Journal Launches 65th Year

One of this community's more enduring institutions, The Harrington Journal, launched its 65th year during the month of June. Preceded by two other publications - The Harrington Enterprise and The Bits - which were published in the late 1800's and around the turn of the century, the Journal was started in May 1913 by Frank Fleming and sold to J. Harvey Burgess in 1917. Its 64 years of operation were interrupted when a labor shortage during World War II resulted in a brief cessation of publication. After 57 years of ownership by the Burgess family, the Journal was purchased by Mr. and Mrs. Harry G. Farrow, Jr. in April 1974.

-Milestones-

Milestones in Harrington publication history in which the Journal has played a major role would include:

-- In May 1883, The Harrington

Enterprise, published by B. Howard Johnson, is established. By 1887, the paper has a new owner, E.J. Horney. Offices are in Cain's Alley (possibly the present location of Peoples Bank parking lot) in the rear of a general store owned by Hezekiah Harrington which fronts on Commerce Street.

-- At an uncertain later date The Tid-Bits (eventually called The Bits] is started by W.W. Bradshaw. It is located in a building once housing a clothing store owned and operated by Jehu Flemming at 19 Commerce Street. The building has been moved to Cain's Alley to make way for Peoples Bank, established in 1905.

--In 1911, W.W. Bradshaw's Harrington Printing Company publishes a directory of Harrington containing a history of the city by William T. VanGesel. Eldred Raughley is working for Bradshaw at this time.

-- The business is sold to Frank Fleming who starts The Harrington Journal in May 1913. By 1917 Raughley is operating the paper for Fleming.

-- In January 1917, J. Harvey Burgess buys The Harrington Journal. In the operation, type is set by hand; smaller presses are run by treadle and the larger newspaper press is powered by a man on a box turning a flywheel.

--In 1928 fire destroys the building in Cain's Alley which houses the Journal and two other businesses. The Journal is moved to #1 Commerce Street in the building formerly occupied by the First National Bank.

-- During World War II, the business closes briefly because of a labor shortage.

-- In the spring of 1946 the Journal resumes publication under Winston C. Burgess, son of J. Harvey Burgess.

Houston Takes School Battle to State Board

Houston has taken its battle to keep the West Elementary School open to the State Board of Education with a letter of appeal and a partial petition. The petition submitted bore the signatures of 350 persons in the Milford School District, not all of them in the Houston area, who want the school to remain open. Copies of the petition are still being circula-

According to informed sources, the letter to the State Board of Education contained references to Title XIV of the Delaware Annotated Code pertaining to public education, to the State Constitution and to the policy of the Milford School Board, which recently voted to close the school. Details about the references or about the further content of the letter were not available at the time of this publication.

In a special meeting called last Thursday night, Houston Mayor Connie Morgan, members of the Town Council, and about 18 other citizens present received an update on the situation from Cal Hollis III and Carol Sieber, Appeals Committee Chairman.

Trash Authority In Question

The question of who gets Kent County trash is up in the air, and by September, it is possible that neither the county nor the state's Solid Waste Authority will claim

The Solid Waste Authority is constructing a new landfill near Sandtown which is not now expected to reach completion before October 22. In what the Solid Waste Authority is calling progress reports, completion dates had been earlier estimated on three successive dates -January 1, July 1, and July 21. But delays caused by engineering mistakes, unavailability of materials and vandalism have continued to push back that completion date.

The county is not satisfied to go along with another delay. Pointing to an agreement signed January 15 between the county and the authority that the county must have 60 days notice to begin turning its trash over to the authority, Levy Court Commissioners are saying the earlier estimated dates constitute such notice. They say the county's landfill near Houston will be full by the end of August, and after that, the county's trash will be the state's responsibility.

The Solid Waste Authority maintains it will not be ready to handle the trash until the completion of the Sandtown landfill.

Mrs. Kohut Wins

Mrs. Lorene Kohut won a 1st place with her painting "Fall-Late Afternoon, a watercolor landscape. Mrs. Kohut resides near Andrews Lake, but is a native of Houston, Tex. She sold her first painting in 1953. She prefers to paint landscapes, seascapes, and florals.

She is a self taught artist, but states that a lot of her talents were brought out when she and her husband, an Army retiree, were stationed in Newberg, N.Y. where she attended art lectures by Coulton Waugh and John Gould. For years she painted with oils as a base. Now she spends more of her time with acrylic (water base) and pastel (chauk) mix.

Mary Jean Mason Wins Talent Competition

Singing a medley of three Broadway tunes, Mary Jean Mason, Miss Harrington, captured the talent competition in the Miss Delaware Pageant held at Rehoboth Beach Convention Center Saturday night. Backed up by the pageant orchestra, Miss Mason sang "Alice Blue Gown", Diamonds Are A Girl's Best Friend", and "I Enjoy Being A Girl". Her performance won her a $300 scholarship.

A senior at Salisbury State College, Miss Mason will graduate in December. Her field has been elementary education with concentration in special education. She is a 1976 graduate of Lake Forest High School.

The youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Mason of Raughley Hill Road, Harrington, Mary Jean along with her sisters Aleta and Joan is no stranger to either competition or perform ance. In the past, all three have been chosen Miss Harrington in the competition which sends a contestant each year to the Miss Delmarva Poultry Princess Pageant. The Mason sisters, as a singing trio accompanied by guitar have delighted audiences in Harrington and throughout the State on numerous occasions over the past several years.

According to Mary Jean, the three began singing together as a part of a group of six when they joined three cousins to sing in their grandparents' church in Snow Hill, Maryland. They are invited to sing at many church services and make it a point each year to be at the Easter sunrise service at Blair's Pond, which is a kind of touchstone for them.

They have performed as the "Andrews Sisters" in Bill Comer's Jazz Theatre and on an occasion of personal signifigance for them, sung songs of the 1940's for their mother's class reunion in Snow Hill. Their most recent local performance was at the 1980 Miss Harrington contest. The three also remember an exciting invitation to sing for a private dinner party hosted by Governor and Mrs. duPont.

Like her sisters, Miss Mason has been active in church choirs and the high school chorus. In 1976, she represented Lake Forest High school on the State Chorus. Her lead roles in the high school productions of the musicals Bye Bye Birdie and Godspell will also be remembered by local audiences.

Two years ago she was in the Singing Players' Presentation of "A Night On The Town". This past year she had a role in

Wheat Loan Rate Increased

The price support loan rate for Sussex County's 1980 wheat crop grading No. 1 or better is $2.48 per bushel, one cent more than the revised 1979 rate. Harold Short, Chairman of the Sussex County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation (ASC) committee, said, "The rate is based on the national average loan rate for wheat, which is $2.50 per bushel".

"Across the county, farmers are exercising their marketing options and placing more grain under loan to boost crop prices," Mr. Short said. The loans provide operating cash to producers while they look for better markets, and also give them an opportunity to plan their management strategy and sell when the price is right.

Sussex County farmers should look at the market price at harvest time and decide whether to obtain a price support loan, according to Mr. Short. The 1980 wheat crop year began June 1.

Copies of the loan rates may be obtained for the Delaware State ASCS office, or by writing to the Price Support and Loan Division, USDA-ASCS, P.O. Box 2415, Washington, D.C. 20250. Farmers who have questions concerning the rates should contact the Sussex County ASCS office in Georgetown, or call the office at

Conservation of Soil

Preserving the soil for future generations has long been a prime objective of ACP. Each year, the average farm in the United States loses an estimated 12 tons of soil per acre to erosion. This is why a strong, continuing effort to control erosion is necessary to prevent our wealth in soil from literally going down the drain.

Conservation practices, such as establishing or improving longlasting cover--grasses and legumes--help hold the soil in place. If interested in seeding permanent pasture, bring your soil sample in now to be ready to starting planting between August 10 and October 1. Cost-share available for lime, fertilizer, land preparation, seed and seeding. Other practices, such as sod waterways, also keep topsoil on the farm and out of the streams and air. Cost-share is available for earthmoving, lime, fertilizer, seed and tile, if necessary for sod waterways. Sign up now at Kent County ASCS Office, before you start the practice.

ACP is a farmer-government partnership to solve conservation problems on private land.

Report from Hickory Ridge C.M. Church: Vacation Bible School is now in progress. The first day attendance was 67, as compared to the first day of last year. The school ends on Friday. On Saturday at 11:30 the parents are invited to come with their children to examine their work and get better acquainted with us at a picnic (hot dogs and cold drink) on the church grounds.

Many nice comments are being heard about the appearance of the church. The front has been bricked and a sign is being built on the front lawn. We are very grateful to all the members and friends who have worked or made contributions in any way. We need your prayers also.

On Father's Day the oldest father, Mr. Clyde Byrd received a small gift and also the youngest father, Mr. Robert Smith.

Independent Bible Fellowship Church

What a joyous time we had this past Sunday as we observed our fourth anniversary! In the morning worship service, a capacity crowd was present to worship the Lord in songs of praise. We were blessed by the music of the Melody Makers Quartet who sang for the prelude, the offertory, and the special music of the service. The members of the Melody Makers are: Pat Anderson, Florence Green, Carolyn Woodall, and Shirleen Wright, with Edith Andrews as accompanist. We were challenged by our Pastor's message entitled, "On Fire--for the Lord". He emphasized that we should be fervent in our service for the Lord and His house in the coming year. Following the morning the service we gathered at the Century Club for a sumptuous meal provided by the ladies of IBFC. Everyone enjoyed the food and fellowship.

At 2:30 p.m. we had an afternoon service. Along with several hymns of praise and shorter choruses, there were several special numbers performed. There were several duets by Dave and Sandi Parrott, Pat Anderson and Klein Moore, Sharon Larimore and Shirleen Wright. Aubrey Brown joined Dave and Sandi Parrott for a trio number and Carolyn Woodall and Pastor Newman both sang solos. Chris Andrews played an original arrangement for the offertory. A special word of thanks goes to all who participated in the service, and special appreciation is extended to Edith Andrews who labored deligently to arrange the music for the services and who accompanied most of the participants as well as for the congregational numbers. Pastor Newman's message entitled, "Who Then Is This One?" centered on the Person and Work of our Lord Jesus Christ. Our hearts were encouraged and thrilled by once again considering the greatness of our "great God and Savior, Jesus Christ."

This coming Sunday we will have a special patriotic emphasis in our morning worship service at 11:00 a.m. Then at 7:30 p.m. in our evening service we will have a special communion service. Join

Days of Our Years

-Thirty Years Ago-June 30, 1950

When Tilghman Harvey started his wheelwright shop at Burrsville...not far from the end of the Civil War, little did he dream that it would grow into the magnificent hardware and farm business now conducted by R.H. Stafford & Son (which now has a) new concrete block building, 84 x 93 feet, one of the largest and most modern of its kind on the Peninsula. R.H. Stafford & Son celebrated its 41st Anniversary recently.

Excitement prevailed at our place on the morning of June 22, when on arising, we found that Follow Tip had presented her owners, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Thomas of Harrington, with a sprightly bay filly, by Ward Henley. The young miss has been named Little Tip (from "Here At Last" by Mrs. Ralph H. Satterfield).

The Rev. and Mrs. Daniel J. Pritchard of Trinity United Methodist Church were given a reception in the O.U.R. room Monday evening by the congregation welcoming them again as minister.

Sam Seidel, of Salisbury, bought the grandstand concession for the Kent & Sussex Fair Saturday afternoon for $950.

The Pathfinders Sunday School Class of Asbury Methodist Church will hold their picnic at the summer home of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Smith at Oak Orchard.

Former State Rep. Charles W. Bostick of Felton, one of the Kent County Levy Court commissioners, has filed for the Democratic nomination to succeed himself. The seventh annual Welch Reunion was held at Wheeler Park, June 26, Harrington. 115 members and five guests were present. The oldest member present was Charley Welch. The youngest baby present was Annette Welch, 3 month old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Welch, Jr.

Mrs. Rosella T. Humes of Harrington, president of the Delaware Federation of Business and Professional Women's Club will go to Philadelphia July 17-22 to take part in the Biennial Convention of the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs.

-Ten Years Ago-July 2, 1970 Paul T. Collison got tired of writing out his full address... Lamp Light Lane, RD 1, Box 259-C, Harrington, DE 19952. To find out how much of the address is really essential, he decided upon an experiment. He placed a six-cent stamp on the envelope and addressed it to himself simply as: P.T.C., 19952. Carefully omitting any return address, he sent the envelope to a friend who dropped it into a mailbox in Wilmington, NC. Two days after the North Carolina postmark date, rural carrier #1 Albert C. Price placed the envelope in Mr. Collison's box 259-C without any markings to indicate that the sorters had any trouble at all figuring out who P.T.C. might be.

Robert Tunnell named Tree Farmer of the Year

More than 50 people attended the 5th annual Tree Farmer of the Year award ceremony held June 13 at the historic Forest Lodge, Redden State Forest, near Georgetown. The award was made this year to Robert W. Tunnell, Attorney, of George-

The Delaware Tree Farm Committee, under the auspices of American Forest Institute, of Washington, D.C., make this award to an outstanding Tree Farmer, a landowner who has planted new forests, or maintains and protects for commercial purposes a stand of timber.

State Forester Walt Gabel, Chairman of the Delaware Tree Farm Committee, also presented Tree Farm Certificates to new members Mrs. Maxine Brittingham and Mrs. Carla Short, also of Georgetown. The Committee also recognized past Tree Farmers of the Year Calvert Merriken (1978) and Merrill and Edgar Calloway (1977). Current Tree Farmers Preston Townsend, Millsboro, Dr. Donald Gooss, Georgetown, and Mrs. John Melhunek, Hartly, were also introduced. The State Legislature was represented by Rep. Tina Fallon, Seaford, and Sen. Lee Littleton, Laurel. Members of the Forestry Council present were Fred W. Mills, A. Wayne Burton and E. Austin

Finance Officer James Sharp brought greetings from Ag Sec. Adlen Hopkins.

Mr. Tunnell, in his remarks, thanked the Delaware Tree Farm Committee for his nomination, and related eloquently that tree farming as a business was a Tunnell family tradition; his grandfather began buying timberland in Sussex County in 1900, on his 21st birthday. Consequently, he through the practice of good forest management, and love for the land, can transmit his legacy to his own grandchildren, one of whom was in the audience. Mr. Tunnell noted that one cannot become a successful tree farmer and land manager by himself. He stated that one needs professional advice, good planting stock, good land, and business ability, combined with a lot of hard work.

Mr. Tunnell was presented with an engraved walnut plaque from American Forest Institute, a chainsaw from the McCulloch Corporation, a subscription to the American Forestry Association's "American Forests," and a gift certificate from the TSI Company of Flanders, New Jersey.

Following the presentation, Chairman Walt Gabel introduced the Delaware Tree Farm Committee, including Samuel Dyke, of the Glatfelter Pulpwood Company, Allen Jones of Koppers Company, Barry Clark of Chesapeake Corporation of Virginia, and the foresters of his staff of the Forest Service of the State Department of Agriculture. The program concluded with appropriate remarks by Fred W. Mills, Milford, Chairman of the Forestry Advisory Council.

Delaware Crafts Men Featured

Delaware Craftsmen will be featured in a new publication, The Craft Guide: Delaware, 1980, slated for release this fall.

Through a grant from the Delaware State Arts Council, project directors Sally W. Cohen and Carol A. Hutson are conducting a survey of craftsmen in the state. The Craft Guide, which will be designed to reach collectors, arts supporters, businesses, organizations, and the general public, will include results of the survey, commentary on the craft movement, and an annotated list of producing craftsmen in the state.

Craftsmen who want to be included in the book may submit slides of their work in ceramics, metals, fibers, glass, wood, enamel, leather, and mixed media. To insure a high quality of work from those listed in the guide, Rick and Ruth Snyderman of The Works Craft Gallery in Philadelphia will evaluate the entries. An advisory committee of area craftsmen, educators, museum administrators, and craft dealers are also assisting on the project.

To receive additional information and an entry form, write The Craft Guide, Box 442, Newark, DE 19711, or call Ms. Huston at 366-1161, Deadline for entries is

Health and Social Services

August 1, 1980.

The State's new 24-hour toll-free hotline for reporting child abuse and neglect is in operation. The Division of Social Services requests anyone who has reason to suspect that a child is being abused or neglected to call 1-800-292-9582.

Residents of the Dover and Milford areas are requested to correct the blue pages of their telephone book, which erroneously listed another number as the after-hours child abuse reporting

The hotline number is manned by an intake unit during working hours, from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., Monday through Friday. A specially trained group of volunteers is on duty to answer the hotline weekdays, from 4:30 p.m. to 10:30 p.m. after the regular workers go off duty.

Magnolia Firefighters /Officers reach agreement

Magnolia firefighters and town officials last week averted a showdown and reached an agreement allowing the fire company limited access to the community's water supply to fill swimming pools. The firemen will be allowed two loads of water a day at a minimum fee of $1.50 per load to cover the cost of electricity and chlorine. In return, the fire company has agreed not to block construction of a new town water line parallel to the fire company's existing line.

Earlier, the Magnolia Volunteer Fire Company had threatened to pull its equipment over its water line and thus halt construction on the new town line. At issue was an agreement sought by the fire company which would have given it unlimited access to the town's water in exchange for the town's hooking into the company's existing line. That, firemen contended would save the town about $2,200 in construction costs.

However, the agreement was never signed by the Town Council whose members were reluctant to lose total control of their water system and fearful of water pressure problems, especially in an emergency, which could result from the fire company's having unlimited access to the water supply. They were especially concerned about their liability in the event of a major fire if the water level in the town's one tank were at a low level. Magnolia is a small community with a high percentage of older, two-story frame homes.

Firemen have felt that the free service they provide justifies their use of the water to fill swimming pools. The Volunteer Fire Company realizes about $50 for each 8,000 gallon load hauled. Town residents pay $5 a month for water from the 50,000 gallon tank straddling the Town Hall.

In the course of negotiations between the two sides, it was learned that the existing fire company line, only 6" in diameter, would be incompatible with the 8" new lines the town is laying.

Subsequently, town officials agreed to the limited use by the firemen, and the fire company gave assurances it would move its vehicles out of the fire hall to allow the construction to proceed.

Farms Facility Loan Limit Set at $100,000.00

The Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS) increased the amount a farmer may borrow under the farm facility loan program from $50,000 to $100,000 to cover higher construction costs.

The program provides loans to farmers to help them buy, build or remodel on-farm storage facilities and to obtain needed drying and handling equipment, according to James S. Metz, Chairperson of the Kent County ASC committee.

The maximum loan is 85 percent of the cost of the structures and equipment. Under the new maximum loan limit, the combined outstanding loan balance maximum was also increased to $100,000. A minimum down payment of 15 percent of the cost must be paid in cash by the farmer before the loan is dishussed.

Farm facility loans may be repaid in seven equal annual installments over a period of eight years. Prepayment may be made at any time without penalty. "Farmers are required to apply for loans at our office within 30 days of the time the items to be financed are delivered to the farm," the ASCS official said.

No change was made in determining storage need or the loan levels requiring state committee approval or real estate liens.

Firefighters Get Money

Delaware's 61 fire companies will receive a total of more than $3.7-Million in financial support from the State of Delaware for calendar year 1979, according to Insurance Commissioner David H. Elliott.

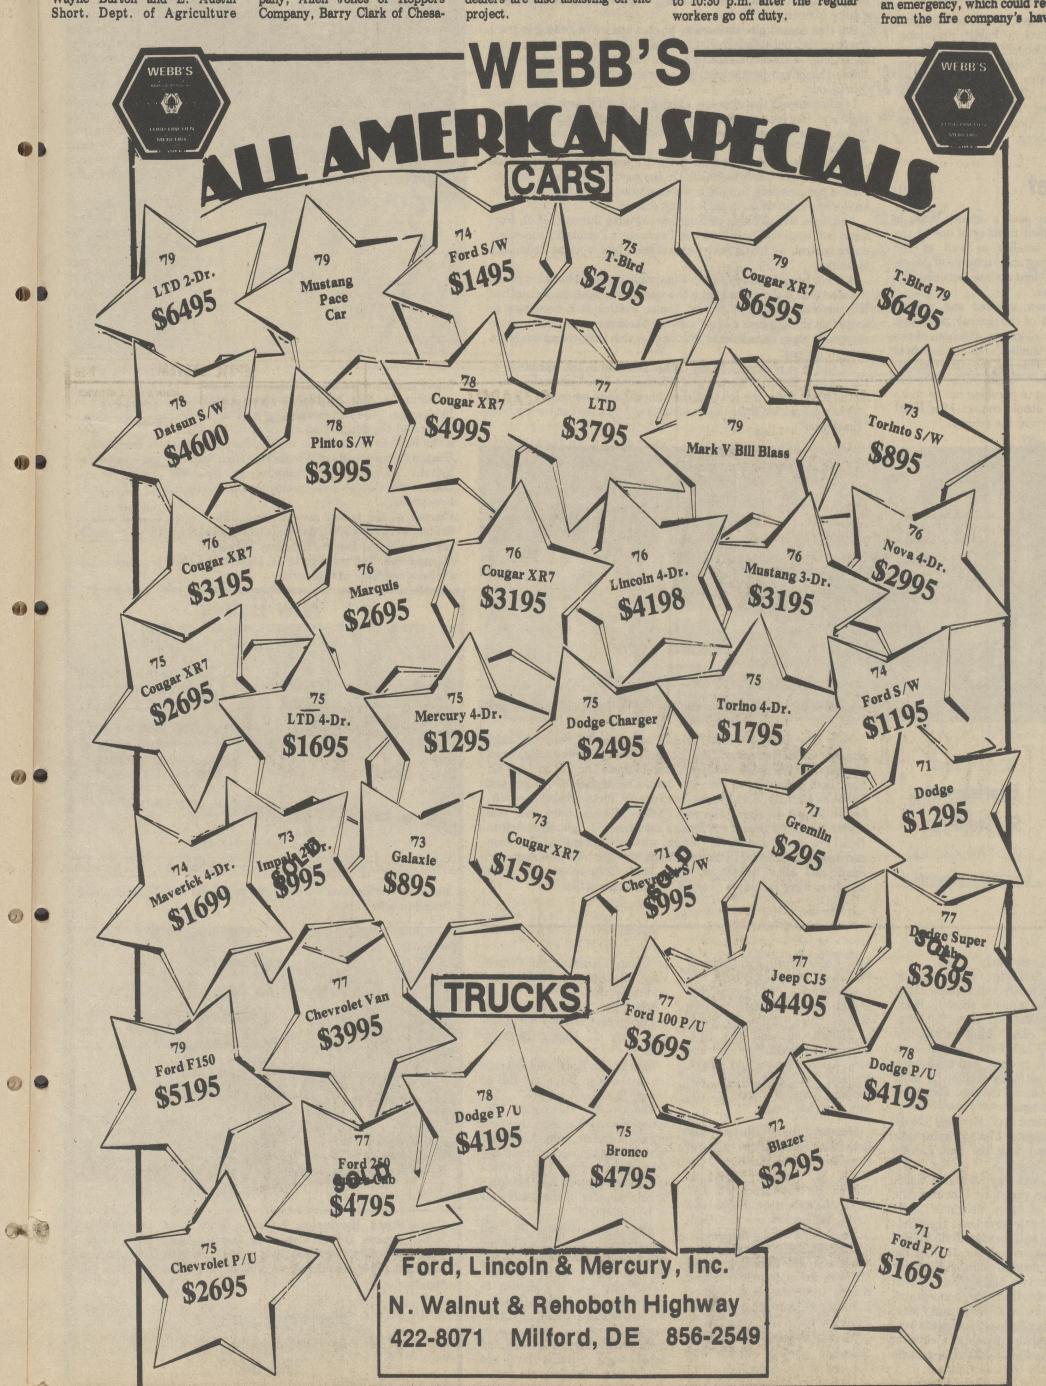

"We are happy to report that's the largest amount of funding the fire companies throughout the state have ever received," Commissioner Elliott announced with pride. "The financial examination just completed by the consulting firm working for the Insurance Department has vertified the amount of applicable premiums," he said.

The financial support from the Insurance Department to fire companies is derived from a special state fund, the Commissioner explained. 'This fund includes a percentage of several types of insurance premium dollars written in Delaware each calendar year," he said.

calendar year," he said.

Commissioner Elliott reported the totals for 1979 to each geographical region as more than $1.1-Million to the City of Wilmington; over $1.3-Million for New Castle County; more than $507,400 to Kent County; and over $693,000 for Sussex County.

That means, Elliott continued, that each of the 21 companies in New Castle County will receive just over $65,000; the 18 Kent County companies more than $28,000; the 21 companies in Sussex County just over $33,000. Wilmington is considered one company, which operates the individual fire stations in the city.

The Church can also be reached from Seaford, by taking the Stein Highway which is State Highway 20 West from Seaford toward Reliance. Turn North on Blacktop Road 549 before reaching the Delaware-Maryland State Line at Reliance. Drive North 3.4 miles through Oak Grove to the Church.

All members of the families and visitors should arrive for registration between 9:00 a.m. and 9:30 a.m. in the morning. This reunion has been held each five years since 1885 when all three families lived within a 10-mile radius of each other near Bethel Church. It is believed to be the oldest and largest regularly held in the country. Members of these families are now scattered throughout the world with large contingents in the states of Delaware, Maryland, Pennsylvania, Virginia and North Carolina as well as Michigan and Canada. The meetings include greetings from a member of each of the three

Fifty Definitions of Courage by Barbara C. Brown

How would you identify the courageous man? Funk and Wagnals tells us that courage is "that quality of mind or spirit enabling one to meet danger or opposition," and further reminds us that the word is a decendent of the Latin cor, meaning "heart". So it is basically a

But that doesn't give us much to go on when we're looking to put a finger on the courageous man. Obviously, he is not to be found in the packaging - a certain stance, a look in the eye, the set of the jaw. These things can be assumed by actors who may, or may not be courageous.

I rather suspect that courage, although it is not a verb, is an action word and, like love, is better defined in the doing. When we attempt to describe a courageous man, we are most likely to speak in terms of something he has done.

I would further suggest that if we are looking for a courageous man, we are very likely to find him in the garb of a volunteer fireman - not in parade dress, but in his working gear - doing the job that he knows has to be done, in spite of the danger.

And if we were looking on Tuesday morning, June 24, 1980, from about 8:30 until the time the fire at Passwaters Petroleum was safely under control, we would have found at least fifty working definitions of courage.

It is not here necessary to say what could or would have happened to those men if things had gone the wrong way and the flames had fully involved those fuel storage tanks. Neither is it necessary to write that the situation was not unique - these men are called upon to respond in many hazardous situations - nor that they are certainly not doing it for pay.

All that it is necessary to say is that the men in the Farmington, Harrington, Felton, Houston and Greenwood Fire Companies were on the scene doing the job that they knew had to be done.

What else can we write that is adequate? And what can we say but, "Thank you!"

Ayers Fatality

Delaware State Police are currently investigating two fatal accidents that occurred Thursday, June 26, that raised the number of deaths on Delaware roads this year to 60 compared with 56 at this time last year.

At 1:40 a.m., an airman Joseph G. Ayers, III, 22 from Central Islip, New York, who was attached to Dover Air Force Base, prepared to leave Kelly's Tavern on the northbound land of U.S. Rt. 13, 3/10th of a mile north of Dover. He pulled onto the highway to cross to the southbound lanes, and in so doing pulled directly into the path of a northbound tractor-trailer driven by Roger E. Young, 33, of P.O. Box 303, Frederica. Young applied the truck's brakes but was unable to stop before striking the airman's car broadside. The car was pushed 144 feet as it and the truck crossed the grassplot and came to rest on the inside edge of the southbound lanes. Ayers was transported to Kent General Hospital by Delaware State Police helicopter, and was pronounced dead on arrival at 2:30 a.m. with head and chest injuries. Roger Young was transported by Cheswold Fire Company ambulance, and was released from Kent General after being treated for contusions of the right knee and lower leg.
