First National Bank Gets Final Approval For Branch Office

HARRINGTON. David G. Jones, Cashier and Executive V.P. of the 1st National Bank of Harrington this week announced the final approval by the Comptroller of the Treasury in Washington D.C. and the Administrator of National Banks in Philadelphia that the 1st National could proceed along with its plans to erect a branch bank at Canterbury.

The site of the new building, which will be colonial design with brick veneer, will face along the Canterbury to Magnolia Road and border along the Canterbury to Milford Road. The building will contain approximately 2,500 sq. feet of space.

Jones said Canterbury was selected because a market analysis study showed there to be more housing units in a 3 mile radius of Canterbury than in a 3 mile radius of the home office of the 1st National Bank in Harrington. According to the study released there are some 35 housing developments of various sizes in that 3 mile radius, as well as 28 areas of mobile home parks (already in existence).

The estimated date for starting the construction is August 1st, and Jones feels construction will take approximately 6 months to complete.

The branch will be a "...full service bank with checking and savings accounts, safety deposit boxes, loan department to better serve the existing customers as well as the rapidly growing Canterbury area," said Jones.

Troop 919, Denise Williams, Ella Polk, Jayne Carr, Sarah Hammond, Tina Yocum, Dawn Jones, Lydia Rodriguez and Inez Banks. The troops are led by Mary Bias and Shirley Janvier, Troop 916 Brownies and Linda Kates and Debbie Rook served on the Entertainment Committee for the visiting troops.

The Health and safety of the Scouts and their leaders was assured by the presence of the Felton Fire Company fire engines and ambulance which were covered by 10 ambulance attendants alternating from 9 a.m. to 11 p.m. and 9 firemen alternating for 24 hours each day.

The Army Reserve out of Dover furnished and pitched the tents for the Council Staff and assisted in cooking meals for the Staff, ambulance crews and visiting adult Girl Scouts.

The Skills Roundup was the largest event ever held by the Chesapeake Bay Girl Scout Council. Girls attended from as far south as Belle Haven, Virginia, and as far north as Claymont, Delaware.

Police Busy With Thefts, DP & L Robbed, Break-In At Aetna Shirt Co.

The Harrington Police Department was kept busy during the past week with several thefts reported within the city.

The first of the thefts was reported on May 12th when two CB's were stolen from the employees parking lot at Burris Foods. The two radios were the property of Bill Lamb Jr. of Viola and Clarence W. Wilkerson of Milford. Both cars were entered with the use of some sort of pry bar and each radio was removed from the brackets inside. The incident is still under investigation by the Harrington Police Department.

The second incident in the week long police log was that of a possible burglary at the Aetna Shirt

Co. Entry to the building was gained through a window in the rear of the building. To date the business is still being checked for losses although so far nothing has been determined missing.

Delmarva Power and Light reported to the Harrington Police that someone has been taking money from the night depository box at the area office on Liberty Street. Entry to the box has been gained from the inside of the building. While this incident is still under investigation DP & L urges everyone not to put money in the night depository box.

The only incident on the Police log this week other than thefts and burglaries was that of a fight at the Harrington Sunoco Station on last Saturday morning. The two persons reportedly involved were Adam Hurd and Charles Walters of Harrington. The supposed fight started over a bottle of beer. After investigation the police found no cause for warrants and the subjects left without further incident.

Lake Forest School Bd. Hears Drug Charges

LAKE FOREST HIGH SCHOOL, FELTON. With E.B. Warrington, Jr. presiding over the Lake Forest School Board, recognition was given to Mrs. Joyce Jefferson who in turn introduced Cpl. Charles Vickers of the Delaware State Police, Juvenile Division. Cpl. Vickers reported to the Board that there was the presence of drugs in the presence of drugs in the School District. "But it is no different here than in other school districts", said Vickers. He compared this school district with Seaford in that there are approximately 1800 students in each district Cpl. Vickers told the Board that 8 cases had been reported thus far during this school year. Of the 8 reported cases in which some disposition was made only 5 of those cases were brought to a conviction. James Pizzadili, retiring school board member, was quick to point out that the record of so few arrests and convictions "...speaks well for this District".

According to Cpl. Vickers 9 other cases classified as "...drug related cases" were also investigated but no disposition so far as an arrest is concerned was made. These cases fall into the classification of troublesome students like the ones who persist in being absent from school. Cpl. Vickers revealed "...that perhaps in every graduating class today over 50 % of the class have tried marijuana". According to Vickers "...no hard stuff" has been brought to the attention of the DSP. Vickers is assigned to Troop #5 Bridgeville.

Mrs. Jefferson urged the Board to take some affirmative action in the form of a "...public hearing, because you have held public hearings for the purpose of deciding on expanding the size of the school where the will of the majority was reflected by way of vote...and I think that if I am in the minority as far as trying to suppress the use of drugs in our school system then I think that we are entitled to a public hearing." Warrington said that a public hearing of this nature would prove nothing. Warrington asked Cpl. Vickers if there were any recommendations that the school could follow. Vickers claimed the program which the school district follows today is a good one. The education of the elementary against the negative side of the use of drugs in the health classes and the holding of seminars elsewhere in the school is a good policy. "Most of the trouble is brought about by peer pressure, where the younger students are guided by the older students." This seems to be the heart of the problem according to Cpl. Vickers.

Cpl. Vickers pointed out that the largest area or source is Dover, and many of the students from Lake Forest obtain the drugs from their association with the students from Vo-Tech who come down from Dover. "The students who leave the high school in the morning for Vo-Tech

Webb Replaces Beckert In School District

BRIDGEVILLE. Elwood Webb, the postmaster at the Georgetown Post Office was elected to fill the vacancy created when Dr. R.E. Beckert decided not to run for another term. Webb, 57, felt the educational program should be expanded in the Woodbridge District. He has criticized the present equalization formula because it does not provide adequate help for poorer districts of which Woodbridge is one.

Webb is the former Postmaster at Ellendale (1959-1972), a member of the Ruritan Club of Greenwood, Rotary Club of Georgetown, the VFW, Southern States Co-Op, Greater Delaware Insurance group, 32nd Degree Mason, former President of the Delaware Chapter of Postmasters, former Regional V.P. of the National Association of Postmasters, and currently Treasurer of the Delaware Chapter of Postmasters.

The vote was as follows: Elwood Webb: 198; Thurman G. Hicks: 92; and Donald J. Green: 77 for a grand total of cast votes of 367.

Webb, is a graduate of Greenwood High School, and has seven children. One of his children is still attending school in the Woodbridge district.

Webb said he is encouraged by the efforts of teachers for the benefit of school children. He feels the district has been doing a "reasonable" job with the money they have to work with.

Additional funds are needed, though, to expand the educational programs

Choral Society Plans European Tour

The Delaware Choral Society under the direction of Dr. Peter J. McCarthy, Associate Professor & Coordinator of Choral Programs at the University of Delaware, is planning a two week concert tour of Europe during the early summer of 1978.

On the itinerary are the countries of Germany, Austria, Switzerland and Italy. Approximately 6 concerts will be performed by the Delaware Choral Society while touring.

There will be several fund raising projects sponsored by the Delaware Choral Society to help defray the cost of the tour to the members. Persons planning to go on the tour must make reservations before the December 4th, 1977 concert, at which time a deposit will be required, plus they will be required to sing in the Spring 1978 concert.

One of the first Delaware Choral Society fund raising events will be to participate in the Rodney Village Garage Sale on Saturday, May 21. Those wishing to support the Delaware Choral Society in their venture are invited to browse at the Society's table.

For further information regarding the Concert-Tour or the fund raising please call: 734-9436 or 734-3739.

Worthy Of Support

Delaware's Senator Bill Roth needs all the support he can get for his bill offering tax credits for college tuitions.

The bill has been passed twice by the Senate, but died in the House because it went into recess before the bill came up. Now, after second passage by the Senate, the bill is once again in the House where it has been assigned to committee which is holding hearings on it. Hopefully it will come out of committee with a favorable recommendation and be passed.

It will then go to the President for signature, and if signed, will offer relief for millions of beleaguered American parents with youngsters in college, youngsters who in many cases have to drop out because of a shortage of funds.

There are all sorts of college tuition aid programs available if one is poor and of a minority group. And the very rich have no problems going to college.

But, all of middle America is just about priced out of the college market.

Roth's bill will correct this inequity and is worthy of massive public support. All it takes are letters to the Congress and the White House. We hope our readers will respond.

Publisher's Choice

"...a red cow, eats green grass, gives white milk".

The simple things to a Kent County country boy are still the most important to his way of life. From the farm to the business community the simplest way is always the best way.

But...who was it that said or believed that in order for something to be successful...or for that matter that it would work...it must be complicated. We seem to deliberately set about from the time that we are turned loose to complicate our lives. We proclaim that this is progress. Is it? To see how high we can fly or how far and how fast we can travel...to the other side of the moon...is the progress?

I never went along with school consolidation, because I felt in the long run it would mean more expense to every taxpayer...of every age. To harbour this feeling is to be judged against progress...a misanthrope...and counterproductive. So we drive school buses all over the country, state and nation...and even make pick-ups and deliveries in the towns. I feel sure the school buses are gas savers...never a gas hog among that yellow bunch. I remember when my brother-in-law was first greeted with school consolidation. He was required to travel 60 miles each way...an hour each way...and more. Just think of our little ones being put through this. Of course we think a great deal of our children, this is probably why our courts put us through all of this...herding them around like sheep!

The country for the moment is turned to "...saving...economize". The President has devised this feeling, and more and more people are responding. It would appear that we have perhaps painted ourselves into a corner though so now how can we extricate ourselves. We heard just the other day that into the 1980's the world will play witness to one of the greatest catastrophes when the oil supply will be rapidly reaching the end of the line. At that time, we are told by our government leaders that such things as the car will be a thing of the past. Can this be fact? Can you imagine life without a car...will we wait at the station with the wife and kids in preparation for a weekend at the beach. What will happen to the freeways.

Finally we come face to face with "...having to do". The unflattering tale of our own stupidity, greed and our deliberate attempt to squander our natural resources has now come full circle and we are face to face with reality. Why do we insist in delving into projects which are so costly when the simplest way would be the most practical. Why do we insist on producing large cars which will drink up the gas...or small cars which become mere hattracks for accessories...after accessories. If the accessories we must have...and nothing else will do, then we should produce a car that doesn't operate on gasoline, oil and the like. We should encourage our government to program solar heating units for the home...even if for the most part the first ones are crude inventions of one's doing. We can have the simple car, and it can run on electricity. It is one which operates by way of a flywheel when charged. It is a simple machine...it has mud guards or running boards if you will, enough headroom so that inside you can sit comfortably without the need for removing your hat...an on-off switch, a speedometer and a gauge that tells you how much longer you can run before the need for another charge.

We look cattywampus from where we sit in Harrington so that we split the air between Washington and Dover, and we ask that our leaders look elsewhere for energy sources and conserve what we have. The simple flywheel is one answer...there is another answer to heating and are we looking in the right places for the cure to the dreaded disease of C.....

With the quietness of the electric propelled car this time of the year driving through the countryside, we probably will hear sounds we haven't heard in quite a while the singing of birds whose tunes are long since forgotten. In your mind you see it all, and you know that it is possible...for in the distance you can see a red cow eating green grass...and you know now what the result will be.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Editor,

As a parent and cafeteria manager, I wonder if the public is aware of the impact the governor's cuts will have on the school cafeterias. If the governor makes the 60 per cent cuts in cafeteria funding as the Delaware School Board Association proposed, each of us will then be spending an additional $.30 per day for each child eating in the cafeteria. Those parents whose children receive free lunches must realize if the wages of cafeteria workers, managers, and all fringe benefits have to be paid from cafeteria funds, then the School Lunch Program might be in jeopardy. If the local districts are required to pay these extra costs, then our school taxes must be raised to meet our needs.

We feel it is very unfair to school children to cut the school lunch budget. While some children complain, I am sure school lunches would be greatly missed by hungry children. As a parent and homemaker, everyone should realize how important well-balanced and hot meals are to growing children.

Please give us your support and let your legislator know how you feel. Do not allow the state government to cut the school lunch budget by 60 per cent when other agencies are cut only 20 per cent.

Remember, a hungry child cannot learn. Mrs. Louise Fisher Cafeteria Manager Lake Forest North Elem. School 284-9611 or 284-4190

Roth Receives Award

Roth was cited for his "strong leadership in Congress on behalf of fiscal responsibility, the interests of the taxpayers and a strong national defense."

Weekly Report

by Senator Joe Biden

This week the Senate Foreign Relations Committee accepted and reported out five amendments which I proposed as part of the International Financial Institutions Authorization Act.

One of these amendments establishes for the first time a comprehensive framework to deal with the matter of the reception and presentation of gifts by the United States and its officials. Specifically what it says is that no individual from the President on down can receive a gift from another Government if its value is more than $100.00. Actually, they may receive the gifts but they may not keep them, unless in so doing it would diplomatically or otherwise embarrass the United States. All gifts would have to be turned over to the Chief of Protocol at the Department of State and be fully and publicly recorded. At the same time, the United States Government cannot use the taxpayers money to give gifts of over $100.00 in value to another government or an official of that government. I don't think it is right to use taxpayers money to give expensive cars and other substantial gifts to foreign heads of state. Nor do I think that it is proper for our officials to accept similar gifts from foreign governments.

Another of the amendments will make possible for the first time greater participation by public interest groups in State Department policy proceedings and Advisory Committees. Under this amendment a certain amount of money will be set aside by the State Department to aid public interest groups who have a legitimate concern with State to come before the Department and make sure that their concerns are heard. I think that this is an important step in continuing to try and open up the bureaucracy to the needs and desires of citizens rather than just the needs of those groups that can afford to pay a lot of money to be represented before State. Hopefully, the precedent we have set with the State Department will be picked up by the other Federal Agencies as a way of really beginning to open up and make more responsive the Federal Government.

Thoughts

by Senator Bill Roth

With each passing day, it becomes more and more likely that the Congress will adopt a comprehensive national energy program this session. Nearly every aspect of such a program will be of special interest to Delawareans.

Few people realize the involvement of Delaware in practically every energy issue, ranging from solar energy to increased imports. Let me cite a few examples:

--IMPORTED OIL. The largest refinery center in the East is located on our doorstep, and one of the largest refiners -- Getty -- within our state. As imports increase, the danger of spills which wash ashore in Delaware also increases. But as great a threat as imported oil may pose, it is vitally necessary today for Delaware. We depend heavily on it rather than the cheaper domestic oil which the Mid-Western and Western states burn. The result is that we generally pay higher prices for our oil and the electricity which is generated from it.

--DOMESTIC OIL. If production is increased, much of it will come from areas off our coast on the Outer Continental Shelf. Leasing has already started, and production within the next few years seems inevitable. But Delaware's involvement doesn't stop with merely oil.

--NATURAL GAS. This energy source is extremely important because Delaware is among the states most reliant on natural gas. The impact of last winter's shortage, when thousands of Delawareans experienced severe economic hardships, illustrates Delaware's reliance on a cheap, abundant supply of natural gas.

--CONSERVATION. A tax on "gas guzzlers" could have a favorable impact on our two auto assembly plants, one producing the subcompact Chevette, the other producing the compact Aspen.

--SOLAR ENERGY. One of the best research programs in the nation is at the University of Delaware.

--COAL. Though no coal is mined in Delaware, the University of Delaware's research program on coal gasification is considered one of the finest in the country, supplying skilled personnel to business and industry.

The Village Idiot

by R. B. R.

A very popular accusation these days, when anybody says anything specific, is to call it a generalization.

We heard one the other day; to wit: "The things these doctors say can scare you to death". And we heard a reply that not all doctors scare people to death, and in the reply, sure enough, there was that word "generalization."

Truth is, in the matter of scaring to death, the original statement wasn't broad enough and should have been widened to include not just doctors, but accountants, lawyers and preachers as well.

All have realized various degrees of fame, fortune, success by scaring hell out of their fellow man by manipulating his native distrust, and sometimes awe, of everything from civil law to thunderbolts.

If lawyers didn't suggest dire possibilities of law suit in terms Latin, nobody would retain them for advice. If the accountant didn't continually warn of impending bankruptcy, who would need him? And if the preacher wasn't supported by visions of hell-fire and brimstone who would pay any attention to him?

Now, we don't fault them for this because it is an imposition of their respective crafts. And, we know no cure.

So we recommend tolerance, at least until you get caught up with by a process server or a lightning bolt hits too close. At that point maybe you'd better call an attorney or find a pew, preferably one with an asbestos seat.

But don't sit next to a lawyer in church. We knew one once that got knocked over by lightning right in the middle of "Onward Christian Soldiers". He had a lot of metal bridgework and it ruined his whole career when his mouth got welded shut.

A Threat To Wood

Carpenter Bees Can Be Controlled

About this time each year, many homeowners are upset by the appearance of large, fuzzy bees flying erratically around the eaves of their house or some other wooden structure.

The carpenter bee from the bumble bee, even though the insects are about the same size and color.

The body of the bumble bee is fuzzy with yellow hair. By contrast, the top sides of the carpenter bee's abdominal segments are nearly all bare, giving its body a shiny, black appearance.

Actually, though, this close relative of the bumble bee is much more of a threat to your wooden property than he is to you, says University of Delaware extension entomologist Frank Boys.

Bumble bees usually nest underground. Carpenter bees nest in galleries or tunnels made in wood. This is why they cause trouble for the homeowner.

They don't eat this wood, but use the tunnels for rearing their young. The carpenter bee considers any wooden structure fair game—especially those with older wood where there's no paint to deter an attack.

Control for carpenter bees consists of directing a five percent Sevin dust into the nest opening. Boys advises doing this after dark on a cool evening when the bees are less active.

Further information on carpenter bees and their control is available in a fact sheet free of charge from county extension offices in Newark, Dover and Georgetown.

Pseudorabies - A Swine Virus - On The Increase

Confirmed incidences of pseudorabies—a disease which could cause major economic repercussions for the nation's swine industry—have increased this year, says Dr. Richard Fowler, University of Delaware extension livestock specialist.

A viral disease, pseudorabies is characterized by depression, itching and central nervous system disorders in many swine species. It results in certain death for suckling pigs.

According to Fowler, pseudorabies has become a disease of major economic significance in the U.S. because, in addition to severe death losses, it can cause reproductive failure and abortions in infected herds. Though it will not affect humans, pseudorabies will kill cattle, dogs, cats and wild animals. In addition, recovered pigs may remain carriers of the virus and can later infect susceptible pigs or cattle with which they come into contact.

As there is no real cure for swine pseudorabies, it is imperative that swine producers learn to prevent the disease. Fowler suggests the following recommendations to minimize the spread of pseudorabies:

Isolate swine from all domestic and wild animals which might be carrying the disease as well as suspected swine carriers. Separate animals by more than a fence-line as the disease is spread from animal-to-animal not only by feed and water contamination but through the air.

Require health certificates before accepting breeding stock. Isolate all new stock 30 days after arrival and check for signs of illness during this period. Lack of appetite and reluctance to move are possible indications of pseudorabies.

When purchasing semen, obtain it from pseudorabies-negative animals or semen banks.

Animals that leave the premises for exhibition, fairs or breeding should be treated as new animals upon their return and be subjected to the same waiting period.

Watch for any disease causing fetal death, abortion, infertility or baby pig mortality and obtain an immediate diagnosis from your veterinarian. If pseudorabies is diagnosed, the entire herd should be quarantined for a minimum of 30 days after the last clinical case is observed.

Strict application of hygienic measures—such as wearing clean clothes and boots and decontaminating instruments and other objects—will help control spread of the disease.

Burn or bury all dead pigs which were infected with pseudorabies.

For additional information about more specific symptoms and measures of control, contact your local county extension office.

Agway certifies its spreader trucks to satisfy your spreading requirements.

Why? Evenly spread fertilizer is a crops management need. There is no law requiring inspection of spreader trucks to assure an even spread. But Agway has high standards for its own trucks... aims always to give you a uniform spread pattern. It's just good business.

How? All Agway fertilizer and lime trucks are checked, inspected and certified for uniformity. Agway tests and evaluates the spread pattern and makes necessary corrections and repairs before giving the truck the certification seal.

When? Regional Agway certification clinics are held during the summer months to ready the equipment for your application needs now, in the fall and next spring. And now is the perfect time to lime and fertilize, because the ground is firm and there will be no compaction of the soil. Call your Agway store or representative today for spreader application service.

Look for the "Certified" seal on the spreader body.

Quartet Sets Record

Back in 1970, a quartet of high-powered Lake Forest runners relayed two miles in 8.24 at the Dover Relays to set a school record. Spartan units last year and earlier this campaign ran faster than the 1970 group, but could not get credit for a new mark because each event was a 3200 meter relay, which is slightly shorter than two miles.

At the Henlopen Conference meet Saturday Louis Thomas, Chris Palmisano, Dave Richter and Dan Parker won the two mile relay in 8.21.1 erasing the 8.24 logged by Brad Morris, Dan Hitchens, Allen Parker and Chris Wetherhold from the record books. Wetherhold still holds the Lake Forest mile and two-mile records and the Henlopen Conference mile mark.

Thomas had an off day, but Palmisano and Richter turned in furious efforts of 2.02 and 2.04 to hand off to Parker, the anchorman. Parker trailed Cape Henlopen's Mike Price for almost a half mile before kicking by in the home stretch.

Lake Forest is a good well-balanced dual meet team but does not have the individual stars to do well in a big multi-team meet. Although finishing seventh in an 11-team competition, the Spartans qualified in 12 of the 18 events. Mike Benson, who set a Dover Relays record of 22 feet, 1/2 inch, was under observation in a hospital which cost the Spartans almost-certain points.

Wilson Fry, a sophomore finished second to Caesar Rodney ace Bill Freeman in the two-mile run.

Jerry Custis scored in both hurdle events, as did the Spartan 440 and 880 relay entries, manned by Ron Loper, Baron Harmon, Milton Justice and freshman Ken Thorpe. The latter also was credited with fourth in the 100.

Parker and Palmisano got only a short rest after their heroic efforts in the two mile run. They did a good job in salvaging fourth and fifth place points.

Tony Barner was fifth in the 440 yard run.

Spartans Pick Up Third Victory

Thanks to five errors by the Caesar Rodney Riders the Lake Forest Spartans picked up their third win of the season against six losses as they won 5-1 on Monday.

Starting and winning pitcher Greg Regan was backed by eight hit support as he tossed a three hitter at the Riders. The Spartans scored all six of their runs in the first three innings while the Riders scored their lone run in the first frame. The three Spartan runs came with two out in the first inning and all were unearned.

Ken Crouse topped the batting attack with two hits while Dennis Wheeler and Glenn Whitit had the two extra base hits for the team, both doubles.

Yarborough Wins Mason-Dixon '500'

DOVER-Cale Yarborough scored his second consecutive Winston Cup Victory at Dover Downs International Speedway by winning the 9th annual Mason-Dixon "500" last Sunday before a record crowd of 34,700 race fans.

Driving the Holly Farms Chevrolet, Yarborough waged a race long battle with David Pearson, who ultimately piloted the Purulator Mercury to a second place finish, 6 seconds behind the winner. Yarborough's average speed for the 500 miles, 123.237 MPH, was a Mason-Dixon record and was less than two hundredths of a second shy of the overall track record of 123.254 MPH set during the 1971 Delaware "500".

As has been the case in his two previous races at Dover Downs, Yarborough was bothered by black flag problems during the course of the race. He was black flagged on lap 169 for removal of his bumper which had been partially knocked off in a brief bumping incident with Darrell Waltrip. Shortly thereafter he returned to the pits under a black flag to remove a broken shock absorber on the right rear which had been damaged during the previous tire change.

Richard Petty, who put his STP Dodge on the pole for the Mason-Dixon, took the early lead in the race and stayed on top for the first 47 laps as Pearson, Yarborough, Darrell Waltrip, Dick Brooks, and Benny Parsons all applied pressure at the front.

Pearson and Yarborough then got by Petty and swapped the lead a couple of times before Pearson took command on lap 117 and held the lead for the next 171 laps. Petty was back on top by lap 288, but quickly lost it to Benny Parsons, who was hampered throughout the race by a broken driver's seat. On lap 302 Parsons yielded to Pearson who resumed his battle with Yarborough through lap 403.

On lap 404 Yarborough got in front to stay as the winner of last September's Delaware "500" here kept his Junior Johnson Monte Carlo humming low through the turns until the checkered flag dropped, 4 hours, 3 minutes and 26 seconds after the race was started.

Darrell Waltrip, driving the Gatorade Chevrolet, scored a personal victory by finishing his first race at Dover Downs since 1973. Waltrip finished 4th behind the 3rd place finishing Richard Petty. Dick Brooks rounded out the top five.

In all there were 12 lead changes among five drivers and two cautions for 10 laps.

With the Mason-Dixon "500" thus completed, Dover Downs will begin preparations for the Atlantic Coast "300" NASCAR National Championship modified race to be held on July 17th.

Driver Ed. Program Set

The YMCA of Dover and Kent County will be holding a summer Drivers Education Program starting June 27, 1977, for those people who cannot take the program in school or did not pass the first time around.

Classes are held on Monday evenings from 7-10 p.m. at the YMCA on South State Street in Dover with driving time being conducted during daylight hours.

This is a State Department of Public Instruction certified course, for more information, call the YMCA at 674-3000.

Bunting Captures Modified-Sportsman Feature Race

Opening night action was fast and furious Friday as Harold Bunting of Milford came from deep in the pack to capture his first modified-sportsman feature of the season at the Georgetown Speedway.

Fred Workman in the Mills Brothers Market sportman jumped into an early lead as Haines Tull in the Davis Trucking Vega began to work his way up through traffic. By lap three Tull had moved into the lead followed closely by Snookie Vent of Milton. Bill Towers spun in turn number two on the fifth go round bringing out the first caution. On the restart Vent got the jump on Tull and moved into the lead, while Bunting, Donnie Joseph, and Walt Breeding rounded out the top five.

Vent got into turn three just a little too fast and looped his H.R. Bailey Gremlin directly in front of the pack. Cars went in all directions but when the dust cleared, Vent was the only competitor unable to continue. Tull jumped into the lead on the restart but went too high into turn three allowing Bunting, Breeding, Joseph, and Gary Trice to slip underneath.

Breeding, in the Taylor & Messick Gremlin had the capacity crowd on their feet as he turned lap after lap directly on the bumper of Bunting. With five laps left to go Breeding fell victim to Friday the 13th. luck and dropped out with a flat right front tire.

Bunting went on to collect the victory followed by Joseph Trice, Bob Paswaters, Tull, and Jack Sapp.

It looked as if it were going to be clear and easy sailing for Wayne Cusick as the young speedster from Princess Anne, Maryland blasted his late model Camero into the lead from his front row starting position.

Cusick had begun to open a small lead over Willis Robinson of Sharptown when Vernon Collins of Georgetown, who was running third, broke an A-frame, putting him out for the evening and bringing out the first caution flag.

On the restart, Milford's Bonnie LaVere charged past Cusick and Robinson to take the lead. Cusick was not about to give up the battle as he tried LaVere on the high side going into turn three. It looked as if LaVere might be able to hold off the challenge until he and Cusick collided blowing LaVere's rear tire.

Once again Cusick was out front but he became a little too excited and looped the number 18 in the second turn, putting him to the rear for the restart.

At the half way mark it was Robinson out front followed by Mel Joseph, Jr. with Cusick rapidly working his way back to front. The race turned into a real three car battle between Robinson, Joseph, and Cusick and as the three tried to work their way through some slower traffic Cusick took advantage of the outside groove to shoot into the lead and hold on for the victory. Robinson finished second followed by Joseph, Goslee, and Bud Hickman.

Racing continues at the Georgetown Speedway next Friday evening beginning at 8 p.m. featuring modified, sportsman, and late model competition.

Vent got into turn three just a little too fast and looped his H.R. Bailey Gremlin directly in front of the pack. Cars went in all directions but when the dust cleared, Vent was the only competitor unable to continue. Tull jumped into the lead on the restart but went too high into turn three allowing Bunting, Breeding, Joseph, and Gary Trice to slip underneath.

Breeding, in the Taylor & Messick Gremlin had the capacity crowd on their feet as he turned lap after lap directly on the bumper of Bunting. With five laps left to go Breeding fell victim to Friday the 13th. luck and dropped out with a flat right front tire.

Bunting went on to collect the victory followed by Joseph Trice, Bob Paswaters, Tull, and Jack Sapp.

It looked as if it were going to be clear and easy sailing for Wayne Cusick as the young speedster from Princess Anne, Maryland blasted his late model Camero into the lead from his front row starting position.

Cusick had begun to open a small lead over Willis Robinson of Sharptown when Vernon Collins of Georgetown, who was running third, broke an A-frame, putting him out for the evening and bringing out the first caution flag.

On the restart, Milford's Bonnie LaVere charged past Cusick and Robinson to take the lead. Cusick was not about to give up the battle as he tried LaVere on the high side going into turn three. It looked as if LaVere might be able to hold off the challenge until he and Cusick collided blowing LaVere's rear tire.

Once again Cusick was out front but he became a little too excited and looped the number 18 in the second turn, putting him to the rear for the restart.

At the half way mark it was Robinson out front followed by Mel Joseph, Jr. with Cusick rapidly working his way back to front. The race turned into a real three car battle between Robinson, Joseph, and Cusick and as the three tried to work their way through some slower traffic Cusick took advantage of the outside groove to shoot into the lead and hold on for the victory. Robinson finished second followed by Joseph, Goslee, and Bud Hickman.

Racing continues at the Georgetown Speedway next Friday evening beginning at 8 p.m. featuring modified, sportsman, and late model competition.

Two area drivers that were on hand for the opening of the Georgetown Speedway racing season were Bill Towers and Walt Breeding. Towers above in his Number 2 Ford suffered bad luck all night but still managed to finish the feature heat. In the qualifying heat Towers was forced to run the entire race with a flat front tire while in the feature he was involved in two spinouts. The other area sponsored car below, the Smithville Farms-Taylor and Messick Gremlin, suffered through some bad luck also as he was running second in the feature race when a flat forced him out of the competition. ## Winning Season Is Guaranteed Lake Forest High School's track Spartans, coached by Jim Blades and Jim Fleming, are guaranteed a winning season after downing Sussex Central, away, by a score of 73-63.

The locals own a 6-2 mark with two starts left on the schedule. Several regulars were out of action due to various aches, pains and illness, which made a runaway a fairly close contest.

A wind and a slow track combined to prevent any fast clockings. Jerry Custis and Dan Parker were double winners for the victors. Custis, John Moffett, and Tom Ott swept the high hurdles. Later Custis, Bill Moore, and Ott repeated in the intermediate hurdles.

Dan Parker (4.56), Chris Palmisano, and Dave Richter went 1-2-3 in the mile run. Parker took the half mile in 2.13 with Richter third.

Bill Moore (110 feet), Manny Christopher and John O'Toole annexed all the discus points. Christopher and O'Toole finished the same way in the shot.

Gusty Voshell cleared 11 feet and Kelly Woodward got over 10-6 for 1-2 in the pole vault.

Tim McCombs and a Sussex Central leaper each missed at 5 feet, 11 inches to tie in the high jump.

Ron Loper came from behind to win an important event, the 440, in 57 seconds flat when teammate Tony Barner, the early leader, pulled up lame.

Freshman Ken Thorpe grabbed a third in the 100 yard dash Eric Wise, a sophomore, had a third in the triple jump.

Sussex Central had a slim chance to tie the meet but Bill Moore gave Lake Forest the lead in the mile relay. Curt Harris broke the race wide open on the second leg, as Leroy Parker and Ron Loper cruised the final two laps in an easy relaxed style.

Wesley College Honors Four Kent County Athletes

DOVER-Four Kent County athletes were honored at the Wesley College All-Sports banquet last week held in Dulany Hall on campus.

Don Dickerson, former Smyrna High School All-Stater, was named the Male Athlete of the Year in recognition for his outstanding play as a member of the Wesley football and baseball teams. He excelled as a Linebacker on last year's nationally ranked and unbeaten Wolverine eleven. Last year he received the Outstanding Freshman Football Award and earlier was recipient of the Lower Delaware Gridiron Club's Outstanding Football player of the year. Dickerson was a standout as a firstbaseman for two years on the Wesley baseball team and this year was the team's Co-Captain.

Dorcell Smith, former all-around athlete at Milford High School, a freshman at Wesley, was presented the Female Athlete of the Year award. Presentation was made by Wolverine coach Joyce Starkey, also a former Milford athlete. Smith lettered in field hockey, basketball and softball at Wesley this year. Receiving the award as a freshman is a tribute to her outstanding athletic ability. She is as equally impressive in the class room and is on the Dean's List.

Keith Betts, also a former Milford High athlete, received the award as the Outstanding Baseball Player of the Year. He is a transfer student and last year played in the National Junior College baseball tournament as a member of the College at Albemarle, NC. At Wesley last fall he was a quarterback on the unbeaten Wolverine eleven. Playing centerfield for the Wesley nine this year he had a 1,000 fielding average and batted .345 which includes 6 doubles, 1 triple and 3 homers. He was Co-Captain of the Wesley nine.

Beverly Mack, who has been the mainstay of the Wesley Women's basketball team for the past two years, received the Female Basketball Player of the Year. Mack has been All-Regional for the past two years as well as All-First State Conference. She scored 943 points in her two year's play with the Wesley distaff team. She has been the key player that has aided Wesley to posting a 31-6 record in two years and both times gained berths in the Region XIX tournament.

New Mowing Policy In Effect

A new mowing procedure directed at improving utilization of manpower and equipment will result in an overall change in procedure previously employed by the Division of Highways.

The new policy will be most visible in median areas where the grass will be permitted to grow 10" in height prior to mowing. This will result in taller median grass which was previously mowed after obtaining a 7" height. The height of the grass will be the determining factor in this year's mowing program. There will be no limit as to the number of times the medians are mowed.

Other areas affected by the new policy include roadside grass on dual primary roadways which will be mowed every other time medians are mowed, unless weed problems require more frequent mowings.

Large Crowd Honors Adams At Dinner

Following forty-one years of service to Delaware Public Schools Albert White Adams was honored last Monday with a retirement party given in his honor.

Adams who began his career as a science teacher at Bridgeville in 1936 has for the past seventeen years been in the position of superintendent of first the Harrington Special School District and then after consolidation the Lake Forest School District. In between 1936 and 1960 Adams spent two year terms as a teacher at Laurel and for two years was the Chief School Officer at John M. Clayton before coming to Harrington.

Mr. Adam's activities list during his school career is awesome. During those forty-one years he was a member of the American Association of School Administrators, Chairman of the Eastern Conference in 1966, President of the Delaware Association of School Administrators in 1966, Member of the National Education Association and Federal Relations Committee from 1949-1955. Member of the Delaware Scholastic Education Association Board of Directors from 1949-1959, past president of the Sussex Education Association member of the Kent County Education Association, and member of Dr. Madden's (state superintendent) advisory committee in 1968.

Besides being very active within the school system Adams was also an active member of the National Guards before retiring two years ago with the rank of Major General. While in the Guards Adams was recognized with the American Defense Service Medal, American Service Medal, World War II Victory Medal, Armed Forces Reserve Medal with two Devices, Delaware Medal for Service in Aid to Civilian Authority and the Delaware Medal for Military Merit with two stars.

Despite being busy with the school activities Adams also finds time to belong to several civic organizations including the Hope Lodge AF and AM Delaware Consistory, American Legion, Delaware Campers, American Association of School Administrators, and Education Associations.

In an interview last fall with the Journal Adams stated that the school integration in 1965 and the consolidation with Felton and Frederica in 1969 were the two biggest highlights of his Harrington career.

Adams will officially step down as superintendent on July 1. At that time he will be replaced by William Cline.

A Tractor Is Not A 'Toy'

A tractor is no place to babysit, but that's just what many farmers use them for, says University of Delaware extension farm safety specialist Ron Jester.

Each year, hundreds of accidents result from children falling off farm vehicles into the path of tractor wheels or trailing equipment.

To avoid this type of accident, Jester warns farmers to keep children off and away from farm equipment at all times. He adds that farmers should make it a rule to only allow those persons necessary for the operation of the vehicle or the particular job being done to ride on farm equipment.

When training a new operator, farmers should make certain that they choose the most secure place to ride with provisions for good hand holds and footing. Though tractors equipped with protective cabs do provide protection from being thrown from the tractor, it is still best to enforce a "no riders" rule, according to Jester.

To encourage safety on farm equipment, the Cooperative Extension Service is offering "NO RIDERS" decals to all interested farmers. For a limited quantity, call your county extension office or contact Ron Jester at the University Substation in Georgetown.

Career Corner

by Buck Thompson

Someone once said that there are as many as 30,000 different categories out there in the world of work.

Some of them require years of college education and a great deal of specialized expertise. Others don't require any training at all, much less any special skills.

Assembly line work falls in the second category. Almost anyone can master it in a day or so and in some plants you can make as much as $7 an hour to start.

It doesn't take a genius to figure out that $7 an hour works out to $280 a week or $14,560 a year, based on a 40-hour work week. And that doesn't count overtime.

Not bad for just putting headlights in cars or caps on jars, is it? But appearances are often deceiving and there is a very real occupational hazard involved in this work.

It's called boredom and it can build a tremendous tension. It comes from doing the same thing over and over again.

As one veteran assembly line worker described it, "I've seen some really bad scenes in my six and a half years here. I've seen parts flying over the line. I've heard some terrible screaming. I've watched people quit after only one day on the job...and not just walk out, but run out screaming."

I am not trying to put down assembly line workers or the vital jobs they perform. Obviously, they are a necessary part of our economic system.

What I am trying to point out is that working solely for the money involved is not always the best way to go, unless you know that the money is the main object.

The danger in this sort of work lies in being trapped in a boring job when you really owe it to yourself to be out doing something else...even if it doesn't pay so well.

Using your telephone book can mean avoiding Directory Assistance Charges.

On March 29, 1977, we reduced basic monthly telephone rates and began charging for certain calls to Directory Assistance.

Every billing period, you can make three dialed calls per line to Directory Assistance without incurring additional charges, and you can request two numbers per call. Every call over three calls each billing period will result in a 20¢ per call charge on your telephone bill. (Calls placed to Directory Assistance with the help of the regular Operator will be billed at 40¢ per call, and are not included in the three call allowance.)

Other calls to Directory Assistance which will not be billed:

- Calls to Directory Assistance for numbers outside Delaware. However, to avoid a charge, you must dial 1, plus the area code, plus 555-1212.
- Calls from coin telephones (consult the dialing instruction card).
- Calls from hotels, motels and hospitals.

- Calls made by people who are handicapped in the use of their directories. Contact our Business Office for details.
- Calls for mobile or maritime services.
- Calls from interconnected lines of radio common carriers.

Your number for Directory Assistance has changed, too.
If you must call Directory Assistance for numbers in Delaware, dial 1 + 555-1212 instead of 411. For numbers outside Delaware, dial 1, then the area code, then 555-1212.

If you have any questions, please feel free to call our Business Office.

Southern States Names New Managers

William A. Smith, Southern States Cooperative's regional manager headquartered at Seaford, Del., has been named manager of fertilizer merchandising, effective July 1. He will be located at the cooperative's headquarters in Richmond, Va.

Succeeding Smith as Regional Manager will be Larry Phillips, who has been operations supervisor in the Seaford Region— which encompasses the entire eastern shore area— since March 1975.

Smith has been named to succeed Maywood Snyder, who has been manager of fertilizer merchandising for the cooperative's Fertilizer Division since July 1960. Snyder will become manager of agronomy services, a newly created position. In this post, he will continue to develop the coopera-tive's soil testing and related agronomy programs.

A native of Selma, N.C., Smith is a graduate of North Carolina State University. He joined Southern States Cooperative in July 1959 and served as manager of Southern States Warsaw Cooperative, Warsaw, Va., for 2 1/2 years before being promoted to feed supervisor in the Richmond Region. In January 1966 he was promoted to operations supervisor there and held this post until he moved to Seaford in January 1968 as regional manager.

Phillips, a native of Hillsville, Va., and a graduate of Virginia Polytechnic Institute and State University, joined the cooperative in July 1965. He served as assistant manager and manager of local cooperatives in Newark, Del., Rising Sun, Md., Elkton, Md., and Woodsboro, Md., before joining the cooperative's regional staff at Seaford in April 1973 as a farm supply supervisor. He held this post until he was named operations supervisor there.

Snyder, a native of Doeville, Tenn., joined the co-op in August 1945 and served as a district manager in Virginia for six years before moving to Richmond in October 1951 as manager of fertilizer distribution. He held this position until he was named manager of fertilizer merchandising. He holds a B.S. degree from East Tennessee State College at Johnson City, Tenn., and a M.S. Degree from the University of Tennessee.

The Green Thumb

What are those yellow spots that are showing up in wheat? The yellow spots are probably caused by over-liming and results in manganese deficiency. Manganese is usually unavailable to the plant at a high pH above 6.2. Manganese deficiency will almost always be spotty in a given field. The variations within the field are usually associated with the soil type differences which also affect the pH, and the manganese deficiency shows up in the high pH areas of the field. To correct the problem you should apply manganese as soon as symptoms are noticed. The two most common forms of manganese that are applied are Tecmangam and Sequestrene manganese (chelate). Tecmangam should be used at the rate of 8 lbs. per acre, Sequestrene manganese should be used at the rate of 1 lb. of the dry or 1 qt. of the liquid/A. Sequestrene will cost more per acre than Tecmangam but much less material is required when using Sequestrene, this can be important when using low volume sprayers with no mechanical agitation.

However, Tecmangam seems to be more effective when correcting the problem.

If you are planning on double cropping soybeans into wheat, you may find manganese deficiency in your soybeans. You can correct it with foliar sprays when the problem develops. Also, you could either apply manganese sulfate broadcast or as a planter box fertilizer. The rate for manganese sulfate on a broadcast is 12 lbs./A whereas if you use it as planter box fertilizer or side-dress it would be 8 lbs./A. Generally, applying it down the row or as a sidedress treatment is more effective than broadcast. The application of a manganese spray applied to crops will usually correct the deficiency symptoms within a week, assuming there is adequate moisture for the plants to grow normally. If you are planning on using a herbicide at the same time be sure to check the label to be sure the materials are compatible before mixing. Some herbicides may not be compatible and clog up your spray nozzles.

Small eastern tent caterpillars have been found on wild cherry trees in the county. The larvae (caterpillar stage) become full grown in about five weeks and will grow to about 2 inches long. The best time to control tent caterpillars is while they are small and before much webbing is spun. If you don't want to use a chemical on them you can destroy this pest by hand removing the webs and larvae.

It seems that I'm still putting away empty fruit jars and thinking back to my childhood. I used to crawl into the closet under the stairs to put away the jars for my mother. When we cleaned this closet, we would have to light an oil lamp and set it on the shelves because there was no handy button to push in those days. Other times the closet was completely dark, which the housewives believed was ideal for storing canned goods. We called it "the dungeon"

Straightening up, I got a small "catch" in my back and made a mental note to check with my doctor if that persisted. In olden days we did not run to the doctor with every small ailment. In my own family, my mother and grandmother had a stock answer ready for any complaint, no matter of what nature. They would just say comfortably and unconcernedly "Well, it's probably cold settled all over you." One day I told our dear friend, Dr. Gray, about this and she enjoyed the story immensely. But it reassured us, comforted us and calmed our fears.

Of course times of severe illness came, and when the elders shook their heads and said, "They've had the doctor", we knew that it was serious indeed. Having the doctor necessitated someone hitching up the old horse to the carriage and driving to some neighbor's house that had a telephone. Then, the doctor had to get out his horse and buggy and drive sometimes many miles in bad weather to examine his patient, by the dim light of an oil lamp. So, you were really sick in those days, when you "had the doctor."

Other days, other ways. Then we talked of laying hens, cutting hams, having the doctor, canning foods and so on. And, now we talk of other things, whether we bake from scratch or from a mix, earthquakes, tornados, and fearful weather signs, the high price of groceries, especially coffee, and now, it's not whether you've cut a ham or not, but whether you can afford to have some on your table. Perhaps the energy crisis will force us to retire to the simple life. If we could have had a shop full of old-fashioned wood-burning stoves, we could have sold them all last winter, judging from the requests. Maybe we need to relearn that in the area of material needs, there are only three basics...food, clothing and shelter.

This is a quiet week here at Trail's End. Our immediate family have all gone to Pennsylvania to visit the Bollinger grandparents in Lewisburg and to do a two-day antique show there. The house is strange. There are no chewing gum papers floating around, no roller skates in the breakfast room, no baseballs and basketballs on the lawn and no little sneaker peeping out from under the sofa; there are no doors slamming, no high-pitched young voices yelling "What's to eat?", no drums beating and no clarinet tooting. The house is too quiet. Why did I think I ever wanted it quiet?

Breakfast, too, is a quiet meal. No dancing around and hugging Grandma because she took time to make small pancakes their size. And I like to think that these are the things they'll remember. Looking back to my own childhood, I really don't remember (or care) how many beautiful dresses or starched pinafores I had or how many big, bisque dolls from Wanamakers, but I'll remember to my dying day my mother making stacks of wee doll pancakes the size of a quarter and my father lowering his big frame down to the level of my doll table to eat them with me and the dolls and to drink hot chocolate from tiny cups that held a teaspoonful. And I'll remember my mother rocking me and reciting beautiful poetry. I'll remember holding my father's big finger as he took me walking in the city and pointed out the big trolley cars and the city sparrows and our walks in the country while we enjoyed the beauty in the woods and meadows.

RN's Hold Seminar

A group of Registered Nurses representing several Delaware hospitals met on Wednesday, April 27th at Milford Memorial Hospital for a seminar on Patient Education in Nursing. They came from Riverside Hospital, Hospital for the Mentally Retarded, Nanticoke Hospital, Beebe Hospital, Milford Memorial Hospital, Public Health Services, and Dover Air Force Base.

Chairman of the meeting was Jennie Zitomer, R.N., Nurse Coordinator for Sussex and Kent Counties of the Delaware Cancer Network, which is a federally funded program contracted to Wilmington Medical Center. The Delaware Cancer Network is one of only twelve in the United States.

One of the goals of the Network is to keep patients closer to home through the use of Care Clinics. These clinics work closely with the patient's physician. They are located in Lewes and Seaford in Sussex County and in Dover in Kent County. There is also one in Milford which serves both counties.

In The Summer

Outdoor Furnishings Are Much In Demand

Because outdoor living and entertaining are so popular in the summer, suitable furnishings for porch or patio are much in demand this time of year.

Many different materials are used in the manufacture of outdoor furniture that will withstand exposure to the elements, to some degree or other, says Jean Cranston, Delaware extension home economist. These include aluminum, wrought iron, steel, redwood and hardwood.

Redwood weathers well and has good resistance to moisture, insects, and decay from exposure, she points out. A good hosing is usually all that's needed to keep frames clean. Remove soil and stains as quickly as possible. Soft drink stains can be bleached with oxalic acid or chlorine bleach and rinsed well.

Apply a redwood stain at the beginning and end of the season. Allow freshly-stained units to season for 24 hours before placing on a concrete patio. Newly-poured concrete should cure for several days before putting redwood furniture on it, to prevent staining.

Metal and plastic are two of the best materials for outdoor use, recommends the home economist. Weight is an indication of quality in metal furniture (usually aluminum). Be sure folding units operate easily and maintain stability when you rock from side to side. The legs should be set wide apart to prevent tipping. The rows of strapping or webbing should be individually attached and easily replaceable.

To brighten unpainted aluminum frames, Ms. Cranston suggests dipping steel wool in kerosene and rubbing the metal until it looks satiny. Then wipe with a clean cloth. Be sure the kerosene does not come in contact with straps, webbing, or other upholstery material, she warns.

Garden umbrellas add to the attractiveness and comfort of an unshaded patio. They range in diameter from 6-1/2 feet to 8-1/2 feet. The number of ribs is important as an indication of stability. A 6-1/2 foot umbrella usually has six ribs; a 7-1/2 to 8-1/2 foot size may have eight ribs. Highest quality 8-1/2 foot umbrellas may have twelve ribs. The ribs should be tempered spring steel, so they will spring back in the wind, says Ms. Cranston.

At the beginning and end of the season, she recommends washing umbrella fabric with mild detergent solution, and hosing off. If the fabric is very soiled, consider using an auto vinyl-top cleaner. An occasional hosing during warm months helps keep umbrellas looking clean and bright. Always dry them in an open position, but be sure to close them during heavy rains or high winds.

With a little care your outdoor furniture should provide years of comfort, attractiveness and convenience, says the home economist.

School Board -

seem to abound with it upon returning from Vo-Tech in the afternoon. According to Vickers it is tough investigating a drug case and it is hard bracing up a situation which exists from the association at the Vo-Tech. Vickers reported that two arrests were made last Thursday of two students at the Lake Forest High School from the results of a sale on "some back road around Harrington". Each student was charged with two counts, and Vickers said the charges were serious. The court released the students and they returned to school on Monday pending trial. A conviction could cause suspension from the school, but the courts will give the first offender one year's probation, and at the end of that year his record will be wiped clean. Vickers drew an analogy to the fact that a first offender for drinking under age gets fined $35 immediately.

The Board agreed that the laws were inadequate on the subject. Mrs. Jefferson urged the Board to adopt a strong policy against drug use in the school and to enact stronger legislation. Board member Albert Price urged Mrs. Jefferson to take her fight to her general assemblyman or representative and cause them to bring about stronger laws against drug use in the school and enact stronger legislation. Board member Albert Price urged Mrs. Jefferson to take her fight to her general assemblyman or representative and cause them to bring about stronger laws against drug users in violation of the law. Price went on to reiterate that the high school principals, Griffin, Gladden and Mrs. Phelps had cooperated fully with the Delaware State Police with their investigation, and cases had been reported promptly and that the district should be complemented for the number of so few reported cases of drug violations. The two cases last Thursday were both serious charges according to Cpl. Vickers.

Warrington wanted to know if there were any known users on "...the faculty". Vickers admitted from his own experience with other school districts there were possible cases. he knew of none as far as violations of the law are concerned in Lake Forest. Warrington said he felt "that it was disgusting". It was pointed out from the group gathered for the meeting that what a person...in this case faculty member...did on their time was their business. They drew an analogy to drinking my teachers on off duty hours, or any person of like stature. What they do on their own time is their business.

In response to Mrs. Jefferson's plea that stricter laws be adopted, board member Albert Price said "...the place to resolve that matter is in the legislature". The matter was in reference to the explanation that the two students arrested on Thursday on serious charges were back in school on Monday. Superintendent Adams and other members of the Board shared the same feeling that "...really there is nothing we can do so far as the courts are concerned. We can adopt strict rules and regulations and enforce them so long as a person's constitutional rights are not violated."

Midwest Reading Research Lab awarded the Lake Forest School District a $3,000 grant with "...no strings attached", according to High School Principal William Griffin. The program will be for students needing reading skills and will be used through the English Department with a reading specialist.

Lake Forest School Board voted to increase the tax rate from $1.08 to $1.20. The following is the breakdown: 75c per $100 assessed valuation plus $10 per cap for current expenses (no change); 35c per $100 assessed valuation plus $5 per capitation for debt service (plus 10c); 3c per $100 assessed valuation for tuition (plus 2c); 5c per $100 assessed valuation for Minor Caps which is a total district tax of $1.20. The tuition is increased because the State cut off its subsidy to this category. This tuition is for special schools which some students are required to attend due to a handicap. With the State's subsidy gone, the school district is required to pick it up.

Freezing Or Canning?

As another gardening season gets under way, are you planning to freeze or can part of your crop? This can be a satisfying summer project, but don't assume that you'll save a lot of money on food costs.

Delaware extension home economist Sue Matusiak points out that there are a number of expenses to consider. First is the initial investment in tools, seeds, fertilizer, sprays, fencing (to discourage rabbits) and water (to supplement Mother Nature's watering system). Since your time is also worth money, include the cost of your labor and the continuous commitment of your time over the entire growing season.

Like farming, home gardening doesn't guarantee a successful crop yield, in spite of the gardener's skill and hard work. Crop failures, or partial crop loss, can wipe out your investment, says Ms. Matusiak.

The decision to preserve part of your crop also means choosing between canning and freezing. Freezing is the more convenient method and saves time. However, the cost per pound of your fruits or vegetables should include the initial cost of the freezer (including taxes and delivery), annual repair charges (approximately two percent of the initial cost), and continuous operation of the freezer.

The annual operating cost per pound will decrease if you keep the freezer filled to capacity. So plan to refill your freezer throughout the year, advises Ms. Matusiak.

Additional expenses are storage containers, water for washing the food, and the energy consumed in blanching or cooking it.

Canning is the most economical way of preserving food at home, although less convenient than freezing, says the home economist. Also, it is essential to follow canning directions exactly to insure food safety.

In determining total canning costs, consider the equipment you need to buy. This includes a hot water bath canner and/or a pressure canner, jars and lids. Also take into account the costs of energy and water.

Once the food is processed, you will need adequate storage space. However, this will not add to the expense, as in freezing.

After you have made the initial investment in freezing or canning equipment, it is important to reuse it season after season, Ms. Matusiak emphasizes. This will spread the amount over a longer time and decrease the cost per pound.

You should also use all the food you have preserved, she says. If, after the first year, you realize you have preserved more than your family can eat, cut back the next year. Food that is thrown out adds to the cost of what you do eat.

Because of the various expenses involved, home grown food can cost more than the food you buy at the supermarket. But if you enjoy the flavor, don't mind the work, and follow canning or freezing directions exactly -- happy gardening and happy eating!

Change Proposed In Swine Shipping Rules

The U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) is proposing to change interstate shipping rules to allow swine fed raw garbage to be slaughtered without special processing. Present regulations require that swine fed raw garbage and shipped interstate must be sent to slaughter and cooked (specially processed). Because of this requirement, many packing plants will not accept these animals.

The proposed change would allow hogs fed raw garbage to move directly to slaughter without special processing when the following conditions are met:

-The swine to be moved must not have been fed raw garbage for at least 45 days before the date of shipment;

--All hogs on the farm must be tested and examined to make sure they are free of hog cholera and other communicable diseases of swine;

--All swine on the farm must be inspected within 24 hours before moving the slaughter animals;

--The animals sent to slaughter must be individually identified with ear tags or a red color mark or moved in USDA sealed vehicles, and must be accompanied by an inspection certificate issued by a state or federal animal health official or by an accredited veterinarian.
