Raymond Poore Burned in Callis-Thompson Explosion

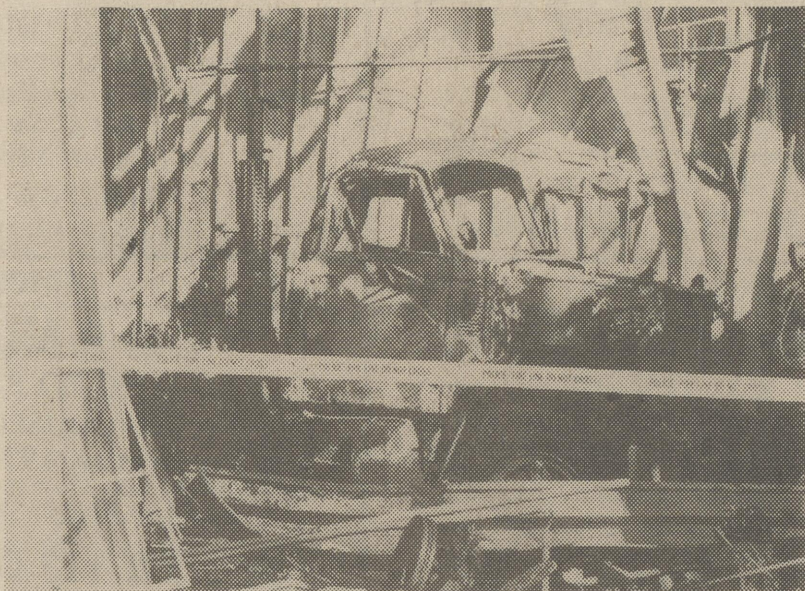

A violent explosion took place about 2:00 P.M. Monday which ripped the top of a metal building repair shop as well as blowing out the exposed portion of the west wall of the building. The blast burned Raymond Poore of Harrington over 76 percent of his body. Apparently his face was the least burned area of his body. Apparently his face was the least burned area of his body. He was transported to Milford Memorial Hospital by the Harrington Ambulance Squad where he was prepared for a flight to the Crozer in their own helicopter flew down and picked Raymond up about ten minutes of six. I can't say enough about the doctors and nurses who flew down from Crozer. They are just a super bunch of people...and I am told that a team of social workers is working with Carolyn (Raymond's Wife) at the center as well as providing a cottage for her right at the hospital, al", said Bill Thompson the recently installed President of Callis-Thompson.

According to Thompson, the Fire Marshall is classifying the accident "a welding accident of uncertain origin". "No one knows how the fire and explosion took place... what caused it. This is what all of us would like to know, and we as well as the Fire Marshall are hoping that Raymond can tell us in about three days what really happened. We practice a strict safety code around here...and I am very certain that Raymond as well as other workmen here follow safety procedures. Other than that it remains a mystery", said Thompson. He also added that the damages to the building, equipment, tools and related objects would probably be around $100,000.

Thompson also added that Poore is one of their better mechanics,

Frederica Eyes Planning & Zoning

With an eye to the future and the possibility of setting up some kind of zoning for the community, the Frederica Town Council last Wednesday heard Mike Thompson from the Kent County Planning Office outline some of the general steps in getting started on comprehensive planning.

Thompson said the all-important question for the community to ask is, "Where do you want to be in twenty years?" Is industrial growth envisioned? Will the town just serve as a bedroom community for those who work in Dover or elsewhere? Should the town be a part of any commercial growth along U.S. 113? What about preserving and enhancing the historic buildings and areas? Once goals are set for the growth of the community, the town can go about deciding how to reach them.

Zoning which Thompson says is

Harrington Man Hit By Car

Eighty-year-old Ernest Lankford of Harrington was in serious condition in the intensive care unit of Peninsula General Hospital Sat. after he was struck by a car on a road near Greensboro.

Lankford was hit as he was standing near his car on Maryland 313 at Knifebox Door. He had been pushing the car which was disabled while Ray Hurd (20) also of Harrington steered the vehicle. Lankford was struck by a car driver Ernest Gerardi (63) of Greensboro.

Following the accident, Lanford was flown by state police helicopter to the Salisbury hospital.

Maryland police, who said it is against state law to push a disabled car, charged Hurd with operating on unsafe vehicle.

Truck loaded with 40,000 lbs. of potatoes overturned between Mr. Burger and Iraback's south of Harrington on U.S. 13 last Saturday.

Chambers Dodge employees transfer 4000 ten pound bags of potatoes from the overturned truck to another, bucket brigade fashion.

Felton Hears RR Lighting Plans

Plans for lighting the railroad station the town has purchased and is renovating for use as offices were presented to the Felton Town Council Monday night by Council members Don Jacobs.

Jacobs reported to the Council on a proposed drawn up by Dover Electric Company for installing recessed lights on the building. Three lights would be located in the street side, two in the side facing the railroad track, and one at either end. Cost of the project would be $800.

After hearing Jacobs' report, the Council tabled the matter until actual drawing can be prepared for inspection.

In other business the Felton Town Council decided to set the annual Halloween celebration to coincide with the date set by other communities

Houston Council Passes Mobile Home Ordinance

At their regular monthly meeting last Thursday, the Houston Town Commissioners passed an ordinance allowing only a double wide mobile home within the Town limits, as it pertains to mobile homes. The double wide must also be anchored securely on a permanent foundation, and also according to county specifications.

The Town fathers also passed a proclamation which allows for Constitution week each year between September 17 and the 23rd.

The Town is also accepting bids for trash and snow removal from January 1, 1981 through June 30th 1982.

This was the scene at Bloomsburg State Fair recently when Harrington's Olin Davis was injured. In this picture, Davis is shown on the track surface. His horse, Casandra K. is behind the horse and driver in the center of the track, which were the horse and driver responsible for the accident and allowed to return to his home in Harrington rather than spend any more time in any hospital. According to Mrs. David, "he was allowed to come home because he is in good health". Luther Lyons of Sugar Hill Farms sent his plane to Bloomsburg to fly David to his home in Harrington. ### —Felton Heritage Day—

The community which sprang up between Berrytown [now defunct] and Johnnyeake Landing [now Frederica] flourished with the railroad. But when the railroad faded, Felton settled down to become the small, peaceful community it is today, and that, said Betty Myers who keynoted Felton's Heritage Day celebration Saturday, is the way residents who call it home like it.

Felton was all spruced up for the day with planters of mums at the railroad station and on Main Street. These were prepared by the local scouts with the assistance of Joe Gannon material came from Ray Starkey. By all accounts, the busy day was a success.

Harrington Scout Troop To Rescue Honor Roll Memorial

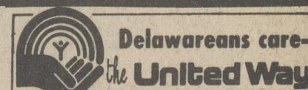

Newly reorganized Boy Scout Troop 76 has chosen as its first project the rescue of the Honor Roll that a memorial to veterans and in the armed services who died during World War 11.

The memorial was erected in 1946 and stood for many year in front of the Harrington post office. More recently, it has been leaning in disrepair against the American Legion Post No. 7 out on U.S. 13 with no one, it seemed, interested enough to do anything about it.

Boy Scout Troop 76 has taken the interest. The troop plans to repair the memorial and install it on the corner in front of the old Harrington Journal Building where it is hoped it will have a permanent place of honor.

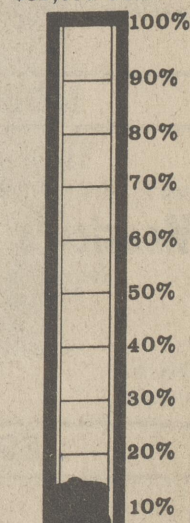

The membership of Troop 76 has grown to 17, and a goal of 50 members by Christmas has been set. The troop meets every Monday evening at 6:30 p.m. in the Collins Hall of Asbury United Methodist Church. Scoutmaster

Looking Back: Sixty-Two Years

by Bessie Austin Burdziak

During one of his routine visits to our School, he became interested in Miss Deputy's little class of five studying LATIN. Apparently there were very few High Schoolers in this area studying it. I feel that some few, going on into medicine, - in New Castle County Schools, may have been - but I am not sure about that. However, to make the story briefer - some of us grew to actually LOVE the subject. So - at the beginning of our eleventh year - or Junior Year in High School - Miss Deputy agreed to figure some way she could fit us in a schedule for the third and fourth years of Latin!!! - the only School in the State teaching third and fourth years at that time! THEN - Ruth Moore Grant and Mary Short Cahall and I - really became "special". - BECAUSE not only did Dr. Holloway enjoy Latin - but it was his very special AVOCATION!! Miss Deputy came early in the mornings, or cut half her lunch hour, or stayed after the regular day's schedule - in order to give us three girls our third and fourth year Latin Classes!!!! I think of this many times now - because it had never entered anyone's mind - to think of extra pay for her, or for us to pay her for "tutoring" us during "overtime" -- how fortunate we were!!! AGAIN, I must stress a point - Because you see, Dr. Holloway was so concerned with our third and fourth year Latin Classes - that he, personally, popped in our School quite frequently - and - of all things - heard and taught our Class! We never knew when he was going to appear - and he seemed to take great delight in surprising us - and we were, needless-to-say - overwhelmed to be taught - by the very Superintendent of the Public Instruction - himself. It never occurred to me until years later, just how he always knew when we were going to have our class - since Miss Deputy had to teach it - whenever she could fit us in - as previously stated, lunch hour, after school - or some study hall period. (I have since wondered if either Dr. Holloway was psychic, or if he made a little phone call to see just when we were going to have Latin class on that particular day!)

The years passed on - it was the time of the Great Depression - but somehow we adjusted - and I don't remember really suffering from it - we made our own fun just by getting together, playing records and dancing - having a hot dog roast, - very few of us young people had access to the use of a car. For us girls, I guess our biggest worry was - our "silk stockings" - OH! NO! I've got a run! -- PLEASE lend me your needle and thread? Anybody here who remembers when we used to sew up the runs in our stockings??? Is there anybody here - who has seen one sewn up lately??? Times do change!

Again, the years went, and we graduated. But during those years there are wonderful memories of beloved classmates and teachers and parents. And - I hope - we all can recall the happiness and forget the trials. My own life has offered no real trips around the world - nor to the moon - but I have been there - many times by way of reading and the wonders of television. And I have enjoyed great music and appreciated it - due in part to the interest of a kind man and an old oak Victrola in an old study hall back in 1923.

And - now - I begin to say "adieu" - but - there is something else - during forty years of work - all of them interesting, informative years - one very extraordinary thing happened - Each of the three jobs I held during my career - became more important - and may I say in all humility - upgraded - due to a great degree - to those four years of Latin. Though I worked as an Administrative Assistant or Executive Secretary - strange as it may be - those companies were affiliated with or had subsidiaries, in France, Germany, Spain, Italy, England, Thailand, Australia, and Japan. And in each case, I was in a position wherein those languages had to be used - AND far easier to pick them up. I know you will say that Japanese certainly had no part in any of the others - but may I just ask you all to sit down with a little English-Japanese Conversational Pocket Dictionary, and have your Japanese client - sit close by with his Dictionary as well - as you go from word to symbol and from symbol to word - there will soon develop a rapport - and in a short time - you will be communicating understandably -- You know they were wise old Romans -- weren't they?

essentially a police power restricting a police power the ways of achieving the goals set by the community.

And the town is indeed, entitled both by an enabling act of its own charter and by state law to set up some kind of zoning. But by state law, the plan must come first so that zoning regulations can be tailored to fit the plan.

Other ways to implement a comprehensive community plan could include various ordinances affecting property use, business permits and growth, budgeting through program and annexation.

Thompson told the council planning might be cost prohibitive for a small community or adopting a do-it-yourself approach. The town could probably get advice and guidance for the latter option from governmental groups such as the Kent County Planning Office. A third option might be to request Levy Court to Make Frederica a part of its comprehensive county plan when it is updated. Thompson said participating in community planning for the long range is one of the most rewarding things Town Council members can do.

In the Brief discussion that followed Thompson's presentation, a number of concerns surfaced. One was the question as to how to prevent people who have not obtained local building permits from getting a county permit and going ahead with construction. Resident should have their local permit in hand before getting the county permit. But sometimes this does not happen, and construction is underway before the town is aware of it. Thompson said the Council should approach Levy Court if this continues to be a problem.

Heard from an elderly resident unhappy because a street light on Coleman street had been moved from one pole to the next. The move was ostensibly to balance the spacing of lights. However the complaint was that the light in its new position leaves the lady's home in darkness and now illuminates only a barn. The Council promised to check into the matter.

The Jolly Timers of Harrington's Senior Center [above] provided just some of the music which enlivened Felton's Heritage celebration. Others were Fran Cabbage, Joyce Goldy, Sarah Nechay, Edwin Reed, Jimmy Emberlan and his group, and Ralph Bell. Mrs. Steele assisted as emcee for the entertainment.
The jointed wooden dolls at left are representatives of those that have won Mrs. Garton awards in state and national competition. They made up just one of the crafts displays at Felton on Saturday.

Robert J. White V.P. at Milford Memorial Hospital right, is seen accepting a check in the amount of $4,372.25 from Del M. Callaway, Personnel Assistant the L.D.Caulk Co., which is one of the pacesetters in the 1980 Bi-County United Way campaign. $2,500 was a corporate gift and the remainder came from donations from the employees of the Caulk Co. With this kind of support, the goal of $31,000 for the Milford-Harrington corridor will be achieved. United Way contributes to 54 charities with Harrington Senior Center being one of them. Last year the Milford-Harrington area contributed $30,000 and received over $1000,000 from U.W.

An active schedule including camping trips is planned. Last Saturday, October 4, the Scouts rapped a ten-mile hike with a rumpout at McCauley Pond.

The local Scouts have an urgent need for camping equipment. Much of the equipment the troop once had seems to have disappeared during the interim of inactivity. Contributions from the community would be welcomed and appreciated.

Get Together and Talk With Our Neighbors

Gabfest

by Pat Hatfield

I think Autumn must be a very favorite season for many, many people. There is so much poetry written about it and so many lovely thoughts expressed about its many moods. And, I love them all, but I still say that my favorite time is spring. This is Ironical, too, because I am now in the autumn of my life.

A Mr. Jacobs from Indianapolis News says: "Autumn is.... Broken corn blades drifting the breeze.... The clunk of ripe apples on the ground.... squirrels chattering on a hickory limb.... wading knee deep in fallen leaves.

A Mr. Jacobs from the Indianapolis News says: "Autumn is....broken corn blades drifting the breeze.... the clunk of ripe apples on the ground.... squirrels chattering on a hickory limb.... wading knee deep in fallen leaves."

It's also cool, crisp nights and mornings with hot, sunny days... and it's the insect chorus giving their shrill evening concerts... and it's orange pumpkins turning into Jack-O-Lanterns. It's the brilliant collors... red as vivid as a cardinal... gold as yellow as lemon pie...and, in between, scarlet, ruby, crimson, maroon, burgundy...purple, and all the warm, leathery browns. These last sentences about the colors are quoted from Hal Borland, one of my favorite nature writers.

And, we cannot think of autumn without its perfect signature....the wild geese. I missed seeing the first flight over a few days ago, but Dad saw them and my friend, Tess, saw them. They were flying very high but their honking heralded the autumn. Why is it we cannot describe the longing, the yearning that comes from deep within us as we watch and listen? They give us some kinship with nature that nothing else can give.

Tess also has had an unusual bird visitor on her back yard. When she first saw the flash of black and orange on a bush she thought it was a butterfly. After a closer second look, she discovered it was a small bird hovering over the bush with wings outspread and tail fanned out. After observing it carefully, she went inside to consult the bird book. She had no trouble identifying it. It was a Redstart, and it is known by its butterfly movements over the shrubbery. It is not native to Delaware so apparently it was in migration and had stopped for a snack and a rest. It winters in Central America and the West Indies, so the little fellow had a long trip ahead of him.

I had an odd visitor in my kitchen yesterday. It was a large praying mantis, evidently a female because the body was heavy with eggs. It was crawling around the window screen over the kitchen sink. I was tempted to let her stay, but I knew she would fix her cocoon and then in the warmth of the house they would hatch too soon and we would be faced with hundreds of tiny mantis babies that we should not cope with. So, after visiting with her a bit, I opened the door and held her out on my hand. She gave one fluid graceful flight toward the meadow.

A number of years ago, the mother of one of my friends, a very dear lady, well versed in nature lore, had one who visited all winter making its home on her gardenia bush in the sun porch. I cannot remember what she did about food, but it was a novelty to see her bring a tiny bit of water on a teaspoon and watch the little creature turn that heart shaped face with the large eyes down and sip daintily from the spoon.

"We are making it just for our own use," said Mrs. Holloway. "This will probably be the last time we will make molasses...because of high labor and because people have stopped raising cane."

It is not often that you will see a book review written in a County Agent's news column. Usually we write about the latest information on insect problems or fertilizer use or sprayer calibration or some nuts and bolts topic. However, a Book I read this summer, entitled Three Farms-Making Milk, Meat, and Money from the American soil certainly warrants a little attention. The book's author, Mark Kramer, has done a meticulous and careful research job, spent a good deal of time with farmers and captured what it is and what it is and what it means to be a farmer.

Mr. Kramer, a young free-lance writer and agricultural historian at the University of Massachusetts, chose three very different farm enterprises from different regions of our country to study and write about. A small, but efficient family-owned Massachusetts dairy farm; a larger, typical, family-owned Iowa hog and crop farm; and a huge corporate California vegetable operation are each covered in their own separate sections of the book.

The unique aspect of Three Farms is Mr. Kramer's ability to describe the routine, but crucial operations of a farm and then relate the basic farm operations to our national and even world food production, processing, and distribution industry. Happily, he doesn't get too deeply involved in global food trends or public food policies, but stays on and with the chore of milking the herd is dissected and put together again. This leads into an objective and informative discussion of the milk production marketing and price system and how it affects the individual farmer. It is a down-to-earth and straight forward discussion that can be understood and appreciated by farmer and non-farmer alike.

On the Massachusetts dairy farm for instance, the routine and yet intricate

The author spent a good deal of time with the farmers and operators of each farm. This shows in his ability to illustrate the ever-increasing pressures farmers have to contend with to survive. Cyclical markets, higher land values, inflationary trends, and government regulation and their affect on farming are brought to light without becoming tedious or straying too far from the farm. One of the major conclusions of the book is that the family farms are much more efficient and productive than the corporate farm.

For me, this book was a pleasure to read while being highly instructive. I am sure that the farmer, farm wife, or anyone interested in agriculture would enjoy this book. Unfortunately it is often hard for us in rural areas to get to a book store that would have this book on stock. However, any good bookstore can and will be glad to order it for you. Simply tell them the title, Three Farms; the author, Mark Kramer, and the publisher, Atlantic-Little Brown Co., and they should be able to obtain it for you. The book's price $12.95, is well worth it for the enjoyment and information available.

Our trip to Smith Island Md. was a very nice outing.

The dinner was obliging-We arrived at Crisfield an hour ahead of time. Lynn our director says we will go see Daddy. We went back to his house-guess he thought the Martians had landed- Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Byrd greeted us and we loosened up the old muscles.

Boarding the bus again Lynn and driver said how about visiting Correll Hall Discount Gift Shop. The clerks were not expecting a bus load and they got a little startled. A few purchases were made but we did raid the coke and cracker machines we had at least two hours to wait before our luncheon on the Island.

On to the Marina we boarded the Capt Tyler for a cruise to the Island. The bay was a little choppy only rough for about 20 minutes. It was windy but not cold. A beautiful day for a cruise. of 1 hour and 10 minutes across the beautiful Tangier sound thoroughfare.

Since the tides were very high we were unable to get off Ewell Island and cross over the connecting morshland highway, by bus, the ship docked at Rhodes Island where we are at the Tyler Inn. The family style dinner was served to 45 guest.

Everyone was ready to eat-We had- Crab Soup, crackers, cole slaw macaroni salad, ham, candied sweets, corn pudding, string beans delicious crab cakes and clam fritters, ice tea or coffee, hot rolls and butter. The dessert was a delicious warn apple sauce curstard pie.

Spartans run at Brandywine Creek

By Keith Burgess

Brandywine Creek's hilly picturesque park was the scene of the Salesianum School Cross-Country meet on Saturday.

1050 runners from four states and the District of Columbia competed.

Seven different races were held based on school enrollment. In Lake Forests class eighteen schools competed with the Spartans beating twelve of them and trailing five.

This has to be a respectable showing since a couple of key men aren't up to snuff. James Lofland fell down late in the race while in tenth position. He struggled to his feet and came in 18th, just missing an award. James covered 2 9/10ths rugged miles in a very good 17.07. Jay Howerin and Maurice Coverdale were 31 and 33, respectively. John Greene ran very well in 47th place closely followed by George Barnett two places later.

Fallston, Md. near Baltimore was team winner Westtown and Oxford of Pennsylvania was next. Lake Forest has beaten the fourth place team, Cape Henlopen, twice in invitationals this year, on an average day, the Spartans could have been 4th, at Wilmington.

Spartans 3rd in Salisbury Meet. One interesting aspect of cross country is the opportunity to travel further and meet a much more far flung variety of opponents after going well in a four state meet at Lake Forest, Jim Blades Spartans repeated that performance, by finishing third of 18 teams in the 9th annual Delmarva Cross-Country Invitational Meet, held at Parkside High, Salisbury, Md. Wicomico High became the first, Salisbury school to win the event, Caesar Rodney was second. Lake Forest edged defending champ, Christiana High of Newark, to win the last team trophy. Jay Howerin, who is never 100 percent physically nevertheless had an excellent outing. Jay narrowly missed third place and was the first Delaware finisher of 126 runners. Sophomore James Lofland was seventh, to join Howerin as a medal winner.

Howerin ran 27 seconds faster than he did in the 1979 race. Lofland improved a whopping one minute forty three seconds. Maurice Coverdale was 12 seconds faster, George Barnett cut off 39 seconds, Tom Silkworth, 34 and John Greene 36. This make the Spartans look like a team, that does even better, in the multi-team meets.

The Spartan Jayvees were one of the top two teams in the Jayvee meet, led by Ken Kline 6th place finish and 22 second improvement. Rob Manaraze was 65 seconds faster, while Larry Guessford but off 50 seconds, Chris Caskey 18, Mike Grogan 38.

Gina Turner was 13th in the girls race despite being hampered by Bronchitis and sore legs.

Chipman Jr. Spartan's fall to Caesar Rodney 26-0

by: "Gabby"

Chipman's Jr. Spartan's opened their 1980 Football seasons with a 26-0 loss to a powerful Caesar Rodney. Thursday afternoon at Camden. Although they lost they played a valiant game. After polishing up a few rough spots they could become a top contender.

Micah Parker led the Jr. Spartans with four carries for 24 yards. Robbie Rennie completed four of ten passes for 75 yards, hitting Billy Scott twice and Martin Bordley twice also.

Billy Scott led the defense with an interception and ten tackles. "Gabby" says: The Jr. Spartans open their home schedule against Laurel Thurs. Oct. 9 at the Chipman field at 4:00 p.m. The lads could also use some fan support. Try to make it to the games. Thanks.

win at Laurel

By Keith Burgess

Laurel's Griffin won a cross country duel with Lake Forest's Jay Howerin and James Lofland, but the Spartans won the team battle, at Laurel on Tuesday.

The Spartans are now 2-1 and prevailed 26-31 in the hotly contested meet at Laurel. The host Bulldogs have a good team and provided the Spartans with the type of stiff competition needed to make the locals stronger.

George Barnett, Maurice Coverdale and John Green were 6-7-8- to clinch the win for Lake Forest, after Laurel had three of the first five finishers in an upset attempt.

Terry Caskey, a talented runner who is plagued by ailments most of the time, had one of his better outings, as he led Spartans Tom Silkworth, Larry Guessford, Manny Hernandez, Rob Manaraze, Ken Kline, Charles Benson and Chris Caskey across the finish line ahead of Laurel's fifth runner. Jerry Mosley, Mike Lamphier, Mike Grogan and Gina Turner ran well for Lake Forest.

Byron Griffin, the race winner, by one second is a brother to Tyrone Griffin, who had some memorable duels with Lake Forest great Chris Wetherhold, ten years ago.

Lafayette Bell led a talented Chipman squad by cruising 2.7 miles in a good 17.07 with Rick Silkworth second in 17.12. Billy Haggery, age 11, ran with the leaders most of the way, before clocking 17.40 his trio looks like sure bets for stardom in the running sports. Bell 15 and Silkworth 13 will be freshman next fall.

Jeff Caldwell, Jeff Beene, John Anderson, Mike Catalana, Tom Milligan and John Ottinger ran well as the Chipman farm club continues to twin up likely prospects for the sport that keeps Lake Forest in the limelight. Since its inception in 1958, cross-country has yet to suffer a losing season, here.

Chipman Hockey

game rained out

After being postponed on Thursday of the back of officials the game between Chipman and Seaford was rescheduled to Friday. However, soon after the game began it was called because of rain.

The girls played just under five minutes when Seaford scored a goal. Seconds later the referee called the game. I don't know what the Jr. Spartans feelings were but the Seaford girls wanted to continue playing.

THANKS

To Little League

Surprised, Stunned or state of shock are all words that describe me, Marlene Jarrell on Saturday evening at the Little League Banquet, when I was presented a silver tray by the league. I am sure there is someone more deserving than I, but I am very appreciative for being chosen and will cherish the gift for many years.

I would not have been able to do the job of Player Agent if it had not been for the help of the League President, Managers, Coaches and my family and I thank them for it.

I enjoyed every minute I gave to the Little League and recommend it to all parents as a way of supporting your children and also children of the community. Everyone learns and grows from each other.

Thanks to all who made Sat. evening such a special evening for me, especially Billy Morris, Pres. of League and Leroy Betts, Presenter of the gift. It was one I will never forget.

Lake Forest wins over Laurel 14-0

Last Friday night the Spartans of Lake Forest proved that sometimes a strong defense is the best offense in defeating the Laurel Bulldogs 14-0. This action see-sawed back and forth with both teams beset with penalties in the first quarter.

The Spartans got their first break about halfway through the second quarter when they recovered a bad snap from center on the Bulldog yard line. Nate Floyd ran it into the end zone from that point for Lake Forest's first score. The kick for the extra point by Brian Gladden was good. The half ended with Lake Forest leading 7-0.

In the third quarter tackle Todd Wise bulled through the line and blocked a Bulldog punt in the end zone and then proceeded to fall on to the ball for a TD, Brian Gladden repeated his second quarter trick to put Lake ahead 14-0.

New Speed Ratings at Harrington Raceway

Harrington, Del. Based on the performance of horses that have raced thus far at Harrington Raceway during the past month, the United States Trotting Association has assigned the track a new speed rating. Speed ratings are a comparative measure to determine the difference between how fast the average horse might race the mile at one track as compared to all other tracks. According to the U.S.T.A., Harrington's speed rating will go from 2.05 2/5 to 2.04 which now rates it as one of the top five fastest halfmile tracks in either the United States or Canada. Earlier this summer the downstate facility underwent a major track rebuilding and resurfacing program, which seems to have had the desired effects of faster race times. Since opening on September 1st, three track records have been broken, including the 2-year-old colt and filly record and the 3-year-old colt record. The 2-year-old filly record had stood for 29 years.

Delmarva Power's new 400-MW coal-burning generating addition, Indian River Unit #4, appears as the tallest structure, to the right of the other three units at Indian River. The circular cooling tower at far right pumps condenser-cooling water through a closed-circuit recirculating system to protect the aquatic life in the Indian River.

As the first of several major steps being taken by Delmarva Power and Light Company to reduce its dependency on oil-burning generation, the company last week (October 1) put into commercial operation its new 400-megawatt coal-burning Indian River Power Plant #4 near Millsboro, Delaware.

The company had announced recently that it plans conversion to coals of two other existing oil-burning power plants at Edgemoor, Delaware by 1982. DP&L has five generating units at Edgemoor. Of the remaining three units, one will continue to burn low-sulfur oil and the other two will be retired.

Additionally, the company is in the process of obtaining regulatory approval for a 500-megawatt coal-burning generating unit. If approved the Vienna addition is scheduled to become operation in 1987.

The near-term effect of the Indian River plans becoming operational will be to reduce DP&L's system oil burn from the 1979 average of 53 percent to 29 percent in 1981. With the conversion of the two units at Edgemoor, a further reduction of oil burn is 19 percent is expected to be achieved which the addition of the Vienna plant in 1987 will trim oil use still further to about 14 percent in 1988.

Also calculated in the reduction of oil burn in the addition of 83 megawatts of nuclear generation from the company's 7 percent interest in Salem #2 which is expected to be put into operation by its principal owner, Public Service Electric and Gas Company at Salem, New Jersey in the spring of 1981.

The company has stated that its high percentage of oil-burning units created by air quality regulations in the early 1970's is a major reason for current high fuel costs and for the changeover to coal.

In announcing DP&L's long range plans for moving away from oil to lower-cost and nuclear power at the company's annual meeting earlier this year, Robert D. Weimer chairman of the board and chief executive officer, said:

"We believe this continuing commitment toward reducing our dependence on oil will lead to both more predictable costs to our consumers and increases financial stability of the company in the coming decade."

Poore was still listed in critical condition late Tuesday afternoon, "but his condition is listed as stable, he is breathing on his own, and his blood pressure is ok" said Thompson.

Apparently at the time of the explosion, Poore was welding a meter onto the rear of an empty oil truck, which was a used truck at Callis-Thompson for various repairs. Poore was standing on the north side of the repair shop with his back facing the open end of the shop. He is believed to have been almost positioned on the outside of the shop when the explosion occur-

ed. "This is the first of its kind. My father had maybe one fire here several years ago, but this is the first explosion...and to an oil truck is what is the mystery. People are saying fumes...but it takes a pretty warm heat to heat up the vapors to put them in a position of fire or explosion. This again is the mystery", said Thompson.

Fire companies from Felton, Houston, and Farmington assisted Harrington in fighting the blaze. The Callis-Thompson firm is located on the east side of US 13 in Harrington. The firm builds and repairs fuel and water tanks for trucks and bulk storage. The company has plants in Maryland and Pennsylvania.

Fire Prevention Week Oct.5--11th.

Again as each year observance of Prevention of Fire draws near. One week is dedicated for this cause. Not enough! Fire Prevention to us at the Harrington Fire Dept. promote Fire Prevention annually be each year, month and at times weekly. For seven years now straight your Fire department sponsors during fire prevention week a fire prevention day. This year it will be held on Sat. Oct 11th starting at 9 am at the Fire House located on Mechanic St. in Harrington. This years theme "Smoke Alarm".

Smoke is the evidence of fire. Smoke contains carbon monoxide and other lethal gases. During the occupied hours of our homes, smoke is most hazardous to human life.

Early detection is essential for escape from smoke. Underwriters Laboratory approved smoke alarms have been proven to give humans that early detection. This year our department is going to sell to the public, at cost, and a saving of $5.00 to each buyer, a smoke alarm. These smoke alarms can only be purchased at cost during the fire Prevention Day, Oct. 11th. Smoke alarms will be on display, described and demonstrated at this show. Also during this day of activity description of wood stoves and installation of wood stoves will be hand. Ron Jester of the University of Delaware Extension Service will be here to answer questions concerning the safe operations of wood-coal burning stoves. Delaware State Forestry will be on hand with answers concerning types of wood and what to look for concerning seasoned wood. Delaware Fire School Safety display and personnel will be on hand to and to show all needs for fire prevention in home and on the job. Different types of fire fighting equipment will be on display from the surrounding communities of Houston, Farmington, Felton and Milford. Most of this equipment is newly purchased. Also we ask that you'll take notice of your fire department newly erected building addition, which shows our expanding needs in the community. Fire Prevention Week also kicks off our annual fund drive. You'll be receiving a letter stating our needs and your support is greatly needed. Today alone one of our attack pumpers cost is average of $95,000. Soon our department will be receiving a new rescue truck which at present the 1962 Ford panel is over loaded for its capacity and underloaded for our needs. Your department has bought equipment in the past as needs arise.

Each family can help to maintain the high proficiency that this department displays. Fire Prevention day is just one act of our concern. Thank you for your help in the past. LF Title I Reading Funds Provide Extra Help

By Carol Lamphier

Every child learns in his or her own way, and at his or her own speed. Some children need a little extra help. Lake Forest uses Title 1 federal funds to provide extra help in reading. About 800 students from kindergarten through grades 8 are selected for Title 1 help. Every child selected received the regular instruction he or she would receive from the teacher, plus extra help provided through Title 1 funds.

In the kindergarten classrooms, aides work under the direction of the regular teachers to improve self-concept. Usually if children feel good about themselves, their learning improves. The Primary Self-Concept Inventory is used to select the children who will receive the extra attention and caring they may need to boost their confidence in themselves.

In grades 1 through 3, aides work in the regular classrooms under the direction of the teachers to improve phonics and other reading skills. The aides also help Title 1 students understand and complete work assigned for them while the teacher is with another reading group. If there were no aides, the students would have to complete the work by themselves. Improvement in skills will help improve reading ability. Student who are low in skills, or who are in low reading groups are chosen to receive the aids extra help.

In grades 4, 5, and 6, and at Chipman Junior School, student who still have trouble with reading receive the help of a ready specialist. Each student is individually tested to find out what problems and strengths he or she has in reading. The Reading Specialists try to find materials and provide instruction which will suit the needs and interests of every student. Students also go to the Reading Specialists in small groups. In grades 4, 5 and 6 they may miss their science or social studies to receive the extra help: in grades 7 and 8 they miss a study hall. One aide in each building is assigned to provide extra help for some of these student, also.

Students who receive their reading instruction in our elementary special education Learning Centers also get extra help from Title 1. Title 1 funds provide extra materials and equipment. First grade aides go to the Learning Centers to help for one hour each day and one aide is employed to go to each school daily to work with Learning Center Children in a special reading program called DISTAR.

Residents of Lake Forest School District can participate in Title 1 by becoming active in their school's Title 1 Parents Advisory Council. The PAC's meet four times a year, and the meetings are open to anyone who wants to attend. At each school's Back-to-School Open House, the school's PAC will be elected. Copies of the Title 1 complaint procedures, Bylaws, the calendar of PAC meetings and topics and tips on helping children in reading will be available as handouts for all.

Berry Funeral Homes Dear friends, If the person who mourns suppresses his or her feelings, they are adding one more burden to bear. "Don't talk about it" is poor advice. The survivor may well be going through an intense emotional crisis. He may need to speak and set out his feelings - deal, then bewilderment, finally to weeping and despairing confrontation with the truth of loss. Respectfully, William C. Berry, Jr.
