Cahall Wins Re-election 364-153 In "Heavy Turnout"

Citizens Meeting Sheds Light On City Problems

By Linda L. Fleming
HARRINGTON - The budget was again the major topic of discussion as more than 50 people gathered in the Harrington Fire House for the Annual Citizens' meeting on Friday, January 5th. Elected as chairman and secretary respectively were Douglas Mills and Norma Short.

Mayor Cahall opened the meeting by reminding those present that "tonight's meeting is one of many citizens meetings held. All our meetings are citizens meetings," he said, extending an invitation for all citizens to become more involved in city government. He urged everyone to attend council meetings which are held the 2nd Tuesday of each month and to bring problems and suggestions to the mayor and council.

Cahall enumerated some of the problems facing the city: 1) Upgrading the sewerage system as mandated by the Environmental Protection Agency - Standards for effluents are particularly strict, explained Cahall, when flow is into a public source. In the city's case, effluents are discharged into a branch which then flows into a pond. For Harrington this meant a choice: hooking into the county-wide sewer system or up-grading the existing plant. According to Cahall, hooking into the county system would have been far more costly. Waste collected at Harrington would have been pumped to Frederica for treatment. Council chose, instead, to upgrade the present system at a cost to the city of $60,000-$70,000. The majority of the cost will be borne by the federal and state governments.

2) Funding the library - State funds will be available for another year and a half as specified in the original agreement. After that, the $10,000 annual cost will be the city's responsibility. At that time, several options will be open: the city alone could budget funds; a library district tax could be instituted; the city and county could possibly share the cost; or the library could be removed.

3) Inflation and escalating interest charges.

4) Aging systems and equipment - Cahall said it seems reasonable to assume also that EPA requirements will become even more stringent in the future, invariably forcing further water and sewerage system improvements.

5) Charter revision - The Charter has been in the revision process for nearly two years.

6) Reassessment - While the consensus of opinion seems to be that real estate tax revenues are entirely too low, to raise the tax rate would only result in further inequities. Since reassessment would cost the city $15,000-$25,000, council has chosen to wait for Kent County to do this.

7) Water and Sewer service rates - At present the cost of providing these services far exceeds revenues collected.

8) Trash service - The service is paying for itself, but with no provision for replacing equipment.

9) Water system improvements - Water tower painting was postponed last year. To strike it from the budget again could be inviting problems, warned Cahall. Pumps also need to be replaced. On a larger scale, many pipes

Sewer District Residents Pack Felton Fire Hall

By Linda L. Fleming
County Engineer Walter Fritz played to a full house at the Felton Community Fire Hall Monday night. Fritz outlined plans for the proposed sanitary sewer district for Felton, then fielded questions from the audience.

Also on the panel were Mayor William Myers, Sr., William Paskey, Don Culver and Ron Cregar representing Kent County Levy Court and Tim Robbins, Henry Gunther and Jim Chao from the County Engineer's Office.

The Felton Sanitary Sewer District would be a part of the county-wide sewerage treatment system activated in 1973. Extending from Smyrna to Milford, it was designed as a gravity system with pumping stations situated near all the major users. Nine such stations are now in existence. Waste is pumped for treatment at the Kent County Wastewater Treatment Plant near Frederica. The treated effluent is eventually discharged into the Murderkill River. Sludge is collected and ultimately becomes acceptable landfill.

The proposed Felton Sanitary Sewer District has been on the drawing board since 1975 when a feasibility study was conducted. According to Environmental Protection Agency funding requirements a design stage must then be completed before an application for construction can be submitted.

Initially, the county engineers office contracted Betts Engineering Company of Philadelphia to prepare feasibility reports. This information was released and in January 1977, Felton indicated an interest in connecting to the county system. A public hearing was held for Felton in March 1977 to present the information gathered and a year later Felton petitioned Kent County Levy Court to form the Felton Sanitary Sewer District. Subsequently, two additional public hearings were held. Then in the Fall of 1978 a petition was presented to Levy Court opposing the district and requesting a referendum. Monday's public meeting was the last before voters are asked to accept or reject the formation of the district.

According to Fritz, the County engineer's office has made it a policy to take no position concerning a proposed sewer district.

Financing the district is shared by the federal state and local government on a 75/10/15 ratio. The municipalities 15% share has been handled in all cases by bonding. Bonds are repaid from a portion of the yearly service charge.

Installation charges depend upon amount of pipe required and in most cases have averaged from $4.00 to $6.00 a foot, according to Fritz. The property owner's responsibility begins at his property line and extends to a point where the pipes reach the house. (For instance a 50' distance from property line to house connection if pipes were $5.00 per foot would cost $250.00 to install. It is also permissible for homeowners to install the pipes.

The yearly user fee has been estimated at $151.00. This includes amortization, operation and maintenance. Fritz claims there has been no significant increase in user cost since the system was activated in 1973. "As more communities utilize the

NANTICOKE PHARMACIST CHARGED

Former Nanticoke Hospital pharmacist Gene Cain will face drug and theft charges on January 11 in a preliminary hearing in the court of Common Pleas, Georgetown.

The charges stem from an audit of Cain's department requested when certain discrepancies were noticed by the hospital. Auditors from the State Board of Pharmacy subsequently turned their investing actions over to Seaford police. Cain is charged with possession of two kinds of amphetamines, using a forged prescription and theft by false pretenses. Several thousand pills were found in his Laurel home as well as a scale, calculator and pill bottles.

Cain was arraigned Thursday in Magistrate Court #4, Seaford and has been released on $6000 bond. He has been suspended from duty at the hospital. According to Martin Golden, director of the State Board of Pharmacy, Cain will be required to appear before that body. He faces possible revocation suspension of his license and a fine of up to $500.

Cain, 25, is a Harrington native and a graduate of the Philadelphia School of Pharmacy. He has been with Nanticoke Hospital for one year.

system, operating costs are offset," he explained.

Connection is mandatory for all homes within the district. Billing starts when the system is operable whether the individual has connected or not. Property owners have 18 months to hook-up after the system is declared operable.

Fritz was asked a number of questions by the citizens present. The following is a synopsis of his answers.

- It is anticipated that federal funding for the sewer systems will not continue indefinitely at its present level.

- There have been no failures since the activation of the county system in 1973.

- The system (gravity with pumping stations) might be compared in simplicity to a Model T.

- Billing is by the county on a quarterly basis. At present there is no provision for reduced user rates for those on fixed incomes. However, there are grants and low interest loans available to defray installation costs.

- Estimated cost of the system is $1,599,000.

- Vacant lots identified as future building lots would be charged a $15.00 yearly fee. A connector would be left at the lot. Lots not identified as building lots would pay no yearly fee, but would be left no connection.

- Eligible voters are all those persons 18 years or older who reside within the proposed sanitary sewer district.

- Large users will be charged on a pro-rated basis and are metered separately at the pumping station. Billing is on the same schedule, with no decrease in rate for bulk users.

- The system is not yet in the final design stages.

The district could be extended by petition of a group of residents to Levy Court. Prior to inclusion, a public hearing must be held. Individual homeowners may not petition for extension of the boundaries. The boundaries could also be changed in the same manner to exclude a group of homes on the perimeter. Farmland can also be left out of the district by petition to Levy Court.

- The contractor must restore streets equal to their condition prior to construction.

- Existing septic systems don't have to be removed, but must be secured against collapse. A cement tank needs only to have access covers secured. A steel tank should be filled with sand or gravel. Tile fields need not be filled in. Cesspools should be filled.

- The exact location of the pipelines has not been determined as yet.

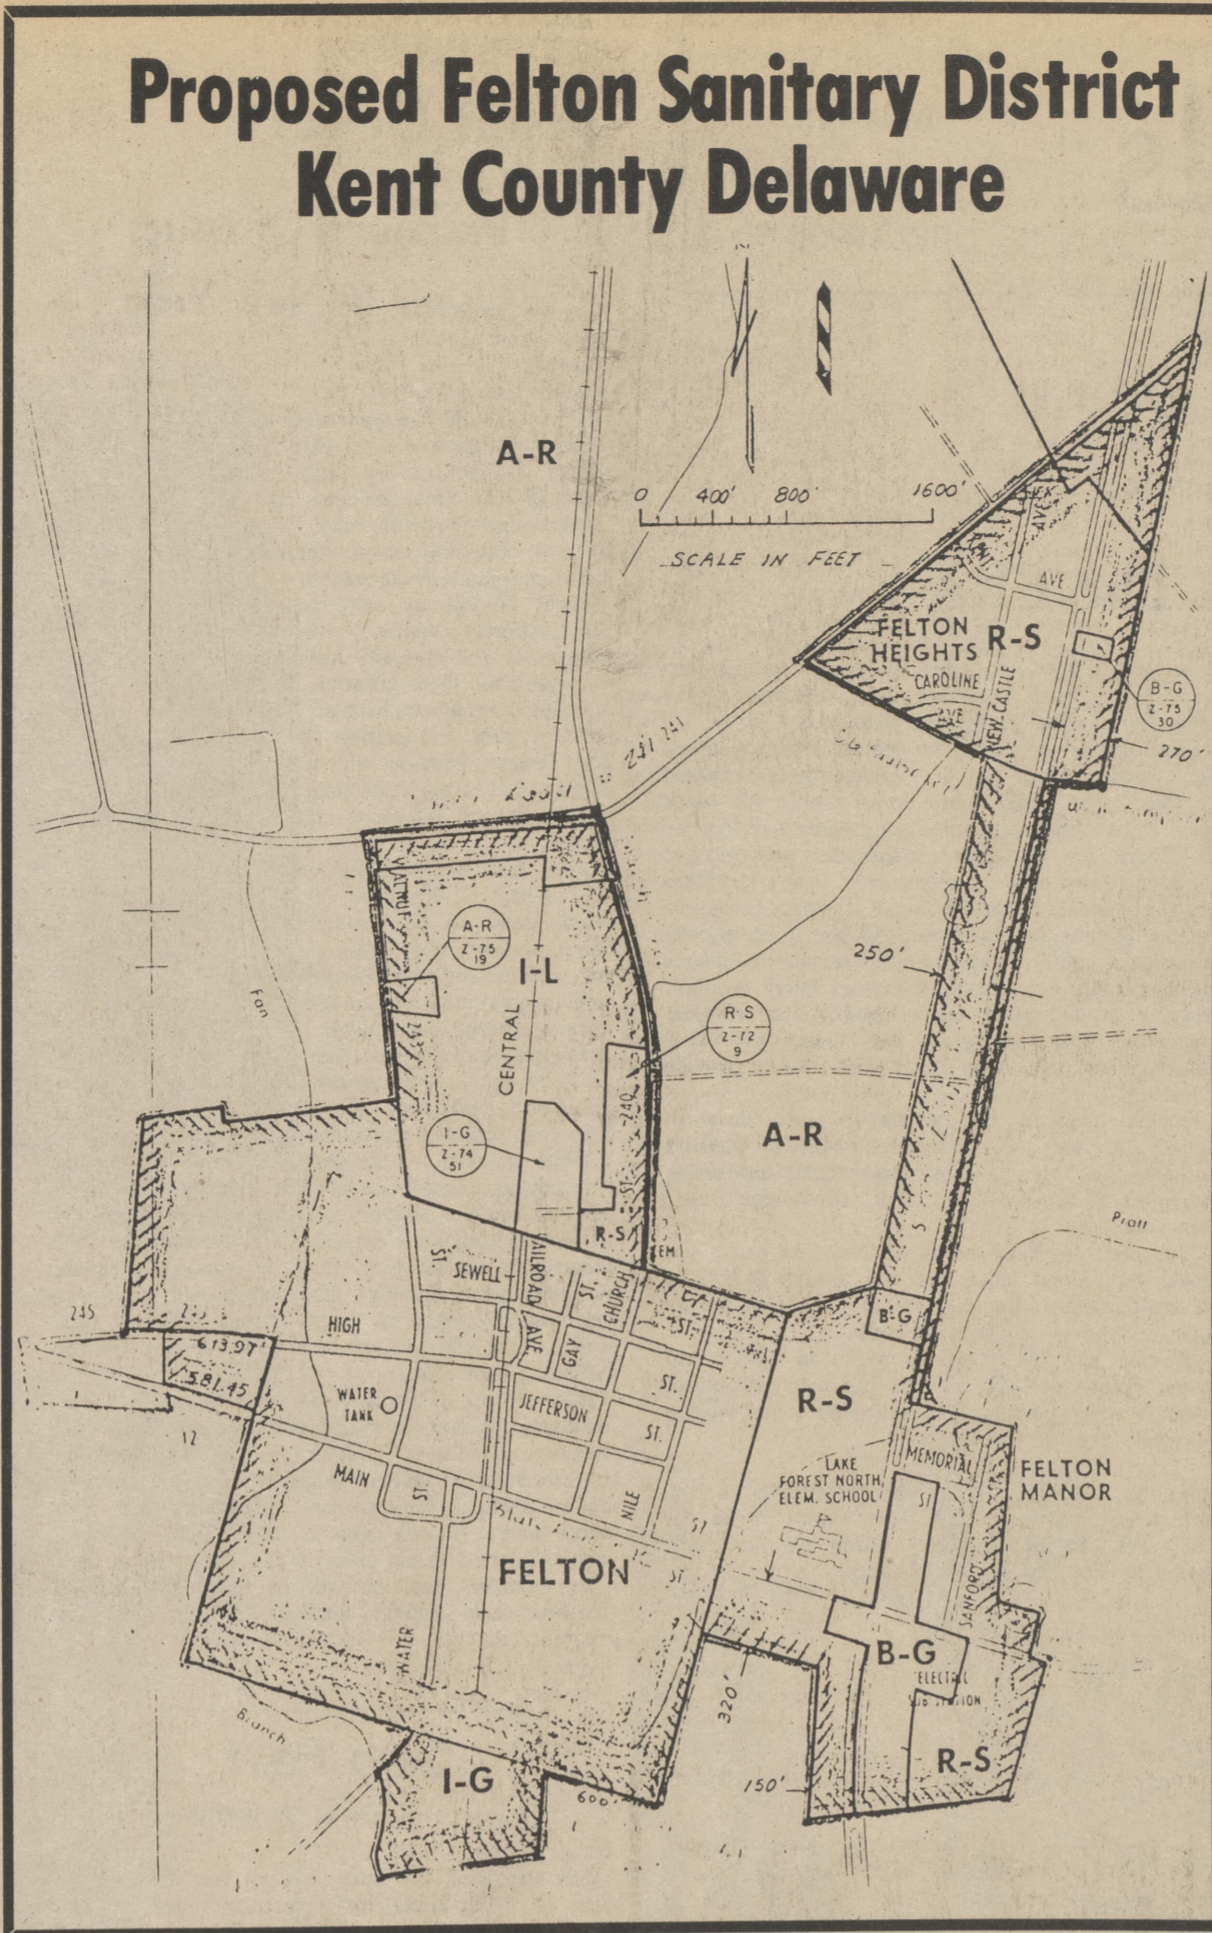

- If the referendum fails, the county will take no further action unless another petition is filed.

- The State Department of Natural Resources has the Authority to take action if a health hazard is found.

Mayor Myers added a few comments, pointing out that since 1952 he has personally worked repeatedly on the Felton water and sewerage systems. "At no time before has federal money been available," said Myers. "We were promised money a dozen different times, but never got it...this is the only time. And there's not one ditch leading out of Felton that's not polluted," he added.

Residents of the proposed Felton Sanitary Sewer District will vote on Saturday, January 13th from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the Felton Community Fire House to accept or reject the system.

Proposed Felton Sanitary District Kent County Delaware

Sr. Citizens, 'Don't Panic' There Is Help

By Linda L. Fleming
Help is available for those people on fixed incomes who are suddenly required to install central sewerage systems. This help is in the form of a little known program administered by the Farmer's Home Administration. Section 504 as it is known has funds available for grants and loans to low and moderate income homeowners who must upgrade their dwellings to meet minimum health and safety standards.

To qualify for a grant, the homeowner must be 62 or over and must agree not to sell the home within three years of receiving the grant. The total amount of the grant may not exceed $5000.

To qualify for a loan he must be unable to obtain credit from other sources but must have sufficient income (including welfare income) to repay the loan. A co-signer can be used if income is too low to adequately support the family during repayment. There is a $15,600 ceiling on allowable income. All loans have a 1% interest rate.

For more information homeowners should contact Tim Robbins at the Kent County Engineer's Office, 678-3100. He will provide the technical assistance necessary to complete the application form. Robbins meets with applicants in their homes, assists with filling in the lengthy forms and draws a diagram of the house. Applicants must provide a deed to the property, must file an income statement, an estimate of yearly expenses and indebtedness, provide a copy of a social security check and verification of employment.

The application is then submitted to FmHA where it is evaluated and then reviewed with the client. An approval results in a check within 3 to 5 weeks.

At the moment, there is no help available for those whose incomes are too low to meet the repayment ability guidelines set by FmHA. To help these people, the county engineer's office recently filed a request with Levy Court for a HUD block grant. $25,000 has been requested and was set as a priority when Levy Court considered applications last week.

The money would establish the Sewer Connection Assistance Program with money available through the HUD Small Cities Program, Community Development block grant.

Felton Sanitary Sewer District Referendum

Who Is Eligible To Vote?

Eligible voters are all those persons 18 years or older who reside within the boundaries of the Felton Sanitary Sewer District.

Voting will take place on Saturday, January 13th from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the Felton Community Fire House.

Two Registrars, one opposing and one in favor of the formation of the district, will record names, addresses and phone numbers of all voters. This is to insure and to document voter eligibility.

There is no provision for absentee ballots.

Bridgeville Council Reorganizes; Considers 201 Proposal

The Bridgeville Town Council held its reorganization meeting on Monday January 8th at the Bridgeville Town Hall. Robert L. Mulvany was elected President of the Board of Commissioners, Mrs. Mildred Brown, treasurer, James Evans, secretary, Betts and Schrader were re-elected as town attorneys and Virgil L. Kinder was re-elected alderman.

Commission appointments were also made: Harry H. Short, water and sewer; Carl C. Willey, streets, and William L. Hartzell, police. All other town employees were rehired for the coming year.

Immediately following the reorganization meeting, a public hearing was held concerning the 201 facility, a proposal to pump sewerage from Greenwood to Bridgeville for treatment in its waste facility. Dr. K.C. Goel, an engineer with Edward H. Richardson Associates of Dover, presented an updated study of the plan.

The controversial proposal was taken under advisement by Council for further evaluation.

HUD money was also discussed. A grant for $60,000 has been awarded to Bridgeville for the dismantlement of "homes and dwellings not fit for living conditions." An application will not be filed for rehabilitation of existing housing. The February 5th deadline set by HUD for pre-application could not be met by town officials.

A representative from CATV was also present to discuss cable TV for Bridgeville. He was advised to prepare a report for review.

Frederica Schedules HUD Meetings

Public meetings to discuss the application for funding of water system improvements will be held on Thursday, January 11 and Wednesday, January 17 at 7:00 p.m. in the Frederica Fire Hall. Funds totaling $200,000 will be requested through the Federal HUD Block Grant Program.

According to Frederica Mayor, George Nashold, "monies available will take care of only 20% of the needed improvements. Some parts of the system have been in the ground since 1906." The town had applied unsuccessfully for federal aid two years ago. At that time it was estimated that $870,000 would be required to renovate the system. "That figure would be over a million now," said Nashold.

He says the biggest problem is the antiquated equipment, but that water pressure in town is also low at some points. Improvements may include replacement of underground lines, pumping equipment, storage facilities or wells. "We'll let our design people tell us how to best utilize the money available," said Nashold.

Engineers from Richardson Associates will attend the public meetings to present plans and answer questions.

Community First

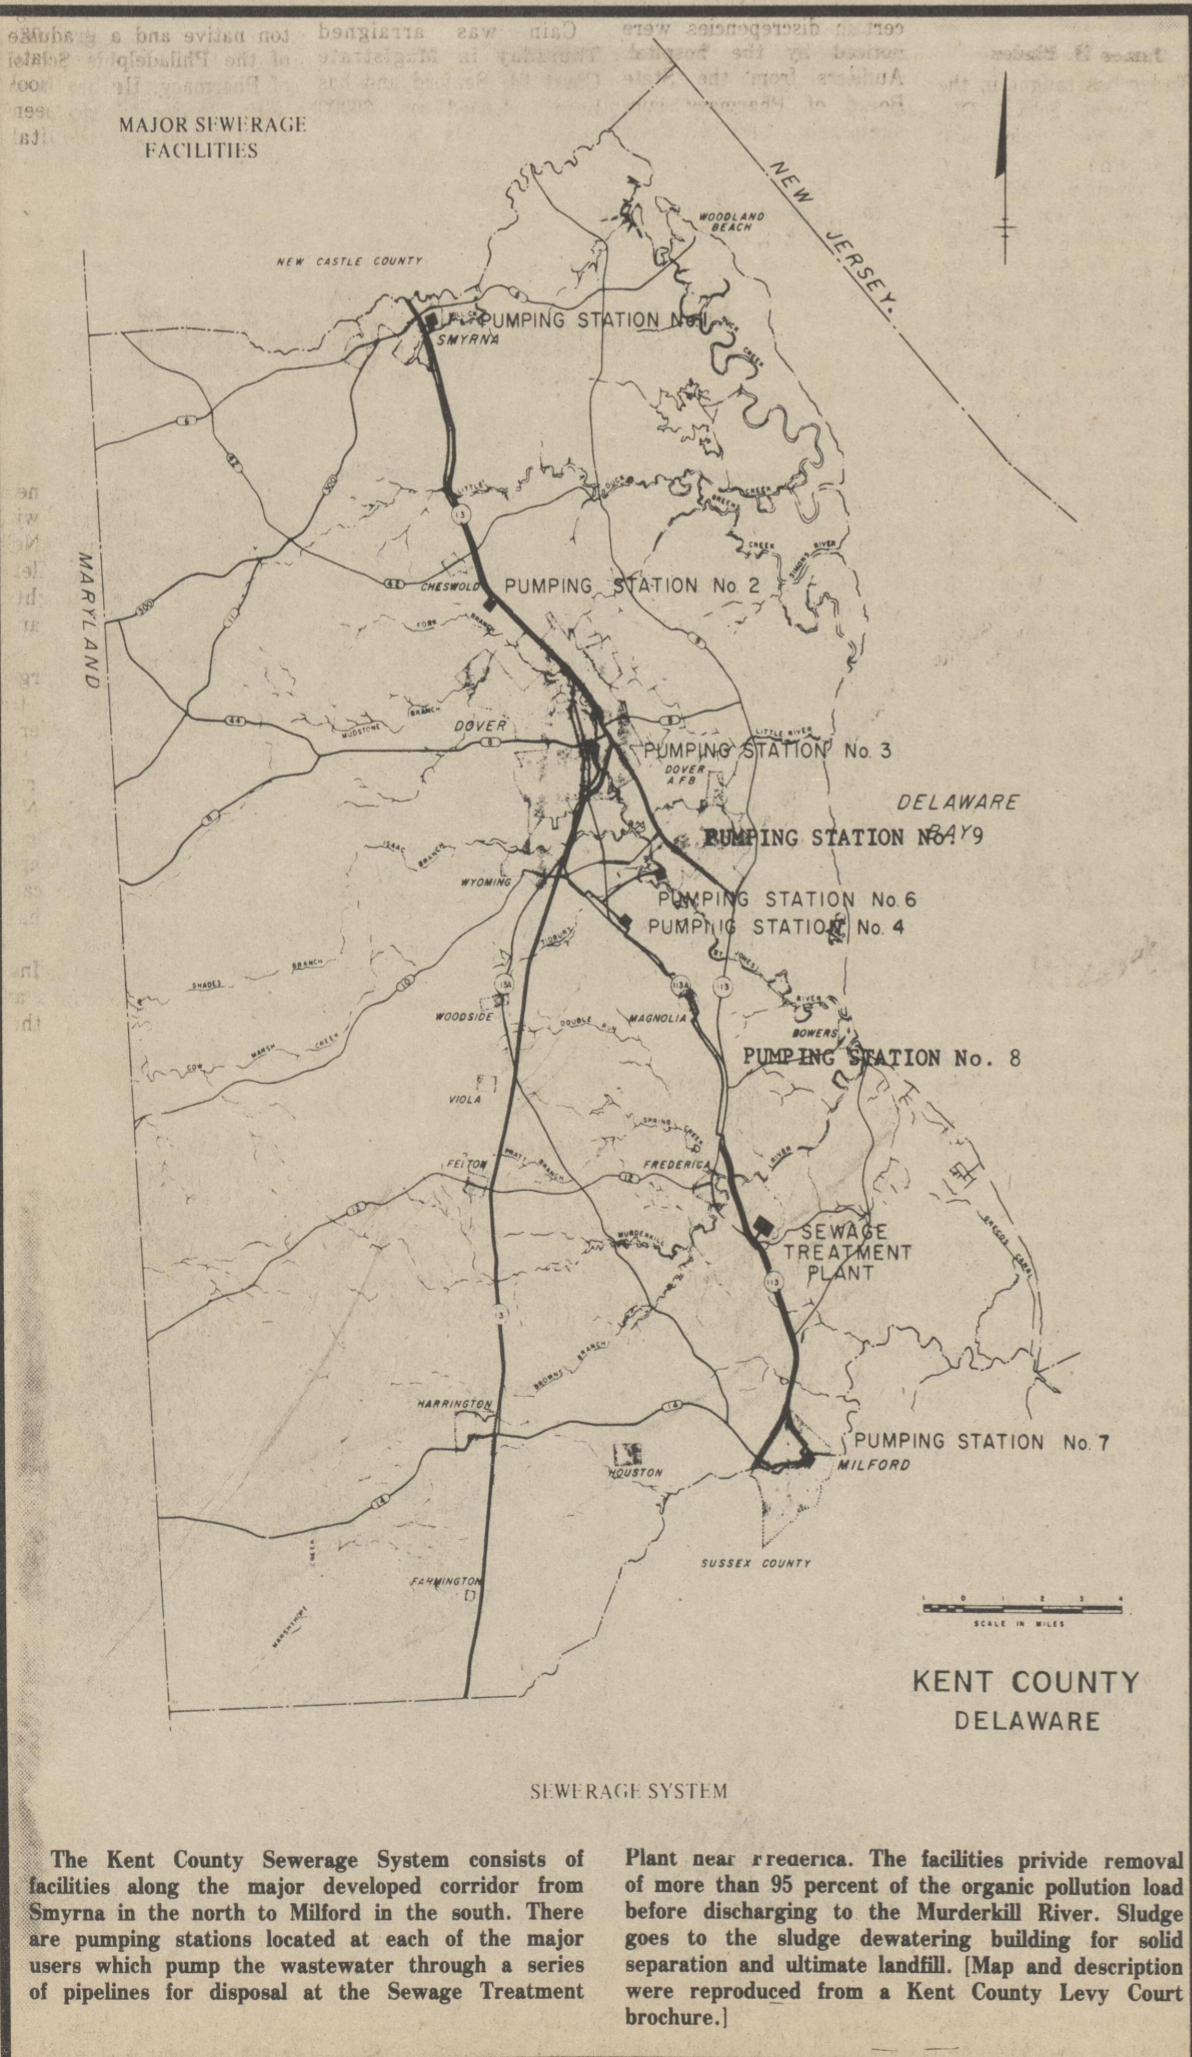

CPR Course Offered

FELTON - The Felton Fire Company Ambulance Squad under the direction of the Delaware Heart Association will present a Cardio-Pulmonary Resuscitation course to interested persons in the Felton community.

This course will teach proper actions to take and signs and symptoms of a heart attack. The course will be given January 20th and 29th from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. at the Felton Fire Station. Persons interested in this important training are urged to call Ambulance Captain Steve Childers, 284-3488 before January 24th.

This course is an example of how you can help "Fight For Your Life." Persons who satisfactorily complete this training will be certified as Heartsavers.

The Kent County Sewerage System consists of facilities along the major developed corridor from Smyrna in the north to Milford in the south. There are pumping stations located at each of the major users which pump the wastewater through a series of pipelines for disposal at the Sewage Treatment Plant near Frederica. The facilities provide removal of more than 95 percent of the organic pollution load before discharging to the Murderkill River. Sludge goes to the sludge dewatering building for solid separation and ultimate landfill. (Map and description were reproduced from a Kent County Levy Court brochure.)

Point Of View

Dredging Up The ERA

"Equality of rights under the law shall not be denied or abridged by the United States or any state on account of sex."

From those twenty-three simple words is likely to spring a furor, a geysir of emotionalism and misunderstanding. A full six years after Delaware's ratification of the Equal Rights Amendment, the question may again be brought before the state legislature. Shall women be granted equal status under the highest law of the land?

Two weeks ago a pair of Delaware representatives captured front page space when they announced their intention to co-sponsor a bill to rescind the ERA. Since then, little has been heard, but that doesn't mean pro-human rights groups haven't set up a wary guard.

ERA supporters state-wide are organizing to put pressure upon their representatives should the bill actually be considered. The national organization for women will urge legislators via letters, phone contact and personal visits not to vote for rescision. Their lobbying effort may just be "whistling in the dark," a reassurance to oneself...for few ERA supporters believe a state which passed the common sense amendment without a murmur in 1972 would 6 years later regress into an out-moded way of thinking. Surely we can't have become that fearful of progress. What has happened?

Perhaps, and this seems a fair assumption, it is merely the volume of the opponents message and the emotional charge it carries. No rational progressive legislature would rescind an amendment which is purely in the best interests of all persons.

The ERA was just three states away from becoming a part of the Constitution. Since that time, three states have rescinded. Although rescision has never before been recognized, the amendment is too important to allow chances to be taken.

Equal rights legislation no matter where adopted has caused none of the dire consequences vocalized by those who would continue to live in the dark ages. It has instead resulted in greater equality for all. There are no unisex bathrooms, support has not been denied a needy spouse, and family structure has not suddenly become obsolete. Instead, there are greater options for everyone. All are paid equally according to ability, the non-wage-earning spouse is considered an equal contributor to family welfare, property is distributed more equitably in divorce, support is awarded based upon need and child custody is awarded to the parent best able to provide nurturing.

Finally, what of the remaining worn-out arguments? "A law isn't necessary." No, it shouldn't be, but then we have an amendment protecting the rights of non-WASPS, and it too shouldn't have been necessary.

"You can't legislate morality." No, you can't, nor should you. Moral judgments will always be in the personal province. But we are all richer for having taken a stand we know to be right.

"Women will be forced to serve in the armed forces." That's probably so. But can you conceive of a war in which personnel were needed -- and women were not asked to participate?

Simply, there just are no valid arguments to support rescision of the ERA. We would all be far better off concentrating our efforts on the really critical problems in our world today.

My Opinion

by Bruce Levy

We're hearing quite a bit of talk and reading quite a bit of print these days regarding Richard Nixon's pension.

Many people are saying that Mr. Nixon should not be receiving the sums of money he is currently entitled to as an ex-president of the United States. They feel that, because of his crimes in office, he should be cut off from his lawful pension and left to hustle on his own. He can earn his own way, they claim, and has drunk at the public trough long enough.

There is a small bit of merit to this argument, but certainly not enough. If it's examined closely, this argument smacks of the same sort of selective justice that got Nixon in hot water to begin with.

If you remember, Nixon was vilified for his contempt for the law of the land. He felt that he was right and that his overall purpose, to gain re-election, was justified at the expense of the law. Simply, the ends justified the means to his mind and to those around him and his fall from the heights of American political life resulted from his erroneous judgement.

Now these people who so righteously demanded Nixon's removal are saying the same thing -- Damn the law, we think we're right.

The American system works when laws are applied equally. There can be nothing but trouble when the letter of the law is violated to fit a certain case. Time and time again this has been proved.

If our way of life is to be preserved, all laws must apply to all people -- regardless of stature or predicament.

Let Nixon have his lawful pension. Don't scheme to take it away, propose and enact new legislation to meet these circumstances in the future.

OOPS!

Regrettably, an article was clipped short last week, and readers may be wondering what more there is to know about the soon to be in production candle factory, The Chesapeake Bay Company. The newly candle manufacturers will occupy the former Ace Dress Company building on U.S. Rt. 13.

Actually, a little Harrington history was clipped from the story. It continued as follows:

The Ace Dress Company had been a Harrington tradition for more than 40 years. It was established by Irving Hochbery in 1936 at what is now the site of the Aetna Shirt Company, Clark Street, Harrington. In 1949 the Rt. 13 plant was built. The business remained in Hochberg's hands until 1957 when it was purchased by John E. Shroyer of Shamokin, Pa. Ace Dress then became a subsidiary of the Shamokin Dress Company. The company produced a full line of Logan dresses including Jonathan Logan, Act III, Butte Knits, and Villager.

The local branch which was managed by Lillian Pearson of Harrington had employed 54 people. It ceased operations in December due to illness in the Shroyer family.

The Chesapeake Bay Company will begin production sometime in February. Applications will be received after February 1st.

Rumors

HARRINGTON. According to Caputo Realty and its agent Horace Johnson, the Swain's Hotel, a land mark for many years in the area, has not been sold as yet. There were rumors flying the past two weeks that one of the major fast food companies had purchased the historical property.

If the property is sold to one of the major fast food chains, the property would be razed. Some rumors had it that the property had already been presented to the Planning & Zoning Commission and turned down. This was a false rumor. It has never been presented to the Planning & Zoning

Thoughts From Dover

Potpourri Of Issues Usher In New Year

By Governor Pete du Pont

The first week of this New Year has been busy. Along with putting the final touches on my Annual State of the State Address and my recommended State Budget, both of which I'll be presenting to the General Assembly soon, there have been several other important developments.

First, I'd like to invite you to the State of the State Address, which I'll be presenting to a Joint Session of the General Assembly on January 18th at 1:30 p.m. in Legislative Hall in Dover. I'll be outlining the accomplishments of the state government in 1978 and setting forth the goals for 1979. The Budget Address will follow a week later, on January 25, at the same time and place. Many of the local radio and television stations will broadcast the speech.

Also, last week, I announced my nomination of Mrs. Betty P. Krahmer of Wilmington to fill the Wilmington seat on the Public Service Commission. She's an economist, with experience in the federal government and with a private economic development organization. She also has vast experience working in the community and has a strong sense of the public mood over high utility rates. I am sure she'll be an outstanding member of the commission. The Senate will hear her nomination shortly and I hope that they will not delay in her confirmation.

While speaking of the Public Service Commission, I was disappointed when the PSC refused to go along with my recommendation that they consider promptly off-peak pricing for electrical users. Instead, the PSC delayed the matter for at least a year. They should have conducted hearings immediately and given the consumer the right to choose among different time of day rates. This would have saved money for the individual consumer.

And finally, I spoke last Friday with Vice-President Walter Mondale about the "Jobs for Delaware Graduates" program, which if funded by the federal government, would provide job counseling, training, education and placement for high school seniors in the class of 1980. The Vice-president and I met in his office in the White House and I am confident that he will be helpful in helping us secure the federal funding for this Delaware program.

How cold it is! The sunshine is so brilliant, but the fierce winds howl around the house, and the soil is being blown across the fields like a dust storm. I have a hard time managing about wind. I can take very cold temperatures, ice storms or whatever, pretty much in stride, but high winds really disturb me. The heater is running like mad, and the thermostat says 72, but when I hear the wind, I shiver and go looking for another sweater. One Christmas gift I received has been a blessing for these cold evenings.

Grandmother Bollinger, who makes such lovely crocheted and knitted articles, made me a small wool shoulder cape which is the greatest comfort ever. It is so cozy for those chilly places on the back of your neck. Thank you, again, Faye, if you are reading this up there in Lewisburg, and I know you are.

We are well into the year 1979. Christmas is over and the beautiful decorations are all packed up and back in the attic and the cedar closet. I am recovering from the sadness I always experience at this time. What will this year bring forth before I unpack these Christmas treasures again...provided I am given this great privilege of enjoying another year with my loved ones. This past year brought us much happiness in many ways. We saw miracles come to pass that we had been praying for during the last 20 years. We were blest in having been allowed to spend 50 years together and enjoy greeting our many dear friends at the wonderful party which Ronald and Ellen and my dear sister and brother, Jimmy, planned for us. Last year's calendars are discarded and the new ones in place. One of last year's calendars had some beautiful quotations. Above the November-December part, there was this one I hope to keep in mind: "It is blessed to give without remembering and to take without forgetting."

Our Christmas pets are gradually becoming members of our respective families. I apologize for calling Ellen's doggie a Manchester. Actually she is a tiny Yorkshire terrier, cute as a button and about as big! Our wee Cocker, "Nikki" has been ill with a stomach problem and then with tonsillitis, but is recovering nicely. He already knows his name and answers to it and will speak for his food. He is now beginning to be aware that the newspapers on the floor are not there for reading.

On New Year's Day we went to Newark to have our holiday dinner with Ron, Peggy and Blair. While we were still at the table, they played a tape that Karen, Matt and their dog "Misty" had made and sent from England. We enjoyed this so much and it made them seem so close.

Peggy is a fantastic cook and always has something new for us to try from her kitchen. This time is was a casserole of mashed sweet potatoes with sliced apples on the bottom layer. Very good. The desserts are always good and varied sweets. My choice was 3 squares of her delicious homemade chocolate-walnut fudge. But she wrapped up some of her white fruitcake I like so much and that came home with me.

Are the daffodils up yet???

November Crime Statistics

A review of statewide Uniform Crime Report (UCR) statistics compiled and reported by the Delaware State Police for the month of November indicates that the frequency of crimes which make up the UCR Crime Index (homicide, rape, robbery, aggravated assault, burglary, larceny and motor vehicle theft) increased statewide by 3.4% over November 1977. New Castle County, however, showed the only increase as Kent and Sussex Counties decreased in volume from last year's figure.

Heart Assoc. Alert

If your car gets stuck on ice or snow this winter, don't attempt to push it out. The American Heart Association of Delaware warns that the sudden, strenuous effort involved in pushing a car can put a strain on the heart.

Instead of pushing the car, try keeping a light pressure on the accelerator while shifting rhythmically between reverse and first gear, gently rocking the car back and forth. Check your owner's manual for the proper way to rock your car. If after rocking for a minute or so, you still are stuck, call a tow truck instead of trying to push the car out yourself.

Of course, the best way to avoid getting stuck in snow is to be prepared. Here are some practical suggestions:

- Park six inches away from the curb when parking on ice or snow. This gives you room to maneuver.

- Carry a shovel, set of chains, and a bag of sand or ashes in the trunk of your car.

- If your car is light, put 100-150 pounds of weight in the trunk of the car for added traction.

- Check the tread on your snow tires. With normal driving, snow tires should be replaced every two years.

By taking these precautions, you may be able to avoid getting stuck in the snow, but few car owners will be able to avoid the job of shoveling out a snow-covered car or driveway.

If you have heart disease, do not shovel snow unless you have your doctor's approval. Snow shoveling is strenuous exercise. Anyone over 40 should be sensible about tackling the job, pace themselves and rest frequently.

Delaware Horse Owners Should Be On The Alert

Delaware horse owners should be on the alert for early signs of bots in their animals, according to Dr. C. Melvin Reitnour, associate professor and equine specialist at the University of Delaware.

Hard, yellowish specks on a horse's legs, chest and neck indicate the animal is infected with bots, he explains. The small specks, often resembling grass seed, are eggs of the bot fly. When a horse licks or bites the eggs, the bots gain access to the animal's mouth. Once inside the mouth, bots are passed into the stomach where they attach to the walls of the digestive tract.

By late winter the bots develop into thimble-size grubs, and it's at this stage that bots cause serious damage to the walls of a horse's stomach, says Reitnour. Severe infestations will interfere with the digestion and passage of food, and may cause recurrent colic or even death. To control bots in horses, Reitnour suggests the following practices:

1 - In the late fall or winter -- at least one month after the first killing frost -- administer an anthelmintic according to the manufacturer's recommendations. Several products are on the market that can be easily administered, but if the bot infestation is severe, consult your veterinarian.

2 - Thirty days before treating your horse with an anthelmintic, destroy the eggs of bot flies that cling to the animal's body. This can be done by scrubbing him with warm water that has been heated to 120 degrees Fahrenheit or by clipping the hair on the insides of the knees and the fetlocks should be carefully checked for flies.

3 - Prevention of reinfection is best assured through community campaigns in which all horses in the area are treated.

are 40-50 years old and small in gauge. These pipes will need to be replaced soon to improve the flow rate. Application will be made to HUD for these improvements, said Cahall.

10) A municipal complex - It is hoped that federal monies will be available in the future to construct a combination City Hall/Fire House/Police Station.

11) The Budget - Cahall outlined various options for ridding the city of an expected $29,000 deficit. Among the alternatives were: (a) use the $22,000 earmarked for Phase II of sewerage system upgrading and not pay off the remaining $7,500 in short-term debt.

(b) Cut services and personnel.

(c) Give no salary increases.

(d) Borrow $29,000.

(e) Apply for HUD grants. (This is in fact being done. Pre-application deadline is Feb. 5th. If approved, the grant would cover water tower painting and replacing old pipes and pumps.)

12) Increasing Revenues - Citizen input was most vocal as various alternatives were suggested for increasing revenues. Among the suggestions were adopting a merchantile title or city capitation tax, increasing rates for services or the real estate tax, pursuing delinquent tax collections more aggressively and reassessment.

Several additional points were made: $5000 in taxes remains outstanding; $6000 was spent for library improvements this year, shifted from other accounts since this was not budgeted; the harsh winter caused street repair bills to double. It was also pointed out that new construction over the past year (Hi-Grade, etc.) will yield additional revenue in sewer, water and real estate tax collections.

It was also recommended that in the future a finished audit be available before the citizens meeting. By January 5th the auditor had not yet submitted a final report. Actual expenses could then be compared to the proposed budget.

The Woodbridge School Board met Tuesday night with the 9th and 10th grade acheivement test results highlighting the proceedings.

Also discussed, and agreed upon, was the loaning of the Woodbridge antique doll collection to the Bridgeville historical society.

The achievement tests were part of the school-wide testing of Woodbridge students. Testing of the 9th and 10th grades was strictly within the district as the statewide tests did not include these grades. According to district superintendent Dr. William Griffin, "We have done well this year. We fall just slightly below the mid-point nationally but this is not a relavent and meaningful figure for our district."

The tests showed that Woodbridge 9th graders have a "battery total" of 8.4 and the 10th graders 8.8 when the socio-economic factors (SES) are considered, Dr. Griffin's assesment is correct. Woodbridge is on-track with other schools with the same population base.

Woodbridge School Board Meets.....

The doll collection will be moved to the Bridgeville Historical Societies Old Fire Hall exhibit from its current place inside the Woodbridge High School. According to Griffin, "The collection was willed to the district with no strings attached. It is school property. We believe that the Society has better facilities for caring for and displaying this collection and that we should enter into a yearly contract for them to house it."

This carried by unanimous vote and the transfer will take place shortly. In other business, board members heard reports from the grading and promotions committies of the primary and secondary schools within the district. The committies promised to present their full findings to the board in the spring. At issue is requirements for graduation and general promotion and wheather such things should be on the basis of an achievement test or by teacher evaluation.

The board felt that if the state got into the business of dictating promotion policy, the schools could suffer. "If the state gets into this," said Dr. Griffin, "every school will have a drastic cut in graduation. This was tried in Oregon and ended in disaster.

Milford Hospital Announces OB Plan

Last week Milford Memorial Hospital announced a new cost-savings patient service as it opened a Department of Ambulatory Surgery. Joseph B. Ahlschier, President of the Hospital, is now announcing another innovative service to save obstetrical costs. A new "O.B. Plan" guarantees a cost of $800.00 to cover normal delivery and the usual three-day stay. Should the costs be less the patient will pay less. If the birth is a normal one without complications and the costs are over $800 the Hospital will absorb the difference. Should unexpected complications develop, such as a Cesarean Section, the plan would not apply. Nor is a fetal monitoring charge included in the flat rate.

 The "O.B. Plan" gives the patient the advantage of knowing in advance what hospital costs will be. Included in the Plan are mother's room, semi-private or better, depending on availability for the three-day stay; Delivery Room facilities; baby supplies and nursery accommodation.

State Police Fund-raising

Several complaints have been received at Delaware State Police Headquarters concerning the manner in which a fund-raising campaign has been conducted to raise needed monies for a Soap Box Derby. Many of the people who have been approached for contributions have drawn the conclusion that the campaign has been conducted by, or the solicitors are in some way connected with, the Delaware State Police.

It must be emphasized that the solicitors are not policemen, and that the campaign is in no way connected with the Delaware State Police, or the Delaware Lodge of the Fraternal Order of Police. The only campaign conducted by the Delaware State Police supports Camp Barnes, its youth camp.

Coaching

My friend Mr. Webster defines a coach as "one who instructs and trains athletes." But I don't think this is the full story.

A coach does many things. He/she functions as an example, as a teacher, a friend, adversary, sometimes a parent, and maybe even sometimes a disciplinarian. The term is tough to describe, but the results a good one gets are obvious to anyone. In my short time within this community I have met some outstanding coaches - people that are a credit to their profession. There is one in particular who I think deserves some space in this column.

In the Journal this week is a feature story on Greg Rowe, a Woodbridge senior and Delaware State record holder in the shot put. During the necessary background snooping and interview with Greg, I met Bill Degnan, his coach.

Bill and I did not get the chance to speak to each other in any sort of depth when I visited his school, but I couldn't help but get some very strong impressions of him from my talk with Greg Rowe.

Speaking with Greg and talking about his achievements in track and field, Degnan's name came up over and over. Of course, we have all heard the star athlete on TV or in the papers give credit to the coach and the team and, if you're anything like me, you have learned to take this sort of thing with a degree of salt. It's usually pretty hollow stuff designed to make Mr. Wonderful appear humble in front of the adoring crowds.

In Rowe's case, the repeated references to "Coach" were not phony by any stretch of the imagination. Bill Degnan is the reason Greg Rowe is one of this country's top track and field prospects - make no mistake about it.

How and why does this sort of thing happen? What makes a coach get so much out of an athlete? Sure Greg Rowe is an outstanding competitor. He has all the raw materials needed for competition of this type - both mental and physical, but what is it that brought him "all together"?

Probably these questions can't be answered satisfactorily. We are dealing here with some very intangible, mystifying, dynamics of human behavior and motivation. I'll take a stab at it none the less.

First, Degnan has an obvious concern for the overall welfare of his kids. He gives them individual attention when they need it, and treats them as valuable individuals with importance to the team. There is an air of respect about the gym when the team is practicing.

Degnan knows his sport inside out. He has mastered the difficult art of instruction. He has the ability to make his kids soak up knowledge and then practice until they can hardly breathe.

What we come down to is Degnan's attitude. He brings out the best each person has to offer and then refines it through careful attention. He is willing to sacrifice the hours and hours that a quality job requires.

Consider this: In the past, Woodbridge's winter track team has used a car to transport the squad to various meets. At the Woodbridge school board meeting Monday night, the members took up the question of how to transport the 20 plus participants that, this year, are involved with the team. To their credit, the board - at the insistence of Dr. Griffin - didn't hesitate one second to appropriate the money. I believe the enthusiasm and desire to participate on the part of the Woodbridge students can be traced directly to Degnan's leadership. He has infected the school with his attitude.

This, to me, is what scholastic athletics is all about. The people at Woodbridge should be proud to count Bill Degnan as part of their numbers.

Does Lake Forest have coaches like this? Talk to Ed Wheatley about his Chipman wrestlers, go in to Lake Forest on Saturday mornings and see Bill Falasco staring with red eyes at videotapes of his team's performance the night before, watch Justin Hyatt coax excellence from his small band of varsity wrestlers, etc., etc., etc.

Look around you, we have some top notch people working with out kids. They deserve our support and a pat on the back every once in a while.

Speaking of support, I was contacted earlier this week by Mrs. Kay Buck regarding the sad shape the Lake Forest Athletic Booster Club is in these days. It seems they are lacking in membership, participation and finances.

The main purpose of the booster club is to raise money for the various teams throughout the district to cover items that do not have funding in the regular budget. Goal posts, scoreboards, uniforms, and other such items are all included. "Donations are not solicited," Mrs. Buck told me, "what we need is people."

At present there is a hard core group of approximately 12-15 people who can be counted on to help in the various fund raising projects. So where is everybody else?

Are you interested in the Lake Forest athletic programs? Do you enjoy going to the games? Does it make you happy when Chipman School produces a winning team and a smiling youngster? Are you a parent of a participant? Are you a fan? Well, the Boosters need you very much.

The next scheduled meeting of the Athletic Boosters is January 18, 7:30 p.m. at the Lake Forest High School faculty room. Please plan to attend.

If you think you could get involved, call Kay Buck at 398-4124.

POOR SHOOTING SPELLS DEFEAT FOR LAKE FOREST

By Bruce Levy

Shooting a 16 for 65 from the floor last Friday night, Lake Forest couldn't capitalize on a seemingly weaker Dover opponent and, playing their first game at home, lost a close one 48-50. They showed promise in the late stages, but could not put Dover away when it seemed they could.

The Spartans were plagued most of the evening with shots that would not drop. It was the aggressive play of center Jack Spencer and a good team foul shot average that ultimately kept Lake Forest in the contest.

Said coach Bill Falasco, "We could have beaten this team, I know we're better. We contained their big shooter, John Luke, but got killed on the boards in the first period which really hurt us."

Down 11-1 after the first period, the Spartans looked flustered in the face of Dover's aggressive zone defense. Dover's Matt Auen stole the ball repeatedly to add to the confusion and making matters worse, Lake Forest could not find the basket. The shots were being taken, but nothing was falling. Offensive and defensive rebounding also eluded the Spartans as nothing at all seemed to work.

Falasco brought the team back on track into the second period as they began to show signs of improvement. Halfway into the second period Quinten Hendricks and Jack Spencer both forced turnovers which resulted in baskets and began to bring the Spartans into the game. It was lack of consistent rebounding that was hurting the Spartans most at this point.

With 2 minutes to play in the first half, the score stood at 22-18 with Lake Forest forcing Dover turnovers time after time. The score didn't show it, but Lake Forest was playing a better ball game.

The third period belonged to the Spartans. Behind Spencer, who began to find his place under the boards and locate the basket, Lake Forest rallied to tie the score at 26-all after the first minute of play.

They controlled the tempo and used the man to man with effectiveness, confusing the now directionless Dover squad. Mark Smith's defensive play on the outside perimeter didn't permit Dover to penetrate to the inside as they had been doing with ease in the earlier stages of the contest.

Dover's once potent fast break disintegrated into chaos as Lake Forest went ahead 34-30 with a minute to go in the third. A foul called on Spencer resulted in two points for Dover and at the end of the period, it was 36-32, Lake Forest.

"These guys don't quit," said Bill Falasco of his team, "I think they realized that Dover wasn't any better than they were."

In the fourth period, the Spartans continued to march but Dover appeared to regain their once lost poise.

Dover started to find the range from the floor and pulled ahead 42-39 as Spencer was repeatedly called for fouls. Donald Perry took up any slack to keep Lake Forest in the game but Dover was applying pressure. Spencer was finally called for his 5th foul and left the game. Said Falasco, "Jack was our key. Losing him in the closing minutes definitely affected the outcome."

Dover was obviously disturbed by the defensive play but their Morris Gilhurst was sweeping the boards to keep possession of the ball.

Quinten Hendricks hit a 40 footer at the sound of the final buzzer but it was too little too late as Lake Forest lost by two points to go 4-3 on the season.

On Friday, Falasco will lead his team against what he feels will be their toughest contest to date - Cape Henlopen.

"These people are the cream of the crop in the Henlopen Conference," he said. "Cape's first 11 men are 6'3" or better. They are all experienced with two of them all-conference players."

Planning anything different against them? "Not really," Falasco replied, "we can not stall the ball, and we can not allow ourselves to be intimidated. If we play the way I know we can, stick to a tight man to man, we will make it interesting."

Chipman Outclasses Delmar; Remains Unbeaten

By Bruce Levy

Hours of grinding practice during the Christmas vacation paid dividends for coach Ed Wheatley and his Chipman wrestling squad as they enjoyed a convincing victory over visiting Delmar last Thursday afternoon, 57-21.

Said Wheatley, "The boys were very aggressive. I saw some solid improvement. Those who worked out with me over the holidays were more than ready and I think the score reflects it."

Thursday's match was the first home stand for Chipman and marks the second win in as many contests. There are eight remaining on their schedule.

Forfeitures, or having no available man to compete in a particular weight class, were a problem to both Delmar and Chipman. Out of Delmar's total of 21 points in the final score, 12 of those points were on account of a no-contest forfeit with Delmar sacrificing an even higher overall amount to Chipman. The first 3 scheduled matches: 76 pound, 82 pound, and 88 pound were forfeited by Delmar, with the 82 pound division being a double forfeit, or one made by both sides.

Tim Noble started things off for Chipman in the 94 pound by drawing probably one of Delmar's best grapplers. Noble had a "Pretty good match but was put on his back in the last period. The kid was tough and had experience," according to the coach. Noble lost by a score of 6-1.

At 100 pounds and wrestling in competition for the first time this season, Abner Baird dominated his Delmar counterpart for the entire 3 minutes. In the first period Baird got on top and was inches from a pin and the second period saw him pull off a reverse to stretch the score to 6-0. In the final minute, Baird was called for an illegal hold giving away the only point his man would receive as the final tally stood 6-1.

One of Wheatley's pride and joys, David Lapinski, again represented the 106 pound class and for the second straight meet, registered a quick pin. As Lapinski came off the mat after his 26 second triumph, the coach was heard to say, "What took you so long?" Lapinski is thought by many to be one of Lake Forest's best future hopes.

Kenny Kline kept up the pressure on Delmar in the following 112 pound class, pinning his man in the first 24 seconds of the contest. Commented Wheatley, "Kenny could have actually taken him in 15 seconds. He had him down and just lost the hold."

Adding insult to injury, Delmar next faced Dwayne Wooters in the 118 division. Wooters came out quickly and muscled his opponent from the start. He finally won by a pin at 39 seconds into the second period but not without giving up a point penalty for what the refs call "overaggressiveness."

Chipman then forfeited the 124 pound category as the usual starter, Alan Giddens weighed in too heavy for legal competition. Giddens did wrestle in the exhibition matches however and took just 60 seconds to win by a pin. As Chipman has no back up for this weight class, Giddens will have to slim down in order to keep the team competitive in the weeks ahead. The 124 is especially tough and Giddens proved his worth during last week's win in Milford.

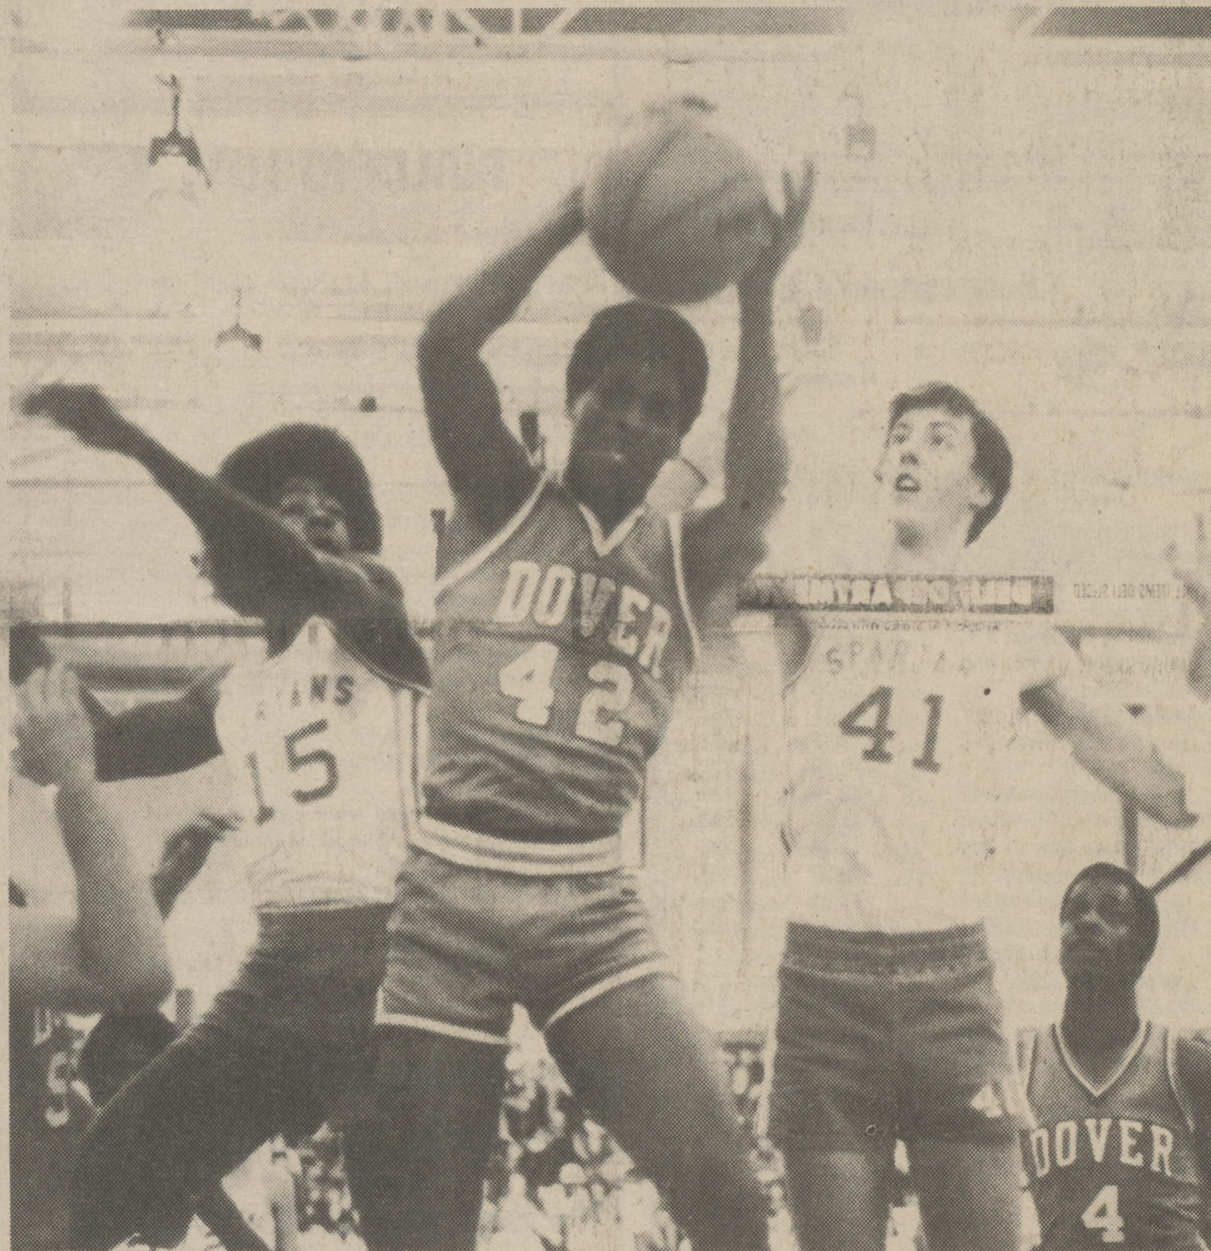

At this point in the afternoon, the score stood 33-9, Chipman.

Still showing his inexperience but putting up a valiant battle, 130 pounder Paul Rash, was pinned with 2 seconds remaining in the first period. This was the 8th grader's second loss in a row in this very demanding class.

Sheldon Powell, David Reirdon, and Jeff Muehlison, 136, 142, and 148 pounds respectively, all won without getting out of their seats. Delmar had no competitors and was forced to forfeit all three. With that gift, the lopsided score read 51-15.

Does drawing a forfeit match please these competitors? "No way," Wheatley exclaimed, "My kids don't like it a bit. They practice hard and come here to wrestle. Nobody really wins in situations like this."

Seventh grader Chris Killen was slated for his first match for Chipman in the 155 pound class but Delmar again could not field a competitor and forfeited the 6 points. He did wrestle in the exhibitions however and Quinten Hendricks (#15) and Jack Spencer (#41) show how tough the rebounding was in the first period. Later, Spencer began to dominate until he was benched for foul problems.

First Duel Meet, First Win For L.F. Varsity

By Bruce Levy

Justin Hyatt's small, but capable, wrestling team rolled over Dover last Wednesday night to win their first duel meet of the season.

The Spartans recorded 6 pins, 4 in the first period, 2 major and 1 minor decision in an impressive showing of team aggressiveness and determination.

Dover "wasn't that tough," commented Hyatt, "but 6 pins out of 10 isn't bad. I couldn't have been happier with what I saw out there."

Charles Jones started things off for the Spartans in the 100 pound class, winning a 7-5 decision at the expense of Tony Herd.

Then Lake Forest forfeited the following match, 107, due to having no available wrestler. Bryon Ecenrode, part of the wrestling Ecenrode family, is the usual representative in this division but was absent from school Wednesday and, according to conference rules, could not compete that night. Ecenrode was said to be wrestling the flu.

The first pin came from Jeff Grove at 114 pounds. He held his opponent helpless after only 41 seconds and sparked the remainder of the Lake Forest squad. "What can I say, Jeff just took him down and held him there," said the coach. "I knew we were rolling then."

121 pounder Ken Williams dominated his man in the following match, winning 10-0 and capturing 4 team points on a major decision. In wrestling, a win by 8-11 points earns 4 extra team points.

James Phillippi lost the first match for Lake Forest. He was pinned in 1:49 by Walt Mecure. "Mecure is one of their best," said Hyatt, "James is far less experienced and I was pleased with his performance. I think he made a good showing against a very tough man."

At 134, Dave Brown won by pin with 6 seconds remaining in the second period.

He was followed by 140 pounder Larry Kosiorowski who took his man down in 2:58.

The pin streak was broken in the next class, 147, when Hyatt could not produce a wrestler. "We have someone to fill this spot," he said, "but he was absent. We'll have someone in this spot in the future."

A victorious Chipman wrestler lets the world know: "I won." Chipman defeated Delmar 57-21.

The Lake Forest girls varsity basketball team romped over Dover Friday night 58-46. The Spartans were led by Laura Newnom with 22 points and some aggressive rebounding as shown above.

Next, co-captain Larry McCombs beat a tough opponent, John Bradley, 10-1 for a major decision in the 157 pound division. Louis Hendricks continued the rout at 169 completely dominating his man in 42 seconds to register the pin. Hendricks looked awesome in the match and remains one of Lake Forest's premier grapplers.

Jim Fleming showed he had recovered totally from the Salisbury Invitational and won by a pin with 9 seconds remaining in the contest. Fleming had controlled the match, and was winning 15-2 at the time of the final hold.

In what Hyatt call "the best I have seen him go," Richard Dennis whipped his Dover heavyweight counterpart class in 1:30. Looking ahead to Lake Forest's next contest, Smyrna will come to the Spartan gym on January 10th.

Said Hyatt, "Smyrna will be a very demanding match. They are the league's powerhouse. If we can give them the type of intensity that Dover got from us, we will be in there."

"We can't wait for them," he added, "we have got to take it to them."

Lake Forest will be wrestling without Louis Hendricks against Smyrna, something that will definitely affect the Spartans. He hurt his wrist in practice earlier this week and will not be in shape to wrestle in his usual 169 pound slot.

Hyatt plans to juggle some men around to fill the hole but has no definite plans as of this writing.

Said Hyatt, "I'll just wait and see how the practices are going." One of his options include moving Jim Fleming to 169.

Increased Illegal Trapping Activity Causing Problems

At least one illegal Kent County trapper received a surprise when he checked his traps last weekend...they weren't where he had set them. A Division of Fish and Wildlife Environmental Protection Officer had gotten there ahead of him. The traps have been disposed of.

The Division of Fish and Wildlife is becoming increasingly alarmed by what appears to be a substantial amount of illegal trapping activity in Delaware. Particularly disturbing is a high number of cases involving the use of dangerous large conibear type killer traps set illegally for taking raccoons in agricultural and residential areas. These traps, designed to kill the animal immediately upon capture, are especially hazardous to hunting dogs. They are illegal in any upland areas such as woodlands or agricultural lands in Delaware.

Since the 1978-79 Delaware trapping season is in full swing, and high fur prices have caused a renewed interest in legal trapping as one way of earning a supplemental income, the Division has prepared the following information for trapping regulations currently in effect in Delaware for trappers and the general public alike.

General Provisions

1. Trapping may be done only in the open season and with permission of the landowner.

2. All traps must be visited every 24 hours by the trapper.

3. All traps except muskrat traps must be tagged with a metal tag identifying the owner. Tags are available for this purpose from the Division of Fish and Wildlife.

4. Traps may be set in wetland areas only. No traps may be set anywhere in upland areas such as woodlands or agricultural lands.

Muskrats

The muskrat is the primary furbearer taken in Delaware. Trappers harvest in excess of 50,000 Delaware muskrats each year. Muskkrats may be taken in season statewide by the use of traps with the following exceptions:

- MUSKRATS MAY NOT be taken by:
 1. Shooting or clubbing.
 2. By the use of diving box traps.
 3. By destroying or damaging their houses or lodges.

Mink

The mink is a minor furbearer in Delaware. The Division of Fish and Wildlife estimates that fewer than 50 mink are caught in Delaware each year. Mink may be taken in season on wetland areas statewide by the use of traps.

Otter

The otter is common in Delaware wetlands. It is a strong intelligent animal which travels over a large territory and may not revisit an area for 2-3 weeks. Otter are difficult to trap and hard to hold. Sixty otter were tagged in Delaware in 1977-78. Otter may be trapped statewide in season by the use of steel traps. OTTER MAY NOT be taken with large killer traps such as the 220 or 330 conibear. All otter legally trapped in Delaware must be tagged by Division personnel in order to be exported.

Raccoon

The raccoon is a major fur species in Delaware with approximately 15,000 pelts marketed each year. Of these, roughly half are sold by trappers and half by hunters using dogs. Because the value of their furs has increased significantly in the past few years, much illegal trapping has been experienced. Raccoon may be trapped only in the area east of Routes 13 and 113 from Wilmington south in New Castle and Kent Counties.

Raccoons may be trapped in the above area only with:

- A. Leghold or box traps at any time of the year in wetland areas.
- B. With 220 conibear killer traps:
 1. Only during muskrat season.
 2. Only on tidemarshes in the above zone.
 3. Only with the landowners written permission.
 4. Only with each trap permanently tagged with the owner's name and address.

In Sussex County and in Kent and New Castle Counties west of Route 13 and 113:

- A. Raccoons may not be trapped by any method.
- B. Raccoons may be hunted and killed at night with dogs only during the raccoon hunting season.
- C. Raccoon den trees may not be cut, set on fire or damaged in any way.

Red Fox

Red Fox are common in Delaware and are hunted with dogs - chase only. They may not be trapped or sold at any time. Red Fox may be killed only when caught in the act of destroying poultry by the owner of the poultry.

Grey Fox

The Grey Fox is unprotected in Delaware. It may be hunted but traps may not be set for it except in wetland areas.

The Division of Fish and Wildlife recommends that landowners discover illegal traps on their property do the following:

1. Pick up all traps illegally set.
2. Contact the Division of Fish and Wildlife at 678-4431 (678-4580 week-ends or nights). An enforcement officer will be sent to confiscate the traps and investigate the case.

won a convincing contest over a heavier opponent. Killen was outweighed by 10 pounds and still registered the win, 3-2. Commenting on his new representative in the 155 division Wheatley said, "Chris is a little short, but he's gutsy. He needs some training as he is brand new to the sport but we're sure he'll be an asset. Even if he loses, at least it won't be a forfeit."

It was Chipman's turn to forfeit in the 165 to bring the score to 57-21.

Greg Bell, unlimited class, had no opponent in regular competition but he did wrestle in the exhibitions. He pinned his man in less than a minute and in other exhibition match, Chipman's Wayne Kelly won by a pin in the third period.

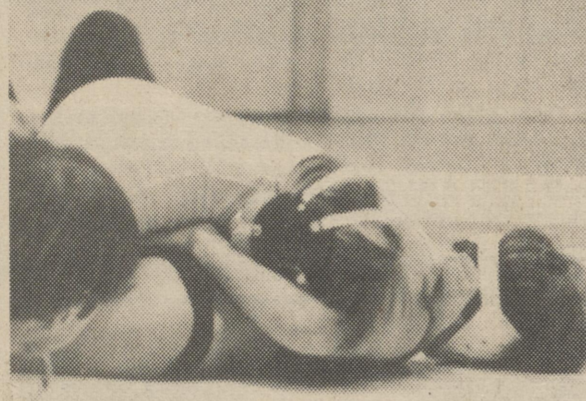

Looking forward to the meets ahead, Chipman faces a stiff challenge. They will go against Seaford this Friday, but according to Ed Wheatley, "We look for a win. It's the following contest that will test our character."

On Monday, Chipman will wrestle one of the top squads in the conference, Caesar Rodney. This will be a tough one," said the coach. "We have usually been able to hold our own against C.R. but we must be at our best." The match against C.R. will get underway at 4 p.m. at the Chipman School.

STALKING THE 60 FOOT "PUT"

By Bruce Levy

At 10 a.m. on Saturday morning, with snow covering the ground and a chill wind in the air, Greg Rowe is just beginning to work up a sweat. He is tossing little yellow balls around the Woodbridge gym and stalking the 60 foot "put."

After two years of building a name for himself in the world of track and field, Rowe has emerged as one of the nation's premier talents. He is the current state record holder and state champion shot putter with a best effort of 59 feet 4 inches, recorded in the recent Christmas Relays at Lehigh University.

Shot putting demands unusual abilities from its participants. The common stereotype of the hulking heavyweight does not begin to approach reality. In order to throw the small 12 pound circular ball a ballet dancer's balance and grace must be combined with a powerful thrust of the legs and arm. All the muscles of the body must work in harmony as the thrower skips across a small area, uncoils the crouched body, and "explodes" the ball forward. It is no small feat. The successful throw is a physics lesson as well as an athletic achievement.

Under the expert and sensitive guidance of Woodbridge coach Bill Degnan, 6'1", 217 pound Rowe has mastered these complex skills. Watching him put the shot a few times, it becomes obvious that Rowe has the makings of an olympian. Practically every University on the East Coast, including every one of the Ivy League schools, are well aware of this fact as evidenced by their fast and furious offers of scholarship. Rowe takes it all in stride, he seems to be more interested in preparing for his next winter meet and breaking the 60 foot barrier.

Shot putting has not always been a priority in Greg Rowe's life. It started as a mere pastime to build strength for the coming baseball season.

"I was a football player primarily," said Rowe, "winter track seemed just a good way to keep myself fit during the lay-over till baseball started. Coach Degnan encouraged me to work a little harder than I had planned though."

Rowe's ability soon became apparent and as a freshman he placed a respectable 3rd in the conference meet with a throw of 47 feet 9 inches.

"Being a freshman, it was a thrill going against the established seniors in competition," added Rowe, "looking back, I think a lot of them hated me for beating them like I did."

Still not completely committed to track at this stage, Rowe again played football for Woodbridge in his sophomore year. When the gridiron wars were over, he returned to Degnan's fold for another winter season of manhandling little round iron balls.

"Coach told me I could make it big, and seeing his confidence, I began to work seriously," commented Rowe. Indeed he did -- that year the state indoor title came to rest at Woodbridge but not without some anxious moments.

"I was young and nervous," said the 217 pounder, "as it was my first important big meet. Making things worse, I wasn't throwing well at all."

"Coming out of the preliminary competition I was in second place with my confidence very low. The coach approached me and told me that if I couldn't do better than that, I should pack up and go home."

"Hearing that, I got angry -- at myself and especially at him. In the finals, I tossed off a winning 52 footer and had a good laugh on the coach," Rowe recalled with a tell-tale smile.

In the spring season of his sophomore year, Rowe continued to dominate the Delaware state competition throwing a 53 foot, six inch distance to take the state title again. Was he pleased? "Not really," he said. "I had thrown a 54' 10" the week before and couldn't match it."

Now firmly established as Delaware's premier putter, Rowe turned to track full time for his junior year. At the winter meet, Rowe claimed his first state record in what was to be a long string of such feats. On his second toss, Rowe hit 57'2" to beat the old mark by almost a foot. A foot in shot putting sounds small but actually it's a long, long way. "It felt great," Rowe said.

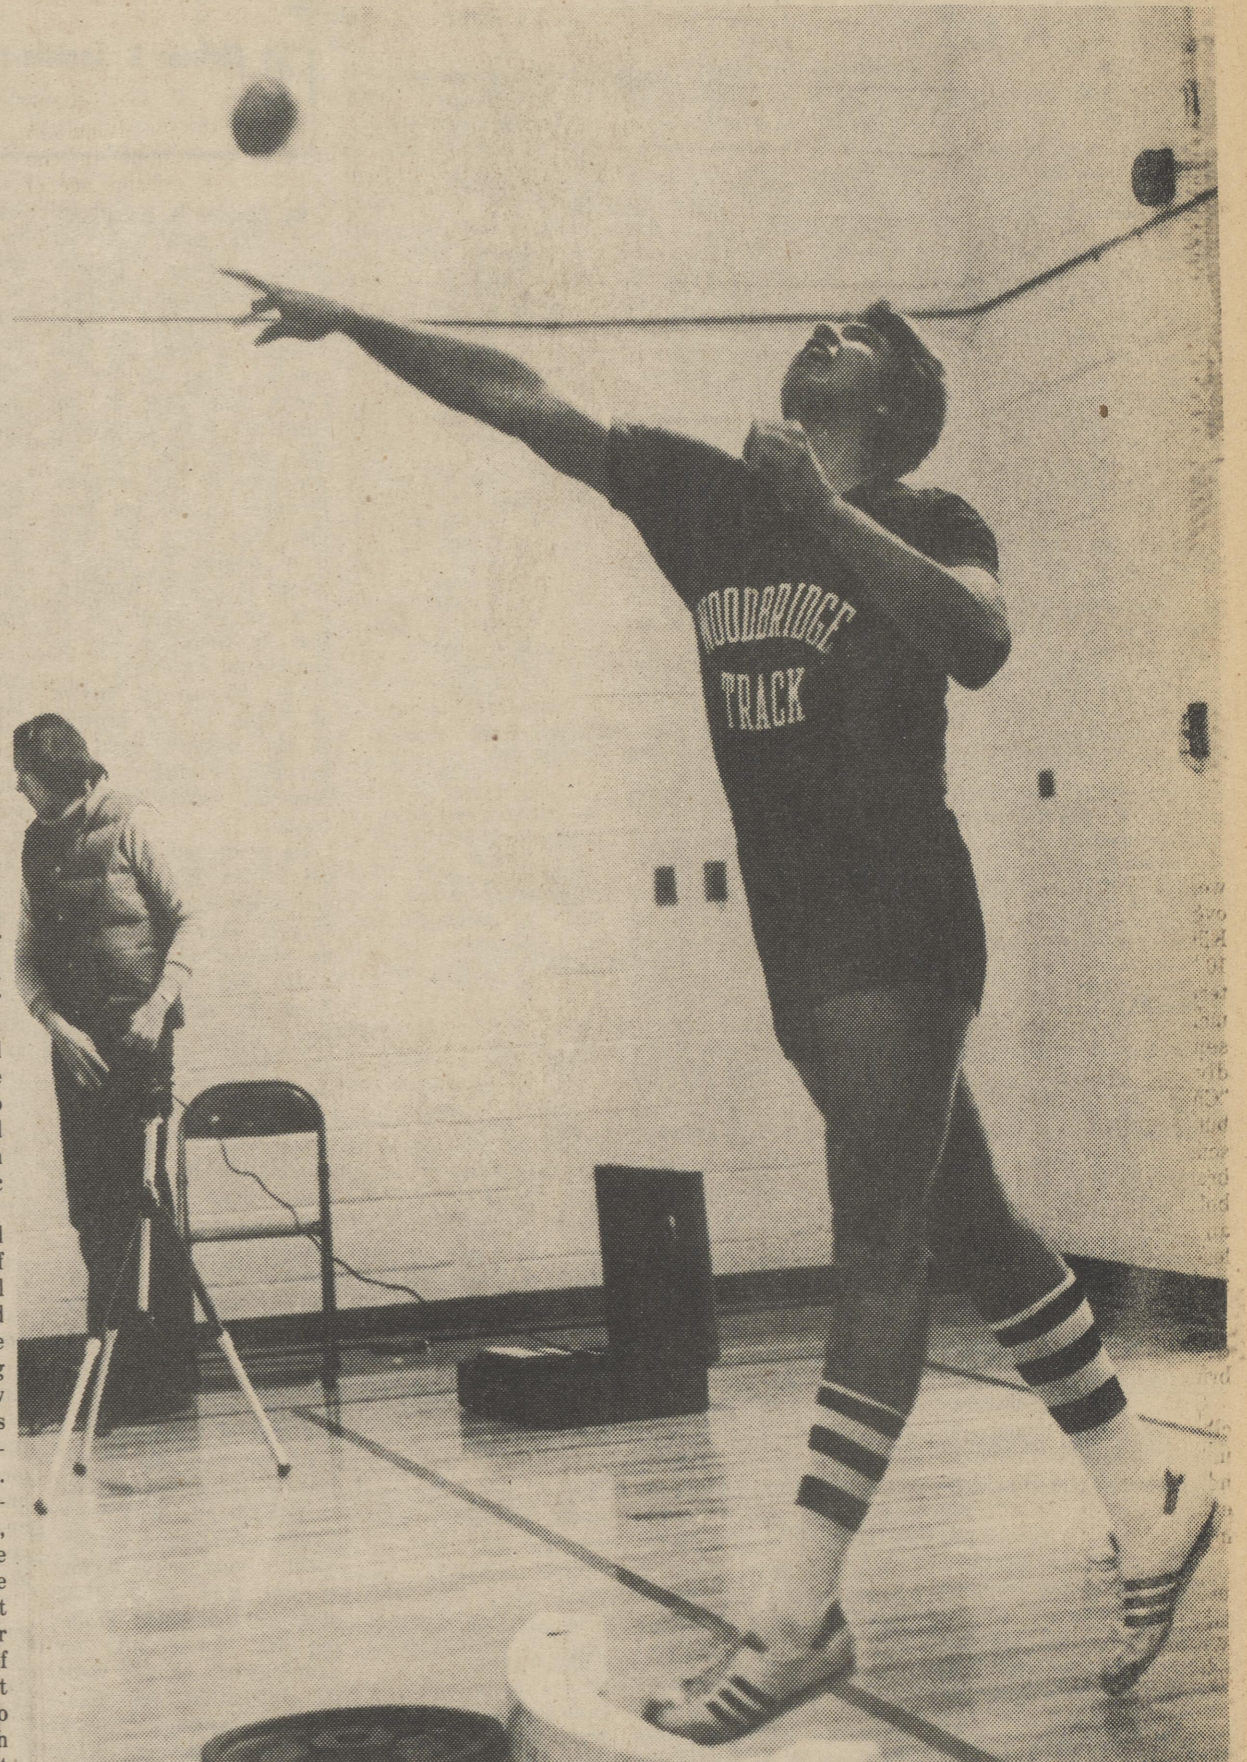

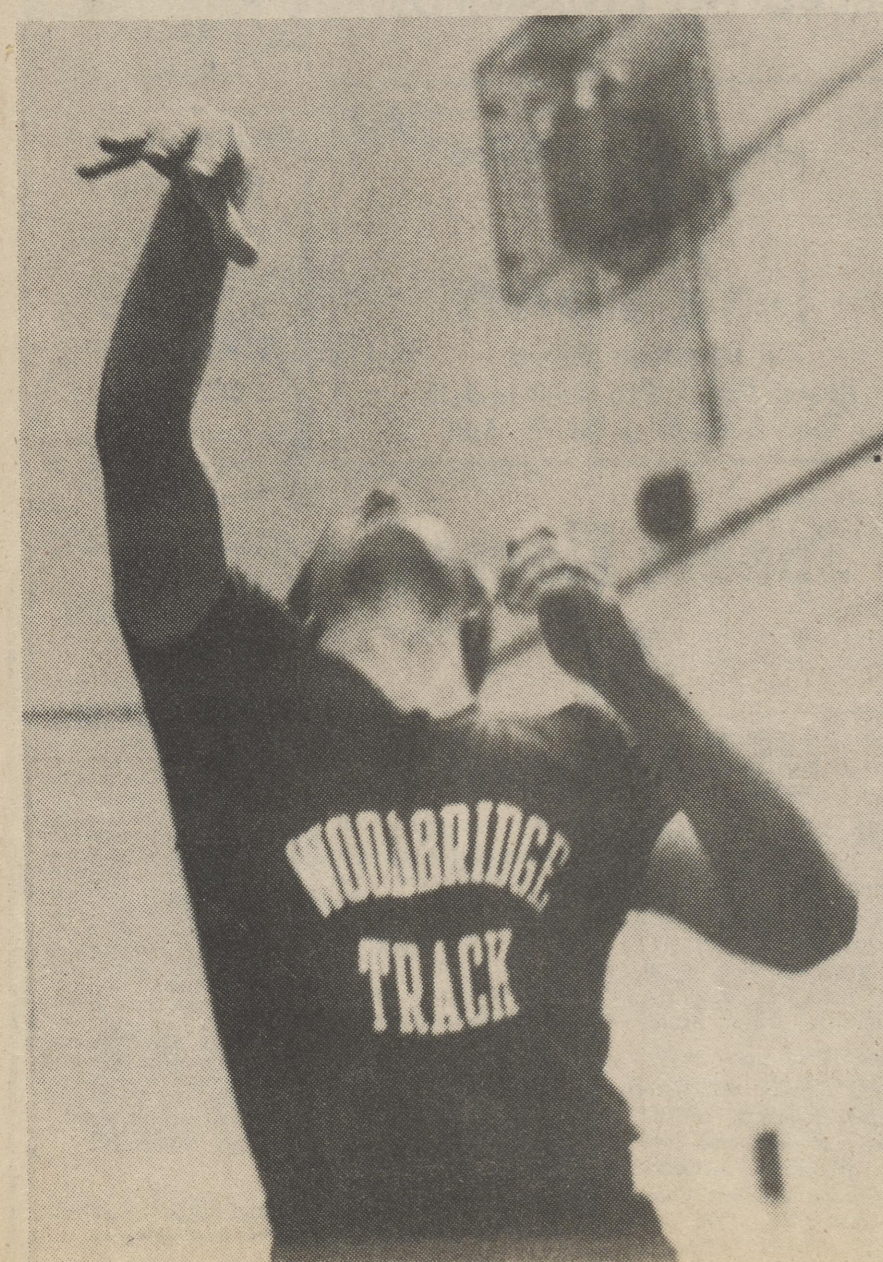

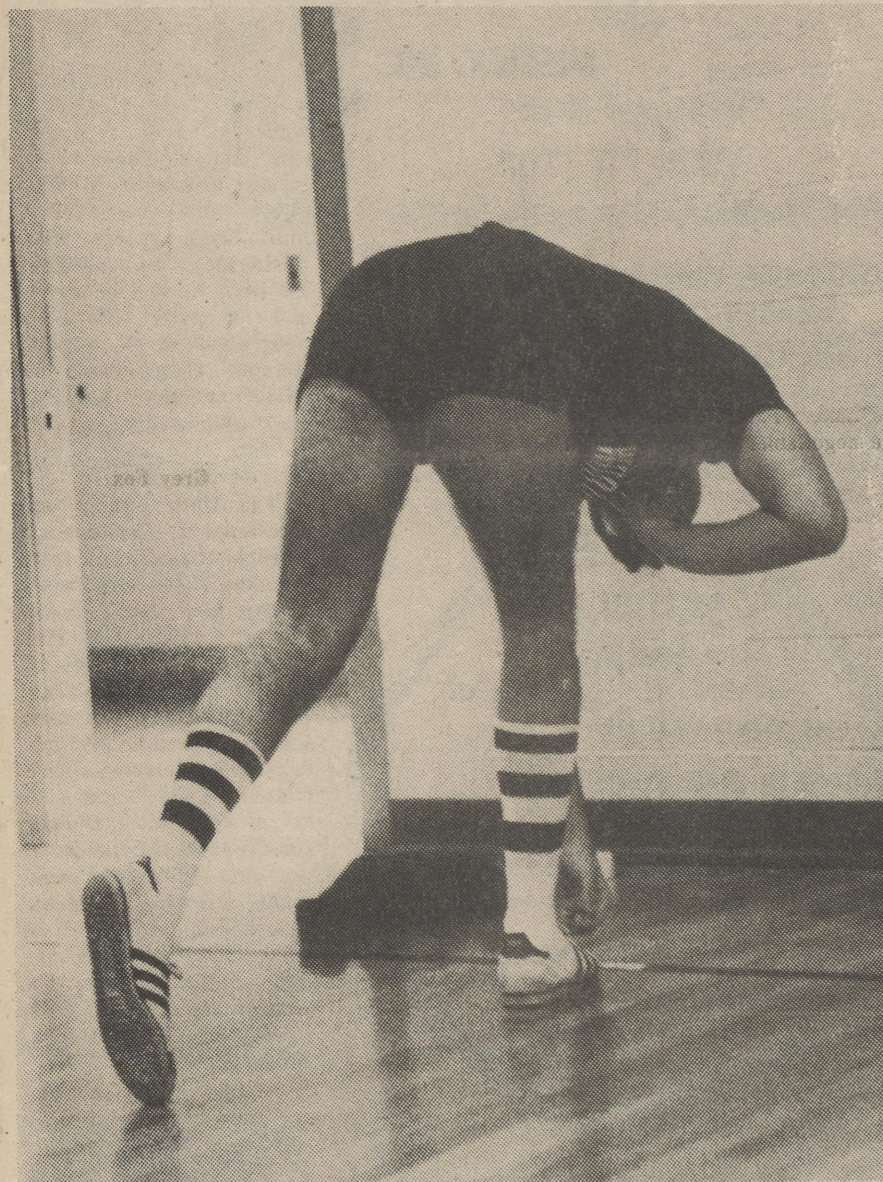

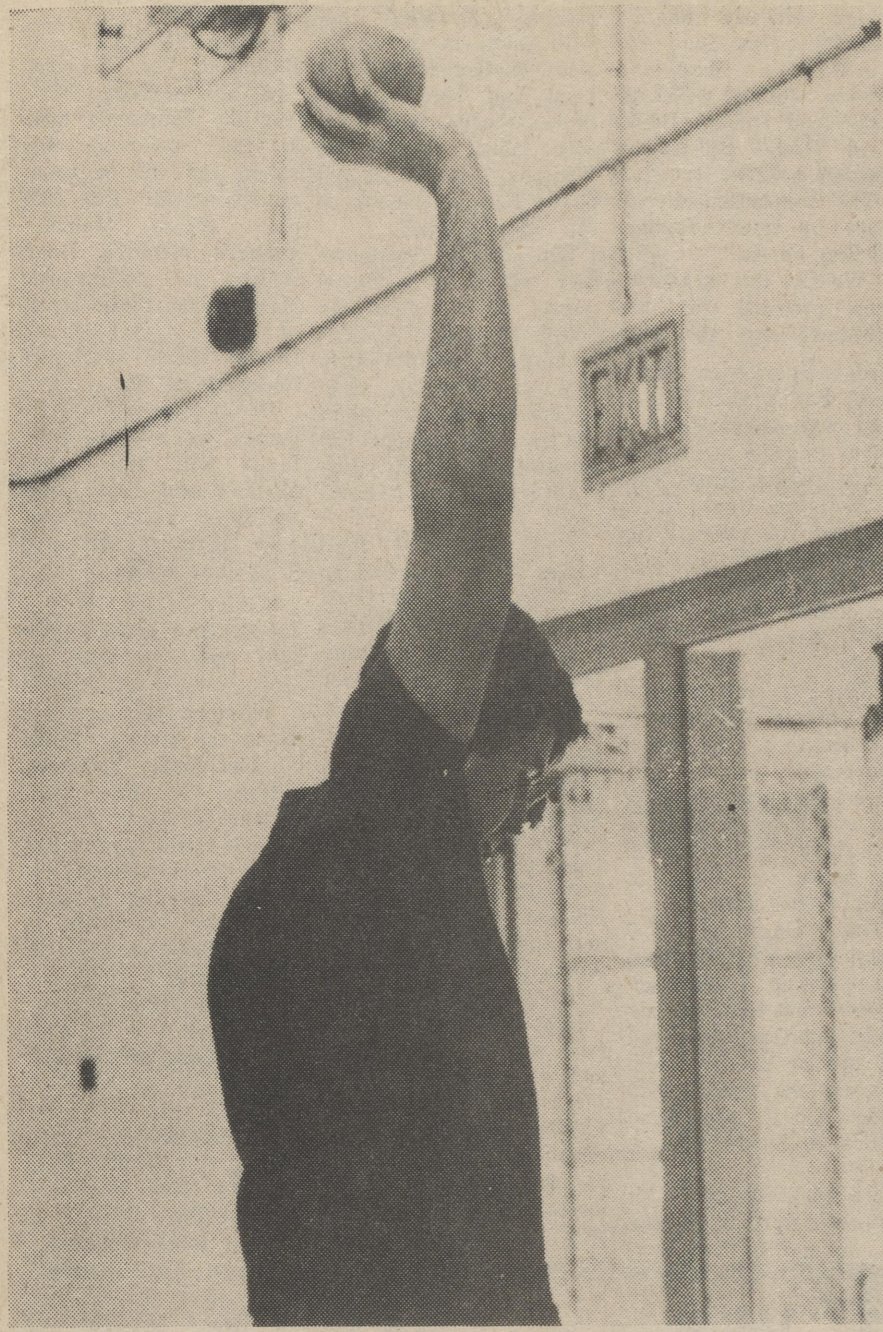

Continuing to improve, the spring competition added another milestone to Rowe's efforts. At the prestigious Penn Relays in Philadelphia he hit a healthy 59'2" on the last throw of the afternoon. "I got mad again," Rowe chuckled. This mark stood as the new Delaware State record.

This year, his last at Woodbridge under Degnan, Rowe seeks new heights. Beating his past records has taken on a high priority as evidenced by his showing at Lehigh.

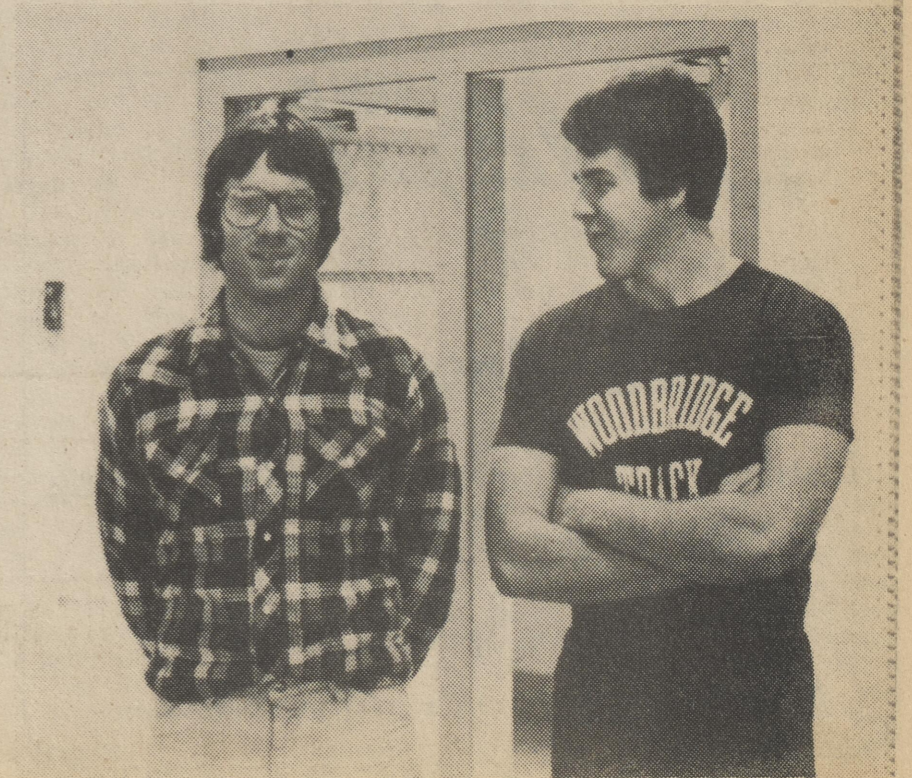

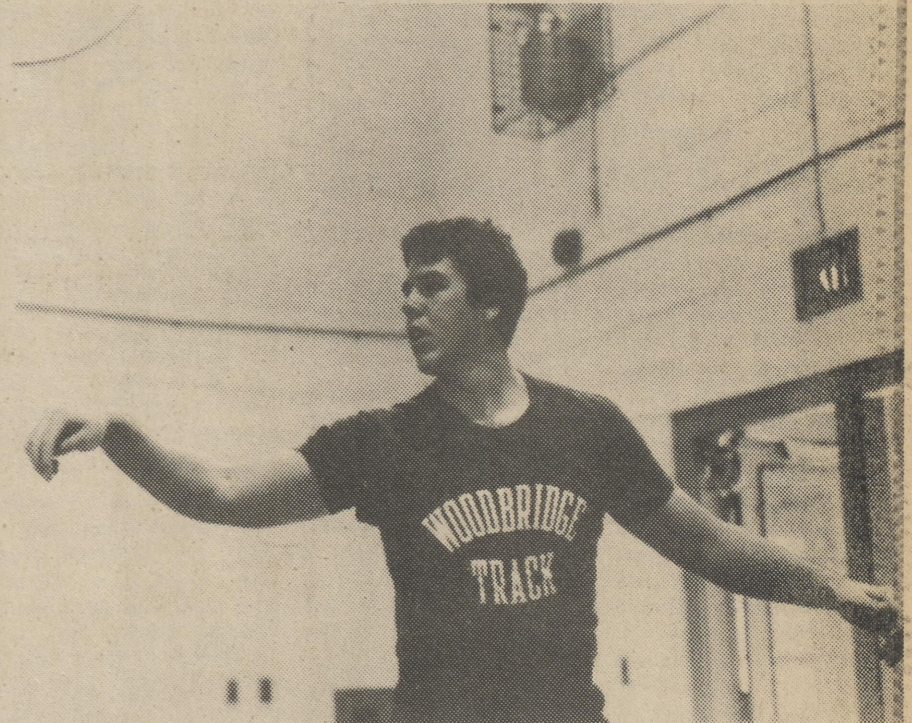

Competitors from Virginia, Maryland, D.C., New York, New Jersey, and Delaware came to the Christmas Relays in search of glory for themselves and their schools. Included in the stellar line up was Rowe's arch rival James Joyce of Gathersburg, Md.

In the past eight meetings of these two shot putting rivals, Joyce has won six. "I wanted him badly," said the state champ, "and made it a point to go after him."

Rowe opened the meet with a 56 footer. In the second round he bettered it by a foot and sat in second place. On the third try, Rowe turned it loose and hit a phenomenal 59' 4". Joyce never stood a chance. And Rowe had another distance record.

Late Scratches At Dover Downs

By Charles B. Lockhart

As the New Year begins, Dover Downs' busiest reinsman has been Harold Frazier. That Frazier has been the most sought after driver at Dover this year is not surprising from evidencing the success he has experienced in the business. However, it has not been that long since he went from ponies to quarter horses to a $100 standardbred, to the stable of 28 that he currently has at Harrington Raceway.

The 35-year-old native of Felton is the product of the modern sport of harness racing -- its romance, charm and intrigue.

He graduated from good old Felton High in 1961 and when Harold is asked "Where were you in '62?" he would answer that while not working at Acme as Assistant Manager, which he was for 8 1/2 years in Dover, he would be off to the races watching the ponies at Brandywine, Georgetown, Harrington, or any other track. Since he was 15 and had been to Harrington, he had been "hooked" on the beauty and glamour of harness racing. Therefore, it was inevitable that as soon as he had the chance, he took a more active part than just that of a spectator.

At the ripe age of 21, Harold bought his first standardbred, and with Freddy McDowell, they spent a year or so trying to get this good $100 steed to the races. Training this "horse with no name" (what do you want for $100?) at the Canterbury Racetrack proved to be no avail and this first of four or five other $100 bargains went the way of most all $100 horses -- out to pasture. However, because of Harold's initial love for horses and specifically his enjoyment of harness racing, these escapades did not discourage him, but rather gave him the desire to get more involved in harness racing.

Harold's love for horses went way back to the tender age of six when he had the first of many ponies on his parents' dairy farm. Although neither his parents or older brother and younger sister had any interest in horses, Harold progressed from his ponies to quarter horses. At one time he had seven which he showed at the various horse shows. Even after getting into harness racing, he continued to show quarter horses for another 4 or 5 years. In 1968, he had a two-year old filly who placed second in the Washington International Horse Show -- a small accomplishment.

However, after having bought standardbreds, Harold phased out the other horses and eventually his job with Acme. He quit in 1969 and went to work for Charlie Pitts to more thoroughly learn the business. In time, Harold obtained his trainers license and opened his own public stable. With owners like Phillip Callahan, and Lester Killen, and such horses as Kirkwood Sam, Classy Lobell, and Sun Robin (who won his first two starts at Harrington under Harold's care), and employing the services of drivers Jim Porter and Paul Myer, young Frazier was in the horse business.

Today Harold has eight two year olds in his barn including the good looking Gene Abbe colt out of an Adios Harry mare. This son of Gene Abbe, one of the foundation studs of modern racing, is a half brother to Cajam James and Cajam Kathy, two good pacers in the Frazier Stable.

"It's a good sport. I enjoy it. I love it, but you must work and work hard at it, day and night. My big thrill is to win a race, any race, but the first win with Coeur D'Or will always be special."

When asked what his biggest thrill in racing has been, Harold quickly answers, "The two minute mile I haven't won yet. I have won in 2:00.2 with Sleepy Revival at Brandywine but would really love to have that two minute mile."

Work - excitement - charm - intrigue - romance - glamour. It's all been there for Harold Frazier. And these elements of harness racing have all benefited from having Mr. Frazier on the harness scene.

COLUMBUS, Ohio - The U.S. Trotting Assn.'s newest film, "Somebody Bet on the Bay," is completed and available for sale or loan.

The film, available in both 16mm and video tape cassettes, is the general story of 1978's Hambletonian and Little Brown Jug Stakes, but pays particular attention to the expense of racing harness horses on the Grand Circuit, the sport's traveling major league.

Written by Charle Leersohn of the USTA's New York City office and filmed by the Ed Lang Studio of Dayton, Ohio, "Somebody Bet on the Bay" is 20 minutes in length.

It features the world record performances by winner Speedy Somoli and challenger Florida Pro in the Hambletonian Trotting Classic, as well as the stunning upset win by Happy Escort and the record mile by Falcon Almahurst in the Little Brown Jug for sophomore pacers.

The new movie follows the USTA's recent trend of making films tailored more for general audiences rather than for the harness racing industry. The association's first effort in that direction, the award-winning "Cinderella Trotter," is currently playing in 50 movie theatres across the country, and should be shown in 100 more before the year is out.

"Somebody Bet on the Bay" can be purchased for $120 or borrowed from the USTA's Publicity Department by contacting Sara Short.

The video tape version can only be purchased, with the price set at $135. Cassettes can be obtained by writing or calling Lang, Inc., 73 Westpark Rd., Dayton, 45459, (513-433-3133).

Pit Chatter

MARTINSVILLE, Va. - Martinsville Speedway, which already has a $15,000 point fund for NASCAR's Modified drivers, will add a $15,000 point fund for NASCAR's Late Model Sportsman division in 1979.

The announcement was made by track president H. Clay Earles.

"We feel this is another step forward for the speedway and the Late Model Sportsman Division," Earles said, "and a good way to pump more money into the division."

Last season, Brian Ross of Ballston Spa, N.Y., captured first place in the track's Modified standings to earn $5,000 and a grandfather clock. Points were earned in four events.

"Since we have changed the Autumn 150 from a Modified to a Late Model Sportsman event, the drivers in each division will only have to compete here three times to stay in the battle for the point fund," Earles said.

The Dogwood 500 Classic NASCAR National Championship double-header, with 250 laps for Late Model Sportsman cars and 250 laps for Modifieds, will kick off the track's 1979 season and its point fund battles on Sunday, March 18.

The Modifieds return on Saturday, April 21 for the "Azalea 150," 150-lap NASCAR National Championship Modified race with points in that event also counting toward the point fund. That race will be run the day before the 24th annual Virginia 500 Winston Cup NASCAR Grand National event on the .525-mile track.

Late Model Sportsman cars will earn additional points in the "Autumn 150," 150-lap NASCAR National Championship race on Saturday, September 22, the day before the track's 24th annual Old Dominion 500 Winston Cup NASCAR Grand National race.

And the point fund chases will be wrapped up on Sunday, October 28 in the Cardinal 500 Classic NASCAR National Championship double-header with 250 laps for Modified cars and 250 laps for Late Model Sportsman.

Each race will award the winner 40 points with a drop of one point per finish position. Forty cars will start the Dogwood 500 and Cardinal 500 races and the Azalea 150 and Autumn 150 will have starting fields of 30 cars.

First place in the point fund will be worth $5000 and a grandfather clock. The runner-up will receive $2,500 while the remainder of each point fund will pay $1,700 for third, $1,300 for fourth, $1,000 for fifth, $900 for sixth, $800 for seventh, $700 for eighth, $600 for ninth and $500 for tenth.

Sonny Hutchins of Richmond, Va., and Sam Ard of Asheboro, N.C., won the Sportsman races at the speedway last season and will be prime candidates for the 1979 point crown. Modified winners included Geoff Bodine of Bellingham, Mass., twice; Richie Evans of Rome, N.Y., and Donald "Satch" Worley of Rocky Mount, Va.

"In addition to our large purses, we feel the point funds will help make Modified and Late Model Sportsman racing become even bigger and better in 1979," Earles said.

ROCKINGHAM, N.C. - Jay Wells, a self-described auto race fan with an ardent desire to become a racing missionary, has joined the staff at North Carolina Motor Speedway effective the first week of January.

Wells, who graduated from the University of South Carolina with a degree in journalism in 1978, will be an assistant to Herman Hickman, director of public relations, and also serve in the field of advertising and marketing.

The 23 year old native of Bennettsville, S.C., comes to NCMC from Huggins Tire Sales in High Point, N.C., a company which specializes in servicing Goodyear racing tires for Winston Cup Grand National and sportsman stock car racing teams throughout the South.

His duties will include a great deal of travel while taking North Carolina Motor Speedway's racing programs to the public and encouraging individuals, groups and businesses to become involved. He will be available for giving civic club programs, high school lectures, guided tours of NCMC facilities, distribution of brochures, and seeking to broaden NCMC base through new advertising and marketing accounts.

"First of all I am a race fan, and have been most of my life," said Wells. "I am a great believer in North Carolina Motor Speedway's credo 'The Race Fan Is Always First.' I want to get others enthused about racing. I'll be meeting a lot of fans at the race tracks where I'll be passing out brochures and selling tickets. I'll always be available to talk racing with them." North Carolina Motor Speedway's first race of the 1979 season will be the Carolina 500 on March 4.
