

Violent Crimes in Small Towns - You Can Help

by Margo Farrow, editor

This paper from time to time encourages, and invites guest editorials. The editorial on the left below is one of these. Written by radio director of WTHD and WAFL Radio Stations, Milford, Joe Scott has been calling for more adequate prison facilities in the state of Delaware.

Last weekend a horrible crime was perpetrated in a sleepy northern Delaware community. Harrington is even a small community, and something similar could indeed happen here...to any of us, at any time.

Do decent and law abiding citizens have to continue to put up with the lawless...and to continue to rub shoulders with them because of inadequate facilities? This is something we too feel needs attention. We encourage all readers who feel the same to tell their elected representatives how they feel. This is one time when action needs to be taken. We invite reader response also to the editorial below in our letters to the editor.

While Rome Burns . . .

I call on members of the State General Assembly and the Governor to take time and get down to serious business in this state. This weekend a horrible, senseless crime was committed, a 92 year old woman, who was married to a crippled, blind, hard of hearing man, was raped and killed in her Clayton home, by a sick and dangerous person. In the meantime, officials in the state prison system are turning just this type of criminal loose on the streets, because we have no place to keep them. Once again, I say, this is not Judge Murray Schwartz's fault...but, instead the members of our General Assembly and the Governor's office for dragging their feet. Ever since the Delaware Correctional Center was opened in 1971, it was overcrowded. Since that time we have been talking about guard towers and dogs to keep prisoners in. Why? If they wait long enough they can be given furloughs, so why go over, under, or through the fences? Last month we called for another prison in this state. I am calling again for a state prison with a capacity of one thousand inmates, so that once the prison is completed it will suit the needs of the state.

Governor, senators and representatives, be leaders and not afraid of your political futures and make Delaware a state where criminal minds will stay away from, not migrate to. If you take this stand, I am certain your political futures will not be in jeopardy but instead assured. As a taxpayer and member of the news media, I am tired of hearing of State Police risking their lives and then seeing the same people they put in jail back on the streets...and who knows what they will do.

EXAMPLE: Aubrey MacKay...who raped nine women, that we know of...my slogan "Delaware Dares and Cares."

Delaware Schools Open Next Thursday

Delaware public schools open Thursday, September 8, to begin a 180-day school year that, state education officials say, will feature new programs, better teacher training, and more work to improve instruction in basic skills.

All school districts down state begin with full-day sessions on Thursday.

Kindergarten begins on Sept. 8 in all but five districts. It begins Friday in Smyrna and Monday, Sept. 12, in Alfred I. duPont, Lake Forest and Newark. Seaford will run morning kindergarten classes only on Sept. 9 and afternoon classes only on Sept. 12.

The first full-day break for students statewide comes on October 14, when teachers work in in-service training and school is out of session.

Enrollment Drops

Enrollment is expected to fall to about 117,600 students statewide, a loss of 4600 or 4 per cent from Sept. 1976. Countywide declines projected are, New Castle, 5 per cent; and Kent and Sussex, each 2 per cent.

Programs for handicapped children are expected to enroll some 8600, up 7 per cent from last year.

Delaware's statewide enrollment has fallen annually since the 1971 peak of 135,013 pupils. The declines, which are expected to continue until 1985, are running slightly ahead of the national pattern.

One new school facility opens this fall -- the northern branch of Kent County Vo-Tech, which will enroll 700 half-day students from the Smyrna and Capital Districts.

Reading Emphasis

Reading programs, especially on the high school level, are being emphasized this year. At Lake Forest High School, for instance, vice-principal Margaret Phelps says a reading consultant has been hired to work with individual students as well as teachers in the content areas. Hired for the position is Mary Jane Keith, who holds a Master's Degree in reading from the University of Delaware. She is experienced as a classroom teacher and Title I Reading coordinator at Caesar Rodney Junior High School. According to Mrs. Phelps, the program to be instituted at Lake Forest High School will "spread these (reading) services a little farther" than traditionally has been done in similar programs in the past.

Teachers in the district will be taking a course offered this fall in how to deal with reading problems. The program at the high school will be made possible through a grant from Mid-East Learning Resource Systems.

The emphasis on reading is part of the trend to prepare for the competency based proficiency and competence tests that will be administered to high school seniors in Delaware in the future. It does not directly affect graduating seniors this year. The first class affected will be the class of 1981, who will have to pass regular courses as well as the proficiency and competence tests.

The department will analyze the results of statewide tests for elementary pupils and by next September define acceptable levels of performance for students in the lower grades.

Education for handicapped children shows several changes this year.

The federal government now requires schools to write a detailed plan for each handicapped student it enrolls.

Beginning this year, the state will subsidize placement in private schools only for children who suffer from rare and complex handicaps. Previously, some learning-disabled students received state aid.

No Substandard Certificates

1977-78 marks the first year when no will teach under a substandard emergency certificate in public schools. In 1969, the system employed 133 teachers who did not meet licensing standards set by the State Board.

One change will occur in the state tests this year. Survey tests covering four areas of basic skills will be given statewide to students in Grades 1 and 8 next spring.

But fourth-graders, normally included in that broad survey, will instead take intensive tests in reading and language arts this fall. The department says it will report test results to the districts early enough for teachers to adjust this year's instruction according to what the tests reveal.

Meal Prices Up

Meal prices at Lake Forest, Woodbridge and Milford School systems have by and large undergone price raises. At Lake Forest Elementary and junior high school students will pay 50 cents for lunch, and high school students will pay 55c. At

They'll Try Again Next Year Picnic Draws Few

by Joann Clough

On Sunday, Aug. 28, the Towne Picnic was held at the W.T. Chipman School grounds. Very few residents felt it worth their time to attend, but those who did had a good time. Starting at 4 p.m. with D.J. Charlie Magill from W.A.F.L. radio station as Master of Ceremonies, the Mayor Buck Cahall welcomed everyone with a short speech. The games got underway as soon as the picnics were eaten.

Karen Garey (with the help of some friends) climbed the greased pole to get the dollar at the top. Through the day this was attempted by several children. A table was set up with the scrap book of memories from last year's picnic. A few of the Bicentennial Plates were on sale. (If anyone would like to purchase one they will be at the Town Hall). The Lake Forest Band Boosters had a booth with hot dogs, pop corn, cold drinks, candy and homemade cakes and cup cakes for sale.

As chairperson of this picnic I would like to especially thank Nancy Thompson for all her help. I could not have done it without her. I also want to thank Bernadine Butler along with her family and mine who also was a great deal of help. Ann Minner, Kay Sapp, Nancy Green also contributed. Walter Messick for the use of his truck we used for a stage.

The committee would like to see this become an annual event for the City of Harrington. Our plans are that the picnic will be held on Memorial Day weekend again next year as it was last year. Hopefully more citizens will become involved and make this a fun filled event we can all look forward to in the future.

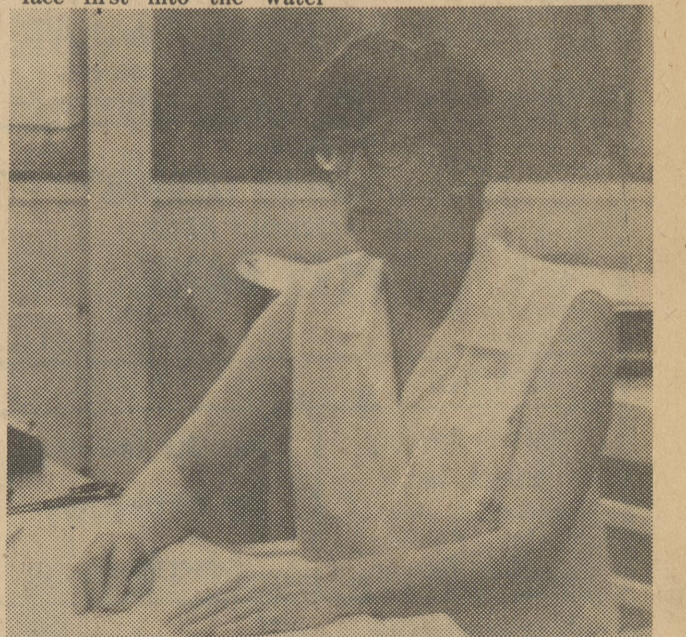

The frog jumping contest drew six entries - John Donato, Tate Garey, Charles, Jerry and Anthony Bradley and Jerry Wyatt. After each race the boys were awarded a prize. Stephanie Lang had the best decorated bicycle, with Jill Burghalzer in second place. Melissa Clough third place. Tate Garey and Keith Harpster rode together as two bums. Leslie Harpster had the most unusual decorated bike. Robbie Burghalzer, Donald and Jackie Draper also rode their bikes in the parade. The final entry was Howard Butler on his three wheel sports model complete with pin wheel.

All the ladies were invited to make their own hats and then model them. No winner was chosen but each entry received an ice cold water melon. Ann Minner, Doris Moffett, Eleanor Homewood, Mary Burghalzer, Jane Reirdon, Pat Garey, Norma Harpster and Helen Cappello all made beautiful bonnets, an unexpected entry made by Bruce Harpster, Ken Garey and Tom Di Sabatino was modeled by Tom.

Leslie Harpster, Melissa Clough and Heather Flinkman paraded with their many doll babies and were joined by three real live babies. The water melon eating contest drew the most entries (28) each person was given one quarter of a large water melon to eat, with their hands behind their backs. They went face first into the water Welch's Seed Service Open House will be Thursday, September 1, not Wednesday.

Getting files in order for school...Mrs. Sarah Webb of W.T. Chipman Junior High School has been putting in time ahead to prepare for that first day of school next Thursday. She said over 100 people attended the orientation day at the junior high school held last week for incoming students. In the school year Mrs. Webb writes a weekly article for the Journal dealing with junior high school, entitled Open Letter to Chipman Parents.

These photos were taken in the back yard of Joseph Valone last Tuesday afternoon, who was arrested on an alleged charge of criminal nuisance. According to police, Valone allegedly has been discarding dead chickens on his and a neighboring property when the fowls die. According to a city ordinance, fowls are permitted to be kept within the city limits, if the area is kept in clean condition.

Drivers Written Renewals Out

DOVER-The state's requirement for a written examination for renewal of a driver's license will be dropped after Sept. 1, according to an announcement from the office of Gov. Pierre S. duPont.

Those applying for renewal of their Delaware driver's licenses will only be required to take an eye examination to determine if they need to wear eye glasses when operating a motor vehicle.

Du Pont said the dropping of the written test would "end another bureaucratic interference in the people's lives, as well as reducing state spending."

Robert J. Voshell, director of the Division of Motor Vehicles, said the end of the written test on re-examinations will have

"little negative effect on the status of our highway safety program."

Voshell said that almost all of Delaware's licensed drivers have gone through the retesting by his department at least once since 1970 and some have been retested twice.

The retesting program, which also includes periodic testing of older drivers, was mandated by the Federal Highway Safety Act of 1976. That act threatened states with the loss of federal funds if they did not follow the testing program.

The provision of the law has been knocked down by a subsequent court decision, however.

Motor vehicle officials pointed out that the written test is concerned for the most part with the state's motor vehicle laws.

The Verdict - And - The Governor

by Harry G. Farrow Jr.

Although the reaction to the conviction of Maryland Governor Marvin Mandel last week by a special Federal jury on mail fraud and racketeering was somewhat mixed, for the most part people had made up their minds about the Governor long before the verdict.

The system of American Jurisprudence is such that a man is judged innocent until proven guilty. There are many legal issues coming out of this historic trial with a strong possibility that on appeal the verdict will be over turned due to procedural errors. Among the stronger points will be the federal judge's admonishment to the jurors to come to a verdict when they appeared to be hopelessly deadlocked and the fact that the trial was developed in the Federal District court on matters which for the most part were matters purely germane to the State's jurisdiction.

The Government's case was a weak one and was shrouded in matters circumstantial in nature. After the first trial which was adjudged a mistrial, the Government seemed ever so more determined to go for a conviction. The second trial was even backed up with threats of further investigation by the IRS for failing to report all income by the defendants.

The tailwind of the effects of Watergate and the resignation of Vice President Agnew created a cloud over this trial. Maryland politics, corrupt as they would seem to be, are by the same token not the worst on record. Marvin Mandel is an example of a politician who came up through the ranks, and by the time he had reached the top he owed a lot of political debts. He practiced the only type of politics he knew. The fact is he was caught in the change over that followed Watergate and Agnew's resignation.

By rights, as Attorney General Birch...a Mandel ally... has indicated, Mandel could remain the Governor of Maryland until the appeal process of his conviction has run its course. This could very well run through the next election which will be 1980.

It seems that there is a far greater lesson to be learned from the Mandel conviction. Although argumentative, it would appear from the record that rehabilitation of convicts, felons, etc. is a lost effort, not to mention all the money that goes with it. An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure. It would seem more logical that ways to prevent such political corruption in the future should be looked into.

Marvin Mandel was a superb leader, and if there is a Hall of Fame for Governors he would most likely be eligible for election. He never lacked in leadership, for it would appear that he has done more to get Maryland on the road to prosperity than any other governor.

"Life is unfair", so said John Kennedy as he stumped through the West Virginia hillsides in route to a West Virginia Primary victory in 1960 over Hubert Humphrey. Maybe a study should be made to determine by politicians feel they have been mistreated, not given a fair shake or why they should have more...and more... and more...when the job really calls for a dedicated public servant. The other criteria which we read goes with the job like big limousines...red carpet treatment...pomp and ceremony...are what the undedicated servants bring to the job.

Can the matter be cured by honest prevention?

Woodbridge elementary students will pay 60 cents while secondary students will pay 85 cents for lunch. Milford students will find a 10 cents across the board increase, with elementary lunches costing 50 cents and middle and high school students paying 55 cents. According to the district office, a price increase of yet another 10 cents may come in November, depending on the September and October figures.

In other new programs, state police will ride school buses in a special effort to enforce laws that prohibit vehicles from passing a school bus when it has stopped to take on or discharge passengers. Costs of school lunches have increased, but new State Board guidelines make more children eligible for free or reduced-price lunches, according to family income four districts have new superintendents: Wayne C. Bastian, Delmar; William E. Cline, Lake Forest; Frederick Sales, Seaford; and William E. Griffin, Woodbridge.

The state school calendar sets June 14, 1978, as the final day for pupils. Schools are closed Nov. 24 and 25 for Thanksgiving; Dec. 22 - Jan. 2 for Christmas and New Years; March 24-31, Spring vacation; and May 30, Memorial Day.

Teacher inservice days will be held Oct. 14, February 20, and June 13 in nearly all districts. Teachers begin work Sept. 6, two days before the pupils.

Milford Realtor Joins Realty World

George Adams, Jr.

George Adams, Jr., owner of Allied Associates announced last week that Allied has become a member broker of Realty World whose headquarters are in Washington D.C. Mr. Adams said that his firm will be responsible for marketing Realty World's unique services to the Kent & Sussex County area. "I am convinced," said Adams, "that this kind of group effort under the auspices of a National Service Company is the wave of the future for residential sales."

"In keeping with the belief that no one knows the locality better than the independent broker who serves the area, I am convinced that Realty World will allow us to offer much more with our close association with other areas."

"Many tools that put a strain on the small or medium office are now available, such as, training courses for our sales personnel; national referral systems; "Real Scope" which is graphic display procedures, for the interior and exterior of the homes; and others which will become evident later. These things are now available with our new association with other successful independent business men who also know their communities and have a huge national organization backing all of us.

Established in 1968, Allied Associates began as a one man office by the president's father-in-law, James Mayhew. Mr. Adams became a sales associate in 1970, and became owner in 1976. Allied now employees five sales associates.

Thoughts

by Senator Bill Roth

During the past few years the Federal government has initiated a number of emergency programs to stimulate economic growth, reduce unemployment, and ease inflationary pressures. But the majority of these spending programs have only resulted in increased budget deficits, and our economy is still too sluggish. Unemployment is at intolerable levels and inflationary pressures are rising.

I believe the best way to cure our economic ills is through a substantial tax cut for all working Americans, and on July 14 I introduced the Tax Relief Act of 1977.

By reducing tax rates for individuals permanently by an average of one-third and by providing tax reductions for business, this bill would inject new vigor and health into our economy and create millions of needed new jobs.

My proposal is simple and fair. Over a three-year period, it would cut the present tax rate range for individuals from 14 to 70 percent to a range of from 8 to 50 percent. And Small Business would find their surtax exemption increased from $50,000 to $100,000.

While all Americans will benefit from lower taxes, lower and middle income families would benefit most. For example, a family of four with an $8,000 income would pay only $12 in taxes a year, as opposed to the $120 they now pay. This is a decrease of 90 percent.

A family earning $15,000 would see its taxes drop from $1380 to $852, a 38 percent drop.

Back in the early 1960's President Kennedy proposed, and Congress enacted, a similar legislation. The Kennedy tax rate reductions worked, stimulating an unprecedented period of economic prosperity with a low inflation and high employment.

Similar tax rate reductions will do the same today. According to one economist's projections, the Tax Relief Act of 1977 would give our economy an enormous shot in the arm. And its effect would be quick and lasting - 1.2 million new jobs by the end of next year and 4 million new jobs by the end of 1980 and an enormous and widespread expansion of the amount of goods and services we produce.

The reasons for this are that with taxes reduced more Americans will spend, save, and invest more of what they earn. With more money flowing into the economy, our nation will increase the amount of goods and services it produces, stimulating jobs and healthy economic growth.

More money to spend, to invest, and to save. This is the way to solve the stagnation and other economic ills of our society. This is the way to get our country moving again. And this is the way to attain true upward mobility for all Americans.

Weekly Report

by Senator Joe Biden

Last week, as the summer was slowly drawing to a close, those people vacationing along our coastline found themselves victims of an oil spill scare. Fortunately, for all concerned, our shoreline was left untainted and the damage to Maryland's beaches was minimal.

This "spill", however inconsequential to us in scope, only points out the need to develop stronger legislation to deal with the compensation for such acts. If we should find that the "spill" was not accidental, but the routine cleaning of an oil tank; the fact remains the same--this type of action is inexcusable.

I have long been an advocate of establishing the highest liability ceiling possible so that those responsible for these acts are held directly accountable. The higher the limit of liability, the more incentive there will be to operate safely and carefully.

The legislation that I have introduced proposes no limits on liability for clean up costs. I believe this is a basic requirement to deter such carelessness. No one should enter into any phase of the oil business unless they are prepared to pay for the minimum--to clean up what ever they spill.

Additionally, this legislation imposes a fine of up to $10,000 and up to one year imprisonment for any person, in charge of a vessel, onshore or offshore facility, or deepwater port, convicted of having knowledge of a discharge and failing to report it to the appropriate authority.

The need to enact tough comprehensive legislation is immediate. All losses resulting from oil spills must be covered. Clearly loss of property or income--including income derived from publicly owned natural resources must be recovered.

I believe the piece of legislation that I have introduced, S 121, is a strong bill, but more importantly a fair one. We must take the necessary steps to preserve our environment.

Career Comer

by Buck Thompson

Jobs! That's what these three or four years of high school add up to. Every-one involved - teachers, guidance counselors and students - has focused on one goal: the necessary preparation of the young man or woman to take up the vocation of his or her choice or to go on to further education required for a more professional career.

Naturally, the guidance counselor maintains up-to-date lists of job requirements and opportunities, college standards and information on students' interests to best advise each individual on his chosen goal. Typing, of course, is a must for secretarial work; science courses predominate for the would-be doctor or pharmacist; literature and grammar studies offer background for the aspiring writer or editor.

Then - there are other jobs. For instance, what sort of training does a student need to become a pickler?

A pickler? Yes, and that doesn't describe someone elbow-deep in brine turning cucumbers into dills at Vlastic in Millsboro. Another type of pickler deals with another type of solution, an acid one, rinsing forgings in a foundry to remove surface scaling and reveal defects.

That's just one indication that not all jobs are known by such names in common usage as doctor, lawyer, engineer, waiter, or what-have-you. The "Occupational Outlook Handbook" published by the U.S. Labor Department Bureau of Labor Statistics not only provides an excellent reference for job descriptions, training requirements and employment possibilities, it offers an eye-opener to the varied and multi-titled labor scene, in which many occupations have taken on exotic and often confusing names.

A "face boss" might be expected by some to be a head beautician. Perhaps. But in mining, the face boss is the person directing operations at the "face" or scene of the digging.

How about "waterproof worker?" They could be involved in the manufacturer of raincoats and galoshes. They could also be roofers.

Television, motion picture and stage production all rely on the skills of makeup artists. So, too, does a newspaper. "Make-up men" there assemble type and photoengravings in page forms.

Bundlers in colonial days were courting couples who, because of the cold, were allowed to continue their romance in bed - fully dressed, wrapped (bundled) in blankets and separated by a center board. The modern "Bundler" still is buried in cloth, if not romance, when assembling cut pieces in a garment shop before they are sent to the sewing sections.

How about being a "backtender?" Masseuses and chiropractors might fill the bill but in the paper-making industry, a backtender controls the end of the machine from which the paper is dried and prepared for shipment or conversion into finished products.

Jigger, ampoule examiners, rodmen, stockhouse larrymen, outreach workers, thermal cutters, trimmers, audiologists, hammersmiths, shot-hole drillers are just a few of the colorful job titles masking productive and interesting lines of work.

That is, if you're interested in making machine tool set-ups, checking the quality of pharmaceutical capsules, working with a surveyor, driving steel mill supply trucks, serving in community social work, welding, cutting excess material either clothes or automobile parts, ministering to hearing problem people, forging metal bars into shape or drilling oil well holes for explosives, in that order.

As Shakespeare said, what's in a name? As long as there's a job. Mickey Mantle holds the major league strike out record - 1,710 times. "Give us the luxuries of life, and we will dispense with its necessities." Oliver Wendell Holmes

The Evans Report

by Congressman Tom Evans

Prior to Delaware's recent near miss with an oil slick, I was in a coastal town in Massachusetts near where the Argo Merchant went down causing the worst oil spillage in seafaring history.

The grime that washed ashore on the beach of Ocean City and threatened Rehoboth is a grim reminder that only a patchwork of laws exist to regulate sea transportation of oil. And they are enforced ineffectively.

We cannot eliminate the risks of transporting this essential ingredient that is still the primary source of energy for our society. But we can-- and we must-- reduce them.

When it reconvenes in September, the House will take up legislation that I cosponsored to help control and prevent such occurrences off the Delaware coast and other coastal areas.

In a two pronged attack, the legislation toughens standards and at the same time provides compensation for oil spill victims.

The bill requires shipping interests take responsibility for any damage they cause through oil spills. In the event the offending vessel cannot be identified, it mandates a $200 million fund established by oil interests be used to clean up the spill and pay for damages.

In Delaware, with our precious stretch of coastline and inland waterway, we are particularly vulnerable. We have a high density of oil-carrying ships using the Delaware River, an area that is prone to bad weather conditions such as fog.

If we would have an accident along this stretch, or along our seacoast, the escaped oil could destroy everything in its path.

It would threaten wild-life on sea and land; it would threaten working peoples' livelihoods.

In one sense with the most recent spill we were lucky. Only 5,000 gallons were lost, compared to 7.5 million gallons for example that cascaded into the sea from the Argo Merchant.

We were lucky because it could have been so much worse.

At the hearing in Massachusetts that concerned oil clean up procedures, I was distressed to learn that there is an appalling lack of coordination among federal agencies. Such a vital matter as our ocean and coastline has been allowed to "fall between the cracks" of different jurisdictions for too long.

I was also deeply concerned that our technology has not yet reached the point where adequate clean up is always possible. Weather conditions during the winter months make it difficult and sometimes impossible to clean up the spill oil.

To take care of oil spills we need stricter ship standards, stricter enforcement of existing regulations, increased coordination among federal agencies, and improved technology.

The bill pending before the House is an important step in this direction.

School Districts Announce Free Meals, Milk Policy

The Lake Forest School District, Woodbridge School District and Kent County Vocational School has announced its policy for free and reduced-price meals, free milk for children unable to pay the full price of meals and milk served under the National School Lunch, School Breakfast, and Special Milk Programs.

Local school officials have adopted the following family-size income criteria for determining eligibility:

Family Size	Free Meals and/or Free Milk	Reduced Price Meals
1	0 - $ 3,930	$ 3,931 - $ 6,120
2	0 - 5,160	5,161 - 8,050
3	0 - 6,390	6,391 - 9,970
4	0 - 7,610	7,611 - 11,880
5	0 - 8,740	8,741 - 13,630
6	0 - 9,860	9,861 - 15,380
7	0 - 10,890	10,891 - 16,980
8	0 - 11,910	11,911 - 18,580
9	0 - 12,840	12,841 - 20,030
10	0 - 13,760	13,761 - 21,470
11	0 - 14,680	14,681 - 22,890
12	0 - 15,590	15,591 - 24,310
For each additional family member add	910	1,420

Children from families whose income is at or below the levels shown are eligible for free or reduced price meals or free milk. In addition, families not meeting these criteria but with other unusual expenses due to unusually high medical expenses, shelter costs in excess of 30 % of income, special education expenses due to the mental or physical condition of a child, and disaster or casualty losses are urged to apply.

Application forms are being sent to all homes in a letter to parents. Additional copies are available at the principal's office in each school. The information provided on the application is confidential and will be used only for the purpose of determining eligibility. Applications may be submitted at any time during the year. In certain cases foster children are also eligible for these benefits. If a family has foster children living with them and wishes to apply for such meals and milk for them, it should contact the school.

Under the provisions of the policy, the school principal or his designee will review applications and determine eligibility. If a parent is dissatisfied with the ruling of the official, he may wish to discuss the decision with the determining official on an informal basis.

If a family member becomes unemployed or if a family size changes, the family should contact the school to file a new application. Such changes may make the children of the family eligible for reduced price meals, or for additional benefits, such as free meals and milk if or below the levels shown above.

In the operation of child feeding programs, no child will be discriminated against because of race, sex, color, or national origin.

Each school and the office of the Food Service Supervisor has a copy of the complete policy which may be reviewed by any interested party.

- 1/2 Mile Rule
- In order to ride the buses students in grades kindergarten through sixth must live a mile or more from their school. Students in grades 7 - 12 must live 2 miles or more from their school. Buses are not to go down any road to pick up students unless the distance is one-half mile or more. This is also a state regulation.
- Parents and students are asked to read the bus regulations which are in student handbooks. Knowing safety rules and regulations prevents accidents.

Felton

by Barbara Jacobs

This week was the Delaware State Firemen's Convention. The host County was Kent this year. Mrs. Janet Fisher, past president of Felton Ladies Auxiliary and president of Kent County Auxiliary, was co-chairperson. According to those who attended the convention activities it was a really excellent convention. Thursday night started the activities for the women opening with hospitality night held at the NCO Club Dover Air Force Base. They had a dinner and entertainment was provided. A Hula Hoop contest was held and our own Marsh Jester, Felton Aux., won for the state first prize.

This year's convention was concluded by a 2 mile long parade. Felton Firemen looked really great, they had all 35 uniforms filled. They were led by the Lake Forest High School Band.

It shows practice does work. They looked really great and came home with third prize.

The Felton Ladies Auxiliary had 22 ladies marching. Their honey dresses really looked great. They came home with second prize of $75 and trophy.

Darrell Waltrip: 'I'm Going To Win A Dover Race'

DOVER. Until recently the way things have gone in NASCAR Winston Cup Grand National races at Dover Downs, Richard Petty or Carl Yarborough would have to be considered the heavy favorites to win the September 18th Delaware "500". But this year is different. Darrell Waltrip has reached a turning point, not only in his career, but also in his performance at the one-mile Dover oval which since 1973 has been Waltrip's "bad luck" racetrack.

This year, the young pilot of the Gatorade Chevrolet has recorded four Winston Cup victories (Darlington, Talladega, Nashville and Michigan), to add significantly to his previous career total of 3 wins.

Waltrip feels this season far exceeds his earlier expectations. "I felt right at the end of last year," he said, "that once I got Robert Yates, Ducky Newman, Buddy Parrott and Gary Nelson working together on the crew, that this would be a good year for us. I felt like I'd win two or three races, probably on the short tracks, but to have won the races that I've won this year is just unbelievable! And then to be selected for the I.R.O.C. (International Race Of Champions), well this will be something I'll remember as one of the biggest things that ever happened to me."

Getting back to his Mason-Dixon performance, Waltrip said that he didn't really do anything different. "It was just the first time I had been to Dover with an engine that Robert Yates and Ducky had built," he said. "The only problems I've ever had at Dover were with the engines and this time the engine stayed. You know," Waltrip continued, "there was a point in that race where we could have won it as easily as Carl (Yarborough) or David (Pearson) or Richard (Petty) could have. I think the dependability we got out of the car was the biggest factor and I'll tell you something right now, I'm going to win one of those races at Dover, I guarantee you."

Waltrip will be one of 40 competitors scheduled to start the Delaware "500" on September 18.

Youths Hope To Set Wiffleball Record

Dale Dadds, 10, son of Donald Dadds who owns the Harrington Food Rite, was among 14 youths who hope they set a world record over the weekend.

In a marathon 107 innings of wiffle ball with the score 167 to 158, the group of young players who ranged in age from 9 to 14 years, the group hopes it became the longest wiffleball contest on record. The game began at 7 a.m. Friday and lasted until 1 a.m. Saturday. There were five minute breaks hourly.

The game began when two town police officers threw out the first ball and checked throughout the day, including being on hand at the conclusion of the game to verify the time.

The time will be submitted to the Guinness Book of Records in London, England.

The entire group included: Kim Turner and Carine Wehring, 10, are the two girls. The boys were Jimmy Turner, 9, the youngest; Dale Dadds, Frankie Todd, Robbie and Michael Turner, Robbie and Roger Walls, Chris Nehring, brother to Carine; Sheldon Gunther, Jeff Burton, David Clark and Scott Middleton.

And after all that, it is reported the mothers of the group will hold a cook out for them, with a wiffleball game to whet their appetites.

by Keith Burgess
One of the selling points when it comes to talking to possible cross-country candidates is the opportunity the harrier sport affords for getting away from the limitations of a schedule, confined to competition in Kent and Sussex Counties.

Each fall the locals compete with distinction in the Salisbury State College Lake Forest and Salesianum Invitationals, which involves running against schools from Delaware, Maryland, Pennsylvania and Virginia.

The Spartans have journeyed to New York City and finished high in competition with schools from New York, New Jersey and several New England states in the annual St. John's University Invitational.

Lake Forest's fame continues to spread beyond the borders of the Diamond State, as evidenced by two recent developments. The locals received a request to appear at the Passaic County Coaches Invitational Cross-Country Festival and Meet of Champions. This multi-team, hill-and-dale extravaganza will take place at Garrett Mountain, West Patterson, N.J.

Coach Jim Blades' hard-working charges, Delaware State Champs for the last four years, also have received a letter from the Hereford High School Invitational, Parkton, Md. This meet features 50 or more schools from Maryland, Pennsylvania, District of Columbia, Virginia and West Virginia. Parkton is in north Baltimore and just south of the Pennsylvania border. This bid is probably one that the locals will accept.

No. 1 Spartan, Dan Parker, appears to be in great shape after his second place finish in the 1976 state meet.

John Veith and Bruce Humphrey, Chipman aces last autumn look like future stars.

Billy Mitchell, steadily improving through three years of cross-country is now a sophomore bidding strongly for a top five position.

Tom Ott, Randy Ramirez, Kelly Woodward

Spartan Harriers Invited To Two Large Meets

and Ron Wilhelm ran well in recent workouts. Some 21 varsity candidates have reported with several more expected after school opens.

Allan and Eugene Butler are a brother combination, with Eugene having previous experience. Doug Caskey is a much stronger candidate than in his last appearance in 1975.

Sam Lamphier, a slender, 116-pound freshman newcomer, has shown surprising courage and stamina in his first cross-country workouts. He appears to be a natural distance running prospect.

Maurice Coverdale, an eighth grader, has over 30 trophies won in age-group racing since the age of nine. He's easily top Chipman runner and should be top three varsity next year. Jerry Mosley, another age-group runner with two years experience is now in the seventh grade and is a key Chipman runner.

Robby Manaraze, a neighbor of Coach Blades in Frederica, reported Monday night and lost no time in establishing himself as a future distance great. This seventh grader was the first chipman harrier to finish in his first cross-country workout.

Chris Caskey, grade seven is the fourth member of his family associated with cross-country and he has two, younger brothers at home.

Coach Blades has a scrimmage slated with Glasgow at White Clay Creek State Park, Sept. 15 and is looking for one or two more.

This photo was taken at the Harrington Raceway during a meet in the 1940's. Note the judge's stand and the grandstand, one of which no longer stands.

The photo was taken by Parsons Studio of Harrington and is the property of the Harrington Raceway. The fall meet is soon to get underway here.

Town and Country

If you have been thinking of reseeding or establishing a new lawn, this is the time to do it. The best time for seeding a lawn is between August 15 and September 15. At this time, days are getting shorter and the nights cooler—excellent conditions for the establishment of bluegrass and fescues. Since new seedlings should reach a height of two inches before freezing weather, any delay in seeding after September 15th will reduce the chances of success. Late fall seedings are sometimes necessary; use a mulch to hasten germination and protect the young seedlings.

We recommend several blends of grass depending on your specific growing conditions. These are (1) sunny lawn with isolated shade trees—high quality. 75 % Merion Kentucky bluegrass, 25 % Pennlawn red fescue produces an attractive lawn but Merion may not persist well under stress of certain diseases, drought and low fertility. Seeding rate: 3 pounds per 1,000 square feet.

(2) Sunny lawn with isolated shade trees—high quality. 40 % Kentucky bluegrass-Merion, 35 % Kentucky bluegrass (Kenblue, Windsor, Newport, Park, Fylking, Cougar, Common-use 2 or more) 25 % Pennlawn red fescue. Blend of bluegrass varieties helps this mixture withstand a variety of stresses. Seeding rate: 3 pounds per 1,000 square feet.

(3) Shady lawn with some open area. 25 % Kentucky bluegrass (use 2 or more of varieties shown in Mixture No. 2) 75 % Pennlawn red fescue. Seeding rate: 4 pounds per 1,000 square feet.

(4) Sandy soils of Southern Delaware for lawns, playgrounds, and athletic fields—20 % Kentucky bluegrass (2 or more varieties shown in Mixture No. 2), 80 % Tall fescue (Kentucky 31 or Kenwell) Seeding rate: 6 pounds per 1,000 square feet or 100 % Tall fescue (Kentucky 31 or Kenwell) Seeding rate: 6 pounds per 1,000 square feet. The mixture of bluegrass and tall fescue is preferred since it produces a denser sod and is better able to spread and heal a damaged turf. Mixture No. (Continued to page 9).

Now is the time for clubs to be making plans for the activities that will be taking place during the coming year. The year will open with National 4-H Week, October 2 through October 8. Again this year there will be a Window Display Contest. We are shooting for 100% participation. All displays must be in place by October 1, Saturday. This is an excellent chance for 4-H'ers to tell their community about some phase of 4-H club work. If you are a 4-H'er, take part in the preparation of your Window Display. If you are not a 4-H'er it will provide you with an excellent opportunity to find out about some part of 4-H club work. Remember, the following ideas when working on your window display:

- 1) try to make the public aware that 4-H is active in the community and is available to everyone.
- 2) keep your display neat and easy to read
- 3) try to have action
- 4) have a contact for more information - you may use the 4-H office number if you want - 856-5250.

Other activities during National 4-H Week will be our annual Parade in Milford. The date for this event will be October 1st beginning at the Central School. Your club should start to plan their entry for the parade and all activities for National 4-H Week. This year's theme is "Freedom To Be."

Gab Fest

by Pat Hatfield

Here we are home again at Trail's End, after having traveled, as they say in the deep South, "A fur piece". I promised you all a play by play description of our trip and that you shall have in the next week or two. Every minute of each of the twelve days was delightful. Now we are being asked what impressed us most about that great country out there where the West begins. The bigness of it. Everything is so big...the country is big where you can see for miles...the buildings are big, reaching up to the sky...the cities are big...you can drive like thirty miles on several streets of the city of Wichita and you're still on the same street! The people are big, and big-hearted, and a lot of the men wear big, western hats.

We left for our visit with the grandchildren, Karen and her new husband, Matthew, at noon, out of Philadelphia. Gary and Ellen and the children took us that far. It's a good thing they did. We have traveled quite a bit in our lifetime, but never rode in anything but our own cars. On this trip, Dad felt that the driving would be a bit too much for him now, and we did not want to fly, so we thought it might be a fun thing to do by bus. As far as knowing anything about it, we were Babes in the Wood, and might as well have chartered a Polynesian fishing boat. And, the bus terminal in the center of Philadelphia did nothing to inspire any confidence. But, finally, we were on the bus with our round trip ticket clutched in our hand along with baggage checks for our suitcases.

Saying this is another improvement for the city, Earl Quillen had the parking area paved in front of his Dairy Market Store on Dorman Street last week. The work was done by George Lynch of Dover.

The bus pulled out with us frantically waving to our family. After we were gliding along smoothly I had the oddest sensation. A kind of panic took possession of me, and I thought, "Mercy, what am

I doing? I don't want to do this at all. I'm going out into the unknown. Dad kept squirming around on the seat and saying, "I can't sit still like this all the way to Kansas", so I guess he was as disturbed as I was.

But, the bus drivers are great. About this time, our driver picked up his mike and went into his little talk with us, assuring us that we were on the right bus, and that he was there to help us have a nice trip. I glanced around at my fellow passengers and they looked like nice people to talk to, which they proved to be. You know gabby old me... I will talk to everybody. Dad took a nice nap and I enjoyed the scenery going past my window. In fact I slept very little at night, not because I was uncomfortable, but because I did not want to miss anything. It was about dark when we reached Pittsburgh and then there was Columbus, Ohio, and Richmond and Indianapolis, Indiana, and I did not want to miss those.

We went through a number of tunnels around the Pittsburgh area and arrived in Pittsburgh for a dinner stop in a severe thunderstorm. The Pennsylvania countryside is so pretty around Hershey, Pa., with so many beautiful farms, with their barns and silos and comfortable, sturdy farmhouses. One especially beautiful place was named "Clayville Farms". Isn't that pretty? The goldenrod was in bloom along the roadsides and very lovely. Around Harrisburg they are having problems with tent caterpillars.

About three fourths of the way to Pittsburgh, the bus seemed to be making a lot of noise, and the bus driver stopped in the traffic and went around and examined the rear of the bus, shook his head, informed us that he did not know what was the matter, and chugged along some more. After another hundred miles, he made another check, and by that time the exhaust fumes were into the bus and making us a bit nauseated. I was so glad we were not on a plane with mysterious trouble. At least we were starting on the ground, and probably the most that could happen to us was an annoying wait while another bus came for us. However, the driver decided to make it in, so we came into Pittsburgh on a wing and a prayer. I'm sure the driver was relieved when he could announce a dinner break and a new bus.

To be continued next week.

The motto "In God We Trust" first appeared on a two-cent piece in 1864.

4 will produce a coarse textured lawn, which is drought resistant and will tolerate heavy traffic.

Lime and fertilizer should be applied before starting seedbed preparation. Soil tests can be made for two dollars by bringing soil samples to the County Extension Office. With these test results proper amounts of lime and fertilizer can be added. If your soil has not been tested, apply at least 80 lb. of ground limestone and 20-30 lbs. of 10-10-10 fertilizer per 1,000 square feet. Work lime and fertilizer into the soil to a depth of 4-6 inches. This will encourage good root development. After sowing seed, mulch may be added to the surface of the new seeding. Mulching helps young seedlings. It helps prevent erosion and will hasten germination by keeping the soil moist. Straw, applied evenly at the rate of about one bale for each 1,000 square feet of area is one of the best. Complete coverage of the soil should be avoided; coverage should be thin enough to expose a large percent of the seedbed. Many people, however, are finding overseeding easier to do to renovate an old tired lawn. The advantages are you don't have to tear up the existing lawn and you can add improved varieties of grass which will hold up better. You should mow the lawn, then power rake it. (They are available for rent). You should then rake the lawn, fertilize, then sow the grass seed. Overseeding usually requires less grass seed than seeding a new lawn, so check the package for the proper seeding rate.

Light watering with a fine misty spray each day that it does not rain will keep the soil surface moist. Watering should continue until the grass is established. Don't mow until the grass is almost 3 inches tall. Lawns planted in September seldom need mowing before the following spring, but they should be cut if some of the grass gets too tall.

If more information is desired for a new seeding or on established lawns, write or call for our booklet "The Art of Lawn Care". Address P.O. Box 340, Dover, DE 19901, or call 736-1448.

Pattern Library Available

A new and unique pattern service has been organized by University of Delaware extension home economists for Sussex County residents.

The free pattern lending library is organized much like a public library. Local seamstresses can sign out up to five patterns for a two-week period, at no cost, then return them to the library files.

The idea was conceived when extension home economist Janet Goszyk found that most commercial pattern companies regularly drop a portion of their patterns each season to make room for new styles. Though most pattern companies credit retail stores with the patterns they do not sell, only the outside pattern envelopes must be returned to the company. The inside direction sheets and patterns themselves are usually discarded.

When she discovered this fact, Ms. Goszyk contacted Butler's Fabric Store, located in the Nylon Capitol Shopping Center in Seaford, Delaware. She explained the lending program to them and asked permission to take all the old patterns that they would usually discard. Butler's quickly agreed.

Ms. Goszyk and extension home economist Betty Richardson organized the removal of the patterns from the store and the preparation of new envelopes (with yardage requirements) to contain the pattern pieces and directions.

The new pattern lending library is located at the University of Delaware Substation on Route 9 (the Georgetown-Laurel Highway, four miles west of Georgetown). For information, call 856-5250.

Mrs. Ben Conaway, formerly of Greenwood, now living with her daughter in Wilmington, spent the past week with Mary and Mart Uher. On Monday evening they were guests of Mabel and Carlisle Farrow for dinner.

Mrs. Della Bussell and Mrs. Clara Beatty of Delmar were callers at the home of Mary and Mart Uher on Wednesday afternoon.

St. Johnstown United Methodist Church held their picnic last Sunday evening on the church grounds. Had a very good crowd and everyone spoke of a good time. There were plenty of good eats, along with homemade cake and ice cream.

Mr. and Mrs. Gary Bollinger and children and Mr. and Mrs. Gary Davis and children attended the rodeo in New Jersey on Saturday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Hatfield have returned home after visiting Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Holman in Wichita, Kansas for ten days. There they were joined by Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Case from Newark, Del., who enjoyed a camping trip out.

On Wednesday the whole family, except Matthew, who had to work, motored to Tulsa, Oklahoma, staying overnight and touring Oral Roberts University the next day.

A highlight of their trip for Mr. Hatfield was being able to attend the noon luncheon of a Wichita Lions Club and bring them greetings from his Delaware Club.

They also visited Wichita State University where Karen and Matthew are enrolled for night classes in order to finish their education. Matthew also received his Airman First Class pin while we were there. Recently he received Airman of the Month Award and Airman of the Wing Award.

They attended church on Sunday morning in Wichita and spent Sunday afternoon in the park at beautiful Cheney Lake.

Attention please: The Hickory Ridge Congregational Methodist Church will be showing a special film on September 4 at 7 p.m. The name of the film is "The Coming Invasion of Israel." This hard hitting film deals with today's headlines from the middle east.

Last Thursday evening, August 18, Hickory Ridge held its annual Sunday School-Church picnic at Martinak State Park, near Denton, with about 56 attending. We're especially grateful to Allen and Shirley Everline who went early to prepare the grills and fix the hot dogs and hamburgers.

Our WMS has been sponsoring a Bakeless Sale for the carpet fund.

Nora Kay Cannon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Cannon, spent the time from August 15 to Aug. 19 as one of Delaware's delegates to the National Institute of Cooperative Education at Texas A. and M.
