Lake Forest OEA Awards Banquet

On March 5, 1981, the OEA Chapter of Lake Forest held their second annual awards recognition banquet. At this banquet, local winners received their awards for first, second, and third places. Winners of first place won trophies. Second and third place winners received silver and bronze medals.

There were 21 competitions given. Students did their best at each level and received awards for their efforts. There was a buffet style dinner. Students were asked to bring a covered dish to compliment the main dish, boiled ham.

The turn out for the banquet was very successful. In addition, members of the Lake Forest Board of Education, administrators, employers of our business co-op students, a representative from the Harrington Journal, and parents were invited.

The guest speakers were Rhonda Whitt, the State OEA Vice President, who attends Lake Forest High School; and Karen Gerardi, our Chapter Vice President. News coverage was broadcast on WAFL Radio News station.

We would like to put this in our scrapbook as a very rewarding, and memorable event. We also thank all who participated.

Winners of the competition were: In Accounting I-Debbie Minner, third place, Karen Wothers, second place, and Lori Fournier, first place. In Accounting II-Lisa Spence, third place, Crystal Gerardi, second place, and Christina Robertson, first place. In General Clerical I-Susan Hoover, third place, Sharon Burton, second place, and Cheryl Collins, first place. Council Set Tax Rate

New Budget Approved For Felton Police Dept.

FELTON, DEL. - On Monday night, the Felton Town Council disclosed that a police budget of $13,170 was approved in an executive session at last month's monthly meeting. This figure represents a six month budget. The Council also approved payment of Blue Cross for Chief Mike Oliver and his assistant.

The Council also set the tax rate on Monday night. The tax year does not begin until July 1st "...but we set the rate now so that if there are any complaints...they can get to us by July 1st", said Mayor Bill Byers. The tax rate was fixed as the same as last year...being 80 cents per $100 of assessed value. "The assessed value is usually 50 to no more than 60 percent of the market value. Say if a property is worth $50,000 on the market here in Felton...then the assessed value would be based on $25,000.00", added Myers. The capitation rate will remain the same at $3.00. "Everyone 18 years or older will pay this whether they are married or not or living at home with their parents", added Myers.

Chief Oliver reported that he is "cracking down on the dirt bikes". Apparently outsiders are coming into the Town and using the railroad tracks to ride their dirt bikes. "We have not made any arrests as yet...but we have had some talks with the boys and we have handed out warnings. We will make arrests now...if the situation does not correct itself", said the Chief. The new sewer maps are out "...and would you believe it...they didn't have a connection marked for the new town hall. But...I took care of that. I called Baltimore and talked to the architects, and they said they would see to it that it is added on", said Myers.

Councilman Don Jacobs reported that the Avon Club of Felton as one of their projects will do a survey to give all the houses in the town numbers. "This may be the forerunner to getting house to house delivery for mail, but it will also help the fire company and police department find a house more easily", said Jacobs.

At the meeting on Monday night, newly elected councilmen, Fred Casper and Dave Billings, who was appointed to fill out the term of Bill DeLong were elected Secretary and Treasurer respectively.

At Chief Mike Oliver's monthly report he disclosed that as of midnight, he no longer is a member of the CETA program "...and now I belong to you", said Oliver. Oliver reported that "...there must be a short in the street light at the corner of Walnut and Main Streets...because the light goes off from time to time." Councilman Don Jacobs suggested that anyone noting the light going off and on could report it to Delmarva Power by giving them the number of the pole.

Mayor Bill Meyers, left, does the swearing in of two new council members on Monday night. They are Tom Jenner, right, and Fred Casper, standing in the center. Outgoing council person, Mrs. Mary Ann Stumpf, who chose not to run for another term is seated at the council table.

Dill Drafted — Once Again

Frederica Town Council member Ezekiel Dill, who had planned not to serve another term on the council, but who was written in anyway by fifty of fifty-one voters in the town election last week, was drafted again on Thursday. This time the summons came from his fellow council members who chose him to serve as Mayor, Dill will be no stranger to that position. He was Frederica's Mayor for several months in 1979 and 1980 after the resignation of George "Bud" Nashold. After his defeat in the town election last March, Dill was succeeded by Dan Griffith, who served for one year.

On accepting the post and being sworn in, Dill said "I'm taking this job because you asked me...I've been a resident of Frederica for 30 some years...I like to do what I can for the town."

Dill's selection as Mayor of Frederica came at last Thursday's annual reorganization meeting of the Frederica Council. At that time, Barbara Manaraze was asked by the Council to continue to serve in the capacity of Town Clerk and was sworn in as treasurer for one more year. Mrs. Powers will continue to head the

Clara's Eccentric Mansion

Editor's Note: This year the American Red Cross celebrates its 100th birthday. March, by tradition, is Red Cross Month, and the Delaware Chapter of the Red Cross is joining in the celebration.

GLEN ECHO, MD.-This minute suburb of Washington, D. C., is probably best known locally as the site of a one time amusement park. Today, the rides, fun houses, and swimming pool are in a state of disrepair or rotting away.

But an old Victorian mansion that has shared the site with the now crumbling park for more than 80 years sports a new, glistening coat of canary yellow paint.

It stands testimony to the enduring memory of a small, iron-willed woman who almost single-handedly fashioned the American Red Cross back in 1881 and was the personification of the organization until her death in 1912 at the age of 90.

Several times the Clara Barton House nearly succumbed to the crunching wrecker's ball and the voracious bulldozers. But, a few years back, the National Park Service arrived in the nick of time to declare the structure a national historic site.

Attention focuses on the mansion today because of the one hundredth anniversary of the American Red Cross. In addition to being Clara's home, it also served for years as Red Cross national headquarters and a storage place for disaster relief supplies.

The house could hardly be called stately. Eccentric would be more the correct term.

Designed by Dr. Julian Hubbell, Clara's administrative assistant, the structure showed strong influence of the Ohio and Mississippi river steamers on which Clara frequently carried relief supplies to flood victims in the Red Cross early years.

The architecture is described by some as "steamboat Gothic" and contains three decks and a captain's room or pilot house. Three stories high in the front and four in the rear, the house is 82 1/2 feet long and 45 feet wide. Heavy hemlock timbers, presented to Miss Barton by the city of Johnstown, Pennsylvania, at the conclusion of a flood operation, were used in construction.

Clara's cousin, William E. Barton, referred to the structure as "unpretentious" in his biography of the Red Cross pioneer. However, it does contain 38 rooms, 36 closets, and an unusual number of windows, affording panoramic views of the Potomac River and parkland below.

The closets were packed with blankets, malted milk, canned goods, and other emergency supplies, all duly catalogued.

Her cousin wrote, "It was this attempt to combine in one home a storehouse, a place of refuge for the needy, and a kind of organization headquarters which struck the visitor so strangely and almost repellently.

"She might have built a little bungalow for herself and her office and housed her supplies in a separate building for storage purposes and with emergency sleeping rooms attached, but she wished it otherwise and she had her way."

Clara was not amused when the amusement park intruded upon the pastoral scene. The roller coaster went thundering by her windows, and couples danced far into the night to bands in the ballroom.

But Clara would not move and she lived and died in her home at Glen Echo.

Clara Barton's "eccentric mansion" still stands in Glen Echo, Maryland, where the Red Cross founder was once neighbor to a thundering roller coaster.

In Houston Election

Trash Will Be The Question

Trash will be the major question for Houston voters to consider as they go to the polls on March 28. The outcome of the council election, with only two candidates seeking the two available seats, is a foregone conclusion. James Emory and William Williams, Jr., who filed on February 28, will be elected. But there will also be a referendum question asking the town's residents whether they prefer a $60 trash collection fee, a 200 percent property tax increase, or discontinuing the trash collection service.

The actual referendum question will be:

"Due to the increased cost of trash collection combined with the decrease in and possible discontinuance of federal revenue sharing funds, do you favor:

1. a trash collection fee of, per household, $60 per year,
2. a property tax increase from 30 cents per $100 of the assessed value of real estate to 90 cents per $100, or
3. discontinuing the trash collection service leaving each household totally responsible for the proper disposal of his trash?

After several public meetings on the trash question, Houston Mayor, Connie

Morgan, said public sentiment seems to be running in favor of the $60 per year trash collection fee. The referendum will be used by the Council as a guideline in making a decision. But, said Morgan, if voters show a preference for a property tax increase, there would have to be another referendum to allow those who do not live in Houston but own property within the town limits to vote.

The trash collection matter was discussed at last Thursday's special meeting, but there were no new developments. Houston has not yet Nimrod (Cod) Minner will observe his 99th birthday Thursday at his home on Delaware Ave. He was born March 16, 1862.

Entries in the junior division of the Century Club fashion show last week were Becky Moore, Nancy Taylor, Dawn Hopkins, (the winner), Marilyn Jarrell (2nd), and Jeanne Martin (3rd). The girls made their own exhibits.

The Rev. Victor Kusik will be the preacher at the Fourth Sunday evening Lenten services. He is no stranger to this parish or the people of Harrington. The Rev. Mr. Kusik was born in Fladivostock, Russia, and educated at the Hindenberg School, Harbin, Manchuria, and the German College at Tsing Tau, China and was graduated from the Virginia Theological Seminary in 1952. (He is) the Rector of St. Mary's Church in Bridgeville.

Lloyd R. Leslie, Delaware's Heart Fund Chairman, announced today that local support in the battle against heart and blood vessel diseases had reached a record figure of $866.40. Mrs. William Humes was the local chairman. She recruited three persons to serve as chairman for rural Harrington: Mrs. Frank Tharp, Mrs. Algin Black and Mrs. James Coady.

The local American Legion Post celebrated its 42nd anniversary Saturday night with a spaghetti dinner at the post home...Now known as Callaway-Kemp-Raughley-Tee Post No. 7, it was originally known as Fleming Post after a soldier who lost his life in France in World War I...Of the charter members, two are alive. Benjamin Emory and Earl Sylvester. The latter attended the dinner Saturday night.

Superintendent of Lake Forest School District Albert W. Adams and State Representative G. Robert Quillen are pictured in the Journal being offered the first boxes of candy to be sold in the current candy drive to raise funds for the Lake Forest High School Band Uniform Fund. The boxes were presented by Angela Minner, Harrington, and Russell Dill, Viola, members of the Wm. T. Chipman Band.

Mr. & Mrs. Robert A. Wilson are the parents of girl, Lisa Ann, born last Thursday in the Milford Memorial Hospital. Mrs. Wilson is the former Mary Ann Messick. The Wilsons have another daughter, Lori Ann.

Miss Claudia Ann Krest of Durham, N.C. became the bride of John Charles Greenhaugh of Chapel Hill, N.C. Jan. 30...the groom is the son of Mr. & Mrs. Charles E. Greenhaugh of Harrington.

The Harrington Recreation Association will sponsor a course in photography - processing, developing and enlarging of black and white pictures. The course will be conducted by Miss Judy Lynch, a member of the Lake Forest School staff.

Kent County's hottest sulky chauffer, Johnny Childress, was in the business of checking "stretch drives" long before he bounced over to piloting harness horses seven years ago...Childress, Harrington Raceway's leading teamster, last fall and more recently, third top dashman at Dover Down's 84-night meet, once tested girdles and rubber gloves...for 17 1/2 years the rugged, soft-spoken, & light-handed reinsman was a process engineer for the Latex Corporation Dover. It was his job to test the quality of the company's new products; now he's testing horses.

The varsity girl's basketball team at Lake Forest won four games and lost eight during the season. They claimed a third-place tie in the conference Southern Division with Woodbridge... of the 10 girls on the team, four are seniors: Susie Boxtick, Karen Minner, Joann Short and Esther Straw. Juniors Debbie Bishop, Debbie Harris and Jean Harris are also on the team along with sophomores Pat Hudson and Joan Mason. Devra Dunbar and Ruth Ann Moore are the managers.

heard what its revenue sharing funds for the year will be.

In other business at the regular meeting which followed, the Houston Town Council:

--decided to look for individuals to serve as the town's secretary, treasurer, and tax collector. Eleanor Yerkes, the current treasurer, wants to step down. Betty Pleasanton, tax collector, and Sandy Anderson, secretary, would be willing to continue. Resumes can be submitted to Connie Morgan by mail or in person before April 1.

--issued a warning that it is illegal by both town and state law to allow dogs to run loose. Several have been picked up, and civil action could follow as owners are identified.

--reminded town residents that a building permit is required for any new construction, addition or remodeling in excess of $500. The permit fee is $2.00.

committee responsible for public information. She will be largely responsible for the production of a newsletter that is distributed throughout the community.

For the coming year, Virginia Simpler will be the person to contact for those interested in obtaining building permits. The Council will reserve the right to act on the permits, but Mrs. Simpler will have applications and be able to advise residents on the procedure.

Council member Dan Griffith, was appointed to serve as the governing body's liaison with the newly created Planning and Zoning Commission. Like Dill, Griffith had planned not to serve another term, but was drafted by write-in votes when no one filed for the seat.

The Council as a whole will act as the Committee on Public Works - streets, sewer, water, lighting - for the year to come.

In the only other decision made last Thursday, the Council decided to continue the contract with off-duty Delaware State Police for 20 hours of police protection each week. Most Council members seemed to feel that the state police have served the community well, with fewer problems than the community had previously experienced in trying to maintain a local police officer.

Regular March business of the Council will be taken up this evening at a meeting set for 7 p.m. in the town hall.

When was the last time you encountered an alligator? Ever caught a fish that you wanted to keep instead of eating? Or have you ever admired Williamsburg flower arrangements in magazines and wished you could create one of your own? All of this is possible in upcoming Delaware Nature Education Society programs at the Ashland Nature Center.

During spring vacation, April 11-18, teens and adults may canoe through the heart of Georgia's Okefenokee Swamp National Wildlife Refuge. While passing through a variety of habitats - open water, cypress forest, prairies and islands - participants will observe unique plant and animal life. At night, everyone will hear about swamp origins, alligator habits and folklore. Cost for the trip is DNES members $225, others $240 and includes transportation, food and equipment. Pre-registration is required by March 16.

On Wednesday, March 18, Betty Thomas will be conducting a Williamsburg dried-flower arranging workshop in her Westhaven home from 6-10 p.m. Each participant will create their own 11 1/2" x 11 1/2" arrangement. Plant materials and containers are provided; participants should bring their own pruning shears, a low cardboard box and wire cutters. The fee is DNES members $20, others $23, pre-registration through the Nature Society is required.

For those who would like to learn the fine art of mounting birds, fish and fur-bearing animals, a taxidermy workshop will be held at the Nature Center on Wednesday, March 25, from 6-9 p.m. Techniques in skinning, preserving and mounting will be covered; practice specimens provided. The fee is DNES members $6, others $12, pre-registration is required.

To register for any of these programs, mail fee payable to DNES: Delaware Nature Education Society, P. O. Box 700, Hockessin, DE 19707. The Ashland Nature Center is located off Brackenville Road near Hockessin, Del. For further information, contact: Linda J. Young, DNES Publicist (302) 239-2334.

The University of Delaware Ukrainian Club will present an evening of Native Ukrainian song and dance at 7:30 p.m., Saturday, March 14 in the Loudis Recital Hall of the Amy E. du Pont Music Building on the Newark campus.

Performing will be the Poltava Ukrainian Dance Ensemble, the Veselka Trio and Bandurist, all of Pittsburgh.

Trinity United Methodist Church located at the northwest corner of Commerce and Mispillion Streets in Harrington is the sketch this week by Harrington artist Gretchen Banks. The Church recently celebrated its 100th anniversary.

The program is open to the public, and admission is $4 for the general public and $2 for senior citizens and U.D. students with I.D. Tickets are available at Bag & Baggage Tickettown in Wilmington or from Irene Hrycushko of the Ukrainian Club, telephone 738-2149. Any remaining tickets will be sold at the door on a first-come, first-serve basis.

Acclaimed by the New York Times Film Review as being a film that "keeps spectators on the edge of their seats," the 1927 movie classic, "Sunrise," directed by F.W. Murnau will be presented by the Delaware Art Museum on Thursday, March 19, at 8 p.m.

"Sunrise" is presented as part of the program series, Reflections: American Popular Culture, 1890-1940, which combines lectures and films to discuss many aspects of American popular culture. Admission to the film is $1.50 adults. 75 cents students and senior citizens and free to Museum members. For more information call, (302) 571-9590.

Chipman Students Celebrate National Women's Day

By: 7th Grade F.L.A.G. Members

Gov. Pierre S. du Pont has declared March 8 - March 14 as Women's History Week.

Many demonstrations over low wages, the 12-hour work day and poor working conditions, led Clara Zetkin, in 1910, to propose that March 8 be proclaimed National Women's Day. By 1970, most of the major cities in the United States were celebrating National Women's Day.

In honor of this day, the students at

W.T. Chipman Junior School are involved in many activities. Eighth graders are researching the accomplishments of famous American women in history and are seeing films titled "The American Woman" and "Ms. America" in their social studies classes. Seventh and eighth graders are participating in a poll where they are asked their opinions on such topics as: "The role of fathers as part of raising children," equal job opportunities for women" and "The place of women in the home". The results of the poll will be published in next week's Journal.

Niles and Herring retained the building lots within the town limits and sold the balance of the farm containing approximately 73 acres and the parcel of woodland to Silas B. Kelly of Monroe County of New York State.

On 22 October 1866 Andrew Niles and Margaret A. his wife sold to William H. Herring and wife all of the town of Felton, all of their undivided half interest in that certain tract, piece or parcel of land situated lying and being in Murderkill Hundred and in the town of Felton and bounded on the North and east by lands of Silas B. Kelly, on the west by lands of the Delaware Railroad Co. and on the South by lands of John A. Moore, N.P. Luff and others containing 27 acres of land more or less...excepting also those lots which Andrew Niles and William H. Herring and wives conveyed to Charles L. Severn, Stephen C. Simpkins, Meril W. Sanders, William M. Satterfield, William Whitaker and Joseph B. Anderson.

After Thomas J. Moore purchased that part of the Simpson Farm East of the Delaware Railroad on 9 March 1857 Naomi Simpson and her other children sold to her son Joseph Simpson "Medical Doctor of the Town of Denton, Caroline County in the State of Maryland" all their interest in that part of the farm to the west of the railroad adjoining lands of Andrew J. Wright, David Needles, Thomas J. Moore, George W. Anderson and others and bounded as follows: Beginning at a point in the middle of the public road leading from Berrytown to Frederica and exactly at the center line of the Delaware Railroad and is an outline of the whole tract of the Joseph Simpson land being a corner for that part of the said tract sold to a certain Thomas J. Moore and from thence running with the said Public Road west...to a corner in the said road, rather on the South side thereof, opposite the south end of a bank fence a corner for land of Andrew J. Wright, thence leaving said road and running in part with a line of the said Wright's land and running in part with a line of land of David Needles...north...west...to a stake in the woods among some marked trees in a line of land of Samuel Needles and in an outline of these whole premises being a corner for a piece of land sold to the said Thomas J. Moore (the Woodland acres) thence running with a line thereof North..east..to a stake by the West side of the field being a corner for the said Moore's land, thence still with a line thereof and along the west side of the field, north..west..to a corner in the middle of the road leading from Berrytown to Canterbury then running with the road..north..east..to a corner in the aforesaid road exactly in the center line of the Delaware Railroad being a corner for that part of the Joseph Simpson land lying on the east side of the Delaware Railroad which was sold to Thomas J. Moore and thence running with the center line of the said Railroad and a line of the said Moore across the premises south..to the place of beginning.

Naomi Simpson widow of Joseph Simpson (Sr.) died 23 Nov. 1864 and is buried in the family cemetery by her husband. Dr. Joseph Simpson is also buried there and his marker is inscribed Born 13 Nov. 1837, Died 27 Dec. 1865. He was just 38 years old at the time of his death. In his will written 6 Dec. 1865 he states "I Joseph Simpson, M.D. being afflicted in body but of sound mind..." He had served as Surgeon for the Felton Home Guards which were organized 16 May 1861. He left to survive him only his widow Sarah Matilda Simpson. On 12 May 1867 she had part of the land he purchased surveyed and laid out in building lots by William A. Atkinson who was also the surveyor for the Niles and Herring Plots.

Biden Report

By Sen. Joseph Biden Jr.

Few Americans, I believe, are disputing President Reagan's contention that we have reached a point where strong measures are required to shake the nation out of the economic stagnation that has been growing steadily worse in recent years. I have no quarrel with the President's basic assessment of where we stand economically. It is, in fact, essentially the assessment I have been sharing with the people of Delaware, with increasing intensity, for more than three years. It has become increasingly clear that "business as usual" was leading us deeper and deeper into an economic morass from which we can extricate ourselves only by becoming tough with ourselves.

There is no question that federal spending and federal deficits must be reduced; we must do everything we can do to ease the inflationary pressures on the economy. There is equally no question that in order to make budget reductions on the scale necessary to have that effect, virtually all Americans must be prepared to make some sacrifice in the services they have been accustomed to receiving from the federal government. There just isn't any other way to do it.

Among other things, that means that I and other members of Congress will be voting to cut back on some programs we have supported in the past. We will do that with no pleasure, because we support the things we believe in, the things we are convinced the nation and our own states need. But as members of Congress, we'll have to be as tough with ourselves as we are asking the people to be if we hope to help turn the economy around.

Having said all that, I must admit there are some aspects of the President's spending proposals that I am not entirely comfortable with, and there may be occasions when I will feel obligated to vote against this or that specific proposal. But I believe the voters gave the President a clear economic mandate, and I have no intention of trying to obstruct his program. I'm not at all sure it will work, and there are many things I would try to do differently if the responsibility were mine. But something has to be done, and the primary responsibility for doing it lies not with the Congress but with the President. I will support his proposals wherever I can, and when I feel I must responsibly oppose a specific proposal, I will state my reasons clearly and limit them to the specific issue at hand.

There are some areas, for example, where I would support spending cuts even beyond what the President has proposed. The tobacco industry subsidies are a case in point. I just can't understand how Mr. Reagan expects the American people to think it is fair to cut all agricultural subsidies except for tobacco, the one agricultural product the Surgeon General has declared is dangerous to health. I think a reduction in the tobacco subsidies is very much in order.

On the other hand, I believe we must be very careful in the way we cut programs that cannot be revived in the future if the need arises. One such example is Conrail. Railroads are not a readily renewable resource. If, once we have allowed the tracks to be abandoned and the rights of way sold off, we find—as I believe we will—that our economic well-being requires a viable railroad industry, it will be too late. Obviously, we need a Conrail system that operates efficiently and economically—and that very well may mean some significant cuts in federal spending—but just as obviously we can't just let needed railroads disappear, never to return. The only way to rectify that kind of mistake is not to make it in the first place.

There will no doubt be many other instances where I will support the President's program, probably some where I want to cut deeper than he does, and a few where I will feel obliged to oppose him. The difficulty now is that there is no way for Congress to know in detail where it will agree or disagree—because the President has not yet supplied us with the details of his proposals. Until he does, I can say only that the $41 billion in cuts he has proposed is probably too ambitious to be achieved this year and that, in order to hold down the federal deficit, slow down inflation and improve productivity, we will need to reduce taxes more slowly than he has proposed and apply more of the tax relief to business to more quickly improve productivity and provide more jobs.

But that all remains to be seen. What is clear now is that spending must come down, and that both Congress and the American people are ready to cooperate with the President in bringing it down.

If the President's proposals are adopted—as I believe they will be in large part—and if they are successful, all Americans will benefit. If they fail in their objectives—as I fear they will—the basic strength of our economy will still allow us to recover and go forward. What is more important, at this point, is that we realize that, either way, the nation still has a long, hard economic road ahead before we can solve all the problems that have been years in making.

Thoughts From Washington

By U.S. Senator Bill Roth

SENATE MAKES FIRST BUDGET CUTS

Many people said it would never happen, but it has. The Senate has voted to cut its own budget.

Not just a little here and a little there, but a five million dollar chunk right out of the middle.

Five million dollars. That's enough money to fly from Washington to Los Angeles, and back, 16,500 times.

When was the last time you remember hearing of the Senate or the House cutting its own budget by five million dollars? In recent years they haven't been known for cutting anybody's budget.

This year is different. They cut the funding levels for Senate committees an average of ten percent. This isn't as easy as it sounds. Traditionally, Committee Chairmen have sought to increase their budgets and have rarely been refused at least a modest increase.

In this, the 97th Congress, there is a new chairman on every Senate committee. They don't believe in increasing government spending.

Everyone of the new chairmen cut his budget. I am pleased that the Governmental Affairs Committee, which I chair, was one of those that cut its budget by ten percent. I've challenged the chairmen of the house committees to do the same.

When the expected inflation rate of around ten percent for the coming year is figured in, Senate committees will sustain an average reduction of far more than ten percent.

These are the first budget cuts of the 97th Congress and, by cutting its own budget, the Senate has shown it is ready and willing to meet the challenge that lies ahead.

In the next several weeks, the Senate and the House of Representatives must join with the President to produce a legislative package that cuts government spending even more. And tax cuts for individuals must be included as well. Congress must move quickly if we are to get the economy moving again.

Letters To The Editor

To the Woodbridge School District duPont Makes Plea for Basics Plus

Dear Friends:

In the spring of 1978 I visited an alternative school in Pasadena, California. I was much impressed by what I saw happening in that school - students performing above expectations; significant parental involvement; few discipline problems; parents, teachers and students expressing confidence and taking great pride in their school.

When I returned to Delaware, I requested the State Board of Education to establish a committee to conduct a formal study of alternative schools throughout the nation and to make recommendations regarding the feasibility and desirability of establishing such schools or programs in the Delaware public school system.

As a result of the committee's extensive study, they recommended, and I subsequently endorsed, the establishment of alternative schools in each of the three counties in Delaware. The first such alternatives were to be designed to stress academic excellence and the maintenance of a disciplined atmosphere conducive to learning - an alternative called the "Basics Plus" school. It was understood and made a part of the Committee's recommendations that these Basics Plus schools would be open to all in the community and would provide an alternative to the conventional schools so that parents could choose whether or not to enroll their children.

As evidence of my support of the establishment of Basics Plus schools, I requested $60,000 from the General Assembly - $15,000 per school - to be made available to local boards of education for initial start-up costs.

I continue to endorse the formation of alternative schools. I still firmly believe that the Basics Plus concept is a step forward in providing education that will help to meet the needs of a diverse student population. While the Basics Plus school is not a panacea, it is an excellent model for those students and parents who want or need a more structured school environment, stricter discipline, greater parental involvement, and the additional features that such a program can provide.

I was encouraged recently by the strong support shown by your community for the Basics Plus concept and I am concerned by the recent action of your Woodbridge Board of Education. In the face of such strong community support, it is unfortunate to have this urgent question resolved by a tie vote. By copy of this letter, I urge the Board to reconsider its decision regarding the establishment of a Basics Plus school in the Woodbridge School District.

Please keep me informed of your progress in this most worthwhile undertaking.

Sincerely,

Pierre S. du Pont

Dear Mr. Farrow,

In speaking with you just now I am uplifted as a parent to know that education is important to you. We as parents united for Basics Plus have a very important job to do. We just educate our district to the positive aspects of Basics Plus. It is important to us that the things we say and literature we give to the press is not misconstrued. It is important that the

Regional Cooperation, innovation Necessary

The nation's fifty states are growing more assertive in their efforts to promote economic growth. As governors, we have watched the states suffer through the high unemployment rates, high interest rates, and high inflation rates. We are forced as a result to find an economic equilibrium for our states.

Last week, during a conference of business and community leaders from the Delaware, Pennsylvania, and New Jersey area, I had the opportunity to discuss the need for greater economic development efforts in the region with Governor Dick Thornburgh of Pennsylvania and Governor Brendan Byrne of New Jersey.

We agreed that greater cooperation on economic development programs in the region was necessary. Already the three states have worked together to maintain the Amtrak repair facility in Wilmington and to bring the refurbishing contract for the aircraft carrier Saratoga to the Philadelphia Navy Yard. Yet there are additional areas where we can work closely.

For example, in the area of tourism, Delaware and the Philadelphia area share many of the same attractions: museums, cultural programs, and a shared history. Increased efforts to secure more tourist dollars is essential governor's letter is not taken out of context.

The Basics Plus proposal that was presented to the School Board on Feb. 23 has been placed back on the agenda for the March 16 School Board Meeting.

Thank you for your interest. We are looking forward to your article next week.

[Note: the following outline of their reasons for supporting the Basics Plus alternative school was submitted by Mrs. Williams along with her letter]

BASICS PLUS

- I. Choice
 - A. Public has a desire for choice - Local School Boards - Anger over consolidation because they had no choice.
 - B. Basic Plus is the ultimate choice - select where child is to attend.
 - C. Therefore, each parent must look into the goals and styles of each school and make an intelligent decision.
 - D. By Personally selecting, parents then tend to be more supportive. That's healthy for the entire district.

Speaking from models, what will the school be like?

- II. Consistency
 - A. One major problem small children have is making adjustments to newness - takes 1st term to learn what teacher wants.
 - B. Basic Plus Schools have consistent rules that apply throughout the building: Examples:
 1. quiet tone of voice rule
 2. homework rule
 - C. Consistent style of classroom instruction, generally large group.
 - D. Consistent reporting system.
 - E. Goal is to develop patterns and habits in a child.

- III. Academic excellence
 - A. Minimum skills for each grade Promotion policy based on those posted in each room.
 - B. Teacher's inserviced often.
 - C. Aim high in instruction.

- IV. Positive Atmosphere
 - A. Enthusiasm is contagious - Analogy with coaching.
 - B. Discipline - firm but loving.
 - C. Staff morale boosting.

Mr. Farrow & Staff,

As a gift from my parents, I have enjoyed the Harrington Journal over the last few years. The "Days of our Years" has been one of my favorite articles. Now I must also include "Delaware Diamonds". Of course, I enjoy news of my family, all the uncles, aunts and cousins!

Sincerely,
Evelyn Welch Goodson
Orange Park, Florida

To Barbara Brown

I wanted to let you know how pleased I was with your article on my aerobic dance class. I have been so disappointed in the past with inaccuracies in newspaper coverage. Your story was very well written and completely factual. I was amazed that you could take the brief facts I gave you and turn them into an interesting story that sounded as if you were completely familiar with the program yourself. Thank you.

Sincerely yours,
Santi Starcher,
Aerobic Dance Instructor
Kent County Parks & Recreations

Key to the entire program is parent input.

A. Since parents have generated the rules and understand them, more likely to support them.

B. Regular reporting, in written form.

C. Pre-entrance interview.

D. High visibility of parents in schools helps children psychologically.

E. It would not work in an entire school district. It would be idealistic to believe we could get all parents to be a part of this - Too burdensome to manage.

Some of the reasons why the original proposal presented to the Woodbridge School Board on February 23 about Basics Plus would benefit the whole district.

1. BUSING:
 - a. The Greenwood child - goes to the Greenwood Elementary and Jr. High for grades kindergarten through 8th. The child then goes to the Central School for 9th through 12th grades.
 - b. The Bridgeville child: goes to the Greenwood Elementary School for Kindergarten, 1st through 3rd grade goes to the Central School, 4th through 6th goes to the North Bridgeville School, goes to the Greenwood Jr. High for 7th and 8th, goes to the Central School for grades 9th through 12th.
 - c. With the Basics Plus School at North Bridgeville the parents choose for their child to attend either Greenwood or North Bridgeville for grades Kindergarten through 6th. All Jr. and Sr. High students would attend the Central School. Each child would attend two schools throughout his school life.

2. ADJUSTMENTS:

- a. Because of the arrangements that the children attend so many different schools, there are many adjustments for these children.
- b. Being unfamiliar with the buildings and the staff causes many problems. The eighth grade child needs security and a sense of belonging. The sixth grade child needs the same.

3. EDUCATION:

- a. With the move of Jr. High to the Central School building there would be an improvement of teachers teaching in their field of study.
- b. An increase in the curriculum offering to the Jr. High students. They are not receiving advanced math, such as algebra, or offered a language in the present set up.

4. TEACHERS:

- a. Due to declining enrollment, there is a definite chance that some teachers jobs could be saved by the changes in the district.

5. RACIAL BALANCE:

- a. At the present time in the Bridgeville Elementary School there are 42 percent minorities. In the Greenwood School, 26 percent minorities. With the implementation of Basics Plus about 30 percent minorities in each school.

Understanding A.C.T.

A.C.T. Public Meetings for the month of March 1981. Thursday the 19th at the Seaford Inn, Seaford, De., Saturday the 21st at Perry's Steak House, Dover, Del., 6:00 Dine, 7:00 Presentation.

For over a year now A.C.T. has devoted its time and energy traveling up and down the State, holding public meetings, giving out literature in an attempt to get the truth on several issues to the public. Many people are beginning to realize we are fastly losing our freedoms through beauracracies, codes, regulations and inflation.

We have to get back to the basics of Constitutional Government.

A.C.T. has discovered that you really don't have the freedom to peacefully assemble to discuss your grievances. In the February 10th New Castle meeting it was found that harrasment comes to those who tell the truth. After the meeting, three associates were arrested for operating a business without a license. What brought it about was that there is a book table at the meetings which much literature exposing such things as the Trilateral Commission, I.R.S., and many other things are available on a donation basis. A deputy Attorney General working undercover, obtained a packet of literature, gave his donation and then asked for a receipt. After getting the receipt, he then left the meeting and swore out a warrant for operating a business without a license. Three associates were then hauled in and fingerprinted, charged in magistrates court, and asked to appear February 27th to enter their plea. Three or four days prior to the appearance time they received letters stating the charges were dropped in that court. Now they have been submitted to the court of Common Pleas. We have available much literature on how the beauracracies are interfering with churches in this same respect. Private schools are under attack as well. We are far from having the right of choice and decision making taken away. You may think, well that doesn't affect me, but the truth is when liberty is taken from one it will ultimately be taken from all, unless we stop it.

It's our call to the people of the state of Delaware to learn the Constitution of the state and the United States and see how far we have departed, then begin to ACT in taking America back from beauracracies. Please go back and read the Declaration of Independence and see the vast similarity of our day. If you are interested in keeping informed on this issue please write to: A.C.T., Dept. HJ, P.O. Box 88, Frederica, De., 19946.

Social Security By Phone

By Irving S. Levitt, District Manager Social Security Administration, Dover

People living in the Kent County area can save themselves a lot of time and money if they handle their social security business by phone.

People can apply for benefits by phone and people on social security can use the phone to:

- Report a name or address change
- Report a change in marital status
- Report that they have stopped or started work or to report other events that may affect receipt of their checks.
- Report a lost or stolen check or delayed payment.
- Report a lost or missing social

Internal Revenue Notes

Wilmington, Delaware -- This year taxpayers may find that a few changes in the Federal tax law will affect how they file their Federal tax forms, the Internal Revenue Service said. For most taxpayers, however, the tax forms should offer few surprises from last year.

For taxpayers interested in claiming the residential energy credit, there is an increase in the amount which can be claimed. The energy credit is actually made up of two separate credits. The credit for renewable energy source costs is 40 percent of the first $10,000 (or a maximum credit of $4,000) spent on solar, geothermal, or windpower energy equipment. This credit is based on the cost of the items installed after April 19, 1977, and before 1986. Previously, the credit for renewable energy source costs was 30 percent of the first $2,000 plus 20 percent of the next $8,000 (or a maximum credit of $2,200).

The credit for energy conservation costs is 15 percent of the first $2,000 (or maximum credit of $300) a taxpayer spends on items to save energy, such as insulation and storm windows. More information concerning the energy credits is available in the free IRS Publication 903, "Energy Credits for Individuals."

Another important change focuses on the social security tax. The wages subject to the social security tax were increased from $22,900 to $25,900 for 1980. The rate of the tax was 6.13 percent. Therefore, for 1980, the maximum social security tax for an individual was $1,587.67 ($25,900 x 6.13 percent). Taxpayers should note that the amount of wages subject to social security tax increases again for 1981.

If a taxpayer worked for only one employer in 1980 and more than $1,587.67 of social security tax was withheld, the taxpayer should ask the employer to refund the excess tax withheld. If a taxpayer worked for two or more employers, and more than $1,587.67 was withheld, the excess may be claimed as a credit against the income tax owed on Form 1040 or Form 1040A.

The standard mileage rate for business use of a car has increased from 18 1/2 to 20 cents for the first 15,000 miles and from 10 cents to 11 cents for each additional mile. The rate for medical moving expense, and charitable uses has increased from eight to nine cents a mile.

More information about changes in the tax law can be found in the free IRS Publication 553, "Highlights of 1980 Tax Changes," available by using the order form in the tax package or by calling the IRS tax information number listed in the telephone directory.

Mr. & Mrs. Willis "Cliff" Jester are proud to announce the birth of their son. He was given the name, Donald Franklin, after both of his Grandfathers. Master Jester made his arrival at 9:00 A.M. on Monday, March 2. He weighed a healthy 7 lbs. 9 oz. The proud grandparents are Mr. & Mrs. Wm. Everyone likes chili, or so it seems. The problem is a working mother is usually too rushed to prepare it for weekday suppers. I try to find time on weekends to make at least one dinner which will keep well in the refrigerator a few days, so I can have a break one night during the work week. Because this recipe is rather simple as well as low budget, I often use it. I make a crisp salad, some crackers or biscuits and a gelatin dessert for a nice homey supper. The adults might feel like splurging with a glass of red table wine. If you prefer your chili thicker, remove cover the last half hour.

CHILI CON CARNE

1 Lb. ground beef

- 1 cup chopped onion
- 1/4 cup chopped green peppers (optional)
- 1 16 oz. can tomatoes (cut them up)
- 1 16 oz. can dark red kidney beans (drained)
- 1 8 oz. can tomato sauce
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 2 or more heaping teaspoons of chili powder
- (1) In a large pot, brown meat, onions and peppers until vegetables are tender.
- (2) Stir in remaining ingredients.
- (3) Cover pot and simmer for about one hour. Stir often to prevent burning.

When spring arrives, we are right around the corner from vacation time. No doubt many of you are already planning big trips and little trips here and there. In my copy of Early American Life magazine there is a splendid article describing interesting museums to visit. There are two I will share with you, since they might be nice for Senior Citizens trips.

When you were small, did your mother use Wilbur's chocolate? My mother did, and I can still see the woman in colonial costume on their label. I guess it is still available, but their competitors, the Hershey Company sort of takes over in this area.

Anyhow to quote: "The Wilbur Chocolate Company in the charming old town of Litzitz, Pennsylvania, in addition to offering a candy-making demonstration has a large display of equipment used by early candy makers...including molds, boxes, and tin and paper containers. Their most beautiful collection, however, is displayed behind glass doors, over 150 porcelain chocolate pots made by Haviland, Limoges, Nippon and Bavaria.

The Candy American Museum is open Monday through Saturday from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Admission is free, not including the cost of the candy you will buy to satisfy your sweet tooth."

Now, here's another one, and I quote: "Who would be more likely to celebrate the variety of soup tureens than the Campbell Soup Co. in Camden, N.J.? The company maintains a large and exquisite collection of silver, bronze, pewter, and ceramic tureens from throughout the world. While the collection began with a number of exceptional 19th century soft-paste porcelain tureens, subsequent additions include those once owned by historical figures, celebrated craftsmen and gifted innovators. Some might be considered sculpture. Also included are soup bowls and plates, stands, spoons and ladles, all beautifully displayed. A handsome colored catalog is available with complete information about many pieces.

The Museum is open Monday through Friday from 9:30 a.m. to 5 p.m."

I turned the page of my magazine and there is a delightful article entitled, "Hearbes for Brothes and Sallets." This would have been nice to read before our wonderful trip to the McCormick Tea Plant. We learn that the early Colonists ordered them as far back as the sixteen hundreds.

I quote here a bit of the folklore: "Sweet Basilil," named "Herbe Royale" with its clove like scent and spicy flavor. Dill, slightly bitter, its seeds called "meetin' house seeds" brought to church generations ago to nibble on during prolonged sermons. Sweet marjoram with its delightful aroma, "The herb of happiness" shaped into wreaths by the ancient Greeks to crown newly married couples. Parsley, served after Greek and Roman banquets to tame garlic breath. Rosemary, the "dew of the sea", with its unique piney flavor and fragrance. "Summer savory, with its rich peppery taste. Thyme, pungent and strong, the symbol of courage and energy for knights of yore. The lovely "violett" which "stir up a man to that which is comely and honest." Sage was considered "for longevity". Spearmint was considered so valuable in Biblical times that the Pharisees used it and dill in paying tithes. Lemon Balm was supposed to "make the heart merry and joyful".

"Thomas Jefferson had a large herb garden. Throughout his presidency he tried to obtain terragon for his garden and finally succeeded in his retirement. In 1774 he planted "Nasturcium" in 35 little hills."

Prospect United Methodist Church

This past Sunday the Faith Gospel Singers from Greensboro, Md. put on a very delightful program at Prospect. The whole church rang with praise for our Lord and Savior, Jesus Christ. Prospect wishes to thank all our friends who helped us celebrate our salvation through testimony and song.

This Sunday, March 15, Mr. Jack Dill of Dover, formerly a resident of Harrington, will speak about the Gideon's, a foundation that delivers Bibles throughout the world. Mr. Dill will tell why and how the Gideon's go about delivering and funding their own way of witnessing for Jesus Christ. Mrs. Jack will also be there with Mr. Dill, and she will lead us in a hymn sing. Dr. Harvey Mast of Milford, a Gideon, will show some slides of their work in Nigeria.

Prospect's members would also like to thank Mrs. Jean Donovan and Mrs. Mary Lou Wright who through their own way of witnessing for our Lord and Savior have started a Good News Club for the children of our area. March 8 was the first meeting and Jean and Mary Lou were very pleased to announce that there were 20 children present. What a beautiful testimony that Jesus Christ is our Lord and Savior. The Prospect Good News Club, what a beautiful thing! The Good News Club will meet again this Sunday at 6:00 p.m. An invitation is extended to any child in the area. Please try to be there.

We look forward to seeing our friends at Prospect for our Sunday Night Lenten Service again this Sunday night, and every Sunday thru April 12. Sunday Services begin promptly at 7:30 p.m.

Lamb Project

FEEDER LAMB PROJECT - It's time for Sussex 4-H'ers to be thinking about participating in the market lamb project. This involves purchasing a feeder lamb around the first of May, raising it to market weight and participating in the market lamb show at the Delaware State Fair. It's difficult to say how much a lamb will cost to purchase and feed as prices depend on market values. You may not make money on the project but it's an experience you'll never forget. This year a special lamb sale will be held April 25 at the University of Delaware for 4-H'ers to purchase their animals. If you do plan to participate in the program, please contact the 4-H office by April 1 and indicate if you plan to purchase lambs at the auction. More details will be sent to you later. A training session which will highlight proper care and feeding and needed facilities will be held March 28 at Dave Mitchell's in Frankford. The session is from 10:00 a.m. - 2:00 p.m. Bring a bag lunch. This will be a great time to learn what is required for the lamb project as well as answer any questions you have.

Senior Center

[Continued from page 6] Tuesday morning, Sylvia tickled the ivories for the hour of band practice of the Jolly Timers. All of the songs sounded excellent but especially "One Day at a Time," and "Meet me Tonight in Dreamland". Julie didn't practice and I truly missed hearing her. The duet last week was not Sylvia and Cindy, it was Sylvia and Andy. The piano and clarinet go well together. Present at one of the happiest hours at the Center was Sylvia and Andy, Mrs. Redden, Roxanne and Marion Brown, Pearl Hickman, Bertha Dean, Ella Golt, Mamie Adams, Ola Tilden, Cecil Meredith, Lili McBride, Mildred Vincent, Jo Burke, Florence Minner, Julia Astfalk, Annabel Morrow, Elma Thorpe, Gladys Hill and John McCready. Ruth Nasser was here with slides on President Dwight Eisenhower. Ruth always presents an interesting program and this month was no exception. Ceramics, pool, checkers and dominoes were also in full swing. Wednesday, well as you know by now that every other week is card day. We played at Lanah Milbourn's in Felton. Conversation was good. Cards ordinary. Refreshments tasty. Present was Lanah, Mildred Wagner, Ethel Rapp, Dorothy Graham, Hazel Langrell, Nellie Stokes, Catherine Monroe and Pat

Local Interest

Ann Pearson was enrolled in the main dish category in junior division, but due to minor surgery was unable to attend. In the senior division were: Breads: Robin Zarere - red Main Dish: Kim Zeitler - blue Winning the top awards and receiving pewter trays were: Keith Melvin, Scott Gerardi, Janene Zarere, Karen Taylor and Kim Zeitler. Karen Gerardi, a 10 year 4-H member is the Del. State Farm Bureau Queen. She was also chosen as the Delaware Holstein Girl on Jan. 31, 1981. Crystal Gerardi, a 9 year 4-H member has the honor of having one of her cows nominated for the junior all-American three year old calf for 1980. It was incorrectly reported last week that Burrsville Ruritans gave camp scholarships to our club. Andrewsville Ruritan supplies these scholarships. I want to give a big thanks to all of the Reddy Foods contestants you did a good job.

-Northeast Farm Market Prices-

NEW YORK, NY--Northeast farm market prices varied during the week ending March 6, according to the U.S. Department of Agriculture. Egg prices were unchanged during the week, while poultry prices were only 1 cent higher. Fruit and vegetable prices held steady to higher, while livestock prices were unavailable. Milk production remained steady to trending higher in all areas.

FLUID DAIRY PRODUCTS Milk production remained steady to trending higher in all areas. Fluid milk supplies continued to be excessive of Class 1 needs. Bottled milk sales were fair to good this week, which is normal for the first week of each month. Spot sales of Class 1 milk were steady with prices reflecting the new month's Class price. Reports indicate that nearly 400 farmers in northern Pennsylvania and southern New York were given notice and their milk will not be picked up after April 1, 1981. Cottage cheese production was increasing slightly as sales usually improve during lent. Condensed skim movement was steady to occasionally improved in a range of fair to good. The fluid cream market remained weak but improving. Spot buying interest was steady to improved where ice cream plants increased production. Retail movement of half gallons was somewhat slower as fewer retail features were noted. Bottled cream orders seemed to have improved in a few instances, and steady elsewhere. Cream and cream cheese production and orders were seasonally fair. Churning activity, in the smaller, more seasonal operations was slowing down, while in the larger plants, it remained heavy. There was some interest for excess cream particularly where midwestern operations having trucks out east were looking for backhauls.

POULTRY New York egg prices were unchanged during the week. Cartoned egg demand was only fair. Offerings were ample. Thursday's prices to retailers and sales to volume buyers of consumer Grade A, white eggs in cartons, delivered store door to New York City were: 70 to 72 cents on large and 63 to 65 cents on medium. New York broiler-fryer negotiated prices for immediate deliver, including multiple-drop shipments to New York City were: 50 to 53 1/2 cents for U.S. Grade A; 50 to 52 cents for Plant Grade.

Delmarva broiler-fryers less than trucklot asking prices generally increased one cent over a week ago. Demand was only fair and often indicated as disappointing for early month. Offerings were fully adequate at desirable weights. The week closed on a steady undertone. Current less than trucklot asking prices were 51 to 52 cents on Plant Grade and 52 to 53 1/2 cents on U.S. Grade A. New York chicken parts demand was moderate to good on legs; fair on breasts. Supplies and offerings were adequate to occasionally fully adequate. Prices paid per pound by first receivers of ice packed, delivered in pool trucklots and trucklot quantities were as follows: 96 to $1.11 on breasts, mostly $1 to $1.03; 44 to 55 cents on legs, mostly 47 to 48 cents. Turkey buying interest for fresh and frozen hens was fair. Processor offerings were adequate at current prices. Trading on consumer toms was just fair; offerings were generally adequate. Trading activity on carlot and trucklot young turkeys, U.S. Grade A, frozen F.O.B. New York were as follows: 63 cents on 8 to 16 pound hens and 61 cents on 14 to 22 pound toms.

FRUITS AND VEGETABLES Northeastern area fruit and vegetables was fairly active. Prices for potatoes and cabbage were about steady, while apples were slightly higher and onions were much higher. Hudson Valley, N.Y. apple demand was moderate with the market about steady. Cartons of 12-3 pound film bags of U.S. Fancy or better, 2 1/4 inch minimum and up, McIntosh in controlled-atmosphere (CA) storage, brought $6 to $7, mostly $6.50 to $7. Red Delicious (CA) went at $6.50 to $7.50, mostly $7; while cartoned cell-pack McIntosh combined with U.S. Extra Fancy and Fancy or better (CA) in 80's went at $8 to $8.50, occasionally higher; 100's sold at $8.50 to $9.50, mostly $9 to $9.50 and occasionally higher; 120's sold at $8.25 to $9. Soybean Projects Listed

The Delaware Soybean Board announced that it will be granting $34,220 to fund twelve soybean projects during 1981. The Board's chairman, Mr. Joe Hughes of Felton explained that in selecting this year's projects, the Board placed its emphasis upon applied research and market development projects. These are the first projects being funded under Delaware's new penny per bushel, soybean check-off program.

The Board selected this year's projects from nineteen project proposals that had been submitted. Projects funded ranged from Delaware's participation in the nationwide program to develop overseas markets for soybeans to localized variety testing. Recipients of grants are the American Soybean Association, the Delaware Cooperative Extension Service, the Delaware Department of Agriculture and the Delaware Agricultural Experiment Station.

A listing of the project proposals accepted and the participants is as follows:

- Project Proposals Accepted (1981) Analysis of Week Control Components for Convection, Wide-row Soybeans in Delaware, David L. Regehr The Efficient Use of Nitrogen, Phosphorus and Potassium on Soybeans, Frank Webb & Gary Johnston. Evaluation of Soybean Varieties for Insect Pest Resistance, Mark R. Graustein & Joanne Whitehead. Evaluation of Soybean Varieties for No-Till Double Cropping, Edward L. Wisk. Full Time Agronomy Assistant Position, Gary Johnston. Interactions of Soybean Varieties, Row Spacings and Planting Dates, Edward L. Wisk, William H. Mitchell, & Robert Uniатовski. Laboratory Germination and Vigor of Soybean Seeds as Compared to Actual Field Results, Frank Webb, Richard Georger, Gary Johnston. Response of Soybean Varieties to 2, 4-DB, William H. Lake Forest Loses to Brandywine and St. Marks In First Run Open of Boys and Girls State Tournament

Dale Benson [45] jumps up to shoot. His opponent from Brandywine tries to give him some trouble, but is unable to get the height.

The Lake Forest Spartans met the Brandywine Bulldogs in the first round of the state basketball tournament Saturday, March 7, in Dover. The Spartans started out slow and never picked up the pace. The game ended in a 68-38 defeat.

At the end of the first quarter, the Spartans were down by two, 15-13. At that point it looked like a close game. But by the end of the second quarter, it was a different story; the Spartans were down by 14 points. The trouble in these two periods was personal fouls made by the Spartans. The third quarter turned out to be just as bad. Dale Benson was sitting on the bench because he was in danger of being kept out of the rest of the game because of fouls. Late in the third quarter, Kevin Moehlenkamp was injured in a fall while trying to recover the ball. Moehlenkamp was taken to the hospital, but his injury proved to be minor - a bruised back.

The Lake Forest girls' varsity basketball team met upstate St. Mark's Friday night, March 6, at Smyrna in the first round of the state basketball tournament. Lake Forest played a tie ball game until the third quarter.

Although St. Mark's had much taller players, the Spartans held their own in the first quarter with an 8-8 tie. The second quarter was somewhat of a repeat of the first with another tie, 24-24.

By the end of the third quarter, the Spartans seemed to be tiring a little. They finished the period down by three points, 35-38. In the fourth quarter, it was all over. The game ended in a 46-61 defeat for the Spartans. High scorers for Lake Forest were Brenda Thomas and Pam Harris.

2nd Aquatic Workshop

A wide variety of topics ranging from lifeguarding through pool chemistry and pre-school swim instruction will be offered this Saturday, March 14, at the Lake Forest High School Natatorium plays host, for the second straight year, to a nationally sanctioned aquatics workshop. The program will begin at 8 a.m. with registration and continue until 5:45 p.m.

The day's workshop has been designed to benefit all aquatic workers or persons with an interest in water or water safety from the professional level of coaches, administration, lifeguards and water safety instructors to volunteer rescue squad members. It should also appeal to the individual concerns of private pool owners and boaters as well as fishermen.

This year's program has been expanded to encompass a full day with the presentation of eleven different topics. For the second straight year it will operate under the sanction of the national AAHPERD Aquatic Council, whose official blessing has been given only to two other workshops (both held at Penn State) recently.

The workshop is also offered in cooperation with the Lake Forest Community Aquatic Programs, the Delaware Aquatic Committee of DAHPER Delaware Association of Health, Physical Education and Recreation) the Department of Public Instruction, the Delaware Chapter of the American Red Cross and the Delaware Division of Parks and Recreation.

After a welcome by Lake Forest High School Principal Dr. Margaret Phelps, the program will take its initial plunge with the offering of "Swimming Pool Lifeguarding Techniques" by Dennis Berry, Aquatic Coordinator for the Lake Forest School District. This will be accompanied by a mock rescue in which members of the Felton Volunteer Fire Company will assist.

A later highlight of the day will be an address by Fredrick F. Andres, Associate Professor at Adelphi University, New York, and Chairman-elect of the AAHPERD Aquatic Council. Dr. Andres will speak on "Lifeguarding, Philosophy and Fitness." During the workshop there will be a kayaking demonstration which will involve audience participation.

Among the topics to be presented are "Hypothermia" (the problems associated with cold water immersion), preschool and elementary aquatics, and adopted aquatics (for the handicapped). Others include "Age Group Swim Club Development", "Basic Pool Chemistry", "Teaching Techniques," and a film, "Water: The Timeless Compound."

Ten national exhibitors of pool and water safety and recreation equipment will be on hand for the workshop, which will be held in the Lake Forest auditorium and natatorium complex.

In addition to Dennis Berry and Dr. Andres, the workshop instructors are Bonnie Blades, of the Lake Forest Aquatic Staff; Ann Dioda, Director of Safety Programs for the Delaware

Chapter of the ARC (American Red Cross); Sue Doyle, Aquatic Specialist from New Castle County Parks and Recreation and Chairperson of DAHPER Aquatic Committee; Herbert Eggert, of the Wilmington Trail Club; Robert Moser, Head Swim Coach at Central Cambria High School, Edensburg, Pa; Joan Oakley, Adopted Aquatics Chairperson, ARC Kent County, and Donald J. Wehrenberg, Regional Sales Manager for Sun Pool Products of Philadelphia.

Registration for the workshop is still open. The cost is $10.00. For further information call Dennis Berry at 284-9291.

Computerized Racing Introduced

OXON HILL, MD--Rosecroft Raceway has made a "Computer Age" breakthrough by introducing Pace-Setters, a new data processing system providing "up-to-the-minute" statistics for its daily Racing Program.

Pace-Setters is designed for the compilation, storage and dissemination of computer-based racing information. The introduction of this system marks the first time a racetrack in Maryland has utilized computers for this purpose.

Information is available now that had not been in the past, and the end result is a concise, up-to-date Racing Program that is tops in the industry," commented Alda Prosser, Program Director at Rosecroft Raceway, in addition to being the president of Pace-Setters. "The new process is being received with accolades, and the program should continue to improve."

Pete Shaw, general manager of Rosecroft Raceway, credits the new system with providing definite advantages. "Pace-Setters is so much faster and much more accurate, due to computerized updates. It provides faster summaries of the winning records and driver listings than any other electronic data process ever developed for harness racing. Since the date processing is faster, our staff has an easier job, and our fans get a bonus due to the fact mistakes are eliminated and records are more current."

The date collection consists of the input for approximately 8,000 horses typed into the computer, and as each night of racing is completed at the track, those results are also used as input. Other computerized systems are in use at racetracks throughout the country, but Pace-Setters is the only electronic process whose output is typeset and ready to be printed in the Racing Program.

When looking at the new Racing Program, fans will notice several significant changes. Current drivers and trainer records for the 1981 Rosecroft meet will now be listed, unlike previous years when these statistics were not regularly available. The same is true for the horse's last race. Another new addition is the name and location of the breeder of that particular trotter or pacer.

Rosecroft Raceway, "The Raceway on the Beltway," in Oxon Hill, Maryland, opened on February 26, the earliest date in its 33-year history. The 1981 meet continues for 85 nights, through June 6.

Post time is 8 P.M., rain or clear, with ten races nightly, Monday through Saturday. The nightly card features Big Triple wagering on the first and tenth races, and Exacta wagering on all other races.

The half-mile track is located just minutes away from Exits 3 and 4 off the Capital Beltway.

Good News Dept.

Life is safer, easier, more comfortable and most of us are better fed--thanks to a family of chemicals called chlorofluorocarbons or CFC's. As the refrigerant used in all air conditioners for cars and other vehicles, it makes travel cooler and keeps drivers more alert. That helps make travel safer.

Berry Funeral Homes Dear friends, Perhaps each year there should be a Realization Day - a day to meditate on the fact that after a few years, we, our loved ones, our treasured material possessions - all will gradually slip away. This annual reminder should inhibit tendencies toward greed and selfishness, and promote greater generosity, kindness, and love among us all. Respectfully, Stephen C. Berry, Jr. MILFORD 422-8091 - FELTON 284-4548

GOLD - STERLING SILVER - SILVER COINS Don't sell for less to hotel-motel dealers. Their ads are big but their prices are not. We are Delaware's largest scrap buyer and have high prices everyday. We pay more than anybody for class rings, gold jewelry, sterling silver, silver coins. We will beat any bona fide offer or ad. Sell where the dealers sell. First State Coin Co., Blue Hen Mall. French Addition KANSAS CITY, Mo. - Tradition gives the Italians credit for inventing ice cream, but it was really developed by the Chinese, says a major dairy packaging supplier, Sealright. Marco Polo's diaries of his journey to China tell of "dishes of ice... flavoured with exotic fruit." His fellow Italians changed the name to "Italian ices." It was the French who turned it into its present form, by adding cream and calling it ICE CREAM!†  Over 1,000 Remnants * Sample House Used * Rugs on Display * Fabulous Discounts * On Area Rugs and Wall to Wall * Installations * AIR BASE * CARPET MART * NEW LOCATION * Edgell Shopping Center * Dover - 678-0970 * Atf3/22M *  Use For Ethylene SWEENEY, Tex. - Ethylene is the largest volume petrochemical building block in use today.
