ABBOTTS POND MILL. There has been a mill on the same site since 1840, and in operation since 1960. The Mill has been declared a nature center and will be operated by the Delaware Nature Education Society. The Mill will be officially open to the public on the 7th of June. For further information on the mill's opening and history call 422-0847. Artist sketch by Gretchen Banks.

Lake Forest may change grading policy

A policy that says the lowest grade a student at Lake Forest, regardless of the amount and quality of his work, may receive in his report card is 50. This may be altered if the Lake Forest Board of Education adopts a recommenendation made by Principal Dr. Margaret Phelps as requested by teachers at the high school. Their suggestion was relayed at Monday night's board meeting.

The original reason for the 50 minimum grade was to prevent a student's becoming discouraged because the grade he received in the first marking period was so low that, no matter how well he performed, subsequently, he would be doomed to fail the course. With the minimum grade set at 50, he could, by making an 80 or higher the next time around, pull his mark up to passing.

However, some teachers have noted that a few individuals have taken advantage of the converse of their policy and used it as a means to do no work at all in the final marking period. The individual who cares about nothing more than just passing can score high enough initially to eliminate (in his eyes) all need to work later on. An 80 and a 50, for example, will get him the minimum passing average of 65.

The proposed grading policy change would eliminate the minimum 50 for the final marking period of any course (or possibly for the final marking period of any semester). For the first three marking periods in a year (or the first marking period in a semester) the minimum would remain at 50 so that a student getting off to a bad start would have the opportunity of successful improvement. But he could not "get by" with no work for the final marking period.

Although proposed at the high school, the policy change could include the junior high if the Board so decides. No formal action has been taken, the

Harrington Museum Open House Set

The Greater Harrington Historical Society has issued an invitation to the community to inspect the inside of the original Episcopal Church it expects to be transformed into a museum during an open house that has been set for this Sunday, Feb. 21, from one until three p.m.

During that time period, all interested persons are encouraged to drop by the Fleming St. Church. The Historical Society is also hoping to encourage people throughout the community to get involved in the project, offering their time and talents toward the restoration of the building. Once the project is complete, the Historical Society plans to hold a second open house and invite the community at large to see the results.

Historical Society President Ken McKnatt and others are also looking for any information available about the inside of the original church built in 1875. A picture postcard contained among some of the church records gives a pretty fair view of the outside of the structure, but information as to the original appearance of the interior is still being sought.

Coaches Appointed/ No Jr. Softball

The Lake Forest Board of Education Monday night moved to approve Student Activities Director, Dave Adams' recommendations of ten coaches to oversee spring sports at Lake Forest High School and the W.T. Chipman Junior School.

There will be one major difference in the spring sports program in the district this year - no interscholastic softball competition for junior high girls. Dave Adams told the Journal the reason for dropping softball at W.T. Chipman this year is that no games could be scheduled. He said other area schools with seventh and eighth grade softball teams had dropped the program, and that only left a combined baseball softball program in the ninth grade. Chipman does not include the ninth grade, and those schools with that program would not schedule

Valentine Party Benefits MDA

Guests and a hostess "with a heart" gathered Saturday, February 14, to celebrate Valentines Day by assuring a "rainbow" for some children whose lives may receive very little sunlight. The children are those afflicted with muscular dystrophy; the rainbow was to be created by funds which will go to help these youngsters by paying for medical needs, underwriting the cost of equipment that might make some form of mobility possible, or fostering research that may someday offer a glimmer of hope.

Saturday's hostess was Mrs. Joyce Bennett of near Felton who opened her home for a "Have A Heart" Valentines Day Party to benefit the Muscular Dystrophy Association (MDA). The party was also sponsored through Creative Expressions, a craft kit company, which each year donates funds to MDA through its RAINBOW Campaign. For every buying guest at crafts shows throughout the year, Creative Expressions donates ten cents to MDA. Another ten cents is realized each time a Rainbow Child Kit or Rainbow Stationery is purchased. Mrs. Bennett's guests Saturday were first treated to a free "Learn to Quilt" session under the guidance of demonstrator Kathy Handley. During the informal quilting lesson, individuals were invited to try their hand at quilting stitches on a framed square prepared in advance. Each guest also received free literature describing quilting materials, tools and techniques.

Following the quilting session, the assembled group heard from MDA state youth representatives Barry Godsey and Vivian Smith.

Frederica Flood Coverage Increased

The Town of Frederica Announced today that, as a result of the recent adoption by Local Elected Officials of measures to safe-guard property from flooding, limits of Federal Flood Insurance coverage have been increased from $34,000 up to $185,000 for residents of Frederica. In addition to the increase in the property insurance coverage, contents coverage has been increased from $10,000 to the present $60,000. Federal flood insurance increases for small business and other classes of structures are also obtainable. Information on rates and amounts of insurance available may be obtained from any licensed property and casualty insurance agent. According to the Federal Insurance and Hazard Mitigation Office of the Federal Emergency Management Agency, during the first thirty (30) days after a jurisdiction has converted to the regular phase of the National Flood Insurance Program, coverage will become effective the day following application, whereas normal-

Registration Continues Through Friday

Board to Decide Fate of Basics Plus School

The fate of a proposed "Parent Guided Basics Plus School" will probably be decided Monday night, February 23, as the Woodbridge Board of Education meets and considers final reports and registration figures to be submitted by the district's Basics Plus Planning Committee.

Saturday's special registration day produced 225 students whose parents are interested in having them attend the alternative school. The committee had set 250 as the minimum number of students necessary to open the school. But the registration was to continue throughout this week, and Nancy Cullen, acting principal of the proposed elementary school and chairman of the planning committee, says that she is "very optimistic" in looking for the additional 25 students needed to be registered by the end of the week.

Interested parents can still register their children who will be in Kindergarten through sixth grade by taking the registration form to the district office in Bridgeville before 4 p.m. on Friday, February 20.

Woodbridge teachers had until today to indicate where they would want to serve - on the faculty of the Basics Plus School, or at one of the conventional schools in the district.

If the Woodbridge Board gives its approval, the tentatively titled "Parent Guided Basics Plus School" will open in September in the North Bridgeville Elementary School. Two sections of grades K-6 are planned.

The district's conventional elementary school would then be located in the Greenwood building which now holds both an elementary school and the junior high. Junior high students would be moved to the complex which presently serves both the high school and a third elementary school and houses the district administrative offices.

Correspondent Plans Top Lady Competition

The Journal's Frederica Correspondent, Mary "Toby" Johnston has announced the sponsorship of a contest to honor an outstanding young woman involved in community service in Frederica (See "Frederica", page six).

Mrs. Johnston has offered to present a special gift to a young woman to be selected as "Frederica's Top Lady". The award presentation will be made during the annual Frederica Street Fair on Saturday, June 6, 1981.

Interested persons are invited to sponsor their favorite lady by sending a resume to "Toby", P. O. Box 214, Frederica, Del., 19946.

Entrants should be young women between the ages of 20 and 39 who have reportedly been disturbed at the idea of losing what they regard as basically a "neighborhood school". Currently, only students from the Greenwood area attend the Greenwood elementary school. But, if the Basics Plus plan is adopted, all district students electing the alternative school will go to North Bridgeville, and all who choose to remain in a conventional elementary school will come to Greenwood. The consequent unrest apparently sparked a rumor (later proved unfounded) that buloads of parents from the Greenwood area might try to block Saturday's registration by filling up the rolls before those who were truly interested in having their children attend the Basics Plus School could register. (The new school would handle a maximum of about 280 students selected on a "first come, first serve" basis.)

The rumor was strong enough to get interested parents out in the early morning hours Saturday to be sure of the chance to register their children. The registration was scheduled from 9 a.m. until 6 p.m. But many parents were there at 4 or 5:30 a.m., and some even earlier. Many wore layers of

By noon Saturday, the parents registering their children for the proposed Basics Plus School were drifting through, a few at a time. But hours earlier, the waiting crowd looked more like fans lining up for the World Series tickets.

Lake Forest Librarian, Emily McKnatt, marks off a title for Joy Starkey (above) as Trina Benson pores over the selection of books distributed last week through the RIF program at the high school.

RIF Puts Free Books in Hands of LF Students

The year-long efforts of Lake Forest High School Librarian Emily McKnatt and a number of others came to fruition last week as students at the high school selected free paperback books distributed through the RIF (Reading is Fundamental) program. The program operates on the basic assumption that the best motivation for a student to read is owning a book that he or she has chosen.

Purchase of the books that were selected by students last Thursday and Friday and which will be distributed on two more occasions this year was made possible by funds from federal and local sources on a 75 percent to 25 percent matching basis.

Total cost of the program this year is $4,480 of which $1,120 was made available through the contributions of the Harrington Alumni Association, the Harrington Jaycees, the Avon Club of Felton, the V.C.E. Ruritan Club, the Harrington Rotary Club and the Lake Forest Board of Education.

This year's initial distribution fell in line with the Diamond State Reading Associations' observance of "I Love to Read Day" on Saturday Feb. 14. Students in the Lake Forest High School English classes marked the occasion by making their book selections from a display set up on the library.

A special note of celebration was added by freshman Terrena Giles, a student in Mrs. Gannon's English class, who created a poster based on the "Love" theme for the occasion. Her poster was also on display in the library.

A variety of books were made available for selections. These included classics, teen novels, movie and TV tie-ins, science fiction and a choice of non-fiction titles in biography, sports and other areas.

Librarian, Emily McKnatt said novels such as the works of James Michener, mysteries, biography and a book of sports lists had been surprisingly popular.

The books available were divided by days and then again by morning and afternoon so that those who came on Friday afternoon could, so far as possible, choose from the same titles available to students making their selections on Thursday morning.

The books to be made available were chosen by a Book Selection Committee which included four parents: Mrs. Eleanor Homewood, Mrs. Dorothy Pierce, Mr. William Gibbs and Mrs. Jean Withers; a teacher, Mrs. Carol Schreiner, Lake Forest High School Librarian, Emily McKnatt; Library Aide, Mrs. Joanne Curry, and High School Principal, Dr. Margaret Phelps. Books will be available at two more distributions planned for this year.

Delaware Diamonds

By Joyce Jefferson

A year later Joseph Caldwell was having financial problems and Simon W. Wilson Trustee of the Loan Office for the County of Kent sued in the Court of Common Pleas for a real debt of 80 pounds and damages of 3 pounds 12 shillings and 6 pence. His land was sold at public auction by Sheriff Andrew Barratt to Bedwell Maxwell, James Mills and James McLymont as tenants in common.

James Miles died before 15 May 1801 when Sarah Maxwell purchased from Laurence Hanson Miles of Red Lion Hundred New Castle County executor of the Testament and Last Will of James Miles formerly of Kent County but late of New Castle County, Farmer, deceased his share in the farm sold as the property of Joseph Caldwell.

On 13 August 1811 Sarah Maxwell purchased from John Torbert surviving administrator of James McLymont deceased his share and so became the sole owner until she transferred title of this and other properties to her son Doctor John Maxwell. In 1835 Elizabeth Maxwell of New Castle Delaware, widow of Dr. John Maxwell conveyed to Sarah Maxwell all her revisions rights, upon the death of Sarah Maxwell, to a farm in Murderkill Hundred in the occupation of John Green and whereon the said Sarah Maxwell now dwells.

In 1837 Major Nathaniel Young and Elizabeth C. Young his wife of New Castle sold to Joseph Simpson a tract of land in Murderkill Hundred beginning at a large black gum on the south side of the road leading from Berry Town to Canterbury being a corner of the lands of James Anderson running thence south 27 degrees east 200 perches to a post in the stump of the old red oak now cut down being a corner of the Greer lands thence south 61 degrees west 79 perches to a stone on the south side of a ditch thence south 57 degrees west 12 perches to a corner in the main road thence south 72 degrees west 160 perches to a corner in the main road opposite a black gum standing on the south side of said road corner of lands of John Bailey thence north 8 degrees west 183 perches to a post by the road for a corner in road line of Avery Needles thence south 80 degrees east 44 perches to a corner in road thence south 59 degrees east 10 perches to a corner in road, thence North 86 degrees East 116 and 5/10 perches to the place of beginning containing by estimation 248 acres being part of the lands that formerly belonged to Doctor John Maxwell deceased.

Joseph Simpson of Murderkill Hundred died in the state on 31 December 1851. His marker gives his date of birth as 5 September 1787. He was buried in the family grave yard near the dwelling house on his farm. This cemetery may be seen today on the east side of Church Street just beyond the northern boundary of Felton. When the heirs sold the property to Thomas J. Moore on 3 January 1857 they reserved "a small piece of land on ground containing about 32 square perches which has been used as family graveyard...right to use, free access to...all lineal descendants of Joseph Simpson".

Joseph Simpson was survived by his widow, Naomi Simpson and eight children, when his lands were divided and sold his heirs were William Simpson and Ann, his wife; William Case and Elizabeth (Simpson) Case, his wife; James Bradley and Ann (Simpson) Bradley, his wife; John Simpson and Emily, his wife; Rhoda Simpson; Benjamin A. Reeves and Mary (Simpson) Reeves, his wife; Thomas Simpson and Grace, his wife; Joseph Simpson and Sara Matilda, his wife.

The farm was divided by the railroad and the land on the east side containing about 114 acres was sold to Thomas J. Moore and 117 acres on the west side of the railroad was conveyed to Dr. Joseph Simpson and his wife Sarah Matilda. Both transactions took place in 1857 but the town had already begun to take shape along the road from Berrytown to Frederica as shown in a deed dated 1 November 1856 when Jehu Clifton and Mary his wife sold to Mary Fountain "all that lot of ground and premises situated on the Public Road leading from Berrytown to Frederica and at the Frederica Station on the Delaware Railroad and on the east side of said Railroad and adjoining lands owned and occupied by said Jehu Clifton" under the condition that six dollars lawful money of the United States of America for ground rent would be paid yearly and every forever hereafter on the first day of November in each succeeding year after the date on the deed.

There was also the provision that Mary Fountain and her heirs and assigns shall at all times forever hereafter keep those aforesaid bargains and sold lot of ground and premises enclosed with a good and sufficient fence at her or their own expense.

Vignettes from the life of LEWIS R. TAYLOR (1902-1980)

"Our daughter recently gave us a painting of the Allee House. Looking at it really takes me back in memory. I have heard my mother tell of her childhood days she spent there with her grandparents in the later nineteenth century. She recalled those days as a happy time of great harvests and abundant food and care. Later when I was twelve years old I went to the adjoining farm to work during the summer. The area was called Dutch Neck by the people who lived there. There were three farms between the Allee House and the Delaware Bay.

The work was hard since the summer brought boards of mosquitoes; I have seen two cows killed by them. During those days we often went to visit the Reynolds family who lived on the Allee Farm. Mr. Reynolds owned two steam threshing rigs which I admired greatly. I can remember now the large fireplaces in the house and an old kitchen which has been torn away. There were also several machine sheds in the yard.

I have heard the farmers speak of their isolation during the winter. Even a good team of horses couldn't get through the deep mud after a freeze and thaw. Most of the men trapped for muskrats through the winter and sold the hides. I imagine a great deal of the meat they used for their own food.

I worked on the farm two summers. The hours were long, dawn until dark. Horses were covered with muslin to keep them from suffering too badly from the mosquitoes. Sometimes we had to stop work because of our own suffering. My wages were $10.00 a month. There was neither time nor energy for recreation. Sunday was a day of rest after you fed the animals, cleaned out the stables and milked the cows. All the old familiar landmarks are gone. I am glad they saved the Allee House."

Ms. Smith explained that the term muscular dystrophy refers to a group of diseases that progressively destroy the muscles, particularly the voluntary ones. The various disorders listed as MD are crippling and can strike at any age. They are so far incurable.

Ms. Smith made a special appeal to her listeners who may take for granted such everyday activities as brushing their teeth or using their hands to work on crafts. These simple activities may be beyond the reach of MD victims, those children who "need a rainbow". Barry Godsey described some of the fund raising activities such as "Jello jumps" and dance marathons which have been held in support of MDA. The most widely known of these is the annual Jerry Lewis Labor Day Tele-thon. He also spoke of the MDA summer camp program.

Both young people stressed the fact that the vast majority of funds raised through MDA go directly into program services to help patients and provide for research. These account for 83.5% of the money. Of the remainder, 13.3 percent is necessary to conduct fund raising activities, and 3.2% goes into the management and general expenses of the organization.

After the MDA presentation, "Have A Heart" guests were involved in several games and were given the opportunity to contribute toward the "rainbow" by purchasing crafts kits and/or participating in a raffle for the two squares prepared for the quilting lesson.

Mrs. Bennett, a Creative Expressions consultant, said she hoped to raise a minimum of $20 for MDA at Saturday's party.

Woodbridge Board Will Render Basics Plus Verdict

wait; a few slept in their cars, and several attended a parents' pajama party at a home in the vicinity to be sure to be there in time to register their children.

clothing as protection against the morning cold; others stretched sleeping bags on the school lawn for the wait; a few slept in their cars, and

The result was that the Bridgeville school opened a warm hallway at 7 p.m. to a long line of parents, some of whom brought in breakfast for the two-hour wait before the opening of registration. For the first two hours, officials were kept busy processing the registrants. But by 11:00 or 11:30 a.m., the crowd thinned to a trickle for the remainder of the day. None of the supposedly threatened busloads of parents ever appeared.

The proposed school that has aroused all the interest and all the controversy has been a major undertaking of concerned parents, teachers and administrators in the Woodbridge district in recent months. It follows a proposal by Governor duPont's Alternative School Committee which recommended that "alternatives to the conventional school should be made available within the Delaware public school system."

The initial suggestion was that a "Highly structured alternative stressing academic excellence and a disciplined atmosphere be made available in each county."

According to Nancy Cullen, the major alternative or difference offered by the Basics Plus School will not be in what is taught, but in the way it is taught.

The Basics Plus School would provide highly structured classes based on a disciplined atmosphere. There would also be a high degree of parent involvement, or "commitment", as Mrs. Cullen would prefer to put it. That means that parents who register their children in the school would agree to participate in the planning stages as well as in carrying out the program. It would also mean that they could expect regular and frequent communications from their children's teachers as a matter of school policy and an open atmosphere of encouragement for them to participate.

Mrs. Cullen, who is the district's Language Arts Supervisor, says that "on track" or "time-on-task" teaching would be another emphasis of the Basics Plus School. This implies that teachers would spend more time in teaching the subject in hand, and a lot less in managing and organizing small groups. In reading, where students are at different levels, there would still need to be small groups, but possibly fewer of them. She says recent research has shown whole group instruction to be the more efficient and effective way of teaching. Mrs. Cullen further commented that the alternative school would require a lot of in-service training for its teachers.

Saturday's registration at the elementary school/high school complex in Bridgeville showed prospective students scattered about evenly through grades K-6. And although the preliminary count was short of the minimum ly there is a five (5) day waiting period. Under certain circumstances, this time period could be very important. Frederica was converted to the regular phase on Jan. 2, 1981.

The Town of Frederica strongly recommends that anyone living in a flood prone area make the necessary application to obtain needed insurance as soon as possible. Maps showing the flood prone areas in Frederica and brochures which explain the program may be seen at the Town Office on Wednesdays between 1:00 p.m. and 4:30 p.m. For further information contact Daniel Griffith after 5:00 p.m. at 335-4286.

games with Chipman. Adams added the district plans to fight the situation next year even if it means the local seventh and eighth grade girls would be playing ninth grade teams.

The coaching recommendations accepted Monday night were as follows: Lake Forest High School: Varsity baseball - Bill Falasco, Varsity Softball - Charlie Brown, J.V. Baseball - Tim Plocnik, Boys Track - Jim Blades, Girls Track - Jim Fleming, Track Assistant - Steve Wolak, Boys Tennis - Alex Beeton, Girls Tennis - Judy Berry.

W.T. Chipman Junior School: Track - Robert Davis, Assistant - Baxter Smith.

The Board tabled action on the 1981-82 athletic budget until after a workshop session that has been set for March 4.

Get Together and Talk With Our Neighbors

Senior Center

By Dorothy Graham 398-3780

The Art of Living from "The Guidepost".
Be interested - Don't try to be interesting.
Be pleasing - Don't expect to be pleasant.
Be entertaining - Don't wait to be entertained.
Be helpful - Don't ask to be helped.
Be lovable - Don't wait to be loved.
J. Masters Backer

Rev. Koning of Nazarene Church - Harrington Del. was the leader at Bible Study Monday Morning. Rev. Koning said, "We need to take God seriously - We need also to be on guard every day how we act and talk." Matthew Chap. 7, Exodus; Chap 20 - Verse 7. With a song and a prayer a very interesting morning ended.

Members meeting Monday, Feb. 9, 1981. Called to order by Merle Roth (Mrs. Brown was not present) Pledge of allegiance and The Lords Prayer. Andy gave minutes from last meeting. Merle read the financial report. Both were approved as read. Voted to pay bills. Annabel Morrow offered to buy a new pillow for the new fold away bed. (She bought it Tuesday.) Nice. A memorial fund was started for deceased members. Elizabeth Anthony is chairlady of it. Milford Shopping trip Tuesday. Beauty Shoppe discussed. Told of a trip to the Philadelphia Ice Capades - Feb. 25, show begins 2 p.m., return at 8:00 p.m. Cost - $10.00. Leave center at 11:30. Birthday party - 17th (Feb. 20 - Mabel Jean will be here to do angels) Meeting adjourned after two money collections, one for cookies, one for deceased.

Band practice Tuesday morning with Sylvia at the piano; Julia Astfalk practiced singing "How Great Thou Art", my she truly does a splendid job of singing. The Jolly Timers received a letter of congratulations from Elizabeth Mick for their performance at the United Way dinner - Jan. 27. Present at band practice: Sylvia, Tony, Andy, Florence, Pearl, Bertha, Mammie, Lili, Roxanne, Julia, Joe, Annabel, Ola, Mildred, Marion and Elma.

Wednesday most of the day was dedicated to a forum on aging and some problems facing us. Tom Wyhatt was the main speaker and foreman. Ceramics when they could - pool of course.

Thursday, Gene had his macrame class, they made flowers from the same material.
Bertha, Pearl, Anna Mae and Edsel cleaned book case and wrapped owls for birthday.

Ceramic tables look and are busy, there is Lillian, Velma, Jo, Florence, Mary M, Kathleen, Hazel R., Hazel L., Mildred, Francis, Mary S.

Bowling at Milford Lanes for the last three weeks: The high scorers have been, 1/25/81, Bill Gorlich. 1/29/81, Bill Gorlich. Marian Littman - 2/12/81, Merle Roth and Leroy Heeger. Good luck all Bowling is such fun.

Movies yesterday - Thursday with George Goodge at the projector. Even the men rushed in to see them for they were on "Tall Ships, and Hawaii". Everyone said they were absolutely lovely. Made those remember fondly all the good times and lovely sights they had seen while they were in Hawaii.

Ceramic - Pool - Bingo with several playing and Elizabeth Anthony called. It was brown bag bingo.
A nice Valentine party was enjoyed by all - a beautiful and tasty punch - cake - potato chips and candy valentines.

Be kind to each other. Best wishes to those who are ill either in the hospital or at home.
Remember - We would love to see you at the Center and thanks so much, volunteers!!

I believe it was the poet, Shelley, who said, "O Wind, if Winter comes can Spring be so far behind?" If my dear mother were here today she would look out the window and say that February was borrowing a day from March. Of course we know that March will pay it back. The wind tears at the trees and makes everything seem colder. Truly this is a winter for Long Johns and red flannels. I'm amused at the youngsters of today. I do not know whether it is a fad or whether they have more sense than we had, but they are wearing the Long Johns. We wouldn't have been caught dead in them when we were teen-agers. I suspect it is a fad that got rolling, but at least they are warm.

Tess and I spend a lot of time hashing over our high school days. We did odd things then, too. Come spring days and the whole crowd of girls had to have white shoe sneakers and black silk stockings. And you just weren't with it if you didn't have them. Remember classmates who are still around to read this? I remember the look on my mother's face as I pleaded my case for the sneakers and stockings. She would not see why I couldn't just finish the school term in my sensible brown oxfords.

The "glad" bulbs are already putting up little green shoots and telling us they want to get into the ground. We have had one bulb in the kitchen all winter because it is a novelty to share with friends. Along the dried stem of the big Mama bulb has grown another smaller perfect bulb. Nature always has a surprise for us.

Some of the weather forecasters predict rain and some say snow and some say Thunderstorms. So much for that. The Old Farmer's Almanac says: "Thunder in February means a poor year for maple syrup."

The famous William Cullen Bryant had a bit to say about February in his poetry. One excerpt says: "Come when the rains have glazed the snow, and clothed the trees with ice, while the slant sun of February pours into the bowers a flood of light."

At the bottom of the February page in the Old Almanac is another little note: "He that would live in peace and at ease, must not speak all he knows nor judge all he see." How true!

For those of you who are interested in flowering shrubs, the Almanac has this to say: February is the time to prune Wisterias like grapes and train them horizontally to encourage flowering."

Do you watch the Sunday night show "Those Amazing Animals?" It is so entertaining and educational as well. And if you stay up late like we do there are excellent Bible stories in color. Why on earth don't they put something worthwhile like this on prime time?

Greenwood

By Pat Hatfield 349-4255

Report from Hickory Ridge Congregational Methodist Church: We were very proud of our Youth Group at the Sunday evening service on January 25. Two groups with a total of twenty-five youngsters took part in reciting Scriptures they had memorized. Several of them recited the 23rd Psalm and other verses. Selecting winners was a difficult task for our judges, Bruce and Rita Bowman. However, after careful deliberation, the following selections were made. In the younger group 1st place went to Allen Bawel, Jr., a Kindergarten student; 2nd place to Robbie Smith, a first grader.

In the older group, Wanda Bawel and Shelby Everline, who recited the 13th chapter of First Corinthians, in addition to numerous other scriptures, tied for first place; Terry Hinzman was 2nd place winner. All the children were given a small prize, sl all were winners. A special thank you to their leaders, Jane Ellis, Clare and Donna Hinzman and to the parents who helped them.

On February 15, we will have an evening joint service with the congregation of Laws Mennonite Church on the Harrington, Frederica Road. Our church bus will leave the church at 6:15 p.m. for those who need transportation. We are honored that our pastor has been invited to bring the message and we hope that many of you will be able to worship with us there.

We are happy to report that George Johnson is recuperating at the home of his daughter in Greenwood. George who has had surgery several times during his 3-months hospital stay, has been greatly missed by our entire congregation. We pray for his continued improvement.

Our sympathy also goes to the family of Fred Lare whose funeral was conducted by our pastor on Saturday.

Greenwood United Methodist Charge announces that on Tuesday, Feb. 17, there will be a meeting of the Greenwood members of the Charge Administration Board, Council on Ministries, and Sunday School teachers and officers beginning at 7:30 p.m.

The pastor, Rev. James B. Doughten announces that he will begin a Lenten Study "Come to the Cross" on Tuesday, March 3, at 7:30 p.m.

Mr. George Johnson wishes to thank the community, the organizations, and many friends who have so generously contributed to his welfare during his long illness. He is improving slowly but doing very nicely.

Mr. & Mrs. Richard Denn spent the weekend in Norfolk, Virginia celebrating the birthday of a brother. Greenwood Cheer Center Menu for week of Feb. 18 thru Feb. 27.

Anne's Kitchen

This weeks recipe is super easy and comes off as a special dessert. As a matter of fact, you might want to let your young daughters try their skill in the kitchen with it. I call it "PUDDING ICE BOX CAKE" The title should give you an idea as to how old this recipe is. It goes back to the days when "Refrigerator" had not yet become a common household word. Mom would permit us the honor and pleasure of making this dessert as a reward for getting our Saturday household chores done. It wasn't until I was a Mom myself, that I realized Mom was a psychologist in her own right. I don't know if the psychology will work with todays kids, but I know the recipe will.

1. Butter a loaf pan
2. Sprinkle graham cracker crumbs and shake til well coated. Allow remainder to settle on bottom.
3. Cook pudding in separate pots according to package directions.
4. Place one layer of graham crackers in bottom of pan.
5. Cover crackers with layer of vanilla pudding.
6. Top pudding with layer of graham crackers.
7. Cover with layer of chocolate pudding.
8. Continue to alternate layers of crackers and pudding until pudding is all used up. Refrigerate overnight, or at least 8 hours to allow time for cake to firm up.
9. Serve by slicing and carefully removing to a plate. A dollop of whipped cream makes it all extra special. ENJOY!

Local Interest

By Joann Wyatt 398-3943

Carroll Welch, Sr. would love to receive get well wishes from interested friends and neighbors. He is undergoing treatment as an outpatient for a tumor. Many people have been inquiring. His condition is improving at this time. For those who wish to send positive messages, his address is: Carroll Welch, Sr., c/o Anthony Viggiani, 6800 Appaloosa Drive, Davie, Fla., 33314.

On Monday night, Feb. 9, Welch's Seed Service, Inc. had their annual appreciation dinner for their seed and chemical customers. It was a traditional fried oyster dinner served by the ladies of the Felton Fire Co. Auxiliary. Admittance is by ticket only and tickets are issued by the amount of sales a customer generates. It is a way of saying "Thanks for your business". There were 248 customers present. Representatives from seed and chemical companies were allowed a little time to present their newest products for 1981. The V.R. Seeds rep. from Plymouth, Indiana traveled the farthest distance to attend, with Mr. Dale Morris, Seed Certification Specialist of Md. being second, coming from College Park, Md.

Miss Kari Rogers and Miss Michelle Dimmitt of Milford were the Friday overnight guests of Mrs. Elizabeth Anthony. Other Friday evening callers were Mr. Ashby Brown of Denton, Md., and Miss Stacey Spence.

Mr. & Mrs. Lloyd Dimmitt and daughter, Michelle and Kari Rogers of Milford all had breakfast Saturday morning with Mrs. Elizabeth L. Anthony.

Mrs. Elizabeth Anthony called on Mr. & Mrs. Clarence Anthony on Monday afternoon.

Get well wishes go to Mrs. Evelyn Lare.

Sympathy is extended to the family of Harry W. Larimore.

Several members of Calvary Wesleyan Sunday School and C.Y.C. attended a skating party on Monday evening.

A belated Happy Valentine, Happy Birthday to Miss Karen Taylor! Local Brownies and Girl Scouts enjoyed having Mette the foreign exchange student from Denmark at their meeting last Tuesday. While there she showed slides and taught the girls games and songs from her country.

Well Wishes to All
Take care, Share a Smile, God Bless.

Felton

Nancy Baird

Dear Readers, I am your new columnist for the Felton area. If you should have any social activities, news, or announcements, for our town, please feel free to call me at 284-9340. I will be more than glad to talk with you.

My new column will be starting out with a trip. The Lake Forest High School French Class just returned from a cold, but fun loving trip to Montreal, Quebec, Canada. I talked with Starlina Pettyjohn (Star) about their trip. The class of 23 juniors, sophomores, and freshmen and 3 chaperones left at the wee hours of 5:00 a.m., Thursday, Feb. 5. It was a 12 hour bus ride. They arrived 5:00 p.m. in Montreal. They stayed at the Holiday Inn. They had 11 rooms, four persons to each room and plenty of long underwear to unpack.

The group started by touring the Olympic sites and Bartonica Gardens. Some of them got the flu and some got sick from too much food. Star could not get over how high the houses are built off the ground, or how tall the buildings and mountains were. Star told me that it seems like everyone wore minks and fur coats as cold as it is, you can't much blame them.

On to Quebec! Star told me there was plenty of snow but what sticks out in her mind most was the Winter Carnival. The ice sculptures were just fantastic. There were fire engines, a beaver, Popeye, Mickey Mouse, and a large Ice Castle carved out of ice that you could walk through.

From Quebec, they were Felton bound. They arrived at home 12:00 noon, Sunday, Feb. 8.

The class wants to thank the chaperones, Miss Shulties, Dr. Warren, and Mr. Boyd (the class adviser).

What a wonderful time they had. Star said the class wants to go back but next time we want to stay longer.

By the way, I would like to wish "Bonnie Baird" a Happy Birthday on Feb. 19th and "Karen Johnson" a happy 20th birthday on Feb. 25. "Best Wishes to both young ladies in February and throughout the year."

On Feb. 11, Mrs. Betty Frazier's brother, Linford Lockwood celebrated his birthday. Mr. & Mrs. Nolan Sylvester's son, Timothy and his wife came home for a visit this weekend. They all had dinner Friday night at the Wayside Inn in Smyrna.

On Feb. 14, Mrs. Rose Pritchett took 9 members of the Westville 4-H club to Mrs. Sylvia Steele's home for a judging training program. Mr. & Mrs. John Dixon, Jr. attended a sweetheart banquet on Feb. 14 at the Greensboro Wesleyan Church in Greensboro, Md. This banquet was given by the teenagers to their parents for Valentines Day.

On Feb. 14, Mary Roland, Cindy Roland and Thelma Johnson went on a Dawson Bus Service Trip to the Golden Nugget Hotel in Atlantic City, New Jersey. The ladies said they really had a good time. Mr. & Mrs. Donald Garey's son, Leroy was home this weekend from Virginia Tech College in Blacksburg, Va.

Mr. & Mrs. Roger Williams will be entertaining Mrs. Williams parents, Mr. & Mrs. Robert A. Vernier from Townsend, Md. on the weekend of Feb. 21.

I found a perfect way to spend Valentines Day. I attended the wedding of Garry Richard Glenden, son of Mr. & Mrs. Harry Glenden, Jr. to Debra Sue Melvin, daughter of Mr. & Mrs. John Melvin of Henderson, Md. The wedding was held at the Willow Grove Church of God.

Donna Huges Engaged

Mr. & Mrs. Charles F. Kemp, Houston, Del. announce the engagement of their daughter, Donna Lee Huges to Bruce Douglas Harrison, son of Mr. & Mrs. Robert D. Harrison, Tilghman, Md.

Mrs. Huges attended Lake Forest Senior High School, Felton, Del. Mr. Harrison attended St. Michaels Senior

High School at St. Michaels, Md. Both are employed at Country Pride Foods, Milford, Del.

A March 14th wedding is planned at 2 p.m. at the Tilghman United Methodist Church, Tilghman, Md. No formal announcements will be sent. All friends and relatives are cordially invited.

Welch - Morris Engagement

Mr. & Mrs. Louis C. Welch, of Harrington, wish to announce the engagement of their daughter, Brenda Sue, to John Nelson Morris, son of Mrs. Doris Morris of Harrington and Mr. Raymond Morris of Perry, Ohio. The bride-to-be is a graduate of Lake Forest High School and is presently employed at Kent General Hospital.

Her fiance is also a graduate of Lake Forest High School and is employed by the State Highway Department.

A June 6 wedding is being planned.

Emily McKnatt to Marry

Mr. & Mrs. L. Donald McKnatt of Harrington announce the engagement of their daughter, Emily Carol, of Dover, to Mr. William L. Dreshfield, of Newark, son of Mr. & Mrs. Arthur C. Dreshfield, Sr. of Severna Park, Md. The bride-to-be, a graduate of Madison College, is employed by the Lake Forest School District and her fiance, a graduate of the University of Delaware is employed by E.I. DuPont De Nemours & Co. in Wilmington.

A June wedding is planned.

Independent Bible Fellowship Church

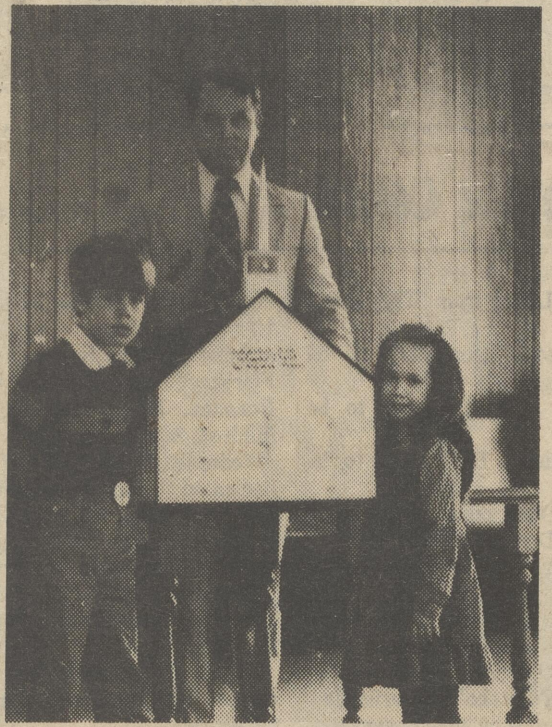

Valentine's weekend, and what a tremendous weekend it was. Saturday evening was our fifth annual Valentine's Banquet and Duck Awards at the Century Club in Harrington. Such a delicious variety of banqueting food, it was difficult to make selections. Everyone enjoyed the program and the devotional that followed. Then Sunday morning, Pastor Newman brought to us a message from Song of Solomon 2:16, "my beloved is mine, and I am his," showing us that we can have a personal relationship with the Lord, and experience His love.

In our Wednesday evening prayer service this week, Missionary Don Mallory will be with us to tell us of the work he and his family plan to do in Haiti. You won't want to miss this service.

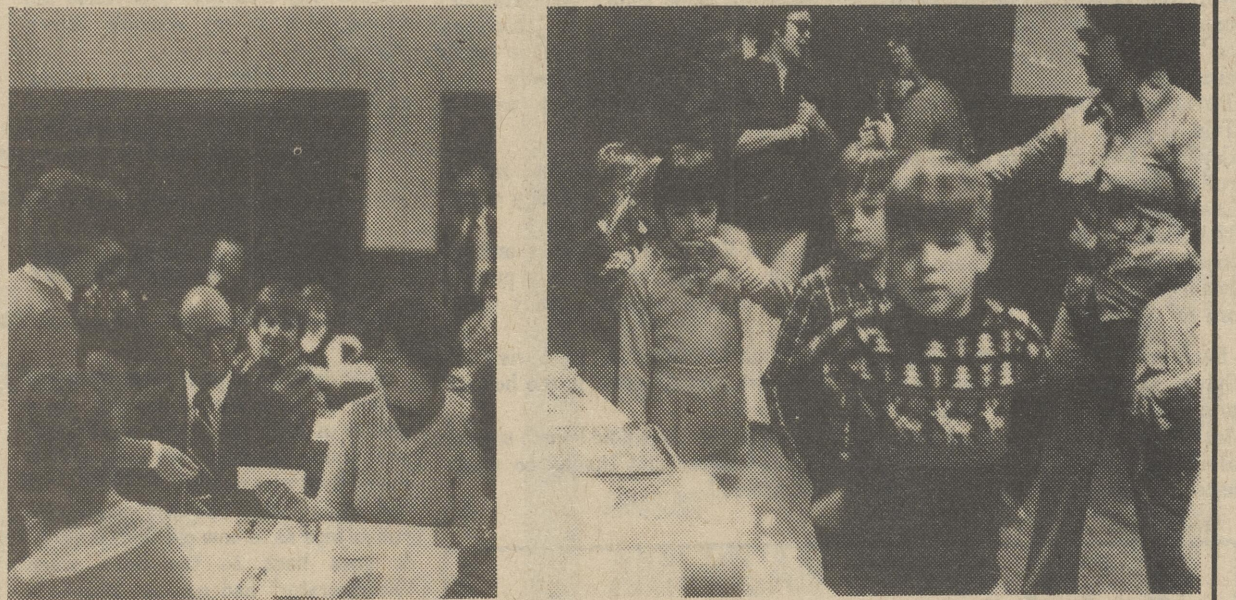

The film entitled "Sheffey" will be shown at the Milford First Baptist Church this Friday, Feb. 20, at 7:00 p.m. Produced by Bob Jones University, "Sheffey" is about the life of an itinerant preacher of the 1800's. It would provide the whole family an evening of entertainment and spiritual blessing to attend this presentation.

There will be a social for our young people in the Junior and Junior High age groups on Feb. 21. Activities will include a "Mystery Supper." The social will be held at the home of Mr. Larry Larimore and will begin at 6:30 p.m. Please let Mr. Larimore know by Wednesday, February 18, if you plan to attend.

A happy birthday goes to Mrs. Sylvia Wright (Feb. 19) from her family.

One sign of the good fellowship at Harrington's Independent Bible Fellowship Church may be the way its members enjoy kidding each other. And their pastor, the Reverend Ray Newman, a frequent target is not excepted. This little church presented at Christmas to the pastor by Richard and Debbie Bennett of Harrington, bore the inscription: "Jan (Mrs. Newman) is always talking about how short you are...so here's a small place for you to go and pray." The interior of the little church is fashioned after the interior of the building where the Independent Bible Fellowship Church congregation now worships. It was built by Richard Bennett who may have acquired some of his interest in constructing small buildings from his wife's grandfather, Leslie Sippigon, Sr. who builds doll houses. Pictured here with the Rev. Newman are his two children Carey and Carin.

Chipman Girls Lose Two, Win One

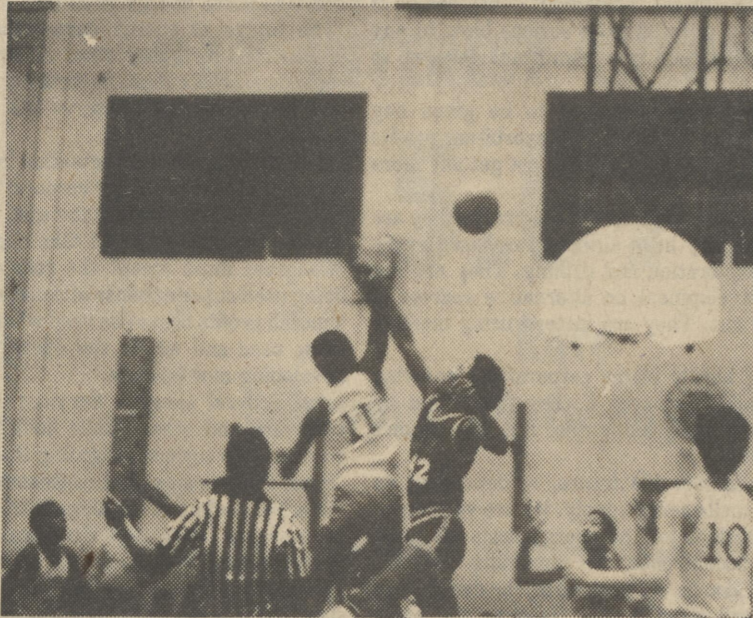

by REBECCA BROWN

The Jr. Spartan girls basketball team has won one game and lost two in the past two weeks. They lost two in a row against Woodbridge and Caesar Rodney, respectively, and won the last game against Dover Air.

In the game against Woodbridge, the girls scored as follows: Elizabeth Watkinson, 3; Norma Wright, 2; Heather Hughes, 2; Teresa Taylor, 2; and Sylvia Hicks, 2. The final score was Chipman 11 and the Raiders 30.

The girls were beaten next by C.R., 14-21. Scoring for Chipman were: Carolyn Browne, 4; Sylvia Hicks, 4; Teresa Taylor, 3; Heather Hughes, 2; and Elizabeth Watkinson, 1. In a previous game, the Jr. Spartans defeated C.R. by a narrow margin.

In the game against Dover Air two girls were in double figures. These were JoAnn Smith, with 14 points, and Carolyn Browne, with 10. Others scoring for Chipman were Karen Sipple, 4; Norma Wright, 2; Ann Marvel, 1; and Heather Hughes, 1.

Crossing arms in the battle over control of the ball are the Junior Spartan's Dana Murray (11) and Dover Air's Cooks (42). At the ready is Chipman's Paul Meding, (10). The Jr. Spartans eventually grounded Dover Air's Falcons, 40-36, in this match on the Chipman home court. [Photo by Rebecca Brown].

— Harness Writers Win Contest —

COLUMBUS, Ohio—Philip Von Borries, a free-lance writer from Kentucky and Mark Schwartz of the Middletown, N.Y., Times-Herald, have won top prizes in this year's edition of the John Hervey Contest for outstanding harness racing writing.

The Hervey competition is co-sponsored by the U.S. Trotting Assn. and the U.S. Harness Writers' Assn. Von Borries won the $500 top award in the magazine division for a piece entitled The Twilight Zone Pacer, a story on super pacer Niatross which was published by The Standardbred magazine in Canada.

Earning the $250 second prize in the magazine division was Douglas S. Looney of Sports Illustrated for his piece, They'll Miss the Corn, that described the final Hambletonian Stake at DuQuoin, Ill. The $100 third prize went to Steve Scheulein, Buffalo, N.Y., for a story in Trot magazine. Schwartz won the $500 top award in the newspaper division for a story entitled Monticello: A Racetrack in Trouble. Trailing him in the judging were Steve Blust of the Sacramento Union and Kaye Kessler of the Columbus, Ohio, Citizen-Journal. Awards of $250 and $100 will go to the respective runners-up.

Three of the six award-winning pieces were about Niatross, 1980's Harness Horse of the Year.

The final awards were judged by Henry F. Schulte of Syracuse University's S.I. Newhouse School of Public Communications. The two top prizes will be awarded at the annual Harness Writers' banquet in May.

Junior Spartans Drop Two, Pick Up One

by REBECCA BROWN

The Jr. Spartan boys basketball team played 3 games in the past two weeks, two of which they lost to tough opponents. The boys lost the first two to Woodbridge and C.R., respectively, then came back and beat the Falcon of Dover Air.

In the Woodbridge game, Chipmans scorers were: Murray, 8; K. Benson, 8; Bordley, 5; and Hicks, 1. The boys ended up on the short end of a 24-27 score.

Next, the boys went to C.R. where they again lost. Scoring for the Jr. Spartans were: Hicks, 12; Murray, 9; Chandler, 5; and Bordley, 5. The score for this game was Jr. Spartans, 31, and the Raiders, 60.

The boys beat the Dover Air Falcons 40-36. One Jr. Spartan scored in double figures. He was Martin Bordley with 12 points. Also scoring were Hicks, 6; Meding, 6; R. Benson, 4; Murray, 4; Chandler, 2; Hanes, 2; Wolford, 2 and Cole, 2.

Varsity Basketball

by "Mackey"

Lake Forest boys basketball team played better during Friday night's game against Woodbridge than they have in the last few games. The game ended with a score of Lake Forest 75, Woodbridge 71.

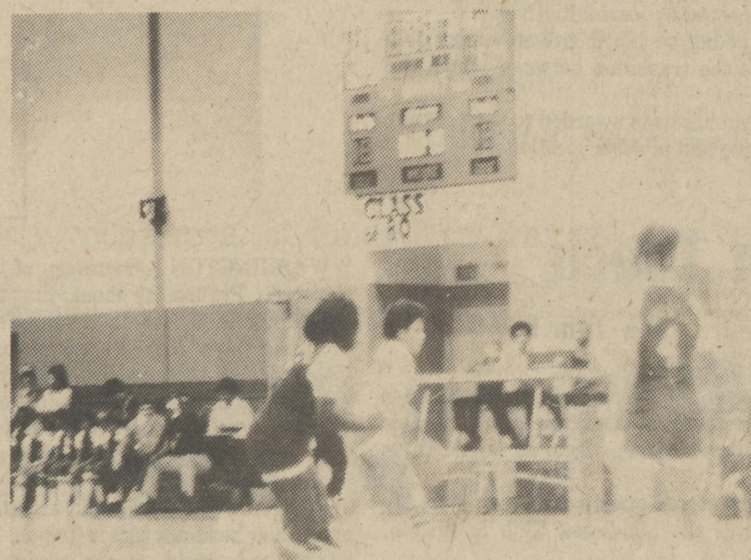

The return of Bruce Tolsen (33) didn't seem to make any difference, although he did do a good job. Kevin Moehlenkamp (44) dominated the first quarter with 16 points; he was also the high scorer of the game with 22 points over all.

The second quarter belonged to Jerome Scott (34) after he flew through the air to make 3 hook shots, one in which he was fouled, resulting in 2 more points for the Spartans.

This win puts the team in second place in the Southern Division, 7-6.

Girls Basketball

During Friday night's game, the Lake Forest girls basketball team were playing far below par when they played Woodbridge. The game ended in a score of 44-30. Most of the game consisted of passing the ball back and forth between the two teams. Late in the third quarter, the Spartans led the Raiders by one point, with only 1:01 to go.

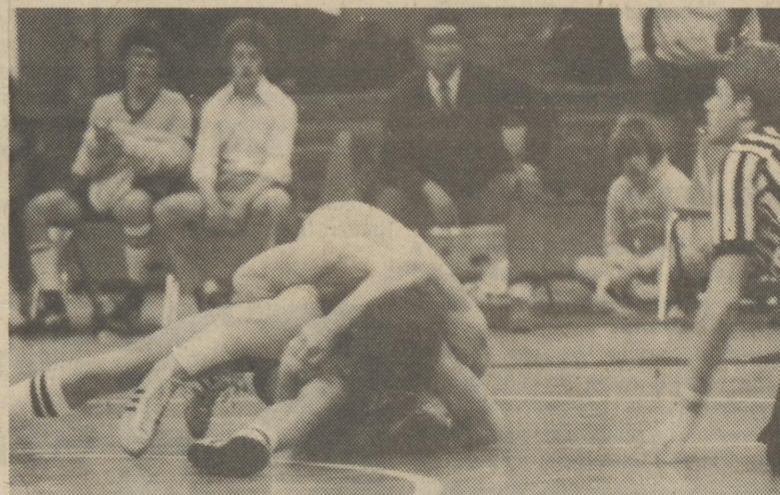

Brenda Thomas was high scorer of the game, with 13 points although she missed four one point free throws. Pam Harris and Dee Dee White added 11 and 10 points to the score.

Lake Forest's girls basketball team remain Henlopen Conference Southern division leaders with a record of 11-2.

Lake Forest Varsity Wrestling

Mark Monroe, cradling his opponent from Delmar trying for the pin.

Lake Forest had a heated match Saturday, when they wrestled Delmar. The meet ended with Lake Forest 28, Delmar 32. Greg Eckenrode received a sprained thumb in the second period of his match. Even with this injury, he turned around and pinned his opponent. Other pins were made by John Greene third period, Charles Jones, using a figure four pinned his opponent in 1:57.

The match that received the most argument from the Delmar coach was Doug Jarrell. After being injured, he wound up tying his opponent. This caused a considerable amount of trouble between the two teams because the coach from Delmar did not agree with the score.

The Spartans led the meet until Greg Bell (a heavy weight) wrestled. He was pinned in the first period, which gave the meet to Delmar. Greg Bell did a good job, although his opponent was much heavier than he was. Greg was right on the money at 185 lb.; his opponent topped 200 lbs.

THOUGHTS FROM DOVER

By Gov. Pierre S. DuPont

Drawing upon the success of the Jobs for Delaware Graduates Program, three other sites around the nation will test the program to see whether it can be as successful in their states as it is in ours.

Earlier this week I was in Memphis, Tennessee, to meet with Governor Lamar Alexander and to help him inaugurate the program in three Memphis high schools. The program is also operating in the State of Arizona and in communities in the Greater Boston area. I expect that several other sites will be included in this two-year testing program.

The success of the Delaware program has sparked interest from other regions where the unemployment rate is high among high school graduates and minority youth. The program here has placed successfully more than 85 percent of the youths who graduated from high school and who were in the program from June, 1980.

In addition, available evidence demonstrates that those youths in the Delaware program are receiving 20 percent more in income as of June 30 compared to those that were not in the program. Further, Delaware participants were twice as likely to be working as those youths of similar demographic background who graduated from Delaware's high schools, but were not in the program.

Delaware's success has encouraged business, community, educational, and government leaders to take a closer look at the program. Among the people serving on the board of Jobs for America's Graduates, the umbrella organization supervising the programs in the new sites are Vice-President Bush, former Vice-President Mondale, NAACP Executive Director Benjamin Hooks, National Urban League President Carl Holman, Lt. Governor Robb of Virginia, Governor Jay Rockefeller of West Virginia, and many other educational and business leaders.

Senator Howard Baker, majority leader of the U.S. Senate and a member of the board of JAG said: "I am pleased to be associated with Jobs for America's Graduates. America needs new answers to the very difficult problem of youth unemployment. We need local answers supported by local initiatives."

Jobs for Delaware Graduates places the young people in private sector jobs following graduation and helps them bridge the transition between school and work.

A $700 grant from the Rockefeller Foundation has been awarded to the program to assist over the two-year testing of the program in other locations.

Keeping In Touch

With Tom Evans

Washington, D.C.—Delaware U.S. Representative Thomas B. Evans, Jr. has become a key spokesman for President Reagan's economic program. In this capacity, Rep. Evans has been invited to address groups from as far north as Massachusetts, to as far south as Florida.

Most recently, Congressman Evans was the featured guest speaker at Thursday night's 114th Annual Lincoln Day Dinner of the Middlesex Club in Boston, Massachusetts.

The Middlesex Club, founded in 1876, is the country's oldest Republican organization. Every U.S. President since Abraham Lincoln has been a speaker before the group. Last year, a crowd of 1,000 heard a debate there between Presidential candidates, Rep. John Anderson (R-Ill.), Ambassador George Bush, and Rep. Phillip Crane (R-Ill.). The audience for Congressman Evans' speech consisted of prominent Republicans from throughout the Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

Much of Congressman Evans' address dealt with the components of the economic program which President Reagan will present to the Congress on Wednesday.

Thursday night's address by Congressman Evans is another in a series of speeches before a variety of organizations and groups. On Feb. 6, Congressman Evans was featured speaker before the Reagan Coalition meeting at the Kennedy Center in Washington, D.C. The Reagan Coalition is an effort to obtain widespread support from community and business leaders for President Reagan's economic program.

The White House has asked Congressman Evans to speak before a briefing on the President's economic program. The briefing will be to a group of key political figures from across the country on Feb. 17.

On Feb. 23, Congressman Evans will be the featured speaker at the Lincoln Day Dinner in Pinellas County, Florida. Pinellas County has the largest Republican population of any county in the Southeast.

EVANS FIGHTS FOR RAIL SERVICE ON DELMARVA PENINSULA

The Delmarva rail line is truly the economic lifeblood of the Delmarva Peninsula. That's why I am very concerned about the proposal of the United States Railway Association that Conrail should abandon rail service south of Harrington and turn it over to a private shortline operator.

Major industrial users are presently serviced at various locations south of Harrington, including but not limited to the DuPont nylon plant facility in Seaford, the Georgetown Industrial Airpark, the Delmarva Power and Light facility at Indian River, and Barcroft, Inc. in Lewes. These businesses and others rely on the services now provided by Conrail. The rail lines mean jobs here in Delaware, and throughout the Delmarva Peninsula. Without the rail service, Delaware's economic picture could change drastically—some businesses may have to relocate and others may have to curtail some services.

I have written to the Chairman and Chief Operating Officer of Conrail expressing these and other concerns about the USRA proposal. One of my chief concerns is that the USRA proposal does not guarantee that a private buyer actually exists for the rail line south of Harrington. The USRA proposal could very easily leave Delaware without rail service and result in major economic dislocation in Kent and Sussex Counties.

The USRA recommendation is only a temporary proposal. It is not final. The final decision must come from the Congress. In my letter to Conrail's Chairman, I urged Conrail, in its report to Congress, to adopt a recommendation that will insure continued rail service to the Delmarva Peninsula. When Conrail's report is issued to the Congress, you can be sure that I will fight hard for a proposal which will keep Delaware's economic lifeline rolling.

"...some say he is the only one who ever gave Harrington...anything..."

I was talking to Clarence Collins this week about some historical aspects of our community. Clarence, you might agree, is one of the last historians of the Town. "There was a group once that gave that hoss trough...that was down near your building...but he is the only one I know of that ever gave anything to this Town", said Clarence Collins.

Ever since I can remember there was John Satterfield, and to me, he has always been in there pitching for the Town. He served long and well on the Town Council and brought to the council an added dimension that has been sorely missed...and that is the influence of a local business man sitting on the council.

He has done several things for the betterment of the community...like being responsible for bringing Cable TV to this community. This most recent act of purchasing the original Episcopal Church in the community...in order to preserve it...was standing alone to some of us a christian thing to do...but to in turn give it to the Town's Historical Society for their museum was a community service...noblest of all. We owe the Satterfields a great deal of gratitude.

In closing, I remember about 6 years ago shortly after I purchased The Harrington Journal that the financial condition of the Town was extremely bad. The interest on the note was due as well as the note...and the Town needed more money. It was Mr. Satterfield who signed the new note to bail all of us out.

As we sleep tonight remember there is one among us who has similar problems and woes...but his heart is a little bigger...and it pumps a little harder too. Give thanks if you will.

Biden Report

By Sen. Joseph Biden Jr.

The decision by President Reagan to seek deregulation of natural gas on top of his hasty decision to remove the remaining price controls on oil, gasoline and propane is contrary to the interests of millions of Americans who have already drained their savings to pay for their heat this winter.

The President's actions will produce higher prices throughout every sector of the economy and give an unnecessary boost to inflation—a serious blow to any economic recovery initiatives. But it will not add any significant reserve to America's fuel supply.

The day has long since passed when oil companies need to be given any additional economic incentive to explore for and produce oil — exorbitant profits are already being reaped. More rapid decontrol of oil prices will not get any more wells sunk or pipe more oil to market.

The fact is that the major energy corporations cannot spend the profits they are reaping for oil and gas exploration because they have already purchased every available piece of equipment needed for exploration and drilling. They are not spending those profits on research and development on alternative sources of energy which would compete with oil and gas. They are instead using massive profits to move into non-energy fields.

Under ordinary circumstances, we would hardly blame corporations enjoying high profits and dealing in a non-renewable resource if they diversified by investing those profits in other new and growing industries. But the nation's circumstances today are far from ordinary.

Because we are, and will remain for the foreseeable future, so dependent on imported oil as a major ingredient in our overall energy supply, we are very much at the mercy of the OPEC oil-producing nations for the energy costs we must absorb. Now that President Reagan has decontrolled the remaining domestic petroleum products, domestic oil prices will also be determined by the decisions of the OPEC nations—and that means they will steadily rise. Gasoline and home heating oil prices have already gone up by eight to ten cents a gallon since the President acted. And it is rumored that he intends to remove the remaining controls on natural gas, with the expected result of doubling or tripling natural gas prices. The inflationary impact of these decisions by President Reagan will be, simply, enormous—and they will do little in the near future to increase our energy supply.

That's why Congress committed a major portion of the windfall profits tax to the research and development of alternative sources of energy. But even as they have fought against the windfall tax, our major energy companies have shown more interest in moving into such fields as office equipment, communications and department stores than they have in pursuing alternative energy technologies and renewable energy resources.

The forays of energy corporations into non-energy enterprises have grave implications for every other American industry and business in these times of recession and economic uncertainty. Their greatest asset in these endeavors may well be the vast cash reserve that buffer them against the uncertainties of the marketplace.

As I spoke against deregulation in the Senate, I was constantly rebutted by the argument that the energy corporations needed the added profits to produce more energy. Now we find that the cash that has been handed to them is instead being used to compete with and take over other American industry.

Congress must accept the responsibility of preventing windfall profits from being used at the expense of American business and the American consumer. The windfall profits should be used where they are needed, where they were intended to be used and where the energy corporations said they would use them—in developing new sources.

The Federal General Services Administration has offered to the State of Delaware and other public bodies the historic Fenwick Lighthouse, marking another step toward relieving the popular beacon.

Since there is a general consensus that the lighthouse should be protected as a historical landmark, I anticipate that GSA should have little trouble deciding that 1) the State Division of Historical and Cultural Affairs should hold title to the property, and 2) there should be no charge to the citizens of Delaware for it.

I have been assured by the U.S. Coast Guard that once the property is in the state's possession the original prism, which creates the beacon, will be replaced on permanent loan. There are also plans for a small museum at the base of the lighthouse to be operated and supported by a citizens group, Friends of the Fenwick Lighthouse.

The Division of Historical and Cultural Affairs is prepared to move quickly to apply for the property. My office will be working with GSA and the Heritage Conservation and Recreation Service of the U.S. Department of Interior to expedite the transfer.

Jack Anderson Washington Merry-Go-Round

WASHINGTON -- Secretary of State Alexander Haig has declared a war on terrorists. Perhaps he should first track down two shady American businessmen named Edwin Wilson and Frank Terpil.

In some ways, they are worse than incorrigible criminals who commit acts of violence. Wilson and Terpil train terrorists in the bloody techniques of kidnapping, torture and assassination.

Both men were indicted last April for shipping explosives overseas, conspiracy to commit murder and training terrorists. They fled the country to avoid prosecution.

Intelligence sources told our associate Dale Van Atta that Terpil and Wilson now make their headquarters in Tripoli. They have set up five to eight training camps where the terrorist groups receive instructions in their deadly pursuits. Terpil and Wilson, incidentally, learned their black art as operatives in the Central Intelligence Agency.

Several days ago, Terpil flew to Beirut under the protection of the Palestine Liberation Organization and registered in the Wienerhaus Hotel.

Apparently, the training offered by Terpil and Wilson has paid off—in blood. Our sources say that Libyan assassination squads have already used the techniques taught by their American instructors: At least a dozen opponents of Libyan strongman Muammar Qaddafi have been killed in the past several months.

CLEAN SWEEP—Ronald Reagan swept into the presidency on a promise to clean house in Washington, and his broom has reached into the most remote corners of the White House. Two dozen secretaries on the domestic policy staff, for example, were summarily fired.

These women had no political backgrounds. Most of them had held their modest positions through several administrations, both Republican and Democratic. Their jobs were considered nonpartisan.

Even worse was the way the secretaries were fired. They were told on January 19, the day before the inauguration, to report at 8:30 sharp the next morning. They dutifully showed up on time, but were kept cooling their heels until one o'clock in the afternoon. Then they were given hastily arranged interviews that, some of them said, were more like loyalty tests.

The secretaries were told that the Reagan administration intended to bring a touch of "class" to the White House. They were told that silver coffee services and china cups would be the rule.

Apparently, the secretaries' exposure to four years of Coca Cola and blue jeans under Jimmy Carter was enough to rule them out. Shortly after the peculiar interviews, all four of the secretaries were ordered to turn in their White House security passes the next day.

Stuart Eizenstat, the outgoing domestic policy chief, called his successor, Martin Anderson, about the sudden firings. Eizenstat asked that the secretaries at least be kept on the payroll for two more weeks while they looked for other jobs.

The secretaries were granted the two-week grace period.

SOME SUGGESTIONS—President Reagan is trying to trim the federal budget, and we'd like to suggest some cuts that would save the taxpayers a few billion.

The Domestic International Sales Corporation Program, for example, is a strange little-known bureaucratic beast which is supposed to encourage export trade. It allows businessmen to defer income tax payments for years.

The results of the program have been negligible. If the tax benefits were phased out—perhaps over a three-year period—it would put $8 billion into the federal treasury.

Another superfluous item is the government's complex price-support program for dairy products. It not only adds to the prices consumers pay for milk, butter and cheese; it also encourages overproduction. If cutbacks were begun next year, the taxpayers would save over $4 billion by 1986.

Meanwhile, we're pleased to report that President Reagan has set a modest example. Jimmy Carter included in his budget for the next fiscal year the sum of $50,000 for further renovation of the president's living quarters. But Reagan's aides called the congressional appropriations committees and asked that the $50,000 be deleted.

HEADLINES AND FOOTNOTES—Interior Secretary James Watt has put his staff on notice: Anyone who doesn't agree with the "multiple use" of public lands should search for a new job. In other words, anyone who doesn't like the idea of opening up parks and wilderness areas to developers shouldn't work at the Interior Department.

Libyan dictator Muammar Qaddafi is still trying to obtain delivery of some military transport planes he bought from the United States several years ago. The State Department has refused to deliver the aircraft because of Qaddafi's involvement with terrorists. So now, say our sources, Qaddafi is trying to get some corporations in the Bahamas to buy the planes, then ship them to him.

A chilling excerpt from a top-secret report by the Joint Chiefs of Staff: "Although U.S. forces have been adequate through the 1970's, they are clearly not sufficient to prevent considerable risk in the early to mid-1980's."

strategy, "A Blueprint for U.S. Farm Export Expansion," was introduced by ACA's Blue Ribbon Committee, of which I am a member.

Increased farm exports will not only help our overall trade picture, but will provide for Americans in farming and related fields. In Delaware, it's estimated that one out of five farm jobs is related to exports.

An added benefit of increased farm exports will be higher levels of production which will encourage efficiency.

With this in mind, the ACA report targeted 5 ways in which the public and private sectors can work together to encourage farm growth so that other nations will have the resources needed to purchase our farm products.

Second, our farmers and companies must become aggressive world traders in order to compete with other suppliers.

Third, our producers must expand and maintain overseas sales opportunities. Fourth, by maintaining a healthy domestic agricultural sector, we will ensure that our farmers can be reliable and successful suppliers.

Fifth, we in government must adopt a trade program that supports our exporting goals. This program should include active promotion of exports through financial and marketing support and the removal of unnecessary and damaging barriers to trade such as embargoes.

I applaud the efforts of ACA in detailing a farm export strategy for the eighties and for pointing out in a comprehensive way the importance of farm exporting to U.S. domestic and international strength.

Thoughts From Washington

By U.S. Senator Bill Roth

WASHINGTON—Farm exports are one of the principal keys to America's economic health. Last year, the United States exported over $40 billion in farm products while importing on $17 billion. This $23 billion surplus more than outweighed our trade deficit in non-agricultural goods.

For nearly 21 years now, agricultural exports have been greater in value than agricultural imports. Clearly, without agriculture's continued aggressiveness and desire to expand, the United States economy would be in desperate shape.

On Feb. 9, the Agriculture Council of America (ACA) opened its conference in Washington on "Export Strategies for the Eighties." The centerpiece of this policy change would have to go through two readings before the school board before it is adopted. The first reading of the proposal in its final form may be at the March board meeting.

BOARD MEMBERS SKEPTICAL ABOUT ENERGY TAX PROPOSED

Members of the Lake Forest School Board and Administration seemed to cast a skeptical eye on a bill before the state legislature that would give local school boards the power to levy and collect a local energy tax without conducting a referendum. The tax would be limited to 43 percent of the special energy monies allocated through the state's division II funds. It could not be levied until all other energy funds were exhausted. That latter part of the proposal, said L.F. Board members James Gussett, would mean a year's delay in collecting the energy tax money and the probability that a school district, caught in an emergency, might be closed down for non-payment of its bills. Gussett called the proposed bill the state's attempt at "passing the buck" on the energy question.

Assistant Superintendent Melvin Luff said the bill is "...an ill-disguised attempt at transferring the responsibility of the state legislature to local school districts." Board members, Donald Garey thought the proposal would place an unequal or unfair burden a taxpayer in the states poorer school districts.

Another Board member Rick Feutoz reported that the Delaware State School Board Association had gone on record as opposing the legislation.

In other business the Lake Forest School Board:

--set Tuesday, May 12, 1981, as the date of the annual school board election. The seat now occupied by Donald Garey will be up for consideration.

--approved the expenditure of $2,357 to replace glass blocks and windows in the north wall of the gym at W.T. Chipman with concrete blocks. The work is to be done by Roger Moore.

--heard Lake Forest High School senior Karen Wothers report on her trip to the recent week-long Washington Workshop.

--accepted the resignation of Eunice Collison as aide of Lake Forest South Elementary and approved the transfer of Hope Minner from playground aide at South A to playground aide and K.I.T.E. aide at South B.

--heard that L.F. Superintendent William Cline will be making a series of 30 minute presentations to educate the Board and the public on the various aspects of school curriculum and funding. The first presentation, set for the March 16 meeting will be concerned with Part B funding (Special Education) and related matters.
