Colorado Driver Injured

At 10:43 Monday morning a 1977 Mercury Cougar operated by James E. Hannebaum of Flagler, Colorado collided with a 1974 International Trailer operated by Robert K. Shaner of Denton, Md. The car operated by Hannebaum was allegedly traveling at a high rate of speed on Commerce Street when it failed to negotiate the bend in the road in front of West Street and collided with the tractor trailer. Hannebaum and two other passengers in his car were transported to the Milford Memorial Hospital by Harrington Volunteer Fire Co. Ambulances where all three were admitted. Hannebaum suffered a fractured leg and wrist along with multiple abrasions. Charges are pending his release from the hospital.

Insurance Problems Corrected

Sewer Complex Still Large Problem To City

HARRINGTON CITY HALL. On Tuesday night members of the Harrington Volunteer Fire Company appeared before City Council to seal the contractual agreement between the City, the Fire Company, and the acquisition of federal funds to construct a new building to house the Town offices and the new Fire Company station.

Under the plan for federal monies through the Economic Development Agency for such projects, the town or municipality must apply for the funds necessary to construct a new building. In this case the City of Harrington was without funds to purchase a suitable site. The Fire Company having the ability to purchase such site did so by acquiring part of the land owned by Acme Markets, Inc. in Harrington Manor. The City must now in its name apply for the funds. The Fire Company will turn the land over to the City for 50 years at which time the option is to renegotiate the terms of the lease. The City must put up the money to start the application. This is the application fee. Cabe Associates Clark Carbaugh and Lee Beachum of Dover will represent the City.

According to the City Solicitor, N. Maxon Terry, Jr., the City could stand to lose the application fees paid if the grant is not awarded to the City of Harrington. Terry also advised that the City along with the Fire Company have some control over the expenses involved and he pointed out that these expenses can be quite substantial. "Finally", he said, "...the Town should ascertain the cash flow situation. If the grant is awarded, there may be delay between payments due the contractor and payment of grant to Town. If this is the case, agreement obligates the Town to pay down last year by the Environmental Agency were very strict and the dead line for the City to correct the sewer problems was the 1st of July 1978. According to Peterson, "...there is no way that we can possibly meet the standards now laid down by the State that are more strict than they were previously". Councilman Gary Homewood suggested the letter be sent to Richardson requesting an updating on the progress being made with the sewer for the community.

Mayor Cahall ordered a committee report on the condition of the Meredith building, street light in Harrington Manor, and curbing for west Milby Street.

The City for several months has been having grave problems with the insurance benefits to be derived for the former insurer and its plan. Under the present set up the Town as employer pays one half of the medical insurance and the insurer pays the other half. Having had unsatisfactory service with the present plan, the City through the City Manager, has been looking into other plans. A representative from Blue Cross and Blue Shield, Miss Judith Roberts explained the benefits under the plan submitted by Blue Cross. Both the City and the employees will pay an additional $30 per month under the Blue Cross meeting room in a prior meeting". Sgt. William Jopp was one of the insured who was unable to obtain reimbursement or have the medical bills paid by the insurer which prompted the City to look elsewhere for medical coverage. Sgt. Jopp will not be reimbursed for some of his medical bills the subject of a great deal of discussion in prior council meetings.

Lease Signed

Fire Co. and City Sign Agreement

HARRINGTON CITY HALL. The Harrington Volunteer Fire Co. through its spokesman, Edward C. McCormick, agreed to a preliminary draft of a lease to be prepared by their attorney, H. Cabbage Brown, Jr., who was present at Tuesday night's meeting guiding the two entities to an agreement. The Fire Company recently purchased approximately 4 acres from Acme Markets Inc. of Baltimore for the purposes of erecting a new fire hall. The site is across the street from St.

Benedette's Catholic Church between Liberty and Streets. Under the plan for federal funds (E.D.A.) the fire company of a community must work in conjunction with the local government. The plan calls for the City Hall to be in the fire hall. It will be referred to as a municipal building. The Fire Company currently owns the land outright, but the Fire Company must turn the land over to the City and allow the Fire Company to lease back over a period of years. The consideration under the lease will be nominal. Under a complicated arrangement, the landlord will be the City of Harrington. This will be the case for 50 years. At the end of that term, the property will revert to the Fire Company, but in what proved to be pregnant delay before the Council members and the Fire Company reps could negotiate further on the lease arrangement was resolved when the Council asked for and the Fire Company representatives through their attorney agreed to extend the 50 year term for a period of

No Major Injuries

Little Heaven Suffers Tornado Damage

LITTLE HEAVEN. Last Thursday a "cyclone cloud with very high winds" swept down on the small Kent County community of Little Heaven just off Route #113. From a dozen to 15 mobile homes in a development known as Little Heaven were either turned over or ripped apart. Injuries were stated to be "...at a minimum", by the Delaware State Police. Shortly after the investigation began three injuries were reported, but none of these were major. Debris was scattered through out the area of the path of the tornado. One person reported his swimming pool was tossed about two miles from his home.

The storm which brought not only high winds and destruction dropped 2.64 inches of rain on a parched turf here in Kent County. The National Weather Service Patuxent River Naval Air Station on the western shore of the Chesapeake Bay spotted dark clouds and potentially high winds approaching from the west and heading in the direction of Dover. The storm hit the Little Heaven area about 3 p.m. A second storm was forecast to hit the same area about 6 p.m., but it passed over. The second storm brought additional rain. The last tornado to hit this area was on August 4, 1975. There have been many storms since which carried high winds. The storm which was first classed as a tornado hit the Felton intersection at U.S. #13 and Route #12 on January 27, 1967. Damage then was estimated to be about a half million dollars. The service station on the northeast corner of that intersection then owned by Joe Bell suffered extensive damage. This week utilities were restored to the area. State Senator William P. Murphy (D-Dover) was expected to present emergency legislation to Gov. Pierre S. Du Pont to enable the stricken area to receive federal funds for redevelopment of the area. Elbert Golder, director of the Kent County Emergency Operations Center said that matters are taking shape to enable the stricken area to obtain these funds. The damage was now estimated to be around $500,000.

Debris Is All That Remains

Cleanup operations continue in Little Heaven where the tornado ripped through a trailer park last Thursday. Several trailers were demolished and about one-half million dollars worth of damage was done in the area.

Additions To Be Made

DuPont Lifts Hold On Funds

FELTON. The Lake Forest Administration office was notified today by telephone that Governor Pierre S. Du Pont has released the hold on monies to be used for the construction additions to the high school. The additions called for included new auditorium and classrooms additional lockers which were voted on last year in the form of a referendum. In a special board meeting, this week, it was decided that the original bids would be rejected and new bids will be opened in the near future. According to one Board member this would mean that construction could start soon on this project as well as the cafeteria expansion for Lake Forest North Elementary at Felton.

Obier Opens Market

Greenwood Native Ready For Business

GREENWOOD. It might be the same building, and it might be the same type of business...but it has a new name. Robert "Bobby" Obier, a native of Greenwood purchased the Steele Dairy Market at the intersection of U.S. #13 and Rte. #16 this past month. Obier has been running the show since the first of June. This is a new line for Obier, who has been a former building contractor and lumber yard operator as well the operator of heavy equipment. Obier told the JOURNAL that "...I just want to do something for my home town of Greenwood." "When I heard Mr. Steele wanted to sell the property, I came down to see him and we made the deal", according to Obier. Steele is a resident of Milford and according to Obier, Steele was leaving the State to join a family concern in the Carolinas. In addition to running this new enterprise, Obier also cares for two chicken houses which house Perdue chicks. He raises 14,000 chickens under the breeder poulet program as a crop, which will come off several times a year. Obier is married to the former Elaine S. Smith, and they have 1 child, Kelly, a 4th grader at the Woodbridge Elementary School in Greenwood. An open house is planned for this weekend starting on Friday and continuing through Sunday. There will be prizes awarded with additional sale of "buy one and get one free". The prizes will be awarded on Saturday between 1 and 4 p.m.

Robert "Bobby" Obier

'...the central fact is that a workman is worthy of his hire'

In recent editions of daily newspapers around the country, the salary scales of postmasters serving the immediate general area of the newspaper's circulation were published. The purpose for such an act is still unexplained. For the most part any government job paid for from the public coffers is a matter for public record and can be obtained.

Salaries of all state offices are a matter of public record and are printed each year in book form for the investigating minds among the general public. We as tax payers have rights to this type of information.

For years the job of running the post offices...the responsibility that is...has fallen squarely on the shoulders of the PM...or at least I would assume such to be the case. Who else will the postal examiner blame...and having had the pleasure of knowing some in the past, I know they cause the postmasters to walk a tight line.

I must admit I overlooked seeing the printed list when published in the daily. My immediate thought upon hearing about it...and some of the salaries earned...was that I wondered what percentage the salary was to the overall budget of that post office. Counting the cost of the post office building itself, and the cost of running and maintaining the complex itself, I really surmised by playing around the figures of my own that the percentage was discovered to be very small to the overall cost involved.

You know, people...including members of the media...are quick to jump to excitable conclusions. The central issue is not so much the amount of money involved as it is the responsibility of the job...any job. My former partner in the real estate business, Mr. Ralph R. Tischer, used a phrase "...a workman is worthy of his hire". His point was don't worry about the sale of this property or that property...but the important thing to remember is to do the job. The money will come, because "...a workman is worthy of his hire". There is another side to all of this and that is most people are not willing to assume the responsibility entailed in a particular job...and they are not willing to make the sacrifices from pleasures or from family. These are the important things to remember, for "...a workman is worthy of his hire".

Protector Of The Coastline -- Or The Bill

In a recent statement on the Coastal Zone Law by Governor Pierre S. Du Pont, the position on that Law was reaffirmed. The Law generally regarded by all as a landmark bit of legislation with its intent being to guard the citizens of Delaware against encroachment by heavy industry. The Law makes it patently clear that such industries as oil refineries, steel mills, and other heavy industries are to be banned from the coastline of Delaware.

The Governor in reclarifying the Law was further intent on pointing out the fact that the Law does not...nor was its intent...such...that "all industries" should be kept out of the development or redevelopment plan for our State...or in point of fact our coastline. In the Governor's words, we aren't "antibusiness". The intent of the words is that Delaware or in fact Delawareans need jobs. The Governor went further in explaining the need to create new employment and development of business to keep pace with the economic facts ahead.

The fact remains however that the intent of industry is to develop off shore drilling and general search for oil and related products. To do this, it will mean a certain amount of service industries in the areas along the shore line or in general proximity to the shore line of Delaware. To make light of the demand for light industry in the service areas is to blow smoke to the wind. Plans and definite plans should be laid down to guard against development which would destroy our farm land, deplete our drinking water supply, and that which would cause massive traffic problems particularly in the summers when we get the overflow of beach traffic as a result of the outpourings from the cities around us.

We preach the need for this or that because "this is PROGRESS", but is all this talk progress. It is important to protect what we have...develop what we have...be resourceful in our plans. Will the development discussed bring prosperity to our citizens? Where will the profits lie...in the hands of the citizens of Delaware who need the economic prosperity or in the laps of captains of industry. Is this the kind of progress our citizens need to develop a better way of life. Are we at the crossroads in our life styles that we must now choose a way which will grossly depart from our present way of life. We must be reminded from an economic standpoint that our debts are not solely the doings of our citizens, but the work of our politicians and general assemblies of the past.

What cost must we pay NOW in order to have "the better way of life". We seriously doubt that a development of the service areas to the "rear" will create an outpouring of jobs which will net out gross economic benefits to justify the excitement. The excitement is not a cause for economic praise...the excitement should be centered around the fact "...will the change justify itself". Will there be enough jobs created by the light development of the service areas by light industry...or will there be a cold requirement that an intensive development of the service areas will be needed before any economic realization will be gained. I think you know the answer. It is important that our General Assembly be guided accordingly.

Letters To The Editor

Letter to the Editor

I would like to express my thanks to the Board of Directors of the Harrington Fairgrounds, to Mr. George Simpson, and Mr. Gary Simpson for their kindness and cooperation in permitting Lake Forest

High School to conduct Commencement exercises at the fairgrounds.

Considering the crowd which numbered in excess of 4,000, it is obvious that no other facility in the school district could have accommodated this activity. The kindness and patience of the workers at the fairgrounds is very much appreciated.

Sincerely,
William E. Griffin

Thoughts

by Senator Bill Roth

From the ocean's edge to the horizon and a few miles beyond is a paradox: it is the most fruitful and fertile of the ocean areas but -- unlikely as it may seem -- the one we least understand.

For years, the ocean research programs of the United States have focused on deep water oceanography. As a result, we often know more about areas thousands of miles from our shores than we do those only a dozen miles from Rehoboth Beach.

A few years ago, this may have been a tolerable but undesirable situation. Today it is unacceptable. As the population along the Atlantic seaboard has increased, pressures on the near shore ocean areas have heightened. Of course the Atlantic's coastal waters have been used for fishing, military operations and commercial shipping since colonial days. But today other strains have been added: ocean dumping and sewage sludge, proposed construction of floating power plants and exploration for oil, gas, and a variety of other minerals.

Whether these strains have pushed the near shore ocean areas to their breaking point is doubtful. But it is certain that the ocean and coastal areas are too valuable to jeopardize with careless development. It was to help avoid this that I recently acted as chief sponsor for a three-day brainstorming session for ocean experts.

The workshop was hosted by the University of Delaware and sponsored by colleges and universities along the East Coast as well as a group of Atlantic coast Congressmen and Senators.

The purpose of the three-day session was for these experts to come up with the most pressing problems facing the close-in areas of the Atlantic Ocean. Participants included dredgers, shippers, fishermen, federal regulators, college scientists, and bankers.

Together, they compiled a list of 105 problems ranging from the technical (the title of one problem was "Feasibility of Selective Culture of Sea Water Microorganisms on Vessels to Reduce Drag") to the abstract (the title of another was "The Ocean's Assimilative Capacity for Waster Materials.")

The 50 participants didn't solve any problems, because that wasn't the purpose of this meeting. For the time being, we just want to know what the most serious problems facing us are. Then, probably sometime in September, a group of 100 to 150 will meet in Newark to map out ways of solving these problems.

In the long run, this problem solving effort will require years of hard work. But if we hope to continue enjoying the fruits of the ocean and to preserve it for our children and grandchildren, the time to start is now.

Weekly Report

by Senator Joe Biden

Last week the Senate Judiciary Committee heard testimony concerning the relatively new concept of presumptive sentencing and its impact on the criminal justice system.

Over the past few months I have been developing legislation that will deal with the entire area of sentencing and sentencing procedures. I am delighted that the Judiciary Committee has begun to move along these lines.

During the past several decades our sentencing process has been based upon the assumption that the purpose for sending a convicted criminal to jail is to rehabilitate him. However, our experience has shown pretty decisively, I think, that not only have our prisons not been able to rehabilitate criminals but that we really don't know how even to go about it.

It seems to me that once a person has been convicted of a criminal act then the person should go to jail not because he should be rehabilitated but rather because he or she deserves to be punished for committing an act harmful to our society.

The theory behind presumptive sentencing is that once a person has been found guilty of a crime then that person should be sentenced to prison for a definite period of time with no parole. Each and every crime would carry with it a certain number of years as sentencing time from which no judge could waver. It is hoped that the swiftness with which the person is sentenced and the surety that once found guilty the person will serve time in jail will act somewhat as a deterrent to future crimes.

The concept of presumptive sentencing does not, in and of itself, mean that any attempt to rehabilitate a person who is in jail will not be tried. We should, of course, do whatever we can to try and treat them so that they can return to society.

But the thrust of presumptive sentencing is that a person who commits a crime and is convicted deserves a swift and sure sentence to serve out in its entirety.

Delaware Interstate Opens To Traffic In Special Ceremonies

Delaware's 40 mile share of the National Interstate System will be officially completed and opened to traffic at ceremonies to be held on Wednesday, June 15th, at 10:30 A.M. Delaware is the first State to complete its interstate system to Federal Status Group 1 Standards. Status Group 1 Standards is defined as completed to full or acceptable standards and open to traffic.

Pont will cut the ribbon at ceremonies to be held on I-95 northbound, mainline structure at U.S. 13, south of Wilmington. The 10 mile long, six-lane roadway, is the last segment and most expensive of Delaware's interstates. I-95 will bypass the City of Wilmington and is the result of 20 years of planning, design and construction. Originally planned as a four lane highway facility, soaring traffic volumes, revised Federal standards, and escalating construction costs placed the final total cost over 103 million dollars. Amounting to less than 1% of the total 42,500 mile national interstate system, Delaware has the least interstate mileage in the continental United States, but is mostly urban in nature and is one of the heaviest traveled corridors in the Nation.

States received Federal interstate apportionments on a schedule to allow all states to complete the Interstate System at the same time. Four interstate segments comprise Delaware's system: I-295, completed in 1963 at a cost of $8 million (7 miles) links the Delaware Memorial Bridge to the Christiana Interchange also known as "the Hub" of the Delaware system. I-95 - (Delaware Turnpike) completed in 1963 at a cost of $32 million. This was financed through the sale of revenue bonds. (11.2 miles). Goes from the Christiana Interchange to the Maryland line. I-95 - Completed in 1968 at a cost of $93 million (10.6 miles) goes from the Christiana Interchange north to the Pennsylvania line. I-495 - Completed in 1977 at a cost of $103 million (10.6 miles) goes from the Christiana Interchange, around the City of Wilmington, and joins I-95 near the Pennsylvania State line.

The interstate system was born with the passage of the Highway Act of 1956, which subsequently authorized $206 million for Delaware's interstate construction in Delaware. Delaware's share in the cost of this 90 %/10 % Federal share program has been slightly over $22 million. Future long-range plans for Delaware's interstate system include the upgrading of certain portions of I-95 through Wilmington through the addition of one lane in each direction from the Christiana Interchange approaching the City of Wilmington. More immediate plans will involve the resurfacing of Interstate portions relating to the Viaduct through Wilmington.

For Your Information

Dear friends,

It is well to pause sometimes and think how one will feel when a loved one is no longer among us. It may cause us to realize the little acts of kindness and attention we should be giving now - rather than to suffer remorse for neglect of a loved one after they have departed this world.

Respectfully,

William C. Berry Jr.

RAGBRAI—IV Begins In Iowa on July 31

Last August, four local people took part in RAGBRAI-IV (Register's Annual Great Bike Ride Across Iowa). Tim Sylvester, Kevin Wooters, Keith and Matt Burgess and 5,000 other bikers from all over America and several foreign countries rode 434 miles in seven days and camped out each night in a city park. It was the equivalent of a small city, pulling up stakes and putting them down again, from 45 to 80 miles away, each night.

RAGBRAI-V starts in western Iowa, July 31, at Onawa near the Missouri River and ends August 6th at Lansing Iowa, just across the Mississippi River from De Soto, Wisconsin.

The distance this time is 400 miles. Matt Burgess and Kevin Wooters might be in the tour again since both thoroughly enjoyed the 1976 adventure.

State police, bicycle shops, ambulances and sag wagons (for people whose equipment or resolve breaks down) accompany the caravan.

The Des Moines Register and Tribune Newspaper is the sponsor of the outing.

Boody Wins Full House Classic

Harley-Davidson team rider Ted Boody of Royal Oak, Michigan, may adopt the credo "When in doubt, do nothing," after winning Saturday night's Full House Classic before a sellout crowd at the Delaware State Fairgrounds.

Boody, a 19-year old sophomore expert on the American Motorcyclist Association's Camel Pro Series, was dissatisfied with his performance during practice and qualifying events, but nevertheless told his mechanics not to make any changes on his machine.

"I really didn't know what to change and 10 minutes before a national is no time to be guessing, so I figured I just had to ride harder," Boody said after leading the 20-lap main event wire-to-wire.

Boody's win over teammate Jay Springsteen of Lapeer, Michigan, lifted the slender, 6-foot-two-inch teenager into the Camel Pro Series point lead after eight of 28 races on the 1977 schedule. Springsteen the defending series champion, finished second and is also second in the standings, trailing Boody 80-78. Finishing third at Harrington was Steve Morehead of Findlay, Ohio, who notched his second straight third-place finish. All three were Harley-Davidson mounted.

At the start of the final event, 1976 Full House Classic winner Corky Keener of Burton, Michigan, seized the lead. But Boody took over in turn three and led the rest of the way. Keener crashed on the second lap and despite being able to re-start, finished 13th in the 14-man field.

Prior Camel Pro Series point leader Ken Roberts of Modesto, California, failed to qualify for the main event due to mechanical problems and slipped to third in the points race, 13 behind Boody.

The next stop on the 1977 AMA Camel Pro Series will be a road race at Bryar Motorsport Park in Loudon, New Hampshire on June 19.

Shockley, Carey, To Participate

Lake Forest will have two representatives in this year's all-star basketball game to be held Saturday, June 25th at the Cape Henlopen High School in Lewes. Ron Shockley at left and Sam Carey will represent the Spartans in this annual classic.

Lake Forest and Woodbridge Represented In Easter Seal Game

Two Lake Forest graduating seniors, one Woodbridge Senior and coach Buck Starkey of Lake Forest have been nominated to take part in the 4th Annual Delaware All-Star Basketball Game on Saturday, June 25, at 7:30. Playing on the South Team will be Sam Carey, Lake Forest; Louis Dexter, Woodbridge; and Ron Shockley, Lake Forest. Buck Starkey will be the assistant coach for the South Team.

For the first time the game will be held down state in the new air-conditioned gymnasium at Cape Henlopen High School.

According to Hugh Martin, V President of the Easter Seal Society for Crippled Children and Adults of Del-Mar, the All Star Basketball Game will once again be co-sponsored by the Delaware Inter-Scholastic Basketball Coaches Association, the Delaware National Guard and the Easter Seal Society. Proceeds of the game will be used to send crippled Delawareans of all ages to Easter Seal Camp Fairlee Manor this summer.

The new Cape Henlopen High School, which can seat more than 2000 spectators, is air conditioned which will add greatly to the comfort of the players and the spectators. The game is being held on Saturday, June 25th to take advantage of Rehoboth and Lewes vacationers as well as the many local basketball enthusiasts.

Tickets to the game will be priced at $3 per person and will be available through the high school basketball coaches and all units of the Delaware National Guard. The game will be played between teams representing public, parochial and private high schools south of the Canal and public and private high schools north of the Canal.

The Delaware Easter Seal - Coaches All Star Basketball Game is one of only 23 in the Country approved by the National Collegiate Athletic Association. Only graduating seniors are eligible for nomination to the teams, and according to NCAA regulations the game must be played following the end of the school year.

Other members of the South Team include: Gary Mitchell, Indian River; Chris Webb, Seaford; Billy Benson, Seaford; Tony Lesesne, Dover; Thurman Batson, Cape Henlopen; Mike Benson, Dover; Wayne Brokenbrough, Middletown; Donald Holden, Laurel; and Joel Coppage, Dover. The coach is Denis O'Brien of Dover.

Parker, Veith Win Trophies

Danny Parker and John Veith, distance runners from Lake Forest High and W.T. Chipman School, respectively, earned beautiful trophies for stellar work in the annual Kwans Mile Run, held at Wilmington's Baynard Stadium.

This competition is one of those situations where every competitor comes home with something. Each runner is given a Kiwanis Mile T-shirt with the top three finishers in each age category also winning a trophy.

Parker, winner of the Junior Olympic Mile in 4.36 last week, did 4.37.5 this time to finish second behind a 4.33 clocking turned in by John Wehner of Salesianum High School in the age 17 race.

Veith was timed in 5.44 to get the third place trophy in the eighth grade race.

Dave Röhler's 5 minutes flat was the next fastest Spartan effort, followed by freshman Bly Mitchell's 5.12.

Craig Fry had a 5.16. Joe Cust's 5.18 was a very fine outing because Joe is a quarter miler and has had only one start since April, a half mile last week. In addition he's the only one of the top ten local finishers who has no cross country or long distance experience.

After Tom Ott's 5.28 came good performances by eighth graders, Maurie Coverdale (5.30) and Bruce Humphrey (5.32). Ron Wilhelm (5.40) Charles McDougal (5.43) and Milton Justice (5.46) completed the list.

Sprinter Tha Durant moved up to the 880 and recorded a 2.55.

Another Greenwood Graduate

Earle Hollis, Teacher, Composer Violinist Now Retired In Pa.

by Pat Hatfield

Our recent article on the life of Ralph Harmon was so well received our Readers are asking to hear about other Greenwood youth who grew up here in our small town, were graduated from our little high school and who have achieved outstanding success in their chosen fields. We are happy to promise to interview them and to report to you from time to time.

I have several stories ready to line up, but this one happened to literally fall in my lap. An original poem was received by Mr. William Horner, a former teacher in the Greenwood School, from Earle Hollis. Mr. Horner asked if I would like to use it. Well, of course I would, especially since I remembered Earle, who lived next door to us here on the farm when I came here as a bride in 1928. Earle's address was on the poem, so I wrote him immediately asking him to send me more information about his life. His gracious answer came today, and I know you will be as interested as I was, because many of you in this area knew and loved his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hollis and his sister, Ethel, who is now Mrs. Richard Markham and lives in the Wilmington area.

Here is Earle's story as he has written it to me.

He was graduated with the Greenwood Class of 1925. He studied violin with Charles Van Leer in Seaford and Piano with Eva Barwick Lynch in Greenwood; Heinrich Wieman, Philadelphia Orchestra. He attended Combs' Conservatory and Temple University.

He joined Charlie Kerr's Pioneer Radio Orchestra

on location at Adelphia Hotel in Philadelphia. Played extended engagements at leading Philadelphia Hotels including the Bellevue-Stratford with Myer Davis' Orchestra; also Earle Theatre with conductor Frank Juele.

He joined the National Symphony Orchestra of Washington, D.C. under the conductorship of Doctor Hans Kindler, associate conductor, Doctor Howard Mitchell, and guest conductors including:

Sir Thomas Beecham of England, Hector Villa Lobos of Brazil, Georges Enesco of Roumania, and Ernest Ansermat of Switzerland. Among the solo artists were: Fritz Kreisler, Mischa Elman, Isaac Stern, Artur Rubinstein, Oscar Levant, Jan Peerce, and many others.

He married Frances Conaway Eggers of Philadelphia, formerly of Bethel, Delaware. Although retired, he says that music remains his principal interest and as a hobby he spends a great part of his time composing music and writing lyrics. He and his wife live at Tall Poplars, in Drexel Hill, Pa.

We are going to share you his nostalgic poem telling of his love for southern Delaware which is "Down Home" to him. It proves once again the old adage, "You can get the boy out of the country, but you can't get the country out of the boy!" And even though he has gone far and wide and mingled with the great and near great, he has a deep love for the place where his roots are.

"Down Home"

by Earle Wroten Hollis

"Down Home has changed since first we met.

'Round sixty and ten is the sum I get

Of years now gone at a lively pace.

And through all that time I've loved the place.

The bandstand's gone and my Sunday School,

One railroad's missing and the traffic's cruel.

But the graveyard's still just east of town,

The population there's not going down!

The drugstore's gone and the doctor, too,

There's no senior high school, but some things are new

Like the office where the mail's dispensed

And the liquor store where one's thirst is quenched.

The ice cream plant's sorely missed by me

And the Chevy store's no more, I see.

The governor's house long ago's been razed

And the trucks rush by all speed-bent crazed.

The factory's there, but it's not the same

It no longer bears the founder's name.

The grocery store's as good as new

And the bank's still there and the barber, too.

Where the movie house once used to be

And open space lets the wind blow free.

Still the people are a friendly lot

And they seem content with the town they've got.

I wouldn't change it if I could,

Not even the hotel's aging wood.

I'm not quite aware that it well may be Because Down Home's been so good to me!"

The Lions Club Barbecue Stand opened this weekend and that sets the program for our summer entertaining. We planned a family picnic with Ellen and her house guests and our friends here after church. We had the barbecued chicken packed in aluminum foil at the stand and when we arrived at Salisbury Park it was very hot. That, with various salads and goodies brought by our friends and a German chocolate cake made by Hilary, we "fell to" and ate with great gusto.

How very fortunate we are to live so close to the lovely park at Salisbury. The children never tire of the zoo and we do not either because we are all animal lovers. We talked to the parrots, admired the ducks, geese and swans. I especially enjoyed as always the harsh screeching of the peacocks and the macaws. I don't know why exactly. Maybe I glory in the knowledge that they have something to say and they are not afraid to say it. Any way, anything that beautiful should have the right to be very vocal about it!

The Vocal or South

American ostriches were having a bit of excitement in their yard. One of their ladies had laid a huge yellow egg on the pine needles that were pulled together to serve as a nest. The entire group were milling around the egg, touching it with their bills, murmuring among themselves, and it was very funny to watch. Finally they pushed it out of the nest and the owner sat down on an empty nest.

We wonder if another egg was expected, or if this was her first egg, and no one had really informed her about the "birds and the bees".

The men in our group played baseball and the girls played badminton, and Little Garth and I watched seven little squirrels playing tag and tumbling over each other like a bunch of kittens. We threw a marshmallow into the group and one little fellow sat up and tasted it. Immediately he ran into the tall pine tree with his treasure. We tried another one and the one who caught it just sat right down to enjoy. After eating all but a small blob, he buried it at the foot of the tree.

One of my favorite things to do in the Park is to just sit back and look up at the tops of the tall pines as they sway and sigh in the breeze. I wonder how far they lean over in a severe storm.

We were much amused while looking into one pen where the keeper was trying to herd a flock of baby ducklings into their shed for the night. It was very evident that they knew what was expected of them, but that they had no intention of doing it. They would approach the doorway, bobble their heads, look at each other and chatter in baby duck language, then move on past and around the shed again. After several of these attempts, the keeper gave up and went to get help.

This week I received through courtesy of one of the papers, one of those letters with no name attached taking me to task for speaking against reptiles and ants, etc. as food. They stated that this was all for my information. Now for their information...let me say Indiana won second prize that I am fully aware (I read the papers, too) that rattlesnake meat and chocolate covered ants, etc. are considered by some a great delicacy. So be it. Perhaps I should clear my position a bit more. If I were starving and there was no other food available, or if we suffered a great national disaster in which that was the only food, then I would probably eat some, the will to survive being so strong in our makeup. BUT, as long as there is anything else, I am not about to try it.

There is an article in my daily paper this week from California on the use of earthworms. A 4th grade teacher in New Jersey has just won first prize for her "Quiche Lorraine avec Ver de Terre", which of course, if you remember your high school French, is Pie with earth worms. This article stated that earthworms, after boiling, taste somewhat like shredded wheat. Fine, but as long as the folks in Buffalo keep turning out those shredded wheat biscuits, that's what I'll eat.

Another teacher from Indiana won second prize for her Earthworm Bread, and the third prize was won by a fourth grade class in Iowa, who entered "Magnificent Mess Cake."

In case you're interested here's the first prize recipe:
"Quiche Lorraine avec Ver de Terre".

1 pie crust, 1 beaten egg, 1 cup evaporated milk, 1/2 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, 1 cup grated Swiss cheese, 1 three and one half can French fried onion rings, 9 slices of crisped and crumbled bacon, and 16 earthworms boiled three times.

Let me know how you like it!!

Using your telephone book can mean avoiding Directory Assistance Charges.

On March 29, 1977, we reduced basic monthly telephone rates and began charging for certain calls to Directory Assistance.

Every billing period, you can make three dialed calls per line to Directory Assistance without incurring additional charges, and you can request two numbers per call. Every call over three calls each billing period will result in a 20¢ per call charge on your telephone bill. (Calls placed to Directory Assistance with the help of the regular Operator will be billed at 40¢ per call, and are not included in the three call allowance.)

Other calls to Directory Assistance which will not be billed:

- Calls to Directory Assistance for numbers outside Delaware. However, to avoid a charge, you must dial 1, plus the area code, plus 555-1212.
- Calls from coin telephones (consult the dialing instruction card).
- Calls from hotels, motels and hospitals.

- Calls made by people who are handicapped in the use of their directories. Contact our Business Office for details.
- Calls for mobile or maritime services.
- Calls from interconnected lines of radio common carriers.

Your number for Directory Assistance has changed, too. If you must call Directory Assistance for numbers in Delaware, dial 1 + 555-1212 instead of 411. For numbers outside Delaware, dial 1, then the area code, then 555-1212.

If you have any questions, please feel free to call our Business Office.

Harrington Police Report

The Harrington Police Department reported a busy week in which several different incidents were investigated. On June 8 the Police Dept. received a complaint from Sterling Mock of the Harrington Food Rite that a worthless check had been passed in his store. A warrant was then signed for the arrest of Elizabeth Shulties of Felton. She was taken to Court 6 where she entered a plea of guilty and was fined $10 plus $10.50 court costs. She was also ordered to make restitution to the Food Rite for the amount of the worthless check.

Thursday, June 9 the police received a complaint from Patricia Langford of Harrington that her 15 year old son had been abducted by five other males. The 15 year old juvenile was alleged to have been taken by force from Quillen's Market on Dorman Street.

The incident allegedly revolves around stones having been thrown from another vehicle on to the car of Rory Hurd of Harrington. After investigation Hurd was subsequently arrested for unlawful imprisonment. Charges are pending against four others. The fifteen year old juvenile was released unharmed.

Bridgeville To Apply For EDA Funds

BRIDGEVILLE TOWN HALL. Monday night's regular monthly meeting, President of the Town Commissioners and Mayor Kyle Ewing read aloud a letter from the Town's consulting engineers, Clark Carbaugh and Lee Beechum that some 9 million dollars would be available across the country in the next allocation of federal grants.

Ewing asked for suggestions for projects around the Town and without hearing any initiated a suggestion that moneys be sought for an Alderman's Court building, a police garage of 3 bay arrangement, and a renovation of the Police Station both inside and out. This was the proposal eventually agreed upon by the Commissioners, but others made suggestions. Councilman John K. Simons suggested that certain State maintained streets in the Town be resurfaced. Ewing commented that in as much as the Town did not own these streets, a grant from the Federal Government might be disallowed for such a purpose. Simons said that Market Street out to the highway be resurfaced in parts because "...the present condition of this street and others in the Town renders them relatively unsafe for traffic." According to Simons, "some parts of Market Street are without curbing rendering a motorist susceptible to colliding with a light pole or other misfortune."

Ewing said that perhaps such improvements could be rendered, but to consult the Town's engineers. Ewing added that it was possible that "...this measure could fall within improvements and extensions to Town property". The Local Public Works which Ewing referred to requires a Project Administrator. Former President of the Town Commissioners and Mayor, Norman G. Powell, was appointed to this respected position. Powell's experience both in the affairs of Town government as well as his business background made him a prime prospect. Powell later appeared at the meeting and gave a report on the current EDA project under way.

Chief Layton Is Major Layton

HARRINGTON. Chief Edward Layton appeared before Harrington City Council last night and asked to be demoted from the rank of General to that of Major. In explaining away the matter, Layton said that "all chiefs of police in the State carry the rank of General, and this rank enables them to be ranked over the State Police and the like. I would suggest that the new rank be that of Major". Many of the Council members including said that they were not aware there was a general at City Hall. Chief Layton can now be referred to as "Chief Major or Major Chief", so stated Mayor Arthur B. Cahall.

Beach Traffic Bottle Necks Bridgeville

BRIDGEVILLE. Several suggestions were made on Monday night at the regular meeting of the Town Commissioners about the prospects of eliminating the bottle neck, particularly on weekends, in the area of Market Street and Route #404, and Market and Main Streets. It was suggested by Mayor Kyle Ewing "as something for the other commissioners to think about" that perhaps a stop sign presently situated at the intersection of Route #404 and Market Street be removed from the #404 side and placed on the Federalsburg side. Some members questioned the wisdom of this suggestion for fear that the traffic coming from Federalsburg would not be accustomed to stopping and go through causing an accident and also the traffic coming from Federalsburg once stopped might not be able to penetrate the steady line of traffic coming down #404. Ewing also suggested that the stop sign be removed from the intersection of Market and Main Street in front of Town Hall and placed on the North bound lane of Main Street. This would enable the traffic to proceed on in an uninterrupted manner. Councilman Earl Willey pointed out that years ago a traffic development team from the Highway Department came to Bridgeville and made the suggestions that signs be placed where they are placed today. Willey suggested that a change might be too disruptive. One observer of Monday night's meeting pointed out that in the past few weeks traffic has gotten rather heavy on Walnut Street. Ewing said that they were aware of this fact "...that drivers turn off Market onto Delaware Avenue to Walnut and down Walnut to Main Street in an effort to save time, but no time is saved by this manner of doing things." The same person also said that some take short cuts through Dewey's Sunoco Station when traffic is stopped at the corner of Market and Main Streets.
