Letter to the People of Milford School District

People - Houston has a middle income, rural and small town population, not an affluent one.

Teachers - Houston teachers, selected by the Milford School Board, are professionals who given the complete and enthusiastic support of the parents and townspeople, have responded by functioning at their maximum potential. The pupils have benefited by the cooperative atmosphere.

Economy - Parents were told by the School Board that the major consideration in closing West School was economy. The voting at the Houston school overwhelmingly supported the School Board's referendum proposal to divert funds from debt service to provide operating money. Forty ballots were originally brought to record the Houston vote. Finally 120 were needed because people wanted to express their support of what they felt was a positive alternative to the school closing. This was triple the rate of voting in the balance of the district.

Fact - The School Board estimates a savings of $17,000 by closing West which does not include any provision for maintaining the $700,000 facility. (DPI replacement cost for comparable construction). This also does not reflect the increased cost of bussing the 26% of the students who now walk to school. Following this statement of concern for economy, the board voted $30,000 for the installation of electric bleachers for the High School gym. Enough to keep West School open for two years.

Just by moving the Administration staff to the High School would save (at their figures) $3,500 plus $12,000 in utilities cost, enough to keep West School open.

District plans to spend $97,500 in Improvements

Looking ahead to 1982 and 1983 the Lake Forest School Board Monday night approved the spending of $97,500 in Minor Capital Improvements for two separate projects. One - a plan to save energy by lowering ceilings in the 1928 wing at North Elementary in Felton and in the W.T. Chipman library in Harrington - would cost an estimated $19,500. The second would replace partitions and stalls in bathrooms at Lake Forest High School at a probable cost of $78,000.

If the projects are accepted by the state, 60% of the funding would come from the state, and 40% would be supplied by local tax money set aside in the Minor Capital Improvements fund. Because the 1982 MCIP project limit for 1982 is $75,000, the bathroom project probably would not get completed until 1983.

Lowering the ceilings in the classrooms mentioned at North and in the W.T. Chipman library is an energy related project that gets top priority. A total of 12,400 square feet of ceiling surface would be involved.

Lake Forest Superintendent Melvin Luff said the bathroom project at the high school had been approved by the board several years ago, but set aside in favor of energy saving musts. According to the recommendation submitted by Luff to the board, water damage during the roof failure at the high school and "use aggravated by vandalism" has caused metal plates in the steel stud partitions in the bathrooms to deteriorate so that they no longer anchor the partitions to the floors. Luff said both wall surfaces and bathroom stalls are in poor shape. His proposal, approved by the board, is to replace the partitions and stalls with 4" masonry finished with spray glaze. Plumbing and electrical fixtures would have to be dismantled, then remounted on the new walls.

State Parks Welcome Summer

Summer begins by individual calendars. For school kids, the last day of classes is it. For the young with leisure time on their hands, the first hot day on a beach towel in the back yard might be the time. Resorts looking for tourists may count Memorial Day Weekend as the beginning. But officially, the season begins with the summer solstice - the longest day of the year - which usually occurs about June 21. And this year the Delaware Department of Parks and Recreation will be right on target, welcoming summer with the celebration of State Parks Day, Saturday, June 21.

Admission to each of the state's ten parks will be free of charge on that day. But headquarters for the celebration is Killen's Pond

State Park on state route 384 about a mile or so east of U.S. 13.

The celebration gets underway at Killen's at 11 a.m. with events planned to last until 4 p.m. Public participation activities, special events, and exhibits. And as a special highlight to the day, Delaware's Governor Pete DuPont will be on hand at 2 p.m. to award door prizes. The activities of State Park Day will be broadcast live from Killen's Pond State Park over WAFL.

Possibly the feature attraction among the various public participation activities will be swimming in the park's brand new pool with its bath house and parking complex. The pool, which opened last week, ranges in depth from three to five feet and boasts two water

Rezoning Approved - Too Late

"Possibly not too little, but almost certainly too late" may be the final verdict in the rezoning debate that kept the Harrington City Council in turmoil for a year. The Council last Tuesday night approved a zoning change to permit the construction of apartment units intended for the elderly on 7.3 acres of land near Peck Avenue. But the money to build the apartments is no longer available.

Dudley Willis, owner of the property, had asked for the zoning change from IMP (an industrial category) to R-4 (a residential classification allowing multiple units) in a proposal that was first turned down by the Council last June. He had intended to sell the land to Case Edwards, the firm which was to construct and manage the apartments. Most of the funding to build the apartments would have come from a loan from the Farmers Home Administration. But the year's delay has caused that source of funds to dry up. FMHA officials have said there will be no more money available until at least 1982. That may effectively kill the project. By Harrington ordinance, any property rezoned reverts to its former classification if there is no move to start construction within a year. By 1982 the 7.3 acres will go back from the new residential zoning to the former classification. That would put the whole matter right back where it was two public hearings, one referendum and numerous Council meetings ago. A Council decision would be required to extend the rezoning.

The Council's 3-1 decision to approve the rezoning came on the heels of a public opinion referendum in which the vote was 3-1 in favor of the change. 239 Harrington voters turned out to express their opinion on that referendum.

Councilmen Harold Brode and Vincent Lobo, who had previously opposed the rezoning, voted "yes", joining the Rev. Ray Newman who has supported it all along.

HUD Team Probes Possible Violation

Dudley L. Willis, owner of the 40 acre track off Peck Avenue in Harrington, has filed a complaint with the Secretary for the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Affairs (HUD) against Jack V. Wyatt, a councilman from the 1st Ward in Harrington. The complaint stems from the rezoning of part of the tract from Industrial Park (IMP) to R-4 or multiple family housing.

A team of two investigators was sent to Harrington to investigate the grounds for the complaint. The investigators refused to disclose the exact charge in the complaint. Instead they stated that the complaint alleged a violation of Title VIII of the Civil Rights Act of 1968 as amended by the Housing and Community Development Act of 1974. The act prohibits any practice which has the effect of discriminating on any of the forbidden categories such as race, color, religion, sex or national origin. The investigators are required by law to make a full, thorough, objectional, and impartial investigation.

According to Mr. Willis "...my land is worthless now, for there are no funds available to finance a project. Funds will not be available until around 1982. If grounds for the complaint can be found, the government would be required to reopen the case...and the project could be put back on the priority list for funding. The primary purpose of this stage of the proceeding is to correct the harm done to the project...if the investigators find that way," said Willis.

Felton Auxiliary Elects Officers

by Mary Ann Stumpf

The Felton Ladies Auxiliary held their monthly meeting on June 11, 1980. During the course of the business meeting, it was announced by President Joyce F. Sipple that the Felton Ladies Auxiliary had endorsed Marie Moore of Felton Auxiliary to be Kent County Ladies Auxiliary President. She was elected at the May meeting in Harrington.

Howard Wagner of The Peoples Bank of Harrington displays a sample of volcanic ash sent to him by his aunt in Selah, Washington. The public has been invited to visit the bank lobby to see what the gift from Mount St. Helens looks like.

From Mt. St. Helens..by Post

This past week has been "an ordeal to test our faith...Yesterday we had a little rain and our trees are green again...not gray ghosts waving their fingers at us." (Mrs. Ruth Thomas, Selah, Washington).

The stories of a volcanic mountain blowing its top with a force many times more powerful than that released by the atomic bomb exploded over Hiroshima and raining an estimated 640,000 tons of ash on the surrounding countryside have amazed and appalled most of us. But Mt. St. Helens and the state of Washington are on the other side of our country, thousands of miles away. And it has all seemed a little distant...not in the category of things we can readily grasp.

For Howard Wagner of Harrington, however, those accounts came a little closer to home recently as he received a first-hand account in a letter from his aunt, Mrs. Ruth Thomas, who lives in Selah, Washington, about 85 miles from Mt. St. Helens, and works in Yakima, which is about ten miles closer to the volcano.

In addition to her letter, Mrs. Thomas sent a sample of the volcanic ash that has covered everything in Yakima with three to four inches of gray, abrasive grit that drifts to an even greater depth in many places. The sample is on display in the lobby of Peoples Bank in Harrington. Mr. Wagner said he was amazed that something called "ash" could be so heavy and granular and wondered that it could be sustained in the atmosphere long enough to travel hundreds of miles.

Yet the ash did travel and, as it sifted down through the air, covered highways, buildings, and living things with a gray coat. One family, away for a weekend, returned to find the ash had blown in through open windows to dust over floors and furniture to a two inch depth.

Among the initial effects of the gray pall cast by the volcano over the land were restrictions on "business as usual" and travel. Many schools and businesses were closed, and portions of towns were blocked off. Snow removal equipment was not really adequate to handle the gritty ash. In addition, winds wafting it aloft greatly reduced visibility. Mrs. Thomas wrote in her letter that there have been a number of days in which high winds made visibility so poor that travel was impossible.

For car owners, the problems caused by the blowing ash are compounded. The grit clogs air filters, making a change necessary about every 50 miles.

All that ash blowing around has caused trouble for everything that breathes. Because the material is abrasive, improvising a mask of some sort has been a necessity. Mr. Coffee filters have been one of the variety of things pressed into service.

Mr. Wagner has another aunt living in Spokane, Washington, who has a breathing problem normally and who can testify to the difficulties experienced. Even though Spokane is 250 miles from Mt. St. Helens, it was still covered with about a half inch of the gray, drifting ash.

The rain Mrs. Thomas mentioned in her letter uncovered green leaves again and may have helped settle some of the ash. But it created a new problem. When it is wet, the volcanic material takes on the consistency of putty, almost "like cement".

Area residents are even more concerned about the long-term effects of the eruption's aftermath. The Yakima Valley is noted for its production of fruit. This year's crop may not be greatly affected. But residents fear most of the bees needed for pollination in future years may have been killed. The toll on wildlife, especially on smaller animals has been tremendous. A great many of the birds are gone, and people are feeding the few that remain.

Mrs. Thomas told Mr. Wagner she felt sure the loss of human life in the area near the volcano would exceed that which had been reported by the press and that the number would go over 100.

Mr. Wagner's grandfather and several of his aunts homesteaded in Washington in 1916 and have been residents of the state ever since.

The public has been invited by Mr. Wagner to visit the lobby of the Peoples Bank for a first hand look at the sample of volcanic ash.

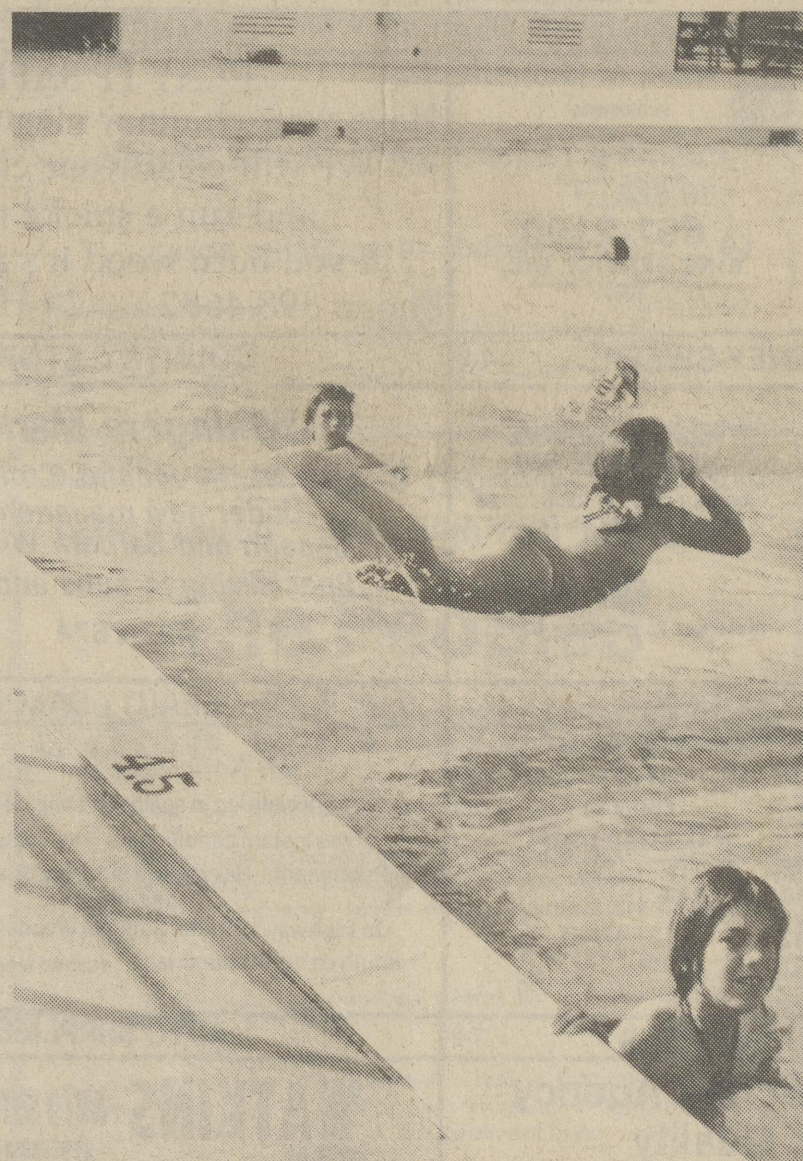

Miss Shelby Lynn Nash, named Little Miss Delmarva Poultry Princess in pageant festivities in Milford on June 6 is the daughter of Cheryl Lynn and Robert Nash of Milford. Her proud grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Burton Satterfield of Harrington.

To Set Up Traffic Control Unit

Complaints from area residents and a survey done by the Bureau of Traffic of the state's Division of Highways have prompted the Harrington City Council to authorize a traffic control unit to monitor a section of U.S. 13. The unit will be staffed by off duty police officers who volunteer for the special assignment. The sec-

Felton Fair Posponed

Felton's Annual Street Fair planned for this Saturday has been postponed until Saturday, June 28. The parade, booths, games, fire truck rides, fried chicken, funnel cake and fun are still on the schedule.

"Come on in, the water's...???" Youngsters were not hesitant to find out as they eagerly splashed into the new pool which opened at Killen's Pond last week. More will get a chance to check out the water temperature this Saturday when admission to the park is free for the celebration of State Parks Day.

Councilman Jack Wyatt, whose campaign for re-election last winter hinged on the zoning issue, remained in opposition. Wyatt said the voter turnout in the referendum was poor, indicating that despite all the publicity, most city residents didn't care. A number of property owners in his ward, close to the land in question, have opposed the rezoning.

Brode said that among those he had spoken to, he had heard no opposition to the rezoning. Councilman Lobo said although he had heard opposition, both in and out of his ward, he had decided to go with the referendum.

Councilmen William Dill (who had opposed the rezoning) and Gary Harrington (who had supported it) were absent for the voting. Harrington arrived later.

In making the zoning change, the Council took steps to make sure the boundaries of the 7.3 parcel were clearly defined and would be recorded with the Recorder of Deeds so there could be no mistake in the future. They were especially concerned that the 200 foot distance from Peck Avenue be preserved. The original rezoning request was for property immediately bordering on Peck Avenue. But several property owners brought a petition in protest, making a three-fourths vote of Council necessary to make any zoning change. Subsequently, Willis submitted a new proposal in which the boundary was moved back 200 feet from Peck Avenue and thus out of the legal province of the petitioning group.

State Parks Welcome Summer

slides as well as a ramp to accommodate the handicapped. Also in the complex are a splash pool for the very young and a picnic table area.

Among the other public participation events are paddle boat races and canoe races. Paddle boats and canoes are two new activities that will be available at Killen's Pond now that the pond itself has been closed to swimming. The boats will be for rent during the summer season.

The remainder of the public participation activities include a fishing tournament, a bait casting contest, nature walks and a jog-a-thon.

For pure entertainment value, several special events have been planned. Reptile World, a magic show and a bait casting demonstration will appeal to varying interests. Music will run the gamut from a Roaring 20's band to Blue Grass. Levis and Lace will give a square dancing demonstration, and there will be teen dancing and a pig roast.

Exhibits include arts and crafts and a park display.

Light refreshments such as hamburgers and hot dogs will be sold, and the park's extensive picnic facilities will be available. Two new pavilions are under construction there, with the expectation that one of them will be finished by State Parks Day. New rest room facilities are also being built.

To achieve this honor, students must be full time and attain a 3.250 grade index, in no less than 15 semester hours, with no grade below "C".

Teresa A. Topper, 103 Edgewood Ave., Bridgeville, has been named to the Dean's List at Wesley College for the 1980 Spring Semester.

Chipman Honors Two

The W.T. Chipman Junior School named two of its graduating eighth grade students "outstanding" as 250 potential members of the high school graduating class of 1984 marked their move to Lake Forest High School in promotion exercises held last Wednesday.

Sondra Warren, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Warren of Felton, and Michael Weis, son of Lt. Col. and Mrs. Dan J. Weis of Frederica, were selected by the Chipman faculty to receive the honor of being designated the year's most Outstanding Students. Both Michael and Sondra received a plaque commemorating the occasion. In addition their names have been engraved on a plaque listing the school's outstanding students over the years. This plaque is kept on display in the Chipman trophy case.

The Outstanding Student awards were presented by Student Council Advisor Charles Michels who explained that excellence in scholarship, participation in extracurricular activities, and service - embodying the characteristics of good citizenship - were the factors considered in the selection.

Academic honors went to a number of seventh and eighth graders who achieved the distinction of being on the Honor Roll for all four marking periods of the 1979-80 school year. Twelve seventh graders (more than the entire list so honored in both classes last year) were named: Laurie Arrington, Teresa Brown, Keith Chandler, Faith Draper, Tarra Gladden, Daniel Haines, Karen Kanoy, Mark Malysa, Lynn Mills, Julie Voshell, Maria Weis, and Dina Wilson. The seven eighth graders named were Michelle Dodd, Rebecca Hammett, Susan Hooven, Lisa Skinner, Sondra Warren, Dawn Welch and Carolyn Winder.

Before certificates were presented to the graduating class by Lake Forest Board of Education President Albert Price, Chipman Principal Marjorie Davis addressed the graduates. Stressing the key of Personal Service to Others, Mrs. Davis told the story of Eddie Rickenbacker, racing car driver, automotive expert and leading air ace in World War I. Rickenbacker started out with a great deal of individual initiative and the willingness to volunteer for even the most menial tasks. She said that not many would become great, but challenged her students to "do small things in a great way". And she reminded them that one far greater than Eddie Rickenbacker said, some 2,000 years ago, "whosoever would be great among you...let him be your servant."

Also on the speakers platform honoring the graduates by their presence were Lake Forest Superintendent of Schools William Cline, Chipman Assistant Principal William Daisey and the Rev. Nelson Benjamin, pastor of Trinity United Methodist Church in Frederica. The Rev. Benjamin delivered the invocation.

Ceremonial music for the occasion was provided by the seventh grade members of the W.T. Chipman Junior Band under the direction of Alex Becton.

Beware, Survey May Be Con Game

Delawareans are being warned by the State Police to beware of giving any information to persons representing themselves as members of a team conducting an Independent Banking Survey. As of Friday, a number of banks throughout the state had reported calls from customers who had been approached by two of four persons purporting to be conducting such a survey. Reports have come in statewide, but in greatest numbers in downstate Delaware. Banks say no such survey has been authorized, and State Police warn the operation is suspect and may be aimed at bilking the elderly out of their savings.

According to the reports, the persons who say they are conducting the survey are three white males and one white female. All are neatly dressed and professional in manner. They approach individuals in pairs.

If a person consents to participate in the survey he is asked where he banks, what kind of banking services he uses, the numbers of his accounts, and their balances. One elderly woman who complied with the request was even asked to show her bank passbook.

State Police say those who are approached should, above all, refuse to give any information. They should try to obtain a description of the surveyors, and after they have left, contact their own bank and their local police.

So far no losses have been reported, but banks are keeping check on accounts of customers who reported being approached by the so-called survey team members.

Farmington Youth Serious

Kevin Fosky, 18, of Farmington was listed in serious condition at Milford Memorial Hospital Sunday. He was being treated for a collapsed lung and broken ribs.

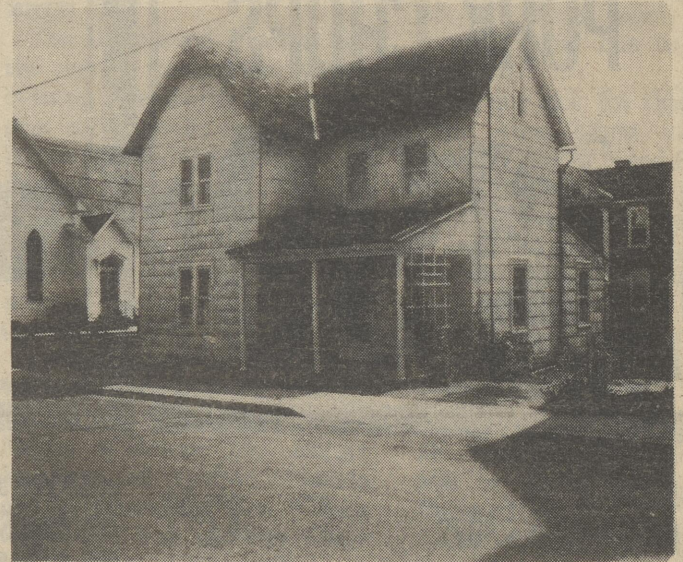

He was a passenger in a car driven by Daniel W. Herd, 16, of Harrington. According to police, the Herd car was apparently involved in a drag race with another car. The other car did not stop following the accident in which Herd's car ran off the road and overturned several times. Herd was treated for minor injuries and released from the Hospital. Police believe the two cars were travelling at speeds of over 100 m.p.h. about 7:30 P.M.

Herd lost control of the car and it left the left side of road 314 in Sussex, hit a dirt embankment and overturned several times before coming to rest approximately 171 feet from the highway. Herd was charged with drag racing, not having an insurance card and having an expired automobile registration.

President: Joyce F. Sipple, Vice President: Frances Chandler, Secretary: Marie Moore, Assistant Secretary: Diana G. Smith, Treasurer: Charlotte Stevenson, Assistant Treasurer: Bonnie Wertanen, Financial Secretary: Lillian V. Moore and Assistant Financial Secretary: Connie Harrington.

Installation of officers ceremony was conducted by Marie Moore, Kent County President and State President Janet Fisher of Felton Auxiliary. The Felton Ladies Auxiliary were very fortunate this past year to have Marie Moore as County President and Janet Fisher as State President, both from the same auxiliary. Both ladies are serving on the committee for the State Firemen's Convention to be held at Caesar Rodney High School, August 20-23, 1980.

After the meeting, several of the ladies, firemen, children, and neighbors serenaded Mr. and Mrs. Archie Dill at their home on Rt. 12 around 10:30 p.m. with the sounds of spoons hitting pots, the siren on the Rescue truck and gun shots in the background. Mr. and Mrs. Dill, who were celebrating their 39th Wedding Anniversary, were much surprised but enjoyed the gathering. It seems Mr. Dill had a problem around midnight and called one of the firemen to see if he had a vacuum cleaner as his bed was full of rice. I wonder how that happened.

If Todd Farrow is on target, the guy on the perch in the cage is going to get all wet. But he won't mind. It's all in good fun. We didn't hear whether Todd hit the mark, but reports did confirm that "Dunk the Clown" and all the other activities at the Frederica Street Fair last Saturday raised over $2,000 for the Trinity United Methodist Church building fund. David Farrow [lower right] waits his turn to dunk the clown.

Get Together and Talk With Our Neighbors

A-Round and A-Bout Frederica

by Mary "Toby" Johnston
335-5487

School is out so what's happening. Please keep me up to date. We hope to see everyone at the Street Fair Saturday.

Billy Macklin from Houston is visiting Grandma on Franklin Street. Ron Johnston of Magnolia is spending some time with Great and Grand Ma's on St. Agnes and we are trying to play a little croquet. First it started with marbles - then a nap and extra breakfast. Now the boys are playing with the kids down the street and Grand Ma got another snooze in.

It is very good to report that Mrs. Elsie Fisher and Mrs. Irene Spurry are feeling much better. God Bless and we hope to see you home very soon.

We had 33 at the covered dish supper at the Frederica Adult Center Monday. The food is always delicious and plentiful.

Mrs. John Sang played the piano and a group gathered around for a jolly old time sing-a-long. After the tables were cleared some of the men played cards. The rest of us sat around chewing the fat and looking forward to the trip to Bridgeville Senior Center. Plus the Art Exhibit in Rodney Hall, at Newark.

Mrs. Mae Hires has returned home after spending some time with her niece and family Mr. and Mrs. William Hutchins and sons Michael and Jeffery in Camden.

Mr. and Mrs. Dan Adams and daughters from Knoxville, Tenn. spent some time here visiting their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Shumar and sister Barbara.

Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Payne of Newark, DE were Saturday guests of Mrs. Mary Purnell.

Mrs. Mary Johnston attended the Zipper Club meeting of the Wilmington Chapter, Monday evening. These meetings are very informative and of great help to all those that have had open heart surgery and are open to the members of their families. The next meeting will be July 7, at 7 p.m. in Wilmington. Contact Mary for information if you are interested.

Mr. Sherman Stevenson spoke Sunday for Rev. Nelson Benjamin at Frederica Trinity.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Gramelstacher of Coleman, GA have been visiting Mrs. G's parents Mr. and Mrs. Roland Pittard and son Bruce Ellison.

Our high school graduates from town are Martin Ellingsworth, Richard Harris, Kelly Hauer, Melanie Kline, Libby Jane Webb and Donna Wootten and Jerry Johnston. Congratulations to these young people. I have a feeling that maybe there are a few more. If I have missed your name, I am sorry - May God Bless.

It was so nice to visit and chat with our old friends Mrs. Blanche Richards, who has returned home after spending the winter in Texas with her daughter and family. Mrs. Anna Arvis is home from Port St. Lucie, Fla. and her daughter Mrs. Pearl Arvis and daughter-in-law, Mrs. Sam Hinsley and sons Mike and Kenny from Port St. Lucie have been here for two weeks.

To all that are ill wherever you might be may our prayers be with you - God Bless.

by Gene Price

Well, here's another week of memories to report. First, let me say that our center was graced with Mrs. Graham who visited here with her daughter Gracie. We were very happy to have her stop by during her vacation.

Monday morning began with a nice Bible Study program given by Rev. Markley. We thank him for his interest and his time. That afternoon was the Members Meeting. There was quite a few members in attendance. Discussed was the front porch furniture and the drapes. Upcoming trips were also discussed. During the meeting I was asked to say a few words. I appreciate that opportunity.

Tuesday morning had the building "hopping" with the sounds of the Jolly Timers rehearsal. Twenty members went on a shopping trip to Salisbury Mall that same morning. All that went reported a wonderful day. They left here at ten and returned a little after four.

Wednesday, was filled with the usual and everyday activities, ceramics, pool games, dominoes, and just general good times. A group of about 10 went to the University of Delaware for their Annual Art Show. They reported a wonderful day. Wednesday afternoon a group of about 20 playing Bingo. Mrs. Anthony was calling as usual and they all had a good time.

Thursday morning Harriet took a bus load of members to do grocery shopping. Thursday afternoon, Jane Stalzer was here with a presentation about the Hagley Museum. She was a wonderful speaker and she showed a movie about the museum. We are hoping to get a trip there in September. The Hagley also has a luncheon at one of the old mills. They say that the view is excellent as the mill is right by one of the many waterfalls along the river. I am sure that our members would enjoy such a trip.

Friday: In the morning the members had their exercise class with Charlotte. As part of their class, they decided for a nice brisk-paced walk around the walk. Guess who escorted this fine looking group around the block. Well, I was the only one that needed the exercise. Harriet took several of our members greenware shopping right after lunch. Don't get me started talking about the lunches. We had a fine week of daily menus. I would like to thank Annabel Morrow for counting the lunch donations. She does this about everyday that she is in attendance and we appreciate it very much.

Oh, back to Friday afternoon. Edna Murphy was here with an informative program about "Sense About Seasons". As always, her program was appreciated.

Now, for upcoming events: We have "Bring a Prize Bingo" on the 24th. Our Mystery Trip is on the 25th. The Jolly Timers will be going to Milford Manor on the 30th.

I do want to tell you what a small world this is. I met a lovely lady from Springfield, Virginia at the beach several weeks ago. It seems that when she and her husband return home, they pass through Harrington. She was familiar with our old landmark "Swains Hotel" and also the new Hi-Grades on the highway. Now, she is familiar with the Harrington Senior Center. Although, it will be quite a while before she would be able to join, we hope that she will stop by and visit us sometime. Hell-O Marie and Howard. So wherever you go, be sure to make friends and tell them about our town and our center.

Here's hoping that you have a wonderful week and that the homebounds are feeling better. See you next week!

Gabfest

by Pat Hatfield

These summer mornings are really cool and the nights are more so. It is wonderful sleeping when you can snuggle under a blanket. Summer is supposed to begin officially this month; but, as my husband remarks, "The Lord will have the weather just the way He wants it and no weather forecaster can tell Him how." It is easy to see this by observation.

What the Indians called "The Full Hot Moon" comes near the end of this month. I like to sleep with the moonlight full in my face. My little grandmother used to say "That will make you loony". Well, maybe it did!

This morning my friend, Tess, had a lovely nature story to tell me. She was awakened this morning at 5:30 by the beautiful song of the mockingbird. It was so loud it seemed to be right in her bedroom. Well, he was as near as he could get. He was perched on the windowsill just outside her open window and he went through his whole routine, giving her the full serenade, all the while bobbing his little head from side to side as if trying to see into the room. That would really get your day off to a fine start, wouldn't it?

We seem to have so many Mockers around this year and we are rejoicing in them. Day and night they fill the air with their melody. And the flash of their silver gray and white wings to back and forth. I think they know that "Morris" the cat is not at all interested in them, but I often hear their angry "chip-chip" as they tell him off.

Now is the time for the lovely

Queen Anne's Lace, one of my favorite flowers. If I could did I would transfer some to my garden, because like the field daisies and the orange butterfly week I love so much it will eventually vanish as the fields and the roadsides are taken over by modern paving, machinery and concrete.

I was surprised to read recently that the flower is not native to America but was introduced from Europe. The flowers do resemble lace paper doilies, and the special curiosity is the tiny maroon floweret in the middle of each bloom. Legend has it that it's a drop of blood left by Queen Anne when she pricked her finger while making lace.

Sometimes the flower is referred to as Wild Carrot, but I think that is an indignity. The root does resemble our domestic carrot and I am told is edible at an early stage.

Another name is Bird's-Nest plant. This gets its name from the flowers after they fade. They begin to curl up into a hollow bowl or nest and dry out with this cup holding the seeds to mature. At this stage it is lovely in dried flower arrangements.

I never see the orange butterfly weed around any more. When Ellen was small, I tried hard to get a plant moved over into my garden away from the roadside where it kept getting moved down by the highway mowers. I could not get it to live and now it is completely destroyed around this immediate area.

"Lion of the Year"

Mr. Ralph Butler received the "Lion of the Year Award" at the regular meeting of the Harrington Lions Club, recently. The presentation was made by incoming President Darcey Hamsler.

Lion Butler has been treasurer of the Harrington club for the past six years and has been a very active member.

He and his wife, Sandra, own and operate the Butler Fuel Company.

Eric Robinson

Photographs by Eric Robinson will be presented by the Delaware State Arts Council in Gallery I on the mezzanine level of the State Office Building, Wilmington, June 18 through July 16. The public is invited to a reception in the gallery from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. on Thursday, June 19.

Spartan Boys Vie In Loop Track Meet

by Keith S. Burgess

Lake Forest's boy's track team had some good performances in the Henlopen Conference Meet but finished 11th in the 12 team meet. Although the Spartans won the Southern Division dual meet title, it's obvious the locals are not a factor in a multi-team meet. Actually, Lake Forest was only a few points shy of sixth-place Smyrna. A missed handoff in the 400 meter relay cost the locals a chance to move up a few places.

In the 3200 relay a quartet composed of Jay Howerin, James Lofland, Manny Hernandez and Bill Mitchell ran 8.33.3, the best Spartan clocking this campaign and finished third.

Family Day with Harrington Little League

Saturday, June 21st, will be a family day at the Moose baseball park for all Little League players and their families. Beginning at 10:00 a.m. exhibition and all star games are scheduled for the whole day. The major league teams will play each other. The 9-10 year olds will play an all star team from the major league. The 11-12 year olds will play against the mothers. The senior league players will play their fathers. There will also be an exhibition Girl's Softball game.

During game intermissions prizes and awards will be given to the candy salespeople. Come on out and support your favorite player or team and have a good time too. The concession stand will be open all day or bring a picnic lunch.

Lake Forest ran 1.33.5 for third in the 800 meter relay behind Harry Browne, Jeff DeShields, Ken Thorpe and Marvin Burton.

The 1600 meter relay team was sixth in 3.41, with Charlie Benson, Mike Howton, Nelson Mosley and Randy Ramirez.

Ken Thorpe was 4th in the 100 meters. Jay Howerin ran a lifetime best of 4.17.5 in the 1500 meters to get fourth place. This is equivalent to a 4.36 mile. Thorpe and Marvin Burton were clocked in 11 flat and 11.1, for 100 meters respectively, their top lifetime marks as was the discus throw of 130-5 of Jim Fleming which ranks him No. 4 on the all-time Spartan list.

Freshman James Browne tied for sixth in the high jump with a clearance of 5 feet 10 inches. The Lake Forest mark is six feet one half inch. We'd like to see the talented tyro get that record in 1981.

Seniors John Prince and Randy Ramirez turned in best-ever efforts in the triple jump, 40 feet, 8 inches and 400 meter run, 53.2 seconds, respectively.

June 11 - First National created a three way race for the top by taking an early lead and holding on for an 8-7 win over Chambers. Kevin Sipple pitched all the way for the winners.

June 12 - Billy Fowler looped a single to right to drive in the winning run as Felton Bank edged Simpler 7-6. Simpler had rallied from a 5-1 deficit to take the lead in the top of the fifth. Wendell Watson pitched out of jams in both the fifth and sixth innings for Felton Bank.

Standings as of June 12 - Chambers Truck 7, 3, 727; Hughes Scapple 7, 3, 700; First National Bank 7, 3, 700; Felton Bank 3, 9, 250; Simpler Lumber 2, 9, 181.

Oops!!

The Journal failed to mention last week that "Bones", the speediest frog on the Lake Forest track, is owned and raced by Allen Butler. How the frog got its name, we'll leave it for Allen's friends to say.

Ed was glazing a base for a Christmas tree (his 23rd). Lottie, his better half was busy as a bee on an owl...when in walked two lovely girls bearing a banana cake...and singing Happy Birthday to Mr. Collins (Mr. Ed to many - Ed to many more). One in a lifetime preacher - Edward Collins - says he is 72. I don't believe him. He looks younger.

Originally scheduled for 5 p.m., the game was changed to 2 p.m. because of graduation exercises at Newark. The decision to dismiss the schools was made at 9:30 a.m. on Tuesday. Letter To People Of Milford School District

given for closing was declining enrollment. The major decrease in enrollment has been in the middle and high schools, reflecting a decline in the birth rate some 10-15 years ago. Elementary School enrollment decline has been minimal and Dr. Woodall stated that Kindergarten enrollment has increased for next year. Utilizing Delaware Department of Vital Statistics to project enrollment, one finds Kent and Sussex combined have an increasing birth rate for the years 1975 - 2701 births

1976 - 2861
1977 - 2817
1978 - 2860
1979 - 2927

This projects an increasing enrollment prospect for 1981 on.

Actual Reason - As evidenced by the motion to close West and Morris, it was stated that the transfer to the Middle School of these students would preserve a second Assistant Principal for the middle school. Certainly some other arrangement can be found to keep this individual rather than disrupting an entire effective elementary school.

All over the country, ways are being sought to increase parental and community involvement in school affairs.

Several years ago the Middle School and Drs. Annett and Woodall demonstrated what is possible when parents and teachers work together in a statewide academic competition. Milford Middle School students won National attention by having over 1,000 spectators cheering not athletes - but students.

Look at the response when Milford Rotary offered recognition and reward for scholarship, an unbelievable increase in honor roll students.

Houston children respond as all humans respond, and we feel that encouragement in the critical first years of schooling is most important! The foundation of lifelong needs such as abilities in reading, writing and arithmetic is set at this age.

Not long ago Houston was losing its young people. By working to improve its school they achieved results that have attracted young families, new homes and a renewed vitality in the community. Is this to be rewarded by closing the source of this rejuvenation and the spirit that made it possible?

Lastly - Houston has been criticized for its pride in its school, teachers and students. Isn't pride in the U.S. Hockey Team, the Phillies, the Milford Wrestling team, the top 10 students a very human thing? As a nation we can use some justified pride in these troubled times. Let's get behind all our schools with parental and community interest, give every student the very best preparation for life by being involved in their education.

Houston students are taught respect for authority and the American way of life. Their parents too, respect and support our institutions and the School Board. The Parent Teachers Organization mindful and concerned of possible repercussions has voted to appeal the decision to close West School. They feel obligated to demonstrate to their children their belief in our right to utilize every lawful method to prove the validity of a grievance as outlined in Title 14 of the Delaware Code, the laws governing our public school system.

They will appreciate your understanding and support of that right.

In addition to our athletes and bands help boost education!

Cal Hollis, Jr.

First Class Ceremony Highlights Scouting Year

The three are Deanna Aptt (daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Aptt of Harrington), Susan Vinson (daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Vinson of Houston), and Delphine Dickerson (daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence E. Dickerson of near Bay-Girl Scout Council, and Farmington). All three are members of Cadette Troop 905 led by Sheila Barthlow. Three LF Students to Visit France

by James Boyd

In early July, three French students of Mr. James Boyd at Lake Forest High School will be on their way to France for a four week visit. The lucky travelers are: Rhonda Whitt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Whitt of Felton; Karen Wothers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Wothers of Canterbury; and, Dee Ann Lloyd, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Lloyd also of Canterbury. The three girls will surely get plenty of opportunity to use and practice their French skills since they will be spending the four weeks living with French families. All three are returning visits made to their own families last summer when five French students visited the Lake Forest District.

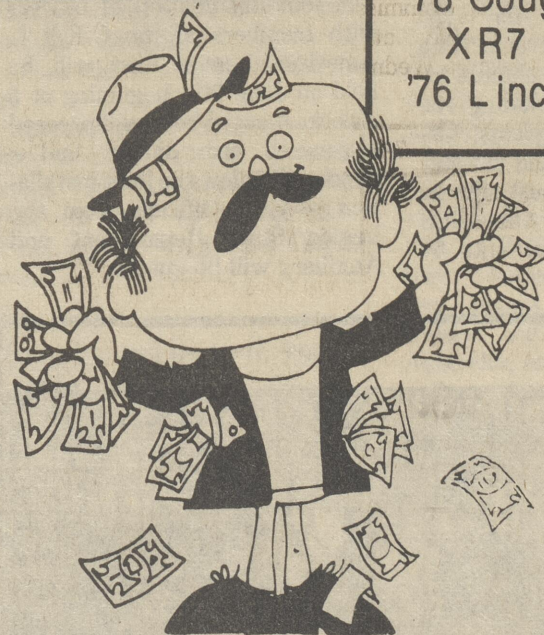

stay. She is staying with the family of Sophie Sicut. Karen and Sophie, already good friends since last summer, will be spending some time with Sophie's grandparents in the Paris suburbs; then, they will travel to Limoges, the famous china and porcelain center, where the Sicits make their home. Finally, they will go to the family's summer home at Courcheval in the Alps, very near the Italian border. Dee Ann will be staying with Florence Hatt's family who lives in the suburbs of Paris.

Since Karen, Dee Ann, and Rhonda already know quite well the daughter of each respective family, their adjustment into French life should be quite smooth. In addition to their other travels, each girl will have the opportunity to tour Paris. Hopefully, Dee Ann, Rhonda, and Karen will return in August full of happy memories of France, better understanding of the French people and of their language, and ready to tell us who stayed home all about their "French experience".

Rhonda will be spending July and early August with the family of Veronique Kabouche who lives in the city of Brest in Brittany on the west coast of France. Veronique spent last July with the Whitt family. Karen will be doing a lot of traveling during her

The Lake Forest School Board also gave approval to a project to build up to five ramps to accommodate the handicapped at the W.T. Chipman Junior School in Harrington. That would give the district one school at each level - elementary, junior high, and high school - to have that accessibility. The ramps would be funded by an $8,000 grant, 40% of this would come from local funds, and the remaining 60% from either state or a combination of state and federal monies. The district plans to construct as many of the five suggested ramps as the funds will allow.

Top priority has been given to a large ramp going from the loading area in the rear of South Elementary to double doors just south of the cafeteria used by both the elementary and the junior high school. This would make the cafeteria accessible to persons in wheel chairs. Of second importance would be a smaller ramp from the circle to the main entrance in front of the Chipman school. If possible, these ramps would give access from the corridor to the Court and from the court into the library at Chipman. A fifth might be constructed from a north entrance at Chipman going toward the Field House.

North Has Summer School, But No AC

Summer classes in reading and math will be offered at Lake Forest North this year. But the rooms will not be air-conditioned. Following a recommendation by Assistant Superintendent Melvin Luff, the Board decided not to purchase four air conditioners. Luff doubted there would be more than a few days that the temperature in the rooms would rise above 78 before noon. Federal law prohibits the use of air conditioning in public buildings at a lower temperature. But the board did ask North Principal Frank Young to monitor the temperature in the rooms to be used and keep track of how many days it got into the 80's or beyond. Summer school classes for North last year were held in air conditioned facilities at East in Frederica. But many youngsters dropped out because of transportation problems. Parents must provide transportation for summer school.

In other business, the Lake Forest School Board:

- received a report from Lee Dean, Chairman of the special committee set up to review bus accident policy. The committee was set up after an accident this spring in which a Lake Forest school bus hit and injured a child. In addition to suggesting a policy for dealing with such a situation, the committee came up with some screening forms for bus drivers designed to be a preventive measure. The Board took the written report under advisement and will discuss it at future meetings.

- approved the release of eight Title I aides for the coming year. Title I funds are uncertain, and it is anticipated the program will have to be cut by eight aides.

- rehired Pam Risinger (Gifted and Talented Teacher), Keith Love (music at North and East), Paul Woehle (basic skills math teacher at the high school) and transferred Steve Wolak (Special Education) from W.T. Chipman to Lake Forest High.

Sen. Thurman Adams writes....

By Thurman Adams, Jr.

I strongly support legislation (HB 621) passed by the Senate last week which we hope will encourage young men and women to enlist in and stay in the Delaware Army and Air Force National Guard.

Just as in the all-volunteer military services of our country, the National Guard has been having increasing trouble in filing enlistment quotas and retaining people in the Guard.

The legislation I'm talking about would provide state educational assistance of one-half the tuition or $500 a year in any state college or university to members of the two Guard units. The maximum would be $500 a year and $2,000 total.

Encouraging young people to continue their education while serving their state and country is a good way to foster recruitment and upgrade the quality of both the Delaware Army and Air National Guard.

The eligible Guard members who are attending school will be attending on their own time off from the Guard duties.

I supported two bills which went through the Senate to try to cut down on idleness in our state prisons. One measure would require judges to impose hard labor as a part of any prison sentence for a convicted felon and the other directs the Department of Corrections to develop a plan to put the men sentenced to hard labor to work with proper supervision.

Right now, every work program in our prisons is strictly voluntary and nobody can order a prisoner to work. Making it mandatory would be in the best interests of all concerned—the prison administration, the inmates, and the general public at large.

Last week the Senate and House of Representatives passed the second leg of last year's Operation Overhaul to repair state roads damaged by years of neglect and at least two severe winters.

The legislation carries at least $2 million for resurfacing Sussex roads and another $1,535,000 for projects in Kent County so downstate got half of the total of $7.1 million.

Also included are many suburban street and drainage problem projects.

Hopefully the contracts will soon be awarded and work can be completed on these projects.

Two Deputies Are Rivals For Nomination

Kent County Deputy Sheriff's Richard G. Winchell and George D. Hill, Jr. face each other in the quest for the Democratic nomination for the job their boss, Sheriff George Dill, will vacate in November. State law, which forbids sheriffs succeeding themselves, prohibits Dill from seeking another term.

George Hill is a native Kent Countian who served as Kent County Sheriff in 1977-1978. He was a Deputy Sheriff from 1974 to 1976 and has filled that post again since leaving the top spot.

His opponent Richard Winchell was born in Boston but came to Dover with the U.S. Air Force in 1952. After retiring in 1967, Winchell was employed by the Boy Scouts of America and Dawson Bus Service. Later he became a real estate broker. He has served as Deputy Sheriff for little over a year since April 1979.

In seeking the Democratic nomination for Sheriff, both men are aware of the fact that the job pays less than the one they now hold. The sheriff's salary is set by law at $9,000 per year; deputies have received cost of living raises which now put them slightly above that level.

Legion Auxilliary Elects Officers

Mrs. Clyde Tucker will again serve as President of Callaway-Kemp-Raughley-Tee American Legion Auxilliary Unit #7 of Harrington for the coming year. Mrs. Tucker has been president of the Unit for the past year, as well as serving in the same capacity several years ago.

Other officers who will be on her staff are: Mrs. William Humes, Vice President; Mrs. William Lord, Recording Secretary; Mrs. Henry Bullock, Corresponding Secretary; Mrs. Charles Rapp, Chaplain; Mrs. Hattie Trazenfeld, Sgt. at Arms; and Mrs. William A. Minner, Historian.

A joint installation of officers with members of the C.K.R.T. American Legion Post will be held on June 7th, beginning at 6 o'clock. A social hour will precede a covered dish dinner, and a dance will follow the joint installation service. Officials from the Legion State Department and Auxilliary will be guests.

No Set-Aside for 1980

James S. Metz, Chairperson of Kent County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service says, "there is no set-aside acreage requirement for 1980 wheat or feed grain crops. As a result, all farmers are eligible for program benefits, including the loan and reserve programs, target price protection, and disaster payments. Farmers must sign up for grain programs at the ASCS office to qualify for benefits by July 15."

that would give each of the fire companies an additional $3,000.

All this awaits approval of both houses of the state legislature.

Sunset Bill Scores Senate Victory

by Senator William Roth

In a last-minute, uphill fight, the Senate Governmental Affairs Committee rejected an attempt to weaken the Sunset bill -- a bill authorizing an end to any federal program after 10 years, unless it justifies its existence to the Congress.

In a close 9-8 vote, I lead the committee fight to defeat the challenge that would have reversed the intent of Sunset legislation by eliminating provisions that automatically killed wasteful or unnecessary programs.

This vote is a clear signal to the American people that the Congress is serious about taking control of federal spending and the excessively bloated federal bureaucracy.

If we can't review every federal program once every 10 years and make a judgment about whether or not programs are necessary, we are truly admitting government is beyond our control.

We have simply got to stop putting more and more fuel into the federal juggernaut and stop to see how well it's really running. Sunset will give us the tools to take apart the engine of government and make it run efficiently and without unnecessary waste.

The bill reported out of the committee places the burden on the agencies to show the continued need of programs, not upon the Congress to prove otherwise. This means the intent of the Sunset bill -- which I've been fighting for for five years -- has been preserved.

Traffic Control Unit on U.S. 13

tion of highway to be monitored is the area just north of the traffic light at the intersection of U.S. 13 with Delaware 14.

Speed limits in the area are 35 on the southbound lane, which is largely residential, and 45 on the northbound lane. As a consequence, complaints from residents that motorists do not slow down, the Harrington City Police requested the radar check by the Bureau of Traffic.

Results of the survey pointed to two things: the speed limits posted are appropriate for the area, and there are an excessive number of violations of those limits. The Bureau of Traffic recommended stricter local enforcement. Kurt Katz of the Bureau said that the section of U.S. 13 which sweeps past the Delaware Fairgrounds was also checked. It was decided that the 55 mile per hour speed limit there is appropriate for most of the year, but that there might be a need for some special posting during fair week.

Reluctant to take city police from their main duty of providing protection for Harrington, Police Chief Carl McIlroy suggested the special duty traffic control unit as an alternative. The City Council last Tuesday approved the unit and agreed to pay off duty officers who volunteer for the assignment at the rate of $10 an hour.

Ordinance To Prohibit Junk

Accumulation of junk, particularly vehicles in various states of disrepair, in residential areas is the target of a proposed ordinance which had its first reading at last week's Council meeting. In part, the ordinance would prohibit the use of land not appropriately zoned for the purpose, to store various sorts of junk, including motor vehicles incapable of being operated. The ordinance must be published and go through a second reading with time for citizen input before it can be adopted.

In other business the Harrington City Council discussed the recent refusal by Levy Court to set up a library tax district without receiving a petition signed by 51% of the property owners in the area under consideration for county aid for the library was through revenue sharing funds. There was discussion of holding a referendum to see if city taxpayers would support an increase to fund the library and of charging those outside the city limits who use the library a fee for the privilege. No action was taken.

THOUGHTS FROM DOVER

By Gov. Pierre S. DuPont

By Governor Pete duPont

Delaware's economic development efforts received a big boost last week with the announcement by Avon that it would be expanding its Newark-area distribution facility. That facility, which employs 1,300 people, is the largest such facility of several Avon has around the country and is the major distribution center for the company's East Coast operations.

New Castle County Executive Mary Journlin and I had an opportunity to tour the facility and were very impressed with the skill and enthusiasm of the employees and the modern technology employed at the facility.

Avon will build a $10 million addition to the facility as well as increasing employment, although the exact numbers are still uncertain.

In related economic news, Chrysler Corporation announced last week that it will soon begin a $50 million retooling and upgrading of their Newark plant, which will soon be producing Chrysler's new front-wheel drive small cars. Those are the cars that Chrysler is pinning its hopes on for financial recovery. The federal loan guarantees and state assistance are now secured. The state's other automaker, General Motors, is continuing its two-shift operations at the Boxwood Road plant where it produces the popular Chevette.

Avon is one of the outstanding citizens of our state. Because Delaware's economy relies so heavily upon chemicals, automobile manufacturing, and agriculture, it is important that we encourage the expansion as well as attract companies such as Avon. We need a diverse economy in our State in order to better protect ourselves against recession.

The expansion of Avon, coupled with an auto industry in Delaware that is stronger than the rest of the nation, means new jobs and new opportunities for our state. Our efforts to improve Delaware's economy are working. Last week's announcements by Avon and Chrysler are welcome news.

Laurel Block

The Laurel Auction Block is scheduled to open around July 10 this year, but if there's enough produce available for buyers, it could open earlier, reports University of Delaware extension vegetable specialist Dr. Mike Orzolek. Block manager Dave Horton has announced that the market is expanding the line of vegetables it will handle this summer.

The normal closing date for the Laurel Block is September 15.
