Divers Aid In Recovery

Police Locate Stolen Items

HARRINGTON. Following a lead that sent them with scuba divers to an area pond near Felton Tuesday, Harrington police recovered valuables stolen from the truck of a Harrington resident last week. Recovered items did not include cash that amounted to around $2000, only $100 of which was recovered prior to Tuesday.

Last Wednesday Arthur Carlisle of Reese Avenue reported the theft of money and valuable papers from his truck.

Investigation by Harrington police resulted in the arrest of four persons, among them three juveniles and Randy Davis, 20, of Felton.

According to police, statements made by the foursome led them to the pond of Elwood Jester, near Felton, where the fire-proof box was reportedly thrown.

Two members from the Delaware State Police's Scuba Unit took about an hour to locate the missing box which had been in the water about a week. The recovered papers will have to be washed and dried carefully or they might adhere to each other.

The two troopers first class who recovered the missing papers were Richard Marvel and Richard Harms, two of the six member state scuba team.

Monies Still Sought

HARRINGTON. The city and fire company are still not giving up on EDA monies to construct a new municipal building.

According to several members of the fire company committee in charge of the project they are not considering themselves out of the running until they get a letter of rejection from EDA concerning the application.

The City had formally made the application to EDA for the monies to construct a new municipal building.

Bring Your Own Frog

HARRINGTON. From frog jumping (bring your own) to just plain old fun, that's what has been lined up for the city's Town Picnic, set for this Sunday.

Festivities get underway at 4 p.m. at the W.T. Chipman School field and are planned to continue until around 8 p.m.

The planners of the day have included a decorated bicycle parade and infants under three dress up for judging.

There is to be singing and live entertainment for the picnic.

According to police, the four were charged with felony theft and conspiracy in the second degree.

Two of the juveniles were committed to the Stevenson House, Milford and one juvenile was released to his mother.

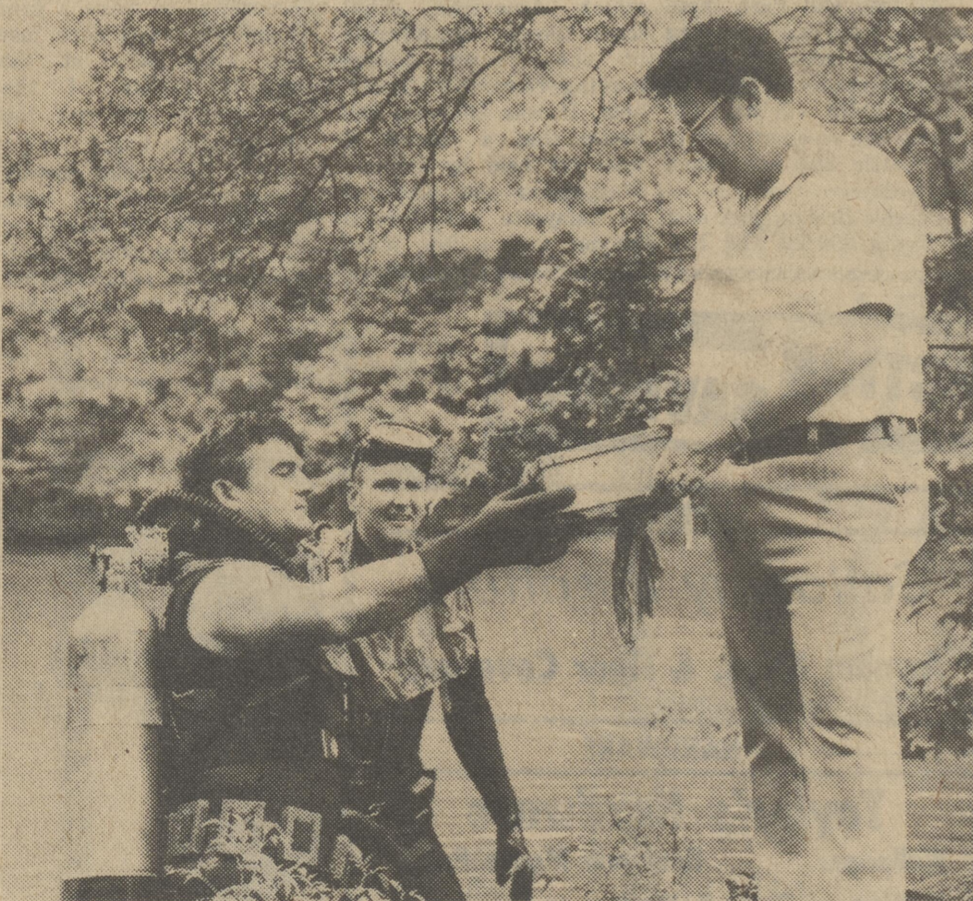

Davis was committed to the Smyrna Institution on default of a $2000 bond. All await trial.

Carlisle reportedly was quite pleased with the quick action by the local police, as he was not expecting to be reunited with any of the stolen items.

This mission was nearly a routine one for the diving duo, who have recovered the bodies of several persons in drowning incidents this summer, as well as recovering fire arms, one being a sawed off shotgun in waters below the Third Street Bridge in Wilmington. That gun was used in the slaying of a Chester policeman.

Going into the muddy waters of Jester's Pond, a favorite spot for ice skating in the area, is one of the six-member Delaware State Police Scuba Diving Team, who was one of two divers sent to locate items stolen from Arthur Carlisle of Harrington. Photos by Margo Farrow

The two police scuba divers return the stolen fireproof, but not waterproof box to Chief Ed Layton of the Harrington Police Force moments after they discovered the box a short distance from the bank of Jester's Pond Tuesday.

Officer Bill Jopp and Chief Ed Layton open the box to inspect the damage done to the valuable contents inside, still intact, but soggy after a week's rest on the muddy pond bottom. Non-negotiable papers were in the box.

First National Offers Credit Card

HARRINGTON. The 1st National Bank of Harrington this week announced immediate plans to make available to customers and other residents of the Harrington area Bank Americard and Masters Charge credit cards whose credit meet certain standards.

In an interview with The Journal this week David Jones, Cashier and Executive Vice-President of the local Bank, said "...that we at 1st National Bank feel that this will provide a needed service to the business community, both merchants and their customers. The merchants of Harrington will be given a new tool and dimension into the retail business." People in this area now can obtain either or both cards and will be able to pay their bills locally as a result of the use of the cards.

The credit cards not only afford the merchant an immediate way to sell their merchandise for "cash", through immediate credit, but there are other advantages to the customer or user. A customer with no previous balance can have up to 25 days free billing, this means no interest to pay for the bill. This is particularly advantageous for women who make many purchases in the soft wear line. The revolving charge cycle allows the user up to 36 months to satisfy the bill.

This is a sign of progress, because residents do not have to go out of town to obtain this service of providing the credit cards and have the credit vouchers honored at the local bank, 1st National for the local merchant.

According to Jones "...this Bank is now one step ahead of even the big city banks in the State, because we are offering both cards, which even the big banks do not offer."

Now can't you just tell the face of a winner when you see [??] one? The judges thought this fellow rather fetching as he took the Best In Show at the 13th annual Mispillion Kennel Club Show Friday in Harrington. Ch. Summihill Csontos, also known as Mack is a Komondorok, owned by Dorothy Stevens of West Chester, Pa.

Mispillion Show Has Area Winners

HARRINGTON. Over a thousand dogs, representing 114 different breeds converged on the Delaware State Fair grounds last Friday for the 13th annual Mispillion Kennel Club's annual show.

Dog owners who did display locally included: Jeffrey Rugg whose Gordon Setter took Best of Breed of Greenwood, Claus Twisselmann of Felton, whose boxer puppy bitch placed second in her group; Joan Goldstein of Magnolia whose whippets took a third place in their group; Mary Roane of Milford whose Shih Tzu took first in class and Shelley C. Hills Visit England

Ed. Note: The Carl Hills of Harrington spent three weeks touring England this summer. Last week there appeared the first portion of the Hills' trip, which Mr. Hill finishes relating in this issue.

During our tour of the coast to Wells Next to the Sea, we saw a town of pebble cottages. Everything is made of beach pebbles, houses, churches, walls, everything. This really took a lot of time and patience to build. Then we went to the estuary at Blackney, the tour boats just came in and the tide was running out. We waited at the pier for a ride and when they saw our disappointment the captain took a 40 head boat out for just the 4 of us. The trip was only about a half hour because of the tide change - now that's English hospitality. He charged us only half the fare for one person. At the ebb of the tide all the boats just sit in the mud until the flood of the tide. We lunched in the 1760 Kings Head Pub there. In the evening we had a trip to the famous Ginrap Pub, built in the 13th century. Here there are all types of man and animal traps hanging from the ceiling. For being way out in the country, it surely was one crowded and famous place. While there we wished ourselves a Happy 4th of July.

Next day we took a trip to the Shrine of Walsingham that had its start in 1061 when a vision appeared to the lady of the manor. While there we saw a pilgrimage of two to four thousand Catholic mothers in procession with church banners and singing Ave Maria all the time. From Walsingham we went to Bereham to visit with Mrs. Markwell's sister and family and saw the Bishop Bonner's House of 1502.

Next day we left the trailers and started for Pickering. Here we spent the night with a teacher that Fred Markwell had on his staff. Mr. and Mrs. Probert proved to be delightful hosts. They had a nice tea for us and an excellent supper. Bill is active in the Victorian Museum in the town and took us all through it. It really was most interesting, preserving the things of yesterday for us of today. Next was the Bicentennial Commission. (Continued to page 4).

Hill Park close by, which is being dedicated at 9:30 the same day.

At Iron Hill Park there will be festivities including barbecues, arts and crafts demonstrations, music and games which will start following the re-enactment of the Battle and will round out a day.

Cooch's Bridge, just east of Route 896 on Old Baltimore Pike in Newark was the scene of a bloody running skirmish during which American rebel forces slowed the advance of the Crown forces moving toward Philadelphia. It was following the Battle that a council of war was held by General Washington and attended by Lafayette and General Wayne just a few miles away at the Hale-Byrnes House where a decision was reached for the Americans to make a firm stand. This was done just one week later at the famous Battle of the Brandywine just over the Pennsylvania line.

Iron Hill which covers some 251 acres just west of Route 896 off Baltimore Pike was the site of Delaware's iron industry that dates back to early 18th century. The park will be officially opened to the public on September 3.

Both events are sponsored by the Delaware Bicentennial Commission.

Pitch In Containers Are Abused

Repeated abuses of Pitch-In barrels and Pitch-In sites, have prompted corrective measures by the Department of Transportation and Sussex County Government officials.

In a coordinated effort aimed at cutting the cost of collecting illegally disposed household garbage at Pitch-In sites, the Department of Transportation is taking new measures toward adequately warning the motorists, and county officials will begin strict enforcement of the litter laws to be carried out by constables. In addition, Sussex County officials are seeking to relieve the Department of some labor costs by providing additional manpower from Federally funded programs.

Pitch-In was not intended to be substituted for landfills. Barrels are now being painted with a highly visible warning to all motorists: "NOT FOR HOUSEHOLD GARBAGE - VIOLATORS WILL BE PROSECUTED."

Nearly one hundred thousand dollars yearly is presently being spent in Sussex alone by the Department on garbage collection which could be better spent on other aspects of maintenance, such as: pothole patching, mowing, ditching and resurfacing.

The Department is sending out a plea to repeated violators and the motoring public to heed the warning signs and use Pitch-In as intended - for litter only.

ancient Pickering Church of St. Peter and Paul built in the 12th century. On the walls are medieval art of the 14th century that was painted out and newly discovered, a major art find in this century.

Then we viewed the Ruins of Pickering Castle which were appropriately called ruins. Only the partial walls are standing and a few of the turrets but the inside is sown in beautiful grass and everywhere are pictures and views of what the castle looked like. It was another of the early English fortifications.

Next morning we left the Roberts for a trip to York. We entered the Monks Gate and toured the huge Cathedral that had its beginning in the 6th century. The next day we just rested and shopped in Birmingham. Sunday we took the train for London and checked into the Royal Court Hotel. We saw the Faberge art and jewel exhibit at the Prince Albert Museum, walked to Buckingham Palace, St. James Gardens, 10 Downing Street, along the Thames and Houses of Parliament and back to the hotel.

Next day we started with Westminster Abbey, here the great and the mighty lie in death. It makes one feel strange to stand at the burial site of Elizabeth I, Edward the III and the great and the mighty of our civilization.

We walked to Trafalgar Square, the Strand, and saw Somerset House, home of the Dukes of Somerset and now a government office building. This lovely palace was a show place of all England in the early 1700's. Here too were kept all the birth and death records. Now these records are moved to St. Catherine's House and we went there and Fred Markwell pulled out books showing us his birth and marriage. Genealogists were just everywhere in this building, hunting up family records.

The Law Courts or our equivalent of the Supreme Court was next on the walk. These magnificent buildings certainly parallel ours in Washington. We went in and even sat in on a court case. Then we went to St. Pauls and again saw a lovely church with crypt and beautiful windows. That day we had an American lunch at MacDonalds and doughnuts and coffee at Dunkin' Doughnuts. In the evening we had dinner at the Kentucky American Diner.

The next morning we started to walk again and saw Carnaby St., Oxford Circus and the Tower of London where the hapless people were imprisoned and put to death. Sir Walter Raleigh spent 10 years in prison here and Henry VIII had his wives beheaded here as did Mary Queen of Scots.

The next day we took the boat trip up the Thames River and stopped at Greenwich to see the Observatory and the museums there. All the way up we saw the sights one hears about or saw from the shore mainly. Traitors Gate to the Tower of London, site of the Globe Theater. The Old Inn where Christopher Wren lived when St. Paul's was being built, the Inn where Judge Jeffries watched the victims drown that he condemned to death, and the docks and streets where Oliver Twist did live and the movie was made.

Our last day was spent at the British Museum where we saw the sculptures of the Parthenon, the winged statues from the temple of Khorsabad, the ancient illuminated books of England, and the Rosetta Stone, and Portland Vase. Then we went to Madam Tousseauds Wax Works and saw the marvelous creation of famous people in wax. The stand there is about two hours to get in. At this time the Treasurers of Rome were on display, a wonderful exhibit of Roman coins, plates, armor etc. found in England.

Friday the 15th we checked out of our Hotel, checked our bags into the Victoria Station and went to the airport. We arrived back in the U.S. about 6:00 with sweltering heat. It's always good to travel but always good to be home.

Gilstad Visits

ANDREWVILLE. The 1st National Bank of Harrington held a welcoming home party for Arnold B. Gilstad at the home of Mr. and Mrs. David Jones on Sunday. Gilstad, who is visiting here from his home in Grand View, Wis. has been in the area for about a week. He returned to Wisconsin on Monday.

Gilstad, a former President of the 1st National Bank, returned to his native Wisconsin two years ago. He is engaged in the real estate and insurance practice there.

On Sunday a group headed by David Jones entertained Gilstad with a round of golf at Hogs Neck Golf Course in Easton. Among those present were Ken Walls of Harrington, Herman and Grover Brown and Ron Fidler of Dover.

After the golf match a picnic was held at the Jones home near Andrewville for the Bank Directors, employees and their families.

Arnold Gilstad, former president of the First National Bank of Harrington, was in the area for a brief visit last week. Shown here with Gilstad[center] are David Jones, cashier of the First National Bank, and Herman Brown[right], Dover attorney. The trio had just completed a golf game and were about to visit with a group of friends at the Jones home near Andrewville when the photo was taken. See article below.

Thoughts

by Senator Bill Roth

Recent controversy surrounding Federal funding allocations among the three Delaware counties has focused attention on the problems of how the Federal government allocates your tax dollars to help states and local communities.

Back in 1950 Federal aid to state and local governments amounted to $2.2 billion. In fiscal year 1979, it will be about $78 billion. The importance of Federal aid to the states is illustrated by the fact that roughly one-third of Delaware's Fiscal Year 1978 $453 million budget is accounted for by Federal assistance. And on the average, Federal aid accounts for one-quarter of the states' budgets.

Federal aid comes in many shapes and sizes, including grants, awards, loans and loan guarantees, and technical assistance, among others. Much Federal aid is distributed according to complicated formulas which take into account such factors as population, poverty, substandard housing and unemployment data. This data is gathered by 108 Federal agencies.

Unfortunately, the methods used by these agencies work to the detriment of small communities throughout the nation, which are sampled only on a random basis, an especially acute problem in Delaware where we have 48 communities with less than 2,500 population scattered throughout the state.

Because of the way the Federal government gathers data, many of these communities, who may have a fairly high unemployment rate for example, would be ignored as eligible for Federal programs to alleviate unemployment.

In calendar year 1975, Delawareans paid a total of $410,512,000 in Federal income taxes, according to the Internal Revenue Service. This is an estimated $2,210 per tax return. In view of this fact, I believe it is important that Delaware have open and equal access to the operation of our Federal aid programs. And in order to meet this goal we must have accurate and comprehensive data so that Federal money -- your tax dollars -- will be targeted to those who need it most, in keeping with Federal programs.

Efforts to reform the system of Federal data-gathering will help us to meet the goal we all share: open government that is more manageable, more efficient and more responsive to public need.

Hydrants Coded

HARRINGTON. In the event anyone has been wondering why the city's fire hydrant tops are not the same color, there is some method to the otherwise madness of the painters.

The green, orange or red tops on the fire hydrants mean quite a bit, especially for firemen in times of emergency.

The city has nearly completed the coding of the city's 86 fire hydrants according to the flow of each hydrant. The colors used are part of a national code.

After the city had the fire hydrants flow tested last spring, the ground work was laid for the coding process, the results of which are the various colored hydrant tops.

The coding is as follows: if the hydrant has a green top, it is capable of pumping 1000 gallons of water and over per minute. If the hydrant has an orange top, it is capable of pumping from 500 to 1000 gallons per minute. If the top is red, the hydrant is

This month, while Congress is in recess, I'll be home in Delaware, visiting all three counties, and talking with Delawareans about how you feel on the vital issues facing our nation.

This week I thought I would take this space to inform you on some administrative answers to stumbling blocks you have told or written me about.

Veterans -- There are many benefits for our service veterans some of which you may not know. Some are educational; some are health related. There are also loans available for insulating your home or buying a new one.

There is a veterans benefits counselor in Wilmington who can help you know what you are eligible for and how to apply for it. You may reach the counselor through a toll free number, (800) 292-7855.

Employment Seekers -- Delaware has a special agency to keep you informed about what's available in county, state and federal governments. If you're having trouble with your present job, or want to find a better one, try the Delaware Association for Public Administration, which is an inter-governmental job information center. The toll free number: (800) 292-9560.

Taxpayers -- If you have any question about your tax payments either for this year or last year, despair not. The Internal Revenue Service has established a toll free line to give direction to your inquiries. The number: (800) 292-9575.

Students -- It is time to think of application to the Armed Service Academies. Appointments to the Naval Academy, the Air Force Academy, West Point and the Merchant Marine must come through the office of your U.S. representatives.

Write to me or your senators by the end of September for spring session '78. We'll send you the forms and details.

Shades of old time harvest were seen this week at the farm of Herman Hobbs, who purchased this older version of a corn combine earlier this year. Since the corn crop failed to produce because of the lack of rain, Hobbs decided to harvest his field in the old time manner, putting the corn in shocks, the fodder to be fed to his cattle this winter.

Cross Country In 20th Year At LFHS

Cross-country, the sport which has placed Lake Forest on the map, starts its 20th season on Thursday, August 25th, as the Spartans attempt to win an unprecedented fifth, consecutive state championship.

Harrington High was the first school south of Wm. Penn (New Castle) and Newark to field a harrier team. The Lions, under coach Harold McDonald, starting in 1958 posted 11 straight winning seasons with state titles in 1963 and 1966. Lake Forest, like HHS, has never known a losing season and has won state crowns in 1969 (under McDonald) and the last four autumns, under Jim Blades.

Soccer has weaned away some of the lean, lightweight, types, who formerly gravitated to the hill-and-dale sport, and, of course, there are other smaller lads, who'd rather spend four years as a football substitute in lieu of trying something in which they'd have a chance to become a star athlete. We have seen many of these square pegs in round holes over the last two decades. There are still those candidates who welcome the opportunity to compete in a sport where winning seems a certainty, and where an individual rises or falls entirely on his own merits.

1976 was supposed to be a building year for Jim Blades and his Spartans, since only two of the top 1975 runners were returning. But these two, Dan Parker and Chris Palmisano, were joined by Dave Richter, Louis Thomas and Wilson Fry, Paul McLellan, John Moffett, Herb Jarrell, Tom Ott, and freshman Bill Mitchell, enroute to winning another state crown and picked up several other championships along the way. Teams from seven or eight eastern states bent the knee to the flying Spartans.

This campaign could be another excellent one with Dan Parker, No. 1 for two seasons returning along with Richter, Thomas and Fry. Palmisano, a great performer here, is the only thinclad lost from the top five. Tom Ott and Billy Mitchell are good bets to win starting or top seven status.

Marcus Bray, a senior, made a great debut as a sophomore, but has been sidelined by illness for a season-and-a-half. If he is healthy, he has a world of natural ability and could make a spot for himself near the top of what is essentially a veteran squad. Kelly Woodward reported late last season and never reached his sophomore form. A senior now, he could push some people aside.

Craig Fry showed great improvement in track this spring. He could be a factor too.

Coach Blades usually has some talent coming up from his farm club, W.T. Chipman School. This 7th-8th grade team has never lost a dual meet under Blades. Bruce Humphrey, John Veith and Dennis Voshell are among the best freshmen prospects.

Though usually near the front whether competing in Philadelphia, New York, DOVER. Geoff Bodine, driving in relief of Maynard Troyer, piloted the renowned Dave Nagle Mustang II to Victory Lane in Sunday's Atlantic Coast "300" NASCAR National Championship Modified race at Dover Downs International Speedway.

Bodine, from Bellingham, MA set a new world record in Saturday's qualifying when he claimed the Atlantic Coast "300" pole position with a speed of 145.278 MPH. He was later forced to change his engine however, when while readjusting it for Sunday's race, it blew. Competing with the new engine, Bodine suffered ignition problems during the early stages of the race and was ultimately forced to retire on lap 115.

Troyer, who had been travelling extensively all weekend to compete in short track events, became fatigued and decided to turn his car over to the 28 year-old Bodine, who climbed into the Troyer car and inherited a 5-lap deficit. Driving hard and aided by bad luck encountered by John Anderson and Harry Gant, Bodine made up the lost ground to beat the second place finishing Paul Radford of Ferrum, VA.

The first half of the race belonged to Satch Worley of Rocky Mount, VA who led the field from lap 14 to lap 173 and had a two-lap margin accumulated until he spun his short track Monza on the backstretch and became involved in a collision with Cliff Tyler and Ray Miller. All three went out of the race.

Gant, driving his super-speedway Firebird, took over the lead at that point, but could only hold on for 15 laps as John Anderson of Warren, MI passed him by driving Don Crammer's short track Gremlin. Anderson led the race for 32 laps, but was forced to retire when his engine gave out on lap 222.

Gant became the leader again, and led from laps 223 to 278, but also suffered a broken engine 22 laps from the finish thus giving Bodine the lead with Lennie Pond and Paul Radford running closely behind.

The Troyer car proved strongest however and Bodine never allowed Pond or Radford to challenge as he worked up a 9-second advantage by the time the checkered flag was waved. Radford finished second and Pond third, all in the same lap.

Richie Evans and Jerry Cook, both of Rome, NY finished fourth and fifth respectively two-laps down.

Three of the top five cars. Troyer, Radford and Evans piloted short track Modifieds while Pond and Cook drove superspeedway cars.

There were 5 cautions for 28 laps and 8 lead changes among 6 drivers. Time of the race was 2 hours, 42 minutes, 42 seconds for an average speed of 110.633 MPH.

This was the scene Friday night at the Georgetown Raceway as the track held its A.J. Foyt night. Winner of the feature race was Walter Breeding [center] driving Taylor and Messick's Chevy with gremlin body. Directly to Breeding's left is the man being honored at the tract, A.J. Foyt. He was invited to the track by personal friend, Walt Messick of Harrington, shown to Breeding's right. Messick's wife Marie is to the right of Breeding. Second from the right is Foyt's son, A.J. Foyt, III.

A. J. Foyt Night Held At Georgetown, Breeding, Passwaters Win

It was an exciting evening at the Georgetown Speedway Friday night with Walt Breeding and Bob Passwaters splitting the Twin 20 features and highlighted by a guest appearance of four time Indianapolis 500 winner, A. J. Foyt.

Foyt, who is taking a two week break from auto racing, was in the Delaware area with his race horses. A. J. said that the only thing he didn't like about the Georgetown Speedway was having to sit and watch the races and not being out on the track himself.

Lou Johnson of Lewes was the early leader in the first modified feature followed by Calvin Musser and Fred Kennedy. Walt Breeding quickly worked his way in front in the Taylor and Messick Gremlin as Haines Tull and Gary Trice moved into second and third.

Breeding had begun to build up a lead when the caution came out with only three laps left to go. On the restart, Tull tried the low side under Breeding but was unable to pull by as time ran out. Trice finished in the third spot followed by Bill Towers, Lou Johnson, Calvin Musser, Larry Kline, Stan Busby, and Mark Lenhart.

The second twenty got off to a wild start as Larry Grier hit the fourth turn wall and flipped on the second lap. Fortunately Grier was not injured but his number 22 was badly damaged and out for the night.

Glenn Wilson of Houston led until lap five when Johnny Bennett and Paul Weaver tangled in the first turn. On the restart, Wilson blew a right rear tire retiring him for the evening, and putting Bob Passwaters into the lead.

Passwaters pulled away from the field as a four car battle for second between Stan Busby, Haines Tull, Walt Breeding and Bill Towers developed. Towers threaded his way up to third but was unable to beat Busby in a charge to the finish. Walt Breeding finished fourth followed by Haines Tull, Gary Trice, and Mark Lenhart.

Bob Wilkins led wire-to-wire to capture his first late model victory of the season. Sam Davis finished in the second spot ahead of Ronnie LaVere, Mel Joseph, Jr., Earl Ennis, Les Nailor, Larry Andell, and Jimmy Goslee.

Next week at the Georgetown Speedway will be the Delaware State Police, Camp Barnes benefit race.

Heat Results: late model 1) Les Nailor 2) Larry Andell 3) Dale Moore

The Lake Forest Spartan football team began practice in earnest Tuesday as they suited up for the first time. This group is busily trying to push back the mechanical opponent as one of the coaches, Chester Scott, gives some advice. The first game for the Spartans is just two days over two weeks away.

Wilmington, Newark, Salisbury, etc. there is a department in which Lake Forest harriers often ranked near the bottom Sartorially speaking, the locals couldn't hack it. Most rival teams, in fact, most other sports teams at Lake Forest, had far better uniforms than did the most successful team in local sports history.

The Spartans in 1977 will look like the first-class outfit they have always been.

Beautiful new blue-and-gold track suits with new gold-and-blue sweat suits are bound to give the Spartans' morale a big boost. Lake Forest will now attend the big three-state, Salisbury State College Invitational with uniforms as sharp-looking as those of the three Salisbury High Schools, Wicomico, Parkside and Bennett. This trio of large schools never could run with Lake Forest, heretofore, a rather nondescript group, to say the least.

The 20th year of cross-country here will start with Practice at Killens' Pond State Park or at nearby Lake Forest High School, Thursday, August 25th, at 6 p.m.

Dr. James Schiff Returns To The Farm

by Barbara Brown

He started out hoeing watermelons on his father's farm near Harrington and has come full circle - back to the farm.

This past spring Dr. James Schiff left a well-established dental practice in Cambridge, Maryland, to return to Harrington as a full-time partner of his father, Walter Schiff, in a business that has never been very far from his interest - farming.

Returning to the farm, however, has not meant a return to hoeing watermelons. The business he left to attend the University of Maryland has changed from the original poultry operation and truck farm. On that farm were the 150 acres of watermelons that Jim Schiff, along with his parents, Walter and Gladys Schiff, remembers hoeing. Some of his first pocket money was earned selling those watermelons along the highway.

The Schiff farm operation today is concentrated on growing corn, soybeans, wheat, barley and rye.

A new aspect, raising beef cattle, was added last year with the construction of a beef confinement facility near Greensboro, Md. This was a pilot project and a particular concern of Dr. Schiff. At the end of its first year the beef operation has proved satisfactory enough to warrant expansion in the near future.

The Schiffs are also dealers - buying and selling grain through the Schiff Milling Company.

Of course the hoe has largely been supplanted by the fleet of tractors, combines and other equipment necessary to any farm operation today. These are led by the giant Steiger tractor on the Schiff farm.

Walter Schiff has been involved in farming in Harrington at his present location on U.S. 13 for the past 35 years. But when Schiff started, U.S. 13 was not the dual highway which now speeds traffic north and south. It was a two-lane road. And in those days before the proliferation of electric service, the Schiffs put in their own electric line.

The original truck farming operation was discontinued about twenty years ago, but Walter Schiff continued as a poultry grower until the last eight years. The mill and storage tanks now visible from U.S. 13 were first facilities for producing chicken feed. Although the mill is presently idle, the storage tanks serve the Schiff grain operation. And according to Dr. Schiff, the mill may go to work again producing or mixing cattle food.

Jim Schiff grew up on the farm and attended Harrington High School where he was a 1959 graduate. Active in all school sports - baseball, basketball, track - he is probably best remembered as a local track star. It was on a track scholarship that he attended the University of Maryland where, under Coach Jim Kehoe, he was a member of the varsity track team.

At this point Jim Schiff might have followed his first impulse, to go into agriculture, and studied at the University's extensive agricultural facilities. But, taking his father's advice, he opted for a profession - dentistry.

After graduating from the University of Maryland Dental School and a period of internship at Sinai Hospital, Schiff went into private practice in Cambridge in 1967.

It happened there was a real need for a dentist in Cambridge at that time, and Dr. Schiff says he was booked up from the first day. As a matter of fact, in the ten years of working six days and two nights a week, he remembers taking only one vacation that would fit the ordinary definition of the term. However, in the past several years he has taken a four or five week leave of absence that might best be described, if not as a busman's holiday, then as a future farmer's break. He used those weeks to help his father during the fall harvest season, taking his vacation on the seat of a combine.

In addition to his regular dental practice in Cambridge, Dr. Schiff was on the staff of Dorchester General Hospital, performing oral surgery there. During the course of the ten years he was listed in Who's Who in the East, Who's Who in America, The Dictionary of International Biographies and Men of Achievement.

Two interests developed during his Cambridge years perhaps contributed to his decision to return to farming. More important of the two was his acquisition of agricultural lands. As these were bought, they were rented and farmed by his father, providing the young Schiff a double natural interest in their progress.

Possibly a lesser factor has been his love of flying. Dr. Schiff has been using his private plane to oversee operations in Wythville, Virginia where he has several hundred acres devoted, in part, to pasturing beef cattle until they are ready for the Greensboro confinement facility.

This intense interest in agriculture - one that has not really abated since his watermelon hoeing days - is combined with a personal concern for a family business. After more than 35 years in farming, Walter Schiff is understandably ready to gear down a bit. Who is there better to continue a family operation than an interested and only son?

Dr. Schiff also stresses the fact that in dentistry he had reached an apex and practically exhausted the possibilities. In reviving his interest in farming, he feels he revives a sense of challenge.

The decision to return to the farm and leave the Cambridge dental practice to his associate, Dr. Anthony Calabro, was not, he emphasizes, a sudden one. It was carefully considered over a number of years.

Jim Schiff and his wife, Carol (of Wisconsin, Washington, D.C. and the University of Maryland School of Nursing) and their two children Terrence James (T.J.) and Susan Kimberly (Kim) are residing in the Schiff home in Harrington. The senior Schiffs have a new home near Milford.

T.J. at eight is perhaps the member of the family most enthusiastic about the move. Already a farmer at heart, he is knowledgeable (and according to his mother, very conversant) in agricultural matters. In addition to more adult chores, he is owner and operator of a small fleet of miniature farm machines. These include a number of John Deere models, but T.J. is also very innovative in constructing his own versions of his grandfather's larger equipment.

Kim at ten months is the youngest member of the family, and maybe the sunniest. Continuing a family tradition, her father says she will "have to marry a farmer". But one suspects Kim will have the Standing in the shadow of combine and tractor are Walter Schiff and his son, Dr. James Schiff. Dr. Schiff left a ten-year dental practice in Cambridge this year to join his father in the family farming operation.

On August 20, Dr. Schiff - not flying this time - loaded up equipment and crew to travel to Virginia. After several days there cutting silage and roughing it in a restored farm house, he will return to Harrington for the fall harvest.

Welch's Seed To Hold Open House and Field Day

"A little something for everyone" is planned for the second annual open house and field day scheduled for next Wednesday, September 1, by Welch's Seed Service of Harrington.

Education is to be a major focus of the day with tours of test plots and variety of displays. But also included are fun and food to underline the note of customer appreciation.

The day's events are slated to get underway at 9 a.m. with 45 minutes of gospel music provided by the Reverend Royce Andrus and His Friends. This musical beginning will be followed by the main events of the day.

Transportation will be provided to tour test plots in corn and soybeans on U.S. 13. In addition there will be a number of displays and demonstrations of interest to farmers and the general public.

Janet Gosvyk of the University of Delaware Extension Service will be on hand to underscore the versatility of the soybean by demonstrating at least two dishes made from edible varieties developed at the University. Samples will be offered for taste testing, and free recipes will be available.

William Sloane, seed analyst with the seed lab of the State Board of Agriculture will be demonstrating the T.Z. test on soybeans. This test helps to show the effects of rough handling and mechanical damage as well as to determine germination.

Also planned is a display of some perhaps surprising uses of familiar agricultural products.

Registration for door prizes (mostly farm-related items) will be open to farm families in attendance. Refreshments will be free to everyone.

The daytime activities are to wind up at 4 p.m. However, those in attendance during the day will be entitled to free tickets to an "old fashioned barn dance" with music by the "Home Sweet Home Boys" planned for the evening. Tickets for this must be picked up during the day. No additional ones will be available that evening.

In partial preparation for the open house and field day, Mr. and Mrs. Welch have just returned from a trip to Flora, Indiana, to the headquarters of Vigor-rated Seeds. One of the company's soybean varieties, Classic II, was tried in the Welch's Seed Service test plots last year and subsequently planted by several area farmers this year. In contrast to thirsty Delaware, Indiana received eight inches of rain while the Welches were there. And whether or not the corn as in the Oklahoma of song, was as high as an elephant's eye, the Welches didn't say. But they do have pictorial evidence that the soybeans in Indiana are waist high and taller.

In offering this second edition of the open house and field day, Welch's Seed Service marks its twenty-first year on the local business scene. In addition to the Harrington company, the day is sponsored by several chemical and seed companies who will have representatives on hand to answer questions about their products and uses.

Ms. Titi Ferguson with her Arabian was one of the many involved during the three-day All Arabian Horse Show held at the Delaware State Fair Grounds last weekend.

One of the area dogs to show in the Mispillion Kennel Club Show is this boxer puppy, owned by Claus W. Twisselman of Felton. The handler is Dana DeGraw of Dover.

4-H News

Aug. 27 - State Fun Day, St. Petersburg, 3 to 10 p.m.
Sept. 13 - Leaders meeting, Substation 7:30 p.m.
Sept. 24 - Achievement Banquet, 7 p.m. Sussex Central H.S.

Sept. 26 - Window Display Entry Deadline

Congratulations to members who ranked in the State Horse Judging Competition. 4-H'ers who were in the top ten were Terri Grove, Kay Pratt and Vanessa Manry.

Sussex County was well represented at the Feeder Pig Round-Up too! 4-H'ers raised pigs to market size since early April. Their efforts culminated with well groomed, clean pigs. The 4-H'ers also had to lead their well trained pigs around the show ring.

Sussex County winners were: Medium Weight Division -- Bonnie Crouch, Sycamore Club, 2nd place and Steve Majchrzak, Sandy Fields Club, 4th place. Showmanship -- Eddie Justice, Sycamore, 6th place. Congratulations to all 4-H'ers for such a fine job!

"Freedom To Be" is the theme for National 4-H Week, October 2 through 8. Let's begin to think to the new year by asking friends and neighbors to join your club. It is a great program, so come on and join! Clubs should plan to participate in the window display contest, held during National 4-H Week. We are shooting for 100% participation this year.

Last week our Sussex County 4-H'ers enjoyed a week of fun and adventure in Michigan. About 35 members traveled to Michigan to spend time there. During the week ideas were exchanged and new programs discussed. Also, tours and sightseeing were enjoyed very much.

With the arrival of September the 4-H program sets a different pace. Now is the time for your club and its members to sit down, evaluate and reorganize your activities for the up-coming year. Decide what is needed in your organization to make your best from the past year better for the coming year. Arrange the year's activities and make every meeting count.

Now is the time to think of starting the 4-H year off successfully.

Police Recover Stolen Property

HARRINGTON. Local police recovered numerous valuable stocks and other papers from a pond near Felton Tuesday morning in the theft that also involved $2000 in cash (see related front page article).

In other police activity this week, a call was received from the Trailways Bus station on a complaint of public intoxication. Arrested was John C. Sculley of Alverno, Pa. who was committed by Magistrate Court 6 and returned to court August 13 where he was fined $10 and court costs.

On August 19 Karen Carnahan of Harrington signed a warrant for the arrest of Alberta Ralph, who allegedly had assaulted Ms. Carnahan. Ms. Ralph entered a plea of not guilty and awaits trial.

On August 20 the police received a complaint by Mildred Vincent who said she had had a No Trespassing sign stolen from her house. Investigation revealed the missing sign, which was located in her back yard. Police said Ms. Vincent already had replaced the missing sign with a new one, which reportedly had been attached with 16 nails.

Also on August 20 Harry Jewel of Harrington was arrested for public intoxication after being observed in Moore's Dairy Restaurant. He was incarcerated overnight at Milford and released Sunday morning pending a hearing Wednesday.

New Peoples Bank Building To Open Soon

HARRINGTON. The new Peoples Bank building, began here last summer, will soon be opening its doors for business, according to Howard Wagner, the bank's executive vice president and cashier.

The expected opening date of September 1 will not be met, according to Wagner, but he is optimistic about moving into the new location soon thereafter.

The new brick modern structure will have 21 facilities to handle the walk in customers, which includes eight teller stations and four loan stations. With the bank's operation based on the first floor, there will be three offices for officers and a board room.

There are also two drive in windows, which have been in operation for the past several weeks. Wagner said the new bank will have a 9R rated vault. The top rated vault is a 10R, the difference being the thickness of armoured plate on the inside.

When the move is made, Constant Data Control is expected to complete their negotiations of the option they had taken out last year on the old bank building. The concern repairs computers.

It may look like hieroglyphics, which was an Egyptian type of script, but this is the popular trend of identifying Arabians now, some of which are from Egypt.
