Crash claims lives of Felton couple

The first fatal accident in 1980 claimed the lives of a husband and wife only a few miles from their home. The double fatality being investigated by Delaware State Police at Troop 3 in Camden compares with 7 deaths at this time a year ago.

Arthur M. Tribbett, 54, and Hazel Tribbett, 49, both of High Street in Felton, were northbound on Cty. Rt. 240 within the town of Viola at 4:30 p.m. The state police investigation indicates that a ten-wheel box van truck loaded with calf feed was being driven westbound on Cty. Rt. 32 by Mark E. Carroll, 21, of 403 Highland Street, Milton, Massachusetts, when the truck failed to stop for the stop sign at the intersection of the two roads. The truck struck the Tribbett car in the right front then veered slightly to the right and continued 330 feet as it grazed a railroad crossing signal on the west side of Cty. Rt. 240, crossed the tracks and came to rest in a field. The Tribbett car's path was diverted approximately 100 degrees to the west as it travelled 250 feet before coming to rest 15 feet off the edge of Cty. Rt. 108, which is the continuation of Rt. 32.

Arthur Tribbett was forcibly removed from the car by Felton Fire Company and all three of the injured were then transported to Kent General Hospital in Dover by Felton ambulance. Hazel Tribbett was pronounced dead on arrival at 5:05 p.m., and Arthur Tribbett expired at 7:45 p.m. while being treated. Both sustained multiple internal injuries. The exact cause of the deaths will be determined by the Medical Examiner's Office at autopsy.

Mark Carroll was treated for a lacerated lip and released. Carroll will be charged by State Police with two counts of criminally negligent homicide. No disposition is available at the time of this release. Arraignment will be at Court 7 in Dover early Saturday morning.

Wyatt, Lobo sworn in for 4th terms

Two veteran Councilmen, Jack Wyatt and Dr. Vincent Lobo, were sworn in last Wednesday, January 9, as the Harrington City Council reorganized for 1980.

Wyatt with nine years of experience on the Council, said of his election for a fourth three-year term, "...I think it's because the people know I have trust and faith in them. They know I've done a good job. It's one of the cleanest wards in town."

Wyatt defeated challenger Jerry Anderson by a 31 vote margin. The 96-65 vote count was estimated to have represented a turnout of 90% of the voters in the first ward.

Dr. Lobo, elected to serve a three-year term, was unopposed. However, 89 voters in the Third Ward turned out to give him support. Lobo, appointed to fill the seat vacated by Jim Carroll in 1972, has been a Councilman for eight years.

Lobo and Wyatt were sworn in by City Alderman, Mrs. Anna Hampton.

-Officers, Committees Set-
The following officers and committee chairmen were appointed by Mayor Cahall and approved by the Council to serve for 1980:

Vice Mayor - William Dill, Treasurer - Howard Wagner, Secretary - Dave Peterson, Police Commissioner - Dr. Vincent Lobo, Street Commissioner - Jack Wyatt, Ordinance Committee - the Reverend Ray Newman, Charter Committee - Dr. Lobo and the Rev. Newman, Library Liason - the Rev. Newman, Public Relations - Gary Harrington.

Mrs. Ellen Perry was appointed to serve on the Planning and Zoning Commission. As of this date, the Chairmanship of the Budget Committee remains vacant.

-Mayor Addresses Council-
Expressing his congratulations to the winning candidates and his hopes for a "Progressive year", Mayor Arthur Cahall charged the Council members with the continuing need to be "...objective, honest, and independent". He said for the coming year "...all Council decisions should be made in this room," and insisted that the Council should not even "...give the idea that they are made outside." The Mayor was also of the opinion that on controversial issues, "Each Council member should state his reasons for voting."

The 1980's, said the Mayor, could be a decade of challenge, change and promise for Harrington. But he emphasized the fact that there are problems ahead.

Most immediate is the budget which remains to be balanced and approved. Closing the $16,000 gap which remains may mean some belt tightening for the city. The Mayor, pointed out that most

Father indicted in assault of 4 year old son

While four year old Earl Hawkins, Jr. lay in the Delaware Division in serious condition, his father, Earl Hawkins, Sr. of Felton pled not guilty to charges of first degree assault during a Superior Court arraignment on Friday.

The boy's father was indicted by the Kent County Grand Jury for the child abuse charges. Judge George Wright ordered a psychiatric evaluation to be performed before a trial can take place, scheduled for January 21st.

The child suffered severe injuries including a concussion, broken ribs, burns and is said by the doctors to have brain damage as a result of his father's alleged attacks. Hawkins, according to reports from the Delaware Correctional Center in Smyrna, tried to take his life last Wednesday by slashing his wrist. The attempt failed.

Frederica Council happy with State Police service

Speeders who head through Frederica may not be so comfortable with the state police around, but law-abiding citizens and the Town Council are delighted. The Frederica Council decided in December to go for 20 hours per week protection from the state police rather than hire another local police officer. The Council had been in a quandary since local Police Chief Larry Washburn was forced out of the job by his failure to take the proper training. The Council opted for the state police protection and is so far happy with what it bought.

According to Council member Larry Mannering, figures for the final week in December, aired at the January 2 Council meeting,

Bowers seeks ordinance

The Bowers Beach Town Council decided last week a legal approach may be the only way to go in efforts to clear the community of run down properties and junk cars which create an unsightly litter. The Council will proceed with writing an ordinance that will put teeth in a section of the by-laws giving the town authority to deal with such matters. Section 21A of the by-laws gives the town general authority, but not specific power to force property owners to fix up their buildings or face condemnation.

For over a year, Bowers has been working through the State Fire Marshall's office on several properties which are both safety hazards and eyesores. But no progress has been made, and the Council feels it needs the power to act.

According to Mayor June Donovan, the proposed ordinance is still in the writing.

The Bowers Council has been meeting in a trailer or at the Donovan residence in recent months since a fire destroyed the town's fire hall.

Plans for the reconstruction of the fire hall are going forward under the leadership of the Fire Company President Ira Tuthill. Recently the old foundation was torn out. Construction of the new hall is to be handled by Kent Construction Company.

Six are on Dean's List

Cynthia Hughes was one of six local students to be named to the Dean's List for the fall semester at Wesley College.

Wesley College announced the students who qualified for the fall semester Dean's List last week. To make the list, students must be fulltime and attain a 3.250 index, in no less than 15 semester hours, with no grade below a "C".

On the list were Jane Warren of Felton majoring in Liberal Arts, Sherrie Reed of Frederica majoring in Paralegal Studies, Carol Biggs of Felton majoring in Liberal Studies, Tamara Jester of Harrington majoring in Occupational Therapy, Suellen Schrock majoring in Paralegal studies and Cynthia Hughes of Harrington majoring in Business Administration.

Wesley College offers both two and four year degrees and is located in Dover.

Students will get $34,500 in texts

Students in Woodbridge elementary schools can look forward to bright new textbooks purchased with $32,000 of Basic Skills funds from the state of Delaware. Woodbridge will also be spending a $2,500 of the state appropriated funds to buy English texts for the high school. The expenditure of the funds in this manner was approved by the Woodbridge Board Monday night. Approval came after a report by Title I Language Arts Coordinator Nancy Cullen who told the Board a committee working on the selection of texts has decided to go with reading programs from Ginn and Houghton-Mifflin.

-March 25 is Referendum Date-
Tuesday, March 25, will be the date for voters to decide on a referendum to raise the current expense share of funds which comes from local taxes. A Referendum Steering Committee which has been working on the project proposed to raise the current expense level without raising the tax rate of 72.8c per $100 based on 50% of the assessed value of real estate. This will be possible because there will be a drop of 16c in the portion of the tax necessary for tuition and transportation, and a smaller one of 2c in monies needed for the Debt Service.

Employee of the Week

J. Edward Taylor Pres.

J. Edward Taylor, President of the Peoples Bank of Harrington, located at Clark and Hanley Sts.

Mr. Taylor began his career with "The Friendly Bank" in 1946 as Director, then went on and became President in 1966. Both Mr. Taylor and Mr. H. Wagner Vice President working together are proud with the growth of the community and their big accomplishment, "The New Bank".

Mr. Taylor attended Harrington schools and a graduate of Goldey College, a past president of the Harrington Lions, Harrington Chamber of Commerce, a member of the Harrington Volunteer Fire Co., Director of the Delaware State Fair. He is also founder and president of Taylor's Hardware Store located on Commerce Street in Harrington and has been for 45 years.

Mr. Taylor is married and resides in Harrington with his wife Lela. They have three children, a son Robert of Harrington, and two daughters Nancy Green of Harrington and Susan Hefelbaur of Charleston, West Virginia. He also has six grandchildren.

of this could have been avoided had the Council not hired another full time policeman not budgeted in 1979. He supported an increase in the water and sewer base rate last year. But this year he is opposed to any tax raise. He said, "This year I don't support an increase...and I'll work against it." Sentiment on the Council seems to be running in favor of cutting services rather than increasing taxes.

All this is made more difficult by ballooning expenses and the fact that one new increase that probably cannot be avoided is an increase in salaries for city personnel and police.

The issue of progress was raised once again by Cahall who said a pertinent question for the 1980's is, "Do we want this town to progress or don't we...?" He thinks the city's current reputation in this matter is not good. Citizen input may be the all important factor. A definite concern of the Mayor is getting people to come to City Council meetings. All of the Council's regular meetings and many special sessions are open to the public, and citizens who wish to do so are given the opportunity to speak. Cahall pledged himself to continue speaking out wherever he sees the need saying, "I'll be careful not to say anything libelous but I'll tell the truth."

Citizens will get an early opportunity to speak out with a regular meeting of the Council tomorrow evening, Thursday, January 17 at 7:30, and a Public Hearing on the rezoning of the Willis property on Peck Avenue set for next Wednesday, January 23, from 8:00 to 9:30 p.m. This will be a second public hearing on the question which has raised some hackles in the community. The Mayor has pledged a factual approach with the first part of the hearing set aside for the presentation of information rather than the expression of opinion. He is backed in this by other Council members including Dr. Vincent

Lobo who sees a need to get the right information out to the public. There is continuing mention of a possible referendum on the question

Nylund heads OEDP Committee

Jack Nylund, Executive Vice President of the Milford Chamber of Commerce was recently elected as Chairman of the Kent County Overall Economic Development Program Committee.

Nylund, 36, succeeds Gregory M. Scott, Delaware State College Urban Affairs Professor. William Bass was elected Vice Chairman. Mr. Bass is Director of Veteran's Affairs at Delaware State College. James D. McNair, II was elected Secretary. Mr. McNair is with the Marketing Division of Diamond State Engineering, Inc.

The Overall Economic Development Program Committee is responsible for coordinating a study of the economic history and future economic potential of Kent County for submission to the Economic Development Administration, U.S. Department of Commerce.

showed the tab for the state police protection package was about $270-275. But crack-downs on speeding and other traffic violations brought in fines of around $215. Mannerling said it is too early to tell how other aspects of the coverage will work out. The weekly 20 hours of protection are scheduled at random by the state police.

The Frederica Council is also continuing plans to put out a newsletter to keep the town's citizens informed about city business. But Mannerling said the newsletter will be quarterly, rather than monthly. A first issue should be out soon. Plans for delivery are incomplete. As yet, the newsletter has no name.

Your Horoscope....

by Nina Locardi

Forecast For January 16th To January 22nd

Aries - Keep still and see that projects get a good start with plenty of growing room. Keep relationships calm!

Taurus - Now is the time to start off in new and untried directions! Creative endeavors are under a lucky streak!

Gemini - New ideas can be made to work with existing methods. You are very persuasive now!

Cancer - It may take extra effort to get what you want, but the outcome is worth it! Teamwork is important.

Leo - Keep tension to a minimum! Productivity and efficiency point the way to better circumstances.

Virgo - You may realize how important a partnership is! Dependable opportunities for advancement exist.

Libra - Take care of the problems that demand the most attention. Your energy is high and your life if very busy!

Scorpio - If giving up some free time means making some extra cash, do it! A former hobby could be financially rewarding!

Sagittarius - Finances are on the upswing but there is an element of time involved. Take care of old business now.

Capricorn - Your thinking is clear and long-range. You should find plenty of ways to increase your status.

Aquarius - This is a very favorable time for patching up partnerships. Matters will work in your favor.

Pisces - Pay attention to details and you will find the added responsibility and prestige you have been seeking.

Are you interested in learning more about yourself and loved ones? I will personally calculate your Birth-Chart. Just send $5.00 with your date, exact time and place of birth to Nina Locardi c/o The Harrington Journal.

Looking Your Best!

starts a cycle of new beginnings. If you have been thinking of entertaining or meeting new people, now is the best time!

For fancy dinners out or at home, try the 18th, 19th and 22nd. These dates are also favorable for new friendships! Buy clothes on the 18th and 19th and shoes on the 20th and the 21st. Any haircuts this week will stimulate the growth of hair. The best days for appointments are the 20th and the 21st. Start treatments for blemishes and unwanted growths on the 17th.

There Is A Purpose....

Knowing your Sun-Sign is but a small part of what Astrology is all about. Your Moon-Sign is equally important! The Sun's position shows the way a person expresses his basic energy potential on an objective level, while the Moon's position shows a persons reactions on a feeling or subjective level.

Moon In Libra

These people can appear gentle, but there is quite a bit of strength beneath the surface! They are courteous and well-mannered. Vulgarly truly offends them. Their health can be affected by relationships that are inharmonious. Sensitivity to others attitudes is strong, especially with people they are closely involved with. These people must strive to be honest in their motivations.

Moon In The Seventh House

Marriage and partnerships are of great importance to these people! As there is a great sensitivity to others on an emotional level, these people can be easily influenced by family and the marriage partner. The partner is often sensitive and moody. These people cannot be alone for long, but must find emotional fulfillment through others.

Bible Study with Rev. Watson of the Baptist Church as leader was both interesting and enlightening. Mrs. Watson was at the piano and everyone present sang some favorite songs.

Tuesday was the kind of a day just to follow your own initiative; included the Jolly Timers of course. Tuesday would not be Tuesday without their strains echoing thru the Center. Sylvia played the piano and after band practice we sang lots of other songs - my it was fun! After lunch Larry took charge at the organ and the men sang - we got (the women) a few songs in too. Nobody notices that every note is not perfect (the singing, I mean). Tuesday afternoon, Ruth Nasser came with a delightful program on art. Ruth makes it worth looking at and more knowledgeable than we did before by the colorful slides and notes.

Several ladies participated in assembling the hanging wall owls. They sold well at the Bazaar. Sabra called Bingo in the afternoon to a lively number. Charlotte had exercise class. Tell you truthfully most of the folks can run circles around me.

Thursday, outside, most of the snow had gone, thought we would bring a little inside - did just that in the form of a baggies snow man. Almost completed two - hope to get the rest done this week. Several members are making wool flowers, they are as pretty as can be. Fitness with Dorothy, slow and easy, fun all the same.

Edna Murphy was here and her topic was contents of package, jars and cans. Surprising some of them. She is down to earth and revues her subject well.

Spice balls once more and know they will appear again as they were popular with those present, easy too.

Fitness with a special "Open your eyes wide, your mouth wide - smile and now pucker, as for a great big kiss".

Report from Hickory Ridge Congregational Methodist Church: A new year is upon us. We pray that the Lord will bless you all and make 1980 the best year in the Lord you ever had.

January 5 was the first Covered Dish Dinner for 1980.

Let's make a New Year's resolution, which is, to come to all the church services and let us praise the Lord together. God's Word tells us "Not forsaking the assembling of ourselves together..."

Report from Greenwood Methodist Charge: The Greenwood Church Women's Society meeting for the second Monday in January was cancelled, due to bad weather and the illness of several members. The February meeting is scheduled to meet at the home of Molly Charlton.

Mrs. Nora Marvil has been on the sick list for about two weeks, but reported that she is improving now.

Callers on Mrs. Pat Hatfield recently have been Mrs. Ethel Hubbard, Mrs. Evelyn Schulze, Mrs. Elaine Hashman, Mrs. Barbara Baker, and Mrs. JoAnne Davis.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Caste II and daughters, Joanne and Jeanine, spent the weekend in New York City as guests of their daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Savine.

Mrs. Kathryn Laughery has been having members of her family drop in and do little things for her. Loretta was there one day and Harold and his daughters.

Mrs. Ellen Bollinger and Mrs. Pat Hatfield called on Mrs. Flora Snyder on Tuesday afternoon. She was not very good and has had to reenter Kent General Hospital for further treatment.

Cheer Center News: We were glad to welcome back Mrs. Margaret Conaway to the Center after being absent for several weeks.

The membership and installation of new officers for 1980 was held on Wednesday, January 9. President, Margaret Fountain; vice president, Georgeanna Hobbs, secretary, Eliza Foreman, treasurer, Delema Smith.

The Center was pleased to welcome Mr. and Mrs. John Burbage and Mr. and Mrs. John Donovan as our new members.

On January 21 we expect to have the Public Health Nurse with us.

If you have news for Shirley, call 284-4313.

Mr. Charles Donophan, Jr. celebrated his 27th birthday on January 4th. Numerous friends and relatives helped him eat cake and wished him a Happy Birthday. The cake will be long remembered, as it depicted an old two story, brown shuttered, white house, complete with two white columns and green grass.

On January 8th, Raymond Warren, Sr. celebrated his 45th birthday with his family.

Two more relatives celebrated their birthdays this month. Leslie Galloway's was January 4 and Veronica Killen's was January 8. Carolyn Leyanna celebrated her birthday January 7.

Whaley Completes Construction Course

Pvt. Camuel J. Whaley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alton T. Whaley, 207 N.W. Third St., Milford, recently completed the construction machine operator course at Fore Leonard Wood, MO.

During the course, students were trained to operate and maintain heavy construction equipment and received practical experience by actually working at construction sites.

Whaley received the highest score in his class on the Army's Physical Fitness Test.

He entered the Army in July 1979.

Whaley is a 1979 graduate of Milford High School.

A-ROUND AND A-BOUT IN FREDERICA

by Mary "Toby" Johnston

If you have news for Toby call 335-5487.

The Frederica Trinity M.Y.A.F. held their annual Progressive Dinner Sunday, January 6, 1980 at 5 p.m. However, we waited awhile for our guest to arrive, because of the snow they thought we had cancelled the gala affair. Not knowing the snow and ice birds of Frederica the Levy's of Harrington Journal fame missed the time of their lives. Better luck next time and we are sorry a number of our members could not make it this year. I made it thank the good Lord, and those great doctors and others that helped me along life's way these past two years. While I am on this subject Herb Robbins and I drank a toast at the Wilkins home and thanked God for being able to be there and hope we have 20 more or so.

Forty-seven members attended, we met at the Trinity Church and boarded the bus, driven by the Captain Matlack. We thought our appetizers would be served at Lules Wilkins but were beautiful served in the new recreation room of her son and daughter-in-law and Ada family. The large table in the center of the room was just out of this world. A large red poinsettia with red and green candles adorned the table and a tablecloth of green and red poinsettia print. Juices, dips, fondues, cheese's of all kinds - chunks, slices and nut covered logs. An assortment of crackers and pretzels and a huge pot of delicious meatballs. The new stone fireplace made it so cozy, warm and such tempting food to start the New Year off just right. Fellowship is great with this group of the M.Y.A.F. of Frederica Trinity Church. Hosts were the Franklin Wilkins family - Lulu Wilkins, Ella Govan, Clara Conley, Seretha Beebe, Joe and Mary Rawlins, Dennis and Beverly Beebe.

After the first filling and much chatting we again boarded the bus for the salad to be served at the home of Mrs. Ruth Ketcham and her daughter and family the Guy Johnstons, Sr.

Salads are so beautiful the house of savory seasonings served - tossed salad with a selection of dressings - an aspic which was so delicious made by Ketcham and Johnstons. Frozen jellied salads raspberry, orange, lemon and lime with all the good ingredients - blueberry crush and Watergate and 5 cup to boot. Who needed a centerpiece with all those beautiful pieces of art surrounding the table. But poinsettia's were our Christmas flower and the theme was carried throughout the dinner.

Toby called the Spurry's - Tom and Irene, at their winter home in Hollywood, Fla. Usually they call us - after hearing about the snow storm thought the dinner was cancelled. A number of the group talked to them. This is one of the occasions we miss being with the Spurry's.

Those serving with Ruth Ketcham were Pres. - Al and Grace Moore, Mildred Coverdale, Zora and Virginia Tatman, Anne Holliday, Bob and Dottie Mullane, Telford and Joan Rager.

Off to Trinity, Home of the Heavenly Host. The main course was served by some of Frederica's greatest cooks - Ben and Rae Matlock, Bill and Emma Warner, Wallace and Ruth Wootten, Nelson and Laura Ellis, Ben and Ruth Betts, George and Frances Davidson, "by the way all these 20 or so years Frances has been chief navigator for the bus line Captain"; Gil and Eva Burrell and Herb and Dot Robbins - Roast Beef, and carrots, white potatoes and onions cooked with the beef, gravy, candid sweet potatoes, sauerkraut salad with the main course, and wouldn't you know it - how could we ever escape a vegetable, peas with their famous dumplings, rolls, butter, coffee and tea.

Before the dinner was served Nancy Benjamin played the piano and all joined in singing.

The clean up crews joined the Heavenly Host and the church was tidy and neat on departure.

The Holiday Inn had been set up in fine style by host Bradford and Dorothy; their staff The Rev. and Mrs. Nelson Benjamin, John and Jeanne Rogers, Sgt. and Mrs. David Jones, Mary Purnell, The Hites Don, the father, son Gerron and wife Madeline, The Mrs. Sr. was home not feeling well, also Elsie Stubbs. We did miss you Rod and Toby Johnston were on deck with the staffs.

Games were played and much fun with the passing of the winnings from winner to winner. To reminiscence at this point always takes place - of all the group it was discovered that only 10 of the members were born in the Frederica area. We are so thankful to have all these other great friends come in and make this their home. Refreshments were served by the host and staff. Homemade cakes, double chocolate, Ruby Slipper, fresh coconut and apple sauce, orange, lemon, lime, raspberry and chocolate mint sherberts, coffee, tea, Coke, Pepsi, Ginger Ale, and Seven Up. Asst. hard candies and chocolate and mixed nuts were on the long game tables.

Old rocking chairs are plentiful at the Inn and were used by the old rockers. It is so relaxing to sit back and rock and listen to the old records of a few years ago.

This is a relaxing get together now. As the friends and neighbors and members of Trinity joined together at the beginning of the New Year to start anew.

Thank you all for coming and I am thankful for this event and all of my friends - God Bless.

Allen and Jennie Kraft, Bill and Marge Leonard, Ed and Emma Holleger, Sherman and Lillian Stevenson, Wallace and Ruth Wootten, Mary Flanagan, Dan and Leona Hudson, Mrs. Hires, Ellen Betts and of course Tom and Irene Spurry were unable to join us and Jake and Mae Warren.

We welcome you - please come and join the M.Y.A.F.

The Ladies Auxiliary of the Frederica Fire Company served the Frederica Firemen a Roast Beef Dinner before the Installation of Officers Monday, January 7, 1980.

New officers of the company are President - Alvin Schmick; Vice President - Ira Glanden, Jr.; Secretary - Nelson Ellis; Treasurer - Charles Dill; Fire Recorder - Craig Beebe; Directors - Zora Tatman; Ira Glanden, Jr., John Johnson; Chief - Paul Davis; 1st. Asst. Alvin Schmick, 2nd Asst. Craig Beebe, 3rd Asst. Dennis Beebe; Chief Engineer - Kim O'Toole, Asst. Engineer, George A. Palmer, Jr.; Rescue Captain John Johnson.

Tuesday, January 8, 1980 - Roast Beef was served with a delicious assortment of salads, candid sweets and potatoes, carrots and onions cooked with the beef, coffee, ice tea and ice cream, by the U.M.W. of Trinity Church for the Membership Dinner. Twenty members were present and two guests, Mrs. Grace Moore and Mrs. Jane Jones, who joined the U.M.W. - Officers for 1980 - 82 were elected. Mrs. Kim Robbins, President; Mrs. Marion Gussett, Vice President; Mrs. Kathryn Dill, Secretary; Mrs. Dorothy Robbins Treasurer. Installation will take place January 13, at the 11 a.m. Worship Service at Trinity Church by Reverend Nelson Benjamin.

There are a great number of our towns people ill and our Prayers and Best Wishes go with them. God Bless you all wherever you might be.

Women of the Moose
Chapter 1229
by Joyce Lake

Mary Ellen Wix, Child Care Chairwoman, and committee did a very nice job with refreshments and games this evening, January 10, 1980. The co-workers enjoyed the evening. Helen Deputy won the door prize. The men help each meeting by buying tickets on 50-50 and a cake. This evening John Seman won both cake and 50-50, congratulations. Thanks for your support men.

The Annual Valentine Dinner-Dance will be held February 9 at 7 p.m. The tickets are on sale now at $6.00 per person.

Once again the time is approaching for another delicious Chicken and Dumplin Dinner. It will be February 24 from 1-5 p.m. Hope to see you there. The original date was changed because of a conflict with the convention. The convention is February 15, 16, 17, in Washington, D.C.

Sunday, March 2 is Rally Day for Women of the Moose. The Rally will be held at Lodge 534 in Harrington. Each co-worker holding a chair is asked to contact her committee to help and attend this time of work and fellowship (Rally Day is each Delaware Chapter taking part in the ritual ceremony).

Enrollment will be January 24, please wear gowns.

Gabfest

by Pat Hatfield

It does seem that January, my least favorite month, has started in to do its worst, snow and freezing rain and the whole bit. Again a favorite quotation comes to mind, "O Wind, if Winter comes, can Spring be far behind?"

We have been very cozy in front of the fireplace. The young people are amazed at how much wood it eats up. With the stove in the basement we are managing quite well. Yes, the world is getting back to the basics of simple survival.

For all those dear people who have been so concerned for me, I went back for my second checkup since leaving the hospital and had a very good report. I have lost another two and a half pounds, my blood pressure was the best in years and my heartbeat showed encouraging progress. But I am not far enough out of the woods yet to go home and resume my regular activities. So I am continuing to live in this little world of the luxury of being waited on and cared for. I am told to walk a lot, but even though Ellen has a big house there isn't a lot of room to walk. I go through the kitchen, across the reception hall, into the dining room, then to the family room, stop for a chat with "Baby", the macaw in the bird room, and then I'm back in the kitchen again. This becomes monotonous because I was never one to wander aimlessly. When I start walking, I want to go somewhere! Writing, reading and riding are three of my favorite things and I am allowed to do all three.

I have been enjoying my stack of Christmas, birthday and get-well cards all over again. They are all so beautiful, and some are quite unique. One from my new next-door neighbors, who know I like recipes has this recipe on it: Here is what it says: "Take 2 cups of Friendship, 4 cups of Love, 2 cups of Forgiveness, 3 cups of Loyalty, 3 spoons of Tenderness, 5 spoons of Hope, 6 quarts of Faith, and 2 barrels of Laughter. Take the Friendship and Love and mix well with Tenderness. Blend thoroughly with Loyalty and Hope and Faith. Sprinkle with Forgiveness. Serve daily with abundant Laughter!" From this and other things, I know that my new neighbors, the Castells, are going to be special people.

Just about every one of my days is brightened by hearing from some of our readers. The other day I received such a lovely letter from Ruth Roberts, who used to live on Beaver Dam Road in Seaford, but now in Lower Bucks County, PA. We thank her for her many kind and enthusiastic remarks about the column, and she included a recipe for the Cornstarch Cake, taken from her late Grandmother Pennock's recipe book. This book was purchased in 1910, cost 50 cents, by the N.K. Fairbank Company, Chicago, NY, St. Louis, New Orleans and Montreal. It is entitled "Home Helps, A Pure Food Cook Book. She sends us the recipe for "Snow Cake" which was contributed to the book by a Lida Ames Willis. "3/4 cup of Cotto-lene, scant; 2 cups sugar, 2 cups sifted flour, 1 cup cornstarch, 1 cup sweetmilk, 2 tsp. baking powder, whites of 8 eggs and 1 tsp. flavoring. Cream cotto-lene and sugar until almost white and frothy; add cornstarch and baking powder to flour and sift. Add alternately with the milk and add flavoring. Beat smooth and then fold and cut in the stiffly beaten egg whites. Bake moderate oven in two layers or in a loaf." Ruth says, "The cotto-lene was a pure, cotton oil shortening, but the book says you can use butter or lard. She says I would use Crisco." So would I.

Mrs. Paul Bryan of Georgetown spent New Year's weekend with Mrs. Velma Whitley.

Mrs. Madeline Quillen spent the New Year's holiday with Mr. and Mrs. James Quillen and children of Newark, DE.

Olin and Linda Davis spent Christmas week in Florida. They spent several days in Orlando and several days in Miami and both enjoyed the trip.

Last Thursday Mrs. Delema Austin of Magnolia was a dinner guest of Mrs. Mabel Watkins, Mrs. Iona Draper of Harrington visited during the day. On New Year's Eve Mrs. Watkins attended a birthday party for her daughter Mrs. Rosa Johnson of Near Milford.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Webb entertained 46 members of the Simpson family on New Year's day.

Mr. Charles Pearson of near town suffered a stroke on Friday and is a patient in the Milford Memorial Hospital.

Mrs. Joyce Simpson and sons of Newark visited Mr. and Mrs. Francis Simpson on New Year's Day.

Mrs. Anna Bell Brown of near town has returned home after spending a week with Mr. and Mrs. Donald Kornfield and new baby son born on Christmas Day. The baby has been named David Brown Kornfield.

Sunday dinner guests of Mrs. Edna Sapp were Mr. and Mrs. Francis Simpson, Mrs. Anna English and Mrs. Pauline Morgan.

On December 29th Norman Coverdale celebrated his 23rd birthday. Cake and ice cream was enjoyed by Mr. and Mrs. James Coverdale of Lynch Heights and Mr. and Mrs. Havard Smith of Houston.

On New Year's Day Mrs. Margaret Thistlewood and son George and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Morgan of near Milford were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Fred McCreary and children of near Smyrna.

Homemakers Club meets this Thursday evening, January 17th at 7:30 at the home of Mrs. Anna Bell Brown.

Mr. and Mrs. Gary Simpson have a baby daughter born in the Milford Memorial Hospital last week. She weighed 7 lbs. 4 oz. and has been named Sara Abby Simpson.

Mrs. Agnes Webb and Mrs. Peggy Yost were luncheon guests of Mrs. Eileen Clark of near Smyrna last Thursday.

Mrs. Myra Jump is now recuperating at home after being a patient in the Milford Memorial Hospital.

On Sunday Mrs. Ida Williams entertained at a birthday dinner for her daughter Mrs. Anna Hammond. Guests were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Conrad of Georgetown, Mrs. Edith Morris of Georgetown, Mrs. Ida Newell of Milford and Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Hammond, Jr. and son, Kevin Hammond, William Williams and Olivia Williams. Later a surprise party was held at the Houston Fire Hall and fifty friends and relatives attended. Anna received many beautiful gifts, and all had a most enjoyable time.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Minner, Sr. have returned home after spending several days last week with their daughter and son-in-law Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Opend-brow and children of Hyde Park New York.

Women's Auxiliary

At their January meeting, the Women's Auxiliary of Milford Memorial Hospital presented Mr. Joseph B. Ahlschier, President of the Hospital, with a check for $7,500, representing the proceeds from the Hospital Gift Shop. Mrs. Larry Buckles, Auxiliary Gift Shop Manager, made the presentation. The Gift Shop is principally staffed by Auxiliary volunteers whose efforts provide continuing financial support to the Hospital.

"...let's keep politics out of it...and build a house we can trust..."
Just like clockwork last Tuesday's election kicked off the '80's and hopefully a new era—a new decade for the Town of Harrington. I am worried about my hometown. It has always had the potential to be a bustling community—but as yet its true potential has not surfaced. It was always called a City, for the rail head south of the present railroad tower...and opposite Burriss Foods was supposed to develop it into a City. Today jokes are made about it being called a city. It flourished at one time—but fizzled in the '50's. There used to be five grocery stores and many meat markets in the community. Today you cannot walk "downtown" and buy a loaf of bread or a gallon of milk. In the '50's and '60's most of the downtown was boarded up. People riding through the downtown sector saw boarded up stores and broken windows and got the impression the Town "...was out of business..." and rightfully so. Since buying The Journal in '74, I have made every effort to help the merchants in the community, for after all the Quillen Shopping Center is the only shopping center in the Lake Forest School District, which is the largest school district in the State.

The '70's ended with (1) a bitter fight to keep out a new shopping center on the highway, which appears not to have hit a snag, and (2) a bitter debate over proposed housing in the form of apartments for the elderly, which would have been built on the 1st Ward. The latter was defeated, and became a major campaign issue in the last election. 1st Ward incumbent, Jack V. Wyatt, had opposed the housing project and his return to office last Tuesday could be taken as meaning that the majority of the voters in the 1st Ward were against the housing project. Wyatt's opponent, Charles "Jerry" Anderson, favored the housing project as being good for the City.

Both men showed a lot of courage in running—and campaigning openly on the issues. And...neither man has anything to be ashamed of, because there are no winners or losers in politics. You are elected or not...and if you are not elected and get mad and quit then that makes you a loser. You must keep trying to do what you believe is right...remember one of the biggest losers of all times was one of the greatest presidents...Abraham Lincoln.

The Town in the '80's has a chance to really come alive. I hope our City Council which reorganized last week will work to push the community forward. Let's keep politics out of the Town Council meetings. Let's hope that our Council will work together for our interests. Let's work together to build a great community—let's build a house we all can trust...to stand the tests of time.

Letters to the Editor....

Dear Sir:

As a voter of the 1st Ward in the town of Harrington, in the last election that was held on January 8, 1980, in which you ran for Councilman to represent our Ward I want you to know that it was very rewarding to have met you.

Even though you did not win, you must know by the many votes you received you did make a very good showing. Thank you for running and showing your interest in our Ward.

In My Opinion

By Bruce Levy

Two topics are on my mind this week, one involves Russians, the other is even worse.

The Russians I can comprehend, they never change, no matter what they would have us, or our naive president, believe. Quite simply, they want the world - they always have. How do we counter this? We counter it with strength, persistence and unfailing purpose. It's a clear cut issue, either we face up to the truth or we perish, no ifs ands or buts. I support the grain embargo and the Olympic Games boycott, and I advocate the sending of American troops and equipment to the Middle East to counter any bold moves they may be considering now that Afghanistan has fallen. Like any other bully on the face of the earth, they are cowards deep down inside - we can stop them cold if we would only stand up and do it.

What I can't even begin to comprehend are people like Earl Henry Hawkins, Sr. of Felton. His four year old son is permanently brain damaged, lying in critical condition in a Wilmington hospital. Allegedly, Mr. Hawkins was the cause.

The Russians we can fight, what do we do about the Hawkins' of the world? We must fight them too, fight them as hard as we would any invader. Child abuse, in any form, should be brought to the forefront of our consciousness through education, publicity, law enforcement and any other way we can get the message across. It's happening all around us no matter where we are, it's a killer and acripler on a massive scale that must be battled. I support any effort that supports this end.

From Alden Hopkins, Secretary Of Agriculture

They are the leaders now for they have excelled. They are the teachers - we follow in their tracks - it's up to us how far rearwards we are content to be.

The other day it was quite an honor to stand in for Governor DuPont and attempt to present, in my awkward way, the awards at the Delaware Irrigation Corn Conference. Two sterling silver trays, shining like the sun, to Pete Makin of Kent County for 235 bushels per acre - and close runners-up, Richard and Keith Carlisle of Sussex with 180.

Now, they haven't done a thing with corn that you cannot do if you try. They are willing to show you how it's done. While talking with them myself, they freely ran off the data. One practice is very noticeable - that of staggering the nitrogen applications up to just prior of tasselling. This can be done either through usual cultivator or knife-in or through the irrigation system itself.

Performance of this magnitude cannot be spoken of without referring to the individuals by whom they were enacted. Grow-in corn these days is a complicated process. The produce of the field, in this instance, corn - is even more than yield of earth. It is composite result of miracle by God and mental/physical exertion by man. Makin and Carlisle brothers had to frame new potentials and yet run risk of taking it on the chin before things would turn out the way they were planned.

The yield exceeds - the farmer excels.

Tillotson wrote: "to be able to benefit others is a condition of freedom and superiority".

Makin and Carlisle fired a couple of volleys heard all over and even beyond Delaware.

Mrs. Richard Cordrey (the former Valery Blackman) welcomed her AFS South African sister to Delaware on a recent visit.

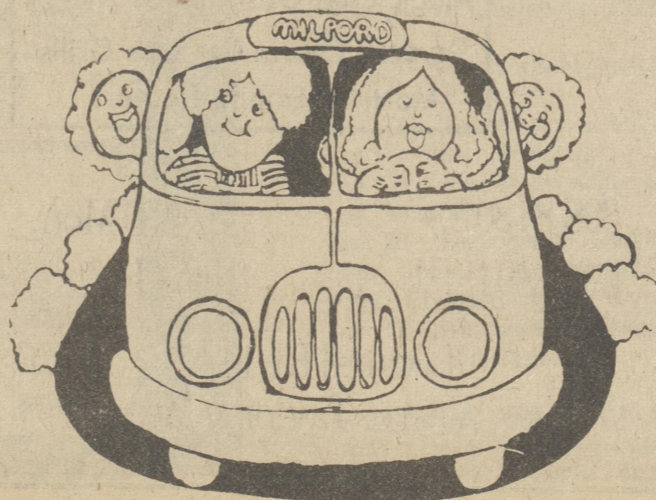

Why do so many women come to Milford, Delaware on Saturday Morning?

They come in car pools and sometimes even rented buses to save 40 to 75 percent on the finest bedspreads, made to measure draperies and linens. Open the first and third Saturdays of each month 9 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Milford Stitching Outlet

Saturday, 19th

Sen. Thurman Adams writes....

Last week I was in contact with Senator Joseph R. Biden's office in Washington to express my concern for the farm community in the wake of the President's decision to embargo 17 million bushels of grain originally scheduled to be sold to Russia.

I'm certainly in favor of doing something to react to the Russian invasion of Afghanistan, but I'm not so sure a partial grain embargo will have the desired effect. Sure, the agricultural community is as ready and willing as any other segment of the economy to support our nation's foreign policy if the sacrifice called for will be effective.

As predicted, the embargo announcement had repercussions in the major grain markets, driving the price of corn, soybeans and wheat down about 20 to 30 cents a bushel. Such a reduction in the price a farmer gets for his product represents a tremendous economic loss to grain farmers not only in Delaware but throughout the nation.

By putting a larger supply of grain than expected on the market all at once, the government has in effect automatically depressed the price. Plans by the federal government to buy at least some of the excess grain for gasahol and storage will help some, but the farmer still is going to be hurt.

If the embargo works, fine. But if not, the American farmer and not the American nation will be paying the price.

Last week the Senate got into a warm debate on legislation (SB 135) to require the installation of smoke detectors in the sleeping rooms of every dwelling unit in Delaware.

I endorse the concept of the bill because we've had far too many people overcome by smoke in their sleep and then burned to death by fire because they are unconscious. If mandatory smoke detectors would save a single life, it would be worth it.

However, several provisions of the bill bother me and I was glad to see it deferred to a later date. For instance, the bill now pending requires the state Fire Marshal to approve all smoke detector systems before they're installed and establishes a $50 fee and license for all smoke detector sellers, installers, and repairmen.

We already have enough bureaucracy in our state and enough license fees, and I won't support the bill unless it's put under the jurisdiction of someone already licensed.

For instance, businessmen who sell smoke detectors already pay a license fee. Electricians who would install or repair them already pay a license fee. Why just pile another fee on top of these fees?

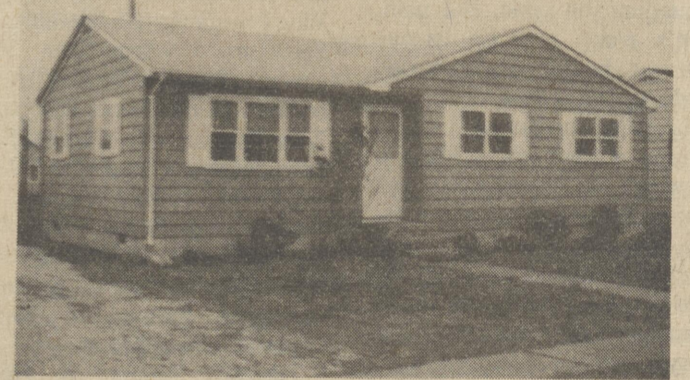

I certainly want to save lives, and I believe the bill would do that. But I want to be awful careful that we don't create a big windfall for a few smoke detector vendors and add substantially to the already exorbitant cost of new housing.

Hopefully, some amendments will be prepared to remove some of these objectionable features of the bill so that I'll be able to support it when it resurfaces in the Senate at a later date.

Spartans roll over Dover Air, Dover

"It reminded me of the Woodbridge game, we played only good enough to win."

Obviously, coach Bill Falasco is a tough man to please. The Spartans scored an 85-65 win over Dover Air last Tuesday and all he could think about was how disappointed he was with the defense for allowing so many points.

But he must be doing something right as Lake Forest continues to make mincemeat out of every team they meet. So far, they haven't lost a game.

Against Dover Air, the Spartans simply went to work and ground out the win. Darryl Curry led all scorers with 17, high flying Kenny Sudler made 16, Quinten Hendricks had 13 and Mark Smith scored 10.

Falasco's team then travelled to Dover High on Friday. Dover entered the game with a 4-1 conference record and Falasco knew it would be a test for the unbeaten Spartans. Dover had the height and a good reputation for shot making.

But Dover didn't count on the jumping ability of Kenny Sudler and Quinten Hendricks, nor the sharp shooting of Mark Smith. Between the three of them, Dover didn't stand a chance. The Spartans took a large lead in the first period and never looked back. The final score was 57-41.

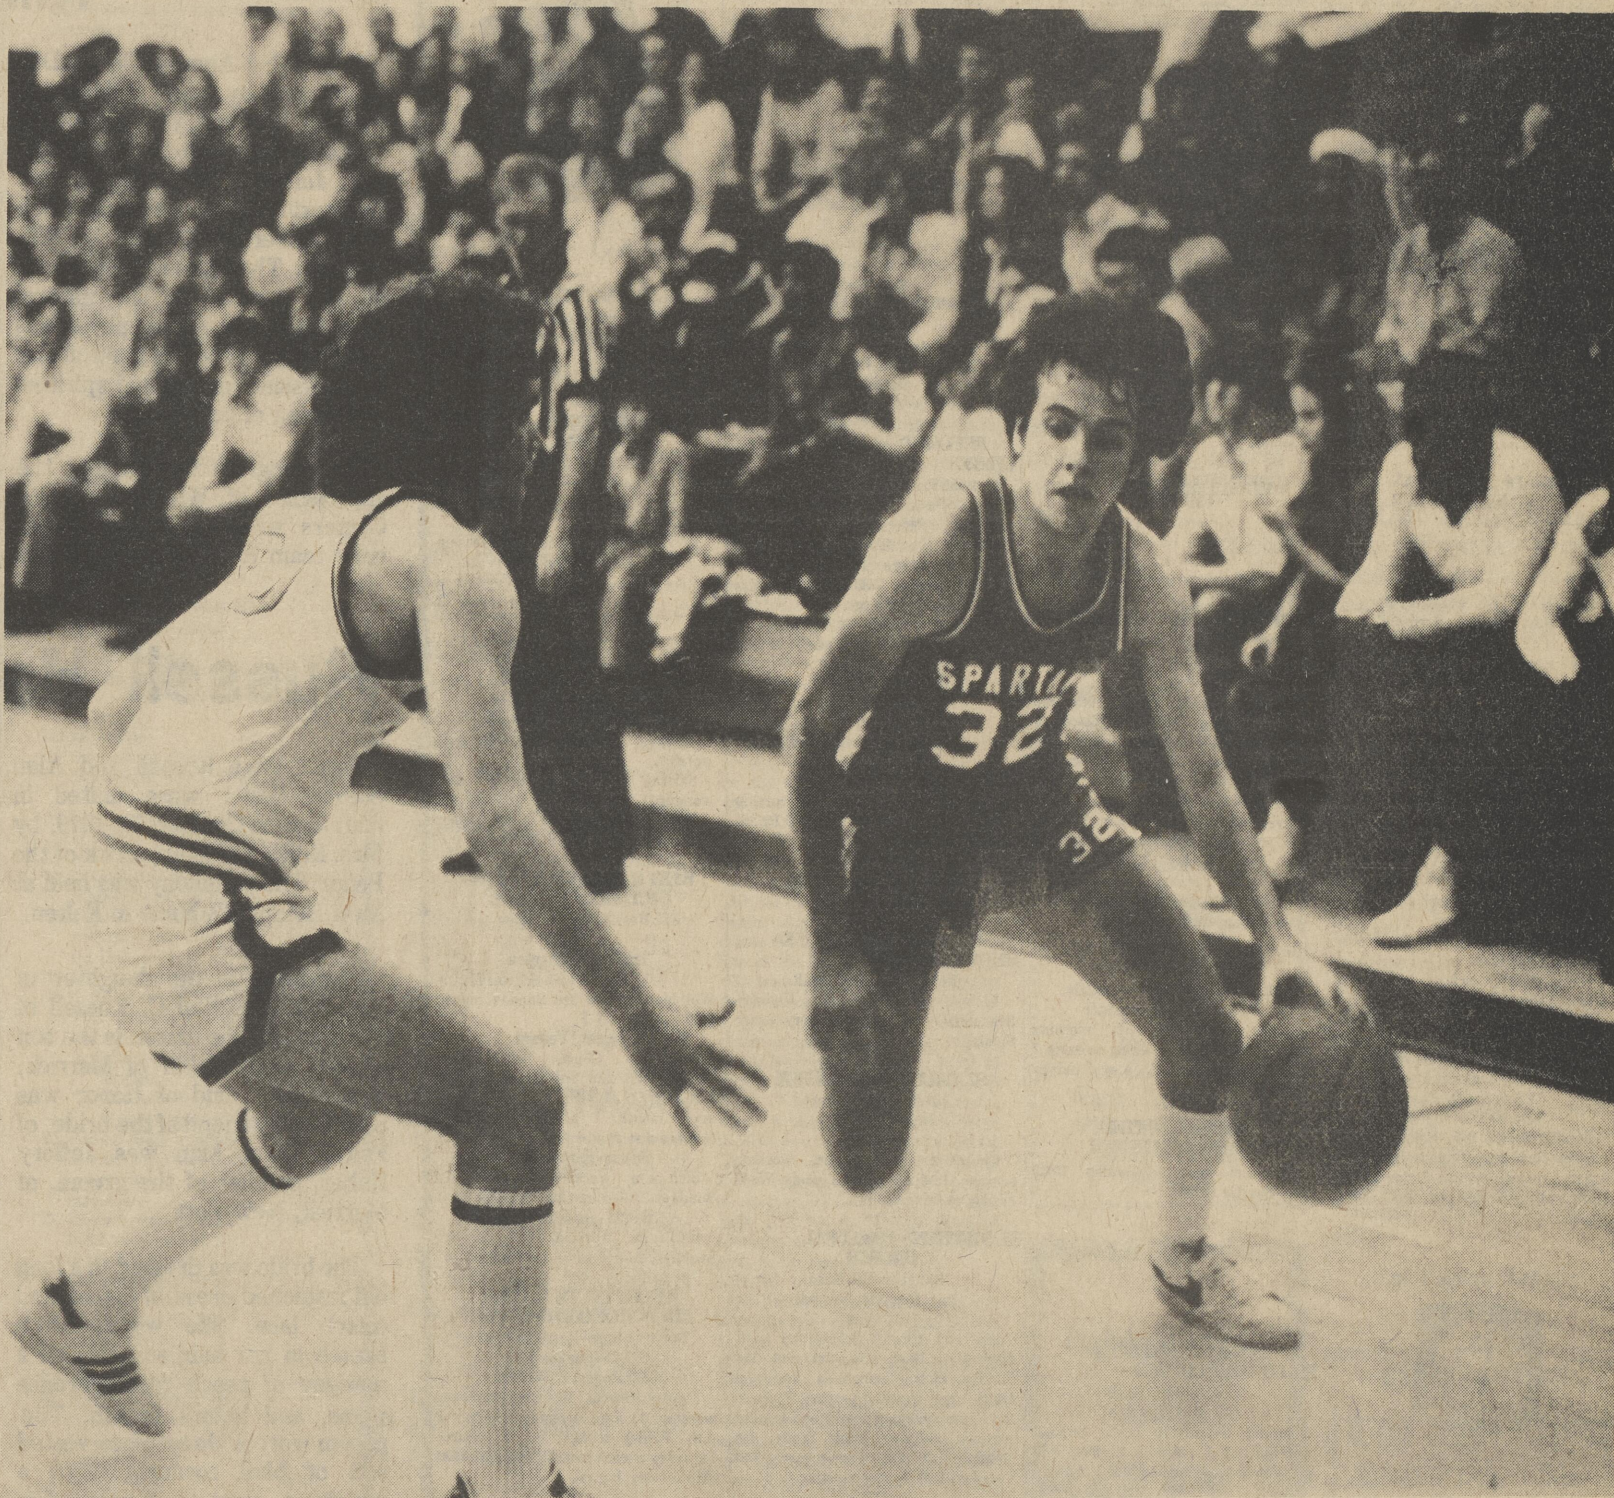

Chipman girls lose second game

by Rebecca Brown

The Chipman girls basketball team lost to Seaford Monday night 29-38. The high scorer from Chipman was Stephanie Tolson with 20 points. Then it was Sherry Duran with 6 points, Carolyn Brown with 2 points and Nancy Badman with 2 points.

This is Chipman's 2nd loss. The girls dropped their opening game to CR on January 3rd. Baxter Smith is the new Chipman girls coach this year as is Robert Davis for the boys.

Stephanie Tolson is also new this year. She is a transfer from CR.

44-18, Lake Forest falls to powerful Smyrna

Coach Tom Schaffer knew it would be tough, but it got even tougher than he expected. The Lake Forest wrestling team visited conference powerhouse Smyrna on Saturday and came away with their first loss of the season by a 44-18 score.

"They are good," Schaffer said, "but I really expected us to make a better showing. We needed upsets and didn't get them."

Starting off for the Spartans at 98 pounds was freshman Greg Ecenrode. He happened to go against one of the state's top performers and finally fell to a pin with 45 seconds remaining in the match. "He kept working and held his own," said the coach. "Greg did a good job against a very tough man."

Next was Bobby Fleming at 105 pounds. Although he eventually lost by a 15-0 margin, Fleming proved his heart by never giving up against overwhelming odds. He fought off pin attempt after pin attempt to last the entire three periods.

112 pounder Charles Jones followed with the Spartan's first win, 8-4. Said Schaffer, "Charles is improving with every match now. He has worked very hard to be successful in his new weight class and its beginning to show. Based on what I saw on Saturday, Charles has a solid future this season."

Following Jones' win came another one, this time at 119 pounds. Jeff Grove did a fine job against a well established opponent, controlling the match and doing what he had to do to secure the win.

After two wins came a disappointment. Ken Williams, at 126 pounds, fell to a pin in 3:05. "That I didn't expect," said Schaffer, "Ken is too strong to have this happen. He just got caught in a bad hold and couldn't find his way out of it."

At 132 was sophomore Doug Stevens. Showing no fear, but getting pinned, Doug lost in 1:15.

Dave Brown tried to bring the Spartans back in his 138 pound match. He came close, but finally lost it in the last 30 seconds with a 12-10 decision. "Dave looked tough and really battled a good match. It was as even a contest as you would want to see," said Schaffer. "A reversal in the last 30 seconds lost it for him, it surprised me."

Mike Kosiorowski, at 145 pounds, fought his opponent to a draw, another surprise for the coach. "Mike had him 3-0 into the last period," Schaffer said, "but he just didn't shoot when he needed to. The other guy did and we settled for a draw. I can't explain it, Mike usually moves better than that."

Hersial Harman was next at 157. He did well not to get pinned and lost in the end by a 12-2 score.

Then it was Jimmy Fleming's turn at 167. Showing awesome strength and purpose of mind, Fleming came out and totally dominated his opponent. He won by a pin in the second period.

185 pounder Vince Ware, a senior and a newcomer to the sport had the misfortune to wrestle the conference champion. Ware lost by a decisive pin.

Dave Powell represented the Spartans at heavyweight. He showed heart in the match but his inexperience showed and the contest was lost by a pin.

Tina Durant can't believe it didn't fall

Girls varsity keeps winning despite poor shooting

The girls varsity basketball team stayed on their winning ways last week with two victories, against Dover Air on Tuesday and Dover last Friday night.

The squad was coming off their first loss of the year when they played Dover Air, having lost to Laurel on January 4th. Coach Pat Dyal saw it as a comeback, although not quite the comeback she had in mind. "We played a fairly good game against them," she said, "but overall, we didn't play the way I had hoped. It was the same problem as we usually have, lots of good shots but only around 30% of them going in."

Looking particularly good for the Spartans on Tuesday was freshman forward Pam Harris. She hit for 10 points and brought down 9 important rebounds, playing what Dyal called "her best game yet." Also helping out in the rebounding game was Tina Durant. Said Dyal, "Tina was really cleaning out the boards for us, it made a lot of difference when we were able to limit them to just one shot." Durant was responsible for 12 rebounds.

The Spartans were never in danger, in fact they never trailed in the game. It was 15-9 after the first period, 25-17 at the half, 36-24 after three and 50-41 when the final buzzer sounded.

Gwen Scott led all scorers with 16, Lolita Seth had 8, Brenda Scott shot for 6.

Lake Forest travelled to Dover High on Friday and played an erratic, although winning game. Said Dyal, "seems like we can't put four good quarters together."

The Spartans leaped out to a 14-1 lead at the end of the first period and pushed it to a seemingly insurmountable 22-9 at the half. But things fell apart in the third quarter as Lake Forest started to coast along and Dover tightened up their act.

Dover pulled to within striking distance in the third quarter as we scored but 2 points and they hit for 15. The score was 26-15 at the end of the period and it was clear that Lake Forest had to get moving.

The game remained tight in the last 8 minutes but the Spartans managed to hold on for the 37-30 win.

Dyal's forces had a total of 41 turnovers in the contest, and their shooting percentage totaled but 23%.

Third Annual Clergy Day

The Third Annual Clergy Day sponsored by the Wilmington Medical Center's Department of Pastoral Care will be held Tuesday, January 15, in the Nurses' Auditorium at the Memorial Division, Lovering Avenue in Wilmington. The theme of this year's all day seminar is the natural cooperation between physicians and clergy needed in maintaining the physical, mental and spiritual well-being of patients.

The program will explore the approaches of Wholistic Health Centers where an interdisciplinary team of nurses, physicians and pastoral counselors treat the patient. The team's object is to help the patient recognize the interrelationship between physical, mental and spiritual needs.

Guest speakers will be Granger E. Westberg, D.D., and Charles Griffin. Dr. Westberg was the first Protestant clergyman in this country to receive a full appointment to a medical faculty when he was named Clinical Professor of Preventative Medicine at the University of Illinois Medical Center in 1973. Since then he has been involved in establishing wholistic health centers in church settings. Mr. Griffin is a pastoral counselor at Columbia Road Medical Services in Washington, D.C. He has an extensive background in pastoral counseling and is a member of the American Association of Christian Counselors, the Analytical Psychology Society of Western New York, and is a clinical member of the American Association of Marriage and Family Counselors.

The media is cordially invited to attend the program. For further information please call Mary Money, (302) 428-2780.

For Your Information

Dear friends,
Many older persons lack the transportation to get to a grocery store six blocks from their homes, or to a doctor's office five miles away - nor are they able to attend church services, having no way to get there. A 'dial-a-ride' service has been set up in some areas. For the isolated, feeble, and physically handicapped, it's something to think about.

Respectfully,

William A. Berry, Jr.

cost of special education transportation, an expense that was shouldered by Sussex County until this year, the local district will be relieved of a costly item. Normally that would just reduce the tax rate. Woodbridge would like to shift the 16c to the general expense budget where it can be used for badly needed classroom supplies, equipment and library books. This could be done without increasing the burden on the taxpayer, but it needs voter approval.

Recommendations on the date of the referendum, the suggested tax rate, and a proposal to use paper ballots rather than machines were approved by the Woodbridge Board.

Junior High Football Tabled
 The Woodbridge Board followed a recommendation of Member William Tull in tabling consideration of a proposed Junior High Football program for 1980. The estimated cost of the program is about $6,500 excluding the salaries of a coach and one assistant. Although the high school football program has been in trouble for lack of a proper feeder program, Tull and other Board members are at a loss to know where the funds can be found to support it. They want more time for consideration.

And Home Improvement Ideas

Jan. 16th - Jan. 30th

Supplement To The Leader, Laurel State Register, Delmar Bi-State Weekly, Federalsburg Times, Georgetown Sussex Countian, Harrington Journal, January 16, 1980.

Chain saw safety seminar scheduled

With rapidly increasing fuel costs, many home owners are installing wood stoves and are cutting their own wood. People are purchasing chain saws who have never operated them before.

In a recent year, chain saws were responsible for 76,000 reported accidents, ranging from cut fingers to sudden death. Some chain saw engines can drive the chain up to 24 mph with 1,100 pounds of thrust and a potential kickback speed seven and one-half times faster than the reaction time of a human being.

In order to handle a chain saw safely, the operator must be well trained. This training should begin with the operator becoming familiar with the information in the saw manufacturer's operations manual. Only when an operator has gained a thorough knowledge of the saw and its safe operation should he attempt to operate it.

Experts will discuss chain saw maintenance, (to include sharpening the chain using the chain saw safely, felling a tree safely, handling fuel, the noise problem and first aid for common wood harvesting injuries. There will be several exhibits and demonstrations with wood harvesting equipment.

The seminar will be Wednesday, Jan. 23, at 7 p.m. at the University of Delaware Substation on Route 9 between Laurel and Georgetown.

The seminar is being sponsored by the Cooperative Extension Service; Delaware Department of Agriculture - Forestry Section; and area chain saw retailers. Admission is free. For further information call 856-5250.

Ronald Trice of Seaford is shown cutting firewood with a chain saw. Trice is equipped with glasses, gloves and steel-toe shoes and has a firm grip on his saw and firm footing on the ground.

A seminar is scheduled at Georgetown to discuss chain saw safety in hopes of reducing the number of chain saw-related injuries. Photo by Dale Massey.

Decorating an entrance hall

by Barbara Hartung
Copley News Service

Q. We've just moved into an older home. When we first looked at the home, the entry caught my eye because it was so spacious and had stairs going to the second floor bedrooms. Now that we are living in the house, the entry has stumped me as far as decorating is concerned. We have natural wood floors although the stairs are carpeted in a dull gold.

A. Please would you give me some details and don't help me in planning how I should decorate this rather large space. — P.L.H.

Entrances can be a charming part of any home and you are indeed fortunate to have an entry hall.

Many professional designers suggest that little-used rooms such as a foyer or entry hall can be given treatment that you might feel too dramatic in another room such as a living room or bedroom. Unusual wallcoverings and colors are often used for dramatic effect.

Furnishings as well as art objects can do the same. The room, of course, sets the pace for your family as well as those who visit you. So it is interesting to have your entry reflect your family's collective personality.

Q. I have a fair-sized collection of artwork that I want to enhance in my new apartment. I am moving from a larger house and will be cutting out old furnishings and buying some new things. The main things I must keep for the living room is a red black, and cream Oriental rug, my paintings and a fair-sized collection of books.

A. If you have paintings, and books and an Oriental rug, to decorate with, you probably have plenty of color and design interest there. You might like to have your furnishings in a neutral, retreating color so all emphasis is on your rug and paintings. Why don't you paint your walls a honey beige tone, do your draperies in a matching tone and then buy your upholstered pieces in a honey beige and cream — perhaps a rather heavily textured fabric to give some dramatic interest?

With a U shape for seating, three sofas might provide comfortable seating and an elegant background for your favorite possessions. Place a commodious cocktail table in the U's center.

Q. We have an open plan in our living room, dining room and kitchen. I like this plan. However, occasionally I would like to close off the view of the kitchen. We are about to redecorate the

Revealing information about insulation

The potential of home insulation to save energy and money has come to be well known in recent years.

Until this year, however, manufacturers and sellers of home insulation materials have been free to offer their products without revealing information that is vital in evaluating their effectiveness and cost.

Now, federal regulations make disclosure of this information mandatory, and the Better Business Bureau thinks consumers should learn enough about home insulation to take advantage of the new ground rules.

The key measure of an insulation product's capacity to insulate is its R-value, a number that indicates its resistance to the flow of heat.

The higher the R-value, the more effective the insulation. For instance, R-22 insulation has twice the resistance of R-11 insulation.

Insulating capability will vary according to the thickness of the material. Unfortunately for consumers, this variation isn't simple — twice as thick usually isn't twice as effective.

The only practical way for consumers to know the R-value of a specific thickness of a specific material is for the manufacturer or the retailer to tell them — and that's what many manufacturers and retailers haven't been doing.

Under Federal Trade Commission (FTC) regulations, this and other information must be given to consumers before they buy insulation products. Here's how the regulations work:

Manufacturers must determine the R-value of their insulation products by using standard, specified tests, so that products can be compared with each other. Samples must be tested at thicknesses that will permit manufacturers to provide accurate R-values for what they sell.

Manufacturers must label all of their packages of insulation material, stating the type of material, the R-value for the thicknesses that are offered, and the area that can be covered by the material in the package. For loose-fill material, the label must state the minimum thickness and maximum coverage area for given R-values.

dining room and I thought this might be an appropriate time to consider a solution. Do you have any suggestions? — K.L.K.

One way to create an attractive screen is to combine wood and fabric for a soft look. Hinge together simple frames of wood to cover the width of your area to be closed off. Leave large open sections in the frame. On one side of the frame gather fabric at top and bottom and pull taut on small dowels fastened to the frame.

Choose a fabric you will have used elsewhere in the room (to match the wallpaper, or draperies or even cushions on the dining chairs).

Insulation products without seeing a package label — from installers, for example — manufacturers must also provide fact sheets about their products to the retailers and installers who sell them.

The fact sheets must contain information similar to that on the labels, plus a statement that points out other factors in deciding how much insulation it makes sense to buy: climate, the type and size of the house, whether some insulation already has been installed, fuel use patterns and family size.

Retailers who sell to do-it-yourselfers must make the fact sheets available where the insulation material is sold. Installers must show the fact sheets to customers before a sale, and their receipts or contracts must state what was installed and what its R-value was.

For new homes, the type, thickness and R-value of insulation must be put in writing at the time the sales contract is signed or as soon after that as it is known.

If advertising mentions R-value, thickness or price, it must include enough additional information for the reader to evaluate what is being claimed. Price quotes must specify the area that can be covered.

Comparisons of different types of insulation must be based on the same area of coverage, giving R-values at specific thicknesses for each type. Advertisers must be able to substantiate any claimed savings, and they must point out that savings will vary depending on how much insulation is needed.

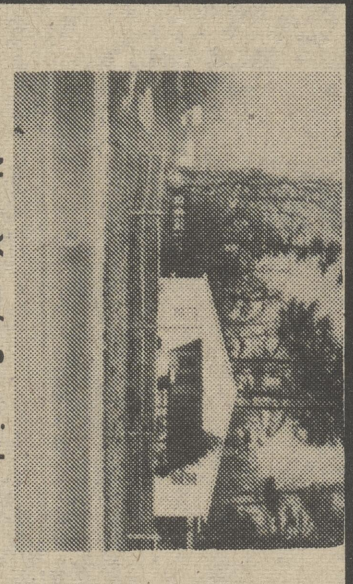

The new regulations won't help consumers find out how much insulation they need and how these needs differ in different portions of the house. Consumers still will have to decide which types of insulation are appropriate for different purposes and how they should be installed.

Putting in too much insulation is just as wasteful as installing too little. The Better Business Bureau reminds consumers that it is up to them to understand and make the best use of the information disclosures required by the FTC.

New approaches to financing

by James M. Woodard
Copley News Service

The current tight-money market is changing conventional forms of home financing. New approaches to financing a home are surfacing throughout the country.

One new technique shows the increasing difficulty in qualifying for a loan, now being encountered by home buyers.

The technique involves a "co-borrower," or co-signer on the mortgage note. Certain firms are now gearing up to offer this service.

In effect, the service functions like a father who trots down to the savings and loan association to co-sign a mortgage note for one of his children.

The young couple may have enough savings socked away to handle the down payment. And their combined incomes may be sufficient to carry the monthly payments.

However, in the current world of tight money they may be considered unqualified, or "marginal," at best. But with a well qualified co-borrower, they can often swing the deal.

Parents aren't always available to provide this needed co-signing service. Thus enters the professional co-borrower — an individual or firm who will co-sign a mortgage note with a home buyer, for a fee of course.

One California company will now co-sign with a borrower for 3 percent of the loan amount. If the loan is $50,000, the co-signing fee will be $1,500.

Actually, this firm lines up individual co-borrowers for each home buying client. Half the fee goes to the firm — half to the co-borrower.

Also, the "co-borrower effect" lasts just one year. Then the home buyer is expected to refinance a mortgage loan on his own, or renegotiate for another year with the co-borrower (for another fee).

If the home buyer cannot make his monthly payments during the co-borrower term, a process is started that culminates in the co-borrower taking over possession of the house.

It's a risky business for the home buyer — a "last technique" to finance the purchase of a home. And if you need a co-signer, father is best.

Another alternative form of buying and financing a home is often a viable solution to today's tight-money problems. This is the "contract" sale, now being revived in popularity.

In these transactions, the buyer simply agrees (contracts) to pay the

This form of home purchase is now particularly prevalent in midwest states where usury laws limit interest rates to levels below the prevailing rate.

Loan assumptions (buyer taking over an existing loan) is also becoming a much more common practice.

Other more complicated methods of avoiding the necessity of executing a new mortgage loan are surfacing, such as the "wrap-around" mortgage or the "all inclusive deed of trust." For information on these plans, consult with a knowledgeable realtor.

Here's How

Refinishing jobs in the kitchen

By Gene Gary
Copley News Service

Q. I am in the process of refinishing an old maple baker's table top to be used on an island in my wife's kitchen. I am now hand sanding the top to remove most of the gouges and cuts. Two problems have surfaced. One, there is an odor in the wood, apparently caused by hard or shortening. Could I use some type of bleach to get rid of the odor? Second, what finish if any should I use to seal the top? — John S.

A. To kill the odor, apply a thick paste of white vinegar and powdered whitening or any absorbing powder. This should neutralize any disagreeable materials that have penetrated into the wood. Vinegar will act as a solvent and the whitening as a blotter to draw it up. When this paste is dry, brush off and rinse with clear water.

If any odor or stains remain, wash with a strong solution of household bleach and detergent. Then rinse well and let the surface dry thoroughly.

When the wood is completely dry, I recommend an oil finish by applying a couple of soaking coats of pure, clean raw linseed oil. Allow the oil to soak for an hour, then wipe off the excess. Apply a second coat a week later.

Q. Two years ago my house was covered with aluminum siding and also insulated with aluminum foil and some other material. Since then, on cool days, moisture collects on my windows. In the winter, the windows get a heavy coating of ice about four inches up from the sill. I never had this happen before the aluminum siding was installed.

There are a few places along the overhang that have air vents and also in the north and south side corners of the house. Could you tell me what's wrong and how the situation can be remedied? — Josephine H. Medina, Ohio

A. The basic reason for your trouble is simply too much moisture inside the house. You must get rid of it one way or another. Use an exhaust fan in one or more areas where the moisture is produced, such as the kitchen and the bathroom, or perhaps the laundry room.

Sometimes just opening a window, a couple of inches when cooking will help, as well as opening the window in the bathroom after a shower. Or you can get window ventilators or even the small vents that are installed in the side of a house.

In short, you must find a way to permit the moist air to escape. If it has a way to get out, it won't condense and freeze on cold surfaces. Your house is apparently so well insulated since the installation of aluminum siding that the moisture cannot get out.

Q. Our linoleum in the kitchen bulges up, mainly along the walls, and although we have replaced it once with new covering, it is bulging again. A white substance pushes through the concrete, and forces the flooring up in humps. If I could clean out this white substance, how could I prevent it from coming back? Would it be necessary to take up the linoleum and clean the whole floor? If so, what would I cover the cement with first to prevent this from happening again? What other type of floor covering would be satisfactory? — L.R.H. Euchenias, Calif.

A. If the linoleum in your kitchen is over a concrete slab, that is the cause of your problem. Linoleum is not suitable for on-grade cement floors. Only asphalt tile, vinyl asbestos, and some pure vinyls with suitable backing are satisfactory when laid directly over the concrete.

Another solution would be to use indoor-outdoor carpeting. Any of these should be installed with a waterproof adhesive. I would recommend removal of your present linoleum and install one of the coverings listed above.

Q. I recently moved into an 8-year-old housing development. The kitchen cabinets are ash, stained with a fruitwood color and originally finished with a lovely lacquer coat. Now, through wear, abuse, grease, dirt and constant washing down, the cabinet and drawer fronts are a mess.

What to do? Several neighbors have this identical problem. Can the cabinets be successfully stripped with liquid sandpaper and refinished by the average handyman? In places, the cabinets are "gummy" with sticky old lacquer. On raised edges, there is bare wood, worn right through the finish. — J.G.B. Salana Beach, Calif.

A. To refinish the cabinets, first go over the surface with liquid sandpaper. This does not completely strip the old finish, but removes dirt, oil, stickiness and prepares the surface for refinishing. If stain is worn off in spots, the area must be restained and any rough spots sanded with regular sandpaper.

If the veneer on the drawer edges is raised, it will need to be glued down, using a wood glue, and fastening with clamps to hold it in place. Lacquer finish can be sprayed on, but it also can be applied with a brush, following certain fundamentals as follows: Mix the lacquer half and half with lacquer thinner. Never lacquer over a painted or varnished surface. Never use a brush previously used for paint, varnish, shellac or any other finishing material. Apply the lacquer in broad sweeping strokes. Never go over the same area twice while the lacquer is still wet, and apply two, three or more thin coats rather than a single thick one.

Q. Ten years ago, I put down self-stick carpet tiles in my guest bathroom. Today, the carpet tiles are worn and need to be replaced. How do I go about removing the tiles and the excess adhesive from the vinyl flooring underneath? I am going to recover the floor, so I do not care if the vinyl flooring is slightly damaged when removing the adhesive. — L.F.

A. Go over each tile as you prepare to remove it with a warm iron. This should soften the adhesive so that you can pry them off with a large screw driver or bottle opener. Or another way, dry ice, such as used in removing asphalt and vinyl asbestos tiles, might be used over the carpet tiles. This makes the adhesive brittle and easier to remove.

To remove whatever adhesive that may cling to the floor, use naphtha and a stiff brush or steel wool. Make certain to have plenty of ventilation in the room when you use naphtha, which is highly flammable.

Q. I dropped a bottle of fertilizer having a high phosphoric acid and high potash content, on my garage floor. Everywhere it touched it left a light gray stain, a real mess. I have tried everything I can think of to remove the stain, including paint thinner, lacquer thinner, paint remover, lacquer remover, vinegar, rust remover, garage floor cleaner, all sorts of kitchen cleansers and sandpaper. Sandpaper lightens the stain, but does not remove it. Can you tell what will do the trick? — C.K.M. La Jolla, Calif.

A. Because of the porous nature of concrete, removing stains if often impossible. You could try going over the entire floor with a strong solution of tri-sodium phosphate (one cup to one gallon of water). Often in removing stains, the process bleaches out the cleaned area, leaving it lighter than the surrounding surface. After cleaning the entire floor, you could paint or use a good masonry paint or use a waterproofing sealer which can be obtained in color. Thompson's Water Seal is one of these products.

Q. I read so much about removing oil stains from concrete. I offer an idea: Saturate the stain with kerosene and sprinkle a little dust on it to make a sloppy mud. Scrub hard with a stiff brush. Hose off. It also works well on rust stains. It's so simple and will remove most of the stubborn stains. — W.E. Wilson

A. Thanks very much. We'll try it sometime.
