Cotta Release—Questioned and Explained

Harrington Mayor and Council were busy this week explaining their decision to release City Administrator Joseph Cotta and move City Clerk Norma Short into the position Cotta will vacate on May 1.

In the meantime, the Council's method in making the decision on Mr. Cotta at a special meeting on Monday, March 23, was questioned by officials at WAFL Radio who charged possible violations of the state's "Sunshine Law".

Mayor Alfred G. B. Mann told the Journal this week that the special meeting was called as an emergency session to deal with the fact that Cotta's three-month probationary period as City Administrator would be up, and he would then be eligible for an automatic $500 raise before the regular April City Council meeting. Cotta was hired on December 29 for the customary trial or probation period of three months.

The Mayor and Council felt it was time they conducted a review of Mr. Cotta's performance and act on the matter.

After looking over the three months' record, the Council decided that Cotta was not qualified to do the job as they expected it to be done.

The Mayor and several Council members stressed that their decision was made with no ill will toward Mr. Cotta but with an eye to the needs of the City.

Councilman Ray Gagne, who described Cotta as a "capable, intelligent, personable" human being, said "However, you don't ask a poet to build bridges...or an engineer to write poetry".

In a letter to the Harrington City Council and the City Solicitor, dated March 30, WAFL Newscaster Ed Shur and station General Manager, Larry Sharp charged the Council with four possible violations of the Sunshine Law saying:

1. that the Council did not in open session announce the purpose of the closed (or executive) session in which Cotta's job status was discussed.

2. that the meeting was not held with the required 24 hours of advance notice with the agenda posted 6 hours in advance.
3. that the votes to release Cotta and hire Mrs. Short were taken in closed session.
4. that minutes of the meeting were not available to the public during regular business hours.

Mayor Al Mann categorically denied that the voting was in closed session. He said that the Council voted after coming out of executive session. In this he was backed up by three of the four Council members contacted by the Journal. The fourth did not disagree, but had no comment.

The press of business at City Hall which left the City Clerk with inadequate time to prepare the minutes was the reason given as to why they

LF FFA Awards Banquet

The three hundred member strong Lake Forest Future Farmers Association met last Thursday to honor its own at the annual awards banquet. Following dinner in the Lake Forest High School cafeteria the assembly of members and guests moved to the auditorium where there was a slide presentation Stewards of the Soil by a representative of the Stauffer Chemical Company.

The major item of business for the evening was the presentation of the following awards:

FFA Outstanding Green Hand Award (first year members) - Russell Dunn, Ron Hanson, Roy Killen, Chris Killen and Jim Richardson.

1981 Chapter Farmer Awards: Tom Eliason, Connie Gerardi, Mark Gemill, John Callaway, Debbie Minner, Duane Shulties, John Wilkins, Randy Wothers and Pat Larimore.

The award of Star Chapter Farmer went to FFA President Dale Bishop.

AG Experience Award (given to 5 outstanding farm workers) - Kevin Robbins and Glenn Collison (working on their own home farms) and Jerry Yates, Sean Dalton and Lester Hobbs (working for local area farmers.) Two young ladies who are working in the poultry production business through the Ag. co-op program also received the award. They are Sue Lang and Debbie Bauer.

Occupational Experience Award - Annette Woikoski, Sharon Jester and Joe Peterson.

Ag Mechanics 1981 - Russell Dunn, Derek Harvey, Ron Hanson, Roy Killen, Frank Watkins and Jim Richardson.

Ag Mechanics 1981 - Russell Dunn, Derek Harvey, Ron Hanson, Roy Killen, Frank Watkins and Jim Richardson.

Horsemanship Award - Terry Morris

Power Mechanics Awards - Billy Harvey, Danny Donovan, Gary Moore and Kevin Tatman.

Advanced Power Mechanics - John Calloway, Timmy Welch, J. D. Satterfield, Scott Wilson and Allen Buckley.

Farm Management Awards - Donna Blessing, Ken Ryder and Duane Shulties.

Horticulture Awards (from the greenhouse management class) - Cathy Dalton, Terry Morris, Randy Wothers and Paige Pulley

Greenhouse Manager Award - (care of the greenhouse over weekends) Robert Stokes.

Junior Broiler Contest Award - Jeff Armour (Out of over 100 students who participated in the statewide 4-H and FFA Junior Broiler Contest last year, Jeff placed seventh).

High Individual Awards - (presented to those in the LF FFA chapter who have achieved the highest scores in the state for the contest in which they participated.) Ruth Knapp - 1st, meat judging; Annette Woikoski, 1st, Dairy Judging; and Gene Gerardi - 1st, Tractor Driving.

Regional Winners - (members of the poultry team who competed and won first in competition with other teams from 12 northwestern states in the Regional Poultry Judging contest in Springfield, Mass.) - Eva Gruwell, Robert Stokes and Scott Wilson.

Most Valuable FFA Member for 1981 - was Dale Bishop, Chapter President. A member of the LF FFA for the past four years, Dale has held a number of offices in the organization and has participated in state, regional and national contests, receiving such awards as the Efficient Milk Production award.

Most Versatile FFA Members - Ruth Knapp, Connie Gerardi, and Debbie Minner.

FFA Sweetheart Award 1981 - Shelly Chandler, on May 12, Shelly will be competing in the State FFA Sweetheart Contest.

Citrus Sales Awards: Certificates of Appreciation went to 48 local members who sold between 18 and 49 cases. Seven members - Dana Harvey, Dale Bishop, Mike Grogan, Sharon Jester, Bruce Betts, Ronnie Hanson and John Callaway sold 50 to 99 cases.

Two top salesmen who won a trip to Kansas City by selling over 100 cases of fruit each were Jeff Tucker and Wayne Allaband.

In addition to its own membership, the FFA recognized with appreciation a number of individuals on a farm and businesses as well as in the schools who have been helpful over the past year.

Honorary Chapter Farmers Degree 1981 - Jake Bishop who has been associated with LF FFA programs over the past four years. His third son will graduate from Lake Forest in June.

Honorary Chapter Farmer Degree - Mr. Owain Gruwell who has assisted with the local FFA in training programs, chaperoning and other kinds of support.

Honorary Chapter Farmer Award - Gene Vanderwende, a former FFA member who finds time each year to come back and help the new team prepare for the tractor driving contest. As an FFA member, Vanderwende was a member of a team that brought back a Silver Team Emblem Award in national tractor driving competition.

Special VIP Awards (to FFA members and families who have made a large contribution by providing their labor and machinery for the tillage of the farm project) - Dale Bishop & family, Glenn Collison & family, Mark Cain & family and Kevin Robbins & family.

Other Special VIP Awards went to businesses and individuals who have helped with the farming program: Robert Fischer and Harvey Kenton of Milford Sure Crop Fertilizer; Bill Burton of Huffman Seed Corn, Mr. Delsasso of Monsanto Company, Mr. Hopkins of FMC and Clifford and Ronnie Blessing of Blessing Farms. Their support for the FFA program has amounted to thousands of dollars in donated chemicals, seeds, fertilizers and machinery.

An Outstanding Service Award went to Walter Messick of Taylor and Messick for providing the tractor and manure spreader used by LF FFA team members to practice for the tractor driving contest. This year Gene Gerardi of Lake Forest placed first in the State and in the Northeastern Regional Tractor Driving Contest. Accepting the award on behalf of her husband was Mrs. Marie Messick.

Two Work Coop employers were honored for consistently hiring LF FFA students and providing the best in training and supervision. They were Carroll Welch of Welch's Seed Service and Bob Taylor of Taylor's Hardware.

Recognition for Outstanding Service went to Dave Woodward and Frank Webb, for their leadership in assisting the farming project.

Special Awards - Robert Fischer and Harvey Kenton of Milford Sure Crop Fertilizer.

Special Gifts of Recognition - Lake Forest Assistant Principal Mr. Moretti

J. P. Court #6 at Harrington received a 40 lb. package by UPS last Friday with 5,690 pennies contained in it. Here Judge Paul Neuman and clerk of the court, Olive Whitelock, begin the long task of counting the pennies. They were sent by Peter K. Everson of Williamstown, N.J. who was arrested for speeding (52 in a 35 zone) on March 23rd by Sgt. Frampton of the Greenwood P.D. The bag containing the pennies was from the Heritage Bank of Cherry Hill, N.J.

Harrington Woman Killed

Mary Rogers, 88 of Harrington, died Sunday when her car was struck by a tractor-trailer four and a half miles west of Harrington.

She was northbound on Kent 304 at 2:40 p.m. Sunday when she failed to stop for a stop sign at the intersection of Del. 14 at Vernon, right at the home of the Robert McNally's.

Rogers' car was struck by a tractor-trailer driven by Harold W. Ebling of Pottstown, Pa., who was on his way from Milford to Cincinnati, Ohio.

According to police, Rogers' car spun around after the accident and stopped 79 feet away.

She was removed from her car by Harrington firefighters, and taken to Milford Memorial Hospital, where she was pronounced dead on arrival with a fractured neck and skull.

Miss/Little Miss Harrington Pageant Saturday

The Lake Forest High School auditorium this Saturday evening will be the scene of the 18th Annual Miss - Little Miss Harrington Contest sponsored by the Harrington Lions Club. This year's judges will have the difficult task of selecting from seven young ladies who will vie for the Little Miss title and six candidates who will compete for the honor of being named Miss Harrington, 1981. The successful candidates will represent the community in the 1981 Delmarva Poultry Princess Pageant to be held in Princess Anne, Md. on June 5.

The first portion of the pageant will begin at 7:30 p.m. as this year's Master of Ceremonies Dennis Hazzard of WAFL presides over the introduction of the Little Miss Harrington contestants. Each one will be interviewed and will have a talent presentation.

Later on the Miss Harrington hopefuls will be judged in the areas of casual dress, talent, evening gown competition, and their responses to a pre-selected question.

During the intermission, according to pageant officials, there will be some very special entertainment. This year's pageant chairman is Donald McKnatt.

In addition to the privilege of representing the community, the winners will receive trophies, savings bonds, and flowers.

Cheryl Cerklefski Crowned Miss Felton

Jodi Melvin is 1981 Little Miss

In a finale that had Mistress of Ceremonies, Bonnie Blades, Miss Felton 1980, Shelly Chandler, and possibly some others in tears, Cheryl Cerklefski daughter of Robert and Jean Cerklefski was crowned Miss Felton 1981 Saturday night.

Sharing the spotlight will be Jodi Mari Melvin who captured top notch in the judges hearts to win the title of Little Miss Felton for 1981. Jodi is the young daughter of Gary and Susan Melvin.

Funner-up in the Little Miss competition was Renee Morris, daughter of Francis and John Morris. The 1981 runner up for Miss Felton was Lori Kay Fournier, daughter of Joseph and Barbara Fournier. Chosen Miss Congeniality was Valerie Faith Voshell who is the daughter of Fred and Joyce Voshell.

Four other young ladies starred in the Little Miss portion of the annual pageant. They were Jaime Renee Abbott, daughter of William and Debra Abbot; Tasla Ann Barry, daughter of Dennis and Judy Berry, and Gwen Sheree Stubbs, daughter of William and Nancy Stubbs.

In the competition, all six young ladies engaged in conversation with the Mistress of Ceremonies before performing with a recitation or a song and taking a walk to greet their audience.

Casual dress, talent presentation evening gown competition and...the $10,000 question (If you were given $10,000 and told you couldn't spend it on yourself, how would you spend it.) comprised the framework around which the five Miss Felton contestants were judged.

Bonnie Baird, daughter of Abner and Nancy Baird, exhibited the rifle expertise that has accompanied her during four years of performing with the Lake Forest High School Spartan Band. She did a rifle routine to "Celebration", by "Kool and the Gang". Bonnie said her parents deserved the $10,000.

Miss Felton, Cheryl Cerklefski, (who nearly left her escort in the lurch during the evening gown competition) sparked through a pantomime to "Shop Around" by the Captain and Tenille. Cheryl too, thought her parents should get the money.

Stephanie Jo Dopirak, daughter of Joseph and Flo Doperak, combined music and gymnastics in a routine to the song "Send in the Clowns". Stephanie who hopes to make a career in the field of physical education, Daniel Mifflin, Merchant, and Walker Mifflin and Joseph Jenkins sued in Kent County Court of Common Pleas and received a judgement against John Dickinson for the real debt of 857 pounds and six pence Gold and specie lawful money of the Delaware State and also 41 shillings and 6 pence like money for damages sustained by them. When at the end of approximately two years he still had not been able to pay the debt the court ordered his lands to be sold at public auction by Sheriff Andrew Barrat.

Daniel Mifflin was the highest bidder and purchased for 450 pounds a tract or parcel of land situated in Murderkill Hundred adjoining land of John Baning and Nehemiah Tilton Esquires, and lands of the heirs of Timothy Caldwell deceased, Beginning at a corner white oak standing on the north side of the Branch and extending from thence north 24 degrees and 45 minutes west 272 perches to a corner white oak sapling standing on the south side of Spring Branch then down the branch

Houston Chooses A Trash Fee

By a slim margin, Houston voters who went to the polls Saturday indicated to their Town Council that they would prefer to pay a $60 per year trash collection fee rather than have their property taxes increase by $200 or discontinue trash collection altogether. 31 voters chose the trash collection fee as opposed to 27 who were for the tax hike. Eleven voters spoke for discontinuation of the service.

Although the referendum question was a non-binding opinion survey, Houston Mayor Connie Morgan says she thinks the Council will vote accordingly. She, herself, prefers the trash collection fee as the most equitable way of seeing to it that those who use the service are the ones who pay for it. The proposed tax hike would have increased property taxes in Houston from the current $.30 for each $100 of assessed valuation. Adopting that course of action would have necessitated another referendum to allow out of town residents who own property within the town a voice. The latter would not necessarily be users of the trash service.

Prior to this, Houston residents have not had to pay any fee or special tax for trash collection. The money has come from Revenue Sharing funds and the local general budget. However, large increases in the cost of dumping coupled with an anticipated reduction in revenue sharing funds have made this "free" service an impossibility. Houston contracted in January with Eastern Disposal for the collection of its household trash.

Emory, Williams Elected

Saturday's referendum in Houston was conducted in conjunction with the annual city election in which two candidates, uncontested, were given the nod to serve two-year terms on the council. Incumbent James Emory received 48 votes to continue for a second term. Newcomer William Williams received 32 votes to fill the seat left vacant by Virginia Twilley who chose not to run again. Six other persons received write-in votes. Four of these were one voter per person. But outgoing council member Virginia Twilley got 28 write-ins, and William Yerkes was given 19.

Mayor Morgan expressed a personal "Thank you," for Mrs. Twilley's years of service to her community.

The Houston Council meets tomorrow evening to select as vice mayor, secretary, treasurer and tax collector.

Once the trash question is settled, the next major item to face the Council, according to Mayor Morgan, will be the budget for the upcoming year.

Bishop Wertz to Speak at Asbury

Bishop D. Frederick Wertz

Bishop Frederick Wertz, bishop of the Washington Area of the United Methodist Church, will be the speaker at a Lenten service at Asbury Church on Sunday, April 5 at 7:00 p.m. Bishop Wertz, a native of Lewiston, Pa., holds degrees from Dickinson College, Boston University and several honoraries. He has been president of the Board of Global Ministries and is a trustee of West Virginia Wesleyan College. He is a member of the National Association of Schools and Colleges of the Methodist Church, the World Methodist Council and the Commission on Religion and Race.

In addition to the sermon by Bishop Wertz, there will be congregational singing of hymns and special music. Following the service there will be a fellowship hour. An invitation is extended to all those who would like to join with members of Asbury Church in hearing and meeting Bishop Wertz.

perhaps in the area of therapy, said the world's needy children deserved the $10,000 more than she.

This year's runner-up, Lori Kaye Fournier, did a lovely pantomime to "9 to 5" as sung by Dolly Parton. Lori, who says the job of being manager of the Spartan baseball team is mainly picking up after the guys, would build a library with the $10,000.

Miss Congeniality, Valarie Faith Voshell sang Anne Murray's "You Needed Me". Valarie hopes to make music a part of her career. She would use the $10,000 for the benefit of retarded children.

During the pageant, held in the auditorium at Lake Forest North Elementary in Felton, some special moments of entertainment were provided by Little Miss Felton 1980, Elizabeth Ann Williams; newly crowned Little Miss Milford, Rachele Marie Draper; Miss Felton 1980, Shelly Chandler; and Miss Lake Forest, Jill Oakley, who sang "Ice Castles" and "The Rose".

The Miss - Little Miss Felton Pageant was sponsored once again by the Felton United Methodist Church with the assistance of a number of patrons throughout the area. This year's co-chairmen were Doug Crouse and Connie Harrington. Others involved in the program in addition to Bonnie Blades were Rhonda Whitt and committee (ad sales); Glen Whitt and committee (stage decorations); Vonna Hobbs and Karen Wothers (pianists) and Sue Killen, Cathy Draper, Betty Louise Myers, Fay Dill and Jean Callaway (refreshments). The photographer was K. C. Jones.

Miss Felton and Little Miss Felton will represent the community in the Delmarva Poultry Princess Pageant at the University of Maryland - Eastern Shore in Princess Anne, Md. on June 5.

In addition to the honor, they each received flowers, a trophy and a $50 savings bond.

Harrington Chamber Sets Dates for Easter Promotion and Outstanding Citizen Night

Harrington Fairgrounds Restaurant. Last Wednesday night the Harrington Chamber of Commerce met for its regular monthly meeting. April 20th was set for the night at the Fairgrounds Restaurant for the Annual Outstanding Citizenship Award Night. The new officers for the Chamber will be decided upon that night also.

The Chamber also announced plans for an "Easter Salebration" set to be carried in the April 8th issue of The Harrington Journal. As one of the big items of the "Salebration" will be an Easter theme coloring contest. The drawings to be colored will be carried in the issue of the 8th.

Mrs. Amanda Rash Quillen and The Greater Harrington Historical Society's President, Kenny McKnatt were the guest speakers at the Chamber meeting. Mrs. Quillen spoke on how the Society got its start, taking the audience through Heritage Day II. The next Heritage Day is set for September 12th with a rain date of Sept. 19th. Mr.

McKnatt presented a picture of the old St. Stephens Episcopal Church on Fleming St. in Harrington which Mr. and Mrs. John Satterfield purchased for the Society and explained how the Society, with the help of volunteers, will restore the old structure. The Society will make a museum out of it. "When we finish it off inside...it should be a real show place," said McKnatt. The Greater Historical Society meets the 2nd Monday of each month. The present museum in the Raughley Insurance Building is open the third Saturday of each month from 1 to 4.

The Historical Society will be happy to accept donations of time and materials toward the restoration of the Fleming Street building. Meanwhile, it was announced that Clyde Perry has donated the labor to paint the building.

Perry has donated the labor to paint the building. Members of the Chamber asked Ray Gagne, who is a member of Harrington's City Council, if anything had been done on accepting the gift from developer and engineer, Dudley Willis, who recently proposed to give the City some land at the end of Peck Ave. so that the City could open it up for a street to U.S. 13. Gagne reported that no action had been taken on the matter. The Chamber felt the Council should act on the matter.

Cotta Release

were not ready when demanded.

Mayor Mann further said that he thought the requirement of publicly posting the agenda six hours in advance of the session was not necessary in an emergency situation. He called the meeting by notifying members of the Council after the Mayor's Prayer Breakfast on Sunday, March 22, more than 24 hours in advance of Monday evening. It was generally felt that the purpose of the special meeting had been stated at the time the Mayor called the special meeting.

In addition to Mayor Mann, the Journal spoke to Councilmen Gagne, Quillen, Wyatt and Brode.

Asked about alleged violations of the Sunshine Law, Quillen lightly said that he thought it ought to be repealed, but he went on to explain that the press had a tendency to stir up controversy over what he says was an unintentional oversight (failure to announce the special session), not a deliberate intent to deceive the public.

Jack Wyatt underscored the reasons already stated for Cotta's release and said the vote was taken in open session.

Harold Brode declined any comment until the Council can consult the City Solicitor.

The Journal did not speak to Dr. Lobo or Gary Harrington.

It was reported that the vote to release Cotta was five in favor and one abstaining.

The 1981 Delaware All State Band festival will be held April 9, 10, and 11, 1981. The festival includes the Junior High All State Band (grades 7-9) which will practice at Smyrna and the Senior High All State Band (grades 10-12) which will practice at Lake Forest High School. Some of the Senior High Band members, who live a distance from Lake Forest, will be housed by local families. (More housing is needed, please call Mr. Burkhard 284-9291).

The Delaware Junior and Senior All State Bands will be rehearsed and conducted respectively by Dr. D. Jay Hildebrandt and Robert Streckfuss from the University of Delaware. After long hours of practice the two All State Bands will present, on the final day, a combined program of outstanding band music.

Students were selected for membership in these honor bands on the basis of auditions held earlier this winter. From Lake Forest three students were selected for this year's festival: Oye Skaggs-Clarinet, Pam Kreer-Flute and Rebecca Brown-Trombone.

The public concert will be presented Saturday, April 11, 1981 at 7:00 p.m. in the Lake Forest High School Auditorium.

Kent County Levy Court, through the Parks and Recreations Department, will sponsor a Pen and Ink Drawing class at the C.R. High School Drawing Room (Room 5). The Drawing Class begins April 21 and meets from 7:30 p.m. to 9:30 p.m. for 8 weeks. The class will focus on the fundamentals of contour and gesture drawing. A local artist, Norman Burt, will instruct the class. The fee for the class is $14.00. This does not include the purchase of drawing materials. The class size has been limited to 15. To register, phone the Recreation Office at 736-2090.

The Mispillion Kennel Club will sponsor Breed/Handling Classes to be held on Wednesdays starting April 1st thru May 20th.

Place: Diamond State Roller Rink Rt. 13

reduction off the regular cost for children between the ages of 5-12. You must sign up by April 30th in order to receive your discount.

Delaware's Island Field Museum, with its Indian burial ground dating from 740 A.D., will be the site of new excavations on Friday, April 3rd and Saturday, April 4th.

The public is invited to observe Dr. Custer and his students at the Island Field Museum. It is located at South Bowers Beach in Kent County and is open from 10:00 - 4:30 on both days.

Kent County Levy Court, through its Parks and Recreation Department, is offering a new program to its spring session. YOGA classes will be taught by an instructor from the YOGA Center of Wilmington. Mr. Russ Apple will guide the class through the philosophy, meditation, breathing, relaxation and physical aspects of YOGA. Classes begin Wednesday, April 22, for 8 consecutive weeks; meeting from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. at Towne Pointe Elementary School's Multi-Purpose Room.

The fee for the class is $14.00. Participants should wear loose clothing and bring a mat. The class size is limited to 20 individuals. You can register for this program by calling the Kent County Recreation Office at 736-2090.

The 1981 Delmarva Chicken Festival will take place in historic Princess Anne, Maryland, on Friday and Saturday, June 5 and 6, Delmarva Poultry Industry officials have announced. Hub of activities will be the 538-acre campus of the University of Maryland Eastern Shore. Sidebar attractions will be scheduled throughout the community beginning on Thursday, June 4, and concluding on Sunday, June 7. The Princess Anne Business Association in cooperation with town and university is hosting this 34th annual event.

Delmarva's giant fry pan, a chicken cooking contest, a chicken barbecue, the Delmarva Poultry Princess Pageant, and high-stepping parade are traditional parts of scheduled activities. In addition, Princess Anne is planning an outdoor carnival, invitational softball tournament, puppet show, crafts fair, frisbee contest, horseshoe tournament, and numerous other special attractions.

The Delmarva Chicken Festival is sponsored by Delmarva Poultry Industry, Inc. as a means of focusing attention on Delmarva's multi-million dollar broiler industry. Employing approximately 16,000 people on the Eastern Shore, the industry generates a significant portion of income going into local economies.

EASTON, MD...Entries are now being received for the Waterfowl Festival's fourth annual photography contest. The contest will close May 31 and be judged June 13.

Mike Hemming, contest chairman, said mallards, last year's winner, would not be eligible in the 1981 contest.

Ducks, geese and swans photographed in natural habitat and waterfowl hunting scenes are eligible, Hemming explained.

Ineligible for the contest are photographs of visibly captive or wing clipped birds.

Rules and regulations are available by writing to the Waterfowl Festival, c/o Tidewater Inn, Easton, Maryland or by calling 301-822-4567.

Armed Services

Marine Lance Cpl. Kevin L. Harding, son of Howard L. and Florence M. Harding of Route 1, Box 114, Greenwood, Del., recently returned from a deployment to the Mediterranean Sea and Indian Ocean.

He is a member of Battalion Landing Team (BLT) 1/8, based at Camp Lejeune, N.C.

During the six-month cruise, his BLT was embarked aboard the amphibious assault ship USS Saipan operating as part of the 34th Marine Amphibious Unit. He participated in several combined amphibious assaults and cross training exercises with the armed forces of many European countries. Port calls were made to England, Portugal, Spain, Italy, and Kenya. A Marine Amphibious Unit has the capability of conducting amphibious operations of a limited duration, or it can be committed as an advance force of a larger Marine Air Ground Task Force. It also provides combat support for allies as well as providing humanitarian assistance, disaster relief, and protection or evacuation of noncombatants.

A 1978 graduate of Milford Senior High School, Milford, Del., Harding joined the Marine Corps in July 1978.

Visit Made to Roosevelt's Home

Buck Hopkins and his sister, Mrs. Laura Belle Wilson of Harrington, Delaware, were recent visitors to Roosevelt's Little White House at Warm Springs, Georgia.

They toured the memorial, saw the modest frame home which remains just as it was on the day President Roosevelt died here, April 12, 1945. They saw a 12-minute movie in the Museum depicting FDR's life in Georgia. They viewed items of memorabilia displayed to tell the story of the four-term President's role in history, his impact on the world.

The Little White House and Museum are a part of a 10,000 acre area operated by the Georgia Department of Natural Resources.

CR To Host Prayer Breakfast

DOVER - The Twenty-first Annual Governor's Prayer Breakfast will be held on April 14, 1981 at the Caesar Rodney High School in Camden, Delaware starting at 8:00 a.m.

The principle speaker will be Guy Vander Jagt, U.S. Representative from Michigan. Congressman Vander Jagt is serving his ninth term in the House and serves on the tax-writing Ways and Means Committee. Congressman Vander Jagt is a renowned speaker. His experience as a radio disc jockey, a television reputation newscaster, an attorney, and a legislator have given Vander Jagt a national reputation as a speaker. House Democratic Majority Leader Jim Wright has called Vander Jagt "probably the best speaker in the House" and House Republican Leader John Rhodes said Vander Jagt is "one of the finest speakers I have ever known."

Others participating in this year's prayer breakfast include State Representative Tina Fallon, Judge William C. Bradley, Jr., University of Delaware president, Dr. E. A. Trabant, Representative Thomas B. Evans, Jr., State Senators W. Lee Littleton and David McBride and former Governor Sherman W. Tribbitt. Former U.S. Senator J. Caleb Boggs will serve as moderator and Governor du Pont will present a brief message.

The purpose of the Governor's Prayer Breakfast is to bring the states' leaders together for prayer and fellowship. The breakfast is open to the public. Tickets are available on a reservation basis for $5.50 each and are available by writing to, Governor's Prayer Breakfast Committee, P.O. Box 503, Dover, Delaware 19901.

Keeping In Touch

With Tom Evans

Last September, I, along with the other Republican Members of Congress, stood on the steps of the U.S. Capitol with Ronald Reagan and George Bush and pledged to halt the incessant growth of the federal government. The first point of this pledge, which I authored, expressed our belief that the Congress itself should set an example to the American people by cutting its own budget. I am pleased to report that the House of Representatives acted this week with my strong support to cut its committee budgets by 10 percent. While the decision to cut the amount of money which is spent by the Congress on its own operations is a good first step, I believe much more cutting could have been accomplished.

House committee spending is among the fastest growing costs in all of federal government. When the American people voted overwhelmingly for economy in government last November, they clearly intended for that economy to include the House of Representatives.

Since 1970, total House committee budget authorizations have increased by over 300 percent. Between 1973 and 1979, investigative staff grew from 570 to 1221. For example, investigative staff on the Committee on Interstate and Foreign Commerce grew from 40 to 127; and investigative staff on Ways and Means increased from 4 to 64.

Last week's House action to reduce committee budgets by 10 percent is a good start; but I, along with 183 other members of the House, felt more could be cut. I supported an amendment which would have resulted in a 20 percent reduction in overall committee expenditures. Unfortunately, this amendment did not pass the House. Instead, the House approved the less stringent amendment to reduce committee budgets by 10 percent.

I voted for the 10 percent amendment, even though I felt more should be cut from the committee budgets, because I firmly believe that economy begins at home and that the American people sent a clear message to the Congress to reduce government spending.

The passage of reduced budgets for House committees is a real victory for the American people and a good first step towards future budget reductions in other areas.

THOUGHTS FROM DOVER

By Gov. Pierre S. duPont

In Millsboro recently I had the opportunity to speak before the local Chamber of Commerce about the future growth of Kent and Sussex Counties as well as to hear from local businessmen about the community.

My talk focused upon the various State programs and policies we are undertaking to encourage economic growth. There are many possibilities, ranging from the location of the Coast Guard facility in Lewes, to finding a suitable tenant for the NCR plant in Millsboro to increasing tourism.

Under my Administration's proposal to reorganize and better coordinate the State's economic development, planning and community affairs functions, a more aggressive economic development program can be developed.

This month, the General Assembly will be considering the proposals to establish a Department of Community Affairs and an Office of Planning and Development. The economic development functions would be more closely coordinated in the Office of Planning and Development.

Because job development is a top priority of the State, it is essential that it receives every bit of support from quality staff analysis, information gathering, visibility and full-time direction.

Some of the proposals this new economic development and planning agency will coordinate are the establishment of the new Coast Guard research facility now under consideration for Lewes and the development of a labor intensive company for the NCR plant in Millsboro. In addition, increasing the number of tourists to the State's beaches and parks will continue to be a primary concern.

Tourism is a growth industry in the region. With energy costs high, we can easily draw tourists from 300-mile radius. With effective promotion, we can draw an estimated 30 percent more tourists. Already, the State earns $14 million from tourism.

In addition to bringing more tourists to Delaware or finding suitable employers, we must also continue the improvement we have made in the State's roads and rail systems. Both are important to current businesses and we want to provide the type of environment so that local companies can grow and prosper as well.

Tax Cut Plan Makes Sense

By Edwin Feulner

A coalition of union officials and professional cry-babies, remarkable for their predictability, has announced plans to fight the Reagan Administration's "supply-side" tax cut proposal, calling it just another scheme to help the rich, while making patsies of the poor.

All the same old Keynesian faces were there: officials of the AFL-CIO, the League of Women Voters, the State, County and Municipal Employees Union (you can guess whose skin they are looking out for), and an assortment of voices and faces claiming to represent black, Hispanic and consumer organizations, all still living in the past.

The general thrust of their argument was thus: a guy making $100,000 a year will benefit to the tune of several thousand dollars under the proposed 10 percent across-the-board tax cut proposal, while your typical "working poor" will get only a few bucks.

Moreover, they argue, at this time of high inflation, it is obvious that every additional cent that shows up in our paychecks is going to be needed to put food on our tables and gas in our Detroit guzzlers, which will stimulate consumption and, thus, cause higher prices.

By arguing that the tax cuts will result in a significant increase in savings and investment - the backbone of advanced industrial technology and economic growth - the Reaganites are only deluding themselves, the liberals say.

Thus they argue that the biggest tax breaks should be given to the poor - the people with the least disposable income, and those who would appear to need it the most.

In a totally egalitarian society, these arguments might make sense. But they really show little or no understanding of supply-side theory, and what the Reagan Administration is trying to accomplish.

The Reagan Administration tax cut plan, according to key advisors, is intended to promote non-inflationary economic growth. Economic growth can occur only, they say, if more money is made available to the private, productive sector (manufacturing and service industries) for expansion, and for technological innovation.

While it may be true that the working poor will use their tax cut gains to "make both ends meet," those with higher incomes are the ones who invest in stocks and bonds - in other words, the people who generate the capital needed for economic growth.

The harsh reality of the situation is that the tax cuts at the top are the only ones that are really meaningful in terms of accomplishing the administration's goals. By opting for an across-the-board cut, the President is service several needs at once: the need of lower-income families for more disposable income, and the need of the economy for a major growth-oriented transfusion.

As Ted Hagans, President of the National Business League (the nation's largest organization of black businessmen), told a skeptical young newsmen recently: "Poor people can't give to charity."

Likewise, poor people can't supply the capital needed to invigorate the American economy. That's why the President's plan seems not only equitable-but would appear to have a good chance of working.

Feulner is president of the Heritage Foundation, a Washington-based public policy research institute.)

Biden Report

By Sen. Joseph Biden Jr.

What may be the last pitch was thrown today as I made a final formal appeal to the Commandant of the United States Coast Guard to locate a research and development center, nearly 100 civilian jobs and a $7 million payroll at Lewes.

For more than a year now my office, in cooperation with the entire Delaware Congressional delegation, state and local officials--and particularly with the College of Marine Studies of the University of Delaware--have sought to persuade the Coast Guard Research and Development Center to locate at the university's Marine Studies Complex.

At the outset the task seemed impossible. The staff of the Coast Guard center has strong roots in Groton, Connecticut, the other possible site competing to win the facility. But we hoped some hard work added to the attractions of Lewes and the College of Marine Studies would prove to be a winning combination.

If successful, we will bring together the complementary activities of the university and the Coast Guard in marine research and education--and the benefits will be reaped not only by the university, government and maritime industry, but also for the Lewes area itself.

The Delaware delegation, along with state and university officials, have made a strong case for Delaware. Now it's up to the Secretary of Transportation and the Commandant of the Coast Guard to make the right choice.

There has been so much talk about the influx of "new" heroin from Southwest Asia that people have begun not to listen. And why should they? Heroin and the crimes associated with it are confined to big cities, right? Dead wrong!

It's true that the newly rising flood of heroin hits the cities first, but it is already working its way into smaller communities and rural areas. Heroin addiction breeds crimes--burglaries, muggings, robberies, murders--crimes that can be prevented if we bust the drug rings before they penetrate our country.

The current bumper crop of heroin is far larger than we have dealt with in the past. That means there is already more heroin available on American streets and campuses than there ever has been before. There isn't a school, home or community in America that can count itself immune from this new epidemic.

I have been trying for three years to get the federal government to do more to halt this flood of heroin abroad before it reaches our shores. In the course of their confirmation hearings, I asked for and got commitments from the new Secretary of State, Attorney General and Director of Central Intelligence to join me in providing for better coordination of the various federal anti-drug programs.

But President Reagan has recently suggested that he is not enthusiastic about programs to head off heroin and other illegal drugs before they get into this country. But we learned long ago that once illegal drugs get into our streets or schools, it's very nearly impossible--no matter how hard our law enforcement officers work--to stop their use.

It may just be that the Reagan Administration hasn't really decided yet what to do about the growing traffic in illegal drugs--but it should be a matter of concern to every Delawarean, in every part of the state, that we get the right decision. The safety of our homes and streets, and the welfare of our children, depends upon it.

From Dover by Sen. Thurman Adams, Jr.

In coming weeks the members of the General Assembly will face some tough decisions on a variety of issues, but perhaps none will be more important than redrawing Senate and Representative Districts to comply with the 1980 Census.

On the basis of official census figures, Wilmington should lose representation, New Castle County should retain about the same clout in the legislature, and Kent and Sussex Counties should pick up a seat or two in the Senate and the House.

At present, Wilmington, Kent, and Sussex Counties each have three Senatorial districts. With Wilmington's population dropping to 70,000 and both Kent and Sussex Counties growing to near the 100,000 mark, simple fairness would dictate that the downstate counties gain at least one Senate seat.

In the House, Wilmington, Kent, and Sussex each have six seats. The population figures seem to dictate that there be a shift of at least one seat to the two downstate counties.

What this means is that reapportionment is going to put many citizens into strange districts for the 1982 election, when every seat in the House and Senate will be contested.

Republican and Democratic leaders of the General Assembly are presently analyzing the census data and drafting reapportionment plans. When the plans are unveiled sometime in late May, the party caucuses in the House and Senate will be asked to consider a single plan which can win approval of the Senate, the House, and the Governor.

It's a difficult job and of great importance because the redistricting plan finally adopted will last until the next census in 1990.

Reapportionment is only one of the many difficult decisions which will have to be made before the legislature adjourns June 30.

Just to name a few, there's legislation to sell the Farmers Bank, the annual budget bill, the annual capital projects bill, the Governor's proposed government reorganization plan, the bill to require deposits on all bottles and cans (the so-called bottle bill), legislation dealing with hazardous waste, pharmaceutical assistance for the elderly, and a variety of education measures.

It would be a great help to me, of course, if readers would let me know how they feel on these issues.

Tax on Social Security Benefits

WASHINGTON-U.S. Senator Bill Roth (R-De) said today that any attempt to impose a tax on Social Security benefits represents a breach of faith with our senior citizens. Intent on "heading the idea off at the pass," Roth cosponsored a resolution in the Senate to fight possible taxation of Social Security benefits.

"The Social Security system is the most important source of income for senior citizens," Roth said. "Retirees who live on fixed incomes have an extremely difficult time coping with inflation and rising energy costs. Many of the elderly can hardly make ends meet on their benefits now."

"Twenty-five percent of the elderly are near or below the poverty level-- and that's even with their Social Security. Fifty percent of all older women receive an average of only $2,216 a year. Their Social Security is used for basic necessities such as fuel, food and medicine and it makes absolutely no sense to impose an additional financial burden on them by taxing these benefits."

"I've received a number of calls and letters from the people of Delaware who are worried that their benefits might not continue to be exempt from taxes. This resolution will help make sure this exemption is safe."

The Senate resolution was introduced by Senator John Heinz (R-PA) and Lawton Chiles (D-Fl). It was referred to the Senate Finance Committee for consideration.

Which Tax Form?

Wilmington, Delaware -- Many taxpayers are confused about which Federal income tax form -- the Form 1040A or the Form 1040 -- to use when filing their tax return. In an effort to clear some of this confusion, the Internal Revenue Service has prepared the following questions and answers:

Q. Can I file the Form 1040A?

A. You may be able to use a Form 1040A if you earned $20,000 or less ($40,000 or less if married and filing a joint return) during 1980, and all of your income is from wages, salaries, tips or unemployment compensation. In addition, you cannot have earned more than $400 in interest or $400 in dividends unless you are filing only to get a refund of the earned income credit. In that case interest can exceed $400. You may also be able to use a Form 1040A if you do not claim credits other than the earned income credit or the political contributions credit.

Q. What form should I use if I want to itemize deductions?

A. You must use the Form 1040 if you itemize deductions, or if your spouse files a separate return and itemizes deductions, unless your spouse lives apart from you for the whole year, and you have a dependent child, in which case you may be able to use the Form 1040A.

Q. If I plan to claim a tax credit, do I use the Form 1040?

A. Yes. You must file a Form 1040 if you decide to claim the child care credit, residential energy credit, credit for the elderly, investment credit, foreign tax credit, or work incentive credit.

Q. My parents claim me as a dependent, but I also received interest income and earned income last year. What form should I use?

A. If you are claimed as a dependent by your parents and had interest, dividends or other unearned income of $1,000 or more, and you had earned income of less than $2,300 if single, or less than $1,700 if married and filing a separate return, you must file a Form 1040.

Q. What other special circumstances may mean that I must file a Form 1040 instead of the Form 1040A?

A. If you plan to income average you must use the Form 1040. Filing the Form 1040 is also required if you are a qualified widow (er) with a dependent child, or if you made estimated tax payments.

Q. Where can I get more information about which form to file?

A. Additional guidelines can be found in the instructions of your 1980 Federal Income Tax Forms package.

Merry-Go-Round

WASHINGTON--Ronald Reagan is a relaxed, low-key president who has fit into the White House as comfortably as a foot in an old shoe. The appearances, of course, are deceptive: He really stands in the eye of a hurricane that whirls around him.

Most of the frenetic activity in the first weeks of the Reagan administration has been directed toward reversing the economic tides. This is a little like trying to make the Potomac River flow uphill.

Every White House move has been carefully calculated. The planning group first called the operation "the 100-day project." They then changed the name to "the initial actions project."

Reagan's advisers concluded that the new administration, if it's going to change the economic direction of the country, must establish the momentum in the early days. They hope to take advantage of the president's post-election popularity and throw the opposition off-balance before the Democrats can regroup from their election defeat.

The planning group decided to focus on the economic program, rather than dilute their efforts with several campaigns at once. And Reagan didn't wait for congressional leaders to come to him. He went to them. He even drove to Walter Reed Army Hospital to pay a bedside visit to Senate Finance Committee Chairman Robert Dole, R-Kan., who was recuperating from a kidney operation.

The president presented Dole with a copy of George Gilder's book, "Wealth and Poverty", which has become the economic bible for the Reagan White House. The president talked about the federal budget briefly with the hospitalized senator, who raised some mild objections in behalf of the farmers of his native state.

Reagan then asked if it hurt Dole to laugh. Dole said no. So the president, with a broad grin, began to real off a few jokes.

Episodes like this illustrate how the Reagan administration in just two months has changed the prevailing economic views in Washington.

If Reagan does win the battle of the budget, meanwhile, he can thank his budget director, David Stockman. He is directing the legislative battle, and he is relentless in the backrooms.

The Democratic leader in the Senate, Robert Byrd, D-W. Va., for example, decided that the outnumbered members of his party should concentrate on a single budgetary item to make a stand. He picked the energy budget, which isn't surprising since he wanted to save a synthetic fuel plant in his home state.

A few days ago, Byrd called together all the democrats on the energy committee for private, informal session. They decided that the best strategy would be to come up with their own ideas for cutting the budget. That way, they hoped to protect their pet energy programs from David Stockman.

But Stockman outflanked them. He simply cut off all government funds for one pet project in each of the Democratic senators' home states. Wendell Ford, D-Ky., discovered that a synthetic fuel plant in his home state was threatened; John Melcher, D-Mont., found federal aid cut off for a project to develop alternative uses for coal; Paul Tsongas, D-Mass., saw a solar energy project endangered.

Stockman's fiendish plan worked because the Democrats wanted to stand together. To ensure solidarity, they would have had to save everyone's pet program, and that would have added more than $1 billion to the energy budget. A sum like that would give the Democrats an unenviable "big spender" label with the folks back home.

So Byrd was forced to retreat and had to content himself with issuing an angry statement. The energy cuts, he declared, were Reagan's "Achilles Heel."

WATCH ON WASTE: Classified government documents reveal that private contractors are ripping off millions of dollars from the Air Force every year. It's possible there is also connivance by Air Force supply officials.

At Beale Air Force Base in California, for example, the supply store contract recently came up for renewal. The bids were close, so the Air Force requested a final offer from the two lowest bidders. One lowered his bid substantially and got the contract.

An investigation disclosed, however, that the contractor's reduced bid depended on drastic reductions in the price of two heat pumps. In his original bid, the contractor listed prices of $1,105 and $952 for the pumps. But in his revised bid--the one that won the contract--the prices were $22 and $18.

A reduction like that should have set the alarms ringing in the Air Force procurement office's early warning system. But it didn't.

Not until after the contract was awarded did the contractor inform the Air Force that the inexpensive heat pumps he had promised were not available. Instead, he offered two other models costing $1,169 and $1,007 apiece--more than the pumps in his original bid.

Worse, the Air Force accepted this outrage.

Letters To The Editor

Basic Plus Comments

In view of all of the controversy over Basics Plus, I feel compelled to make a few statements and common sense comments.

Registration is a continuing process. It stands to reason that many people can not feasibly register their children in a particular school district 7 months in advance. You must consider our current economic inflationary problems which can cripple the financial ability of people and their families, and you have to consider the people involved in job relocation, etc.

It is my opinion that this part of the process has been misinterpreted. Are you telling the people that if their children were not registered as of February 14, 1981, that they cannot attend public school? And if so, what do you propose to do with these children? Are you prepared to pay for other schooling for the children not registered on time? Does one day registration really make sense?

In order for parents to register or withdraw their children from the Basics Plus School (which is on a first come first serve basis) you must voluntarily fill out the proper form. The 281 students registered for the Basics Plus School is correct. No one has systematically withdrawn their children. Registration applications and withdrawal forms are still available at the school.

In reference to Basics Plus being a volunteer program with intense structure; you have teachers and students that are confident that they can handle this structured situation and you have those that can handle it but need reassurance. I don't call this coercion, recruitment or harassment. You cannot make anyone do anything that they don't want to do, including bend against their will and better judgement.

The reasoning for not wanting to combine the Jr. & Sr. High schools is not an educational one, it is a social reason; and having the elementary combined with the Sr. High is an even less healthy situation. There are people who want portions of the basics plus concept implemented into the entire school system. This is a watered down version - IT IS NOT BASICS PLUS.

Currently we have $15,000 on hold providing that we implement a Basics Plus School. With our enrollment dropping over 100 students to a projected figure of 1609 or less for the coming school year, reconsolidation or reorganization is a reality. The money for the Basics Plus School is a grant from State Revenue. If we don't implement this program and 1 or 2 years down the road Legislature tells us reconsolidate or reorganize, not only will we have to do it their way, it will cost more than the $15,000 and we as taxpayers will pay for all of it.

I would request that anyone having questions pertaining to Basics Plus that they contact Dr. Griffin, the School Board Members, and or the Basics Plus Committee. Do not listen to hearsay, GET THE FACTS.

Opportunity knocks, we have the chance to become a model district. Don't let misunderstandings and hard feelings get in the way of good sound educational judgement.

Terrific

The center spread of last week's Harrington Journal was a splendid tribute to the American Legion's 62nd birthday, and the editor and his staff must be congratulated.

There they were, all four of them, Harrington's offering to their country's sacrifice, greeting us from across the years, just as we remember them. There is a saying that when death comes to the young that they will forever remain young, for that is as they left us.

Clarence Kemp and Bobby Tee were in Boy Scout Troop # 76 while I was scoutmaster before the war and part of the mobilization team for civil defense prior to December 7, 1941, when the rest of us were called up. Harry Raughley, Clarence, and Bobby, were still in school, and came on a short time later. James Callaway had gone earlier.

The pictures of these young men as they appeared in last week's Journal seem to have been taken just yesterday instead of so many years ago. Since then, others have joined them during other conflicts - Korea, Vietnam - claiming young men from other communities to add to the role of gold star heroes.

Once again, the work that went behind this research must have been tremendous, but well worth the effort.

Thanks to the American Legion and the Harrington Journal for making us remember - Lest we forget, Lest we forget!

Calvary Wesleyan Church

The "March to Sunday School in March" attendance campaign came to close on Sunday with 254 average attendance for the month. In the King and Queen contest, Stephanie McCullough will be honored as Queen and Chad Maris as King. In the contest between the LADIES-

GIRLS & MEN-BOYS, the winners were declared to be the Ladies-Girls with 74 percent of enrollment present while the Men-Boys averaged 72 percent of their enrollment present each Sunday in March.

Dr. William E. Griffin, Superintendent of the Woodbridge School District will be the guest speaker for the Morning service on April 5. Colonel Wilber W. Bubbs, Senior Protestant Chaplain, Dover Air Force Base, and a member of Calvary Wesleyan Church will speak during the evening service at 7:00.

Calvary United Methodist Church

As we continue in Lent, we invite you to study the gospels of Matthew and Luke with us each Thursday at 7-9 p.m. at Bethel Church Hall.

Sunday worship with us at 11 o'clock, communion service.

This death notice was given last Sunday.

Mrs. Prayer Meeting died at the First Neglected Church on Worldly Ave. Born years ago in the midst of great revivals, she was strong, fed on testimony and scriptural holiness.

For several years hence, Mrs. Prayer Meeting has been failing and rendered helpless by stiffness of knees, coldness of heart, inactivity and weak will power. Her last whispered words were inquiries of loved ones absent from her presence, busy in shopping centers, bowling alleys and working double shifts. Dr. Works and Dr. Joiner gave large doses of rallies, dinners and special days, but to no avail. It showed that lack of fasting and spiritual hunger helped to cause her death. Miss I Am Modern rendered the "Beautiful Isle of Somewhere" but no one had any idea where this fancy isle might be. There was no "Amazing Grace" or the "Rock of Ages" as they were long forgotten also. The body rests in the Glories of the Past, awaiting summons from above.

In honor of Mrs. Prayer Meeting's going, the church doors will be closed on Wednesday nites except on the 1st Wednesday of each month, when the Ladies Pink Lemonade Society serves refreshments to the Men's Lawn & Garden Team.

Prayer Meeting and Class Meeting have died at Mt. Calvary. We are trying to resurrect them by starting adult classes during church school at 10:15 a.m. each Sunday morning. Please come, help us learn His Amazing Grace and to lift up the name of Jesus.

Prospect United Methodist Church

On Sunday, March 22, Rev. and Mrs. Gary Warner of Newark were the speakers at Prospect as our Lenten Services continued. Gary and Peggy told us about Child Evangelism Fellowship and Good News Clubs which help bring children to Christ. It was a very informative and fun evening for young and old alike.

Last Sunday, March 29th, Prospect had as its Sunday Lenten Service a hymn sing. Members and friends joined in the spirit to bring praise to our Lord through song and music.

Humanism is, how it is antithetical to Judeo-Christian principles, and how it is influencing school curricula and young people's attitudes and behavior. Humanism is shown as a root cause of the modern-day breakdown of educational effectiveness, discipline and morals, and also as a possible prelude to what some would like to see as a new world order, devoid of moral absolutes and restraints of the past.

Appearing in the documentary are: Dr. Paul Kurts, author of Humanist Manifesto II; Dr. Murray Norris, educator and author of Weep For Your Children; and Jacqueline Lawrence, researcher for the book, Change Agents in the Schools; Dr. Onalee McGraw, author of Secular Humanism and the Schools; Bill Robison, psychologist; Dr. Norman Dohm, gynecologist

"LET THEIR EYES BE OPENED"
A documentary about humanism and its influences in the schools.

This documentary explains what hum-

Mel and Norma Gabler, subjects of the book, Textbooks on Trial; Rev. David Anderson, Presbyterian minister; and Carol Trotman, teacher. Also appearing is the writer, director and producer Dr. Larry T. Quisenberry, former college sociology professor and television producer.

This documentary is a must viewing for Christian students, parents and educators. Non-Christian or non-sectarian audiences and groups such as civic organizations, PTA's and school boards would find it interesting and educational.

Prospect United Methodist Women

The United Methodist Women of Prospect Church met at the church March 19, 1981 at 1:00 o'clock. There were 10 members present.

Interesting devotions were led by Mrs. Catherine Donovan. She read the 14th chapter of John, several poems and a prayer.

Our meeting was called to order by our president, Vivian Dill.

Happy Birthday was sung to our 5 birthday depositors.

Mary Lou Wright and Mable Jean Donovan reported a fun filled morning spent with our friends at Haven Hill March 17.

Vivian Dill is taking care of the Cradle Roll and had found out that only children that are baptized in our church are eligible to have their names on the Cradle Roll.

Mary Lou Wright is going over the list of names on the prayer chain. If you want to be a caller contact her.

Mable Jean Donovan talked to Mr. Lang of the National 5 & 10 Store and he donated some books for the residents of Haven Hill. Thank you, Mr. Lang.

The Methodist Manor House Tea will be held April 8, 1981 from 1-3. Tickets are $2.50 each. A farewell dinner for district superintendent and Mrs. Revell will be held May 1, 1981 at 6:30 in Georgetown. The tickets are $6.50 each.

The School of Christian Missions will be held July 15-19. Our annual spring rummage sale will be May 8 at Spences Bazaar in Dover. Mary Lou Wright suggested we make Mrs. Lillie Sullivan an honorary member of the United Methodist Women.

There will be a Bible School meeting April 23 at 1 o'clock at the church. There will be a meeting at Asbury Church in Harrington April 27 about Methodist material for Bible School.

Mable Jean Donovan had information on ordering material on Stewardship in the church. This will be brought up at the Administrative Board meeting and decided which material to order.

Our meeting adjourned at 2:25 with the motion made by Jeanette Legates. Delicious refreshments served by our hostess, Jeanette Legates, and good fellowship finished our afternoon.

Asbury United Methodist Church

Bishop Frederick Wertz, Bishop of the Washington area of the United Methodist Church, will be the speaker at a Lenten Service at Asbury U.M. Church, Weiner Avenue, Harrington on Sunday, April 5 at 7:00 P.M.

Bishop Wertz, a native of Lewiston, Pa., was president of Lycoming College in Williamsport, Pa. He holds degrees from Dickinson College, Boston University, and several honoraries. He has been president of the Board of Global Ministries and a trustee of West Virginia Wesleyan College. He is a member of the National Association of Schools and Colleges of the Methodist Church, the World Methodist Council, and the Commission on Religion and Race. Married to the former Betty Jean Rowe, he is the father of four grown children.

It is our extreme pleasure to have Bishop Wertz speak here at Asbury during this Lenten Season. An invitation is extended to other churches to join with members and friends of Asbury Church in this opportunity to meet and hear Bishop Wertz. This should be a memorable event for all of us.

In addition to the sermon by Bishop Wertz, there will be congregational singing of familiar hymns and special music.

Following the service, there will be a fellowship hour so that you can greet Fred and Betty Wertz. This should be a part of your lent celebration.

Bible Fellowship Church

We rejoice in the Lord's goodness to us last week during our revival with Evangelist Bob Hamblen. Brother Hamblen brought messages to stir our hearts and challenge our lives. We thank the Lord for those who made decisions this past week for salvation or for dedication to the Lord's work.

The more Bible study a person has in his life, the more he will "grow in grace and in the knowledge of our Lord and Savior, Jesus Christ" (1 Peter 3:18). Join us Sunday mornings and evenings as we feast on the Word of God together. "Not forsaking the assembling of ourselves together, as the manner of some is..." (Hebrews 10:25).

Our ladies are reminded to bring baked goods to the Church this coming Sunday, April 5, so that they may be sent to our college students next week. Candy, cookies, brownies, cereals, etc., may be brought.

On April 11, our Ladies' Fellowship will go to the Stockley Home to deliver Easter Baskets and to have a party with a short program for the ones there. The time will be from 1:30 to 2:30 p.m.

"Thirty Pieces of Silver" - Our precious Lord Jesus Christ was betrayed by Judas Iscariot and was sold into the hands of His enemies for the price of a common slave, for thirty pieces of silver. This Easter, April 19, we are again asking God's people to make a special love-offering beyond their regular giving to show our love and appreciation to Christ for what He has done for us. We encourage each person of the family to bring a "Thirty Pieces of Silver" offering on Easter.

Food for Thought:
"Our strength is shown in the things we stand for."
Our weaknesses are shown in the things we fall for."
-Hugh A. Cowan

Get Together and Talk With Our Neighbors

Senior Center

By Dorothy Graham 398-3780

Happy Birthday April Folks! Smile - Problems are opportunities and there are a lot of them around. - Arnold Glasgow.

Mrs. Clare Judy and Mrs. Sylvia Meredith were leaders of Bible Study Monday morning at the center. A prayer opened the hour with several favorite songs. Sylvia and Clare had a time of discussion and questions and answers. The folks present enjoyed the time they all had together. A prayer by Clare and song by all ended the session. Present were - Roxanne and Marion Brown - Sylvia and Cecil Meredith - Clare Judy - Gertrude Morgan - Anna Mae Short - Mildred Vincent - Annabel Morrow - Mary Perry - Edsel McCready - Francis Wright - Pearl Hickman - Ruth Philippi - Cleora Vincent - Gertrude Greenberg - Sallie Needles - Bertha Dean - Elizabeth Anthony - Nita McClain - Ethel Holden - Essie Holden.

Monday afternoon Cam took us green-ware shopping. Ruth Philippi - Gertrude Morgan and Jeanette LeGates had a good class in crochet and knitting.

The Jolly Timers rallied forth Tuesday morning. The song on aging brings a chuckle to all who hear it. The entire group joins in singing and humming three songs and it does sound extra nice. When Andy joins in singing and sings so softly - humming and piano, I tell you it truly sounds professional. Doing their level best - Julia Astfalt, Sylvia and Cecil Meredith, "Andy" Anderson - Essie Redden - Florence Minner - Pearl Hickman - Ella Golt - Bertha Dean - Mamie Adams - Lili McBride - Gladys Hill - Cleora Vincent - Annabel Morrow - Gertrude Morgan - Mildred Vincent - Ola Tilden - Elwood Morris - Marion and Roxanne Brown - Jo Burke and John McCready. Tony was in and listened while the band played on!

Gene called a short business meeting Tuesday afternoon.

Sara Case retired Blue Cross employee, spoke Tuesday afternoon on Blue Cross benefits. Sara gave a most enlightening talk. She is coming back.

Wednesday - Several did calendar and 13 went local shopping. It was a happy day - Williamsburg - pool - checkers and personal ceramics.

Thursday bowling at Milford Lanes. Bingo with Elizabeth Anthony calling. Ceramics - pool and checkers and rummage sale ended the day nicely.

Friendly faces and macrame class, with Barbara Evans, along with the always present ceramic group. The menu today was roast beef and done to a turn.

Things are falling into place in readiness of the Bazaar April 9, 1981. Be sure and make your appearance! Bring a friend to lunch. There will be lots of pretty things in ceramics for the kiddies and grown ups also.

Be kind to each other. Best wishes to those who are ill and to those in sorrow.

Remember - Smile all the way to the Center April 9, 1981 to the Bazaar - Faith.

Frederica

Mrs. Frances Davidson, Mrs. Mary Purnell, Mrs. Pearl Schmick, Mrs. Virginia Schmick, Mrs. Ruth Pittard and Mrs. Hert-"ha" Macklin, and Toby attended the Kent County Ladies Auxiliary of the volunteer fire co's. dinner meeting in Smyrna, Del., Wednesday evening the 25th.

Mary Johnston attended the Ladies Auxiliary of D.H.C.I. Wednesday morning meeting.

Mr. Thomas Spurry and I visited Mrs. Dorothy Harrington a resident of D.H.C.I., Smyrna, Del.

A bus load from the Adult Center enjoyed the mystery trip Friday the 27th to the Christiana Mall. The shopping, browsing and just watching the crowds go by plus the delicious food was very nice.

Saturday the 28th, The Frederica Firemen entertained the Ladies for dinner and dancing at the new Bowers Fire House.

Life Membership pins were presented to Mr. Charles Smith, Mr. Thomas Spurry, Mr. Victor "Jake" Warren, Mr. Zora Tatman, Mr. Benjamin Markowitz, Mr. William Schmick, Mr. Delbert Brown, Mr. Willard "Chops" Betts, Mr. Rod Johnston and Mr. Paul Davis.

Gag gifts were presented to Firemen and Ladies - yours truly received a pair of boxing gloves.

Twenty year certificates were also presented to the firemen.

Zora Tatman gave the history of the company, and our "49" station will celebrate its 50th anniversary in 1982.

The Ladies Auxiliary presented the Firemen with the Fire Fighting Emblem clock for the Fire House and a Water Vac.

Sunday morning the U.M. Trinity Church Adult Sunday School Class had cake and coffee with Mr. & Mrs. Arthur Bright, at their home at McGuinnis Lake. Mr. Bright is the teacher for the class and has been confined to his home for several weeks.

Mrs. Mary Purnell, Mrs. Kathryn Dill, Mrs. Eva Burrell, Miss Angelica Moore Miss Mary Hitch, Mrs. Elfreda Edge, Mrs. Ella Govan, attended the birthday class morning coffee. Our prayers and best wishes go to Art for his recovery. God Bless.

Sunday evening at 6:15 a covered dish supper was enjoyed at the Trinity Church followed with the hymn sing.

Our choir furnished the music for the evening. Mrs. Kathryn Dill and Miss Tammy Stevenson sang a duet and a solo part was given by Mrs. Eva Burrell. Another surprise was a duet by Darien Beebe and Mike Harrington. A very delightful evening was enjoyed by all attending.

Mrs. Bette Bradford of Mount Vernon Va., has been a guest of Miss Mildred Coverdale.

Don't forget the date, April 11th, 1981 from 3 p.m. to 7? Annual Trinity (Frederica) Church Chicken and Dumplings and those famous clam fritters supper with all the family style fixins. Frederica's top young lady for community activity, sponsor your favorite lady or ladies. Send a Community Activity report to "Toby", P.O. Box 214, Frederica, Del., 19946 by May 22nd. Entrant ages 20-39, and lived in the Frederica area at least a year. Winner will be announced at the Street Fair, Sat. June 6th.

Murderkill Lions dinner meeting will be held Thursday, April 2nd at 7 p.m. in the Frederica Hall.

To all that are ill wherever they might be, our prayers and best wishes. May God Bless.

Want a Good Recipe?
BUTTERNUT SQUASH PUDDING
3/4 cup of sugar
1 tbslp flour
3/4 tsp. salt
1 tsp. ginger
1/2 tsp. nutmet
3 large eggs well beaten
1 1/2 cups cooked mashed butternut squash
1 1/2 cups milk
2 tbslp. light mollasses
2 tbslp. melted butter
Mix together the first five dry ingredients. Beat eggs well - blend in eggs, mashed squash, milk, mollasses, syrup is OK, King, Karo, and melted butter. Grease baking dish, Pam is good, bake 350 degrees preheated oven for 1 hour or until knife inserted comes out clean.

Try it, you'll like it. We did at our Sunday nite covered dish. Not a dessert.

Congratulations to Mr. & Mrs. Walter Ashley who were married on Saturday, March 14.

The Senior Choir of Trinity Methodist Church called on Mrs. Phoebe Green, one of their members, last Thursday evening after rehearsal to welcome her back home from John Hopkins' Hospital where she had undergone surgery. Wishing her a speedy recovery!

Master Freddie Wyatt celebrated his twelfth birthday on Monday, March 30. He had a party on Sunday, March 29. Those attending were Paul Spence from Bowers Beach, D. J. Banta, Doug Trader, David Hudson, Lisa Wise, Kate Vogelien, Viki May Swain, his sisters, Shauna and Jennie, his Grandmother, Mrs. Marion Liska and his parents. They enjoyed playing kickball and hardball and everyone enjoyed cake and ice cream, chips and homemade fudge. Later in the day visitors were Mrs. Janice Rende and Mr. & Mrs. Frank Spence and son Brian from Bowers Beach. It was a very special birthday for a very special boy. Happy Birthday Freddie, Love ya!

Mr. & Mrs. Edgar Welch and family were the Sunday dinner guests of Mr. & Mrs. Carroll Welch, Sr.

Mr. & Mrs. Carroll Welch, Sr. arrived home last Tuesday after spending three months in Fort Lauderdale, Florida with their daughters. Mr. Welch is improving. During this past week they've entertained their children, and many friends and relatives! Welcome home! Wishing Mr. Welch a speedy recovery.

Mrs. Delores Swain and Viki May visited with Mrs. Swain's parents in The Queen's, N.Y. this past weekend.

Mr. & Mrs. Elmer Brown, visited with Mr. & Mrs. Carroll Welch, Sr. on Sunday afternoon.

The Lake Forest High School Concert

Band held their annual spring concert on Sunday afternoon, March 29. Title songs were Stars and Stripes, King's Canyon, Head in the Clouds, and Renegade (overture for a festival). Miss Libby Roach did a solo on piccolo "Stars and Stripes." The stage band presented "Killer Joe" with solos by Todd Dennis and John Hauer, "Feels so Good" with solos by Jay Howerin, Kevin Moehlenkamp, Nelson Mosley and Larry Cooper, "Dirty Old Man" with solos by Todd Dennis and Kevin Moehlenkamp, "Catch as Catch Can" with a solo by Todd Dennis, "Bundle of Funk" with solos by Jay Howerin, Nelson Mosley, and Libby Roach on flute, and McArthur's Park complete with fancy lighting and affects. The bands are under the direction of Mr. Dale Burkhardt. It was well attended and well received and they held a social afterwards.

The Lake Forest High School Jazz Band will be conducting a free concert on May 13 at 7:30 p.m. in the new auditorium.

Lake Forest will be sponsoring Jr. and Sr. High School students for All State Band this year on April 9, 10, and 11th. The All State Concert will be at the Lake Forest High School on April 11 at 7 p.m. We still need housing for some of these students. If you are interested please contact Mr. Burkhardt at the high school.

Mrs. Grace Welch is recovering from a bout with the flu. Get well soon, Grace!

I was checking on the progress of "The Loft" (which is coming along very well, by the way) and realized Spring must be here. Mrs. Welch has her red wagon in front of the mill with plants of all kinds. Makes me thing Spring has sprung as the expression goes.

Well wishes to all, Take Care, Share a Smile, God Bless.

Here it is already March 24, and the brilliant sunshine makes it look like spring outside, while the thermometer hovers around freezing. The weatherman keeps predicting snow or icy rain about every night but it does not come. As I've said before, the weather forecasts are highly amusing to Dad. He just smiles and says that the Lord will have the weather just the way He wants it, and this is so!

We are now beginning yard and garden work. Yesterday, we planted the little Christmas pine tree that I received from our Bible Study Christmas party. Dad planted it so I can see it from my kitchen window. There it is a constant reminder of the love and fellowship we share with this wonderful group of friends.

We have two more items to transplant this spring. They were sent to us as a gift from a western seed grower, and it is their custom to include free with an order. They seemed like two little brown, dry stems, but the attached slip said, "Fig tree" and "Olive tree". We struck them down by the shop and nothing much happened the first year. Finally they did put forth a very few tiny green leaves, but I opted to keep them there. Last summer they found their roots and developed into two sturdy saplings, which are now much too close to the shop and to each other. So, we will give them a place in the sun and admire and love them as they grow. How marvelous it is to work hand in hand with nature.

Our tiny horehound plant given to us last year by our friend, Don, is growing like the proverbial weed and has doubled in size, constantly reminding us of a friend's love.

Which reminds me of Joseph Sobran's words on love. Quote: "Love isn't eternal; it's day-to-day. It brings home the bacon and fries it. It wipes noses. It makes the bed. Sometimes it even yells."

And here is another quotation which is good. It made me think and remind myself to think twice before you allow yourself to lose a friend. Joyce Evans says: quote, "A relationship is treasure to be cherished, Fragile like fine china which must be handled with care. For, the china, once broken...even though mended so the break is hardly noticeable...it is never the thing of beauty that it was in the beginning."

And speaking of beauty...it is on my window sill this morning. I sallied forth and picked some pussy willow twigs and some winter jasmine. The pussy willow is from my neighbor's bush and I am hoping that it will root in water. They usually do. My own tree developed a blight some years ago and just up and died.

I am of the opinion that most flowers do not need too much arranging. I'm not too fond of stylized bouquets. So, I just put my small branches into a small copper pitcher, and it looks beautiful to me. Did you ever notice how pretty the colors gray and yellow are when combined?

I did not used to like gray. It seemed such a drab and sad color. But a little thinking about the subject gave me a different slant. I thought of all the gray things I love...the slate gray of the demure mockingbird...the weathered basic gray of a piece of driftwood...the misty, foggy gray of certain skies...the pale, silver gray of the birch trees...yes gray is beautiful. Its message is peace, quietness, tranquility, and it blends so beautifully with the bright colors of the world.

Anne's Kitchen

If you were afraid to try homemade bread because it seemed like too difficult a task, this recipe is for you. It is as easy as mixing a cake and the rewards are even greater. You can use your cake mixer and won't have the worry of kneading and all the work and mess that goes with it. Most important is that your yeast is fresh and the water temperature you dissolve it in is between 110 and 115 degrees. Give it a try and I know you will agree it is well worth the small effort.

NO NEED BREAD

1 package dry yeast
1 1/2 cups water 110 to 115 degrees
2 teaspoons salt
2 tablespoons sugar
2 tablespoons shortening
3 cups flour

1. Dissolve yeast in 1 1/2 cups of water.
2. Mix 1 1/2 cups flour with all other ingredients. Blend and beat 1 1/2 minutes with electric mixer.
3. Blend in balance of flour and beat 1 minute more.

4. Cover and place in a warm place free of drafts and allow to rise. (about 30 minutes).
5. Stir down and pour into greased loaf pan.
6. Cover with well greased waxed paper and return to warm draft free place and allow to raise in pan (about 40 minutes).
7. Bake in preheated 375 degree oven for 45 minutes to 1 hour. To test for readiness knock on top of loaf with knuckles. If sound is hollow, bread is done.
8. Remove from pan at once and place on wire rack to cool.

If your mixer is large enough, you can easily double the recipe for two loaves. I have made larger quantities and mixed by hand, but if your arm tires easily, stick with the mixer method. If dough is not mixed enough, your results will be a heavy loaf.

This may be the recipe which will encourage you to go onto bigger and better things in bread making.

ENJOY!

Report from Hickory Ridge Congregational Methodist Church: On Sunday evening, March 22, we had as our guest speaker at the 7 p.m. service Miss Marjorie Campbell, a World Gospel Missionary, who expects to go to Kenya, Africa.

On Saturday, April 4, we will have our covered dish supper and are planning to honor our Senior citizens who are over 60 years of age. These people have contributed a lot to us and we would like to show our appreciation in this small way. For this dinner, we would appreciate it if the people who are not Senior citizens could bring more food than usual. A special table will be reserved for our honored guests and we hope many of you will come out to help us welcome them. For more information, call the pastor's home, or Shirley Everline at 349-4194 or Ruth Ann Lloyd 349-4814.

Don't forget the Easter Sunrise service this year.

Please remember the sick folks in our area: Milford Hospital, Lester Draper, James R. Smith, Wilson Todd, Tony Gerardi, Edwin Cade, Marjorie Baker, Margaret Johnson, and Betty Breeding. Maurice Finkbinder is a patient in a Wilmington Hospital.

Mr. Gary Bollinger and children, Hilary and Teddy, enjoyed seeing The Harlem Globe Trotters in Salisbury on Monday evening.

Report from Greenwood Cheer Center: The Sunflower Quilt has been put on the frame. Lola Williamson, Nellie Lofland, Gladys Kalinevitch, Edity Draper, Anna Elliott, Emma Everline, Hattie Bragg, Myrtle Calhoun and Elinor Waller have been quilting.

Lottie Mitchell has been turning out cobbler aprons as fast as we sell them. Her usual flare for exceptionally fine workmanship is her trade mark. Keep up the good work, Lottie.

Through the efforts of Betty Jory the Greenwood Trust Company has agreed to have the tickets printed and will display the quilt in the bank.

May 22 is the date for the Spring Craft Sale, Bake and Flea Market.

Get well wishes go to Birdie Forbes and Marjorie Farrell.

Birthdays for the month of March are: 5th, William Horner, 6th George Chaffinch (H.B.), 7th Helen Workman, 8th Roy Hamstead (H.B.), 10th, Dolly Gunther, 17th Margaret Conaway, 20th Nellie Lofland, 21st, Belle Alen, 25th Orath Thawley (Seaford Health Center).

Betty Jory received a shower of cards on her fiftieth birthday.

Lois Dugid and Elizabeth Hudson from the Country Rest Home visited for a day.

This program and services of this center are open to all residents regardless of race, creed, color, sex, physical or mental handicaps, and who are 60 years of age.

Ellendale United Methodist Church

The Lenten season is a time of reflection and self-examination, and many special programs are scheduled for the churches on the Ellendale United Methodist Church.

Members of the churches, and their pastor, Rev. Michael S. Russell, invite you to the first of these programs, a question and answer session with two women missionaries who worked as a team in the Methodist Church in Latin America. The Bible study group which meets each Wednesday night is sponsoring the program, which will begin at 7:30 p.m. on Friday, April 3, in the Ellendale United Methodist Church. There will be no Bible study on April 1. One of the missionaries is a native-born American while the other is from Panama. The program's setting will be casual, and dessert will follow.

A Lenten play entitled, "Who Crucified Him?" Written by Georgiana Summers, will be presented at Chaplains Chapel in Bridgeville on Sunday, April 5, at 7:30 p.m.

"This is a preparation play for Holy Week," Rev. Russell said, "it is really an identity play because we can discover ourselves through these characters. Four of the featured characters are: Caiaphas, Mary, Pilate and Peter. Even though we may not think about it, we still crucify Christ today." The play features a verse choir. The accompanist for the evening will be Steve Johnson of Milford.

There will be a special Palm Sunday service in each of the three churches on April 12. The guest speaker at each will be Mrs. June Bostick, wife of the late Rev. Dr. Joseph Bostick of Greenwood. She will be speaking at St. Johnstown U.M. Church in Greenwood at 9:00 a.m., Chaplains Chapel at 10:00 a.m., and Ellendale at 11:00. She will be speaking about the Diaconal Ministry in the United Methodist Church, both in terms of requirement and her own experiences. Palm branches will also be distributed. Following the service at Ellendale, refreshments will be served.

On Thursday, April 16, at 8:00 p.m., the Maundy Thursday service will be held at St. Johnstown U.M. Church. It will last about 30 minutes.

A special Friday Tenebrae drama will be held April 17 at 7:30 p.m. at the Ellendale church. The drama, "The Land, the Sea, and the Light," is a dramatic retelling of the story of the resurrection.

On Easter Sunday, each church will have Easter services at the usual time.

The Sunday School teachers at Ellendale have tried to give new perspective to the children concerning the Lenten season as well. They have been working with many projects, including the planting of seeds, to make the abstract idea of the resurrection more meaningful.

The Conclave for the Middle Atlantic States was held in Harrisburg, Pa. This Conclave consisted of 6 states, N.Y., Pa., N.J., De., Md., and Wash. D.C. Those participating for the weekend from the Felton area were: Mr. (Dickie) Robinson and wife Lucille, Mr. David Whitt and wife Colleen, Mr. Thomas L. Kates and wife Margaret. Following on Sat. were 11 more members from the I.O.O.F. Lodge #30 and Sarah Rebekah Lodge #16, for the Drill Patch.

Mr. Edward Hoffman of Felton is being treated at the Milford Memorial Hospital for pneumonia, best wishes Ed, from your friends.

On March 7, the Westville 4-H Club went to Reddy Foods contest, attending were: Beth Webb, Lisa Webb, Jody Jensen, Marie Sbriglia and Rose Steele. Lisa Webb and Jody Jensen received first place ribbons and County Plaque. Beth Webb and Rose Steele received 2nd place ribbons, Maria Sbriglia received 3rd place ribbon. This contest was held at the Nellie Stokes School in Dover, Del., and is sponsored by the Westville 4-H Club. The Westville 4-H Club is sponsoring a teenage dance, ages 8-19, held at the Willow Run Ruritan Club building, with David Carter as their disc jockey from Milford, Del., 7-11 p.m., $1.25 cost to be admitted at the door. This dance is well known to have the best chaperone anywhere around. These dances are to be held the last Friday of each month. The 4-H members offer "Thanks" to the Ruritan Club for the use of their building. The President of Westville 4-H Club is Krista Schmitt and the organizer for the club is Mrs. Rose Pritchett, Sandtown, De.

The next Westville 4-H Club meeting to be held at Mrs. Rose Pritchett's, April 8, all 4-H members and families, other interested persons may attend this meeting as they are having a drug seminar. Please try to attend.

The Felton Fraziers Homemakers Club will hold their meeting April 8, 1981, at Mrs. Frances Crozier's of Hartley, Del.

David LeKites Wins a "best in Show"

David LeKites, son of Mr. & Mrs. Walter G. LeKites III, has been awarded the Russell H. Stafford Memorial Award for his pen and ink drawing entitled "The Harrington Yard" at the Eighth Annual Exhibit of Art Work by Kent and Sussex County Young People. The exhibit, put on by the Rehoboth Art League, will continue at the league's Henlopen Acres headquarters through April 12.

LeKites' drawing, entered by his high school art teacher, Brad Spicer won him $25, first place in drawings and Best in Show. A senior at Lake Forest High School, David has long been interested in art. Next year he plans to attend the University of Delaware. He sees his interest in art as a continuing hobby, rather than a vocation.

Two other young people from Lake Forest were also winners in the Rehoboth competition. They are Denise Huttie (a second place in pen and ink drawings and a first place in water colors) and Loretta Latocha (a third in pen and ink drawings).

Women's Week Poll Results

by 7th Grade F.L.A.G. Members

The students at W. T. Chipman Jr. School took a poll March 10th on "The New American Woman". These are some of the more interesting outcomes.

For example, 36 percent of the 7th grade and 26 percent of the 8th grade agreed that boys and girls should be reared exactly alike. Most of the students, about 90 percent, thought the father should play an equal role in raising children.

About 90 percent of the seventh and eighth graders felt that women should be treated the same as men when applying for a job and even more, about 92 percent, felt women should get the same pay as men when doing the same job.

27 percent of the 7th graders and 26 percent of the 8th graders agreed women should receive a salary for doing housework and raising children. However, only about 15 percent of the Chipman students felt that "a woman's place is in the home."

Meetings at Lynch Heights Baptist Church

Rev. James Hubbard, pastor of Bel Forest Baptist Church, of Bel Air, Md. will be the featured speaker at a series of meetings entitled "Things I Need to Know to Meet God". The services are held at Lynch Heights Baptist Church April 5-10 at 7:00 p.m. nightly.

Rev. Hubbard is well qualified to speak on the subject as he has met God personally. Being a Christian for many years he holds daily communications with God. He has endeavored to show others how to come in contact with God and the requirements needed by everyone to come to Him.

Among his many topics will be the following:

- Sunday Night - "Revival Time-Wake the Town and Tell the people."
- Monday Night - "Born Again"
- Tuesday Night - "Spirit Filled or Demon Possessed"
- Wednesday Night - "Home Sweet Home - God's Divine Design in Chaos"

Thursday Night - "Someday a New Day - The King Is Coming"

Friday Night - "Alibi-Lullaby-By and By" (Enemies of Youth and Old Age).

In order to aid Rev. Hubbard in his presentation, there will be a time for others to tell how they met God, a time for those who wish to praise him in song to do so, and a time of intense instruction in the fine art of worship. There will also be special music that is music with a special emphasis on getting to know God.

The public is cordially invited to hear this unusual man of God and participate in a most exciting series of meetings. Lynch Heights Baptist Church is a cooperating Southern Baptist Church, located 3 miles north of Milford, Del. on Rt. 113 South.

A nursery will be provided each night for children birth through three. Come, enjoy the fellowship and worship with us.

Catholic Scout Retreat To Be Held

"You Are the Light of the World" is the theme of the annual retreat for Catholic Scouts, adult volunteers and priests to be held at the Del-Mar-Va Boy Scout Council's Camp Rodney, near North East, Md., April 3-5.

Scouts and leaders from throughout the council--Delaware and the Eastern Shore counties of Maryland and Virginia--are expected to attend the retreat, sponsored by the council's Catholic Committee on Scouting. Edmund L. Niedzielski of Wilmington chairs the committee and the Rev. Roy F. Pollard, pastor of St. Benedict's Church, Ridgeley, Md., is the Diocese of Wilmington's chaplain to it.

The program features three separate presentations--"How do I let the Light of Scouting and Christ Shine in My Family," for adults; and "How Do I Let the Light of Scouting and Christ Shine in My Community," for priests.

There will also be a Scouter development program aimed at showing adults how their example in working with boys and their religious outlook will influence boys. "We are trying to build a relationship with Christ that they can share with the boys," Fr. Pollard said.

The retreat's opening ceremony will feature a tape/slide presentation comparing baptism and entrance into the church with a boy's entrance into Scouting. The closing ceremony will include youth participation, with the boys reporting in groups on how they feel Scouting and Christianity can affect them and the world around them. Three Masses will be celebrated Saturday evening.

During the retreat, a Board of Review will be held for Ad Altare Dei and Pope Pius XII Awards which will be presented in May to the boys who have earned them by Bishop Thomas J. Mardaga, D.D.

The Ad Altare Dei program equips the Boy Scouts to take his place in the world as a maturing Catholic and a maturing American. The requirements concern themselves with action and knowledge.

The Pope Pius XII program recognizes the need for Catholic lay leaders in church and community affairs and exploring's potential in developing such leadership. This program is for registered Explorers and high school age Boy Scouts of Catholic faith.

Musical Tea At Manor House

On Wednesday, April 8, from 1-3 p.m. the Manor House in Seaford will be open for a Musical Tea. Promptly at 1 p.m. the concert will begin. The first performers will be The Lydian Singers from Salisbury under the direction of Virginia Russell. The group includes Joanne Little, accompanist, Connie Fegley, Charlotte Myers, Julie Wilcox, Nadine Jackson, and Joan Malone. Following them will be Ray Smith, vocalist from Ocean View. Roberta Yacko, of Georgetown who plays flute will be next. Concluding the program will be Penny Keene, Soprano of Seaford.

The tea is planned by the Auxiliary with the assistance of various church groups of Dover, Easton and Salisbury Districts of Peninsula Conference. All proceeds are used to supplement a financial assistance fund which is available to a percentage of Manor House RESIDENTS.

Tickets are $2.50 and may be obtained from Mrs. John Conley (629-8240), Mrs. Hayman Lank (629-7273), Mrs. John Manlove (629-4265) or at the desk in the Manor House.

The Zipper Club

The Zipper Club is a group of concerned humans uniquely qualified to help others. Members are people who have undergone open-heart surgery and want to help others through the anxieties of that experience. Since it is an experience involving the patient's family, they are also welcome. There are several Zipper Clubs along the East Coast and one was started in Wilmington in 1977. The club meets at 7:30 p.m. on the first Monday, unless a holiday falls on that date; then it meets the following Monday. The meetings are held at the Heart Association offices at 4-C Trolley Square.

Each meeting begins with introductions so that each person can share his or her experience with the other members and so that the speaker can have an idea of the background of the group. The list of speakers include nurses, physical therapists, dieticians, chaplains, cardiologists, heart surgeons, anesthesiologists, psychiatrists, micro-biologists, pharmacists, Blood Bank representatives and Blue Cross and Blue Shield and other insurance representatives. Films made available by the Heart Association are also presented. All of the programs are designed to inform and encourage the members and help them to better understand the needs of pre-operative patients.

The group's main purpose is to be able to encourage and counsel those people who are facing open-heart surgery. A brochure describing the purposes of the Zipper Club has been printed and made available for doctors' offices. The Zipper Club can be contacted by calling the Heart Association at 654-5260 or Judy Barker at 998-7684 or Mary Johnston at 335-5487 for information about Kent & Sussex County. The group has no dues and no requirements except a concern for others and willingness to share an experience in a positive way.

America's first known women colonists were Mistress Forrest and her maid Anne Burras, who arrived in Virginia in 1608.

Members of St. Bernadette Church recently attended an Annual Catholic Appeal Planning meeting in the Diocese of Wilmington. Those in attendance included--(l to r) Mr. Donald Cielewicz, Chairman, and President of Farmers Bank of the State of Delaware, Bishop Thomas J. Mardaga, Mr. Leon Kukulka, Mr. Tony Perrone Jr., Fr. John Cremen, Mr. Edward Brennan, Co-Chairman, and President of Bell Investment Co., Elkton, Maryland. Funds collected each year are used for Social, Educational, Family and Migrant Programs. The drive will be conducted in April and May.

Northeast Farm Market Report

NEW YORK, N.Y.—Northeast farm market prices varied during the week ending March 27, according to the Agricultural Marketing Service of the U.S. Department of Agriculture. Eggs prices trended higher, while poultry prices were down 2 cents from a week ago. Fruit and vegetable prices were generally unchanged, while livestock prices were generally mixed this past week. Milk production continued along the normal seasonal trend of increasing slowly.

FLUID DAIRY PRODUCTS
Eastern Milk production continued along the normal seasonal trend of increasing slowly. Butterfat tests on incoming milk were steady to lower; this is relatively normal when milk production levels increase.

Fluid milk supplies were somewhat irregular, but overall they were excessive. Spot sales of class 1 milk were steady to slightly improved. Reports indicated that class 1 milk orders for next week were much better, particularly from buyers who have not yet made contacts.

The call for condensed skim was lower to slightly improved, generally steady. Cottage cheese orders were seasonally good to excellent.

The fluid cream market was slow to fairly good, generally fair. Spot buying interest was steady to improved with prices unchanged.

Ice cream production was steady to increasing as warmer weather has helped stimulate sales on some quarters. Also, a few more plants were stepping up production of novelties, as well as ice cream for the warmer weather trade.

Sour cream and cream cheese orders were slow, rarely fair. Churning activity was steady to lower, excess cream, although lighter, was readily available.

EGGS
New York egg prices trended higher while demand was light. Offerings were ample for current needs and most dealers increased stocks.
Thursday's prices to retailers and sales to volume buyers of consumer Grade A white egg in cartons, delivered store door to New York City were: 73 to 75 cents on large and 64 to 66 cents on medium.

POULTRY
New York broiler-fryer trucklot trading was slow to develop and initial negotiations were at a 44 cents on plant grade, down 2 cents from a week ago. Seller offerings were fully adequate to ample. Retail and distributive movement was light and disappointing, especially where 49 to 59 cent features were in progress.

Current broiler-fryer negotiated prices for immediate deliver, including multiple drop shipments to New York City were: 46 to 51 cents on U.S. Grade

A and 47 to 49 cents on Plant Grade.
Delmarva broiler-fryer trading at week's end was light and unaggressive with most traders noting difficulty in clearing available stocks. Live supplies were fully adequate to ample at desirable to fairly heavy weights.

Current less than trucklot asking prices were 47 to 48 cents on Plant Grade and 48 to 49 1/2 cents on U.S. Grade A.

New York chicken parts prices trended sharply lower. Buying interest was dull as movement continued to be light and unaggressive. Offerings and supplies were fully adequate to ample and slow to clear.

Prices paid per pound by first receivers of ice packed, delivered in pool trucklots and trucklot quantities were as follows: 88 to $1.04 on breasts, mostly 93 to 94 cents; 39 to 49 cents on legs, mostly 41 to 42 cents.

Turkey demand was only fair for the frozen hens and consumer-sized toms. Buying interest for fresh-packed hens is moderate for April shipments. Seller offerings are fully adequate on both the fresh and frozen 10 to 22 pound weights.

Trading activity on carlot and trucklot young turkeys, U.S. Grade A, frozen F.O.B. New York were as follows: 64 cents on 8 to 16 pound hens and 62 cents on 14 to 22 pound toms.

LIVESTOCK & MEAT PRODUCTS
Northeastern livestock and meat prices were generally mixed this past week. Weekly trends on trading at 16 New York auctions and at Lancaster, Vintage and New Holland, PA auctions were as follows: slaughter steers steady to $1.25 lower; utility and commercial cows 50 cents lower; choice veal calves generally steady; and good and choice vealers, $4 to $5 higher; slaughter barrows and gilts at Pennsylvania sold mostly 75 cents higher. At Omaha, slaughter steers trended 50 cents to $1 higher and barrows and gilts $1.25 higher.

Choice 2 to 4 slaughter steers, 975 to 1350 pounds, at Northeastern auctions, ranged from $57 to $62.50 per hundredweight. At Omaha, steers brought $60.50 to $61.50.

Utility and commercial 1 to 3 cows in the Northeast sold from $40.50 to $46.50 with a few sales to $49.50. Choice 150 to 320 pound veal calves brought at $80 to $112. Good and choice 90 to 110 pound vealers sold from $50 to $66. U.S. Number 1 and 2 barrows and gilts, 200 to 240 pounds, ranged from $42.25 to $43 in Pennsylvania, with a few $43 to $43.50 to $40 and 40.50 at Omaha.

East Coast dressed carlot trading on boneless cow beef was steady to $1 lower, while prime special fed carcass veal, hide on, was mostly $2 to $3 higher. Good and choice veal, hide on, was $4 to $8 higher. Lamb, weighing 55 pounds and down, was steady to firm. Delivered prices per hundredweight on boneless cow beef, 90 percent chemical lean, sold from $121 to $123, while 85 percent chemical lean cleared at $112 to $114. Prime special fed veal, hide on, weighing 180 to 225 pounds, sold from $165 to $175, bulk at $167 to $172. Good and choice veal, hide on, 44 pounds and down, brought $74 to $82, while 45 pounds and up, moved at $78 to $88. Lamb, 55 pounds and down, brought $128 to $130; bulk moved at $128.

FRUITS AND VEGETABLES
Northeastern area fruit and vegetable trading for apples and cabbage was fairly active, while potatoes and onions were fairly slow. Prices for potatoes, cabbage and apples were generally unchanged. Onion prices were lower.

Hudson Valley, N.Y. apples demand was fairly good with a good market. Tray-pack Delicious was slightly lower others about steady. Cartons of 12-3 pound bags of U.S. Fancy or better, 2 1/4 inch minimum and up, McIntosh in controlled-atmosphere (CA) storage, brought $6.25 to $7. Red Delicious (CA) went at $6.25 to $7.50 and Cortland $6 to $6.50; carton cell-pack McIntosh combined with U.S. extra fancy or fancy or better (CA) in 100's went at $8.50 to $9.50 and occasionally higher; 120's sold at $8.25 to $9. Cortland, U.S. fancy in 80's went at $8.25; 100's sold at $7.75 to $8; 120's at $7. Red Delicious, carton, tray-pack, U.S. fancy or better in 80 to 113's moved $8 to $9, mostly $8 to $8.50; 125's cleared $7 to $7.50 and Romes in 80 to 100's $8.50 to $9.

Lake Champlain-Mohawk Valley, N. York apples demand was fairly good and the market about steady. Cartons of 12-3 pound bags of U.S. fancy or better, 2 1/4 inch minimum and up, McIntosh (CA) sold at $6.50 to $7; Cortland $5.75 to $6. Carton cell-pack of U.S. extra fancy and fancy or better, combined in 80 to 100's moved at $9.50 to $9.75 and occasionally higher; 120's brought at $9; 140's $8 to $8.50. Cortland, U.S. fancy in 100 to 120's sold at $7.75 to $8.

Western and central, N.Y. apples demand was fairly good and the market about steady. Cartons of 12-3 pound film bags of U.S. fancy, 2 1/4 inch minimum, (CA) storage, unless otherwise stated, McIntosh sold at $6.75 to $7.25. Red Delicious brought $7 to $7.50, Idared $7.50, and Romes sold at $7. Carton cell-pack McIntosh, combined, U.S. extra fancy or fancy in 100 to 120's went at $9.50 to $10. Cartons tray-pack, combined, U.S. Extra fancy or fancy, Red Delicious, Idareds in 88 to 113's brought $9.50 to $10, Romes $9. Red Delicious, regular storage, combined, U.S. extra fancy or fancy, in 88 to 113's sold at $9; 125's at $8.50; Idareds in 88 to 113's sold at $7.50 to $8.

The cabbage demand for Danish type was moderate and the market about steady. Danish type in 50 pound bags, 14 to 16's sold at $3.75 to $4; 8 to 10's went at $4.50 to $5. Red in 50 pound bags, 10 to 12's brought $4.50 to $5, 16's brought $6.

Niatross Prediction Came True

COLUMBUS, Ohio—Prior to the 1980 racing season, the U.S. Trotting Assn's Experimental Championship Speed Ratings predicted Niatross would end the year as the fastest sophomore pacer with a race mile timed in a world record 1:52. The super colt did not disappoint the experts. Not only did he end the year as the fastest sophomore of all-time, but also the fastest harness racehorse of all-time. His time—1:52 1/5.

If the Experimental Ratings can match that accuracy this year, Norman Woolworth's Clearview Stables will own the fastest sophomore pacer and trotter of 1981. French Chef, a world champion and "Two-Year-Old Pacing Colt of the Year" in 1980, is expected to dominate his peers with the perceived ability to pace a race mile equal to Niatross' record.

Smokin Yankee, a world champion and "Two-Year-Old Trotting Colt of the Year" in 1980, is a more narrow choice to lead his division, with a top mile of 1:55 4/5 a real possibility. These predictions are part of the annual projections for sophomore pacers and trotters compiled by Harness Tracks of America Executive Vice President Stanley Bergstein for the USTA. It marks the first time in the 17-year history of the ratings that the top-ranked trotter and pacer were owned by a single person.

The entire Experimental Championship Speed Ratings list-top 25-rated horses at each gait—are carried in the April issue of Hoof Beats, the monthly magazine published by the USTA.

French Chef, who actually outperformed Niatross' 2-year-old speed records last year, paced three straight world records and posted a record 13 two-minute miles as a freshman. He won a dozen stakes victories at two, including the $200,000 Kentucky Pacing Derby. He was the only horse to earn a Horse of the Year vote in 1980 against Niatross.

Smokin Yankee hit the high point of his juvenile year when he trotted to a world record for his age and gait over a five-eighths mile racetrack on Aug. 7, then lowered that mark by one-fifth of a second only 20 days later. He was the richest freshman trotter of 1980.

The top 10 at each gait, as predicted by the Experimental Ratings, are:

- PACERS
1. French Chef 1:52 1/5
 2. Slapstick 1:53
 3. Center Square 1:53 1/5
 4. Armbr Wolf 1:53 2/5
 5. Arties Dream 1:53 4/5
 6. Eastern Skipper 1:54
 7. Set The Style 1:54 1/5
 8. No No Nero 1:54 2/5
 9. Land Grant 1:54 3/5
 10. Areba Areba (f) 1:54 4/5

- TROTTERS
1. Smokin Yankee 1:55 4/5
 2. Delmegan (f) 1:56
 3. Homesick 1:56 2/5
 4. Worthy Bowl 1:56 2/5
 5. Defiant Yankee 1:56 3/5
 6. Panty Raid (f) 1:56 4/5
 7. Snack Bar 1:57
 8. Filet of Sole (f) 1:57 1/5

Final Series At Rosecroft

OXON HILL, MD.—Call it an investment in the future.

The Representative Pace series at Rosecroft Raceway, in Oxon Hill, Maryland, reaches its exciting peak with the series Final this Saturday night, April 4.

The top eight money winners of this five-leg series for three- and four-year-olds with less than $7,500 lifetime earnings will battle for a $7,500 winner's share of the purse.

Just what is this Representative Pace series? Who are the horses, and where are they headed (besides the finish line)?

Saturday night's Final caps a series that, unknown to many, plays a vital role in Rosecroft's racing future. The Representative is Rosecroft's "Seasoning Circuit."
Success at the Representative level is a barometer of a young horse's potential for higher levels of competition in Rosecroft's "Senior Circuits"—the Lady Legislator and Senatorial Pace series.

A promising young horse is carefully trained and broken during the first two years of its life. Often the horse will enter many of the races Rosecroft offers just for two-year-olds.

But by its third year, a horse that still shows promise but needs further seasoning can compete in the Representative series. Here, our rising star is seasoned in competition with other three- and four-year-olds who, likewise are on the way up.

If a horse performs well enough in Representative pacing, it may be ready to challenge the more experience competition in the "Senior Circuits"—and the stardom and larger purses that come with it.

For the winner of this Saturday night's Final, the reward is an instant diploma. The Representative series is for horses with less than $7,500 lifetime earnings at the season's beginning. Saturday's victor will boost its earnings well over that figure—and into Rosecroft's "Major Leagues."

The 1981 season will continue nightly, except Sundays, through June 6, rain or clear. Post time is 8:00 p.m.

Admission to the Clubhouse is $4.00. Grandstand admission is $2.00. Parking is $1.00. Valet parking available.

Jim Wilhelm to Assume Executive Position

LAUREL, MD.—Jim Wilhelm, assistant general manager and director of special events for Rosecroft Raceway since 1974, recently resigned to assume the position as executive assistant to Frank De Francis, President of Freestate Raceway, in Laurel, Maryland.

Mr. Wilhelm is married to the former Joan Shaw, daughter of Mr. & Mrs. W. W. Shaw, Sr. of Harrington. Wilhelm, 48, a resident of Camp Springs, Maryland, coordinated most of the "behind the scenes" activities for Rosecroft, scheduling special events and private parties, both during the racing season as well as the off-season.

"I coordinated a number of very exciting off-season events," said Wilhelm, a native of Mooresville, North Carolina. "We ran Demolition Derby's Dog Shows, Cat Fancier Shows, and we even instituted a dinner theater in 1976 and 1977. In addition, we catered events such as Christmas parties for the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers (IBEW) and a large local hospital, as well as a Las Vegas Night and a dinner dance for the Prince George's County Fraternal Order of Police, which drew 1,400 people." "But now, it's time to turn my attention to other areas at Freestate."

Wilhelm, who said he made the move to Freestate in the interests of pursuing "a better opportunity," will handle many of the managerial functions at Freestate in regard to the overall operation of the racetrack. Initially, Wilhelm will help De Francis prepare for Freestate's 95-night spring/summer meet, which opens Monday, June 8 and runs through Saturday, September 19.

Prior to his entry in the racing business, Wilhelm spent 21 years as a U.S. Air Force aviator, flying 117 combat missions, his most recent tour of duty logged in DaNang, Vietnam, in 1973. Upon his retirement with a rank of Lieutenant Colonel, Wilhelm acquired his certified judges' license from the United States Trotting Association (USTA) Official School in Columbus, Ohio. He later turned down an offer to become an associate judge on the Illinois State Fair Racing Circuit, opting instead for a managerial position in the Washington area.

Freestate Raceway—located minutes away from Route 95 midway between Baltimore and Washington—features 10 races under the lights on its 5/8-mile oval track.

Post time is 8 p.m., rain or clear.

LEGAL NOTICE

AN ORDINANCE CREATING THE OFFICE AND DUTIES OF A POLICE COMMISSIONER

The Police Commissioner shall be a member of the Council appointed by the Mayor with approval of Council. If the Mayor fails to appoint a Police Commissioner that meets the approval of Council, The Council may appoint one. The Police Commissioner shall be appointed to a term of one year. Removal of the Police Commissioner, during his term, shall be by a vote of not less than four (4) members of the Council, voting in favor of his removal, excluding any Councilman under consideration, after written notice shall have been given the Police Commissioner stating the reasons for his/her removal, the time, place and date of the removal hearing.

The Council shall establish police policy and the Police Commissioner is hereby vested with the authority to see that this policy is adhered to. The members of the Police Force shall be subject to his direction and orders, as passed down thru the Police Chief, and may be removed by the chief at any time.

The Council and its members shall deal with all matters regarding the Police Force thru the Police Commissioner and neither the Council nor any member thereof shall interfere or give orders to any member of the Police Force.

The City Council shall designate the number and salaries of the individual policemen which shall comprise the Police Force, and the Police Commissioner, upon recommendation of the Police Chief, shall choose and appoint the policemen. All such appointments shall be without definite terms.

The Chief of Police shall have the authority to supervise and direct the operations of the Police Department. Pursuant to that authority, he/she shall promulgate Police Force Rules and Regulations which shall be approved by the Police Commissioner and presented to the Council for adoption.

The Police Chief shall have the authority to discipline, including suspension and/or dismissal from the force of any policeman for cause.

Upon disciplinary action, suspension and/or dismissal from the Police Force pursuant to the above paragraph, the policeman involved shall have the right to appeal to the Police Commissioner who, upon giving notice and an opportunity to be heard to those persons concerned, shall confirm the action taken by the Chief or reinstate the Policeman.

In the event that a member of the Police Force is not satisfied with the decision made by the Police Commissioner, they may file an appeal to the City Council. Such an appeal shall be filed with the Secretary of Council, in writing, within five (5) working days from the date of the Police Commissioner's decision. The City Council shall have a hearing, on the appeal, within fifteen (15) calendar days of the date that the written appeal was filed with the Secretary of Council. During and pending said appeal, the Police Commissioner shall have the power to suspend the member of the Police Force making the appeal.

This Ordinance shall supersede any previous Ordinance creating the office of Police Commissioner.

Berry Funeral Homes

Dear friends,
 Studies show that if a newborn babe is immediately held closely to the bosom of the mother, skin to skin, that the bond of love is enhanced between mother and child.
 Breast feeding is also being encouraged, as mother's milk is most easily digested and contains immunizing factors to ward off illness in the child.
 Gradually we learn that many old ways are best.
 Respectfully
William C. Berry, Jr.

CARD OF THANKS

CARD OF THANKS
 I want to thank my friends and relatives, the Rev. Jackson Robinson, Rev. Wm. Miller for their prayers and cards, while I was sick in Florida. 1/t 4/1

CARD OF THANKS

CARD OF THANKS
 We would like to express our deep gratitude and love to all our dear friends, neighbors, relatives & members of the Calvary Wesleyan Church of Harrington, who sent so many beautiful flowers, cards, and food to us during the loss of our beloved Pam and for their kind concern. Special thanks to all nurses in I.C.U., Dr. Sherman, and Rev. Miller for his visits and prayers for Pam. We love you all.
