Bridgeville Minister Is Found Slain

BRIDGEVILLE. This quiet community is in a state of shock over the brutal slaying of the Rev. Calvin C. Byrd, whose body was found beaten and stabbed Sunday in a wooded area near Ellendale.

George A. Isler, Jr. of Georgetown, a 29 year-old janitor has been charged with the death. Isler worked at the Bridgeville Senior Center, not far from Byrd's home at 502 N. Cannon St. Isler reportedly has a history of mental illness. He was charged with second degree murder.

Following findings of an autopsy, however, which revealed Byrd was apparently killed by a very heavy blow to the head, police spokesman say the case looks more like an "intentional killing", which may lead them to seek a murder in the first degree charge. The autopsy results have also meant the police will be looking for a new murder weapon, since the knife found near the scene apparently was used to inflict the "minor" stab wounds on the victim.

According to authorities, the investigation into the alleged murder would take several more days since a number of leads are being followed.

The victim was the minister of Mount Calvary United Methodist Church in Bridgeville, the Trinity United Methodist Church near Bridgeville and Bethel United Methodist Church in Maryland.

He is survived by his wife, a daughter and several brothers and sisters.

Isler is being held in the Sussex Correctional Institution in default of $50,000 bail, police said.

Corn Shrivels On Stalks

The parched corn field shows the effects of the long dry spell Delaware is faced with. Area farmers who have not irrigated are faced with little, if any harvest from their corn crops. Soybeans are also beginning to be threatened.

Mispillion Dog Show Set

The Mispillion Kennel Club will hold its 13th Annual Dog Show on Friday, August 19 at the Delaware State Fairgrounds on Route 13, south of Harrington, Delaware.

Judging will begin at 9 a.m. and continue throughout the day concluding in the late afternoon with the presentation of the Best In Show award. There will be 101 pure bred dogs in competition, representing more than 100 breeds. Top ranked dogs from most of the Eastern and Midwest United States will participate.

For the first time in a number of years, the show will also include Obedience Trials. Thirty-seven (37) dogs are entered in the obedience competition. Judging the obedience classes will be Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Knott of Ellicott City, Maryland and Mr. Kenneth Nagler of Hyattsville, Maryland.

An additional portion of the show will be the Junior Showmanship classes. Junior handlers, ages 10 to 17, will compete with their dogs for the awards.

The Dr. William E. Spence Veterinary Scholarship, Kent County S.P.C.A., and the Sussex County S.P.C.A. will benefit from the show. Admission for the day will be $1 for adults and $.50 for children. Parking will be free. Good food will be provided at reasonable prices by the W.S.C.S. of the Houston Methodist Church.

The Breed judging slate includes: Mr. Stanley Dargerfield, Surrey, England; Dr. M. Josephine Deubler, Philadelphia, PA.; Mr. Lawrence P. Goldworm, Easton, PA.; Mr. Paul C. Hipsley, Sr., Baltimore, MD.; Mr. Donald E. Horne, West Chester, PA.; Mr. J. Council Parker, Glen Mills, PA.; Mr. Glen M. Sommers, Fort Wayne, IN.; Mrs. Mary Nelson Stephenson, Centerville, MA.; Mr. E.W. Tipton, Jr., Kingsport, TN.; and Mrs. W.P. War, Cecilton, MD. The Best In Show judging will be done by Mr. Sommers.

Additional information for the show can be obtained from Show Chairman, Kenneth Schoessler, 678-2105.

Bridgeville Study Set

BRIDGEVILLE. The Town Commissioners for Bridgeville have been given the final approval to start the study of the waste water situation for the Towns of Bridgeville and Greenwood. The final approved amount for the study was $40,000.

The federal government will pay 75 % of the total bill for a total of $30,000 with approximately $4,000 from the State and $6,000 from local funds. The local funds are broken down as follows: $1200 from Greenwood, $2400 from Sussex County and $3300 from Bridgeville.

The purpose of the study is to determine the feasibility to develop a system to treat the entire waste water situation or to separate the waste from surface water.

Another aspect of the study is to determine if the situation at Greenwood can be treated so that the purification of the waste water can be treated sep-

Council Holds Forth On Trucks and Trash

HARRINGTON. The City Council dealt with a barrage of citizen problems Tuesday night, as well as hearing from several who were present with specific comments.

Citizens Comment

Heading the list were Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Welch, Jr., who were present to request something be done about the truck parking on Reese Avenue.

According to Mrs. Welch, who, with her husband is an agent John G. Parks, a Reese Avenue land owner, the problem of parking arose when the street was widened. Its present width, she contends, includes part of Park's property. The Welches maintain the property, which is near Burris' plant, and according to Mrs. Welch, they can't get to the property to mow it because trucks are parked there.

Councilman Earl McColey, who has continued to complain about problems surrounding the Burris plant as he says his constituents are affected, made a motion to find out from the city solicitor where the street runs and who owns the piece of property in question. As one councilman stated "If we don't do something about it (Reese Ave.) we might as well go home and let the town run itself."

Truck Ordinance

A city ordinance states trucks of 25 feet or longer may not park on city streets. A test case of the ordinance, however, would cost in the neighborhood of $300 to $500. Council deferred making decision to pursue a test case until later in the evening, when they voted to pursue the next case that falls into the realm of this ordinance.

"Do Something"

Earl Quillen, owner of one of the city's two grocery stores, was present at council meeting as he said "...to retract or substantiate" comments he had made in News Week about the city government. "From what I've heard tonight the Council seems to be moving" said Quillen. Mayor Arthur (Buck) Cahall told Quillen "You were complaining mainly about what's happened in the past. We're here to deal with the future."

Quillen called for something to be done to the downtown section of the city, specifically the buildings purchased last year by Joe Richardson, formerly belonging to the Smith family, housing a grocery store at one time. Elwood Brown, at the invitation of Councilman Jack Wyatt, attended the meeting to discuss the city's bookkeeping system, which according to Brown, needs a general ledger. The City uses Howe & Company, a Philadelphia based accounting firm to audit the city's books. Councilman Dr. Vincent Lobo called for a general dispersal sheet, to show where monies are going so the council would stop "shooting in the dark" as he stated. Council decided to continue to look into the system before making a decision.

Water Tower

Council heard from city manager Dave Peterson that it would cost in the neighborhood of $15,000 to paint the city's water tower, inside and out, including sand blasting of the inside if necessary. Discussion revealed a desire by council to get specific bids submitted. Several were of the opinion that it may be advantageous of the city and fairgrounds to tie in with each other's water system.

The tower has not been painted inside for 14 years.

Junk Business

The City will try to ease itself out of the gradual junk business it has been getting into with the escalation of use of the flatbed truck, which originally went out once a week, usually on Monday, to collect yard trash.

"We're expanding an awful lot of manpower over a period of a year", said Cahall, in reference to the use of the flatbed truck. While the council agreed the truck provided a valuable service to the city residents, they also decided to bring its use back to the original intent, to be used to haul brush limbs, and other yard trash that would not fit in the compacter that is used to pick up garbage. The flatbed truck will be used on Mondays.

In other matters mayor and council:

- Accepted the resignation of James B. Moore as city building inspector who will serve until a replacement can be found.
- Named Bill Shaw to the Kent County Sewer Advisory Board, replacing Gary Homewood, whose term expires
- Requested ordinances be introduced in writing to go through more steps before passage
- Authorized the alderman to collect delinquent garbage fees if two quarters in arrears
- Decided to pursue why the city did not get EDA monies to erect a municipal building. "I think we have to find out why the county did nothing about it", said Cahall in reference to EDA monies not disbursed by the county.

Survey Moves Along

HOUSTON. The Houston Town Council last Thursday heard Andy Talley of Mann Talley, Inc. report on the completion of Phase I of the town survey being conducted by that firm. After hearing the report the Council gave the go-ahead to proceed with Phase II of the three phase survey.

Talley said that the starting point for the town of Houston was not at the intersection of the center lines of Broad Street and the railroad as originally supposed. Rather the starting point is at the easterly edge of the old railroad station and the center line of the railroad. This is 87 feet from the intersection of the railroad and the center line of Broad Street.

The surveyor also noted that Broad Street had originally been planned to be 100 feet wide. The fact that it is not actually that wide might be a matter of some difference to property owners whose lots are figured from the center line of the street.

Smith Retires From Peoples Bank

HARRINGTON. A familiar face at Peoples Bank has not been there recently, as Lester Smith, assistant cashier was forced to retire because of health problems this spring.

Smith, who lives with his wife, the former Kathryn Greenhaugh on Delaware Avenue, has spent his life in banking at the First National Bank for several years, it was the Peoples Bank in Harrington where he has spent 26 years, having started in 1950.

While working in Dover

The only stint of work that was not directly involved in banking was working for the state auditor's office at the beginning of his working career.

The Greenwood native has held numerous posts in the Kent County Bankers Association and has completed courses on the county's American Institute of Banking.

Last month his co-employees honored him at a retirement dinner at the Village Inn in Dover. Also present were Howard Wagner, cashier, and J. Edward Taylor, the bank's president. The assemblage of 30 saw Smith receive a Bulova Acutron watch, which he says keeps the best time of any watch he has ever had.

Since his activities are restricted at the present time, he says he hasn't decided to take up any specific hobbies, and with the heat wave upon the state, he's staying close to the air conditioner, taking it easy.

Lester Smith displays the watch he received from the employees of the Peoples Bank at a recent retirement dinner. Mrs. June Lekites is making the presentation to Mr. Smith.

Mother And Frog

Missy, a Boston terrier poses with her squeeze toy. The eyes have it, as far as resemblance goes, it stops there. The photo and pet belong to Miss Elaine Watson of Harrington.

Local Man Electrocuted

HARRINGTON. Robert Cerklefske, Sr. of Commerce Street was seriously shocked Monday while painting on the job at a Wilmington site. It was reported his paintbrush's handle came into contact with electrical wires that reportedly were supposed to have been powerless during the painting. He was rushed to the Medical Division where he remains at this time.

Big Brothers Add 3 To Staff

Linda Reed, Big Brothers/Big Sisters Program Coordinator for Kent County has announced the addition of 3 new staff positions in the Dover office. These recently acquired positions are a result of title VI, PSE, of the Comprehensive Employment Training Act (CETA). CETA is a federally funded program designed to train and place unemployed persons.

Hired were Public Education Specialist, Leslie Taylor, Volunteer Recruiter, Leslie Jones, and Secretary/Intake Worker, Therese Pisapia. After completing an extensive orientation program last week, Ms. Reed has begun the staff in a year long intensified volunteer and child recruitment campaign. The Big Brother/Big Sister agency is a statewide program servicing boys and girls between the ages of 7 and 16. It specializes in one to one relationships between volunteer and child under staff supervision. Volunteers should be at least 18 years of age, and have their own transportation. The agency is hoping to recruit more male volunteers and volunteers to work with special problem children.

Big Brothers/Big Sisters is a member agency of the United Way, involving approximately 250 volunteers throughout the state in helping children. The agencies offices are located in Wilmington, Newark, Dover and Georgetown. The Kent County program also receives funding from the Kent County Levy Court.

Anyone interested in participating in the program should contact the Big Brothers/Big Sisters office at 674-2486.

Candy Strippers To Receive Awards

On Thursday, August 18th, Milford Memorial Hospital will recognize the volunteer services of forty-six Candy Strippers who provide many hours during each summer toward the care of the Hospital's patients.

Seventeen of the Candy Strippers will receive an award pin for the first time, representing from 50 to 100 hours of service.

Twelve will receive a guard to be added to their pins in recognition of from 100 to 200 hours. One will receive a 200-hour guard and one a 300-hour guard.

The outstanding award will be presented to Beverly Von Goerres, who from 1972 to 1976 gave 1,000 hours. Miss Von Goerres is now a student of nursing.

Aircraft Display Set For Aug. 13

The third in the series of monthly C-5 Galaxy aircraft displays this summer at Dover Air Force Base will take place Saturday, August 13.

The aircraft will be on display the second Saturday of this month, as well as September.

Candy Strippers To Receive Awards

On Thursday, August 18th, Milford Memorial Hospital will recognize the volunteer services of forty-six Candy Strippers who provide many hours during each summer toward the care of the Hospital's patients.

Seventeen of the Candy Strippers will receive an award pin for the first time, representing from 50 to 100 hours of service.

Twelve will receive a guard to be added to their pins in recognition of from 100 to 200 hours. One will receive a 200-hour guard and one a 300-hour guard.

The outstanding award will be presented to Beverly Von Goerres, who from 1972 to 1976 gave 1,000 hours. Miss Von Goerres is now a student of nursing.

Aircraft Display Set For Aug. 13

The third in the series of monthly C-5 Galaxy aircraft displays this summer at Dover Air Force Base will take place Saturday, August 13.

The aircraft will be on display the second Saturday of this month, as well as September.

The C-5 Galaxy, the world's largest aircraft, will be open for public viewing from 1 to 4 p.m. Crewmembers will be available throughout the aircraft to answer questions.

Visitors can enter the base through the north gate, at the intersection of routes 10 and 113 and follow the signs to the display area.

From The Frying Pan

It looks like the Harrington City Council is going to put some punch into their ordinances if Tuesday night's meeting is any indication.

As one councilman commented "If you have to back down on one law you'll have to back down on another." And it seems that this group has reached the wall.

The particular ordinance in question deals with truck parking on city streets. According to the ordinance trucks of 25 feet or longer are not permitted to park in the city. In particular trouble has been brewing on Reese Avenue for some time with the 18-wheeler trucks, all longer than 25 feet, parking along the section of street close to the Burris plant. The city has been advised by Max Terry, the city solicitor that a court case to test the legality of enforcing the ordinance would cost in the neighborhood of $300 to $500 to see a case through to the Superior Court, where a decision could be handed down.

If this be the situation, we for one feel it's about time the City invested the money. A law is a law, and if it is realized that the City means business with its laws, so much the better.

Anarchy is the natural conclusion to an erosion of law and order and we commend the Harrington City Council for deciding to draw the line.

Withdraw Or Beef Up

Seven years ago then President Richard M. Nixon, in launching a campaign to stop the fighting in the Far East ordered the Seventh Division to withdraw from South Korea. The 7th had been there since the fighting broke out in 1950 when the hordes from the North under the direction of Kim Il Sung, today the President of North Korea invaded South Korea.

According to many he is still interested in launching an invasion to the South once again.

Recently the move by President Carter to withdraw troops from South Korea has caused a tremendous eruption and controversy. Right now the South Korean Army is stronger and more heavily manned than that of the North. Yet those in the South Korean government cry out that instead of withdrawing the 2nd Division of some 44,000 men the 7th Division should be withdrawn as well.

None of the arguments against withdrawal seem to hold water, least of all that a withdrawal would set up a great possibility of a confrontation with the North and increase the likelihood of war. Even Japan is getting into the picture and favoring scrapping the withdrawal program. They certainly do not want to ruffle the situation right now the way their car production is taking to the U.S. markets.

The contrary argument to this is that the North cannot be absolutely sure of winning an all out war...and particularly so without the aid of Moscow or Peking...which is not likely to come about, therefore, an invasion by the North on the South is unlikely.

Another argument is that the plan of withdrawal is not likely to save any money because the 2nd Division will operate and function in some corner of the globe. That is true...to a certain extent, but anyone in their right mind would never mention this as a persuasive point against withdrawal if they wanted to win the argument. The U.S. occupation of South Korea has created...even from the early years of the Korean War, one of the largest examples of war and post war corruption and black marketing that has ever been witnessed. President Carter knows this and more than anything else in his plan to withdraw troops is taking this one factor into deep consideration. The figure on what the South Koreans are actually "stealing" from the U.S. government in South Korea amounts into the billions each year.

So when one hears the argument that there isn't any savings to the U.S. by withdrawing the 2nd Division because it will have to be maintained somewhere, the question becomes "...so what if it is maintained elsewhere...will the maintenance cost be greater than it is in Korea", and the answer most probably will be no.

This seems to be the most significant point, because the other arguments most generally heard that war is a likely point either in Korea or in Europe where there could be a confrontation with Russia if troop capacity and defense are slight seem like a remote possibility simply because there does not seem to be any major threat of all out war anywhere. That would be the only plausible argument on the subject...but the central issue to look at is what is it costing this country to maintain a 44,000 man force in Korea today. The only way to correct this is to withdraw and not beef up and continue to give the South supportive forces.

The Evans Report

by Congressman Tom Evans

By a greater than three to one margin, Delawareans favor drilling off the Delaware Coast with appropriate environmental safeguards for oil and gas, according to a Constituent questionnaire distributed by Delaware Congressman Tom Evans.

Perhaps in anticipation of an energy shortage, first staters favored construction of nuclear power plants, 73 percent to 23 percent, with 4 percent having no opinion, as a way of providing more energy for the nation.

By an even greater margin, Delawareans opposed the gas tax. Seventy seven percent were against the tax proposed by the President and defeated by the House; 21 percent were in favor of it.

An overwhelming majority of Delawareans opposed busing to achieve racial balance in schools, 91 percent to 7 percent. Most favored giving tax credits for college and advanced vocational-technical training, 62 percent to 32 percent.

Responses to the Evans Questionnaire:

1. Should Congress enact higher gasoline taxes as a means of reducing energy consumption as recommended by President Carter? 21% - yes 77% - no.

2. Do you support nuclear power plants as a way to provide more energy for our nation? 73% - yes 23% - no.

3. Do you favor offshore drilling for oil and gas off the Delaware coast with appropriate environmental safeguards? 76% - yes 21% - no.

4. Do you favor a permanent across the board tax cut to stimulate the economy? 69% - yes 28% - no.

5. Do you favor tax credits for college and advanced vocational-technical training? 66% - yes 32% - no.

6. Do you support court-ordered busing as a means to achieve racial balance in our schools? 7% - yes 91% - no.

7. Do you favor removing the present restrictions on earned income for social security recipients? 79% - yes 18% - no.

8. Do you feel that the United States should allocate a larger share of its budget for defense? 35% - yes 60% - no.

9. Would you favor public financing of Congressional campaigns? 30% - yes 62% - no.

Using topics listed in the questionnaire, Delawareans prioritized them as follows:

1. Energy
 2. Inflation
 3. Taxes
 4. Crime
 5. Unemployment
 6. Welfare Reform
 7. Busing
 8. National Defense
 9. Arms Control

Problem Nears Solution

Residents at Hillside Acres near Canterbury may be seeing the end of a long grievance list surrounding their water problems because of action seen Monday in Dover.

Fred A. Voshell, a Kent County developer and builder pleaded guilty in Superior Court to two charges of unlawful withdrawal of ground water without necessary state permits.

The charges (six were dropped against Voshell) were connected to drilling and operation of water wells at Hillside Acres and Cooper Farms, near Petersburg.

Voshell drilled three wells at Hillside Acres which were used by 40 homes and two wells used by 18 homes at Cooper Farm. Residents of the homes complained their water supply was not adequate and that they often had little or no water in their homes. Voshell contended he drilled the wells because Tidewater Utilities, which has a franchise to furnish water in the southern Kent County area, was not prepared to provide that service.

There was a dispute underway at the time between the state and Kent County Levy Court dealing with the possibility of a county water system. Tidewater won a ruling in court regarding the rights to the territory.

Voshell agreed to deed land at Hillside Acres to Tidewater for a new well and to run a line from the development to the property. He also agreed to operate the three wells at Hillside Acres until Tidewater is ready to provide the service. Tidewater has already placed a well at the Cooper Farms development.

Evans Testifies On Rail Legislation

Delaware Congressman Tom Evans has testified on legislation he introduced that would help maintain Delaware's rail line. His legislation would permit Delaware to combine any unused federal subsidy with Maryland or Virginia, when it benefited Delawareans.

"The Delmarva Peninsula is an integrated economic community. I believe that our federal rail program should help, not hinder interstate cooperation," said Evans.

"If this bill is passed into law, it will keep our rail transportation system healthy, stimulate the economy.

An electrical storm caused considerable distress in this area Thursday evening, Aug. 3, and early Friday morning. Lightning and thunder continued throughout the storm, which included a four hour downpour. Streets were flooded, several accidents occurred, including one that involved the deaths of three Felton residents. Mrs. Samuel Benson and her two children were drowned in the waters of Killens Pond when their car drove into the flooded area of the pond's overflow. Their bodies were discovered two days following the discovery of their car.

Weekly Report

by Senator Joe Biden

This week I introduced in the Senate three amendments to the National Energy Plan which are designed to alleviate any penalties that may be placed on the handicapped owner of large energy inefficient vehicles.

Recently, the White House Conference on Handicapped Individuals reaffirmed a series of goals stressing the importance of independent mobility for handicapped people. "an accessible America through accessible transportation systems". Without negating the importance of mass transit the major source of transportation for handicapped individuals is specially equipped vehicles. These vehicles are almost always large "gas guzzling" automobiles.

My first amendment would exempt the handicapped individual from the tax imposed on the sale of an automobile which is identified as energy inefficient. The second amendment will allow handicapped individuals an additional income tax proposed in the President's energy legislation. The third amendment would reinstate the personal deduction on Federal income tax for state and local gasoline taxes paid by the handicapped.

All three of these amendments would remove the punitive aspects of gasoline consumption for those Americans who cannot help but use larger vehicles for their transportation.

My amendments have no other purpose but to reaffirm our commitment to the independence of all handicapped people. Thus, I have worked with the White House Conference in developing a definition of a handicapped person that will not exclude those who should be covered without indiscriminately giving anyone the benefits these amendments would provide.

"A handicapped individual is one who has a physical or mental impairment or condition which places him at a disadvantage in a major life activity such as ambulation or transportation. The physical impairment must be static, of long duration, or slowly progressive."

FOOD MARKETING ALERT

USDA Agricultural Marketing Service

As of mid-July, the August supply

RED MEATS

Beef... plentiful. Production to be 4-6 percent below the record Aug. 1976 level, but about 3 percent above the 1974-76 average for the month. Smaller output of grass-fed beef to account for most of decline from levels of year earlier.

Pork... adequate. Production to be down seasonally-but up from June and July levels and averaging 4-6 percent above Aug. of last year. This is about 9 percent above the 1974-76 average for Aug.

POULTRY & EGGS

Broiler-fryers... adequate. Aug. marketing rates up about 4 percent from same month of last year, about 13 percent higher than Aug. 1974-76 average.

Turkey... adequate. Aug. marketing rates likely down about 2 percent from year earlier level, but 3 percent above the average for 1974-76. Aug. 1 cold storage holdings slightly above last year's level. So, overall turkey supply about the same as Aug. of last year.

Eggs... adequate. Aug. output about 1 percent above a year earlier and also the Aug. 1974-76 average.

MILK & DAIRY PRODUCTS

Milk and dairy products... plentiful. Milk production declining seasonally, but above Aug. 1976 and 1974-76 average levels for the month. With milk production greatly exceeding demand for drinking milk, and commercial stocks of dairy products at high levels, supplies situation looks like this...

of these products should exceed commercial demand.

FRUITS, VEGETABLES & NUTS

Fresh peaches... plentiful. This season's production, excluding California clingstones which are used mostly in canning, forecast at 2 percent below 1976 but 7 percent above 1975. Plums... plentiful. California's crop to be 22 percent above last season, 13 percent above 1975. Nectarines... plentiful. The California crop to be 2 percent below last season's record but 17 percent above 1975. Bartlett pears... adequate. Crop in California, Oregon and Washington to be 6 percent less than last year but 8 percent above 1975. Grapes... plentiful. California's record crop to be about 5 percent above last year and 4 percent above the 1975 crop.

Dried prunes... adequate. California's 1976 production was about 3 percent less than the 1975 crop but 3 percent above 1974. Raisins... light. Production in 1976 much lower than 1975.

Oranges... adequate. Harvest of the California-Arizona valencia crop about 45 percent complete as of July 1.

Lemons... plentiful. As of July 1, quantity remaining to harvest was 40 percent above year earlier. Also, lemons held in storage, about double the quantity unharvested, was 8 percent above a year ago. Limes... light. 1977-78 crop expected to be down 38 percent from last season and the smallest crop since 1966-67.

Processed vegetables... mostly adequate, with frozen sweet corn and frozen potatoes plentiful. Inventories of frozen cut corn and corn-on-cob were 14 and 19 percent, respectively, above average as of June 30. Frozen potato stocks were 18 percent above those of a year earlier.

Fresh potatoes... adequate. Summer production to be about 2 percent less than in 1976. Harvests of fresh vegetables are near their summer peak. Total production to be 3 percent above last year.

GRAINS & LEGUMES

Rice... plentiful. The 117-million hundredweight produced in 1976 was 9 percent below the 1975 record crop and 5 percent above the 1973-75 average. Production for 1977-78 forecast at about 104 million hundredweight.

Wheat... plentiful for U.S. food needs. Coupled with largest carryover since 1963, the 1977-78 supply could be record large. Harvest in 1976 was a record 2,147 million bushels, slightly more than 1975 crop and 14 percent over the 1973-75 average. 1977 production is now forecast at 2,044 million bushels.

Corn... plentiful for food use. Production forecast at 6,331 million bushels, topping last year's record by 2 percent and 9 percent above 1973-75 average. Dry beans... adequate. 1976 production was 17.2 million hundredweight. That is 1 percent less than 1975 but 5 percent below 1973-75 average. Dry split peas... adequate. Production in 1976 was 2.2 million hundredweight... 21 percent under 1975 and 15 percent under 1973-75 average. Late June dry weather has cut prospects for '77 in major U.S. production areas.

Terminology used: PLENTIFUL—More than enough for requirements. ADEQUATE—Enough to meet needs. LIGHT—Less than adequate; not enough for normal needs.

Delaware 4-H'ers Attend Conservation Conference

Three teenage Delaware 4-H members are attending the National 4-H Wildlife Conference Workshop in Washington, D.C. this week. The conference is the first of its kind and part of a new nationwide 4-H emphasis on wildlife conservation.

Cynthia Passmore, of Townsend, Dale Jarrell, of Harrington and Vance Phillips, of Laurel, were selected to represent Delaware's three counties at the conference. They were chosen on the basis of their work on conservation projects in their local 4-H clubs as well as their leadership potential. James Moore, a volunteer 4-H leader and biology teacher from Milton, is accompanying the youngsters as a chaperone-advisor.

Nearly 100 teenage 4-H members, volunteer leaders and Cooperative Extension Service staff from 27 states are participating in the conference. Sponsored by the National 4-H Council in behalf of the 4-H program of the Cooperative Extension Service, the conference is supported by a grant from the Atlantic Richfield Foundation, Los Angeles.

Programs have been designed to provide opportunities for youth to utilize individual and group 4-H projects and practices contributing to wildlife conservation.

"We hope that the representatives will return with new ideas on how to expand and promote the 4-H conservation projects already under way in Delaware," says Dean Belt, New Castle County 4-H agent.

During the one-week session, the conference delegates will be involved in discussions with representatives from the National Audubon Society, the American Fisheries Society, the U.S. Department of Agriculture and the International Association of Fish and Wildlife Conservation Agencies. Field trips will include visits to a farm which incorporated wildlife conservation into its farm management practices, the National Zoo and sites showing proper soil conservation practices.

On Friday, delegates will review proposals submitted by state 4-H offices for special grants, totaling $12,000, which will be awarded to selected states for developing model wildlife conservation programs. Announcement of the grants will be made later this month.

Gab Fest

by Pat Hatfield

Long years ago, this column was started probably with the idea of an over-the-fence neighborly chat, but before too long, I was astonished (and delighted) that we were hearing from many men readers. Now, at long last, I discover we have children readers. Hi, Kids! A youngster wants to know how well the pets are doing. Well, they are fine, I believe. They actually live in Hilary and Teddy's house, but I am in close touch with them and sometimes they are brought to visit me. The hamsters, Muffin and Puffin, are "living high on the hog" as Tennessee Ernie used to say. Priscilla, the Dove, is enjoying her new cage with room to strut around, and "Cookie", the parakeet spends much of her time in front of her little mirror. You know how women are! Now, added to the menagerie are two little bunnies who love to be cuddled. One is a white named Snoopy and the other a brown named Bashful.

My mockingbird whose nest was destroyed by an unknown predator, has now built a nest in the thorn bush. She is a smart one. Those thorns should take care of dangers that threaten.

I received a nice letter of thanks from our young poet of Woodbridge High, Donna Smith. She has sent me some more of her beautiful poems, and from time to time we will share them with you. Since this is the time of moonlight nights, it seems fitting for us to enjoy this one now. She calls it, "The Moon".

"When boy and girl hold each other's hand
When starlight plays over the land,
When the sun fades from the sky
My time is drawing nigh.
I am night watchman

over all the earth,
I am the giant street-light of the universe.
I am a planet, cold and grey.
Shining by night
Sleeping by day."

The beauty of the written word always touches me deeply, and I am so often reminded of Thomas Wolfe, when he turned in his chair to face a dear friend, and cried out, "My God, I would rather be a poet than anything else in the world." And to those who admire his works, much of his prose is really poetry.

The only reward for being exhausted after a day's labor is the great satisfaction in having created something or accomplished some task. This week, lima beans, broccoli and brussel's sprouts have gone to the freezer, and there rests on the counter top nine quarts of tomatoes and nine quarts of sweet pickled beets. I told Dad that I did not plan to do a thing next winter. I'll just sit and rock and reach into the freezer or cupboard and pull out dinner.

I will probably have to can some peaches for Dad. He really likes home-canned peaches, but personally I'd rather have the store kind. So far, we are eating them on the table. Here again, I like them sliced to look pretty, but Dad wants them Sussex County "Sugared down". These are chopped fine every which way and stirred hard with the sugar.

The Green Thumb

Good gardeners keep vegetable crops going right into fall frost. Many gardens throughout the area are seen with large empty spots or with declining vegetables. Late summer plantings can replace these vegetables and will make rapid growth and produce mature crops before cold weather sets in.

Vegetables best suited for late summer plantings are: snap beans, chinese cabbage, collards, endive, kale, kohlrabi, leaf lettuce, winter onions, radishes, spinach, cauliflower, broccoli, brussels sprouts, and turnips. Most fall crops should not be planted later than early August. Clean up your spring planted vegetables that have finished producing and prepare the soil for fall planting. Work the soil well and get rid of all weed growth and previous crop residue. Additional fertilizer may not be needed if spring and summer crops received heavy applications. If not, sprinkle a few healthy handfuls along the row area and thoroughly work into the soil. Water thoroughly at planting time to promote rapid seed germination. Transplants need plenty of water, too, and should be planted slightly deeper during warm weather when the soils are more likely to dry out. Keep crops weed free, protect against insects and select varieties which are best suited for your conditions. The major insect you will find will be worms. Corn earworm, fall armyworm and cabbage looper are the major worms which will feed on your vegetable crops. Keep a close check on your plants as early detection makes control easier. Americans now eat 6% more vegetables than in 1970. This fact was reported in the August issue of "Vegetable Situation", a publication of the U.S. Department of Agriculture. In fact, we now eat 225.3 pounds of vegetables per year.

Our fresh vegetable consumption has changed the greatest with sweet corn. We now eat 12% more fresh sweet corn than we did in 1970. We also eat more lettuce, tomatoes, carrots and cabbage in the fresh form.

In processing vegetables we are eating less sweet corn and peas. We are eating more tomatoes, pickles, snap beans and broccoli in the processed form. In fact, we now eat 25% more frozen broccoli than we did in 1970. Processed lima beans show the greatest decrease. We are now eating 33% less frozen lima beans than we did in 1970 and Americans are eating less sweet corn, peas and lima beans in the frozen packages. Some of these figures on increases and decreases in vegetable consumption may be reflected in more home gardening with people raising more of their own vegetables.

In Woodbridge

Late Registration For Students Is Aug. 24

Late registration for children in the Woodbridge School District who will enter kindergarten in September will take place on August 24th from 2:30 until 9 p.m. The registration will take place in the nurse's office of the Greenwood School.

Other students who have moved into the area over the summer and will be attending the Greenwood School in September should also register at this time.

Children enrolling for kindergarten must be (5) years of age by December 31, 1977, and should have had the basic immunizations (shots) and a recent physical examination by the family doctor.

It is desirable that the child be present for registration because "Operation Child Find" will be in progress and hearing and vision tests will be given.

Employment Survey To Be Conducted

Local representatives of the Bureau of the Census will conduct a survey of employment in this area during the work week of August 15-20.

In addition to the usual questions on current employment, this month's survey will have additional questions about the receipt of food stamps in 1976 and the first half of 1977. The survey is conducted for the U.S. Department of Labor in a scientifically-designed sample of approximately 70,000 households throughout the United States. Employment and unemployment statistics based on results of this survey are used to provide a continuing measure of the economic health of the Nation.

For Your Information

Dear friends,

The family of the deceased, in selecting a casket, should be guided by a realistic consideration of their living standard and financial circumstances.

The casket serves the dual purpose of protecting the mortal remains of the deceased and as the focal point of the final memory of the funeral service.

One's desire to honor the dead should be kept in proper perspective with the financial status of the surviving family.

Respectfully,

William C. Berry, Jr.

C.B. Hooper & Sons Stage Field Day For Steigers

SUDLERSVILLE, MD. Ten Steiger tractors ranging from 210 H.P. to 325 H.P. pulling various types of implements over a farm near Rt. 301 and Sudlersville, Md, last Tuesday (Aug. 2nd) as C.B. Hooper Equipment, Inc. of Sudlersville, Md. held an open house and "Steiger Field Day".

On hand were C.B. Hooper, Sr. and son C.B. Hooper, Jr., from Intercourse, Pa. and son-in-law Daryl Peifer now managing the Sudlersville, Md. site to welcome 400 farmers from near by farms as well as some from Delaware. Walter Schiff of Harrington, a Steiger owner, was on hand to witness the new Steiger tractors in operation.

The demonstrations were designed to show the folks how the 325 Panther Steiger could drag a 41 ft. disc made by Krouse across the fields with relative ease. The Wildcat 210 H.P. pulled a 30 ft. Wil-Rich Field Cultivator as another Cougar 251 pulled a 10 bottom row plow with ease. The Wil-Rich Company has designed an 18 bottom row plow which the Steiger has already tried and successfully pulled at speed of 5 m.p.h. It is said that the 18 bottom plow can plow 15 to 18 acres an hour.

During the day the highlight of the festivities aside from the field demonstrations was the noon lunch and talks by various representatives of Steiger including representatives from the Cummings Company who make the large horse power motors for the Steigers. Jack Johnson, President of Steiger in from Fargo, N.D. who was attending a dealers convention in Washington D.C. and Don Owens, the national sales manager were present. Also on hand was Earl Christensen, who was the first recognized dealer for Steiger when they started producing tractors in the early years of the Steiger Company. Christensen hails from Elbow Lake, Minn. in the famed Red River Valley section.

Doug and Morris Steiger started the company by building the first Steiger in one of their barns on their dairy farm. Dairy farmers they were but in the huge rugged country of up country Minnesota, the Steiger brothers were to become famous by designing the mammoth tractor. "The soil and terrain there is such that when it is dry everywhere it is still tough getting the ground plowed, but when it is wet everywhere, it is overly wet in that country", according to Bob Neva, Regional Sales Manager for Steiger. Neva hails from Lake Crystal, Minn. in the heart of the Red River Valley of Minnesota.

One of the trade marks of the Steiger, and the aspect of the tractor which made the Steiger brothers famous is the 4 wheel drive. Designed primarily for the wet country of Minnesota, it has proven to be the big selling and performance points from the Steiger tractor. With the 4 wheel drive, the floatation device and traction enable the tractor to perform under the most extreme of conditions. In addition to this the 4 wheel drive gives the tractor speed, versatility with less soil compaction under all sorts of terrain.

The Steiger was not the first 4 wheel driven tractor in the U.S. The Massey Ferguson, the first 4 wheel driven tractor, had about 170 H.P.

The Steiger brothers (Doug and Morris) built and sold their first Steiger in 1957. Today the Steiger is designed to handle large jobs for the farmer whether it be for leveling and clearing land as 1st Colony in North Carolina used the tractors or working in rice fields in Texas or on the A. Duda & Sons tract in Oviedo, Florida where this farming family grows radishes, corn, lettuce, carrots, tomatoes in a mass production way. The Duda operation is located in other states than Florida like the Imperial Valley of California, or in the potato country of Idaho. It is estimated that the Duda family run operation tills more than a 1,000,000. Their farming operation is such that they need power and speed to clear the land fast to get another crop in behind the one coming off. The Steiger...and only the Steiger can fill this particular need for the Duda farming operation. The Duda farms own 35 Steigers.

The price of the Steiger ranges from as low as $35,000 to the new 450 H.P. model which costs about $115,000. The price will fluctuate depending on the type of tires on the tractor.

The Cummings diesel motor is the one which the Steiger uses. In some models Steiger the Caterpillar motor is used. The first Steiger motor was the Detroit diesel, which is the one used today and built today by GMC to be used in trucks, tractors, etc. The current contract is with Cummings. The 450 H.P. Cummings which is used in the Tiger I costs in the neighborhood of $15,000 according to Malcolm Carrick the Cummings representative from Baltimore who was also on hand for the field day.

The Cummings Company is the largest independent manufacturer of diesel engines. The main plant is located at Columbus, Ind. They have 16 plants all over the country. The largest Steiger and the largest tractor in the world in its class carries the 450 H.P. Cummings. It is a 6 cylinder with a 1150 cubic inch displacement, 6 1/4 in. bore and a 6 1/4 in stroke. According to Carrick the cubic inch displacement and the stroke is what rates horse power. With this rating of horse power, the Steiger 450 H.P. is capable of doing the work of 6 of the largest tractors made by their competitors.

Thread Your Way Through The Sewing Maze

With so many new fibers and fabrics on the market, home seamstresses are often confused about what kind of thread is suitable for which fabric.

Several large sewing supply companies have recently introduced cotton-wrapped polyester core thread that can be used for most sewing needs. Janet Goszyk, Delaware extension home economist, explains why this new thread works successfully with so many different fabrics.

When a thread is made of a combination of fibers, it takes on the best characteristics of each, she says. The polyester core is made of single filaments of polyester which are twisted together to form a multi-filament.

This multi-filament core is uniform in size, durable, and very strong. It also has "give" so that the thread will not break easily when stress is applied, an important factor in seams.

The polyester core is wrapped in cotton to make a single strand. Then two or more strands are twisted together to form the actual thread. The cotton wrap improves sewability, and gives protection against the heat of an iron.

Cotton covered polyester, then, works successfully with most fabrics strong enough to hold seams firmly in laundering and use. The thread is elastic enough to make stitches that resist breaking and puckering. It is even in diameter to move under tension easily and quickly. Finally, it is smooth enough to resist the friction caused by sewing. Ms. Goszyk offers some tips for more successful sewing with the new polyester core thread:

1. Thread your sewing machine correctly. Many problems with threads are actually caused by improper threading.

2. Keep the sewing machine oiled and lint-free.

3. Sew with an even speed for uniform stitches.

4. Make a test seam to be sure the stitch size is correct and the upper and lower tensions are balanced. Also try a zig-zag stitch to see if the thread is feeding correctly.

5. Be sure your sewing machine needle is in good condition. Needles don't last forever, and blunt or rough needles can break thread or damage fabric. Also use the correct size and type of needle for the fabric.

6. If the fabric puckers, the stitch length may be too short.

7. Check the pressure foot. Too great a pressure could cause uneven layers of fabric which might pucker.

Cotton wrapped polyester thread is truly a thread for most fabrics, natural or synthetic, knit or woven, says Ms. Goszyk. It can also be used for top-stitching or other decorative functions, thus saving your sewing box from the clutter of many different types of threads.

Housewise Helps from the Delaware Cooperative Extension Service By Lynn Hershey

Spending your formative years in the Southwest has disadvantages if you happen to move to Delaware later on. In arid Arizona the words "humidity" and "mildew" are virtually unknown. (When the humidity is always zero, who needs to know about it?)

I can remember my mother hanging the laundry outside to dry on the line behind our home on the range. As soon as she had hung it all up, she'd move back to where she'd started and take it all down again. It dried that fast in the desert air.

So I was totally unprepared for Delaware's dampness, and the resulting mildew which seems to sprout overnight like evil greengreen moss.

Miraculously, the Wilmington-area temperature never got up to 90 degrees our first summer here. (It was 1967, in case you're wondering.) But since the humidity hardly ever got below 90, we were all pretty miserable.

I could have stood it though, if I hadn't discovered malevolent green mold all over the enormous Arizona pine cones that had decorated our Christmas mantel for years. It was also on my tooled leather riding boots. The fact that I hadn't worn them for 20 years was beside the point. They were still precious to me.

I have since learned to cope with dampness and avoid mildew. You can too. Air conditioning and dehumidifiers are extremely helpful. But if you don't have either of those, there are other ways to fight the fuzzy fungus.

It's important to remember that molds causing mildew are always hanging around in the air waiting for a chance to grow on something. They can't grow without food, however, and they favor a diet of natural materials—cotton, linen, rayon, silk, wool, leather, paper.

They are most likely to grow in places that are damp, warm, dark and still, like basement closets.

Extension home economists say ventilation is a key weapon in the war against mildew. The contents of closets and drawers should be aired regularly. Open windows and doors when it's drier outside than in. Run an electric fan in places that can't be exposed to outside breezes.

Try also to control the causes of dampness. Vent the clothes drier to the outside. Replace cracked mortar in the basement, and consider a waterproofing material for the walls.

Be sure outside drainage is adequate. Spread a layer of moisture-barrier material over the soil of the crawl space under the house.

Mildew prefers dirt, so keep things as clean as possible in areas where it's likely to grow.

Mildew also thrives on dampness, so be sure shoes, bathing suits and other articles are dry before you put them away. Spread out damp washcloths and towels instead of folding them. Stretch out wet shower curtains. Dry soiled articles before putting them into the hamper. If you've dampened some items, put them into the refrigerator until you get around to ironing them.

Make use of chemicals that absorb moisture. Silica gel and activated alumina will not harm fabrics. Put them in open containers in your closets, or hang them in cloth bags. The dry granules may also be scattered directly on articles stored in boxes or trunks.

Mildew-resistant spray products are also available. For more information on preventing and treating mildew, contact your county extension office. Don't let this sneaky fungus ruin your pine cones, riding boots, or anything else!

August 10 - Farm and Home Field Day
August 14-19 - Michigan State Exchange Trip
August 27 - State Fun Day, Petersburg, 3 p.m. to 10 p.m.

August 10th is the date for the 1977 Farm and Home Field Day at the University of Delaware farm near Georgetown. This year will be the biggest yet, with displays, tours and demonstrations covering many areas of life today in homes and on our farms. A wide range of research projects and their results will be available for review. Projects include testing new varieties of field and vegetable crops, new chemicals, methods of controlling weeds and insects, irrigation, and new production techniques that insure higher yields and better crops. Clinics, tours and demonstrations will be available during the day. Also, on display for the day will be Faith McIlvain's top winning Horticulture Display from the Horticulture Contest last Spring. Also, on display will be the Broadkill Kool Kats window display. This club took top honors last fall in the state competition. The 4-H leaders association will be present making refreshments available. Plan to have a chicken platter with us.

The 1977 Delaware State Fair has come and gone. 4-Hers put quite a lot of work into making it a success. We would like to thank all those 4-Hers who served as hosts and hostesses at the Fair. Among the members were: George Scott, Anne Vincent, Tracy Pavlik, Eddie and Gail Justice, Steve Majchrzak, Nora Cannon, H.D. Parsons, Jim Hukill, Teresa Tharp, Pam Knopp, Clay Vincent, Sarah Hukill, Landy Correll, Kim Knopp, Sam Hopkins, Janet Cannon, Earl Loockerman, Charlie Chaffinch, Susan Justice, Scott Mitchell, Faith McIlvain, Mike Pavlik, Gail McIlvain, Connie Eskridge, Vance Phillips, Carla Vanderwende and Kenny Cannon. Thanks again for a job well done.

New Swine Unit To Be On View

The University of Delaware's new swine production unit at the Georgetown Substation will be on view August 10 as part of the Agricultural College's annual Farm and Home Field Day. According to extension livestock specialist Dr. Richard E. Fowler, the unit, which is now in the final stages of construction, is designed to produce feeder pigs.

The facility has the capacity for 90 sows and should produce approximately 1500 forty-pound feeder pigs annually, once it is in operation. The unit consists of the following sections: breeding, gestation, farrowing and nursery.

Special features of the installation include an energy saving evaporative cooling system in the breeding section and an up-to-date manure handling system which is a unique combination of flush gutters and flood gates, slatted floors and a two-stage lagoon for holding animal waste until it can be spread on cropland.

Besides this new swine production unit, visitors to Field Day will be able to visit research and demonstration plots related to the production of corn, soybeans, commercial vegetables and ornamental crops. There will also be a diagnostic plant clinic and a special homemakers program.

Activities begin at 9:30 a.m. and conclude with a watermelon break at 3:30. A traditional fried chicken lunch will be available at noon in the grove (tickets $2). For further information contact your county extension office in Newark, Dover or Georgetown.

Base Hospital To Conduct Physicals

The U.S. Air Force Hospital at Dover AFB will conduct a physical examination day on Saturday, Aug. 13th, for military dependent children, beginning at 8 a.m. These physicals will be given for college student requirements, sports programs for the entire school year, and for those children entering the Delaware School System for the first time.

Parents of these children are requested to obtain the physical examinations forms from the administrative office of the school their children will be attending. Even if a child will be participating in basketball or some other sport later in the year, the physical should be done now.

Parents of military dependents are also advised to bring their children to the base hospital sometime prior to the Aug. 13th date to have all laboratory requirements completed. This will allow the examination to be completed quickly, because lab work will have been done ahead of time. The laboratory slips may be obtained from the information desk in the main lobby of the hospital. On Saturday morning bring the child and the completed examination form to the main lobby of the base hospital.

Passwaters, Breeding Win Twin 20 Program

Bob Passwaters of Milton and Walt Breeding of Federalsburg picked up victories in a wild Twin 20 program at the Georgetown Speedway Friday evening.

In the first modified feature, Donnie Joseph launched his Bob Wright Pinto over a front wheel coming out of the fourth turn and flipped end-over-end down the front straight to the starter's stand. Joseph was badly shaken but was not seriously injured.

On the restart, Larry Tucker jumped into the lead followed closely by Charlie Phillips and Bud Coverdale. Gary Trice exploded a rear tire on lap twelve bringing out the second caution. At the drop of the green, Walt Breeding shot into the lead followed by Bill Towers and Stan Busby.

At the finish it was Breeding, Towers, Busby, Tucker, and Phillips.

In the second twenty,

Breeding flew from his eleventh starting position to the lead in five laps. He was starting to pull away from second place, runner Phillips when Joe Langshaw spun in the first turn and Breeding, with no place to go, slammed into Langshaw. Breeding was the more shaken of the two and was treated at the scene for a cut elbow.

Bob Passwaters took the lead on the restart challenged by Stan Busby and Gary Trice. Busby managed to get under Passwaters but was only able to hold his lead for five laps when Passwaters again went into the lead.

In the final turn Busby locked bumpers with Passwaters and both cars nearly spun. Passwaters got things back under control and shot to the checker. Gary Trice just barely edged out Busby for second. Tucker finished fourth followed by Calvin Musser, Phillips, Johnny Parker and Paul Weaver.

Sammy Davis lead wire-to-wire to pick-up his first late model victory of the season in his Davis Trucking Chevy. Davis held off a three car challenge by Chuck Graves, Ronnie LaVerre, and Wayne Cusick. G.C. Norris finished fifth followed by H.R. Bailey, Kelly Hastings and Earl Ennis.

Heat Results: Mod. 1) Calvin Musser 2) Larry Tucker 3) Charlie Phillips 1) Bill Towers 2) Harold Bunting 3) Walt Breeding Late Model 1) Earl Ennis 2) Larry Andell 3) G.C. Norris

1) Sam Davis 2) Jim Goslee 3) Ronnie LaVerre.

Atlantic Coast '300' Field Filling Rapidly

DOVER. The entry list for the August 21st Atlantic Coast "300" NASCAR National Championship Modified race at Dover Downs International Speedway now totals over 33 drivers with the August 15th entry deadline still more than a week away.

The list includes: John Anderson, pole sitter at Charlotte in 1976 and again at Daytona earlier this year; Richie Evans, 1973 NASCAR National Modified Champion; Maynard Troyer, winner of the 1976 Trenton Race of Champions; Geoff Bodine, world record holder (Dover - 144.051 MPH) and winner of many major modified events plus numerous New England track Championships; Jerry Cook, five-time NASCAR National Modified Champion; Charlie Jarzombek, reigning track champion at Freeport and Riverhead Speedways in New York; Melvin Swisher, 1976 North Carolina State Modified Champion; Harry Gant, winner of this year's National Championship Modified events at Daytona and Charlotte; Fred Harbach, reigning track champion at Islip (NY), and New Egypt (NJ).

Wayne Anderson, winner over Geoff Bodine in the 1977 Trenton Race of Champions; Joe Thurman, former NASCAR National Late Model Sportsman Champion; Satch Worley, reigning track champion at Ashville, Caraway, and Hickory Speedways in North Carolina; and Lennie Pond, popular NASCAR Grand National driver now also competing in major modified and late Model Sportsman events.

The schedule of events for the Atlantic Coast

"300" calls for NASCAR registration and inspection from 6 a.m. to 10 a.m. on Saturday, August 20th. Practice is scheduled from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. when the first time trial session will determine the starting order for the first 15 cars. Following an afternoon practice period, starting positions 16 through 25 will be determined at 5 p.m.

On Sunday, August 21st, the infield will open to patrons at 7 a.m. with grandstand gates opening at 8 a.m. Final Atlantic Coast "300" practice and qualifying for starting positions 26 through 33 will begin at 12:01 p.m. with the race scheduled to start at 1:30 p.m.

Just A Reminder

To all planning to attend the Blue-Gold Football Game with the Harrington Little League: Buses will leave the Moose Home on August 13th at 10 a.m. you may bring a bag lunch if you wish or purchase it there. NBA Hotshot Contest Set For August 13

On Saturday, August 13, the Kent County Division of Parks and Recreation will hold the second annual Pepsi-Cola NBA Hotshot competition at Tarburton Park on White Oak Road in Dover.

The contest is open to any boys and girls from 9 to 18 years old who are not members of a varsity high school or college basketball team. Boys and girls will compete separately in three age divisions, (9-12 years, 13-15 and 16-18).

There is no entry fee. Competition for the 9-12-year-olds will begin at 9 a.m. Entrants 13-15 years old will compete at 10 a.m. and 16-18-year-olds should report at 11 a.m.

Local winners in the six divisions will advance to the area playoffs in October. Last year a local youngster won the area playoffs and went on to compete in the area semifinals at the Spectrum in Philadelphia.

Sign Up For Bus Trip To Orioles Game

On Saturday, September 11, Kent County Parks and Recreation will sponsor a bus trip to see the Baltimore Orioles host the Cleveland Indians. The bus will depart at 9:45 a.m. from the Kent County Courthouse on the Green in Dover. A minimum of 50 people is needed to run the trip and a maximum of 80 people can go.

The entire cost of the trip is $11 per person to cover transportation and a mezzanine box seat. Also included are a buffet dinner and a question and answer session with an Orioles player or front office official after dinner.

As the exciting race in the American League's Eastern Division moves toward its climactic finish, this series with the Indians could prove pivotal for the Orioles. For additional information or to sign up for the trip, call Kent County Parks and Recreation at 678-3100 extension 257 or 258.

Archery Deer Hunting Regulations Announced

Details of the 1977-78 archery deer hunting season for Bombay Hook and Prime Hook National Wildlife Refuges have been announced by Refuge Manager Don Perkuchin.

The archery season on Bombay Hook will be on September 17 and 24 and October 1 and 8 on the regular deer hunting area along Dutch Neck Road. Permits will be issued on a first-come, first-served basis at Dutch Neck Gate one-half hour before legal shooting time on the day of the hunt. Hunters must be off the refuge by one hour after sunset.

The South Upland Hunting Area will be open to archery deer hunting without a permit during the regular Delaware archery season. A shooting qualification card is required.

The season dates at Prime Hook Refuge will conform to the regular Delaware archery season. Archery hunting will again be permitted on the North Upland Hunting Area. This area comprises 2,320 acres and is delineated on a map available at the Refuge Headquarters, Milton, Delaware 19968.

Regulations for both Refuges will be the same as State regulations covering archery deer hunting with the following exceptions:

1. On Prime Hook National Wildlife Refuge every archer must obtain a free seasonal permit before starting to hunt. At the end of the season, each archer must fill out the information requested on the permit and return it to Refuge Headquarters.

2. Only blinds, platforms and scaffolds that can be erected and removed at the end of each day's hunt are permitted. Written permission from the Refuge Manager is required for the use of any such artificial structures.

3. Archery hunters must show proof of completion of an archery qualification test. This test will consist of placing three out of five arrows in the 9 x 14 inch chest area of a standard size deer target at 25 yards. Archers who qualified in 1974 are reminded that they must requalify this year since the qualifying card is only for a three year period.

This year, six dates have been designated for archery qualification tests. On all dates, the target range will be open between the hours of 9 a.m. and 12 noon.

In the southern part of the State, the qualifying shoots will be held on August 13 and September 10 at the Mid-Del Archers Range. To reach the club grounds, drive west of Harrington on State Highway 14, take Highway 306 north to Vernon and then turn north on Highway 455. For information contact Charles Pearson of Felton. Call (302) 284-9162 after 6 p.m.

In the central part of the State, the qualifying shoots will be held on August 6 and September 3 at the Wildcat Archers Range. The club grounds are located along the St. Jones River just off Highway 10 between Highways 13 and 113. For more information contact Walter Schanding of Hartly. Call (302) 492-3601.

The archery clubs sponsoring these qualifying shoots request that archers arrive on the range with all their field equipment and dressed in hunting clothes. The shooting test must be done with hunting arrows tipped with broadheads. Range Officers will make courtesy safety inspections of archery equipment.

Hunting Seasons, Bag Limits Set For Game Birds

The Division of Fish and Wildlife has announced the 1977-78 hunting seasons and bag limits for certain species of migratory game birds as set forth by the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service.

The season for mourning dove hunting in Delaware opens Sept. 10-Oct. 1 then reopens Nov. 21-Dec. 10 and opens again Dec. 19-Jan. 14. The daily bag limit is 12 birds, with a possession limit of 24 birds. The legal shooting hours for mourning dove are 12 noon to sunset.

The season for rails and gallinules opens Sept. 1-

Nov. 9, with shooting hours from 1/2 hour before sunrise to sunset. The bag limits for king and clapper rails are 10 daily (Singly or in aggregate of the two species) and 20 in possession. The bag limits for sora and Virginia rails are 25 daily (singly or in aggregate of the two species) and 25 in possession. There will be a 15 bird daily limit with 30 in possession for gallinules for the 1977-78 season.

Snipe hunting season opens Oct. 3-Nov. 5 and again Nov. 21-Jan. 31. with an 8 bird daily limit and 16 in possession. The legal shooting hours are from 1/2 hour before sunrise to sunset.

Hunters endeavoring to bag the daily limit of 5 woodcock (10 in possession) may do so when the woodcock season opens

Oct. 22-Nov. 5 and again Nov. 21-Jan. 7, between the hours of 1/2 hour before sunrise to sunset.

Sea ducks (scoters, eiders, and old squaws) may again be taken not less than 800 yards (1/2 mile) seaward from the Delaware Bay or Atlantic Ocean shores beginning at an east-west line between Port Mahon and the Elbow Cross Navigation Light south to the Delaware-Maryland line. The season for sea duck hunting opens Oct. 1-Jan. 14 with a bag limit of 7 birds daily and 14 in possession (in addition to regular duck limits).

The 1977-78 seasons for the remainder of the waterfowl species have yet to be finalized. Notification of these seasons will be forthcoming.

Frederica Eyes Final Sewer Inspection

FREDERICA. Frederica Council members in their Wednesday night meeting discussed when the final inspection of the sewer system recently installed in the Town would get its final inspection as promised by the County officials. Of the approximately 300 houses in the Town about 230 have been hooked to the sewer system. There remain some 70 houses to be hooked to the system, according to Councilman I.R. (Jim) Woodland.

Councilman Sam Shumar asked fellow council members to fix the leak on Front Street. The leak in question has been there for the past two months. The problem the Town Council members have now in all the cases regarding maintenance to the installed sewer lines is to determine who has the responsibility of fixing the lines where leaks occur. Is it a matter for Central Construction Co., a New Jersey based outfit, which laid the lines or is it within the province of the Town. "Each case must be looked at individually", according to Mayor George (Bud) Nashold.

In addition to the water line leak, Sam Shumar said the "...sewer line at one place near the pumping station leaks, and I move that the Town should tell the County to fix the leak or we will shut the water off in 5 days." According to Shumar the excessive pumping will cause the pumps to "burn up".

Harold Ellwanger of Harrington has been hired by the Town to be in charge of maintenance for the Town.

Mrs. Gladys Hill holds a personally answered card from Billy Carter, brother of President Carter she received recently as an answer she sent the Georgia peanut grower to send peanuts to the Harrington Senior Center. The center was going to use the nuts to make candy. His personal reply is shown on the back of the postcard.

DP&L To Up Rates

Delmarva Power and Light Co.'s 150,000 retail electric customers will pay an approximate $26 million more annually in electric bills, due to the Public Service Commission's (PSC) approval Friday of the utility's requested rate increase.

Residential customers, however, will pay a smaller increase due to the commission's decision to increase costs also for special industrial consumers known as "Q" customers.

Through a contractual agreement with the utility, these customers were granted lower rates in exchange for agreeing to have their power curtailed during emergency peak periods, explained Robert J. Kennedy, the PSC's executive director.

Due to the commission's decision to levy a 6.94 per cent increase upon these industrial users, residential customers will now pay a 16.99 per cent increase rather than the proposed 19.1 per cent increase.

The $26 million increase an average of 17.9 per cent for the different customer classes - was the full amount the utility had originally requested March 17.

The new rates will go into effect Aug. 23.

Peach Ice Takes The Sizzle Out Of Summer

Catch the flavor of summer in frosty fruit desserts. Since corn syrup helps prevent sugar crystals from forming during freezer storage, desserts like this Peach Ice can be made ahead, stored in the freezer and enjoyed at the end of a light summer supper.

PEACH ICE

- 1/2 cup water
 - 1 envelope unflavored gelatin
 - 4 cups peeled, pitted, ripe peaches (about 2 lbs)
 - 2 tablespoons lemon juice
 - 1 1/2 cups Karo light corn syrup
- In small saucepan sprinkle gelatin over water. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until gelatin dissolves. Place half of peaches and lemon juice in blender container; cover. Blend at high speed 1 minute or until liquefied. Add remaining peaches 1 at a time continuously blending until all are liquefied. With blender at low speed gradually add gelatin mixture and corn syrup until blended. Pour into 9 x 5 x 3-inch loaf pan. Freeze 1 to 2 hours or until almost firm. Beat until smooth but still frozen. Cover and freeze 3 hours, or until firm. Makes 1 1/2 quarts.

arately from Bridgeville or brought to Bridgeville for final treatment and purification.

The other water project for the Town of Bridgeville is the one along Railroad Avenue which the State of Delaware has granted a sum of $300,000 to the Town for the purpose of separating the waste and surface water at that site along Railroad Avenue.

Commissioner Earl Willey has been waiting for a "...promised letter and easement from Conrail to enable the Town to widen Railroad Avenue from 30 ft. to 60 ft. and enable the Town to lay both waste water pipe and surface water pipe in that area", according to Willey. Willey also said that it has been three weeks since the promise was made and Conrail at this point in time refuses to answer the telephone.

Willey said it was time we forget about Conrail and proceed on with the project or we will be beyond the deadline and lose this grant." With the easement the Town could straighten the curves that currently exist along Railroad Avenue. Without the easement the Town can proceed but it will not accomplish all the intended points. According to Willey, "...we can still get the pipe in the ground and correct the drainage water situation that exists in that area". During a hard rain, "...the spill over into the sanitary system puts a great drain on the pumping plant and filtration system", said Willey.

The Town Board also discussed the prospects of Charter changes such as raising the current limits of tax collection amount. The ceiling now is $40,000. They also want to incorporate several resolutions into the Charter as well.

Commissioner Jack Simons reported that the waste disposal plant is working to top proficiency at the present time. They have been using approximately one barrel of hydrogen peroxide a week in the plant to dampen the odors, etc. Simons said that at the present rate, they hope to have many of the past sewer problems solved in the very near future, which could possibly eliminate the expenditure of a lot of money.

Board of the 18th of July, Roland Grant was hired to be the maintenance man which job is to be funded under the CETA program.

In other action, it was announced that during a special meeting of the

Tire Tips

It is false economy to use snow tires for any prolonged period of warm weather driving. The tread wears down more rapidly in these thicker tires because of abnormal heat buildup at high speeds.

Slow down in wet weather on "summer ice." Rainwater mixes with oil and gas residue already on the road to form slick film which causes skidding. You can lose control up to ten times more easily on wet pavement.

Don't "bleed" your tires after hot weather driving. Heat buildup is normal and tires will cool down to regular air pressures on their own. Quick air release would lead to eventual underinflation.

For sustained driving at high legal speeds, increase inflation pressure four pounds over the amount normally carried in the tires. But don't ever exceed the maximum allowable air pressure marked on the sidewalls.

Sourwood Is Beautiful Summer-Flowering Tree

The sourwood, or sorrel-tree (Oxydendrum arboreum), is one of our most beautiful native flowering trees. It's also one of the few trees to flower in mid-summer, says University of Delaware extension garden specialist David Tatnall.

The sourwood is a member of the heath family, which includes such well-known ornamental shrubs as rhododendron, azaleas and mountain laurel. The tree grows rather slowly, becoming pyramidal in form, and eventually reaching a height of 30 to 40 feet. The leaves are lustrous and leathery and turn a brilliant scarlet in the fall. The gracefully flaring clusters of white, bell-like flowers are borne at the tips of the branches, adding a touch of distinction and color to an often otherwise drab July landscape. Even after the flowers are gone, the seed clusters provide continuing interest for many weeks.

The sourwood is an outstanding ornamental plant, says Tatnall, and should be seen more frequently in the home landscape. Because of limited size, it's particularly suited to the small home grounds. The sourwood is versatile, making an excellent specimen, or accent in the border, or helping to "frame" the house or other structures.

This tree prefers a fertile, well-drained soil, rich in organic matter. Like its rhododendron relatives, the sourwood requires an acid soil to grow well. It's most effective when placed in a sunny location.

Why not consider a sourwood for planting this fall? Chances are your local nurseryman offers it. See what this attractive tree can do for your yard.

In the course of the survey two original monuments or markers on Sunset Avenue were discovered intact. It was also found that this street, as it is now, is not centered in the right of way and that a fence on or near the property of Harold Aptt is partially situated in the right of way.

The next step or Phase II of the survey will comprise staking out the corners of the town and placing 16 monuments marking the corners and the right of way of the streets and the railroad. Wooden markers would be placed first before more permanent monuments. The Houston Council gave official sanction to proceeding with this step at a cost to range from $800 to $1150.

Phase III would be marked by final delineation of property lines. Talley recommended the council wait for the completion of the Kent County tax mapping currently underway before going ahead with this phase.

Council also approved the request of George Jester for a 5c per house hike in the charge for trash collection and an addition of $1.00 to cover the increased dumping charge from $5 to $6.

In addition the Council approved some extended street paving on Sunset Avenue, set a date for public Proposed Use Hearing for regular revenue sharing funds and approved initiation by the town police of legal action against a local property owner previously requested to clean up his property in the town.

Other items under discussion were some guidelines for the local police and the possible future of the school building if and when it should be closed by the Milford School District.

Veterans' Questions

Q -- I have a 50 per cent service-connected disability. Am I eligible for treatment for any non-service-connected condition?

A -- Congress passed a law in October 1976 that provides for medical services for any condition for a veteran who has a service-connected condition rated 50 per cent or more. Previously, this benefit was available only to veterans whose service-connected disabilities were rated at 80 per cent or more.

Q -- Who is eligible for VA hospitalization?

A -- A veteran with one day of active duty who was separated under conditions other than dishonorable is entitled to VA care.

Q -- I am a peacetime veteran. Would my wife be entitled to a widow's pension after my death?

A -- The veteran must have had at least one day of wartime service in order for a widow to qualify for pension. However, if a peacetime veteran dies of a service-connected cause, his widow may apply for Dependency Indemnity Compensation.
