Harrington Could Get Another Shopping Center

HARRINGTON - Last Thursday night, Stan Thompson who now resides in Rehoboth area, appeared before the Town's Planning and Zoning Board petitioning to have the "Acme Markets Lands Inc." rezoned from residential to C-2 (a shopping center). The tract contains approximately 8 acres of land with about 740 ft. frontage on U.S. #13 southbound lane. The land in particular lies between U.S. #13 and St. Bernadettes Catholic Church with side frontage on Liberty and Gordon Streets of approximately 470 ft. It also butts up to the lands the Harrington Fire Co. purchased from Acme Markets several months ago with the idea of erecting a new fire hall there.

The petitioner, Stan Thompson, who claims to be a native of near Farmington, conceived the idea which gave birth to Edgell Pharmacy. The first such pharmacy was opened in the Edgell Shopping Center in Dover. Thompson now has 9 locations with the latest being erected in Exmore, Va.

Thompson plans on having an Edgell Pharmacy in the new proposed center for Harrington as well as a food store.

The center will have a proposed 100,000 to 120,000 sq. feet of shopping area.

The Planning Commission composed of Charles "Jerry" Anderson, chairman, Irene Layton, Leonard Outten, Gary (Punky) Harrington, Ben Hughes, and Harry G. Farrow, Jr. voted to approve Thompson's request for the zoning change. The matter now will go back to the Council for final disposition. The P & Z Commission is only an advisory body to the Town Council. The Council need not always adopt the P & Z Commission's recommendation.

In another matter, the Board absolved Roger Breeding of any wrong doing or in violation of a zoning ordinance. Breeding is the representative for Archway Cookies. He was being charged with doing business in a residential area. As was finally brought out, Breeding's place of business is not retail in nature. It is merely a place where the Archway Cookies are delivered for storage to be delivered elsewhere for sales. Commission recommended that the Breedings be permitted to continue their present operations.

City Council Discusses Closing Of Alley, State Funding

By Irene Layton

A special meeting of the City Council was held on Wednesday, November 29, concerning the closing of the alley between Porter Street and Rt. 13, Southbound lane. This meeting was open for public discussion from 7 until 8 with no objections to the closing of the alley being heard from any citizens present. Council voted unanimously to an agreement drawn up by Mr. Harry Terry, the city's solicitor, for the closing of this alley; should the owner(s) decide in the future to re-open the area for use as a thoroughfare, the alley would have to be reconveyed to the City. Mr. Don Steiner, owner of Delmarva Oil (to whom the alley will now belong) has agreed to pay all legal fees which the city has encountered concerning this alley and its closing, and to put up a fence according to Council's instructions, to prevent the passage of vehicles into or out of the alley. Signs will be erected notifying traffic of the closing.

The City is applying for State funding for a new radar unit which would have greater potential than those now being used in Harrington. There was much discussion as to where radar should be used; some councilmen felt that Rt. 13 is not the proper place. Councilman Homewood pointed out that whatever the complaint is, by those objecting to radar being used, it should be brought out in the open; Homewood stated that it, seemed the police were 'damned if they used radar, and damned if they didn't'. Most councilmen present agreed that some form of speed enforcement is necessary both inside the City, as well as on Rt. 13 in the City's limits.

Councilman William Shaw stated that he feels that the City should plan the next budget without counting on revenue sharing funding since the time will soon come when there may be no federal funds to help pay the City's bills. Councilman Shaw said he feels that everyone is living beyond their means, including the City, and should prepare now for what may come. He further stated that there has been no tax increase in eight years or more, though the cost of operating the City has increased considerably in the same period of time. Five years ago, (approximately) the water/sewer rates were increased, but are presently not enough for the operation of the City's system. Councilman Homewood stated that in a sense, he agreed with Councilman Shaw, but that he didn't feel the City should turn their back on the federal funding until it was gone, and then it would be time to 'bite the bullet'. Councilman Homewood stated that the federal money belongs to Harrington as well as to other communities since all taxpayers in the City have helped contribute to whatever funds Harrington can receive through revenue sharing plans.

The City has received a letter from Robert Finley expressing an interest to construct 26 Townhouse units at East Street and Peck Avenue, land owned by Paul Tadelbaum. This land is presently zoned for such construction.

Christmas Parade Is Great Success

Another Harrington Christmas parade was a great success as fine weather, a good crowd, community participation and the efficient efforts of the Harrington Jaycees combined to make it all happen.

The annual Christmas parade held Saturday, December 2, has been a major project of the Harrington Jaycees for twelve years and traditionally kicks off the holiday season in the city. Santa arrived via sleigh (with the help of the local fire department) and was on hand to listen to requests of youngsters after the parade. Santa will be at the Quillen Shopping Center each Saturday afternoon until Christmas.

In addition to the parade and Santa house, the Jaycees are also responsible for the city's Christmas decorations and sponsored a parade theme contest in the fall.

The theme selected was "Christmas through the words and music of the carols" as originated by Mrs. William Minner.

Appropriate to the theme the parade was preceded by a carol sing at the judges stand presented by the local group, "Reach Out." The program as well as the parade were broadcast over WTHD. Masters of Ceremony were Linda Gray and Joe Scott of WTHD with Dennis Hazzard at the radio station.

This was the second year for Ray Blanchette as parade chairman. He was "pleased with the good turn-out" and expressed his appreciation for the support given to him and the Jaycees.

This year's Grand Marshall was Roseanna Messick, a veteran of many Harrington Christmas parades.

Numerous prizes and trophies were awarded in various categories.

School Enrollment Drops, Unit Count Up

Recent reports received by the Delaware State Board of Education reveal that school enrollment is down by about six hundred from last year. Excluding the enrollment for New Castle Vo-Tech, the total figure is 653 less than the total for 1977. The totals are based on figures from September 30.

In the Lake Forest School District, the statewide trend holds true with the total enrollment for 1978 resting at 3,406 down 65 from the 1977 total of 3,471. The drop is split almost evenly with the elementary schools down 33 and the junior high and high schools down 32 from last year.

Despite the drop in total enrollment, the unit count which determines the number of teachers for which there will be state funds stayed up, gaining one from last year's 176 to make 177 units this year. This is possible because of the increase of students identified as needing help through special education. The number of students which make up a special ed unit is smaller (ranging from eight to fifteen) than that required for a regular unit (around 24 or 25).

At its November 20 meeting, the State School Board certified 2590 units in Division I (which determines funds for staff) in 15 school districts. These figures exclude New Castle County in which re-organization and the teachers' strike caused delays in making the computation.

Governor Proclaims Dec. 7 As Delaware Day

Governor Pierre S. du Pont proclaims December 7, Delaware Day, commemorating the 191st anniversary of Delaware's ratification of the Federal Constitution, thus making Delaware the First State in the New Nation.

Official ceremonies will take place at noon, Dec. 7, on the historic Green in Dover. The program will include brief remarks by Governor duPont. The Governor will be introduced by Dover Mayor Charles A. LeGates, Jr.

Governor duPont will introduce an exhibit entitled "Decisive Steps in Delaware History". This exhibit, organized by Mr. Edward F. Heite of the Division of Historical and Cultural Affairs, utilizes facsimiles of important State documents that have helped to shape the course of Delaware's history. This exhibit will be housed in the Senate Chamber of the Old State House through December after which it will be available to educational institutions and businesses throughout the state.

Noon ceremonies at Dover will include a performance by Bill Schustik, a balladier known internationally for his work in American historic songs. The Dover High School Band, under the direction of Ronald E. Shomo, will also perform.

Futue Bright For Magnolia Trees

It appears as though the Magnolia sycamore trees will be saved after all. At a press briefing held at the Magnolia Fire Hall last Wednesday, fire company spokesman James Clendaniel assured listeners of the company's interest in preserving the trees as well as the Lowber house before which they stand. He enumerated, however, the problems facing the company as members struggle with the decision of progress vs. preservation. In addition, two entirely separate issues have had to be faced - the trees and the house.

In an attempt to determine whether the trees are actually "Bride and Groom" trees as supposed, borings were sent to the United States Forestry Service Laboratory in Madison, Wisconsin. By mathematical deduction, technicians were able to arrive at an approximate age for the sycamores. Estimated ages of the trees are 192 and 155 years. This would seem to rule out the possibility of their being bride and groom trees planted by Matthew Lowber and his wife when their home was built in 1774. However, this is only an estimate, and as explained by forester Walt Gabel, the sycamore with its diffuse rings is difficult to read. Also, the disparity in size of the trees may be due to several factors - ages of the trees when planted or differing growth patterns. According to Gabel, the only sure method of dating the trees would be the cut them down and count their rings.

The Magnolia Fire Company, however, is willing to work their expansion plans around the trees providing they can be made safe and that another group will finance and take the responsibility for maintaining the trees. Currently the Magnolia Historical Society is considering the possibility of selling branches from the trees to raise money for their upkeep.

The Lowber House is another matter. Built in 1774 it was occupied until the late '50s. Since that time it has been allowed to deteriorate badly.

When the fire company purchased the Lowber property from the state, it was with the stipulation that it be preserved on its present site or moved to a new location and restored. Restoration would be under the direction of the State Division of Cultural and Historical Affairs.

The company will soon be putting the property up for bids, with the requirement that it be moved. Moving costs are estimated to be close to $20,000 and it has been determined that there should be no structural problem in moving the house.

Also relocating the house to a new site should have no bearing upon its acceptance to the National Register, according to Clendaniel. Parties interested in submitting a bid on the property may contact the Magnolia Volunteer Fire Company, Box 55, Magnolia, Del.

Anthropologist Addresses Harrington Rotary Club

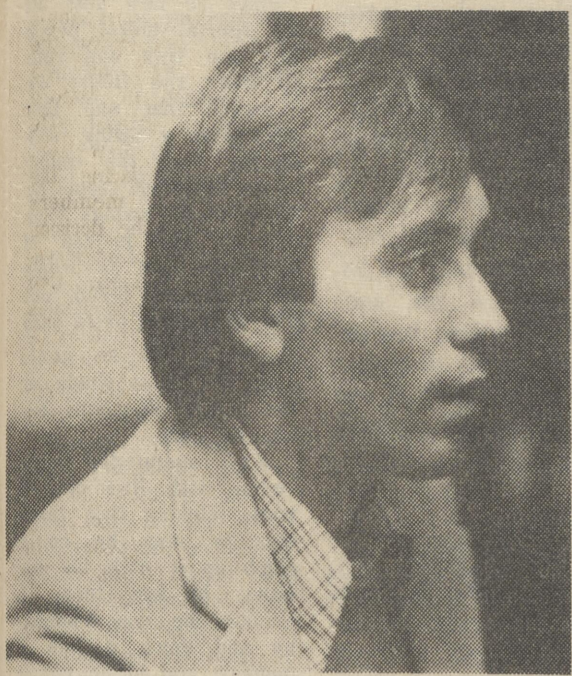

HARRINGTON NEWS-STAND - The Harrington Rotary Club had as its speaker last Monday night Richard Artusy who is currently Delaware's curator of archeology. This all falls under the historical and cultural affairs of the State which has the department's inception, there have been 1,000 Indian sites uncovered with over 600 different collections, which reflect what peoples lived there and why they lived there. According to Artusy, Delaware has the finest collection of arti-

the Island Field Museum have come from states far and near. There are some from New Jersey, New York and as far away as South Dakota, which indicates that there was a highly sophisticated means of trading among these early peoples. They know, for instance, that the Jasper that are on file is from Allentown, Pa. and is unique to that area. The mica on file is unique in North Carolina. These stones can be identified as to their importance and preciousness and this reflected the importance of the person with whom the stones were buried. Artusy's department has determined that there were two tribes of Indians living here at various times and they were the Delawares and Nanticoques. The Delawares lived "above the canal" and the Nanticoques lived in Kent and Sussex Counties. Near Massey's Landing, for instance, an early site was turned up there which indicated the type of house these people might have lived in. In most cases, these homes were erected around posts—major and minor ones. The major ones were usually on the outside and the minor ones on the inside. The department knows that posts were used because they could determine from soil tests and discolorations that the post was there at one time, maybe as far back as 1,000 years or more.

Artusy points out that some of the major enemies of the anthropologists or archeologists are the coming of new highways, housing developments being erected and things of this sort because as he points out, we in Delaware or on the peninsula here are sitting on top of a lot of history. This past summer there were eight new sites discovered mainly as a result of the new erection of an electrical line running from Milford to Millsboro where excavation and grading were carried on in order to erect this electrical line. One site at Millsboro dated to about 500 B.C. The Island Field Museum dates to about 700 B.C. Another one at Gravelly Branch which is located on the road from Seaford to Millsboro dates to 600 A.D. This summer they turned up some 30,000 artifacts in that one area. One of the most important findings so far in this state happened this summer when a site was discovered in southern New Castle County on the north side of Rt. 40. This site dates to approximately 3500 B.C. This was discovered primarily because a housing contractor was grading land for a new housing site when many of the artifacts surfaced. The department was called and Artusy said within a few months they had discovered a major campsite about three feet inside a very small thicket on this particular tract.

The Island Field Museum, which dates approximately 700 B.C. is one of the three sites in the country which has received national recognition. The other two are in the Shenandoah Valley of Virginia near Front Royal which is called the Thunderbird Site and is under the direction and subsidized by the National Geographic Society. The other site is in Ohio where there are some 1,000 graves already discovered. It is possibly the largest site discovered thus far.

Richard Artusy

two bureaus, with one-half of his time devoted to anthropology and one-half of his time devoted to historical preservation. One of his duties is supervising the Island Field Museum at South Bowers Beach.

Artusy was one of the anthropologists who discovered one of the graves at what is known as the Island Field Museum. He used slides as part of his program on Monday night. The slides reflected the discovery of the graves and skeleton remains as well as the construction of the first building which was erected on the present site. The first building was merely a pole shed with roof which acted as a shelter against the elements. Artusy pointed out that it is very difficult to find remains in Delaware because the soil content is such that the PH factor causes rapid decomposition of the bone skeleton. This particular discovery, with many of the bone skeletons still in place, was due largely to the fact that there had been and subsequent to this original gravesite, another settlement which built houses and started a village in this particular area. It is believed the people were the Indians who inhabited this village on the second go round and lived primarily from gathering food from the ocean. Clam and oyster shells were discarded on the surface of the ground in the particular spot where the graves were.

The lime from the clam and oyster shells over the years provided a preservation for the skeletons. Artusy, who will leave the State position after the first of the year to take a job in industry in California, has been with the archeological segment of the State since graduating from the University of Delaware in 1972 where he majored in anthropology. Archeology is an included field of anthropology. Artusy is interested in anthropology and/or archeology as it pertains to the Mid-Atlantic states -- Delaware, New Jersey, Maryland, Virginia and parts of Pennsylvania. Since facts and this, he points out, is primarily due to its dedicated staff. Aside from the small staff on the State's payroll, the department has a large number of volunteers, primarily through archeological societies in each of the three counties. Artusy fielded many questions handed him by the Rotary Club such as how was he able to date some of their findings. He said that they were able to do this in some cases where the skeleton remains had been burned and burning tends to preserve the skeleton. Some of these remains were sent to the Smithsonian and to the proper department at the University of Georgia.

The burial ground of these campsites also indicate the status of the person at the time of his death because of what was buried with the person and also the position of the body. The average life span was 27 years old, and if you take out the children, the average life span was 40-45 years old. In most cases, the teeth of the skeleton remains were all intact without any cavities. This was evidence of the fact that these early people did not have sugar in their diet. In most cases, there were no evidences of diseases of the bone. There were some very few cases of arthritis which they could determine by virtue of the fact that the joint was swollen or enlarged. In all cases, it is believed that these people believed in a life after death because of the trinkets and items which were buried with them. There are approximately two to three million stones which have been collected and are stored at the Island Field Museum. All of the outstanding collections by amateurs in the State have been turned over to the department. One of the finest was that of the late William "Bill" Cabbage, who for many years was the bailiff for the Superior Court in Kent County. The major weapon appears to have been the spear, and after 700 B.C., it was the bow and arrow with a triangular point. Many stones which are part of the collection of

One Dies In Wreck

An accident at 10:40 Thursday, November 30 on U.S. Rt. 13, 1.7 miles south of Harrington, resulted in the death of Wilson Ronald Joseph, 30, of RD 3, Laurel. Joseph was southbound on Route 13 in the right lane when he overtook a truck tractor operated by Harold R. Johnson, also 30, of RD 1, Milford. Travelling at an apparent high rate of speed, Joseph failed to take sufficient evasive action and struck the truck tractor in the rear, continuing only 20 feet before coming to rest in the roadway. Johnson's truck continued 100 feet, striking a pole. He was treated and released from Milford Hospital with minor abrasions of a knee. Joseph was removed from his vehicle by Harrington Fire Co. and transported to Milford Hospital where he was pronounced dead on arrival at 11:20 p.m. by Dr. Chen of apparent head and internal injuries. The death of Wilson Ronald Joseph raises the state's highway fatalities to 115 compared with 111 for 1977.

Stressing Competency Standards In Public Schools

By Governor Pete du Pont

Last weekend I addressed the First Seminar on School Standards at the University of Delaware. This conference, which brought together the leading educators in the state as well as state officials and legislators with a keen interest in public education, was designed to discuss the benefits of competency based education and how such a program can be instituted in Delaware's public schools.

Parents, teachers, public officials, students and taxpayers all agree that we need to improve the learning process so that every Delaware high school graduate can be certified as competent and able to enter the work world or further his or her education.

It is not that our schools are doing poorly, but that simply they are not doing well enough. I am not satisfied and I am well aware that the general public is not satisfied with what is happening in our schools and with the present levels of achievement.

A major conclusion of a survey conducted earlier this year in conjunction with my initiative to establish alternative fundamental schools was that Delawareans were concerned about the lack of emphasis given to basic education skills, such as reading, writing and arithmetic.

Already the State is working in areas of programs for gifted and talented children. The committee to study the feasibility of fundamental schools in Delaware has completed its work. The Basic Skills law, which I signed last summer, will provide funds beginning in fiscal year 1980 and will provide for programs stressing basic educational skills in the public schools.

These new laws and programs are a start toward providing our school students with the abilities we think of as comprising literacy. Testing done nationally and in Delaware shows this to be true. Both business and labor complain that students graduating do not have the basic skills needed to perform well on the job.

Competency based education will set minimum standards for each student to achieve as well as to promote and encourage excellence and achievement among all students.

We need to redirect our efforts in public education in the same manner that we have redirected our efforts to a new budgeting program called zero-based budgeting, which until a half dozen years ago was unknown to most of us. By redirecting our energies toward a program of competency based education, we can review from top to bottom the entire educational process and challenge assumptions that are no longer workable or desirable.

Statement By Governor du Pont On Disposition

Of Bodies Brought To Dover Air Force Base From Guyana

Delaware public health officials and I met on Wednesday with U.S. State Department officials to ensure that all Delaware laws are observed in the disposition of bodies brought to Dover Air Force Base from Guyana.

Initially, agreement was reached on one important point: There will be no mass burial of bodies in Delaware. The State Department specifically concurred, at my insistence, in this conclusion.

Delaware health officials have inspected processing at the air force base and concluded that there is no danger to the public health in the procedures now being followed at the air force base. I received assurances from U.S. government representatives that health and safety regulations will be carefully followed in identification and further processing of the bodies. Delaware officials will monitor federal actions.

There are a number of difficult legal questions regarding the transportation of the bodies to burial sites. Discussions are continuing to resolve these questions.

Thoughts From Washington

Gab Fest

— By Pat Hatfield —

If you wish your Christmas holidays lived up a bit, I'll loan you Ellen's blue and gold Macaw. We had "Baby" as our guest during the Thanksgiving holidays, and, believe me, it was lively. Consider the antics of a very active two-year-old child, and you can visualize about what we went through.

Since he now gets off his special metal perch with the tray and runs all over the floor, we discarded that and Dad built him a swing suspended from the ceiling in the breakfast room. He loved it. He swings from side to side instead of back and forth as people do. He soon found out that by pushing extra hard to the right he could grab the brass shade on the whale oil lamp. We adjusted that.

We suspended his swing with fine copper wire, thinking that there was no way he could climb up it with his big claws. In less than 15 minutes he was running up and down it like a monkey, and biting pieces out of the knotty pine ceiling. Another copper wire had been stretched toward and fastened to the gun rack to help him keep his balance (which he did not need). He climbed on a small table and was found biting off my red ears of decorative corn and spitting the kernels on the floor. We removed that. Next time I checked he was sitting on the shelf of the gun rack, throwing down oil cans, chalk, gun shells and everything else he could reach. When I checked again, he had flown over to the kitchen counter top (in spite of clipped wings) and was removing the bows off the wrapped Christmas presents and throwing them in the floor. We punished him by putting him in his cage for a while, much to his disgust and loud screams.

He is beautiful with his vest of deepest gold and incredibly blue back and yard long tail, and we love him dearly in spite of his mischief. All morning long he talked incessantly, giving me loud wolf whistles and saying "Hello" in at least five different inflections. He has a brisk "Hello" to greet visitors coming in the door or to yell when we pick up the telephone, and then he has a sugary, seductive one that you could eat with a spoon!

While he was here he learned to say "meow" with Morris, the yellow cat, who is deathly afraid of him, by the way. He also learned to call "Pat" apparently from hearing Dad. The first time he did it, I was in the living room and came running out thinking it was my friend Belle with the Senior Citizens news. The next time he sounded exactly like my friend Helen who usually yells "Pat" as she comes in the kitchen door. But it was Baby, swinging away and hoping for a piece of the fruit he loves so much. Strawberries are a great favorite and in the summer fresh peaches really turned him on. If it is a special treat, he will say "Whooooo", as he takes it. In spite of his mischief, he is a part of the family and we truly missed him when he returned home.

December 1 and I am looking at a gorgeous pink Radiance rosebud, freshly cut. There were several more on the bushes but they had been battered by the wind and rain. Also, I picked a handful of the biggest pansies, their colors deep and lovely. I wonder if they would bloom all winter if they were mulched. Must ask Dad about that.

A CRUDE TAX ON THE AMERICAN PEOPLE

Of all the so-called energy proposals submitted to the Congress last session by President Carter, the crude oil tax was easily the worst. The purpose of the crude oil tax was to increase substantially the price of oil in order to promote energy conservation. However, most economists and energy experts have predicted the crude oil tax will result in slower economic growth, more unemployment, higher inflation and prices—and very little energy savings.

I led the fight against the crude oil tax during the last session of Congress and the Senate Finance Committee approved my motion to delete this tax increase from the energy bill. But now there are reports the President will revive the issue and submit another proposal to Congress in January to impose a crude oil tax.

This crude oil tax is wrong! It is wrong for the economy and wrong for energy. Just at the time when we need a tax cut, this is a tax increase. At a time when we need to help working people and senior citizens living on fixed incomes, this hurts them. At a time when we need to encourage American oil production, this proposal discourages it.

The crude oil tax would take approximately $600 from the average family in America for a total of about $40 billion over the next four years. Make no mistake—the cost of goods and services and heating bills will go up with the crude oil tax and Americans will suffer. This further pinches the billfolds of the motoring public, as the Administration's efforts to repeal the deduction for gasoline taxes was successful in the last Congress.

President Carter would be making a serious mistake by reviving the crude oil tax. It won't save significant amounts of energy and consumers will be penalized.

If President Carter does revive the crude oil tax, I will again lead the fight to kill this ill-conceived proposal.

Holiday Safety Tips

From The Harrington Fire Company

When we think of the holiday season, all the joy of this time comes to mind: the sharing of gifts, excitement of children, and the beauty of a brightly ornamented tree.

Many families however, have somewhat grimmer holiday memories—brought on by just one unsafe act which caused a needless, tragic accident.

To help you have a safe holiday season with good pleasant memories, Underwriters Laboratories Inc. (UL) — a not-for-profit organization testing for public safety and your local fire department offer the following tips:

*Purchase only UL Listed light strings. For outdoor use, only weather proof cords and lighting should be used. The UL Label will indicate light strings suitable for outdoor use.

*Check all lights carefully. Make certain bulbs are not loose in their sockets. Use rubber light socket gaskets and replace if needed.

*Selection of a tree, whether natural or artificial is a crucial matter. Artificial trees should be labeled flame resistant. Never put light strings on a metal tree — this is a shock hazard — use only spot lighting. Natural trees should be fresh — deep green, strong scent, no falling needles and trunk butt sticky with sap. Keep trunk in water, and check it daily.

*Inspect all wiring. Watch for insulation deterioration, frayed and bare wires, lights with broken or cracked sockets, or loose connections. Unsafe equipment should be discarded immediately.

*Watch placement of electrical fixtures. Keep them out of children's reach, and never place them close to flammable material.

*Never overload circuits.

By placing more current on a wire than it was intended to carry, overheating and fire can result. Look for the capacity of the wire and follow manufacturer's suggested use.

*Keep the tree and other flammable materials (Mantel decorations, wrapping materials, etc.) at a good distance from fireplaces, radiators, and other high heat sources. Also, never block exits with the tree or other decorations.

*Disconnect all lights when working with them. Never stretch the strings or extension cord wiring.

*Always turn off decorative lights when leaving home or retiring. A short circuit could cause a fire while you are away.

*Keep a fully-charged fire extinguisher handy, a UL Listed Multi-Purpose A, B, C fire extinguisher is practical.

Have a safe and happy holiday season.

Fire Chief
Joe Green

Planned Parenthood Information

WILMINGTON - The Delaware League for Planned Parenthood, in cooperation with the Delaware State Division of Public Health, has published a folder to inform teens of the help available to them on matters concerning birth control, pregnancy and sexually transmitted diseases.

Entitled "The Time to Care is Before!", the folder was made possible as part of a federally funded Teen Services public information project, which also includes teen oriented radio and newspaper advertisements and posters. The folder is being distributed free to teens at the Planned Parenthood clinics in Wilmington and Newark and at Public Health clinics throughout the state, as well as in schools, libraries and retail outlets that teens frequent.

According to Edgar S. Huffman, Executive Director of Planned Parenthood, teenage pregnancy throughout the nation has reached epidemic proportions with surveys indicating that one in ten women age 15 to 19 become pregnant in the United States each year. He said that using the national figures as a basis, one can project that about 2,700 Delaware women in this age range will become pregnant during the next 12 months, with about 1,800 of them delivering babies.

"Teenage pregnancy is of great concern to us because recent studies indicate that early child-bearing poses serious health, social, and economic consequences for both teen mothers and their children," Huffman explained. "It's a sad, but true fact that teenagers run greater risk of death or illness as a result of pregnancy complications; and their babies are more likely to be premature and to die within the first year than are babies born to women in their early 20's."

Get Ready For That Living Christmas Tree

Christmas still seems a long way off, but if you're thinking of having a live Christmas tree this year, now's the time to do a little planning and preparation for it.

A living tree is one with roots and soil that can be planted outside after the holidays, explains University of Delaware extension horticulturist Dr. Charles Dunham. It can be used to improve the landscaping around your house. Or, if you don't have room for it on your own property, it can be donated for use on the grounds of a church, school, or other public property. It's also possible for a group of people to get together and each buy a pine tree for use in landscaping a community project, after they've enjoyed it over the holidays.

Many of the same species that are used for cut Christmas trees can be used for living ones, says the specialist. White pine is one of the most useful for landscaping purposes. But Douglas fir, Norway spruce and white spruce—which are more traditional for indoor decoration—all grow well in Delaware. The Colorado blue spruce is one of the choicest Christmas trees and also makes an excellent landscape specimen. One word of caution—all of these trees get to be large (40 feet or more in height), so avoid putting one where it will soon outgrow its surroundings.

The best time to buy your living tree is well before Christmas, says Dunham. Any time in November is not too early. Usually the best place to get one is from a nursery that sells landscape plants. These trees will have been dug early in the fall with good root balls. Some local Christmas tree growers will also dig trees for you.

If the tree is to be planted in your own yard, dig the hole for it right now—before the ground has a chance to freeze. Save some of the soil from the hole, mix this with peatmoss to loosen it up a bit for better root growth after the tree is planted, and store it in the garage or some other place where it will be dry when you need it.

You can place the tree in the hole until it is time to bring it indoors for the holidays. Filling in around the root ball with mulch, shavings, or leaves will help prevent it from drying out and protect it from hard freezing. It will also make it easier to remove. A good watering once a week should suffice to keep the roots moist.

When you bring the tree into the house, slip a large plastic garbage bag over the ball. This will help keep the roots from drying out and at the same time keep the floor clean.

The tree will need watering once or twice while it is indoors. Try not to keep it in the house more than 7-10 days. After Christmas get it planted as soon as possible. Besides drying out the needles, the heated air inside may encourage leaf buds to open prematurely. If the weather outdoors isn't cooperating, store the tree in the garage or some other cool place until it can be planted.

Letter To The Editor

Dear Sir:
While working on a budget for 1979, it was discovered an unauthorized total amount of approximately $1300 was being overpaid to the employees for salaries in 1978 which was not approved by the Council.

I wish to go on record that I knew nothing of this matter until Mayor Cahall brought this to our (Town Council) attention. I therefore would like to know what action the Council intends to take and why did the City Manager allow this to happen.

Greenwood Lionesses Hold Charter Meeting

By Dianne Bauer
You ask what is a Lioness, well you undoubtedly heard of the Lions Club... You guessed it... Women Lions are Lionesses.

There are only five such organizations in lower Delaware and they are in Delmar, Laurel, Bridgeville, Lewes and the newest in Greenwood.

Any woman who is interested can become a Lioness by getting in touch with the president of the club.

What do the Lionesses do? During the speech it was explained that they can help people all over the world. They were told their group was small but very active. They do their work not for the credit but because they believe in it.

It all started about two years ago when Pat Hatfield presented the idea. It took another year and they were presented with the material to get started and they at that time needed 20 members which took a while. They can credit their final formation to the work and effort of Jake Hatfield who is, as the president of the Lioness Club stated, a "go getter, and phone user." Their first meeting had only 12 members present, at their board meeting they increased the membership by 8 more and three more in October and finally on this evening 3 more joined the ranks.

Lioness members provide the community with help for the welfare of the people. They have helped with eye banks, glasses, sight mobiles and have moved into the area of hearing. They provide wheel chairs, hospital beds, walkers and things people need and can't afford on a loan basis. They help in the schools when kids can't have the dental care or glasses they need. Last year they aided the elderly who couldn't afford heating costs.

Right now they operate out of a Community House that was donated by Ellen Bollinger, and is in Greenwood. They raise funds by having barbecues and with these funds can donate money or goods to schools and people. They recently donated books, bulletin board and a clock to the Greenwood Library. They plan to donate $300 to the Woodbridge Track Team.

Their club president is Jeanette McCreary, first vice president Faye Shenanko, second vice president, Mary Battin, third vice president, Dot Mitchell, secretary, Diane Hoffman, treasurer Shirley Whitelock, director Pat Hatfield, and other members are Ellen Bollinger, Dolores Jones, Jean Scott, who is Tail Twister, Mary Lou Moore, Barbara Baker, Jo Anne Davis, Belle Allen, Evelyn Doughten, Rosetta Humphrey, Esther Scott, Susan Coverdale, Susan Boyd, Bobette Carter, Pat Hearne, Charlotte Shea, Flora Snyder, Lucille Davidson, Shirley Whitelock, and Sandy Kelley.

They were told during one of the speeches that the rewards were going to be great and their hearts would "feel nine feet tall."

Lake Forest Wrestling

Coach Hyatt Looks For A Good Season

By Linda Hutson
The 1978-79 Spartan Wrestling team, under the coaching of Justin Hyatt, guidance counselor at the high school, began practice recently. The relatively small team which consists of only 20 active members, has suffered the loss of many valuable wrestlers due to graduation including Mike Barner (Heavy-weight), Mike Quail (185), and Tim McCombs (167).

Also not wrestling this season are the Kosiorowski who have other obligations, and senior Curtis Harmon who was severely injured during the football season.

According to Coach Hyatt, all team members show much potential, however, key wrestlers for the Spartans appear to be seniors Larry McCombs and Louis Hendricks. Freshman Charles Jones, who placed 2nd in the 5th annual East Windsor PAL Wrestling Tournament last year, should also prove to be an asset to the team.

A question that exists in the minds of many coaches, wrestlers, and parents is "What are the chances of a severe and permanent injury occurring as in the case of Rodder Purnell?" Several potential wrestlers have informed Coach Hyatt that they will be unable to participate in the sport due to this incident. The accident completely baffles Hyatt who was present at the time it occurred. He says it was a "freak accident" with no real explanation, however, there were no illegal moves.

Safety precautions against such accidents will be executed. Referees will be more cautious and will stop a match any time at which a wrestler's safety is involved. Hyatt also added that warm-up exercises before competing to loosen muscles and joints will prevent minor accidents.

Competitively, the Spartans hope to better their '77-'78 record of 7-4-1. Caesar Rodney and Smyrna will be their toughest competition as, according to Hyatt, "they have good programs, good wrestlers..."

The team will first compete in the Milford Invitational Wrestling Tournament on December 15 and 16 at the Milford High School. Several schools will be featured in the two-day event.

Hyatt feels that in competition the good weight classes will do exceptionally well and the weaker classes will remain questionable. He concluded by stating, "We've got good wrestlers; I'm still optimistic and looking forward to the season."

Freshman Gridders Prepare For Varsity Next Year

FELTON - The Lake Forest Freshman team ended the season with two wins and four losses. They won against Smyrna and Milton with scores of 6-0 and 26-0 respectively. The team was coached this year for the first time by Jim Hogsden. He had been an assistant high school coach prior to his debut as a freshman coach. The team suffered losses to Lewes (12 to 6), Air Base (12 to 8), Seaford (26 to 0), and Milford (22 to 0). Hogsden said the Seaford game was the toughest for them. "We just could not move the ball against them. We moved the ball pretty well against Milford and the other teams we played, but not against Seaford."

Hogsden said his team employed the "veer offense", which was the same used by the varsity. He felt the players found it very simple for the most part. The players which are composed of freshmen are ranging in age groups of 14 to 15 years. Some of the standout players were Mike Justice, a halfback, brother of Milton; who played varsity football this past season and earned a berth on the All Henlopen Conference team, Gus Teague, a guard, Charlie Hudson, a tackle, and Kenny Rider, a tightend. Two other players who performed well were Charlie Hudson and Dale Benson. Hudson was one of the leading tacklers. According to Hogsden, Hudson led in solo tackles in each game. Benson, when he made practice and played did the punting. "He had real quick timing on snaps, and gave it a real good boot too," said Hogsden. Benson played left halfback. Charles Harvey did the kicking off and in one game against Milton he kicked the ball out of the end zone.

Hogsden said the real future with the football program at Lake Forest is running the late bus to Sandtown, Bowers and over near Houston. Hogsden said there will be 12 to 15 returning next year and there would be more boys out if the bus situation could be expanded.

Lake Forest Has New Basketball Coach

By Todd Gruwell

Bill Falasco is the new coach for the Spartans. He was given the job when the previous coach, Buck Starky, resigned. Bill had coached the Chipman Junior School basketball team for the last six years, each time to a winning season. He also coaches football (the offensive line) and is head coach of the varsity baseball team.

Bill expects to have a winning season this year. Though he says most of the players are very inexperienced, they are fast on the floor and willing to learn.

The squad consists of: Jack Spencer, 6'4"; Larry Smith, 6'; Mark Benson, 6'; Brian Cousin, 6'1"; Leonard Taylor, 5'10"; Charles Haliburton, 6'; Ferdinandious MaCrae, 5'10"; Reggie McCrae, 5'10"; Darryl Curray, 6'2"; Mark Smith, 5'11"; Leroy Garey, 5'10"; Kenny Sudler, 5'11"; Quentin Hendricks, 6'2"; James Evans, 6'1".

The only returning starters this year are Jack Spencer, Mark Smith and Larry Smith. Even with their height, Falasco says, "We will be one of the smallest teams in the southern division." He also says, "I am exceptionally pleased with the attitude of all 14 players." The players he expects to do well are: Jack Spencer, leading rebounder; Larry Smith and Quentin Hendricks, doing a commendable job; Mark Smith and Kenny Sudler, providing good leadership out front; Darryl Curray and James Evans, two of the young people inside; Ferdinandious McCrae and Mark Benson giving good depth which Lake Forest hasn't had for a few years.

Falasco said the strong teams in the Southern Division would be Indian River, Laurel, Smyrna and Delmar. He says, "If we do well against these teams, we may have a chance to go to the states, which is our long range goal. We are also going to try to improve last year's record. Our biggest drawback this year up to now is not being able to practice in our gym, as a result of construction. Instead we have had to practice at Chipman using only half the court while the Junior Varsity is using the other half. In addition, all of our home games for the month of December have been scheduled away games, which will mean a greater disadvantage for a young team like ours."

The Spartans' first game will be played at Delmar December 6. In order to win Bill says, "We will have to shut off Eric Morris, their leading scorer. We are also shooting for a winning record before the Christmas break in order to build up confidence in the team for the remainder of the season." Falasco said he will use both man to man and zone defense, and due to the fast breaking, it will allow him to use eight to nine players each game. The second game for Lake Forest will be played at Indian River, picked to be No. 1 in the Southern Division.

Coach Jim Fleming Comments On Football Season

"Offensively, this is the second best total output (1,647 yards) in the past four years, surpassed only by last year's 2110 yards."

represents the most yards gained (2,313 yards) against a Lake Forest team in the past four years."

"Injuries greatly influenced the season. We didn't have a single game with an entire squad injury-free. We had as many as six varsity football players missing during a single game."

"In addition to the four seniors who were honored as All-Conference selections, I thought Eugene McBride, Tim Kemp, and Perry Thomas played outstanding football all year. Louis Hendricks did a fine job as a offensive guard. He was switched to this position from offensive halfback. Darryl Voshell also did an excellent job for us on specialty teams."

"We had 26 football players earn varsity letters this year and only 8 of them will be graduating which leaves us with the largest number of returning lettermen since I've been at Lake Forest (4 seasons)."

"Some linemen who'll be returning are Roy Boehmer, Jimmy Fleming, Tony Loper, Dan Jones, Todd Wise, Mike Kosiorowski, Wayne Sumpter, Charlie Thomas, Dave LeKites and (hopefully) Curtis Harmon, plus a number of tenth grade linemen who played Jv."

"Most of this year's receivers will be returning including Jeff DeShields, Kenny Sudler, Quentin Hendricks and Dee Rogers."

"Running backs returning are Mark Smith, Billy Scott, Nate Floyd, Jeffrey DeShields, Jerry Fountain, plus many other JV receivers and running backs."

"I think the coaching staff and the players enjoyed running the veer offense. It's a wide open offense that allows a lot of fun for the players and coaches."

Chipman Hockey Team Finishes Strong

HARRINGTON - The Chipman girls hockey team finished the '78 season with a 4-4 record under coach Diane Smith who was coaching in her second year. The last game of the season for the Chipman girls was against the W.T. Chipman faculty. The latter beat the Chipman team 3 goals to 1. The lone goal was scored by Leona White for the Chipman team. According to Ms. Smith, "...the faculty game has become a successful annual event."

The record for '78 is an improvement over '77

when the team went 3-3-2. Under Smith they have never had a losing season. Ms. Smith said "...I feel we could have a winning season if we could get 7th graders who were prepared to play field hockey. I plan to talk to the 6th graders this year who will be going to the 7th grade next year about the prospects of playing in their 7th grade year. This way we will have better prepared players who get to the 8th grade, which is the last year they can play Chipman hockey."

Ms. Smith said this way they could always have a team prepared for the 8th grade. There might be another problem and that is with equipment, but she feels that used equipment can be purchased or in the alternative there might be enough used equipment at the high school which can be turned over to the Chipman School for these lower grades (6th). Ms.

December Home Games Rescheduled

Director of Student Activities at Lake Forest High School, David Adams, has announced several changes in the winter sports schedule due to construction on the gymnasium. It had been anticipated that construction would be completed by the first week in December. However, the contractor has just finished sanding the floor. Painting lines, applying a sealer, moving baskets and various small details are yet to be done. Projected completion date has been moved to January 1st. In the meantime home games have been rescheduled away and teams are holding their practices at Chipman Junior School and at Lake Forest North Elementary.

Ashburn Keynotes Little League Banquet

By Harry G. Farrow Jr.
HARRINGTON W.T. CHIPMAN SCHOOL - Ritchie Ashburn, former Philadelphia Phillie star of the 1950s stepped into the present with his visit to Harrington Saturday, November 18th for Little League festivities. At the same time Ashburn, a center fielder for the Whiz Kids of the '50s who had a lifetime batting average of .308, stepped back into the past with some memorable events and folklore which kept the near capacity crowd in the W. T. Chipman cafeteria on the edge of their seats. It was a little more than humorous as he related the last two years of his career with the then infamous New York Mets.

Ashburn complimented the donors of the covered dish event saying that he had had nothing like that in 30 years which is about the time he left his native Tilden, Nebraska. It was in Tilden that covered dish suppers were a common place thing. The story of Ritchie Ashburn's entry into the major league of baseball is somewhat of a mystery, you might say, for his native land of Nebraska was some 2,000 miles from where he was to eventually make a name for himself. From the sandlots of Nebraska to the minor league system of the Philadelphia Phillie organization, Ashburn was to make history somewhat in that he never saw a major league game until he played in one as a rookie back in the early '50s. A couple years in the minors was more or less his formative training for the big leagues, but as he was to relate to The Journal after the dinner "...I never saw a good fast ball...or a good curve until I actually got to the majors. I learned there, and the person who helped me the most was my manager Eddie Sawyer. He gave me confidence on top of what I already had, for I believe the one thing that got me to the majors was my tremendous desire to get there. Sawyer was also a great leader." Ashburn was a track star in Nebraska, and he had high hopes of entering the Olympics, because of his tremendous speed. It was that same speed that won him honors and trophies on the track that was to win him batting titles in the major leagues of baseball, for it was his great burst of speed that enabled him to beat out so many infield bouncers for base hits. His lifetime homerun output was 29, "...and it took me 16 years to get those 29 special hits," said Ashburn. Ashburn with his tremendous desire to play said "...we did not have little league where I came from, but we had leagues. I wasn't well prepared except for the desire, but despite this Branch Rickey of the Dodgers told me to return to Nebraska that I was too small, and that I would never make it in organized ball. Another high ranking baseball official in the Phillie farm system said forget baseball, go back to Nebraska...I would not make it. But this only gave me more desire to try harder in order to make it in the big leagues." He pointed out that Little League is good for kids, but it depends on the manager for the most part as to whether or not they are interested in teaching the kids the basics as opposed to yelling and screaming at them. Ashburn had the benefit of good coaches from Eddie Sawyer to Casey Stengel while with the Mets. It was through this good coaching that Ashburn advanced, but it was also true that he was a great observer...of play in the field as well as of pitchers.

Ashburn played on some good Phillie teams, but he points out that the Phillies of today have the greatest array of talent that he can remember in 30 years. He brought this point up in connection with the potential signing of Cincinnati Reds free agent Pete Rose. Ashburn said that Rose was never a good defensive player, but he was being paid to hit the ball...and his aggressive play which includes base running. He pointed out that Rose makes few mistakes on the base paths as well as at the plate. Ashburn says the Phillie team does not need a Pete Rose. "...They have enough talent on the team to win all of it, but what the Philadelphia Phillies of today need is discipline...at the plate as well as in the field." Ashburn says that too many players on the Phillie team go after bad pitches. He cited an example of Larry Bowa who had some 600 appearances at the plate last year, "...yet walked only 29 times." "He swings at everything...including balls which are bounced into the plate. These major league pitchers are not dummies, they soon find your weaknesses and they pitch to that. The Phillies need what is known to Pete Rose as controlled aggression," added Ashburn. Ashburn said Rose could not help the Phillies. "...That's not the answer to the Phillies' problems. There are a lot of different guys on this ball club...even some real loonies." Ashburn said "...a report out of Philadelphia today said that

Rose predicts that he may well be in a Phillie uniform next season. Rose is in Japan now playing baseball. Ashburn says the Phillies have offered Rose more than any other club.

Ashburn discussed the problem of Danny Ozark merely low key." But the Phillies are also hard to manage because of too many differing personalities. Ashburn added that

Senior League All Stars

Taste Freeze -- Senior League Champs

by saying "...Ozark was just recently given a 1 year contract to manage the Phillies through the '79 season, but Danny came very close to being fired for his managing during the '78 season." Ashburn implied that if the Phillies do not come through in '79 it is possible that Ozark will not be rehired. However Ashburn said "...I would not like to see Danny (Ozark) fired for not getting us to the World Series next year." He was implying that what Ozark needs is to discipline the players better. "If anything Ozark is too easy going, for he is by far not the smartest manager in baseball." The easy going may be an asset...or it can work against him. He never gets upset about anything...never reacts to anything...just Ozark's job was not an easy one. So Ashburn sort of opposed the Rose deal but he was not in the least opposed to a deal of some kind. "The Phillies are working on a deal right now...that if it comes through...it would make the Rose deal look weak." Ashburn would not say or allow anyone to speculate on what he was talking about from the Phillies front office. Ashburn presented the trophies to each and every player to conclude the festivities of the night. Ashburn told the little leaguers to not let anyone discourage them from trying to attain what they want. Ashburn said he was impressed with the numbers that turned out for the evening. "It looks like someone is doing something right," said Ashburn.

Also honored at the banquet were the Little League All Star Team members and the 13 Year Olds in the Senior League. Pictures of these two groups did not turn out.

Taylor's Hardware Players give special award to Manager C. Leslie Wix and Coach Richard Brown.

Remarks By Ashburn At The Little League Banquet

Ritchie told the story of his teammate Jim Brewer. Ashburn hit many foul balls as a career characteristic. Ashburn said Brewer hated his wife and asked Ashburn to foul off pitches toward the area where Brewer's wife was sitting. Ashburn said he inadvertently did hit a few foul balls in the direction of where the wives were sitting. Suddenly Brewer loomed from the dugout waving a white towel to get Ashburn's attention. "He wanted me to hit two rows over and two back...for that was where his wife was sitting," said Ashburn.

Ashburn said that usually Little League fans are very rabid. "The worst fight I ever saw was at a Little League game where fans, players and even umpires were engaged in a tremendous fight."

Mike Schmidt remains after this season a big mystery man. "Mike (Schmidt) has more raw ability than any other player I have seen in a long time. He led the league 3 years in a row in homeruns, but this past season was disaster."

Greg Luzinski is another mystery. "He left enough men on base that had he had a good year he would have driven in 300 runs."

"Larry Bowa swings at too many pitches." "In 600 at bats he only drew about 29 walks," said Ashburn. This coming from a man who for many years led off for the Phillies and did so by successfully getting on base a lot...with either walks or hits was something he knows a lot about.

Danny Ozark is a real nice guy. Stengel was a real decent and nice guy too but Stengel's strength was in his ability to handle players. "He could have handled the Reggie Jacksons of the league with ease," said Ashburn. "Stengel was for discipline, and this is something the Phillies need...both at the plate and in the field."

Phillies are working on a trade now that will make the Rose deal look small.

The '62 Mets were the worst team in the history of baseball. "We lost 120 games while winning only 42." Ashburn was voted the Most Valuable Player on that team. "I never knew whether that was a slap in the face or what," he said. He talked about Faye Thornberry, Cho-Cho Coleman and Elio Chacon as being examples of why the Mets lost so many games. In a game against the Cubs, the Mets were 2 down in the top of the ninth, bases loaded with Mets, two out, and Thornberry hits what appeared to be a triple. "Everyone went wild...even Casey (Stengel). It looked as though we would win a game. Thornberry's hit cleared the bases and Faye ended up on third base with what appeared to be a triple. The pitcher called for the ball and tossed it to the first baseman who stepped on first base. The ump called Faye out for not touching the bag. That was the third out...and all runs were nullified. "Casey came out of the dugout all charged up thinking the first base umpire had robbed him of what appeared to be a sure victory. As Casey took on the 1st base ump, the 2nd base ump decided that he had seen and heard enough. He went over tapped Casey on the shoulder and said to Casey...you know if the 1st base ump had not called it, I would have called him out at second...because he missed that base by a mile." Not to be outdone or lost for words, Casey said, according to Ashburn as he looked toward 3rd base where Thornberry was stationed, "Well at least you can't say he didn't touch 3rd base... 'cause he is standing on that base."

Cho-Cho Coleman was bad for remembering names. "...It wasn't that he wasn't smart...but he just couldn't remember names. He was asked once by a player who had roomed with him all summer, "...Do you know my name Cho-Cho?"... who was said to have replied, "well at least I know your number is #4." In a game once with the Pirates, he missed tagging Dick Stewart in a play at home. BUT Stewart also missed touching the plate. Coleman knew this too...but got engaged in an argument over it with the ump who said, "I am not going to call anyone out or safe until he is tagged out or comes back and touches the plate." With that, Coleman started toward the Pirates dugout to locate the player who he could not remember...but remembered his number. When he got to the dugout all the players were facing him...and he couldn't see their numbers. Frustrated he began tagging each and every player. Meanwhile Stewart who was sitting at the far end of the bench knew something was the matter, and before Coleman got to him he made a dash back to home plate. When Coleman saw him he tossed the ball to the pitcher covering home plate. This caused Stewart to be then caught in a rundown between the dugout and home plate. "A rare event to say the least," said Ashburn.

Elio Chacon was another marvel of the '62 Mets. He was a Venezuelan who understood only Spanish...and who was also one who thought every ball hit in the air was his and he was to catch all of them. "Chacon that summer put our 3rd baseman, 2nd baseman and left fielder in the hospital by running into them." He did not understand what "I've got it" in English meant. Ashburn said that in self protection, he had someone tell him the proper Spanish for "I've got it." Once in a game in Cincinnati, the Phillies allowed the Reds to load the bases. Up stepped Frank Robinson "...one of the greatest all time clutch hitters"...who lifted a soft shallow fly ball into left center field. Ashburn said "I...yelled I've got it in Spanish, and sure enough he stopped. The only problem was that Frank Thomas our left fielder did not know what "I've got it" meant in Spanish. He kept coming and ran right over me...dropped the ball causing all the runs to score...and they beat us." It was things like this that made the '62 Mets what they were...and prompted Stengel to say, "Isn't there anyone here who can play baseball." This became a title of a book about the Mets.

In Ashburn's last game as a professional baseball player, he was involved in a zany play. "With no outs and a runner at 2nd base and I was on 1st base, Joe Pignatonia, now a coach with the Mets, hit a soft liner over the 2nd baseman's head. The runner at 2nd represented the tying run, and I at 1st represented the winning run...both took off like a shot. It was a sure fire hit. There was no way the ball could be caught...but the 2nd baseman caught the ball with a diving stretching catch of the soft fly. He threw on his back and off balance to the shortstop covering for out number 2 and then on to first to get me and complete the triple play. That was our 120th loss...it was the way things were going for us. After the game, we were all dejected and downhearted, and Stengel in trying to pick us up said about the triple play "well...boys don't feel too bad...it took a real team effort...no one or two guys could have done all of this."

So ended the tale of Ashburn's major league career, the festivities of the night, and the end of the '62 Mets.

Ashburn said the toughest pitchers he had to face in his career were Sandy Koufax, Don Drysdale and Bob Gibson. All were hard throwing fast ball pitchers.

Exacta Odds Now Available To Dover Downs Patrons

DOVER - Probable odds for exacta payoffs are now being made available to harness fans at Dover Downs Raceway thanks to a new computer program which enables the odds to be fed into the closed circuit television system and broadcast on TV monitors throughout the track.

Commenting on the new system, Dover Downs president and general manager, John Riddle said, "In the past, we were able to display only the odds on horses for the win, place and show pools. A patron could figure out from these odds approximately what his return would be on a wager, but he had no way of determining what the exacta payoff might be." (The exacta wagering format calls for the bettor to correctly select the first and second place horses in a given race.)

"The exacta odds were available in the computer, but we had no way of communicating them to the public," Riddle continued. "This year how-

Late Scratches At Dover Downs

By Charles B. Lockhart

By Charles B. Lockhart Sunday, December 3 concluded one-fifth of the Dover Downs' race meet. The first 25 nights of racing produced some of the best racing in the track's history and surely its fastest. In fact, this past Sunday was the fastest display of speed for an entire program even though no track records were set. There were two miles in 2:05 and two in 2:04. All the rest were in 2:03 or faster including three miles in two minutes and a fraction.

Sunday's racing started off with a triple win by guest driver Benny Webster, a standout in the A-B handicaps this fall. Best Trick won the seventh race for trainer/driver David Banks of Millville, De. This three-year-old Best of All colt won in 2:00.2, just 2/5 of a second off the three-year-old record. It was his second consecutive win at Dover Downs and fifth in six starts this year.

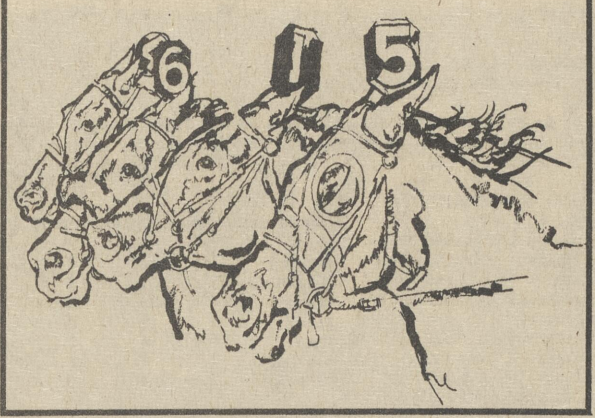

Harrington favorite Eddie Crowson, Jr., piloted his father-in-law's Arlington Miss to victory in the tenth race in 2:03.2. The final two races of the day were paced in 2:00:3 and 2:00:2 and won respectively by Debby Laverne and Marlu Ace.

Winning Streaks -- Brett F, owned by Don Conway and Joe Prettyman of Selbyville, De., leads all horses with four wins at the meet. Trained by Charlie Marsh and driven by Joe Long, the horse has registered four consecutive wins at Dover in $12,500 claiming races. Several horses have had three wins including Paradise Molly, Canadian Jay and Meadow Susie.

As mentioned, Del Richards leads with ten wins but following in close pursuit are Harrington dash winner Harold Frazier, Goldsboro's Jimmy Porter and Jimmy Schlottzauer of Jimmy Anne who have all had eight wins through Sunday. Of course with the close of Rosecroft in Oxon Hill, Maryland on November 20, last year's Dover Downs champ Wayne Smullin has returned seeking to regain his title. Wayne has continually been in or near the top ten drivers in the country for dash wins this year. With the close of Liberty Bell next Saturday, December 9, more drivers will be moving in to challenge these leaders and provide even more fireworks to the dynamite action at Dover Downs.

The sixth race was taken by Kim Burt's Christy in 2:02 -- trained by popular auctioneer Burt Willis, it was the mare's second win in four starts in Dover's best race. Harrington fans remember Kim Burt's Christy as a

Dover Downs....in retrospect.

November 30
DOVER - Blackjack Red, a three-year old gelding by Miracle Maker, set a Dover Downs record for a place payoff last night when he finished second in the 4th race and paid $187.00.

Blackjack Red, who is owned by Ollie Ray Powell of Berlin, Md., and who was driven last night by Sid Bounds, left from the 6th post position at 60 to 1 and although parked out for the entire mile, managed to finish second to Son Of Liberty who crossed the wire first in 2:05 at the hands of David Banks.

Blackjack Red also paid $20.00 to show and the resulting exacta combining Son Of Liberty and Blackjack Red returned $294.60.

In other action last night, Santa's Helper, pacing in the 7th race, got an early start on the Christmas season by winning his fourth race in a row. A 4 year-old gelding by the Herve Filion owned, Santa's Fury, Santa's Helper was driven from the one hole by Robert Reeser and paced the mile in 2:08 to score a five length victory over Classy Asset.

Another big exacta occurred in the 4th race when Victorious Jenny and Doc Torpid finished first and second respectively to set up an exacta return of $811.60.

Ben Webster, one of the top ten drivers in the nation will highlight today's card at Dover Downs. Post time today is 1 p.m.

December 3
DOVER - Ben Webster, making a special driving appearance at Dover Downs yesterday, while taking-a day off from New York racing, scored three victories in six driving assignments. Webster's wins came in the first three races of the day.

In the first race, Webster took Branch Dan Prince, owned by Bill Brooks of Wilmington, from the fourth post position and brought him home first in 2:05 for his first win since last March.

Webster made it a double with another 2:05 win in the second race behind Outward Bound, who claimed his first win of the year for owners, W. Short and E. Rosenthal of Smyrna.

December 2
DOVER - A $937.20 exacta payoff in last night's second race at Dover Downs set a new record for the meet which opened last November 5th. Valleson, a 6 year old gelding by Rippling Good, was the winner of the race being driven from the distant 8th post by provisional driver, John Marsh. Valleson paced the mile in 2:07 and paid $15.00 for the win.

Billy Dapple was the second place horse, who paid $18.40 for his performance at the hands of Bob Moses. Both horses were winless prior to the race.

Webster was second, fourth and eighth in his other three drives of the day.

New Harness Shop Opens In Harrington

Harrington has a brand new harness supply shop and businessman - Delaware Harness Shops, owned and operated by Frank Chick. The business, conveniently located on East Street just yards from Harrington Raceway, features new and used harness, jog carts, bikes, and a wide variety of equipment and medications - all at discount prices. Harness repairs are also made at the shop.

Chick, although a new resident of the area, is not unfamiliar to Eastern Shore horsemen. The 27 year old native of Centreville, Md. is the son of late horseman Gale Chick and was himself an owner driver and trainer of harness horses. He has been in the harness supply business for two years, operating out of his mother's Oxford, Pa. home. Chick travels 60,000 miles annually, visiting farms in Pa., N.J., Del., Md., N.Y., Va. and N.C. with his fully stocked van. He also has a mail order harness supply operation.

US 13 Speedway

Holds Annual Awards Banquet At Laurel

LAUREL FIRE HALL - Saturday night was the scene of the largest crowd for a U.S. #13 Speedway function since the track ended its 1978 season. There were several hundred people in attendance as the Fire Hall banquet room was filled to capacity in this new building. Some of the more honored guests were State Insurance Commissioner David Elliott, and Sussex County Administrator Joseph Conaway. It was a grand night for the Harrington Journal as the racing staff was able to corner many owners and drivers to try and confirm who would be driving for whom and what changes certain teams would make.

Hal Browning will try to sell #55. He wants $5,000 for it or $2,000 for body and frame. If he sells it is likely he will chauffeur a car prepared by "Dutch" Warrington. "Dutch" has a couple of Tobias cars with Chevy motors," said Browning. Gary Trice said he and his father, Bill, will not have to do too much to #33. They will put injectors on the car for the '79 season. Gary said there should be limitations put on the car starting with tires. Bill Trice said more cars would come back to racing with a guaranteed purse "...not limitations." He did agree that getting tires down in size would be a big help. Ronnie Paulson was on hand for the affair. At the end of the season he experienced more difficulties with brakes and drive shafts. He said "Jake likes working on the car and motor but he doesn't have the time any more due to his commitments to his business." Bob Garway of ABC Fire and Safety Co. of Crisfield, Paulson's main sponsor was also on hand. Paulson said he likes running down here, and in particular Ocean Downs Raceway. Donald Joseph Sr. ended the season with a new car but with broken rear ends. To correct this they will go with rear

The biggest problem they had with #19 last year was fuel injection problems, and that is why they switched to carburetor "...and with the carburetor, we ran with the best of them. Harold is cost conscious and he and Harvey [Dutton] did a superb job with our equipment last year," added Dale. He also said that the crew gets along very well. Bunting finished 7th in the modified standings at U.S. #13 Delmar. It is believed by some of the experts...although there are no records of any consequence to vouch for it...but Bunting among the active drivers has won more modified races on the peninsula than anyone else to date. Larry said he is stepping down because of the demands put on him at the business (Hill's Electric and Motor Service), "...and I am not getting any younger (40 yrs)...I guess that I started too late. I got into it mainly because I was a fan of Bobby Walls. I do a lot of work for Salisbury Bros. in Ridgely, and met the Walls family (Bobby, III and Robert II) through the Salisbury Bros. plant. Larry says that his son, David is "...a real good kid...very respectful...and is very coachable. He does what his mother and I ask him to do...to be sure." Hill has been winner of the points championship for the past two years and a third this year. Hill said they did a lot of experimenting this past year. They were running a lot without the harmonic

Koziak feels the new owners want to race. They will have a high dollar car, and "...we must run where the money is." The car will stay probably with Koziak although John says "...they are putting a lot of money in the car...and guys like to see their car...you know...righ in front of them. Young Hill said "... it gives me a lot to shoot for...to try to improve on my father's record. I hope that I can do it...for I know that he will want it that way. # Coach Hassman Looks At '78

By Bruce Levy
A losing season? It depends on your point of view, according to Woodbridge head football coach John Hassman. "Anytime you have a group of students working hard toward a common positive goal, how can it be said anything was lost," remarked Hassman during an interview this week with The Harrington Journal.

Woodbridge ended with a 1-8-1 record in 1978, a record that would certainly indicate a frustrating year. After getting off to a good start against Leonardtown, a 12-0 victory, Woodbridge fell to a strong Cape Henlopen team 24-0. The team showed its character in the following weeks game against Laurel however, playing them to a 8-8 tie. "Best game of the year for us," said Hassman, "a game we should have won. Our 4th quarter fumble on the 1 yard line cost us that one for sure. But the game 7 days later showed that our performance was no fluke."

Woodbridge met Smyrna after the Laurel contest and Hassman seemed to have the team ready. The score was 8-6 in the closing minutes of the 3rd quarter when disaster struck for Woodbridge - Paul Purnell, team leader and quarterback, took a hit which resulted in a knee injury, an injury which would keep him out of competition for the remainder of the season. With the loss of Purnell, the steam appeared to go out from the Woodbridge machine. A 28-0 loss to Seaford led to disappointing contests with Dover, Indian River, Sussex Central, Lake Forest and Delmar in the weeks that followed.

What would it take to improve the football program at Woodbridge? "A junior varsity program would go a long way toward this goal," Hassman observed, "we currently have no system of getting the younger players the experience they need before entering the varsity competition."

"Potential players who have had no prior experience with the sport tend to shy away from becoming involved with the varsity program. We must also spend a great amount of time teaching fundamentals. Varsity players need polishing of skills previously learned, not day after day of learning the basics. A "feeder system," would provide the training ground so necessary to the future success of our program."

"Although we had a less than spectacular year, I am very proud of my players," continued Hassman. "We battled injuries and a failing attitude from the Smyrna game on, but not a person on this team gave up. Our strong showing against Delmar at the end of the season proves this point."

John Hassman plans to take his case to the school board and will hopefully come away with the funds to start a junior varsity program. "Interest is not the problem here, and neither is talent, we need to build skills with a younger age group to become competitive with the rest of the league. If the money is available, I hope to make this a reality."

Refreshingly, Hassman is not of the "win at all costs" school of coaching, in fact he stresses classroom work far more than on-the-field performance. "Many lessons can be learned in competition," said the coach, "but this is certainly not the key to life."

A 31 year old Civics teacher, Hassman has a great deal of devotion to his pupils. "Kids today have a bad reputation - undeserved in my opinion. 99% of them are willing to take direction and learn but unfortunately, all you hear about is the other 1%. Working with today's teenagers is where its at as far as I'm concerned. A losing year at Woodbridge this fall? Not necessarily.

Woodbridge Players Honored At Banquet

By Bruce Levy
Two Woodbridge High students, Robert Stanley and Brian Dexter, were cited for honors Monday night at the annual Seniors banquet for Delmar-Woodbridge football players. Stanley was chosen for the offense second-team 1978 Henlopen all-conference, and Dexter for defensive honorable mention.

Stanley, a guard on offense and a tackle on defense remarked: "Our Spartan Girls Prepare For Season Opener" team started the year well and we definitely had the talent. People getting hurt was our major problem. It's an honor to be among the players chosen."

Stanley feels that the team's best showing was against Delmar. "We really wanted that game. We never gave up and gave a strong over-all performance, it was a good way to close out the season. His future plans include college next year at North Carolina Livingstone to study art. He plans to continue a football career.

Brian Dexter was a tackle on offense and a middle linebacker on the defensive squad. He feels his own best effort was against Smyrna. "I scored a touchdown and grabbed an interception during that game. We probably played better as a team against Laurel, but I played my best game against Smyrna."

Dexter sees a good future for the Woodbridge teams if the young players can be developed properly. "I agree with the coach," he stated, "We need a program that starts the kids a little sooner."

Plans are undecided at the moment with Dexter although he is seriously considering a college career. As in past, the Henlopen 1978 All-Conference football teams were chosen by vote of the Northern Division and Southern Division head coaches.

Smith said she had talked to the Laurel Coach who has implemented this type of program as well as teaching skills in classes. She said Laurel also encouraged teachers in the elementary to teach skills.

With this year's team, Coach Smith said of the 16 players out for the team 4 had played before and 12 were new at it, but the 12 picked it up very quickly. "This is a highly coordinated game and without prior experience there is likely to be a lot of penalties which are for infractions as well as for safety reasons. With this program in the lower grades, it would help Coach Smith to recruit players for her first team.

Coach Smith said that she will have five 7th graders returning. Coach Smith said that one of her 7th graders who will be returning next year is Myra Murray who played about 90% of this past season and shows real promise in the years ahead. Coach Smith who was a graduate of Lake Forest and played hockey at LF said also that hockey camps are good. She encourages those who can do it to attend the hockey camp at Cape Henlopen next summer for one week four hours a day.

Colonel Gazzola Of USAF Addresses Media

Budgeting problems faced by the Pentagon and what is being done to cope with them was the topic of a presentation by Colonel Gazzola, Chief of the Plans Group, a Pentagon comptroller body. The occasion was a media dinner held at Twin Roads Restaurant in Harrington, the purpose of which was to solicit editorial support for the recruitment division of the Air Force.

Colonel Gazzola compared USAF budgeting dilemma with that of the American family - rising fuel costs, inflation, declining purchasing power and competing requests for funds. He said the challenge is "to do more with less" at all levels.

The thrust of the Air Force in streamlining budgeting is to involve base level officials in financial decision-making.

Funds are allocated on a priority basis with built-incentives for maximizing efficiency. For example, a reduction in aviation fuel consumption would result in a rebate to the base. This return could then be applied to another purpose as determined at the base level. With an aviation fuel budget of $1.5 billion, even a small percentage of fuel saved could amount to a large dollar savings.

Colonel Gazzola also emphasized the mounting cost of manpower in today's society. Cost of personnel alone takes a 56% slice of the USAF budget. Gazzola estimates the cost of training just one pilot is close to $1/2 million. This investment is particularly costly, as competition for pilots is keen between the Air Force and the commercial airlines. According to Gazzola, a large percentage of trained personnel leave the military each year to take civilian jobs. He cited several factors as important particularly with an all-volunteer military:

- recruitment and retention are of primary concern (at present there is a 30% loss rate before recruits complete their first term of service.)
- there is a decreasing pool of youth which will be an even greater problem 5 or 10 years in the future.

- the cost of "people" continues to escalate
- maintaining morale must be a top priority.

Colonel Gazzola concluded by emphasizing the fact that the USAF is a career...a profession - not a job. He said the Air Force has the highest standards of all branches of the military and plans to continue at that high level. The consensus of opinion among military men present seemed to be that the USAF has been a good way to earn a livelihood.

Students mount paper drive

Students Mount Paper Drive

Students at Woodbridge Junior High School and Greenwood Elementary School have mounted a paper drive to raise money for classroom supplies. Papers and magazines should be tied separately in bundles and taken to the Greenwood school where they will be placed in a dumpster. The dumpster was donated by Edward Sellers of Seaford Disposal.

As the dumpster is filled, Robert Smith III, a teacher at the school, and his students will carry the papers to Seaford Disposal where they will be sold. According to a school spokesman the money will be used to purchase "little things we wouldn't ordinarily get." Students are anxious to have the community participate in this project.

The New Castle County Department of Parks and Recreation will be answering all "Letters to Santa" mailed to the following address:
Santa Claus
 102 Middleboro Road
 Wilmington, De.
 19804
 The letters must have proper postage and a return address on the envelope.

LF Senior To Represent State In US Senate Program

WASHINGTON, D.C. - Daniel J. Cottone from Christiana Senior High School in Newark and Jerry William Miller from Lake Forest High School in Felton have been selected as the two delegates who will represent the state of Delaware at the 17th annual United States Senate Youth Program. The Program is funded by the William Randolph Hearst Foundation and will be held in Washington, D.C. February 3-10, 1979.

Along with 100 other elected high school student body officers, two from each state and the District of Columbia, these outstanding young leaders will take a week-long closeup look into federal government operations and the U.S. Senate in particular. The students will be headquartered at the Mayflower Hotel.

Each delegate will also be awarded a $1,500 college scholarship to study American government and related subjects. The scholarships and program, including transportation, hotel, and meals are made possible through grants from the foundation. No government funds are used.

While in Washington, the students will follow a fast-paced schedule, to include a day with their respective senators, briefings throughout the week with at least nine Senators, leading Cabinet members, and the Departments of Defense and State. They will also participate in a Mock Joint Session of Congress on the Floor of the House of Representatives. A visit to the White House is scheduled, with plans to meet with the President.

Arrangements in Washington for the 1979 Program are being made by the Senate Youth Advisory Committee under the co-chairmanship of Senators Lloyd Bentsen (D-Tex) and Richard S. Schweiker (R-Pa). Randolph A. Hearst is the Program's supervising Trustee.

Jerry is the son of Rev. and Mrs. William H. Miller of Harrington. Rev. Miller is pastor of Calvary Wesleyan Church on Delaware Avenue.

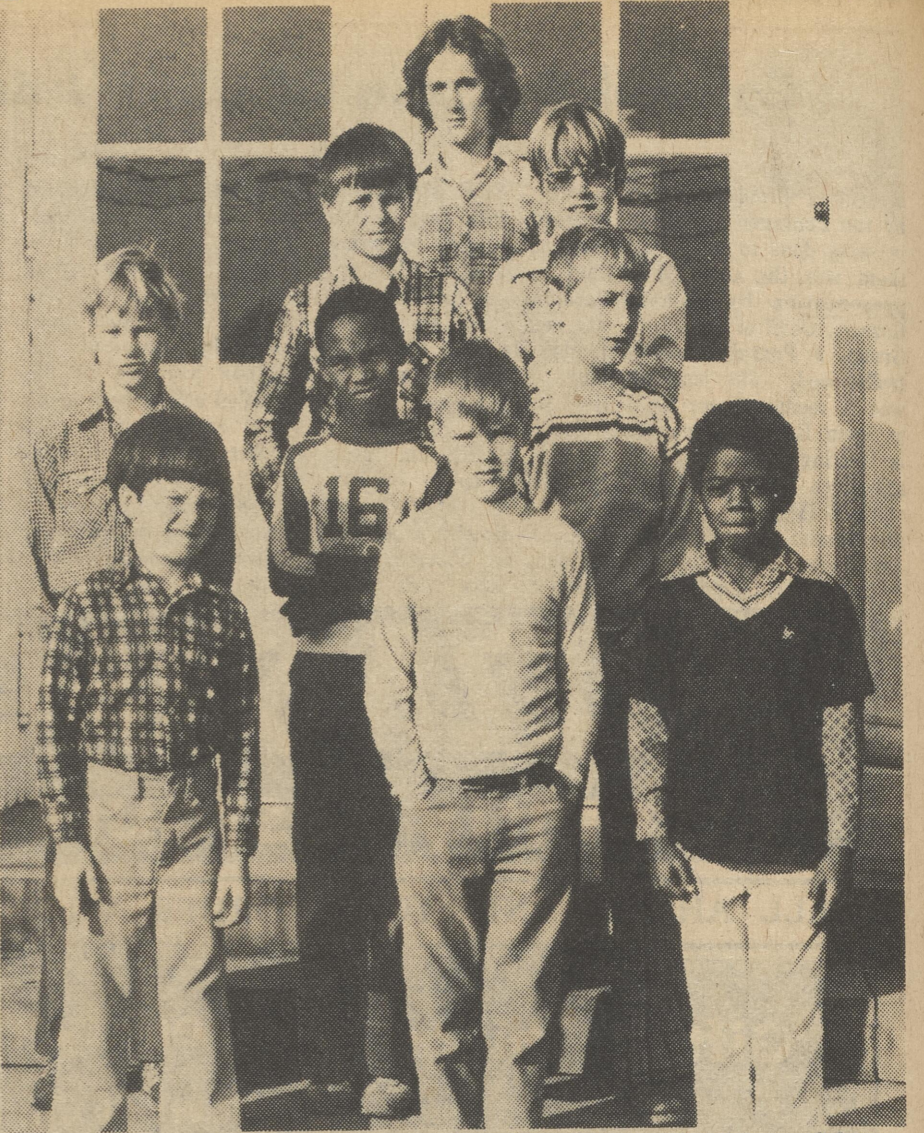

Jerry Miller

The Lake Forest High School senior is pursuing an academic program and plans to enroll in a pre-medical curriculum at Yale University on Swarthmore College. Jerry is active in soccer, student government and the National Honor Society. He has been named to Who's Who Among American high school students, The American Society of Distinguished American High School Students and the Outstanding Young American Society.

Spartan Girls Prepare For Opener (Con.)

first team for Lake Forest last year. As a junior, she led the Spartan girls in scoring all season and came on strong last in the season with added scoring power helping the team close with a seven game winning streak. She also ranked in the top ten, scoring wise, in the Henlopen Conference. Scott, also a leading scorer for the '77-'78 team, should prove to be very valuable to the team.

Senior Chris Morrow, known as one of the top defensive guards in the state, will start as point player. She was named to the all-conference third team last year.

Starting defensively for the Spartans will be guards Debbie Moore and Brenda Thomas. Other members of the varsity team are: Tammy Warren, Lori Welch, Linda Green, Ellen Killen, Eunice Berry and Tina Durant.

Junior Tammy Warren (5'11") is the tallest member of the Spartan squad and according to Coach Dyal, season play will partially depend on her development as center.

Commenting on the opening game, Dyal stated that the girls are not in bad shape. "We'll just do our best...no peak playing."

The Spartan basketball teams, unable to practice at the high school due to the refinishing of the gym floor, are having to practice at other schools in the district. "Considering the fact that we can't even practice at home, if we can just get through our first six games away, we'll do alright," states Miss Dyal.

The girls, who suffer the loss of only two key players Paula Jackson and top rebounder Cindy Dukes, appear to have the experience and the potential to at least tie their '77-'78 season record of 13-5.

Summing up her pre-season look at the team, Dyal concludes that "if we can just learn to play together as a team, we'll do alright."

Everyone is encouraged to come out and support the Spartans in their first game of the new season, December 6 at Delmar. They will then travel to Indian River on Friday. Game time is 6:30 p.m.

The ten-member boys' choir of the Singing Players will be featured in several musical selections as the group presents their Christmas concert. "We Wish You The Merriest" on December 4 in Wilmington, December 6 in Georgetown, and December 10 in Dover. Pictured, left to right, front row, are Tom Chambers, Daren Hammond, Michael Meales and Daren Dell; second row, Doug Denney, David Thomas, and Phillip Cataldi. Missing are Benjamin and Charlie Foley and William Robinson.

Singing Players Present Concert

"We Wish You The Merriest" of holiday seasons will be expressed eloquently in song by the 65 vocalists in The Singing Players two free concerts to be held in Georgetown at the Tech. and Comm. College Auditorium Wed., Dec. 6th, and in the Dover Central Middle School Auditorium Sun., Dec. 10th, at 7 p.m.

Included this year is a group of boys who sing with the adults - Tiny Tim's Prayer - "God Bless Us, Everyone" (with Darin Dell, soloist, from Harrington) and the Victor Herbert "March of the Toys". Denise Tuck is choreographer for these selections. Darin Dell played Little Joe in "Annie Get Your Gun" and Amahl in "Amahl and the Night Visitors" and has been soloist in several Singing Players Christmas concerts.

Janice Winkler of Felton is soloist for "Silent Night" and two mezzo-sopranos, Eleanor Homewood, Harrington, and Michelle Hendricks, Dover, are featured in Casseys "And the Bells Rang." The Male Chorus will highlight Greg Hobbs, Felton, baritone, in "Winter Song" while tenors, Jerry Hobbs, Felton, and James Roscoe, Dover, solo in the ever popular, "O, Holy Night".
