

Firemen Battle Dual Fires In Frigid Conditions

Firemen from Harrington, assisted by Felton and Houston, battled icy, cold, freezing weather conditions late Tuesday afternoon in extinguishing two separate blazes.

By the weather conditions firemen also received two separate alarms in the span of seven minutes of two entirely separate fires.

The first which was at the Townsend Masten property on West Street, currently occupied by Archie Bright, was caused when clothes were attempted to be dried on a water heater. When firemen from Harrington first arrived they found the entire rear section of the house fully involved. Firemen managed to contain the blaze to just the rear section of the house.

Firemen were at the scene for nearly three hours as weather conditions continued to worsen and ladders, axes, and firemen were covered with ice.

The second fire was at the Robert Price Home on Delaware Avenue. Firemen were at the scene there for almost two hours as the fire was contained in the chimney and the wall near the chimney. The fire was caused by a cracked flue leading to the chimney from a fisher wood stove. Firemen removed the wood and hot ashes from the stove and cleaned the fire from the chimney.

Harrington Fire Chief

Joe Green reported that "the Firemen at the two fires did excellent jobs despite the freezing conditions that prevailed through out both alarms. Over sixty Firemen total responded to both alarms.

Bridgeville Commissioners Reorganize

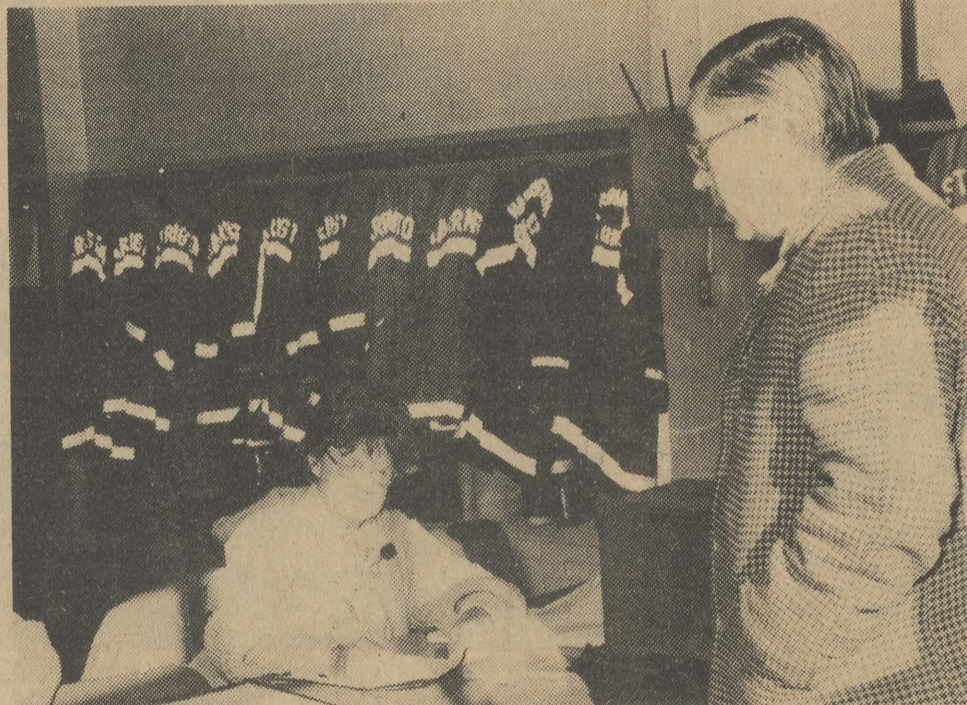

BRIDGEVILLE - In the reorganization meeting on Monday night, the Bridgeville Town Commissioners selected John K. Simons as the new president of the Commissioners. Simons running unopposed for a one year term received the highest number of votes cast (190). Other incumbents elected were Earl (Dugan) Willey and Kyle Ewing. Ewing had finished serving as President of the Town Commissioners. Prior to being President of the Commissioners Ewing had been the Police Commissioner. Ewing is a DuPont Co. Supervisor in Seaford. Simons is employed by Ralph Davis meat company and Willey is a self employed barber in Bridgeville.

Others selected for positions on the Board were T. J. Gray, Secretary & Personal Manager, Mrs. Mildred Brown, Treasurer, Virgil Kinder Alderman, Betts and Schrader, Attorneys, Earl Willey, Street Commissioner, Kyle Ewing, Project Director and Wm. Hartzell, Police Commissioner.

At the present the treasury shows an eight thousand surplus with two months remaining on the fiscal year. The revenue sharing shows $38,000 all of which will be used toward the cost of the addition to the Town Hall, which will cost $43,000. This figure includes engineering fees as well. Some of the engineering fees have been paid. Municipal aid show $10,000 to the good. Commissioner Earl Willey is in charge of streets and municipal expenditures of this nature. His current "pet" project is the widening of Railroad Ave. from Market St. to Gray's Crossing, and straightening out of the intersection at Railroad Ave. and Delaware Ave. All streets enter Delaware Avenue at an angle. An island will separate right and left turners. The Police Station is currently being renovated. The total cost when completed will be $27,000. The work is being done by Vernon Pike of Camden. The work includes aluminum siding, new roof new floor and floor coverings as well as being painted inside.

Joe Evans requested a zoning request of his land which lies adjacent to the City's property. Last year Mr. Evans had the property rezoned from residential to agriculture for tax purposes. There are ten acres in question. Under the laws of Bridgeville governing this any property owner with five acres or more within the Town limits may have it zoned agriculture. He now wants it zoned commercial citing reason that the sale of the land hinges on it being zoned commercial. Commissioner Kyle Ewing was designated to look into the matter with the attorneys for the Town to conduct the proper procedure to bring this about.

HARRINGTON. The bitter cold wind and subzero temperature did not deter 32 voters from the two Wards in Harrington for the City election. Earl McColey from the 6th Ward and William Dill from the 5th Ward were unopposed. McColey received 23 votes and Dill got 9. There were no write ins. Both men will serve a three year term of office. Howard Dill, back to camera, father of candidate William Dill is being registered by City Aldermen Anna Hampton.

Felton Council Renews Trash Contract

FELTON - The Felton Council met on Monday night for their regular monthly meeting. The meeting scheduled for the first Monday of the month was cancelled last Monday due to the holiday.

The most important item of business that had been hanging in limbo was the renewal of the trash removal contract. The bids were late getting out. N.L. Wilkins continued to remove the trash until a new contract was awarded. Of the two bidding for the trash removal for the Town of Felton, Wilkins was selected again for the job. The other bidder was Greenwood Trash Removers.

The matter of parking and making Jefferson St. a one-way route was discussed but nothing was resolved on the matter.

The Charter for the Town continues to be worked on by Mr. Leon DeValinger of Dover. The original commission of Mrs. Joyce Jefferson and the Council has been completed. The final approval will be with the commission for Charter updating, but Mr. DeValinger is currently working on it for a final determination and approval.

The Council granted a request by Mrs. Jo Ann Ware for water to her new home on the west end of High Street.

The next scheduled meeting will be on February 6th.

American Agriculture Movement Will Meet With Sec. Of Agriculture

GREENWOOD. Wayne Eakin said yesterday that representatives of the American Agriculture Movement will meet with Sec. of Agriculture Bob Berglund's representative on Tuesday the 17th of January in Washington. Recently Sec. Berglund said at a farm convention in Houston Texas that there were only two feasible ways to cope with the farmers problem and both are related to subsidies. Those two programs are the only one according to Sec. Berglund Wayne Eakin of Greenwood a spokesman for the A.A.M. group said there is a third and that is "...product! on controls with no government subsidies whatsoever".

According to Richard Carlisle, of near Greenwood who is a member along with his brother Keith in this movement, said "...that it has been a job getting across to the government officials that the farmers are prepared to get along without subsidies. The Farm Bill which the government refers to frequently amounts to $11 billion and deals mostly with food stamps, welfare, Farm Home mortgage money (mainly for homes), and PL 480 (overseas loan act for purchase of food supplies)" According to Carlisle many of the farmers did not understand the farm bill or parity before this movement started. Carlisle stated the government figures parity each month but the figures are rather meaningless for they in the long run benefit no one. The farmers in this movement favor 100% parity, which means the cost of farm goods produced, figuring cost of production,

8% return on investment, and a small profit. In the past Parity prices have been used in the west and southeast more than in other parts of the country. The farmer through farming efficiencies has caused the cost of goods to be lowered to the consumer. The farmers use the example of the sale of wheat to the Russians in '74 as being cause for their movement. There the Chicago Board of Trade made "... the killing at the expense of the farmer and the consumer" according to Richard Carlisle. The amount of wheat used in a loaf of bread is no more today than then yet the cost of a loaf of bread has risen while the cost of a bushel of wheat has declined. The farmers would welcome access to a free market with no government subsidies. According to Richard Carlisle "... anytime the farmers can achieve parity the government has made a move to block it". The parity price is the price the farmers product should be in order to make a profit, and is based on monthly government figures.

Woodbridge School Receives Reading Funds

BRIDGEVILLE - The reading program at the High School was given $550 by the Board for further programming. The reading program which is a volunteer one for one hour a day has been in effect for the past year. This school year marks the second year. The program, designed to stimulate reading, has met with a great deal of success among the administrators, faculty and student body.

Superintendent William Griffin reported approval for the School District to make use of gasoline from the State. The State price is one "...without the State tax and they buy in a tremendous volume which allows us to purchase our needs at a very low rate," according to Mr. Griffin.

Mrs. Neomia Young, a teacher in the Woodbridge District, had been docked in pay for being absent without proper authority. The Board went into executive session and declared that according to Board policy, proper approval in this case was not gotten in advance of the absence. The decision of the Board is final. The Board in executive session accepted the resignation of a teacher, Edward Webster, as of January 31, 1978. Webster taught English. He had taught previously in the Lake Forest School District.

It was also announced that the District would receive $10,000 Federal grant for the arithmetic program (Title 4C).

Vanderwende Receives Award

BRIDGEVILLE - William W. Vanderwende, a graduate of Harrington High School ('51) and a native of rural Harrington is being honored this week at the Pennsylvania Farm Show in Harrisburg. Vanderwende was honored at the annual farm affair yesterday at an awards banquet.

He has been selected by the Pennsylvania Farmer magazine as one of six recipients of a "master farmer" award. This is an annual award given to a deserving farmer from Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Maryland and West Virginia.

Until recent years Delaware had not been a part of the selection process. Delaware's renewed participation mainly through the University of Delaware Extension Service under Gerald Webb, was the enabling reason for a nominee from Delaware to be made. Vanderwende was selected mainly through the many achievements he has made on the farm and community life.

Aside from serving on several agricultural committees for various Delaware Governors, he has won many awards in farming. He currently serves as President of the Woodbridge School District.

Vanderwende who jokes about his start, after getting married, began with "less than $50 in the bank and four or five heifers" has built the holdings to farm land under cultivation of some 2,200 acres and a dairy herd of over 200 head. His home and most of his land holdings are located on Route #404 just north of Bridgeville. All the land is in virtually one large block.

Felton Receives Funds For Sewer System

Funds have been awarded by the Environmental Protection Agency for the final design phase of Felton's Central Sewer System, according to Kent County Engineer Walter Fritz.

Fritz also said negotiations are underway with Whitman, Requart, Inc., of Baltimore, which has been selected as the consultant for the design phase. He estimates the facility's design should be completed in five to six months and will be under ten per cent of the total project cost.

Whitman, Requart, Inc., will also be consultants for the Garrison Lake District, which will be a separate sanitary district from Felton.

Funds have also been awarded for the second or facility's design phase for a sewer system for Bowers Beach and South

Bowers, which will constitute one sanitary district. Fritz estimated the design should be completed in approximately two weeks.

Plans and specifications for both the Felton and the Bowers sewer systems will then be submitted to the appropriate state and Federal agencies for approval prior to the third or construction phase of the projects. Fritz said construction should begin on the Bowers Beach project in approximately three months. He is uncertain when construction will begin on the Felton project.

Kent County Levy Court will schedule a public hearing at a date yet to be decided to give residents of Felton an opportunity to voice their opinions about the proposed sanitary district. The exact date will be announced after preliminary layout plans for the district are completed. A legal description of the boundaries for the district was being completed by the county engineer's office.

Persons who do not agree with the sanitary district's creation will have an opportunity to petition Levy Court at a later date.

Federal funds will cover seventy-five per cent of the project's estimated cost. The county is eligible for a grant from the state to cover another ten per cent of the cost. The remaining fifteen per cent will probably be covered by bond issue, which will become part of the yearly cost of the system.

The Green Thumb

GEORGETOWN, De. - During the winter months the grass on your lawn becomes dormant. You should avoid heavy traffic on your lawn area. We do believe in using a lawn for recreational purposes in the summer, but excessive use in the winter may cause considerable damage. Dormant grass is dry and brittle and may be broken or trampled so badly as to damage the crown and possibly kill the plant. Moderate traffic on healthy dense turf may cause only minor damage, but avoid making paths by continuing use of the same line of travel.

If you do have a line that you continually use, why not place flagstones or rocks to go out walking space. If you cut a path in your lawn you will find that this area will become weed infested and grass will not grow very well in it because of the compaction of the soil. Since you don't want to be doing a lot of walking on your lawn there are some indoor gardening activities that can be done. One is to order your seeds for the spring planting. It's the early orderer who gets the seeds that he wants. If you don't have any nursery or seed catalogs start ordering now so that you can get your orders in as soon as possible. You can find the addresses of your favorite nursery or seed companies by check-king some of the garden magazines for the addresses. Remember, March is not that far away which is beginning the planting season.

Another project you can do this winter is to evaluate your landscape. Look at your house and surrounding plantings to determine if you need a plant or if one has become over-grown. By looking at it now and taking your time to make decisions as to where plants are needed or if one needs to be moved, you have the opportunity to select your plants carefully before the spring season. Well landscaped houses sell faster than those which are not. Make a few notes this winter so that you can get organized for spring to make the necessary changes. Also, by making your landscape notes now, if you have plants that need to be ordered you can place your orders so that they will arrive in time for planting.

Another project for the indoor gardener is to start the indoor novelty plants such as sweet potatoes, avocado, pineapple or cuttings from English Ivy. Be sure house plants in the window frames do not touch the glass. If leaves do touch the glass and it is very cold that temperature will be transferred into the plant and into that leaf, killing it. With the price of houseplants and the amount of time that it takes to grow one to have a decent size and shape to it, it is worth moving it back from the window to avoid damage.

An outdoor project that you can do on a weekend if the ground is not frozen and you have a mild day you can do some spreading of the compost pile that you built earlier last year or you can turn the one that you have.

If you would like to add a little color to your house you can plant paper-white narcissus bulbs in a bowl of pebbles and keep it filled with water to have them bloom in early spring to just add a little more attractiveness to the indoor scene.

All programs and activities of the Cooperative Extension Service are conducted on a non-discriminatory basis.

Vanderwende Honored

His success as an individual has carried over to his family members too. The Vanderwendes have four children three boys Dan, 25, Doug, 21, Jim, 19 and Carla, 18. Mrs. Vanderwende is the former Ellen Ann Draper also of near Harrington. All the Vanderwende children except Jim have attended or are attending the University of Delaware. Aside from winning farm awards where Jim was selected as the 1977 State Star Farmer and Carla was selected to be the 1978 Delaware Future Farmers of America Sweetheart, they all participated in athletics... namely baseball.

Vanderwende believes success in farming today is no different than it was a hundred years ago except that it takes more money today. He added that it is better to get started with an established farmer which was the case even thirty or forty years ago here on the Peninsula.

Vanderwende is President of the Sussex County D.H.I.A., Chairman of the Managers of Marshyhope Tax Ditch, Director of the Delaware State Fair, Governors Advisory Council of Agriculture, Member of the Farm Bureau, 1st V.P. of Bridgeville Kiwanis Club, and most recently elected Director of the ASC office in Sussex County as well as elected on Dec. 19, 1977, Supervisor of Sussex County Conservation District.

"...medical research into gene engineering...Let's not play God..."

A question some State Legislatures may face in the near future has to do with medical research into gene engineering...gene changes.

The question on first impression is a two prong one...is this a matter beyond medical research and entering a field reserved only for God or two is it something we must do in order to keep up with major powers who are already into this development.

The field of gene engineering varies from the superficial to the most exotic like life longevity. Scientists are working now on ways to keep a person alive for maybe 800 years. What problem doors this unlocks, for whom will this type of "longevity life" favor. You can only guess, but this planet alone could not sustain our population for 800 years. Besides after all the transplants the question arises do you still have the same person in which you started.

It seems to me that there is a need for balance between the scientific world and the world of religion. In recent years, I believe, the balance has been in favor of science. This isn't right. I believe scientists should realize they are human too. That is to say, they should realize that they could have the "guns" turned on them someday. I don't believe scientific laboratories should be heavens for those who wish to control the world. Instead of seeking ways of conquering the world, I believe they should seek ways to correct major disease killers here on earth. We literally have an epidemic with cancer for instance. From a layman's standpoint it would appear that not enough is being done on cancer cure yet "tons of money" are being pumped into the program. Health care today in this country as in any civilized country in the world is the most costly of any program in existence.

I believe the doctor on the local level - the one on one situation is doing all he is trained and capable of doing. New drugs come out - he administers them, but that is the extent of it. The laboratory scientists hold the key. What they know and what they are capable of doing is beyond your wildest thoughts. It would blow your mind if you knew every detail.

I believe they should stick to correcting disease problems where relieving misery is important. Instead of engineering genes to suit a "mad scientist's goal" I believe they would be better served in discovering ways to combat cancer and other diseases instead of playing God and creating a monster. This was recently done in South America where bees were experimented with to produce more honey, which they did, but they also created a bee which could sting many times. Consequently it was labeled a "killer bee". This was nothing new because Mandel created the same bee almost a century ago. He finally destroyed his species. They are still trying to kill the bees in South America.

This is a dangerous area in the field of medical research. We recognize the need for further development in order to give a balance of power. Nevertheless, it is necessary to curtail any wild and exotic experiments. Many times, knowledge and effort could better be spent in disease prevention and control. The reservoir is untapped here.

State To Receive $700,000 In Federal Funds

Arithmetic, Music And Handicapped programs Are Covered

Better instruction in arithmetic, music, and programs for handicapped students are expected from new projects in Delaware schools that will receive nearly $700,000 in federal funds this year.

John S. Watson, state supervisor of federal program development and dissemination at the Department of Public Instruction, reports that Delaware has obtained two sizeable grants under Title IV of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act. $324,767 is available to help all school districts buy instructional materials and equipment and to improve programs in guidance, counseling, and testing.

Twelve districts are sharing $388,000 meant for new programs that tackle special needs in each district.

The Woodbridge District simply completing a form supplied by the Governor's Energy Office, Delmarva Power and Light Co., or the University of Delaware. Businesses will be required to pay a fee.

The energy audits will measure fuel consumption and determine the most effective and economical methods of cutting energy use in the buildings.

Interested individuals may receive an energy audit from the Governor's Energy Office, Townsend Building, Dover, Delaware, 19901. The phone number is 678-5466.

received funds for an elementary arithmetic program for 196 students. In other parts of the country, a similar program has helped students make the equivalent of fifteen months' progress during the seven months of special instruction. Thirty-two Woodbridge teachers have been trained to operate the program.

One thousand Wilmington students are assisted by a federally funded program which trains elementary teachers to work with music specialists.

The Newark District uses ESEA Title IV funds for a special program for high school and middle school youngsters who have trouble adjusting to the regular school setting.

District plans for the programs, which also involve non-public schools, are approved by the State Board of Education after review by a state advisory council, Mr. Watson said.

The 12-member council meets seven times a year to review proposals and to evaluate programs. Chairman is William Kehoe, superintendent of schools for the Roman Catholic Diocese of Wilmington. Other members are: Stephen J. Betze, dean of instruction for Delaware Technical and Community College, Georgetown; Patrick O'Donnell, supervisor of instructional media, Newark District; Michael Ramprayer, a student at Smyrna High School; Edward H. Wiley, director of the state Office of Economic Opportunity; Carol Cordrey, assistant principal of Delmar High School;

Also, George Benner, Director of elementary education for the Caesar Rodney District; Mrs. Kerin Hearn of the State Arts Council; Doris LeSturgeon, director of the Pilot School; Dr. Lloyd McDowell, principal of the Meadowood School;

Beulah Squires says this about the New Year: "Father, I thank You for this new book that you have placed in my hands."

What are you doing with the New Year, Dear Readers? Regardless of resolutions or plans, we just have to cope with one day at a time. And this we can do. Evidently, from time immemorial, the New Year has meant much to all men. A new beginning...a new set of days. Isn't it exciting? I have just had a birthday, and it was a joyous one. Many cards and gifts and even a birthday dinner where I joined other friends at the home of my dear young friend, JoAnne. And the friend, JoAnne. And the mere fact that I am now 74 years old bothered me not.

In reading through some old books I found this little gem by George Wither in 1641. He calls it simply, "New Year". "The year we now anew begin, and outward gifts received be; Renew us also, Lord, within, and make us New Year's gifts to Thee!" And this bit of wisdom from an ancient sage which would seem to be a good answer to all those scientific fellows who are upsetting themselves over whence came the universe. "What can be more foolish than to think that all this rare fabric of heaven and earth could come by chance, when all the skill of art is not able to make an oyster."

Board Studies Pupil Transportation

Joseph M. Rule gave the Board at their Dec. meeting and interim report of the thirteen-member committee he led to examine the pupil transportation system. Mr. Rule said the cost of running school buses varies widely by size of fleet, location, amount of traffic, and cost of labor and materials. As a result, no single formula may be adequate for the state.

He recommended that state funds be used to buy buses, at interest rates lower than what private contractors could obtain, and that buses be taken out of service after seven or eight years, rather than the ten years now set into the formula for reimbursement. Contractors should be told clearly what they will receive for the year's operation before they sign the contract, Mr. Rule said, and districts could be given more leeway in handling details of their arrangements. The committee recommends several changes in the payments to contractors that would need a supplement of some $250,000 this year to carry out.

Frieda K. Edley of the School Bus Contractors Assn. said her group does not support Mr. Rule's recommendations. It urges the Board to return to the formula set on January 15, 1976, plus increase for inflation. Many contractors agreed to operate this year only when legislators promised that they would be supplemented for this year, Mrs. Edley said.

Mr. Farmer said the Board would study the report of the Rule Committee and the contractors' comments before it takes action.

State Receives $78,000 Federal Energy Grant

Governor du Pont announced that the State of Delaware has received a $78,000 federal energy grant for audits of energy consumption in homes, businesses and public buildings.

The grant from the Department of Energy's supplemental state energy conservation program will be used primarily by the Governor's Energy Office for energy audits of public and commercial buildings. The Governor has mandated a 15% reduction of energy use in state buildings by 1979, and a 5% reduction statewide by 1980.

Homeowners may receive a free energy audit of their residences by

Protection For Boats

With the arrival of severe winter weather, the Coast Guard warned boat owners about the danger of ice damage to craft left in the water, and offered precautionary tips.

Here are a few preventive measures the Coast Guard recommends:

To prevent damage to the hull from drifting ice or debris, suspend old tires or pieces of wood over the sides of the vessel as buffers at the level of the waterline.

To prevent ice from forming around the hull, install bubblers-devices that keep the water moving-in the area where the boat is moored.

To guard against the danger of water entering through the exhaust pipe and sinking the boat, install a plug in any exhaust pipe located near the waterline. The problem is that the added weight of accumulated snow and water could cause a boat to settle enough to bring the exhaust pipe under water.

To keep mooring lines from parting, double all mooring lines. The extra weight of snow and water could cause single lines to part.

For Your Information

Dear friends,

Question: How much should a funeral cost?

Answer: Never more than the family wishes to spend and can afford to spend.

Our establishment offers a wide range of plainly marked prices, which enables each family to select a funeral service well within its means - and this we definitely encourage. Respectfully,

Estella M. Kates

Sunny Side Up

Are you aggravated by all those little snags and balled-up fibers on your knitwear? Have you ever wondered what you can do about them—if indeed you can do anything?

The problem is acute in our house, and I guess we bring it on ourselves.

Knit shirts and blouses are practically a family uniform, but there's hardly a decent garment left in anybody's closet. The clothes all look as if somebody's cat had been exercising his claws on them.

Well, in fact somebody's cat has. Ours.

Family cats fall into two general classifications—lap cats and chest cats. Ours is a chest cat. He loves to attach himself high up under your chin, gaze into your eyes, rev up his motor and "knead" your frontside lovingly with his claws.

This is great for the ego, but disastrous for sweaters and other knits, and sometimes skin. I try to wear a full apron to protect my clothes, but occasionally he gets there before the apron does, and I haven't the heart to remove him.

Happily, there is help for knits that snag, according to our extension clothing specialists. Look for a "knit fixer" in the notions section of your fabric store. It's a tiny metal hook that's inserted in the wrong side of the fabric so you can pull the snag to the back. You can accomplish the same thing with a very fine crochet hook.

The tightness of the twisted yarn affects the snagging potential of a fabric. Tight knits snag less than loose, open knits.

A smooth "hard" knit will not snag as readily as a puffy or rough-textured knit. Also, snags show more on solid colors, but may not be noticeable on a print.

Pilling is an entirely different matter. Balledup fibers that appear on the surface of clothing may occur from wear, from cleaning, or both, say our specialists. Yarns made of synthetic fibers tend to pill more than wool, they add.

In some cases pilling can be removed by brushing, but it must be done carefully so as not to damage the fabric. It's also possible to clip the balled-up fibers from the surface of the knit. Keep in mind, though, that brushing or clipping will leave new exposed fibers which will also be subject to pilling. You can't win it seems.

The key word in all this is "carefully." I tried the clipping method recently, grasping a tiny ball of fibers between the thumb and forefinger of my left hand and wielding a pair of embroidery scissors in my right.

Snip! The pill came off all right, and it's place was a hole about the size of a dime. Even the cat never did that!

Aerobics In Motion At YMCA

The Dover YMCA is sponsoring several demonstrations of Aerobics in Motion during the Governor's Health Week at the Blue Hen Mall.

What is Aerobics in Motion? A unique way to stay in shape through specially designed dance routines. But, don't get the wrong idea, one does not need any previous dance instruction, the emphasis is on fun and fitness.

Previous participants of Aerobics in Motion have already enjoyed the benefits of tighter muscles and legs, released and an increase in daily energies, just to mention a few of the side benefits.

If your resolution for this year is to shape up, don't resort to the old hum of one-two-three touch your toes. Come out and share the excitement of Aerobics in Motion at the Blue Hen Mall, Tuesday 11:00 a.m. - 1:00 p.m., Wednesday 6:30 - 8:30 p.m. and Thursday 11:00 a.m. - 1:00 p.m. Ladies from the Lewes - Rehoboth classes are making a special effort to come up Friday night 7:30 p.m. - 9:00 p.m. So, pick a night or day and come out and see what exercising is really all about.

For more information contact the YMCA at 674-3000.

Move Into Second Place

Girls Win Two Games By Big Margins

The Lake Forest girls' basketball team moved into sole possession of second place in the Southern Division with their two victories last week.

Neither of the two games were even close as on Tuesday the girls romped over an outclassed Dover Air team by the one-sided score of 77-7. On Friday the girls downed Sussex Central by a score of 63-46.

In the beginning of Friday's game, it looked like anything but a run-away for either team as each squad could only score 12 first period points. However, in the second period the girls opened the lead to a 34-16 margin at halftime. It was once again the hot scoring of Cindy Dukes and Laura Newnom and the rebounding of Dukes that gave the girls the advantage.

The Spartans stretched that halftime lead of 18 points to 25 at the end of the third period as they again outscored the Golden Knights, this time by a 18-11 margin. Sussex closed the gap in the final period but it was a case of a lot too little too late.

Dukes led the Spartans in scoring with 21 points while Newnom chipped in with 19. Chris Morrow added 10 and Joyce McClements added 12 in the Lake Forest victory. Dukes led all rebounders with ten.

The Spartans are now averaging just a shade over 52 points a game in their first six starts. The defense has allowed a Northern Division low of only 35.8 points per game, over eight points a game better than the division leading Dover squad.

On Tuesday it was Laura Newnom who led the team as she scored 22 points while Joyce Moehlenkamp added 15 and Gwen Scott chipped in with 12. The Spartans held the Falcons scoreless in the first and third periods while scoring 37 points of their own. Dover Air is currently 0-5 on the season.

Lake Forest will travel to Laurel on Tuesday before coming home again to meet Cape Henlopen on Friday. Earlier in the season the girls defeated the Vikings for their first win of the season.

Currently Lake Forest trails division leading Dover by 2 games as the Spartans are undefeated in six conference starts and have a 6-1 overall record. The Spartans' lead over third place Milford and Sussex Central is only one game as both of those teams have identical 3-3 records.

Square Dance Classes Begin

The Dover YMCA will begin Square Dancing Classes this week. Classes will be held on Thursday evening of each week, from 8:00 p.m. until 10:30 p.m.

Square Dancing has become very popular throughout the United States as well as in many foreign countries. It is a great form of fun and exercise combined with an opportunity to meet new people. Square Dancing is an exciting challenge that can include the entire family at a reasonable cost.

Why not make 1978 a year to include the whole family. If you have noticed your family starting to drift away from doing things together, start out the new year and plan that special night out for square dancing each week. Square Dance your way through '78 for a family affair of fun.

Remember, January 12, at 8:00 p.m. The First Night is Free! For more information contact the Y. at 674-3000.

Down Dover 41-13

Grapplers Begin Season With Big Victory

The Lake Forest High School wrestling team got started on the right foot in Henlopen Conference action as they manhandled Dover High by a 41-13 score.

The Spartans under first year head coach Justin Hyatt showed more excitement and team spirit than in years past. Freshman Dennis Voshell got Lake Forest off to a fast start taking up where last year's 98 pound state champion Lane Lapinsky left off. Voshell, who has been one of the most pleasant surprises on the season, recorded a second period win by way of a pin.

Lake Forest narrowly lost the second match of the night as Jeff Grove dropped a 7-6 decision and Dover closed the team score to 6-3. Co-captain Dennis Wheeler go the Spartans back on the right track again with an 11-6 win and David Shultie followed with another decision win by a 9-0 score.

The first of two matches that finished even on the night saw Lake Forest's Mike Kosiorowski and Dover's Ron Lepore finish in a four all tie. Dover then closed the gap in what was to be their final no time in showing his superiority over Dover's Randy Leitzinger. Despite having a large lead Kosiorowski continued to try for the pin victory and finally got just that late in the third period. Next, up was Spartan Louis Henlopen's Mark Miller was pinned late in the final period of the 132 pound match.

The Spartans most promising wrestler for this season Ron Kosiorowski was next up and wasted dricks and he and his Dover opponent finished in a 0-0 tie.

In years past the heavier weights have always been one of the weaker spots for Spartan wrestling team. This season appears like it will be different as the Spartans sealed their victory in the heavier weights as all four Spartans won.

Larry McCombs got the ball rolling as he gained a 6-3 decision win. Larry's older brother, Tim then took up where Larry left off and recorded the quickest pin of the evening at 1:27 of the first period.

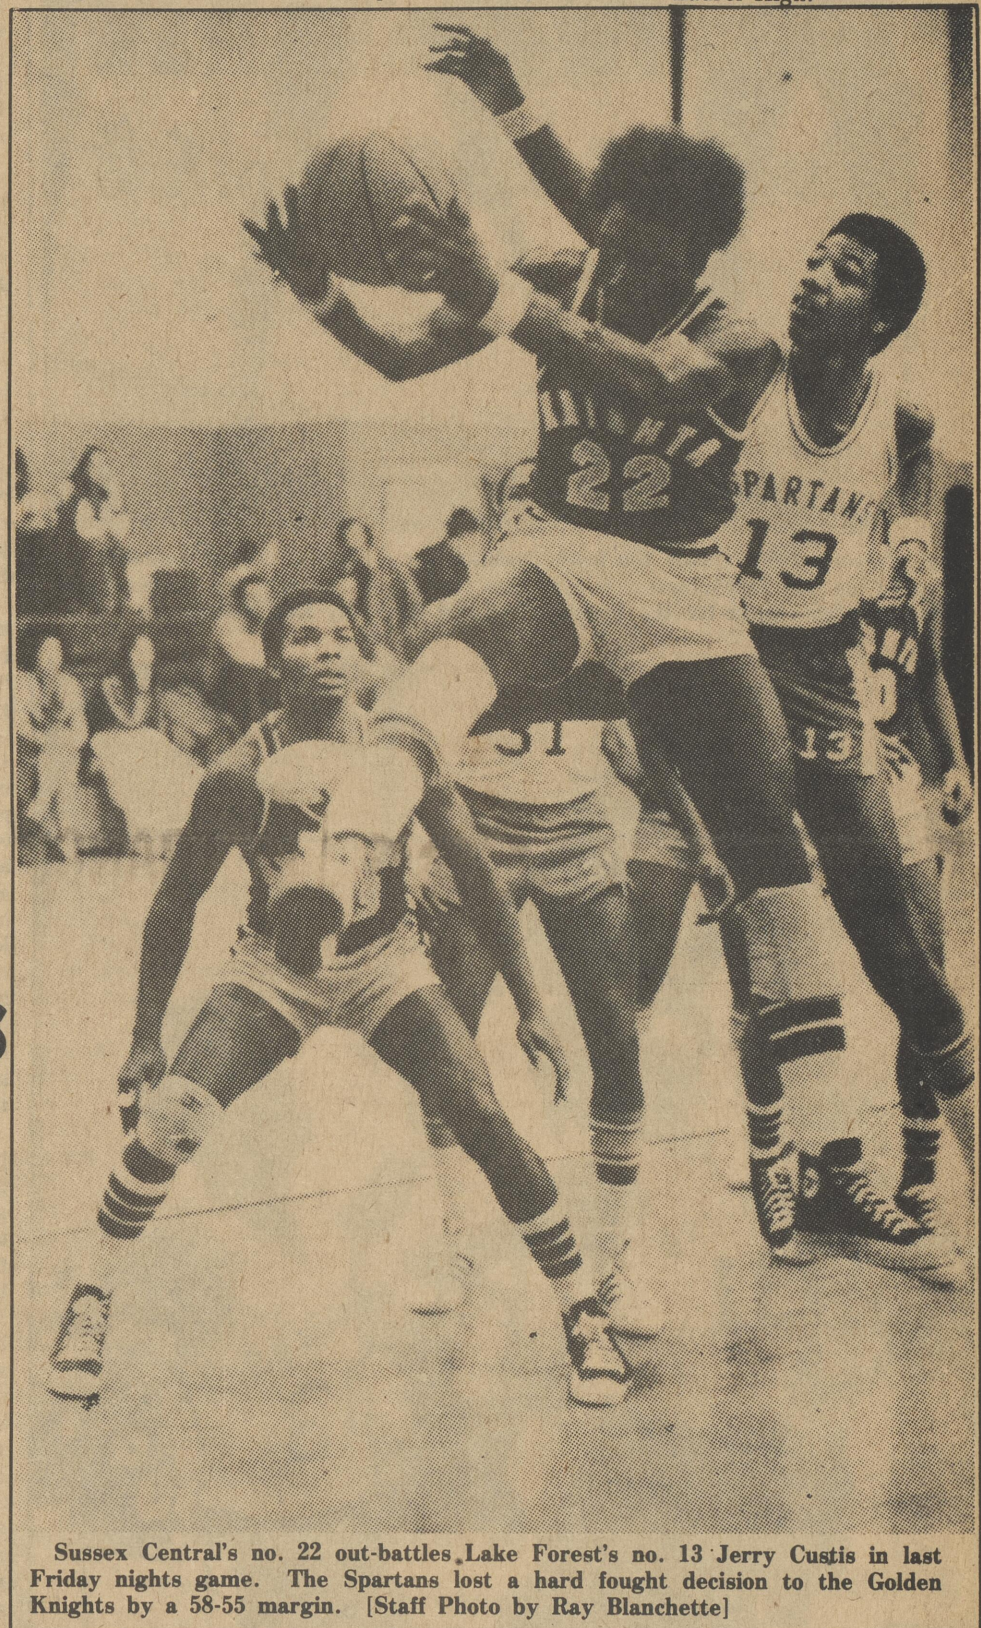

Spartan 185 pounder Mike Quail was next and he too recorded a win coming by a 5-4 decision. Quail held off his opponent several times when just one move could have been fatal to his chance for victory.

Heavyweight Mike Barner continued the Spartans on their winning way recording a surprise second period win by way of a pin. This accounted for the Spartans final victory margin of 28 points.

The Spartans appear to have a fairly set team for the season with few weight classes being too hotly contested. They appear to be fairly strong all the way through also.

Wrestling fans should be able to see just how strong Lake Forest will be as they will have to meet one of the conference's tougher teams this Wednesday night in Smyrna. On Saturday the Spartan team will once again be at home as they will meet Laurel High.

Lose To Sussex Central

Spartans Split Two Games, Drop To .500

Sussex Central High School avenged an early season loss to the Lake Forest boys' basketball team by defeating the Spartans 58-55 in Felton on Friday.

The loss dropped the Spartans' record to 3-3 in the Henlopen Conference's Northern Division and 3-5 overall.

It was a see-saw battle between two teams who now have identical records. The Spartans opened the game by taking a two point lead at the end of the first period but Sussex Central behind the scoring of their two big guns, Prezannie Johnson and Kenny Knocks, shot the Golden Knights into a 34-25 half-time lead.

The Spartans chipped away at that nine point lead in the third period as hot shooting by Lauren Burris and Phillip Bowers closed the gap to only a one point difference at the beginning of the final period.

The game remained close until the final minute of play when Sussex Central sealed the victory. Earlier in the period, the Spartans had a chance to tie the score but Burris missed the second half of a one and one free throw situation.

Burris was the Spartans leading scorer on the night as he canned 21 points while Phillip Bowers added 16 before he fouled out in the final period.

Earlier in the week the Spartans had temporarily raised their record above .500 with an 86-43 trouncing of Dover Air on Tuesday.

Again it was Burris and Bowers who led the scoring for the Spartans as they combined for 46 points with Burris scoring 26. Larry Smith added 15 points and Jerry Custis chipped in with twelve as Lake Forest built up a large lead and didn't slack off. Their first period was the fourth when they outscored the Falcons by a 35-10 margin. Lake Forest is currently tied for fourth place in the Northern Division with Sussex Central. They trail division leading Seaford by 2 1/2 games as the Blue Jays lead with their 6-1 record. Dover is right behind Seaford with a 5-1 record while Cape Henlopen is 4-3.

So far this season, the Spartans are scoring on an average only two more points per game than they are giving up. However, their points against average is still third best in the Conference.

This week the Spartans will travel to Laurel on Tuesday to meet the Southern Division Bulldogs while on Friday, Lake Forest will once again be at home trying to avenge a season opening loss to Cape Henlopen.

Defense

Walt Callahan - Rising Reinsman Sits It Out

Every athlete has done it at one time or another - sat on the sidelines while the game goes on without him. There's special frustration however, when one is sidelined with an injury, especially when the athlete is of "star" category. He knows he can be out there doing his job like few else can and that he could be winning, or helping his team to win. Now it's Walt Callahan's turn to sit it out. He's been on the bench since November 19th waiting for his broken collarbone to heal following a shuddering harness racing accident at Dover Downs.

This was to be Callahan's year at Dover. The 26 year-old Ridgely, MD reinsman had already finished a close second to Hubert Jackson in the final driver standings at Laurel Raceway (MD) earlier in the year and he arrived at Dover Downs with his first driving championship, the U.D.R.S. title from Harrington Raceway, under his belt. At the time of his accident he was the leading Dash driver at Dover and was fourth ranked in the U.D.R.S. percentage column.

The accident of November 19th was the worst of Callahan's career and it was scary. He was driving a 4 year-old mare named Miss Dove in the evening's 12th and final event. The race had gone to the half mile mark in 1:02.4 and Callahan knew he would have to pull out of line and move up if he was going to have a chance to beat the favored Majestic Michael driven by Eddie Davis.

Davis was moving up on the outside and Callahan tucked in right behind him. It was going to be a good battle. Suddenly a horse moved out on Davis causing his mount to go off stride. When Davis pulled up Callahan, right on his tail, had no chance as Miss Dove broke stride and got tangled in her hobbles. When Miss Dove fell, Callahan was sent flying into the air, but with good balance, Walt momentarily landed on his feet. It was the ensuing roll to the track that broke his collarbone.

Despite the serious and painful nature of his injury, Callahan did what all good horsemen do -- he took care of his horse. "I hate to see a horse in trouble," said Walter. "When they're down they can really hurt themselves, especially when they're tangled in their equipment like Miss Dove was. I was hurting, but I could move enough to get over to hold her down until help arrived. Fortunately," said Walter, "the horse received only a few scrapes and she was racing a week later. In fact, she won that next race with a new lifetime (speed) mark."

Callahan is philosophical about his current sentence to inactivity. "It's bad sitting out like this," he said. "It's something you miss when you do it all the time. It gets in your blood and I'd really rather be out there racing, especially knowing that I had a shot at the driving title at Dover. But that's harness racing; you have good times and bad times and you have to take your lumps when they come."

The father of 6 month-old twin girls and a 7 year-old daughter, Walt resides in Ridgely with his wife, Patricia. His younger brother, Nick and his cousin, Al also train and drive standardbreds on the Eastern Shore circuit and both, along with Hubert Jackson and Wayne Smullin, have been filling in for Walter while he convalesces.

Walt developed his interest in harness racing while working for Jackson on Jackson's Queen Anne (MD) farm. Callahan considers Jackson to be the best horseman in the Eastern Shore area and credits him for much of what he's learned. "Hubert is a smart driver," said Walter, "and he wins a lot. He's given me a lot of tips about driving, but he's also taught me equally important things like how to work on a lame horse, how to pick out a good horse, and how to keep a horse comparable to his class so that he races with horses of equal competitiveness." Now Callahan owns or trains 15 standardbreds and is himself considered to be one of the top horsemen in the area.

He's not without ambitions for bigger and better things either. "First of all," he said as he watched a race go off at Dover Downs last week, "I'm making sure that my horses are staying in good condition so that they'll be as good when I come you."

back (sometime in late January) as they did before the accident.

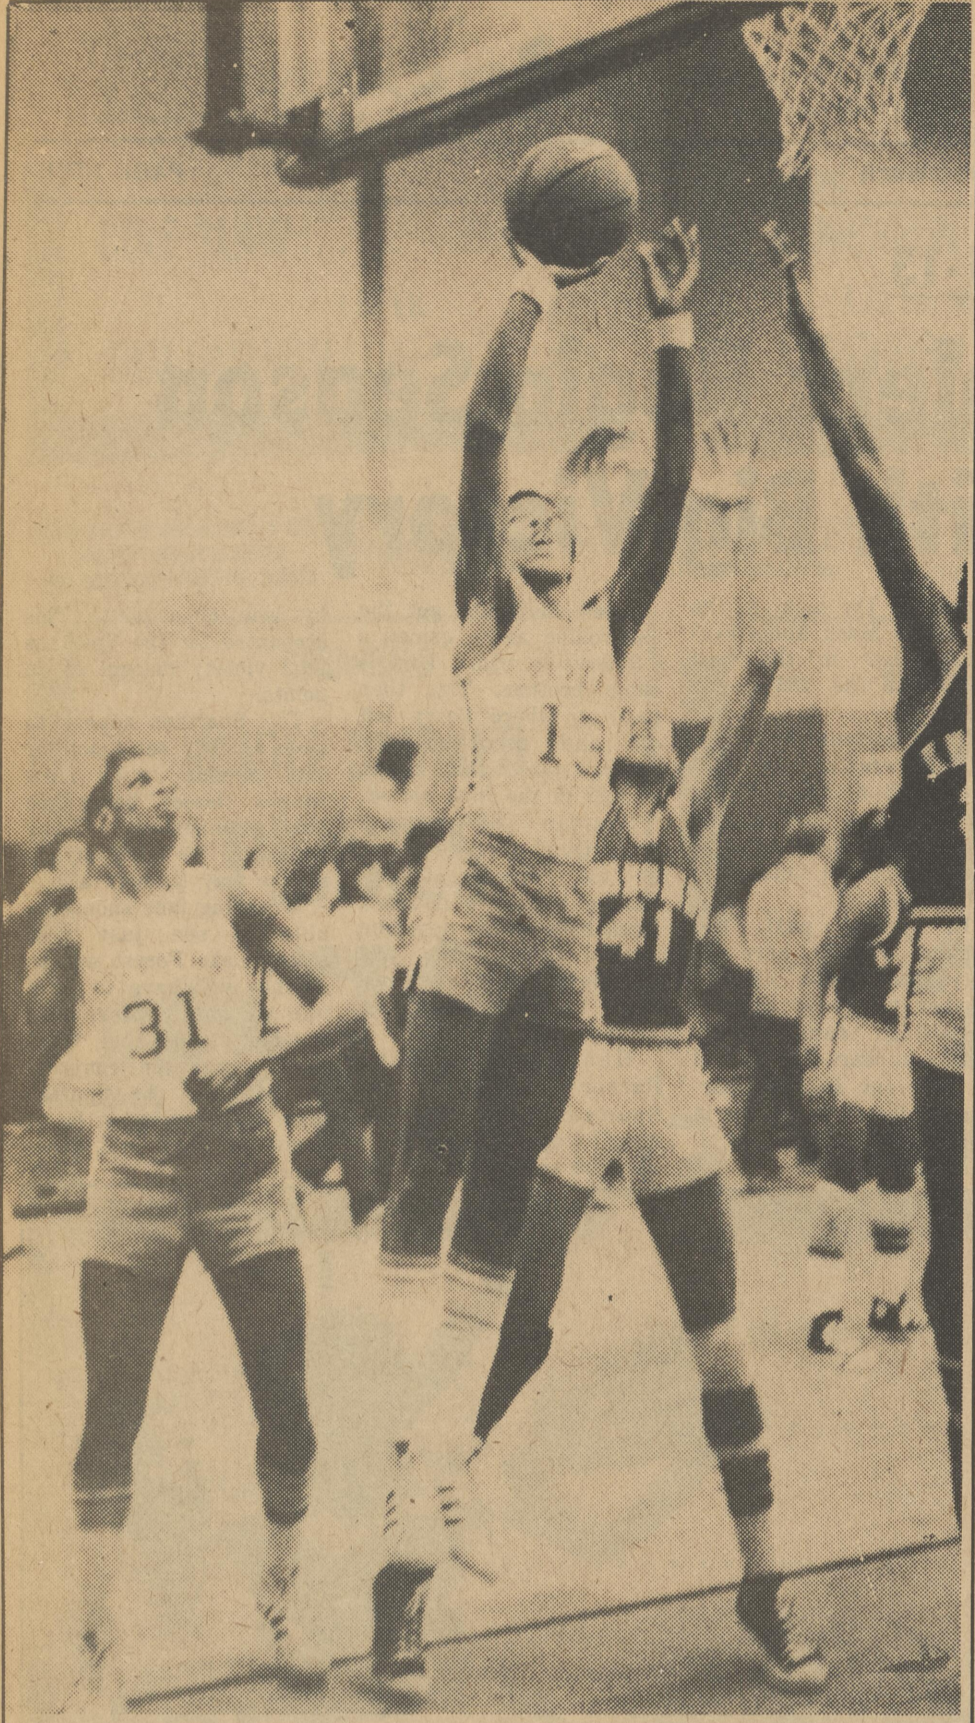

"I also want to win the driving championships at Rosecroft and Laurel Raceways in my home state. Eventually, I would like to have a stable good enough to race at the Meadowlands or Yonkers. It would have to be competitive stable though; I don't want to race any sixty to one shots."

As evidenced by his performance to date, Callahan has the ability to analyze a race track. "Take a track like Dover Downs," he said. "It's different than most. It has wide, sweeping turns and short straightaways. You have to be in contention at the three quarter mark or you'll probably get beat. You really have to be able to feel your horse and know how much he can go. The best thing at Dover for most horses is to hold him a little while keeping with the leaders. Then, when you get to the head of the lane (the beginning of the homestretch) let him go from there. If your horse is in shape, he'll win for you."

Walt Callahan of Ridgely, Md., although forced to sit out the current harness racing schedule, is never the less a frequent visitor to the paddock at Dover Downs where his fellow reinsmen of the Eastern Shore have over taken him in the Dover Downs driver standings. Callahan plans to return to action, and to the top of the driver standings at Dover, by the end of January.

RIVERSIDE, Calif. - There are no books or classrooms to teach someone how to successfully manage a race track. And the last place one of the most knowledgeable speedway promoters would be expected to begin his career in this profession is on the football field.

But that's exactly where Les Richter got his start and through his efforts during the last 17 years, Riverside International Raceway has become one of the most successful race tracks on the NASCAR Winston Cup circuit.

However, Richter would be the first to admit that learning how to run a speedway is as difficult as fighting your way through two blockers and sacking the quarterback.

This is especially true if your initial involvement is because your bosses have elected to go into a new field and you're selected to tackle the job.

While an all-pro line-backer for the Los Angeles Rams, Richter worked in the off-season for the club owners. "One of their investments was to acquire an interest in Riverside," recalls Richter. "It became part of my portfolio."

He began his "racing career" as an overseer, but before long he was "getting involved on a regular basis. The manager was an elderly gentleman who wanted to retire." A huge smile flashes across Richter's face as he adds, "the question became who can run the Good Ship Lollipop?"

The answer was Richter, who retired from pro football in 1962. Two years later, he was running Riverside on a fulltime basis.

Richter and Roy Hord, another ex-Ram who is now general manager and vice-president of the road course, brought a stock car and backed it on the West Coast "so we could find out as much as possible about that side of racing."

The man who Richter credits "with helping me the most" during his initial years as the track manager is Bill France Sr., founder of NASCAR. "There were many people that helped me back in those early days, but Bill Senior was my tutor. A lot of the wisdom I gained was through him."

While the ownership of the track has changed several times in the last decade, Richter has remained the backbone of the facility.

"The last four to five years have been very meaningful," notes Richter, who looks like he still could play middle guard for the Rams. "A lot of things have come true. It took us a long time to get there, but for the most part it has been very gratifying."

Like all promoters on the Winston Cup circuit, one of Richter's main goals is giving the spectators "the type of show to attract and keep their interest."

With this idea in mind, he began contemplating a move that many of his fellow promoters would call "quite bold."

"I feel there are three stages to every race here at Riverside," explains Richter. "The first 100 to 200 miles is when everyone is going at it pretty heavy. Then comes the second stage, the stage that I call strategy because that is when the drivers and their crews are making changes needed to be ready for the third stage which is when it comes time to win or lose."

"We asked our scoring people to chart several of our Winston Western 500s. And lo and behold, we found out that there were not too many lead changes in the second stage."

"We thought about cutting back. But we realized we are bound by tradition--the 500-mile race. Yet in Europe, the metric system is used. One day, it finally hit me. We can fulfill tradition and give the fans a better show by going to a 500-meter race."

Many of Richter's colleagues thought he was making a mistake when he announced that the 400 mile race in June of 1976 would be 400 meters, not miles.

And then when he elected to use the metric system for the Winston Western 500 -- the No. 1 event at the track -- last January, some auto racing experts said he was going to be hurt where it mattered most -- in attendance.

But "the results were quite gratifying," says Richter. "The ticket interest for this year's Winston Western 500 (scheduled Jan. 22) has increased as advance sales are up."

The track received only two negative letters following the decision. "We got many more letters saying it was a good move. Now we have five or six guys in a competitive situation at the end of the (310-mile) race instead on only one or two."

The decision was not an easy one, but it shows the kind of leadership that has made Richter and Riverside synonymous with success.

All Roads Lead to Daytona

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. - After years of construction delays, three main Interstate highways linking Florida to the rest of the nation will be open in time for the thousands of travelers who will be making their way to Daytona Beach for Speed Weeks '78.

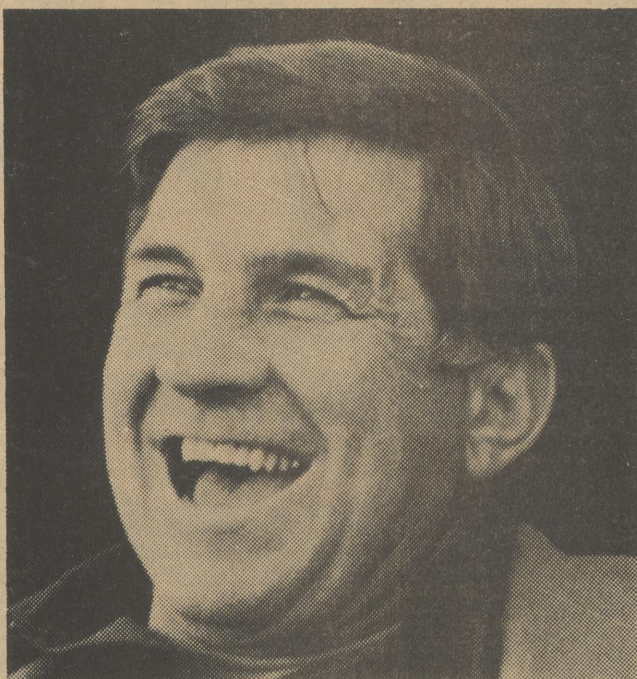

The final section of more than 20 miles was completed on Interstate 75 and is now an east drive from Michigan to the Sunshine State. Also scheduled for opening prior to the February 4-19, Speed Weeks is a section of I-20 in Alabama.

With the completion of Interstate 95 to the Florida area, fans coming to Daytona International Speedway for the two weeks of racing action will find it easier than ever to come to Daytona Beach and enjoy the warm Florida sun and the excitement of racing at the world's finest speedway.

Proud Father is First ARCA Entry

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. - A 14-year veteran of stock car racing, James Sauter, said, "A man can't race all the time," and announced he and his wife have their 10th child on the way.

Sauter of Neceedah, Wis. has submitted the first entry for the February 12, ARCA 200 at Daytona International Speedway and will hoping his success as a father will carry over to his racing career.

Les Richter is all smiles as he thinks about the crowd that he expects for the Winston Western 500 on Jan. 22 at Riverside International Raceway.

When Sauter came to Daytona for this year's Speed Weeks and the ARCA 200, he and his wife were expecting number nine and shortly after their return to Wisconsin, they were blessed with a baby girl.

In his spare time Sauter is an up and coming star of racing among the ranks of the Automobile Racing Club of America and last year showed his stuff on Daytona's high-banks by finishing second to Woody Fisher.

Sauter also finished second in the ARCA race at Talladega and this year he said he was going to change that.

"This year it's going to all be firsts," Sauter said. "I've raced at Daytona twice and have led in both races, this year I want to be leading when the checkered flag comes out."

Daytona 500 Entries Mailed

Entries for the February 19, Daytona 500 are in the mail to NASCAR Winston Cup Grand National drivers and car owners.

Last year a total of 81 entries were received for the Daytona 500 and with the addition of may new teams for the 1978 season, this year's Daytona 500 may establish a new mark.

With over seventy entries for the richest stock car race in the world, the importance of the Twin 125-Mile Qualifying Races on February 16 becomes even greater.

Only the first two starting positions for the 40-car Daytona 500 field will be established in the February 12, Pole Position Qualifying for the Daytona 500, and the remainder of the starting grid will be set by the outcome of the two qualifying races.

Dreyfus Named Grand Marshal

Former French auto racing champion, Rene Dreyfus has been named Grand Marshal for the February 4-5, 24 Hours of Daytona at Daytona International Speedway.

Dreyfus was a leading Grand Prix driver from 1930-1938, winning 10 Grand Prix events, driving such marques as Bugatti, Alfa-Ferrari, Maserati and Delahaye.

In making the announcement, Bill France Sr., president of Daytona International Speedway said, "We are proud to honor such a great race driver from another era who has continued to share his vast knowledge with the teams of today."

The February 4-5, 24 Hours of Daytona will begin Speed Weeks '78 as Daytona International Speedway celebrates its 20th year of racing. The nation's only 24 hour endurance test will also be the inaugural event of the IMSA Camel GT Challenge Series in 1978 and will be round one of both the World Manufacturers' Championship and the newly established World Challenge for Endurance Drivers.

Waltrip Will Race in Sportsman 300

Darrell Waltrip, who won six NASCAR Winston Cup Grand National races during the 1977 racing season, has announced he would be entered in the February 18, Sportsman 300 at Daytona International Speedway.

"Late Model Sportsman racing is where I got started," explained Waltrip. "Those fans helped give me my start and I feel I owe it to them to race in Sportsman events when I can."

Waltrip began his racing career here at Daytona with his first NASCAR

Late Model Sportsman race being the 1966 race. He finished 18th in his first outing at Daytona and has yet to score the big win at Daytona.

It will be a busy schedule during Speed Weeks '78 for the young superstar as he will be entered in the International Race of Champions Finale on February 17, the Sportsman 300, February 18 and the Daytona 500 on February 19.

Nilsson Will Get Close Look At Daytona

Swedish Grand Prix star, Gunnar Nilsson will be taking his first look at Daytona International Speedway's high-banked tri-oval in the February 17, International Race of Champions Finale.

The Swedish driving ace raced for the first time on a banked oval in the IROC opener at Michigan International Speedway in September.

He liked the oval racing so much that he is also negotiating for a ride in the February 19, Daytona 500 and if successful, it would mark the first time a Swede had raced in the world's richest stock car race.

Joining Nilsson in the IROC Finale at Daytona will be NASCAR drivers: Cale Yarborough, Richard Petty and Darrell Waltrip; USAC competitors: Gordon Johncock, Al Unser and Johnny Rutherford; road racing star, Jacky Ickx and American Grand Prix racer, Mario Andretti.

The IROC Finale will be part of a double-header of racing on Friday, February 17 with the spotlight being shared by the drivers of NASCAR's Modified Division in the NASCAR 200 World Championship Modified race.
