Governor To Speak At Library Dedication

The first of three modular libraries to serve down-state communities will be dedicated in Harrington on Thursday, July 27, at 11 a.m. Two additional facilities will soon be opened in Bethany Beach and Greenwood.

Governor Pierre S. duPont, IV, will be the principal speaker at the ceremony; Harrington Mayor Arthur B. Cahall, III, will bring greetings. State Senator Nancy W. Cook and State Representative Ronald Darling, who represent the area, will also speak, as will State Librarian Sylvia Short. Musical selections will be offered by the Brass Collegium Museum, directed by Donald Banschback.

Refreshments will be provided and served by the community. The public is invited to participate in the ceremony.

The new building, on Commerce Street, is 12 by 40 feet in size. It is stocked with more than 5,000 hard-cover books, magazines, newspapers, and paper-back books. An experienced staff will provide a full range of such library services as information and reference assistance, films, story-hours, educational materials and a variety of programs for citizens of all ages. The building, the staff and supplies are provided by the State Division of Libraries, Department of Community Affairs and Economic Development.

According to Short, the new facilities represent "a worthwhile use" of funds the Division of Libraries received from the federal Library Services and Construction Act. A modest expenditure of time and energies on the part of the communities involved can insure library services in areas where there had been none available. The land for the buildings, the foundations, steps, plumbing and electrical hook-ups, are the responsibilities of the communities, the Library Services and Construction Act and the state provide for the remainder. Harrington's City Council has given enthusiastic support to the project as a service for town and area citizens. Short sees the three new facilities as a pilot program for the Division, through which other communities, whose citizens lack convenient library services, may also be served, at a modest cost.

Youth Programs Scheduled At Library

The Harrington Public Library will begin weekly programs for the young people of the community ages 3 through 14 on Thursday, Aug. 3. At 9:30 a.m. story hour will begin for children from 3 to 7 years. At 10:30 a.m. there will be a mixed media program for those aged 8 to 10; included in this session will be films, stories, puppet shows, games, and arts and crafts activities.

At 3 p.m. there will be a film showing meant especially for children from the junior high group. A mystery series "Five Clues to Fortune" will be one of the featured films.

Children are asked to register for the programs; forms are available at Quillen's Market, The Harrington Pharmacy, and the National Five and Ten here in Harrington. The forms may be brought to the library opening ceremonies, or mailed to the Harrington Public Library, P.O. Box 86, Harrington, DE, 19952.

The date originally set for the children's program was changed due to late arrival of the public library modular.

Janie Abbott and friend have a good time at the fair on children's day. Janie is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Abbott of near Harrington.

Historical Review Of The First National Bank Of Harrington

On June 28th, 1978, the 1st National Bank held an historic occasion when it held its official open house at its newest location in Canterbury. The property is located in the northwest corner of the intersection of the Canterbury to Milford road and the Canterbury to Magnolia Road. The site was selected after much study of traffic counts and inhabitants living in that area. One study revealed that there were more people and traffic count in a certain radius of this property as there was similarly at the main office in Harrington.

In keeping with the historic aspect of the dedication of bank buildings for the 1st National Bank, Rev. William Miller was called on to read from the Bible, scriptures which were read at the dedication of the bank building in Harrington by Rev. P.C. Collins in March 1928.

The cornerstone ceremony included bank financial statements for the years '27, '70, '76 and '77 with other memorabilia as well as employees names, and names of bank directors and officers, as well as minutes of various meetings.

Raymond Dill, a native of Canterbury and descendant of Walter W.

"Buck" Dill whose estate held this particular three plus acre parcel which the bank purchased, gave brief remarks of the history of Canterbury. Raymond Dill, a postal employee in Dover, is somewhat of a historian and collector of "old things" and recognized throughout circles that deal in these matters. Raymond Dill talked of growing up in Canterbury and the "big old brick house on the corner," which was torn down several years ago. Mr. Dill noted in his research of the old house that mention was made of the "c" stone of the house which was to contain money and other valuables. It was never found according to Dill, and he mentioned that he hoped the same cornerstone laying for the 1st National would not be similar.

Dill described the history of Canterbury by saying that this site in 1782 was known as Joseph Caldwell's Tavern. Continued on page 14

New Regulations Set For Immunization Of School Children

School registration is under way in Delaware, and the school year begins in just six weeks.

With this in mind, school and public health officials are reminding parents of the importance of checking their children's immunization records. The State School Immunization Regulation was revised last month by the State Board of Education. For the past several years, completed childhood immunizations were required for entry into the primary grades. Under the new regulation, all children entering school from kindergarten through the eighth grade must provide evidence of completed immunizations.

This revision is in effect for the opening of the 1978-79 school year in September. Effective September 1, 1979, and thereafter, the immunization requirement will be enforced for all children through the twelfth grade.

Immunizations required by the regulation include three doses of DPT or DT vaccine, which is a vaccine protecting against diphtheria, pertussis (whooping cough) and tetanus (lockjaw); three doses of polio vaccine; one dose measles vaccine and one dose of rubella vaccine.

According to the regulation, "all parents (or legal guardians) of children attending Delaware public schools must present evidence that their children have completed the basic series of immunizations." Dates of the immunizations will constitute acceptable evidence. At his or her discretion, the superintendent may require confirmation from the provider of the immunizations.

If children are not in compliance, parents will be notified and given thirty days to provide evidence of immunization.

Children whose parents do not respond in thirty days will be excluded from schools until parents do respond.

Exemption from the regulation may be granted under special conditions for medical or religious reasons.

If parents have any questions about immunizations, the new regulation, or their children's immunization records, they may call the Division of Public Health's new toll-free immunization hot line: 1-800-282-8672.

Rotary Elects Officers, Attends Crab Feast

Four Rotarians from Harrington attended the annual crab and clam bake in Crisfield, Md. The event each year is in honor of their favorite son, former Governor of Maryland, J. Millard Tawes.

Some 140 bushels of crabs were "devoured over a short period of time," according to one spokesman. The Rotarians from Harrington were Mark Willey, Richard Johnson, Melvin Wyatt and Harry G. Farrow, Jr.

New officers for the next two years for the Harrington Rotary Club are President, Harry G. Farrow, Jr.; Vice President, Leon Porter; Secretary, Mark Willey; and Treasurer, Howard Wagner.

Woodbridge School Board Names New President

BRIDGEVILLE Charles Davis of Bridgeville and former principal in the Woodbridge School District who now teaches in the Indian River School District, was selected by his fellow Board members to be the new president of the Woodbridge School Board. Davis succeeds William Vanderwende of near Bridgeville. Vanderwende is a dairy and grain farmer.

The Athletic budget for the coming year was approved. The High School will get approximately $15,000 and the Junior High to receive approximately $2,750.00. An addition to the budget this year will be allowance of long pants for the girls softball team.

A preventive maintenance contract for controls in all buildings was awarded to Megee Plumbing & Heating Co. of Georgetown for $3,024.

In another matter which has been hanging on for quite some time is the non-completion of the agriculture building at the school site in Bridgeville. The Company has been notified to complete the original construction satisfactorily or otherwise legal action will follow.

Superintendent William Griffin reported that the school's attorney to the Deputy Attorney General Regina Small have requested that oral arguments on the boundary dispute with Lake Forest be waived and the matter decided on the briefs already filed.

Richard Milne, Band and Chorus Director was hired for another academic year.

Harrington's Oldest Citizen?

Sally Thomas of Harrington is 91 having been born March 5, 1887. She lives across from the Fairgrounds on Rte. 13 with Laura Hartley.

In the July 19th edition of The Harrington Journal, we suggested that Mrs. Ethel Stubbs, who just celebrated her 85th birthday, might be Harrington's oldest citizen. Ms. Thomas has her beaten by 6 years. Do you know of anyone older?

Senior Center News

By Dorothy Graham

The days fly by, luscious ripe peaches, big red tomatoes, tender loving squash, chin dripping buttered corn, I tell you it's summer.

Oh yes, it's hot too, but not at the Center, it's comfortable there, stop by for a hello or do a square on our quilt with ARtex or would you rather play 500 or dominos or checkers (both kinds) or just relax.

Helped in the kitchen Monday and do I ever appreciate the delicious meals served now.

Mrs. Judy and many members made the center a buzz with voices both talking and singing during Bible study.

Julia Astfalk gave a talk on taking the elderly into your home, how much is paid per person etc.

Band rehearsal as usual only better each time. Anna Mae Short and Cecil Meredith sang "In the Garden" and was well received.

Birthday party was well attended though the honored members were few, three to be exact. It was nice having Ruth Jarrell present. A lot of you will remember the good times we had as members of the Mothers Auxiliary. Mrs. Ethel Stubbs (Ma Stubbs) celebrated her 85th birthday and we read the letter to her from U.S. Senator Bill Roth. Pictures were taken and Gladys Hill, Anna M. Short, Ethel Stubbs and Ina Hughes led us in singing some good old time hymns. Ice cream and cake put the finishing touches on the birthday party.

Exercises everyday via bus, otherwise the ladies and gents have been working in their flowers and gardens before coming to the center. Ceramics, dominos and a championship of checkers at the center.

Two beautiful and delightful movies were presented by George Goodge. One on Jamaica, such dancing, beach and flowers, the other one was the dark continent at Bush Gardens, just plain gorgeous and the best part of the Dark Continent is it is so close to home. George Wise gave us a lesson in water coloring and this week it was of a beach and a light house. Great fun and all worthy of a frame. Daughter Gracie wants mine. Those that watch instead of painting decided we have improved.

Several left Thursday at 3:00 for a trip to the Three Little Bakers Dinner Theatre Showboat was playing. All reported a grand time. Bertha and Gladys got a kiss from one of the Bakers, also a cake. Gladys bought a very pretty turtle necklace.

The pool room has been a bee hive of activity, laughing, singing, talking. Bowling Thursday at Milford Lanes. High scorers were Fred Littman and Marion Littman. Artex Squares (state flowers & bird) are progressing.

A film on preventing choking by Bill Phillips was most enlightening.

Don't forget the Movie "Guys and Dolls" at the center on August 2. Lunch will be served at break-time, refreshments in the afternoon.

Members meeting August 14. Also annual day at the beach in Rehoboth on the 18 of August. Bus leaves the center at 10 a.m.

Best wishes to all home- bounds. Those of you who are ill and to everyone.

A public meeting was held at the Georgetown Airport on July 19 with members of the General Assembly and county agents attending. The procedures and process of cloudseeding were explained and a tour of the radar station and the plane used for the seeding program was conducted.

Professor Joanne Simpson from the University of Virginia, an expert meteorologist, who worked on the 5 year Florida Area Cumulus Experiments (FACE) which was completed in 1976, has worked many years on charts and reports and worked out a computer model of how a cloud builds. This program brought about the development of the cloud top application method called Dynamic Seeding.

The results of this type of seeding over the others, ground based generators, ground based rockets and cloud based seeding, are that the overall effect produces more rain over a larger area and for a longer period of time.

Professor Simpson said she was "happy to see a program start with cooperation of the users, the State Government, and the University."

Dr. Larry Davis, president of the Colorado International Corporation, explained to those attending the public meeting that because this is a controlled experiment there was "dummy" seeding done. This is where sand is used instead of the silver iodide flare. The University of Delaware will have the results of when the actual seeding is done. The experimental period is from 12 noon to 10 p.m. The operational period is from 10:30 p.m. to noon of the following day when the actual seeding is done.

The pilot for Colorado International Corporation, Bud Youngren, reported on the amount of missions flown to date. A total of 16 missions, 4 seeded missions and 2 recon missions during 10 p.m. to noon on the operational period and 6 seeding missions and 4 recon missions have been flown during the experimental period. Bud stated that the "least amount of flares that have been dropped are 2 and the most is 77."

For the program to take place the clouds have to be at least 18,000 feet high and less than -5°C. This is because the colder the cloud the larger it will be. Super cool water is the basic concept used in cloud seeding. The introduction of silver iodide into the super cooled part of the cloud causes the cloud droplets to freeze into ice crystals. This conversion process, multiplied millions of times within the cloud, releases a large amount of heat, called the heat of fusion. As this hot air rises, it draws in more moist air. This in turn makes the cloud grow larger.

Cloud-top seeding is done with droppable silver iodide flare cartridges which are electrically ignited as they are dropped from the flare rack mounted on the bottom of the aircraft. The unit burns for about one minute as it falls 6,000' dispensing billions of ice nuclei into cloud. The flare is completely vaporized as it falls.

Tests show that cloud-top seeding can make clouds produce 2 to 3 times more rainfall than clouds which are not seeded. This is where the radar meteorologist comes in. The clouds are tracked and photographed on the radar scope. At the right time he dispatches the seeder aircraft to the area of interest. The pilot takes the craft into the cloud and the laser gathers the final information. The weather modification pilot and the radar meteorologist keep in constant contact till location and cloud selection are made.

The radar facilities and airplane are open to the public to visit and discuss any questions with the meteorologist and pilot. They are also available to present information programs at civic meetings or schools.

State Legislative Notes

By Thurman Adams Jr.

State Sen. Thurman G. Adams, Jr., a Bridgeville Democrat, today announced his candidacy for a third term in the State Senate with a pledge to continue efforts to improve the quality of life for citizens of the state, Sussex County, and the 19th Senatorial District.

Adams, 49, was first elected to the Senate in 1972 for a two-year term and was re-elected to a full four-year term in 1974.

During the current 129th General Assembly, Adams has served as chairman of the Senate Agriculture Committee and the Senate Executive Committee and as a member of the Senate Committee on Natural Resources and Environmental Control, the Senate Community Affairs Committee, and the Senate Public Safety Committee.

As chairman of the Agriculture Committee, Adams is responsible for the flow of farm legislation in the Senate, while as head of the Executive Committee he has the responsibility of considering all gubernatorial appointments which require Senate confirmation. He also is a member of the Interstate Cooperation Commission, which shares information and meeting with legislators in other states to improve the legislative process.

Throughout his legislative career Adams has been a staunch supporter of agriculture and business, the dirt road program, municipalities, volunteer fire companies, and fiscal responsibility.

In the session just completed, Adams was sponsor of a new law which allows municipalities to band together to form electric companies to produce cheaper power or seek alternative power sources to reduce utility bills.

Adams also sponsored legislation to modernize the charters of Milford, Milton, and Bridgeville; to penalize cheaters under the Food Stamp Program; to set up a system for diagnosing infectious anemia in horses; and to provide security lighting at the Cedar Creek public boat ramp.

Adams was co-sponsor of legislation to establish a Bill of Rights for the mentally retarded, to restore the death penalty for murder, to launch an experimental cloud-seeding program to increase rainfall and crop productivity, and to provide needed additional operating funds for the Woodbridge School District.

He was also instrumental in getting General Assembly approval of a $1 million program to continue paving dirt roads in Sussex and Kent Counties and a $3 million Agriculture Sciences Building for the University of Delaware.

Senator Adams and his wife, Hilda, have three children: Brent, 23; Lynn, 21; and Polly, 14. They also have two grandchildren.

A native of Bridgeville and graduate of Bridgeville High School, Adams is a graduate of the University of Delaware. A director of the Delaware State Fair and president of Harrington Raceway, Adams was a member of the old State Highway Commission from 1961 to 1970 and served as chairman of the late Gov. Charles L. Terry's Highway Safety Committee. He is presently secretary-treasurer of T. G. Adams & Sons Inc., Bridgeville grain and feed dealers.

Senator Adams is a member of the Delaware Farm Bureau, Bridgeville Lions Club, the Union United Church of Bridgeville, Hiram Lodge No. 21, The Delaware Consistory, Nur Temple, Lower Delaware Shrine Club, Tall Cedars of Lebanon, Shield and Square, and the Delaware Association of Chiefs of Police. He also serves as a director of the Baltimore Trust Company of Bridgeville and the Eastern Shore Feed and Grain Dealers Association.

In some parts of the world it is said to sing; in others, it remains silent. Sometimes it is dazzling in whiteness; in other places, it takes on hues of pink or purple, and even dark green to black. It may resemble a coarse meal, or shimmer in salt-sized crystals. But wherever sand appears, it is from the work of time, wind and water wearing down rocks and shells.

The basic ingredient of all sand is quartz—the most common mineral on earth. Various other minerals, organic debris and animal shells combine to give it color. Sometimes uniform particles are sorted and arranged by the wind into layers—a preview of the sandstone which will form in centuries to come. Transported by glaciers, rivers and ocean currents, sands often contain minerals chipped from rock formations miles away.

While scorching hot beaches on a summer day may appear downright hostile to would-be inhabitants, sand's special properties permit an unexpectedly rich variety of animals to live beneath the surface. For example, 20% of the total area in a given volume of sand consists of air spaces in which microscopic life can flourish. Also, the temperature and moisture content only inches below the surface is amazingly constant.

Moving from the landward edge of the beach toward the ocean, one encounters a characteristic assortment of life on each differentiated zone. Once you know what to look for, it isn't too difficult to observe some of Delaware's sand residents.

Yellow-and-black banded digger wasps, found in the vicinity of the dunes, are unique in their habits of burrowing into and hunting on the firey hot surface sands. It is not unusual for temperatures of sunheated sands to rise above 120 degrees on a hot summer day -- no wonder the impulse to wriggle our feet in the sand upon immediate arrival at the beach is so often stifled. To compensate for this scorching condition, the digger wasp, while making its burrow, periodically leaves the job and rises into the air for a cool-off break. Another dune inhabitant, the velvet ant (actually a hairy wasp with an ant-like appearance and a hefty sting), protects itself from the heat with its fur insulation. These black and red insects lay their eggs in the burrows of digger wasps so that the young may feast upon their host and benefactor's larvae. And there is even a non-stinging relative of the tarantula, called the dune wolf spider, living on the dunes. Of formidable size, these hairy animals which live in silk-lined burrows and carry their young in pouches, must track down their dinners rather than wait for meals to come to them.

Sand hoppers or beach fleas may form dense clouds while jumping about on the upper beach. Though insect size, they are actually small crustaceans (like our shellfish) which look like someone has pinched their sides together. The sand-colored ghost crab, whose burrow is often betrayed by surrounding rays of sharp-toes tracks, is another upper beach resident. While this crab is no longer adapted to swimming, it must return to the water to moisten its gills and to release young. At the end of an evening of foraging in the debris, the ghost crab returns to the upper beach, selects a burrow, spends the morning sprucing it up, and then shuts the door until dinner time.

In the wet intertidal area of the shore (that region normally flooded only at high tide), many worms and two-shelled animals live. Donax, a fascinating clam about a quarter to half an inch in size, can remain hidden with only siphon tubes extended like straws to suck in food morsels. All clams use the same method for digging -- a strong wedge-shaped foot slips out of the shell and is used as a spade. Living in long, u-shaped tubes beneath the sand, the night-glowing parchment worm uses shuddering movements along its entire body to fan fresh water and food into one end of the tube, and strained, waste water out of the other. The "chimney" of the mucous-lined tube may project a bit above the rest of the sand, so look for it. Another sand inhabitant, the lugworm, gives evidence of its burrow by leaving coils of expelled sand on the surface beside the hiding place.

A very famous resident of the intertidal zone is the mole crab. Between waves, the many pinkish-grey cylindrical bodies exposed in the midst of feeding seem to melt into thin air. Since these creatures are a favorite food of many shore predators, their legs are adapted for both digging and at the same time, spooning sand over their bodies so that only seconds elapse before they are safely hidden. Mole crabs are equipped with special feeding antennae which sieve and retain minute drifting plants and animals. When full, the antennae are rolled toward the mouth, elephant-trunk-fashion, and the net's goodies are scraped off.

Below tide, and beyond our reach, the true sea animals lie buried in the sand. These include flounders, certain sea anemones (those flower-like creatures whose tentacles wave about during undersea films), sand dollars and burrowing sea cucumbers (cucumber-shaped relatives of starfish).

It is quite likely that you will have the opportunity to meet at least some of these sand inhabitants on a shore outing. But before you try to dig up burrows looking for residents, think about how you'd feel if a giant ripped apart your house to examine you. The sea and shore are there for us to look at and respectfully appreciate. The rule should be, "If you aren't going to use it, don't disturb it."

Gab Fest

By Pat Hatfield

"This is a day to sit under the shade trees," I thought as I panted along in the hot sun, picking the last of the string beans. Dad also had to get out of the steamy stripping tank for a bit and relax in a yard chair. "Silkie" and "The Mrs.," our pet Japanese chickens, had taken their baths earlier in the sun and now stood by our chairs, panting a little, and holding out their wings to get the cool air. And so we sat. The leaves were still, no bird song permeated the heavy atmosphere...all Nature rested.

In the evenings, while Dad was doing his Lions Club errands, I've been doing some porch sitting with my friend Tess. This is one of the things I enjoy in town. I like to wave to friends as they go by, and I like to chat with neighbors as they halt on their way to the grocery store. Everyone said that Tess had the prettiest porch in town filled with flowers and plants and everyone enjoyed it. But there is a serpent in every garden, I guess. Can you believe that some emotionally sick person stole three potted plants from her porch and returned the next night to remove one entire long box filled with blooming wax begonias? So, she had to take the rest inside and live with a bare porch.

Last night as we sat in the gathering twilight, a cardinal sat on a neighbor's TV aerial across the street and gave us an evening concert. His clear, beautiful notes of "Sweeter, sweeter, pretty bird (that's the way we interpret it) made me think that he had endured the heat all day and yet he could sing at evening time.

Soon, over the tops of the village houses arose the full moon, big and round and orange. It looked like the deep orange-yellow of the harvest moon we see in October, and we remarked to each other that it would soon be winter again. How fast the days go by when we reach 70!

Our gang usually pops in for a hearty brunch about nine or ten o'clock in the morning before they take off for their exotic bird shop in Rehoboth. The children help around the shop and also enjoy the summer at the beach. All too soon the school bell will be calling them back to the books. As grandparents, we enjoy it all. How lonely life would be without our precious daughter and her family. The grandchildren keep us young and it is a joy to help with them. There are always some little requests that Grandmother can see to. "Grandmother, can you find me a pocket comb, and Grandmother, can you make me a 'coconut cake'?" were Teddy's problems yesterday. The comb has been found, scrubbed and made ready and the cake will be made when the weather cools a bit. Small Garth usually greets me in the mornings with, "Grandmother, will you please cook me some rice?" She loves cream of rice, and I am old-fashioned enough to believe that a hot, cooked cereal is excellent for her little stomach even in summer.

And so the days go by; and, at the end, I sink down in my chair and evaluate them. And I read again this excerpt from Ralph Waldo Emerson's Letter to a daughter who was at school and brooding over a mistake of yesterday. "Finish every day and be done with it. For manners and for wise living it is a vice to remember. You have done what you could. Some blunders and absurdities no doubt crept in; forget them as soon as you can. Tomorrow is a new day; you shall begin it well and serenely, and with too high a spirit to be cumbered with your old nonsense. This day is for all that is good and fair. It is too dear, with its hopes and invitations, to waste a moment on the rotten yesterdays."

Roth Bill To Boost Delmarva Poultry Growers

WASHINGTON - Over 3,000 Delmarva poultry growers could achieve significant tax relief under a bill introduced by Senator Roth. The potential benefit of his bill could reach nearly all the family farms where poultry growing now occurs, said Roth.

"The investment credit provision of the Revenue Act of 1971 has been unfairly denied poultry growers by the Internal Revenue Service despite the fact that a U.S. District Court ruled in their favor," Roth said. "If the IRS will not yield this point in light of the court ruling, the legislation I am today introducing will."

If passed, this measure will allow tax readjustments for construction that has occurred in the last seven years and will be a strong incentive for added construction and increased production.

Finances Dominated Session

By Governor Pete duPont

Last week in this column, I noted the long strides we made in strengthening the state's financial situation. As you know, I have pledged to make financial matters the number one priority of my administration.

It gives me pleasure to report to you that for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1978, the state reversed a trend and spent $25.5 million less than it took in in revenues during the year. More importantly, the budget enacted for fiscal year 1979 assures that we will also end fiscal 1979 in the black.

We shall be able to finance the operation of state government for the coming year without an increase in taxes, and we will be able to pay off the deficits of the past years and reduce the gasoline tax from 11c to 9c early next year.

Moreover, our financial program saw a series of measures undertaken that will ensure a stronger state financial situation.

A revenue management system is being integrated into our financial program. We've instituted zero based budgeting in several cabinet departments. We have shifted key personnel into vital agencies. Management has been tightened in almost every agency in the state government. I have proposed, helped enact, and signed a bill which limits expenditures to 98% of anticipated revenues, unless there is the consent of three-fifths of the membership of the General Assembly. Capital projects bills have been signed into law living within the limit on the amount of indebtedness that the state can enter into.

As I stated in my budget message back in January, our current budget is the first in ten years to allow Delaware to end the fiscal year in the black with no tax increases. It is an honest budget that anticipates as best anyone can tell all of these expenditures that the state will make during the year.

I think it is important to note that $5.4 million will be transferred into the Budget Reserve Account. For the first time, Delaware has a rainy day fund -- a contingency reserve -- in the event of an unanticipated shortfall in revenues.

The long term prospects for fiscal stability are brightened by the fact that the General Assembly has approved the first leg of a Constitutional Amendment to limit spending to 98% of estimated revenues and established permanently the Budget Reserve Account.

On the other side of the fiscal question, the first leg of a Constitutional Amendment requiring a three-fifths vote of both houses in increase taxes or fees imposed by the State has also passed.

Both of these were administration-supported proposals, and I am confident that both measures will pass again when the new General Assembly next convenes in January. Both assure that the interests of the taxpayer and the fiscal stability of the State shall be incorporated in the State Constitution. The effect of these amendments is to make it easier to cut government spending than to increase taxes, and that is what the taxpayer has been telling us about government.

Cabinet Hears Progress Report Of Intergovernmental Task Force

The state's financial status, a job placement program for high school seniors, and a progress report by the Intergovernmental Task Force were on the agenda for a meeting of Delaware's Cabinet July 11 in Dover.

Gov. Pierre DuPont congratulated cabinet members for their efforts in staying within a tight fiscal 1978 budget. For the first time in four years, the state has ended the year in the black. Goals for '79 are a balanced budget and a reduction in the deficit accumulation in past years.

The 98% budget limitation established by HB 535 is expected to be a facilitating factor. All appropriations beyond the 98% limit must be approved by a 3/5 vote of the legislature. This limit has already been exceeded by $6 million in the 1979 budget, thereby reduce the reserve fund by this amount. However, fiscal 1979 is considered by state officials to be a transition period for this new method of appropriating funds.

A Jobs for Delaware Graduates program has been proposed by the Governor to tackle the problem of youth unemployment. One half of the unemployment are age 25 or under, according to DuPont.

The objective of the Jobs program is to provide all seniors in the class of 1980 with career counseling and placement. If successful, the program would assist each of Delaware's 9,000 graduates with placement in higher education, in vocational schooling or in a job. A public corporation is proposed to deliver these services.

The Jobs program is considered by Gov. DuPont to be "one of the most important programs" to be undertaken by the state and a potential model for the nation.

A $10 million federal grant will be sought to fund the program. Secretary of Labor, Donald Whiteley heads the planning group.

Francis Biondi, co-chairman of the Intergovernmental Task Force, presented to cabinet members an up-date on the progress of the committee. The ITF, established by executive order in July 1977, was charged to examine possible duplication of governmental services in Delaware. The objective of the group is to make recommendations which will result in reducing the cost of government without reducing services.

The consulting firm of Booz, Allen and Hamilton has been hired to analyze governmental structure in the state.

Final report of the ITF is due by the end of the year with recommendations to go before the general assembly early in 1979.

For Your Information Dear friends, We often hear this question: "Doesn't a funeral director become calloused to grief?" The answer to that question is, no. One cannot enter a grief-stricken home without a real sense of sympathy, no matter what the circumstances may be. We believe, though, that the funeral director can best express his sympathy by going about his work quietly and calmly. Confusion only adds to the strain. Respectfully, William E. The 'Sound Of Music' At The Harrington Senior Center

By Dianne Bauer

Four years ago a group at the Senior Center in Harrington started to play some music together under the guidance of Loris Henery. They called themselves The Jolly Timers. Their purpose was entertaining others and having fun for themselves. They have played for nursing homes, at community functions, and have played at the Blue Hen Mall in Dover, and Milford Open House. The group has grown since its beginning and is now led by William Anderson who is called "Andy". Andy was with the Jolly Timers from the beginning and plays the clarinet.

Tony Perrone is another musician with the group and although he plays the trumpet, he is said to be able to play many other instruments. Ina Hughes is the newest professional member who plays the piano for the troupe. She is from Felton.

They have a variety of pieces for the members to play including kazoos, tambourines, and maracas. Herbert Hussey, president of the center, plays a very unusual piece...a candy bucket, otherwise known as a drum. These different instruments add the right touch to the company.

The group consists of over 16 members who practice every Tuesday morning at 10:30...and then just before lunch something else happens that is just as exciting...voices, voices of Herbert Hussey, a baritone, Richard Henery, a baritone, Marion Brown, a base, and Miles Draper, a tenor. They are so newly formed with only three practices under their belt that the group has yet to decide on a name, but they are very excited about their sound and so is the audience.

Mark Doughten

Sgt. J. Mark Doughten, son of the Rev. and Mrs. James B. Doughten, Greenwood, recently completed with highest honors the environmental health specialist course at the Academy of Health Sciences, U.S. Army, Fort Sam Houston, Texas.

During the course, students studied the causes and control of diseases. In addition to the proper methods of pesticide application, they learned to identify industrial hazards, test water supplies, and to evaluate deficiencies in waste disposal methods and sewage treatment. Training was also given in chemistry, mathematics and laboratory procedures.

Doughten entered the Army in December 1974.

He attended High Point (N.C.) College and Webster College, St. Louis, Mo., and received a master's degree in 1977.

His wife, Patricia, lives at Fort Bliss, Texas.

Campbell, Ky.

The course develops leadership, supervisory and managerial skills appropriate to shop or office environments for soldiers in grades E-4 and E-5 who have been selected by their commanders as having potential to become, or advance as, non-commissioned officers.

It is designed to train combat support, combat service support and combat arms personnel not eligible to attend the Primary Noncommissioned Officer Course/Combat Arms.

He entered the Army in June 1975.

The specialist is a 1975 graduate of Woodbridge High School.

Pit Chatter

By Harry G. Farrow, Jr.

Lincoln Speedway Pit Chatter for the Week of July 29

There was a slight accident at the Speedway due to a collision between two riders. Bruce Dickerson broke his right leg. He ran up over the rider in the far corner, and when he went over the other rider, #318, it appeared that he might have hurt the other rider's neck.

The interview with the pit steward continued as follows: He is George Helker of Dover where he works for the Bank of Delaware. His job is to stay on the pit side of the track and make sure the riders are in the gate on time, making sure they are ready to go on the track for qualification and regular race, authorizing a two-minute rule to repair the bike or determination of this matter. He is formerly associated with the Spartans Club at Dover Air Force Base...there is a motocross course there as well as the one Gayle Smith (race organizer of Lincoln) has at Seaford. "The basic background for me was starting with Diamond Motor Sports working in the parts department. I was working with Mel Luff, Jr. and he asked me to come down here and work as a pit steward. This is the fourth year for me. It gets a little easier each year...for you get to know the riders and know their problems."

An interview with Steve Donaway of Bay Country Suzuki in Salisbury. - He first got interested in bikes about 12 years ago with a small trail bike and graduated up from that, and eventually got into racing. He is located just off Rt. 13 across from the college in Salisbury. The one child who races in the Donaway family is Tony, and Steve also has one eight years old that is not quite ready. Tony runs in the "250 amateur class" and races at Dorcey and Hanover Speedways (Trailways). Steve rates the Lincoln track as being one of the best around... as compared to Baltimore, New York and New Jersey. It is also one of the best organized programs at Lincoln. The youngest son will probably enter racing next year and the oldest son will move up to the expert class, and after that he will probably go novice in Class C racing. Asked if he was pushing Tony toward the Camel Pro class, he said, "I am not pushing him anywhere, but I think that he has the interest to go on with it...if that's what he wants I will be with him." Asked how the Suzukis sell with the other bikes, he said that "they hold their own...this is the best motorcross bike on the market today." He is a native of Salisbury...and has lived there all of his life. He says that Salisbury is a good business community, for they can draw from a 30 to 40 mile radius. He says that he has customers as far as Cape Charles to Seaford to the Bay Bridge, etc. He said that he feels that this is a good sport for kids to get into. "It keeps them busy and out of trouble. My kids don't give me any trouble."

Interview with Bill Crabb, father of celebrated rider Willie Crabb. - There are two Crabb boys riding now, Willie on #46 and Robert. Bill Crabb said that he got the family interested in riding motorcycles. "It was 10 years ago. Willie who is 19 now was 9 years old, and riding minibikes. He quickly got interested in motorcycles and came on over to riding them shortly thereafter after getting a trail bike and one thing led to another and we got into racing." The Crabbs are originally from Levittown, Pa. where he lives now. Willie now works in Baltimore at Morrin's Motorcycle World. He has a new sponsor...but is not at liberty to disclose it at this time. Willie said that if he had a larger bike for the Camel Pro race at Harrington he might have improved his 21st place finish. He ran a 750 XL Harley as did Springsteen, but it did not have the large motor. "We had stock heads...everything was stock on it, where Springsteen had a lot more H.P." He won $600 for 11th place. Robert, according to Bill, broke his collar bone in Ohio last week...and he is still healing, although Robert did race at Lincoln on Saturday night. Wayne Messick of Salisbury helps Robert out. Willie said the next big race for him is at Indiannapolis in August. It is a two mile race where he hopes to finish in the top 10.

Talked to Phil Webster about his accident on July 7th at Dorcey. He started 10th and "when I came out of the 4th turn I was running 3rd, and when I came out of the straightway I tried to get in on his back wheel. When he cut down too soon on me...my front wheel caught his back wheel and I just went...over. I got a 'strawberry' on the left shoulder...and that was it." He says that he goes up about every Friday night that they race. He leaves Salisbury around 4:30 and gets there in time for the first race at 8 p.m. Phil does not have a sponsor...he is an independent. He is in the "360 class."

I interviewed another rider from Salisbury, Howard Chelton, who runs the "250 Class on the Butaco," which is the popular Spanish bike. This is Howard's first full year. He started late last year on a Honda. According to him he did not get the performance that he wanted so he switched this year. He is 20 and works at Dressers which is a place where they build gasoline motors.

He works on the assembly line. He doesn't have any definite plans for racing... "just go as far as my talent takes me. I raced at Dorcey last weekend...and got a 4th in the heat and 10th in the main." He hasn't won a race...but he hopes to break in soon. He was running with a different type of tire tonight, because as he says, "I am just trying to get the bugs out." This is a Goodyear tire...a DT-2 tire which gives you a better bike. We will see what happens.

Interview with Steve Hyson of Salisbury who has been racing in Arizona. - Steve is a drywaller for a living. He has been running bikes for 10 years. He also runs Dorcey, Hanover, and Rock, Pa. in District #7. He had a few wins last year in District #7 after he got here from Arizona. He ran the "DT" course out there. He tells me that that is a smooth grade course with left and right turns...with one or two jumps on it.

Dale of Warren, N.J. who runs the 175 Kawasaki in the 200 Amateur says that he runs only down there. He is in District #6. This is his first full season. He has not won yet but he has had about 10 seconds. He plans to go Expert real soon. He says that he has all the points that he needs now. He would run the Butaco in the 250 Expert Class. He hopes to turn pro some day and run the Camel Pro Series. He feels that he is three years away from that class now.

At Lincoln Speedway

Racing at Lincoln Speedway Saturday night was exciting to say the least. One of our Experts suffered a minor fracture during practice. It would seem that there is more racing during practice than during the actual races. There were one hundred and six riders that participated Saturday night. Attendance was off approximately 40 riders due to an amateur qualifier held in the middle west. The track grooved up pretty fast and by the time the pro event went off, it had gotten real tight. You could see the Pro rider's experience making itself known. One slip and you would lose a couple of positions. Robert Crabbe from Levittown, Pa. rode a perfect race. He held off Greg Smith and Willie Crabbe for the entire race. Lincoln Speedway expects to have at least 160 riders on hand for the District #7 Championship Race on July 29. Spectators fee remain the same at $1 per person. Be with us where the action is on July 29.

Dave White's team works frantically on #16. She has just rubbed a hole in the radiator and losing water fast at Harrington. Dave drives #5 Smith Enterprise on Sat. night at Delmar while #16 gets repairs.

Calvin Musser, III, in the pits trying to get his car cooled off. She heated up all night.

Stock Cars

The stock car scene changed from Georgetown to Harrington and the Delaware State Fair last Friday night. I talked to several drivers, owners, and mechanics for this week's paper, and I think you might find it interesting.

On Friday before races at the Fair, I talked to Norris Reed of Smithville. He said that he had talked to A.J. Foyt "yesterday and that Foyt had sold his Grand National car (#51) a Buick, to Richard Petty." According to Reed, Foyt said Petty will use the car on the superspeedways. It was reported that Petty gave Foyt $50,000 for the car. Why so much for the car? The answer was "he wanted a car right away to finish out the season." It was also learned that Petty had also purchased a Monte Carlo as well.

Discussions around the pits at the DSF were centered on how this would affect auto racing where "everyone appears to be going to the same car." They all agreed that it would hurt the gate... for the competition between car makes would be eliminated. It was also learned that Petty would probably run the Dodge at the upcoming Coca Cola 500 at Pocono this weekend, and run the Buick or Monte Carlo as early as the Talledega 500 on August 6th. Petty has been with the Dodge people since he broke into racing in 1958. He drove the Ford one year.

Norris Reed leased the other car of Foyt's (#53) and ran in the World 600 at Charlotte on May 28th. It was driven by Ron Hutcherson, and was wrecked. According to Reed, "the car is really tore up. Extensive damages. It is in Charlotte now at Hutcherson & Pagen's garage." For some time Reed has been trying to make a deal with Foyt on the car...and it appears a deal has been struck. Reed will get the car. The question is what will he do with it. He has been talking, hinting, and implying for quite some time about getting back into big time racing again. Who knows...and would Breeding be the one.

Lou Johnson may be getting another sponsor soon. Can't say who...but he knows a lot about motors and radiators. Johnson was using Larry Andell's small block Friday night. They will also get a 350 small block from Jersey as well as a large block from the same place and use the 350 for a back up.

Talked to Lester Davis and Mike Coale of L&D Racing Team who along with Steve Dale own #19 Modified which is driven by Harold Bunting. Lester Davis and Mike Coale formed a partnership last year. Coale has trucks and Davis had the cement business. They truck cement to local contractors as well as operate a sand and gravel business. Davis said he started with go-karts and graduated up to stock cars. He also drove go-karts. Davis and Coale come over every weekend...Friday night...then return to Baltimore and come back again on Saturday for the races at Delmar. They have 13 trucks and trailers, which haul everything from meats to pipe. They also own #17 Modified which is currently "parked", but they plan to sell it or find someone to drive it. Davis went to Florida last winter not for the Daytona race but for dirt track racing there where #19 performed well. Their business is located on Rt. #40 in Harford County. Coale said the race team and car #19 would start hitting other tracks. They made this past Saturday night their debut at Bridgeport Fairgrounds, where Harold finished 7th in heat after starting 15th. He ran in consolation and was in 2nd when #74 put him in the wall and broke a drive shaft. Harvey Sutton said they had wrong gear in it for heat race.

Calvin Musser seemed to have heating problems early. He explained it this way. "It wasn't geared low enough to turn enough RPMs to draw air through the radiator due to sand on the radiator." Bill Towers said that he "had a bad push in the car (tonight), but I don't see much difference in the track over prior years." He said that he and Kenny (Covey) have experienced some delays in building the new car which will have a Gettle (Ford) 427 c.t. engine. It should be done real soon. Talked to Mike Hager. He was out of uniform. He tells me that they have been doing a major overhaul on #90. They are putting on power steering and disc brakes on all wheels. The motor isn't done either. The damage seems to have been breaking a lifter and when they got it apart they saw that the bearings needed changing. So they decided to do a complete rebuilding. It will probably be ready this coming Saturday night for Delmar or the following Friday night for Georgetown.

James Goslee, Jimmy's father, said they plan to put a different motor in the car. It will be a little stronger motor...a stronger 350. It has been bored out with a roller cam, and a more balanced motor than what he has now. Bill Morris said that LMS #30 was still handling bad, "but Scotty (Morris) seems to be better satisfied now." The biggest problem with the car has been in the handling.

In the Trice camp, they made a lot of changes due to the problems they had at Delmar the week before. According to Gary they broke the crank shaft in the motor and that took out the front web and cut the main front two bearings. Rods and pistons and cam shaft also went. "We got a new motor now, and we built it this week finishing it up last night around midnight."

Jimmy Goslee had some real bad racing luck on Friday night. He was running strong when he blew a left rear tire. There were many accidents in both divisions on Friday night and there was debris strewn on the track, which I asked Jimmy if the flat was from oil pressure...but "I was determined to stay in there...lost the water pump the last five laps. This was Scott's 4th career race.

Walt Breeding said that he "was wiping his protective visor when he suddenly looked up and saw three cars in front of him in the feature at the Fair. He said that he thought that was it, but he managed to get the car stopped. The car was set down very low to the track on Friday night to give it a better reason to hug the track. Breeding credited his pit team with the victory. He said the car handled perfectly... "Well just like it did in Florida this winter." They used the same gear and same kind of tires we used in Florida. Breeding added that "you can be A.J. Foyt... but if the car don't work it just don't go. You have to have that car right... and this car was right tonight."

Bobby Walls had some unfortunate luck on Friday night. His car caught fire and his hand was burned on the left knuckles and on the heel of the left hand. He did not know the reason then...but the next night at Delmar he said that he thought the problem was due to the fact that the car got hot and melted the fuel injector lines. Also the filter got soaked and caught fire and the fuel was injecting back into his driving compartment. It was something like a back fire. It was also very hot in there, for he said "it was running about 250 degrees." Bobby said he needed the fire proof gloves and he was ordering a new pair of gloves. The gloves would protect his hands from burning.

Sonny Ritter did his best to put on a good show for the patrons at the Delaware State Fair, but he had just too much misfortune. He had a set of points burn up (they shorted out on him). In the second heat he had to start from scratch. He also had two blown tires, rocker arm shaft gone, fender gone, and in three wrecks... "but other than that I was in pretty good shape."

SENATE SUBSTITUTE NO. 1 FOR SENATE BILL NO. 536 AS AMENDED BY SENATE AMENDMENT NOS. 1, 2, 3, 4 AND HOUSE AMENDMENT NO. 1

AN ACT PROPOSING AN AMENDMENT TO ARTICLE 8, SECTION 6, OF THE CONSTITUTION OF THE STATE OF DELAWARE BY LIMITING APPROPRIATIONS TO 98 PERCENT OF THE STATE REVENUE.

BE IT ENACTED BY THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY OF THE STATE OF DELAWARE (Two-thirds of all the members elected to each House thereof concurring therein):

Section 1. Amend Article 8, Section 6 of the Constitution of 1897 of the State of Delaware by designating the existing paragraph thereof as subsection (a) and inserting new subsections to read as follows:

"(b) No appropriation, supplemental appropriation, or Budget Act shall cause the aggregate State general fund appropriations enacted for any given fiscal year to exceed 98 percent of the estimated State general fund revenue for such fiscal year from all sources, including estimated unencumbered funds remaining at the end of the previous fiscal year. An Act approved pursuant to the provisions of Section 3 of this Article shall not be considered an appropriation for the purpose of this Section. Estimated unencumbered funds are calculated by taking the estimated general fund cash balance at the end of the fiscal year less estimated revenue anticipation bonds or notes, estimated encumbrances, estimated continuing appropriations and the amount of the Budget Reserve Account as established in subsection (d) of this Section at the end of said fiscal year. The amount of said revenue estimate and estimated unencumbered funds remaining shall be determined by the most recent Joint Resolution approved from time to time by a majority of the members elected to each House of the General Assembly, and signed by the Governor.

(c) Notwithstanding subsection (b) of this Section, any portion of the amount between 98 and 100 percent of the estimated State general fund revenue for any fiscal year as estimated in accordance with subsection (b) of this Section may be appropriated in any given fiscal year in the event of emergencies involving the health, safety, or welfare of the citizens of the State of Delaware, such appropriations to be approved by three-fifths of the members elected to each House of the General Assembly.

(d) There is hereby established a Budget Reserve Account within the General Fund. Within forty-five (45) days after the end of any fiscal year, the excess of any unencumbered funds remaining from the said fiscal year shall be paid into the Budget Reserve Account, provided however, that no such payment will be made which would increase the total of the Budget Reserve Account to more than five percent (5%) of only the estimated State General Fund Revenues as set by the provisions of subsection (b) of this Section. The excess of any unencumbered funds shall be determined by subtracting from the actual unencumbered funds at the end of any fiscal year an amount which together with the latest estimated revenues is necessary to fund the ensuing fiscal year's General Fund Budget including the required estimated General Fund supplemental and automatic appropriations for said ensuing fiscal year less estimated reversions. The General Assembly by a three-fifths vote of the members elected to each House, may appropriate from the Budget Reserve Account such additional sums as may be necessary to fund any anticipated deficit in any given fiscal year or to provide funds required as a result of any revenue reduction enacted by the General Assembly."

Section 1. There shall be added to Article 8 of the Delaware Constitution a new section to be entitled and which shall read as follows:

"Section 10. Limitations on Increase of Rate of Taxes and License Fees, Except as to Meet Obligation Under Faith and Credit Pledge; Allocation of Public Moneys to Meet Such Obligation if Revenues are not Sufficient to Meet Such Pledge. (a) The effective rate of any tax levied or license fee imposed by the State may not be increased except pursuant to an Act of the General Assembly adopted with the concurrence of three-fifths of all members of each House. (b) Prior to the beginning of each fiscal year of the State, the General Assembly shall appropriate revenues of the State to pay interest on its debt to which it has pledged its faith and credit and which interest is payable in the year for which such appropriation is made and to pay the principal of such debt, payable in such year, whether at maturity or otherwise. To the extent that insufficient revenues of the State are available to pay principal of and interest on such debt when due and payable, the first public moneys of the State thereafter received shall be set aside and applied to the payment of the principal of and interest on such debt. To make up for such insufficient revenues, the General Assembly may increase the rate of taxes and fees without regard to the limitations of Paragraph (a) hereof after the failure to pay when due the principal of and interest on such debt."

SENATE BILL NO. 649 AS AMENDED BY SENATE AMENDMENT NO. 1

AN ACT PROPOSING AN AMENDMENT TO ARTICLE 8 OF THE DELAWARE CONSTITUTION TO PROVIDE FOR A THREE-FIFTHS VOTE OF THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY TO ENACT LAWS AUTHORIZING AN INCREASE IN THE RATE OF TAXES AND LICENSE FEES; TO PROVIDE AN EXCEPTION THERETO FOR LAWS AUTHORIZING AN INCREASE IN THE RATE OF TAXES AND LICENSE FEES TO SATISFY THE STATE'S PLEDGE OF ITS FAITH AND CREDIT FOR THE PAYMENT OF PRINCIPAL OF AND INTEREST ON DEBT AFTER PROVISION HAS BEEN MADE ANNUALLY FOR SUCH PAYMENT; AND TO PROVIDE FOR THE ALLOCATION OF PUBLIC MONEYS TO MAKE SUCH PAYMENTS.

BE IT ENACTED BY THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY OF THE STATE OF DELAWARE (Two-thirds of the members elected to each House thereof concurring therein):

Section 1. There shall be added to Article 8 of the Delaware Constitution a new section to be entitled and which shall read as follows:

"Section 10. Limitations on Increase of Rate of Taxes and License Fees, Except as to Meet Obligation Under Faith and Credit Pledge; Allocation of Public Moneys to Meet Such Obligation if Revenues are not Sufficient to Meet Such Pledge. (a) The effective rate of any tax levied or license fee imposed by the State may not be increased except pursuant to an Act of the General Assembly adopted with the concurrence of three-fifths of all members of each House. (b) Prior to the beginning of each fiscal year of the State, the General Assembly shall appropriate revenues of the State to pay interest on its debt to which it has pledged its faith and credit and which interest is payable in the year for which such appropriation is made and to pay the principal of such debt, payable in such year, whether at maturity or otherwise. To the extent that insufficient revenues of the State are available to pay principal of and interest on such debt when due and payable, the first public moneys of the State thereafter received shall be set aside and applied to the payment of the principal of and interest on such debt. To make up for such insufficient revenues, the General Assembly may increase the rate of taxes and fees without regard to the limitations of Paragraph (a) hereof after the failure to pay when due the principal of and interest on such debt."

Section 1. Amend Article X of the Constitution of the State of Delaware by adding thereto a new section, to be designated as Section 6, which new Section shall read as follows:

"Section 6. Property Tax; Use Limitations Section 6. No property tax receipts received by a public school district as a result of a property tax levied for a particular purpose shall be used for any other purpose except upon the favorable vote of a majority of the eligible voters in the district voting on the question."

The purpose of this Act is to prevent school districts from transferring debt service money to current operations without a referendum, and to take this issue out of the General Assembly.

Vacation Bible School for the Greenwood United Methodist Church will be held July 30 through August 4. The time is 6:30 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. Classes from three years up.

Report from Hickory Ridge Congregational Methodist Church: For several weeks the pastor has been preaching from the 13th chapter of First Corinthians (the love chapter) and he has encouraged everyone to memorize the chapter. Sunday, we were very pleased when the pastor's nine-year-old granddaughter, Karen, recited the whole chapter very capably.

Our sanctuary and classrooms are centrally air-conditioned and very comfortable.

The ladies of the WMS have just finished paying for carpeting the sanctuary plus $1,000 toward the pews. Now they are raising money to buy choir robes. Proceeds from the Thrift Shop, serving Kiwanis dinners and other projects will help with this.

We are grateful to an anonymous donor for a nice antique desk and a filing cabinet for the pastor's study at the church.

The church bus is being put to good use. We used it to go to Delmarva Campground near Laurel.

Vacation Bible School is August 7. Come out and help!

Pit Chatter (Cont.) Joseph To Return To Racing

Talked to Donnie Joseph and he confirmed the report that they are building a new car and he will drive it. The doctor has not released Donnie as yet. He still appears to be very sore and bruised. They plan to start building a new car this week. They are getting the fram from Advance Speed, and start from scratch. "If the doctor will not release me...then we will consider Jimmy (Goslee)," he said. We told him that he is number one in our book. Donnie said, "that he guessed he had too much gas and oil in his blood to give it up." He said that he would not alter his driving style any...still charge hard. That is the only way I know how to drive. He revealed that he had 7 stitches in his right arm on the inside of the elbow. He said that he went back to work on Thursday doing light work around the shop (I.G. Burton in Seaford). He is working on cars. The new car will be owned by Bobby Wright a salesman at Burton's. Donnie selected Jimmy "because he is easy on equipment...level headed... and an excellent driver...and is cool under pressure. He makes very few mistakes." Donnie was helping Howard Davis, because Howard and I are good friends." He says that Sammy is developing into a good driver as well.

Eddie Pettyjohn moved through heavy traffic to take the lead from Louis Lilliston on Saturday night when he blew a tire. Asked Eddie in the pits what happened, and he said that he did not know unless he ran over something. He also said that he was losing power anyway and thought that he was having motor problems. Bill Sterling said later that he is planning to build a new one (motor) over the winter...just thinking about it right now. Mr. Sterling is a grain farmer from Parksley, Va.

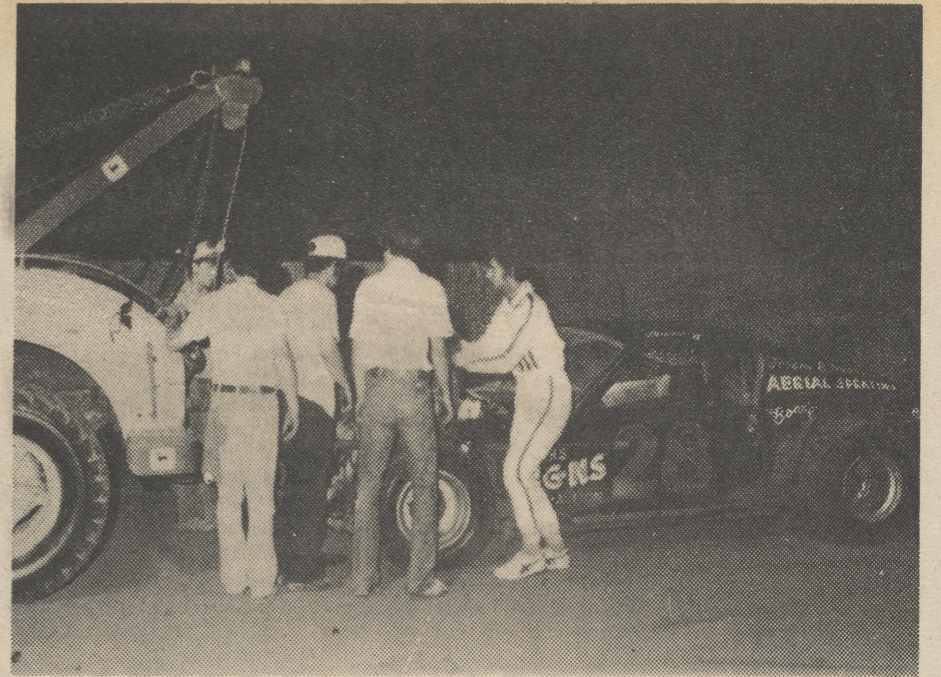

I talked to a happy Lewis Lilliston after the feature at U.S. #13 on Saturday night. He was happy because he had finished a race. The night before at the fair, he did in fact "bust the steering box which towed the right front wheel out. He said that he couldn't do anything with it. Couple weeks ago he bent the fram, buckled the whole back end, had her in the frame shop for 3 days, and again in the Camp Barnes race he was wrecked. He said that he needs more experience in driving...and feels that he has come a long way. In this race (Saturday night) he was some 20 car lengths ahead of the field, but lack of experience in handling the curves allowed Eddie to catch me. He was turning 5900 r.p.m. Saturday night and Lewis says that "...this is good enough to win." He also said that he is aware of his "wrestling the steering wheel...and added that the way his arms feel tonight he knen he was wrestling the wheel. He said that if the track (Harrington) stays hard he has a good chance of winning.

I had a quick chat with Earl Annis as he was pulling out of the pits at Delmar. He had some bad luck after winning the heat race. He later broke the torsion bar. He started 4 laps down and still finished second. Earl works for Holly Farms and will spend this week in Texas at one of their processing plants. He said that he likes to come to the Fair but the powdery dust is hard on an engine, "...it eats the heart out of an engine."

The Goslees experience some real troubles Saturday night. Jimmy was involved in a partial wreck when a car spun ahead of him. He went to the pits, and it was discovered later that the right front tire was bent out. "She had too much tow out...it bent the center link causing the right front tire to dig in. We couldn't catch him (Jimmy) as he scooted out of the pits. The car wouldn't handle...so he just quit instead of trying to mess up himself or someone else," said James Goslee.

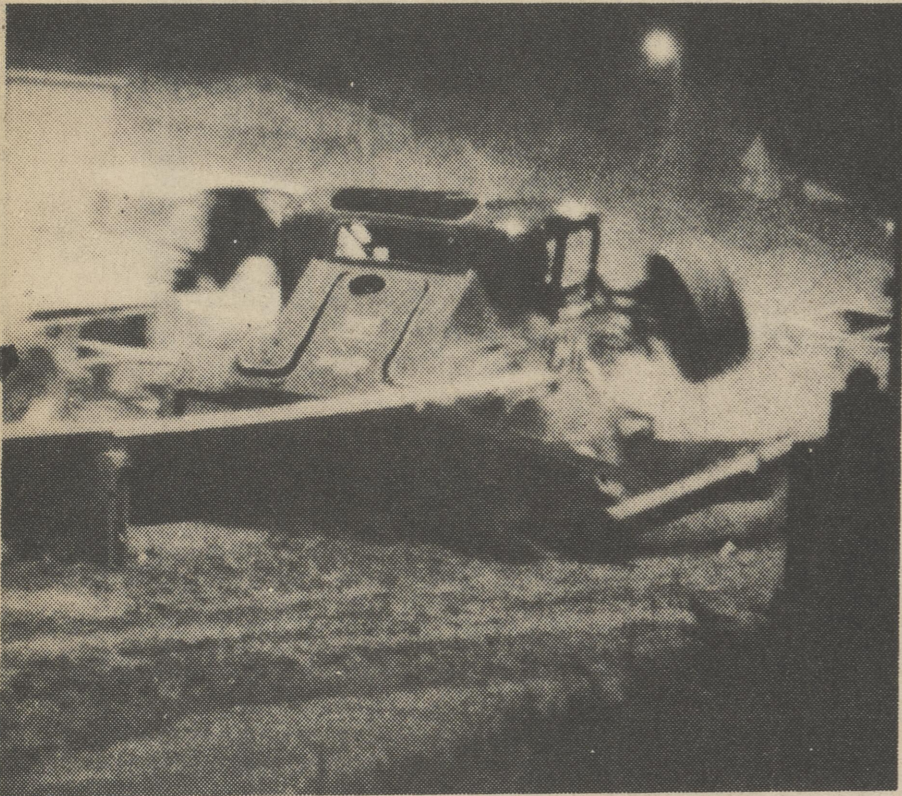

Ronnie Paulson blew "everything in the motor Saturday night. He said that "I was just coasting... I had plenty when it happened." Ronnie also added that when he and Breeding got together last Saturday a week ago...the hit knocked his suspension out...and for the last few laps it was like running a sprint car. You couldn't steer it very well...especially in the curves." He also said he could not see who won the feature 2 weeks ago between him and Bunting due to the car between them.

Wayne Brittingham broke the pin where the pittman arm goes on the shaft...and that was it for the night. He says that the car is coming right along. He said he changed the right rear tire...changed the offset and the weight of the car. This allowed it to handle a lot better.

Sammy Davis said that he probably would run real hard tires at Harrington on Wednesday. He and Breeding got together Saturday night. When they got together it probably cracked the drive shaft...and stopped it. When he continued a little more distance, he wrung the drive shaft.

It stood on the corner. He was a brother to Jonathan from Felton who took the fighting "Blue Hens chickens" with him when he went off to fight in the Revolution. Hence the name of The Blue Hen State. By 1789 the village had taken on such names as Irish Hill and Crack Skull Hill as well as Bed Bug Hill. The village was located on the cross of the upper King's Road from Dover to Milford and the Road from the Bay to the Forest. It was used as a distribution point for mail to the stage lines that passed through here. By Oct. 1, 1812 a post office was established and was known as Canterbury. The name might have come from the town in England by the same name. The town had a time in which it flourished for it had a griss mill, black smith shop, saw mill, cyder mill, hyde tannery, a church, school, a baseball park, garages and the like.

The community of Canterbury is in close proximity to Dover, which is located about 6 to 8 miles to the north.
