FOR MAYOR
Irene Layton
207 Commerce Street

Occupation: 13 years experience in the construction field. At present is secretary-treasurer of Conventional Builders in Harrington. Responsibilities are book-keeping and assisting with bids.

Education: Graduate, Harrington High School.

Civic and Community Organizations: Harrington Planning and Zoning Commission.

Family: Husband, Sam. Three children: Sam Jr., 14; Steve, 12; Andrea, 9.

Of her goals: "The main thing as far as I'm concerned is that there should be more honest and open communication between the people and their elected officials. This is one thing I would try for."

"I would also try to get more federal funding for projects that would improve the city. I'd like to see more clean industry come in. With the work I'm in, I have a lot of contacts. I have some ideas, but I'd rather not say what they are now. I do see a need for housing for the elderly and there is federal money available for this as well as land available both within and without the city."

"There are a lot of industries that are looking for a community where there is a desire to have them come in. I've been in touch with the Economic Development Administration and they have plans available which the community can use. When a company is looking for state funding communities are often referred to them. But you have to express an interest first and outline what is available."

Of the budget: "The main concern I'm sure is with the budget, but until anybody gets in there we won't know what can be done or how we can get around it. I wouldn't want to suggest anything until I see what is suggested for expenditures this year. What can seem like a large deficit to someone may not seem as large to someone else. It depends upon how priorities are set for the proposed expenditures. Working on construction projects there are budgeting ceilings, so I do have some experience."

Of the proposed shopping center: "There are pros and cons. I'd rather not see it go out along the highway. I have a feeling people would stop there, then go on their way without ever coming into Harrington. On the other hand, someone moving into the community could look at the additional stores and find Harrington more favorable to live in. Also, Mr. Thompson has not presented any plans as yet to the Council. I'd like to see what effect the type of building he proposes would have on neighboring properties. There seems to be a lot of input. I think people are interested. The majority of the people I've heard from are favorable to the shopping center."

Of community involvement: "As long as someone knows what's going on and tells what's going on, the people know what's going on. I'd rather have an open and honest relationship - a government by the people and of the people..."

"There are a lot of intelligent people in this community. They don't always have the time to attend Council meetings, but they have good ideas."

"There are many things to be said for local news coverage. In times past there was a town crier who alerted people to happenings. There should be nothing that the people are not aware of. If I'm elected I would want the minutes of every meeting available. Everyone who lives within the community should be free to find out what's going on in their community. Increased news coverage would be one way of sparking interest."

Of her candidacy: "I'd like to try to bring more harmony to this council - and sometimes a woman can do that. I've been urged to run by many people, people whose opinions I respect. It's difficult to look at yourself and feel that you're material for the mayor. And it's always easier to sit back and watch the other fellow do all the work. But I am interested and I get very involved. I've prayed about it."

Mayor Says Pay Off Note

Council Hires New Police Chief

By Harry G. Farrow Jr.
HARRINGTON FIRE HALL - The regular monthly meeting was moved to the Fire Hall on Tuesday night due to a large crowd which turned up to hear the discussion on the proposed rezoning of the Acme Markets land on U.S. #13 in Harrington Manor. The town hired Carl McIlroy as the new Police Chief who will fill the post formerly held by Edward Layton. Layton resigned on December 12 to take a job with Rustler Restaurant. Dr. Vincent Lobo, Police Commissioner, announced the starting salary of McIlroy to be $10,552.52 for the first three months. His salary will then go to $11,152.52 and then three months later it will be $11,383.80.

McIlroy is currently the Police Chief for the Town of Felton, and plans to continue in that capacity. The Town Council for Harrington approved the two jobs so long as neither becomes a conflict with the other. McIlroy while working for Felton has been employed by Playtex in Dover. He plans to leave that job, and take up police work on a full-time basis. McIlroy is regarded as being one of the best police officers in the area. He has served Felton in an outstanding capacity. Harrington Council members voiced the opinion that they felt Harrington was extremely fortunate in having a person of McIlroy's calibre.

Mayor Cahall gave a long and well explained picture for the Town as far as the proposed budget is concerned. He urged the Council to pay off the not of $7,500. He urged this in light of what lies ahead in the way of street equipment need, sewer and water rehabilitation which means beginning Phase II of EPA with $10,000 slated to be paid by the Town this year and another $60 to $70,000 the following year. There is also a need to paint the inside of the water tower which will cost approximately $15,000. This has been needed for some time and

Citizens Meeting Friday

A throw-back to the earlier town meetings, Harrington's citizens meeting will take place on Friday, January 5th in the fire house beginning at 7:30. The annual meeting has been held "for years" according to City Manager Dave Peterson and has been a part of the city charter since its adoption in 1936.

The same basic agenda is followed each year, beginning with the election of a chairman and secretary. Minutes of the last citizens' meeting are read. The mayor reads a statement outlining the business conducted by the city in the past year and improvements to be made in the future. The names of candidates for city council are read and an opportunity given for each to speak.

A question and answer period follows with the mayor, council and city manager. All citizens are given the opportunity to express an opinion. This year, with a new budget still unpassed, a discussion of this subject has been added to the

Council Approves Rezoning; Paves Way For Shopping Center

By Linda L. Fleming
The Harrington Council voted unanimously Tuesday night to rezone the former Acme lands on U.S. Route #13 from R-1 to C-2 (commercial). This signals Stan Thompson of Nassau, Delaware, to go ahead with his plans to create a strip shopping center on the 8 acre parcel of land. Thompson is the owner of the Edgell Pharmacy chain of nine drug stores.

The shopping center would eventually grow to a size of 100,000 sq. ft. and house a drug store, food store and several satellite stores according to Thompson's plans. Construction will begin with the 8,000 sq. ft. drug store and expand as other space is leased. Thompson reportedly has "several prospects" for tenants, but was reluctant to announce their identity. His first plan is to develop preliminary drawings which must be approved by the highway department, then to "generate enthusiasm" for the project. Early plans also call for setting the five walnut trees which grow on the property as well as moving several buildings from the site.

Prior to approval, the rezoning request was read at a public hearing with better than 50 citizens in attendance. Objections were raised by several persons, both residents of the area surrounding the proposed center and several downtown merchants. Support

New Chief Installed

By Linda L. Fleming
Carl McIlroy will bring enthusiasm, interest, wit, and a long history of industriousness to Harrington when he begins work here as the city's new police chief. McIlroy has been a member of the Felton police department since 1976 and Chief since 1977. It was during his employment there that Felton established its first professional police force. His institution of a record-keeping system allowed Felton to become eligible for state law enforcement funds. He was also instrumental in securing a highly refined radar system for the town, beginning a bicycle registration program and dealing effectively with problems of vandalism. In addition, he helped with the renovation of the town hall and along with council set up dances for teenagers "to get them off the streets."

An emphasis on youth will prevail in Harrington also if McIlroy and his staff are able to implement the programs they're already exploring. The father of two young children thinks "kids need something constructive to do" as a deterrent to getting into trouble. McIlroy and Sgt. William Jopp are also looking forward to the seminars on drug and alcohol abuse they plan for parents and to the crime prevention programs they hope to present before senior citizens' groups.

McIlroy looks toward 1979 and '80 as opportune years for small towns... years when "small towns will really start to move." He feels Harrington and Felton will share in that growth.

Of his immediate plans, McIlroy feels "getting organized" is his top priority. He hopes to establish a closer relationship between the police department, council and the public. It is his desire that all three groups work together to solve problems, particularly those of youth.

McIlroy is a native of Toledo, Ohio, where he graduated from Calvin W. Woodward High School. He entered the United States Air Force and was transferred to Dover in 1967. While in the service he attended Kent Vocational School for welding, air conditioning and refrigeration. McIlroy graduated from the Dover Police Academy in 1977. He has been with the Felton police force since then and also has been employed at Playtex.

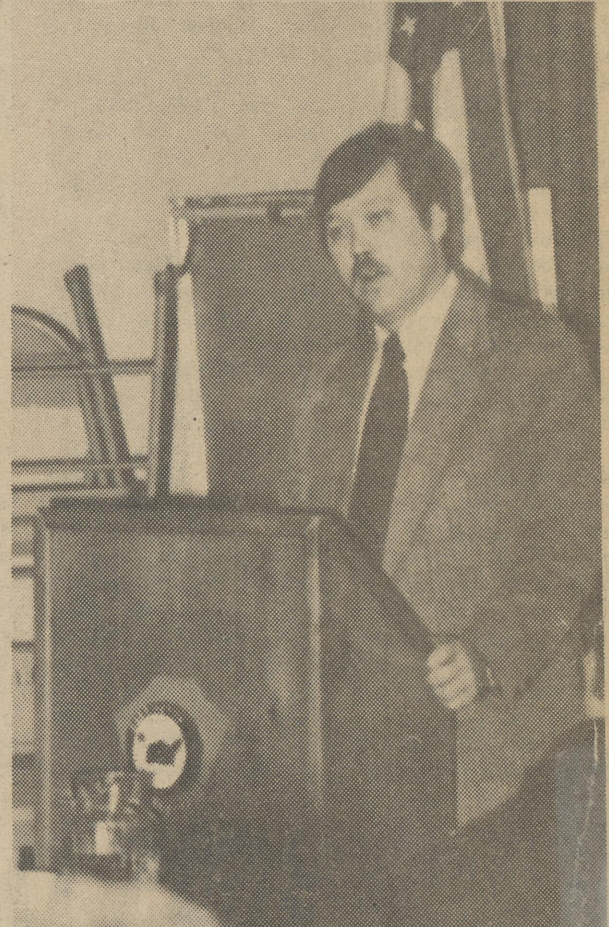

An athlete, McIlroy was active on high school sports teams and recently has competed in pistol-shooting matches for the Delaware Law Enforcement Marksmen's Association. He has the honor of winning a spot on the Governor's Top 20, a list of the state's most accurate sharpshooters. (He shares this honor with Jim Gabriele, also of the Felton police force.)

McIlroy has been a resident of the Harrington area for six years. He has a wife, Marilyn (Krickitt), and two children, Dawn, 9 and Kip, 3. McIlroy credits his wife for a large share of the success he has met. "Being a police officer takes an understanding wife."

McIlroy officially begins his duties today, January 3rd.

Carl McIlroy

FOR MAYOR
Arthur B. (Buck) Cahall III
120 West Street

Occupation: Driver Education teacher, Caesar Rodney School District and Dover YMCA.

Education: Graduate, Baldwin High School, Pittsburgh, Pa. Bachelor's Degree, Slippery Rock State College, Slippery Rock, Pa.

Post-graduate course work at West Chester State College and the University of Delaware.

Community and Civic Organizations: Kent County O.E.P.D. planning for economic development in the county. Steering committee, Governor's Conference on Libraries and Information Services. Board of Directors, Harrington Senior Center. Harrington Jaycees (Outstanding Young Man, 1978).

Family: Wife Betty Jane. Two children: Carol, 7; Kathy, 3; The Cahalls expect their third child in May.

Arthur B. (Buck) Cahall III is seeking his second term as Mayor.

Of the proposed shopping center: "I hope council's decision reflects the criteria we have to make such a decision and reflects the input from other people in the city...those who live near the proposed shopping center and others as well. Most people I've talked to are very much in favor of the new shopping center. It will give them more of an opportunity to shop in Harrington. The City has ordinances against lighting, trash, signs, etc., so these shouldn't be a concern for nearby residents. Building permits are further protection."

Of services provided by the city: "It boils down to one thing: To constantly try to improve the quality of service people get from the city. If elected, I'm going to concentrate on trying to improve services... to be more responsive to the people who pay the taxes."

Of citizen involvement: "I've tried to let people know that if they have complaints or concerns they should feel free to come to Council meetings and be heard. It's made for some long meetings, but we need this. I've found when people come and say what they want to say, they're much happier with the results, even if they don't win. And a lot of people who do come, do come back."

Of the budget: "As of right now, we're $29,000 underfunded. This includes $10,000 for Phase II of the EPA sewer project which wasn't included in the original budget. No matter who is on the Council, we've got to do certain things: paint the water tower, replace pumps and fund the mandated sewer upgrading."

"I'd like to add that two years ago the City had $42,500 of short-term debt. This is now down to $7,500 and I'm going to ask for a motion to pay this off at the next Council meeting. Had we let the short-term debt stay on the books and paid only the interest we wouldn't have any budget deficit, but the town would have been in debt with no way to pay it. We must eliminate our short-term debts as much as possible, base expenses on what is needed and adjust revenues for each department of the city...sewer, water and trash for examples."

Of his candidacy: "The very basic issue as to whether I would be re-elected or not re-elected is, 'Have I done a job worthy of being re-elected? And have I done it as well as someone else could have done it?'"

"Personally, I've been independent. I'm not there to grind any axes. I'm not there to receive any glory. I'm doing it because I really care. I have young children who will probably live here for many years... I'm interested in the city and its future."

Of holding public office: "It takes a tremendous amount of time...numerous phone calls...meeting people to stay in touch with their feelings...meeting with the City Manager. I've probably spent 40-50 hours working on the budget and spent three hours preparing for each council meeting."

Candle Makers Move Into Ace Dress Building

The Harrington business community will soon welcome into its ranks the Chesapeake Bay Company. Scheduled to open sometime in February, the newly candle manufacturers will occupy the former Ace Dress Company building on U.S. Route 13 just below the Harrington light.

Richard Hansel, president of the Chesapeake Bay Co., said approximately 50 people will eventually be employed.

Plans call for accepting applications after February 1st and hiring ten persons initially. Much of the workmanship on the candles is done by hand and requires specialized one-on-one training, explained Hansel.

The candle company was until recently a segment of Deeko Products, Inc., an Ohio firm specializing in cake decorations. Candles were added to the line two years ago with the purchase of a California-based candle company. Key personnel with the California company moved to Ohio and two of these individuals will be coming to Delaware to set up operations and to train workers.

The work is not considered totally seasonal, said Hansel, but December and January are the slowest months, with production reaching a peak in the summer. In the past, the majority of the labor force has been women.

The novelty candles come in many sizes and shapes with an emphasis on food items and animals. A popular item is the foot tall ice-cream sundae topped with whipped cream and maraschino cherries. There are also ice-cream cones, cupcakes, hamburgers, hot dogs overflowing with relishes and a complete line of extraordinary insects and animals. The candles range in price from $1.50 to $25.00 with an average price of $8-$10. Marketing will be on a wholesale basis only to gift shops and mail order houses.

The company has produced novelty candles for Spencer Gifts, Wicks and Sticks in the Christiana Mall and Tupperware, Inc. who offered a gigantic cheeseburger candle as a hostess premium. Chesapeake Bay Co. will continue to supply these clients and has recently contracted to do custom work for American Greetings.

The Ace Dress building, according to Hansel, has all the specifications needed for the company. The steam boiler system will be used to melt the wax. This melting is done in a large kettle which will be installed in the center of the 15,000 square foot building.

Hansel, who has a degree in industrial engineering, has been with Deeko Products for five years, the last two as executive vice president. His main responsibilities have been in sales and marketing. Hansel moved to Dover two years ago with his wife Joyce and three children. The Hansels are both graduates of Wesley College. Hansel is a native of New Jersey. His wife is the former Joyce Bennett of Milford. Locating the Happy New Year! All the Christmas songs have been sung, the presents given and received, enjoyed or exchanged. Cards read and reread, the decorations put up and taken down -- Christmas is almost a year away, but let's not forget the friendly feelings Christmas always brings.

The Center opened December 26, and by all reports, everyone was joyful. After a good lunch, big bingo was played. When I came back to the Center on the 27th, there was lots and lots of chatting about Christmas presents -- past, present and future. Honestly, it is very interesting to review past Christmas stories for times have changed so drastically. Pool table was busy and other games were going on. You can always find someone fixing on ceramics or some craft as others chat, read, do chores around the Center such as watering plants. December 28 was another big bingo day -- lunch was delicious, bowling at Milford Lanes. The men and women who bowl get a kick out of the game, and this week Jim Konienki was high scorer. Some of the members took down the Christmas decorations and stored them until next year. Pool table was literally talking, the balls were rolling so swiftly. Had a social hour with goodies. Everyone looked so very nice, the music played, the coffee pot was never empty. December 29 -- finished putting Christmas things away. Finished up ceramics, cards and dominos. People stopped in to say hello and to wish the Center Happy

New Year. Want to say a special thank you to Gladys Hill and her volunteers for all the nice things they have done for all at the Center all year. Want to remember Mrs. June Dryzmaliski for beautiful covers for the monthly calendar. She draws every one. We do thank her so very much. Everyone who volunteers to do anything at the Center or for the Center wants to be sure and mark up your time for R.S.V.P. Members Meeting Monday, January 8, please try and be present. Two movies this coming week. Board meeting Thursday, January 11. Manna Menu sponsored by Modern Maturity Center looks like delicious fare -- included there is ham with pineapple raisin sauce, oven baked chicken, turkey salad, roast beef, hamburger goulash, vegetables, fruit and goodies too.

Hope all you at home had a nice Christmas and your New Year will be peaceful and healthy. Stop by and see us when you can. Our site director Charlotte Welch has had complete run of the Center and a grand job with Gladys Hill and volunteers since our Director Sabra Cello was on vacation in Germany. The year 1979 is a challenge, let's hope and pray we might meet it well.

Mrs. Agnes Cohee of Felton was the winner of the bowl and pitcher. Other door prizes were won by Mrs. Essie Redden, Mrs. C. Judy, Mrs. E. Holder, and Mrs. W. Butler. Let's take the time to chat with an old friend or make a new one.

I CARE about making Harrington a better place to live and work. I strive for better government and more public involvement.

Paid for by the candidate.

SECOND WARD
Gary P. (Punky) Harrington
210 Delaware Avenue

Occupation: Lead tree-trimmer for Delmarva Power and Light.

Education: 1973 graduate, Lake Forest High School.

Community and Civic Organizations: Member of the Harrington Planning and Zoning Commission. Jaycees - Chaplain. Harrington Fire Company - Financial Secretary.

Family: Wife, Cheryl. One child, Gavin, 15 months.

Gary P. (Punky) Harrington has set greater citizen involvement as a major goal should he be elected to represent the second ward. He feels Harrington citizens should better educate themselves concerning the operation of the city. "I feel no special effort is being made to let the citizens know what is going on." If elected Harrington proposes to hold quarterly ward meetings to establish "a better working relationship between council and the people."

Harrington hopes his age (23) will not be a factor in the election. "I wish I would have the opportunity to talk to whoever thinks age is a factor. I'm interested in the town. I've always lived here and always will live here. I think the town might be just a little bit behind the times...it could stand some new, young ideas. I have a little experience representing people. On the high school level, I was the president of my junior and senior classes. My goal is to do what I can to better the town and the community."

Of the budget: "I realize there is a problem. Benefits cost a lot...sewer, water and trash service cost a lot of money. I don't feel I can make a statement, though, until I see the budget."

Of the proposed shopping center: "I have mixed feelings. I'd like to see new business come to Harrington. It will better the community and give people an incentive to stay here. But I don't want to see any more vacant buildings downtown. When I hear the people's ideas at the (Jan. 2nd) meeting, I'll make a decision."

Of citizen involvement: "This is something that's bothered me. I'd like to see everybody vote. It's kind of depressing from past elections...voter turnout has been rather sad."

Of his opposition: "When you win and people have had a choice, you know you were the people's choice."

SECOND WARD
Norma E. Meredith
Dixon Street
Harrington Manor

Occupation: Self-employed in family business, bus station and auto parts shop for antique cars.

Education: Graduate, Madison Central High School, Madison, Wisconsin. Attended the University of Wisconsin as a journalism major.

Family: Husband, Kenneth. Two grown children, Norma Lee and Bob.

Mrs. Meredith has been a resident of Harrington for 34 years. "I've been going to Council meetings for so many years on different issues, so I decided to make it official. I don't think of it as exactly a political position here in Harrington. I think it's a duty...if you're able to do it, you should do it."

Of the budget: "I'd like to help get the budget straightened out if I could, but I don't have any suggestions. Let's wait and see if we get in there. I think we have a lot of priorities that have been in the budget for two years. I'll just have to wait and see. We do have budgeting problems, I do know that."

Of the proposed shopping center: "I'm not against it, but I'd like to see what kind of public input there is. As far as I know there are no rules and regulations in the charter that can forbid those things from being put there as long as the direct neighbors are not against it. No matter what I feel or the merchants up town feel, all we can do is say how we feel. It's got to be decided by what the direct neighbors want."

Of her candidacy: "This is the first time in I don't know how many years a woman has had the chance to be directly involved in the city's operation."

"I do believe in an open council. The public should be informed...they must listen, then they will know and understand first hand what is going on. That's the way I became involved. There has been a tremendous pick up in the number of people who come to meetings in the last two years. Everybody seems to want to drag their feet...then there is no progress."

"I think there is one problem with our council today, they don't seem to be able to discuss things...but you don't know that until you get in there."

FOURTH WARD
Harold K. Brode
322 Weiner Avenue

Occupation: State Police Trooper.

Education: 1965 graduate, Harrington High School. 1970 graduate, Delaware State Police Academy.

Community and Civic Organizations: Masonic organization, Temple Lodge #9, Milford. Harrington Fire Company - also serves on the ambulance squad.

Family: Wife, Cindy. One child, Derrick, 4 years old.

Harold K. Brode feels "Harrington is a good town. I want to do my part to keep it that way." The 31 year old state trooper has been a resident of Harrington for 16 years. "I'm not really running on any issues. I've got to get my feet wet first. I need to learn more about what is facing the council before making any statements...then I'll have plenty to say. I would like to see less discension among council members."

SIXTH WARD
Rev. Ray Newman
210 Hanley Street

Occupation: Pastor, Independent Bible Fellowship Church, W. Liberty Street, Harrington.

Education: Graduate George Washington High School, Danville, Va. Bachelor's, Master of Arts and Master of Divinity degrees from Bob Jones University, Greenville, South Carolina.

Family: Wife, Janet. Two children: Carey Ray, 6; Karin, 3.

"Basically I'm not running on any particular issue. I'm just interested in the town becoming a little more progressive than I've seen in the last two years."

Rev. Newman has been a resident of Harrington for two years and pastor of Independent Bible Fellowship Church for 2 1/2 years. "It seems there hasn't been a willingness to improve the town as far as looks...to be appealing to industry coming in." Newman also thinks "we ought to be making use of any federal funds available...not dragging our feet." However, he added, "When I get more involved maybe I'll see things differently."

Of the proposed shopping center: "I don't see that it would hurt us in any way. I think the downtown merchants are afraid it will hurt their business. If it means competition, that's the American way. We were built on competition...the free enterprise system...it should help not hurt us."

Of the budget: "I can't say that I'd be able to speak now. I do realize there are some budgeting problems. I have no handy solution...I haven't been able to sit in on the meetings as I would like to have been."

Of his candidacy: "I'd like to see the town represented by those who want to run rather than by those who would have been appointed."

"I've seen some things I've felt could be a little different. I just truly feel it's time that community involvement is acted on instead of talked about."

"I've studied the charter, so it's not new to me. And I've attended Council meetings for over a year...once you go you find out it's your community and you really get involved in it."

"It's not an ego trip -- just as Buck (Cahall) had when he went in, there are these little fears. But I've never been afraid to tackle anything yet. I've stood up to many pressures and had to make many tough decisions. So it would just be another step in doing the same thing I've been doing."

"I'd like to see this community become the kind of place my children, when grown up, could find work in and want to stay in instead of moving away. I think other people feel the same way."

Of his opposition: "When two people run, it's a race...then you have people interested in what's happening."

Of improving Harrington's economic outlook: "I've organized a conference with Congressman (Thomas) Evans for January 20th. The title is 'Harrington - Giving the Future Direction.' It will be a panel discussion and we've tried to get a cross-section of the community involved...Council, the mayor, the City Manager, the fire company, the fairgrounds, both banks, two representatives from the Chamber of Commerce and someone from the agricultural community. Of course, the public is invited...we also hope to get some input prior to the meeting. From outside of Harrington, Congressman Evans will be there, his aide Darryl Carmine...he worked on this with me, representatives from the Economic Development Administration and the governor's office, Bill Paskey and Don Culver from Kent County Levy Court and, tentatively, Tom Maloney, the regional head of HUD. We'll follow an agenda and deal with basically two topics: economic development and public facilities and housing."

"The conference may help to eliminate the anti-business image we have. I don't think we are anti-business, but some of the things we've done as a town or as individuals may have given others this impression. It may do a lot of good for the town. I think the short term effects will be minimal, but we have to think of where the town will be in 1985 and 1990. Hopefully, this will lead to other conferences where we can analyze what we're going to do. And it may just get people involved."

The conference will be held on Saturday, January 20th, from 9:30 to 12:30 in the Harrington Fire House.

Stan Thompson, owner of Edgehill Pharmacy and developer of the shopping center proposed for U.S. 13 between Gordon and Liberty Streets.

for the center was voiced by others present. A show of hands among those present showed an overwhelming positive reaction to the proposed center.

Objections centered around the questions of:

-Necessity - whether the Harrington area could support additional retail stores.

-The impact on the downtown area.

-Litter, signs, lighting, etc., and their possible inconvenience to neighboring property owners.

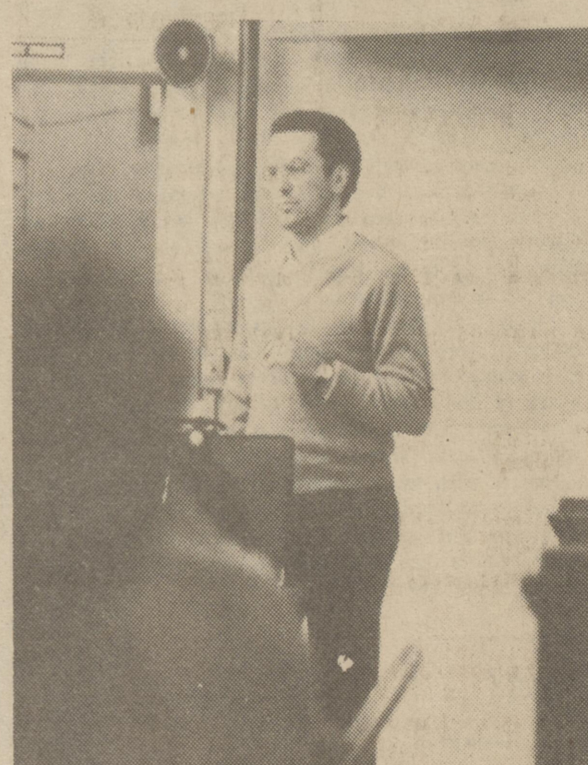

-Traffic - the possible problems of speed, weight and volume.

Impact on the streets - costs of maintaining roads which may be affected by the increased volume of traffic.

After hearing both pros and cons of the proposed rezoning, council recessed for 15 minutes to study more closely photographs of existing structures Thompson has constructed.

The Harrington center would reportedly be similar in construction.

According to preliminary plans, the shopping center will be a strip center. The proposed stores would be set back as far as possible from the highway with space only for a service entrance behind the building. Parking would be in front. Liberty Street, which is state maintained, would be the primary access road. Gordon Street, which is city maintained, also borders the property. A cut in U.S. #13 on the southbound lane would be requested. Construction could begin in spring with the drug store open by summer.

Carl June presented at public hearing his views concerning the rezoning of the former Acme lands. June questioned the advisability of creating an additional 100,000 sq. ft. of retail space.

Bridgeville Elects Three To Town Council

William Hartzell, 43, campaigning. Earl C. Willey and James Evans are current members of the council. The Bridgeville Town Council will meet to reorganize on January 8th at 6 p.m. A public hearing will be held the same night at 7 p.m. to discuss the 201 sewerage plan which includes pumping sewerage from Greenwood for treatment at the Bridgeville waste facility. Following the public hearing the first regular council meeting of the year will be held at 8 p.m.

Also elected to two year terms were Robert Mulvaney, 29, a wine and spirits salesman with Parks Distributors of Wilmington with 126 votes, and Harry Short, 75, a retired steelworker with 86 votes. Short, who won on write in votes had done no active

The Oregon Rape Law

Last week a case in the Oregon Courts and one of the first impression was tested in that State's court system.

From the earliest of times, women had always been regarded as PROPERTY. I thought we had passed out of "THE DARK AGES" into the light.

the sexual act...terminated in fact the marital relationship. It is purely wonder that the Oregon jury did not find for the complainant...the wife.

The most important lesson coming out of the Oregon case...and one our own Legislature should consider is the fact that the Oregon Law was aimed at protecting women against violence.

Point Of View

By Linda L. Fleming

Over and over again as a prelude to the local elections, one hears the same sad refrain ... a lamentation on the apathy displayed (if one may use an action verb to express inaction) by apparently uninterested citizens.

Tightening the bolts and screws that keep a town together and functioning is an everyday task.

But how many of us are really aware of all that actually goes on at City (or Town) Hall?

It is the responsibility of the media to report news, to investigate news more thoroughly, and to recognize news when it appears.

Finally, we hope to improve the delivery of services to you the taxpayer, by repairing roads, making it easier to get assistance from government agencies and by holding down the cost of government so that taxes will remain at or below the current level.

broadest audience. Try as we may to stand aside and gain perspective, this is never totally possible...we reflect our interests in the news we choose to cover most thoroughly.

And this is where our elected officials can help us most...by letting us know all that is happening...so that we may let you know. You, we, the citizenry have a right to know exactly how all the details, small and large, are being handled.

Then we must use that information to make our town a better place in which to live...in short we must become involved.

Finally, if there is disagreement, a conflict of opinions, does that not signify that in our town there is a viable, moving force.

We will continue to press for economic development and the creation of new jobs for Delaware citizens, especially the young.

Happy New Year from Trail's End! Another year stretching ahead of us is a solemn thought.

How many of you saw this letter in a current magazine? It was written by an 85 year old "youngster", named Nadine Starr of Louisville, Kentucky. Bless her heart! I will quote her letter here that all who missed it may enjoy it now.

"If I had my life to live over, I'd dare to make more mistakes next time. I'd relax, I would limber up. I would take fewer things seriously. I would be sillier than I have been on this trip.

Isn't that delightful? I wish I could know her personally. But I am eternally grateful for the many friends whose delightful personalities enrich my life.

As usual, Ellen and I entertained a large group of family and close friends at her home on Christmas Eve.

(This week, I asked Julie Hanavan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Taylor W. Hanavan of Wilmington, to write the "Thoughts" column on my behalf.

The Tangled Web of International Trade

"Laws and regulations are a spider's web that lets the big mosquitoes through and catches the small ones."

The Department of State, The Department of the Treasury, the Department of Commerce, the Department of Agriculture, the International Trade Commission, the Export-Import Bank, the Special Trade Negotiator...

These are only some of the government agencies Americans are expected to weave in and out of when involved in foreign trade investment.

Oh, the tangled web. Perhaps this accounts for the extremely low percentage of U.S. corporations that export goods abroad: 20,000 out of nearly 300,000!

The United States is the only major economic power in the world that doesn't have a specific government ministry or department with the primary responsibility of foreign trade activities.

Don't think it isn't noticed by experts in the field. Blunt negotiators have flatly told us our trade policy apparatus resembles "a costly imitation of the Dark Ages."

In today's volatile and increasingly interdependent world, we must become organized if we intend to match our competitors.

Looking Ahead To 1979

By Governor Pete du Pont

This week I retrieved my column of one year ago where I made several projections about the year 1978.

First, I noted that Delaware might have a small surplus at the end of the fiscal year. We did have a small surplus and it helped start a "Rainy day account" that will enable the State to balance the budget if revenues fall off.

I also wrote that we would maintain a strong hand on the state budget, and consequently, we are headed toward our second straight balanced budget.

My other goals for 1978 included bringing more jobs and businesses to the state. We are well on our way toward establishing and funding a major innovative program to provide job training, counseling and placement to high school seniors.

Another goal included improving the internal operation of our prisons and criminal justice system. We have begun a major expansion of our prison system, improved health care in the correction system dramatically and expanded both the Family Court and the Supreme Court to help cut the backlog of cases.

But looking ahead to 1979 is a more difficult task. Among my priorities for the new year are to maintain a straight financial course, one where we will be able to chalk up another balanced budget without tax increases.

We will continue to press for economic development and the creation of new jobs for Delaware citizens, especially the young.

Finally, we hope to improve the delivery of services to you the taxpayer, by repairing roads, making it easier to get assistance from government agencies and by holding down the cost of government so that taxes will remain at or below the current level.

I hope that each of you has a prosperous and a very happy New Year.

Felton Gears For Public Meeting

Felton residents are being urged to attend a public meeting to air questions surrounding the proposed Felton Sewer District. The meeting is scheduled for Monday, January 8th, at 7:30 p.m. in the Felton Community Fire House.

County Engineer, Walter Fritz, a representative from the State Board of Health, several members of Kent County Levy Court, Mayor William Myers and the Town Council will be present. According to Fritz, a fact sheet has been distributed in Felton. Officials will expand on that information and have available charts and maps to further illustrate the proposed plans.

Myers has expressed concern that the opposition may not come to this meeting. He fears these people may not have accurate factual material on which to base a decision. The question of whether or not to hook into the county-wide sewer system will be settled by referendum on January 13th. "The first and best we can do is to have the meeting as promised and answer all the questions," said Myers.

Felton Residents Speak Out On Proposed Sewer District

"I definitely feel that for the benefit of the older and younger people we should take advantage of the federal funds. In eight to ten years it will be required and it will inevitably cost more then. My only regret is that the sewer district isn't taking in a larger area."

- Robert Sherwood

"I'd like to see it. We should have had it years ago...the cost is almost prohibitive now. If we had had it years ago it would have brought more factories in. I remember when I was on the council two factories wanted to come in, but didn't when they found out we didn't have central sewerage disposal."

- Reed Hughes

"They probably need it. I suppose everybody wants it. If they want it, let them have it. If it rains a lot the septic tanks are trouble. It's low around here."

- Edgar Jarvis

[no pix]

"I think the referendum should be open to property owners, too. I have no vote because I live out of town."

- Leon Donovan
Owner, Felton Hardware, Inc.

"I'm going to wait until they have the meeting...I haven't made up my mind. I'm concerned about the people on fixed incomes unless they're given out and out relief. Then they'll still have the problem of paying the yearly fee. I want to find out all the information I can about it. Maybe the county engineer can shed some light on relief for the elderly. We have quite a few elderly on fixed incomes."

- Charlie Ware

[no pix]

"We're still in the process of moving in. Our septic system is okay, but the lady below us is having trouble."

- Pat Mintz

[in car]

"I feel it's needed, but I haven't had any problems. If I'm here, I'll be at the public meeting. I'll be voting."

- Mildred Hopkins

[in car]

"If the sewer system was available where I live I would want to connect up. I live one mile down the highway. I've had my septic system pumped once since I've lived there...since February. I had water in my basement once."

- Bob Hopkins

[bike]

"I'm against it all the way. I've had a septic tank for eighteen years and only had it cleaned out three times. My mother is on social security; that's all the income she's got. A sewer bill would be another automatic bill all the time. If they built the sewer system and you didn't have to hook up, that would be all right. Anybody who wants it, let them have it. I've already made up my mind. I'm not going to the public meeting, but I'm going to vote."

- Carl Killen

"I think it's a good idea. I think in the future the way we all have drainage with septic tanks and cesspools we're going to need it. It's not good for the health of the community having it run into the ditches...this isn't anything recent. I know it will be a hardship for a lot of folks on fixed incomes. I think the town should make some consideration for them. The town has always been good to the older folks. I think they'll do all they can to help."

- Wanda K. Haldeman

[no pix]

"No doubt about it...we need the sewer system. There's no drainage in the town really. It's got to come. You just can't go on getting new people in town and having no place for the sewers to go."

"...cannot be put off any longer," said Cahall.

Cahall pointed out that in '79 the Town will lose $16,000 in the way of anti-recession funds which the Town had previously gotten from the Federal government. In '79 as well, the Twon must begin Phase II of EPA's sewer and water rehabilitation of which the Town will be expected to pay 15 percent of the total bill. This will amount to $15,000 the first year which will go for planning and $60 to $70,000 the third year.

Cahall called for elimination of the small debts now so that the Town and the Council could be prepared for the heavier things ahead. Cahall explained that the Town has $22,000 in a savings account which represents money obtained from the Federal Government as a rebate. Cahall said he feels this money should remain there in the bank until such time...two years down the road... when they could draw on it for the payment of the $60 to $70,000 sewer and water bill.

Other options Cahall cited which he did not feel were good ideas were "...cutting services, personnel, and no salary increases...". The purpose behind all of this is the fact that the budget as it stands now for '79 is a little over $29,000 in the hole. Another option to meet the need in the budget is to increase the real estate taxes 30 percent and the water and sewer charges 20 percent which would bring the budget even.

In other matters the Council voted in favor of giving Christmas bonuses of $25 even though Christmas has past, paying George And Lynch $27,422 for street paving, and the matter of "...the over payment for longevity in '78" be reflected in the salary increases in '79. The matter of the overpayment would be "...debited against the salary increase". The next meeting will be Friday night at the Citizens meeting, which will be held in the Fire Hall.

All Saturday group meetings begin at 10 a.m. in Room 115 Purnell Hall.

4-H News

Now that the holidays have passed it's time to get ready for the first 4-H event of the New Year - the Public Speaking Contest.

The contest is designed to develop a 4-H member's self confidence, poise and ability to speak before an audience. The event is open to all 4-H members. Members compete according to their age.

Jr. Petite, ages 8 to 10, give a 2 to 3 minute speech. They are encouraged to talk about something they are familiar with. Pets, trips, brothers and sisters are favorite topics for the petites.

The Jr. Division is for 11 to 13 years old. They are asked to give a 2 to 5 minute speech. Their topics may be more involved than simply a personal experience but do not require extensive research. Our Seniors, 14 to 19 years of age, present a 5 to 7 minute speech usually on a researched topic. This group spends many hours preparing speeches on current topics.

Each participant will receive a ribbon, either blue, red, or white, based on their presentation. The top winner in each division will receive a trophy.

For 4-H members interested in developing their public speaking abilities, 4-H offers many opportunities either through organized contests, local club meetings or county and state activities.

Nationally the Public Speaking program is sponsored by Union Oil Company. They provide 4 county medals of honor to each county, a trip to National 4-H Congress for one outstanding 4-H'er per state and 6 college scholarships at $1,000 each to national winners.

The County Public Speaking Contest is a great way to become involved in the 4-H program. Entries are due in the 4-H office by January 11. Call 856-5250 for more information. Become involved today!

Your Church And Mine

St. Bernadettes

St. Bernadette's held their annual New Year's Eve Dance on December 31 in the Parish Hall. Music was by LuParris and his orchestra with dancing from 9 to 1. A home style hot breakfast was served at 1 a.m. The dance was a huge success with 185 people in attendance. Three lucky persons won a tape recorder, basket of cheer and a 24-place setting of dishes.

There will be no CYO or CCD meetings this week.

Harrington Baptist Church News

Next Sunday morning we shall observe the holy ordinance of Baptism. If you have friends who are interested in seeing this rite, please tell them about it and invite them to come and witness the testimony of those being baptized.

On New Year's Eve after the regular preaching service we had an evening of games and refreshments. At 11:00 or thereabouts, we returned to the auditorium for a service of worship to usher in the year 1979.

This next year can be one of the most wonderful in both your personal life and in the life of your church, but it can only be blessed if we seek God's benediction. Make 1979 a year of Bible reading and prayer as never before.

We shall study the Book of Mark beginning next Sunday evening. Then we shall continue our study Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday evenings 7 to 8:30. There will be a class for the youth and children so the whole family can come together.

Pick your book up (one per family) and just put the price of it in the regular offering. Try to read it before classes begin.

Student Recognition Day At Asbury

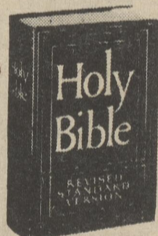

Next Sunday, 8 a.m. - United Methodist Men's breakfast and program meeting. All boys and men are invited; 10 a.m. - Sunday School - classes for everybody; 11 a.m. - Laity Sunday Observance, with laypersons in charge of the morning worship service. Invite others to come with you.

Tuesday, Jan. 16, 7:30 to 9:30 - Training session for officials of local churches at St. John's Church, Seaford. Explanation and help for all Council on Ministry members.

Sunday, Jan. 21, 7 p.m. - A service of old and new hymns and gospel songs and organ music, with Mr. Willink at the organ. Some of the hymns will be played only with the congregation following the printed text; some will be sung, perhaps two or three by a soloist. But it will be almost entirely hymns and gospel songs. Five or six request hymns may be included so if you have one you would like included, please make it known to Mr. Willink. Refreshments will follow this service of music. More about this later!

Wednesday, Jan. 31, 6:30 - Annual Venison dinner sponsored by the United Methodist Men: A sumptuous feast followed by a varied program. Everyone's invited so mark your calendar.

A few topics this week. First a brief word on Lake Forest.

Although they ultimately lost the championship game in the recent Christmas Tournament, the Lake Forest team showed a lot of class.

From where I stood, the Spartans played probably their best moments of basketball in Thursday night's game and were certainly no disgrace in the final contest. Playing, once again, on the road far from home and hometown fans, these guys proved just what kind of players they could be. What could this team do if they didn't have to play away for every game?

Well done, gentlemen. It didn't go unnoticed.

I happened to be watching the final minutes of the now famous Ohio State - Clemson football game late Friday night and saw Ohio's coach, Woody Hayes, club a Clemson player square in the jaw for intercepting a key pass. Needless to say, I was stunned and outraged.

Sitting up and paying close attention now, I waited for the play by play announcers to "tell it like it was." If you saw this shabby moment in scholastic sports and vested interest television, you know it never happened. It seems that, for most of the bigger time schools, things have begun to sink to new all time lows with the TV people steadily adding fuel to the process.

Woody Hayes is a highly visible embodiment of this fact. Throughout his years at Ohio State he has rarely shown he has known the meaning of the word sportsmanship, and he was lifted to godlike status for it. Somewhere along the line the idea of sports as fun and education has been lost and there is no more telling example of this than what transpired on ABC last Friday.

Punching an opposing player in the face and nobody said a word! Don't get me wrong, I can understand getting carried away in a highly emotional situation, but not like this. I can understand the announcers not wanting to comment negatively on a college or wanting to get more facts before spouting off but the moment was just too obvious and ugly. It reminded me of some crooked politicians protecting each other in public.

Begone Woody.

Clean up your act ABC. The win at all costs mentality has no place in our schools. Learn to respect the basic principles of amateur sport or find another outlet for your hostility, and your advertising sales.

As you can see by turning the page, auto racing gets a lot of attention in the Harrington Journal. Some of you are undoubtedly turned off by this and it's to you that I want to speak.

Although we do give space to national sporting events of interest to our area, our primary purpose as a local paper is to bring the spotlight on local activities. It is through the local paper only that news of this type is covered in detail.

Did you know that the U.S. 13 Speedway is the largest weekly draw on the Eastern Shore? The people that fill the stands at Delmar and Georgetown are local people and, for the most part, so are the drivers. We believe this is important sporting news and of great interest to a very large number of people.

Mark Smith drives in for a score against N. Dorchester Thursday night.

LAKE FOREST TAKES 2nd PLACE

By Bruce Levy
"North Dorchester was as good as any team we have played this year. As a matter of fact, all the teams in this tournament were in the same class as, say Smyrna. We were consistent for the entire game for the first time this year which explains our victory on Thursday but a bad third quarter in the Friday night game cost us the tournament. We enjoyed it though, it was a well run and well-balanced set of games. We hope to be back next year," spoke Bill Falasco, Lake Forest varsity basketball coach, following the heartbreaking loss to Col. Richardson High in the finals of the Christmas Invitational hosted by Col. Richardson in Federalsburg, Md.

The Christmas Invitational involved 4 teams: Lake Forest, North Dorchester, North Caroline, and Col. Richardson. Lake Forest was the only participant from Delaware.

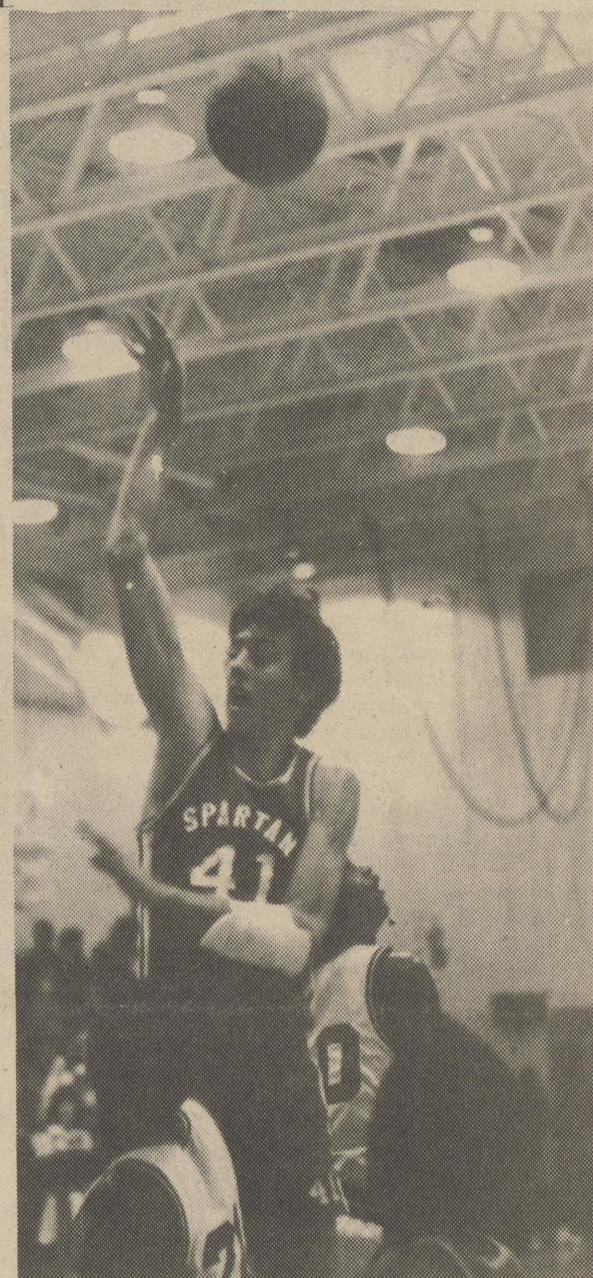

The tournament took place last Thursday and Friday and was an elimination style format. If you won your first game on Thursday, you advanced to the finals on Friday, and if you lost on the first night, you played a consolation round on the second.

Lake Forest's first round opponent was North Dorchester and a more exciting game would be hard to find. Both teams played extremely well and the score remained close for the entire contest. It was a few key clutch situation foul shots sunk by Mark Smith that finally put the game away for the Spartans. The foul shots were taken at the expense of the North Dorchester coach who was called for technical violations (unsportsmanlike conduct) by the game officials.

At the end of 3 fast paced quarter, Lake Forest held on to a slim two point lead, 46-44. Dorchester surged to tie the score at 52-52 with 4:18 remaining in the game when coach Falasco called time out to regroup.

The cooling off payed dividends as Lake Forest came back behind the efforts of Mark Smith. With the foul shots and a lot of hustle, Lake Forest went on to victory with the final score 68-63.

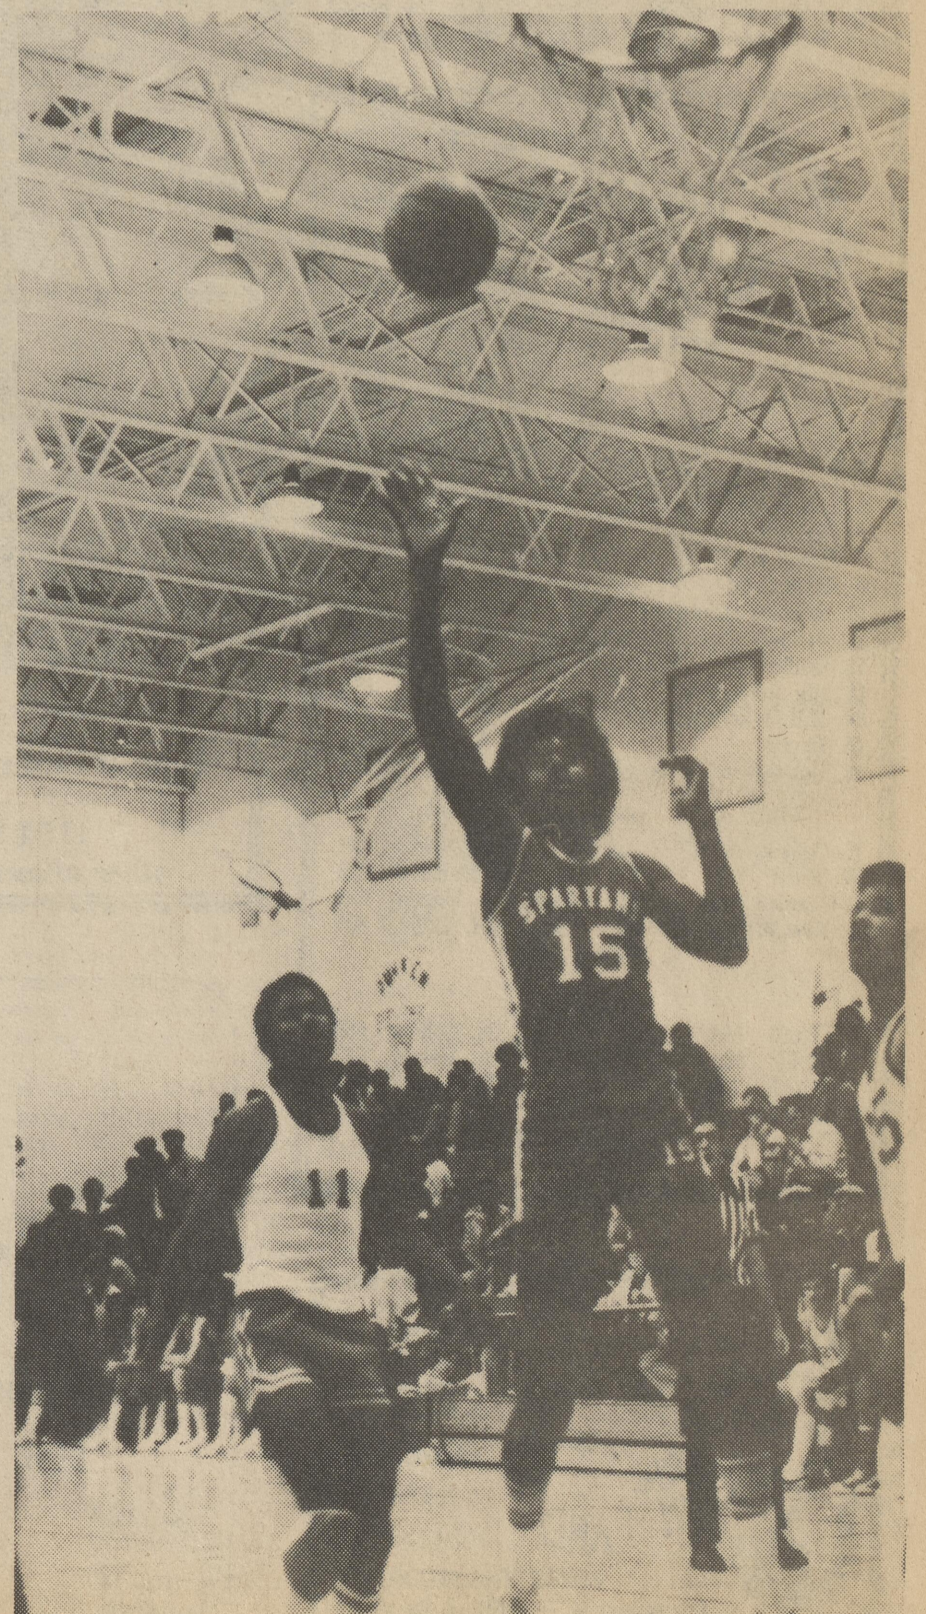

"We were always this good," said Falasco, "it's just taken us a while. I have said all year that if we could get 4 quarters of intensity we can play on anyone's level and I think that fact was proved tonight."

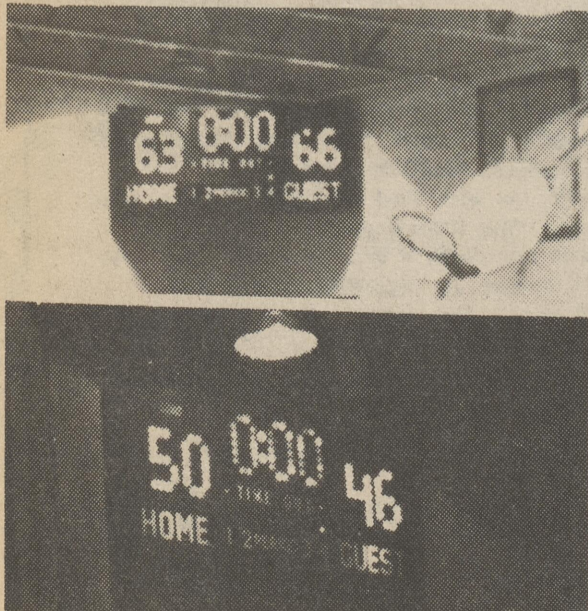

Jack Spencer dominated the boards against Dorchester with some spectacular leaps.

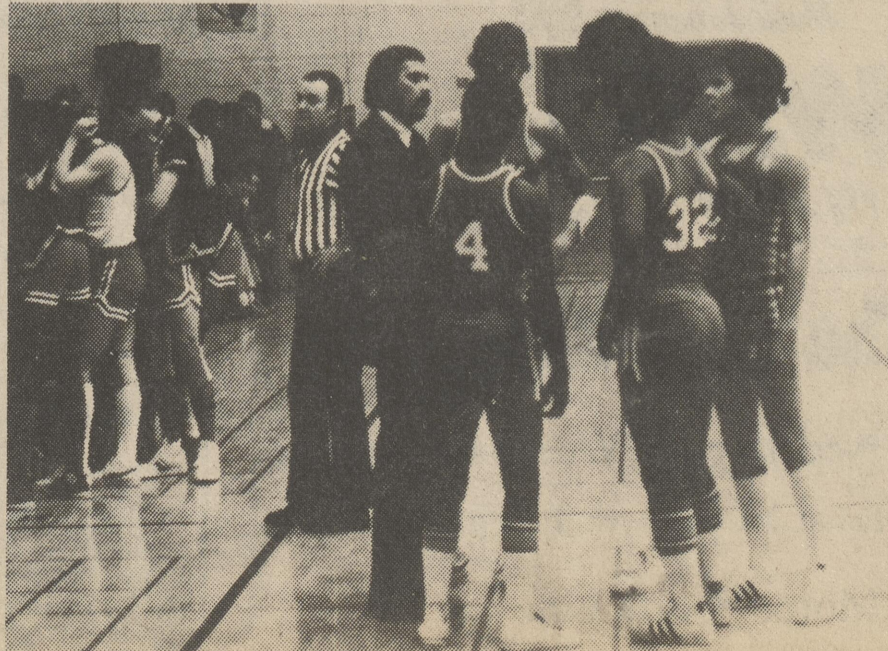

They were on the road again but the Spartans had plenty of support from their cheerleaders.

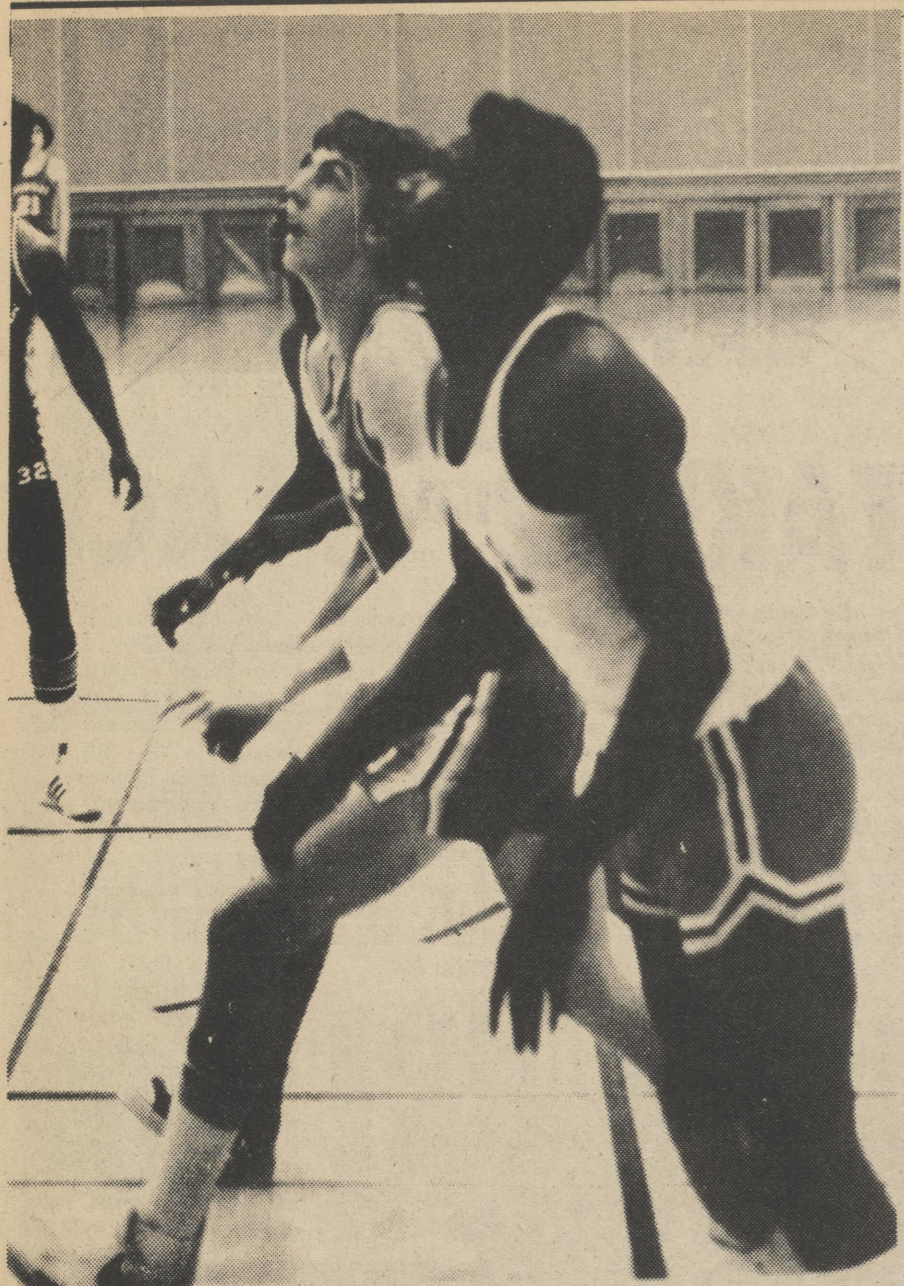

Quinten Hendricks hit from the floor repeatedly in both games

Numbers don't lie: 66-63 victory for Lake Forest on Thursday's first round. 50-46 loss in the finals.

Coach Bill Falasco has words of motivation for the team during a break in Friday's action.

Jack Spencer, in between two opposing players, waits for the rebound in a state of total concentration.

With the victory, Lake Forest advanced to the finals against Col. Richardson who beat North Carolina in their first round contest. Caroline, consequently, would play Dorchester in the consolation match.

Falasco brought his team to the finals Friday full of confidence. He felt that Lake Forest would be capable of sweeping the tournament if he could get the same 4 quarter performance from the players as he did the night before.

Both teams took to the court seemingly tense, with Col. Richardson turning the ball over on their first possession after the opening tip off. Although the breaks were going their way, the Spartans could not capitalize right away and didn't sink a basket until two minutes had expired.

As they did in the first round against Dorchester, Lake Forest stayed in a tight man to man defense which confounded and confused Richardson. Richardson managed only 5 shots in the first quarter and never really got close to the hoop. At the buzzer, it was 10-4 Lake Forest.

A quick score at the start of the second period ran the total to 12-4 with Richardson beginning to appear helpless. Adding insult to injury, the Spartans kept enough pressure on to force turnover after turnover and ran the score to 16-4 with five minutes to go in the second period.

The sloppiness of Col. Richardson began to take a toll on the Spartans as the game turned "streetballish." After the Colonels pulled to 16-10 after a Spartan dry spell, Falasco called time and tried to bring order to the match. Lake Forest still couldn't get the rhythm back however and the score at the half stood at 23-18.

In the third period, Lake Forest held a slim one point lead with 3 minutes left in the period. Jack Spencer paced the squad with some nifty layups and they seemed to be back in shape once again, running the score to 32-24 at one point. At the end of the quarter Lake Forest had regained control and was comfortably in front by 5 points.

Quinten Hendricks went on a rampage in the beginning of the final period to lead the Spartans to 43-38 with 4 minutes remaining but Col. Richardson's half court zone defense was beginning to slow the pace.

The game got closer and Col. Richardson gathered momentum and crowd support. Sophomore Louis Richard hit a key foul shot and sank a 30 footer for their cause and Lake Forest trailed for the first time in the contest.

A traveling call on Smith sealed the fate for the Spartans along with a costly turnover as Richardson couldn't miss from any range. The final score was 50-46 and Lake Forest settled for second place overall in the tournament.

"We waited for them," said Falasco, "and relaxed on our lead. I guess their half court zone threw us off balance in the final period. There were 18 turnovers in this game and you just can't win like that."

Besides the sheer numbers of persons who follow this sport, we at the Journal enjoy the races. Like you, I at one time had no interest in racing. That changed when I finally saw a few hot contests in person and realized the skill, coordination, and nerve that racing demands of its participants. Not a real sport? Don't ever believe it!

We will keep on covering the local and national races. If you are still turned off, all I can say is: "Try it, you'll like it."

Lake Forest Whips Dover Air Thursday

Getting revenge for the close second place finish in the Christmas tournament, the Lake Forest varsity basketball team stunned Dover Air Tuesday night 67-47. The Spartans, now 3-3, took their cue from Jack Spencer who had a game high of 21 points.

Lake Forest was in no serious trouble during the entire match, dominating at both ends of the court.

Dover Air's record now stands at a dismal 0-6. In girls varsity action, Laura Newnom's final period scoring put Lake Forest ahead of Dover Air at the finish 58-51.

Woodbridge Crushed By Indian River

By Bruce Levy

Looking every bit the conference basketball kings, Indian River buried the Woodbridge Raiders Tuesday night by the lopsided score of 97-58. Bryan Dexter poured in 20 points and Bill Babbage added 15 for Woodbridge but they could not stem the awesome tide of Indian River's Vada Jarmon who put 29 on the board. Jarmon led the Indians to their 5th Conference win in as many games. The Woodbridge varsity girls also had a tough night Tuesday, losing to Indian River 62-31.

Pit Chatter

By Bruce Levy

By Bruce Levy
 In 1974, Mr. James Goslee of Sharptown, Md. took his 16 year old son Jimmy Lee to the local stock car races at the U.S. 13 Speedway in Delmar. Before the night was over, racing had a new convert.

Jimmy Lee Goslee has come a long way since that night; a look at the record books confirms it. In 1978 Goslee was the points leader at U.S. 13 for the Late Model Class and captured 2nd at Georgetown Speedway, second only to Dave White. He started from scratch and has become one of the premier young talents on the racing scene today. In an era of "big buck", "win at all costs" racing operations, Goslee has beaten the system.

After seeing his first few races in '74 Goslee decided to build a car. With the help of his father, an old '68 Nova was reborn into a racer - a modest racer, but a racer nonetheless. The newly juvinated machine was legal for the six cylinder hobby class (a class that has since been dropped from the area programs). Goslee didn't enter any races until the middle of the season but did manage to win one race that year. He thoroughly enjoyed the experience and decided to return to the "car wars" in the season to come.

During the '75 racing year Goslee remained in the six cylinder hobby class in his low budget Nova. Outlay was small by current standards, $5-$600 total, and the father and son team soon became a fixture in the pits - in other words, "they were hooked." They would indeed return the next year, but things would be different.

As predicted, 1976 arrived to find Jimmy Lee had a brand new ride, a '69 Nova with a 350 cubic inch Chevy motor. No more hobby racing - Goslee would enter the tough Late Model division and enter a different world; one that would teach the newcomer a valuable lesson or two.

"We won 3 races that year," said Jimmy Lee, "2 at Georgetown and 1 at U.S. 13. There were lots of things that I had to get used to. Running in the Late Model class involves dealing with at least 20 other cars on the track which was quite a change from the handful of vehicles going at it in the hobby class. The cars go a lot faster and require much more attention both at the races and through the week."

Halfway into the '76 season with his new car, Goslee had his first big let-down. His 350 "blew", putting the Goslees out of action as there was no ready backup. They scrambled as best they could and after missing two weeks of competition, returned with a 327 cid "junkie".

"Best thing that has happened to him," stated James Sr., "it was a much slower, less powerful car and forced him to concentrate on technique. He knew he couldn't depend on raw power to help him around the track and had to make due with what he had. When you know you don't have a strong burst of power coming off that all critical turn, you better make up for it in some other fashion. Jimmy Lee was forced to learn the hard way in a very competitive class and when the 350 was again ready for action, he was on top." With some detectable reluctance, Jimmy Lee agreed with his father's assessment.

For their efforts, the Goslee team finished 12th overall in points at U.S. 13 and 7th overall at Georgetown at the end of the '76 campaign. They learned the value of a backup engine and driving "smart".

With 2 1/2 years of experience under his belt, Jimmy Lee Goslee returned to action in '77. The race car was essentially the same as the prior year but lowered 6" in the rear for better handling and traction. With 400 hp under the hood, a four-speed transmission, and a final drive ratio of 4:56, Goslee attempted to drive the entire track in 3rd gear and was successful. The year was a good one but more changes were on the horizon for the following year.

It was the '78 racing year that put the Goslees on top. They came back with a completely new car, this time a 1970 Nova, but made a few changes to the tried and true Chevy powerplant.

The major change was going to a Dana rear with a 6:17 ratio. The more potent rear enabled Goslee to drive the track while staying in 4th gear and maintaining the optimal 6,000 RPM range.

His points winning year at U.S. 13 was unorthodox - the #66 did not win a feature at U.S. 13 all year long. How is this possible? "Consistency is the answer," said Jimmy Lee.

Week in and week out Goslee finished the Late Model class feature in the top 10. The car came to the track ready to race and experienced very few problems. He never won, but was always in the money when the checkered flag fell.

Observed Jimmy Lee's dad, "We knew our car wasn't the hottest on the oval so we did not try to drive beyond it. Why kill the car?"

To the modest Goslees, consistency and driving within the car's limits were the primary factors in the '78 campaign. However, they left out a very important aspect: Jimmy Lee had come into his own as a driver and strategist.

This fact was aptly demonstrated after the local racing season ended and the Speedway at Saluda, Va., staged their annual Late Model extravaganza in November - the "Golden Skillet 200."

The Saluda race traditionally draws the top Late Model competitors from throughout the country and qualifying for the 150 lap feature is a victory in itself, a victory only 32 drivers can claim. Goslee qualified 25th but not without some tense moments.

After trying for 2 days to "set the car up" on Saluda's rock hard clay surface, Goslee thought he found the solution and felt ready for the qualifications. However, when qualifications day came, the rain came along too drenching the track and completely altering its surface. Luckily, fellow Delmarva racer Larry Endall had brought his Delmar tires along which will hold a tacky surface, and Goslee borrowed the set for his successful qualifying laps.

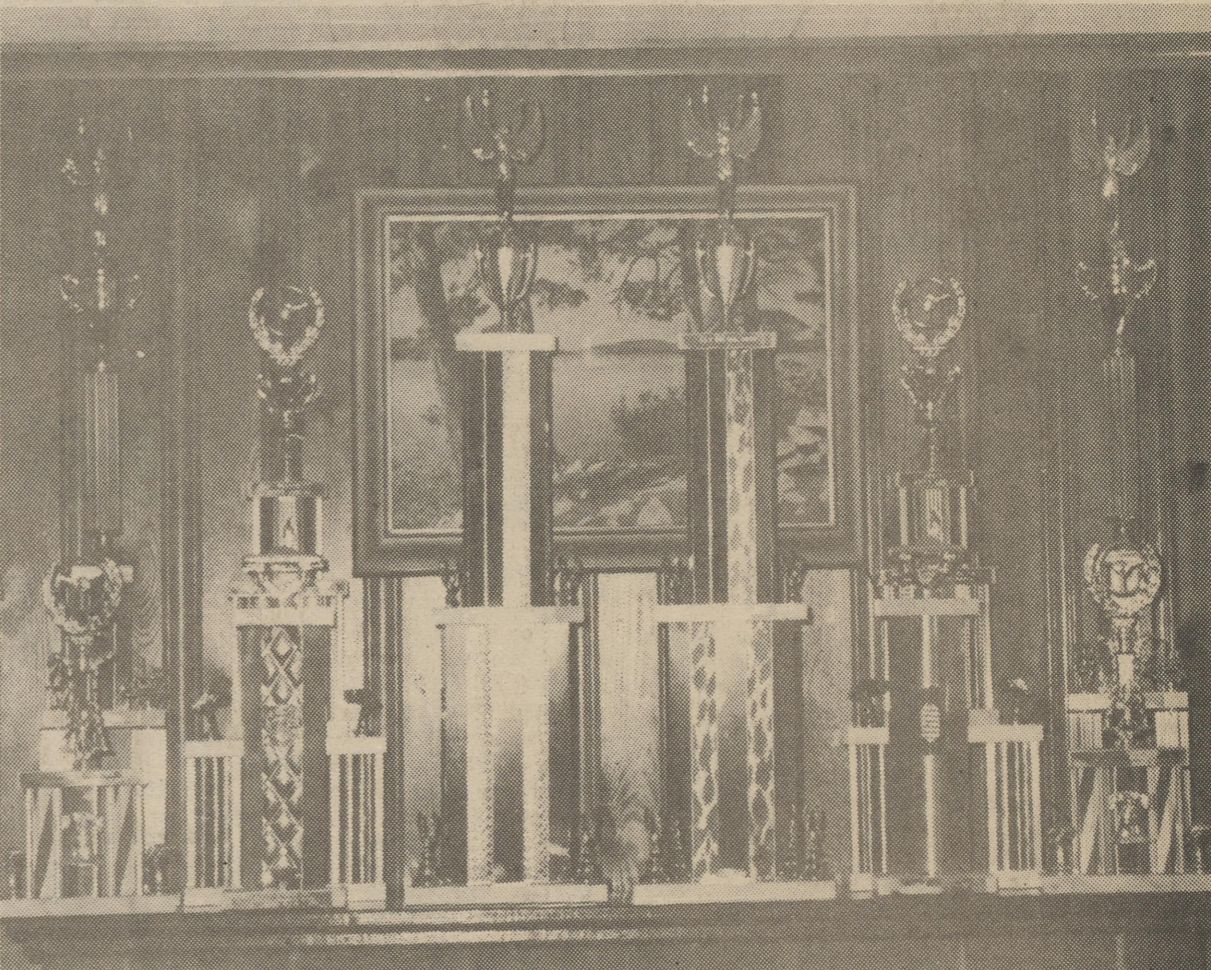

But in the actual race, Jimmy Lee was a victim of some unfortunate bad luck. Worried that they would run short of fuel, he pitted for gas during a caution on the 68th lap. The car was running in the middle of the pack at the time and things were looking well for the Saluda rookie. After taking on additional fuel though, the day turned sour for the men from Sharptown - the transmission stuck in first.

The entire pit crew frantically tried to unglue the frozen gears to get the car back to the action. It proved an impossible task and Jimmy Lee was done for the day. It was particularly depressing for the Goslees as, in the end, only nine cars completed the race and, the way Jimmy Lee was running and holding his ground, he would have finished near the top for sure. As they say - "That's Racing."

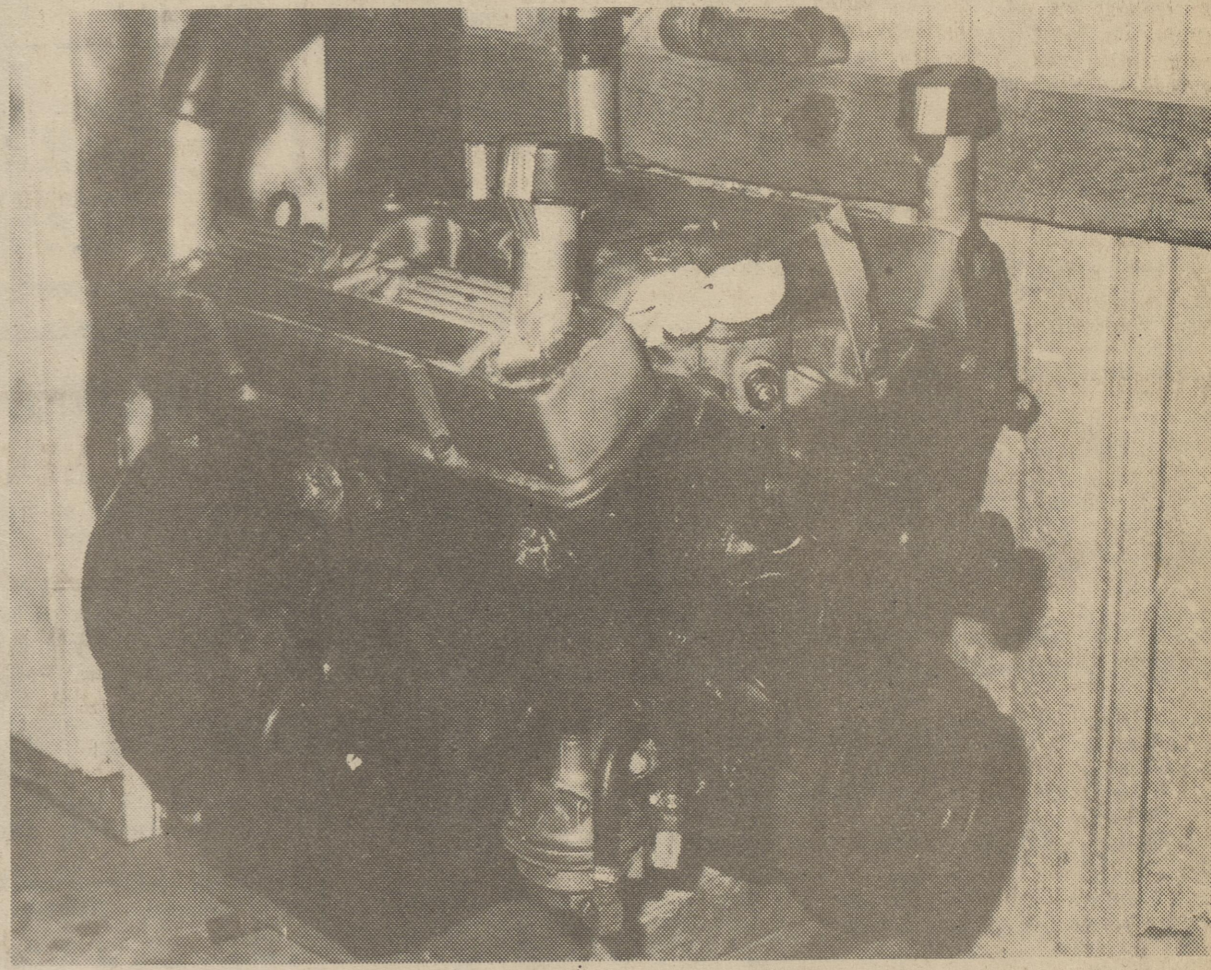

"I really enjoyed driving down there," said Goslee, "the surface was like asphalt which was a new experience. It is actually easier to drive and there seems to be more room to maneuver. I can't wait for next time!"

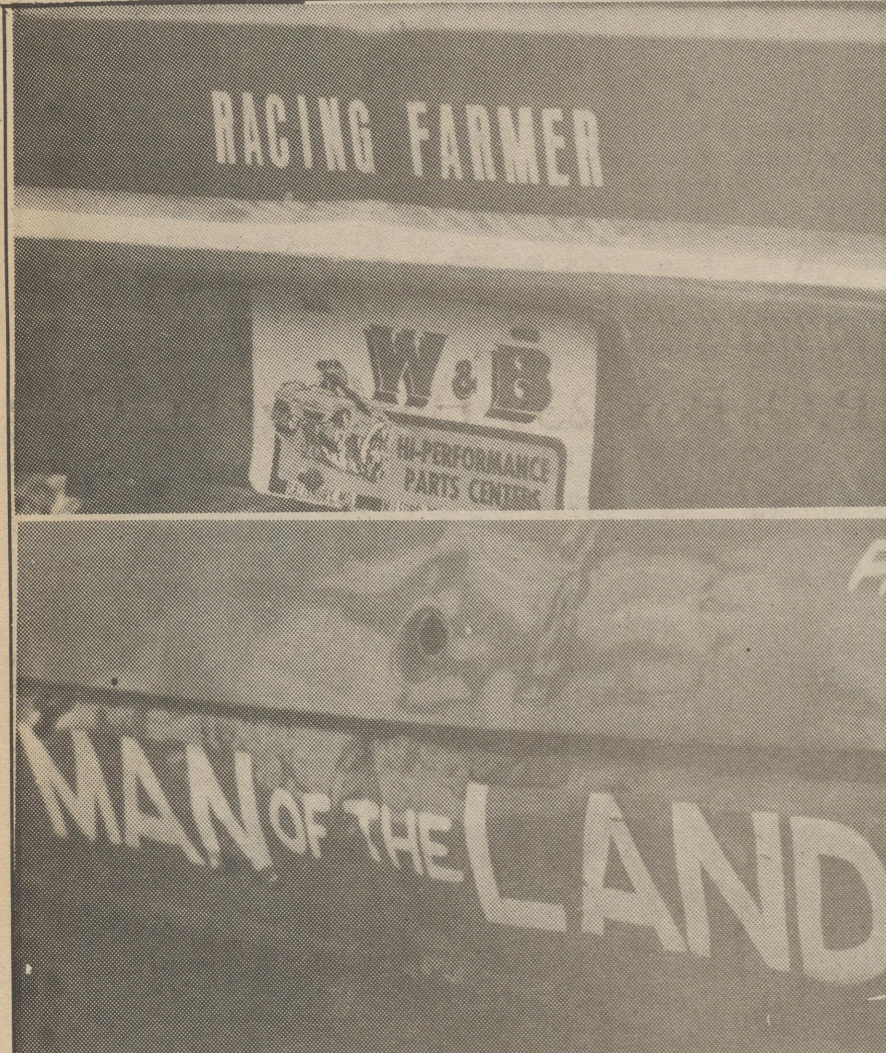

Jimmy Lee Goslee and his father James Sr. take time out in the garage for a photo. Jimmy Lee represents one of the brightest talents on the stock car scene today.

Goslee's trophies span 4 years of racing and fill the entire mantel in his home. One of these trophies is for #1 points leader at the U.S. 13 Speedway, Late Model division.

Cared for like another member of the family, this is the 350 cid Chevy motor that provided the power last year. Goslee estimates it puts out close to 400 hp.

From the remarks on the car, it's easy to see where Goslee's heart is.

Future plans? "We'll keep on racing. We have a new cam set up that broke during the last race at U.S. 13 that we think will really make a difference," said Goslee.

"I someday hope to drive a Grand National. I want to keep going in racing no matter what form it takes, I'm hooked and I love it," commented the 20 year old driving ace. "But you have to be ready to go through the door when it's opened.

"Watch this guy, he can stay close to the top."

Pipe dreams? Impossible? "Not really," was the response we got when we contacted John "The Greek" Theofilis, manager of the W & B High Performance Parts Center, who is close to the Goslee operation and an astute judge of the current racing scene.

NASCAR ON TOP AGAIN

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. - For the third consecutive year, NASCAR's Winston Cup Grand National Series claimed the world-wide lead in attendance over all other auto racing series.

NASCAR's 1978 attendance figure totaled 1,562,918 spectators, an increase of almost 80,000 over 1977 and the largest total since Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company began keeping attendance records in 1972.

Once again, the world-wide Formula One series finished second to the Winston Cup total and ahead of all other U.S. racing series, with total attendance of 1,463,000, according to the Goodyear figures.

The continuing popularity of NASCAR's Winston Cup circuit is evidenced by the fact that again it outdrew the combined total of USAC's Championship Trail (959,900), IMSA's GT Series (298,000), and SCCA's Can-Am Series (217,500).

The 1979 NASCAR Winston Cup season opens on Sunday, January 14, with the Winston Western 500 at Riverside (Calif.) International Raceway.

Then the tour moves to Daytona Beach, Fla., and the annual Speed Weeks highlighted by the Daytona 500, with record posted awards of more than $588,000; taking the green flag at 12:15 p.m. on Sunday, February 18.

Eddie Davis Scores Triple At Dover

DOVER - Eddie Davis of Smyrna scored three wins on the 12-race New Year's Eve Day card at Dover Downs Raceway held on December 30th. Davis, a former Dover Downs driving champion, has been a regular competitor at Dover since Liberty Bell Park closed three weeks ago.

Davis got his first win of the day driving Nardin's Dillon to victory in the 4th race, then followed with Sir William in the 7th and Go North in the 12th and final race. The three wins moved Davis into third place in the current Dover Downs driver standings. Don Milby of Easton, Md., and Bryce Truitt of Whalesville, Md. also held good days as each scored double wins. Milby took the first race with Miss Dove then followed with another win in the third race behind The Merchant's Ltd.

Truitt won the second race with Ricky Ed, who claimed his fourth consecutive victory and ninth in ten starts this year. Truitt got his double driving King's Empress to a 2:02.3 clocking, the fastest time of the day, in the 11th race.

DELAWARE PARK GETS NEW HANDICAPPER

The appointment of Thomas J. Baker as racing secretary and handicapper for Delaware Park's July 1-September 30 meeting has been announced by Lawrence J. Abbundi, the thoroughbred track's director of racing.

Although Baker will be responsible for day-to-day operations during the 1979 season, Abbundi retains his position as director of racing and will function as a consultant to the racing department. Baker's promotion and Abbundi's decision to relinquish the racing secretary's post stem from a five-week overlap between Bowie's summer meeting and Delaware Park's 75-day season. Abbundi will not be available for duty at Delaware Park until August 12.

Bowie has scheduled a 36-day meeting from July 2 through August 11. Abbundi is the director of racing and racing secretary at the Maryland track, where Baker serves as his assistant.

Delaware Park's new racing secretary has been an official since 1972, following a successful career as a trainer. The Laurel, Md. resident developed several top runners between 1964 and 1972 as conditioner of a public stable, including the stakes-winning Charles Elliott and Rum.

Baker, who rode briefly at Delaware Park in 1947 and 1948, later worked as assistant trainer to the veteran Bernie Bond. He was associated with Bond for 11 years.

Delaware Park Gives Record Donation

Delaware Park's successful 1978 race meeting has produced a record dividend of $303,967 for the Wilmington Medical Center and six other Delaware Hospitals.

William S. Potter, chairman of the board of trustees of Delaware Park, Inc., has announced that the funds will be distributed to the institutions on a per-bed basis.

This is the practice the thoroughbred race-track and its parent foundation have followed since 1966, when the first awards were made.

The latest grants range from $154,856 for the Wilmington Medical Center's four divisions to $14,669 for Riverside Hospital, also in Wilmington.

Other recipients and their grants include: St. Francis Hospital, $43,855; Kent General Hospital, $20,869; Milford Hospital, $26,464; Beebe Hospital, $25,255, and Nanticoke Memorial Hospital, $17,996.

Potter noted that the distribution represents an increase of approximately 50 percent over the $201,529 disbursed by Delaware Park, Inc. in December of 1977.

In 12 years, Delaware Park's operations have produced revenues of $1,312,578 for the hospitals, including this year's distribution. Of the total, $1,000,000 has been awarded in the last six years.

Explaining the sharp increase over last December's declaration which also had established a record, track president Donald P. Ross, Jr. cited the substantial business improvement Delaware Park enjoyed during its July 15-Sept. 10 racing season.

Pari-mutuel wagering averaged $793,629, an increase of 13 percent over 1977, and attendance averaged 6,804, an increase of 7.5 percent.

Track officials have announced that a 75-day meeting will be conducted in 1979, from Sunday, July 1 through Sunday, Sept. 30.

Students Attend MDA Convention

By Doug Crouse
Two students of the Lake Forest High School represented the Office Education Association (OEA) of their school at a Muscular Distrophy Association (MDA) Conference. The conference was held on December 8, 9 and 10 in New York State. The students attending were Doug Crouse, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Crouse, and Joy Oakley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carol Oakly. Doug is presently a senior and Joy is a senior and an OEA class representative.

The conference consisted of three main workshops. The first workshop was on leadership. Many qualities of a leader were given, explained and discussed among the students attending. Becoming a leader, acting as a leader and reasons for being a leader were major topics of conversation. They discussed motivation, setting goals, and the problem of apathy in our world today. A survival test was taken by individual groups as a group decision which gained the participation of all the students in the groups.

The second workshop was on fund-raising. Many new exciting and fun ideas were given on different ways to raise money for MDA. The workshop showed, step by step, all the plans that are needed in setting up an event, consisting of many people on committees for items such as food, location and publicity as well as organizing and starting an event at an early stage for a better result. One point that was stressed was the idea of setting a goal, but not setting the goal too high. It is always better to set a goal and pass the goal than it is to set a goal too high and fall short. But, one was also told that once a goal is reached, one should not stop at that, but continue on for as much as possible. Some of the fund-raising events discussed were dance marathons, Mr. Ugly Contest, hairy legs contest, bedrace, and many, many more which are contained on a list of successful MDA events.

The third workshop was on patient service and camp. Many volunteers are needed to attend camp for MDA campers. The number of volunteers determines the number of MDA campers able to attend camp each year. Volunteers are trained and interviewed and are on a one-to-one basis with their camper. Each volunteer has one MDA camper that he is to help, do for, and provide a good time at camp. A very close relationship is usually developed between the volunteer and MDA camper and a great time is had by all. Many previous volunteers who attended the conference related their experiences of MDA camp to the other students attending, showing how it was a true and rewarding experience for them. Camp is held twice a year, once in the summer and once in the winter. Campers are of all ages, but are divided as preteens (6-12), teens (13-17), and adults. Many activities are held at camp, such as swimming, baseball, arts and crafts, singing, dancing and just a great time.

The conference was very organized and of high quality and instruction. Joy and Dave would like to thank the entire MDA staff, especially Margaret Brabson, state program coordinator for Delaware, and Ann Poulas, district director for Delaware, for the opportunity to attend such a worthwhile conference. The 105 students who attended were from the states of Delaware, New Jersey, Pennsylvania and New York.

the candle-making factory in Harrington was the result of the Hansels wish to stay in the area.

The Ace Dress Company had been a Harrington tradition for more than 40 years. It was established by Irving Hochberg in 1936 at what is now the site of the Aetna Shirt Company, Clark Street, Harrington. In 1949 the Route 13 plant was built. The business remained in Hochberg's hands until 1957 when it was purchased by John E. Shroyer of Shamokin, Pa. Ace Dress then became a subsidiary of the Shamokin Dress Company. The company produced a full line of Logan dresses including Johathan Logan, Act III, Butte Knits, and Villager.

The local branch, which was managed by Lillian Pearson of Harrington, had employed 54 people. It ceased operations in December due to illness in the Shroyer family.

The Chesapeake Bay Company will begin production sometime in February. Applications will be received after February 1st.

New Hospital Program

In keeping with the persistent efforts of Milford Memorial Hospital to contain costs and at the same time provide the best available health care, Joseph B. Ahlschier, President of the Hospital, announces a new service.

The Department of Ambulatory Surgery is now functioning at Milford Memorial Hospital. This is a new but proven cost saving health care service, that is sometimes referred to as "one-day surgery."

For specific types of surgery the patient is admitted as an outpatient as early as 7 a.m. and discharged the same day by 5 p.m. Preoperative examination, laboratory and x-ray tests are performed from one to five days prior to admission.

Ambulatory Surgery provides many advantages for both the patient and the Hospital. The patient saves on the cost of hospitalization and the Hospital is able to free hospital beds for the more seriously ill patients. The saving to the patient may run anywhere from 25% to 40% through ambulatory surgery as compared to the costs of inpatient admission. Also it saves the patient time and there is less disruption to home and business routine.

Milford Memorial Hospital is able to offer this service as a result of physician acceptance and new techniques in surgery and anesthesia. All surgery is performed in the regular operating suite of the Hospital and the patient is transferred to the Ambulatory Surgery unit where they are carefully monitored by the nursing staff. Each of the six beds is equipped with air, oxygen, vacuum and a nurse call system. The unit contains a consultation area for completion of preadmission work, a nurse station, a family waiting room and a small pantry for convenience type meals.

Based on 1977 statistics, approximately 28% of the total surgical procedures at Milford Memorial Hospital would have qualified for ambulatory surgery.

The surgical procedures that may be eligible for ambulatory surgery are based on the judgment of the physician and the desire of the patient. A few of those that may be considered for one-day surgery are laparoscopy (examination of the abdomen); laryngoscopy (examination of the larynx); excises of skin lesions; vasectomy; excision of ganglion (removal of a form of tumor); some eye and ear surgery; breast biopsies; tonsillectomies and tooth extractions.

In the event of unexpected complications the patient is moved to a regular inpatient bed.

"Ambulatory Surgery is an undertaking of wide scope and, surely, advantageous dimensions for the patient's benefit. It is a contribution of Milford Memorial Hospital toward cutting the cost of health care for the residents of the area served by the Hospital. By freeing hospital beds for more acutely ill patients it may delay the need for additional hospital beds," says Mr. Ahlschier.

"The Hospital's Board of Directors has shown great foresight in approving this new health service."

"The one-day surgery is typical of the ways that member hospitals of the American Hospital Association are employing as part of the Association's organized 'Voluntary Effort' to contain hospital costs."

Milford Memorial

We're working to meet your needs. AND SAVE YOU MONEY!

The department of ambulatory surgery is now functioning at Milford Memorial Hospital. This is a new but proven cost-saving health care service. This cost-saving service, also known as "ONE-DAY SURGERY", will cover specific types of surgery on a same-day basis. It saves you money by eliminating unnecessary hospital days and reducing lost time from your work or home activities. Listed below are important guidelines concerning "amsurg".

*First, you and your physician will determine your eligibility for this type of surgery.

*All pre-operative work [laboratory, x-ray, etc.] must be completed from one to three days prior to surgery and you must register at that time.

*At the time of discharge, you must have a relative or friend escort you home.

*AMSURG is qualified for payment by most major medical plans.

For additional information telephone 422-3311, ext. 373.

VA Streamlines Program For Mobile Home Loans

Veterans Administration chief Max Cleland today reminded veterans contemplating the purchase of a mobile home that VA's loan guaranty program has recently been streamlined with their benefit in mind.

Wood Stove

Safety Seminar

Is Scheduled

GEORGETOWN - Because more people in Delaware are using wood as fuel, and are concerned about the fire hazards and many other aspects of wood burning, a wood stove safety seminar is scheduled for Thursday, Jan. 11, at 7 p.m. in the Georgetown Fire Hall, South Bedford Street, Georgetown.

The seminar is designed for interested consumers as well as dealers, building inspectors, salespeople, contractors, chimney sweeps, and insurance company representatives. Program topics will include basic considerations for the new or future wood burner, safe wood stove installation and operation, wood as a fuel and chimney construction, installation (continued to page 4)

"Statutory loan maximums have been eliminated for mobile homes and mobile home lots," Cleland said. "Now, a loan of up to the reasonable value of a mobile home and/or lot can be guaranteed. The maximum guaranty is $17,500 or 50 percent of the loan, whichever is less."

Cleland also pointed out that the recent congressional action streamlining the guaranty program also increased the maximum length of some VA mobile home loans to 15 years, 32 days from 12 years, 32 days. Other mobile home loans continue to have a maximum term of 20 years, 32 days.

"The Congress has also approved legislation reducing the active duty time required for Vietnam Era veterans to be eligible for VA home loan benefits," Cleland said.

Eligibility formerly required at least 181 days of active duty time. This has been cut to 90 days, with at least one day having been served between August 5, 1964, and May 7, 1975.

"This brings eligibility requirements for Vietnam Era veterans in line with those for World War II and Korean conflict veterans," Cleland said. About 168,000 veterans are affected.

The loan guaranty eligibility for peace-time veterans remains 181 days. Cleland said any veteran interested in the loan guaranty program may obtain complete information at the nearest VA office or from any service officer of one of the national veterans organizations.

RE:DECORATING

by Ann Rossell

or smooth vinyl swirls in quiet earth tones would be most effective.

Your prize collection may be period-style furniture. Background continuity is so appropriate in this case. For Eighteenth Century English furnishings, for instance, an oriental motif in wallcovering would be in keeping with the era. A Chinese scenic floral, rattan or bamboo pattern would have pleased Chippendale, Sheraton and Hepplewhite as much as it will you.

Porcelain, pottery and glass objects literally light up when a glistening mylar foil wallcovering hangs nearby. Picture a chrome and glass etagere proudly displaying your groupings of seashells, figurines and paperweights.

In this sparkling setting, Crystal is another perfect showcase for this wallcovering expression, be it an elegant chandelier or a cherished serving object. Contemporary mylar foils by Stauffer are easy for you to handle and apply because they're made with a strong fabric backing that won't wrinkle or rip under normal conditions.

Make your personal decorative signature evident throughout your home. It's the mark of your imagination and talent.

Your home reflects you! Your personality, lifestyle and interests should be mirrored in every room. This is your personal world, the place where you reign.

Your decorating signature shows in your color choices, it's marked in the type of furnishings you select. But why not go further than that and sign your name dramatically on your accessories? More than finishing touches, they spell out your hobbies, crafts, collections and private memorabilia.

Just as the mat and frame of a painting comply with the subject, so too do the walls of a room act as background for your decorating scheme. By treating these four large spaces with warmth, texture and hue, fulfilled by wall-coverings, you can establish the mood required for your exhibits.

Pictures, wall hangings, sculpture are immensely enhanced when they are backed with texture and color. Perhaps a sophisticated, simulated grasscloth weave

WINDOWS LIGHTEN ENERGY BILLS

Windows can be an enlightening experience. By using windows to collect the sun's heat and light you can help keep down winter fuel and utility bills.

This energy-saving tip is based on a window management concept that manages on controlling the sun's heat and light through large, well-designed glass windows.

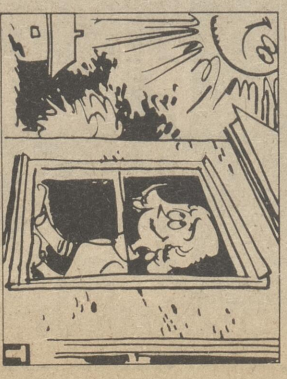

Proper window management calls for getting the full benefit of the sun's rays by utilizing large window openings in combination with high-performance tinted or reflective glasses and various shading devices.

This allows solar heat and light to be transmitted into the house at the same time it blocks out the excess heat gain and unwanted glare that can reduce your comfort.

One hundred square feet of window area can transmit enough solar heat during a clear winter day in northern climates to equal the output of a 500-watt electric heater for eight continuous hours, according to a study based on government and professional reports made by PPG Industries, the nation's leading manufacturer of window film.

Blinds, roof overhangs, trees, awnings and other window accessories also can be used effectively for shading in all climates.

Windows can shed new light on ways to save energy.

Wood Stoves Require Precautions

Experts tell us that conventional fireplaces are only 10 percent efficient, while air-tight stoves can be 60 to 70 percent efficient. But what do these efficiency ratings mean?

Delaware extension agricultural engineer Ernest Walpole explains that these efficiency ratings refer to the proportion of the total heat content of the wood that actually goes toward heating the room.

All of the rest is wasted, as heat lost through the chimney, as incomplete combustion (soot), or as heat used to evaporate moisture in the wood.

Fireplaces are attractive, says Walpole, but their low energy efficiency makes them a poor choice for thrifty home heating. However, with an efficient stove, wood can be an economical alternative to gas or oil heat.

What many people do not realize is that the highly efficient stove is more prone to dirty chimney problems and the potential hazards of chimney fires than less efficient wood burning devices.

This is primarily because less heat goes up the chimney when more is used to heat the room. Thus the flue temperature is lower, and certain volatile combustion products condense out in the stove pipe and chimney.

A collection of wood tars, known as creosote, combines with soot in the chimney to produce a highly combustible mix.

When wood starts to burn, the first thing that happens is the moisture is driven off. Dry wood contains 15-20 percent moisture by weight, while green wood can have four times as much.

After this, the volatile tars are driven off. However, if the fire is hot and fast burning, most of the volatiles are burned in the firebox. This is seen as flames above the wood.

Whatever is not burned is carried up the chimney as vapor. If the fire is not enough, these vapors will be carried outside, with very little condensation in the stove pipe or chimney.

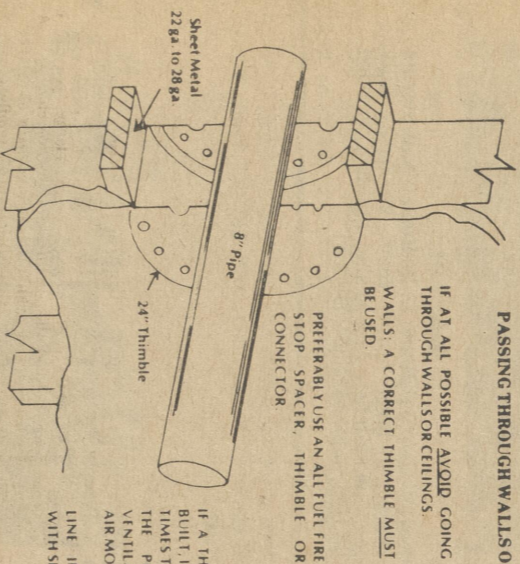

After the volatiles are driven off, the remaining wood is mostly carbon, which can be dampened off and burned more slowly.

Therefore, to operate a wood stove efficiently and safely, it's important to burn only dry wood. Heat used to drive off moisture is heat lost, points out Walpole.

It takes 1000 BTU's to drive off a single pound of water, and while the water is being driven off, the temperature of the wood will not exceed the boiling point of water. This tends to lower the entire firebox temperature.

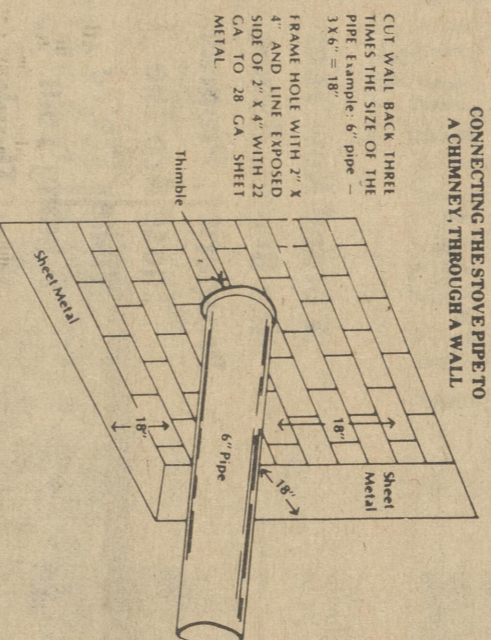

SUGGESTED PROCEDURE FOR INSTALLATION OF WOOD BURNING STOVES

PASSING THROUGH WALLS OR FLOORS

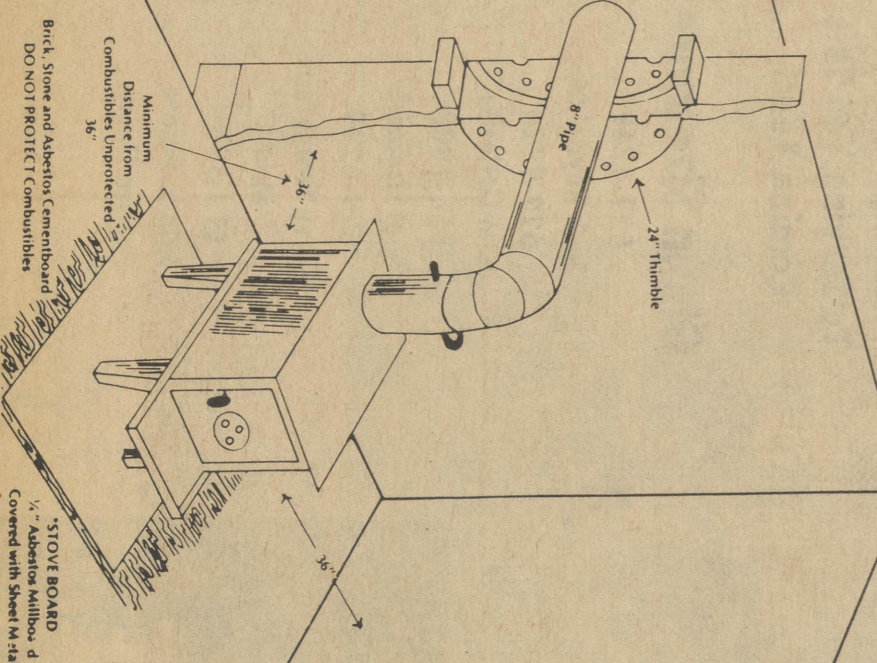

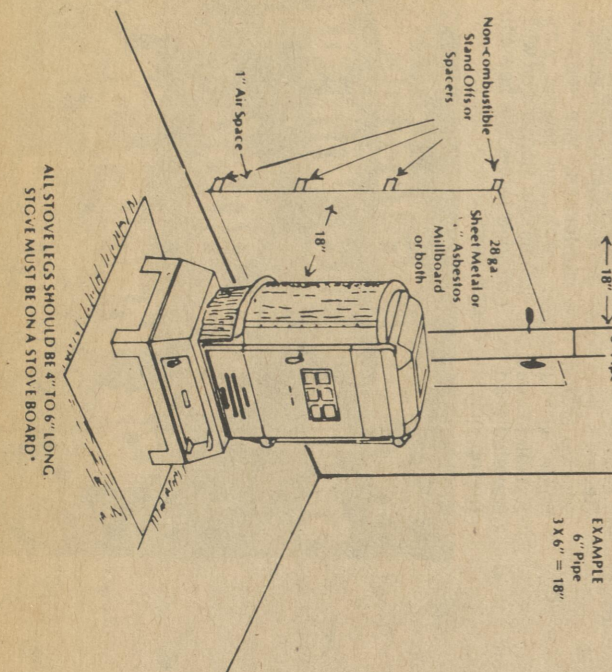

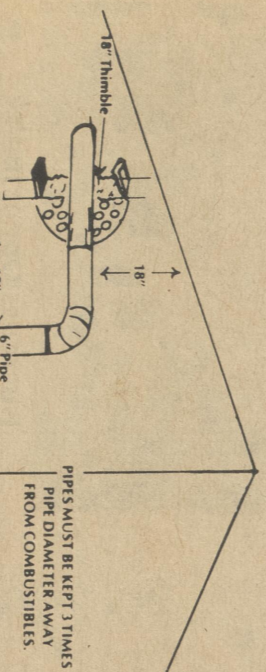

CEILING WHEN YOU MUST PASS THROUGH A CEILING, THE ALL-FUEL CONNECTOR OR FIRE STOP SPACER MUST BE USED AND INSTALLED ACCORDING TO THE MANUFACTURER'S REQUIREMENTS.

CONNECTING THE STOVE PIPE TO A CHIMNEY THROUGH A WALL

USE A THIMBLE AT CHIMNEY

As an added precaution, burn hardwoods as much as possible. Avoid coniferous woods except as kindling. Coniferous woods generally have a much higher creosote content than hardwoods.

Coniferous woods burn with a hot fire of short duration. If dampened off, they will clog up your chimney very rapidly.

Keep a small fire, warns Walpole. The firebox should not be more than half full. The flames above the wood should be in the firebox, not in the chimney or smoke pipe.

When adding wood, open the draft until the moisture is driven off and the volatiles have been burned. This should take five to 10 minutes, depending on the stove.

With experience, Walpole says, owners come to know the idiosyncrasies of their particular wood stoves. It's easier to keep a fire going using smaller pieces of wood, says Walpole. Split large pieces to a maximum size of four to five inches.

Don't completely close the damper on an operating wood stove. Allow enough draft to keep the combustion going.

On cold days when more heat is wanted, open the damper wider. At bedtime or upon leaving the house, the damper should be closed completely. Once a day, build a small hot fire and let it burn. Split some of your best wood into 1 1/2-inch to 2-inch pieces for fast burning. Burn five or six of these sticks with the damper open.

This will really heat up the smoke pipe and chimney and will clean out much of the soot and creosote.

Check the smoke pipes about once a month and clean as necessary. Clean or have your chimney cleaned once a year, and make sure the ash pit is emptied. An accumulation of ashes at the base of the chimney could reduce or stop the draft through the stove.

and maintenance.

A wood stove retailer, fire safety instructor, energy official, insurance representative and fire protection engineer will share their concern in regards to wood burning. There will also be wood stove exhibits.

The event is sponsored by the Cooperative Extension Service. There is no admission charge, but those planning to attend should pre-register by calling 856-5250.

Helpful Tips On Low-Cost Decorating Ideas
STARTING AT THE TOP

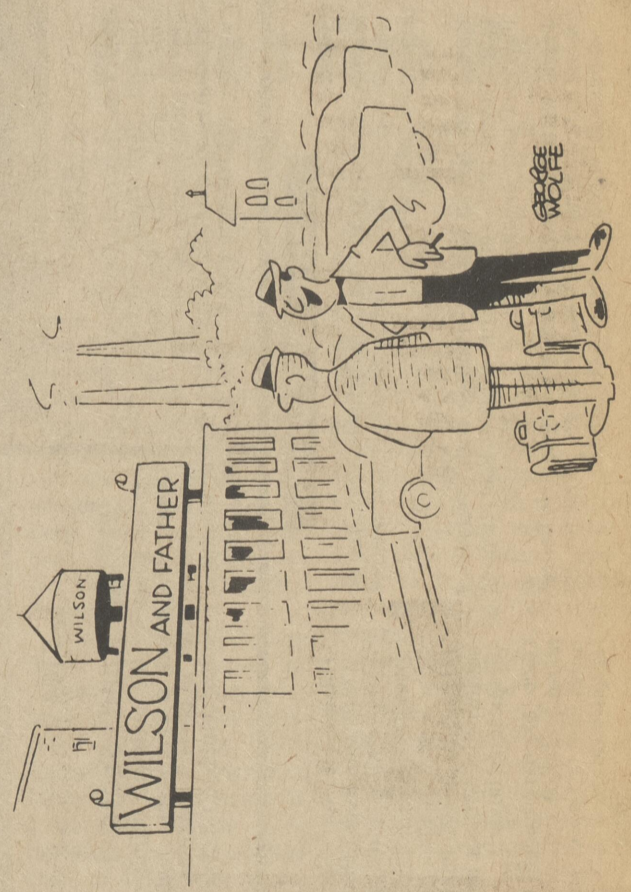

A MODERN SKYLIGHT, large globe lighting fixtures and attractive, easy-to-install prefinished paneling can help transform an attic into an appealing hobby room.

You can remodel or finish your attic for less expense than you may have imagined and at the same time create additional living space with almost unlimited uses. Often the attic is architecturally more interesting than other parts of the house, and with a little imagination and skill, you can turn it into the ideal location for children's or parents' activities. There is seldom any demolition required, so attics with their open spaces are easy to remodel. Often all they need is the addition of flooring and wood paneling applied directly to rafters.

A sloping roof allows for dramatic finishes. You might cover exposed rafters with white and add "built-up" hollow beams made of plywood and stained dark brown. If a chimney reaches upward through the area, you can add a fireplace. Construction is the key to remodeling attic space. Begin with the warm background of light or dark paneling on the walls and ceiling. Add the finishing touches with accents in bright oranges, blues or any other color you like. For example, you can give a room a vibrant, appealing look.

With the rising cost of heating homes, and even more increases forecast for the future, people are returning to the simpler, cheaper ways of heating. Wood stoves and fireplaces are becoming more and more the way people are heating their homes. As the winter sets in, wood piles, like this one, are beginning to take shape.
