Angry Parents Protest Lake Forest Board's Jacket Action

A small, but angry group of parents descended on the Lake Forest School Board Monday night to protect the District's handling of an incident in which their children's coats were damaged last spring. The jackets, belonging to about 10 out of a class of about 22 children were found splashed with some substance that had eaten through the fabric in various places. They were hanging in a hallway near the children's classroom at Lake Forest North Elementary in Felton.

Subsequent investigation by the state police and school official was unsuccessful in either finding the person responsible or identifying the substance which has been variously described as some sort of acid or cleaning fluid.

In the aftermath, the district's insurer, the Pratt Insurance Company disclaimed any responsibility for the jackets, saying the school had not been proved negligent in the matter. Follow-up letter to the insurance company and to Delaware's insurance commissioner did not change that decision.

When it was finally learned that the insurance company would not pay for the damage to the coats, the Lake Forest Board, in a split (3-2 decision), decided the district should not pay for them. Setting a precedent that could become very costly was the reason given. Through no fault of the school, many items belonging to students are lost, damaged or stolen each year. Board members felt the district could not be liable for these.

The parents who attended Monday night's board session were upset over the decision, but they were even more angry because they say they were not informed of the decision or the progress of the case. And several claimed their calls were not returned or that they were treated brusquely by a secretary. They think the district should have pressed the matter further with the insurance company. Several were concerned that the children were allowed to wear or carry their jackets home that day.

Mrs. Ray Porter, irate over the district's failure to pay for the jackets and over a letter from the insurance company that used the word "voluntarily" in refusing to pay is the district were not proved negligent, said, "The (conclusion) I received from the school board was that if a child was blinded or received a broken leg, the parents themselves would have to fight the insurance company of the school district.

Several said their children were very upset by the incident. Ms. Esther Eastman says she cannot convince her son to wear his new jacket because he is afraid something will happen to it. Mrs. William Kornramph said, "When my child came home from school that day (and what happened was not clear to her) she made up her own explanation-she thought it was a monster. Mrs. Kornramph said her daughter was afraid to go to school the next day and commented, "I thinks its pretty sad when a child is afraid to go to school."

Ms. Janey Bordley questioned why the children were allowed to wear or carry their jackets home when it was thought that acid might have been the damaging substance.

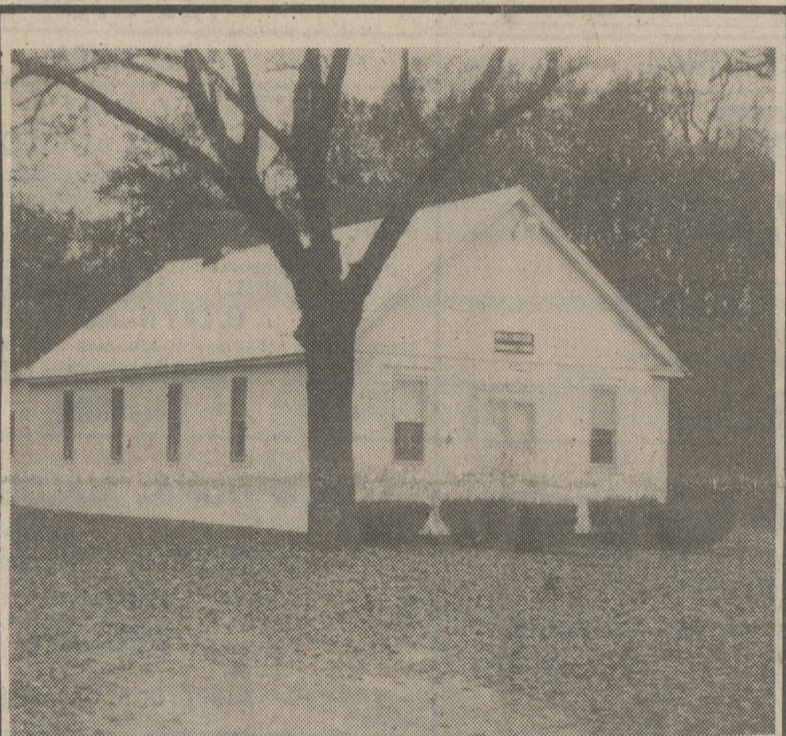

One mother claimed it burned her skin when she touched the jacket after her child returned home. But Lake Forest North Principal Frank Young said he had handled the fabric with no ill effects, and he and the school nurse decided it was safe for the children to take their jackets home. The discovery of the jackets, he said, was made just as it was time for them to get on the buses to go home.

Some of the parents present claimed the school was negligent in having the coats hanging in an unsupervised hallway, rather than in a classroom Underway at last-Work began this week on the new parking lot at the corner of Fleming and Mechanic Streets in Harrington. The parking lot, to be landscaped, will be a part of the facilities at the Harrington Senior Center. Tilon Warren is doing the work. In the background are the old Journal building and the railroad.

The Millwood Community Center, leased by the Cedar Field Ruritans for 10 years, is undergoing extensive repairs. Originally constructed, and then reconstructed after a fire in the 1916-1918 time period, the center is located near Tub Mill, just north of Milford. It had fallen into dis repair in recent years.

Cedar Field Ruritans Rebuild Millwood Community Center

by Harry G. Farrow, Publisher
Tubmill, Milford, De. The original Millwood Community center was built sometime between 1916 and 1918. It burned immediately following its construction. The present one was constructed right after the fire and stands today near Tub Mill just north of Milford. The building in recent years had falling into a state of badly needed repairs.

The Cedar Field Ruritans came to the rescue of the old building. They have leased it for 10 years for a meeting place and have begun extensive repairs on the building. The 28 member body had put a new addition adding one conference room and two bathrooms. They also plac extensive rebuilding to the kitchen.

Last Wednesday night was Agriculture Night at the Millwood Community Hall. Ron Jester a safety specialist and Energy Counseling coordinator from the Univ. of Delaware Extension office at Georgetown was the guest speaker. Jester spoke about energy usages in agriculture. He talked about using instruments for measuring moisture in the ground when irrigating so that conserving measures could be used. These measuring devices used by the law of Del. can tell a farmer when to irrigate. They can also measure pumping plant performances in situations where water flow is used to feed stock. Again they use measures to conserve energy by measuring devices. He also related how they have instructed farmers on grain drying and getting the most efficient performances out of farm machinery again those are energy saving devices.

Jester concluded that of America can conserve 30 to 40 percent in the area of energy conservation we will no longer be dependent on foreign oil. He got a rousing round of cheers and applause.

Council Holds Special Meeting

CITY HALL: The Mayor and City Councilmen held a special meeting on Monday night. A policy was adopted for sick leave for City employees. Councilman Harold Brode proposed that each City employee be entitled to a day and a quarter of sick time for each month to the City's payroll, beginning when the motion was passed on Monday night. According to Brode's proposal, the sick time can be accumulated, but when an employee leaves, no pay will be rendered to the person. It can be accumulated, but it must be used up before leaving the City's employee. Another measure which was considered in the new policy was that in a case where there is a holiday and an employee takes the day before and the day after a holiday off, that person will not be paid for any of the three days unless he presents a doctor's excuse.

In other matters, The Mayor and Councilmen went in executive session to consider several applications for City Manager. They have not decided on a suitable replacement for departing David Peterson. Two public hearings were set for contract renewal between CATV and the City and a zoning change on the property at 110 East Center St. Harrington.

Bi-County United Way Goes Over the Top

The goal was $31,000. The accomplishment has already exceeded that goal. With nearly $5,000 pledged by the Harrington area alone, Bi-County United Way campaign director Robert J. White, of Milford was able to report this week that the 1980 effort has reached 106.5 percent of its fund raising goal. With final figures still to come, the final total should be higher, perhaps even the $37,000 that was privately hoped for.

Three local directors have been especially instrumental in a successful Harrington area campaign. They are George Luff, Carl June and Gene Price. Luff and June reached their combined goal for area businesses of $3,000 with a little to spare. In charge of private donations Gene Price raised a surprising $862.00.

Carl June had words of praise for the small businesses and the whole community that responded so well and made this year's campaign a success. He was especially appreciative of the efforts of a band of volunteer businessmen who assisted in canvassing small businesses. These included Bob Taylor, Bob Everline, Lee Dean, Ron Hughes, Ruth Phillips and Lynn Hitchens, (Felton area).

George Luff was responsible for contacting the large corporations in the area.

A big plus was the $956 contributed by Lake Forest School District employees. The campaign is the two school districts, Milford and Harrington was coordinated by Jack Nylund of Milford.

Deadline Extended for Parade Entries

The Harrington Jaycees have extended the deadline for entries in the 1980 Christmas parade to be December 3. The parade is to be on December 6.

Jaycee Bob Outten reported that about seven or eight bands have already been entered in the competition which will feature the theme "Winter Wonderland."

Before the parade there will be a van show on the parking lot at People's Bank, and an antique car show on the First National Bank parking lot. All vans entering will receive a dashboard plaque, and there will be a trophy for the winning van. Trophies will go to antique car winners.

The dual shows are set for 11 a.m. Parade time is 1:30 p.m.

Legion Launches Reye's Syndrome Information Campaign

A public information campaign to alert Harrington parents of children under age 18 to the dangers of Reye's Syndrome is being launched by CKRT-Post 7 of The American Legion. Post Commander Walter C. LeKites, Jr. announced today that the Legion has embarked on a nationwide drive to inform parents about this malady which some doctors have labeled, "the polio of the 80's."

Reye's (pronounced "rye's") Syndrome is a complication of a viral infection-the flu, measles, chicken pox, etc.- whose cause and prevention are unknown. It affects normal, active, primarily healthy children 18 and under. It is swift and deadly, but not contagious.

"In a matter of days it can kill or cripple nearly half its victims," Commander LeKites states. "The key to surviving RS lies in early detection and treatment. In order to provide the best chances for survival, parents must know what to look for and what to do when RS is suspected."

Usually, a child appears to be recovering from a viral infection when the first signs of RS occur in the form of recurrent, relentless, vomiting which may be followed by personality changes, headaches, and relentlessness.

A child who is recovering from a viral illness should be observed carefully. If RS is suspected, the parent should contact a physician immediately or take the child to a hospital emergency room. Quick action is imperative in order to give the RS victim the greatest opportunity for recovery.

A pioneer of many programs to benefit children-physically, spiritually, and emotionally-The American Legion, and its Auxiliary, have accepted the challenge of this public information campaign to alert parents to this malady, Commander LeKites explained.

Local Police Arrest Two

Harrington: Harrington Police Chief Carl McIlroy arrested two suspects Thomas McKewen and Michael Anton both of Lincoln and charged them with 9 counts each of criminal violations. Koth suspects posted bond and were released for future arraignment before the Kent County Court of common Pleas in Dover. The suspects allegedly unlawfully entered the building of Delmarva Packaging and attempted to remove copper wire from within the building. The alleged crimes took place late Saturday night Nov. 15th or early Sunday Nov. 16th.

Susan Parent presents a plaque from the Delaware Volunteer Fireman's Association in her honor for winning first place in all three categories, local, county and state, in the Fire Prevention Week Poster Contest to Mr. Richard Seyler, Principal of Lake Forest East in Frederica.

Lake Forest School Board Hears Parent's Complaints

and wondered why they had since been removed to the classroom.

Mr. Young said it had been the practice for a long time to hang the coats on hangers in the hall.

Both Lake Forest Superintendents William Cline and Board President Cliff Chambers admitted the district was wrong in not having written to the parents to explain the progress of the investigation, the insurance company's reaction and the boards decision not to pay for the damage.

But Cline said the district had followed through with the insurance company, even to the point of taking the matter to the Insurance Commissioner. They defended the Boards subsequent decision against paying for the damages on the groups of setting a precedent which would leave the district open to a host of claims.

Not satisfied with the answers they received, the parents demanded copies of all minutes and reports, including the police report, dealing with the investigation and the decision. Board President Cliff Chambers promised they would receive the copies.

School officials said they had received no copy of the state police report. But they promised to get one and get copies for the parents.

In other Business the Lake Forest Board

-approved a district budget totaling $6,667,235 for the school year. Of that, $5,584,169 comes from the state. $1,083,066 is supplied through local real estate taxes.

-heard the bond company guaranteeing the roof at the high school delayed or refused to turn over the money to repair the new roof put on by Tri-State. Roof leaks were evident again in Monday night's downpour. The school has been plagued by roof problems since the first roof put on in 1978 failed. Litigation over that fiasco with a number of defendants (contractors, architects, etc) has been going on for about nine years.

-heard the district has received a $3,500 (instead of the $35,000 requested) in an energy conservation grant from the state.

-heard the high school pool is still waiting for the delivery of some parts before its heater can be repaired.

-approved assigning a custodian to the pool area and a separate phone line for the pool. Board President asked Aquatics coordinator Dennis Berry to get the latest price on hair dryers for use in the locker rooms. Parents of elementary school students taking the swim instruction have complained that their children have to leave for the bus with wet hair.

-granted the AFS (American Field Service) permission to use to pool for a party from 7-9 p.m. on Saturday as it hosts an AFS weekend.

-gave LF senior Karen Wothers $200 towards attending a "Washington Workshop" in February.

-agreed to come up with $940 to subsidize last years yearbook which, despite what faculty advisors Patricia Jones and Charles Brown describe as a great effort by their students who brought in more money than every before, when in the hole. Rising costs were blamed. This year's yearbook has been trimmed to eliminate some of the expense, and the price will go up to $14 (from last year's $10). But escalating costs may put the feasibility of an ongoing yearbook program seriously in question. If this year's students can sell about 500 books and bring in $2000 in advertising, they may be able to meet the $8412 budget.

STATE TEACHER OF THE YEAR: June C. Soukup, social studies teacher at Sussex Central Senior High School, Georgetown, has been named Delaware Teacher of the Year of 1981. The 49-year-old Seaford resident was cited for representing the best traits of Delaware teachers in a program organized by the State Department of Public Instruction. Selection was announced by State Superintendent of Public Instruction William B. Keene.

Glaucoma Often Undetected in U.S.

In the United States alone, about 800,000 cases of glaucoma are undetected.

Glaucoma, a rapidly destructive eye disease, is characterized by high pressure within the eyeball, says a booklet from the American Medical Association.

This pressure causes deterioration of the optic nerve and can lead to blindness. The latest figures show that 12 per cent of all blindness in the United States results from glaucoma. With proper medical treatment, however, visual damage can be prevented.

Common forms of glaucoma usually are found during a routine eye examination because symptoms are often not present. Blurring of vision, especially if the disease worsens and spreads, indicates that the disorder is well underway.

Glaucoma occurs most often in patients more than 40 years old and is occasionally inherited. Patients in this age group, especially those with a family history of eye disease, who suffer repeated symptoms of aching or discomfort of the eye without satisfactory relief from eye-glasses, should have a glaucoma test. The test measures pressures within the eyeball by means of a tonometer, a device that, when pressed on the anesthetized cornea, registers the pressure within the eye.

If the tonometer shows a high reading, which is an indication of glaucoma, further testing is done with a gonioscope. This device consists of a mirror or prism and contact lens and is used for viewing the angle of the eye chamber where the cornea and the iris are joined. In this way, the examiner can determine what type of glaucoma a patient has. Other vision tests also will be done.

Glaucoma can be treated by medications prescribed by a physician. Surgery is used only in a relatively few advanced cases.

Wanted

The above composite picture described a white or possibly Hispanic male, 18 to 25 years old, wanted in connection with the murder of William S. Hasting, 58, who was killed in a holdup at Lord's Liquor Store in Bridgeville.

The suspect was seen wearing a long brown or gray trench coat and a round brim hat. He was also carrying a duffel bag. His height was judged at between 5' 8" and six feet and his weight at about 150 pounds.

At the time he was seen, he had a three-day growth of beard. He left the scene carrying a 12 gauge shotgun.

Anyone with information is asked to call the Delaware State Police, Troop 5, Bridgeville, DE at 337-8251.

Something you should Know about Medicare

Part B of Medicare pays for doctors' bills and other medical services.

Each year you are responsible for the first $60 in reasonable charges. Medicare pays 80 percent of the reasonable charges after the first $60. You are then responsible for the other 20 percent. Sounds simple, doesn't it?

And yet, what is a "reasonable" charge? In deciding this, Medicare reviews annually the usual charges for the same service in a particular locality and puts into effect the new "reasonable" charge rates.

Payments under Medicare are then determined by whether or not your doctor wishes to be paid directly by Medicare. If the doctor wishes to be paid directly, this method is called assignment. The doctor's office files out the paperwork (form 1490) which you sign and which is then mailed to Medicare for payment. By using assignment, the doctor is agreeing that the "reasonable charge" is the total charge. After Medicare pays the doctor 80 percent (excluding the deductible) then you owe the doctor the other 20 percent of the reasonable charge.

If the doctor does not accept the assignment then you should mail to Medicare from 1490 and attach all itemized bills. Please Note: You can mail in unpaid itemized bills as well as paid bills.

In cases where you request payment, the Medicare reimbursement check will be sent directly to you. Also, in meeting the $60 deductible you must only incur the $60 in reasonable charge. You do not have to pay the $60 before Medicare will state sending you reimbursement checks.

If you have a question about Medicare or payment methods write to me at Social Security Administration, Box BB, Dover, De. 19901

A cookie tree, children's shop and dried flower arrangements will be among the many items offered. Lunch will be served 11:00 to 2:00.

I want to wish a very Happy Birthday to my father-in-law Mr. William Bright. He will be 80 years old Nov. 22-Happy Birthday Dad!

I want to wish a November 22 Happy Birthday to Betty Jane Kemp of Harrington, also she and her uncle William Bright celebrate together.

When Ellen returned from Williamsburg recently she brought me a book that I have enjoyed immensely. It is entitled "American Folk Medicine" and gives many of the old-time remedies for illnesses. I was amazed that, running through the cures for various ailments, honey was one of the major material's used. It must be very healing. Under remedies for asthma one paragraph states that a teaspoonful of hot honey every quarter of an hour is a sure cure.

The section on headaches was interesting to me since I suffered from headaches even as a child. One item here suggests "Peel and slice raw potatoes and bind them to the forehead with a cloth that reaches around the head." My mother's sure cure for headache was to soak a piece of brown paper sack in vinegar, add black pepper as bind around the head as tightly as was comfortable. It always worked and I can still smell the vinegar fumes as they assailed my nostrils and slows the pain. Why don't we try that now? It certainly could not hurt anyone.

This binding of the head for headaches was so prevalent when I was growing up that is when it became the fashion for teenagers to wear a ribbon around their head some way was always asking, "Do you have a headache?" Another remedy here say, "Bind fresh mint across the forehead." And yet another, "Bind a cloth wet with spirits of camphor and black pepper."

Here's a more complicated one for headaches. "Fresh leaves of common burdock, fresh roots of poke, fresh garlic, garden onions, with mustard seed. Apply any of these to the soles of the feet."

Here's an interesting one. "The worst case of hay fever that every existed can be helped by the use of the leaves and flowers of common ragweed and goldenrod. Mix herbs and use 1/2 ounce to each pint of boiling water and steep ten minutes. Strain. Take a wineglassful four times daily." (That's fighting fire with fire, is it not?)

The section on whooping cough offered many helps. Here's an odd one: "Put a hen's eff in a china cup and cover over with pure apple vinegar. Let it stand until the outer shell crumbles off like lime. Empty the egg into the vinegar. Beat up and season to taste with honey. Give as needed to loosen the phlegm in small or large doses according to the age of the child, and repeat often."

Another one: "Take a gill each of garlic, sweet oil and honey. Add one ounce of camphor: cook the garlic in the oil and strain and add the other ingredients. Take one teaspoonful three or four times a day or as needed. This will cure the worst case."

Now here's the real odd one. This was not in the book of remedies. I found it in a clipping and it comes under the head of superstitions. The clipping states: "An old Delaware remedy for whooping cough was to give the afflicted child bread and butter spread by one who did not change his family name at marriage!"

Another cure that was used by old-time doctors for various ailments was to bleed the patient. This evidently extended to animals also. In an old clipping I found this interesting note: "Found! An old-time tavern that does not claim Washington slept or ate under its roof--the Red Lion Inn, now a private resident, near New Caslte...he stopped here only to bleed his horst to cure the animal's lameness!"

Greenwood By Pat Hatfield 349-4255.

Report from Hickory Ridge Congregational Methodist Church: Eighty-seven people joined us for the morning worship service and many attended the St. Johnstown Homecoming Service in the afternoon. In our Evening service we were thrilled to hear the testimony of "Butch" Pepper and the change that has come into his life.

Our Youth Group's participation in UNICEF had little advertising, but were able to collect $43.00 to help hunger and malnutrition in children. According to the report, immunizations can be given to eight children for every dollar collected. Two dollars can buy the rehydragon salts to treat 24 seriously involved children and four dollars can vaccinate 80 children against disteria, whooping cough and tetanus. Everyone enjoyed the party afterward.

Our thanks to everyone who helped with our Bake and our Stanley party.

Don't forget our sick with a visit or word of cheer: George Johnson has had surgery again at Kent General: Mary Willey is also at Kent General following throat surgery. Some of those at Milford Hospital are Helen Payne, Mabel Passwaters, Beatrice Drummon, Grace Draper, Anna Mansfield, Bonnie Callaway, Jacob Vannicola, Paul Drummons, Bryan Passwaters. Carlisle Farrow and Lester Draper are very ill at home.

Greenwood United Methodist Church observed its 100th Anniversary on Sunday. Everyone enjoyed the morning and afternoon services with our home-town boys...the Rev. William A. Davis in the morning and the Rev. Everett Isaacs in the afternoon. Over 200 guests were served at the five o'clock dinner in the Fellowship hall.

Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Allison Davis were the Rev. William A. Davis, Jr. of Cleveland, Tenn., Mr. and Mrs. Graydon Hurst of Wilmington, Dr. William Lord of Georgetown, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Davis of Federalsburg, Tony Anthony of Felton, Ms. Dawn Shockley and daughters, Kim of Milford and Mrs. Barbara Davis of Harrington.

Callers at the Jacob Hatfield residence this week were Lawrence Meredith, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Castell and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Denn.

Mrs. Jacob Hatfield was a Tuesday evening dinner guest of Mrs. Theresa Ottey.

Mr. and Mrs. William Bollinger of Lewisburg, Pa. have been house guests of their son and family, Mr. and Mrs. Gary Bollinger. On Friday evening Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Hatfield joined them for dinner.

Mrs. Ellen Bollinger and her house guest, Mrs. William Bollinger of Lewisburg, Pa., her mother Mrs. Jacob Hatfield and friend, Mrs. Theresa Ottey enjoyed a ride southward, enjoying the autumn foliage, visiting The Fabric Barn in Dagsboro and having lunch at Sam's Restaurant in Millsboro on Monday.

Mrs. Kathryn Kubeck and her son-in-law, Mr. C.E. Seibert, are both guests in the Shangri-La Nursing Home in Laurel at the present writing.

Harrington Flotilla Elects Officers

Harrington Flotilla 12-08, U.S. Coast Guard Auxiliary, held their monthly meeting on Tuesday night, Nov. 11, at St. Stephen's Church.

Election of officers for 1981 were held and Jack Seacord of Dover will be the new Flotilla Commander and Donald McKnatt of Harrington, Flotilla Vice-Commander.

Many of the Flotilla members volunteered their boats and their time this past summer to conduct Safety Patrols on the Delaware Bay. George Hunt, Operations Staff Officer, reported that our patrol vessels had assisted over one hundred boats on thirty-six patrols. The time spent on patrol was 366 hours with 1100 man hours.

Plans are now being made to conduct a Basic Skills and Seamanship course early in 1981. This is a very worthwhile course for beginning sail and power boat owners and a refresher for present owners. Such topics as communication, boat handling, anchoring, rules of the road, aids-to-navigations, safety and others will be given.

Get well wishes go to all who are hospitalized and shut in! Take care, Share a smile, and God Bless.

Next Week The Harrington Journal will be Published on Tuesday Nov. 25th. All Correspondence should be in by Friday Nov. 21 5 P.M.

Spirit & Life Tabernacle

Spirit and Life Tabernacle Christian Academy began the school year by enjoying the good blessings of the Lord and welcoming several new students.

Representatives teachers from the school attended the A Beka Book Christian Teacher's Conference at the Airport Holiday Inn in Linthicum, Md. The conference was held by the staff of Pensacola Christian School of Pensacola, Florida. The teachers who attended enjoyed a day rich in new teaching methods and tips for making the lessons more interesting. They were impressed with the strong Spiritual emphasis which the people from Pensacola have in common with this school.

During our Friday assembly, the hearts of some in the audience were touched as the students in Sister Pusey's K-5 class; Shawn Williams, Susan Lockhart, Sarah Rohleder, and D.J. McKnight; held their hands toward heaven and praised God. It was a beautiful sight which made it easy to see why Jesus said that we must be like children before we can enter into His Kingdom.

Our Harvest Party was a great success! We enjoyed roasting hot dogs and marshmallows around a campfire, singing and playing games.

For desert we had a beautiful decorated Harvest Cake. We all had a wonderful time of fun and fellowship.

The Lord has been blessing us by adding to our school, and he has also blessed us with more teachers. Because of this extra blessing, we have room for a few more students in some grades. For information on how to apply call 349-4876 between the hours of 9:00 a.m.-4:00 p.m.

Spirit and Life Tabernacle Christian Academy is praising God for His many blessings and anticipating a wonderful year of growth both scholastically and spiritually.

Asbury United Methodist Church

The Union Thanksgiving Service will be held at Asbury United Methodist Church on Wednesday, November 26 at 7:00 p.m. The Rev. Rudolph Garnes, Pastor of Metropolitan United Methodist Church will be the speaker. Other ministers taking part are The Rev. C.J. Robinson, Asbury U.M. Church, The Rev. Richard A. Koning, Church of the Nazarene, The Rev. William Miller, Calvary Wesleyan and The Rev. Bruce Shortell, St. Stephen's Episcopal Church.

As we come in thanksgiving to God for all his blessing let us remember others who are less fortunate than we are. Bring a gift of non-perishable food so that others will not be hungry. We especially need Spaghetti sauce, canned fruit, some flour sugar.

This is a good opportunity to meet together as the family of God to express our gratitude to Him for all His blessings.

Janecees Dance

will Provide Finale to Parade Day

After the parade-the dance. As the Harrington Jaycees kick off the local Christmas season with the annual parade, the Janecees are set to provide an extra note of celebration to the day-a dance, with the 50's as its theme. Disc jockey Dennis Hozzard will be featured.

The dance is set for the W.T.

Chipman cafeteria from 9 p.m. to 1 p.m. on Saturday, Dec. 6 and the dance is one move in the Janecees' continuing project of funding the Harrington Public Library. All proceeds will go into that effort. Those interested in tickets at $8 per couple can call 398-8031. The dance will be B.Y.O.B. with set-ups available.

IT WAS ONCE RUMORED...

THAT A RIPE PINEAPPLE COULD BE CHOSEN BY FINDING ONE WHOSE LEAVES PULLED OUT FROM THE CROWN EASILY OR ONE WHOSE SHELL COLOR WAS GOLDEN.

ACCORDING TO DOLE, THE WORLD'S LEADING PRODUCER OF PINEAPPLE, NEITHER OF THESE CHARACTERISTICS ARE TRUE INDICATORS OF RIPE PINEAPPLE.

JUICY AND READY-TO-EAT PINEAPPLES COME IN A VARIETY OF SHELL COLORS AND PINEAPPLE LEAVES ARE RELATIVELY EASY TO PULL FROM THE CROWN.

TO DETERMINE RIPENESS, DOLE HARVESTERS EMPLOY A SPECIAL INSTRUMENT CALLED A REFRACTOMETER TO MEASURE THE RATIO OF SWEETNESS TO ACID. THE PINEAPPLE THAT REGISTERS THE SWEETEST, AND THEREFORE THE RIPEST, SERVES AS A COLOR MODEL, AND ALL THAT MATCH ITS HUE ARE PICKED AT HARVEST TIME. PINEAPPLES ARE PICKED BY HAND TO STILL FURTHER ASSURE PROPER RIPENESS.

De Haven Victories in Dragway Finale

Delmar, De...Some new cars in the field intensified competition in the season finale at the U.S. 13 Dragway this past weekend. Sundays event marked the conclusion of one of the most successful drag racing seasons in recent years.

Charles DeHaven of Salisbury, MD, took home top honors by winning his Heavy Eliminator and then defeating the Super Pro winner Craig Hennige behind the wheel of his Whoopie car in the finals of the four eliminators run off. DeHaven efforts netted him a total of $750.00 in total prize money.

Qualifying for low elapsed time (E.T.) which was determined during early morning time trials, saw Tod Mack's rear-engine dragster post a low E.T. of 7.09 at 192.50 m.p.h. for an opened bodied racer and John Long of Takoma Park, MD.

The thirty-seven car Super Pro field was narrowed down the Craig Hennige, Butch Biesecker and Tod Mack. Hennige defeated Biesecker and Mack for the $500.00 first place money and the Super Pro title. The second place run off between Biesecker's '73 Pinto and Macks dragster went to Biesecker as Mack was unable to make it to the starting line. Brian Dennis of Salisbury, Md. came away with the Pro Eliminator crown by defeating Matt Bryan of Dover, Del. Dennis had exceptional reaction times on all of his runs during eliminations. Benny Parker of Federalsburg Md. was the Pro semi-finalist.

In the Heavy Eliminator semi-finals, Sterling Clough of Marion, Md. beat Ronald Pritchett of Dover, Del. and Charles DeHaven defeated Francis Reynolds of Faulkner, Md.

The final run between Clough and DeHaven found Clough running under his dial in by .04 hundredths of a second giving the win to DeHaven.

After a years absence from drag racing, Leah Cordrey returned to the winners circle by defeating Jay Bradford of Newark, Md. to capture the Street Eliminator honors. This run was the closest one of the day. At the finish line both drivers had run under their dial ins. Bradford had run out by .002 thousandths of a second more than Cordrey giving her the win.

Robert Butler of Delmar, Del. and Rick Watson of Atlantic, Va. were the Street Eliminator semi-finalists.

Michael Durham of Dover, Del. chalked up another Pro Bike Eliminator title with his win over George Mosley of Cheswold, Del. Durham 1980 Kawasaki stopped the clocks with a 12.78 at 89.60 m.p.h.

Troy Dryden of Salisbury, Md. captured the Youth Division with a final round win over Gary Tingle.

Reed & Breeding Race at Tampa

Tampa, Fla. Walt Breeding and Norris Reed moved the #1 Camaro to Tampa this past weekend for a 100 lap race there. "We were supposed to race on Friday night and Saturday, but it rained both days. We started the 100 lapper and ran 18 laps when she got hot. We don't know what the problem was. There was a good field of cars, and we had a lot of fun for as long as it lasted", said Breeding.

Buck Simmons won the race, Larry Moore was second, Kenny Brightbill third, Will Cagle fourth, and George Harrison fifth.

Paul "Buck" Meyers whose son Mike drove the Sportsman ranks at Georgetown this year was also on hand as was Francis "Dutch" Warrington. "Dutch" recently underwent open heart surgery in Philadelphia. The doctors there replaced and repaired veins in his heart.

According to Norris Reed "...the weather was very good, during the day, but it rained every night. So we couldn't race. On Sunday it was set for a daytime race."

N.C. Fan Wins Goody's Sweepstakes

Daytona Beach, Fla.-Motor Racing Network and Goody's Manufacturing Company of Winston-Salem, NC are pleased to announce the winner of the "Daytona 500 Dream Vacation" in the Goody's "Race For The Money Sweepstakes".

Of the nearly ten thousand entries received since the contest began in February, twenty-five percent have been from the state of North Carolina with Georgia ranking a close second followed by entries from South Carolina, Virginia, Tennessee, West Virginia, Florida, Pennsylvania, Indiana and Connecticut.

Entries have been received from as far away as Alaska and West Germany where several MRN broadcasts are heard on American Forces Network.

The Goody's Grand Prize winner is Gary Abernethy of Hickory, NC. who will receive a pair of tickets to the Daytona 500 and Daytona Sportsman 300, a tour of the NASCAR garage area, lodging for two nights at the Kings Inn Daytona and $500 cash.

When MRN executive producer, Mike Joy, called Abernethy to inform him of his winnings, Gary's first comments were, "If I didn't recognize your voice, I'd think you were putting me on," Abernethy is twenty-nine and self-employed in the woodwork-ing business in Hickory. He annually attends eight to ten Winston Cup races per year.

Abernethy first heard of the contest on MRN's affiliate WIRC in Hickory and meeting the contest requirements, which included sending the front panel from a box of Goody's Headache Powder, was not a problem since he is a frequent user of the product.

"It's a good product", Abernethy remarked. "It really works for me." And now, the addition to curing his headache, Goody's is ending Abernethy to the Daytona 500. A prize like that would probably cure anybody's headache.

ARCA Circuit eligible for $1,000 Bonus

Daytona Beach, Fla.-Nine drivers on the Automobile Racing Club of American (ARCA) circuit are eligible to pick up at $1,000 bonus just for starting the first race of 1981 season.

Known as the Daytona Challenge, the drivers must enter and start the ARCA 200 at the Daytona International Speedway on February 8th. They became eligible for the Daytona Challenge bonus for winning an ARCA race in 1980, or by being the highest finishing non-winner in races that had repeat winners.

Bruce "Pee Wee" Griffin was the ninth driver to become eligible for the Daytona Challenge when he placed second to previous winner Billie Harvey at Michigan International Speedway last month.

In addition to Griffin and Harvey, other drivers eligible for the cash bonus are 1980 point champion Bob Dotter, 1978-79 champion Marvin Smith, 1980 ARCA 200 winner John Rezak, Phil Parsons, Joe Ruttman, Bob Schacht and Scott Stovall.

Some other ARCA starts weren't as fortunate, failing to qualify for the $1,000 bonus. They include Delmar Clark, Bill Green, Moose Myers and Rick Roland, all of whom are certain to be in strong contention for the checkered flag.

The ARCA 200 is part of stock car racing's most exciting triple-header, and kicks off the stock car portion of Speed Weeks '81 at Daytona. Also on the schedule for February are pole position qualifying for the Daytona 500 and the Busch Clash of '81 featuring the Winston Cup pole winners of 1980.

Helping Children Cope With The Loss Of A Parent

Losing a spouse through death or divorce is stressful for any parent. You are left to cope with your own emotions and your children's, plus your financial situation and a host of other problems.

You may have a strong impulse to change everything in your life--to move out of town, find a new job, or run into another marriage. But the best thing to do is to wait, advises Delaware Extension family living agent Deborah Walker. All these changes may come about in good time, but they could cause you and your children undue stress in the immediate aftermath of your loss. Give yourself a chance to adjust before jumping into new situations.

Don't move at this time unless you really have to. If finances make a move necessary, it's best to try to stay in the same neighborhood or school district. Familiar environments can provide comfort.

Your children may be more adaptable than you think, but they'll need time to deal with the loss. Some children react with offensive behavior; this could be their way of letting out the hurt. Let them know it's alright to show their feelings and to cry. Otherwise penned-up feelings could be channeled into anti-social behavior later on.

Children always react to change in the family. Often they fear they were responsible for the loss. Young children may also feel that "if I've lost one parent, I could lose another," thus becoming extremely attached to the remaining parent. To remedy this problem, call home regularly to offer reassurance when you're working. Also designate a regular night out for yourself each week. Prepare the children for your departure and reassure them you'll be home. Eventually they'll adjust to your comings and goings.

Your children will look to you for guidance. If your actions show you'll survive, the children will share your confidence. If you show your fears, the children will share them.

Work seems to be the best cure for divorced or widowed parent. A job forces you to think about something other than your own troubles and relieves some of your loneliness. The twin responsibilities of job and children will help you realize that life must go on.

SAFETY in your CAR

Driving Your Truck Safely

More and more Americans on the move are steering a straighter path to safety and economy by renting a van or truck for that do-it-yourself move to their new home. To help put you in the truck driver's seat, here are some expert tips from the Safe Driving Bureau of Budget Rent a Car Corporation.

1. Get into the driver's seat first. Adjust to your new line of vision since you'll be much higher off the road than in a car, and adjust your driving mirrors.

2. Study the dashboard. Locate the light switch, windshield wipers, heater, ash tray and horn. In small trucks it will look similar to your car, but the dash looks a bit different on larger trucks.

3. Take a test drive. A truck is less maneuverable than a car, so give yourself extra room when turning corners.

For more safety tips and helpful hints on do-it-yourself moving, a booklet called Moving-It-Yourself Made Easier, is available by sending $.50 for postage and handling to: Budget Rent a Truck, Dept. A, 35 East Wacker Drive, Chicago, Illinois 60601.

BOY SCOUT News

Reservations for 1981 summer camp sessions already have been made by 55 troops in the Del-Mar-Va council, Boy Scouts of America.

Camps Rodney and Nanticoke were used this past summer by 126 troops with 1858 Scouts and adult leaders, which represented a .10 percent increase over last year.

The troops from Delaware and the Eastern Shore of Maryland and Virginia attend camp each year under this own troop leadership.

While each troop participates in its weeklong camping experience, the Scouts have the opportunity to practice many of the educational activities that are part of the total Scouting program.

In addition to the Boy Scouts who attended Camp Rodney this year, 250 10 year old Webelos Scouts also attended.

Also, the first Sailing Camp was offered and 17 young men took part in this exciting week long experience.

The 1981 Sailing Camp will expand in 1981 with the addition of more sailing boats being available.

The first sleeping cars for railroad travel were built by George Pullman in 1858.

Lady Driver puts male chauvinism to rest

Lady driver, Linn Truitt from Sharptown, Maryland, shows the boys how it's done as she takes the win with Nanticoke Gale on far outside at Harrington Raceway recently.

Harrington, Del., You would think that in this day and time of "equal opportunity", "Women's Lib" and the "E.R.A." that people would have learned to judge a woman on her ability, rather than on her gender.

You see, Miss Truitt has been putting the boys there to shame with a 4-year-old mare by the name of Nanticoke Gale. In three starts at the Harrington track, Truitt and Nanticoke Gale have won all three times.

The first time Truitt and Nanticoke Gale won at Harrington this Fall on their paid $30.40 for each two dollar wager. The boys still didn't learn though because the next time out they paid $29.20 for the win.

Although at 23, Miss Truitt is a youngwoman, she's been around horses most of her life. She started showing quarter horses when she was 8 years old and as her love affair with horses grew, so did the amount of time she devoted to their care.

Does she think women drivers are as good as their male counter parts? With a laugh, Miss Truitt responds, "Yes, to a degree and no, to a degree."

She was surprised when she learned that Nanticoke Gale had paid so much after the third win. "You think they (the fans) would get the hint after a while."

Odds are that a few people will have her next time also!

Wheat Prices May Exceed $3.81 per Bushel

The target price for 1981 crop wheat will be increased to at least $3.81 per bushel, 18 cent over the 1980 level, James S. Metz, Chairman of the Kent Country Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committee, said.

All farmers are eligible to participate in the 1981 wheat program. There are no set-aside requirements. Producers need only to be sure they plant within the normal crop acreage (NCA) to be eligible for the farmer-owned grain reserve, commodity loans, and target price protection.

Metz said the 1980 planted and considered planted acres includes actual acreage planted for harvest. "Farmers should continue to use good farming practices and not enter fragile and marginal lands into wheat production.

The grain reserve release and call prices for 1981 will be increased from the current $4.20 and 5.25 to keep them consistent with the cost of producing wheat.

Farmers are expected to place a sufficient quantity of their 1980 crop wheat into the reserve to boost farm prices over the current release price to satisfy 1980/81 market requirements.

According to Metz, a paid diversion program and/or a haying and grazing program will be offered to farmers if it becomes evident that wheat supplies are excessive in 1981.

Dover Downs Announces Opening of Harness Racing

Dover, De. -Dover Downs Raceway will open its harness racing season Sunday, November 30, 1980 and continue through Saturdays and 1 p.m. on Sundays. Mondays will be dark.

Headlining the list of staff applications is the powerful stable of Eddie Davis bringing 25 horses to race at the Kent County oval. Davis of Smyrna, Delaware, recently received recognition from the Harness Writers Association of the Delaware Valley as the leading driver at both Brandywine and Liberty Bell Raceways.

are's Preston Burris, Jr. and Tate Lewis with 20 horse each plus the stables of Scotty Johnson, Eddie Morgan, John Conlan, and Mike Spera who have been racing at New York's Vernon Downs.

In addition to Davis, other top drivers scheduled to return are Walt Callahan, last year's leading driver at Dover Downs; Wayne Smullin, a former Dover Downs leading reinsman; a Vernon Crank who has been making an excellent comeback as one of the leading drivers at Brandywine.

With two weeks remaining before the start of the meet, Director of Racing Ted Leonard is continuing the processing of stall applications and looking forward to a possible reevaluation of the racetrack by the United States Trotting Association. Dover Downs conducted a resurfacing of the track last year. "The U.S.T.A. is in the process of updating the rating of Dover Downs due to the faster record times during last year's season," said Leonard. "I hope they will soon classify us as one of the fastest 5/8ths mile harness racing tracks in the nation."

Leonard also announced that the popular Dover Downs Pacing Series will again be a part of its promotional schedule with conditions to be provided at a later date.

Irrigation of field crops, especially corn, is increasing annually in Delaware. An important conference for Crop Irrigators will be held on Monday, November 24 at the Sheraton Inn, Dover. The meeting is sponsored by the Cooperative Extension Service. Delaware farmers have sponsored irrigation as a way to increase yields and avoid complete losses in very dry years. This trend has important ramifications in stabilizing our peninsula's ability to supply grain to potential markets, especially our poultry industry. Since 1977, there have been over 100 irrigation systems installed that typically cover 75-100 acres apiece.

A whole new realm of management comes into play when a grower shoots for higher yields with irrigation. Fertilizer rates, planting rates, and other inputs are altered under irrigation. Average yields under irrigation has been approximately 140-150 bu/A as opposed to 70 bu. in unirrigated conditions. However, in 1979, Pete Makin grew 235 bu/A and in 1980 Bill Hass grew 290 bu/A. Both of these growers, as did 60 others, participated in Dr. Bill Mitchell's Delaware Corn Irrigation Program.

Dr. Mitchell, extension agronomist at the University of Delaware has cooperated with growers in taking soil tests, plant tissue tests, analyzing the results, and help make irrigation and crop management recommendations. Much of the work will be summarized at the Delaware Corn Irrigation Conference.

Several timely subjects will be covered. A summary of Dr. Mitchell's

First State Corn Irrigation Program will be presented. This covers the various management practices and highlights those that are more successful. Featured will be awards to the top irrigated corn producers in each of Delaware's three counties.

Increasing corn yields with irrigation calls for increased plant populations. However, this increase often brings about some stalk rot problems which results in more lodging of the plants at harvest. Dr. James Dodd, of the P-A-G Seed Corn Company, will discuss the stalk rot problems and way to avoid the problem.

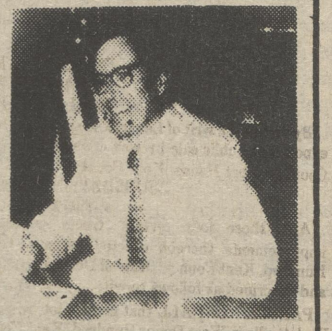

The irrigation systems are being improved upon each year. Dr. Paul Fischbach, a nationally recognized leader in irrigation engineering from the University of Nebraska, will present an illustrated telelecture on the nuts and bolts of irrigation engineering. For the man considering irrigation for the first time, there will be a panel discussion entitled "Planning and Efficiently Operating an Irrigation System". On hand will be a banker, a well-driller, a grower who irrigates, a representative from Delaware's Water Resource Department, and a representative from the National Irrigation Equipment Assn. There will be plenty of time for questions and answers with this panel.

Also on the program will be topics on irrigating soybeans, the use of infra-red photography as an irrigation scheduling tool, and a trade exhibit will be on display. Anyone considering an irrigation system will find the Delaware Corn Irrigation Conference to be a worthwhile day.

THOUGHTS FROM DOVER

By Gov. Pierre S. DuPont

Nathan Hayward III has been named Acting Secretary of Community Affairs and Economic Development and will develop a proposal to merge the State's economic development division with the State's planning agency, while establishing a separate and expanded Cabinet-level Department of Community Affairs.

A similar proposal has been discussed by public officials and business leaders for many years. It now deserves our careful consideration. It is time to separate the unrelated functions within the department and establish instead strengthened organizations which can give full attention to their respective missions.

Nathan Hayward is currently Director of the Office of Management Budget and Planning.

Economic and job development will receive top priority during my second term. A reorganization of the planning and development functions within the Executive Office is essential to help the State to achieve our important economic goals.

More importantly, our essential responsibility to provide quality community and human services deserves the attention of a full-time Cabinet Officer in a Department of Community Affairs.

Hayward will work with members of the General Assembly, officials at all levels of government, and representatives from Delaware's businesses, community, and minority groups in developing a plan to establish a workable division of functions among the government agencies. Hayward's proposal is due in time to allow for the preparation and review of enabling legislation before the January legislative session.

Job development is an essential priority of the State, and it is essential that it receives every bit of support from quality staff analysis, information gathering, visibility, and full time direction. At the same time, the duties of the community agencies deserve more attention as part of our State's responsibilities to ensure equal opportunities for Delaware residents and the delivery of important social services.

Biden Report

By Sen. Joseph Biden Jr.

Veterans Day.

That's the day we set aside to honor the men and women who have fought and died for our country in every war in its history. That was the significance of the November 11 ceremony at the Delaware Memorial Bridge.

Participating in that ceremony was a privilege, and the occasion itself gave clearer meaning to the great national exercise we had all participated in just one week before on Election Day.

All of us who went to the polls that day took part in what amounted to a revolution. I use the word "revolution" in the broadest sense, encompassing more than the violent fighting and toppling of governments the word usually implies. This revolution did indeed bring about a sweeping change in the nation's leadership—the American people replaced a Democratic president with a Republican and, for the first time since the Eisenhower Administration, turned the leadership of the United States Senate over to the Republican Party—but it was a revolution accomplished without the shedding of single drop of American blood.

It is just that right and privilege, that continuity of government, that our veterans have preserved for us—the right to govern ourselves peaceably through our duly elected representatives chosen by secret ballot. It is a truly remarkable mechanism that has endured, with only a few modifications, since our Founding Fathers bequeathed it to us more than two hundred years ago.

It is a system that allows for profound political and social change without totally disrupting our daily lives. And it is a system that remains the envy of most of the rest of the world, where leaders fall and governments are brought down in violence almost every day.

In the United States, the Constitution gives us a method for changing from one legitimate government to another when we are dissatisfied or ready for change. And that system has proven wonderfully adaptable to changing circumstances, including some, like the formation of the political parties, the Founding Fathers wanted to discourage. But the system adjusted, adapted to the changing times and survived.

But it has survived primarily because for us in this country the Constitution is much more than the paper it is written on. More profoundly and more importantly, it embodies a set of strongly held beliefs shared by the great majority of the American people. It represents a common faith derived from the Judeo-Christian religious heritage and from the Anglo-Saxon tradition of justice and strengthened by more than two centuries of challenge successfully met.

When we periodically engage in our brand of revolution, even if we don't all agree with the way an election turns out, we support the results, because we know that provides the greatest strength, stability, and security in our national life.

It is the system that our veterans have fought and died for. Its survival for the debt we owe to the men and women who have sacrificed in all our wars. Its successful renewal on the eve of yet another Veterans Day reminds us powerfully that a debt of such magnitude can never be fully repaid but must always be remembered by a grateful nation.

The Delaware Citizens Committee has announced the awarding of the final construction contract to build a translator that will rebroadcast the WHY Channel 12 signal over Channel 64 in Seaford. This important development was made possible in part by a $148,000 grant from the federal National Telecommunications and Information Administration.

The new translator will bring us one step closer to the day when all the people of Delaware will have access to local, regional and national public television programming.

And it is an achievement that reminds us of what can be accomplished by ordinary citizens taking their time to work together toward a goal that serves the whole community. Such private, voluntary initiative is another key to ingredient in the successful function of the American system, and we our gratitude and our support for the continuing effort of the Delaware Citizens Committee.

Modern Day Santa Gives Life

By Judy Massie

In 1897, a small, bewildered child turned to the printed medium for the answer to a question which has puzzled thousands for many years. And when Francis P. Church, of the New York Sun, answered that child with the famous letter, "Yes Virginia, there is a Santa Claus," he used the newspaper to spread the message of love and the spirit of giving to readers for generations to come.

Often we encounter a modern day Virginia who doubts the true meaning of Christmas. To the questioning Virginia the Blood Bank of Delaware wants to say that goodness and kindness abound.

"Yes Virginia there, is a Santa Claus—and he's dressed in the clothes of the many men and women who give the gift of life everyday."

These modern day Santas give the most precious substance for mankind's existence they give blood!

And Virginia, they give their love and blood to hundreds through the "Gift of Life" membership program sponsored by the Blood Bank of Delaware.

While this program offers the benefits to life to many, Virginia, it costs each Santa relatively little. The Santas simply donate a unit of blood to an existing membership or start a new membership in the name of a loved one by donating and paying $5 for the first year's dues.

These donors give so much more than just money and blood. After a 30 day waiting period, individual members and their dependents receive the benefits of the "Gift of Life" program.

And Virginia, the "Gift of Life" memberships are renewable each year. All the Santa or member has to do is pay the yearly dues and meet a donation obligation every 2 to 3 years.

So you see Virginia, giving love and life is easy. For more information on such a precious gift, you can contact Community Affairs Department at 737-8408.

Yes there is a Santa-in fact there are many Santas. And there are those who have to give of their hearts to continue the true spirit of Christmas.

College of American Pathologists Accredits MMH Lab.

Joseph B. Ahlschier, President of Milford Memorial Hospital, has received notice from the College of American Pathologists that the medical laboratory of the Hospital has been fully accredited by their Commission on Laboratory Accreditation following their survey team's inspection of the Hospital laboratory. This accreditation is valid for a two-year period. The college of American Pathologists is a national medical specialty organization of more than 7500 board-certified pathologists dedicated to the improvement of clinical pathological medicine.

In a letter, notifying Mr. Ahlschier of accreditation by the College, John K. Duckworth, MD Chairman of the Commission, stated, "The result of this inspection indicates a high level of medical laboratory performance and reflects favorably upon the director and the laboratory personnel." This is the first year the Milford Memorial Hospital has participated in the CAP Inspection and Accreditation Program, although its laboratory has been fully accredited by the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals since that Commission's founding in 1951. Milford Memorial Hospital is now one of the four hospitals in Delaware with CAP accreditation, the others being Wilmington Medical Center, the A. I. DuPont Institute, and the Veterans Administration Center.

The Inspection and Accreditation Program was developed by the College of American Pathologists as an on-site review program to define standards for laboratory services and to survey and assess laboratory performance and maintenance of standards for each section of a laboratory.

Iloa T. Szucs, MD is Chief Pathologist and Janette Hobbs, MT is Chief Laboratory Technician of the Milford Memorial Hospital Medical Laboratory.

Reagan Team Is Quick Study In Preparing for Takeover

By JACK ANDERSON and JOE SPEAR

WASHINGTON -- President-elect Ronald Reagan has delivered a quiet but clear message to the Carter administration: On Jan. 20, he intends to take firm control of the government.

His transition team has been preparing for the takeover since last July. The departing Democrats are supposed to brief the incoming Republicans. But Reagan's aides already knew most of the answers before the briefings began. They seemed to have an encyclopedic knowledge of each agency's programs.

In many instances, the Reagan people have already served notice which programs will be eliminated and which will be cut back after Inauguration Day. They are also keeping a close eye on the agencies to make sure no extra funds are spent for the wrong programs.

The transition team has also asked to see all new rules and regulations before they go into effect. The new president doesn't want any unpleasant surprises when he is sworn in.

This is a stark contrast to the transition four years ago. In 1976, Jimmy Carter set an easy, relaxed pace. He smiled at visitors, hugged stray souls, told strangers how he truly loved them. Some of his aides showed up in Washington wearing faded blue jeans and open-neck shirts.

Reagan, on the other hand, has put together an advance team of older, no-nonsense aides in three-piece suits. They are tackling the transition with quiet efficiency. In 10 days, they have already accomplished more than Carter's transition team achieved in two months.

As one White House aide admitted: "It took us a year to get completely organized. These guys are going to be ready to go in a couple of months."

They may be ready to go, but their job won't be easy. In his campaign, Reagan promised to get the government off our backs. Jimmy Carter made a similar promise in 1976, and he was unable to live up to it.

Carter pledged, for example, to reduce the number of federal agencies from 1,900 to "no more than 200." Instead, he perpetuated the federal maze. Here are just a couple of cases in point:

-- The Committee for the Preservation of the White House was formed in 1964. The appointees quickly discovered there wasn't much they could do to preserve the White House that wasn't already being done. "The committee obviously does little," wrote White House budget experts in a memo to Carter. "There is no doubt that (it) does not meet the requirements for continuation." But the committee did meet one requirement: It provided jobs for some of Carter's friends. It therefore stayed in business.

-- The Council on Women's Educational Programs was also recommended for extinction by the president's efficiency experts. The panel's negligible accomplishments simply were not worth the cost. But both women's and educational organizations supported Carter's re-election. So the president continued to support the council.

Elections are held. Different political parties take power. Appointive heads come and go. But our experience has been that the bureaucrats remain entrenched.

EXPENSIVE ELECTIONS: It will cost the taxpayers a bundle to put Democratic workhorses like Sens. Frank Church of Idaho, George McGovern of South Dakota and Birch Bayh of Indiana out to pasture. All of the incumbents who lost on Nov. 4 are entitled to pensions for their service in the Congress, and the pensions will be paid annually for the rest of their lives.

Thirty-eight members of Congress were swept out on the Republican tide. For just 11 of them, the taxpayers will be providing more than $270,000 a year in pensions. And the benefits will increase with the cost of living.

WANTED -- JETS, MISSILES, ASSORTED EQUIPMENT: If you happen to be walking through the woods or fields and come upon a plane or missile with the words "U.S. Air Force" written on it, you could make some fast money. The Air Force has just raised the rewards offered to those who find lost equipment. A multimillion-dollar Air Force jet, for example, can be worth $500 in reward money. A missile will bring in the same amount of cash -- dead or alive. Communications and electronic equipment is worth $200 to the brass hats; flying apparel or equipment brings a reward of $50.

WATCH ON WASTE: As part of a $74 million renovation, the Library of Congress installed a computerized conveyor belt designed to replace low-paid federal workers whose job it was to carry books back to the stacks. But the conveyor belt has already taken two years to install, and when engineers began "exercising" it last summer to iron out the bugs, they discovered it wouldn't convey. It stops and starts fitfully and will probably never work perfectly. So the human book-carriers will still have to be on hand to take over when the belt breaks down.

Keeping In Touch

With Tom Evans

I am pleased to report that the House has continued the most important domestic aid program that exists in the federal government. General Revenue Sharing is the only federal program which returns tax dollars back to local communities, leaving those communities with the decision as to how best to spend their money. This means locally elected officials will decide what is best for their communities—not the federal bureaucracy.

General Revenue Sharing has proved to be an efficient and cost effective program. Under the bill which passed the U.S. House with my support, revenue sharing funds to local governments will continue for the next three years.

In Sussex County, local governments will receive roughly 2.1 million dollars. In Kent County, over 1.7 million dollars will be returned to local governments. While in New Castle County, local communities will receive over 9.8 million dollars.

Programs which benefit local governments must be given the highest priority by the Congress. The General Revenue Sharing Program is a vital part of the life-support system of governments throughout the nation. Without these funds, the only solution for many communities would be to cut essential services or raise property taxes to make up for the loss of these federal funds. This cannot be allowed to occur.

That's why I plan to continue my support of revenue sharing when the differences between the House and Senate bill are resolved. The Congress must recognize that the decision on how to spend these funds are best left in the hands of officials in the communities where these monies will be spent not by a bunch of bureaucrats in Washington, D.C. who are not in touch with the needs and wishes of local community residents.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor,

When I picked up the November 12 issue of the Journal, I was again shocked by the report that another of our fine young citizens has been killed on Delaware 13. Immediately I turn to a copy of the Journal on Wednesday, July 23 where the death of the young man was reported on U.S. 13 at Bridgeville. I would like to refer to your words of Raceweek, page 12:

"It is not easy to understand God's will. A loss of a loved one is a terrific hurt. Somehow God gives us strength in this trying time. We just never lose faith that there is a God...and that there is a spiritual existence for greater than we can understand and perceive."

These are beautiful words for comfort, such as would be difficult for me to phrase. They are well spoken and much appreciated. There yet remains however, the fact that remains that U.S. 13 is a killer and that many who drive on it should not be allowed on it.

Could we not mount a campaign to prevent such a carnage, such a loss to the racing community and to our own?

Sincerely,
Rev. William Markley S.T.M.

To the Editor,

On behalf of the Friends of the Harrington Public Library I would like to thank all those who voted for the library. I think the plurality of the yes votes was truly impressive. It is most gratifying to know that such large numbers of people recognize the importance of keeping the library in Harrington.

The maintenance of the library is however, still not going to be easy. Although City Council has appropriated funds, much more is needed to assure the library's operation at its present level.

This year we are fortunate to have the Jancec engaged in money making activities designed to benefit the library.

The Friends also have been organized to supplement the library's budget through various programs.

I hope that all people city residents, and those beyond, will support the activities of these two groups. And by the way, all those who would like to become Friends can do so at the library.

Yours truly,
Bernadine Cappelletto Butler
President, Friends of the Harrington Public Library
