LF Referendum Could Net Yearly $60,000 for Schools

by Barbara C. Brown

Next Tuesday Lake Forest voters will have the opportunity to go to the polls in Felton, Frederica and Harrington and take a $60,000 step to counteract some of the damage inflicted by inflation on school budgets.

Taking that step would not cost district taxpayers one penny beyond what they are now paying in local real estate taxes.

A refusal to take that step would result in a reduction in the current tax rates. But it would also mean an opportunity lost. And the district would find it increasingly difficult or impossible to buy sorely needed text books, library books and materials and other educational supplies and equipment.

For the individual student, that might mean the social studies or science text book he must continue to use is badly out of date or in serious disrepair. Or he might not get a textbook to take home at all because there aren't enough to go around and they can't be taken out of the classroom.

The opportunity to take the $60,000 step toward correcting the situation will come on the referendum to be held by the Lake Forest School District on Tuesday, October 28, from 1 to 8 p.m. The purpose of the referendum is to get voters' permission to transfer .15 of the .35 per $100 of assessed value of real estate from the Debt Service to the Current Expense portion of the tax. A vote "for the tax transfer" would reduce the debt service tax by .15 and increase the current expense tax by the same amount. It would leave the overall tax rate of $1.16 per $100 unchanged.

Few families hit by inflation have not learned that yesterday's necessities have become today's luxuries.

For the schools, it is no different. And textbooks and materials to create and maintain a high standard of education have almost become luxuries in the face of the absolute necessity to pay gas, oil and electric bills.

In recent months and years energy costs in the Lake Forest School District have escalated from about $152,000 to $398,000 for the current year. By contrast, the schools' educational budget has been cut by $10,000 from $174,000 in 1975 to $164,000 this year. For all those familiar with the continuing story of buying less for more, the results for the schools are obvious.

The chance to garner $60,000 per year for the educational program in the schools without raising taxes has come because the district no longer needs so much money to be set aside to pay the principal and interest on its bonded indebtedness. Some of the bonds have been paid off, and the assessed value of real estate in the area has increased. Consequently, the Debt Service has generated a surplus. Legally, that surplus cannot grow beyond a certain amount. But the tax money could be used in the current expense portion of the schools budgets. However, the district is required by law to get voter permission to make the tax rate transfer.

According to school officials, the assessed value of property in the Lake Forest School District is slightly more than $40,000,000. Each penny of the tax rate means $4,000 in revenue to the schools. Thus a vote "for the tax transfer (of .15 from Debt Service to Current Expense)" would mean $60,000 a year in usable funds for the schools.

As the Lake Forest School Board and administration have made plans for the referendum, a number of questions have surfaced:

One of these is the purpose for which the additional money would be used. District officials say top priority will be given to the purchase of textbooks, library materials and books, vocational equipment and classroom furniture which needs replacing. Superintendent William Cline hopes to initiate a "cycle" program to replace texts, on a rotating basis, every 5 years.

Another question frequently asked is how Lake Forest could afford the athletic complex which includes the new football stadium and swimming pool and still be lacking for textbooks and educational materials. The answer is that the money to build the athletic complex came from a federal grant intended to create jobs in an area of high unemployment. The construction created the jobs, and Lake Forest got the complex, one of the finest in the state, as a kind of bonanza. But the federal money could not have been obtained or spent to buy textbooks or pay oil bills, and no local tax dollars went to build the complex.

District officials also point out that local taxpayers have already been the recipients of a break in the form of a tax cut of .11 per $100 of assessed real estate value. When the state decided to pay for the cost of special education transportation, the Lake Forest Board decided to drop that part of the tax, rather than ask for a transfer as other districts have done.

The polls in next Tuesday's referendum will be located in the cafeterias at Lake Forest North (Felton), Lake Forest East (Frederica) and W.T. Chipman (Harrington). They will be open from 1 to 8 p.m. Residents of the Lake Forest School District aged 18 and older are eligible to vote and are encouraged to do so.

Harrington City Employees Out on "Strike"

HARRINGTON. Last Thursday, October 16th, some of the City employees employed by the City of Harrington refused to pick up the trash in protest of what they believed to be a "pay raise" for Robert Hassett. Hassett was given a $25 compensatory pay allowance retroactive over the past 21 weeks for "double duty". "This was not a raise," said City clerk, Norma Short, "...and it will not become effective until and unless the Mayor and Council approve it in the budget", added Mrs. Short. "The employees who protested last Thursday came into the office here at City Hall, and I explained as best I could that it was not a raise. I asked Dr. Lobo to come over and talk to them which he did, and they went back to work following that. They have since talked to Mayor Cahall," said Mrs. Short. "The employees in question received no pay raise last year, and although the proposed 1981 budget calls for raises, it has not been approved. The employees have received none so far this year. You can understand their concern concluded Mr. Short.

Officers of the Kent County Volunteer Firemen's Association

The Harrington Volunteer Fire Company last Wednesday hosted the Kent County Volunteer Firemen's Association at a dinner served by the Ladies Auxiliary. Upgrading of Harrington Sewer Plant to Begin in November

Construction to bring Harrington's sewage treatment facilities into compliance with state and federal standards for treated effluents is expected to begin early in Nov. the construction phase of the project will be handled by C Z Enterprises, of Edgewater, Md., which was awarded the $869,000 contract this summer.

Total cost of the project, including engineering and design as well as on-site inspection-all of which has been under the auspices of Edward H. Richardson Associates, is expected to approach the million dollar mark. 75 percent of that cost is to be funded by a federal EPA grant, with 10 percent and 15 percent, respectively, coming from the state and the city.

The Harrington wastewater treatment plant, built in 1968, was in compliance with existing standards of the time. But with the environmental emphasis of the early 70's, stricter standards were enacted. The state of Delaware, especially has become more stringent about wastewater that is to be dumped into its ponds and waterways. Effluents from the Harrington sewer plant end up in Brown's Branch and, ultimately in McCauley Pond and the Murderkill River.

With the stricter standards, the city had to two choices: upgrade the existing system, or hook into the county sewer plant at Frederica. The latter option would have meant running pipes all the way to Frederica at an estimated cost of 1.2 to 1.4 million dollars. It would have meant Harrington resident would pay their sewer bills to the county at a rate higher than the fee the city charges for both water and sewer. It would also have left the city with no income to meet the bonds for the existing sewer facility, which will not be paid for until 1995, or to cover the cost of electricity for pumping the sewage to Frederica. The first choice upgrading the existing system-was the only practical one.

Several years ago, the city did receive a grant in the amount of $20,000 of EPA funds given to communities that had built and paid for their own sewer system. That has been salted away and is earning interest. It will be applied on the city's portion of the new construction. A pre-application to FHA for a loan to cover the remaining portion of the city's costs has already been approved.

P & Z Commission Nixes Zoning Request

The Harrington Planning and Zoning Commission has recommended against a zoning change from C-3 to C-2 for the property at 110 Center Street (the former Millard Cooper Funeral Home). The property is currently owned by the William Muessers of Wilmington who once operated a card and gift shop at the location. But Julia Moody of Dover would like to open a home for the elderly there. However, the local commission made its negative decision in the grounds that the plans submitted by Mrs. Moody in her application for the zoning change were too vague.

The site has been the subject of some controversy since neighbors have claimed it is being used as a residence against zoning regulations.

Previous attempts to open nursing homes or a home for the retarded were waylaid by stringent fire regulations or neighborhood opposition.

Lake Forest Board Meeting - A Full House

The Lake Forest School Board opened its regular Monday night meeting to question on the upcoming referendum (see separate Journal article), but most of the full house of persons present seemed to have other interests.

A large part of the crowd in attendance was made up of district cafeteria workers seemingly intent on learning the Board's decision on whether employees in the food service would be requested as a condition of employment to take 4 ten-hour units of instruction. Mrs. Barbara Grodkiewicz, a cafeteria worker at East, brought a complaint which was heard in a lengthy executive session. The LF Board decided the instruction would be required of all cafeteria employees hired since 1974 and gave Mrs. Grodkiewicz a time limit for compliance with the ruling.

A few questions were raised during the open meeting on the referendum.

These, mainly by Joseph Taylor, Harrington areas former Taylor questioned voter eligibility and asked for clarification on whether the tax rate would go down if the referendum did not pass he also said he would "not make a commitment to forming in an area" in which form land could be taxed to accommodate "urban whims" whether library districts or school districts or whatever.

In other business the Lake Forest School District: -approved, with some dissent, concerned with the preservation of Delaware farmlands.

-an increase in the piece of a la cart milk for students from .6 to .10 beginning Nov. 1. This will affect only the piece of milk bought separately and will not chance the cost of platters which include milk a reduction in federal support from .8 to .5 per half pint was given as the reason.

-heard the district has 3156 students for a total of 173 teaching units. The figures are not yet confirmed. -said it could not give quick consent to hiring a rifle instructor and a band coordinator at a nominal fee of $100 each for the high school band. But the Board said it had no authority to prevent the Lake Forest Band Boosters from doing the hiring.

-decided to try re-routing bus #47 before taking a parent complaint about a bus stop to the states Unique Hazards Committee.

Rotary Hears Coast Guard Auxiliary

Harrington Newstand Restaurant. The Harrington Rotary Club at its regular Monday night meeting hosted Charlotte Hunt and Donald McKnatt of the Coast Guard Auxiliary Division XII. Both individuals are from the local general area.

Mrs. Hunt worked the slide projector and made comments while Mr. McKnatt joined in the discussion. The slide show presented the theme from the founding of the Auxiliary in June '39 through present times. The Auxiliary aids the Coast Guard in the practice of keeping safety practices in force on the waters particular in our area, and during the WWII participated in coastal security. The Flotilla of Division XII meets at St. Stephens Church once a month. Classes are offered in the area which includes Dover and Harrington in boating safety, sailing, navigation, and general aid to boaters who are in distress in our waters. Mrs. Hunt mans the radio shack at Bowers Beach on weekends. They have two channels there...Channel 9, which is the CB station and the VHF FM station which is Channel 16.

All of the Auxiliary are volunteers "...who are proud to serve people who use the water for business and pleasure".

Wood Stove/ Chain Saw Safety Seminar Set Thursday

With rapidly escalating fuel costs, many people are installing wood stoves and are cutting their own wood. Because of the hazards involved it is essential that stoves burning wood be properly installed, operated and maintained.

The resurgence in wood harvesting has prompted many consumers to purchase chain saws and consequently the "weekend lumberjacks" have emerged as the prime users of these highly productive machines.

It is estimated that this year chain saws will be responsible for more than 80,000 reported accidents ranging from cut fingers to sudden death. Such accidents can be prevented. It is up to each of us as chain saw users to know our chain saw's limitations and capabilities, be familiar with the instruction and maintenance procedures and know how to operate them safely. A chain saw in the hands of an irresponsible operator can be an extremely dangerous piece of equipment indeed.

In an effort to reduce the fire accidents and chain saw injuries, the Cooperative Extension Service will conduct a combined wood stove and chain saw safety seminar on Thursday October 23, 1980 at 7 p.m. in the Harrington Fire Hall located on Mechanic St. in Harrington.

Program topics will include proper selection, installation, safe operations and maintenance of wood stoves. Topics related to chain saws will include chain saw maintenance, handling fuel, using chain saws safely and properly felling trees.

The seminar is sponsored by the Cooperative Extension Service and Harrington Volunteer Fire Company in cooperation with the Delaware State Fire School, Delaware Energy Office and Delaware Department of Agriculture.

There is no admission charge. For information, call 736-1446.

New ZIP Code Numbers Defended

The Postal Service's plan to add four new numbers to present ZIP Codes will allow it to become more efficient and help stabilize postage rates, a postal official told Congress today.

Coughlin told the hearing that with only a few exceptions Americans would not be getting entirely new ZIP Codes, but would be assigned four additional digits to their existing code.

"The use of this code will not be mandatory," Coughlin said. "This is the same voluntary approach we have taken since the introduction of the ZIP Code in 1963. Hence, freedom of choice will be maintained."

The four add-on digits, which will be made available to large mailers on computer tapes beginning in February and to the general public in the late 1981, will signify an individual "block face" on a street, an office building or a large company that receives substantial volumes of mail.

The key to the anticipated savings from the system will be use of optical character readers, machines that will be able to read the nine-digit ZIP number and sort mail automatically down to these units. Presently, most mail can be sorted mechanically down only to larger geographical areas.

"While the use of the code will be voluntary," Coughlin testified, "we do hope citizens will come to appreciate that the new digits are intended to help them, and that they will choose to use them of their own violation."

MMH Offers Program for Prospective Parents

A two-hour educational program for prospective parents unable to attend the seven-week course of Childbirth Classes will begin at Milford Memorial Hospital on Monday, October 27th. The program, under the direction of Sue Hatfield, R.N., B.S., will consist of a one-hour lecture on pregnancy, labor, and delivery, a half-hour film on childbirth, and a tour of the Labor and Delivery Department of the Hospital. The program is designed to provide expectant parents with fundamental knowledge of the problems relating to childbirth, but attendance does not qualify the father to be present during his wife's labor and delivery.

In addition to the first class on Oct. 27, the class will be offered four times during 1981, on Jan. 26, April 24, August 24, and November 20. Registration for the class must be made during the week prior to the scheduled date by calling 422-3311, Extension 439. A fee of $5.00 will be charged. This fee may be applied to the charge for the seven-week course of Childbirth Classes, if the parents decide that they wish to have this more comprehensive education and training.

Sewer Plant

ved. The ponds or lagoons at the present facility will remain in use. But the system of treatment of the sewage will be revised and upgraded. Once that is accomplished, there will be a higher cost for the chemicals needed to bring the effluents into compliance with federal and state standards. One "guesstimate" is that the needed chemicals will cost $25,000 to $27,000 more than what the city is now spending. This could affect water and sewer fees if it appears that they city cannot break even on the operation of the plant.

C Z Enterprises, which has the contract for the Harrington construction, is a small business specializing in general construction projects related to the water and wastewater fund. Get Together and Talk With Our Neighbors

Gabfest

by Pat Hatfield

I see in the October issue of my magazine, "Southern Living" that the folks in the south are also speculating on the question of a hard or a mild winter. Now I'm quoting from the magazine article. "An old man well versed in folklore discussed the subject from his rocker in the front porch. He advised to just sit on your front porch and observe the critters and the plants getting ready to spend the season outdoors, and you can get a good idea of what Old Man Winter has in store for us. He further suggests that most folks have gotten so far away from the land that they've forgotten how to interpret the signs. It seems you have to compare the signs from year to year in order to become an expert. When every homestead had a horse, or a mule, or a cow, you could look at the thickness of their hair to decide whether or not you needed to chink a log house or lay in some extra firewood. The same holds true with the squirrel...the bushier the bob of the tail, the colder the coming winter. Even the squirrel's habits can tip you off. If you see them scurrying to collect acorns as fast as they fall, then get ready. At least they think it's going to be a long season.

Birds are also pretty good indicators. If they are huddling close to the ground, it means bad weather is on the way. If the roadside supply of fall berries, like sumac, disappears early, then they know hard times are a coming. Then the oldtimer got into the woolly bears. He said that if you see a lot of the 7, it means a hard winter, but their cost is heavy, it means a hard winter. There may be something here. Since the woolly bear spins its cocoon from its hair, a thicker coat means a warmer house. The darker the color, the worse the season, and if the black bands are wide, you can count on severe weather.

The old folklorist said, "Better consult several of them." And we said, "What if we don't see any?" "Well," he opined, "In that case, you won't know what to expect."

Another one is that if the hickory nuts have a thick husk, then break out the comforter. You need to observe these husks for several years to know what thickness makes the difference.

He pointed out that the persimmon tree is also nature's tattletale. You have to eat you way through to this one, because the persimmon hides its prediction inside the seed. Split the seed with a knife. A spoon-shaped seed means mild weather; a fork shaped, not so mild; and a knife shaped seed means you'd better gather a mess of persimmons quickly.

Now, we've done all we can for you from this desk. If anyone knows any more, would love to have you share them with all of us.

This is all in fun. We know that the Creator has already planned our winter and will administer the weather according to His infinite wisdom.

New on the job- The most recent addition to the staff at City Hall is Edith Banning of Harrington. She replaces Michelle Williams.

Growers who wish to survey their fields for nematodes can do so this fall at no cost. The Cooperative Extension Services of Delaware, Maryland, and Virginia, in conjunction with Moby Chemical Company, are sponsoring a nematode survey program again this fall. The nematode sample can be taken during normal soil sampling time. Kits for the nematode sample can be obtained from your county extension office or from many of your farm supply and fertilizer dealers.

In recent year, nematodes have been pinpointed as a cause for crop problems in some isolated fields. These microscopic worms feed on plant roots and can limit yields if the population builds. If you have seen isolated spots where the plants seem stunted, or don't just seem to yield quire as well as they should, the nematodes survey may help you pinpoint a problem.

Now is the time to take soil samples to determine next year's fertilizer program. Soil test results are only as accurate as the samples that are taken. Be sure to take the time and care to take good samples. Remember that areas with different soil characteristics, or areas that will be treated differently, should be sampled differently.

Take samples to a depth of at least six inches or to the depth the plow-sole and be consistent in all your samples. Each field should have 15-20 cores pulled from it and mixed into a composite sample representing the field. Also, try to take soil samples at the same time of the year to keep the test results consistent from year to year.

A good soil testing program is the key to a high yielding, yet cost efficient fertility program. A little extra time and effort in sampling techniques will help make your soil samples mean a lot more.

The extension service has several publications that may be of use this winter as plans are being made for next year's crop. No-Till Age discusses the merit of minimum till systems. have. The referendum to allow the town officials to spend money already appropriated to finance the Library is also very important. This money is already in this year's budget and has been set aside to help the Library. All you have to do is vote. This is not a plea for tax money in either case. It is a plea for the citizens to allow the money to be spent in the most important way. The future of this town & Country belong to the students of today. Think of what we have to lose. Get out and vote; vote yes on both referendums.

Parents, Grandparents, and Citizens of Harrington:

Are you concerned about our children's education and their preparation as our future leaders? We have the opportunity to help our children by saying how we want our taxes to be spent, without taxes going on. The Lake Forest School Board and the Harrington City Council are both holding referendums which will vitally affect the lives of our children. Both referendums need our yes votes. Neither referendum will increase our taxes.

The L.F. School Board referendum asked for a transfer of funds from one account to another. It does not ask for an increase in taxes. Our School Board has promised that the funds will be used for books and other instructional materials. We need to approve the tax transfer, and then hold the Board to their promise. Polls will be open in each school building in the district from 1:00-8:00 p.m. on Tuesday, October 28.

The Harrington City Council referendum asks if we want the city budget, through direct or indirect taxes, to include funds for the Harrington Public Library. Taxes do not have to be raised to support our library. The library is included in the proposed city budget, and the budget is balanced. We will vote in the new addition to the Fire Hall, on Election Day, November 4, from noon until 7:00 p.m.

Let's support our children by voting YES on both referendums. They need all the votes they can get.

Sincerely
Carol Lamphire

Letters to the Editor

Dear Parents,

We want to keep the Harrington Public Library. We want to learn, and there are good books there to help us learn. We enjoy reading the books and watching the free movies every Thursday.

Please vote on Nov. 4 to keep the library open. This will not cause you taxed to be raised.

To The Editor,

I have been a citizen of Harrington for eighteen years. In this time many important things have happened, but nothing has gotten the public as aroused as the recent channel change at cable TV Is this what it takes to stir the citizens of Harrington? A schedule of their TV rearranged? This makes the public angry enough to protest.

Well I hope that the two upcoming referendums will cause the citizens to get out and vote. The referendum for the school board to transfer funds from one account to another to buy much needed books for the classrooms, is very important. Our children's future education is one of the most important responsibilities we

Regarding the Alaska Lands Bill as passed by the Senate, in as much as neither Silver nor Gold could bring the caribou back should they become extinct, I think the rich mineral deposits there should have not influenced the Senate one bit when they debated whether or not to give extra and permanent protection to the Caribou's calving area.

What is Gold and Silver as compared to what should be Living Things which should be the Heritage or Future generations?

The time is now, don't you think we need to think about it and infact about what can happen to the "Last Frontier" anyway?

After all, even if millions of acres are protected in the bill as it is devised really, the hard sense of it is, according to reports, the government finds it impossible to enforce the law. protecting specie in remote areas now, and on public lands, the wild horses, for example, it is said, are found slaughtered.

Now I ask readers. How do you think we'll be able to manage Millions and Millions more acres?

Furthermore, what of the mining operations, the logging operations, ski resort enterprises, trapping (maybe cruel leghold kind even)-Not to mention Deep in roads, helicopters and snowmobiles.

Man, after all, is indifferent to pain he inflicts on other specie, and, therefore, in as much as "The last frontier" is our last chance, I think political stands from now on should be carefully scrutinized with the last frontier-indeed our last chance-in mind.

What are your views?

Chipman girls lose to Milford & beat Smyrna 2 - 0

by "Gabby"

The Chipman Hockey team lost to Milford Thursday 1-0. The game was hard fought with Regina Abram's outstanding play in the net. The score could have been much worse if it were not for her quick footwork in kicking the ball away for several saves.

Then on Monday afternoon they beat Smyrna 2-0 on goals by Elizabeth Watkinson and Beth Reed. Their record now stands at 2 wins and 3 losses. Their next game is at Woodbridge on Thursday Oct. 23.

Harriers lose at C R

by Keith Burgess

Caesar Rodney's cross-country team is the class of the Henlopen Conference, this fall. The Riders also have a rough, root-stewn, course, that has the effect of enhancing the normal, home course advantage.

Lake Forest was further hampered by the fact, that a couple key men got their priorities mixed and played football over the weekend. One was hurt and sidelined for this meet.

The Spartans seemed disheartened by being short-handed against the No. 1 loop team and went down to a 17-38 defeat their second in six starts. C.R. had the first four finishers followed by a string of Spartans led by sophomore, James Lofland, Jay Howerin, John Green, Larry Guessford and Tom Silkworth. The last three named are hard-working improving runners, who each had a better finish than normal, this time.

The Spartans are a better team than they showed, in this outing. At Salisbury earlier this fall, Jay Howerin beat the entire C.R. lineup, James Lofland beat all but one and Maurice Coverdale, all but three.

Charlie Benson won the Jayvee race with Mike Grogan and Chris Caskey next Lafayette Bell, Billy Haggerty and Rick Silkworth, 3 excellent runners, from W.T Chipman School continue to post faster times than some of the varsity runners.

Undefeated Knights Edge Spartans 27-28

by Keith Burgess

Jim Blades' Lake Forest cross-country team went to Georgetown to take on Herman Bastianelli's undefeated Golden Knights.

Despite having a man or two with gimpy gams, the Spartans made a great run at the host team and barely fell short losing 27-28.

Jay Howerin, James Lofland and Maurice Coverdale were second, third and fourth, giving Lake Forest the early lead. However, the next four finishers were Golden Knights, giving the home team, the narrow verdict.

Jerry Mosley won the Jayvee race followed by Manny Hernandez, Charlie Benson, Mike Grogan and Chris Caskey.

TOP HORSEMEN RATE THE LEADING SOPHOMORE PACERS

Columbus, Ohio--When Stanley Banks Tops $1 million in purses won for 1980 within a week, he will become the 30th harness driver whose horses have accounted for earnings into seven figures in 1980.

According to the Data Processing Dept. of the U.S. Trotting Assn., through Oct. 4, another nine reinsmen should surpass $1 million in purse winnings.

This total of 39-million drivers for one year is easily a record in the standardbred sport, topping the former mark of 29 set just last year. It also continues a pattern of steady and sometimes, as in 1980, spectacular growth in the number of big money winners.

In 1974--the year Herve Filion set a record by winning $3,474,315, which John Campbell will erase in 1980--only 10 drivers earned a million or more in purses.

The number has grown in the following years to 14 in 1975, 19 in 1976, 23 in 1977, 26 in 1978, to 29 in 1979 as mentioned above.

Below is the list of million-dollar winners for 1980. Others nearing the mark include Banks, Ben Steall, Eddie Davis, Gilles Gendron, Doug Brown, James Curran, Doug Hamilton, Ed Lohmeter, Harold Stead and Tom Strauss.

Spartan Booters Bow to Seaford

by "Gabby"

The Spartans hosted Seaford last Thursday and appeared to have things pretty much their own way in the first half with Alan Courtney scoring first on a penalty kick at 15:40. Then John Way kicked one into the net with an assist from Walter Gygyryuk at 29:24 to give the Spartans a comfortable 2-0 lead at halftime.

It is not known what Seaford's coach said at halftime but the Blue Jay's came into the second half all fired up. They scored three times on goals at 5:48 by Townsend assisted by Larrick, at 24:06 by Larrick assisted by Wilbanks, and the final score at 26:51 by Short assisted by Townsend to beat the Spartans 3-2. Kevin Moelenkamp had six saves for Lake Forest while Kripatis matched him with six for Seaford.

Volunteers aim to Reach Goal

What is it that makes the United Way so efficient and so universally acceptable as a fund raiser for our community charitable organizations? The answer is volunteerism. Over 13,000 Delawareans will volunteer their time and energy this year to help the United Way of Delaware raise over 9 million dollars for 54 different charitable agencies.

Locally, the volunteers in the Milford-Harrington corridor hope to raise $31,000 for the Bi-County United Way. Rob White, Vice President at Milford Memorial Hospital and this year's volunteer campaign chairman, indicated that many civic minded area residents have given tirelessly to ensure the success of the campaign.

Joe Adkisson, Dave Fetterman, Dave Hartzel, George Luff and Tom Rust have devoted countless hours to the canvassing of Milford and Harrington's fifty largest employers. In addition, teams of volunteers have been organized by Carl June and Jim Piper to solicit the multitude of small businesses and their employees.

The area professionals will be approached by Mike Rich and Dr. Tom Syer while Jack Nylund is working with the area school and public service employees. Gene Price and the members of the Harrington Senior Center, a United Way agency, are contacting retirees and people who work for themselves in the Harrington area, while the Lutheran Church Women are providing the same service in Milford under the guidance of Helene Reed.

"Without the help of these volunteers there wouldn't be a United Way," commented White. "We'd end up with 54 separate fund raising drives for 54 separate agencies, which could probably end up making us all a little crazy."

"In addition, a donation to the United Way gives people the security of knowing that their money will be well spent. We have volunteers serving on United Way committees to plan for provision of needed services in the area and volunteers to oversee the distribution of the money. Gerry Layton at Wilmington Trust, for example, donated over 100 hours of his time last year visiting United Way agencies, surveying their programs and auditing their books. It's this strong sense of community involvement that makes the United Way do attractive to me and, I'm sure, to many others."

According to White, the Milford-Harrington campaign has already achieved 29 percent of its goal, which it hopes to reach by the end of November. Area residents can follow the progress of the drive by observing the thermometer in the Milford public parking lot at Front and Walnut Streets or the thermometer here in the paper.

Scouts To Hold Recognition Dinner

The Del-Mar-Va Council of the Boy Scouts of America hold its annual recognition dinner at the Sheraton Motor Inn, Route 13, Dover, Delaware at 6 p.m. on November 1, 1980.

Awards for 25 years of service will be presented to individuals and sponsoring organizations and seven Silver Beaver awards will be presented for distinguished service. In addition, the new Whitney M. Young, Jr. service award will be presented to two honorees.

Dr. Philip Toman, Director of Communications, New Castle County School District, will serve as Master of Ceremonies and Crigadier General Herbery Temple, Deputy Director of the Army National Guard, at the National Guard Bureau, Washington D.C. will be the principle speaker.

Tickets for the dinner may be obtained by contacting the local scouting officials or by calling the council office at 652-3741.

Del. Board of Realtors endorse candidacy of Republican B. Brad Barnes, Jr.

The Delaware State Board of Realtors has endorsed the candidacy of Republican B. Bradford Barnes, Jr. for Representative of the 38th District.

Although it is the first attempt for Barnes for an elective office, the realtors endorsement follows Barnes' strong personal record in his efforts to promote new business for the state of Delaware.

As an appointed member of the Sussex Committee of 100 to seek new business for the county as well as his twelve years as a volunteer speaker to the area high schools on behalf of ACES (American for the Competitive Enterprise Systems), Barnes has consistently worked to provide a favorable atmosphere for new business to come to the area to provide the badly needed jobs to reduce unemployment.

His opponent, however, in almost ten years of holding office has contributed little or no effort in this regard, and therefore, Bradford Barnes, Jr. has been endorsed on his personal record alone.

Miss National Teenager

Young ladies of this area are invited to enter the tenth annual Delaware Nation Teen-ager Pageant to be held at the Bandywine Hilton in Claymont, Delaware, on July 10, 11, 12, 1981. This is the official state finals to the Miss National Teen-ager Pageant to be held in August, 1981. The Miss National Teen-ager Pageant has been televised national for the past four years.

Dimes and dollars dropped into official UNICEF Day Collection Cartons on or around Halloween will be translated by UNICEF into clean water, good food, basic health care, and education for millions of the world's poorest children. This Saturday, October 25 from 1-3 p.m. children from the community churches will gather together at the Harrington Century Club and with proper identification, will "Trick-or-Treat" for UNICEF.

There are many ways of us can help: time chaparones, tagging, refreshments and of course financially. If you can help, call Jerrie Outten 398-3860.
