A newsletter, State Police protection - Frederica Council will give them a try

The Frederica Town Council met last Wednesday evening, it's first meeting with the newly elected members Larry Mannering and Dan Griffith in attendance.

It was decided to try a new approach to publishing the Council's news. "Our council seems to be misrepresented at times," said Larry Mannering. "We are misquoted often and things can be misinterpreted by the media. Also, there are many older people in the town that simply aren't hearing about what the council is doing."

"For these reasons," Mannering continued, "we have decided to publish our own monthly newsletter. It will contain news of the council and will be distributed to every house in Frederica."

Plans are to have all five members contribute to the newsletter.

Also accomplished last Wednesday, the council decided to back besieged ex-town cop Larry Washburn. Washburn is currently embroiled in a legal case resulting from a dog shooting incident some months ago.

By a majority vote, the Frederica Council voted to have town solicitor Nick Rodriguez represent Washburn in the pending case. Said Mannering, "The majority felt that since Washburn was on duty at the time and acting as our policeman, we had a duty to try and support him."

Since Washburn's termination, Frederica has been without police protection and the council took steps last Wednesday to remedy the problem.

For four weeks, as a trial experiment, the Delaware State Police will patrol Frederica. The council is unsure if this is the right direction, but the members want to see if the arraignment is feasible.

"They will patrol 20 hours a week," Mannering said. "It may work and it may not but we'll see. It's that or hire another town policeman and we're just not sure. We don't want to rush into a decision, but we want to provide proper protection for our citizens." The State Police will begin patrolling immediately.

Two Frederica citizens attended Wednesday's meeting to complain of conditions in some of the town's rental properties they feel should be fixed up or condemned. They were told the Council at present, does not have the specific authority needed to deal with such situations. However, a committee of two members - Larry Mannering and Dan Griffith - was appointed to look over the town's charter and ordinances to see what might be done. This sort of thing, said Griffith, should not be done piecemeal.

Floor leader Leroy Garey put on a strong performance last Friday in the basketball season opener. See page seven.

Proposed city budget still has $1600 gap

In the continuing battle of the budget, the Harrington Council last Thursday held a public hearing on the proposed figures for 1979-80. The Council managed to shift a few dollars here and there, but the end result was pretty much the same - a $16,000 gap between income and expenditures. The gap is on the minus side.

Projected expenses for next year were trimmed by about $2,000 from $386,494 to $384,535. Revenues are still estimated at $368,000.

Some major sections of the budget are those over which Council has little or no control. $40,000 has been earmarked for the debt service. Of the projected expenses tagged as capital outlay $20,000 must be spent on streets and another $25,000 on sewer plant and sewer construction. A total of $17,700 is set aside for a back hoe and a new police car already purchased.

Of those expenses which could be adjusted, Council members were able to cut a police department request for equipment operating expenses by about $3,000. $2,644 of this was tentatively promised to the Harrington Public Library to keep it in operation for the balance of the fiscal year. State funding for the library will cease on July 1, 1980. If approved, the City appropriation would buy additional time for the library to seek other sources of funding.

Other community appropriations in the proposed budget include $5,000 for the fire company, $700 for the Jaycees and $100 for the Harrington Little League.

The biggest single item in the 79-80 budget is a projected $142,213 for salaries.

City revenues come largely from about $86,000 in real estate taxes and $137,000 in water and sewer rents. It is estimated that another $24,000 will be collected in fines, and $56,000 and $31,000, respectively, will come from Revenue Sharing and Municipal Street Aid.

The Council adjourned the budget hearing around 9:45 p.m. with no real suggestions as to how the $16,000 gap might be closed. It was hoped there might be time to have another go at the budget at last night's regular Council meeting.

Local police arrest seven

On November 30th, the Harrington Police reported an overdose case. William Benton, 23, of Commerce Street was taken to Milford Memorial for an aspirin overdose. Benton walked away from the hospital the following day and returned to Harrington. He was again picked up by the police and returned to Milford Memorial for a 72 hour observation. After the 72 hours were completed, Benton returned to Harrington, and along with his three brothers, forced their way into a residence at 109 Grant Street where they assaulted Tom Steerman, John Cannon and Mack Cannon with plastic pipes. All three victims were treated and released by the Milford Hospital. Russell and Albert Benton were arrested and plead guilty to trespassing. Two others are still at large with warrants on file.

Also on the 30th of November, the police reported an assault. John Dorman was arrested for menacing and striking his wife on the forehead with the back of his

Two file for City Council seats

With two seats on Council up for election which will be held on January 8, 1980 only two citizens have filed for the two vacancies. The two citizens are Charles "Jerry" Anderson in the 1st ward and Burton Satterfield in the 3rd ward. Satterfield is a former City Councilman and Mayor. Poor health forced Mr. Satterfield to the sidelines in 1972.

The deadline for filing for the Council seats is 4:00 p.m. December 28. Councilman Jack Wyatt is the current representative from the 1st ward. Dr. Vincent Lobo currently represents the 3rd ward. Both Councilmen have picked up their petitions but neither has submitted their petitions to the City Manager's Office. At least ten signatures and no more than twenty-five signatures are required to be eligible to file for a seat as well as a citizen of Delaware and resident of Harrington for two years prior to the election.

One of the candidates who has filed early is Charles "Jerry" Anderson in the 1st ward. Other profiles on candidates will appear in the paper prior to the election.

Woodbridge renews accreditation

The Woodbridge School Board heard Monday night that the district's high school received official notice in November that it will be fully accredited by the Mid Atlantic States for another ten year period. Two recommendations were attached to that accreditation - that there be a fully equipped nursing station in the high school and that elementary students be moved out of the high school building. A progress report on the recommendations is due in May 1982.

Word of the accreditation came along with further good news from high school Principal Charles Davis: Woodbridge students seem to be doing well on the SAT (Scholastic Aptitude Test).

Davis told the Board nine seniors took the SAT in October, and another twenty students took the preliminary SAT in November. Of the first nine, three scored well over the national average. Eight from the second group scored in the 90th percentile or better. One of these racked up a 99 in both mathematical and verbal sections of the test. There were quite a number of others whose scores were in the 80th percentile. Parents of all these students received letters of congratulation.

Renew Contract-

The Woodbridge Education Association and the Woodbridge School Board marked the successful end of another round of negotiations as a new contract between the Board and the teachers was signed Monday night. On hand for the signing were WEA President Pat Piasck, Board President Elwood Webb and Woodbridge Superintendent Dr. William Griffin. The new

Citizens protest

A group of citizens from the Parish Council of St. Bernadette's Church attended last night's Harrington Council meeting to protest a manhole on Dixon Street that has gone unrepaired for several years. The work is waiting for completion by a local contractor. For details of this and other Council business, see next week's Journal.

hand at 24 Mispillian Street. A trial is pending.

The large window of the Harrington Pharmacy was broken on the 30th of November. Police reported that Glen Vincent, age 20 from Harrington, put his fist through the glass after an argument in the adjoining Pizza Shack Restaurant. Vincent was treated for hand lacerations. A trial is pending.

On December 5th, another incident occurred outside the Pizza Shack. Two Milford men, Kenny Wilcutts and Charles Smith, age 20 and 21 respectively, refused to leave the premises after being asked. They became abusive and the police were called. They were arrested for disorderly conduct and criminal trespass.

On December 8th, Robert Young was arrested for disorderly conduct at Swain's Hotel.

Planning and Zoning's Jerry Anderson seeks Harrington Council Seat

Charles "Jerry" Anderson a resident of the 1st ward makes his home at 55 Clark Street. He is a native of Oxford, PA, and has lived in Harrington for the past seven years. He is employed by the Diamond State Telephone Company in the capacity of a installer repairman. He has been with the telephone company for eleven years.

He is currently chairman of the Planning & Zoning Commission where he has been a member for the past three years and its chairman for the last two.

He is married to the former Pat Jennings also of Oxford. The Andersons have two children, Mark (6) and Laura (11). They are active in the Independent Bible Fellowship Church in Harrington where Mr. Anderson has served as Treasurer and Trustee for the past three years.

Asked why he was interested in running for a seat on City Council, he said, "The main issue with me is the one surrounding the Dudley Willis property, which I feel should have been developed into housing. The town is in dire need of housing. It would appear that to allow this to continue by keeping out housing and growth the town will die a slow death unless something drastic is done to save it. It would seem that housing is necessary to help solve some financial problems of the town. I think the Council should have been more positive on this subject. If elected, I want to be objective, open minded and represent the people. I am trying to meet all of the voters in the 1st ward and talk to them about the issues. At least they will know how I feel. I have attended a majority of the Council meetings in the past year. I would also like to see more citizens interested in running for the Council seats, and I also feel that different citizens should have the opportunity of serving on the Council."

A TIP FROM SANTA

On the day after Xmas and not all strange;
 Are the crowds flocking in with their gifts to exchange.
 Their socks are too large;
 their ties too bright;
 their slippers are wrong;
 their shirts aren't right.
 Now if you are anxious and eager to learn how to give and be sure your gifts won't return.
 For what it is worth; the suggestion is mine,
 Nobody brings back their liquor or wine.

There Is A Purpose..... by Nina Locardi

This weeks article focuses on the influence of the Moon in the sign Cancer and how the Moon reacts when it is found in the Fourth House of the Birth-Chart.

The First House rules the Self and its basic expression. The Second House rules possessions and financial security. The Third House has sway over matters related to brothers and sisters, neighbors and short distance travels. The Fourth House rules the home in general and the mother in particular.

Moon in Cancer

This is a strong position as the Moon is in its own sign! These people are super-sensitive to the feelings and moods of others! This can lead to imagined slights and hurt feelings when in reality, there may be no cause for this. The memory is excellent but these people must watch a tendency to brood. There is a strong tie to family and a great need to mother everyone! Domestic security is important for the well-being of these people.

Moon in the Fourth House

People with this position need a meaningful home life. Otherwise they feel restless and emotionally unsatisfied. Ties to the parents are strong, especially to the mother. These people are often excellent cooks and housekeepers and often excel in real estate and the sale of products used in the home. There is a strong desire for peace and a great interest in the past.

4-H News

The Christmas Holidays don't stop 4-H members from preparing to enter 4-H educational events and activities. The Sussex County Public Speaking Contest is no exception. This event offers an exciting way for young people to develop their self-confidence and sharpen their public speaking skills.

Open to all 4-H'ers the event is divided into three categories, Senior for members 14 and older, Junior for the 11 to 13 years of age and Junior Petite for members 8 to 10. Each age group is asked to give a speech of varying lengths from as short as two minutes for Petites to as long as 7 for Seniors.

Jr. Petites are encouraged to speak on a familiar topic, such as their pets, families or trips they've taken. Seniors prepare more indepth speeches that usually require research or critical thinking.

Every contestant receives a ribbon presented on the Danish System and one top winner in each age division receives a trophy.

Through participation in the event 4-H'ers learn to speak out, explore ideas, organize their thoughts and share their beliefs with others.

The Public Speaking Program is sponsored on a national level by the Union Oil Co. They provide 4 medals of honor to outstanding 4-H'ers in each county, an expense paid trip to National 4-H Congress in Chicago for each state and 6 educational scholarships of $1,000 on the National level.

Monday morning was bright and sunny but sorta chilly - but oh so nice at the center where Sylvia led Bible Study and singing. The day was busy - ceramics, large paper candy canes, and pretty velvet poinsettias. At one o'clock the Jolly Timers went Friendly Visiting to Milford Manor and played and sang Christmas songs and Ina tickled the ivories.

Have regular Band practice Tuesday morning is always a delight.

Larry usually gives us an after dinner concert when he is here. The men join in singing some of the well liked songs. Some will get up and dance. Just so friendly and joyful.

Carole Hammond will be here with cute Santa's by Artex December 17.

Ruth Nasser presented nostalgia program - her subject was Christmas Carols. It was in keeping with the good Christmas feeling.

Birthday party December 18. Movie with George Goodge, beautiful and delicious cake and ice cream - Bell for a present, cards, friends, singing, fun and frolic.

Something Christmas is either being made or talked about at the center. There are lovely crochet vests being made - very pretty pillow cases embroidery, more poinsettias and ceramics, little favors for all, wool flowers, dominoes, brain teaser game and the ever loving pool help make the day complete. Of course there is also soap - TV - lots of reading matter and plenty of nice people to chat with. Stop by, you'll be glad and we will too.

Board meeting was Tuesday night instead of Thursday.

The center is now in renovation and you know what that is in at home, but we are making out fine all the same.

Thursday was Cherry Hill Mall day - twenty-six left the center and all reported a grand time. Prices were high, some reported blouses for forty dollars, a pretty good price for most of us. Back at the center things were in full swing, finishing up ceramics.

Friday Vilma brought in forty-four cute crocheted skates and Anna Mae sold all of them. They were so cute. We will have more at fifty cents each. Les Wilson was hero from DuPont with a truly beautiful kissing ball. More than twenty people participated. He is an interesting instructor. He wore a cute badge on his belt. "An official Mistletoe Tester."

Christmas is so near and it does seem everyone has the spirit. Best Wishes to all homebounds and those who are ill. Be kind to each other. We wish you a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year!

The W.T. Chipman Jr. High School Band traveled to Milton on Wednesday evening for the Annual Milton Christmas Parade and brought home the First Place Trophy. Milton is Mr. Becton's home town and he was extremely pleased as his award winning band took first place over the Cape Henlopen High School Band, the Rehoboth Seahawks and the Patriots.

On Saturday morning, the Chipman Band traveled to Lewes for the Christmas Parade and this time they won the President's Trophy for the best unit in the parade. The Band was asked to stop in front of the reviewing stand for a special performance and what a performance to see. The Band Front was excellent with batons twirling, rifles spinning and flags snapping. The playing members played loud and clear, much to the crowd's pleasure.

The Chipman Band is now finished with their fall marching season and they certainly did a fine job all season. The Band competed in four competitive parades this season and took three first places and one second place. Congratulations, W.T. Chipman Band and a special "thanks" to Band Director, Mr. Alex B. Becton, a job well done.

Our Reader fellowship is just the greatest. Whenever we have a need, someone comes up with the answer. We have just about settled the boiled apple dumpling dessert, and we have two recipes for those. I began to think that we would not find an old recipe for the cornstarch cake, but just this week we had a letter from Mrs. Charles Truitt of Wyoming. She had bought an old handwritten cookbook at an auction in Milford. Some of the recipes are so old they are written in the amounts of tumblers holding gills.

In this old notebook, there is a recipe called "Pearl Cake". It calls for 1 cup butter, 2 cups sugar, 2 teaspoons baking powder, 2 cups flour, 1 cup cornstarch and 1 cup milk. No flavoring is given, but this is true in most of the old cookbooks I have examined. Vanilla or almond or whatever may be added as wanted. Since most old cakes were always made with butter, no salt is called for. If Crisco or other shortening is used, a bit of salt should be added.

I noticed that no eggs are called for in this recipe. So, I called Mrs. Truitt on the phone, not only to thank her for her letter, but also to make sure she had not overlooked the eggs. She carefully checked for the eggs and none are listed. I am going to make this, as is, and see what happens. I may not get to do this until after Christmas, because of all the holiday baking, but when I do, I shall report to you on it.

So far, I have two big batches of cookie dough safely in the freezer for Christmas baking. I have already made the maraschino cherry cookie dough which Ellen is so fond of, and also the chocolate-vanilla pinwheels. This last is really sugar cookie dough, but the chocolate swirls make the boxes look pretty.

On our coffee table is a large wooden trencher filled with tangerines, and the smell of Christmas permeates the house. It seems to me that tangerines are the very fragrance of Christmas. And Dad is happily munching away.

While I was getting dinner last night, Nikki jumped against the door between the kitchen and utility room, and somehow got his front paw wedged into the crack of the door, with the hook frozen and his poor little foot frozen like a vise. I grabbed the pliers and several other heavy objects and tried desperately to bang the hook out of the eyelet, but I could not budge it. Nikki was screaming in agony and trying to bite me, because I think, at first, he thought I was doing it to him. Finally his intelligence asserted itself, and he sat down to wait. I was afraid he would jerk his leg until he broke it or dislocated his shoulder. I flew to the phone and called Dad at the shop, and he came running across the yard, and with his extra strength he managed to free the hook.

I was a nervous wreck and could not eat my dinner, and I tell you that rambunctious old Nikki was properly subdued. His foot luckily was not injured, but he was as quiet as a mouse all evening. I said to Dad that I should have shoved his foot in that door a long time ago! (I'm kidding, of course).

was deeply appreciated by her family.

Season's Greetings from your Sponsors urging you to attend the Church of your choice.

Kenny Sudler was awesome from the floor Friday night with 15 points.

61-34, Lake Forest lives up to expectations

Expectations were high for the 79-80 Lake Forest basketball team, and the expectations seem to be justified. Bill Falasco's new squad simply outgunned and out-classed a visiting Delmar team to walk away with a 61-34 win in their season opening game on Friday night.

The Spartans controlled the contest from start to finish. They were ahead 27-20 at the halfway mark, 41-32 by the end of the third period and a scoring burst in the final minutes put the game completely out of reach for the hapless Wildcats.

Guard Leroy Garey played an outstanding game, showing tremendous improvement over his performance of last year. He controlled the ball movement on offense, set up the plays and added numerous assists to the cause.

"I was well pleased with the starting 6 or 7," coach Falasco said. "But our sophomores didn't play to my expectations. Maybe I expected too much from our first game, could have been 'opening jitters!'"

Scoring only two points, but adding much to the overall performance, was senior Mark Smith. Smith was moved from his point position of last season to the wing spot to take more advantage of his usually accurate jump shot. "Mark should have had more points for us," Falasco said, "but maybe it was just an off night for him."

Putting on a blazing performance all night long was forward Kenny Sudler. Sudler put in a total of 15 points and pulled down 12 rebounds. High scorer on Friday was the always dependable Darryl Curry with a total of 16 points.

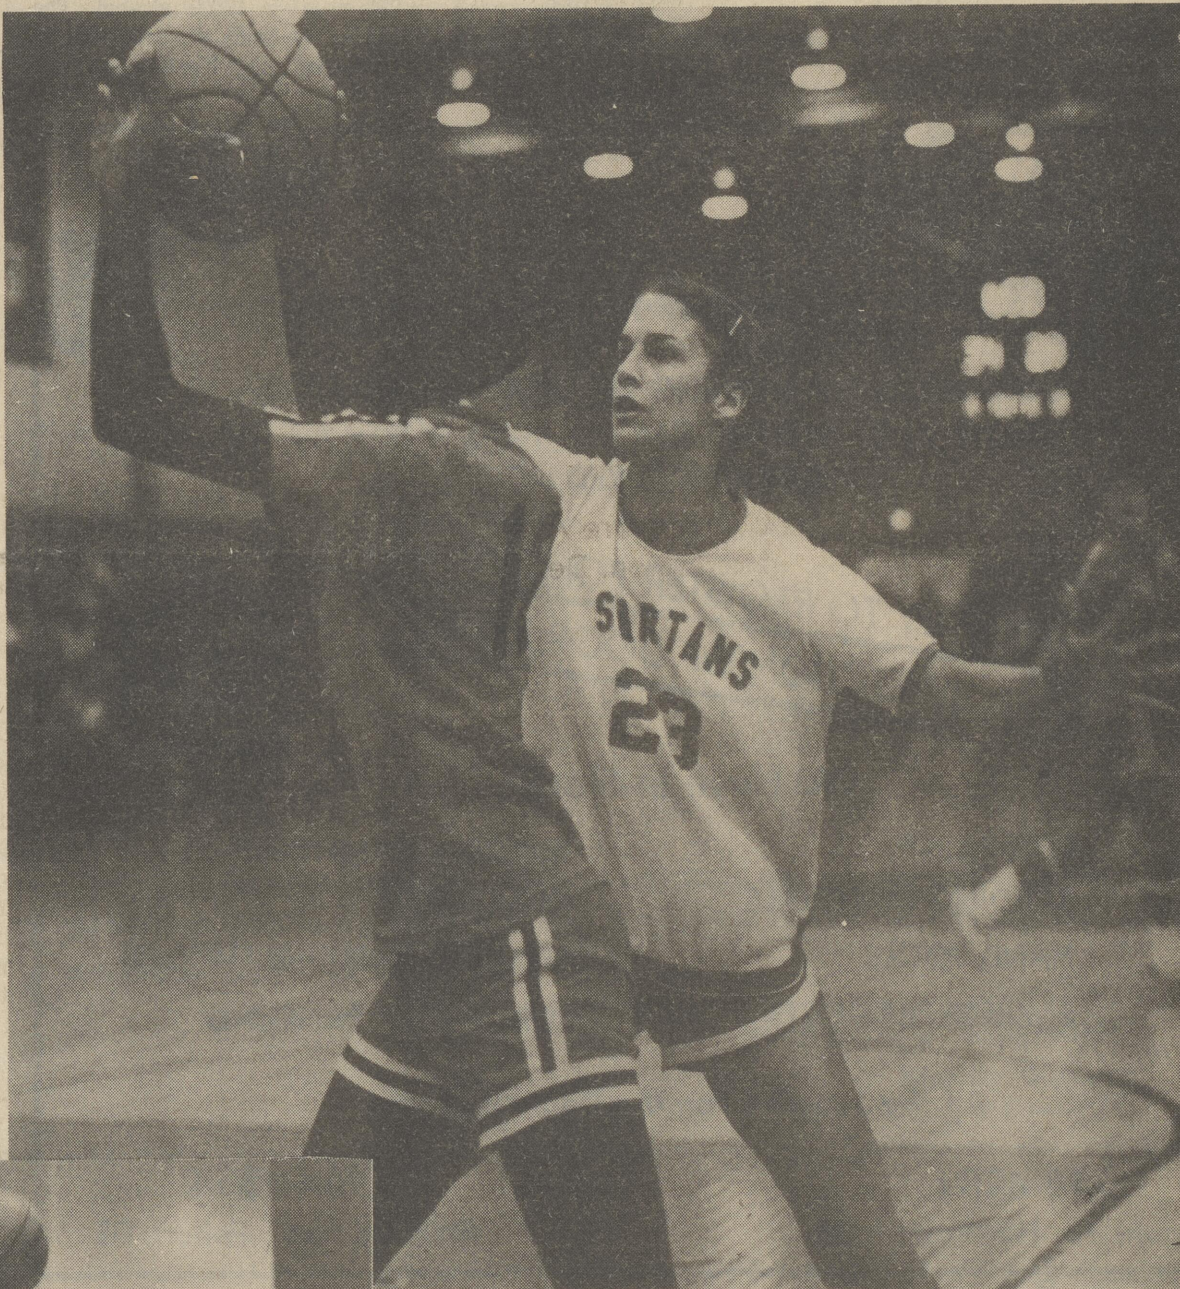

Of concern to Falasco before the start of the season was the loss of his big man at the center, Jack Spencer. Spencer won all-conference honors last year and anchored the Spartans' rebounding game and Quintin Hendricks inherited the job.

"Quintin played a good overall game for us," Falasco said, "but I think he's going to have to get mentally tougher to handle the position. He doesn't like the inside spot as well as the outside but I think he can progress. To counter the loss of Spencer and the inexperience of Hendricks, we plan to send four people to the boards and sacrifice much of our fast break."

Falasco had some predictions at the start of the new basketball season, keeping in mind that the cagey coach gives up precious little real information.

He said, "We will improve last year's record of 10-8, we will go to the tournament, we will finish higher than third in the conference (how's that for a hedge!), and our main competition will be I.R."

Tammy Warren played some outstanding defense.

Spartans upset Delmar in thriller

It is billed as a transition year for Pat Dyle and the Lake Forest varsity girls basketball team. With the loss of team standouts Laura Newnom and Chris Morrow, Dyle faced the strong possibility of a marginal year with a group of young and inexperienced players.

But if last Friday's season opener is any indication, the basketball program is alive and well at Lake Forest. The girls battled a tough Delmar squad down to the last seconds and came away with a thrilling 40-39 upset.

"The Delmar coach was really bragging about her team," said coach Dyle. "I read in the papers how she was going to beat us and I'm sure that added some motivation to our overall game."

Continued Dyle, "All in all, I was very happy with the way we played. We certainly have a lot to work on, particularly playing against a press, but I think we showed that we have a talented group of girls here and that we can play a solid game against a good team."

"It was a pressure situation for our new players and I'm glad of it," Dyle said. "All three of our freshmen, Pam Harris, Anita Sherwood and Leona White got a taste of varsity competition and I think they did pretty well."

Harris, Sherwood and White are all graduates of Kevin Docherty's Chipman program last year, a program that produced some outstanding results. In particular, White seems to have the skills to make a strong contribution if she can adjust to the higher level of play.

High scorer in the game was senior Gwen Scott. She totaled an overall high of 22 points with an effective jump shot and tough backboard play. Also looking good was Tammy Warren who played "the best game of her life," according to Dyle.

Probably the most impressive showing on Friday was the Spartans' rebounding. Dyle sent the entire squad to the boards and they seemed to grab everything that came off the glass. "Our rebounding was a factor in the win," she said, "now we have to learn how to handle the pressure of a press. We had way too many turnovers and broken plays. Hopefully, we can work that out."

Gwen Scott goes high for two of her 22 points.

Aquatic competition begins

Aquatic competition at various levels is actually in its infant stages at the Lake Forest High School Pool, but the fact is that the seeds are planted for swimming competition in the pool's first months of existence.

Pre-Competitive Swimming lessons are being taught at the elementary and junior high school levels on Saturdays. Springboard diving is being taught on Wednesday evenings and on Sundays, a recreational Water Polo league has been formed.

The Pre-Competitive class on Saturday features stroke work on the four competitive strokes, (Crawl, Backstroke, Breaststroke, and Butterfly) turns, and starts as well as basic training techniques. It is being taught by Mr. Charlie Michels, a high school and college level competitive swimmer. The Springboard Diving class, held Wednesday evenings, features basic diving mechanics, and advanced diving techniques from the different types of dives and positions of competitive diving. Ms. Hilary Haines is the course instructor.

The recreational Water Polo league, held on Sundays is an introduction to competitive water polo, as it is played as a major sport in Eastern Europe. Eight teams are in this league and it includes some sixty to seventy participants. Denny Berry, the Pool's Aquatic Coordinator, runs the water polo league.

Tech plant to produce alchohol for energy

by Harry G. Farrow, Jr.

Benjamin Markowitz's farm near Canterbury will be the site selected by Del. Tech. North Terry Campus in Dover as the place where an alcohol plant will be built. A federal grant in the amount of $10,000 has been awarded to the college for the purpose of erecting a "pilot plant" that can produce alcohol for energy. The grant will also in-workshop. Plans are to raise more money for more development programs. The plant will be finished in February providing all goes well.

"The plant will turn out two gallons an hour. The whole concept is to show the public...the farmer how these individual plants can produce pure alcohol for energy uses. The proof that alcohol can be made on a smaller scale", said Benjamin Markowitz. He went on to explain that they would also be seeking ways of extracting methane gas out of "hen house" manure as well as cow manure. "One problem is developing a process to heat the product...a cheap one like solar energy. Right now the only method is using oil, gas or coal. When you heat the product, the gas is extracted, and it travels up a long tube where it condenses and turns into a liquid", added Markowitz. The percentage of proof for alcohol to run a car or tractor will be 190 or 180 proof. "200 proof is 100% alcohol. The alcohol we drink is about 50% or 100 proof", said Markowitz.

Mr. Markowitz went on to relate that in the early 1900's cars started out by using alcohol. (Editor's Note: Most racing cars burn alcohol today. It will be easy for most car owners who are farmers to make their own in time). Later on oil became more plentiful and was able to compete with the alcohol market. "Now the swing will be back to alcohol, and we will also be able to heat our homes with it. Right now though we are stuck with the oil companies, and even though we should seriously do something about conserving energy the oil companies are still ripping us off. It's awful. They are also the most powerful lobby in Washington - bigger than the government. There is plenty of oil believe me, but the best thing they have going for them is the fact that they have so many customers to use it up like you and me. It will be a long time before they run out of both," said Markowitz. "Maybe Woodward should conduct an investigation into how many Congressmen and who they are...that are on the oil companies payroll", said Farrow. "It would be a good idea", said Markowitz. "It would surprise you I bet", added Markowitz. "Maybe we could then have a real citizens uprising", added Farrow.

Mr. Markowitz went on to explain that you can use any kind of grain or fruit and when you extract the carbohydrates from this kind of a product you get the gas or you pull out the sugar that gives rise to the many enzymes and yeast. Still the original product absent the gas can be fed as "a wet product" now to cattle, hogs, or other animals or fowls. It is cheaper to serve in a wet form because to dry it would be more costly. "Every bushel of corn has 2 1/2 gallons of alcohol in it, and after you get the alcohol, you still have the corn...wet though it is...can be fed to animals or other things done to it", said Mr. Markowitz.

He concluded by saying "...that it is up to every citizen in this country to become concerned about this. We must do our share...and inform the public how we are being ripped off. We can do it, and we can show right now how other countries are presently using alcohol at a high percentage for energy purposes."

When the plant is completed on Mr. Markowitz's farm, The Harrington Journal will do a follow-up story.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Mr. Levy:

How long do we residents of Harrington Manor have to "make do" with 1/2 a street? Winter is again coming on while the Mayor and Council seem to stand at loggerheads or better yet, skull to skull with a contractor in a contest to see who can or cannot force a speedy (Ha! Ha!) repair.

We residents have been "making do" now, going on four years.

Will it take a major accident to motivate someone? There have already been some near misses. Also as a parting shot, the lights and barricades and warning signs are more often inoperative and flat on ground than they are in working condition.

Sincerely,

Norma Meredith

Dear Sir:

My family and I had the honor and pleasure of listening to and watching your fine band, majorettes, and flag twirlers on two occasions this past week. It was the W.T. Chipman Junior High Band.

We wish to take this opportunity to congratulate you and the students on their wonderful performance. It is a credit to the school and your community. Keep up the good work.

Sincerely,

Phyllis A. Donovan

Wallpaper highlights angles

by Barbara Hartung
Copley News Service

Q. When you have an attic room with many angles, is it preferable to paint or wallpaper the walls all the same?

A. We are considering what to do with the walls in a small sewing room in our home. We want the room to be pleasant because we may use for a guest room sometimes. — W.P.

Q. There really isn't any hard and fast rule.

A. Some decorators like to cover the walls in the same pattern if one chooses wallpaper or the same color in paint to give unity to the room and make the angles seem less obvious.

However, there are other decorators who like to call attention to them. They will even emphasize the different planes with contrasting wallpaper.

If well planned, the results can be charming either way. I'd consider both ways and what you think will please you and your future guests most.

Q. My new condominium is a sterile off-white everywhere — carpeting, draperies, walls, appliances, etc. I love a combination of elegant French with touches of Oriental. I like soft, restrained color, too.

A. How might I introduce color into my room without making expensive changes in my furniture?

I have a pair of off-white brocade Louis X chairs and a rather plain Lawson sofa I'd like to recover. Perhaps the sofa can provide some color. Please make some suggestions. — L.V.

A. To avoid major costs, a change in the color of your walls would probably be one of the most inexpensive first steps.

You might consider creating traditional walls in your condominium by adding molding as was the style in Europe in past centuries. You could paint the entire wall sections and molding a pale sea green. For added detailing you might consider insets of wallpaper in a floral pattern or tapestry design as was the practice in traditional interior of the 18th and 19th centuries.

This more elaborate wall treatment will provide a rich background for antiques or fine reproductions from the French or Chinese.

If you introduced wallpaper in the wall insets, you might take a color from it for your sofa. What about a mauve or pale lilac? You could, of course, add additional restrained bits of color through your accessories such as Chinese porcelains, vases, ceramics and fresh flowers, too.

Q. I've been admiring some restored furniture of a friend's friend. I understand she has been using linseed oil for the finish on many pieces. Is linseed oil finish a very durable one? Also do you put on plain linseed oil? — T.M.

A. A linseed oil finish is a traditional Early American one and gives quite a durable finish. It does darken some with age but often with a mellow tone. Probably it is most admired because it gives such a lovely soft look to a piece of furniture.

But don't be fooled by people who use linseed oil. It is lots of work. You need to apply a coat once a week for several months until you have a nice finish built up.

There are several recipes for linseed oil finishes. Here is one: one cup of linseed oil, one-half cup of mineral spirits or turpentine and a heaping tablespoon of Japan drier.

This is best for the first coat which you put on heavily and leave for an hour or so.

Then wipe it off and let the piece stand for six or seven days. Then add weekly applications from this recipe: one cup of linseed oil, one tablespoon of mineral spirits or turpentine and one teaspoon of Japan drier.

Other forms of financing

by James M. Woodard
Copley News Service

Interest rates on new home loans are increasing. The supply of loanable funds is diminishing.

Never before has it been so important for home buyers to consider alternative forms of financing — other than executing a new conventional mortgage loan. But what are the options?

Probably the most common and workable method of avoiding the necessity of a new loan is for the buyer to assume the seller's existing loan. In many cases, the seller will carry back a portion of his equity (difference between loan balance and sales price) in the form of a second mortgage or trust deed.

If the seller needs to generate more cash out of such a transaction, he can usually sell his second mortgage or trust deed (at a discount). Or he can pledge it as collateral for a loan.

Another method is the use of a so-called "land contract." Here, the buyer contracts with the seller to pay a certain amount as down payment and a specified amount each month, including an agreed-upon interest charge.

The seller retains title to the property during the term of the contract and he keeps the existing mortgage loan intact.

Most contracts call for refinancing the property at a certain point in the future — often three or five years down the road. At that time, the seller would be paid off and title would be conveyed to the buyer.

Another increasingly used alternative financing instrument is the wraparound mortgage or trust deed (or all-inclusive deed of trust).

Here, the seller keeps making payments on his existing mortgage loan. He, in turn, receives payments from the wraparound mortgage note he holds, which usually involves higher monthly payments and interest rate than the existing loan.

Determining the best type of home financing to meet your own needs can be a very involved and technical business. It's important to seek the counsel of a realtor or other professional who really knows the opportunities and pitfalls in all types of home financing.

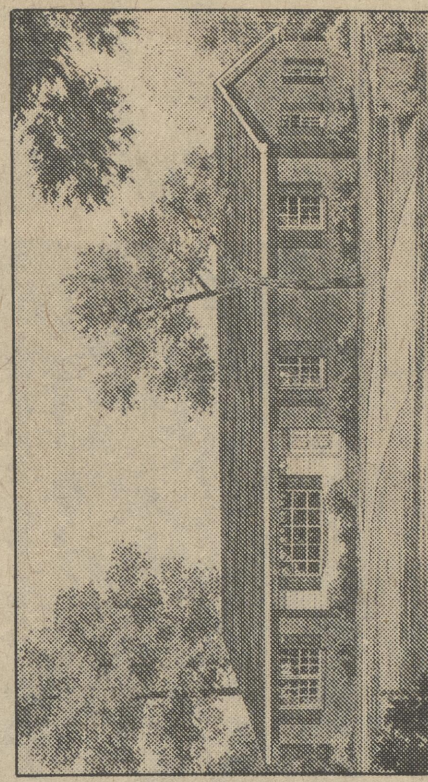

Q. Is it true that a substantial number of new homes being built in the United States are actually financed by Canadians?

A. A recent study indicates that about 5 percent of all home construction starts in the United States last year were generated by Canadian builder investments. That proportion is expected to rise to about 10 percent in 1980.

Q. How many people are moving these days, and in what areas of the country are most of the moves taking place?

A. Last year, about 20 percent of American households moved. That's nearly 16 million households.

About 28 percent of those household moves took place in the West, 22 percent in the South, 20 percent in the north central region and 16 percent in the Northeast.

Tips for Consumers

Basement waterproofing possible

waterproofing methods. Floor leaks, most experts agree, are best controlled by the installation of a wall or receiving tank (sump), drains, and an electric pump under the basement floor.

SERIOUS LEAKAGE through basement walls usually can be corrected effectively from outside by excavating down to the base of the walls and coating the walls with layers of protective barriers.

Another method of leak protection involves the injection of sodium benonite into the soil surrounding basement walls.

Its success depends upon whether there are any underground barriers that can impair the effectiveness of the material and upon the skill of those injecting it.

THE SECOND cause of water in basements is seepage (capillarity). Absorbent wall material draws moisture from the earth outside by capillary action similar to the way a sponge soaks up water.

This results in damp spots on floors and walls if the water doesn't evaporate fast enough. If, in mind, this seepage usually can be eliminated by thorough application of a basement waterproof paint.

CONDENSATION, the third cause of water or dampness in basements, is caused by moisture collecting on interior surfaces of walls and floors when the humidity is high.

Moisture in the basement air condenses on the cooler walls. This is most apparent when an exposed cold water pipe sweats.

To reduce condensation, water pipes should be insulated and, if possible, the basement heated to warm up floors and walls.

THE BEST time for protecting a home's basement against water problems is during construction.

Today, new homes under a home owner's warranty policy usually have a one-year provision protecting the home owner from the cost of repairs caused by actual trickling of water.

Unfortunately, purchasers of older homes and the average homeowner enjoy no such protection.

IF MAJOR waterproofing work seems to be called for, the home owner should obtain written estimates from at least three reliable, permanent contractors whose work has been recommended and verified.

Estimates should include the cost of labor and materials, how long the job will take, how long the work will hold up and what the contractor will do if it doesn't, and the contractor's signature.

After a contractor has been selected, the home owner should ask for a written contract in accordance with the estimate.

ALL TERMS of the final contract should be clear. It may be wise to have a lawyer review it before it is signed.

A guarantee should be part of every contract. It should include a statement of what the contractor will do to eliminate any problems that develop during the period covered by the guarantee, and a statement that the contractor is liable for all property damage caused by his work.

The home owner should be sure that all the work has been done before signing a completion certificate.

He or she should not sign the certificate if there is a valid complaint.

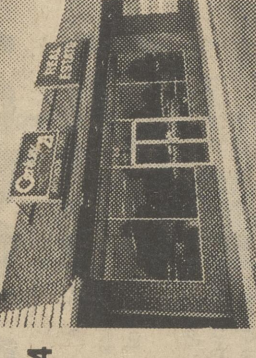

THE BETTER Business Bureau urges homeowners considering waterproofing to proceed with healthy skepticism.

The success of basement waterproofing depends upon many factors including soil composition, rock formations, and the property's water table.

The solutions are as varied as the problems and the wise homeowner will gather as much information as possible before committing to any major repair work.
