruin your clothes". Mayor Myers said that this usually comes about when the flow of the water is disturbed. "It caused the sediment in the lines to break loose, and this is the problem", said Myers. Mrs. Jefferson was appointed to help rewrite the Town's Charter.

The sewer project for the Town of Felton was reported to be in the second phase according to Mayor Myers who was reporting on the County meeting last week when County Engineer Walter Fritz announced that the money has been applied for the installation of the sewer line for the Town. The feasibility study has been completed, but it was reported at the Council meeting that the study was in error, because Felton Heights and Felton Manor were not included in the study. The idea is to get more users on the sewer line so that the cost per user will be less. The total cost of the sewer project will be in excess of one million dollars and the cost to each user will be more than on hundred and thirty dollars per year. Mayor Myers told the council meeting "... the question was asked at the county meeting last week if that figure would increase each year...but we never got an answer to that".

Jamie Bell is a student in a wheelchair, but his physical disabilities have not stopped him from pursuing an education to enrich his life and prepare him for the job he hopes to get in the social services field.

Jamie has muscular dystrophy and has been confined to his wheelchair since he was a small boy. But the Lake Forest High School graduate is now enrolled in the human services technical program at the Terry Campus of Delaware and Technical and Community College in Dover, and in addition to his studies, Jamie has found time to help the thousands of other Americans who are afflicted with his condition.

Jamie was recently cited for his work in collecting contributions for the Muscular Dystrophy Association, Inc., which used the money to fund research to conquer the disease. Jamie collected the money in November of last year from his fellow Terry Campus students, and received the citation of merit for his work in February.

Jamie worked on the program with Terry Campus instructor Lowell

Barrett. Barrett taught Jamie sociology and human relations. "I needed a friend," says Jamie. "The people at Terry Campus have all been good to me, but Mr. Barrett has been special." At Jamie's suggestion, Barrett called the muscular dystrophy association office in Wilmington and obtained the information and supplies for Jamie to use in his collection. Barrett was also around to help Jamie take care of the money received and get it back to the association.

In addition to Barrett's two classes, Jamie has also taken classes like child development, English, and general psychology. He began at Terry Campus in the Fall Quarter of 1976 and he thinks the college is great. "The new building was constructed with an elevator and access areas for handicapped people," says Jamie. "When I came here they actually built one sidewalk so that I could get into the building easier. Since the Terry Campus can handle people who are in wheelchairs, I feel welcome here."

and Mrs. Joseph C. Bell of Felton. Every school day, Jamie and his mother arrive in the family van which has a specially designed ramp for Jamie's wheelchair. When his mother leaves, Jamie relies on his fellow students and instructors for help with doors and other obstacles. "All the students have been very nice to me" says Jamie. "They go out of their way to help me, and someday I hope to help other people with their problems when I have earned my college degree."

Help Wanted For Operation Childfind

The Woodbridge School District is involved in the Delaware Department of Public Instruction's project to locate all handicapped students who are not in school who reside in the Woodbridge School District. This may be a pre-school youngster or child who has never been sent to school because of the handicap.

If you know of a school age youngster, ages four to twenty, who is out of school because of a handicapping condition, contact the childfind coordinator, at 337-7812 or 337-8287 to discuss the situation and possibly secure appropriate educational services.

A screening program will be held in June for all pre-school youngsters whose parents wish to have them checked for possible educational handicaps. If your child seems to have problems with: seeing, talking, hearing, physical movement, playing, or emotional/or behavioral skills, you may want to have the child screened.

June 1 and June 2 from 6 to 9 p.m. at the Greenwood School in Greenwood there will be a screening session.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Snyder are happy to announce the arrival of a new grandson, Christopher Eric, born April 28th at Walter Reed Hospital. The proud parents are Sgt. and Mrs. Mickie Eskridge of Fort George G. Meade, Md. The Eskridges have two other boys, Glen Allan, who will start school in September, and Steven Lee, two years old. Mrs. Eskridge will be remembered as Susan Snyder. The other happy grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. George Eskridge of Greenwood.

Mr. and Mrs. Lester Hatfield attended the play, "My Fair Lady" at the Middle School in Dover Friday evening.

Mr. Kenneth Walls flew to Pine Hurst, N.C. Friday, Saturday and Sunday where he enjoyed several days of playing golf.

Miss Grace Draper visited her brothers and family Mr. and Mrs. Woody Draper of Greenwood Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Louis Devil played one of the leading parts in "My Fair Lady" in Dover. We understand she played the part of Mrs. Higgins and was excellent at it.

Mr. and Mrs. William Messick showed the new quarter horse stallion Burgandy Tardy in Cape May, N.J. Friday where he Stood Grand Champion, then returned by the Cape May-Lewis Ferry Friday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Dixon Jr. and children Jeff and Jodi of Silver City, N.C. recently visited her parents Mr. and Mrs. Louis Snyder. They also spent some time visiting her sister Mr. and Mrs. William Fannin, Leisa and Shayne.

The Fannins have recently built a new home at the south end of the Synders farm.

Miss Gale Johnson has returned to her job at the DuPont Co. in Seaford after enjoying a 2 week vacation. She visited different parts of New Jersey, New York and then spent several days with her niece in Bridgeport, Conn.

We were sorry to hear about the accident Master Pete Rash had Sunday when a door flew back and hit him. He had to be rushed to Milford Hospital for several stitches in his head.

Mr. and Mrs. William Messick spent the weekend visiting friends, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Dickerson in Mungunie, Pa.

was attractive, the rhythm and timing were excellent and Elaine is to be commended for her teaching ability and time spent working with these little girls. Their performance was clear evidence of Elaine's abilities.

Unfortunately, most of the other groups cannot fairly be reviewed simply because they could not be clearly heard or understood. The combination of a less than adequate sound system and an extremely disruptive quantity of noise in the rear of the Chipman field house flavored the entire evening. Perhaps a better sound system would have contributed to a more attentive audience.

Other entrants in the talent show, in addition to those already mentioned, were in order of their appearance:

Karen Gibbs, Pandora Scott, Erica Cain and Michelle Penn - Dance Routine.

Tina Lapinsky and Stephanie Dopirak - Dance Routine.

Diane King and Lisa Thomas - Vocal.

Rhonda Hammond, Billie McComas, Alfreda Daniel and Brenda Wooten - Pom-Pom Routine.

Yvonne Parsons - Piano Selection.

Doug Poore - Hobo Comedy

Renalee Foraker - Vocal.

Robin Kennedy, Rosharon Jackson, and Joan Kossman - Comedy.

Lori Clough, Lisa Stubbs, Rhonda Whitt,

Diana Voshell and Laurie Glasspool - Mime of Boston's "Long Time".

Norma Maloney - "Little Girl Act".

Mark Homewood - Piano Medley.

Janie Powell - Vocal.

Mr. Alex Becton, Band Director at Chipman, served as Master of Ceremonies in addition to organizing the entire production and lending encouragement to the entrants.

SHOULD MY CHILD TAKE PIANO?

Yes. Few things so enrich life as understanding and appreciating music. Piano playing is in itself a rewarding creative outlet. At the same time, it encourages the development of a well-rounded personality, and it promotes concentration, alertness and poise.

Lime... the fertilizer stretcher

Lime stretches nitrogen supplies. Acid pH's slow down the reaction of micro-organisms in the soil. This results in the slower conversion of urea and ammonia forms of nitrogen to more readily available nitrate forms. It reduces the microbial breakdown of organic materials which release nitrogen to your crops. Proper liming makes more nitrogen available for healthy growth.

Lime stretches phosphate supplies. Low pH causes phosphate to be tied up in unavailable compounds of iron and aluminum. At pH levels of 6.0 or higher iron and aluminum precipitate out making them non-reactive with phosphate. So more phosphate is available for crops production.

Lime stretches potash supplies. Calcium, magnesium and potash can partially substitute for each other in the crop and on the soil colloid. If calcium and magnesium are low, more potash enters the exchangeable form on the soil colloid and less remains in solution form for crop uptake. With proper liming, less total potash is needed.

Lime... for the good of it!

Liming always has been, and today is even more so, the most profitable fertility practice you can undertake. And right now is the time to do it!

Ruritan News

by Joseph L. Brinster

The Caesar Rodney Ruritan Club celebrated its Twentieth Anniversary and Annual Ladies Night on April 19th at the Camden Wyoming, Moose Lodge. This was a gala event with a special ham dinner for 19 members plus 11 guests and their ladies.

The guests recognized were: Rev. Charles Moyer, Pastor Magnolia Methodist Church; Mayhew Whyland, Past National President; George Winfree, District Governor; Jim Sterling, Past National Director; Herbert Bull, Lieutenant Governor; Woodrow Wilkerson, Past District Governor; Russell Bowdle, Past District Governor; Lawrence O'Neal, President, Kenton Club; Robert Jarrell, President V.C.F. Club; George Walton, President, Magnolia Club; Joe Brinster, Zone 2 Governor. Bruce Frazier and Olin Gooden, Past District Governors are members of Caesar Rodney.

Seven members including George Best, Miller Gibe, Olin Gooden, Kline Lingo, Tom Pickering, Arthur Walker and Gooden Darling were honored as the original charter members of the Club chartered on April 9, 1957. Various other members were recognized as members with perfect attendance during their term of membership.

Dinner music and entertainment was a piano recital by Reverend Moyer and a selection of hymns and popular old songs sung by a quartet of members Bruce Frazier, Harold Carlisle, Oakland Remus, and Stephen Childers.

The Annual Spring Rally of the Delmarva-New Jersey District of Ruritan National Held on April 23rd at the Hebron Fire Hall at Hebron, Md., was a big success. 220 Officers, Members and guests and their ladies were served a superb ham and chicken dinner with all the trimmings.

District Governor, George Winfree presided and recognized Lieut. Gov. Herbert Bull; Past District Governors, Bruce Frazier, Woodrow Wilkerson, Russell Bowdle, Otis Skinner and Olin Gooden. Also National Director Pete deWilde, Past National Director Jim Sterling and Past National President Mayhew Whyland.

Special Awards were presented to Past District Gov. Bruce Frazier and Past Zone 2 Gov. Edgar Dill.

The guest speaker for the Rally was National Vice President of Ruritan Robert Wrenn who began his talk by reading excerpts from some outstanding talks by Ruritans in 1958 that still hold true and then continued his talk on the topic of Ruritans continually being involved so that they can be "Stepping Stones in their community instead of "Stumbling Blocks."

Entertainment was by a quartet of young people, two ladies and two men, who sang various selections of old and new songs together and in pairs.

For Your Information

Dear friends,

Often the death of a dear one is so shocking that the next of kin is stunned and unable to immediately make decisions on burial arrangements. Nevertheless, close relatives or friends should not offer to assume decisions, such as the choice of a funeral director and clergyman.

To avoid later dismay and resentments, it is imperative that the next of kin make the burial decisions.

Respectfully,

Planting Report Reveals Production Shifts For Corn, Soybeans

Delaware farmers are following a national trend shifting corn ground into soybean production. Government figures indicate they will increase soybean acreage while decreasing corn acreage.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture survey shows Delaware farmers intend to increase soybean acreage eight percent over last year. That would put the total at about 200,000 acres. Some of that shift will be at the expense of corn acreage which will be down two percent to 225,000 acres.

Delaware's corn and soybean intentions follow very closely the national picture as projected in U.S. Department of Agriculture findings. Nationally, farmers say they will plant 55.7 million acres of soybeans—that's almost 11 percent more than last year—and they will plant 83.9 million acres of corn, about two percent less than last year.

This shift in acreage was anticipated by most market analysts, according to Carl German, crops marketing specialist with the Delaware Cooperative Extension Service. He says, however, the reduction of 600,000 acres of corn nationally was less than anticipated based on strong price advances recently for soybeans. German points out that these intentions to plant are as of April 1 and could change significantly by the end of the planting season. An early warm spring would favor larger than expected corn plantings. Cool wet weather that delays field work would cause more soybeans to be planted.

The report reveals another interesting figure; that is, nationally farmers intend to plant more total crop acres in 1977 than they did last year. The increase is almost three and one-half million. The "new acres" are coming from a variety of areas, according to the Department of Agriculture. Recent rainfalls have caused farmers to consider expanding production in the upper midwest, indicating that some marginal land may be going into crop production this year. Also, substantial areas of the midwest may be switching hay and pasture land into winter wheat land into corn and soybeans. A factor in the switch from pasture land is the recent price situation for beef cattle. Low prices over the past several months have caused liquidation of many beef herds, thus making grass land available for other uses.

Delaware's corn and soybean acreage has varied considerably in the last few years. According to Agriculture Department information, the actual acreage of corn in 1975 was 204,000. That increased to 230,000 acres in 1976 settling back to 225,000 intended for 1977. Farmers planted more soybeans in 1975 than they did corn—207,000 acres. That surge was temporary, however, as they reduced their acreage in 1976 to only 185,000 acres. The intended increase this year to 200,000 acres is still well below the intended corn acreage.

This brief history suggests considerable switching by Delaware farmers who devote almost 80 percent of their cropland to these two crops. Anticipated prices seem to be the determining factor since yields tend to be fairly stable. Long-term averages indicate a gradually-increasing yield for both crops. Nationally the 1976 corn crop averaged 87.4 bushels an acre compared with 86.2 bushels in '75. The soybean crop averaged only 25.6 bushels in 1976 compared with 28.8 in '75.

German says farmers are faced with a difficult choice each year of comparing projected yields with anticipated prices. As their planting intentions were being determined this year, corn was selling at around $2.35 a bushel, soybeans at around $7 a bushel for November delivery with payment being taken in January. He says each individual farmer must consider these prices and his own yield history and production costs when deciding on his cropland mix. At best, the difficult decision is made worse by the uncertainty of the weather and its effect on these crops.

Girl Scout News

On April 12th, 1977, Cadette Troop #905 of Harrington, Cadette Troop #239 of Frederica and their guests traveled to Philadelphia, Pa. for an exciting day of events.

Upon their arrival, they appeared on "Dialing For Dollars", Channel Six television show, where Mrs. Marian Benson and Mrs. Doris Kates of Harrington were contestants.

Other attractions toured were: 1) Visitors Center where they viewed the film "Independence"; 2) Independence Hall; 3) the new Liberty Bell Pavilion on Independence Mall; 4) Betsy Ross House, home of "Old Glory"; 5) Christ Church, (Founded in 1695, Built in 1727) still active parish church where they have the first Palladian Window in this country; 6) the Benjamin Franklin National Memorial dedicated in 1974 and is the only national memorial honoring the great statesman-scientist and 7) the Franklin Institute Science Museum.

Town and Country

Tomatoes are the most popular home-grown vegetable. They grow almost everywhere with a minimum of effort and they require relatively little space for a large production. Each tomato plant may be expected to yield 8 to 10 pounds of fruit. Tomatoes grow best in fertile, well-drained soil in full sun. You should transplant tomato seedlings outside when the soil has warmed up and there is little threat of frost, which usually is anytime after May 1. If you plant them before this date you will need to protect them with hot caps, plastic or paper coverings, boxes, baskets, etc. If you put out plants in peat pots, be sure to bury the edges of the pot to prevent evaporation of water from around the roots. After planting, press the soil firmly around the plant so that a slight depression is formed to hold water. Pour 1-2 cups of water containing a soluble fertilizer (starter solution) around each plant. If plants will be staked, plant them 18 inches apart in rows 3 feet apart. If plants are un-staked, plant them 3 feet apart in rows 4-5 feet apart. Plants should receive about one inch of water per week. A good thorough soaking is better than several light sprinkles. Fertilizing after the first fruit appears will benefit tomatoes. A heaping teaspoon of 5-10-5 applied 8-10 inches from the stem once a month will help keep the plants producing.

There are several ways to grow tomatoes; un-staked, staked, and in cages. Staking makes it easier to cultivate and harvest tomatoes, and helps prevent fruit rots.

If you plan to stake your tomatoes, insert the stakes soon after transplanting to prevent root damage.

Use stakes that are about 8 feet long and 1 1/2 inches wide. Push the stakes into the soil about 2 feet. Tie soft twine or strips of rag tightly around the stake 2 to 3 inches above a leaf stem, then loop the twine loosely around the main stem not far below the base of the leaf stem and tie with a square knot. Or use plant ties, made of tape reinforced with wire, to fasten plants to stakes.

Wire fencing, about 4-6 feet high, may also be used to support a tomato plant. Form a circle around the plant with the fence. Make sure the wire has large openings.

If you stake your tomatoes, prune them once a week. Remove the small shoots that appear at the point where the leaf stem joins the main stem. Do not disturb the fruit buds, which appear just above or below the points where the leaves are attached to the leaf stem.

Tomatoes can also be grown in containers if space is limited. A patio type tomato or a regular garden type can be grown in a five gallon bucket or similar container. The soil should be light, a synthetic soil such as 2 parts peat moss, one part vermiculite, and one part sand or perlite would be a good mix; one part sterilized garden soil could also be added. Add two tablespoons of lime to the mixture.

Races Begin Final Week

Harrington Raceway concludes Spring Racing this coming Saturday and has scheduled one of their better race cards of the season for closing night.

The eighth and feature race will spotlight one of the surprises of the season, "Flowing Hi Lo" from the H.W. "Grady" Speers Stable. "Flowing Hi Lo" paced the mile on April 23rd in 2:03 3/5, but was taken down from the top spot and placed 7th by track judges in a controversial decision. He was subsequently moved up in classification due to the fast time and raced in this past Saturday's feature race and again won, but in a much slower 2:05 2/5, a win none-the-less.

Win 129 1/2 to 11 1/2

"Herbie C", a 5 yr. old, owned by Herb Cain of Harrington, Delaware raced in a different race, also on April 23rd, and won in a quick 2:03 2/5, a fifth of a second faster than "Flowing Hi Lo's" race, but when the two horses were matched in the same race this past Saturday, it was "Flowing Hi Lo" that took home the win in a photo finish ending.

One horse that has the ability to shatter either of the other two horses dreams of glory, would have to be "Delight Lady". Although this is "Delight Lady's" first race since December 19, 1976, she won that one in a fast 2:01 2/5 at Dover Downs and definitely has the ability to put owners Harlan and Beatrice Wilson of Delmar, Delaware in the "Winners Circle."

Other such rivalries exist in most of the other races this final week as horses and drivers compete for wins and driving championships. One such driver who will be pulling out all stops at Harrington would have to be Roman Miller.

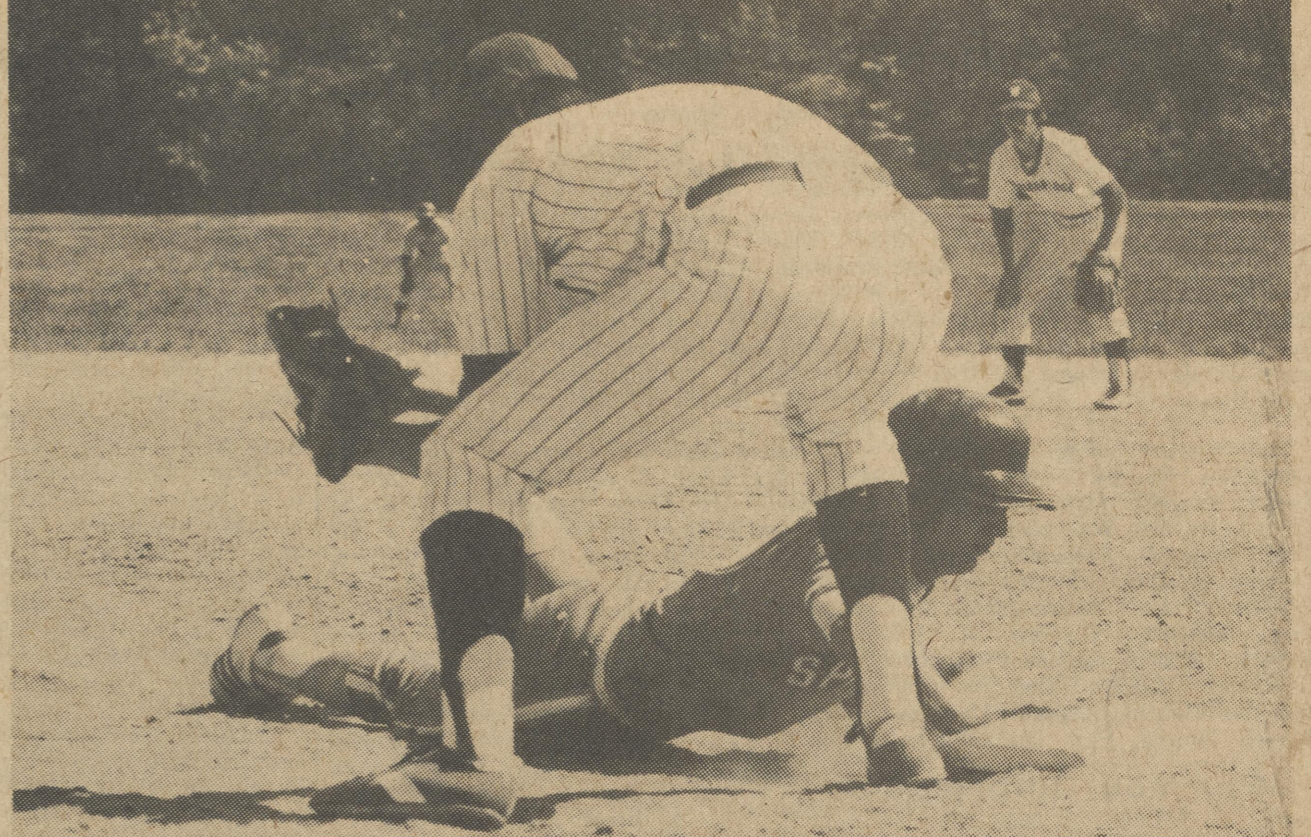

Miller is currently the leading dash driver at Harrington and through Friday, April 29th, had won 17 times out of his 85 starts. He's also third on the top ten UDR driver list, which awards drivers points for firsts, seconds, and thirds and thereby computes each driver percentage of times "in the money".

Miller won six more races this past weekend and thus seems assured of the Dash Driving Title, but will have to be close to the top in most of his remaining drives to knock current UDR winning driver Sam Belote from the top of the list. Other drivers in the top five UDR rating include veteran Charles Laws, young Nick Callahan, and the capable Guy Banks.

It's doubtful if any new track record will be broken in the last week of racing of Harrington, but anything is possible if you look at the records that have already been shattered this Spring. Horsemen have been extremely pleased with the condition of the track as evidenced by the number of their charges that have taken lifetime records.

John Stadelman of Townsend, Delaware is one of those drivers, as two of the horses he drove this year will be recorded in Harrington's record book. Three weeks ago he piloted his own horse, "Chanak" to a fast 2:01 flat to take the Tracks mile racing record and then he came back the following week with "Great Scott N", to win a 13/16th mile race in 1:59 1/5. "Chanak" has since raced at Liberty Bell in 1:59 2/5 and "Great Scott N" is an "also eligible" to race for Stadelman this Saturday night in the sixth race in Harrington.

Post time Wednesday through Saturday is 8 p.m. and track officials are optimistic that good weather will prevail for the final 4 days of racing and thus enable them to break last year's attendance record.

Lake Forest's Wade Brown dives back into first base as Woodbridge's Matt Reynolds prepares to apply the tag. Brown was safe on the play and the Spartans went on to win 9-0.

Hitting Leads Spartans to Win

The Lake Forest High School baseball team captured their first of the season last Saturday, by a 9-0 score over Woodbridge High.

Lack of hitting which had been the Spartans biggest problem in their four games was not evident in this contest as the Spartans banged out eight hits on the afternoon against two Woodbridge hurlers.

Leading the attack for the Spartans was freshman first baseman Mark Smith who had three hits and one run batted in on the afternoon. Glenn Whitt had two more of the Spartans hits including a triple to left-center field.

Having finally had some offensive support for a fine pitching performance senior Greg Regan matched his first pitching victory of the season. Regan allowed only two hits on the afternoon, one a leadoff single to John Butler and the other an infield hit to Mike Davis. The Spartans chances for their second successive win came on Monday against Seaford but they were edged by a 4-3 score.

Lake Forest took a 3-0 lead in the bottom of the first inning but Seaford scored single runs in the third and fourth plus two in the fifth for their fifth victory against only one defeat. Jim Carroll was the losing pitcher for the Spartans.

The Spartans are now 1-5 on the season with their next game being on Thursday at Indian River.

Trackmen Crush Dover Air

Lake Forest's trackmen won every event in a lopsided 129 1/2 to 11 1/2 victory over Dover Air. The Falcons managed only two second places in the 220 and the shot put. Lake Forest is 5 and 0 with five to go.

triple winner for Spartan Coach Jim Blades, annexing the 100 yard dash, the long and triple jumps. (Continued to page 9).

Seaford Hands Spartan Trackmen First Loss

John Hollis' powerful, senior-dominated, Seaford High track team handed Jim Blades and his Lake Forest team their first setback of the season, after the Spartans opened with five victories.

So great is the Seaford balance, they were able to handle the Spartans in all three distance events, the 880, mile and two-mile; heretofore the source of many points for Lake Forest.

Mike Benson was able to handle the Blue Jays in both the long (20 feet, 10 inches) and triple jumps (41 feet, 7 inches) while teammate Stacy Sams did an excellent job also with a second and third here. Tony Barner's best 440 of the campaign, 53 seconds flat, won that event. Tim McCombs, beaten only once in the high jump, took that event with 5 feet, 10 inches.

Kenny Thorpe, a freshman in only his third start, ran a swift 10.4 or 10.3 in the 100 yard dash for second place.

Others to turn in lifetime or near-lifetime bests that were not quite good enough to win or place were: Bill Moore, second in intermediate hurdles, Jerry Custis, runnerup in high hurdles, Wilson Fry and Dan Parker second in the two and one mile runs, respectively. Ron Loper's best 220, 24.5, and Dave Richter's fine 2.08 half mile resulted in runner-up finishes.

Gusty Voshell's top pole vault of 11 feet, 6 inches, netted only third place, as did an excellent 4.47 mile by Chris Palmisano, and a 17.1 high hurdle locking by John Moffett.

Freshman Bill Mitchell's best two-mile of 11.14 did not score. Sophomore Eric Wise is prepping to eventually replace older Spartan leapers, Benson and Sams. Eric had an 18-2 long jump and a 37-6 1/2 triple jump, good enough to place in many Delaware scholastic meets.

Singleton, Harris Lead Girls to Second Successive Win

Dave Buck's Lake Forest girls' track team are 2-0 after winning 67-38 over a Dover Air team, which had been rated as even-money with the locals.

Karen Singleton and Karen Harris were triple winners for the Spartans. Singleton won the high jump, 4 feet 5 inches, the 110 low hurdles (17.9) and combined with Patsy Watson, Paula Mosley and Tina Durant to take the 880 relay in 1.55.

Karen Harris was first in the 440 in 65.7 which is close to her Lake Forest record. Karen had the best leap, 14-5, in the long jump and joined with her sister, Maxine, the mile victor, Paula Mosley and half mile winner, Valerie Davis to win the mile relay in 4.45.2.

Maxine Harris ran her second-fastest mile (5.50) in beating Dover Air's Brillhart, and up-and-coming young distaff miler, Davis' 2.45 880 effort was a good outing also.

Patsy Watson captured the century in 12.5, with freshman Tina Lapinsky third.

Joyce Ewing was first in the discus, (85.6) second in the shot and tied for third with Lois Russum in the half mile.

Tina Durant was runner-up in the 220, as was Barbara Williams in the shot. Patsy Watson and Shelly Barthlow had thirds in the long jump and shot respectively. Patty Irish was third in the mile run.

Jowanna Daniels, a tiny quarter miler, running the anchor leg for a non-scoring Spartan "B" relay four, turned in one of the most courageous performances we've seen. Daniels gave no quarter and asked none, fighting every step of the way in a losing but magnificently game effort.

(Continued from page 8). Freshman sprinter Ken Thorpe was a close second in the 100 recording the same time, 10.6, as did Benson. Stacy Sams was second to Mike in the jumps.

Bill Moore, Tom Ott and John Moffett went 1-2-3 in both hurdle events.

Dan Parker and Chris Palmisano got the first two places in the mile run then reversed that order in the 880.

Manny Christopher annexed the shot and discuss with one of his best efforts yet (41-9) in the former.

Baron Harmon, Milton Justice, Kenny Thorpe and Tim Dukes won the 880 relay. The first three ran with Chris Rosario to win the 440 relay.

A Spartan "B" relay quartet, running unofficially, also outlegged the Falcons. Pete Hinson, Barry Handges, Eric Wise and Marty Barner did the honors here.

Tony Barner and Ron Loper were 1-2 in the 440 with the latter returning to win the 220.

Gusty Voshell, Kelly Woodward and Allan Walth swept the pole vault, while Tim McCombs, Joe Nored and Chris Palmisano achieved the same feat in the high jump.

Louis Thomas ran the two-mile in 10.46, in his first attempt at the distance. Runnerup Spartan Wilson Fry had been unbeaten (4-0) over eight laps. Other Spartan point-getters were: Dave Richter (4.53) in the mile, Mike Barner, shotput; Larry McCombs, discus and sophomore Eric Wise, triple jump.

Speedway Opens Friday

The Georgetown Speedway, under the promotion of the Delmarva Auto Racing Association will begin their 1977 racing season this Friday evening, May 6th, at 8 p.m. A full, action packed program of modified, sportsman, late model, and mini stocks is planned with a new combined modified-sportsman feature offering special bonus money to the top sportsman finishers.

Harold Bunting, will be one of the top challengers in the modified division driving the new Kenny Weld built-Dutch Warrington owned Gremlin. Federalburg's Walt Breeding in the Taylor and Messick Gremlin will be tough to beat. Breeding successfully campaigned this car over the winter on the asphalt at New Smyrna, Florida and now has it ready to take on the half-mile dirt.

The addition of the mighty mini stocks, which will replace the hobby division, will add to the excitement and to the overall "new look" at the home of racing on Delmarva.

The speedway is located two miles south of Georgetown on Rt. 113. Gates open at 6 p.m., first race gets underway promptly at 8 p.m.

Band Headed For New York

The Woodbridge H.S. Band under the direction of Richard Milne will participate in the upcoming Blossom Festival in Niagara Falls, N.Y. The three-day festival will play host to some 40 bands from around the country. "This is a first as far as I know and am told," according to Milne. There will be 65 students from Woodbridge taking part in the trip which will be chaperoned by about 12 parents.

According to Milne, the Band raised part of the $5,000 needed to finance the trip by holding bake sales, dances, etc., but most of the money was raised through the efforts of the Woodbridge H.S. Band Boosters.

PERSONAL

I will always recall a most difficult time of my life as one of thanksgiving. The support of love and friendship I was given by my family and friends during my confinement at Milford Memorial Hospital and the professional care I received helped make the situation bearable. Knowing that Dee Maris was at home to help my family also removed anxiety.
To Dr. Nam S. Han and members of the Harrington ministry, especially the Rev. Bruce Shortell, the only way to say thank you is to thank God, whose presence was especially shown through them.
May God bless each of you as He has me.
Margo Farrow
I would like to express our sincere thanks to our friends, neighbors and relatives for the flowers, food, cards, and prayers extended to us during the loss of our dear husband and father, Clarence Legates. May God bless you all.
