Felton Citizens Unhappy With Overprotection

A group of Felton citizens, obviously irate over what they consider too much protection from the town police, appeared at Monday night's regularly scheduled meeting of the Town Council. But their efforts to register complaints were temporarily frustrated. Only two Council members - Fred Casper and Mary Ann Stumpf - were present. That was one shy of the quorum necessary to hold a meeting. They were asked to come back next Monday when the meeting has been rescheduled.

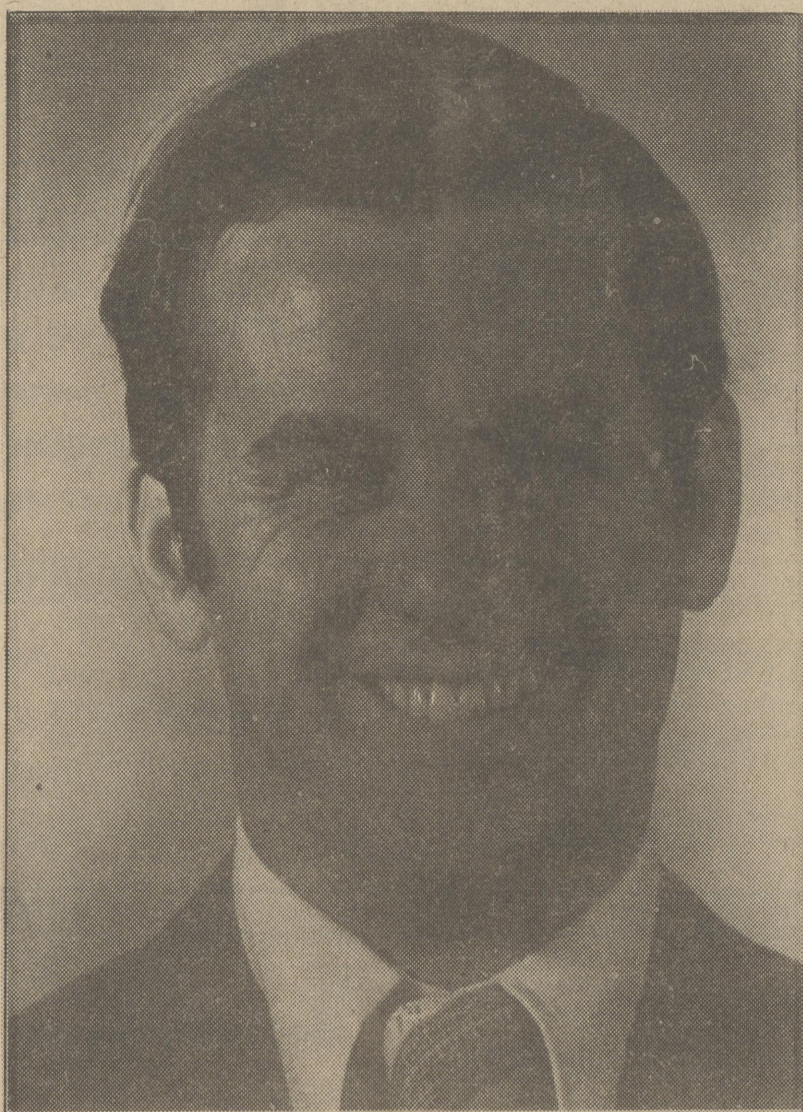

In the meantime, Councilman Fred Casper requested they report any complaints or problems they may have with the town police to him or to one of the other Council members.

After explaining that there could be no official meeting because there was no quorum, Casper invited citizens to discuss anything they might have on their minds. But this quickly evoked a heated discussion between Police Chief Mike Olliver and Owl's Nest Tavern Owner Bob Hemphill.

Hemphill argued that the high visibility of the police in town and around the tavern was hurting his business. Olliver countered that this (the police visibility) was the result of the increase in the number of hours of police protection the town is getting.

As the exchange between Hemphill and Olliver continued, scattered complaints began to erupt around the room and the discussion threatened to get out of hand. At this point, Casper closed the meeting, pointing to the adverse publicity that would be aroused by going on and to the pointlessness of getting further into argument when no official business could be conducted. The citizens were urged to return next Monday when proceedings will again be open to the public.

The town of Felton is presently getting 80 hours of police coverage each week. 40 from Olliver, who is employed through CETA full time, and the remaining 40 shared by three part-time officers.

William Robert Outten

Outten Named Outstanding

The Board of Advisors for the Outstanding Young Men of America Awards Program announced recently that William Robert "Bobby" Outten of 206 Delaware Ave., Harrington, has been selected for inclusion in the 1980 edition of Outstanding Young Men of America.

This marks the second occasion Outten has been so honored. He was also included in the 1977 edition.

According to the Board of Advisors for the Outstanding Young Men of America, the criteria for selection for listing in the annual awards publication "include a man's voluntary service to community, professional leadership, academic achievement, business advancement, cultural accomplishments and civic and political participation."

Nominations for inclusion in Outstanding Young Men of America come from senators, congressmen, governors, mayors, state legislators, university and college presidents and deans, as well as various civic groups - including the United States

Jaycees which also endorses the Outstanding Young Men of America program.

Outten's nomination for the 1980 edition came from Ted Japinoski, Jr., of Milford, a past president and chairman of the Board for the Delaware Jaycees.

"Bobby" Outten is active in the local Jaycee organization, serving currently as Chairman of the Board and in the most recent past, as its president. He is a "Senator" with the International Jaycees and holds a Delaware Jaycee "Governorship".

A 1968 graduate of Harrington High School, Outten graduated in 1971 from Del Tech at Georgetown with a major in business administration. He is employed at Delmarva Power and Light Company. In addition to his Jaycee involvement, he is a member of the Harrington Volunteer Fire Company where he serves on the Board of Directors, and a member of Trinity United Methodist Church.

His wife, the former Lynn Dean, is employed at Eikenberry, Lank and Company in Seaford.

New Company Gets Option On Willis Property

A Baltimore firm, Mark B. Carp & Company, Inc., has taken a brief option on the portion of the Dudley-Willis tract in Harrington recently rezoned to accommodate apartment housing for the elderly. The firm is proposing subsidized housing for the elderly which, according to Willis, would be similar to the project that had been envisioned by Case-Edwards.

Willis said Case-Edwards, the firm which had originally proposed the housing, no longer has an option on the property and has indicated that it no longer fits their program, at least for the next two or three years. The year's delay over rezoning from industrial to commercial made it impossible for Case-Edwards to get the FMHA monies it needed for construction.

Mark B. Carp & Company, which has written to the Harrington Planning and Zoning Commission asking a letter of support or at least indicative of public support for the housing, apparently thinks it may be able to put together a pre-application package in time to get on the priority list for FMHA funding. The firm is a private corporation. The Planning and Zoning Commission has consistently supported the proposed project. Most of the hassle has come from the City Council.

Willis said funding for the project, in time to get it in progress before the year of rezoning is up, may still hinge on a complaint he filed with HUD against Councilman Jack Wyatt, alleging possible discrimination in violation of the Civil Rights Act was a factor in delays over rezoning. If a violation were proved, the housing project could very well be back on the list of priority projects.

Otherwise, it still may take several years. And during that time, the rezoning would have to be brought up yearly for approval so long as the project had not started.

-Gasahol Plant Looking Elsewhere?

In a separate development, there were unconfirmed reports that the group headed by Wayne Eakin that is looking for a Delaware location for a gasahol plant, has moved its attentions upstate. Harrington is still discussing ordinance changes regarding height and allowing the production of commercial alcohol, and the attendant delays may have discouraged the group.

Friends Launch Membership Drive

During the month of July the Friends of the Harrington Public Library will be inviting area residents to join the ranks of those who are willing to support the library. The invitations will be extended through an extensive membership drive designed to reach most city residents by mail.

Included with the letters being sent out are a membership application and a card. Membership in the Friends of the Harrington Public Library is available at a nominal fee of $1 for adults and 50c for students. In addition, there are memberships for organizations at $10 per year. And those who wish to do so will be offered the opportunity to make a supplementary donation.

The purpose of the local Friends group is to be supportive of the Harrington Public Library and to encourage community use of its facilities and participation in its activities. Fund raising on a minor scale is one aspect of the Friends' activities. But this would be to help provide some of the extras - a set of books, some needed furniture - and not for major funding.

Those who become Friends will have the opportunity to be as active in the group as they choose. Just one general membership meeting is planned each year. But there are other activities which will offer the opportunity for fun as well as service. The Friends group is planning a chicken barbecue and barn dance during Heritage Day celebrations set for September. In addition, a new book sale is envisioned for October - just in time for early Christmas shopping. And the Friends expect to repeat last year's successful Wine and Cheese Party in December.

Library Friends are also welcome and encouraged to volunteer their services at the library itself.

Although the letter campaign is directed to Harrington citizens, the invitation to membership is open to all residents of the Lake Forest School District.

Library Petition Asks Support For Tax District

"For under $5 you can help save our library" is the basic message supporters of the Harrington Public Library will seek to convey as they circulate a petition requesting Levy Court to set up a library tax district for the Lake Forest School District.

Deciding not to take a recent setback in efforts to get county funding for the library lying down, the Library Advisory Council has opted to go for the favorable petition signed by 51% of district property owners required by Levy Court. County commissioners last month told library supporters such a petition would be necessary before they would even consider creating a special tax district for its support.

Contacting all the property owners in the Lake Forest District is a monumental job. But the Library Advisory Council, with all the volunteer help it can get, has decided the library is worth the effort. It has been decided to start with the City of Harrington. From there the volunteers would circle out through the area of heaviest library use, ultimately to the borders of the Lake Forest District.

While they are in Harrington, the volunteers will also be asking if city property owners would be willing to have a slight increase in their city taxes to support the library if users outside Harrington were charged a fee. This would be the next step if efforts to get support from a wider tax district fail.

Library supporters estimate that, at its most expensive, the tax cost would be under $5.00 a year for the average property owner. If tax support can be garnered from a larger area such as the Lake Forest School District or a user district, the tax per individual owner could be considerably lessened.

-Library Gets $1,500-

In the meantime the library has been awarded $1,500 in Revenue Sharing monies by Kent County Levy Court. The same amount was awarded to the Milford and Smyrna Public Libraries. The Dover Public Library got $5,000.

State funding for the library ended July 1. For the remaining three months of this fiscal year, the City of Harrington has agreed to pick up the tab. Library supporters are looking for funds to assure the small institution that has become a big part of this community can survive.

-Harrington Janceeces-

In a related development that is a definite bright spot, it has been learned that the Harrington Janceeces have taken the library on as a special project. The Journal will report further details as they become available.

Summer School Begins

After a brief vacation, a number of Lake Forest School District students went back to school Monday. Summer school is in session at the high school and at the district's three elementary schools.

Free classes in math, reading and English are being provided through Basic Skills funds from the state. In addition, the high school is conducting some tuition courses in the social studies areas.

At Lake Forest North in Felton, East in Frederica, and South in Harrington about 284 students recommended by their teachers are getting summer help they may need. This may be the boost that is necessary for promotion, or just the extra measure that might mean the difference in the next school year. The number cited above includes some duplications, students that may be taking both reading and math.

About 80 junior high students are going to the high school for math, reading and English. Out of the high school student body itself, 155 students are enrolled in either the free math and English classes or the tuition social studies classes. The latter include ninth grade social studies, U.S. history, and APB (American Political Behavior). As for the elementary schools, the figures quoted represent some duplication. Students taking two classes have been counted twice.

This marks the second year the Lake Forest District has offered

DELAWARE SENATE STILL IN DEADLOCK

Republican Faction Can't Agree; Settlement Not Yet in Sight; Democrats Sit Tight

The Senate is still in a deadlock over the proposed bill to create a library tax district for the Lake Forest School District. The bill has been passed by the House, but the Senate has not yet taken any action on it.

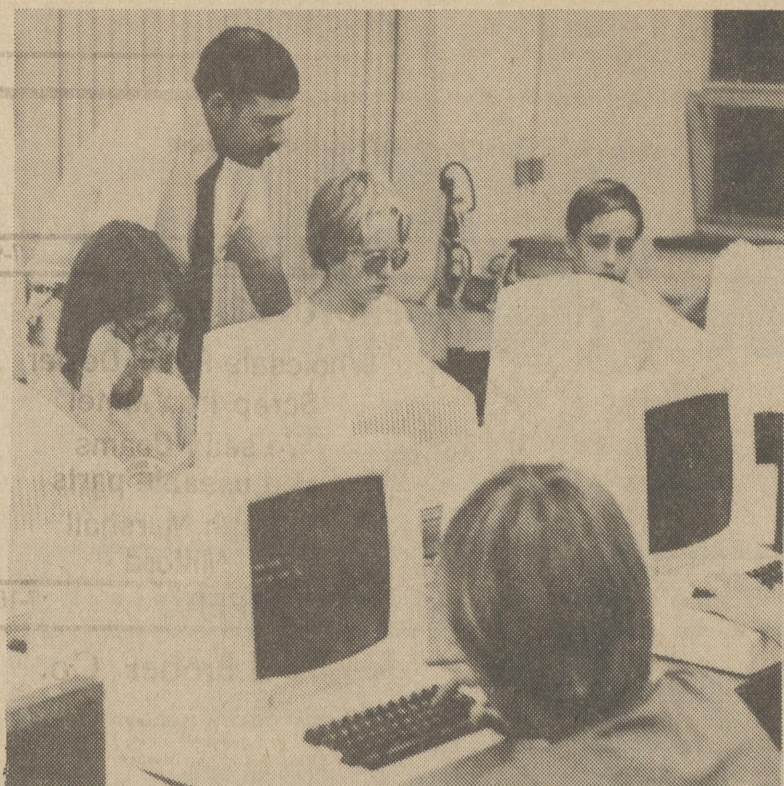

The bill is sponsored by Senator John F. Thomas. It would create a library tax district for the Lake Forest School District, which would allow the library to raise funds to support its operations.

The bill has been passed by the House by a vote of 15-10. However, the Senate has not yet taken any action on it. The bill is still in a deadlock, and it is not clear when it will be passed.

Townsend, Jr. had been inaugurated as Delaware's Governor; Woodrow Wilson was President of the United States; white potatoes were selling at 60c a basket, and a subscription to this paper could be had for $1.50 a year.

Instructor Dave Pippin is ready with a watchful eye and a quiet word of advice to students operating the Project Direct computer terminals at Caesar Rodney High School. The students, participants in the Math Gifted Seminar sponsored by DPI, were running computer programs on the terminals.

DPI Conducts Math Gifted Seminar

About 25 Delaware seventh graders elected to take a math course this summer. Not only did they volunteer for the experience, but they felt privileged to have the opportunity. The course was a Math Gifted Seminar offered by the Department of Public Instruction as a part of continuing efforts by the state to reach students who may be intellectually gifted or talented with enrichment opportunities beyond those they might normally encounter in the classroom.

The seminar was held at Caesar Rodney High School for three hours each morning from June 19 through July 3. Under the guidance of instructor Dave Pippin from the Smyrna Middle School, the participating students were given the chance to explore computer programming, problem solving using special computations, and problem solving using resources.

For the computer programming phase of the seminar, the students used the Project Direct computer terminals located in the basic skills lab at CR and two Radio Shack TRS 80 computers. Each student wrote his own program for converting Celsius to Fahrenheit and Fahrenheit to Celsius. Individual students had the additional option of writing other computer programs if they desired. The computer programs written were tested on the terminals and on the TRS 80's.

For the problem solving using special computations, students employed hand held TI 57 programmable calculators or their own calculators brought from home. A typical problem they were asked to solve might be represented by the question: "If you were offered a 10% raise every month or a 50% raise every four months, which would you take?"

The school library was the resource for problem solving using resources. Here students used reference materials to help answer such questions as "If a silver dollar drops 2 meters per second, how long would it take it to reach the deepest part of the ocean?" Instructor Dave Pippin said he thought the seminar, on the whole, represented a positive experience, although student reaction, as well as level of previous achievement, varied. Some of the material he said they would not normally encounter in the regular classroom before eleventh grade.

Identification of students eligible to participate was, in large part, through the talent search conducted earlier in the year by the Johns Hopkins University OTID (Office of Talent Identification and Development) and SMPY (Study of Mathematically Precocious Youth). Students eligible to participate in the initial phase of the search had to score in the 97th percentile on C.A.T. (California Achievement Tests) given in sixth grade. A number of these seventh graders took the S.A.T. (Standard Achievement Test) along with college bound juniors and seniors in January. Participation in the summer seminar, however, was not limited to those who took the S.A.T.

The 25 students who took the math seminar were mostly this past year's seventh graders, although a few others were included. They came from public and private schools in all three counties of Delaware. Each school was invited to send one student. However, not every school did send one, and the opportunity was open for more than one participant from several schools. From the Lake Forest School District, W.T. Chipman students Phillip Cataldi (near Canterbury) and Rebecca Brown (near Harrington) were participants.

Fire Company Has Busy June

During a busy month of June, the Harrington Volunteer Fire Company responded to no fewer than thirteen alarms.

According to a report submitted by Aubrey Brown, Fire Recorder, the fire company was called out in the major fire at Passwaters Petroleum on June 24. On that occasion, four other companies were also called to assist.

The local company also responded to four accidents with injuries, was called to rescue a person in a swimming pool and rushed to cover an auto fire on County Road 59. In addition, there was a cover-up assignment at the Delaware State Fairgrounds, a building fire at Delmar Packaging which turned out to be a false alarm, and four assists to other fire companies. These latter included two for Farmington, one for Houston and one for Denton.

Statistically speaking, 255 Harrington firefighters were called on for a total of 384 man hours in the 15 hours and 35 minutes spent by the local company on alarms. They traveled 350 miles and laid 1750 feet of hose. The equipment was used 38 times.

Nine hours were spent in training for the month by local volunteers.

Technician 3rd Class Edward O. Foster

Coast Guard Machinery Technician 3rd Class Edward O. Foster, son of Owen W. Foster of P.O. Box 133, Magnolia, and Joan B. Walton of 1535 S. State St., Dover, recently participated in assistance operations during the Cuban boat lift.

A crewmember aboard the Coast Guard cutter Vigorous, homeported in New London, Conn.

His cutter patrolled the straits of Florida from Mariel, Cuba to Key West, Fla., to assist the thousands of refugees fleeing Cuba. The cutter aided numerous vessels to Key West and is credited with saving 700 people. At one time there were 131 refugees aboard from sunken and disabled small boats.

Coast Guard cutters, boats, aircraft and personnel were called in from all around the country to assist in the largest peacetime operations in the service's history.

A 1977 graduate of Caesar Rodney High School, Foster joined the Coast Guard in August 1977.

Summer School

the summer sessions. Last year's summer school was considered a success, and Lake Forest reading specialist Betty Mathews, who is coordinating the basic skills summer classes, said local administrators were hoping for similar results this year.

An added feature this year is the fact that classes are being offered at Lake Forest North in Felton. Last year, students from North had to go to East in Frederica. The transportation problem apparently discouraged many from North who might have otherwise benefited from the summer sessions. Although the basic skills classes are free, parents must provide the transportation.

A fun and enjoyable month planned with you in mind - Do Drop In.

Here's hoping everyone had a safe and happy 4th of July.

Our Mary Hitch has gone to spend a few weeks with her brother at Slaughters Beach. We hope she will soon be home feeling fine and chipper. We have missed her A-Round & A-Bout.

Dotty Mullane has been in and out of the Dover Air Force Base Hospital. Sure hope you can shed that cast soon, it is hot enough without that - God Bless. Sorry I hadn't heard about it.

Well let me leave home for a little while. - Left all my windows open and the Storkeys came to combine the wheat. A house full of dust.

Our guest, Rods sister, Mrs. Ruby Montana left this morning for Stroudsburg, PA, to visit with her daughter and family before returning to her home in Ogdensburg, NY. Mother, Ruby and I had lunch with sister Emma Catherine Sharp and Lisa in Magnolia Tuesday. We also visited with Mrs. Elizabeth MacDonald, who has just recently had surgery on her eye. Best Wishes Donald, we are so happy to hear about the good results - God Bless.

Last evening Mr. Tony and Mrs. Emma Sharp Marge of Augusta, GA stopped by to chat for a while. Later our son and family Rick, Linda and grandson Ron stopped in to say bye to Aunt Ruby.

Tony and Emma Marge are spending their vacation with Mother, Mrs. Anna May Sharp and brother Jesse.

Mrs. Mary Anne Marge Marriott of Augusta, GA, granddaughter of Mrs. Anna May Sharp has recently received her Master's Degree in Education from Augusta College in Augusta, GA.

Mrs. Marriott has tutored special reading classes in the School of Disability for students of all ages in Augusta.

She taught fifth grade for five years at the Levi-White Elementary School in Augusta, and has accepted a teaching position for fifth grade in the C.T. Walker Magnate School, Augusta, GA. The Marriotts have one child, Timothy Tot.

To all those that are ill wherever they might be, our prayers and best wishes - May God Bless.

If you have news for Dorothy call 398-3780.

by Dorothy Graham

While on vacation I was visiting and talking with people of other Centers, they are well pleased with their Center, which of course we are too. Very thankful for it, the previous year and folks it took to bring it to its present, the meals, sponsored by the Modern Maturity Center of Dover, Inc., transportation and everyone that enters its portals. Someone had written verses on volunteers, which in a way everyone sooner or later does something for someone making them a volunteer whether it be here or some other place. Anyway here is my very own verses to our volunteers of Harrington Senior Center. I am so very glad to be back.

Fantastic Volunteers
We oft have a bouquet of rose
Our walls hold treasures so dear
We love you all that's true
Our fantastic volunteers

You help keep the Center bright and flowing
You add the touches to bring the light and cheer
All this you do for our Center
You fantastic volunteers

You are always willing to help someone who needs a helping hand
Assist them in reading and detail who can no longer see You'll never know just how much it means [I hope] my dear
You fantastic volunteers

When the Center or party needs livening, you're there with music song and dance
The Jolly Timers with their cheer
You fantastic volunteers.

It's lunch time, the folks grow in number, everyone busy and happy as can be You're there with a smile all the while

You fantastic volunteer.

Dishes-tables-floors-trays galore
Pans that never cease
Let's not forget the homebound meals-off served by you
Assist with them all when for HELP we call
You fantastic volunteers.

It's nice to raise some money
Well you're always on hand to do the things you do the best and that we understand
You fantastic volunteers.

When all is made it must be sold and our goal we always make
You know why - My Dear?
Because it's you
You fantastic volunteers

There are Centers all over, it's true
But ours is best by far - Let's keep it that way - come join any day and be if you like a Fantastic volunteer

There's one last verse for all volunteers of ours
Money daily, article carrier weekly, calendars monthly, friends, the boards, United Way, City and State, weekly Bingo.
To leave me with this lingo
Thank you all sincerely
You fantastic volunteers.

Bible Study with Mrs. Meredith and Mrs. Judy Monday morning was on feeding the multitudes. Questions and answers abounded. Singing and prayer finished the hour and started the week nicely.

Lunch was scrumptious - ham with pineapple and raisin sauce, sweet potatoes, greens and pudding or plain peaches (diabetic). I'm telling you friends it truly was good eating (oh, for a hot biscuit). In the afternoon the Jolly Timers went friendly visiting with the folks at Milford Manor Home. All enjoyed them and the folks from H.S.C. saw some friends.

Ceramics are everywhere. Some are making Christmas gifts, others things for the Center. Velma is doing two big projects, an umbrella stand and a strawberry cake, cake cover, you know that thing looks good enough to eat. One of the men asked when did she plan to cut it, for he wanted to be present. We have church banks, owls, Christmas trees, cats, dogs, Mr. and Mrs. Santos, you name it, we have it.

Tuesday morning the kitchen band took their place as usual. The music came forth. Sylvia was at the piano. Ruth Nasser was sounding out Barber Shop Quartets by tapes, Tuesday afternoon. They were good, but Miles, George Webb, Dick and Marion and Lee with Larry at the organ sound better by far.

Nurse was here to take blood pressures. Thank you so much. George Goodge projected a movie on The Great Lakes. It was so beautiful and told us some things of the waterways.

Local shopping, Bingo with Anna Mae. Thursday a bus load went to Dover shopping, had a good time and enjoyed some bargains.

Friday the Center was closed July 4th. Didn't hear much noise only via of t.v. Fireworks were around parades, etc., but what I saw was good food and family, friends and a cool place. Switched me to a T. Tell you next week what others did.

The pool table surely sounded good and as always well attended except Thursday afternoon when some go bowling at Milford Lanes. Larry brings some variety and spice as he interrupts his pool games to give out some years ago hits organ music and others sing.

One rug is finished and sold. Two more in the making - my they do travel over the Center. Pretty as can be.

Don't forget members meeting July 14. Birthday Party July 15.

Best Wishes to all. Hope all that are ill will soon be feeling better. Special hello to homebounds.

Did you read in the paper about the bolt of lightning striking a blind-deaf man and he was only stunned but can see and hear and a few days later his bald spot began to get a new crop of hair? Remember - Smile!

by Pat Hatfield

Edwin Way Teale, one of my very favorite writers, says: "When July comes, summer shifts into high gear. Days of hazy, shimmering heat arrive; hayloads roll in from the fields; gray young starlings and new red-winged blackbirds gather in flocks and settle in the open pastures. July looks forward and backward." Already we see the signs of fall and we understand Thoreau when he recorded in his journal: "How early in the year it begins to be late"! But everywhere we are surrounded by beauty as the year moves toward preparing for the harvest time. The Indian Poet, Tagore, put his feeling about all this endless beauty into this sentence: "When I go from hence, let this be my parting word, that what I have seen is unsurpassable."

Now, what the Indians called the Full Buck Moon of July will shed its radiance upon us. Queen

Income Eligibility For Food Stamps Up

Income eligibility for food stamp benefits went up effective July 1. As mandated by Federal Law, food stamp eligibility standards are revised twice a year, to reflect changes in the cost of living.

The income standard is a net figure which consists of the household's gross income less certain deductions. Under the July 1 standards, the maximum net income which would qualify a family of four increased from $596 a month to $621 a month. In order to qualify, a household must also have limited assets and must comply with work requirements.

Further information about food stamps can be obtained by calling the statewide toll-free hotline number: 1-800-292-7924.

If you have any news you would like posted in The Journal, call 398-3943.

with their carvings. Calvin Minner will be making strawberry cups. James Mervine will be demonstrating how to make maple syrup. A lot of fun is planned. Come and join the town of Harrington.

The Harrington Library is still accepting donations of books and magazines for their book sale held each Friday afternoon. The sale is put on by The Friends of the Library. Don't forget to stop by and support our library and get some good bargains.

Mrs. Rose Wyatt spent the weekend visiting Mrs. Margaret Carlisle in Frederica.

Mrs. Kate Peck celebrated her birthday on July 4, at Big Stone Beach at the cottage of Charlotte and Russell Blades. Hal, Cathy and Any Blades, Chuck, Dorinda and Charlie Peck and Charles Peck attended. The men went off fishing, and the ladies enjoyed the sun and the leisurely swing on the porch, and the children enjoyed playing.

The friends of the library are going to start a membership drive. Each resident will receive in the mail membership application form and a card. The dues are $1.00 for adults, .50 for children, $10.00 for an organization. They will also accept donations. You can send your donations to the library, or take it into the library.

There were approximately thirty-five members present. The new officers took on the responsibility of their new positions. President Ken McKnatt presided over the meeting. Plans were formulated for printing the brochures and maps for the working tour for Heritage Day. It was reported at that time that there were sixteen positive participants at the Flea Market with more replies coming in. There are approximately twenty different crafts that will be demonstrated. The Historical Society is still looking for items for their flea market table. The Harrington Journal has agreed to do a Heritage Day Supplement. Many businesses have donated materials or money to help with the Heritage Day expenses. The local businesses have been asked to dress up their windows for the occasion. The society would like to see more members involved. They have tentative plans to tour the Vogl Home at the August 7 meeting. This home is on the National Register of Historic places.

It is not open to the public. Members of the society have been invited to tour the home. It is time for members to pay their dues. The dues are being saved to eventually start a museum. A few more things about Heritage Day. Donald McKnatt will display his horse drawn hearse. Laurence Price will show his antique car. The Jehu Campers will be their

The institution of marriage has been with us since the dawn of civilization, and the family unit the stabilizing force that has held our society together. Yet loud voices now proclaim marriage to be a dying custom, based on the rising incidence of divorce. However, it is no accident that the wedding ceremony had its origin in religious writings; and the teachings of faith could save many an ailing marriage if the partners would only heed them, and treat each other with at least half the courtesy and kindness they usually reserve for other people. They might even recapture the love that united them in the first place. Many marriages begin in Church; perhaps many more of them could be saved there.

Delaware Trust Pays a Nickle Bonus

A nickel bonus for every dollar in pennies will be paid depositors and the public by all Delaware Trust Company banking centers for the next three weeks to help relieve the current shortage of the copper coins.

Kemp A. Wright, senior vice president, operations, said the premium will be paid for pennies brought to any bank center either for deposit directly to customer accounts or for a straight exchange. A shortage of pennies has developed in recent weeks with the Federal Reserve Bank in Philadelphia unable to supply local banks with requested quantities. The scarcity is being attributed to hoarding by private citizens. When a similar situation developed in 1974-75, Delaware Trust also paid a 5-cents-on-a-dollar premium to ease the critical situation.

 Anne's Lace, Day lilies and Glads vie with the roses for attention. We always think the hydrangeas are at their best at the seashore, but these around here are about as pretty as you can get.

Two little friends of mine, Angie and Tracy Parsons have brought me a lovely gift. They picked wild blackberries for me from their ditch bank and I have made old-fashioned blackberry mush with the seeds strained out like my mother used to do it. It brings back memories of the hot sun on my little sunbonnet and arms and legs stained with juice and scratched with briars. In those days we could pick big pails of them. Mother and grandmother canned many quarts for winter use.

A visit to the garden this morning led to the discovery that the beets are ready. And the cabbage isn't quite finished. I am always so happy to get the pickled beets into the jars and stowed away for the winter. Personally I prefer the buttered beets myself but so far I have not seemed to find an ideal way to freeze them. The best I think was when I cooked them thoroughly and then put them into a freezer container with their own juice.

This is certainly the year for butterflies and hop toads. We have to step carefully to avoid the little toads which are milling around under foot. They do not seem to be afraid of humans at all. The butterflies are a joy, either in flight or hovering over a flower. And now, the Rose of Sharon is coming out and the big, fat bumblebees are drunk with the pollen as they wallow in it and struggle to buzz away with their load. Truly, as Lowell says: "The air is rife with bird and bee."

Enjoy it for winter cometh all too soon!

Randy, who participated in the 1980 MS Read-a-thon at Lake Forest North Elementary School in Felton, was one of the lucky winners in a drawing for the privilege to have dinner with Jaworski at a special affair held May 28. Randy, who was accompanied by his father, was one of 33 youngsters who attended the banquet. In addition to the fun of meeting Jaworski, they were treated to a dinner featuring "honey dipt chicken" and a magic show presented by Sondeen.

Berry Funeral Homes

Dear friends,

It is important for husbands and wives to share information on savings and checking accounts, life insurance policies, stock and bond certificates - all investment matters, pension plans and death benefits owing. The surviving widow can be in deep financial trouble unless she knows of all such assets and benefits she must apply for.

Respectfully,

William C. Berry, Jr.
