Signs of growth: The Harrington Volunteer Fire Company lays new foundations

Fire Company breaks ground for new building

Ground was broken last week for a new addition to the Harrington Fire Company headquarters. According to Building Committee Chairman Bob Wilson, a 30' x 60' addition will "alleviate the immediate problem of crowded conditions that the fire company is experiencing."

The primary problem, which the new building should solve, is the storage of ambulances, pumpers and hose drying facilities. Currently, the Harrington Fire Company is forced to store and maintain equipment at locations other than the fire house on Mechanic Street.

The addition is projected to cost approximately $24,000. The money will come from the fire company itself, financed through bingo and other fund raising activities. The new building has been 10 years on the drawing board.

As part of the plan, the fire company's new building will be mobile. The water, electric and heat hook-ups will be separate from the main building which will enable the building to be moved. The city currently owns four acres of ground along Route 13 where a new city hall complex has been contemplated for quite some time. As nothing is definite at this time regarding the new site, the fire company is building the addition to either be moved, or to stay in its present site. "Maybe the addition will be permanent and maybe it won't," said Bob Wilson. "But we felt that we had to do something now."

The Harrington City Council slips Through the loophole

Faced with Dudley Willis' renewed request for rezoning his property on Peck Avenue to accommodate an apartment complex, the Harrington City Council last week found a legal loophole and slipped quietly through it - almost. The loophole was City Solicitor Harry Terry's opinion that the ordinance requiring Council to hold a public hearing on a rezoning request was "vague." Terry told the Council it could avoid a public hearing merely by failing to pass a motion calling for one. The Council acted on cue and failed to do just that. A motion for the hearing on the Willis property was made by Councilman Harold Brode. But it died for lack of a second.

Despite rendering the legal opinion that the city zoning ordinance was vague on the public hearing requirement, the City Solicitor admitted the holding of such a hearing was customary and was probably a good custom. Two citizens present, Harry Farrow (a member of the Planning and Zoning Commission) and Aubrey Brown, recommended the Council follow that custom. Brown said the matter was of concern to the whole community, not just a few citizens.

In spite of their urging and the repeated calls of Mayor Arthur Cahall for a motion to set a public hearing date on the Willis rezoning request, the four members of the Council present - Brode, Dill, Lobo and Wyatt - sat in silence.

Brode's motion for the hearing came only after the Council returned from an executive session held at the suggestion of Harry Farrow. Calls for a second to the motion met more silence.

Mayor Cahall, in a statement for the record, told the Council that, legal ramifications aside, he felt there was a "moral obligation" to hold a public hearing. Cahall said failure to do so would constitute a "...breach of public trust."

Cahall also told the Council that he was not "in collaboration" with Willis and had only learned of the renewed rezoning request by chance.

In an earlier development, Councilman Vincent Lobo asked that a statement by the mayor following the denial of Willis' first rezoning request for the Peck Avenue property be deleted from the minutes of the August 14 meeting. Cahall's statement had attributed the Council's 4-2 vote against the rezoning and against holding a referendum on the matter to "politics and personal reasons". The mayor had further indicated he thought prejudice was prime among those personal reasons. City Council passed Lobo's motion to have that statement stricken from the records.

No action was taken by the Council on the Willis request. At the behest of Councilman Lobo the members postponed any further consideration until all could be present. Absent from last Wednesday's meeting were Gary Harrington and the Reverend Wayne Newman. Since these two cast the only favorable votes on Willis' original rezoning proposal, a motion for a public hearing could still reach the floor of the Council. But at least one more vote by a Council member would be required to take the matter any further.

The same Council members who elected to slip through the loophole on the Willis question, voted unanimously to set Thursday, October 18, from 7:30 - 8:30, as the date and time for a public hearing on a rezoning request for the former Millard Cooper Funeral Home. If that request is approved, the Center Street property would be rezoned from C-2 to R-1, allowing prospective buyer Mark Yoder to establish a nursing home there. The property is presently owned by the William Mussers of Wilmington.

In response to Councilman Lobo's concern that the proposed rezoning be restricted to the specific purpose stated, Council asked for a rewriting

Harrington Police beat

According to the Milford Police Department, a Harrington man, David Jopp, 22, was arrested on September 29th in Harrington for disorderly conduct in the Hardee's Restaurant. The Milford Police Department says that Jopp created a disturbance while ordering food at 11:10 p.m. and a warrant was signed after he left the building. Harrington Police picked him up on his return to Harrington. Jopp was taken to the Justice of the Peace in Milford by the Milford Police and fined.

In Harrington last week, a theft was reported on September 26th. Steven Zafaris of Dover reported a shotgun stolen from his vehicle while it was parked at the Sunoco station at Route 13 and 14. The investigating officer was Patrolman Bohn. On the 29th, charges of reckless endangering, attempted escape and resisting arrest were lodged against William Cane, Jr. of Dover. Cane was being transported by Patrolman Bohn from Dover to Milford when he attempted to subdue Bohn and make an escape. Bohn was forced to stop his vehicle on Lookerman Street in Dover to keep the defendant restrained. The case is pending a trial.

Hughes is Outstanding Farmer of '79

Joe Hughes of Felton was honored over the weekend by the Milford Chamber of Commerce. He was named Outstanding Farmer of 1979.

Hughes, who farms primarily corn, soybeans and chicken broilers, has been nominated for the Farmer of the Year award many times in the past but always wound up as one of the runner-ups. This year Hughes was the overwhelming choice.

"I've been close before," Hughes said, "but there are a lot of deserving farmers in the running. I think one of the reasons they gave it to me this year was my involvement in many of the clubs and farming organizations throughout Delaware. It's an honor for me and I'm grateful to the Milford Chamber for their recognition."

Hughes is known not only for his farming methods but his extensive agricultural as well. A one time member of the Delaware Achriological Society, Hughes has been a prime mover in the field of researching Indian life on the Delmarva Peninsula. He is recognized throughout the nation for his work in basketry and Indian history.

Joe Hughes farms over 500 acres on his farm just west of Felton, but still finds the time to pursue his interests in history and his many club activities. He is an active member of the Delaware State Farm Bureau, Governor's Council of Farm Organizations, Mid-Atlantic Soybean Association, Delaware Crop Improvement Association and numerous other positions including stints on the Lake Forest School Board and trustee of the Manship Methodist Church.

Street Fair is Saturday

The second annual Harrington Street Fair, sponsored by the senior class at Lake Forest High School, is set to go this Saturday, October 6th.

Like last year, the Street Fair will be based in the parking lot of the 1st National Bank of Harrington.

Kicking off this year's version will be a parade down Commerce Street beginning at 12 noon featuring the famous Spartan Marching Band. Following that, booths will open in the bank parking lot with amusements, games, food and a general store as the star attraction.

Throughout the afternoon there will be local entertainment and contests all ending in a special street dance slated from 8 p.m. till 12 midnight.

of the zoning ordinance to make such a limitation possible.

Both rezoning requests came before the Council with the favorable recommendations of the Harrington Planning and Zoning Commission. Willis' original proposal for rezoning a part of his Peck Avenue property likewise received a P & Z nod.

That first request was denied in August after several stormy Council sessions and a public hearing which played to a full and vocal house in Council chambers.

Willis has a buyer, the Washington firm of Case-Edwards, interested in constructing an apartment complex offering 40 rental units to senior citizens. Rents would be based on social security income and there would be some eligibility for rent subsidies through the FHA.

At the July hearing Willis told citizens and Council members present the then proposed 48 unit complex would bring the City some $7,200 in additional tax revenues as well as $5,673 in water and sewer fees.

Willis' second request is a new proposal which moves the boundary line of the parcel to be rezoned 200 feet back from Peck Avenue. Willis has offered to give the City the acre included in that 200 foot gap. His purpose, he has said, is to alleviate concerns about control of the immediate area raised by adjacent property owners.

Earl Yoder, one of those property owners, discounted Willis' offer as a mere ploy to get around another provision of the zoning ordinance. That provision requires a three fourths vote of Council to approve any zoning change opposed by 20% of the property owners within 200 feet of the site in question.

The firm of Case-Edwards, which will purchase the Willis property and build and operate the apartment complex if the rezoning can be accomplished, has several other projects in Delaware already in operation or in prospect.

Just last week the Sussex County Council agreed to sell its 48 acre Mariner's Landing tract to Case-Edwards for $300,000. The site was to have been the location of the now defunct LeCato Regional Wastewater Plant. Case-Edwards will build an apartment complex there.

The firm also has similar complexes in operation in Georgetown, Laurel and Millsboro and has reportedly made a favorable impression on the Milford City Council which did an intensive investigation.

Unless the Harrington Council changes its course, the proposal apartment site seems destined to remain an empty lot zoned for, as yet, non-existent industry.

"...personal feelings should be dropped before you get to the council table."

Again last week, a majority of Harrington's City Councilmen voted to prevent any rezoning of lands off Peck Avenue in the City belonging to Dudley Willis.

Willis, a consulting engineer and partner in the firm of Edward H. Richardson & Associates was a former consultant to the City of Harrington on their engineering projects. Five years ago, Willis purchased the Trane lands and set out to develop it. The property is ready for development. Twice now he has tried to have the property rezoned to multi-family units and twice the City Council has rejected his request. The first request received a public hearing that appeared to be in favor...but the Council members exercised their vote at the Council table...and voted it down. The second request of a different parcel...failed to get a vote for a public hearing. Both requests had been passed by the City's Planning & Zoning Commission.

Again...the Council elected to decide the question on a negative note. They voted the first time in the following fashion: "...motion not to rezone the land", and the second "...a failure to get a second to the question". The latter was a deprivation of the basic rights of the citizens of this community to vote. When the question was not forwarded on for a public hearing, it in effect denied the true thinking people of this community the right to vote. This is a tax paying right of any citizen.

The City needs housing and it needs more and more ways to increase the tax base. In effect we need more and more taxes to run the community. The present budget presented in August...which the Council has not approved as yet calls for spending more money than we have coming in. The new housing complex on the Willis lands would have been more than was needed to pay for the painting of the water tower, the hiring of a new patrolman (which I think most people would approve...but we do not have funds present to cover this) and the funding of the library which will be the City's obligation in 10 months.

The City, however, can still raise the money which they must do...for with all of this, it has been two years since ALL CITY EMPLOYEES received an increase in salaries.

The answer to it all is that the City needs to reassess the properties in the community, which some people around City Hall should be done, with the thought in mind that this plus raising the tax figure will bring more money into the City's treasury. The options are few...and very plain.

Del-Tech gets $25,000

The Terry Campus of Delaware Technical and Community College in Dover has been awarded a $25,000.00 grant from the National Trust for Historic Preservation in Washington, D.C. for the campus' Port Mahon project and proposed Center for Marine Technology, Service and Safety, according to Dr. Gary Frank Petty, vice president of the college and campus director.

The money is administered through the federal Maritime Heritage Preservation Grants Program and is for a feasibility/engineering study of the Port Mahon Lighthouse and surrounding marine historic area. The federal money will be matched with an additional $25,000.00 already appropriated to the project by the Delaware General Assembly.

The study will provide information on the feasibility of various segments of the total project as well as actual engineering data to be used in the restoration, renovation and refurbishing processes.

The award will support a complete survey of the Port Mahon area including the Port Mahon Lighthouse, its former outbuildings, sheds and barns, and the former Coast Guard cutter, "Mohawk," donated to the Terry Campus on July 20, 1979 by the Pilots Association of the Bay and River Delaware.

Information gathered by the study will enable the college to implement its plan to create a combination educational, historical and recreational complex at Port Mahon.

Under provisions of the grant, the college will work with the Delaware Department of Natural Resources and Environmental Control and the Delaware Division of Historical and Cultural Affairs in designing and implementing the study.

The Terry Campus award is one of 84 projects funded by the Maritime Heritage Preservation Grants Program this year and one of 220 requests submitted to the federal government from among 35 states, Puerto Rico and the District of Columbia.

My Opinion

By Bruce Levy

One of the nation's largest industries, employer of over 130,000 people, claims to be in dire trouble. According to their spokespeople, Chrysler Corporation will need one billion dollars to stay in business next year, without it they say it's all over. They are requesting the cash, of course, from the federal government.

Let's take a hard look at this situation. It's not pretty. Chrysler Corporation, like the Harrington Journal or Dick and Jane's Dress Shop, entered the marketplace of their own free will with but one thing in mind - make some money. They understood at the outset that the business world is a lions den, a place filled with competition and ruthlessness, pitfalls and plateaus, price cutting and price gouging. In short, you go into business at your own peril.

But there's a flip side to all this danger and headache. For the man willing to risk his money, health and homelife, there is the chance for profit, the golden opportunity to grow rich. This is why the marketplace is entered in the first place. As they say, there's no gain without pain.

In essence, Chrysler is saying, "We reserve the right to make a profit, pay our workers $15 or $20 dollars an hour, pay our president $500,000 a year, invest in outside ventures as write-offs, and generally grow fat. But we can not be held responsible if we lose. If we lose, the public is obligated to bail us out."

Our nation is rapidly becoming an also-ran in the economic world today precisely because of this attitude, the attitude of no losing. Chrysler is just a highly visible example of this alarming trend toward the no lose attitude.

Profits should be in direct proportion to risks, no if, ands or buts. If there are no risks, only welfare, how can we expect anyone to run the awesome gauntlet of starting a business in the first place? Why bother with all that if someone who isn't risking his life and future can make out just as well, or better?

How's this for a good illustration of the dangers of the no lose mentality: we wonder and scratch our heads about our kids miserable performance in school, we blame busing, teachers, parents, kids themselves, and anything else we can think of to explain this phenomenon but it somehow doesn't answer a thing. The bottom line to the school kids thinking is the idea of no lose. Why excell, why try harder, why strive to achieve when it really doesn't matter in real life? The government will not let me suffer, I will be provided for regardless of my lifestyle, so why bother?

Chrysler's demand for government help is but the tip of a huge iceberg. Only when people are allowed to lose as well as win will we reverse the growing trend toward anonymous, stupefying, stifling socialism.

No way Mr. Ioccoca, trim your budget and make a more saleable car. If not, I'll send you a bill when Harry puts me out on my ear.

By Gov. Pierre S. Dupont

Operation Overhaul, the State of Delaware's road rehabilitation program, is right on target and Delaware motorists will be seeing improvements in the condition of roads throughout the State shortly.

The $95 million program has several components, but the most important at this time are the two emergency bills passed by the General Assembly last spring. Those two bills will mean that $16 million in emergency road repairs are currently underway.

Phase I is an $8.9 million program for emergency patching, bridge repairs and drainage improvements. It also includes funds for snow removal and purchase of heavy equipment. Phase II is a $6.9 million program for additional paving and rehabilitation of roads damaged by years of neglect and harsh weather.

When Phase I passed the General Assembly in April, the first contracts were advertised for bids. In short order, additional contracts were advertised and by June 5, all the contracts for emergency road repairs were advertised. Nine contracts were required for all the work. Work is in press on all contracts at the present time. Completion date is November 1.

Already the secondary roads in Kent County covered under the contract have been completed. Patching in Sussex County under one contract is essentially complete.

Another project under Phase I is well on its way towards completion -- the Millsboro Pond bridge. The bridge was severely damaged by flood waters during the winter and traffic on Route 24 was forced to detour adding hundreds of additional miles of travel and placing a heavy load on secondary roads. Work began immediately on replacing the structure and by June 29 two-way traffic returned to the bridge. A permanent structure will replace the current one in the near future.

Over 382 roads throughout the State will be improved by Operation Overhaul, Phase I. In Kent County, contract patching is completed on 65 roads and patching operations are in effect on 60 additional secondary roads. Seventeen primary and secondary roads in Kent County are also scheduled for patching this year.

In Sussex County, over 95 roads will be patched by outside contractors and 90 others by State maintenance personnel. In New Castle County, much of the same work is occurring.

Phase II is similarly on track with 29 of the 47 projects scheduled for completion this year and the remainder to be completed next construction season. Unfortunately, the winter weather prohibits construction during the cold months.

This massive improvement of the State road system is long overdue, but with the State's financial situation in better shape than it has been in a long time, we are able to meet some of the more critical needs, such as roads.

fired pizza oven at 11:20 a.m. Stoll and Donna Faulkner were taken to Milford Memorial Hospital. They were treated and released. The explosion caused the windows in the front of the establishment to blow out. Responding to the situation were the Harrington Police, Harrington Fire Company, the State Fire Marshall and the State Arson Van.

On October 2nd, an assault occurred in Harrington. The victim was Lewis Mickey of Thorpe Street. According to police reports, Mickey suffered lacerations to the side of the face, but no charges were lodged as the victim refused to provide the name of the perpetrator.

Calvary Wesleyan Church of Harrington honored its pastor here for the past 27 years, the Rev. William Miller, with a surprise testimonial dinner on Saturday, September 29. At the dinner Mr. Miller was presented a gold watch and his wife, Mrs. Thelma Miller also was recipient of a special gift of appreciation. The Millers were joined by his brother Avery Miller of Arizona whom he had not seen for a number of years. The arrangements were made by the Planning Committee headed by Karen Hill.

St. Johnstown Church to mark 200th

by Sharon Morgan

To the casual observer, it is just an ordinary frame building surrounded by a well-kept cemetery, but St. Johnstown United Methodist Church is rich in heritage and tradition. Located one mile east of Greenwood, DE, on old Kings Highway, the church is preparing to celebrate its 200th anniversary.

As with most accomplishments, this milestone is the result of years of dedicated service by many persons. One of those, who contributed directly to the church's founding, was the Methodist minister, Francis Asbury. In 1779, he visited St. Johnstown, known then only as one of several "post towns" in which post riders stopped weekly to collect and distribute mail.

One of the town's residents, John Laws, was ill when Bishop Asbury arrived. He was deeply moved by Asbury's ministry, and was converted while on his death bed. Laws' funeral was preached by Asbury to a crowd of 1,000 people. The experience touched the community, and on May 5, 1779, a Methodist Society was organized.

Those early Christians did not have a church in which to worship until 1786. Prior to that date, services were held in the woods on the spot where the church now stands. They were led by John Maren, a local preacher. Francis Asbury returned to speak in the church in 1815, on a day set aside for peace and Thanksgiving.

The congregation met and elected trustees on March 5, 1822, and a second church was built five years later. The present structure was completed at a cost of $3,500.00 and dedicated on September 29, 1872.

Time has brought only a few changes to the church. The balcony remains, as do the original seats, although cushions have been added. A room has also been added for the pre-school children's Sunday School class. Aluminum siding has been put on, and new carpeting was laid last summer.

Home-coming services honoring the bicentennial of St. Johnstown U.M. church will be held on Sunday, October 21. The first of two services will be at 2:30 p.m. The pastor of St. Johnstown U.M. church, Rev. Michael Russell, will be the liturgist, and the guest speaker will be a former member of the church, Rev. Dr. Joseph Bostick from Ocean City. The evening service will feature Rev. James Doughten of Greenwood as the guest speaker, and it will begin at 7:30 p.m.

Members of the church are selling ten-inch plates to commemorate the occasion. They are decorated in the center, ringed with sculptured daisies, and edged in 23-carat gold. They also bear a color portrait of the church. Special "200th anniversary" plaques are being sold as well.

Members of St. Johnstown U.M. church are proud of the past, but they are also humble. For them, this is a time to rejoice, and a time to give thanks to God who has helped their church to persevere for two centuries.

Calvary Wesleyan

Family Night is observed each Wednesday evening with Services and Activities for all age groups. CYC (Christian Youth Crusaders) program is a Bible Club activity for children ages four through Grade 6. Teens meet in a separate area and adults are involved in a Bible study from the Book of Revelation taught by Pastor Miller. All Family night programs start at 6:55. Girl's Choir under the leadership of Mrs. Thelma Miller meets at 6:15 on Wednesday evening.

To show at Holzmuehler Gallery

The Holzmuehler Gallery of the Avenue Methodist Church will exhibit the art work of Pauline Hankel of Magnolia, DE during the month of October. The public is invited to a reception for the artist on Sunday, October 7, 1979 from 3 to 5 p.m. in the gallery.

The works to be exhibited were done while the artist was almost totally blind. A month ago, she had successful eye surgery. Paintings in oil, sketches in ink and charcoal are features. Subject matter are city scenes, still lifes and nauticals. Also displayed will be the artist's most recent poetry and prose.

Pauline Henkel, born in Kansas of amish parentage, is a graduate of Columbia Union College, Washington, D.C. and was an elementary educational teacher for 17 years. She has exhibited in galleries throughout Delaware, Pennsylvania, Maryland, and Virginia. She is an artist of one of the large murals in the Blue Hen Mall, Dover, DE.

The Holzmuehler Gallery is open on Sundays from 8:30 a.m. to 1:00 p.m., and on weekdays during church office hours from 9:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. The art exhibited is for sale.

For Your Information

Dear friends,

A religious newspaper writes, "The funeral director is involved in death, grief, bereavement, the funeral, pre-and post-death activities, and the emotional rehabilitation of those who suffer, through death, the loss of one they love." The article concludes, "The funeral service practitioner is in a position to help those who suffer grief in a way that no other professional can."

Billy Scott turns the corner for a long gain on Friday night

Spartans drop home opener

by Harry G. Farrow

FELTON. After playing two tough defensive games, the Lake Forest Spartans met with the potent offensive attack of Indian River on Friday night and were crushed 20-6. To the surprise of some, Indian River came to play and unveiled their potent running attack on the Spartans. It was a Southern Division Henlopen Conference game.

The Spartans had an early opportunity when in the first quarter of play they took over on downs at the Indians' 47 yard line. Quarterback, Mark Smith, marched the team to the five yard line on big plays by Billy Scott, 24 yards on the ground, and a 13 yard pass play to Dale Benson. Smith fumbled and the Spartans ended up on the 10 yard line. From there the IR defense stiffened up and held.

Indian River then took over and scored when Harold Harmon raced 46 yards. There were approximately 3 min. and 38 sec. left in the quarter. The Spartans came back mid-way in the second quarter and scored six on a 27 yard TD pass from Mark Smith to Quentin Hendricks. The Spartans in one of their best showings of drives moved the ball 63 yards in seven plays. They failed to tie the game with a conversion.

The Spartan defense, which has been outstanding so far this season, kept the running attack of IR in tact when they stopped the outside running game by IR in the 1st half. Realizing they could not run outside against Lake, they changed their second half strategy and ran up the middle. As a result, Harold Harmon a senior rolled up a total of 182 yards in 13 carries--123 of them in the 2nd half. The other two running backs who racked up yardage were Maury Jarmon with 90 and Ronnie Wallop with 58. The scoring was two TD's by Harmon and a 13 yard run by Wallop. Harmon's longest run of the night was 57 yards and a TD in the 4th quarter.

This Friday night the Spartans play CR at CR.

The contest started poorly for Lake Forest as a holding call allowed Cape a penalty kick after only a minute had expired on the clock. An excellent kick by the Cape player pushed them ahead of the Spartans 1-0.

Eight minutes later, the Spartans permitted a deep penetration and another shot found the goal to make it 2-0.

"They were passing it around and beat us on that one," Buck said. "It was a fine play by Cape, but we could have prevented it if we had been more alive."

Twenty minutes later, Bobby Collier put the Spartans on the scoreboard with one of his patented unassisted shots. Collier, known throughout the conference for his ability to go one-on-one, threaded his way past six defenders and fired home Lake Forest's first, and only, point.

Neither team scored in the second half, although Collier gave Cape a scare when he broke through the defense again but missed by a foot.

"We dominated every phase of play but at mid-field," Buck said. "We had it but couldn't put it away. The early penalty point was the difference."

Lake Forest had Milford on the mind when they played Cape and it

Soccer squad drops two close ones

by Bruce Levy

Lake Forest soccer coach Dave Buck did not sleep well this weekend. The Spartans lost both of their games last week, 2-1 on Tuesday versus Cape Henlopen and again by the same margin against Milford on Saturday night. Both games were away and represented the first losses by Lake Forest this season. It did not contribute to Dave Buck's sleeping habits one bit.

"It was a bad week for us," Buck said, "Against Cape, we played a lacks adasical game and should have won. Against Milford, we played a great team game and should have won. Both times a penalty kick did us in."

"On Tuesday," Buck said, "we did not execute and we did not play aggressively. We actually dominated the play but failed to capitalize when we should have. I had to think that the team was looking ahead to the Milford game and didn't have their whole concentration on what they were doing."

Continued the coach, "We never win at Cape but that's certainly no excuse. Maybe Saturday's game with C.R. left us drained a bit and I know that the one day of practice did us no good at all. We just weren't in the game and playing our potential. The team must play as a unit, this we failed to do."

showed when they finally encountered them. They played brilliantly.

"It was one of the best soccer games I have ever seen," Buck remarked. "We expected a riproarer and we got a riproarer. Both teams played excellently."

Milford, unbeaten so far this year, had their hands full with the Spartans from the opening whistle. The ball moved from end to end as each squad battled for the first point. The Buc's got on the board first with an unassisted goal. It came with three minutes left in the half and over a fired up and tenacious defense.

"We really couldn't stop that one," Buck said. "It just nipped into the corner. Our defense was not allowing much around the goal and they were forced to shoot from 30-40 yards out each time."

Lake Forest completely dominated the first half of play with strong passing and awesome defense. "At half point," Buck said, "I knew we had learned a lesson. We were playing together and matching Milford stroke for stroke, it was beautiful to watch." The only problem was that the Spartans were a point down.

Twenty-five minutes went by in the second half and the game stayed the same - sharp play on both sides but no scoring. Then Bobby Collier hit an unassisted goal to even the score. He got the ball from the defense at mid-field and weaved his way through Milford's triple team effort to hit the point.

It was down to the closing stages of the game, one minute to play and everybody in the packed house was thinking overtime when the cause of Buck's insomnia manifested itself.

A controversial call, made by an official who was 60 yards away from the actual play, allowed Milford to take a penalty kick. The kick was on the money and Milford took a 2-1 lead with time rapidly expiring.

"It was tough to lose like that," said the coach. "Neither team deserved it, the level of play was too excellent."

"But I can't complain," he said, "nobody beat us on Saturday."

C.C. team upsets Sussex Central

by Keith Burgess

Sussex Central's cross-country team was second in the state title meet, behind Woodbridge, last of all and has everyone back. In the Lake Forest Invitational, the Knights were second to Howard, with Lake Forest finishing third.

Five days later, the Knights were back at Killen's Pond State Park's 2.7 miles course, for a dual meet with Jim Blades' underdog Spartans.

Up front was Russell Steele of Sussex, who had won the Invitational in 14.29, defeating state champ Joe Feeley of Claymont, in the process, Chuck Tozer was third in 14.50, in that one, for Lake Forest. Tozer stayed with Steele, this time, for most of the way and ended up with a very fast 14.25, just six seconds behind Steele. Tozer's clocking puts him second to Danny Parker on the all-time Spartan list. If he can improve another 20 seconds or so, by November he will be the new all-time leader.

Great improvement by Jay Howerin (15.02) Bill Mitchell (15.15) and Doug Caskey (15.19) insured the Spartans of the upset victory. Freshman James Lofland lost several seconds because of a fall, but ran very well to turn a one-point victory into a five-point, 26-31 win.

In a 16:43 victory scored by Lake

Forest's junior varsity, a very determined Manny Hernandez recorded his best time ever (16.30) to take individual honors over another improving Spartan, Tom Silkworth.

Mike Hernandez, just back from two or three weeks of inactivity, crossed with Sam Lamphier, in 16.58, after a Knight finished, freshman Chris Caskey clocked a 17.04, 90 seconds better than he'd done before. Others doing a good job were Ken Kline, Albert Burns, Larry Guessford, Mike Grogan, Sherry Coburn, Ron Lewis and Robby Manaraze.

Lafayette Bell again was the top Chipman runner with Danny Haines in contention all the way, in only his second start. Only seven seconds separated this pair of excellent prospects. Jeff Beene, Keith Chandler, Glen Homewood, Paul Meding, Ken Hutchins, Gary Price and Becky Brown, completed the 2.7 miles grind in fine shape. All of the Chipman finishers were seventh graders.

Meanwhile, lots of older Chipman and Lake Forest students, who have the appropriate physiques, that are best suited for cross-country, don't have the courage and other attributes needed to be a success in this sport.

Jim Blades' 2-0 varsity Spartans are off to a good start, as they aim for a 22nd straight, winning season.

New CC record set at Cape Henlopen

by Keith S. Burgess

Chuck Tozer, Lake Forest's transfer from Millville, NJ, made his dual-meet debut by setting a new, course record, at Cape Henlopen.

Tozers 14.37 effort paced Jim Blades' Spartans to a season-opening 23-35 victory over a strong team.

After two Cape runners finished second and third, Lake Forests

"pack" crossed to gain the triumph. Jay Howerin (15.09) Bill Mitchell (15.11) and Doug Caskey (15.17) were followed by sophomore Maurice Coverdale and the strong freshman, James Lofland, before the next Viking arrived.

The improving Tom Silkworth was next leading teammates Sam Lamphier, Randy Ramirez, Ken Kline, Bob Aycoth, Larry Guessford, Manny Hernandez, Chris Caskey, Albert Burns, Sherry Coburn and Ron Lewis.

Chipman's seventh-eighth grade team actually has only one eighth grader on it, but featured a hot, five-man battle for first place. Lafayette Bell and Jeff Beene were only a second apart, with eighth grader Mark Moreau and newcomer

Danny Haines, tied for third only two seconds later. Keith Chandler was fifth, but was only five seconds behind Bell. Others doing well were: Ken Hutchins, Glen Homewood, Mike Cole, Paul Meding, Gary Pria, John Caskey and Clarence McDonald.

Wesley College to hold 1979 "Faith & Life Dialogue"

Dr. James M. Young, Director of the Methodist Action Program in Wilmington, Delaware, will be the speaker for the 1979 Faith and Life Dialogue at Wesley College in Dover. The annual campus-wide religious emphasis will be held Wednesday, October 17.

The Faith and Life Dialogue traditionally focuses on some aspect of the Christian faith applied to a concrete issue of life. For this year's topic, Dr. Young has chosen "A Christian Dilemma: Fuel or Food". The Methodist Action program has three on-going goals: social change, strengthening local churches and directly meeting human needs. It is out of this background of Christian involvement that Dr. Young will address this urgent issue, which is pressing not only in our immediate area, but throughout the United States.

The events in the Faith and Life Dialogue will include class visitation by Dr. Young, a luncheon with the religious life committee, a special meeting with the Wesley Student Christian Association and a Faculty Dinner. Dr. Young's main address will be delivered at the 1:00 p.m. chapel service, which will be open to the public.

A graduate of Johns Hopkins University, Boston University School of Theology and Lancaster Theological Seminary, Dr. Young has been with the Methodist Action Program since 1974.

Prince Georges Chapel to close

The Prince George's Chapel located in Dagsboro, Delaware, on State Route 28, will be closed October 1 to April 1, 1980. Group visitation and special use of the facility may be arranged by appointment through the Bureau of Museums and Historic Sites, Hall of Records, Dover (678-5314). Energy conservation and building repairs will be undertaken at the chapel during the closing.

Branch Reformation Youth Group

October 13 from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. (at least). Youth group will rock around the clock in rocking chairs to raise money for the Youth Program and for Designated Advanced Gifts, Special Children's Projects. Make sure you make your pledge to support the Youth Group and the Children in need.

NEW MEMBERS:
George and Peggy Pierson and their children Duane and Danny, from Magnolia.

Marguerite Swenson lives at 51 Woodmere Road.

Charles and Ann Praena come from Salem, VA, and have built a home on Griffith Lake.

A special welcome to these new members of our family at Reformation.

Obituaries(cont.)

GEORGE A. SHANE

RIDGELY - George A. Shane, 79, died Saturday in the Memorial Hospital, Easton, of a heart condition.

Mr. Shane retired from the Maryland Department of Parole and Probation in 1957.

There are no immediate survivors. Graveside services were Monday at 11 a.m. at Denton Cemetery, Denton.

SUSAN GROVE

GEORGETOWN - Services will be Thursday morning at 11 at St. John's Church in Milford for Susan Grove, 21, who died Sunday in an auto accident near Stevensville, MD.

Miss Grove, of Centreville, MD, and formerly of Georgetown, was manager of the Hardee's Restaurant in Stevensville.

She is survived by her parents, Edward and Dorothy Oboryshko Grove of Georgetown; a brother, Edward of Georgetown, and a sister, Dianne Grove of Georgetown.

Friends may call tonight at the Gruwell Funeral Home, Milford, Harrington Highway, Milford. Burial will be in Odd Fellows Cemetery, Milford. Instead of flowers, the family suggests contributions to the Chesterwyke Building Fund for the Handicapped, care of Hardee's Restaurant, Stevensville.

You could help win the energy battle with this gun

There are a lot of ways to gain the upper hand in the energy battle. One of the best weapons you've got is the good old caulking gun.

Load up...take aim...and seal those cracks that let slivers of icy air knife their way into your home. They're the culprits that make your heating system work overtime, eating up valuable energy and wasting your money. But, when you take careful aim with your caulking gun, even old man winter with his icy winds has to beat a hasty retreat. And don't stop with caulking either. Further increase your chances of winning the energy battle by using all the weapons in your arsenal...storm windows and doors...weather stripping...insulation...closed garage doors...everything you've got! This is war so anything goes! Get out there and insulate! Then spend the winter with that warm, secure feeling of knowing that you've fought a good fight and won! At Delmarva Power, we're working hard every day to help you win the fight to hold costs down and to protect your supply of energy.

Little Known Facts

The most successful song writer, in terms of sales of single records, is former Beatle Paul McCartney. Between 1962 and January 1978, he wrote jointly or solo 43 songs, which sold one million or more records.

Numbers tell a success
story for an audio store,
too. In its 59 year history, Radio Shack has earned a reputation for quality, reliability and value. Over twenty million active customers prove it, making that company the Number One consumer electronics chain store.

Franz Schubert's masterpiece, his Sixth Symphony, was turned down by the Paris Symphony Orchestra.
The London Philharmonic laughed at it. The symphony was not played until 40 years after it was written.

Entry gardens call for creativity

What's the best way to landscape your front yard if you own a lot the size of a postage stamp and it sits dustily on the edge of a busy thoroughfare?

Your neighbors may settle for the traditional patch of lawn and consider boosting their auto insurance every time they nerve themselves to back out into the traffic flow.

But that doesn't mean you're stuck with the same dubious landscaping solution, as one Delaware resident, Benjamin Lincoln of Colonial Woods, Wilmington, has demonstrated.

In fact, his place was one of the winners in the recent statewide landscape contest sponsored by the Delaware Nurserymen's Association. Tired of mowing grass anyway, Lincoln asked professional landscape architect Allen J. Ferver to come up with something "a little different" for his front yard.

That was nine years ago. Today it's hard to imagine anything more suitable than the entry garden he designed around a half-circle drive leading right to the front door and then curving back to the street, so that you can always head into traffic when leaving.

Between the drive and the sidewalk is a raised mound which serves as a kind of buffer zone between the street and the drive.

Lincoln, following Ferver's design, planted this with low-growing junipers, hollies, azaleas, and the slow-growing hinko cypress, mulching the ground in between plants with wood chips to reduce maintenance and add to overall appearance.

The entry garden permits an interesting view from the sidewalk for all passersby. It also creates a courtyard effect around the front and garage doors.

Two flowering cherry trees at the arc on each side of the drive provide shade and frame the house. A large maple stands next to the front door.

A simple, low foundation planting of dwarf Japanese holly, yew, and pachysandra ground cover fills the space between the drive and the house. The overall effect, from the house looking out and from the street looking in, is of a pleasing, well-ordered, welcoming landscape of green trees and shrubs quite removed from the bustle of the road beyond.

Of course, not all entry gardens have to include a drive. The small landscaped area leading up to the front door of many townhouses lends itself to some creative solutions, too. Like the Lincoln garden, most of these sites call for plant materials that won't get too big in a few years.

Save money saving energy

Advice on purchasing and maintaining a car

Buy the most energy-efficient car of the size and style you want. Don't let the car price alone determine your choice. Make your decision on the basis of the combination of purchase price and your estimated fuel costs.

Purchase only the optional equipment and accessories you really need. Items like air-conditioning, automatic transmission, and power steering require considerable energy, all of which is derived from burning gasoline.

Other equipment, such as power brakes, electric motor-driven windows, seats and radio antennas, require less energy for their operation, but all accessories add to the vehicle weight — and this reduces fuel economy.

Don't buy an air-conditioner unless you really need it. Even when you're not using it, it adds to the weight of the car.

If you have a car air-conditioner or other power-driven accessories, use (continued to page 4)

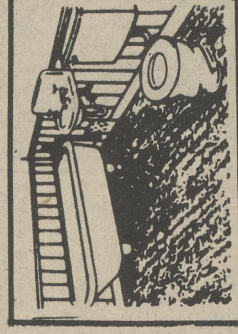

STUDY THE MARKET

Ask your dealer for a free copy of the latest "EPA-DOE Gas Mileage Guide." Study the fuel economy figures and tables that compare specifications. Review mileage test results publicized by Consumers Union and motor industry magazines.

Generally the best fuel economy is associated with low vehicle weight, small engines, manual transmissions, low axle ratio, and low frontal area (the width of the car times its height).

Shedding light

Q. We have a very dark kitchen with no natural light.

A. I know the logical thing to do is to paint the dark cabinets white and likewise have light walls and ceiling. However, the cabinets are in such good condition and practically new that I really hate to change them.

The floor is in need of replacement and the walls need painting. What would you suggest? — T.P.M.

A. A light floor — perhaps an off-white pebbly texture or a simulated brick — would be a good beginning for lightening the room.

Leave the dark cabinets if they are new and good looking.

Add a light for general illumination or consider a lighted ceiling. Also add fluorescent fixtures recessed beneath the wall-hung cabinets to provide plenty of light for working.

Use reflective materials whenever possible — materials that will catch the light and bounce it about. Stainless steel, chrome, clear acrylic, shiny enamel and gleaming crystal will help accomplish that.

Q. I need help in planning a redecorating project for the living and dining rooms. These two rooms are open to each other and are heavily traveled since we do not have a family room.

The rooms are paneled in a dark walnut. Have plain gold draperies with white sheers.

There are two chairs — one gold rocker and one green. Our recliner is done in a green and blue plaid and the couch is green. I have a gold pull-up chair, also.

I am seriously thinking of having the gold rocker and the other green chair recovered. I want to stay with the traditional styling.

The carpeting has to be replaced. Could you suggest a good color for me? I would like to get away from gold if I could but do not know what to look for. Also what colors could I use for accents? — J.H.

A. Why not introduce a new color scheme in your redecorating project? A green, blue and gold combination which you might find in a floral pattern would be nice for your gold rocker and green chair.

A modest floral pattern usually will not fight with a plaid but rather be complementary to it.

For your carpeting you might like a sea green. Bright and dull shades of blue, green and yellow would be nice for your accents, mixing them as you find accessories, including paintings, picture frames, lamps and ceramics, that you feel will add to your home.

Q. I just bought a most beautiful Oriental rug in soft orange, navy blue, light blue and cream. I have a very small living room in which I want to use it and decorate around it.

I'd like a fairly dramatic, warm and inviting setting for the rug. Please suggest some colors and other ideas for highlighting the room. I have wood floors. I'll be buying new furniture and draperies. — P.P.

A. Grasscloth in soft orange and beige would be lovely on your walls and give you the drama you probably want to complement your rug. Many grasscloths today offer several colors — often a background color such as the soft orange and a natural beige grass.

Look for the same soft orange Venetian blinds and if you want to enhance the Oriental effect, install a modest lambrequin at the window covered in the grass cloth.

A navy and cream fabric in a small print for a small sofa would be pleasant when combined with a pair of faux bamboo or wood and cane seated chairs. You could add blue cushions if the chairs demanded them.

Wood tones of tables and small chests in place of end tables would add a richness to the room, highlighted with your decorative rug.

MAINTENANCE

Good car maintenance and a wise selection of accessories can mean fuel economy and dollars saved.

Have your car tuned as needed. Regular tune-ups extend engine life and improve performance.

A poorly tuned car could use as much as 3 to 9 percent more gasoline than a well-tuned one. The tune-up will pay for itself in gasoline savings and car reliability.

Keep the engine filters clean. Clogged filters waste gasoline.

Use the gasoline octane and oil grade recommended for your car. If you change the oil yourself, take the used oil to your service station for recycling.

Check tire pressure regularly. Underinflated tires increase gas use. You can lose about 2 percent in fuel economy for every pound of pressure under the recommended pounds per square inch.

Consider radial tires. They can mean from 3 to 5 percent improvement in gas mileage in the city, 7 percent on the highway, and 10 percent at 55 mph after the tires are warmed up for 20 minutes. And they last longer, too. Never mix radials with conventional tires.

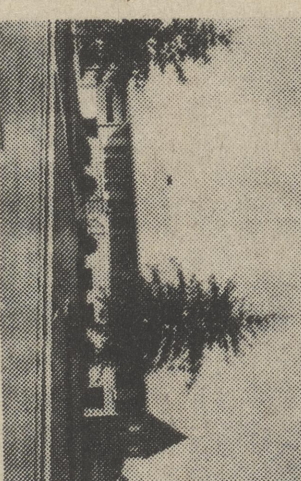

Remove unnecessary weight from the car. The lighter the car, the less gas it uses.

An extra 100 pounds decreases fuel economy about 1 percent for the average car, and one and a quarter percent for small cars.

Entry—

horticulturist Dr. Charles Dunham says there are many low-growing evergreens that will serve this purpose, both needle and broadleaf kinds — including several junipers and dwarf hollies. There are also a number of suitable ground covers, including pachysandra, or eping, elonymou — and even yucca.

Be prepared to pay more for slow-growing trees and shrubs, warns Dunham. It takes nur-rymen much longer to grow these to marketable size.

For instance, the slow-growing Swiss stone pine in a landscape size might run anywhere from $100 to $200, while the faster-growing white pine will cost only about half as much.

Prices like this are a good reason for having a clearly developed planting plan before you start to buy.

How do you go about choosing what you want? First, says the specialist, decide how much maintenance you're willing to put into the garden. Then decide on the kind of effect you want to achieve — restful, dramatic, welcoming, etc.

Take your time starting a new landscape, he adds. Give yourself at least a year to consider the site in all seasons and see where you need certain effects. That's a lot better than just rushing out and doing a lot of things you're going to end up changing.

If you feel you need help, consider hiring a landscape architect to develop a basic plan for you. Many nurseries will provide this service free, if you buy the plant material from them or have them do the planting.

Depending on how you go about it, actual planting can also be done by yourself, according to your own timetable (and budget).

This pleasant entry garden driveway replaces conventional front lawn in yard along busy street. The result is privacy, easy care, and safe exit and entry onto the road.

When it comes to selection of plant materials, a landscape plan may give you a choice of plants for certain uses. Among these, let personal preference be your guide so that the garden reflects your own tastes and interest.

On word of caution — avoid the tendency to overplant. Most of us tend to plant too many different kinds of plants. We may even want one of everything. But this doesn't make for a well-designed landscape.

Fall time to concentrate on lawn

If your lawn consists of 50 percent or more desirable grasses, such as Kentucky bluegrass, all that's needed may be a partial renovation consisting of weed control, liming, and fertilizing.

If, on the other hand, your lawn was seriously damaged by pests like sod webworm, chinch bugs or disease organisms this summer, a complete reseeding may be called for.

Perhaps your lawn grasses failed because of poor drainage, too much shade, unadapted varieties or excessive soil acidity. Examine the causes of failure and then develop a plan of action.

Should you decide to reseed part or all of your lawn, be sure to incorporate lime and fertilizer as you prepare the seed bed.

Use 50 pounds of ground limestone and 20 pounds of 10-10-10 fertilizer per 1,000 square feet of lawn.

Limestone, fertilizer and seed can all be safely applied at the same time, but avoid mixing hydrated lime and fertilizer since this may cause some of your fertilizer nitrogen to escape into the air before it can be used.

Smooth and firm-up the seed bed by raking. Most grass seed is very small and needs only a light cover of soil for germination.

Pulling a grass rake over the area following seeding is all that's necessary, but be sure to do this. Seed-soil contact is essential for germination.

Grass seed thrown on top of existing grass is essentially wasted, notes the specialist.

Select seed that meets your needs in terms of existing grass, disease resistance, shade tolerance, use and level of care you expect to give your lawn.

If you want a picture-book lawn, be sure to select your seed from improved varieties of Kentucky bluegrass like Baron, Adelphi, Bonblue, Fylking and Vantage.

These have demonstrated good disease resistance and are more suitable than the older favorite, Merion.

If there are trees in your landscape, use shade tolerant red fescue in a mixture with two or three blue grass varieties. Under heavy shade, though, only red fescue will survive, so there's little advantage to adding the bluegrass.

to be a favorite where a coarse lawn is acceptable. It is quite drought tolerant and will withstand heavy wear. It's a good grass for the back lawn where the children play.

If dandelions, plantain and ground ivy got the best of you this summer, control them with a mixture of 2, 4-D, MCPP and Banvel. Now is a good time to do this since they're easy to kill at this time of year.

Also, tomatoes and other sensitive garden plants have about finished their growth cycles and are less likely to be damaged by spray draft.

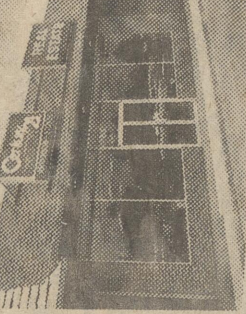

Act soon now to give your lawn a chance to recover from the ravages of summer during the long, cool days and nights of fall when growing conditions are ideal.

Free brochure available on home mortgage loans

SEAFORD - A special brochure designed to ease the process of obtaining a home mortgage loan is now available from Robinson Real Estate, 605 N. Hall Street.

Titled "Tips On Securing A Home Mortgage," the brochure has been written in layman's terms and is intended to eliminate the mystery of the mortgage application process for home buyers.

The brochure was published by RELO-Inter-City Relocation Service and is being made available free of charge to consumers by RELO's member real estate firms.

"In today's rapidly changing money market, the home mortgage process has become extremely complex. RELO felt it was time for a little plain talk on the subject," said Melba P. Robinson, owner of Robinson Real Estate.

"This new brochure covers the key points of the mortgage process, beginning with the client's initial contact with a real estate salesperson. "It goes on to cover the loan application process and explains those items that will be investigated by a lending institution's mortgage committee," Mrs. Robinson said.

"Perhaps the best advice in the brochure is the recommendation to be completely candid with the real estate salesperson. As a professional, the salesperson can not only match a client with the right house, but can match the client with the right lending institution."

In addition, the brochure features an extensive glossary of terms commonly used in real estate and by lending institutions. The glossary is designed to eliminate the language barrier for real estate clients.

Among the terms defined are abstract of title, acceptance, appraisal, closing statement, conventional mortgage, earnest money, escoppel certificate, points, settlement and title search. A total of 35 terms are defined.

"Tips On Securing A Home Mortgage" is available free of charge at Robinson Real Estate. Consumers may stop in or call 629-4574 for a copy.

Light is key to African Violets

by Viola Anthony

Hello again. I hope you all have at least one African Violet to see how well you can make it grow and bloom and to those who think they cannot be successful at growing them you'll see how easy it can be.

Proper light is the most necessary thing for getting good bloom on your plant. African Violets cannot stand hot sunshine. It burns the leaves. They need just a little bit of early morning sunshine perhaps, but a lot of strong diffused light. If you must keep your violets in a sunny window, keep a thin curtain between the window and your plants. A northeast window is fine. If any brown spots appear on the leaves that get larger each day, they are getting too much sun and are getting sun burned. A west window may be used by filtering that hot, late afternoon sun. Remember - just a little sun and lots of strong light will bring your plants into flower.

If you don't have a window for plants and still would like to grow African Violets, they grow very well under fluorescent light. Just use an ordinary shoplight and two 40 watt tubes - one cool white and one warm white. They use very little current and the leaves won't burn under them. The plants should be about 14 inches below the tubes and should be left on twelve to fourteen hours daily. Don't forget to turn off the light because violets need their eight hours sleep just as humans do.

Now for watering your plants. Water is good for everything that grows - including people, but too much water is not good for African Violets. The experts say that more violets are killed by overwatering than by forgetting to water and I have found it to be true. Feel the top of your soil and if it is dry to touch, water with lukewarm water until the water runs into the saucer beneath. In about ten minutes the soil will have taken up all the water it can hold. Empty the remaining water. Never leave water in the saucer or it will be overwatered. Always check the soil at the top before you water. Another thing to be careful of in watering is never to use softened or treated water to water any plants. Collect rainwater if you must or perhaps you have an outside faucet that doesn't run through the water softener. Treated water is sure death for plants.

It is not true that water should never touch African Violet leaves. You may take a thin piece of plastic, wrap it around the top of the pot so the soil won't be washed away and give your whole plant a gentle, lukewarm spray at your sink. Set it aside to get thoroughly dry before putting it back in the window. If any water should remain in the center, blot it up with a tissue. Your plants actually seem to perk up after a bath especially if they were a little dusty. The leaves are shining and beautiful. Plants breathe through their leaves. Some growers even dissolve a little fertilizer in water and spray it on the leaves. Experts call this "foliar feeding." I have never been brave enough to do this, but I do spray the plants and feel that watering from the top works best for me.

Frederica

by Mary "Toby" Johnston

If you missed Heritage Day in Frederica, you are one of the millionaires. Regardless of the weather the exhibits, walking and bus tours were just out of this world. From 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. was not a long enough time to view everything.

For one, I would like to thank everyone for their participation - it was a great day.

Anyone having lunch at the Trinity Church couldn't miss one of our Great Ladies Exhibit as it was displayed in the Dining Room. She is a beautiful and gracious lady - Mrs. Ruth Ketcham - whose hobby is photography was invited to show her black and white prints.

Her interest in photography began when she traveled with her late husband, "Red Ketcham" who built Harness Horse Race Tracks all over the U.S. and Canada. Her association with her small grandchildren and their pets have provided the inspirations and models for the pictures she has made in the past decade.

Mrs. Ketcham is active in the Delaware Camera Club of Wilmington and the Dover Camera Club, besides all the other local and state activities she participates in. Her prints and slides have been displayed and won in various types of Photography Shows and on the Delaware Digest cover and in local newspapers. At the Annual Delaware Awards Dinner in May, Mrs. Ruth Ketcham was the proud and happy winner of the Silver Award for Accumulated Points for 1979.

As you passed through the Hall in the new building at Trinity Church, you entered the Room of Antiques, displayed by Mary Rawlins and Clara Conley. This area brought back so much of our Heritage - especially when you saw the baby carriage used by The Townsend family, quilts, pictures, dishes, jewelry, dolls, furniture made, worn or used by some of our local residences. Not to leave out the Great "Frederica Steamer" replica.

Entering from David Street, Artist Gerton Hite displayed his beautiful paintings in color and black and white. He designed the brochures for the tours derived from Mildred Coverdale's history of Frederica. We welcome these new residents to our Town. Mr. and Mrs. Hite have purchased the home of another artist family, the late Mr. and Mrs. William Leach.

In the Fire House Raymond Dill complete overhead sprinkler system so that when they water their African Violets they also get a bath. Their greenhouse glass is coated so they don't have to be afraid of sun burning through the water.

African Violets grow and bloom well at the same temperatures best suited to people - 65 to 75 degrees and since we are being asked to keep our houses at 65 degrees I hope this is true. They grow well at that temperature in my basement so perhaps we'll be o.k.

Just a little summary - lots of bright light (not much direct sun) water with lukewarm water when the soil surface feels dry and do not leave water in the saucer. Give them a gentle bath once in a while and they will be happy.

So will you be happy to see your pretty blooming plants.

Pots and soil mixtures are important to your growing, so we will talk about them next week.

Until then keep a sharp eye on your Violet or Violets and see how they are improving.

had his Frederica cards, notes and other points of interest from the Post Mailing Dept. along with the Frederica History by Mildred Coverdale.

Dr. Everett Bryan of Dover had his Frederica Bottles and cans with their history, notes and prescriptions.

The Frederica Fire Co.'s display was the history of the Fire Co. Pictures and the old pump. The Auxiliary, represented by Louise Betts and Elneta Harrington, Choir Director had a beautiful show of old trunks. Some had been refurbished by the two ladies, others to be done. Bake sales were held by Hubert A.M.E. Church and Trinity. Also the Senior Center plus other crafts made there. The Center was opened to the public.

Here on St. Agnes Street we have four of the oldest residents of town, Mrs. Elizabeth Slaughter, Mrs. Emma Holger, Sr., Mrs. Elsie Fisher and Mr. Harvey Jester and just around the corner #5 Mrs. Emmaline Hovington.

To Mildred Coverdale all of us in Frederica and other A-Round & A-Bout are very grateful to you for publishing our Heritage in a book. Through your work over again we

by Nina Locardi

Forecast for October 3rd to October 9th

Aries - Steer clear of obvious personality clashes at work. Remain calm and untruffled and let others work for you!

Taurus - Keep your work and play separate this week! For the sake of your health, maintain a slow and easy pace.

Gemini - Although this month will be extremely creative for you, it is best to avoid extremes of any kind this week.

Cancer - Your influence on family and friends is very strong but this is not the week to push matters to a successful conclusion!

Leo - Financially this should prove to be an enterprising time. However, hold on to your hard won funds!

Virgo - Now is the time to draw up a realistic financial framework for the weeks to come. Listen to what others are telling you.

Farming Guide

To all of you that have read the Farming Guide, I hope that this past season has left you with an abundance of canned goods for the coming winter! For those of you that are still harvesting, the 7th and the 8th are the best days for top crops and fruit, while the 3rd and 4th are good days for the harvest of root crops. As for poultry; set chicken and turkey eggs on the 7th. Set goose and duck eggs on the 3rd and the 4th. The 7th and the 8th are very good days for buying hatched poultry.

Thank you for the interest that you have shown in this column and I hope that it has proved of some worth to all of you! Until next spring.....

Looking Your Best!

The Full Moon of the 5th signifies a time of endings. This is a better week for finishing projects and planning your future goals than for stating anything new. Try and schedule hair appointments for the 5th and the 6th. These dates are excellent for those of you with hard to curl hair. With hair that curls too easily, try the 3rd and count!

Libra - You are full of enthusiasm and your energy feels boundless! This week, though, is not the time to assert yourself with force!

Scorpio - Take inventory on your personal desires and prepare yourself for the spotlight. For now, keep a low profile.

Sagittarius - Groups and associations demand your attention now. Your path is suddenly clear, but do not ask for those favors yet!

Capricorn - You should be feeling more at home in your current world. Maintain the status quo and do not invite trouble with higher-ups!

Aquarius - Legal matters may need your close attention. Travel and people at a distance are beckoning, but now is not the time to fly!

Pisces - Pull out your hidden talents and find ways to use your vast resources. Effective ways for dealing with rivals are right under your nose!

News from the Ruritan Club

by Bruce Frazier

Kent County farmers are very active in corn harvesting these days and weeks. Most every field of corn looks to be hanging full of ripening ears and there should be a better than average yield for all. As one rides through the country, the large combines can be seen moving slowly picking and shelling 4 to 8 rows in each swath. Our friends, Irene and Menseel Dean from near Harrisonburg, VA, were amazed at the large trucks of shelled golden corn sitting along the fields and traveling to the storage sites. And, in contrast, they remarked of seeing several fields of shocked corn in rows west of Dover as they were coming to visit two weeks ago. They learned of the community of Amish settled in among our motorized farms. Around Harrisonburg they have a community of Mennonite with their small dairy and general farms. Most of their fields of corn are chopped for ensilage.

Our Delaware Agricultural Museum located on the south side of Delaware State College along Silver Lake will have old farm tools and equipment once used for planting and harvesting corn. They have a wooden hand corn planter and a two-row all-wood frame horse-drawn corn planter. It required a driver, as well as a person to operate a lever, to drop the corn in hill. The museum wants to be open to the public as soon as possible next year.

The Ruritan clubs are summarizing their accomplishments of community service for the past twelve months. The awards year ends at the end of September in order for the top seven clubs to be determined and receive their plaques at the Ruritan National Convention in January. In the Delmarva-New Jersey District of Ruritan, the annual convention will take place at the Lake Forest High School on Saturday, December 1, 1979.

Edgar Dill, a 21-year member of the V.O.F. Ruritan club, is the 1979 District Governor of the Delmarva-New Jersey District. He and his wife, Wanda, have traveled to many of the clubs in the 4-state area for their Ladies Night meetings. Now they are making preparations for the District Convention, where the evening banquet for wives and friends concludes the all-day session.

Burrsville Ruritan Club has set a tentative date for a fried oyster supper in October. More details will be reported in the coming weeks. The turkey shoot of the Magnolia Ruritan Club was rained out on September 22nd. Another scheduled shoot will be on October 13th, just north of Magnolia.

Minner - DiSabatino wedding held

The marriage of Miss Angela Jeanne Minner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William A. Minner of Weiner Avenue, Harrington, to Mr. Thomas Christopher DiSabatino of Newark, was performed on Saturday evening, September 22 at 7 o'clock in Asbury United Methodist Church, Harrington. Rev. C. Jackson Robinson conducted the double ring ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of candlelight satin with an overlay of schiffli lace. The gown was redesigned from her mother's wedding gown. Her veil of illusion was attached to a small cap covered with satin and matching lace. Her bouquet was of white roses with ivy and baby's breath.

Her attendants were her sister, Mrs. Richard Heyd of Greenwood, Mrs. Benjamin Twilley of Harrington, Miss Linda Miller of Souderton, PA, Miss Sena Hohman of Keymar, Maryland, Miss Christina Marconi and Miss Stephanie Marconi of Wilmington, sisters of the groom. Their dresses were of a floral polyester sheer. Mrs. Heyd's gown and Miss Stephanie Marconi's gowns had backgrounds of ivory with pink flowers and the other were similar with a pink background color. They carried bouquets of pink roses with baby's breath and ivy.

Best man for his brother was Michael DiSabatino of Wilmington, and William Swain of Wilmington, Richard Clayton of Columbus, Ohio and William Jackson of Harrington. Greg Hobbs of Chambersburg, PA was the soloist with Mrs. David Dill at the organ.

A reception at the Holiday Inn in Dover followed the ceremony.

After a honeymoon in the West Indies, Mr. and Mrs. DiSabatino will be at home in Sandalewood Apartments, Newark.

Mr. DiSabatino is the son of Mrs. Iona Marconi of Wilmington and the late Mr. Peter DiSabatino.

The bride is a graduate of Lake Forest High School and the University of Delaware. She will begin a position as Registered Nurse at the Veteran's Hospital in Elsmere in October.

The groom is a graduate of McKean High School, and is employed at the General Motors Assembly Plant at Boxwood, near Wilmington. He is also in the Continuing Education program at the University of Delaware.

You name it, we saw it at the Art and Crafts Thursday at Delaware State College. Our Director, Sabra took Elwood Morris who demonstrated carving peach kernels. He specializes in baskets, tho there are lots of things you can carve, such as monkeys, horse heads, dogs and people. He drew a lot of interest. We had a part in the little bird house, which went over very well also. We plan to do some bird houses October 10. If you have some pine cones, take the outside off in little shingle type pieces and keep for top of bird houses. If in doubt, bring pine cones with you.

Friday was an easy going day everything and everyone just enjoyed each other - the craft table was busy. Larry was at the organ with some lovely melodies. I told the ladies of the many crafts we had seen at the show and passed around the papers to tell of the different crafts. We are having Carolyn Brown Levi's and Lace and bird houses and coat hangers. Keep an eagle eye out for corn husk doll making and apple head dolls. Mrs. Grace Welch will be coming by to show us how.

Bible Study with lots of good singing took place on Monday morning with Mrs. Judy in the lead. Several did Santas and angel books, Pearl Hickman, Anna Mae Short, Elizabeth Anthony, Viola Hill, Essie Redden, Bertha Dean, Ella Golt and Salie Needles. At the ceramic table this month there has Florence Minner, Velma Whitey, Essie Redden, Salie Needles, Mildred Vincent, Pearl Hickman, Hazel Langrell, Joyce Carrier, Bertha Dean, Annabel Morrow, Helen Grayberry and Jo Burke.

Florence Minner made seven nice pillow covers and liners for the Bazaar. While I am on the subject of Bazaar, please don't forget your wille elephants, they have always been a great source of revenue for us and we do appreciate them so very much. The Bazaar is November 16. Lunch with a friend. We want you to see an adorable, useful, large cookie jar in the form of an overstuffed chair being completed for the Bazaar. If you would like to knit or crochet something for the Bazaar, we will bring you the wool. Anything will be gladly accepted.

The ladies and gents always look great at the Center, but when they are going on a bus trip, listen to me - they are just darn good looking people! Forty-seven boarded the bus for the R.S.V.P. Recognition lunch at Dover. Our Site Manager, Charlotte Welch accompanied them. Elizabeth Anthony reigned over the kitchen. Her helpers were Mabel Jean Donovan, Nita McClain, Cam, Sabra and me. The dinner was the same as those in Dover and it was delicious. We had fried chicken, delectable cole slaw, tasty potato salad, cranberry sauce, rolls and banana cream pie fattening as all get out, but my it was good! Lots of coffee. Thank you Volunteers one and all! When the clock was saying it's time for the members to be coming back from Dover, in they came, all smiles, each with what they liked best, one thing all agreed with was when Mrs. Salie Segers sang the "Lord's Prayer" people did not even breath it was so beautifully done, complete silence even a dish was not touched. They said the silence was so overpowering that for a few seconds after she was finished all was still, each one I guess hating to be the one to break the aura.

Best Wishes to all homebonds. Be kind to each other. Hope good health soon returns to those who are ill. Stop by and see us. Members meeting October 8th. Birthday October 16th. Don't forget to say Hi!

Our column is truly a Bureau of Information. Dear Abby handles the personal problems and we do the rest! I do wish to thank everyone who called and sent copies of the poem, and the Milford Library for their splendid response. Copies of the poem have been passed around and gratefully accepted and a copy is in my own scrapbook.

Recipes for the spiced apple rings we requested have been coming in and we have selected one that appeals to us and will proceed. We'll tell you how it comes out. Thanks a million. I was reflecting today that the only bad thing about autumn is the flies. We swat and we spray and we give up in despair. I counted myself lucky to find some good, old-fashioned screen fly swatters at our local hardware store. The plastic ones are not for me. When I hit a fly, I really bear down and the plastic swatters turn the victim into a gooey mess, plus I usually break the handle. When I come down on the fly, the handle snaps. But we still have the flies, just before dark the window and door screens are black with them. Are you all into your fall house-

"To God Be the Glory" and in it are pictures and quotations from Carrie Ten Boom and Billy Graham. This quotation from Billy Graham impressed me also. "Think of the things that cannot be bought with money. It cannot buy health, friends, love or peace of mind and heart. It cannot buy peace of soul. We come to the conclusion, then, that money of itself is not worthy of the importance most people place upon it." I also discovered, under a lot of papers, the little copy book of Great-uncle's original poems written in the high-flown, melancholy Victorian script of that day and which we will enjoy together some time later. If there is anything to this inheritance bit, then surely my love of poetry came from him.
