Criticizes proposed fishing license

Seymore Addresses Jaycee Prayer Breakfast

HARRINGTON - Howard Seymore, who heads the Marine Biology Department of the University of Delaware in Lewes, was the keynote speaker at the annual Harrington Jaycee Prayer Breakfast. Seymore told the unusually large gathering for the early hour breakfast... 7 a.m., that "...the earth is covered by water on 3/4's of its surface...and that is why I feel people like myself should fish 75 percent of our lives, or at least that is what I tell my wife," so Seymore related to the people present.

According to the speaker, the fishing grounds off the Eastern part of North America, and in particular around Lewes, are probably the best fishing grounds in the world. Many ships from foreign countries fish these waters for their own people as well as selling them to this country... right under our own noses," said Seymore. He thinks that more commercial fishing should be done by our own countrymen. The average person in the U.S. last year ate about 12.9 lbs., which is small compared to other countries. In Japan, the figure is 80 lbs., Iceland 86 lbs., and Denmark, China and Russia, 36, 33 and 22 lbs. respectively, per person per year. He feels also that people of this country should eat more fish.

Seymore reflected on our beach climate in a touching way. He called this area of Lewes and Rehoboth as being "...family beaches." "They are unspoiled, and more could be done to promote better fishing for this area than presently exists," said the veteran angler. The Delaware Legislature is presently considering passing a new law which would impose a $4.20 license fee on every one who fishes in salt water off the Delaware Shoreline. Seymore sees the biggest problem in enforcing this law. "The Department officials would be spending all their time stopping along side boats already in the water and fishermen already fishing (pestering them) asking them for their licenses," said Seymore which would be more of a harrassment than a benefit from the extra revenue. Seymore also pointed out that under the new system of government here in Delaware over 80 percent of the State lands are under the control of the State Parks and Recreation Departments, and there is a lot of friction between Departments such as the Fish & Wild Life and the Parks and Recreation Departments. It is possible that much of the revenues from the license tax would not come back to the Game and Fish Departments. Seymore speculates that it would cost five times as much to service it as well.

The outlook for fishing in 1978 is good "provided of course we don't get any northeasters at the start of Spring which

Felton Incumbents Retained

Felton voters rallied to vote down a proposal to pay town council members for their service on the council March 6. One hundred-ten people came to the Felton Firehouse to vote for council members and to vote on the question of paying council members.

Three members of the five member Felton town council were selected; Bill Myers, Don Jacobs, and Bill DeLong were elected to serve two year terms. The election results were as follows: Bill Myers -- 76 votes, Don Jacobs -- 88 votes, Bill DeLong -- 72 votes, Joe Gannon -- 67 votes. There were two write in names. Darelene Able received 10 write-in votes and Robert Courtney received three.

Fourteen people voted that town council members should be paid and 79 people voted that they should not.

According to Bill Myers the biggest problems that the council will be dealing with are the street damage and the proposed sewer project. Don Jacobs concurred that the sewer project will be the major undertaking for the council. "There is a lot involved," stated Myers. "We expect to get a lot of Federal money," he continued.

Both Myers and Jacobs were pleased with the results of the election. "Gannon ran a heck of a good thing," exclaimed Myers. "We intend to get him involved."

Little Joe Gannon was the first to jump on his Daddy's handwagon for election to the Felton Town Council. Gannon was the only candidate to actively campaign and he was also the only non-incumbent to file for election. Gannon lost, however, by five votes. [Staff Photo by Ray Blanchette]

Tri-County Council Rejects H.B. 706

By Molly Murray

A motion by John T. McKenna, of the Kent County Levy Court, on behalf of all property owners, that Tri-County Council go on record as opposed to H.B. 706, a bill that would create a statewide property tax, carried unanimously on Thursday, March 2.

Sussex County Council had earlier gone on record as opposed to the Statewide property tax. Sussex County had suggested that there were three other alternatives to consider before a state-wide property tax. These are an inventory tax, a fixtures tax, or a sales tax. Kent County Levy Court has swayed away from discussion of the bill. Thursday, the Tri-County Council carefully looked at the proposed legislation.

Although the bill does not state that its purpose is to pay for school desegregation in New Castle County most of the County Council persons seemed convinced that the state-wide property tax would go to fund the desegregation plans.

Sussex County Administrator, Joseph T. Conaway explained "This is the first legislation that effects all of us in a negative way." Sussex County Council has already sent letters to all Senators and Representatives informing them that they are opposed to the legislation. According to Conaway, all replies have stated that the various senators and legislators are also opposed to the bill.

According to Jack Gibbons, Legislative Council, this tax will go on top of all existing state taxes. The counties come to into play here because they will be the bodies of government expected to collect the tax. "The County will be the collection agency," explained Sussex County Councilman Cole.

A resounding cry of alarm rose from all three county councils assembled. "County governments are closer to the people...we are accountable..." exclaimed Councilman McKenna of the Kent County Levy Court. "Don't let us be the guys to get the nasty phone calls," exclaimed Sussex County Administrator Conaway.

Tri-County Council also voted unanimously to notify both Democratic and Republican party leadership that county council persons will, in the future, boycott gatherings where county governments are not recognized. This was brought up because of Carter's visit to Wilmington. County Council persons, especially those from Sussex and Kent County, were angry that no representatives of County Government were in evidence. "County governments represent the same people these guys (the legislators) do," explained Joseph Toner of New Castle County Council.

Incumbents Unseated In Frederica

By Gloria Lynn Dill

Helen Powers, Ezekiel Dill, and Reynolds Gooden were elected to the Frederica Council Monday night in the town's first active contest since 1973.

Defeated were incumbents Samuel Shumar, Blain E. Tucker, and Ira R. Woodland.

When the polls closed at 8 p.m., 285 citizens had voted, considerably more than the eight persons who had turned out last year. According to Bradford Holliday, a voting official, elections in this town of 1,000 have been virtually "no contest" for five years.

Turnout early in the evening was heavy, and Mayor George H. Nashold was among the first to cast his vote.

Many had to be instructed in the operation of the machines, perhaps indicating a lack of voter interest in the past. One middle-aged woman was heard to remark, "The last time I voted we marked a ballot!"

Nine candidates had filed for the three vacant seats.

Shortly before the polls closed, the townspeople gathered outside, then inside the fire hall to hear the results.

Upon hearing of his victory, Dill, a state highway department mechanic, told the press he had nothing to say at present, but "maybe in a month I will."

Gooden had no comment.

Helen Powers, the first woman to earn a seat on the Council, was ecstatic. "Can you say I shouted 'It's over, it's over?'" she exclaimed. "I will do my very best..."

Response to this year's contest could be attributed to the controversy currently going on among the council, the mayor, and Police Chief Ray S. Wood.

Uncertainty Follows Election

By Gloria Lynn Dill

"The results (of the election) seem to bear out the voters' loss of confidence in the incumbents," Frederica mayor George Nashold told the Journal Monday.

Nashold, who has one term left as mayor, fully intends to "serve out the year." He was pleased with the election results, he said, but is not sure of the changes which will take place both at the reorganization meeting this Thursday and in the future.

The controversy over conflict-of-interest charges brought against local magistrate Wallace Wootten by the officer spurned nine candidates to file for three open seats on the town council.

The central issue appears to be whether Police Chief Ray S. Woods acted on his own or the town's behalf when he filed a complaint with the Chief Justice last fall against Wootten. Wood charged that the magistrate's position as executive of an insurance company conflicted with his judicial duties.

Wootten had responded to the charges in February and as yet, has received no word on a hearing tentatively scheduled for March.

Mayor Arthur "Buck" Cahall

Cahall Addresses Prayer Breakfast

HARRINGTON - Mayor Arthur B. (Buck) Cahall of Harrington addressed the annual Harrington Jaycees Prayer Breakfast on Sunday. Some 57 persons attended the 7:00 a.m.

affair at the Fire Hall. Cahall said the City should be debt free by the end of this year, and that he wanted to be able to offer more services without raising taxes. "Take care of the business of the City...is my motto" while in office. He asked for help from the City Manager and the Council members in achieving this goal.

After one year in office, many persons in attendance agreed that Cahall was doing a good job and that he was overly conscientious about his responsibilities to the job. He also let it be known that he sought ideas from the citizens of the community. He talked of two projects under way now from funds provided by the Federal Government. They are the $62,000 E.P.A. grant for revamping the sewer system, and a $92,000 grant from H.U.D. another Federal Government project to update sewer and water systems on Mispillion, Coleman, and Milby Streets.

Other members present from the City government were Councilmen Earl McColley, William W. Shaw, Jr., William Dill, and Gary Homewood.

President John Lyons opened the meeting with introduction of a guest, Bill Davis, of the Frankford Philadelphia Club.

The order of business was as follows: Charles Parks explained a booklet entitled "Let's Take Action Against Crime", which he suggested should be purchased for primary teachers which was agreeable to the membership.

The names of three new members were proposed by Stanley Cahall which will be discussed next week at Directors' meeting.

With a reminder that March 23 will be Farmer's night the meeting was closed by the president.

Our Kitchen Band does a grand job of friendly visiting when the weather permits. Members also visit nursing homes and other friends at home and in hospitals. Band rehearsal for March with Andy Anderson.

Shopping is more exciting done with a group than just roaming the store alone. Exchanging ideas and recipes are part of the fun. The meals sent down by Modern Maturity Center and served in our cheerful dining room, overseen by Charlotte, our site manager, Gladys Hill and volunteers, are delicious. We'll name a few volunteers each week. This week we honor Elizabeth Anthony, Elma Thorpe and Lili McBride.

Several members are making lovely needlework articles for the bazaar.

Greenware has been donated by several. Elsie Vineyard is here every Thursday to assist any way she can. Mrs. Anthony is making socks.

Ida Dickerson gave us a good idea for setting up our small china dishes. Any ideas are most welcome as well as the white elephants you are tired of looking at. Bring them in or call and we will collect them. You don't have to be a member.

Our china painters and artex painters turned out some beautiful pieces. Mr. Stevens and Mr. Brown have made some excellent things that will go on sale March 17 at the bazaar.

Bowling was well attended. High scores - Marion Brown, 460, Mar-ian Littman 357.

Weekly Report

by Senator Joe Biden

In June of 1977 the Senate adopted an amendment offered by Senator Eagleton and me that would prohibit the Department of Health, Education and Welfare from administratively ordering busing. This amendment strengthened an earlier amendment sponsored by me in 1975 that was passed by the Senate dealing with the same issue. The new amendment became necessary when the new Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare attempted to develop regulations designed to circumvent the original Biden amendment. The amendment will effectively prohibit HEW from ordering busing. On February 8, 1978 the New York Times reported, "Specialists generally agree that the Eagleton-Biden amendment will have a crippling effect on HEW's ability to force desegregation of Northern school systems." This past December a coalition of civil rights groups challenged the constitutionality of the law and urged the Justice Department to support their view. The press recently reported that the Justice Department is considering the request and has not yet decided whether to support the Civil Rights groups or the Congress. This week I sent a letter to Attorney General Griffin B. Bell to indicate that I was disturbed that serious thought is being given to the Department of Justice not filing an Amicus Curiae brief in defense of this legislation. I expressed my view that those who advocate filing a brief against the legislation have a heavy burden to overcome. Traditionally, the Department of Justice has acted not only as the President's and the Executive branch's lawyer, but also as counsel for the Congress. I am hopeful that the Justice Department will support my position.

States such as Delaware may be feeling the effects of the nation's longest coal strike soon unless President Carter acts this week to end the impasse between the mine operators and the union workers. While Delaware does not rely upon coal as a main source of energy -- we use natural gas and oil as our main sources of electrical power -- the state may feel the aftershock of the coal strike because of our reliance upon manufactured goods in the midwest.

For example, the two large auto plants in New Castle County depend upon parts and steel manufactured in the midwest and Pennsylvania. Those plants in the midwest have been seriously curtailed, and in some cases closed, because of the lack of coal to generate power for the facilities. The economic effect of closed industries reaches every corner of the country sooner or later. Delaware will probably feel the effect soon.

Along with most of the other governors at last week's National Governor's Conference, I voiced my concern during the energy production conference that the Carter administration was not moving fast enough to end the walk-out. More importantly, I noted that the national energy policy could not work unless the coal strike ended.

The President has repeatedly urged that the nation place a heavier dependence upon coal as a source of energy. I agree, but counter that this country really needs a balanced energy policy that utilizes all sources of energy such as domestic oil, natural gas, solar energy, nuclear power and other sources. The coal strike points up the problem with a too heavy reliance upon the fuel. That is why I have supported the development of offshore oil in the Atlantic and the gradual deregulation of natural gas. Unless this nation places an emphasis on the production of energy sources, we will continue to face energy crises such as the coal strike and the foreign oil embargo. A balanced program of energy production and nationwide conservation of energy resources is the key to a national energy policy. The President should take action to end the 92-day-old coal strike and then get on with developing an energy policy that places a premium on the production of new sources of energy. I hope that all Delawareans conserve energy, especially during the coal strike. Delaware has enough energy to heat its homes and run its businesses. If the coal strike continues, we will have to help our neighboring states.

Governor duPont Reports

By Governor Pete duPont

One Harrington Contractor came out on top on Tuesday, February 28. Kent County Levy Court awarded three bids for work on the new County Administration Building. Joseph T. Richardson Co. of Harrington was lower bidder under Bid Pac "D", Contract 11, Mechanical. Four bids were received with Joseph T. Richardson Co.'s bid of $377,081 being the lowest. Under Bid Pac "BR", Contract 7R there were four bids received on the hydraulic elevator and the low bidder was Otis Elevator from Philadelphia, Pa. for the amount of $27,265.00.

Under Bid Pac "D", Contract 12, Electrical, there were five bids received and the low bidder was H and A Electric Company for the amount of $178,900.00. In other business Kent County Levy Court budget and finance committee chairperson, James B. McIlvaine, announced that the Smyrna School District and the Capital School District will receive 72% of the Federal money received for untaxed land at Bombay Hook National Wildlife. The other 28% will go for road repairs in Kent County. Smyrna School District will receive

$12,286.03. The Capital School District will receive $3,065.19. Mr. "Bud" Golder reported that $2,500.00 has been approved by the Federal Government for a larger and taller base tower. The tower will be used in the new emergency medical services station. Golder explained that this new emergency services station will work like the base station in the television show, "Emergency." Commissioner, Donald C. Culver moved that the existing tower be removed and advertised as surplus. Ms. Hattie Rucker of Star Hill spoke before the Levy Court on behalf of residents in the Star Hill area. Ms. Rucker explained that trash was the problem in Star Hill. Mr. Fritz, the County Engineer, explained that he would get in touch with the ECO Rubbish Company, the company which contracts to pick up the trash in Star Hill, and correct the problem. Joseph O'Neill, Director of Kent County Parks and Recreation, announced that Kent County has received a federal grant to help pay for an entrance access to the new Shaham/Tidbury Creek Park. Construction of the park will begin in the Summer.

Sussex County Council Discusses New Port At Crisfield

By Molly Murray

Crisfield, Maryland may be getting a new port. Charles McClenahan, Executive Director of Somerset County Industrial Maritime Committee, brought the idea before Sussex County Council, Tuesday, March 7. At present, feasibility studies on a port for Crisfield have been undertaken by the Somerset County Industrial Maritime Committee.

According to McClenahan, Crisfield used to be a very important port at the turn of the century. At that time Crisfield sent out seafood products to areas in Delmarva. During the 1920's, however, McClenahan explained that trucking lead to a decline in Crisfield's importance as a commercial link for transportation. McClenahan hopes that after the feasibility study, which is being funded by a federal grant from the Economic Development Association, Federal and State funds will be available for the making of a small port in Crisfield. The cost of the proposed port would be 28 million.

When you say "FBI", most people conjure up visions of men dressed in slouch hats and trench coats, armed with machine guns, whose regular working hours start at midnight. Surrounded with an aura of mystery, FBI Special Agents have always been held somewhat in awe by the average person. Perhaps this is the reason why many people do not realize that the FBI, like other United States Government agencies, employs a vast number of individuals with many different skills at varying salary levels determined by government service standards. In order to qualify for FBI employment, there are some basic regulations. You must be (1) a United States citizen, (2) a high school graduate, (3) at least 16 years of age, (4) able to pass a physical examination, written spelling test, and a rigid investigation of loyalty, reputation, and character. Beyond the general qualifications, each area has its own special requirements. Some of the positions available with the FBI along with a brief description and the government service salary category are listed below: 1. Clerk.....GS-2 2. Fingerprint Examiner.....GS-3 3. Clerk-Typist.....GS-3 4. Clerk-Stenographer.....GS-4 5. Translator Requires knowledge of more than one foreign language with the ability to translate and interpret material, both into and from the English language. Salary varies with experience. 6. Photographic Positions Three years of experience are required plus general knowledge of chemicals. Entrance grade varies with experience. 7. Radio Maintenance Technician...GS-5 and GS-7 Must have technical maintenance knowledge and be willing to travel anywhere in the United States. 8. Laboratory Positions.....GS-4 to GS-12 Positions call for varying levels of scientific knowledge with higher grade scientific positions requiring college degrees. 9. Computer Programmer.....GS-5 to GS-13 Four-year degrees in computer science, mathematics or one of the physical sciences are required. Candidates for positions as special agents must be graduates of state-accredited law schools or 4-year accounting programs. Presently, individuals are also considered qualified who possess a 4-year college degree in one of the physical sciences, fluency in a foreign language for which the bureau has need, or 3 years of professional, executive, complex investigative or other specialized experience. Other requirements include passing a rigid physical examination, being between the ages of 23 and 35, willingness to serve anywhere in the United States, and possession of a valid driver's license. The entrance grade for Special Agents is GS-10. Recently, the FBI has been actively recruiting prospective employees. For information, contact the Federal Bureau of Investigation at 7142 Ambassador Road, Baltimore, Maryland 21207.

Tharps Observe 50th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Tharp of Harrington were given a surprise open house by their daughters and their families, Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Burke Jr., Lynnda, Jeffrey and Tracy of Dover, and Mr. and Mrs. William F. McGill and Jason of Goose Creek, S.C. on Friday, Feb. 24. The occasion was the Tharp's 50th wedding anniversary.

In the early evening Mrs. Pearl Cooper and Mr. and Mrs. C. Tharp Harrington invited Mr. and Mrs. Tharp and a few friends to dinner in Dover. At the dinner their daughter, Carole Burke, and her husband invited the group to their home for dessert.

When they arrived at the Burke home, they were greeted by their daughter Frances McGill and family, not knowing that they were in Delaware.

The Tharps received two long distance phone calls during the evening, and about 100 relatives and friends came to wish them much joy and happiness for many more years.

1978 All-Conference Team

The Lake Forest High School girls' basketball team, which just completed a surprisingly successful season, had the honor of placing three eleventh graders on the 1978 All-Conference Squad. The three selected were Laura Newnom, Cindy Dukes, and Chris Morrow. The Lake Forest High School boys' team placed one member on the All-Conference team, that being Lauren Burris.

Laura Newnom was the only member of either the girls' or the boys' team to be selected all-conference first team. She joined three other juniors and one sophomore on that first team. Newnom led the Spartans girls' team in scoring all season and came on strong late in the season with added scoring power helping the girls close with a seven game winning streak. Newnom also ranked in the top ten, scoring wise, in the Henlopen Conference.

Junior Cindy Dukes was selected to the second team of the all-conference squads along with two other juniors and three seniors. Dukes was the Spartans' second leading scorer on the season but was the girls' top rebounder all year long. It was her scoring, shooting, and rebounding which was instrumental in the girls' comeback against Ursuline Academy in the first round of the State Tournament despite eventually losing.

Known as one of the top defensive guards in the state is another Spartan junior, Chris Morrow. Morrow all season long has guarded the opposing teams' top scorer while also scoring when she had to. Morrow was named to the third team. Only one girl in the entire conference was a repeater from last year, that being Sabrina Leonard of Indian River. With the returning nucleus of Newnom, Dukes and Morrow along with several other returning lettermen, the girls should also be a power to reckon with next season.

As far as the boys' team goes, it was kind of a disappointing year as they finished 8-10. One bright spot all season long was senior guard Lauren Burris. Burris led the Spartans in scoring and also ranked in the top ten in the conference. Burris also was a big help on the boards where he and teammate Jerry Custis were big men. Burris is also known as one of the top defensive players around, this was especially true during last season when he was not counted on for scoring as much. Former Spartan Bill Moore now of Caesar Rodney was named to the third team.

The complete all-conference team members include:

First team - Sabrina Leonard, Indian River; Laura Newnom, Lake Forest; Sara Marvel, Sussex Central; Betty McDonald, Dover; Marisa Betts, Milford.

Second team - Cindy Dukes, Lake Forest; Selena Hood, Caesar Rodney; Lavonne Purnell, Indian River; Pam Whaley, Laurel; Judy Sayles, Dover; Vanessa Bivens, Seaford.

Third Team - Theresa Kuglemann, Milford; Chris Morrow, Lake Forest; Mozette Stancell, Laurel; Diane Lisehora, Sussex Central; Terry Trader, Delmar; Annette Kee, Cape Henlopen.

Honorable mention - Terri Stevenson, Milford; Denise Deputy, Caesar Rodney; Sandy DeLoach, Indian River; Sara Bynum, Delmar; Katherine Heath, Smyrna; Trina Loper, Cape Henlopen.

Boys First Team - Wesley Townsend, Indian River; Derrell Johnson, Laurel; Gary Buckland, Dover; Wayne Thompson, Seaford; Tim Sponaugle, Cape Henlopen.

Second Team - Lauren Burris, Lake Forest; Dwayne Sudler, Smyrna; Vada Jarmon, Indian River; Rich Kozel, Dover; Ken Nocks, Sussex Central.

Third Team - Eric Morris, Delmar; Prezannie Johnson, Sussex Central; William Steele, Milford; Harold Batson, Seaford; Billy Moore, Caesar Rodney.

Honorable Mention - Ron Knight, Dover; Carlton Johns, Dover Air; Raymond Hicks, Caesar Rodney; Victor Puckham, Laurel.

Girls coach of the year is Mary Jane Megee, Indian River.

Boys coach of the year is Jerry Kobasa, Smyrna.

Teams were selected by a vote of the head coaches at a meeting at W. T. Chipman School, Harrington.

Charles Jones

The competition was held at the Mercer County Community College in West Windsor, New Jersey with Jones capturing his second place finish in the intermediate 85 pound weight class. There were fourteen competitors in this class.

Don Godfrey Lays it on the Line

"Egg producing with Perdue is enjoyable and Profitable!"

Don Godfrey and his family came back to the Shore for 2 reasons: first, to buy a farm for producing hatching eggs with Perdue, and second, to settle down after 20 years in the Air Force. Don says they didn't even consider growing with any other company, because he and his wife had confidence in Perdue's reputation for quality and top-notch service. "My serviceman, has always been here when I've needed him, and Perdue even went to the bank with me to help with the financing," Don said.

The Godfrey's really enjoy producing hatching eggs with Perdue, because they are the bosses of their year 'round, weather proof operation, and are assured of a minimum yearly income. Don and his wife have full time jobs while staying at home with their 3 children-- and they like that! In a few years their 10 room Perdue Planned Breeder Hen House will pay off the farm, and help put the children through college.

According to Don, "Egg picking sure beats commuting," any day of the week! Last year he put 3,000 miles on his car, and with the price of gas these days, that's quite a savings alone!

Besides Perdue's Breeder New House Guarantee, which assures you $65,800 in 5 years, there are lots of other advantages to egg producing with Perdue. Why not give our housing specialists a call and let them lay it on the line for you?

Woodbridge Teachers Attend Right To Read Workshop

On Monday, Feb. 20, 60 Woodbridge School District teachers attended a reading workshop in the cafeteria at the Bridgeville Elementary School from 8:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. A consultant, Mr. Anthony Menalis, discussed techniques for constructing educational games and displayed numerous examples of educational games, learning stations, puzzles, etc., which the teachers could examine during the morning session. Teachers spent the afternoon constructing various materials to use in their classrooms to provide students with practice in skills which have previously been taught.

Many teachers stated that they felt the workshop was one of the best ever held in the district and that they would like to see a similar workshop offered again next year. The materials development workshop held Monday was the third reading workshop this year as part of the Woodbridge School District's Reading Improvement Project funded under the auspices of Right-to-Read. Previous workshops designed to train teachers to determine the instructional level of their students and textbooks were conducted by Marie Shockley, the district's Reading Supervisor-Right-to-Read Project Director in September and October.

On April 13, which is a half-day inservice session, Dr. Charlotte Brooks, Past-President of the National Council of Teachers of English, will conduct a reading workshop concerning integrating the language arts curriculum. Consultants' fee and materials for these workshops have been provided by the district's Right-to-Read project.

Lake Forest To Hold Parents Night March 9

An open forum for parents of students entering Lake Forest High School in the fall will be held March 9 at 7:30 in the gymnasium.

Following an initial presentation by Principal Lynn Zimmerman, parents will have the opportunity to discuss the scheduling process, individual graduation requirements, and course selections available. The chairman of each department will be present to answer any questions.

"The process is complex, said Justin Hyatt, guidance counselor, and it is important that as many (parents) as possible attend.

How important is it for parents to be involved?

It is essential, according to Hyatt, because parents can provide a judgement as far as what the school is offering. Principal Zimmerman noted that the turnout is not what it should be, and that parents, particularly of college-bound students, will be interested in what the school is offering as preparation.

seems to drive the fish north to waters around New Jersey and New York," said Seymore. The fish however seem to return in the Fall each year when this happens, Seymore continued. There is expected to be a large run of wheat fish which should be bigger this year, but there will be less of them according to Seymore. He also said that the crookers are coming back to the Bay and should run approximately 3 to 4 pounds.

Seymore said he looks for the blue fish to take over, and to emphasize their importance from the standpoint of eating them he said "...in Lewes what we do with them is to tack them to a wooden plank, let them dry in the sun for 3 or 4 hours, then rake them off the plank and eat the plank." He drew a large roar from many anglers in the crowd, including H. P. (Bailey) Minner, a well known person and fisherman from Harrington.

Seymore said that commercial fishing off our shores is costing the U.S. government more than it is taking in each year. There are 8 Councils to govern and supervise fishing off our eastern coast. It costs our government approximately $26 million a year when the government takes in only $16 million. In a peaceful climate which Seymore lives and works conflicts with the world wide climate of selling planes to Egypt and Israel. He suggests we do more fishing and in turn trade fish to the Arabs for oil.

In conclusion, he urged our congressmen and legislators to consider spending about $500,000 to construct a fishing port since we do not have one on our coastline so that commercial fishing could be developed more for this area. This sort of thing as opposed to a superport for oil would be a lasting one. He is not, however, against oil development off our coast.

Attorney General Weir Addresses Democratic Club

HARRINGTON - Delaware Attorney General was the guest speaker at the monthly meeting of the 35th Democratic Club on Monday night. Henry Topel, the Democratic State Chairman, was among the dignitaries at the gathering. Weir was here in an effort to step up his campaign for reelection to the highest legal post in the state.

At the last election Weir carried the State by 5,000 votes with a 3,000 vote plurality from Harrington. He told his Democratic supporters that he started campaigning about 10 months ago.

Weir commented on several cases before him at the present time of grave importance, such as the enforcement of the terms of the Alfred DuPont will which provides for care for the elderly and the crippled children for the State. Weir also related his attempts to prepare a bill for the legislature to curtail who from the State prison in Smyrna should be furloughed. His proposed bill recited controls over releases, job interviews, but was rejected by Gov. DuPont who was to come up with a master plan to solve the prison matter. The firing of Milton Horton drew comments from Weir as well as Rep. Ronald Darling. Both elected officials agreed that the firing was wrong and both contended that they registered this objection to the Governor.

Darling praised Horton as a man who rose through the ranks in the prison system and one who understood the prison system.

Many of the elected officials were called upon to make comments. Henry Topel, one of the few politicians in attendance not elected by the citizens of the State, said that he wanted the elected officials to crack down on utility companies.

John McKenna of the Kent County Levy Court talked on Home Rule which the Levy Court is presently studying. The legislation calls for a County Administrator who is to receive a salary of $17,000 per year. Other elected officials were called upon by H.P. (Bailey) Minner who conducted the meeting to make comments, and they were: Sen. Nancy Cook, William Pakey, Jr., Ralph Smith, and announced candidate Gary Hines who seeks the U.S. Congressional seat which is currently occupied by Tom Evans (R-Rep.).

DAYTONA, Fla. -- Following the celebrated

The Smithville Farms Sportsman was the high point champion at the recent race meet at the Volusia County Raceway. Benny Corbin, track owner is seen making the trophy presentation to driver Walter "Stevie" Breeding of Federalsburg with car owner R. Norris "Speedy" Reed proudly looking on. The Smithville Special posted the fastest one lap time on 19.40 seconds which was three hundredths slower than the fastest time which is "...a little over 100 m.p.h.," said Stevie Breeding. The nine night race meet posted total purses of $125,000. "The Federalsburg gang" won one feature, 2 seconds, one third, one 4th, two 5ths, and problems in other races. They wrecked the car's front end one night, but were able to get it back in shape. According to Breeding the track "was in real good shape...hard and smooth."

Publisher Brushed At Daytona 500

crash of Petty, Pearson, and Waltrip, excitement and confusion surrounded the 2.5 mile oval at Daytona. With Petty and Pearson officially out of the race, Darrell Waltrip gamely tried to get his Monte Carlo back into the race and competition. The high speed at Daytona causes parts of metal to fly from the car, which was what caused Petty's tire to blow. Waltrip's car was badly damaged, but his pit crew managed to fix it so that it would hold together reasonably well. Pit road became an unsafe place to work on his car, for all the drivers race into the pits and race out as well.

It happened following the sequence of events following Benny Parsons blowing a tire in the home stretch. A.J. Foyt coming out of the fourth turn down the straightway at 170 m.p.h. came up on the blown tire parts of Parsons. He swerved slightly to the left to miss the large piece of rubber causing his car to go up off the track on the right side. Lennie Pond following close at Foyt went under Foyt as well as another racer which caused Foyt's car to shoot through the air like a projectile. He turned over in air one time landing on the roof, skidded down the race track on its top causing sparks to fly. Later Foyt told Dick Hutcherson the Charlotte car builder that the car caught on fire. The car was not on fire. After skidding for quite a distance, the car began a roll first end over end and then side over side until it came to rest on the race track. There was a dead silence which descended on the Daytona oval as members of Foyt's crew raced onto the track. Foyt was unconscious for about 20 minutes. As of this writing it was reported that he suffered severe head bruises which causes severe headaches, broken bone in the left shoulder, and pulled muscles in the right shoulder.

The infield crowd flocked to the fence at the garage area to see the damaged Foyt car being dragged off the track. At the gate at Victory Lane, which is the one which allows entrance from the track through the pits to the infield, a young lady was seen standing in the entranceway crying, shaking, and generally emotionally disturbed. Farrow thinking the young lady was related to the Foyt group in some way was preparing to snap a picture when as he recounted later, "...his guardian angel" shouted "Look out". When he turned around the crew of Waltrip was pushing his car through the entrance at Victory Lane to a place behind the pit wall.

"You are on your own down there", said Farrow who quickly stepped toward and against the fence escaping with the seat of his pants being brushed. Waltrip remained unmoved by all the excitement and commotion, never once getting out of his car. Once behind the pit wall, his crew was safe from high flying cars coming into pit road. They were able to work on both sides of his Monte Carlo, and get him back into the race. Waltrip in a miraculous feat finished the race and earned another $16,000. He had the best week of anyone winning two races finishing second in another and the great finish for him in the Daytona 500. For the week he earned approximately $70,000...plus! If he had won the "500", he would have been the first person in history to win 3 races during the week at Daytona.

Scenes From Daytona 500

Darrell Waltrip's #88 Monte Carlo getting reshaped behind the pit wall. The front of Waltrip's car was also pushed in as well. The damage to the left rear, shown above, was done by David Pearson's Mercury as he raced along beside Waltrip and Petty during the first major crash of the race.

Messicks Visit With Billy Carter

PLAINS, Ga. - Walter and Marie Messick proprietors of Taylor & Messick of Harrington on their recent trip to Florida stopped at Plains, Ga. and met and "visited with" the world famous Billy Carter. According to Walter Messick, "...the first time at the service station, we did not find Mr. Carter in...so Marie and I rode around and dropped back. He was there then. He saw my John Deere jacket and said "see you use good equipment". When he found out that I was a John Deere dealer we talked about farming for the rest of the way." Mr. Messick also related that one of the employees at Billy's garage said "...I wished you would come around every day. This is the best humor I have seen him in in quite a while." Messick said that he ordered Billy Carter a jacket before he left to come home. Carter also autographed Mrs. Messick's purse as well as several post cards of Taylor & Messick business cards.
