Farmers Meet Governor & Council

DOVER. Governor Pete DuPont met with members of the Governor's Council on Agriculture and agribusiness leaders from the state Tuesday night at the state's Office of Department of Agriculture.

Among the leaders of the farming industry who did most of the talking for the farming sector was Wayne Eakin of near Greenwood.

From an extensive interview previously reported in this paper, Eakin's position on 100 percent parity was viewed. He told those gathered Tuesday night that the 100 percent parity was a necessity for farmers to survive.

Eakin speaks for over 200 Delaware farmers who feel the government will have to increase the farmer's share of what he proportionately gets from his harvest or the farmer will possibly go on strike until something is done.

Also present Tuesday night was John Walton of near Magnolia, another farming leader, one of the area's largest potato growers and a member of the Governor's Council.

While most of the farmers felt the parity issue was more or less a bargaining point, the chief point to be agreed upon was the need to revive a good export market.

DuPont criticized the three embargos put on by the Federal government in the past. He cited reason for developing an export market and said he felt there were countries who would buy wheat and other grains overseas.

Walton pointed out the need to not only aid the farmers in the crops he produces but also pointed out that the farmer is one of the largest consumers in the world. Yet as a consumer, said Walton, the farmer pays more per gallon for gasoline delivered at the tank on his farm than the average consumer, to cite an example.

Walton also discussed the price of wheat and the cost of a loaf of bread. If wheat prices rise, let the loaf of bread go to $1 a loaf, said Walton.

A representative from Senator Joseph Biden's office offered information that the wheat market at the present time was glutted, which has caused the cost of wheat per bushel to go down.

This comment fostered another question to the Governor, Senators Roth and Biden's representatives about government subsidies.

At the end of the meeting Governor DuPont told those gathered that he was not nor had he ever been a farmer, but if he ever got into farming he would not seek nor want government intervention.

Some criticized this statement, but the Governor answered by saying that too much government intervention was not what the farmers wanted. According to DuPont, the less government intervention the better.

When Wayne Eakin stated that the farmers are "going broke" and that they need help from the federal government, Senator Biden's representative suggested the farmers in financial jeopardy get a small business loan and destructive relief loans. Eakin replied that a farmer would have to be on his way out before the government would do anything and by then it might be too late. He also added that the American public feels that way. He concluded that sometimes it takes a very long time in order to obtain the financing and by that time it might be too late to save the business.

At the end of the meeting Eakin asked Governor DuPont if he supported the parity suggestion offered by the farmers. The Governor said that he did not because of the government intervention that would result.

Not all farmers present were in favor of the parity movement, including Joe Hughes, a local farmer.

John Walton pointed out the simple common sense version of fuel adjustment which the power companies have used and gotten away with is that "...we (the farmers) should ask the federal government for energy adjustments because of great deals of money spent each year for production."

Walton continued, "...the farmers are your largest consumers, and they need to be protected to that extent."

As Walton summed it up, the farmers are asked or forced to market times at a figure below market level which after a time will have drastic economic effects.

The farmers showed up last Friday at the Milford Chamber of Commerce Harvest luncheon to state their case to the visiting official from the federal department of Agriculture. The group of farmers, numbering over 200 in the state of Delaware, are pushing their case for a better deal for the farmers.

Fire Company Announces Open House

October 16 has been set for the annual Harrington Volunteer Fire Company's open house. It will climax Fire Prevention Week, which is from October 9 to the 15th.

For the second year the company will hold open house at their station on Mechanic Street beginning at 2 p.m.

Attractions of interest to both young and old are promised to be available.

One of the major attractions of the day will be a demonstration by the Robbins Hose Volunteer Fire Department of Dover whose ladder drill team will demonstrate using their aerial ladder truck.

The demonstration is designed to show the type of firefighting equipment now available and what can be done with it.

Tentative plans also are being made to have the State Fire Equipment Company of Dover present with a home and commercial fire extinguisher display.

Rescue Captain Gary Minner of the local company will be on hand to demonstrate the company's Hurst tool, an important aid used primarily for removing auto accident victims from their vehicles.

Ambulance Captain Carl Wright has planned a first aid demonstration and the new ambulance will also be on display to visitors.

Films for adults and children dealing with fire prevention will be shown periodically during the open house.

An annual favorite, Smokey the Bear, will also be on hand.

Another thrill for youngsters is the ride on the fire engine, which the firemen will provide if the children are supervised.

The annual fire hose contest will again be held among Harrington, Felton, Frederica, Houston, Farmington and Milford companies. At present Harrington holds the plaque, which goes to the winner of the contest each year.

Refreshments will once again be served by the Harrington Volunteer Fire Company's Ladies Auxiliary throughout the program.

In relation to Fire Prevention Week, on Wednesday, October 12 the Delaware Safety Council is asking all families to practice their exit program from their homes in case of fire. At 8 p.m. the local fire siren will sound three times to signal the start of the drill.

See the related message on page four of this paper on suggestions regarding home fire drills. Any further assistance may be obtained by calling the local fire department or fire prevention chairman Ray Blanchette at 398-3225.

MMH Has Cancer Control Center

Milford Memorial Hospital is planning a comprehensive Cancer Control Program Center, it was announced this week.

Mrs. Doris Hatfield, R.N., Oncology Resource Nurse, and Mrs. Carole R. Gibson, R.N., Nurse Coordinator in Kent and Sussex Counties for the Delaware Cancer Network, are using the facilities of Milford Memorial Hospital as headquarters.

Mrs. Hatfield works closely with Dr. Robert Frellick who is Chief Oncologist at Wilmington Medical Center and Deputy Director of the Delaware Cancer Network. She is in charge of the Cancer Network Tumor Control Clinics which are held twice a month in each of the four lower Delaware hospitals. The clinics are designed to provide chemotherapy methods employed by the physician. It has been previously necessary for these patients to travel to Wilmington for treatment. They may now go to Milford Memorial or any of the three other hospitals.

The work of the clinic is under the guidance of the Delaware Cancer Network Tumor Control Center Program which is funded by the National Cancer Institute. The research done by the Cancer Network is vital to the never-ending search for new possibilities for the prevention and cure of cancer.

Mrs. Gibson's work involves the education of nursing staffs of lower Delaware hospitals in their role in the care of the cancer patient.

James Rash Named To Star Club

James W. Rash of 5 Dickerson Street, Harrington, has qualified as a member of the 1977 Star Club of New York Life Insurance Company.

The Star Club is composed of New York Life Agents who achieved significant sales records in 1976-77. Mr. Rash is a representative of the company's Wilmington General Office.

Mr. Rash and his wife, Thelma, are long-time residents of the Harrington area. He is presently vice president of the Kent-Sussex Life Underwriters Association and a director of the Delaware State Life Underwriters Association.

Ward Exhibition Set

Despite the recent disastrous flash fire that reduced to ashes the older, larger portion of the Salisbury Youth and Civic Center, the tenth annual Ward Foundation's Wildfowl Carving and Art Exhibition will proceed as scheduled, October 7, 8, and 9.

It will be held in the Carriage House on Winter Place Farm, located three miles east of Salisbury on the north side of Route 50. James Caine, owner of the property, has made the seldom-seen structure available to the Foundation for the show. It is a large building, with 25,000 square feet, and a nearby Gift Shop, with 7,000 square feet will also be used. There is parking space for over 1,500 cars and food service will be furnished.

During the ten years of the history of the exhibition, the Foundation has been influential in advancing the state of the art of wildfowl carving from the traditional decoy into today's more elaborate decorative styled carvings. All sorts of wild birds will be displayed in carving and painting.

Hours for the exhibition Schools Close Early

Schools of the Lake Forest School District will dismiss their pupils at 12 noon on Wednesday, October 5, in order to provide an inservice day for teachers and administrators.

are Friday and Saturday from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m., and on Sunday from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Admission for adults is $2, for students $1 and children are free with adults.

The Wildfowl Museum will be open during these same hours. It is in Holloway Hall at the College, and admission here is $1 for adults. The Museum features a sound and color slide show on the story of the decoy and contains displays of both the older, classic hunting decoys of the nineteenth century and today, and the best of today's more elaborate, larger decorative carvings.

To reach the exhibition, proceed on the Salisbury-Ocean highway (rt. 50) east. The Winter Place Farm is on the north side, about three miles from Salisbury. The museum at Salisbury State College is just off Rt. 13 at the south end of Salisbury, turn west at College Avenue.

Local Bike Thefts Are On Rise

On Sept. 27, police received a complaint from Donna Wyatt, Harrington, concerning the theft of 2 bicycles from her front porch. One was a 26 in. 3-speed, the other a 16 in. bike. Both were taken from the front porch during the night or early morning. One bike was registered. The incident is under investigation.

On Sept. 27, Doris Greenley of Harrington also reported the theft of 2 bikes. Both were 26 in.

John Lord, Superintendent of Postal Operations at the Harrington Post Office, stands with a certificate which was presented to his last Tuesday by postmaster Howard Dill in appreciation for his 32 years of service. Mr. Lord will retire this Friday. [Staff Photo by Ray Blanchette]

Lord Retires

John L. Lord, Superintendent of Postal Operations at the Harrington Post Office, will retire as of Friday, October 7.

Mr. Lord, 55, has worked in the post office since April 1, 1950 and including his time in the service, has served the government for over 32 years.

He began in 1950 as a substitute clerk and carrier and on June 30th of the same year was appointed as a regular clerk.

In March of 1966 he was made Assistant to the Postmaster and in 1969 he was named Assistant Postmaster. In January of 1976 the title of Assistant Postmaster was eliminated and the title was changed to Superintendent of Postal Operations.

Mr. Lord, who was born and raised in Harrington, was awarded a Superior Performance Certificate in 1963 and along with the certificate, received a cash award and a lapel pin.

He was presented with a certificate last Tuesday by postmaster Howard Dill in appreciation for his 32 years of service to the government. His fellow employees also presented him with a gold watch.

Mr. Lord has two daughters and six grandchildren.

William Welch Marks 80th Birthday

On Saturday, October 1, W. Carroll Welch Sr. was surprised at a covered dish dinner by his 10 children and their families. They are: Mr. and Mrs. Paul Welch of Bear; Mr. and Mrs. William Welch of Woodside; Mr. and Mrs.

Mrs. Pauline Gartner, Mrs. Joan Viggiani, both of Ft. Lauderdale, Fla.;

Mrs. Evelyn Goodson of Jacksonville, Fla., was unable to attend as she had made an earlier trip home this summer. However, a tape recorded birthday message from her was played as a part of the celebration.

Cake and homemade ice cream were served after the dinner. Due to some of the granddaughters' efforts, the lovely decorations added to the festive air.

Born Oct. 6, 1897 near Denton, Md., Mr. Welch moved to Delaware as a young man in the early 1900's. In 1921 he married Mildred Elizabeth Wix.

Mr. Welch and his wife farmed in the Harrington and Felton area until 1955 when he retired and moved to Harrington.

Questions and Answers about Engineers

Q - Are Women welcome in engineering?

A - Yes. And they are coming into the field in ever-increasing numbers. Although only a bit more than one percent of all engineers are women, they now make up about 10 percent of entering engineering students. On some engineering campuses, women make up a fifth or more of the class. For the past five years, women have received slightly higher salary offers than men - a difference of a few dollars a month.

Q - How much math is required?

A - This depends in part on the field of engineering you wish to study. It is a good idea to have four solid years of high school math behind you before going to engineering school. If you have had only three, but did well, select a school that gives you a year of higher math before starting on standard physics. Some schools insist you take them simultaneously.

Q - My combined SAT score is about 1,000. Is that good enough?

A - Just barely for most engineering schools. As you might expect, engineers score far higher on the math SAT's than do liberal arts majors. Surprisingly, however, engineers also do slightly better than average on the verbal half of the test.

Q - Are engineers licensed?

A - All states, Washington, D.C., Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands, Guam, and the Canal Zone have engineering registration boards. If you intend to practice as an independent consultant, or in fields connected directly with construction, it is almost always necessary to get a P.E. (for Professional Engineer) license. It is recommended that college seniors take the Engineer-in-Training exam.

Approximately five years after finishing college, you sit for the P.E. test. Engineers in industry are not required to take the P.E. exam, although in Montana even manufacturing concerns must have designs approved by at least one P.E. on their staff. Other states may follow the Montana example. About a third of all engineers have the P.E. now.

Q - What is the technology degree?

A - The bachelor's of science in engineering technology (B.E.T. or B.S.E.T.) curriculum has less math and theoretical science content than a standard engineering degree.

B.E.T.'s, who are often people who originally enrolled in pure engineering programs, but who left because they decided engineering wasn't for them, often take advanced business or law degrees, or work in engineering sales. B.E.T.'s are growing in number, about 3,000 graduate annually (versus 40,000 engineers). In 1976, a higher proportion of B.E.T.'s found work by the end of their senior year, than had engineers. But starting salaries were $2,000 less per year, on the average.

The Bible Study this week was well attended and enjoyed by the members. Our many thanks to Mrs. Clara Judy, Mrs. Amy Price and Mr. Sam Short for their time and effort this past two months.

The Kitchen Band is improving all the time, with patience and practice. If all goes as planned they will play at Wesley College on Sat. Oct. 8.

The ceramics are busily being made for the bazaar to be held later.

State Police Sgt. Sterling, who was to speak on Wednesday was canceled. There was a movie shown instead with Bingo later.

The crib sheets for Dover Day Care Center have been completed and returned to R.S.V.P. at Dover.

Mrs. Vineyard is still busy helping to teach crocheting and knitting. The sick are slowly improving. Mrs. Katie Austin is still confined to bed at home. Mrs. Emo Tee is improving at the latest report.

Mrs. Roxann Brown is better at this time, but is still hospitalized. Mrs. Eleora Vincent is still not able to come in to the center as yet.

The Bowlers and Shoppers went to Milford as usual, Friday. Mrs. Mariam Rasmus was high lady, Mr. Tony Dulik was high man this week.

Don't forget the plant sale Thursday, October 6, at the center. All are welcome. 10:00 A.M. until 3:00.

A 1976 graduate of Lake Forest High School, he joined the Navy in October 1976.

FOOD MARKETING ALERT

USDA Agricultural Marketing Service

As of mid-September, the October supply situation looks like this . . .

RED MEATS

Beef . . . plentiful. Production to be 2-4% below record Oct. 1976 level but about 3% above the 1974-76 average for the month. Smaller output of grass-fed beef is expected to account for most of the decline from levels of a year earlier.

Pork . . . plentiful. Production to increase seasonally and average about 4% above the 1974-76 average for the month.

POULTRY & EGGS

Broiler-fryers . . . plentiful. Oct. marketing rates to be about 1% above year earlier but 12% above the 1974-76 average for October.

Turkey . . . adequate. Oct. marketing rates up 2% from a year ago and 8% higher than the Oct. 1974-76 average. Oct. 1 cold storage holdings may be below last year's level and about 5% under the Oct. 1974-76 average.

Eggs . . . adequate. Oct. output about 1% above a year earlier and nearly 2% above the Oct. 1974-76 average.

MILK & DAIRY PRODUCTS

Milk and dairy products . . . plentiful. Milk production approaching its seasonal low but should remain well above Oct. 1976 and the Oct. average for 1974-76. Heavy commercial stocks of manufactured dairy products and sluggish commercial use is expected to result in excess supplies of butter, cheese and nonfat dry milk. Preliminary figures for Aug. 1977 indicate butter production was more than 20% higher than Aug. 1976 and about 20% above the Aug. 1974-76 average. Preliminary figures for Aug. 1977 show American cheese production down 8% from Aug. 1976, although about 8% above the Aug. 1974-76 average. Nonfat dry milk production for July was 25% above July 1976 and 18% above the July 1974-76 level.

FRUITS, VEGETABLES, NUTS

Fresh apples and pears . . . plentiful. Bartlett pears will still be available in addition to Anjou and Bosc, the major winter varieties. Fresh grapes and cranberries . . . adequate. Cranberry harvest, which began in Sept., will be well underway in Oct. Fresh oranges and grapefruit . . . adequate. New-season supplies from Florida and Texas will supplement remainder of California's crop.

Frozen concentrated orange juice . . . light.

Dried prunes . . . adequate. California's 1977 production to be 5% more than last year and 2% above the 1975 crop. Raisins . . . light.

Canned and frozen vegetables . . . mostly adequate with several principal items in plentiful supply. Frozen broccoli and corn-on-cob . . . plentiful. Canned sweet corn, tomatoes and tomato products . . . plentiful.

plentiful. Frozen potatoes . . . plentiful. The end-of-July inventory totaled a third above average.

Fresh potatoes . . . plentiful. Fall production may be down slightly from last fall's record but slightly above average. Fresh onions . . . plentiful. Summer onion production in states where storage onions are grown is estimated at only 2% less than the 1976 record, but 9% above the 1974-76 average.

Peanuts . . . plentiful. However, end-of-July commercial stocks were about 24% lower than a year earlier and the 1977 crop will be about 12% below 1976.

Almonds . . . plentiful. The 1977 crop is record high, about 9% above 1976. Walnuts . . . plentiful. The 1977 production to be about 15% above 1976.

GRAINS & LEGUMES

Rice . . . adequate. The 1977 crop forecast at 15% below 1976, which was 9% below the record crop of 1975. This would be 15% below the 1974-76 average.

Wheat . . . plentiful for U.S. food needs. 1977 production forecast at 5% below last year's record but slightly above the 1974-76 average.

Corn . . . plentiful for U.S. food needs. 1977 production forecast slightly above last year's record but 12% above the 1974-76 average.

Dry beans . . . plentiful for most classes. 1977 production forecast at 1% below 1976 and 6% below the 1974-76 average.

Dry split peas . . . light. 1977 production now forecast at 55% below 1976, due to drought in Northwest, the major U.S. production area.

Baby Shower Held

On September 22 Women of the Harrington Moose, Chapter 1229, held a baby shower for co-worker, Clara Lee Melvin. We had to wait a little while due to a mix-up of timing, but everything was fine.

She received lovely gifts and a nice lunch was served.

Everyone enjoyed the affair. According to the group, all they need is a fine set of twins!

'Autumn Harvest' 4-H Achievement Banquet Held

Georgetown - Colorful marigolds, a straw scarecrow, friendly smiles and excited 4-H'ers were only a few of the interesting sights at the 1977 "Autumn Harvest" 4-H Achievement Banquet. Kim Knopp served as emcee for the evening. Following the flag and 4-H Pledge, led by Connie Eskridge, Mike Pavlik, Pam Knopp and Sam Hopkins, a delicious meal was served. Before the evening program, the 400 4-H'ers, parents and leaders were led by Pam Correll, Carla Vanderwende, Marian Hopkins and Karen Moore in group singing.

Excitement filled the room as County Awards were presented! To qualify for an award, you must fill out a project record book. Those 4-H'ers receiving an award in one project area were: Dress Revue; Tawn Crosby, Breads; Dawn Dorman, Foods; Terri Grove, Horse; Lamonde Hammond, Dress Revue; Brent Hopkins, Woodworking; Sam Hopkins, Dairy; Ann Houtman, Clothing; David Hudson, Petroleum Power; Sarah Hukill, Sheep; Heidi Inderbitzen, Dress Revue; Hilo Iwato, Public Speaking; Gail Justice, Food Preservation; Eddie Justice, Bee Keeping; Scott Mitchell, Poultry; Tracy Mundorf, Conservation; Faith McIlvaine, Horticulture; Karen Moore, Home Management; Amanda Nicholson, Foods; Carlton Parker, Photography; Kay Pratt, Horse;

Achievement and Citizenship; Karen Taylor, Clothing, Public Speaking, Consumer Education, Food Preservation, Foods, Dress Revue and Achievement. Eight awards: Carla Vanderwende, Sheep, Foods, Leadership, Clothing, Health, Rabbits, Achievement and Citizenship.

Ten special trophies were awarded to the following: "Learning the 4-H Way, (Girls) Melissa Wilson and runner-up, Candee Clifton. "Learning the 4-H Way, (Boys) Jeff Allen and runner up Eddie McDowell.

Dairy Judging, Sam Hopkins; Poultry Judging, Darree Palmer; Field Crops Judging, Landy Correll; Horticulture Display, Faith McIlvaine; Horticulture Judging, Tracy Pavlik; and Livestock Judging, Sharon Elliott.

Trophies were sponsored by William Vanderwende & Son, A. W. Perdue and Sons, and Mr. and Mrs. Dennard R. Hill. It's great to see the support from local residents.

The highlight of the evening was when the 1977 State Winners were named by Jim Baker, state 4-H leader. These 4-H'ers have a trip to Chicago awaiting them. Those delegates from Sussex will be: Agriculture, Earl Lookerman; Consumer Education, Karen Taylor; Foods and Nutrition, Janet Cannon; Electricity, Mike Pavlik; Home Management, Connie Eskridge; Dairy, Sam Hopkins; Sheep, Jim Hukill.

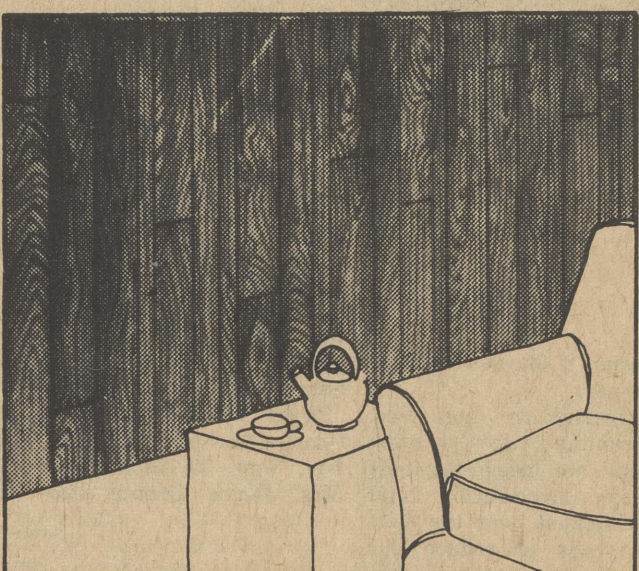

Junior Leader and Club Leader Awards were then presented by Ted Palmer and Pam Correll. Eleven clubs did the excellent job in receiving a blue seal. Among these were: Bridgeville Livewires, Bridgeville Wildcats, Broadkill, Dublin Hill, Greenwood Hi-Flyers, Holymount, Lord Baltimore, Sandy Fields, Seaford Blue Jays, State Line and Sycamore.

Receiving red seals were: Bridgeville Pioneers, Cokesbury, Millsboro Hardy Helpers, Mt. Pleasant and Trinity Tigers.

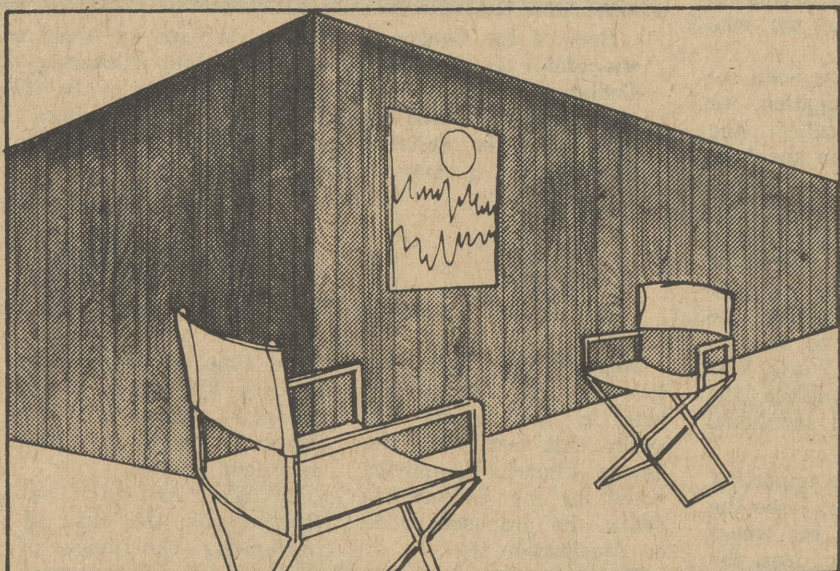

Those 4-H'ers receiving their Junior Leader Pins were: Faith McIlvaine, Carlton Parker, Cindy Baynard, Keith Warrington, Kenny Cannon, Stephanie Truitt, Amanda Nicholson, Tracey Pavlik, Vance Phillips, Sue Cooper, Tawn Crosby, Kirk Messick, Eddie Justice, Gail Justice and Nikita Fletcher. Each Junior Leader should be congratulated on a job well done.

Receiving 30 year clovers were leaders Virginia Melson, Ann Tucker and John Hastings. Edna Hill and Mabel Lambden received silver engraved bowls for their 45 years of service.

Each year six new members are inducted into the Links' Association. The Links have a very important role in the 4-H program. They act as an alumni, organizing many activities throughout the year. The chain will be strengthened this year by Virgil Cannon, Carla Vanderwende, Jack Taylor, Cindy Moore, Steve Cooper and Kim Knopp.

"...raising prices is not the answer..."

Although behind us now, the Bert Lance story still surfaces again and again. It wasn't a week after Lance was forced out of office that new government figures released indicated that some $61 billion of indebtedness had just been forecast for "...not now... mind you..." but on the heads of our grandchildren. This of course would include people like me who don't have grandchildren yet.

It is too bad these figures could not have been released prior to or during the Lance investigation, we might have been able to try the real culprit...the Federal government...or the politicians who spent us into debt.

With the Lance matter, the Panama Canal fiasco, and the set backs to agri-business, we the people seek a simple solution to the problem. No one simple answer can solve the problems facing our society today. For the most part this country as well as the rest of the world has a tremendous debt to service. For instance we are still paying debts of World War II. There is a tremendous need to balance the budgets on the federal, state, local and individual levels.

I favor subsidies to the farmers for it is important for this segment of our economy to prosper. I see the farmer's argument in many cases for as his wheat prices rise per bushel...correspondingly so does the loaf of bread, and I see his argument when wheat prices per bushel fall, why doesn't the cost of a loaf of bread fall as well? It doesn't take any more wheat to make a loaf of bread when prices are high as when they are low, particularly since there is only a cup of flour to a loaf of bread. Why doesn't the cost of bread go down then when the cost of wheat goes down? I guess that you can't cause the price to drop because once wages take a hike as a result of high prices for farm products, you cannot lower them. The answer is that the cost of bread won't come down...in that case the bread company goes out of business.

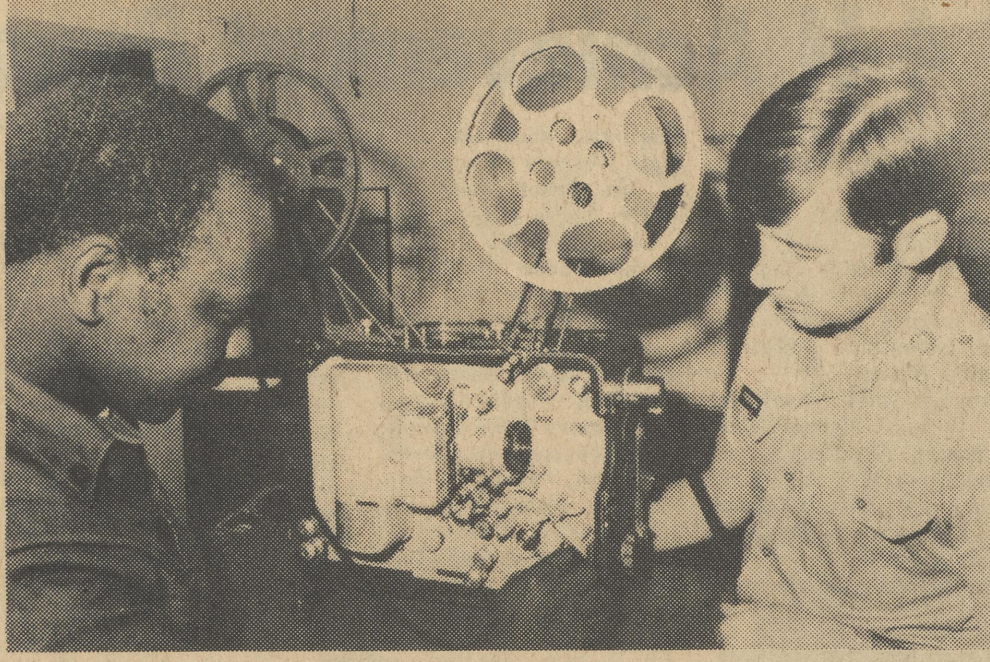

The answer is not in raising prices, however. This only created another problem...a chain reaction of correspondingly higher prices with related businesses. No problem in this related area gets solved. My grandfather used to say it is not how much you make...it is how much you save. I think that you could refine the statement to meet modern trends by saying it is not how much you make...but how you budget it.

The answer for the problems which have beset the farmer is not in higher prices or in 100 percent parity. I agree this is all that he can harp on until someone over him comes up with the final solution. I grew up on a farm. I remember picking tomatoes for 15 cents a basket when the baskets cost 18 cents. That's right...I don't have it backwards. Only an insane person would try such a trick...but we tried it year after year until I said no more. If you want them picked for that then count me out. You can't do it and stay in business. You must make a profit...if you want to stay in business.

That brings up another point. Somewhere back down the line someone...(and then the entire world) got the idea that everyone should make a million dollars. If you did that your problems would be solved. The goal should not be to make more money...or to make a million dollars, but the importance of knowing the fundamentals and practicing them. Do your job-the money will follow. If a company can make a profit over last year's profit without cutting the payroll, without raising prices, then that is good business. To raise prices just because there is an imaginary force out there that dictates to raise prices...because everything is going up is not good for the economy.

So the answers are not in raising prices...but of finding ways to economize and save yet keep the economy going. The parity may be necessary at this time...but the parity alone is not the answer. The government should encourage the export trade again of grain and other farm products as a means to stimulate the farm economy. This is not the end of it, however.

There is something else, and that is the need to control the middle man. They are not to be controlled however, for the most part they are the union. The last time farmers got huge sums for their grain to be shipped abroad, George Meaney argued that the dock workers should get higher and higher wages. Was it necessary? Again the chief criteria seems to be make more money...for no other reason than to stack it higher and deeper. The national unions for the most part do very little good for the small man on the end of the stick. This man does what he is told for the most part to his detriment. The point is that it is not all the farmer's fault. There are many outside forces that have brought on the problem as well. But to raise prices alone is not the answer.

Thoughts

by Senator Bill Roth

Many of you who are following the energy debate in the Senate are aware that last week the Senate Finance Committee voted for my proposal to defeat the proposed crude oil equalization tax.

The tax, which the Administration labeled 'the centerpiece' of President Carter's energy program, was defeated by a bi-partisan vote of 11-6 (with four Democrats voting against it.)

I proposed that the Committee delete the tax proposal from the energy bill because I believe strongly that what this country needs to get our economy back on its feet is a permanent tax cut, not a massive multi-billion dollar tax increase, which is what this proposal was. Of course, there is a chance that this proposal will be resurrected as the debate continues, but I believe that a tax opposed by virtually every segment of society, like this one was, deserves a permanent burial.

The AFL-CIO, the U.S. Chamber of Commerce and a variety of consumer groups all opposed the crude oil tax because it would produce no real energy savings. At the same time it would have imposed $39 billion in increased taxes on the American people over the next four years.

As the AFL-CIO has pointed out, the tax, by increasing the price of domestic oil to the price of OPEC oil, will "delegate to the OPEC nations the power to determine domestic energy prices."

That would put us completely at the mercy of the OPEC cartel who would, in effect, be telling the U.S. Treasury Department how much revenue it needs and therefore, how much the American people are to be taxed.

The crude oil tax, as passed by the House, would extend the tax through September 30, 1981. But the Administration version of the proposal would extend it through 1985, thus taxing the American people an additional $92 billion, or $1,112 per family.

Most importantly, the Administration doesn't seem sure it knows what to do with all that money. They have talked about rebating some of it to the taxpayers, letting half go for energy development and about the possibility of using it for new welfare schemes.

I believe we must first determine how much money we need for new energy production and development over the next few years to reduce our dependence on foreign oil. Then, if we need a tax to reach our goals, I believe the American people would support it.

At a time when our economy urgently needs a tax cut, I cannot accept and I do not think the American people will accept the cart before the horse on a matter as important as energy.

The Evans Report

by Congressman Tom Evans

The textile fiber industry is vital to Delaware's economic well-being. I am deeply concerned that jobs in our State's man-made textile fiber industry are being threatened by the rising tide of textile and apparel imports. Delaware provides a large share of the fibers used in American textile mills.

Because of the economic impact of textile fibers on Delaware, this week on the floor of the House of Representatives, I urged the Administration to support the domestic fiber industry against the encroachment of foreign imports.

Imported textile fibers and apparel not only jeopardize American jobs, they also have a significant impact on the balance of trade. During 1976 the deficit in textile products was 26 percent of the entire U.S. trade deficit.

If the U.S. does not have a strong textile/apparel industry we could one day be subjected to the sort of price escalation of imported apparel that we face today on such commodities as oil and coffee.

There are several steps which can be taken to alleviate this problem.

From The Frying Pan

By Margo Farrow

Be at ease, Delaware, the ghost of Caesar Rodney may vindicate us yet!

Recently when placing a business call to Chicago, Ill., we told the receptionist who answered we were calling from Delaware. When she asked what state we were calling from, we told her, "Delaware, the state, the first state."

The next question really unsettled us, however, when this same person queried, "Where is it?" So, as our voice rose a little shrilly we told her "It's on the east coast!"

Here we are, floundering in state red ink, and in the throes of cries for prison reform and a possible farmers' strike. It boggles our mind to know that not only did she not know where Harrington (the first part we could excuse), was, she couldn't locate the state either. After all, everyone vaguely knows where Chicago, Ill. is.

In the days of global shrinkage, it seems that people living in the country should at least generally know where the states are located.

It may also underline the need for stress on 'basic' education.

Seriously, however, we think perhaps it's out of our hands. When Delaware is facing one of its darker hours, does it need to be undergoing an identity crisis as well?

Caesar Rodney, Delaware needs you! Next week-who is Caesar Rodney?

Weekly Report

by Senator Joe Biden

I am more than ever convinced that there is a growing sentiment throughout the State and around the country for less government, more efficient government, less costly government, and less intrusion into people's lives by government. I don't believe that this sentiment is going to go away. In fact, I think that it is getting stronger and that it is the responsibility of those of us in the Congress to try and do something about it.

That is why last week I testified before the Senate Rules Committee on behalf of the Federal Spending Control Act which I have introduced. I think this legislation will benefit all taxpayers. It should help assure better service for the dollar and fewer dollars spent.

Specifically, this legislation will require a review every four years of each Federal spending program to determine whether it serves a useful purpose. If it does not, the program to determine whether it serves a useful purpose. If it does not, the program will automatically terminate. In addition, every new spending program will have to be compared in relation to existing programs to be sure that it is really needed. We must not only review existing programs in order to weed out the wasteful ones but we also must stop enacting them in the first place.

This bill will also stop another fiscally irresponsible practice of authorizing new spending programs without putting a ceiling on the annual spending. It will require that any bill which authorizes spending must state the maximum amount that can be spent in any year.

For Your Information
 Dear friends,
 To be kind, considerate and thoughtful in the little things of life is one sure way to recognize that such an individual would meet the greater challenge, were it within his or her power. It is not possible for all of us to contribute equally, in a monetary sense, to a worthy cause. It is, however, possible for any of us to be generous of spirit in our everyday living and in our dealings with others. Let us strive to do just that.
 Respectfully,
William H. Miller

Spartans Outrun Smyrna

Jim Blades' Lake Forest cross-country Spartans have not lost a dual meet since 1975. Lake Forest defeated an improving Smyrna High septet by 23-35 at Killen's Pond State Park on Monday.

Just two days earlier, the Spartans had won a nine-school, three-state invitational meet at the same location. Smyrna was one of the also-rans in that meet.

The first impression this observer received on Monday was that Lake Forest was running poorly after having responded so well to the pressure from all sides just two days earlier.

A check of the clockings revealed that Lake Forest runners were running even faster, in most cases, than they had done previously, but Smyrna was a much stronger team, than they had appeared to be in the 9-team meet.

Spartan superman, Dan Parker, was 40 seconds ahead of McDonald of Smyrna to easily gain individual honors. Parker did 2 and seven tenths miles in 14.39. Louis Thomas improved 14 seconds to become a close third. Jeff Thornbury of the Red-and-White was fourth. Wilson Fry, in fifth, was only one second behind Saturday's clocking, while sophomore Billy Mitchell gained three seconds.

Vernon of Smyrna was seventh, Ott of Lake Forest, Dave Richter of Lake Forest and Ranshaw of Smyrna, completed the top ten harriers. Ott ran 11 seconds faster than on Saturday.

On Thursday, Seaford High forfeited to Lake Forest, giving the Spartans a 3-0 record this fall.

Lake Forest was not extended in annexing the jayvee test. Improving sophomore Doug Caskey ran the 2.7 miles distance in 16.58. Eugene Butler was second, while Lee Turner turned in his best performance ever to come in three seconds later.

Other Spartans to perform well against Smyrna were: Pete Fraley, Bruce Humphrey, Randy Rameriz, Charles McDougall and Doug and John Veith.

David Bullock and Doug Stevens were one second apart as leading W.T. Chipman School harriers. Robbie Manaraze, a 4-foot-8-inch, 79-pound dynamo, is in the seventh grade and is a Frederica neighbor of Coach Jim Blades. Like Bullock and Stevens, he is an excellent prospect. This trio along with talented runners like Chris Caskey, Jerry Mosely, Maurice Coverdale and Derrick Chodkiewicz, should help keep Lake Forest's cross-country team on the winning track through 1982. That would give the local school 25 consecutive winning seasons.

Sherry Colburn continues to lead Chipman's girl runners. Sherry has a Norman Christic, Spartan fighter for the ball against Caesar Rodney, is shown during the contest between the two schools Saturday morning. John Yoieman scored the lone Spartan goal, to tie the score for the Spartans during the first half of play. Caesar Rodney scored six more goals in the second half to win 7-1.

LF Third In 5-State Meet

Dan Parker's picture window in his Clark's Corner home, features a few of the many individual trophies he's picked up in five years of superb distance running. He usually brings home some hardware whenever he is competing where awards are given. At the same time the trophy shelves at Lake Forest High are overflowing with team trophies, many of which the fleet Harringtonian has helped win with his stellar running.

Saturday Parker slogged through the rain and muck at Brandywine Creek State Park to finish second to Cape Henlopen's state champion, Lance White, of Slaughter Neck, near Milford, is the only Delaware harrier rated superior to Parker.

Danny was competing in a field of nineteen teams and 132 runners. The Spartans won this event known as the Salesianum Cross-country Invitational, Division "B" in 1976, but were third this time behind first-year entries, Holy Cross of Delran, N.J. and Centramirson, N.J. High. Other areas of the meet were Pennsylvania, Maryland and Washington, D. C.

Wilson Fry, who was the second Spartan to finish in the recent Lake Forest Invitational, was bothered by a chest cold and could not complete the hilly, near-three-mile course. With Fry healthy, the locals would probably have been a strong second to Holy Cross.

Parker, in second place and Louis Thomas in fifteenth, were the only downstaters other than White, to earn medals. However, the Lake Forest team captured the third and final team trophy, while Parker, Thomas, Dave Richter (18th), Bill Mitchell (26th), Tom Ott (45th), Kelly Woodward (46th), and Fry each received lettered Salesianum Invitational T-shirts.

Coach Blades was pleased by his team's valiant, though short-handed performance. Sophomore Mitchell has shown steady improvement since he started running in the seventh grade. He seldom turns in a bad performance. 16th in the Lake Forest Invitational, 63 man test, his 26th place in a 132-man field was a far better outing even if one does not consider that this time he was facing better runners than he raced at Killen's Pond.

Senior Dave Richter returned to form with a very fine effort. Ott and by Harry G. Farrow, Jr.

Charlie Glotzbach, former NAPA National 500 winner and one of the hardest driving competitors in NASCAR history, has entered the $129,000 World Service Life 300 Late Model Sportsman race set for Saturday, Oct. 8, at Charlotte Motor Speedway. "Chargin' Charlie" is ticketed to drive a Ford prepared by Junie Donlavey's Truxmore team from Richmond, Va. Glotzbach, a grading contractor from Georgetown, Ind., will be making his first NASCAR appearance of the 1977 season.

Glotzbach has not participated in a Grand National race since the 1976 World 600 at Harrisburg, N.C., but he has been active in non-NASCAR events around Louisville Bowling Green (Ky.) this summer.

"I have raced in 18 short track events around home so far this season," Glotzbach said, "and I've won fifteen. I've been busy with my business and hadn't given superspeedway racing much thought. When Junie (Donlavey) called me about driving his car and told me how much money was in the Charlotte purse I changed my mind."

Glotzbach did not rule out the possibility of his participation in the $250,000 NAPA National 500 set for Sunday, Oct. 9, over the CMS layout, but he said "the chances of my racing in the 500 are very slim."

"Charlotte was my best speedway when I was in Grand National racing," he said, "but I have no plans to race in the NAPA 500. The only thing that would change my mind would be if a first-class Grand National car capable of winning would be available... and there are none."

The NASCAR decision which declared David Pearson "ineligible at this time" - 9-19- for the World Service Life 300 because of the "ten race rule" does not in any way influence his eligibility to compete in the NAPA National 500 Grand National event. Pearson will drive the Purolator Mercury prepared by the Wood Brothers in the 500-miler, contrary to a number of erroneous published reports.

For 17 years the annual October 500-mile Grand National race at Charlotte Motor Speedway was traditionally the biggest weekend during the last leg of competition on NASCAR's Winston Cup schedule.

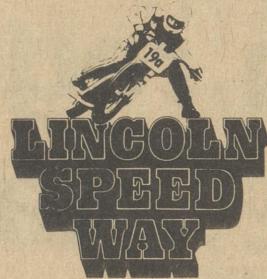

The premier World Service Life 300/NAPA National 500 weekend, with more than $379,000 in prize money up for grabs during two frantic days of racing, has become one of the richest and most competitive highlights of the entire stock car racing season.

The October 8th World Service Life 300 Late Model Sportsman race features a $129,000 purse, by far the largest in the history of NASCAR's Late Model Sportsman Division. The $250,000 October 9th NAPA National 500 is the 27th event in NASCAR's 30-race Winston Cup season.

Don't forget the covered dish supper coming up on Sunday at 5:30 in the educational building of Greenwood Church. This will start the Evangelistic Crusade with Earl Tyson. Services in the sanctuary at 7:30.

Report from Hickory Ridge Congregational Methodist Church: We have received a letter from the Delaware Home & Hospital at Smyrna thanking us for the volunteer service that we give them. They are also requesting our help with gifts for the patients at Christmas time. They will appreciate items like laprobes or booties, also toiletries, cosmetics, writing paper, checkers, games, etc. This may seem early, but we want to give you time to plan for the happiness of others.

Mrs. Hildred Collins of Greenwood and Miss Mari-an Harper of Hurlock, Md. toured Niagra Falls, Toronto, Canada and Montreal for seven days.

inger and Garith spent the weekend in Pennsylvania and returned home Sunday evening bringing Gary's mother, Mrs. William Bollinger, home with them for a week's visit.

Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Hatfield and Mrs. Betty Johnston of Milford were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Mays of Claymont, at the Holiday Inn in Pocomoke City.

Cheer Center: Week of Sept. 26-30 We are glad to report that Mrs. Delema Smith and Mrs. Beatrice Horner were RSVP guests of Miss Ada Mae Warrington at Rehoboth Beach Guest House for the weekend.

Seventeen members from the Georgetown Center and their site manager, Mrs. Iva Hedges, were guests of the Greenwood Center to help us celebrate our September birthdays at our party. Prizes and gifts were received by participants from each Center. The party was climaxed by cake and ice cream and a song fest which was enjoyed by everyone.

Mrs. Gladys Yeako was here Wednesday, Sept. 28 to initiate new ideas for crafts for Christmas.

We have reservations for a bus load to help us enjoy the fall trip to Westmoreland, Va., the birthplace of George Washington. Mrs. Evelyn Doughten and Mrs. Clem Smith will attend a nature craft workshop at Hockessin, sponsored by the Division of Aging. All crafts will be made using natural materials.

Visitors this week were Esther Cannon, Katherine Haymond, Anna English and Margaret Hartley.

Welcome to our new Outreach workers for the Greenwood area, Jane Abbott and Diana Stuart.

Those on the sick list are Mrs. Lena Barwick, Mr. Leon Wheaton and Mr. George Abraham.

Mr. and Mrs. Gary Davis and children and their guests, Hilary and Teddy Keith enjoyed Sunday dinner with Mr. and Mrs. Allison Davis.

Petty Disgusted

Waltrip Wins Wilkes 400

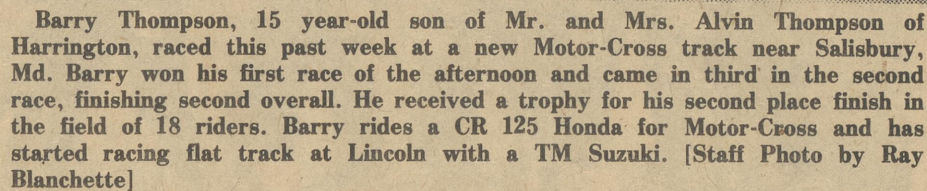

North Wilkesboro, N.C. - Darrell Waltrip won the Wilkes 400 Sunday by outlasting the challenge of Cale Yarborough. The Holly Farms ace could not get the car up to running par as it has been over the past several races. Yarborough has kept a blistering win pace going and has complained over the past few races where the race was on a short track but over a long distance. The loudest protest came after the Martinsville 500 where Petty car brushed Bobby Allison's car. Petty's car driving at a high rate of speed began a process of fish-tailing down the straightaway finally coming to a stop by shearing off

Richard Petty still suffering from broken ribs as a result of an accident in August, really had his car reved up and not only had lapped the field but was a half lap ahead of Waltrip when the Petty car brushed Bobby Allison's car. Petty's car driving at a high rate of speed began a process of fish-tailing down the straightaway finally coming to a stop by shearing off

Barry Thompson, 15 year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Thompson of Harrington, raced this past week at a new Motor-Cross track near Salisbury, Md. Barry won his first race of the afternoon and came in third in the second race, finishing second overall. He received a trophy for his second place finish in the field of 18 riders. Barry rides a CR 125 Honda for Motor-Cross and has started racing flat track at Lincoln with a TM Suzuki. (Staff Photo by Ray Blanchette)

Adios Frank Beats "Elsie"

By F. Gary Simpson

Although Adios Frank, the 4-year-old son of the great Adios Harry didn't break the track record at Harrington Raceway last Saturday night, he did have everyone in attendance on their feet and wildly cheering. The record at Harrington is 2:01 set by Chanak this past Spring, while "Frank" went the distance in 2:01 2/5.

Adios Frank, with game Jack Parker, Jr. driving broken leg and all, took the lead from the start over eventual second place finisher, Elsie Butler and never relinquished the top spot.

Track officials had put an extra $1,000 on the line should the race go in two minutes or better; this on top of a $10,400 purse being offered by the Delaware Standardbred Development Fund.

Adios Frank, owned and trained by Frank Quillen of Harrington, De. was never threatened, turning in fractions of :29 2/5, :57 4/5, 1:28 2/5. His total earnings are now over $50,000.

Woodbridge Advisory Council To Meet

The Woodbridge School District's ESEA Title I Parent Advisory Council will hold its first fall meeting at 7:30 p.m. on Wednesday, October 12 in the cafeteria at the Bridgeville Elementary School.

While a majority of the council's members must be parents of children in the district's Title I program, parents of children who are not in the Title I program may also serve on the council. Therefore, parents of any elementary child in the district are welcomed to attend this meeting. District officers will be elected for the Greenwood and the Bridgeville Parents Advisory Councils, and representatives to the district-wide council will be elected.

Woodward demonstrated that it is important to beat every runner possible. Ott's 45th place finish gave Lake Forest a third-place tie with Wyomissing, Pa, a Reading-area school. Woodward came in 46th to break the tie in favor of Lake Forest. Ironically, Wyomissing High now encompasses the school district in which Spartan Coach Jim Blades' wife, Bonnie, resided until a few years ago.

In addition to the two 19-team races, events were held for girls, jayvees and freshmen. Only the final competition in which Lake Forest participated was held in the rain.

22.13 to her credit. Pandora Scott has done 23.35. Karen Warrington lapped off four minutes to get a 24.20 against Smyrna, while Donna Pardee cut off five minutes to log 25.27. Elaine Grant, Melissa Lewis and Benji Adams are other distaff harriers. Watching these girls display courage and fortitude reminds this writer that there are many other slender Lake Forest students who would rather ride the bench in other fall sports than join a team which has no bench. In other words everybody competes but it does take guts.

guard rails. Before Petty came to rest, his Dodge came into contact with Parsons' Chevrolet banging the front end of Parsons' car taking it out of the race for a short time. Petty was finished for the day when it looked like it was all Petty's race track. Petty and Yarborough are fighting it out for the lead in the Winston Cup race. Third and closing is Darrell Waltrip who widened his margin between him and Parsons. It was reported that Petty was uninjured in the accident, but he was visibly shaken and disgusted after the mishap. It was also reported that Petty was quite angry with Allison for causing the crash. Allison apologized after the race. Bobby Allison finished fourth about 3 laps down. For years the rivalry between Petty and Allison was more than noticeable on the track. Usually after a Petty-Allison duel paint from each car would be seen on the other car. It had appeared that the rivalry was over for last week at Martinsville Petty had asked Allison to finish the race for him. Yarborough said after the race that his car would not hold the turns. This was obvious to on-lookers at the race which drew some comments that perhaps Yarborough needed a change of tire or that the track was too slick. He was unable to make a pit stop to do anything about the situation. The first place prize money was worth $12,500 to Waltrip and represented his fifth win this season in NASCAR competition. It also represented his eighth career win. The second place finish for Yarborough widened his lead over Petty in the Winston Cup points race that determines the Grand National Championship. Yarborough now has 4,330 to Petty's 4,037 with only four events remaining on the NASCAR circuit. The young sensation from Hayetown, Alabama, Neil Bonnett, driving the Jim Stacy Dodge was a close third a lap down. It was the first race since Jim Stacy purchased the racing team that Bonnett had not gotten the pole. The rookie of the year honor now looms between Rickie Rudd of Chesapeake Va. and Sam Sommers of Savannah, Ga. with Rudd picking up points to lead Sommers. They had been tied for the lead going into the Wilkes 400. Order of finish: 1. Darrell Waltrip, 2. Cale Yarborough, 3. Neil Bonnett, 4. Bobby Allison, 5. Benny Parsons, 6. Richard Childress, 7. Dick Brooks, 8. Rickie Rudd, 9. Buddy Baker, 10. Jimmy Meams, 11. Richard Arrington, 12. James Hylton, 13. Cecil Gordon, 14. Sam Sommers, 15. Baxter Price, 16. Walter Ballard, 17. Ed Negre, and 18. Elmo Langley. Lap leaders: Petty (4); Waltrip (5); Parsons (1), and Yarborough (1). Time of the race 2 hrs. 52 min. 59 sec. Average speed: 86.714 m.p.h. This was not a record speed. Petty holds the track record of 98.479 m.p.h. in 1971.

Felton Pumper Returns

The Felton Volunteer Fire Co. has just had their 1965 Ford Pumper returned after away for refurbishing. The truck was repainted and piping and an extra hose line were added to bring the truck up to the present day firefighting needs. The cost of the refurbishing was in excess of $6,000. Right now the fire company is running their annual fund drive by way of a letter drive. During this year already the volunteers have responded to over 300 emergency calls. All work done by the company is voluntary and the company needs and appreciates support in order to offer the best protection. [Staff Photo by Ray Blanchette]

Sgt. Hollinger Retires

Master Sergeant Benjamin W. Hollinger, son of Carl W. Hollinger of 1618 Garfield Drive, Norfolk, Va., has retired from the U.S. Air Force at Langley AFB, Va.

During the retirement ceremony, Sergeant Hollinger was presented the Meritorious Service Medal for outstanding duty performance as wing safety munitions maintenance supervisor with the 1st Tactical Fighter Wing.

The sergeant graduated from high school in 1957. His wife, Rebecca, is the daughter of Mrs. Lola Holleger of Magnolia.

The first is to obtain a renewal of the Multifiber Arrangement, which is the umbrella international agreement under which bilateral textile import agreements are negotiated. The MFA expires at the end of this year and it is my hope that it will be renewed. The second step is for our negotiators to insist on tighter and better restraint agreements with our trading partners.

The most important step that can be taken, however, is for our Administration to insist that there shall be no American tariff reductions on fiber, fabric or apparel during the Multilateral Trade Negotiations which are already underway in Geneva. These tariffs are the only permanent protection for American jobs.

Any reduction in American tariffs would encourage even greater imports from low-wage countries, would severely disrupt orderly world trade in textile products and would continue costing us jobs, particularly here in Delaware.

son and it's the richest race since the $302,550 World 600 (the season's 13th event) was held at CMS last May.

Over 115 drivers will be fighting for a starting spot in one of the rich events when practice and qualifying runs begin Wednesday, Oct. 5. The forty fastest Grand National drivers will take aim on the NAPA 500-miler and the pole position winner will earn an additional $10,000 for gaining that coveted starting slot. The 300-mile LMS event will feature 44 starters.

"No one driver has been able to dominate the current season like they have in the past, and this is one of the main reasons the ticket sales are running forty percent over any October in the past. One of the best Winston Cup point races in years, the hottest Rookie of the Year fight in history, the emergence of Darrell Waltrip and Neil Bonnett, the resurgence of Donnie Allison...there are so many factors that make this one of the most competitive seasons ever.

Bonnett cuts Hee-Haw record... "Some guys approached me and asked me to do it," said Neil Bonnett, "and I thought they were kidding at first. I had never even sung in the shower, but after 11 hours in the studio and no less than 850 attempts at getting through the song, I had me a record. It's a single and is called 'The Men Who Race For The Checkered Flag.'"

Walt and Marie Messick's Gremlin (car #1) left for Syracuse last Wednesday for the Schaefer 200. The race was rained out on Sunday. There were some 250 race cars on hand for this rich race. The race is rescheduled for Oct. 16. The Messick pit crew was also on hand... Jimmie, Harry, and Rickie, the Messick team stayed at the Hilton Motel in Syracuse. Other people from the area were Ralph and Glen Wilson (#3) of Houston, Fred Workman (#17) of Milford, Betty and Jim Cain of Harrington, Donnie Hughes and wife, Jim Sullivan and wife, P.J. Walker, and Sonny Brittingham were some recognized in attendance. According to Messick 50 acres of campers occupied the N.Y. State Fairgrounds. Although many were in attendance, the weather man was working against the racers. At race time it was raining off and on, and had rained off and on for the past 19 days. On Sunday the racers tried to start the race, but were unable to make one lap.

Pearson seeks his 100th Winston Cup win at Charlotte.

For the past four years, the run for the pole position has been a David Pearson-Wood Brothers benefit. The streak began in 1973 with the National 500. Since joining the Puroator team in 1972, Pearson has not failed to start from the front row.

Pearson claimed his first Grand National victory at Charlotte in the 1961 World 600. He drove a Ray Fox Pontiac to victory.

In 217 superspeedway races, the Wood Brothers have earned $1,971,944. A victory in the NAPA National 500 would put them over the $2 million mark in superspeedway earnings.

The Wood Brothers first superspeedway victory came at Charlotte just as Pearson's did. The Wood victory came in the inaugural National 400 in 1960. "Speedy" Thompson drove a Wood Brothers prepared car to victory.

The increasing occurence of physical problems among drivers on the Grand National circuit this season has prompted concerned Charlotte Motor Speedway officials to call on a team of prominent exercise physiologists to monitor competitors during the upcoming October 9th NAPA National 500.

Donnie Allison won the Talladega 500 in early August with relief driver Darrell Waltrip taking the checkered flag for him. Relief drivers in subsequent races at Bristol, Darlington, Dover and the recent Old Dominion 500 at Martinsville have been called on with unusual frequency.

Dover winner Benny Parsons devoted a good bit of time in his post-race press conference to discussing the problems of physical fatigue. Grand National champion Cale Yarborough was openly critical of the problem and complained of the length of the 500-lap Martinsville race he won. Richard Petty and David Pearson were among the top-name drivers who needed relief help in that event.

NAPA Charger Awards

CHARLOTTE, N.C.- The National Automotive Parts Assn. (NAPA) returns to Charlotte Motor Speedway Oct. 9 to see what transpires from its innovative "Charger Awards," and other new bonuses being posted in the 1977 NAPA National 500.

"NAPA almost certainly has started a trend with its Charger Awards that will be causing a significant change in 500-mile race strategy," says the speedway's vice-president and general manager Hump Wheeler. "More importantly, it's a change that improves the show for our fans and is popular with the drivers as well."

"I think we'll be looking back on the 1977 NAPA National 500 as the beginning of a whole new approach for motor racing sponsors," Wheeler concluded. "We're just delighted that NAPA selected Charlotte Motor Speedway and our fall 500-miler for one of its events." (The NAPA 400 is run annually in June at Riverside, Calif.)

The NAPA Charger Awards will pay a total of $18,000 in the $250,000 NAPA 500 next month to leaders at twelve 25-lap intervals, through 300 of the race's 334 laps. The driver leading the most laps in each 25-lap segment earns $1000 and the driver leading the next highest number receives $500.

"We looked at the most popular races in the country and tried to see if there was anything we could do to add to the format which might be popular primarily with the fan, who really is our target in this program," says Frank J. Lipford, NAPA vice-president and general manager.

"We felt the NAPA Awards would put a premium on contention for the lead, which the fan clearly loves to see," says Lipford. "Lap money really doesn't seem to affect that. Virtually no one except perhaps Indianapolis posts awards on a lap-by-lap basis significant enough to make it worthwhile for the driver to gamble on missing the winner's share against what he can pick up by leading along the way."

"Charlotte's October 500 already had the tradition of paying a big premium ($10,000) to the pole winner. With our $18,000, all paid out prior to the last lap, we can perhaps make it possible for the major contenders to come to the NAPA National 500 thinking go-for-the-lead every lap. The total monies at stake make it possible for a 'charger' to win the pole, lead much of the race, drop out short of the checkered flag and still win as much as he might for winning many events," Lipford adds.

Other special awards unique to the NAPA National 500 in the Oct. 9 event include the NAPA NASCAR Team Trophy, the NAPA new Britain Hand Tool Award, the NAPA Regal Ride Hard Luck Award and the NAPA Ingersoll Rand Award.

PERSONAL

Card of Thanks We would like to express our appreciation and thanks to our relatives, friends neighbors and pall bearers for their sympathy and kindness, flowers, cards and food during the illness and death of our beloved father, Amos Brown and a special thanks to Mr. and Mrs. William D'Andrea for the wonderful loving care during his stay at their rest home. Also to Dr. Buendia and the nurses at the Milford Memorial Hospital. Sons, Homer G. Brown, John W. Brown and family

Perhaps you sent a lovely card or sat quietly in a chair. Perhaps you sent a funeral spray if so we saw it there. Perhaps you spoke the kindest words as any friend could say. Perhaps you were not there at all, just thought of us that day. Whatever you did to console our hearts we thank you so much, whatever the part. Agnes Welch and Family

Elizabeth Spicer was our Friend Kind words are spoken for everyone who passes on. But these are true words spoken by friends, who had a true friend. G-D needed an angel and He chose Elizabeth Spicer. She died young in years, but Elizabeth Spicer will be remembered always. Elizabeth Spicer was a good wife, daughter-in-law, mother, grandmother and a good friend. G-D Rest Her Soul We Shall Miss Her

Harry & Gertrude Greenberg Harrington, De.

I would like to express my sincere appreciation to all the members of Harrington, Farmington, Houston, Felton Voluntary Fire Companies who responded with all their skills and concern to save my possessions and home of 49 years during the recent electrical fire at my home. Also, the kindness and generosity of my friends will never be forgotten. Mrs. Grace Eilers
