

Reduced to rubble

This week time caught up with the Reese Building which withstood its ravages for 65 years.

On Monday, this was all that was left of the structure which had overlooked Commerce Street since 1914.

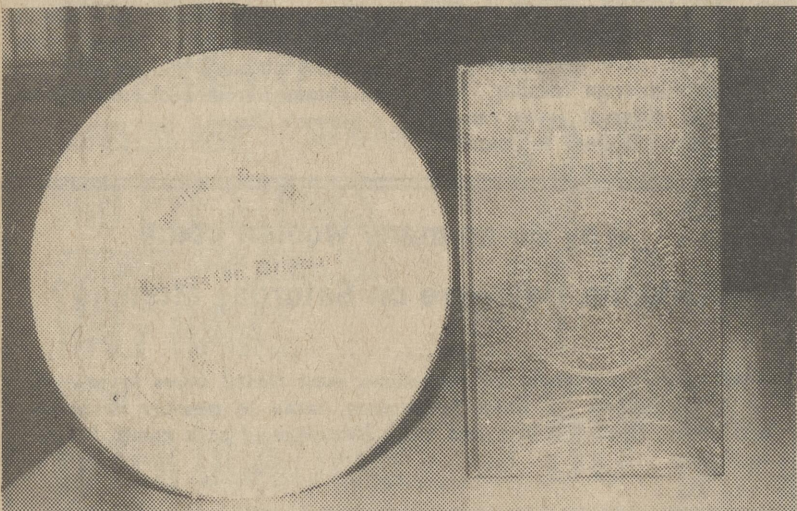

By Tuesday, only a bare scar told the story.

Twenty Cents Per Copy

Pictured above are two mementos - a commemorative plate and a limited edition copy of the President's book Why Not the Best? - to mark Harrington's first Heritage Day. The plate is for sale, and some donor will be the winner of the book after a drawing to be held August 11 - Heritage Day.

For Heritage Day

Those who will want to remember Harrington's first Heritage Day, August 11, 1979, will have the opportunity of acquiring two mementos of the occasion. The first - a commemorative plate - can be ordered now. The second - an engraved signature edition of President Carter's Why Not The Best? - will be the sole possession of just one winner.

Both the Greater Harrington Historical Society and the Harrington Public Library will mark first birthdays this summer. To celebrate those birthdays and to honor the many craftsmen in the area, Heritage Day is being planned. The commemorative plate for the occasion states that purpose on the reverse side. According to members of the Historical Society, there are 249 numbered plates in a limited first edition. After these have been sold, plates in further orders will not be numbered. The plate is now on display at several area businesses and can be ordered from any member of the Historical Society. The cost is $6.00. Proceeds will benefit both of the sponsoring organizations. Anyone interested can call Kenneth McKnatt at 398-8354 or Grace Welch at 398-3635.

The newly formed Friends of the Library organization is offering, for a donation, the opportunity to win a specially bound edition of Jimmy Carter's Why Not the Best? The copy bears the Presidential seal and the President's signature engraved in gold on the cover. A drawing will be held on Heritage Day to determine the winner. In addition to receiving the copy of the book, the winner will have his or her name recorded in the National Archives as the owner of that particular numbered copy.

Persons interested in the book can call the Harrington Public Library at 398-4647 or Mrs. James Hayward at 398-4356.

Zoning question reopened

The Harrington City Council last week admitted a procedural error and reopened consideration of a rezoning request that would allow a 48 unit apartment complex to be built on Peck Avenue. A public hearing on the rezoning was set for Thursday, July 12, at 7:30 to 8:30 p.m.

In a related development, Dudley Willis, owner of the property, announced he has hired a bus and will invite the Mayor, City Council, Planning and Zoning Commission and any interested Senior citizens to tour three apartment complexes similar to the one proposed for Harrington. The tour is set for Sunday, July 1, and can accommodate 49 people; the bus will leave Harrington at 1:00 p.m. Sites to be visited are in Georgetown, Laurel and Millsboro where Case-Edwards Construction Company has erected multi-apartment units. Case-Edwards holds an option on Willis' Peck Avenue property. If the rezoning request were approved, the firm would construct a 48 unit complex of one and two bedroom apartments designed for the elderly or for childless couples.

The tract of land in question in Harrington is on the south side of Peck Avenue. Willis purchased it from the Trane Corp. after it decided that that company would be located in Tennessee. Recently Willis was close to getting the Gore Corp. which is a major producer of electrical wires for space equipment as well as special types of bandages for such special purpose as use on burn victims. "The Gore people would have been a great company for this State to have had...and Harrington was close to getting it. They would have I think had it not been for the recent tax changes which have caused the Gore people to go to Maryland", said Willis, who is a partner in the engineering firm of Edward H. Richardson & Associates.

A recommendation in favor of the rezoning for the apartment complex was brought to City Council June 12 by the Planning and Zoning Commission. The Council, however, voted the proposal down. Last week Council members were forced to admit they had been in error in putting the matter to a vote before holding a public hearing. A letter from Willis reminded the Council that Section 1803 of the local Zoning Ordinance requires that a public hearing be held and testimony heard before any recommendation of the Planning and Zoning Commission can be voted upon. The hearing set for July 12 will put the Council in compliance with the law. It will also give interested citizens and parties on both sides of the question a chance to present their case and to comment.

In further action, the City Council decided to make Patrolman Paul Yannucci's part time position with the local police force a full time job. Yannucci, who has been paid through the CETA program, will become a full-time Harrington police officer effective September 30, 1979. After that date, Harrington will look for another CETA officer to beef up the local force from five to six persons.

The city water tower is to get a $20,980 paint job - inside and outside. By a 4-1 margin the Council accepted the bid of Corosion Control to do the work. $15,000 had been budgeted for the water tower painting.

This could be a winning smile. Beth Collison, pictured here with the pony who is one of her favorite companions, is Delaware's entrants in the national finals of the Miss Pre Teen Contest to be held in Roanoke, Virginia. Beth is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Collison of Harrington.

Harrington Miss enters national competition

"I wanted her to have the experience, I think it will do her good in the long run. So many times kids just follow the pattern set by their friends and surroundings, I thought that if she could stand on her own when she was this young, she would never regret it."

So spoke Mrs. Wayne Collison, mother of Beth; Delaware's entry into the annual Miss National Pre Teen competition.

To be Miss Pre Teen, contestants must be between the ages of 9-12. Only one girl from each state is allowed. The contest is centered in Roanoke, Virginia where the final pageant is scheduled to occur on July 12th. Talent, poise and appearance are the deciding factors.

Beth, who will enter the fourth grade at Chipman this fall, plans to do a song and dance routine for the talent competition. She is currently studying with the Marion Tracy Studio in Dover to hone her skills.

Said Beth, "I think I'll have a good time. I just hope I can come close to winning."

Although Beth meets the minimum requirements, it's not by much. The rules state that contestants must be 9 by June 20th and Beth was 9 on the 14th. But she is as pretty as a 9 year old can be and she knows how to sing and dance; look out Roanoke, VA, here she comes!

40 acts to vie in pre-Fair talent test

Over forty acts have entered the 3rd Annual Delaware State Fair Country Music Talent Competition slated to be held at the fair grandstand on Sunday, July 15, starting at 4:00 p.m. Fair officials have termed this an overwhelming response and a dramatic increase over last year.

Producer of the competition, Dennis Hazzard, says over 100 singers and musicians from Maryland, Delaware, New Jersey and Pennsylvania will be competing for the right to return for the finals to be held during fair week. There are many bands and groups, plus single and duet performers in the lineup. Only six acts will be selected by a panel of judges to appear in the finals show.

The applications reveal all types of country music will be heard including country rock, country gospel, country folk and bluegrass. A square dancing exhibition is scheduled to follow the talent presentations while the judges are making their decisions.

Fair officials encourage country music fans to support their favorite local country music performers by attending the show, scheduled to begin at 4:00 p.m., Sunday, July 15. The competition is expected to last nearly six hours. All seats are priced at $2.00. Tickets will be available at the door.

Assembly President visits

Mrs. Barbara S. Fuller, President of the Rebekah Assembly of Delaware and her Official Staff visited Sarah Rebekah Lodge #16 in Felton on June 21st. The program for her 1978-79 term is based on "Unity, Labor and Love" and stresses Unity-Industry with the Bee Hive as her chosen emblem. Her motto is "Join together, Labor together and Love together for the joy of these will bring about the well being of the Order, the Community, the Country and the World" is most appropriate in the troubled times.

In her address to the membership present Mrs. Fuller explained in detail how the female membership of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows came to be known as Rebekahs. The name was taken from Rebekah in the Old Testament of the Bible, because the characteristics desired of the women in the Odd Fellows are best exemplified by Rebekah of Biblical Times.

Also visiting was Grand Master, Robert A. Wilkinson and his Official Staff. He talked about his program, "The Wheel of Progress", which is demonstrated by an authentic wagon wheel. The work of the entire membership is needed to make the wheel turn.

LF sends two to Boys State

The 1979 edition of the American Legion's Boys State came to a conclusion last Friday.

Boys State is a six day exercise in civics. Taking 60 boys from the various state high schools, the program involves the students in the day to day mechanics of running the state government. The Chairman and Director of the Boys State Committee, Marvil Tice of Laurel, said that "It is hoped that the six days of training will arouse

Police Promote Childs Safety

The National Child Safety Council will be working with Ch. Carl Mellroy and the Harrington Police Department this year in coodinating an effective Child Safety and Drug Education Program for the children ages five through twelve in the area schools.

The Chief and his safety officer, Srg. Jopp will be working with the children using materials concerning general safety, pedestrian safety, bicycle safety, school bus safety, crime prevention, drug abuse, lightning, child molesters, and safety posters. Approximately 700 children in this age group will be receiving over 3,000 pieces of material at a cost of 95c per child.

This is the first year for the program which will continue each year as the children grow forming good, positive safety habits and attitudes that will last a lifetime. This program goes hand in hand with the efforts of and is endorsed by the Delaware Crime Prevention Office.

The National Child Safety Council is a federal tax-exempt, non-profit organization dedicated solely to the safety of children.

The Councils State Coorinator, Judy Candow will be contacting business and industrial leaders throughout the Harrington area whose contributions will make this much needed program possible.

This is the only safety and Drug Abuse Education Program the Harrington Police Department will be backing this year.

Program Starts Today

The Harrington Public Library will be a part of the statewide summer reading program - "Light Up Your Summer". The program will begin on June 28, 1979, at 10:00 a.m. and end on August 6, 1979. The library has a variety of things to offer the children this summer.

Registration will take place before the story hour begins on June 28, and calendars with the summer program schedule on it will be given out to children and parents at this time.

On Monday afternoons at 2:00 there will be a filmstrip hour. The children will have the opportunity to view filmstrips dealing with subjects of different areas ranging from fiction stories to baseball, swimming, and basketball. On Thursday mornings at 10:00 a.m. the library will give a story hour. During this time, the children will be introduced to many different types of books and afterward they will be allowed to browse through the library and check out books that appeal to them. Three times during the summer, a puppet caravan sponsored by the Division of Libraries will come to the Harrington Public Library and present a puppet show for the children.

The purpose of this program is to encourage children to read since so much pleasure and learning can be obtained from books throughout a person's life.

THE BLUE BANANA

Hats Off!

A special Blue B section honoring promotions & awards at W.T. Chipman and The Lake Forest elementary schools

South Kindergarteners Graduate

Thank you for coming to our graduation. As you can see we've gotten quite an education. We may be young and very small But it's a small world after all.

The story was all in the big smiles under those floppy blue graduation hats that marched off the stage after receiving a diploma and a handshake from that tall guy known, sometimes with awe, as Mr. Griffin.

The occasion was the Kindergarten Graduation held Friday June 8 at Lake Forest South B Elementary School. The theme was "It's a Small World After All."

It was, indeed, a small world, as small as each graduate and the pride taken in him by his parents and teachers. And personal. There was time for each young graduate to be recognized and space for him to participate in the program.

After a welcome by Christopher and Stephen Van Gorder and the Pledge of Allegiance led by James Anderson, Jonathan Powell and Shawn Whaley, the full house of parents and grandparents was treated to a series of songs that demonstrated many of the things the kindergarten year is spent learning. Each song had special participants who helped the music come alive.

South B Kindergarteners this year learned about seasons and the divisions of the year.

The Four Seasons were represented by Billy Parker, Shelly Collins, Dawn Schaffner and Robert Stubbs.

The Twelve Months of the Year were presented by Elaine Zeitler, Chad Collins, Bonnie Roscoe, Billy Lyons, Melissa Travis, Greg Porter, Trina Lake, Scott Rettig, Chris Parsons, Thea Becton, Tina Welch and Tonya Parsons.

Tammy Rust, Gwen Scott, Amy Jobes, Willy Cain, Clarence, Gray, Daryl Minner and Joey Martin told the audience about The Seven Days.

Aid for solar systems available

Sussex County farmers are now eligible for Government loans to build solar grain drying systems. After a successful trial on a pilot basis in 27 counties, the program has been extended across the country. This should encourage the further development and use of solar energy as an alternate source for the drying of grain and other farm applications. USDA is looking at several ways to encourage the use of renewable energy sources wherever possible. The use of the ASCS loan program is an example of using existing agencies and authorities to encourage conservation of fossil fuels. Conventional grain drying methods use large amounts of LP gas in Sussex County. With the present method of harvesting corn, drying is essential to reduce field losses and prevent spoiled grain. Farmers with on the farm storage available can dry their own grain and manage their harvesting schedule more efficiently. Loans for financing solar drying systems will be available to producers under the same terms and conditions as other farm facility loans administered by USDA's Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service. Contact your local ASCS office in Georgetown for details.

Libraries reach out with "Talking Books"

Many residents of Delaware who are blind or physically handicapped have never heard of "talking books" available for their free use on a temporary or a permanent basis. In a program of outreach the State Division of Libraries' Director Sylvia Short has appointed two aides to publicize the division's Special Services Unit through which appropriate materials are distributed to these special citizens. Joan Balot of Wilmington, who will serve in New Castle County and Katharine Evans of Ocean View, for Sussex County residents, will spend 15 hours a week promoting the many services of the unit, formerly known as the Library for the Blind and Physically Handicapped. Since the unit is located in Dover, that facility serves Kent County.

Food Stamp Eligibility Standards Go Up

Food stamps eligibility standards and benefits will go up effective July 1 to reflect the increased cost of living. Adjustments in the food stamp program are made twice a year, in January and July. The State's Division of Social Services has announced that the net monthly income eligibility standards will increase an average of $58. Currently, a household of four with a net monthly income higher than $542 does not qualify for food stamps. After July 1, a four-member household will be eligible if its net monthly income is under $596.

The value of food stamps a household receives also increase. A household of four with no income now receives a maximum benefit of $191 worth of food stamps. After July 1, the same household would receive $204 worth of food stamps.

It has been helping the victims of war and natural disasters. It has been teaching farmers how to produce and store larger crops. It has been helping mothers provide nutritious meals for their families. It has been giving the world's poor a chance for a better life.

Each year, the scope of the programs has grown. Last year, 18 million people in 85 countries around the globe benefited from over $230 million worth of goods and services. Americans contributed the great majority of this, yet many Americans have never heard of Catholic Relief Services, and that's why some people call it the best-kept secret of the Catholic church.

Catholic Relief Services is the official overseas aid and development agency of American Catholics. Its practical response to the needs of the world's poor is motivated by Christian compassion.

Adams still not thrilled

by Bruce Levy

Don Adams seems to have a little bit of a problem. The Harrington Big League coach puts out one fire, then has to deal with another one.

Adams' problem is this: when he screams about a lack of concentration at the plate and a lack of hits, the team hitting begins to improve. But then the fielding goes down the tubes.

"We are not making the routine outs any more," said Adams, "and it's killing us. Right now we should be 11-0 and leading the Southern Division. People talk about how great Seaford's pitching is and how tough some of our opponents are, but I'll tell you, nobody has better talent or better depth than Harrington. Our pitchers can throw with anyone, but our fielding is in trouble."

There's more. "Another problem is holding us back and not allowing us to reach our potential, we are having problems with rinky-dink pitchers. Put us against a strong thrower and we come out ok, but when we face somebody without a lot of skill we fail to capitalize."

"This team has it all, but we're not putting the whole thing together." Coach Adams and the Harrington squad didn't have such a bad week, they won one and lost one. So why is Adams complaining? Probably because he understands the potential of his team and wants the best for them. With the likes of Ben Potter on first (one of the best men at that position you'll ever see), Carroll on third and the mound (undoubtedly one of the finest athletes ever to be seen around here), Todd Gruwell in the outfield (an exceptional hitter who finds himself currently in a slump), Mark Smith, Eric Wise, Hammond, Ramirez, etc. etc., Harrington has to be one of the most talent loaded teams around. When Adams complains it's because he knows this better than anyone.

Harrington started the week with a loss to Smyrna-Clayton by a 9-4 margin, a game that saw Randy Hammond bombed for 9 runs in 4 and 2/3 innings before he was replaced by Ramirez.

"The big blow came in the fifth," said Adams. "They got the bases loaded on us then it came - a grand slam. It hurt badly because we had two outs and a walk loaded the bases."

Ramirez allowed no more runs from that point, but the damage had been done and Harrington couldn't make up the difference.

Jimmy Carroll did his part in the 7th inning with a two run homer, his third in the last three games. "He's really tearing the ball up right now," Adams said. "Jimmy is hitting everything that comes over the plate, he's in a good groove."

It was especially frustrating for Harrington as they had the bases loaded themselves on two separate occasions. Once in the 2nd and also in the 3rd. Both times, Harrington got only one run out of the situation.

The 9-4 loss put the E.B. Warrington backed Harrington team at 3-5 on the year.

"Definitely should have won that one," said Adams. "Those infield errors hurt us for the first time."

It was better in the next contest; Middletown at Harrington. The home town bats finally came alive and it was a good thing they did as Harrington was charged with a whopping 7 errors. The final score was 14-9.

Middletown was on the boards first with a 0-2 lead at the end of two innings. Jimmy Carroll sparked a comeback in the bottom of the 2nd with a triple. In total, Harrington rallied for 9 runs on 8 hits in the second frame to go ahead for keeps.

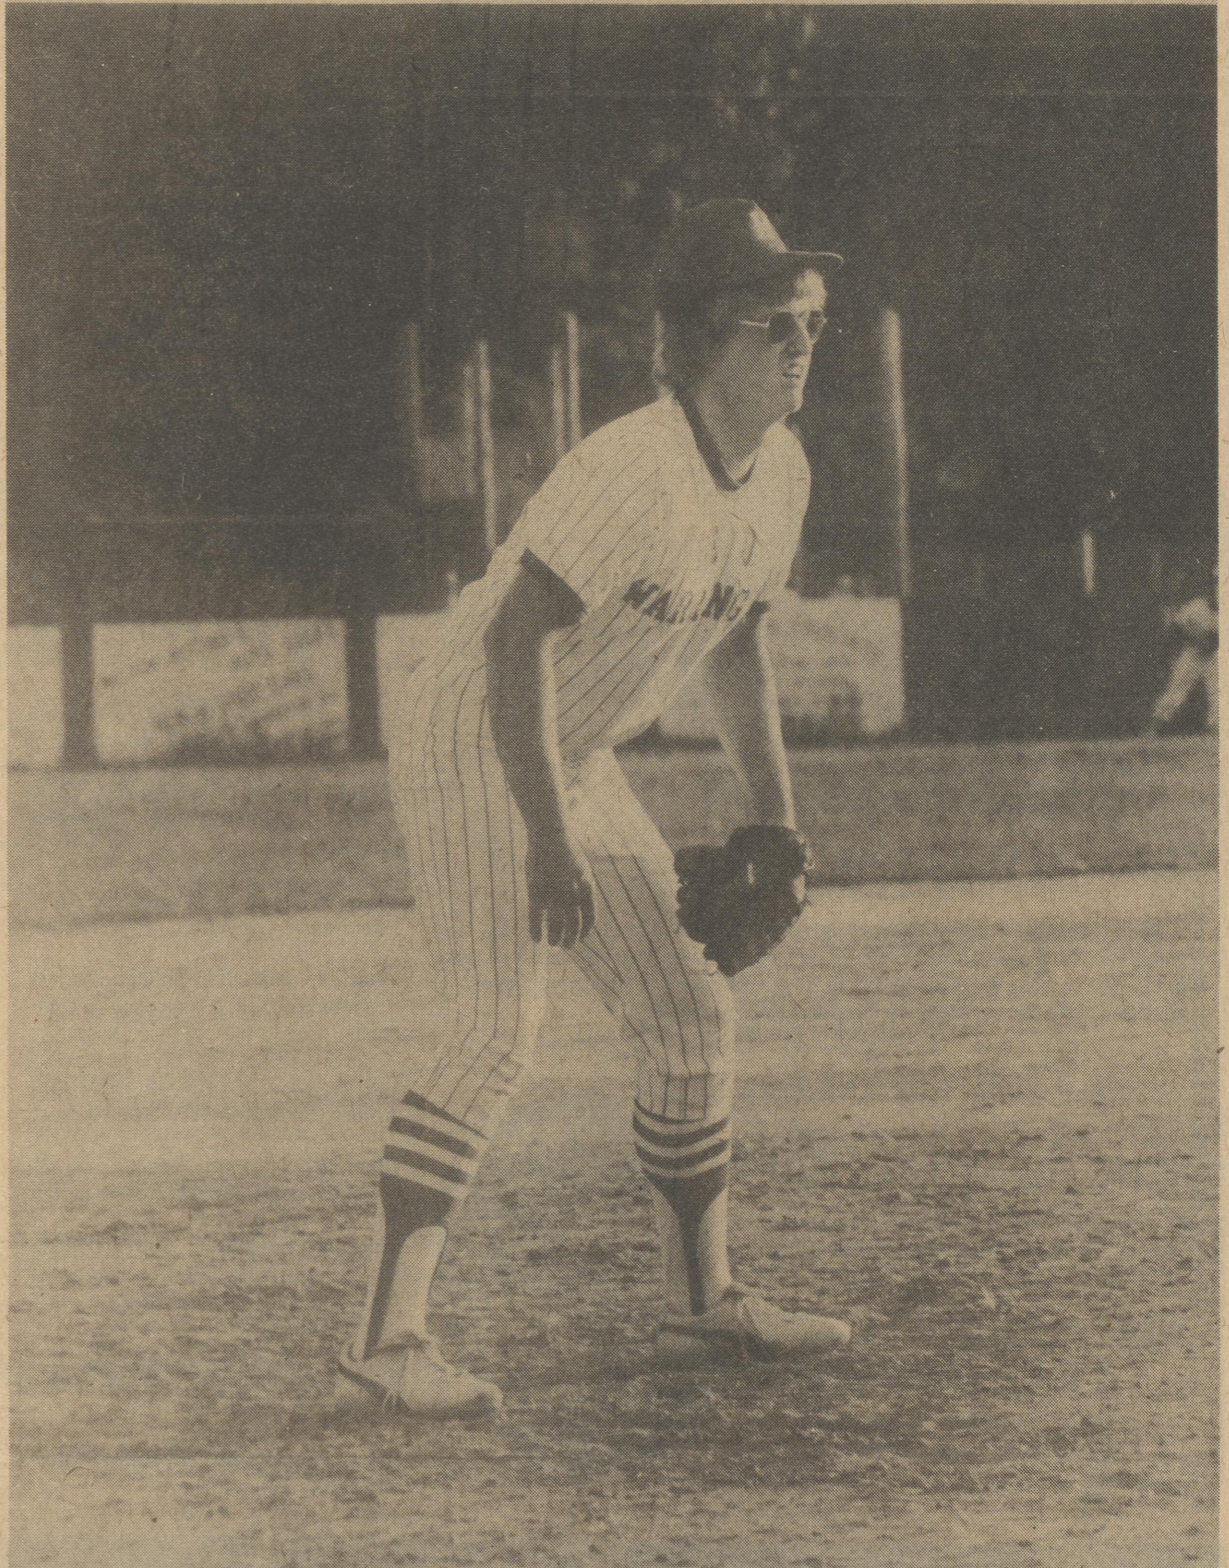

Middletown bounced back for 6 runs in the 5th, mostly on base hits and walks, but we got 2 in the 5th and 3 more in the 6th thanks to some timely power hitting by Ramirez.

Jimmy Carroll was the winning pitcher although he was yanked in favor of Mark Smith due to the League's 12 inning a week rule. Carroll gave up 8 hits in his four innings. Smith looked to be in good shape as he allowed only 3 hits.

And how did Adams feel about the victory? "We stunk up the place," he said. "All those errors!"

The Southern Division now looks like this:

1. Seaford 7-0
2. Delmar 6-3
3. Georgetown 6-3
4. Laurel 4-4
5. Harrington 4-5
6. Milford 0-8

Power pitcher, power hitter, steady infielder Jimmy Carroll readies for the pitch from his third base position during Big League play last week.

Orioles crush Phils

In Felton Little League competition last week, the Phils and Dodgers started things on Monday with a close one. Winning 11-10, the Phils shocked the Dodgers with a timely 6 run rally in the bottom of the 6th to wipe out a 10-5 deficit. Billy Dernberger brought in four runs with a base hit and added a few more with some heads up base running for the winners. Bobby Reed went the distance for the Phils and Eric Payne was declared the loser.

On Tuesday, the Pirates unloaded a hit barrage to bury the Cards 17-2. A ten run 5th inning told the story. Phil Green had a slew of RBI's and two singles for the winning cause. Wayne Kemp was the winning hurler while Mike Kersey took the loss.

The Dodgers looked to have regained their first half form on Wednesday night as they breezed past the Yanks 25-6. The Dodgers scored early and often as they systematically rolled up a 19-3 lead by the third inning. Going strong for the first 4 innings and getting the win for the Dodgers was Karen Sipple. Jeff Ford was the loser. Chris Leslie scored 5 times for the winners.

Scoring 16 runs in three innings, thanks to a triple and two singles by Ricky Hawkins and Heather Hughes's double and a triple, the Orioles outslugged the Phils on Thursday night by an 18-3 score.

Billy England was the Orioles winning pitcher while Billy Dernberger was pounded for 17 hits over 5 innings for the loss. The main gun for the Phils attack was Bobby Reed who socked a double.

On Friday, the Cards captured their first win of the second half of the season by beating the Yanks 5-1. The winners scored three times in the first inning and never looked back. Monica Morris helped the Cards with a double and Charlie Carlson was declared the winning pitcher. Danny Demora was the loser.

Saturday at Felton saw a double header, Orioles vs. Cards and Pirates vs. Phils.

In the first contest, Orioles vs. Cards, which was a make up game from the first half, the Orioles topped the Cards 9-3 and dropped the Cards and Dodgers into a tie for the first half championship. Both teams now have 7-2 records from the first half and both have another game to make up. The Orioles were lead by the pitching of Jason Bell who struck out 11 opposing batters. Mike Kersey was the loser. Although they lost, the Cards boasted 5 doubles hit by five different hitters.

The second half of Saturday's card was a game between the Pirates and Phils and what a game it was. The Pirates snapped a 4-4 tie with 7 runs in the bottom of the second and went on to trounce the Cards 22-6. Tommy Mulligan was the loser.

As of June 23rd, the Felton Little League standings were:

- Orioles 4-1
- Pirates 4-1
- Phils 2-3
- Yanks 2-3
- Dodgers 1-2
- Cards 1-3

Scott and Lofland double winners

Keith S. Burgess

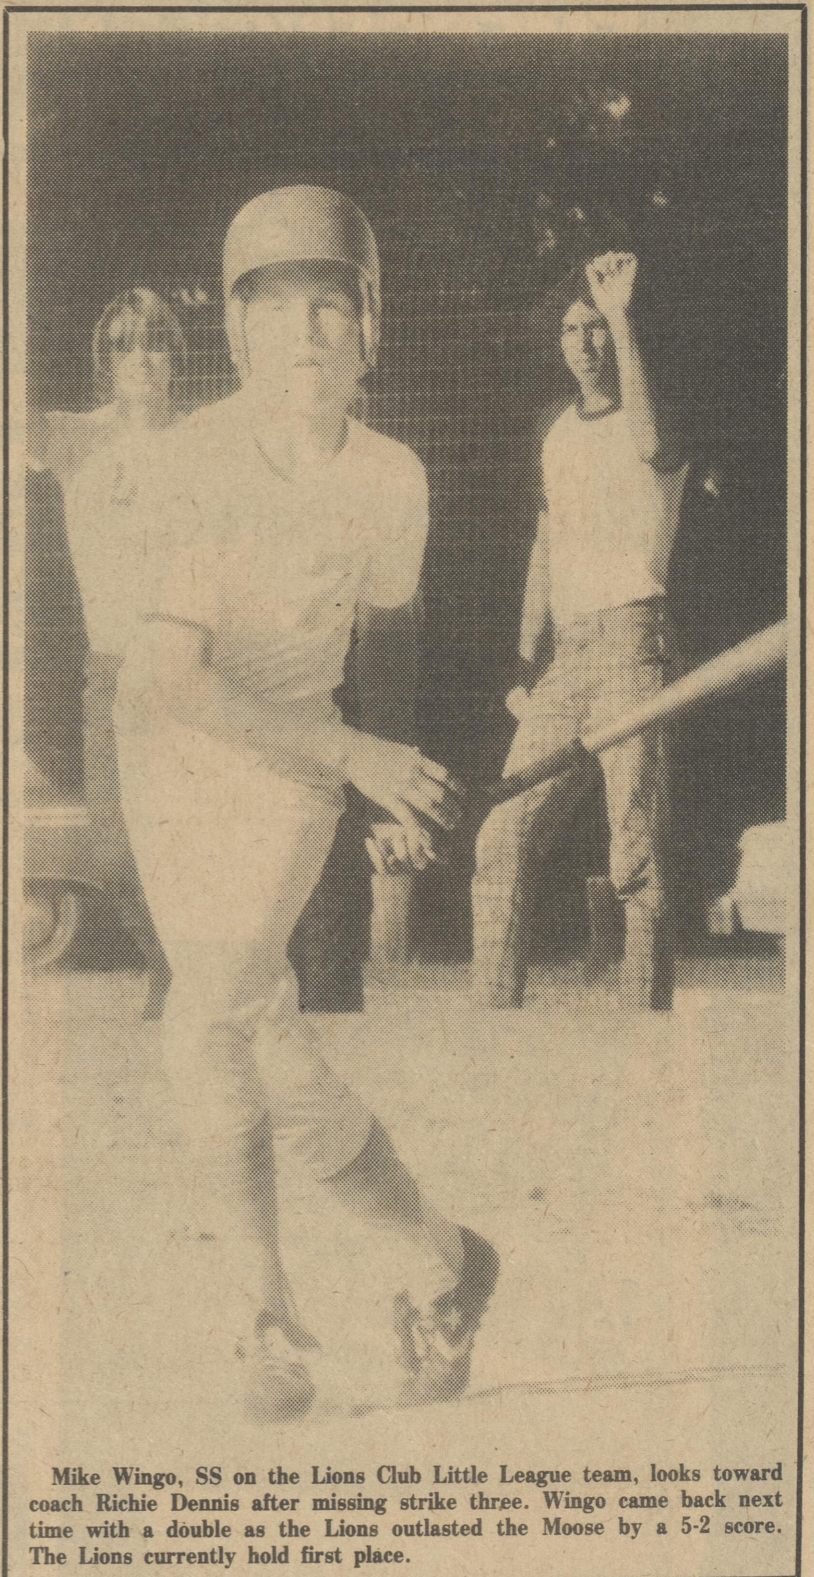

Chipman students, Jerome Scott and James Lofland were double winners in the 14-15 age bracket of the Hershey National Track and Field Youth Qualifying meet for Kent county, at Lake Forest High, on Saturday.

Scott won the 100 meter dash in 12.5, the 200 meter in 27.5 and was second in the standing long jump (8 feet 5 inches) to a 8-9 done by James Allen of Dover.

Lofland nosed out Allen in the 400 meters with an excellent 57.6 clocking, then easily captured the 1600 meters in 5.47.3. Brian Gladden was first in the softball throw with 175 feet. Lofland was second, just ten inches back, with Ken Kline completing a 1-2-3 Lake Forest sweep. Gladden also did well, as a runner, getting third in the 100 (13.1) and also in the 400 with a sub-60 second clocking.

In 10-11 girls the only Lake Forest entrant was Melody Schaffner, who won the only event she entered, the 400 meter run. Melody recently became 10 years old and had several factors working against her, but managed a very respectable 87 second clocking.

Darren Hammond, a Felton fifth grader was the blue ribbon winner, Easton, MD was the location of the fifth show of the Eastern Shore Western Horse Show Association sponsored by The Easton Jaycees. Despite cold and weather and a soggy show ring, participants came out to put their horses and ponies to the test in halter and performance competition. In addition to the trophies and ribbons awarded to 1st place winners, a special award, The Honorable Thomas Hunter Lowe Grand Champion Trophy was awarded to Wendy Whaley and Dave Riker of Delmar, DE for having accumulated the most points during the day.

The next ESWHSA show will be held July 8, 1979 at Dorman's Arena, Federalsburg, MD. The show will be sponsored by the Delaware Appaloosa Youth Association who will also serve refreshments. The public is invited to attend as are horse and pony owners who show in western tack. For more information call Linda Hastings, DAYA Youth Advisor at 301-479-1479.

NOW CLEARED UNDER EMERGENCY EXEMPTION IN DELAWARE, MARYLAND, AND VIRGINIA.

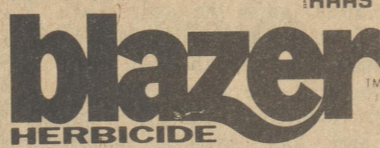

Blazer™ herbicide stops morningglory cold.

Blazer, a new postemergence herbicide, has just been granted an EPA emergency exemption in Delaware, Maryland and Virginia for the control of morningglory in soybeans.

This emergency clearance follows four years of experimental use studies on thousands of acres which prove that Blazer herbicide, used post-emergence, is effective for controlling morningglory and other weeds.

In addition, Blazer won't hurt soybeans. Always read and follow label instructions carefully.

If you need morningglory control, ask your chemical dealer about participating in the Blazer emergency use program. Quantities of Blazer are limited, so see your dealer soon.

Farming Guide for June 27th to July 3rd.
 The New Moon puts emphasis on routine work until the Moon hits it's first Quarter. The 29th and the 30th are good dates for harvesting top crops and fruit. Successful planting can also be done on these days, but conditions for this are much better after the 4th. Spend the last days of June and the 1st of July pruning, seeding hay and mixing concrete and cement for pouring. Get ready for new planting on the 1st. Plant flowers on the 2nd. hold off on harvesting root crops until after the 4th.

Save Money Saving Energy

Reducing Cooling Costs

The following article is one in a series of articles appearing in the REAL ESTATE supplement on how consumers can save money at home, on the road and in the marketplace. Material for the series is taken from a publication of the U.S. Dept. of Energy, "Tips for Energy Savers."

The following article tells how to save money on cooling costs.

Overcooling is expensive and wastes energy. Don't use or buy more cooling equipment capacity than you actually need.

Regarding air-conditioning equipment ...
 If you need central air-conditioning, select a unit with the lowest suitable capacity and highest efficiency. A larger unit than you need not only cost more to run but probably won't remove enough moisture from the air.
 Ask your dealer to help you determine how much cooling capacity you need for the space you have to cool and for the climate in which you live.
 Make sure the ducts in your air-conditioning system are properly insulated, especially those that pass through the attic or other uncooled spaces.

If you don't need central air-conditioning, consider using individual window or through-the-wall units in rooms that need cooling from time to time.

Select the lowest capacity and highest efficiency for the rooms you need to cool. As a rule, these will cost less to buy and less to operate.

Install a whole-house ventilating fan in your attic or in an upstairs window to cool the house when it's cool outside, even if you have central air-conditioning.

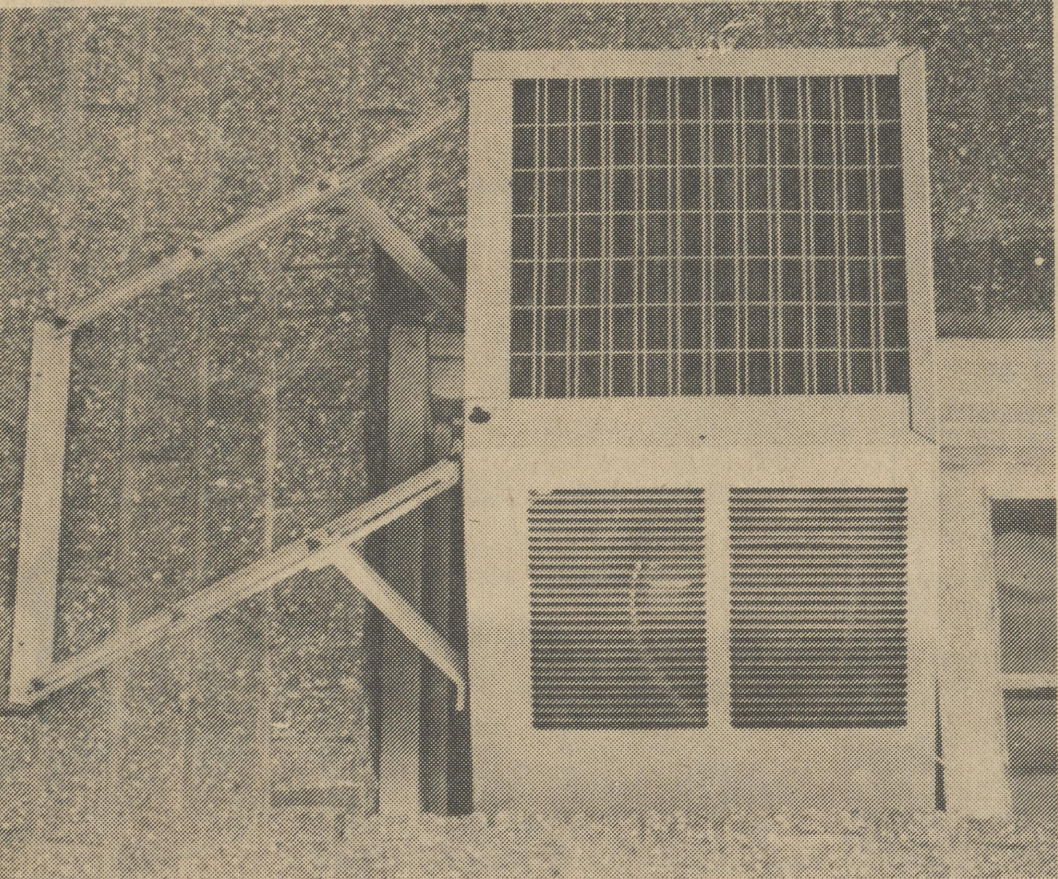

It will pay to use the fan rather than air-conditioning when the outside temperature is below 82 degrees. When windows in the house are open, the fan pulls cool air through the house and exhausts warm air through the attic.

When you use air-conditioning ...

Set your thermostat at 78 degrees, a reasonably comfortable and energy-efficient indoor temperature.

The higher the setting and the less difference between indoor and outdoor temperature, the less outdoor hot air will flow into the building.

If the 78 degree setting raises your (continued to page 4)

Room air conditioners are a comfort during extremely hot and humid summer days, but many consumers may be using them when a fan would do the job just as effectively — and much less expensively.

Ants Can Damage Homes, Too

Carpenter ants have a well-deserved reputation for their woodworking skills. Nest-building needs of this well-organized order of social insects require an ever-growing network of galleries in the wood where they breed and raise their young.

If these galleries happen to be in your house, you could be in for some expensive damage, though probably not of the order caused by termites, says University of Delaware extension entomologist Frank Boys.

This spring for some reason he got even more calls than usual from homeowners worried about the large ants they sometimes found crawling around their houses.

Spring is about the only time of year you're likely to notice the ants, says Boys, so he's not surprised at the jump in inquiries during this season when ants are swarming.

Once nests have been established, the insects are much less noticeable. They prefer to feed at night and their galleries usually are quite hard to detect.

Outdoor-a colony of carpenter ants is likely to inhabit a stump, log, fence post, telephone pole, or similar large piece of wood.

They prefer wood that's moist or partially decayed, though they'll settle for existing cracks and crevices in starting a new nest.

On houses and other structures these ants are usually found where there is damp wood, such as that habitually wet by rain, leaks, condensation, etc.

Check wood that's in contact with the ground, such as porch supports, siding and stair risers. Wood in improperly ventilated areas like cellars, crawl spaces, attic, and under porches can also be attacked.

Clues to the presence of carpenter ants sometimes appear, though they can't be counted on.

Sometimes you may see neat little coneshaped piles of "sawdust" in the area near a nest.

These fragments have a shredded quality similar to the shavings from a pencil sharpener, says Boys.

home temperature six degrees (from 72 degrees to 78 degrees for example), you should save between 12 and 47 percent in cooling costs, depending on where you live.

Don't set your thermostat at a colder setting than normal when you turn your air-conditioner on. It will NOT cool faster. It WILL cool to a lower temperature than you need and use more energy.

Set the fan speed on high except in very humid weather. When it's humid, set the fan speed at low. You'll get less cooling, but more moisture will be removed from the air.

Clean or replace air-conditioning filters at least once a month. When the filter is dirty, the fan has to run longer to move the same amount of air, and this takes more electricity.

Turn off your window air-conditioning when you leave a room for several hours. You'll use less energy cooling the room down later than if you had left the unit running.

Consider using a fan with your window air-conditioner to spread the cooled air farther without greatly increasing your power use. But be sure the air-conditioner is strong enough to help cool the additional space.

Don't place lamps or TV sets near your air-conditioning thermostat. Heat from these appliances is sensed by the thermostat and could cause the airconditioner to run longer than necessary.

With or without air-conditioning ...

Keep out daytime sun with vertical louvers or awnings on the outside of your windows, or draw draperies, blinds, and shades indoors.

Keep lights low or off. Electric lights generate heat and add to the load on your air-conditioner.

Do your cooking and use other heat-generating appliances in the early morning and late evening hours whenever possible.

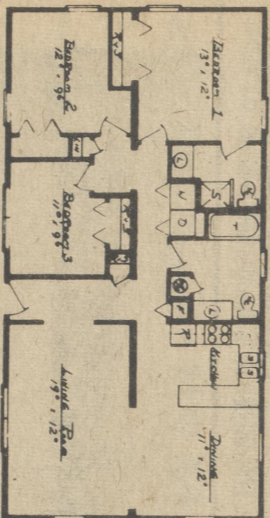

Open the windows instead of using your air-conditioner or electric fan on

Household Features

Shades Energy-Efficient Decor

The U.S. Department of Energy claims that windows are the second worst squanderers of energy in the home.

Air infiltrates homes through cracks in loose-fitting windows, says Delaware extension home economist Jean Cranston.

Caulking and weatherstripping help, but glass is an excellent conductor of heat, so warm air is easily transmitted through windowpanes.

Tests have demonstrated that window shades, properly installed and used, can slash energy consumption and fuel costs.

They add a handsome decorative touch while cutting heat loss in winter and shutting out hot sun in summer.

Window shades available today are attractive as well as practical and can be used as an alternative to draperies.

Window shade fabrics vary widely in texture, from sheer to translucent to opaque. Colors and patterns are almost unlimited.

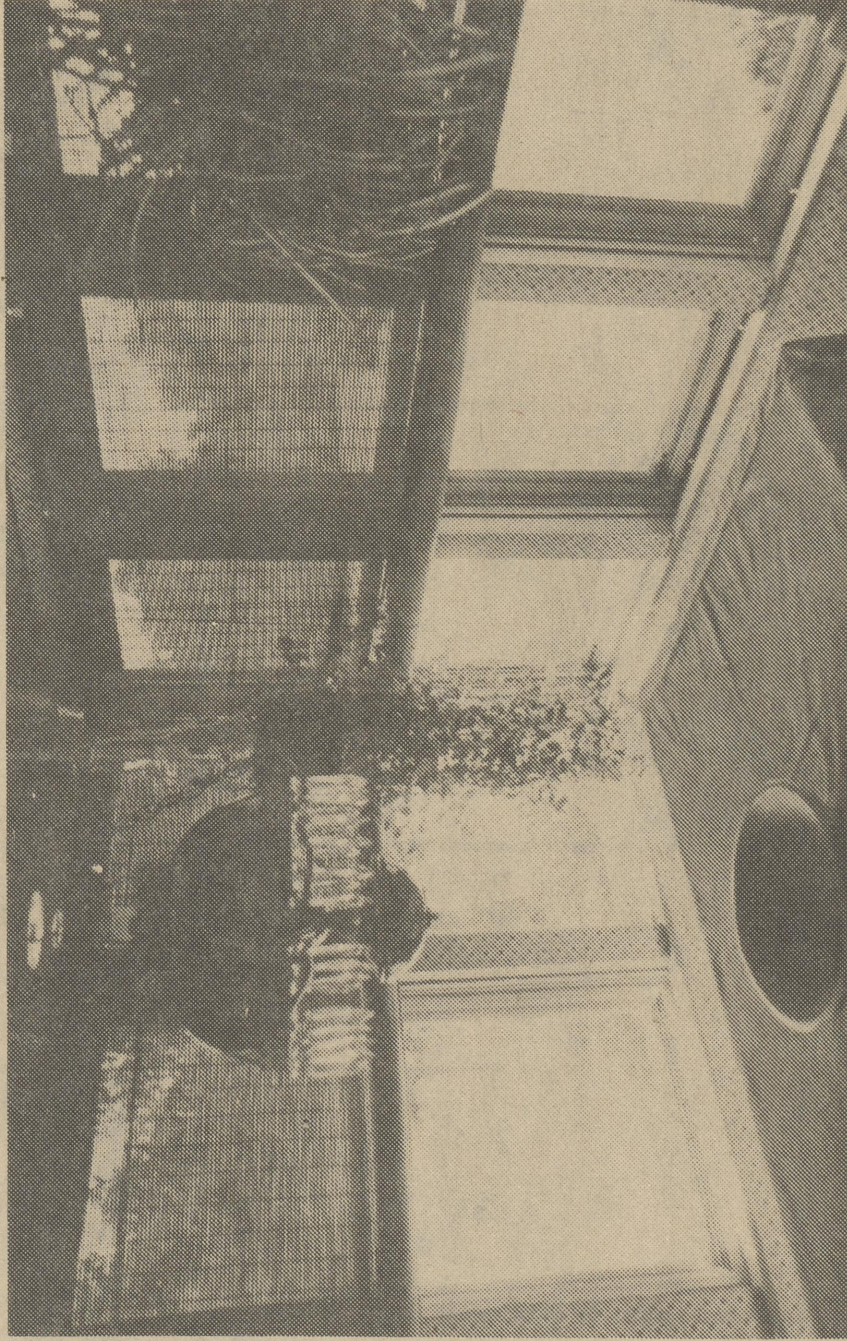

If you want window shades to match draperies or wallpaper, they can be laminated with the same fabric or paper.

There are also shades that are color-coordinated with paint. Roman or bamboo shades add to the variety.

The type of window and the desired decorating effect will determine the shade and mounting you choose, according to the home economist.

Brackets are available to pull window shades down from the back of the roller, or from the front.

There are also ceiling brackets and

For maximum energy-saving performance, window shades should be installed properly.

The shades should be inside the window frame and about one inch from the glass. This forms an effective barrier between the glass and the shade.

To get the tightest seal and to create the best blocking deflection, the gap between the vertical edge and the window frame should be very narrow.

Musty odors in closets and bureaus can be alleviated by leaving them out to air out periodically. A small fan in the bottom of a closet will help air it out faster. Also keep a 100-watt bulb burning continuously in a musty closet to help dry it out. You can also spray the interior of the closet with an aerosol that contains a fungicide.

Dresser drawers that have acquired a musty smell can be left to air out in direct sunlight. Also, the interior wooden surfaces can be washed with a cloth dampened with a sterilizing solution made of three cups of water, one cup full-strength bleach, one-fourth cup borax and one-third cup detergent.

After washing with this solution, allow the wood to dry thoroughly, preferably in the direct sun. I hope a combination of these procedures will solve your problem.

Q. We are considering buying a bathroom vanity and find that nearly all styles have a frame made partly of particle board, covered with a layer of finished veneer.

We wonder if there might be some method of sealing both the veneer and exposed particle board ends to prevent water absorption in case of leakage or spillage? — Mrs. R.L.A.

A. The bathroom vanity should be already sealed against moisture at the factory. However, you could cover suspected problem areas with

Here's How

Q. Do you have any suggestions on how to eliminate the musty smell from a basement apartment? Thorough cleaning and air fresheners provide only temporary solutions — P.S.D.

A. The basic remedy for keeping a house or apartment free from musty mildew odors is to keep the house clean, well-ventilated and dry.

For example, a house that has been closed up for a while may take on a musty odor. Usually all that is required to eliminate the smell is to air the house thoroughly.

If this doesn't do the job, then heat the apartment with the furnace or stove for a few hours, then open the windows and doors to let out the warm air that has taken up the excess moisture in the apartment. Use an electric fan to promote air circulation.

A. I presume the stains are caused by smoke and smoke stains are difficult to remove. A thorough scrubbing with scouring powder, especially one containing bleach, and a stiff bristle brush works well.

Some of the alkali detergents and commercial emulsifying agents, brushed or sprayed on, and given sufficient time to work, also do a good job. These have the added advantage that they can be used in steam cleaners.

For more stubborn stains, a poultice using trichloroethylene will pull the stain from the pores of the masonry. Precaution would be taken to ventilate a closed space while using trichloroethylene, as the fumes are harmful.

Only after thorough cleaning can you determine if the brick needs repainting. A lot depends on the type of paint now on the brick.

Q. I have a black Formica countertop that is losing its shine. Could you please tell me what to use on the counter to keep it shining and spotless. If it only three years old. — Carol H. Dawson, Penn.

A. Sometime ago, a reader supplied us with this information to deal with problems such as yours: To restore the shine to the top of laminated surfaces, coat with mineral oil. After 30 minutes, wipe dry with a soft cloth. The reader said that by using this method, she restored a table 20 years old which had been neglected, had many water rings and other stains, including grease.

Q. Many of the windows in the old house we recently bought need repainting — most of it is gone. Wood frames seem pretty dry. Must the wood be treated before adding the new putty? — T.O.V.

A. Definitely. Before putting again, cover the wood with a thin coat of oil paint or heavy coat of linseed oil to avoid absorption of oil from the new putty.
