Police Investigate Car, Bicycle Thefts

For the second time this month the Harrington Police Department had a report of a stolen car which resulted from someone leaving their keys in the car with the car running.

The latest happened on the 16th of January around 8:45 p.m. when a car belonging to Jack Redden of Weiner Avenue was reported stolen from the Quillen Shopping Center parking lot. The car a 73 Olds was left running while Mr. Redden's daughter entered the Food Rite store and was stolen while she was in there. Investigation into the incident is continuing.

Bicycle thefts in the city of Harrington continue to happen, the latest coming when a bicycle belonging to Karen Minner of Weiner Avenue was stolen sometime during the weekend of January 15. Earlier in the month on the 10th of January two juveniles of Harrington were arrested after investigation of bicycle thefts. The juveniles are currently awaiting trial in the family court.

On the 18th of January police reported the arrest of Timothy James Helsdon after the subject accidentally set the curtain in the rest room at Swains Hotel on fire. Helsdon was charged with criminal mischief and consumption of alcohol under age. He was found guilty of both charges and sentenced to ten days at the Sussex Correctional Institution on the first charge and awaiting sentencing on the second.

On the 21st of January police received a report from Jennie Morris on Hanley Street that her house windows had been shot out by three juveniles. The juveniles were apprehended. The Harrington Police Department wished to remind people that discharging of any type of firearm, including BB guns is unlawful within the city limits.

Early Tuesday morning an accident involving two cars occurred at the corner of Clark and Commerce Streets. The vehicle which was headed north on Commerce was operated by Tony Gerardi of Harrington failed to remain stopped at the corner and traveled into the path of a car operated by Paul Voss of Harrington. Both drivers will be charged in the incident as Voss was charged with obstruction of view as his windows had not been cleared of the frost and Gerardi's charges are pending his release from Milford Memorial Hospital.

Rabies Vaccination Clinics Set

The first State-wide organized series of dog rabies vaccination clinics was held during January-February of 1975. The 11,000 dogs immunized at that time will be due for their three year booster vaccination in order to comply with the law which requires up-to-date canine rabies immunization in order to obtain a 1978 dog license. The canine rabies vaccination clinics will once again be sponsored on a cooperative basis by the SPCA of Delaware, the Kent County SPCA, the Delaware Humane Association, local kennel clubs, civic groups, the Division of Public Health and the Delaware Veterinary Medical Association.

A contribution of $2 per vaccination will be requested to cover the cost of the vaccine and immunization supplies. Dogs must be on leashes and cats must be in carriers. Dogs and cats must have reached 4 months of age to be vaccinated. The vaccine used will protect dogs for three years. The Delaware Code requires that dog licenses must be purchased for all dogs over 6 months of age.

The clinic in this area will be held on Saturday, February 4, at the Harrington National Guard Armory from 2 p.m. to 4 p.m.

Notice

Schools of the Lake Forest School District will dismiss at 1 p.m. on Thursday, January 26th, to provide in-service for teachers and administrators.

Safe Boating Course Begins

Each year across the nation, flotillas of the U.S. Coast Guard Auxiliary offer free boating safety courses to the public.

Auxiliary courses are taught by experienced boatmen. Instructors have been trained in all the latest techniques, and since they are boatmen like yourself, they understand your problems.

A class in boating safety will be conducted at Milford High School, sponsored by flotilla 12-3, of the U.S. Coast Guard Auxiliary.

Registration will be held on Monday, Feb. 6th, from 7:30 to 8:30 p.m. The classes will begin on Monday, Feb. 20th, at 7:30 to 9:30 p.m., for 10 weeks. A certificate of completion will be presented for successful completion of the course and the examination given on the last night.

The fundamentals of small boat handling, including the use of line and the most useful knots, will be covered. Other subjects covered include fundamentals of charting and recognition of aids to navigation, in addition to rules of the nautical road, legal requirements, and safety recommendations. The course is free to the public, and families are encouraged to attend together. However, a small fee of $6.50 per person or $8.50 per family, will be charged, to cover the cost of the materials.

Milford Is Downstate Tourist Info Center

The Greater Milford Chamber of Commerce will soon be disseminating tourist information as part of their new role as Lower Delaware's Tourist Information Center. Communities south of Milford will be asked to provide the Chamber with a calendar of events for 1978, as well as brochures and other printed material relative to places of interest in their town and surrounding areas.

Interested vacationers will now have a central place to write or visit to learn more about southern communities in the First State. The Lower Delaware Tourist Information Center will also provide useful information to salesmen and other businessmen who will be travelling through southern Delaware.

The Milford Chamber invites you to call the office, 422-3301, if you would like to promote activities or tourist attractions in your area.

Final Lake Forest High School Accreditation Imminent

By Gloria Lynn Dill

In a 44 page report to Lake Forest High School, the Middle States Evaluation Committee "strongly implied" that the school would be recommended for accreditation at their final meeting in May. Later, the school may or may not be required to submit periodic progress reports.

The Committee, comprised of 15 educators from neighboring states, spent three days in November evaluating the school complex in the areas of curriculum, library facilities, guidance program, media services, and the physical plant.

The Committee found the student body friendly and very responsive. They urged the faculty to encourage these traits, and commended them on the relationship between the students and the staff.

They found the library to be "a well-organized" system, and praised the school for its wide variety of vocational offerings.

Areas of concern to the Committee included the teaching methods, and the use of inservice days. They advised the need for more "innovative" teaching methods to improve student interest. They also felt that inservice days should include the junior high staff and lead to greater continuity between the junior and senior high curriculum.

These findings reflect a self-evaluation resulting from extensive staff meetings conducted at the school last spring. According to principal Lynn Zimmerman, the evaluators look to see "if you do what you say you are doing."

The area of curriculum continuity is of special concern to Mr. Zimmerman, and also to Junior High principal Margaret Phelps. They plan to hold the inter-school inservice day on January 26.

The committee urged a review of current construction plans in the music and chorus areas, an increase in storage space, and more specific staff job descriptions.

The evaluation, which is held at local expense, occurs in a school district every ten years.

Harrington Library Committee Holds First Meeting

HARRINGTON - A committee appointed by Mayor Arthur B. Cahall, III, to find a location for the proposed mobile library unit met on Monday night for the first time. Chairman of the first meeting was Councilman William W. Shaw, Jr. Others present for the committee, Mrs. William W. (Megen) Shaw, Jr., Mrs. Jo Ann Clough, Barbara Brown, Mrs. Charlotte Gagne, Mrs. Lampier, and Harry G. Farrow, Jr.

At the meeting a general discussion was held on the responsibilities of the State, Federal, and City of Harrington regarding this mobile unit. The unit which is proposed for Harrington is 12' x 40' and will cost the Federal Government approximately $35,000. Those present decided to tour the community on their own and meet again on Monday, the 30th of January, to ascertain which site would be more favorable.

Tax Ditch Company Discusses Drainage

HARRINGTON - Brown's Branch Tax Ditch Company held its annual meeting last Tuesday to discuss drainage problems on the north end of Raughley Hill Road.

Currently, excess water has been flooding the William Towers property on the east side of the road. Blueprints call for an additional drainage ditch to run on the property line between the Fred Martin and the Joseph Adamo farms, but for an undisclosed reason, the work was halted.

When contacted at his New Jersey office, Adamo indicated that he had no objection to the ditch itself, but that "water doesn't run uphill." He explained that the area chosen for the ditch is on high ground, and would be useless. He suggested running a ditch behind his property and connecting with an existing one near Wheeler's Park.

Martin was unavailable for comment.

Meanwhile, a portion of Towers property is under water. He is "paying (ditch) taxes on several properties, but receiving no benefits."

In order for action to be taken, permission must be secured from all the property owners involved, and then the Company must petition Washington for more ditching.

Farm Museum Ground Breaking Soon

Ground will be broken this spring for Delaware's state farm museum, according to the Delaware Agricultural Museum Association. Funded in part by a $1.2 million appropriation, the privately-operated museum will be built on land leased from Delaware State College adjacent to its Dover campus. Walt Messick of Harrington is first vice-president of the association.

Bids for the 35,000 square foot main building were opened January 18. The museum's trustees will meet January 30 to consider submissions from ten contractors. In addition to the main building, the ten-acre site will contain a reconstructed Delaware farmstead and a group of agricultural industry buildings. John M. Short, Jr., of Harrington, is chairman of the committee in charge of finding items to exhibit.

Membership in the non-profit museum association is open to everyone. The annual business meeting will be held February 14 at the O'Neill Visitor Center in Dover. Building plans will be exhibited and explained at that time.

Architect for the project is Joseph Angell of Diamond State Engineering and Design. Edward F. Evans of Cheswold is president of the association, which was formed in 1974 to promote the project.

Hospital Auxiliary To Sponsor Tour

Reservations are still being accepted for the tour sponsored by the Women's Auxiliary of Milford Memorial Hospital. However, the closing date is January 30th and reservations are limited.

The tour that will start from Kennedy Airport on February 24th, will fly to Malaga, Spain, by Iberian Airline, on to Torremolinos on the Spanish Riviera and later across the Strait of Gibraltar to visit Spanish Morocco, including Algiers, Fez and Rabat. The party will fly back to New York from Spain on March 4th.

While in both Torremolinos and Morocco there will be exciting tours, both included in the tour and optional. Dinner and breakfast in Morocco is included and breakfast only in Torremolinos. Free time will be planned for shopping or just relaxing. Morocco is famous for its beautiful Persian carpets and jewelry. Several groups from lower

Delaware and from nearby Maryland have made reservations and the trip promises to be a memorable one. Not only will it be enjoyable for the travelers but they will be helping Milford Memorial Hospital in providing the best possible patient care. Those interested in joining the group may call Milford Memorial Hospital, 422-5711 Extension 364, or write to Joseph B. Ahlschier, President, Milford Memorial Hospital, Clarke Avenue, Milford, Delaware 19963.

Delaware Master Farmer Named

By Jerry Webb
Agricultural Editor

A Sussex County, Delaware farmer has been selected as one of six master farmers in a program sponsored jointly by the Pennsylvania Farmer magazine and the Cooperative Extension Services of Pennsylvania, Delaware, Maryland, New Jersey and West Virginia. A plaque was presented to William W. Vanderwende of near Bridgeville in ceremonies at the recent Pennsylvania Farm Show in Harrisburg.

The Delaware master farmer's success story starts out like that of many young men who went into farming in the early 50's. Right after graduation, he married his high school sweetheart, Ellen Draper. He worked for his father, who was a tenant farmer, for a few months and saved some money until he could rent his own place. With less than $1000 in capital, he rented an 80-acre farm and with eight cows -- four of his own and four rented -- he went into the dairy business. That was in the fall of 1952.

By year's end, it became obvious to this young couple that the farm wasn't going to bring in enough income to support them, so Bill took an off-farm job, leaving his cows in the care of his father.

Nine months later, the Vanderwendes made a very difficult and crucial decision. "I made up my mind early in life," Bill says, "that I wasn't going to work in town and farm as a sideline, so I told my wife that fall I was going to quit my job and try to farm full time. I said if I couldn't make it farming, I'd quit and get another job someplace."

So it was back to the farm and the dairy cows and the slow process of converting that meager beginning into what is today a 2200-acre farming operation and a 220-cow dairy herd. "From that we've just tried to keep plugging and take advantage of every opportunity that comes along and try to make a profitable operation," he says.

From that first rented farm the Vanderwendes moved to a 120-acre rented farm, purchasing it two years later. Along the way they've added 1280 more acres to their holdings, built a modern milking parlor and herd-handling facilities, raised four children, built a new home and made countless improvements and refinements in the operation.

The Vanderwende family is involved in a long list of community and farm organizations. Both Bill and Ellen have served as 4-H club leaders and are active in 4-H Links, the statewide 4-H alumni organization. Bill is a member of the Woodbridge School Board, the Governor's Advisory Council on Agriculture and the Bridgeville Kiwanis Club. He is or has been a director or officer of the Delaware Farm Bureau, the Delaware Council of Farm Organizations, Interstate Milk Producers Cooperative, Delaware Dairy Herd Improvement Association, Delaware Council of Farmer Cooperatives, Delaware Holstein-Friesian Association, the Delaware State Fair and the Sussex County Soil Conservation District Supervisors.

The Vanderwende children are Dan, in charge of herd development; Douglas, crops production; Jim, raises replacement animals for the herd; and Carla, a freshman at the University of Delaware.

4-H News

Club officers are reminded as they start the New Year, of the importance of starting their meetings on time, having the program for the meeting well planned in advance, conducting the meeting in a business-like manner and closing the meeting on time. By following this practice those in attendance will no doubt find the meetings interesting and enjoyable and will strive to be on hand the next time.

New officers should also make it a habit to attend all Junior Council meetings. You will be well informed about all contests and activities if you attend these meetings. You may also suggest new and better ideas for the 4-H program here in Sussex County. Look in your newsletter or the newspaper for the dates of these meetings.

As you get into the 4-H club year, what will you do with records, photographs, and news clippings? Why not develop a filing system so this material is readily available next summer. Regular

Publisher's Choice

By Harry G. Farrow Jr.

"...do you get to the working classes only through their stomachs."

The hour of decision is nearing, for the vote by State Legislatures around the country on the question of compulsory unionization vs. the right to work.

Historians claim that every great civilization has risen to its heights by its 200th birthday. I don't wish to be a fatalist and claim that our doom is near or inevitable...but we have passed our 200th birthday. If we get involved in any more government red tape where the will of the people becomes controlled and subservient to that of government -- then we might expect the inevitable.

I can't believe what I read these days that our "...elected officials" are planning to go along with unions and "compulsory membership" for the workers of this great country. The idea being to extinguish the freedom of choice...or in the alternative to abolish the "right to work." When any kind of group...government...or any other entity advocates the abolition of freedom of choice, it would appear to me that, instead of being a strong body, that body would appear to be weak, for it would seem that it is in a last effort seeking to control something that it's losing control over. There seems to be very few ways laborers can improve over present standards. Compulsory membership in unions will not guarantee this. Pro-union advocates argue that union demands for higher wages and a higher standard of living do not contribute to inflation. They do! Why? Higher wages mean higher costs to management which in turn causes a rise in cost of goods produced which in turn causes the retail price of goods to be more. In some cases it means an extinguishment of the product...such as what happened to the production of real leather shoes and wool garments. These two industries are practically eliminated in this country today because the cost of the $4.95 shoes got so high that production ceased. No one would or could buy them when the price got too high. The same applies to wool garments, and just think how important wool sweaters and other wool garments have been to the general public during the last two winters.. It's too bad!!

The working classes today are highly paid individuals. Most workers fall into the over-burdened middle class who are taxed beyond belief. From a tax angle today, it is better to be "too poor" or fortunate to be "too rich". Both ends of the spectrum "by law" are protected. No wonder the middle class cries out for more and higher wages. They make just enough to keep "afloat". The more money they make...the more money is withheld and taxes they pay. There is no rest for the weary.

Instead of increasing wages, some representative of the middle class should seek and find ways to keep more money in their pockets. The answer is not always found by going through the stomach.

Senate Finance Committee Subcommittee On Taxes And Debt

Opening Statement Of Senator William Roth

January 18, 1978

The time has come for the enactment of college tuition tax credits, and I am pleased the Senate Finance Committee is opening this session of Congress with hearings on a subject so vital to continued upward mobility in our society.

It is very clear a vast majority in both the House and the Senate are in favor of this approach, and I believe the tuition tax credit will be enacted into law in 1978.

There is an urgent need for the adoption of tax relief for middle-income families struggling to send their children to college.

The average annual cost of education at a public university is up over 40 percent in the past five years. A private college's yearly bite has increased over 35 percent in the same period. Because of these soaring costs and a growing tax burden, middle-income families are finding it more and more difficult to send their children to college.

These are the people caught in the middle. People making between $10,000 and $25,000 pay almost half of the taxes in this country, yet they generally do not qualify for any of the government aid programs designed to provide relief for college education costs.

Soon we will have two groups of our society left in colleges -- the very poor and the very rich. But the middle group, the "very taxed," will be unable to afford it. Already the college attendance of this group has declined by over 22 percent while the attendance of the other two groups has remained fairly stable.

The American Council on Education, which represents more than 1500 private and public colleges, has estimated a $250 tax credit would benefit over 7 million students and enable 320,085 more students to attend college.

The ACE study also found that nearly 90 percent of the benefits would go to those earning less than $25,000 a year.

Despite the overwhelming support for the college tax credit in the House and Senate, a small but vocal group is mounting a massive attack to defeat it.

The principal opponents of the college tax credit are the big spenders in Congress and the Administration -- the ones who believe all roads must lead to Washington.

Their arguments against the tax credit are weak, misleading and inaccurate.

But their underlying objective to a tuition tax credit is that it would leave less money for them to take from the taxpayer for new spending programs.

They claim the tax credit is too expensive, but the only time the big spenders talk about "economy" in Government is when tax relief is proposed for middle-income taxpayers. They also believe any additional relief should be provided through an expanded system of grants, based on their definition of need.

But I believe there is something fundamentally wrong in the growing concept that working taxpayers should come to Washington to apply, beg or fill out forms for Government aid programs financed by their own taxes.

The college tax credit would allow taxpayers to keep a larger portion of their own earnings to spend on a college education for their children.

It is an idea whose time has come and I am confident Congress will enact this legislation to provide middle-income taxpayers relief from a financial burden no other generation has ever experienced.

Governor duPont Reports

By Gov. Pete duPont

Last week was an eventful week for Delaware. Not only did the Delaware General Assembly reconvene for their second session of their 129th term, but a very important decision was handed down by the Federal Court.

That most important decision was the Order by the U.S. District Court on January 9 that schools in northern New Castle County and Wilmington must be desegregated along certain guidelines next September. Part of the decision will affect downstate Delaware as well.

Just prior to the federal court order, I had requested the General Assembly to once again take up the question of the governance of the northern New Castle County schools. As you know, the House of Representatives debated in December whether to allow for the formation of four school districts in the county instead of the single district planned by the federal court.

Unfortunately, the General Assembly failed to approve that plan in December, and now that we will have a single massive school district, in New Castle County which will be responsible for the education of some 70,000 school children. I am afraid that the General Assembly made a grave error in judgement by not approving a multi-district organization.

One aspect of the court opinion which particularly troubled me was the judge's insistence that the county-wide school board not be elected in the near future. Instead, the judge wishes to continue with an appointed school board.

This is unfortunate because it does not allow citizens to gain access to the school governing process through the voting booth. Certainly, an elected school board is preferable over one appointed and controlled by the court.

No one is quite sure yet of the cost of desegregation, but I was disappointed that the judge did not place a lower ceiling on property tax increases which my proposal would have done. Moreover, the judge passed on at least $5 million in desegregation costs to the state.

The General Assembly also returned last week. In one action, the Senate voted along strictly partisan lines to defeat my highly qualified nominee for the Alcoholic Beverage Control Commission Chairmanship. Apparently they had no substantive reasons for rejecting the nomination. It took the Senate eight months to finally consider the nomination which was first proposed in April.

Finally, by the time you read this column, I will have delivered my State of the State address live on television and radio. This "report to the people" was the first time that a Delaware Governor delivered his speech directly to his constituents via television. My budget address will be Wednesday, January 25, at 2 p.m. in the Senate Chamber before a Joint Session of the General Assembly.

Evans To Introduce Marston Resolution

Delaware Congressman Tom Evans has announced his intention to introduce a Sense of the Congress Resolution urging the retention of U.S. Attorney David W. Marston until all on-going investigations of corruption involving public officials under the jurisdiction of his office are concluded.

Evans said he would introduce his resolution when the Congress reconvened on January 19.

"Candidate Jimmy Carter promised that he would appoint federal prosecutors strictly on the basis of merit," said Delaware's lone Congressman. "Unfortunately, President Jimmy Carter has chosen to ignore this promise, and instead replaces these officials solely for political reasons."

"Nowhere is this action more blatant than in Philadelphia, where the U.S. Attorney David Marston is being replaced apparently because of political pressure generated in part by the very people he is said to be investigating," declared Evans.

The Evans Resolution states that the position of United States Attorneys should be filled without regard to political party or influence. It asks President Carter to direct the Attorney General, Griffin Bell, to retain Marston until all investigations of political corruption presently being conducted by his office are concluded.

"The application of justice must be free of all political influence," said Congressman Evans. "This effort to replace him in the middle of an investigation involving public officials strikes me as a political railroad job of the highest order."

"It's time the Lady of Justice stops changing her blindfold everytime there is a change in Administration," added Evans.

Gab Fest

Our cold, wintry day was brightened considerably by a letter from our kinfolk who spend the winter months near Phoenix, Arizona, narrating in the hot sun among the cacti, as it were. They report pleasant temperatures, ranging from 70 by day and 50 by night, but more rain than usual. They are told that these rains will cause the cacti to bloom on the desert, and they are looking forward to seeing that.

Coming back from the mailbox this morning I saw the mockingbird that stays with us all winter, and I wondered just which day on the calendar he would begin his song. Not until April, probably. April made me think of daffodils, so I wandered over to the picket fence, feeling a bit silly in January, to check on them. But, do you know, those little green spikes are peeping through the ground. I'm sure they are going to experience snow and ice before April, but it will not harm them. I do think January is the earliest I've seen them start their growth.

I dreamed that I heard the song of the little peepers, but awoke to discover it was only the hum of the oil burner busy at its job of warming Hatfield House. I thought of those little peepers snuggled under the ice, awaiting the magic moment when they are called to give their special song to the world.

So many of you have said you loved the lists of "Lifesavers". Here's another: "marching bands... a child's crinkly smile... an ice cream sundae with a cherry... beauty spots... wondering at pressed flowers in an old book... a velvet pillow... popcorn at the movies... pink apple blossoms... a folder of traveler's checks... giggling... playing dress-up... spring's first robin... love letters new as yesterday... a waltz." - Kate Swarhout
I thought we had not seen so many starlings this winter, and I was happy that the population had decreased by some means or other. Dad rushed out on the last stormy morning to put out more feed since the blue jay and cardinal were awaiting. One starling must have seen him and ran to tell all his relatives because in a matter of seconds the ground was covered with the largest, blackest starlings I have ever seen and they did not leave until they had eaten every crumb and licked the platter.

When we had dinner at Ron and Peggy's on New Year's she served us such delicious yeast rolls that were new to us. She got the recipe from her son-in-law's mother who served them at Thanksgiving when they were out there in Indiana. Incidentally, she is the one who wrote such a beautiful fan letter about me to the Chronicle. Hilary said, "Grandmother, that will just make your day." "Not only my day," I replied, "It will make my whole year!" She is a beautiful person, and she also makes good rolls. Here's the rule: Cinnamon Yeast Rolls. 1 cup hot milk, 1/4 cup sugar, 2 tsp. butter, 1/2 teasp. salt, 1 pkg. yeast, 1/4 cup warm water, 1 beaten egg, 3 cups flour, 2 teasp. cinnamon. Mix yeast and warm water. Mix milk, sugar, butter and salt. Cool slightly. Add egg and yeast mixture. Then flour and cinnamon. Knead until elastic adding sufficient flour to handle. Place in oiled bowl and let rise about 1 hour. Punch down and shape into rolls, placing in greased cake pan. Let rise again. Bake 375 degrees about 15 or 20 min. Butter tops. These are great!

Peggy tells me that she was discussing the coconut problem with a friend at church. This lady had trouble when she used butter for the frosting, but now she used vegetable shortening and has no problem.

Career Corner

By Buck Thompson

Predictably, many of the job opportunities of the not-so-distant future will involve the sea. More specifically, they will involve divers.

In 1973, giant firms like Taylor Diving and Salvage of Belle Cross, La., did a combined worldwide business volume of $60 million. This year they'll do a total of $500 million. And Taylor, which had but 10 divers four years ago, now has over 500.

The big reason is the international search for offshore sources of oil from the North Sea to the Gulf of Mexico to the shores of Lewes, Delaware. You have to have divers to develop this aspect of the business.

You also have to have divers to develop the potential of sea farming or mariculture, which will play a large part in feeding the world in the years ahead.

In California right now, a diver willing to spend eight hours a day under water can make as much as $1,000 a week for scooping up the common sea urchin whose spiny shell yields the roe, or eggs, considered a delicacy by the Japanese, who will pay up to $15 a pound for them.

And then there is the as yet unrealized potential of sea mining, which is also going to add to the demand for divers.

On the floor of the Pacific Ocean alone, there are believed to be as much as 1.5 trillion tons of such critical metals as cobalt, copper, manganese and nickel.

Eventually, we will develop new systems of extracting them from the nodules that litter the floors of our seas...but not without divers.

PMG Unveils

Jimmie Rodgers Stamp

Postmaster General Benjamin F. Bailar unveiled the design of the 1978 commemorative stamp honoring the late country singer Jimmie Rodgers Sunday, Jan. 22, on the NBC-TV special "50 Years of Country Music."

The stamp will be issued May 24 in Rodgers' hometown, Meridian, Mississippi, during the annual Jimmie Rodgers Festival, the Postal Service said.

"Singing Brakeman" as a result of early employment as a railroad worker and also as the "Father of Country Music," died in 1933. He became the first person inducted into the Country Music Hall of Fame, which opened in 1967.

The Jimmie Rodgers stamp is the first in the new Performing Arts and Artists series that begins this year. Further details about the stamp will be announced later.

Farmers Meet With County Extension Agents

Dave Woodward, Kent County Agricultural Extension Agent, and eight members of the University of Delaware Cooperative Extension Service Thursday night discussed with local farmers the various soybean yields, the profitability of livestock production, and the services of the extension. The meeting was hosted by the Lake Forest Future Farmers of America.

The Essex variety of soybean has been the top yielder for the last three years, according to Ed Wisk, a research associate. It's average was 44.1 bushels per acre, and is "a good, all-around variety." L21 (Union) was second, with 39.0, and the James, Forrest, and Williams varieties all placed in the high thirties. A recently tested variety, the V68-1242, has yielded 41.8 bushels per acre. It is a shorter plant than Williams, but bushier.

Dick Fowler, Extension Livestock Specialist, explored swine production systems, and told farmers that they could expect a 7-20% return on their investments. He invited everyone to visit the Hog Substation in Georgetown, and to discuss procedures with director Ralph Lowe. Visiting day at the substation is Wednesday.

Plans are being made to organize a Delaware Vegetable Growers Association, with a first meeting early in March. Interested persons are urged to contact the Extension Service, 736-1448, which offers year round information and soil analysis.

Local farmers get a chance to discuss problems and procedures with members of the University Extension Service.

Important information for our subscribers.

As you probably know by this time, we are about to file new rates with the Department of Insurance.

Despite the fact that the cost of health care continues to outpace the economy in general, this year's rate increases will be considerably lower than those of prior years. (Please see sample rates to the right.) There are reasons for these lower rates of increase and we will explain them in a moment.

First, several key facts:

1. Not everyone is affected by these rate filings. If you are, you or your employer will be notified by mail.
2. Of those of you who are affected, not everyone will be affected at the same time. In response to an Insurance Department request several years back, we divided our subscribers into "rate cycles." The first cycle will begin in April. You may be part of it, or of a cycle beginning later this year. Regardless, each cycle is planned to last 12 months.

Why the rate increases are low

We don't always get credit for it, but we do spend a good deal of time and talent attempting to contain the cost of health care. The problem is complicated—it defies overnight solutions. But, we are attacking it and the short term results are promising.

We wish we could say that our cost containment efforts caused all of this year's low level of rate increases. But, we can't.

To understand rate increases—whether they're big or small—means understanding the way rates are set.

How rates are set

We begin by taking a look at how much doctors and hospitals are charging for their services. We look at how many of those services people are using. And, in both cases, we attempt to predict what will happen in the future.

We look at the economy in general, new medical services, the cost of government regulation and other factors. Again, we make predictions. And then we set rates.

SAMPLE RATES

	NEW Monthly Rate	CURRENT Monthly Rate	Difference	Percentage Change
For our Direct Pay Filing
Individuals	$ 59.79	$ 58.57	$ 1.22	2.1%
Families	$ 105.55	$ 104.15	$ 1.40	1.3%
<small>(The above rates are for the following typical combination: Cooperative Hospital, UC-80 Surgical-Medical coverage, Therapeutic-Diagnostic and Catastrophic riders.)</small>
For our Community Group Filing
Individuals	$ 40.20	$ 36.86	$ 3.34	9.1%
Families	$ 99.30	$ 91.82	$ 7.48	8.1%
<small>(The above rates are for the following typical combination: Comprehensive Hospital, UC-80 Medical-Surgical coverage, Therapeutic-Diagnostic and Catastrophic riders.)</small>
For our Medicfill Filing
Standard	$ 17.12	$ 16.78	$.34	2.0%
Special	$ 28.36	$ 26.89	$ 1.47	5.5%
<small>(The above rates include Hospital, Surgical-Medical and Catastrophic coverage.)</small>
For our Student Filing
Individuals	$ 14.65	$ 15.73	($ 1.08)	(6.9%)
<small>(The above rates include Hospital, Surgical-Medical and Therapeutic-Diagnostic rider.)</small>

The important thing to understand is that our rates must bring in enough money to pay your physician and hospital bills even in the worst of times. After all, that's why you're buying health insurance.

How these rates were set

Over the years, our predictions have been based on the best information available. This last year, we came close to perfectly predicting what doctors and hospitals would charge.

But, people simply did not use health services to the extent we expected. Why? We don't know. No one seems to know. There was no reason to expect it. But, it does appear that the same thing happened across America last year.

We don't know why it happened, but we know what it means.

First, it means that we were able to place some money in reserves during 1977. This is important. An insurance company without reserves places its subscribers in a dangerous situation—often without them knowing it. Our reserves have been low for the past several years.

Our unexpected gain in 1977 (due to the drop-off in services) helped restore some of those reserves. In the future, it could well be that more people use services than expected and then, perhaps, those reserves will be needed. It's the nature of what we sell.

Second, despite the fact that health care costs will continue to outpace the economy, our rates will not have to increase too much to be adequate for another year.

Because 1977 actual health care costs were less than expected, Blue Cross rates—which were calculated to break even in 1977—will not have to be increased very much to meet our subscribers' needs in 1978.

Once again, we are going with our best predictions. We are saying that people are likely to continue using services at current, relatively low levels. We are saying that the price of health services will increase. And, we are saying that some degree of general inflation will occur and that other factors will affect health care costs as well.

We spend a good deal of time considering these factors and we are confident that our predictions are based on the best information available at this time.

No one likes rate increases of any size

We're not asking you to like the fact that our rates are increasing. We're asking you to understand why.

It's not easy. The problems posed by health care financing are tremendously difficult. We've said it before: there are no easy answers. If there were, we would have had them years ago.

In coming weeks and months, we will be telling you about some of the cost containment efforts that are underway and some of the things that you can do to help.

Remember: there aren't any overnight solutions. But, if we all help—the cost of health care can be contained.

Announcement has been made by Joseph B. Ahlschier, President of Milford Memorial Hospital, of the appointment of Richard H. Sherman, M.D., to the active Medical Staff of the Hospital. Dr. Sherman specializes in Cardiology and Internal Medicine. His office is in the Medical Arts Building on Kings Highway in Milford.

Born in Baltimore, Md., Dr. Sherman received his pre-medical education at The Defiance College in Ohio, earning his A.B. degree in 1968. During his undergraduate study he was Research Assistant in Genetics at the Center for the Biology of Natural Systems at Washington University in St. Louis, Mo. He received his medical degree from the University of Maryland, School of Medicine in 1972. Before graduation he spent three months in England at the University of Newcastle-upon-Tyne, Royal Victoria Infirmary in pulmonary medicine and endocrinology.

From 1972-1973 Dr. Sherman served his internship at the University of Illinois and Westside VA Hospital in Chicago, and continued an internal medicine residency from 1973-1975. From 1975-1977 he completed a fellowship in Non-invasive Adult Cardiology at the same university. While completing his post graduate work his academic positions included Instructor, Assistant, and Associate in Medicine at the Abraham Lincoln School of Medicine. Dr. Sherman is Board Eligible for medicine and cardiology.

Before coming to Milford he worked for six months with an emergency group affiliated with Graham Hospital in Canton, Illinois; Pekin Hospital in Pekin, Illinois, and South Chicago Hospital.

Jane Sherman, a native of Defiance, Ohio, is an Adult Nurse Practitioner and will work with her husband. She will provide care to patients with stabilized chronic problems such as diabetes and hypertension, her focus being health maintenance.

For Your Information

Dear Friends,
Our clergymen and our teachers strive devotedly to build honesty, fairness, kindness and personal worth into the character of our children. Their efforts will be in vain unless we parents and citizens support them with ethical and moral behavior in our daily lives.

Our nation's moral fibre has been laboriously built thru the integrity of generations - it can rapidly falter and fail unless we maintain high standards of conduct.

Respectfully,

William A. Ramsey, Jr.

Lake Forest's Mike Barner was a hero in the Spartans' 25-22 victory over Indian River last Saturday. It was Barner's 5-2 decision win in the heavy-

Lake Forest's Tim McCombs is in a precarious position as Jack Coulbourn of Indian River comes close to pinning McCombs in the first period of their match. McCombs and Coulbourn went on to complete the entire match and finish in a 9-9 tie. [Staff photo by Ray Blanchette]

Beat Indian River 25-22

Spartans Rally For Surprise Victory

The Lake Forest High School wrestling team remained near the leaders of the Henlopen Conference Northern Division with an amazing 25-22 victory over Indian River on Saturday.

The Indians were 3-1 coming into Saturday's match with the aggressive Spartan team and had to be considered favorites over the less experienced grapplers from Lake Forest. The entire match was close and the 98 pound match which started things off was no different as Spartan Brian Eecenrode lost a close 6-4 decision. In the 105 pound match Spartan Jeff Grove, who has come on strong lately, appeared to have captured the decision victory that would have tied the match. He had an 8-4 lead with only a few seconds to go in the match only to be put on his back and have the referee award his Indian competitor enough points to tie.

The Spartans then fell further behind as last year's freshman sensation Marvin Marshall managed to squeak out a 5-4 win over Lake Forest's previously unbeaten Dennis Wheeler. The one point margin of victory was a penalty point which was awarded to Marshall near the beginning of their match. The score now stood Indian River 8 and Lake Forest 2. The Indians increased that lead to 11-2 in the next match as David Shultie was defeated 10-6.

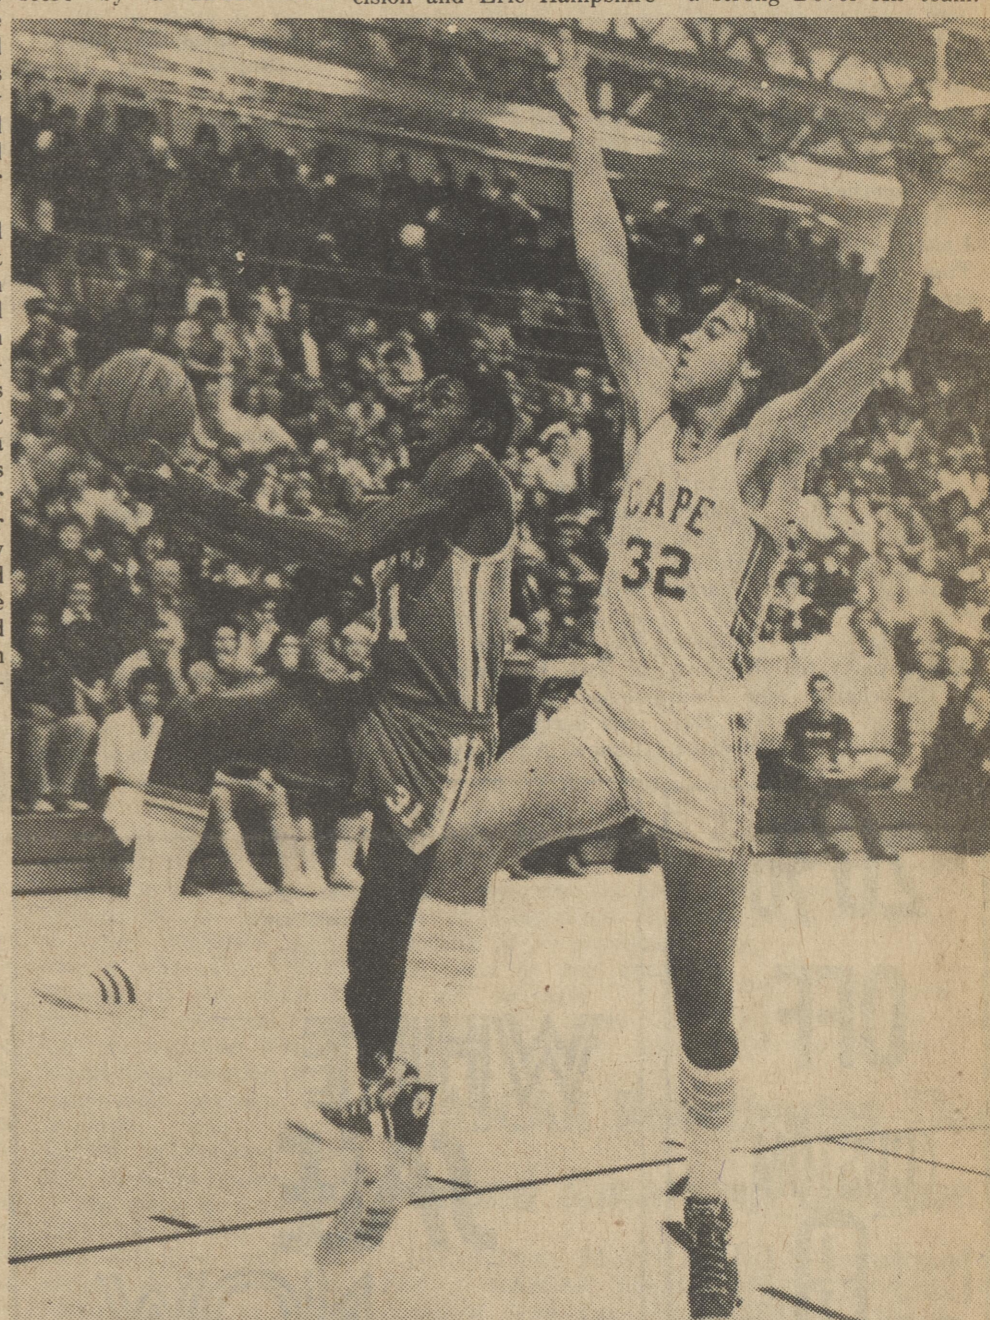

The Spartans began their comeback in the next match as Mike Kosiorowski pinned his opponent in a quick :30. Kosiorowski had just gotten the takedown when he held his opponent down long enough to get the six point victory and close the team score to 11-8. Larry Kosiorowski was next and he too recorded a victory, this time by a narrow 1-0 margin. This tied the team score at 11-11.

The third of the Kosiorowski brothers that wrestle for Lake Forest, Ron, was next but lost his match to his Indian River opponent by a 4-1 decision. With the Spartans now trailing 14-11, Louis Hendricks came through with a third period pin win to give Lake Forest their first lead of the afternoon 17-14.

Undeclared Larry McCombs remained that way and stretched the Spartans' lead to 20-14 as he, decided the tough Raymond Handy. Handy is supposedly one of the toughest wrestlers in his weight class but McCombs was beating him so badly he just clammed up to keep from getting pinned. Next came what had to be the most exciting match of the afternoon as Tim McCombs met the Indians' co-captain Jack Coulbourn, who also is one of the top wrestlers in the Henlopen Conference. McCombs came very close to getting got pinned. Ron Kosiorowski then increased his record to 3-1 with his third pin of the season and Louis Hendricks followed with a decision win. Larry McCombs and his brother Tim then recorded the next two wins for the Spartans, both by way of pins. After Mike Quale lost by decision, Lake Forest completed the match the same way they began it, with a forfeit victory.

This week the Spartans will meet two Southern Division teams, as on Wednesday the Lake Forest squad will travel to Delmar who is currently winless on the season. On Friday the Spartans will return home to meet a strong Dover Air team.

Lake Forest Nears Bottom of Northern Division

The Lake Forest boys basketball team continued to fall further towards the cellar of the Northern Division as they lost to Dover on Friday night by a 73-52 score.

Lake Forest managed to remain pretty close to the division leading Senators all night as Dover took only a 14-11 lead at the beginning of the second period and a 33-28 lead at the half. However, they stretched that lead by another four points at the end of the third period and clinched the victory when they upped the margin by another 12 points.

Last seasons Dover-Lake Forest games were superb games as both teams were challenging for the Northern Division title. Dover managed to win both games and go on to an undefeated season only to lose in the finals of the State Tournament to an upstart Brandywine team.

This season is a little different as the Spartans do not have the returning nucleus to work with that the Senators have. The Senators are led by senior Gary Buckland who is one of the conference's top scorers on the season and led Dover with 22 points on Friday night. Dover currently leads the Northern Division with an 8-2 record in conference play while Seaford in 8-3.

Leading the Spartans in scoring on Friday was one of the Spartans who did return from last season Lauren Burris. Burris scored 23 points in the loss while Jerry Custis added twelve points and Phillip Bowers chipped in with 7.

Lack of scoring has hurt the Spartans all season as they have the third worst scoring average in the league. Their 62.5 average ranks only ahead of Milford's 59.4 and Woodbridge's 46.8. Currently the Spartans only lead Milford in the Northern Division while the Raiders rank dead last in the Southern Division with an 0-8 record.

On defense the Spartans

64.1 ranks sixth best in the conference and trail the top division leading defensive team Seaford who gives up only 58.5 points per game.

This next week the Spartans face one of the toughest weeks of their entire season schedule as they will take on Seaford at home on Tuesday and will then travel to Indian River on Friday. Currently Seaford trails the Northern Division leading Dover by only one half game and Indian River leads the Southern Division with an 8-1 record.

Dover Continues Undefeated Ways Over Spartans

The Lake Forest Girl's basketball teams chance for an upset of division leading Dover fell short Friday night as the Senators defeated the Spartans by a 57-52 score.

The Senators currently lead the Northern Division with an 10-0 record in conference play. Dover took a 15-11 lead over the Spartans in the first period but the Spartans rallied in the second stanza to outscore the Senators 18-14 and tie the game at 29-29 at halftime. It was a terrible third period that did the Spartan girls in as Dover outscored them by an 18-8 margin and despite a last quarter Spartan rally the girls still fell short by five points.

Chris Morrow was the surprise scoring leader for the Spartans as she scored seventeen points on the night. Cindy Dukes added sixteen while Gwen Scott chipped in with ten. The Spartans leading scorer on the season, Laura Newnom, added eight points.

Currently the Lake Forest girls basketball team ranks third in the Northern Division with a 5-4 record. They trail the undefeated Senators and also Milford who is currently 7-3 on the season. Earlier in the year the Spartan girls defeated Milford at Lake Forest. The girls still have one game remaining with each of these teams and will battle both in the same week midway through February.

On the season the girls currently rank second in team defense in the Northern Division as they are on the average allowing only 38.2 points per game. Milford leads the division in team defense allowing just a little over 34 points per game.

On offense the girls also rank second in the Northern Division as they on the average score close to 49 points per game. Only the division leading Dover Senators average more points per game scoring just over 55 points per game.

Like the boys team this next week will also be a key one for the girls team. On Tuesday the girls will meet Seaford who earlier in the season handed the Spartans one of their losses, by a one point margin. Seaford currently ranks just behind the Spartans in fourth place with their 6-5 record. On Friday when the girls travel to Indian River they will be meeting one of the conferences top squads who currently lead the Southern Division with an 8-1 record. The Indian girls have the top offense and also the top defense in the conference.

Arabian Horse Association Holds Annual Awards Banquet

The Arabian Horse Association of Delmarva held its annual awards and installation banquet in Seaford, at the Seaford Inn, on Saturday, January 14, 1978. Ms. Carolyn Anderson of Seaford was installed as President for a second consecutive term.

High point awards in the part-bred division were presented to Sharon K. Meyers and her horse, Christopher Gazon, for their accumulative high points in the Costume, Park, English Pleasure and Western Pleasure Classes. High point awards in the purebred division were presented to Jerry Pepper and his Champion stallion, HPS Count August, for their accumulative high points in the Costume, Park, and Western Pleasure Classes. Points are accumulated from competitive showing in the tri-state area from April through September of the calendar year.

Captain Pepper is the Public Information Officer for the Delaware State Police.

Last Saturday night five ladies were to receive their thirty-year lifetime membership awards from the Harrington Fire Company Ladies Auxiliary. Four of the recipients were present to receive their awards. Pictured above are [l-r] Mabel Price, Elma Wiseman, Irene Outten, and Pauline Price. Also receiving her lifetime membership was Evelyn Windsor who was not present. The awards were presented at the fire company's annual dinner and dance which was held last Saturday night at the W.T. Chipman Junior School. [Staff Photo by Ray Blanchette]

At the Harrington Volunteer Fire Company annual dinner and dance last Saturday night the Ladies Auxiliary presented the Fire Company with a spare set of hoses for the hurst tool. The hurst tool is one of the most important pieces of equipment which the fire company owns as it is used in extricating trapped people mainly as a result of automobile accidents. Above, Ladies Auxiliary representative Betty Taylor presents the hose to chief Joe Green, president Ira Huffman and rescue captain Gary Minner. [Staff photo by Ray Blanchette]

One of the honors which the new president of the Harrington Volunteer Fire Company, Ira Huffman [left], had at last Saturday's dinner and dance was presenting past president Kenneth Collins with his past president pin. Mr. Collins had served for the past two years as president of the organization. [Staff Phot by Ray Blanchette]

Speculation ends as Race Draws Near
DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. — Speculation as to what cars some of the Winston Cup stars will be driving for the coming season is coming to an end as entries for the February 19 Daytona 500 come in.

Rumors have been flowing during the off-season but now those can be laid to rest as the race date draws near. Defending NASCAR Winston Cup Champion and last year's winner of the Daytona 500, Cale Yarborough will be campaigning an Oldsmobile 442 when racing action gets underway at Daytona February 12 with Pole Position Qualifying for the Daytona 500.

Joining Yarborough's move from a Chevrolet to Oldsmobile are Benny Parsons, Donnie Allison and Richard Childress, among the entries already received. David Pearson will be driving a Mercury Cougar for the Daytona 500, while Darrell Waltrip will stick with a Chevrolet.

The first race for the new cars at Daytona will be the Twin 125-Mile Qualifying Races for the Daytona 500 on Thursday, February 16. With over 80 entries expected for this year's Daytona 500, the qualifying races will play a very important role for drivers hoping to make the 40-car field for the world's richest stock car race.

Pond Enters Modified Race

It will be a busy week for Lennie Pond of Chester, Va. at Daytona International Speedway during SPEED WEEKS '78. In addition to his attempt to win his first Grand National race, Pond will be seeking a win in the NASCAR 200 Modified race for the first time.

In the past 10 years, Pond has only entered two modified races and he has never put one of the 500-horsepower machines on the track at Daytona. It will mark a first for Pond and he hopes his first will be a first at the finish of the 200-mile race.

The Modified Camaro Pond will be driving in the February 17, NASCAR 200 is the same machine which sat on the pole for the 1977 NASCAR 200. John Anderson put the car on the pole for the 1977 NASCAR 200 and was leading after 28 laps only to retire from the race after a crash coming out of turn four.

Pond's first competition will come in the February 12 Daytona 500 Pole Position Qualifying with his first race being the 125-Mile Qualifying Races for the '500.

Hendrick Tries Ford In Sportsman 300

After years of racing Chevrolets in NASCAR Modified and Late Model Sportsman competition, Ray Hendrick will be behind the wheel of a Ford for the February 18 Sportsman 300 at Daytona International Speedway.

Hendrick of Richmond, Va. will be driving a Junie Donlaevy Ford in the Sportsman race. The car was one of the cars campaigned by Dick Brooks on the Winston Cup circuit last season.

This year the Truxmore team will field a Ford Thunderbird in Grand National competition with the first superspeedway race on high-banks being the February 19, Daytona 500.

Hendrick will be trying to better his fifth place finish of last year in the Sportsman race with the Torino and will be after his first win in Sportsman racing at Daytona.

After scoring a win at Talladega last year in the Sportsman race, Hendrick feels he will have a good chance at a Daytona win.

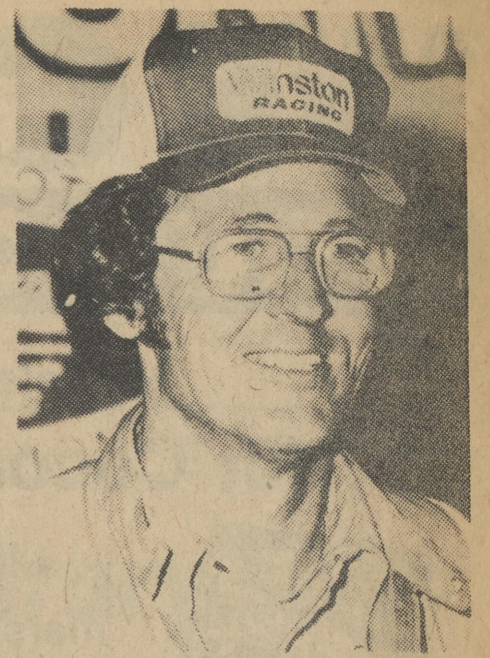

Foyt Enters Buicks In Daytona 500

With many new models competing during the 1978 NASCAR Winston Cup racing season, the contingent of Buicks for the February 19 Daytona 500 will be led by a two-car entry from the A.J. Foyt stables.

Four-time Indianapolis 500 winner, Foyt, will be driving the number 51 Buick while the number 53 car will seat Ron Hutcherson behind the wheel. The two cars will be co-sponsored by American Parts and the familiar Gilmore Racing Team.

Foyt will be trying for his first win in the Daytona 500 since he claimed a victory in the 1972 race in a Mercury. His team mate, Hutcherson, has yet to win a Winston Cup race at Daytona but was a winner in the 1975 ARCA 200 at the Daytona track.

The first confrontation for the new cars and teams at Daytona will come in the February 12 Daytona 500 Pole Position Qualifying. That same day, will see the cars and stars of the Automobile Racing Club of America stage the first stock car race of SPEED WEEKS '78 in the 15th annual ARCA 200.

"Dyno" Don Nicholson says he's going "to remember 1977 for a long time" and "especially that week at Indy" when he won the U.S. Nationals Pro Stock title en route to his first Winston World Championship on the National Hot Rod Association circuit.

Nicholson Will Remember 1977 For A Long Time

ATLANTA, Ga. - Very few people are completely satisfied with their life. This is especially true when a man reaches the age of 50, a time when he usually takes a look backwards and wishes he had followed a different path here or there.

But Don Nicholson has no such feelings. He has been "doing something I really enjoy" since 1949. And at the age of 50, he has just completed the "best year of my racing life."

In a sport that is supposed to be the personal property of men and women 20 to 30 years younger, Nicholson dominated the Pro Stock division of the National Hot Rod Association in 1977 to win the Winston World Championship by a comfortable margin. The triumph was worth $10,000 in bonuses from R.J. Reynolds Tobacco Co.

"I'm going to remember 1977 for a long time," says Nicholson, who normally confines his drag racing activities to match races. "And I'm going to especially remember that week at Indy. That was really quite a week."

It wasn't long after he opened a "dyno" shop in Atlanta that he acquired the nickname of "Dyno Don" that he has since made famous.

"I would go to a race and have (written) on the side of my car 'dyno-tuned by Don Nicholson.' Pretty soon the announcers picked it up and were calling me Dyno Don and it stuck," explains Nicholson.

He switched from the Chevrolet that had carried him to many victories to a Mercury Comet in '64. He compiled an unbelievable 78-1 won-loss match race record that year.

A year later, Nicholson was forced to build the first "flip-top Funny Car" in order to maintain his edge over Ronnie Sox and the Chrysler factory team. "I won 38 races in a row after I made the change," notes Nicholson.

Despite three straight years as the "King of the Funny Cars," Nicholson elected to leave this division "because of too many fires."

Piloting a high-powered Ford "stock car," he competed on a match race circuit with Sox and Bill "Grumpy" Jenkins.

"I've enjoyed running Jenkins over the years. Match races are a lot of fun. Over the years I've won about 90 percent of them. I enjoy running that type of competition. But I decided to try something new. And it has really paid off," he says.

During '77, Nicholson had a 37-4 mark in side-by-side competition, best among the three Winston World Champions. Funny Car champion Don "The Snake" Prudhomme was 31-6, while Top Fuel titleholder Shirley Muldowney was 29-7.

Nicholson plans on trying to become the first Pro Stock driver to win back-to-back NHRA Winston World Championships in '78. "Barring trouble at the start of the year, we will go after it," he says. "The recognition and money we have gotten for winning the title has been worth all the traveling and time involved in chasing the title."

"Plus I like what I'm doing and how many people can say that."

NASCAR Reactivates The Grand American Division

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. — NASCAR Grand American Stock Car division events will be open to steel-bodied 1968 through 1978 models of American-made passenger car production sedans and American-made compact sedans with an original AMA wheelbase of no less than 107 inches.

Maximum engine displacement will be limited to 433 cubic inches. Eligible models will be announced at a later date, officials said.

Yarborough Starts 1978 Winning Western 500

Riverside, Calif. Defending champion Bobby Allison driving a different car in 1978 for a new sponsor, the Norris Ford, ran into early race problems with valve spring and ignition problems finished far back in 30th place.

Allison said that he could run a lap in fine shape, but the next lap the car might not operate at all. Looks like Allison might have a little more to do in order to get the wrinkles out.

The 1st. National City Travelers Checks sponsors of two cars, car #11 Cale Yarborough in the Oldsmobile and car #72 Benny Parsons Chevrolet finished one and two respectively. The race changed leads on 12 different occasions. In the last lap, the lead changed on two different times, and proved to be much the thrilling finish as the LA Times 500 at Ontario, Calif., which newcomer Neil Bonnett won. Bonnett who was somewhat depressed for making early mistakes in the time trials said on race day that he did not like to drive and race on road racing tracks.

He was referring to the Grand Prix style of lay-out at Riverside. However Bonnett surprised everyone in the late stages of the race when it appeared that he might come on and win it all. The Riverside course is such that it is extremely hard to pass another car on the "road race style of track". The Jim Stacey Race team of which Bonnett drives feel very confident with Neil Bonnett behind the wheel.

They had instructed Bonnett to try to finish in the top five positions. He got fourth place. The first four cars finished in the same lap.

Bonnett who usually wins the pole position bowed to David Pearson who set the course record of 102.269 m.p.h. (1 min. 23.318 sec.)

There were 4 caution flags with 2 by Petty. The latter seemed like he tasted victory as he dove in and out of traffic in the final stages of the race. At the 106th lap, he went in the infield got stuck in the mud damaging the differential, and was out of the race. He managed 115 points in the Winston Cup standings. The Winston Cup is sponsoring a $10,000 purse to the driver who in 1978 wins the most pole positions. This will be awarded in 1979 at the Daytona festivities.

Daytona 500 is the next Winston NASCAR race on Feb. 19.

U.S. 13 Speedway To Hold Awards Banquet

SALISBURY - The annual U.S. #13 Speedway will hold its annual banquet this Saturday evening at the Salisbury Civic Center. The new part of the Civic Center burned to the ground last year. The banquet will be held in the older section of the Center. There is a seating capacity of 600.

The Speedway awards annually 15 places for owners and drivers of late model cars. There are also 20 place awards for modifieds for both owners and drivers.

The Master of Ceremonies will be Charles Cathell. The Cathells operate the Speedway as a family venture. According to William Cathell, there won't be a hobby or mini stock division this coming racing year. The reason Mr. Cathell gave was simply lack of cars for the events. This past year they had to be run together to make a race of it.

The dinner is expected to start around 7 p.m. with the awards ceremony to follow with dancing to follow that. Price of tickets is $9 per person.
