Mrs. Jefferson Preparing Charter Draft

Felton Council Hears Argument For Water Meters

Felton Town Hall. Mrs. Joyce Jefferson offered an argument for water meters for houses in the Town of Felton. At the present time according to Mayor William Myers only new businesses are being put on water meters. Myers said "...I feel the time will come when all residents will be required to go on water meters because the big man (federal and state governments with the aid of environmental control) will order it to be done." Myers also added that if and when the Town of Felton gets a sewer system, he felt that the residents of the Town would go to a water meter due to the amount of water used by the sewer system. Myers also added that a water meter would tend to conserve the amount of water used throughout the Town.

Mrs. Joyce Jefferson at May's monthly meeting was selected to form a one person task-force to put the assembling of the charter for the Town in motion. She reported at Monday night's meeting that she is in the type setting stage. The Council agreed to meet "...one night soon to discuss only the charter".

The Town Hall has been painted inside through volunteer help from Glenn Goodnow, Albert Goodnow, Billy Brittingham, Councilman Don Jacobs and Police Chief Carl McIlroy. Efforts are being made to obtain drapes for the windows and carpeting for the floor. Chief McIlroy said that before any additional work is done the roof should be repaired. The Councilmen will meet one night this week to assess the amount of work needed for the roof and the painting of the outside of the building. A figure of $400 has been approved to complete the work to the Town Hall.

The water tank and tower has recently been painted at a cost of $4,975.

The work was done by Corrison Control of New Castle, De.

Mayor Myers reported that the sewer plan proposed for the town of Felton is currently in the hands of the environmental control and other State agencies. If federal money is received for the plan whereby the Town will receive the grant outright, no referendum will be necessary.

Harrington's Lisa Wamsley Is First Runner-Up

Felton's Sharon Lynn Wyatt Named Princess

Sharon Lynn Wyatt, Little Miss Felton, captivated the judges and captured the 1977 title as Little Delmarva Poultry Princess in pageant finals held last Friday night, June 3, in the gymnasium at Delaware Technical and Community College in Georgetown, Delaware.

Another local miss, Lisa Lynn Wamsley, 1977 Little Miss Harrington, was runner-up in the pageant.

The title and the crown in the senior division were taken home by Miss Milford, Valerie Lynn Spies, who now reigns as 1977 Delmarva Poultry Princess.

Sharon Lynn Wyatt is the 5-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert I. Wyatt of near Felton. She was sponsored in this year's pageant by the Felton United Methodist Church. In her cheering section at home is a two-month old sister, Amy Marie.

After her winning pageant appearance during which she recited the song "Make New Friends" Sharon Lynn, along with her senior counterpart, reigned over the activities of the 1977 Delmarva Poultry Festival on Saturday, June 4. Highlighting these activities were a parade through the streets of Georgetown, a chicken flying contest and plenty of chicken frying.

Her reign will continue through 1977 as she makes many appearances on behalf of the Delmarva Poultry Industry which sponsors the annual festival and pageant.

In addition to the honor, the excitement and the appearances, Sharon Lynn received a trophy, a $200 savings bond, and a gift certificate from Lads 'n' Lassies in Salisbury.

Not the least important gift in Sharon's eyes is "Peppy", a baby chick presented to her during Saturday's parade. According to Mrs. Wyatt, Peppy has already become a pet and such a member of the family that he will even nap on his young mistress' tummy after a period of play. Sharon was one of 15 preschoolers from Maryland and Delaware competing in the contest.

Runnerup, Lisa Lynn Wamsley, Little Miss Harrington, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mikell Wamsley of Harrington and was sponsored by the Harrington Lions Club.

204 Graduates Receive Diplomas

Lake Forest Holds Commencement

Harrington Fairgrounds. With some one thousand parents, relatives and friends looking on, two hundred and four students received their bachelor degrees. The honor graduates of ferred remarks around the topic of "The Good Life". The Reverend Alvin Willink, Pastor Asbury United Methodist Church, Harrington gave the main address at the ceremony. Rev. Willink asked the would be graduates "...what are you going to do with your life upon graduation." He cited the great possibilities being offered to the young people today. "There are tremendous possibilities offered to you", said Rev. Willink.

There were 36 awards and prizes given at the 8th Annual Commencement exercises. This year for the first time Lake Forest graduates conducted their exercises in the rain.

113 To Graduate

Woodbridge Graduation Set For Sunday

Commencement exercises for 113 members of the Woodbridge Senior Class of 1977 are set for this Sunday, June 12, at the High School Athletic Stadium in Bridgeville at 4 p.m.

Featured speakers for the day are Salutatorian Peggy Miller and Valedictorian Cindy Moore, both of whom will address their assembled classmates as well as guests and faculty.

Special music will be presented by the Senior Class singing "Now the Day Is Over". The choral performance by the Class of '77 will replace the more usual all high school chorus.

At the climax of the commencement exercises, the graduates will receive their diplomas from the President of the Board of Education of Woodbridge School District, Dr. Rudolf Beckert. Assisting in the presentation will be Acting Superintendent, Robert C. Sutton and Principal James Johnston.

The invocation for the day will be delivered by the Reverend Calvin Byrd, Pastor of Mt. Calvary United Methodist Church in Bridgeville. At the close of the exercises, the Rev. James Doughton, Pastor of the Greenwood Charge, will give the Benediction.

Dunkin Donuts Plans Renovations

Houston Council Hears Requests For Building Permits

HOUSTON. The Houston Town Council last Thursday night voted to either grant or extend one building permit request. Dunkin Donuts Inc. of Massachusetts requested permission to start reconstructing the plant which they purchased at auction sale from Mark VII. The firm plans to put a new roof on the present structure and make major repairs inside. Under the Houston Charter all such requests come under the Planning & Zoning Commission for the Town. The intent by the company is to start renovations to the building within the next two weeks. The company spokesman said that there would be "general improvements to suit needs of the new business."

In other business before the Council, a building permit issued to Pearce Thompson in 1974 was extended to such time as to allow Thompson to complete renovations on a building on the east end of School Street which has been turned into a residence. Thompson said that delays had prevented him from completing construction of the building. The extension will allow for the additional work involving the completion of a garage at one end of the building. The building was at one time a barn. The Town Council felt that Thompson had offered good reasons for wanting the extension, and the request was granted. Thompson had been invited to appear before the Council, and he did in fact appear at Thursday's meeting.

President of the Town Commissioners, Tom Surdukowski, said the state highway people "had come in and filled certain pot holes". Surdukowski said that they "...had merely filled the holes with ashes. We will write them another letter to see if something can't be done about the situation". According to Surdukowski "...the State people said that is all they plan to do".

In last month's meeting, Councilman Ted Yerkes said "...we would look into the prospects of having the Town surveyed in the areas where paving is to be done so that we only pave that which is ours".

At Thursday's meeting, the matter of surveying the Town was being looked into and Mr. Thawley from Milford, a surveyor, would be invited to the next meeting to discuss the costs involved. Sunset

Lane in Houston is one of the streets under study as well as Wharton Street. The Wharton Street area will be paved end to end.

Brown Re-elected Chairman

DOVER. Herman C. Brown, a native of Harrington, was re-elected on Saturday to a second term as G.O.P. State Chairman. Brown was graduated from Harrington High School, Univ. of North Carolina, and George Washington University Law School. He practices law in Dover.

Brown regarded by many as one who has been able to pull the party together. He issued a statement to the convention delegates that "...(he) was pleased that Republicans had seemed to end party bickering and seemed to be pulling together". Some politicians around the State feel Brown would be a likely candidate to oppose U.S. Senator Joseph Biden (D. Del.) in his re-election bid.

CR Students Receive Art Scholarships

Sue Lemieux and Debra Rooks, both of Caesar Rodney High School, have each won a $1,000 art scholarship to continue art studies at the University level.

The scholarship money was raised during the Terry Campus "Evening of the Arts" program held on April 22, 1977.

Lemieux and Rooks both study under Pat Carter, art teacher at Caesar Rodney. A third Caesar Rodney student, Belinda Crouse, won a runner-up award of $200.

Two other runner-up winners were also announced. They are Susan Morris of Smyrna High School and Deborah McGinniss of Milford High School. Morris studies under Charles Shotzberger, and McGinniss under Helen Lucia and Jack Kunkle.

A total of $2,600 was raised for the scholarships by the auction of items donated by many area artists, sculptors and writers. The students' art portfolios were judged by Dorothy Truman and Eugenia Rhoads. The "Evening of the Arts" program was planned by a committee chaired by Joan Parent of Dover and coordinated at the Terry Campus by Delores Sapienza, program developer.

The Evans Report

by Congressman Tom Evans

As I said during the campaign and have said since I've been in office, I'll support the President when I think he's right and when he's wrong I'll let him know.

In regard to the proposed consumer protection agency, I believe the President is wrong. The present legislation that would create such an agency would do nothing to help the consumer -- in fact, it could have just the opposite effect.

The purpose of the proposed Agency for Consumer Advocacy (ACA) is good. We need to be more responsive to the needs of the consumer, but founding an Agency for Consumer Advocacy on the basis of this legislation will not necessarily mean the consumer will be protected. Linking the two is like linking a car's interior and its gas mileage. The two are not related.

What the President referred to as a "tiny" agency would really be a powerful decision-making bureau that would cost taxpayers $15 million in just the first year.

At best, the money would be spent to add another hurdle to what is presently a federal bureaucratic obstacle course. At worst, it would create a dangerous super-agency that would wield tremendous political clout.

Watergate prosecutor Leon Jaworski testified to this in a letter to House Operations Chairman Jack Brooks (D-Tex.)

A consumer protection agency would be "vested with authority so broad that it could easily be turned to the political advantage of those who control it", Jaworski wrote.

By definition the proposed agency would be redundant. Its stated purpose is essentially to force existing agencies, many of which already have been established to protect the consumer, to do their job.

If we can't trust existing federal agencies to do their job, why should we believe adding another federal agency will do the trick? If we can't control the team of horses that pulls the federal carriage, the answer is certainly not to harness up another more powerful horse.

The solution lies instead in making what we already have work effectively. For example, it should not have taken almost 13 months for the Consumer Product Safety Commission to ban Tris, the cancer causing chemical, formerly federally mandated to treat children's sleepwear for fire protection purposes.

Let's make these existing agencies more effective, rather than adding another ineffective layer to the bureaucratic heap. Americans already have more government than we need, more government than we want and more government than we can possibly afford. I think most Delawareans feel they can't stand any more federal "protection".

Bureaucrats in Washington already dictate too much to people across the country about what they should and should not do. This legislation would not provide for a vigorous consumer advocate in government. It is more like a federal Frankenstein in disguise. That's why I'm opposed to the legislation as presently constituted.

Letters To The Editor

Communications gaps and the confusion of red tape are nothing new, certainly not to our age. Sometimes they can be funny; at others, merely annoying. And sometimes they can be tragic.

I have learned of a case in which a communications gap resulting from a language difficulty and the ensuing snarl of red tape may bear the tragic consequences of loss of freedom and very possibly death to a young man who has sought refuge in our country.

Kahsay Teferi Saduk, a young man from Ethiopia, has spent this year as a student at Seaford High School under the sponsorship of Charles A. Prohaska. Because of a seeming misunderstanding with the immigration authorities, Kahsay may be deported to Ethiopia in the very near future. Because of the political climate there, deportation will probably mean that this young student who has won many friends and supporters in the Seaford area will be put to death upon his arrival.

Kahsay's story is best told in the words of his U.S. sponsor Mr. Prohaska:

"Kahsay Teferi Saduk was born in Axum, Tigray Province, Ethiopia on May 21, 1957. His family was poor, and his father died when he was five years old. I met Kahsay in Axum in June, 1974 and we started corresponding. He entered 10th grade in the fall of that year, and I started sending him $25 per month to help him through school. He has a burning desire to complete his education."

"His family's property was confiscated and Axum High School closed by the Dergue (Ethiopian ruling clique) in 1975. In December of that year, to avoid persecution, he fled from Ethiopia to Sudan. He reestablished contact with me from Khartoum, and I offered to bring him to the United States. All legal requirements were met (I-20 Form from Seaford High School, Affidavit of Support from me, non-immigrant student visa from the State Department) and he arrived in this country in April 1976.

"His command of the English language was just adequate for high school studies. His command of spoken (American idiom) English was entirely inadequate for coping with the immigration authorities. Because of his misunderstanding, the immigration authorities at Kennedy Airport became convinced that he was not a bonafide non-immigrant student. He was allowed to enter the United States on parole. Three subsequent hearings in Philadelphia, two in English and one in Amharic (his native language is Tigrigna) led to further misunderstandings, as a fair reading of the transcript of those hearings shows. Since he left Ethiopia illegally, to avoid persecution, he will, in all probability, be killed as soon as he is returned to Ethiopia."

"He entered Seaford High School in April 1976 on a "Testing and Learning" basis for the remainder of the '75-'76 school year. He entered school as a regular member of the eleventh grade last fall, and has tried his best to be a good student during the past year in spite of his troubles with the Immigration Service. No matter what the Immigration Service has ruled, he is a genuine non-immigrant student who only wants to complete his education and return to Ethiopia as soon as the political climate there will allow.

"If you wish to help Kahsay remain in the United States, please sign the petition that is circulating, as well as WRITE A PERSONAL LETTER to the names listed below with Kahsay's Immigration Service file number which appears at the top of this page. PLEASE WRITE IMMEDIATELY BECAUSE THE HEARING FOR KAHSAI IS JUNE 21, 1977."

For those who wish to write in support of Kahsay, an important number to include in the letter is his Immigration Service File No. A-21 165 019. For those wishing to sign the petition, there will be copy in The Harrington Journal office. Or you can call me (Barbara Brown) at 398-3609 or leave a message at 398-3206.

In closing, just this: In New York harbor stands the Statue of Liberty at the base of which are inscribed some very famous lines ending with the words, "I lift my lamp beside the golden door." I have neither seen the statue nor read the words inscribed. But the ideals there represented were held very high before me as I grew up. Adulthood brings some disillusionment. We learn that the world we live in and even the country we cherish are far from perfect. But the ideals of life and liberty are still valid. And I would like to believe that they are still available in my country, that no language barrier can extinguish the light and that no red tape can bind that door and hold it closed.

I urge your immediate support for Kahsay Teferi Saduk.

Sincerely,
Barbara C. Brown

Weekly Report

by Senator Joe Biden

Last week it was announced by the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare that the Delaware Ecumenical Agency has been selected as the recipient of an Urban Health Initiative Grant. This grant, intended to support and develop community health facilities to provide for primary health care, will, at long last, make possible a Health Planning and Development Project for rural Delaware.

This project is one that has been of continuing interest to me and I am very pleased by this news. Members of my staff had met with the Lower New Castle County Medical Center, Inc. and had discussed the possibility and the availability of Federal funds for such a project. Throughout the planning for this facility, I have been tremendously impressed with the zeal of the community in going after and getting this much-needed medical care for their area. The eventual completion of this health facility will be the product of a great amount of effort, commitment, and involvement on the part of the citizens of the Middletown - Odessa - Townsend area. Without hesitation, I have given my complete support and endorsement to the realization of this project.

The award itself totals $199,833.00 and includes the cost of acquiring and renovating a building to house the medical facilities, as well as a $16,000.00 planning grant to explore the possibilities of similar primary health care facilities for Sussex County.

The area that will be served by the proposed facility has been a "medically manpower shortage area" by the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare. Prior to this, the medical needs of 12,000 residents below the C&D Canal were met by just three doctors. The grant opens the way for quality primary medical care in lower New Castle County and hopefully will provide a successful pilot program so that the project can be expanded to other areas of the state.

Thoughts

by Senator Bill Roth

If you are the parent of a school-age child in Delaware you are probably acutely aware of the growing role of the courts in intervening into social and political issues once thought solely to be the business of the elected representatives of the people.

The steady and growing expansion of the courts over the past quarter century into the field of activist law-making and away from adjudication is an issue which concerns me deeply, and should concern us all.

Courts today are not merely concerned with judging individual conflicts and making decisions according to the law. They are not merely concerned with curbing abuses in the legislative and executive branches of government. Today the Federal bench dictates the law -- wholesale and in rapid order.

Courts today are involved in decisions that were once thought to be unfit for adjudication. Judicial business now includes educational policy, highway standards, mental health and auto safety. Courts have handed down decrees which affect hospital administration, penal institutions, child support, voting registration and natural resource allocation. The Judiciary has been involved with increasing frequency in cases which seek to limit the size of college football squads, ban smoking in public places, set school tax rates and even dictate the schools that children must attend.

The Senate recently considered a bill that would substantially increase the number of Federal judges. During debate on the bill, I pointed out that although

I would vote for it, I felt it incumbent upon anyone nominated to a Federal judgeship -- a position of enormous power, prestige and responsibility -- to operate within the doctrine of our traditional separation of powers and to exercise judicial restraint.

I feel very strongly that if the courts continue to repudiate the principles of federalism and the separation of powers, which lie at the heart of our democratic form of government, the Congress must meet this challenge head-on and limit judicial abuse. To that end, I recommended that the Senate Judiciary Committee undertake an in-depth study of how the Constitutionally-delegated powers between the Federal legislative and judicial branches are apportioned. I believe that this study would help Congress and the public focus more clearly on judicial excesses.

The separation of powers conceived by our Founding Fathers must be maintained and strengthened. And Federal judges, who are appointed for lifetime terms, must be held responsible and accountable to the public for their actions in the future.

occupations where job seekers may face competition or favorable job opportunities.

In general, the study says, total employment is expected to increase about 20 per cent, from 85.9 to 103.4 million workers. Increasing faster than the rate of total employment will be the rate of employment in both white-collar and service jobs; employment in farm occupations will decline.

White-collar workers -- the largest major occupational category -- are projected to increase by almost 28 per cent by 1985, from 41.7 to 53.2 million. The same growth rate for service workers will bring their numbers up to 14.6 million from a current 11.4 million. But, blue-collar workers -- the second largest job category -- will show a slower growth rate of 13 per cent, from 29.8 million to 33.7 million. Farm workers will decline 39 per cent to 1.8 million in 1985 from a current level of 3 million.

The fastest rate of growth in employment, says the study, will probably be seen in the professional and technical area -- including such highly trained personnel as physicians, lawyers, engineers and scientists. Their numbers will jump from 12.3 million to 16 million in 1985, at a rate one and one-third times the rate of increase for total employment. One exception in this category will be secondary school teachers, whose numbers should decrease slightly from 1.2 million to 1.1 million to accommodate changing population trends.

In other areas, employment of managers and administrators will increase from 8.9 million to 10.9 million; sales occupations, from 5.4 million to 6.3 million; skilled blue-collar workers (the craft shop) will show an increase to 13.8 million from 11.5 million; operatives will grow from 13.9 million to 15.2 million. Non-farm laborers will increase from 4.4 to 4.8 million; service workers will be up to 13.7 million from 10.1 million; private household workers will decline to 900,000 from 1.2 million.

New Law For Mopeds

A new law defining and regulating mopeds (motorized bicycles) in Delaware, has been signed by Governor Pierre DuPont and is effective immediately.

The law, House Bill No. 10 defines a "moped" as a pedal bicycle having two tandem wheels, either of which is over twenty inches in diameter, and having a helper motor with a maximum piston displacement of less than 55 cc (cubic centimeters) and rated at no more than 1.5 brake horsepower. The maximum speed of a moped cannot exceed 25 miles per hour.

Moped operators must possess a valid drivers license and thus must meet the necessary age requirements for driver licensing. A registration fee of $5 for a 3 year registration period is required.

The operation of mopeds on interstate and limited access highways is prohibited, while operation on bicycle paths is allowed only if the motor is off.

At State Fair

National Apple Queen To Host Pie Contest

For those that may ask: "What's new at the Delaware State Fair?", how about a blue ribbon apple pie contest? Although pies and other baked goods have held a traditional place at County and State Fairs for years, this one is just a wee bit different.

For instance: What other apple pie contest this summer will have the 1977 National Apple Queen, Miss Wendy Rider act as hostess? Or what other apple pie contest will have such an array of judges as Gold Key Restaurateur, Louis Guisto, News Journal "Critic-at-Large", Otto Dekom, and "First Lady" of the State, Elise Eupont? Or how about the prizes? Where else will just one apple pie get $50 for winning top prize and $30 and $20 for runner-ups respectively?

Yes, this apple pie contest is a little different and easy to enter besides. Pies will be judged on appearance, texture and flavor of crust, thickness of filling and of course, the total blend of flavors of overall taste appeal. Pies will be brought in and judged at the Fair on Thursday, July 28th and men and women, any age are eligible to enter.

The contest is being sponsored by the Delaware Apple Growers Association in cooperation with the Fair. Jim Miller, a Director of the Fair, has agreed to act as Chairman of the event.

Mail requests for rules and entry blanks to: Apple Pie Contest, Delaware State Fair, Harrington, Delaware 19952. You might also be interested to know that after all the pies are judged, they'll be cut and served to the audience. Anyone for just-baked, homemade apple pie?

Sunny Side Up

Banishing the stench of overripe squid juice is not a problem too many of us have to face. And thank heaven for it! With the possible exception of a tannery next door, rancid squid juice is the worst stink that could possibly permeate your living quarters. A Delaware family knows, because it happened to them.

They were driving back to Harrington in their motor home, with a package of frozen squid on the floor of the front seat. Before they realized it the contents had thawed, saturating the black rubber mat and the floor underneath with an evil-smelling liquid that became more potent by the minute.

Nothing they tried could get rid of the sickening odor. Sleeping in the motor home was impossible without gas masks. Since the squiddest part was right over the engine, driving the vehicle was hazardous lest they be overcome by fetid fumes when the warm engine made the smell even stronger.

What to do? In moments of domestic panic, smart Delawareans turn to Coral Morris, extension home management specialist. She is not intimidated by stinky squid or anything else. In fact, she hardly batted an eye when confronted with the problem on the telephone. Spoiled squid juice? So what else is new?

Coral, of course, had a solution for the problem. It not only worked with the squid, but also provided a lesson in getting rid of other bothersome protein-based stains and stench (e.g. urine, blood, sour milk upchuck strong meat, and fish odors).

She recommends one of her favorite cleaning and deodorizing products-trisodium phosphate (TSP). Originally developed to clean commercial equipment, TSP is available in paint and hardware stores.

Dissolve 1/2 cup TSP in two cups warm water, then wash the affected area. IMPORTANT: Use rubber gloves and rinse thoroughly. The TSP "digests" the protein in the malodorous substance. When you get rid of the protein you get rid of the smell, Coral explains.

An enzyme detergent works in a similar manner, but it takes a little longer, she says. You may dissolve one cup of Axion or Biz in two cups warm water and use this to wash the smelly or stained area. Again, thorough rinsing is very important.

If the odor or stain is in carpeting, you must dry the carpeting immediately after treating and rinsing it so that a brown ring won't develop from the padding. Apply layers of paper towels over the area, with newspapers over that. Then walk around over the wet spot so that the paper will soak up the moisture. Repeat to remove as much moisture as possible.

You may also spread silica gel over the carpeting to help absorb the excess moisture. It is available in craft shops and hardware stores.

After the TSP or enzyme detergent treatment, Coral recommends sweetening the air with a lemon air freshener in solid stick form. Lemon is the cleanest scent, she says, and the stick will release the scent gradually without harming the atmosphere as an aerosol spray would.

So much for the squid juice. I wonder what Coral would do if she lived next door to a tannery.

Congratulations to the Lake Forest High School Class of 77. They gathered together for a church service at Asbury United Methodist Church in Harrington on Sunday, June 5th. A single rose was placed on the altar in memory of a classmate Keith Jacobs. This rose after the service was presented to Keith's family. It was gratefully accepted. Commencement was held at the State Fairgrounds in Harrington at 5 p.m. The graduates were blessed by angels tears. They didn't seem to mind as long as they received that roll of paper they all worked so hard for. Best of luck to you all in the future from our towns.

Mrs. Shirley Glenden participated in the National Finals of the Brunswick Bowl Your Way to Europe Tournament which was held in Washington, on Saturday, May 28th. Shirley finished in the top ten out of 250 bowlers. Mrs. Glenden is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Brittingham.

Friends and relatives helped Mrs. Eleanor Killen celebrate her birthday on Thursday evening, June 2nd.

Sharon Lynn Wyatt, who is currently "Little Miss Felton" was crowned "Little Delmarva Poultry Princess," Friday evening. The pageant was held at the Delaware Technical & Community College. There were 17 other contestants. Sharon is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wyatt.

ASCA Requires Report Of Program Crop Acreage

Anticipating changes in farm legislation, the Agriculture Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS) will soon require Sussex County farmers to report their wheat, barley, corn and grain sorghum acreage.

According to Donald W. Campbell, County Executive Director, both congressional agricultural committees have reported out farm bills which provide that if a set-aside is implemented for 1978 crops, the acreage required to be set aside may be based on a percentage of the acreage planted for harvest in 1977. Neither version of the bill proposes to use acreage planted in 1977 as a basis for establishing acreage allotments, however.

Farmers will have until August 15, 1977 to report their acreage for corn and grain sorghum. Wheat and barley acreage must be reported prior to harvest. Farmers who have already begun or completed harvest should contact their ASCS office immediately.

Farmers who fail to report planted acreage will be considered to have no planted acreage and may be ineligible for program benefits in 1978, Mr. Campbell said.

ASCS employees will make spot checks of farms to assure that acreage reports are accurate according to Mr. Campbell.

The county ASCS office will begin accepting acreage reports June 1, 1977.

Christian Scientists Hold Annual Meeting

Christian Scientists from around the world have been summoned to "unite in good, strong prayer" and to do a better job of "responding to mankind's needs."

David E. Sleeper, the new chairman of The Christian Science Board of Directors, told church members yesterday that it was time "to discard every thought that would turn us away from our conviction that God is as supreme on earth as He is in Heaven."

A Texan, who has been a member of the denomination's governing body since 1969, Sleeper said the example of Jesus is as relevant today as it was centuries ago. He said the key to that example was a willingness "to read the signs of the times spiritually -- according to divine guidance."

Several thousand members, representing Christian Science congregations in the United States, Canada, and overseas, attended the 82nd annual meeting of The First Church of Christ, Scientist, Boston, June 6. Church officers reported on the denomination's healing ministry, its reading room and publishing activities, and the work of its branch congregations.

Boston is the home of the denomination's international headquarters. The Church was founded here in 1879 by American religious leader, Mary Baker Eddy.

Sleeper and others who spoke acknowledged a continuing need for steadier church attendance by those of all ages. But, as with primitive Christianity said Sleeper, mere surface conditions do not discourage "committed followers of the Master."

Said the chairman "Jesus wasn't one to ignore appearances, whether they were good or bad. Whatever effects he saw on the surface he never let the appearance mislead him. In fact, he strongly rebuked those who did limit their conclusions about cause and effect to what they could observe humanly."

"If Jesus hadn't been able to read the signs of the times spiritually," Sleeper declared, "he might have been terribly discouraged. We too must read the signs of the times correctly and act from the standpoint of spiritual vision."

Named to the annual presidency of the church was James Spencer of Birmingham, Michigan, a Christian Science lecturer.

For Your Information

Dear friends,

Bernard Baruch was asked who he thought was the greatest man of his age. He replied: "The fellow who does his job every day. The mother who runs a home and gets the meals. The fellow who keeps the streets clean. Millions of men. In the common things of life lies the strength of the nation. Not in brilliant conceptions and strokes of genius shall we find the chief reliance of our country, but in the home, in the schools, and in religion."

Respectfully,
William A. Ruffolo

Scott Warms Up For Harrington Race

Former AMA National Champ Gary Scott powered his Evel Knievel-sponsored Harley-Davidson into turn one under a Harley ridden by his brother Hank to take the lead on lap 11 of the 20 lap AMA Camel Pro Series race held in Louisville, Ky. last Saturday night. He then held a narrow edge over Hank for the next seven laps until Hank's Harley blew its motor on the 18th lap and dropped from competition. Finishing second to Scott was Steve Morehead, Findlay, Ohio; third was current National Champ Jay Springsteen; fourth was Ted Boody; and rounding out the top five was defending Full House Classic champion Corky Keener. All were riding Harley-Davidson motorcycles.

Camel Pro Series points leader Kenny Roberts placed ninth and maintained an ever narrowing points lead. After 7 of the 28 races on the $100,000 Camel Pro Series, the points standings are:

1. Ken Roberts, Modesto, CA - Yamaha - 67;
2. Jay Springsteen, LaPeer, Mich. H-D - 62.
3. Ted Boody, Royal Oak, Mich., H-D - 60.
4. Steve Ecklund, San Jose, CA., H-D - 52.
5. Gary Scott, Springfield, O., H-D - 47.

The 3rd Annual FULL HOUSE CLASSIC will take place this Saturday night, June 11, 8 p.m. Delaware State Fairgrounds.

With a string of four wins in the last four dirt track races of 1976, Jay Springsteen wrested the National Championship from shoo-in Gary Scott. Springsteen won the 1975 inaugural race here, finished second last year, and is threatening the points lead right now, just a few points behind Kenny Roberts.

With his spectacular dirt track flamboyant style at its best on half mile dirt tracks like Harrington, the 20-year old Champ must be regarded the favorite for the Saturday evening, June 11 3rd Annual FULL HOUSE CLASSIC to be held at Delaware State Fairgrounds.

Track Team Takes Twenty-Three Awards

Lake Forest High track team members won twenty-three awards at the Delaware Junior Olympics held at Baynard Stadium, Wilmington, Saturday night.

Joyce Ewing was a double winner taking the shot put (28 feet) and the discus (80 feet).

Dan Parker annexed the mile run, in the Senior Division, with a lifetime best clocking of 4:36.

Valerie Davis was first in the two-mile run and like Ewing and Parker, competed in the Senior Division (16-17 years old). David Richters was third in the mile run behind Parker.

Others in the Senior Division to finish in the money were: Tim McCombs, third in the high jump (10-6); Louis Thomas, 4th in the two-mile run (10:43); Milton Justice, third in the long jump (19-10) and Stacy Sams 4th in the long jump (19-1).

The local 880 relay quartet in the 16-17 division composed of Grayson Bathlow, Stacy Sams, Milton Justice and Baron Harmon, was fourth.

In the Intermediate Division (14-15 years) Ken Thorpe won his preliminary heat in 10.4, then did 10.3 to finish second in the final. Thorpe, a freshman, has a chance to get into the next three years.

Later, Thorpe made up several yards on his anchor leg to give his team a third in the 880 relay. Joe Custis, Harold Dixon and Marty Barner were the other relay runners.

Joe Custis made a very impressive debut as a half miler. Custis had a few 440 races in April but hadn't competed since. Running the unfamiliar two-lapper, he didn't know how to pace himself, ran in spurts, slowed down to a near-walk once, but rallied to move into fourth place with an excellent 2:17 clocking. It is already apparent that Joe Custis with experience plus conditioning can move into a position high on the all-time list at Lake Forest in the 880.

Tina Durant placed in the 100,220 and 440 yard runs, while Eric Wise leaped 18 feet, 10 inches, just three inches off the winning distance in the long jump.

Woodbridge sophomore Greg Rowe, high school state champion in the 12 pound shot, won that event with 50 feet, than took the discus with a throw of 138 feet.

Smith Named To 2nd Team All-Henlopen Conference

HARRINGTON. Mark Smith, freshman 1st baseman at Lake Forest Varsity baseball squad was named on Thursday at the Henlopen Conference meeting to the second team All Henlopen Conference.

Smith was also voted the Most Valuable Player on the Lake Forest squad by his fellow teammates. Smith compiled a .447 batting average, good for second place, led the conference in the total base hits, with five doubles, and the rest of the hits were singles. In the Indian River game he went 4 for 4, and was his best game of the season.

The team finished tied for fourth place in the conference with a 5 and 7 record. The team lost 4 one run games. Spartans experienced big victories over CR, Delmar, and Dover Air with the latter two being in contention with leadership in the Conference's Southern Division.

Other players on the LF team who had good seasons were: Greg Regan, who had the lowest ERA on the team with 1.34 and third best in the Conference. Regan was also nominated for Honorable Mention to the Henlopen Conference. Jimmy Carroll pitched and hit his way to varsity recognition. Carroll led the team in home runs with 4.

Coach Bill Falasco reports that 7 players will be lost next year due to graduation, but he will have 9 lettermen returning.

Trice Makes It Two Straight

Gary Trice of Parsonsburg, Maryland made it two in a row as he captured the Lloyd Sawyer Memorial modified-sportsman feature at the Georgetown Speedway Friday evening.

It was no easy feat for the 1976 Delaware State Champ who started the feature in the twenty-eighth position of the thirty car field. Trice had attended his younger brother David's graduation earlier in the evening and arrived at the track just in time to qualify in the consolation. David, who drives in the sportsman division, also managed to qualify.

Davey Jones of Paulsboro, New Jersey, led the first four laps in his sportsman before being overtaken by Harold Bunting of Milford. Following Bunting to the front were the modifieds of Bill Towers, Walt Breeding and Trice.

On lap sixteen, Joe Langshaw spun bringing out the caution as Towers went to the pits with a flat right front tire and Breeding followed with a fading engine. The restart was short lived as Bob Wilkins spun in turn three causing a pile-up which put Clem Horvath and Jimmy Lambden out for the evening.

Bunting led off the green on the second restart but slipped high going into turn three and Trice, who was now running second, shot into the lead. With three laps to go, Stan Busby squeezed under Bunting to move into second spot. At the checker it was Trice, Busby, Bunting, Jack Sapp, Towers, Richard Jarvis, and Haines Tull.

Oscar Fields finished first sportsman for the second week in a row just edging out Clifford Todd of Georgetown and Johnny Parker, also of George-

Singleton, Bensen Win Adams Award

Lake Forest Athletes Awarded

The Lake Forest Athletic Booster Club held its all-sports banquet Wednesday night at the school cafeteria.

Mike Benson and Karen Singleton were honored as the outstanding senior athletes. They were chosen to receive the Mike Adams Memorial award, the most prestigious of all the presentations made.

Benson, one of the state's best long and triple jumpers in track, is also an excellent football player who led Lake Forest in tackles. Benson, Manny Christopher, Ken Crouse and Ron Loper are graduates who were starting players for coach Jim Fleming.

Returning are Bill Moore and Doug Warrington, first and second team All-Conference picks, respectively. The Spartan gridders won three of their last four starts to finish 3-7, one of the best marks here in several years.

Karen Singleton, a former Spartan record holder in the mile run, switched to a completely different event, the hurdles, when a faster miler came along, then promptly set a new hurdle record. Karen is also a fine hockey player.

The freshmen football team handed Smyrna its only defeat, then marred Dover's perfect record, by holding the Senators to a tie. The frosh finished 3-2-1, while the jayvees ended 2-3-1.

Dave Buck and Charles "Curt" Stickle guided the soccer Spartans to their best record yet, 6-8. Graduating seniors, eight in number, include the Henlopen Conference's leading scorer, Ken Johnson and the most outstanding Spartan, (All-Conference, 3rd team All-State) Joe Robbins. Co-captains next season will be Paul Miller and Nick Kristick.

Buck also coached the girls' track team to 3-2 conference and 4-3 overall marks. Karen Harris, a talented sprinter-long jumper, received the most valuable award.

Jim Blades and his assistant, Jim Fleming, led the boys' track team to a 6-4 log. The Spartans set a total of ten school records as 1977 proved to be one of the best springs yet for the thinclads.

Trackmen who figured in the record setting were: Jerry Custis, Tony Barner, Dan Parker, Tim McCombs, Mike Benson, Louis Thomas, Dave Richter, Chris Palmisano, Milton Justice, Baron Harmon, Ken Thorpe and Bill Moore. Eight seniors will be lost from the 5-7 man squad.

Mike Benson leaped 22 feet in the long jump twice, finished runnerup in the state meet after losing some time because of a late season hospitalization.

Lake Forest is scheduled to have an all-weather composition track installed soon. We predict that local trackmen will soon be in demand for some track scholarships.

Mike Benson, most valuable football player, received the same designation in track. Jo Ann Lynch, girls' tennis, introduced her players including "Most Valuable" Ellen Baker.

Bill Falasco, baseball coach, had a freshman first baseman, Mark Smith, who made his debut in varsity sports with a resounding crash heard around the league. Son of a great Harrington High first baseman (Dr. Robert H. Smith, circa 1938) young Mark fielded his position well, was runnerup in Henlopen Conference batting (.447) and tied for the league lead in hits with 17. What's this kid going to do for an encore? He was a shoo-in for MVP.

5-7 Lake Forest had some good pitching from Jim Carroll and Greg Regan, a low E.R.A. hurler.

Al Wood's softball squad finished at 6-6. Joyce McClements was the most valuable player. Chris Morrow and Laura Newnom were good stick- persons (hitters) while Newnom turned in some good pitching performances, though not yet up to the standard set by her dad, Bill, a Greenwood High ace in the early forties.

Pat Dyal, hockey coach, reported that the 5-7 finish, recorded by her charges was the best showing since she took over the helm.

Leading scorer, Gail Coston, received the trophy as most valuable player.

Dean Wern, head wrestling coach, was represented by Justin Hyatt, who stated that he felt Lake Forest's 3-9 grappling log was not as bad as it might seem. Hyatt believes that the Spartans were better than the record shows. Certainly a highlight of the season was Lane Lapinsky's winning of the state 98-pound championship in which he completely dominated every rival. Lapinsky, Chris Grove, Gary Kashner, John Moffett and Jamie Simpson have graduated.

Albert "Buck" Starkey head basketball coach loses six seniors whose cumulative record at Lake Forest was 43-11 over the past few years. They will be almost irreplaceable it says here. Tall Sam Carey, (All Conference 2nd Team) defensive standout Ron Shockley, Bill Johnson, a heavy scorer, late in the season; Frank Corsey, Jack Coker and Glen Whitt complete the sextet.

Most valuable player Laurin Burris and third-team All-Conference Bill Moore will be back.

Jim Blades' cross-country team continued a tradition that started at Harrington High in 1958, which requires that every hill-and-dale campaign be a winning one.

The Spartans have been Conference Champs for three straight years and state champs the last four.

Booster Club rep., Cliff Chambers, awarded trophies to the top ten Spartans Most Valuable, Dan Parker; Chris Palmisano, Dave Richter, Louis Thomas, Wilson Fry, Paul McClellan, Herb Jarrell, John Moffett, Tom Ott and freshman, Bill Mitchell. Palmisano will be hardest to replace as third place finisher in the state meet.

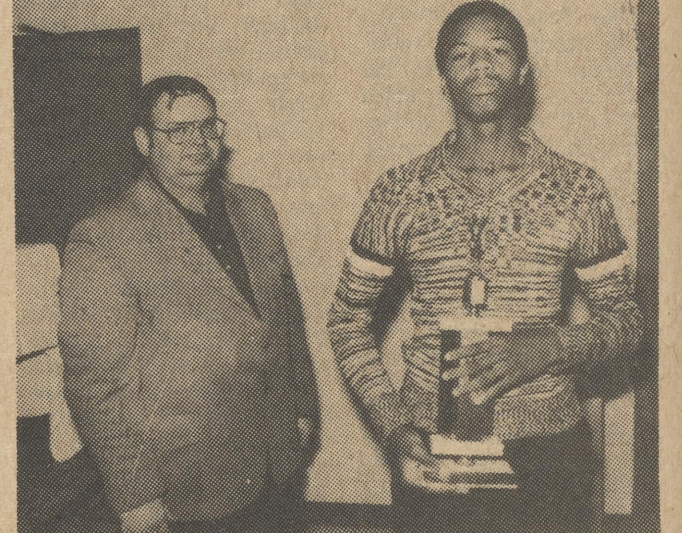

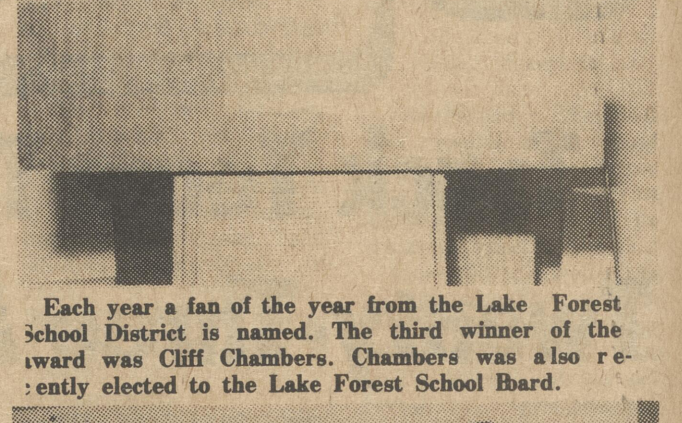

In girls' basketball, sophomore Laura Newnom, probably the most versatile distaff Spartan Athlete, was chosen as the top player. Laura also does very well in softball and hockey.

Lois Russum, Sharon Gygyruk, Cindy Loper and Anita Jo Redden were the best cheerleaders.

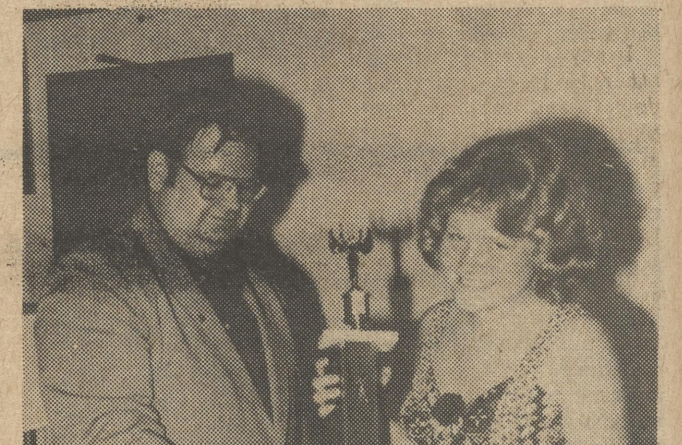

One of the most coveted of all the awards is the Harrington Moose Lodge's "Most Improved". It usually denotes athletes who start out slowly but persevere and eventually, like cream, rise to the top. Joyce Ewing accepted the girls' award for her hard work in hockey, basketball and track.

Jerry Custis was her male counterpart. Jerry competes in football, basketball, and track. Both recipients are track school record holders.

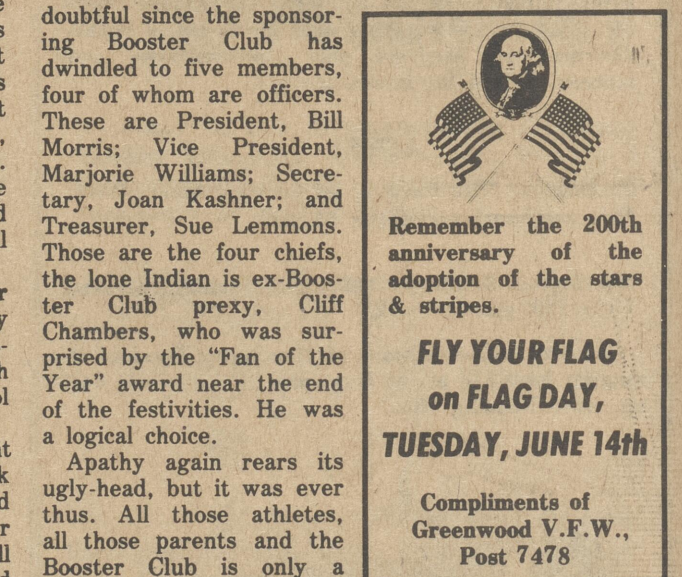

Richard Crouse represented the Moose Lodge. Jack Smith, Salisbury, exceeded and had the 400-member audience chuckling all evening. It was a grand affair but its future is

Each year a fan of the year from the Lake Forest School District is named. The third winner of the award was Cliff Chambers. Chambers was also recently elected to the Lake Forest School Board.

The male winner of the Most Improved Athlete Award was Jerry Custis. Jerry was a performer on three teams at the high school during the past season. Those being football, basketball and track.

Each year the Harrington Moose Lodge gives awards to the Most Improved Athlete both male and female during the past school year. Above sports director at the Moose Dick Crouse presents the award to the female recipient Joyce Ewing.

Remember the 200th anniversary of the adoption of the stars & stripes.

Gab Fest

by Pat Hatfield

One evening this week I took three-year-old Garith with me to spend some time with Tess. We both love children, and Miss Garith was all set for conversation. We gave her the floor, and, believe it or not, she talked steadily for two solid hours. We heard all about the baby goat she used to have, and the baby lamb she used to feed with a bottle and various cats and dogs, and turtles. Then she informed us that she was planning to get a baby octopus and name it "Sally," and she does not plan to keep it in the water because it would swim away; probably a bag would be better. She said, "They are slimy but they don't bite, and I may get a crocodile, too." She was having the time of her life. She would much rather just talk than to play with toys. We thought what fine preparation this was to help her communicate with people as she grows up. I am concerned that people do not really talk together as they used to. So many groups get together and flop down at a card table or turn on the "boob tube". I have no objections to either of these diversions...I enjoy many programs on TV myself, but it seems to me we are losing the gentle art of conversation. It is very fascinating to me to watch the children learn. I missed my calling; I should have been a teacher. I am constantly stimulating our children to watch and be aware. If they do not use their minds now, they will grow up into the kind of adults who never see a sunset, never hear a bird sing or know the magic of moonlight. I zero right in and get their attention. Always I'm saying to them things like...Look how many shades of green there are around us; See how beautiful the purple lilacs look in the milk glass vase. They need the milk glass like the big yellow daisies need the brown pottery jug and the roses need the crystal bowl; See the big, black ant. Do you think it is a mother ant hurrying home to her babies? Or could it be a father ant looking for food to carry home to his children? Aren't the stars close tonight, you can almost touch them; listen to the rain on the tin roof; isn't that a cozy sound to go to sleep by? Listen to the birds...the caw of the crow is a greedy, hurried sound; the Bob-White sounds pure like cool, running water, listen to the crying of the gulls, isn't it a lonely sound? For some strange reason, does it remind you of a train whistle far down into the night? Why do the pansies look like kitten faces? Can you smell the rain in the air? Or snow? See! Watch! Listen! Look! Observe! And your life will be so full of lovely things you will never be bored.

What a beautiful rain we had that fell like a blessing upon the land. Our lima beans had been planted for weeks and we had given up on them. The next morning after the rain, every little bean jumped up, pushed its nose through the moist earth and somehow, unbelievably, grew two leaves overnight. Lima beans seem to be a vegetable that people either like a lot or they do not like at all. They are our favorites here, with peas running a close second. We gave up planting peas some years ago. We had to plant so many to feed the birds first, and our birds are not very much afraid of scare crows.

Well, I could speak of many things, "Of shoes and ships and sealing wax and cabbages and kings", as the rhyme goes, but our deadline is early this week because of the holidays. Enjoy them, and let our motto be, Be Aware!

Rollins To Sell Raceway Stock

HARRINGTON. Former Lt. Gov. John Rollins and one of Delaware's leading sportsmen will offer his holdings in Harrington Raceway in the very near future. Rollins now owns 1,000 shares in the Raceway. The stock, it was learned, will most probably be offered to the Delaware State Fair, which is currently the largest stockholder in the oval which was the cradle of par-mutual racing on the eastern shore as well as one of the first such complexes in the country. In the late 1960's Rollins and a business associate Marvin Orleans of Philadelphia each purchased 1,000 shares in the Raceway at $100 per share in order for the sports complex to construct what is now the clubhouse at the paddock turn. The modern plant is catered by the Nilon brothers at all track meets. Orleans, Rollins, and another former Republican Lt. Gov. and Governor David P. Buckson were associated in the development of portions of White Oak Farm in Dover. At the time of the purchase of the Raceway stock Rollins had interests in other tracks in the

State. Brandywine Raceway in Wilmington is a wholly-owned subsidiary of Rollins' other firm, Rollins Leasing Corp. Details of the purchase and redistribution of the stock in the Raceway was rather sketchy following the news of the possible sale to the Delaware State Fair. It was thought that the stock if purchased by the D.S.F. would be offered first to the Directors, then to the stockholders of record and then to the general public. No official statement was available as to the most recent sale of the stock, but when Rollins purchased the stock the firm paid $100 per share. The Fair stock on the other hand at the sale of the Minner properties near Mastens Corner sold at an average price of $85 to $90 per share. On June 15 a Board of Directors meeting will be held in which the purchase of the Raceway stock will be one of the principal points of discussion. The stockholders will meet on July 11 prior to the opening of the Fair.

Reduce Risk Factors

All humans gamble with their lives to some extent. We know there will be earthquakes; but they are so rare, we do not have a corner earthquake station. We do have fire stations because we know there will be a certain number of fires.

We also know there will be 850,000 deaths caused by heart attack and stroke this year. There are precautions people can take regarding heart attack and stroke, much as we close match covers before striking. The precautions against heart attack and stroke deal with "risk factors" which are every bit as sensible to observe as fire safety requirements.

The risk factors are smoking, lack of exercise, improper diet, high blood pressure and obesity. A person who ignores all these factors is gambling against pretty big odds. There are indeed many people who smoke a pack or two a day, eat foods high in cholesterol and saturated fats, don't exercise moderately, are overweight, and don't control high blood pressure with readily available and effective drugs.

On the other hand, chances of heart disease can be reduced by modifying the effect of these factors in day-to-day living habits. Unfortunately, heredity, sex, age and race are risk factors that can't be altered. Some families tend to have more heart attacks and strokes; men suffer these diseases earlier in life than women, with increasing age increasing the chances of heart attack; and black Americans, for some reason, are more likely to have high blood pressure. But whatever age, sex or race you are, your lifestyle can be altered to cut down the risks. Just as the combination of all the factors may be deadly, the absence of all the factors can mean a longer and more enjoyable life.

How? The answers are easy to list, but changing lifestyles requires some effort. The answers are: quit smoking, eat foods low in cholesterol and saturated fats, get moderate exercise, watch your weight, and have your blood pressure checked. High blood pressure is the main risk factor in heart attack and stroke; fortunately, it is controllable in most cases.

The Delaware Heart Association fights for your life in many ways. One is to distribute information on reducing the risk factors that lead to heart diseases. To obtain this information, call the Wilmington office at 654-5269 or the Georgetown office at 856-7386.

Spiced Picnic Cake Is A Cinch To Make

You add your own spicing to give this convenient packaged mix cake distinctive homemade flavor.

SPICED PICNIC CAKE

- 1 box (18.5 oz.) yellow cake mix
- 1 package (4 portion size) instant vanilla pudding and pie filling
- 1 tablespoon apple pie spice
- 1 cup diary sour cream
- 1/3 cup oil
- 4 eggs

- Creamy Chocolate Frosting*
- 2 tablespoons sesame seed

Combine dry ingredients in the large bowl of an electric mixer. Add remaining ingredients except Creamy Chocolate Frosting and sesame seed; blend smooth. Beat at medium speed for 2 minutes. Pour into greased and floured 13 x 9 x 2-inch baking pan. Bake in preheated 350°F. oven until cake tester comes out clean, about 35 minutes. Cool in pan. Spread Frosting over cake. Place sesame seed in a small skillet over moderate heat; cook and stir until toasted; sprinkle seed over cake.

CREAMY CHOCOLATE FROSTING*

- 1 package (4 portion size) regular cooking chocolate pudding and pie filling
- 1 cup milk
- 1/2 cup butter or margarine, softened
- 1/2 cup sugar

Prepare chocolate pudding as package directs using only 1 cup milk; cover surface of pudding with waxed paper; cool. Beat butter and sugar until fluffy. Add chocolate pudding 1/3 at a time, beating lightly after each addition. Beat just until smooth (do not overbeat). Yield: One 13 x 9 x 2-inch cake.

Detecting The Villains In Your Garden

If any of your flowers or other kinds of plants suddenly turn up with their blossoms missing, cut off at the soil line or vanished completely, you've got a mystery on your hands. Like any good mystery, such occurrences call for an investigation. But how do you begin when the victims can't answer questions?

Frank Boys, extension entomologist at the University of Delaware, has some suggestions which should help any gardener who's caught in this dilemma.

If it's a simple case of "planting," start the investigation at the scene of the crime, advises Boys. There should usually be signs of a struggle, like soil disturbed, bits and pieces of root and other plant debris, and a hole in the ground. You may even find footprints leading in and out of the garden. The prints could be man, bird, mouse, rabbit or even squirrel. In any event, the way to prevent such "plantnapping" is to install one or all of the following deterrents-fencing, nets or traps. What do you do when you have a case involving plants that have been cut off at the soil line? This is where you find rows of your prize tomato, corn, celery or other garden plants lying flat on the ground, like so much fresh cut timber. When this happens, it's time to bend over and start looking for clues. It's a good bet that the bad guys are cutworms, says the entomologist. Cutworms are night feeders, so you can usually find them working on plants after the sun goes down. In daylight, remove a few lumps of soil from around the plant and look for these worms, resting up for another night raid.

The best control in a garden or flower bed known to be infested with this particular pest is treatment with a soil insecticide before planting. Work the insecticide into the ground an inch or two for best results.

If you don't want to use chemicals, mechanical barriers to cutworms can be easily made by cutting milk containers in half and placing them around plants at the time you set them out.

Another strange thing that often happens to plants is that their blossoms mysteriously disappear. Or the blossoms may suddenly become riddled with holes. In all probability, in these cases it's some insect that's enjoying the fruits of your labor. On the other hand, if the tops of your beets begin to look ragged and disappear, you may have a hungry rabbit on your hands.

When you suspect that something is eating your plants and you can't see what it is, keep in mind that many pests feed at night. If you want to catch the culprit, you'll probably have to come out then, too. A check with flashlight after dark may well show you who's doing the villainous deed. Once you've detected the sneak, take immediate action. Try hand picking or spraying if it's an insect, or fencing off the plot, in the case of marauding animals. As an alternative to fencing, dusting the leaves of leafy vegetables with something like rotenone may do the trick as a repellent.

These are only a few of the garden mysteries you may be able to expose with a bit of careful detective work, points out the entomologist.

town. Larry Grier finished in the number four spot and Ron Roberts rounded out the top five.

Mel Joseph, Jr. of Georgetown led wire to wire to capture his first late model feature of the season. The feature was run completely under the green and last week's feature winner, Ronnie LaVere was the only competitor to close on Joseph in the last five laps but got hung up in slower traffic on the last lap. Sam Davis of Seaford put on a beautiful performance to finish third and Jim Goslee of Sharptown finished fourth.

HEATS: Late Model 1) Dale Moore, Sam Davis, and Larry Andell. 2) Mel Joseph, Ronnie LaVere, and Chuck Graves. Sportsman 1) Davey Jones, Oscar Fields, and Johnny Parker. Modified 1) Jack Sapp, Larry Tucker, and Bill Towers. 2) Ed Brown, Jr., Stan Busby, and Walt Breeding. Cons 1) Haines Tull, Gary Trice, and Clifford Todd.

Applications Accepted For Pageant

The American Girl Pageant is now accepting applications from this county as candidates-at-large to the Delaware American Girl Pageant to be held on June 10-11 at the Holiday Inn in Dover.

The American Girl Pageant is for young ladies 3 to 26 consisting of five categories: American Tot, 3 to 6 years; American Little Miss, 7 to 9; American Miss, 10 to 12; American Teen, 13 to 17 and the American Girl, ages 18 to 26. All contestants compete in sportswear, street length party dress for the Tot, Miss and Little Miss divisions and evening gown for the Teen and Girl divisions. Contestants are evaluated by the judges in close-up appraisals, and in talent presentations except for Tot contenders, who do not compete in talent.

For complete information and applications please write or call the American Girl Pageants, P.O. Box 1630, Dothan, Alabama 36301 or Area Code 205-792-4907.

Using your telephone book can mean avoiding Directory Assistance Charges.

On March 29, 1977, we reduced basic monthly telephone rates and began charging for certain calls to Directory Assistance. Every billing period, you can make three dialed calls per line to Directory Assistance without incurring additional charges, and you can request two numbers per call. Every call over three calls each billing period will result in a 20¢ per call charge on your telephone bill. (Calls placed to Directory Assistance with the help of the regular Operator will be billed at 40¢ per call, and are not included in the three call allowance.)

Other calls to Directory Assistance which will not be billed:

- Calls to Directory Assistance for numbers outside Delaware. However, to avoid a charge, you must dial 1, plus the area code, plus 555-1212.
- Calls from coin telephones (consult the dialing instruction card).
- Calls from hotels, motels and hospitals.

- Calls made by people who are handicapped in the use of their directories. Contact our Business Office for details.
- Calls for mobile or maritime services.
- Calls from interconnected lines of radio common carriers.

Your number for Directory Assistance has changed, too.

If you must call Directory Assistance for numbers in Delaware, dial 1 + 555-1212 instead of 411. For numbers outside Delaware, dial 1, then the area code, then 555-1212.

If you have any questions, please feel free to call our Business Office.

Bodine To Attempt World Speed Record

NASCAR modified star, Geoff Bodine of Bellingham, Mass. will attempt to break the world closed course speed record for a modified car on a one-mile track at Dover Downs International Speedway on Tuesday, June 14th.

Bodine, who will be competing in the Atlantic Coast "300" NASCAR National Championship Modified race at Dover Downs on July 17th, will attempt to break the existing world record of 134.028 MPH set by Ray Hendrick on October 4, 1970 at Dover Downs during the time trials for a NASCAR 100-mile race.

The car Bodine will drive in the record breaking attempt is the same car he will drive in the Atlantic Coast "300". Owned by Bellingham, Mass. jeweler, Dick Armstrong, the car is a 1976 Mustang weighing 2900 lbs. and powered by a 454 cu. in. Chevrolet engine capable of generating up to 600 hp. The car is sponsored on the NASCAR circuit by Houseby Mack Truck of Des Moines, Iowa.

Bodine reports that speeds in the 140 MPH range are definitely possible. "Depending on the tire combinations, and the chassis and engine adjustments we use," said Bodine, "I'm sure we can reach 140 MPH. We have a good weight to cubic inch ratio and this will help us tremendously."

Dover Downs president and general manager, John Riddle stated that the Goodyear Tire Company has shipped in two sets of Grand National tires specifically for Bodine's record run. "They're the same tires that are used in each of our 500 milers," said Riddle. "I'm looking forward to seeing Geoff not only break the modified world mark, but also the Grand National mark of 136.612 MPH held by David Pearson."

Riddle also stated that Bodine's record run will be open to the public free of charge. Bodine is scheduled to begin practice on the speedway at Dover Downs at 9 a.m. on June 14th and is planning on making his record run at 1 p.m.

Working With Children

Do You Have The Knack? Or Is It A Battle?

Parents and people who work with children are faced with many situations in which they want to get cooperation and teach children a better way to act. Some people have the knack, but for others it's a battle.

Delaware extension family living agent Betty Richardson says if you're in the second category, hold your fire until you take the following inventory of yourself:

1. Keep a record for one day of the things you say to a child when it's time for bed, you want the TV turned off, you want the youngster to do a good job, or you want a change of behavior.

2. Estimate the number of times you say "no, don't, stop, quit" during the day.

3. Do you practice in your own behavior what you preach to the child?

4. What did you do for your child today to show that you love him or her?

5. After a struggle do you appear to reject your child either with words or actions? If not, how do you demonstrate that you still love him?

Now that you've taken inventory of your behavior, you may find that negative words preface many of your commands. But telling children what not to do won't prepare them for what to do, points out Ms. Richardson. Nor does it teach them how to handle a situation in a better way. To show a child a more acceptable way to act, translate the don'ts into do's, she suggests. "Don't throw the ball" can become "Please roll the ball on the floor." Don't squeeze the kitten" can be changed to "Hold the kitten gently."

If your inventory indicates that you say many negative things to your child, try converting some of them into positive statements recommends the extension agent.

It is also important for children to feel capable and worthwhile, says Ms. Richardson. This sense of self-worth enables them to try new things, and to approach school and other life situations with confidence. Belittling a child can destroy self-confidence.

For example, Johnny spills the garbage he's emptying, and his parents scold him with "Can't you do anything right?" Instead, be understanding, suggests Ms. Richardson. Show the child how to succeed at the task by saying, "That's a hard job. Next time carry it this way and the garbage won't spill."

Parents should realize that they are human, with many demands made on them, reminds the extension agent. But they should remember that children are also human, and some days they won't cooperate either.

Many Edible Wild Plants Grow Close To Home

If your sense of adventure is aroused at the thought of gathering your own wild foods, don't hold back because you think you'll have to go too far afield. Just grab a book on edible wild plants and take a walk, suggests Sue Matusiak, Delaware extension home economist.

There are wild plants with edible parts as close as your own backyard or the nearest forest or field, she says. Even such common lawn pests as chickweed and dandelions can be eaten.

Ms. Matusiak emphasizes the need for caution, however. There are as many poisonous plants as edible ones. Some common plants that should not be eaten include toadstools, buttercups, pokeweed, jack-in-the-pulpit, lily of the valley, jimson weed and the leaves of rhubarb.

To avoid making dangerous mistakes, be sure to consult a reference book or other reliable source before tasting a plant. There are several good books on the market which describe and illustrate edible wild foods. Armed with one of these, you and your family can turn a sunny afternoon into a time for food gathering as well as outdoor fun.

Several common plants not normally thought of as food have edible parts, points out Ms. Matusiak. For example, plantain is often found in the country although it even grows along city streets. Plantain leaves are excellent eaten raw in salads.

Chickweed and dandelions are also edible. Young dandelion leaves can be used in salads, cooked as a vegetable, or even steeped to make tea. Both the leaves and stems of chickweed are edible; the stems should be cooked, but the leaves may be eaten raw or cooked.

During a walk in a field or park you may come across great burdock, yellow clover or milkweed. A quick check of your wild foods book will tell you that parts of all three are edible, says the home economist. Clover flowers and greens are flavorful when washed and eaten raw. Burdock roots can be treated as you would parsnips, and the leaves cook up well as greens. The tastiest part of this plant, however, is the flower stalk, which may be cooked after removing its bitter skin.

When milkweed plants are just a few inches high, the young leaves can be eaten raw with other salad greens. The tender stems and tops may be cooked and served as you would asparagus. If your wanderings lead you to a marshy area, look for cattails and water lilies. The inner stalks of cattails may be boiled and eaten, or added to a stem, while the roots are good roasted. Water lily roots are also tasty when roasted.

Finally, for a unique and delicious wild plant delicacy, don't pass up water lily seeds, says the home economist. They make excellent popcorn!

THINK SMALL

Probably the smallest river in the world is the "D" River in Lincoln City, Oregon, which connects Devil's Lake to the Pacific Ocean. At low tide, the river is just 440 feet long.

The smallest violin in the world was constructed by Mr. T. B. Pollard of England. It's fully functional yet it's only 5 1/2 inches long and can fit in the palm of your hand.

A computer that's small enough to fit in almost anywhere, yet provides the smaller businessman with many of the same benefits big computers get from their big computers is System/32 developed by IBM. For instance, it can handle all accounting or inventory needs, yet it's no larger than a desk.

The smallest seeds in the world are those of the epiphytic orchids. It would take 35 million of these orchid seeds to weigh one ounce.

The smallest continent is the Australian mainland, with an area of about 2,940,000 square miles.

VA Pension Payments To Increase

Some 4,679 Delaware disabled veterans and 712 wives and children of deceased veterans may be in for a 6.7 percent increase in pension payments starting in January, Robert J. Ryan, director of the Wilmington VA Center, reported today.

In draft legislation recently submitted to Congress, Max Cleland, Administrator of Veterans Affairs, is calling for this increase which will affect more than one million disabled veterans, and 1.3 million wives and children of deceased veterans nationwide.

The proposed administration increase would become effective January 1, 1978, exactly one year from the date of the last pension increase. The Administrator estimated the cost of the proposed increase at $131.2 million for the nine months involved in fiscal year 1978, and a five-year cost of $789.1 million.

Also included in this proposal is a 6.7 percent increase for parents of deceased veterans receiving service-connected dependency and indemnity compensation payments.

Basic pension rates for veterans range from $5 to $209 per month with a maximum annual income limitation of $4,760, according to the number of dependents. The monthly rate is increased $155 if the veteran requires regular aid and attendance of another person, or by $57 if permanently housebound and not entitled to the aid and attendance allowance.

Monthly rates and income limitations differ for persons who continue to receive pension benefits under the "old law," prior to July 1, 1960.

The Green Thumb

Bagworms feed on many kinds of plants. Evergreens such as arborvitae, southern white cedar, red cedar, juniper, spruce and pine suffer most from bagworm feeding. These trees cannot recover from complete defoliation. On the other hand, trees such as maple, sycamore, willow and other broad-leaved species usually can develop new leaves following complete defoliation.

A bagworm infestation usually goes unnoticed until the damage becomes fairly severe. This is because the bagworms are inconspicuous when young. When they have become nearly full grown, the bare branches resulting from their feeding, as well as the large bags of the insect, become conspicuous. Early detection of an infestation requires careful examination of plants; when the tiny bags of the developing bagworm can be seen attached to the leaves or needles of the plant.

Bagworms live in a cocoon-like case that may be

2 inches long and 1/2 inch wide. Young bagworms, just after egg-hatch, are tiny, about 1/25 inch long, glossy black on the back, and a dull amber beneath. The full grown bagworm is a dull, dirty gray, spotted with darker markings toward the head end.

LIFE HISTORY

Bagworms pass the winter in the egg stage inside the old cases or bags. The eggs hatch in late spring (about June 1 in Delaware), and the young larvae crawl about the bush or tree spinning long threads of silk, on which they drop to other parts of the plant. As they hang suspended on threads of silk, the wind carries some of them to other trees. This is the usual way the bagworm spreads about the countryside. Very soon after emerging, each tiny larva begins spinning a protective bag around itself, leaving an opening at the head end to permit crawling about and feeding. As they feed, they attach small pieces of leaves or needles to their cases, and as they increase in size, they add more pieces to the bag.

By late August the bagworms are full grown and change inside the bags to the resting or pupal stage. During September and early October the males leave the cases and fly to bags containing females, where mating takes place; the females remain in the bags. Bags that produced males will have a pupal skin protruding from the lower end during fall and winter. The females produce eggs which remain in their bodies after the females die. Winter is passed in the egg stage and hatching occurs in early June the following year.

CONTROL - A simple method of reducing bagworms is to hand pick and destroy the cases. This procedure is especially advantageous during fall and winter, late summer, or early spring. To be effective you must get every bag. When bagworms are too numerous to hand pick, an insecticide may be applied. Remember that the older bagworms become, the more difficult it is to kill them with insecticides. In Delaware the best time to treat for bagworms is early June. Orthene or Spectracide (Diazinon) will control bagworms. Read the label and follow the directions for spraying.

Date Set For 4-H Reddy's Food Contest

The final cook-off for the State Reddy's Food Contest will be held at the Delaware State Fairgrounds in Harrington, beginning at 9 a.m. on July 14. Delaware 4-H'ers who won contests on the county level will compete for the state titles.

The contest is sponsored by the Delaware Cooperative Extension Service, the Delmarva Power and Light Company and the Delaware Electric Cooperative.

Five food areas will be represented in the contest: main dishes, snack tray, desserts, breads and dishes made by using a small appliance. Each area will be divided into three age-groups; senior (for members 14 to 19), junior (for ages 11 to 13) and petite (for 8 to 10-year-olds). Contestants will have two hours to prepare table settings and cook their entries and three hours for baking breads. They can have no outside help.

The purpose of the Reddy's Food contest is to help 4-H club members to improve cooking skills and to develop useful attitudes and character traits through competition.

Limit Changes On Tax-Free Earnings

New Internal Revenue Service (IRS) rulings allow a single student or a single summer employee to earn up to $2950 annually before paying income taxes. This figure was raised from last year's limit of $2450.

An employee does not have to file a return unless he earns more than this amount or accrues more than $750 in unearned income (such as interest on a savings account or dividends on an investment), according to Carl German, University of Delaware extension marketing specialist.

If a single teenager expects to earn less than this figure, he/she certifies to his/her employer when hired that they expect to avoid a federal income tax liability for the current year and had none for the preceding year. Then a W-4E form must be filed that certifies there is to be no tax deduction by the employer.

Although he won't have the federal tax taken from his pay, other deductions-state and social security, for example-will remain the same.

According to German, the provision serves a multiple purpose: it makes the employer's book-keeping easier, it gives the student his summer earnings at the time he makes them and it saves the IRS money in processing tax refunds the next year.

However, if the employee does earn more than $2950 at any time after this form is filed, a regular tax withholding form may be filed and standard deductions will begin.

The role of parents remains the same in spite of these tax-rule changes. A child may be claimed as a dependent as long as he is under 19 or a full-time student and provides less than half of his support.

For parents acting as employers, all payments for work should be made by check and not in the form of free gasoline and use of the car, a calf, a field to grow a crop or a broiler house. German says that unless a separate tax report is filed, sometimes the income and expenses of the teenager are difficult to separate from those of the parents.
