

Bank Open House To Climax Opening Of New Facilities

The open house scheduled for next Wednesday evening, November 16, at the Peoples Bank of Harrington, officially marks the completion of their new building and their move from 16 Commerce Street into the facilities at Clark and Hanley Streets. Peoples Bank has been serving its customers at the new location for a number of weeks since the completion of construction in September.

This move marks the second in the Bank's seventy-two year history. The Peoples Bank of Harrington was established May 27, 1905 at 19 Commerce Street (the current address of The Harrington Journal). The first move was in 1931 to a new building at 16 Commerce Street on a lot purchased from S. L. Sapp in October 1968. A second floor was installed in the fall of 1958. Ten years later Peoples Bank bought the lot that had been the site of the Old Reese Theater. This became a parking lot used by the bank's customers and the community. It was also the location chosen for the construction of their newest banking facilities.

Construction of the new building, beginning in Oct. 1976, marked the country's Bicentennial year. All phases of the construction, beginning with the ground breaking through the erection of the steel support columns, which lent emphasis to the cold of the 1977 winter, to the present completed structure were observed with interest by the community.

The new building is of masonry and steel. Containing 5,500 square feet of space on each of two floors, it represents approximately a fourfold increase in space over the previous location. In addition to expanded conveniences for the customers of Peoples Bank, the increased area on the second floor will make available office space or area for further expansion.

Anchored at the corner of Clark and Hanley streets the new facilities extend to the corner of Clark and Commerce where a newly landscaped park flanked by a walk with some unusual lighting graces the downtown area and opens up visibility for motorists as well as pedestrians.

The opening of the new facilities marks one more step in the progress of the bank. In a 1970 issue of the Harrington Journal which commemorated Harrington's Centennial, Peoples Bank underscored the fact that they served over 3,000 customers in the area and had assisted 100 veterans of World War II in financing homes. Their assets in 1970 were listed $6,000,000 with deposits of $5,300,000. And in that year the bank had recently established a new 5% savings plan with interest computed semi-annually.

Today the Peoples Bank serves over 4,000 customers and yearly contributes approximately $800,000 to the economy of the community. It currently lists assets of $14,000,000 and deposits of over $12,000,000. Two types of savings plans at 5% and 5 1/2% are available to its customers. Interest on both is computed quarterly.

The drive-in facilities which were added while the bank was at 16 Commerce Street have been continued and expanded at the new location. The drive-in service, which was the first section of the new building to be open for operation, has recently increased its hours of service.

According to Howard Wagner, Executive Vice President and Cashier, Peoples Bank is recognized as the first of its size to use a computer on its pro-

June Named To National Committee

American Pharmaceutical Association President Philip Sacks has appointed Carl June to serve with 32 other pharmacists from across the nation on the Association's Policy Committees on Public Affairs, Organizational Affairs, and Professional Affairs.

Pharmacist Carl June will serve on the APhA Policy Committee on Organizational Affairs.

Pharmacist Carl June is not only a well-respected member of the profession but also one of the community's best informed and most insightful members of the health care system, able to speak knowledgeably with editors and reporters on a wide range of topics of vital interest to the consumer: adverse drug reactions; antistatistion laws; generic drugs; the importance of patient compliance; and the cost of drugs.

The three APhA policy committees will make policy recommendations to the Association's House of Delegates, which meets May 13-18, 1978 in Montreal.

APhA is the National Professional Society of Pharmacists with more than 52,000 active and student members.

Houston Town Council

Seeks New Policeman; Rail Speed To Increase Through Town

The town council met last Thursday night. The consideration of a new town policeman was brought up by Ted Yerkes. He said they had interviewed several for the position and had, that day, received one more application, who would also be interviewed. Yerkes said they would outline their findings and feelings at an executive meeting next week and would then make their decision public.

President Surdokowski brought up the matter of Conrail's notice to the town that rail speed would increase through the town from 10 mph to 40 mph and as previously discussed the town should have better safeguards at all Railroad crossings before the increase. The President went on to say they were waiting for a reply from the state for further action. Any change or renewal must be initiated by the state and correlated with Conrail.

In another area, it was discussed that through an old quirk in the town's charter, it might still be responsible for building inspection. This was brought to light when Gary Evans, while making some minor home remodeling, seems to have run into much red tape and restrictions via the present County inspection.

The council then moved on to the topic of granted extension to Sunset Ave., along the northern end of town. Everything was fine in this area until, while the town was being completely surveyed, Mr. Tally, the surveyor, discovered a mistake in the direction of paving on the last few feet of Sunset Ave. The paving seems to curve off the original right of way line and until the current extension decision was of little consequence. Now it seems, without correcting the error, if in the future, the street was to continue on and connect to another, it would veer completely away from the right of way.

Harold Appt, owner of one side of the street, seemed to be of the opinion that with a street extension only thirty-two feet forward, there was little need to revamp his border line at this time. Adding it would be necessary if Sunset Ave. was ever lengthened so as to tie in with the next street over, which at this time seemed remote. Mr. Yerkes, explained the council's feelings had been to get the street back on course now with the current 32' extension, so that in the future the survey, right of way and the actual street would all be the same. Mr. Yerkes, added, he would be glad to have Mr. Talley, the surveyor, show Appt, the survey to better illustrate their point. President Surdokowski exhibited copies of the new DP & L Franchise Agreements for council's consideration. The Utilities request for the Franchise to be good for "life" was not looked upon too favorably.

The council made special mention of their appreciation of the cooperation of the town's people on Halloween night and said, by so many leaving their front lights on, made it much safer for the youngsters. Halloween night flowed very smoothly.

Police Investigate Thefts, Vandalism

The Harrington Police Department had several incidents on their books for the week of November 1 through the present.

On Wednesday, November 2nd, the theft of a horse trailer from Kirby and Holloway Harness Supply was reported. Investigation is still continuing in the theft.

Two incidents were reported on Thursday, November 3rd, as Steve Hamsher of Harrington reported to the Harrington Police Department that his car had been stolen from his driveway. The car was recovered west of Felton with several things having been stripped from it. Also reported on the third, some time in the evening after 9:30 unknown subjects indulged in an act of criminal mischief by breaking five windows at the St. Bernadette's church hall.

On Friday the 4th

Shirley Maloney of Mechanic Street reported criminal mischief against her car. Valve cords from the tires were removed, the air conditioner belt was cut and the antenna snapped off. Also, that same day Mr. Greenly and Mr. Jester of Wiener Avenue complained of radio antennas being snapped off their vehicles.

On Saturday Morris Wyatt of near Harrington was arrested after warrants for offensive touching signed by Robert Lankford. The alleged incident took place at 10 Dorman Street. The charges were dropped by the complainant. Also Saturday night Ricky Fisher of Harrington was arrested for public intoxication after the Harrington Police Department received a complaint from the Pennington about a disorderly subject.

Joseph H. Webb Dies At 64

Joseph H. Webb Sr., 64 of Shawnee Rd. Milford died Monday in Delaware Division after a long illness. Mr. Webb started Webb's Ford Lincoln Mercury automobile dealership in 1946 and was active in its operation until his death. He was a past president of NADA and was active in the American Quarter Horse Association and the Odd Fellows lodge in Milford.

Surviving are his wife, Sara Mae, one son, Joseph H. jr. of Milford, 2 daughters Betty Jo Hambury of Salisbury and Jan Kovach of Milford, one brother, Edward G. Webb of Milford and one sister, Anna Cleaver of Milford, also 5 grandchildren.

Funeral Services will be held Friday at 2 at the Lofland Funeral Home 219 S. Walnut St. where friends may call Thursday Eve. from 7-9. Interment will be in Odd Fellows Cemetery, Milford. In lieu of flowers the family suggests contributions to the Lee College Scholarship Fund in Cleveland Tenn.

Harrington's Fall Races Termed Success

Harrington Raceway closed its 40 day Fall harness racing season this past Saturday night and more than 2700 fans were on hand for the 12-race card. Although total track attendance was down in relation to the Fall of 1976, still more than an average of 2,000 racing buffs passed through the turnstiles amount wagered went up in excess of 2 percent.

Dash Driving Champion at Harrington this Fall was Felton, De. native Harold Frazier. Frazier finished the season with a total of 27 wins. Following Frazier were Charles Laws, Jim Porter, Ed. Scott, Jr., and Ben Coker.

Twenty six-year-old Walter Callahan of Ridgely Md. took the U.D.R.S. Championship with a healthy .371 percentage. Others in the top five included Charles Laws, Richard Lewis, Jack Walters and Frazier. Track President Thurman Adams presented awards to each of the winning drivers in the two categories on closing night.

With the close of harness racing at Harrington, the facilities will now be used for Winter training and approximately 450 horses will be stabled there. Harrington's Spring racing season will commence on March 27th, following Easter week-end.

On November 2, Amos Minner and his wife, Alice, celebrated his 90th birthday at a surprise party at the First National Bank of Harrington. Mr. Minner has been a member of the Board of Directors for 40 years. The Board of Directors and their wives and invited guests attended the party.

...are we losing our grip or touch on society?

Many times the way we are headed is measured to a large part in the outcome of court decisions or in the alternative in new laws enacted.

The question many of us are asking ourselves these days is whether or not the courts are letting us down. Have the courts gone too far in surrounding the criminal with too many protective devices? Should we return to 'an eye for an eye...' or capital punishment? Some experts say capital punishment does not act as a deterrent. More importantly they agree no one has the right to take the life of another -- this is only a God right. I could never buy that, for who gave the defendant the right to murder or kill in the first instance?

When is a killer a murderer and when is a person insane? If we turn to the law textbooks, we know that pre-meditation and not knowing the difference between right and wrong are the respective answers. This is all hogwash. Our courts and court systems are being made to look bad. As a result punishment is not fitting the crime, and the prisons are in some places and instances like country clubs.

When a person kills innocent young children and molests them in the act of killing as opposed to a situation where a woman is beaten by her husband for 12 years and she terminates the matter by burning him to death represent two examples of different types of killings. A person who mistreats a child or snuffs out its life at such a young age is not insane but is basically an ornery person who can never be rehabilitated. It is a severe crime and should be dealt with accordingly, i.e., capital punishment. The woman who says stop beating me, "I love you," after a period of continuous abuse has her love turn to hate, anger and a killing. The question becomes "is this killing lawful...excusable?" It is said that some people bring out the good in another as well as the bad. The point is all facts surrounding the case must be considered.

In the case of the woman, it would be hard for a jury to convict. In the case of a child killer, society will be looking for a hard verdict. In the latter the courts are not dealing out enough punishment to suit the crime and satisfy the silent demands of society.

What will society do if their demands are not met? It would seem that there is a danger vigilante groups would spring up or retaliation by members of the deceased child's family if proper punishment is not administered. What constitutes murder...insanity...and are we losing our grip or touch with society.

The Evans Report

by Congressman Tom Evans

As I talk to senior citizens in Delaware, I have come to the conclusion that the property tax burden is one of the most pressing problems facing our elderly.

That is why, this week, I introduced the "Older Americans Property Tax Relief Act of 1977" in the U.S. House of Representatives. If this legislation passes, it would provide long-needed property tax relief for lower and middle-income senior citizens through federal tax credits.

In recent years, property tax burdens of all Americans have increased tremendously. However, this burden has fallen most heavily on our older Americans. Senior citizens are least able to pay these substantial increases in property taxes. Most older Americans have sacrificed throughout their working lives to pay for their own homes. Approximately two-thirds of our older Americans now own their homes. That home was the single largest investment of their working lives, and they saw it as a way of guaranteeing their security during their retirement years.

Unfortunately, this has not been the case. Forced to retire on fixed incomes, senior citizens have been squeezed in an ever-tightening circle because of inflation. They sit helplessly by and watch their homes increase in value with resulting increases in property taxes, yet they are in no position to take advantage of that increased value by moving.

Senior citizen income is relatively static, yet the costs of living are not. Senior citizens can cut back on other expenditures such as home maintenance, medical care and even food, but they cannot fail to meet their property tax payments. Statisticians show that the average homeowner age 65 or older pays about 8.1% of his family income in property taxes. In the highly taxed northeast, elderly homeowners paid more than 30% of their meager income in property taxes.

Elderly renters are also affected. Their rent increases because of higher property taxes, yet they cannot deduct these payments from their federal income taxes.

Excessive property taxes on the elderly undercut Social Security and other federal programs designed to provide for retirement benefits and financial security for the aged. Older Americans have done much for our country, and the least this Congress can do is to provide them with some measure of economic protection against the burdens of property taxes during

The recent hijacking of a German airliner and the cold blooded murder of its pilot once again points up the need for effective international action to eliminate terrorists.

In the German case, the passengers were eventually rescued without serious injury to any, and the terrorists were killed or put in custody. Unfortunately, this is not the usual result. The statistics show that, in most cases, the terrorists succeed in achieving some or all of their goals, and this is a major reason why these horrible incidents continue. Last year, when the CIA made a study of terrorist incidents, they found that in 80% of the cases, the terrorists were not punished or killed. In virtually all cases, they succeeded in attracting publicity to their causes.

Over the past decade, a number of international treaties have been signed to control terrorism. The problem is that a minority of countries have not signed or implemented these treaties and provide aid and a safe haven to terrorists. The most glaring example is Libya, which provides terrorists with false passports, money, weapons, and training bases.

Many other countries indirectly contribute to the problem by failing to provide strict airport security measures. This was true of the airport in Spain where the German airliner took off. The United States experience, where airplane hijackings have declined dramatically since the early 1970s, shows that airport security measures can pay handsome dividends.

In February of this year, Senator Huddleston and I jointly sponsored a Senate resolution to strengthen American diplomatic initiatives to deal with international terrorism. Our resolution urged the President to make the elimination of terrorism a priority item in our foreign policy. It supported strict enforcement of international treaties and American laws authorizing the President to suspend airline service to any country abetting terrorists. It asked the State Department to "vigorously urge, encourage and assist other countries to improve airport security measures" and to seek prompt conclusion of an international convention making the holding of hostages a crime under international law. It also asked the Administration to take strong measures to prevent weapons, including nuclear weapons, from falling into the hands of terrorist groups.

Unfortunately, the Senate Foreign Relations Committee did not take any action on our resolution. Recently, however, as a result of the German airliner incident, two similar pieces of legislation have been introduced. It is time for the United States to upgrade its efforts to get other countries to internationally isolate those nations that continue to harbor and abet terrorists. These crimes must not be allowed to continue.

Weekly Report

by Senator Joe Biden

Even though the forecasters are predicting a near record crop nationally, many people seem unaware that the farmer, especially the smaller farmer, has suffered serious setbacks.

Record droughts and high summer temperatures caused severe damage to crop supplies during this past summer. The small amounts that were salvaged brought only limited incomes to the farmers, because of the low prices their grain earned at the market.

These low grain prices reflect a three year trend -- a steady decline in the price that the farmer has been able to receive for his crops. In 1974, wheat, for example, was selling for $5 a bushel. Today, however, that same commodity sells for only $2.50 -- half the price that it sold for three years ago.

It is no wonder, then, that the farmers are demanding to know why their government, which had encouraged them to plant fence post to fence post, has not been equally as vigorous in pursuing solutions to the problems that threaten the farmers' very existence.

Like most issues today, the farm problem is a very complex one. The ever fluctuating laws of supply and demand, both in this country and abroad, impact heavily on domestic farm prices. Weather conditions, always unpredictable, influence dramatically the harvest, and consequently prices. There is no simple explanation for the squeeze that the farmer is now experiencing. His costs of production have increased sharply in the last couple of years. Fertilizer, fuel, land, tractors and other farm equipment are much more expensive than they were two short years ago. Despite these adverse conditions, the farmer is surviving -- but just barely.

Although the public is generally aware of the farmers' plight, people seem to think that the higher prices which they are paying in the grocery store are the direct result of higher prices and therefore higher profits for the farmer. This is simply not the case. Since 1973, the average price for wheat and other grains has been dropping yearly. On the other hand, the market basket of produced U.S. foods, that mix of products that the American consumer purchases in the supermarkets, has risen sharply. Therefore, those individuals who have, in fact, gained more income from food products are the middlemen: the processor, the transporter, the grocer. They have not suffered from the wide fluctuation of prices for wheat and other commodities. Since 1973, their share of the food dollar has gone up and up and up. Admittedly, their costs have also gone up over these years. Nevertheless, they have not suffered the dramatic decline in income

4-H News

Georgetown, De. - Calendar of coming events: Nov. 13 - International Foods Day, 7:30 P.M. at Substation. Nov. 25 - Dec. 2 - National club Congress, Chicago Meeting, Substation, 7:30 P.M.

4-Hers celebrated Halloween with long noses, frightful faces and bug eyes! What are we talking about? Well, it was the Pumpkin Decorating Contest. Each year this event gets larger and larger. It's fun just to stop over and see all of the colorful pumpkin faces! We had three divisions in which the pumpkins were judged. The following were winners of their respective divisions: Funny - 1st, Karen Messick Bridgeville Live Wires, 2nd, Vance Phillips, Mt. Pleasant, 3rd, (2 winners) Heather Williams, Bridgeville Wildcats and James Williamson, Bridgeville Livewires. Artistic - 1st, Carole Fleetwood, Bridgeville Wildcats, 2nd, Pam

Everyone did a great job! The three top winners were very special! In the funny division, Karen Messick had her pumpkin decorated with colorful balloons and painted face resembling a clown. The artistic division winner was a friendly "Hoot Owl". Carole Fleetwood gave her Owl feet, wings and even tail feathers! Representing the top winner in the scary division was Melissa Wilson, her pumpkin was a very different. She decorated it with creepy crawlers, crab claws and beady eyes. It scared the judge half to death.

We are thrilled that so many 4-Hers show interest in this contest. This year we had 80 participants. Congratulation to everyone and we'll be looking for your pumpkin faces next Halloween.

ESEA Parents Meeting Set

The Woodbridge School District's ESEA Title I Parent Advisory Council will hold their annual dinner meeting on Monday, November 21, 1977. The meeting will be held in the Greenwood Elementary School cafeteria at 6:30 p.m. A roast beef dinner will be served to those who attend this meeting. Parents of children who are enrolled in the Woodbridge School District's reading or readiness programs are cordially invited to attend this meeting. Following the dinner, officers will be elected for the Greenwood Elementary School Parent Advisory Council and the Bridgeville Elementary School Parent Advisory Council. Representatives will be elected to the district-wide Parent Advisory Council. Anyone interested in attending is asked to call Marie Shockley, Title I Project Director, at 337-7600 no later than Wednesday, November 16, 1977.

Irrigation Conference Set

A conference on the irrigation of farm crops will be held Thursday, Dec. 1, at the Delaware Technical and Community College in Georgetown. The event, which is sponsored by the Delaware Cooperative Extension Service, will start at 10 a.m.

Subjects to be discussed at the conference include the advantages of irrigating corn in southern Delaware, water resources for irrigation, and steps to take in setting up an irrigation system.

There will also be a presentation on matching cultural practices with new yield goals, and special sessions on various aspects of irrigation. These sessions (which will include industry participants) will cover: wells, pumps and power sources; center pivots and traveling guns; trickle irrigation; economics and financing.

According to organizers of the conference, the meeting is aimed at people engaged in any type of cropping enterprise which might benefit from the use of irrigation, including small farmers, large feed grain operators and truck farmers. Following adjournment there will be an opportunity for producers to discuss their questions with industry representatives who have been invited to set up product displays.

The meeting itself is free, but there will be a $2 charge for the box lunch which will be served at noon. For reservations or further information about the conference, contact the county extension office in Newark, Dover or Georgetown.

Cape Wins Henlopen Meet

Lake Forest, winner of the Henlopen Conference dual-meet title with a 9-0 slate will have to share a portion of the loop cross-country glory, with Cape Henlopen's Vikings which edges the Spartans 59-69 on a muddy 2.7 mile course on Monday afternoon.

Caesar Rodney, 71, Smyrna 117, and surprising first-year Sussex Central 123, made up the first five teams in the nine team meet, held at Killen's Pond State Park.

Spartan coach Jim Blades, like most other coaches, would prefer the unbeaten regular season record, over the conference meet title since the former is indicative of greater ability, since it occurred by the process of individually beating every foe head-to-head or one-on-one over a full season.

The Spartans had beaten Cape Henlopen, on the Sussex County team's home course and in three, multi-team meets, as well. Obviously the better team is the one holding the 4-1 edge, right? Actually, the three top Spartans being slowed or kayoed by illness and injury is the factor, that gave this meet to the Cape. They're tough but they can't pack with a healthy Lake Forest team and that is something we haven't seen in this tough luck campaign.

Dan Parker pushed the Viking's fabulous Lance White to a new course record. Louis Thomas, in fourth place ran faster, than he has ever done before.

Tom Ott's finest race of 1977, brought the senior home in 16th place of the 63 starter. Wilson Fry has battled illness since he was the second Spartan in the opening meet, in September, showed much courage, as he finished twenty-second, but only eight second behind Ott.

Eugene Butler may have turned in his top harrier effort, as he nipped teammate Doug Caskey, in the Jayvee Meet. Butler clocked 16.20, Caskey 16.21, Pete Fraley and Randy Ramirez had 16.23 each, as Lake Forest thoroughly dominated the jayvee race.

Craig Fry, Dale Jarrell and Sam Lamphier were 9th, 11th, and 12th, respectively. Lake Forest's very low total was 19 points compared to second place Dover Air's 72. Caesar Rodney, Sussex Central and Smyrna were the other top five squads.

W. T. Chipman school upped it's seasonal mark to 9-0, by beating Caesar Rodney Junior High 19-42.

Doug Stephens showed the way with an excellent 17.02 clocking. The Felton eighth grader had an impressive 22 second margin over C.R.'s Cotter or Cotta, who nosed out Doug, earlier at Wyoming.

A recent illness and an extremely muddy course kept Doug from recording at least 16.50.

Bob Aycoth, Derrick Chodkiewicz, Robbie Manaraze, Mike Bishop, were next, followed by the rider's Carl Manaraze, Bishop and Baca are also so tiny, that they are reasonably safe from the pirating raids, that sometime occur, in autumn when soccer and football coaches are looking for more bodies. The above two are small but they have the talent and courage to make excellent distance runners.

Jerry Mosley and Albert Burns were eighth and ninth, Ken Kline was 11th with Sherry Colburn, a surprisingly strong improving runner in 13th. Tom Silkworth is another runner who is doing well. Dave Emory is a fine prospect, out for a month with a strept throat, who did well despite the layoff.

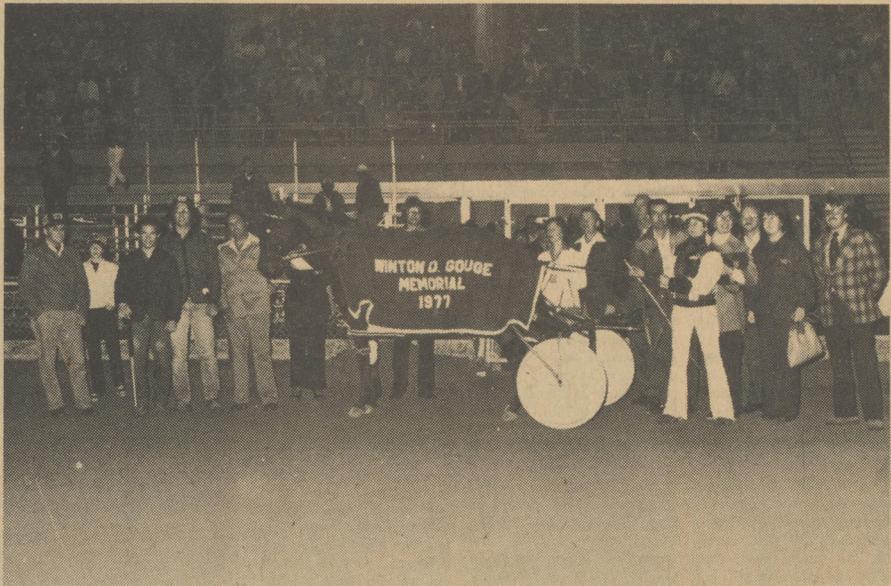

Others doing a good job are John Layton, Dan Green, Larry Guessford, Allan Buckley, Joe Fournier, Dave Weber, Melissa Lewis, Karen Warrington, Herb Hertzberg and 11 year old Mike Grogan and Elaine Grant.

Waterfowl Festival

Over 150 fine collectible decoys will go up for auction during the 7th Annual Waterfowl Festival in Easton, Md., November 11-13.

The auction will be held on the 12th at 2 p.m. at the Easton Middle School.

At 10:30 that morning, a catalogue of the items up for bid will be available to prospective buyers who may inspect the decoys at that time.

Winner of the feature race of the final night of racing at the Harrington Raceway was Buck Dean who was driven by Lynn Truitt. The Raceway will be closed until the last of March when it will again open for its annual spring meet. [Staff photo by Ray Blanchette]

Chipman Harriers End 8-0 Campaign

The only sports team in the Lake Forest School District that can compare with the Lake Forest cross-country team in the won-lost area is the W.T. Chipman School cross-country squad.

Cross-country has been at Chipman some six or seven years. Coach Blades had a couple of perfect seasons relinquished the reins for one year, during which the locals lost a meet or two to a junior high school which used freshmen.

Blades returned to Chipman and the seventh-eighth grade team has not been beaten since, often trimming teams using older runners. Their clockings indicate that there are some varsity teams that these mighty mites could have beaten.

At Milton last week, Chipman defeated Milton and Rehoboth junior high schools in a double dual meet without the services of No. 2 local, Doug Stephens, a top prospect, in his first year of what promises to be an outstanding distance-running career.

Maurice Coverdale has garnered thirty or more trophies since his debut as a long distance runner at age nine. Now fourteen, he ran off the course at Milton, ran many extra yards, but recovered to win in 13.18 for two miles plus. Bob Aycoth fought off two strong Milton freshmen to finish second

Pit Chatter

by Harry G. Farrow, Jr.

RIVERSIDE, Calif.-Dave Marcis has announced that he will join rookie Roland Wlodyka in campaigning cars owned by California building contractor Rodney Osterlund on the NASCAR Grand National stock car racing circuit.

Marcis said he and Wlodyka will team for the first time in the season-ending "Times 500" Nov. 20 at Ontario, Calif.

Marcis said both plan to enter all 30 Grand National events next year, with Wlodyka seeking the "rookie of the year" title.

Chevrolets owned by Osterlund have been raced in seven events this year, beginning with a 500-mile event at Pocono, Pa., in July. Wlodyka has driven in three events. Mary Acton has started Osterlund's cars twice and Sam Sommers and Jimmy Means once each. Sommers' 14th place Oct. 2 at North Wilkesboro, N.C., was the team's best showing.

Marcis, who drove Mercurys and Chevrolets owned by Roger Penske in 14 NASCAR races this year, said Osterlund has purchased the entire Penske stock car operation.

Penske announced last month that he was abandoning his stock car program at the end of this season.

Wlodyka previously had obtained equipment from Lennie Pond and Benny Parsons.

Marcis said the team will use Chevrolets at most races, but he "would be interested in running a Buick on some of the superspeedways."

Marcis began his Grand National career in 1968. Except for a few starts in Matadors owned by Penske in late 1972 and early 1973, he maintained the Dodge he drove until he was hired in late 1974 to drive Dodge built by Harry Hyde.

He drove Hyde's cars through last year, and posted four victories in them. His only triumph in Penske's cars was in a 200-mile United States Auto Club event in July at Michigan Speedway.

The Dixie 500 was delayed by rain and shortened by darkness. Darrell Waltrip put a move on Donnie Allison coming into the third turn on the last of ten laps to be run after a restart. Waltrip had it planned, "We put on four new tires and my car was a little bit tight, three or four laps there. Then the car loosened up and it felt good and I knew I could get by Donnie even though his car was a little bit faster." This was the sixth win for Waltrip and was worth $20,000.

Cale Yarborough and Donnie Allison had a near disastrous wreck 100 yards from the finish when Yarborough tried to take second. David Pearson wound up second Benny Parson, third, followed by Allison and Yarborough.

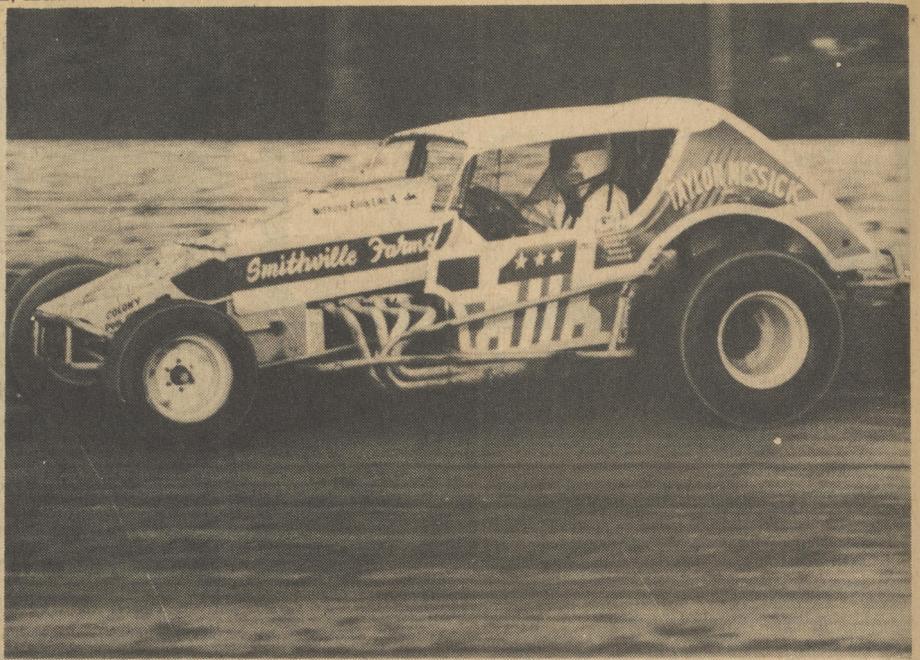

To sum up the accident on that final lap, Cale said "No one really did it. I went down, Donnie and his car broke loose, I guess it was the wet race track and he came down into me."

Some say that the race should have ended ten laps earlier and at that point David Pearson was in the lead and headed for his 100th career victory. But the majority of drivers agreed to run another ten laps if the track could be dried before dark.

That decision cost about $100,000 in wreckage and Cale went on to say "It was night, they knew when they started they wouldn't be able to run but ten laps and I just can't see jeopardizing that many people for ten laps of racing."

That just adds one more ingredient to the stew of controversy as Nascar announced their rule changes for next season. Many Chevrolet teams feel the changes are aimed at them. One of the most outspoken teams said, "I think it is the most ridiculous or unfair thing I've ever heard of and I don't see how anybody could say they could make racing any better than it's been this year, when you've had seven or eight different winners and had guys run in the front that's never been there before and you've got record crowds everywhere we go, now why would anybody want to mess with something like that. It's beyond me!"

to get a little advice. I just wonder if y'all could help me decide how many seats to put in this car next year."

Stan Busby, Jack Sapp and Stevie Breeding had a long wet ride to Reading Sunday. True to Reading's Legend the rain subsided as the race track got closer.

Stevie drew 16th position in the qualifying heat race. He knew he had little time to come a long way to earn a respectable position in the feature race, after all this wasn't home but Reading "The Home of Champions".

When the checker flag waved over the Taylor & Messick, Smithville Farms entry there was only three screaming machines ahead of Breeding.

"Sixteenth to fourth in this company...pretty good for a down home farm boy", quipped a trasplated US 13 Speedway Fan.

The finish was good enough to draw 9th starting position in the feature, which is super when the line up read like an all star list of U.S. Modified racing drivers.

The other two local entries of STan Busby and Jack Sapp weren't so fortunate. Both failed to qualify in their heat races.

Starting in ninth position he pushed his mount up th seventh and was challenging the leaders when on lap 7 Len Fitzcharles tagged the rear corner of the yellow #1. Stevie recovered, got back in the lineup but soon his chances of winning vanished when a rear suspension part broke and he retired from competition.

Incidentally Kenny Brighthill inched out race leader Jim Keply just at the last minute which after all is the only part of the race that counts to a winner orientated driver like Stevie Breeding.

Profitable farming requires a powerful tractor. That's where our new tractors come in. The new 90-hp 4040, 110-hp 4240, 130-hp 4440, 155-hp 4640 and 180-hp 4840 deliver new power at every point—more power to the PTO, more pulling power at the drawbar, more lifting power at the 3-point hitch and more capacity from the closed-center hydraulic system. More farm muscle for more farm profit. Stop by for more details on the tractors with more horses and more iron.

in 13.34. With Stephens out it was imperative that Robbie Manaraze turn in a top effort. The tiny, but tough, seventh grader rose to the occasion came in fifth, only ten seconds out of second place.

After another Milton runner, Albert Burns led Mike Bishop, Derrick Chodkiewicz and John Layton across the finish to give Chipman a 23-36 verdict over Milton and a 16-47 decision over Rehoboth.

Burns may have turned in his top effort ever. Earlier this year, we predicted that Burns and Bishop would get much better off what they showed in 1976. We were right. They're back!

Other Chipman runners doing well were Jerry Mosley, Sherry Colburn, Dan Green, Allan Buckley, Tom Silkworth, Mike Grogan and Melissa Lewis.

Saturday, November 19, will feature a full slate of races at Killen's Pond State Park. There will be races for different age groups such as 10 and under, 11-12, 13-14-15, 16 and over, 30 and over, etc. plus several races for girls and women.

The younger groups will go two miles. Presumably so will the females with older males going four miles. Race winners will receive turkeys. Other placers will receive medals and patches. In essence, there is an event for all ages and sexes.

SPARTAN SCOREBOARD

game. The Spartans lost 12-8.

In their last home game of the season, the Lake Forest Spartans suffered their fourth defeat losing by a 12-8 score to Sussex Central.

Unlike last week when the Spartans romped over Woodbridge, it was the Golden Knights who got off to a fast start as they scored all 12 of their points on their first two possessions. Jerome Hitchens scored both touchdowns, one on a 48 yard run and the other on a ten yard scamper. Both times the run for the extra point failed.

Beginning the second quarter the Spartans began their comeback as having to start a drive on their own 18 they managed to sustain the drive and score. Orlando Burris ran the final fifteen yards and also ran for the extra point.

In the final quarter the Spartans looked like they might pull it out but time ran out on the home team with them on the 24 yard line. Clutch plays by Orlando Burris on a 20 yard run and a third down completion by Greg Shortell helped keep the drive alive.

The Spartans' next two games will be away as the Spartans travel to Dover Air this Friday and then to Milford for their final game.

Our Congratulations to the Peoples Bankand our Best Wishes for its continued success.

Time and growth create the need for progressive changes and improvements

Such is the case with The Peoples Bank of Harrington and their patrons.

It has been our pleasure to serve as the General Contractor for the new banking facility, in constructing a "new home" in which the Bank's personnel will still be giving the fine, friendly service which has been appreciated throughout the past by all their patrons.

The choice to construct this new building has done much to improve the appearance of the community, and we, as well as everyone else related to this area, can't help but hope that this is just the beginning of Harrington's growth.

grades. She has been a teacher for 23 years. Her husband and two daughters are also teachers.

Mrs. Phelps is working toward her doctorate degree which will be completed in February of 1978 at the University of Delaware. She started a reading program and is interested in curriculum at Lake Forest High School and in coordinating the schools.

Mrs. Phelps is looking forward to her new position as principal of W.T. Chipman which will take effect on November 16. She plans to use her experience of working in high school to prepare the junior high school students for high school. She does have some regrets about leaving her friends and students at Lake Forest but Mrs. Phelps says, "I have to look toward the future."

Report from Hickory Ridge Congregational Methodist Church: The Rev. William Fleischauer, Jr., pastor.

We're so thankful for the progress beign made on our sanctuary. Mr. Uhland Johnson, who is a member of another church and also has physical limitations, nevertheless volunteered his time for painting and brought along two of his friends who painted one day last week. It is very gratifying to know others are interested and willing to help us with our work. We ask God's blessings on them as well as our own who are faithful.

Gab Fest

By Pat Hatfield

Now the woodland has come into its full glory. The trees surrounding us on the north are a riot to color...a tapestry of needlepoint fashioned by the Master's hand. In front, the meadow is emerald green and peaceful with the grazing cattle. "The cattle on a thousand hills are His," I murmur softly as I enjoy all this beauty. The Indian summer sun is hot; and, as I am coming in from the mail box, a mockingbird sings. My heart sings, too.

I love all the creatures, wild or tame, in this world, but I have a very special "thing" about leopards and tigers. When I visit the zoo or the circus and stand there by them, I can scarcely restrain myself from putting my hand on them...they are so beautiful. I take much comfort in the promise of prophecy, that "the lion and the lamb shall lie down together." When this time comes to pass, I shall just get my fill of caressing them.

Now! You take house flies! Because our world is so far out of balance, they are a pesky nuisance in our time. As I swatted away yesterday it seemed that I would never eliminate the last one. I am reminded of the story about the gentle Quaker pastor who was calling on one of his flock. Upon watching this gentle old lady with a fly swatter, he said kindly, but sadly, "There is a fine woman, sister Susan, but thee WILL kill flies..."the only flaw he found in her life.

This week, Ellen, little Garith, JoAnne and I enjoyed one of the loveliest mornings we have ever had. We spent it with our new friend, Olive Sibley, whom we affectionately call the "Bird Lady." She shares her home with many many feathered friends and it is beautiful to see. She has parakeets, a mourning dove, ring-necked doves, wee diamond doves, cockateels, a beautiful starling which she has reared from a baby who tumbled out of the nest four years ago and a gorgeous green parrot whose name I have forgotten, but he repeated it several times. The starling also talks.

The birds have a spacious room all their own, but mostly they are allowed the freedom of the house. One of the doves has made herself a nest on the kitchen table and there she sits resplendent among the blue willow dishes. She sits so still. Olive says a recent visitor said, "Oh, what a lovely ceramic!" Just then, the dove moved and the guest let out a wee screech.

As we talked and shared many things together, suddenly I heard a flutter of tiny wings and felt little feet going up and down my back. The cockateel had come to visit me. I do not know if it was because I was sitting very still or if he just knows a bird person when he sees one, but after going back to the lamp shade and observing me for a bit he came again...This time on my shoulder. I made kissing noises with my mouth and face. Garith had climbed into my lap to be closer, so he leaned over and kissed her on her forehead, much to her delight.
