Felton Sewer Construction to Begin

With the signing of construction contracts with the low bidder, Suburban Grading, of Norfolk, Virginia, today, the construction of sewer lines to hook the Felton area into the Kent County sewage disposal system should begin very soon. Bids for the construction were opened in December, but the contract could not be awarded until the credentials of the low bidder were thoroughly investigated. Felton Mayor William Myers told the Town Council Monday night that Suburban Grading had "checked out 100%. Suburban's bid was $2,119,721.

All in all, cost of the project including engineering fees and other factors comes to approximately $3,090,000. Of this, 75% is paid by the federal government, 10% by the state, and 15% by the residents of the newly created sanitary sewer district.

Myers said the annual cost of the service to each single-family residence would be $153. For undeveloped land within the confines of the district, the fee would be $28 per acre.

This Sunday, at 2 p.m. the Council plans to open up the sewer plans so that residents who will be hooking into the new lines can see where they are and can better judge the best place to make their own connection. The public viewing of the plans will take place in the Felton Fire Hall.

A little later, Felton will probably be called upon to supply local personnel who can assist with driving stakes in the proper places for the various residential hook-ups.

In other business Monday night, the Felton Town Council:

...heard a citizen's complaint about dogs running loose and scattering trash. The citizen warned that she might take matters into her own hands if the situation cannot be corrected. Further attempts will be made to contact the owners of the dogs responsible to see if the situation can be resolved. But Mayor Myers said the dog problem had decreased with only a few canines still at large and responsible for the annoyance. Felton Police Chief Mike Olliver said the state does have one or two specific laws which could be enforced to help cover the situation.

...heard the town's new police car, a 1981 Plymouth Grand Fury, has arrived, and is on the streets. The car cost a little over $7,300. Meanwhile, Police Chief Mike Olliver asked the Council to keep the old car as a back-up vehicle.

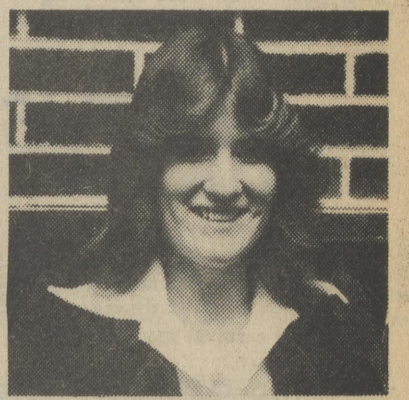

Although a motion was passed to discuss the matter Monday night, Felton Mayor Myers said he wanted to go on record as not being ready to decide the issue at that time. Despite the favorable motion, the discussion was dropped and the meeting adjourned.

Chosen to reign in their royal attire, Miss Harrington Jill Oakley and Little Miss Harrington Heather Beauchamp prepare to reign over festive community occasions for 1981.

LF Hosts All State Bands

The 1981 Delaware All State Band festival will be held April 9, 10, and 11, 1981. The festival includes the Junior High All State Band (grades 7-9) which will practice at Smyrna and the Senior High All State Band (grades 10-12) which will practice at Lake Forest High School. Some of the Senior High Band members, who live a distance from Lake Forest, will be housed by local families. (More housing is needed, please call Mr. Burkhard 284-9291).

The Delaware Junior and Senior All State Bands will be rehearsed and conducted respectively by Dr. D. Jay Hildebrandt and Robert Streckfuss from the University of Delaware. After long hours of practice the two All State Bands will present, on the final day, a combined program of outstanding band music.

Students were selected for membership in these honor bands on the basis of auditions held earlier this winter. From Lake Forest three students were selected for this year's festival: Oye Skaggs-Clarinet, Pam Kreer-Flute and Rebecca Brown-Trombone.

The public concert will be presented Saturday, April 11, 1981 at 7:00 p.m. in the Lake Forest High School Auditorium.

Basics Plus Program Approved at Woodbridge

After much discussion on the subject which developed a committee comprised of taxpayers who were equally divided...3 for 3 against the plan, the Woodbridge School Board voted on Monday night to approve the "...educational plan" designed to improve reading, writing and arithmetic among the old "three R's" as well as patriotism and discipline all of which requires heavy involvement from the parents. Woodbridge becomes the first downstate school to implement the program. The other existing program goes on in the Appoquinimink School District in New Castle County.

The vote on Monday night was 3-2 in favor of the plan. Board President William Tull, an example to all school board members anywhere, ...both fair and just... cast the deciding vote. Tull who has been ailing was absent for some of the meetings in the past. The vote failed in February ending in a 2-2 tie. Mr. Tull was absent from that meeting due to illness. He left early during the March meeting again due to ill health. He was present on Monday night to give Woodbridge a "...much needed plus".

A representative from each side was allowed time to deliver remarks. The Board went into executive session for 45 minutes, emerging with the positive vote. Mrs. Janet Durig spoke against the plan's passage and Mrs. Lana Williams delivered for the positive.

Mrs. Nancy Cullen is the front runner to become the "basics-plus new principal." She is currently a language arts supervisor in the district, but is expected to be issued a certificate as a high school principal soon. Mrs. Cullen has served as chairman of the Parents Advisory Committee for two years. This was a program that Superintendent Griffin employed at Lake Forest when he served as High School Principal there.

The program as it pertains to enrollment is a volunteer one. So far 275 students have enrolled. A capacity figure of 281 was originally the number set for the close-out, but it appears more may be allowed to enter according to District Superintendent William Griffin.

To many the argument against the plan was felt that it would create a private school within the district, a racial imbalance, and basically a pre-

Merchants Plan Easter Sales

Harrington - The Harrington Chamber of Commerce again gets set for a grand town wide sale, this time featuring an Easter celebration sale. The purpose of these sales promotions is to establish more good will between the Harrington merchants and surrounding areas served. The Easter celebration called "Easter Salebration" will feature a coloring contest. The drawings are found in this week's copies of "The Harrington Journal". The coloring contest is open to school children grades one through sixth grades. A child may enter as many drawings as they desire, but they can only win one time. Each child is requested to bring their drawing to the merchant which is sponsoring the picture. Children submitting entries must be accompanied by an adult. The merchant will display the drawing in their store. The prizes will be a Huffy 20 inch bike for 1st prize, a $25 savings bond for 2nd and a personalized windbreaker jacket for 3rd. The contest will begin April 8th and run through the 18th of April. Entries must be in by the 17th of April. Winners will be announced in the issue of "The Harrington Journal" on April 22nd.

Crowned in last week's pageant were Little Miss Felton Jodi Melvin and Miss Felton Cheryl Cerklefski.

Houston Council Sets Trash Fee

Acting upon the wishes of town residents as expressed in a public opinion referendum held in conjunction with the election on March 28, the Houston Council voted last week to establish a yearly trash collection fee of $60 per household. This will be the first time Houston has charged a trash collection fee. But increased costs of dumping plus a decrease in federal revenue sharing funds expected have made it impossible for the town to continue the service without charging.

Although details have not as yet been worked out, Houston Mayor Connie Morgan said it was anticipated that residents might have the choice of paying the trash fee annually, semi-annually, or quarterly.

In other business at last Thursday's regular meeting, the Houston Town Council appointed Richard Rollison to serve as Vice Mayor and Barbara Silbereisen to be Treasurer. Sandra Anderson and Betty Pleasanton, respectively, were reappointed as Secretary and Tax Collector.

Fredericans to Pay Higher Fees

Residents of Frederica can count on paying higher trash fees this year. To cope with the increased cost of dumping at the Sandtown landfill where rates are now based on the ton, rather than the load, the Frederica Town Council recently raised the annual trash collection fee from $24.50 to $48.00 per household per year.

In another change, the bills for the trash collection fee will go out quarterly with the water bills instead of annually with the tax statements. Special Trash Collection Set - The Frederica Council has also announced that there will be a dumpster placed in town over the Memorial Day weekend for any residents who may wish to dispose of debris from spring cleanup around their yards or other large items.

Delaware Diamonds By Joyce Jefferson

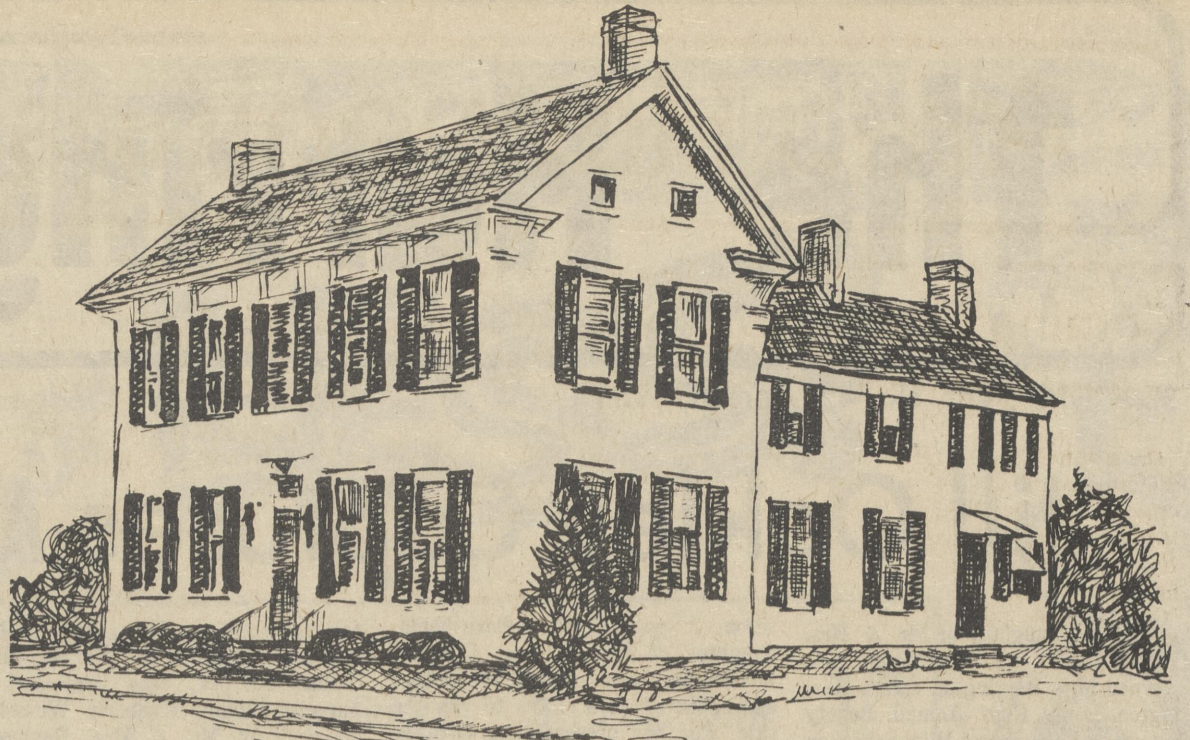

The property sold by Henry Porter to Sarah Maxwell was in the possession of Major Nathaniel Young when he sold to William Roe on 3 June 1837 two separate adjoining parcels of land totaling 608 acres more or less and described as bring lands formerly owned by Mrs. Sarah Maxwell widow of Bedwell Maxwell and conveyed or released by her to her son Doctor John Maxwell who died intestate leaving an infant and a widow who is now Elizabeth C. Young who intermarried with Nathaniel Young, the infant having died during her widowhood. Nathaniel Young and Elizabeth his wife sold to James C. Anderson Farmer residing in Murderkill Hundred, while they were still living in New Castle County, a parcel of ground with a one story frame house bounded by the lands of James C. Anderson and Avery Needles situated on the north west side of the main road leading from Berry Town to Canterbury containing 5 acres more or less which had also been the property of her former mother-in-law, Sarah Maxwell. On 20 December 1813 Sarah Maxwell purchased from her brother Mark Greer a parcel of land in Murderkill Hundred that was part of a larger tract of land held by him and adjoining lands of Levi Beuchamp and other lands of Sarah Maxwell. Mark Greer, the son of John Greer who died in 1796 and willed to him the lands on the west boundary of Felton called Bear Garden was a physician. He married Ann Pettigrew, the daughter of John Pettigrew who came to Milford from Scotland and was a soldier of the Revolution. Mark Greer died intestate leaving to survive him his widow and three children John Greer, George Greer and a daughter Sarah Maxwell Greer. George Greer died before his father's estate was settled and he left one child a daughter Virginia Caroline Greer.

In this column, we want to give you an opportunity to display your gems of local history, The Delaware Diamonds. Reader comments, additions and corrections for material used will be helpful. Queries concerning sources for historical and genealogical research will be published and answered as you request.

The house that Mary Fountain built is sketched this week by Gretchen Banks. Mrs. Fountain purchased the lot in 1856 from Jehu Clifton. The house was built after that date. The town was called Frederica Station then. The house is currently owned by Don and Barbara Jacobs. Don is a member of Felton Town Council. It is believed that the rear of the house was the original part of the home, and the front part of the house was added on. The house features wide plank flooring, Georgian architecture and center hall.

Days of Our Years

Thirty Years Ago April 1, 1951

Constance Knotts was crowned queen and Billy Wix, king, at the Harrington High School carnival sponsored by the Student Council.

The Harrington Lions Club will give the fourth annual Possum Paw Minstrel tonight and tomorrow evening in the auditorium of the Harrington High School for the benefit of the Community Welfare Fund. Tickets, both for reserve seats and general admission, are on sale at Cupid Ice Cream Store. End men will be the following: Fred Greenly, Jr., Bill Humes, John C. McKelney, Edward Roughley, Ralph Draper, and Eugene Anderson. A quartet will sing. Members are Randall Knox, William Smith, C. H. Burgess and Louis Callaway. The last-named, now living in Milford, will be remembered as a member of the old Rabbit Foot Minstrel here.

The Frederica Baseball Club is now a member of the Mar-Del League. Charles Lindale is president of the local group.

The Frederica Fire Company held a joint relay with the Magnolia Fire Company at Lynch's Mill Sunday. Both companies pumped water from the pond and relayed it up the hill.

(From "Sulky Slants" by Mrs. Dave "Pat" Smith):

For their (the family of Louise Myers) weekend pleasure, they spend most every Sunday down to Myers Race Track at Bridgeville watching the automobile races.

I, for one, have found where to go fishing, and do I love to do that. So all my spare time I will be near the old beach somewhere. Mr. Tatman of the Harrington Hardware Store is fixing our reels for us in his spare time.

Emil Adams acquired the little pony that was Jackie Cotter's for his little girl Emiline. Silver Niki is one for any child to be proud of.

Jimmy Workman came through with flying colors after that spill on the back track.

Fire Chief Doug Mills stated that new 10 hp, three-phase siren recently purchased by the company will be tested this Saturday morning at 9 a.m. President Dale Dean appointed Walter Messick as General Chairman of the annually company sponsored Stock Car Races which again will be held at the Kent & Sussex Fairgrounds on August 5.

The opening of "The Hearth", Stone's Hotel new dining room was well-attended Wednesday. The new attraction is open for luncheon and dinner. The hotel is managed by William Masten, former manager of the Bottle and Cork at Dewey Beach.

Knowledge of the forthcoming Harrington School District Referendum regarding the construction of an adequate facility for the high school has opened up considerable discussion as to the status of the 1912 building. School records show that the building was condemned in 1948, but was altered at that time sufficiently to allow its continued use. In 1959, an inspection by Chief Mills of the Harrington Fire Company and William R. Favinger State Fire Marshal uncovered many conditions of a hazardous nature and led to many recommendations for their control.

Coach Jim Hawpe's Harrington High Track team easily defeated John M. Clayton Wednesday afternoon, although Bob "Buddy" Bonniwell, a four-year veteran, was unable to be present. Bill Porter was the winner in the javelin and second in the shot put, while Bob Gillette had the winning discus throw and was second in the javelin. Roger Wix and Dick Collins were first and second in the pole vault. A quarter of Bob Winkler, Tim Strohl, Paul Rash and Leonard Masten won the 440 relay with Strohl running the key leg.

Harrington High School is the state winner of the Harry Nock NOMA Spelling Award which will be presented to this school at the annual National Office Management Association dinner. Those students who scored 100% in the tests given were Audrey Lord, Susie Collins, Mary Ann Messick, Pat Hackett, and Kathy Holloway. Those making 99% were Phyllis Vincent, Delores Brown and Brenda Banning.

Despite unfavorable weather conditions, a large turnout was made to the Easter egg hunt held last Saturday at the Harrington School grounds. Winners included Dennis Beene, Johnnie Curtis, Michael Morgan, Linda Mullins and Jane Ellingsworth. (Sponsoring) Jaycees participating in the event included Gene Jarrell, Dr. Lobo, Bob Quillen, Walt Lang and Ed Webster.

Ten Years Ago April 1, 1971

Mrs. Delores Abbott plans to be in the sulky when Harrington Raceway lights up its spring harness meeting on April 7. The tall, good-looking, 29-year-old Cambridge born daughter of a barber and beautician and wife of a well-known Delmarva teamster, Frank Abbott, this month became the only American gal ever to be officially licensed by the Delmarva Harness Racing Commission to drive in pari-mutuel standard-bred events. "I didn't get my license to be the driver in the family," Delores said. "Frank's a fine driver. If I can be half as good as Randy (hobby's nickname), I'll be O.K. I'll get by."

The Harrington Recreation Association, in conjunction with the W. T. Chipman Junior School, will open the Chipman Library to the public on Monday nights from 7:00 to 9:30.

Penn Central freight train traffic on the Delmarva Peninsula was brought to a halt Friday by an unlikely nemesis, low tide. What turned out to become a "terrific mess" all started when the freighter "Eugenia", from Hopewell, Va., attempted to come up Broad Creek to Laurel's Valiant Fertilizer Company. The "Eugenia", loaded to the hilt with 200 tons of sulphate, was scheduled to go through Penn Central's railroad bridge at 8 a.m. When the boat arrived at the trestle over the creek, no one was on hand from the railroad to open it. At 9:30 a.m., when an operator for the bridge arrived, the tide had begun going out. An attempt to pilot the boat through the bridge landed it on a sandbar, directly under the open track. The "Eugenia" sat under the track for almost five hours, waiting for the tide to come in and lift her from the sand. At least six freight trains between Little Creek, Virginia and Harrington had to sit out the predicament.

Mr. & Mrs. Paul W. Vineyard of Harrington celebrated their golden wedding anniversary, March 29, at a surprise party at the New Century Club given by their son, Dr. Paul Vineyard, Jr.

(In bowling) People's Restaurant pushed Quillen's Market into the cellar by taking three games on the strength of Cloyd Bushey's fine 534 series effort and Shanley Smith's and Michael Parsons' far above average efforts. Donald Pase and Ralph Kemp bowled good efforts, enabling the market boys to salvage one game.

Classes Visit During National Library Week

Several kindergarten classes are scheduled to visit the Harrington Public Library this week during National Library Week, April 5-11. On Tuesday and Thursday, three separate kindergarten groups will make the trip to the local library.

Residents of the Harrington/Lake Forest area are especially invited during the week, get acquainted with its services, and chat with Librarian Cris Hayward.

Sandtown Firm Sued

The Department of Natural Resources and Environmental Control has filed suit in Kent County Superior Court against John Trifillis, owner of the Cherokee Truck Stop, for eight counts of open burning without a permit and one count of violating a cease and desist order. The civil penalties could range from $1,000 to $10,000 for each charge.

The charges stem from a fire at the Sandtown tire dump which burned from February 27 to March 6, involving an estimated 25,000 tires and sending up black smoke that violated the state's air pollution regulations.

Trifillis told Department investigators that he was burning weeds in a field next to the abandoned truck stop when the fire got out of control and spread to the tires. The fire was contained, but continued burning and smoldering. The Department issued a cease and desist order requiring that the fire be put out by March 5. On March 6 Trifillis had the tires buried.

Those in favor were also arguing that the school district was losing in enrollment. With this program, the likelihood of an increased enrollment was possible.

Howard Wagner of the Peoples Bank of Harrington when told of the affair and the type of cake said "...Nope...it was the wrong kind of cake. For Albert it should have been an angel's food cake instead".

 Wednesday was card day and a pleasant one. Kathryn Smith was hostess. Her home was happily decorated for Easter. Refreshments were delicious. Applesauce crisp and the best perked coffee. Then Kathryn April Fooled us all at once. Scores were not earth shattering. Terrible mostly! Present Kathryn, Mary E. Nelson, Pat

Anne's Kitchen

It wouldn't be Easter in our family without our traditional "Pani di Pasqua all 'Uovo", Easter Bread with Eggs. It is always made on Holy Saturday and served for Easter Sunday Breakfast. The bread is sliced and spread with butter and eaten with the eggs. The family always remarks that it is too beautiful to cut, but of course, we always go ahead and devour every crumb. My favorite shapes are a wreath and a basket. I always make an extra large quantity of the dough and shape it into dolls, something like gingerbread boys, and place a colored egg in its belly. I cross the egg with two strips of dough to secure the egg in place. This results in a very questionable looking doll, but what the heck, eggs, fertility, all that sort of thing is what it's all about. Actually, the peasants who originated this tradition were pretty earthy people. With the same token they never heard of jelly beans, marshmallow eggs or any of the treats our modern day children associate with Easter celebrations. I always slip one of these dolls into my children's Easter baskets as well as making extras for nieces, nephews and the children of friends and neighbors.
 One year my sister, Bobbie hid her Easter Doll in Mom's China closet planning to produce envy in the rest of us when we would learn she had hers to enjoy long after ours were eaten. About two weeks after Easter she retrieved her prize and it was hard as a rock. Needless to say the joke was on her and she had to wait a whole year for another one.
 Following is the sweet dough recipe. If you want a larger wreath, or two, or extra to make dolls you can double or triple the recipe. You can go wild with imagination in regard to the shapes and create some which may relate to your own family. You may end up starting a tradition of your own, and some day your grandchildren may say, "Remember that Easter Bread Grandma used to make?"

SWEET DOUGH
 1 package dry yeast
 1/4 cup warm water (110-115 degrees)
 1/4 cup sugar
 3 teaspoons salt
 3/4 cup scalded milk
 1 whole egg
 2 1/2 - 3 cups all purpose flour

1. Soften yeast in warm water in warm mixing bowl.
2. Combine sugar, butter, salt, and milk and cool to lukewarm.
3. Stir in egg and yeast mixture.
4. Gradually add flour to form a dough.
5. Cover, let stand in a warm place until doubled, about 1 1/2 hours.
6. Toss and knead on a well-floured surface until no longer sticky.
7. Divide dough in half.
8. Roll each half into a rope about 30" long.
9. Using the two pieces, form a loosely braided wreath. It is best to do this directly on a greased baking sheet.
10. Have ready about 6 raw colored eggs. Place eggs in spaces you must push aside with fingers between crossed sections of dough. Cover and put in a warm place until doubled.
11. Bake in pre-heated oven 350 degrees 10 minutes.
12. Brush with mixture of 1 egg and 1 tablespoon of milk. Sprinkle with tiny multi-colored candies.
13. Continue to bake approximately 40 minutes. Bread should be golden brown. Eggs will be hard cooked when bread is done.
14. Remove to a wire rack to cool.

Special note: If making dolls, you will have to reduce baking time. It is also fun to use raisins or M & M's for eyes and nose, a strip of candied lemon or orange peel makes a cute mouth. You may come up with a few clever ideas of your own.

ENJOY!

Run Named for Woman Astronomer

Women runners from Rehoboth Beach to Wilmington to Dover are in training for the Annie Jump Cannon Women's Five Mile Run.
 The run is scheduled to take place at 11:00 a.m. on Saturday, April 11, 1981 in Leipsic, Delaware, a rural fishing village five miles northeast of Dover.
 The event is sponsored by the Downstate Delaware Striders and the Athletic Attic in Dover.
 Co-race director, Andrea Illig, said that a distance of five miles was chosen by the sponsors with the intention of sparking the interest of new runners and, at the same time, providing a competitive event for more experienced runners.
 The race takes its name from prominent Kent County astronomer Annie Jump Cannon (1863-1941). The event will start by the side of Ms. Cannon's birthplace in Leipsic.

 Original Annie Jump Cannon T-shirts will be given to all participants in the run. The top three finishers in each age-group category will receive awards created by area artisans and presented by the mayor of Leipsic, Horace Pugh.
 Registration for the event is $5.00 if received by April 4, 1981 and $6.00 thereafter. Registrations will be accepted on race day, April 11, until 10:30 a.m.
 Applications can be picked up at the Athletic Attic in downtown Dover, 120 Lockerman St. For more details, call 734-1799.

 Prizes for the Beef Cook-Off are: first place, $1,500; second place, $750; third place, $500; five honorable mentions, $100 each.
 As an added incentive for contestants from Delaware, the Beef Industry Council of the Meat Board will finance travel expenses to Sioux Falls for the state winner.
 Any beef dish using chuck, round, rump, fresh brisket or ground beef is eligible. The dish must contain a minimum of two pounds of beef and not more than five. The meat used must be exclusively beef. Cooking time cannot exceed four hours.
 Contestants must be 18 years old or older and cannot be food industry professionals, members of the American National Cow-Belles, or employees of the National Live Stock and Meat Board. The beef dishes will be judged according to taste, appearance, originality and ease of preparation.

Catholics are Asked for Help

Members in the Catholic Diocese of Wilmington throughout Delaware and the Eastern Shore of Maryland will be asked to assist with the restoration of St. Peter's Cathedral on the weekend of April 11 and 12. They will join with a committee that has been working for several weeks under the chairmanship of Gerald P. Kavanaugh, in raising the $500,000 necessary to fund the project.

To date $232,000 has been generated for the historic building which dates back to 1816, and has been closed to public since May of 1980. At that time, a section of ceiling fell and for safety reasons the use of the building was discontinued. After extensive consultation with professional and diocesan consultants, a program of restoration was announced.

Keeping In Touch

With Tom Evans

Those of us who live in coastal states are well aware of the precious natural resources in our oceans. I am deeply concerned about the recent news accounts about the radioactive dump sites in the Atlantic and Pacific Oceans.

Between 1946 and 1970, the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission licensed the dumping of more than 86,000 containers of low-level nuclear wastes in the Atlantic and Pacific Oceans. There were four major dump sites, and a host of other smaller sites. Two of the major dump sites are off the New Jersey coast.

The containers were made of steel, lined with concrete so they would sink. There is some concern that between 1/4 and 1/3 of the steel drums are leaking. Studies by the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency, however, indicate that the leakage presents no danger to the public or environment at the present time.

Because of the potential dangers associated with these dump sites, I have joined with Congressman Bill Hughes of New Jersey in cosponsoring legislation to establish a comprehensive program to inventory and monitor the nuclear wastes that were dumped into U.S. ocean waters prior to 1970.

The legislation I've cosponsored would establish an interagency task force composed of representative of all Federal agencies which had jurisdiction or knowledge of ocean dumping of nuclear wastes. The task force would be charged with responsibility for developing a comprehensive inventory of the nature and locations of nuclear waste material. The EPA would then be given the job of continuously monitoring the locations to determine the conditions of the waste materials, the potential threat to the public, and any recommendations needed to the Congress for dealing with such threats.

I believe that the dumping of low-level nuclear wastes in the ocean was a questionable policy. We now have an increased knowledge of radioactivity and it is imperative that we obtain a better idea of what was dumped, where it was dumped and whether it poses a potential threat to the public health, safety or environment.

I intend to work closely with my colleagues from the other affected states to ensure that the EPA provides the Congress with an assessment of the potential dangers associated with the dump sites.

THOUGHTS FROM DOVER

By Gov. Pierre S. duPont

When I spoke with the members of the State PTA Convention last weekend, I had the opportunity to discuss many of the new educational programs which have been started in recent years in Delaware and to encourage the parents to take an increasingly active role in their children's education.

Public education has suffered an unfortunate decline in public confidence in recent years for a variety of reasons. Restoring that confidence will take an active interest by parents and teachers, as well as by all taxpayers. Parental involvement is essential to the education process.

The PTA and other organizations involving the community are important and serve as the appropriate forum and links with schools. I hope parents use these forums to meet with school officials and teachers to learn more about what is happening in their local school districts.

Continued progress in many of the innovative school programs must also continue. For example, the establishment of the Basics Plus school in Townsend has served as a vehicle for encouraging additional parental support. I hope that other school districts will follow that example and organize schools of this type to offer students a voluntary alternative to current curricula.

Through the Jobs for Delaware Graduates program, we have made substantial progress in preparing many students for the job market upon graduation. And the Governor's School for Excellence has offered outstanding and talented students with another opportunity to expand their knowledge and interests. Educational programs for the handicapped have aided hundreds of youngsters. Graduation and promotion standards are being implemented.

My Administration is looking at possible programs to assure that teachers demonstrate specific levels of competence to assure learning. We are also looking at the establishment of alternative schools or classrooms which will guarantee that unruly and disruptive students do not destroy the learning atmosphere for other students.

Finally, because the State spends $15 million a year on specific services to children outside of school, a committee of Administration officials is looking at ways in which to improve the efficiency of children's services from school to clinics to prisons.

Improving educational programs and children's services and increasing parental involvement can help restore confidence by the people of Delaware in public education and provide the children of our State with the skills and education they need to be productive citizens of our nation.

America had its second Boston Tea Party on Saturday, March 28, 1981. Patriots from all over the U.S. met in the old south meeting house in downtown Boston. There were many speeches given by some of our greatest present day patriots. Things were brought out in the open on many issues pertaining to liberty in America. What happened in a very real sense was King George was told to go back to England.

The patriots then in parade form marched through the city of Boston in route to the harbor. When they arrived at the harbor 30 to 40 of the several hundred boarded the old ship on which the early patriots did. They had 1040 forms crated up in boxes and threw them into the bay. To show that they were just fed up and not violent, they had strings attached to the boxes to bring them back out.

What does all this mean? Very simply it means that we the people must begin to take a stand to keep government from breaking the law and infringing on our blood bought liberties. Only 56 men of old signed the Declaration of Independence. They pledged their lives, their fortunes, and their sacred honor. We must do the same. If you're fed up with inflation, taxes, and big government and want to take a stand with fellow Americans.

Biden Report

By Sen. Joseph Biden Jr.

The widespread agreement in the Congress and the country that federal spending must be reduced does not, in fact, get us very far when the time comes to decide how much to cut out of which agency's budget.

That's when we hear every agency's argument for keeping its budget intact--and that's when the decision-making really gets tough for those of us who must share in the decisions. But it is possible to perceive priorities that should be served, and, for my money, one of those priorities should be adequate medical care for our veterans, the men and women who have sacrificed their young years, their health and their lives in the service of their country.

While most of my colleagues in the Senate support the Budget Committee's recommendation that $34.6 billion be cut from the proposed fiscal 1982 budget, there is sharp disagreement on where the cuts should be made, and neither logic nor consistency necessarily reigns.

On March 26, the Republican majority of the Senate rallied the necessary votes to defeat two amendments which would have restored some of the proposed spending cuts. The amendments would have continued to provide medical care for veterans, even if at a reduced level so that even this group wouldn't be exempt from the budget-cutting mandate. Yet, the amendments would have reduced significantly the impact of the cuts in specific areas, in order to assure adequate medical care for our veterans.

It is curious that on the very same day, the Senate GOP refused to cut $2 billion across the board from government procurement: from the purchase of furniture, audio-visual materials, and consultants. Then, the next day, they defeated a proposal which would have transferred $100 million from foreign aid to veteran health care.

The votes indicate to me that our priorities have become confused. While we are being asked to approve the expenditure of a figure in excess of $100 million in El Salvador to pump up a wobbly regime, we are told we cannot afford adequate and needed care for the men and women whom we sent off to war. I just don't accept it!

As in all the other federal agencies, there are, of course, some areas which could be tightened in the Veterans Administration budget; but rather than slice out the fat, the Reagan Administration has proposed axing beneficial well-deserved programs which come to the aid of combat veterans in their time of need.

Senator Gary Hart and I were successful in restoring $25 million for the next two years to keep open the "Outreach" Vet Centers, which help the men and women who were emotionally and physically crippled by their association with heavy combat in Vietnam, but who, unlike previous veterans, felt rejected upon their return home. It took Vietnam veterans ten years to get the 91 Outreach Centers across the nation. Conservative estimates are that a half million Vietnam veterans suffer emotional problems in varying degrees.

In the year or so since the Vet Centers opened, 40,000 Vets have already utilized them. Yet some think we cannot afford the cost of operating them. However, the cost of operating all of the centers for period of one year is roughly equivalent to the cost of 12 minutes of firepower in Vietnam in 1969.

Many years ago Congress passed legislation providing psychiatric counseling to World War II Vets who suffered combat neuroses. The program was successful because it received cooperation from throughout the government and from their home communities as well.

The same just isn't true today. We may find that the result of this callous treatment of our Veterans poses a far greater problem to our national security than any other inadequacy in our defense system. In hundreds of conversations with Vietnam-era Vets, I'm hearing a troubling message -- "My kids won't go; I won't let them." They are words from young Americans who volunteered for active duty in Vietnam, who went off to war for democracy and their country -- but who have become so embittered by their own treatment that we unintentionally may be producing an entire generation of Americans who will have considerable trouble answering the next call to arms, no matter how valid it is.

Budget cutting, you see, involves considerations other than dollars alone.

From Dover by Sen. Thurman Adams, Jr.

Last week I introduced legislation (SB 151) which I hope will improve State Police protection in Sussex County in spite of the reorganization plan which went into effect some three months ago.

The bill would require that all State Police stations existing as of last January 1 "shall be operated at least in part as centers for the deployment of patrol vehicles and staffed with uniformed officers whose duties shall primarily be the patrol of the highways of the state.

The reorganization put into effect by the State Police made the Georgetown Troop strictly a detective facility, transferring uniformed personnel to the other two troops at Bridgeville and Dewey Beach. In my opinion, this has resulted in a longer response time in many areas of the county.

If my bill passes, at least some uniformed personnel will have to be assigned to the Georgetown troop.

This week I plan to introduce legislation to provide a supplemental appropriation to continue the weather modification program begun three years ago in Sussex County.

As I've mentioned before, the current year's budget does not include any funds for the "rain making" but the budget for the fiscal year which will begin July 1 does include funds for the program. I'm concerned that the resulting one-year gap in the experimental program may not be wise because of the interruption of the flow of data on which the decision will be made whether or not to make the program permanent and extend it to other areas of the country.

The U.S. Department of the Interior has said it is very impressed with the data collected so far by the University of Delaware and expressed an interest in participating in the funding of the program.

In fact, the Department will send a representative to Dover during the first week in May to testify on my bill. This indicates how interested the federal government is in the weather modification potential.

In an unusual procedure, the Senate last Thursday got to question in detail members of the Public Service Commission which sets electric and other utility rate and State Public Advocate Evan Wilner, who has the responsibility of representing the public in rate-making cases.

Concerned about the ever-increasing cost of electricity and other utilities, Senators fired questions at PSC Chairman Joshua W. Martin III, former Chairman Joshua Twilley who is still a member of the Commission, and Wilner. At issue was SJR 9, which would have directed the PSC to change its mind about hiring Associated Utility Services Inc. as a consultant in the Diamond State Telephone rate hike request.

After three hours of testimony, the result was more or less a draw and the resolution was assigned to a committee.

Letters To The Editor

Our President lies wounded, felled by a bullet fired from a "Saturday Night Special." This favorite weapon of the assassin was easily obtained at a Dallas pawnshop.

In all but one of the eleven assassinations and attempted assassinations of Presidents or Presidential candidates, the assassin used a handgun. Presidents Lincoln, Garfield, and McKinley were slain. Candidate Robert Kennedy was killed. Governor George Wallace is crippled. In September 1975 alone, President Ford's life was threatened twice by assassins wielding handguns. Now President Reagan has been shot.

Must we bury another President before the Congress acts to pass an effective national handgun control law? Together we can make the Congress act now to control handguns. Join with us today.

Dear Editor,

The town council is to be congratulated on its emphasis on pedestrian safety by adding the marked crosswalks at the square. I have noticed, however, that many pedestrians are not using them and that many drivers are ignoring them. It is a statistic that 20% of all traffic fatalities are pedestrians. As a driver you must yield the right of way to any pedestrian in a crosswalk, stopping if necessary. Pedestrians have the right of way when crossing within a marked or unmarked crosswalk. However, pedestrians must yield the right-of-way when crossing a highway other than within a marked crosswalk or an unmarked crosswalk at an intersection. In addition to observing these laws, we should exercise common courtesy. Please yield when you see an elderly person or child step off the curb.

Yours for a safe Harrington,
Rev. William Markley

Jack Anderson Washington Merry-Go-Round

WASHINGTON--A lot of superstitious Americans are buzzing about the "Zero Factor" that was mentioned in the attempted assassination of President Ronald Reagan.

The "Zero Factor" is simply the belief that every U.S. president elected in a year ending in zero will die in office. Reagan, of course, was elected in 1980.

The "Zero Factor" is also called "Tecumseh's Curse." The superstition can be traced directly to a Seminole Indian chief named Tecumseh. Gen. William Henry Harrison defeated the Indian chief at the Battle of Tippecanoe. Tecumseh, it is said, then laid a curse on the general. Harrison was elected president in 1840, but died one month after taking office.

Since then, "Tecumseh's Curse" has supposedly claimed the lives of Presidents Abraham Lincoln, James Garfield, William McKinley, Warren Harding, Franklin Roosevelt and John Kennedy--all of whom were elected in years ending in zero.

SKINNING THE CAT: Ronald Reagan has set out to skin a bureaucratic cat with nine lives. But he may get scratched in the process.

The White House is proposing to shut down a key federal anti-poverty program and fire all its employees by Oct. 1.

The agency was first called the Office of Economic Opportunity. It was the centerpiece of President Lyndon Johnson's war on poverty in the 1960's.

The name has now been changed to the Community Services Administration. But its budget remains high--more than a half-billion dollars a year.

Budget Director David Stockman thinks the agency has outlived whatever usefulness it may have had. He considers it nothing more than a haven for overpaid bureaucrats. Its role can be filled better, he believes, by creating jobs in the private sector.

Stockman has already notified the agency's people to start packing. This message was delivered in the form of a memo intended for official eyes only. They were told to "begin now" to provide for "the separation of all personnel by the end of this fiscal year."

This would mean the biggest mass firing of federal employees in years. It will also mean one of the biggest fights the administration has had yet with Congress. The poverty program has come under fire from all sides. Yet it has a reputation for leading a charmed life. President Richard Nixon tried but failed to kill the agency. Others have had no better success.

It remains to be seen whether Ronald Reagan can succeed where others have failed. The Community Services Administration may not have used up all of its nine lives yet.

Meanwhile, it looks as if President Reagan may pass his first economic test. He wants to remove the shackles from business, which he believes would be the best way to stimulate the economy.

His first major move was to decontrol oil prices. He contended that the free market would keep prices from soaring out of sight. But he no sooner signed the decontrol order than the price of gasoline shot up.

Many motorists responded by driving less. This added to the gasoline glut that had already started to accumulate. The result is that gas prices have tapered off. Several gas stations have actually reduced prices.

But the free enterprise system unfortunately doesn't operate at the other end of the oil pipeline. The oil producers have rigged the world price, which they keep pushing up.

Some smaller American oil dealers therefore have been caught in a squeeze. They may pay more for their oil but charge less for their gasoline. Some distributors are now selling gasoline at a loss. Otherwise, they would have to shut down and go out of business. And that's exactly what several small refiners will likely do this year.

A MAN AND HIS WOMEN: A new crisis is developing on our doorstep. The dictator of Haiti, Jean Claude Duvalier, has a family problem.

Duvalier is known to his countrymen as "Baby Doc". He is not a pleasant fellow and has kept his people living in fear and poverty. But it's hard not to feel sorry for Baby Doc. The two ambitious women in his life are making things miserable for him.

One is his mother, Simone. She retains the loyalty of old-line Duvalier supporters. The other woman is Baby Doc's wife, Michelle. She is as power-hungry as her mother-in-law. Baby Doc is caught in the middle. He'd like to side with his wife. But if he moves too strongly against his mother, it could anger the army.

The U.S. Embassy in Port-au-Prince has been sending regular confidential cables to Washington on the family squabble. One cable says: "(The) embassy believes Haiti is in a political crisis which could unravel Jean-Claude's political base... (He) could not control an angered military."

Last month, the dictator arrested 12 members of his mother's family and sent them into exile. The embassy warns that 40 more may be expelled--including the tough old widow herself.

The Haitian government got U.S. visas for three military officers who were to escort a VIP out of the country. The embassy cabled Washington that the VIP was expected to be none other than Baby Doc's mother.

But Baby Doc's mother survived this unflinching move. However, the crisis is far from over. The dictator himself doesn't seem sure about the outcome. He has already obtained U.S. visas for his wife, her sister and a brother. Apparently, he is ready to move his family to the United States--if he can't handle his mother.

Thoughts From Washington

By U.S. Senator Bill Roth

What would your reaction be if, when grocery shopping you were forced to pay a fee for each item you picked off the shelf before you even got to the check-out counter?

My guess would be that such a burden wouldn't be too popular. But that is almost exactly what is happening with the Federal government today.

Taxpayers in Delaware and across the country are currently being charged two or three different times for the same Federal program - once by the Federal government to provide the money to fund a program, then again, by the state and local governments to pay for the cost of administering the program and complying with the strings attached to the grant. In fact, in some Federal grant programs, nearly 30 percent of the program funds are being eaten up in administrative and paperwork expenses.

A study conducted by the Joint Economic Committee of Congress concluded that in six Federal grant programs administered by localities, the added costs of the program to local taxpayers was $25 for each resident.

The Federal grant system provides funds for a variety of programs ranging from highway construction to educational programs. Some 60 requirements are applied to a variety of grant programs. More than half of these requirements are less than ten years old and have little to do with the fulfillment of a particular grant's purposes. Yet, in some cases, a staggering 60 percent of the costs of meeting these requirements are shouldered by the local governments.

The affect of this system is that taxpayers are having to bear an unreasonable burden.

I have introduced the Federal Assistance Improvement Act of 1981 which would shift more of the decision making authority to the state and local governments, allowing these governments to establish priorities as they see them and not as the "experts" in Washington do. The effect of this measure would be a first step toward reorganizing and streamlining the Federal government.

Under this measure, certain conditions would allow for state and local governments to shunt up to 20 percent of available funds from one grant category to another. It would also eliminate or suspend many of the unnecessary, costly or outdated requirements. This would give states and localities more flexibility to cope with budget reductions, and allow them to assume more authority over program operations. And, as an added benefit, it would make it easier for taxpayers to determine who should be held accountable for individual programs. It is important that the Federal system of government be streamlined, to become more effective and efficient. Through long term efforts, such as this act, perhaps those extra costs that the taxpayers have to bear can be eliminated.

Federal Income Tax Traditions

WILMINGTON, DE--Most every family has its own Thanksgiving, 4th of July, and birthday traditions. Similarly, most taxpayers have their own Federal income tax return filing traditions.

Basically these taxpayers fall into one of two categories. The first category is that of the "Eager Beavers." They are the ones who file around the end of January--just as soon as they have gotten their tax return packages and Wage and Tax Statements.

The other group is the "Last-Minute Finishers." These are the people who spend their April 15ths, every year, completing their returns and visiting the post office.

The Internal Revenue Service does not expect taxpayers to completely change their ways but it would be advantageous for everyone to file at exactly the same time.

BUT taxpayers who wait until the last minute, the Internal Revenue Service suggests, might find that filing earlier--even if only a week or a few days earlier--could make a big difference. For one thing, if the taxpayer is expecting a refund--he or she will get it that much sooner. Additionally, by not procrastinating for quite so long the taxpayer will probably be more relaxed and take more time in completing the form. Not rushing will lessen the possibility of making an error which could delay a refund and could help the taxpayer discover credits or deductions for which he or she qualifies.

Of course, there are many taxpayers who file close to the filing deadline because they must wait for certain necessary forms like the W-2, "Wage and Tax Statement," or 1099, "Statement of Dividends or Interest."

The Internal Revenue Service advises these taxpayers who do not receive their statements by January 31 to contact the employer or payer and request that the form be issued.

Taxpayers who still have not received their W-2's by February 15 should call the IRS toll-free telephone number for their area.

Those waiting for forms 1099 should note that it is not necessary to attach this form to their completed returns. All that is required is the payment information from the forms; so if the taxpayer has kept accurate records or can get the information from the issuing company, he or she can file without having received the form.

The important thing to remember about filing your Federal income tax return is to file by April 15. If possible, though, file earlier; it has its advantages.

the Administrative Office, Edward Tatnall Building, Dover. Park offices will be open on weekends beginning April 11 and are normally closed on Mondays and Tuesdays until May 23. Beginning May 23, annual permits will be on sale at all state parks.

Park entrance fees will be collected daily from May 23 through September 7, Labor Day, at 9 of the 11 state parks. The daily entrance fee for the 1981 season is $2.00 per day for Delaware registered vehicles and $4.00 per day for out-of-state registered vehicles carrying 10 persons or less.

All revenue received from the entrance fee is used in the operation and maintenance of state parks.

Easter Seals Thank Local Janeces

The National Easter Seal Telethon was held March 28 and 29. Here in Kent County it could be watched over Philadelphia Channel 17 and telephones were stationed in the lobby of the Sheraton inn in Dover. Three Janeces from Harrington served as operators taking pledges on these telephones on March 29, namely: Beth Jarrell, Becky McKnatt, and Jan Rettig. The Easter Seal Society of Del-Mar would like to thank publicly these ladies for their cooperation in this event. $50.00 was pledged to our Kent County station. About $22,000 was raised by the Skatethon held in Dover that same day. If anyone desires to mail in a contribution to Easter Seals, the address here is P.O. Box 542, Dover, Delaware 19901.

Northeast Farm Market Report

NEW YORK, NY--Northeast farm market prices varied during the week ending April 3, according to the Agricultural Marketing Service of the U.S. Department of Agriculture. Eggs prices trended higher, while poultry negotiations occurred at lower values compared to a week ago. Fruit and vegetable prices were generally unchanged, while livestock prices were generally mixed this past week. Milk production was still increasing in most areas.

FLUID DAIRY PRODUCTS
The topic of discussion this week among eastern regional fluid milk and cream producers was the elimination of the April first, mid-year adjustment to the support prices. Also discussed was the fact that manufacturing margins were not increased.

Milk production was still increasing in most areas. In the more northern sectors, production increases were more noticeable. Fluid milk supplies were heavier in more plants and Class II operations were often at or near capacity levels. Class I milk sales were slightly improved, but steady overall. Spot sales of Class I milk were also steady.

Cottage cheese production and orders have slowed slightly from the excellent levels of the past week or two. Apparently the retail store were fully stocked and were ordering only for fill-ins needs.

Condensed skim sales ranged slower to fairly good. Ice cream plants were picking up and condensed movement to these channels improved somewhat.

The fluid cream market was firming slightly with lighter volumes clearing to the churns. Spot buying interest was slowly improving with prices basically unchanged.

Ice cream plants were starting to increase production for the upcoming spring and summer season. More novelties were being made and inventories were being built.

Sour cream and cream cheese production were about steady. Churns were not quite as active this week as less excess cream was available. Some plants, however, reported heavy volumes of cream and were actively churning.

EGGS
New York egg prices trended higher. Cartoned egg movement was only fair with feature activity limited. Offerings were ample but confidently held for anticipated Easter needs.

Thursday's prices to retailers and sales to volume buyers of consumer Grade A white eggs in cartons, delivered store door to New York City were: 76 to 78 cents on large and 67 to 69 cents on medium.

POULTRY
New York broiler fryer trucklot trading was light and disappointing with early negotiations occurring at lower values compared to a week ago. Retail and distributive movement was light and unaggressive. Supplies and offerings were fully adequate to ample. Current broiler-fryer negotiated prices es for immediate delivery, including multiple-drop shipments to New York City were: 45 to 49¢ cents on U.S. Grade A and 45 to 47 cents on Plant Grade.

Delmarva broiler-fryer ready-to-cook movement during the past week was light and disappointing in most quarters. Live supplies were fully adequate to ample at weights occasionally heavier than desired in some quarters.

Current less than trucklot asking prices were 46 to 47 cents on Plant Grade and 47 to 48¢ cents on U.S. Grade A.

New York chicken parts prices were sharply lower. Buying interest was light and selective. Supplies and offerings were ample to occasionally burdensome.

Prices paid per pound by first receivers of ice packed, delivered in pool trucklots and trucklot quantities were as follows: 79 to 95 cents on breast, mostly 84 to 86 cents and 36 to 47 cents on legs, mostly 38 to 40 cents.

Turkey trading activity on frozen hens was fair and fresh packed hens moderately good. Seller offerings were ample for current requirements. Market activity on bagged toms was limited.

Trading activity on carlot and trucklot young turkeys, U.S. Grade A, frozen F.O.B. New York were as follows: 62 to 63 cents on 8 to 16 pound hends.

Federally inspected slaughter on Delmarva for the week ending March 18th totaled nearly 7.81 million birds compared with 8.03 million birds a year earlier.

USDA Suspends Provision in Mid-Atlantic Milk Order

A provision of the Middle Atlantic federal milk marketing order has been suspended by the United States Department of Agriculture.

Herbert L. Forest, dairy official with USDA's Agricultural Marketing Service, said the suspension lifts from March through August 1981 the limit on the type of pool eligible for automatic pool status during that period.

Forest said the suspension was requested by Michaels Dairies, Inc., a distributing plant regulated under the order. Michaels contends that products supplying its plants were threatened with loss of pooling status under the order because the firm has lost Class I sales to another handler in the market. As a result, Michaels said it would not be able to continue meeting the pooling requirements of the order.

Federal milk marketing orders set minimum prices regulated handlers must pay dairy farmers for their milk. The orders do not set prices consumers pay for milk or dairy products at retail outlets.

The suspension order will be published in the March 31 Federal Register, available at many public libraries.

Spartan Girls Outrun Cape Henlopen

By Keith S. Burgess

Carol Payne and Gina Turner were the individual stars, as Lake Forest's girls' track team surprised Cape Henlopen by a score of 69-63.

The meet was held at Cape Henlopen Thursday. Payne won the 100 meter low hurdles (15.7) and the 200 meter intermediate hurdles, then anchored the 1600-meter relay to a meet-deciding victory, in 4:19.5. Donna Pardee, freshman Carolyn Winder, Annette Baynard, ran the first three legs of that relay.

Gina Turner outraced a tough competitor, Cape's Alicia Stack, to win both the 1500 and 3000 meter runs, with Valerie Moore getting third, in the former.

Donna Pardee's 2:38.2 clocking in the 800 meter run, indicates this sophomore may soon become the Lake Forest record-holder there. Annette Baynard was third.

The Spartans are blessed with some promising freshmen, who may make this a team of the future.

In addition to Winder, three other ninth-graders, Sherry Durant, Susie Johnson and Nancy Badman, teamed with Pandora Scott to capture the 800 meter relay, in 1:55. Durant and Scott went 1-2 in the 200 meter dash.

Two other new people, junior Michelle Mango and freshman Marie Litano, united with Johnson and Scott to win the 400 meter relay in 55.9.

Freshmen Carinthia Clarke and Sharon Burton had seconds in the long jump and shot put, respectively. Muriel Green had a second and third, in the hurdles. Karen Tibbs had thirds, in the high and long jumps.

USTA'S Harness Horse of the Month

COLUMBUS, Ohio--The U. S. Trotting Assn. has named Rambling Willie as its top standardbred performer for the month of March. The 11-year-old pacing gelding, second richest harness horse of all-time with $1,842,732, padded his bankroll in March, all in invitational competition at Northfield Park.

Rambling Willie, owned by Paul Siebert and Vivian Farrington of Ohio, and trained by Bob Farrington, ranks as one of the sport's all-time favorite performers. Over 3.1 million people have watched this seemingly ageless wonder since he began racing in 1972.

J. Z. Leader, a 3-year-old pacing colt who won three races including the $84,000 final of the New Faces Series at The Meadowlands in 1:56.2, and a leg of the Sagamore Hills Series at Roosevelt Raceway, finished as runner-up for March honors.

Two other three-time winners who enjoyed a productive month were Love That Fella, a 4-year-old who reduced his record to 1:55.4 and won the $90,250 final of the Four Leaf Clover Pacing Series, and Jef's Eternity, a 3-year-old filly who captured the $55,000 Blossom Pacing Series Final.

Dover Downs Among Fastest 5/8-Mile Tracks

DOVER, DE--Dover Downs has now been rated one of the fastest five 5/8-mile harness racing tracks in the nation. According to statistics recently released by the United States Trotting Association, Dover Downs has received a 2:03 (two minutes and three seconds) rating. The USTA makes comparison performance of harness racing at all major tracks and a speed rating is compiled which could approximate the "par" rating given to golf courses.

Among 23 5/8-mile harness race tracks in the nation, the Dover Downs rating ties with Foxboro Raceway in Massachusetts. Only Brandywine Raceway (Del), Liberty Bell and The Meadows in Pennsylvania, Scioto Downs in Ohio and Sportsman Park in Illinois have slightly faster ratings all above 2:02.

Major renovations to the Dover Downs racing surface were made prior to the start of the 1979-80 harness racing meet. The degree of banking in the turns was increased along with slight modifications in the straight-aways allowing the horses to maintain full stride throughout the race.

The modifications also improved water drainage from the surface.

"We're happy to see all the work put into redesign of the racetrack is paying off," said Dover Downs president and general manager Denis McGlynn. "The new racing surface has allowed us to attract many new horsemen to compete at Dover Downs and we expect that our racing events will become increasingly more competitive as word gets around about our facility."

Seven new track speed records have been put in the books since the renovation of the track. Five were broken last season, the first coming less than a month after the facility opened its 79-80 meet as Duchess Stratton paced to a 1:59.1 mile on December 30, 1979. Two marks have fallen so far this season including a trotting record that was originally established in 1972.

Dover Downs has extended its present harness racing meet through Sunday, April 26 with a weekend only racing schedule. Post time remains at 8 p.m. on Friday and Saturday evenings and 1 p.m. Sunday afternoons. No racing will be held Good Friday, April 17 nor Easter Sunday, April 19, however, a full racing card is scheduled for Saturday, April 18.

Rosecroft

Forest Wave The "Big Honcho" in Senatorial Final at Rosecroft This Sat.

OXON HILL, MD--Unabashed track stardom. Glitter. Big Bucks. Bragging rights to all this and more will be at stake when Rosecroft Raceway, in Oxon Hill, Maryland, highlights the Final of its big Senatorial Pace series this Saturday night, April 11.

The top eight money winners of this competitive three-leg series will chase a nifty $7,500 winner's share of the purse in an all-star duel among the best pacers at Rosecroft.

The finalists represent a "Who's Who" of prominent Rosecroft regulars, but the clearest favorite is the six-year-old gelding Forrest Wave. A four-legged Panzer division and typhoon rolled into one, Wave has literally raced away from the field this year, broiling the competition in all three of his series starts. Driven and trained by track superstar Wayne Smullin, Forrest Wave has piled up an overwhelming $11,250 in series earnings this season.

Wave also competes on strong terms against the nation's best. He finished third by just half a length in a top-notch field at the prestigious Meadowlands recently, where he recorded a blistering 1:58 4/5.

A hungry field of challengers won't belly-up just because Forrest Wave looms overhead. The competition should be rugged, for knocking off Wave will hang heavily in every driver's mind.

A stern test should come from the seven-year-old gelding Teddy Bear A. Trained and driven by Pennsylvanian

Mike Izzo, Teddy Bear finished second in series earnings with a respectable $8,400. A fastbreaking gunner, Teddy Bear should head quickly to the front of the pack and try to hold off Wave. In 11 starts overall this season, the gelding has packed in four wins and five seconds.

Two others could boobytrap Wave with surprise rushes. The inconsistent Elsie Butler from Harrington, Del., finished second to Wave by just half a length in one series race this year, but stumbled to eighth in another. So the book is still out on this dangerous horse, driven by J. D. Dennis. And Trapeze, part-owned by William Briesmaster of Clinton, Md., is just hitting stride and could ambush everyone. Also watch out for Big George. Trained and driven by Preston Burreis of Smyrna, Delaware. Big George has finished second to both Wave and Teddy Bear in series action this year, and emerged fourth in series money earnings.

The 1981 season will continue nightly, except Sundays, through June 6, rain or clear. Post time is 8:00 p.m.

Admission to the clubhouse is $4.00. Grandstand admission is $2.00. Parking is $1.00. Valet parking available

Goodman, Brown Set Spartan High Jump Mark

By Keith S. Burgess

With two events to go at Cape Henlopen, Thursday, Lake Forest and the host Vikings were tied. Cape took the lead by sweeping the 200 meter dash, then wrapped it up, by coming from behind to win the 1600 meter relay. Final score was 79-62.

Lake Forest head coach, Jim Blades, was without the services of sprinters, Jeff and Jeffrey De Shields, plus Dale Benson, which may have cost the locals points, in both the 100 and 200 meter events. The trio may be healthy by the next outing.

It has been speculated that one of the Cape runners, is actually ineligible. If this turns out to be a fact, the Spartans will get a forfeit victory. The athlete in question was involved in two winning Cape events, which otherwise would have been in the Spartan column.

Fred Goodman, a junior transfer student from Rome Free Academy, Rome, N.Y. and sophomore James Brown, both cleared 6 feet, 1 1/4 inches, in the high jump, to set a Lake Forest mark. The old record was six feet 1/2 inch held by Tim McCombs. Brown was the official winner under the fewer-misses rule. This is terrific jumping, especially coming so early in the campaign.

Gerald "Peanut" Perry won the 100 meters, in 11.38, the united with Marvin DeShields, freshman Ralph Young and James Brown, to win the 400 and 800 meter relays.

Page Pulley, Rob Prutzman and John McCartney swept the discs, for Lake Forest. The first two named were second and third, in the shotput. Prutzman, a giant frosh, may be a state champ before he graduates at the rate he's improving.

Jay Howerin contributed seconds in the 800 and 1500 meter runs, behind state cross-country champ, Tony Shepherd of Cape. James Lofland was third in the 1500, then ran the race of his life to get second in the 3000 behind Shepherd, in 10:05.

Freshman Jerome Scott placed second in both hurdle events. Tony Scott had a third in the 300 meter hurdles and a third in the triple jump, with a fine 40-foot effort, in what is a brand new event for him.

Ken Kline and Nelson Mosley held the Vikings' edge in the 400-meter run, to 5-4, by taking the second and third-place points.

The same result occurred, in the pole vault with Jim Schuman and Dave Decker clearing 10 feet, 6 inches, in an event that has been a weak spot for Lake Forest in other seasons.

Jim Fleming and Steve Wolak are capable assistant coaches on the Spartan team.

Spartans Run Well at Diamond State Relays

By Keith S. Burgess

An interesting competition, which saw track teams from four states, at Wilmington's Baynard Stadium, on Saturday, provided valuable experience for Lake Forest's freshman-studied track team.

Pandora Scott and tyros, Nancy Badman, Michelle Mango and Susie Johnson won medals, for a second-place finish in their heat of the 400 meter relay, done in 46 seconds flat.

Carolyn Winder, Donna Pardee, Annette Baynard and Carol Payne were second in the 1600 meter relay, in 4:23.

In boys competition, Gerald Perry, Jeff and Jeffrey De Shields and James Brown were second in the 400 meter relay (45.7) and the 800 meter relay (1:35.6). These four Spartan quartets picked up 16 awards all told.

There are four sprinting De Shields brothers on the Lake Forest squad. We hope to see them all on the same unit one day.

Eddie Davis--Leading Driver

COLUMBUS, Ohio--Eddie Davis, a perennial leader among the drivers who compete at Liberty Bell, Brandywine and Dover Downs, leads all reinsmen in 1981 dashes won by a large margin.

According to the Date Processing Dept. of the U.S. Trotting Assn., Davis has chalked up 137 winners through March 28, 57 more than Ted Wing, the current runner-up. Five other drivers have won at least 70 races, including last year's driving champion Herve Filion.

In the money standings, William O'Donnell, who gained national attention for the first time last year when he finished 14th in money won with $1,754,397, is now the leader with $728,115.

Currently trailing O'Donnell are William Gilmour, with $668,116, and Ted Wing, with $658,981. John Campbell, last year's money champ after winning a record $3,792,306, is currently seventh in the standings with $521,560.

Two grandmother/granddaughter combinations span four generations from 81 to 4 months. Above Mrs. Nellie Tyler and her granddaughter Yolanda Ivey share a precious moment. Below are Mrs. Tyler's daughter and Yolanda's mother who is also the proud grandmother of young Miss Jasmine Ivey who has the distinction at four months of being a daughter, a granddaughter and a great granddaughter. Mrs. Tyler was recently given a Salute by her family and friends.

Mrs. Tyler Honored

By Olivia Blackwell

Recently, at Metropolitan United Methodist Church, Mrs. Nellie Tyler was given a SALUTE. She has contributed much to the history of the church, and the community through Home Demonstration, 4-H Clubs, P.T.A. and being a kind, christian person to all. Mrs. Tyler was born in Stanton, Va. and has lived in various towns in Va. along with Penna., New Jersey, Md. and finally settling in Delaware. Her mother died when she was 9, she then lived with a great aunt, Zula Andrews who was a teacher in Va. Life is hard when you are an only child put in with relatives who look down on you in other ways besides being the shortest of the family. She was Nellie Jones until 21, when she married Walter Tyler. Her first 5 children used to get together and sing "O Carry Me Back to Old Va.", while the last 6 would drown them out with "O Our Delaware, Our Beloved Delaware." From these 11 children, she now has 22 grandchildren and 16 great grandchildren so far. (The youngest one is Jasmine Ivey, granddaughter of Olivia Blackwell, Author of this article). Mrs. Tyler says she is glad to see all the 4 generations get together and she is glad when they all go home again. Then she settles down among her books and reads until time to take a trip. The only question is "who is going to baby sit the flowers?"

"Fight Cancer Month" Door-To-Door Campaign Set

Robert F. Booser

During "Fight Cancer Month" in Kent County, the Kent County Unit of the American Cancer Society will conduct a door-to-door fund-raising effort in an attempt to reach every resident of the county. Residential Crusade Chairman Robert F. Booser, has divided the county into districts and sub-districts. Volunteers will be ringing bells and knocking on doors all over Kent County during April. Dr. Booser has been a Supervisor of Research and Management Information for the State Department of Public Instruction since 1971. He has worked as a volunteer with the Kent County Unit for a number of years, serving as Crusade Chairman from 1976 through 1977. He was Chairman of the Board of Directors of the Kent County Unit in 1979.

Amy Bates to take Part in Seminar

Amy Randolph Bates, a sophomore at Lake Forest High School is one of 25 students recently selected to participate in the Fifth Annual Delaware Hugh O'Brien Youth Leadership Seminar to be held in Dover at the Sheraton Inn this Friday and Saturday, April 10 and 11. Planned to offer outstanding high school sophomores the chance to take part in a series of discussions with various business leaders throughout the state, the Youth Leadership Seminar has a three-fold purpose: 1) Discussion of the topic "The American Incentive System"; 2) providing the students selected an opportunity to be recognized for their achievements, and

3) the selection of two outstanding students to represent Delaware at the Hugh O'Brien Youth Foundation International Leadership Seminar in Dallas, Texas, on July 4-11. The Delaware Youth Leadership Seminar is supported by the Delaware Jaycees with the additional assistance of the Delaware Federation of Women's Clubs, individual Jaycee chapters and a number of other state, professional and civic organizations. This year's hosts are the Smyrna-Clayton Jaycees. At the national level, the program was established and developed through the efforts of actor Hugh O'Brien in hopes of motivating young Americans to realize their leadership potential.

Tea Taster To Talk

Details of a little-known occupation which shows no signs of yielding to automation will be outlined to members of Harrington Lions Club and their ladies on April 13 at Dover Air Base Officers Club when they hear Guest Speaker Kenneth Rapiieff, tea taster from the Tea Council of the U.S.A., Inc. Well-versed in his subject, Mr. Rapiieff's talk for The Harrington Lions Club will include historical and legendary data on tea and stress the importance that tea has played in the economic structure of the world. In his demonstration, the tea taster will show the difference between black, green and oolong teas and trace the progress of tea from the seed stage through the cultivation and processing of the leaves. A question and answer period will follow the presentation.

N.C. Firm Gets Contract

The apparent low bidders for the annual roadway striping contracts were Roadway Mark Corporation, of Charlotte, North Carolina, at $88,712 for the upper New Castle County contract, and Airport Markings, Inc. of Woodbridge, Virginia, at $121,939 for Lower New Castle, Kent and Sussex Counties. The striping project is a statewide program that repaints center and edge markings on all roads, from the interstate to small roadways. Highways to be striped must meet Federal standards for marking. Consideration is given to roadway width, traffic volume, number of lanes, travel speed, and where engineering study indicates need before determining appropriate markings. The new contracts involve tracing markings on existing highways. Highway striping is used, in addition to safety reasons, for traffic channelization, guidance, and to supplement or emphasize signs and signalization. The first signs of painting operations will begin on the interstate in about a month. All primary roads will be done next, until the contract is complete, January, 1982.

Rotary Hears RIF

Ms. Emily McKnatt was the guest speaker Monday night at the Harrington Rotary Club's weekly meeting at the Harrington Newstand. Ms. McKnatt the librarian at the Lake Forest High School told the Rotary Club how its contribution was used. The program is designed to increase reading habits among the young people. "It was an opportunity for a student to select his or her choice of a book. In doing that, we felt it created an interest in reading", said Ms. McKnatt, "...which could develop into a life-long interest."

4H News

This camp is an excellent opportunity for newer members to learn more about 4-H and to meet other youngsters involved in the program. Interested 4-H'ers are encouraged to register early as there is limited sleeping space. There is a $2.50 fee which must accompany the registration. For more information contact the Sussex County 4-H office, 856-5250. available as an instructional supplement from the state's Department of Public Instruction. Two pages of the manual have been selected for publication in the revised text of the book Aquatic Facility Management and Operation by Dr. Robert Clayton of Colorado State University. The book will be published in late 1981. Lake Forest 4th Graders Plunge in ... to Swimming Program

Fourth graders at Lake Forest South were happy to plunge into a brand new program - swimming classes at Lake Forest High School. For ten days [two school weeks], each fourth grader in the district's schools is bused to the high school to get into the pool and into all the fun with Aquatics Coordinator Dennis Berry and teacher Mrs. Kathy Monroe. While they are having such a good time, they are also getting accustomed to the water and learning quite a bit about safety and a host of other things. The pictures displayed here and the comments shared are from Mrs. Gibson's fourth grade class at Lake Forest South.

Let's make it a game.

Yes, I can...here I come. When I went to Lake Forest swimming pool, I jumped in and said, "Mr. Berry, can I dive off the diving board? I had to put the life raft to jump off it. I like it alot.

Stephen Coppock

I like swimming. It is fun. I am in Mrs. Monroe's group. We use our arms, legs, head, neck and use kick board, rings to play games, pool buoys, and we dive, jump, and swim. I look when she waves her hand, it means play.

Beverly Wyatt

I like swimming because Mr. Berry lets us jump off the diving board. And we are allowed to swim in the 12 foot end of the pool. He lets us swim under water in the deep end of the pool. I like it when we try to go under water with life vests on. And he threw life preservers to us.

Bobby Carroll

I like going swimming. My teacher in swimming is Mrs. Monroe. She is very nice, and she told us to blow bubbles in the water. She said pretend like you're blowing a balloon. We took three steps and blew bubbles. It was fun. She also gave assignment that we had to learn. They were easy. I also like the one when she would put the rings down in the water and we had to go under water and switch rings. I had fun, so I also know my class had fun, too. I'm in a group, but I'm in B group, and some other people are, too, and there is also A group. I really love going swimming. I like my teachers, too.

Quintella Coleman

I like swimming, it's fun, good exercise, too. It's good how to swim in because you fall in, and Harrington's schools are lucky because I don't know any other school that has a swimming pool.

Darren Lawson

I like to jump off the jumping board into the water. I like to go under the water and open my eyes and look at the bottom of the pool.

Edward Carpenter

I like to swim because it's fun, and we don't have to do school work there. Mr. Berry helps us so we won't drown. Most of all, I like to swim.

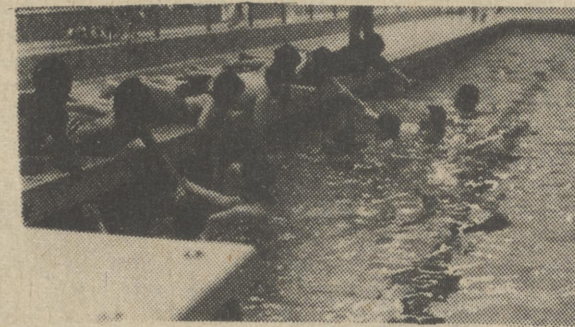

Michael Nowland

What I like about swimming is I like diving off of the diving board. It is very much fun learning safety in the water. Sometimes we have free play. I like Mr. Berry and Mrs. Monroe. They are nice.

Letters written for fourth graders is not necessarily a welcome task until - as South teacher Mrs. Collins discovered this year - they got to pose as favorite cartoon character and write a fan letter. Music and Gym Combine to Square Off

What kind of educational unit could a music teacher and a physical education teacher possibly team teach? Ask Mrs. Jane Grudzina and Mrs. Peggy Coyle at Lake Forest North Elementary School whose second and sixth grade classes have just completed a special unit in square dancing. The students at first approached this new and strange activity with apprehension, but became enthusiastic when they began to see Mrs. Grudzina's music lessons and Mrs. Coyle's gym exercises combined into a fun new experience. Their work, or rather their fun, culminated in the sixth graders performing an exhibition as a part of an all-school assembly and talent show on March 18. All of the students, both audience and dancers, thoroughly enjoyed the program which demonstrated that art and sports are closer cousins than anyone ever before realized.

Krouse, David Dix, Jennifer Fraley, Michael Kersey, Michelle Stevens, Mike Butler, Monica Armstrong, Tom Dula, Lori Dunn, Theresa Wood and Kevin McCloskey.

Circle or square, it's all called fun as Lake Forest North Students demonstrate a newly acquired skill for the benefit of their assembled classmates. Mrs. Peggy Coyle and Mrs. Jane Grudzina were the teachers responsible for all the mayhem.

Students in Mrs. Kathy Hoover's gifted and talented fifth and sixth grade class at Lake Forest North have been studying the newspaper. Mrs. Hoover's students have been producing their own newsletter for some time.

A Philadelphia Selection

A trip to Philadelphia with a number of special stops highlighted the social studies year for sixth grade classes at Lake Forest North. Included here is just a selection of the accounts of their travels. As will be quickly apparent to most readers, the impact of any journey depends upon the particular traveler.

We went to the University first. It was really neat. It had all of these mummies and things. Then we went to the mint. They showed us how to make money and all. After that we went to see the Liberty Bell. We were about to touch it. It is really thick. The trip was really fun and interesting.

Lori Dunn

The sixth grade trio to Philadelphia was great. I thought the museum was the best. We went to the University of Pennsylvania. In the museum we saw the second largest crystal ball without any flaws. We saw mummies. One mummy even had flesh on it. In the museum they had different rooms you could go in. For instance, the Africa room, the Indian room. They even had a room for the blind. And of course they had an Egyptian room. It was the best.

The museum was really good!!!

Shannon Van Hecke

On February the 19th, the sixth grade went to Philadelphia. The best place we went to in my opinion is the museum. We were lucky to be there when the Egyptian exhibit is there. It had a unwrapped mummy which was very interesting. They also had a crystal ball which is the second largest in the world! The museum had a toy set from ancient Egypt which looks like a farm set from today. I strongly suggest that every family that has a chance should visit the exhibit before it leaves in August.

Randy G. Myers

The sixth grade of Lake Forest North Elem. School went on a trip to Philadelphia, Pa., on February 19, 1981. In my opinion the best part of the trip was the Phila., Pa., museum. The museum was the best part because everything in the museum was interesting. The mint might have been the best, but the mint wasn't doing too much while we were there. Congress Hall wasn't too much. The first question the man asked was who was the fourth president. Out of a hundred and some people, no one could answer it. I liked the museum the best because of the skeletons and the crystal ball. The crystal ball is one of the biggest crystal balls you can find in the United States. It's very clear as you can get it and has no bubbles and weighs fifty-five pounds.

Stacey Bordley

The sixth grade class at Lake Forest North E. took a trip to Philadelphia, Pennsylvania on February 19, 1981. We went to the mint, the University of PA and the Congress Hall. Out of all the U. of PA was my favorite. In the museum we saw the column of Nebucanezer, mummies. One of the most interesting things in the museum were the Blue Bricks of Babylon.

There were several rooms. They were Mesopotamia, China which has a huge crystal ball in the center of the room. It is the second biggest crystal ball in the world next to the one in London. Other rooms were Greece and Rome, Iran and Egyptian room. The Egyptian room had a head (statue) of Ramses II.

David Dix

The sixth grade recently took a trip to Philadelphia. We went to a lot of places, but I like the museum in the University of Pennsylvania best. We saw mummies from a long time ago. One even had flesh on it. There was the second largest crystal ball in the world without flaws. They had different rooms like the Egypt room, Africa room and China room. There were two gift shops in it. The front of the museum had huge and beautiful doors. It was a real nice place to go.

Pam Cohee

The best things I saw were the second largest crystal ball I saw a lyre. It is a musical instrument. Not everybody got to see the brass bull. It is black. But I got to see it. There were two Blue Bricks of Babylon. Then we went to see the mint. That is where they make money. We would press buttons on the wall by the windows and look down where they make money while a recorder was telling us what they were doing.

Doug Mitchell

The sixth grade took a trip to Philadelphia on February 19, 1981. We went to the Pennsylvania University Museum. We spent most of our time in the museum. The time was well worth it. Some of the things in the museum were fascinating. These things were the crystal ball, and the Ramses II sculptured head. Then there was the mummy room which had an original baby mummy, and other original mummies. Most of the sixth grade enjoyed the museum. Philadelphia is well worth the trip. You should try it if you ever have the time.

Karen Horeis

What I saw in Philadelphia University of Pennsylvania - I saw a giant clothes pin and the mint where they make money...I saw the Congress Hall and the museum where the mummies were...I saw the Liberty Bell and where they put the tobacco...I saw the golden Bull and the Rosetta stone. And that was an interesting trip.

Alex Scott

The first thing that we went to was the Museum. In the museum the first best thing I saw was the Lyre. It is a harp that the Egyptians made. The second thing I liked was the golden bull. And next to the golden bull was hieroglyphics. We decided to see the mummies. It was interesting. Then we went to the U.S. mint. And then the Liberty Bell.

Jennifer Fraley

I went to the Philadelphia mint. I saw some stadiums, the liberty bell and the house of Congress, subways and good lookin' women. And if I had a choice of a place to go is the Philadelphia mint and to go to the top of a building and look down. We even went to the museum and looked over the whole place.

Anonymous

When I went to Philadelphia, I went to the museum and saw the ruins of ancient Egypt. After that I went to the U.S. mint. There they made tons of money and I saw how they made money and how they melted it. After that I went to Congress Hall. I got to sit in the chairs, and he told us about it.

James Hicks

I liked my trip to Philadelphia a lot. We went to the University of Pennsylvania Museum. Then we went to the mint and then to the Liberty Bell. But the best thing that I liked is stopping at McDonalds.

Michael Robertson

On February 19, 1981, the 6th grade went on a trip to Philadelphia. We went to several places. I think the best place we went was the mint. Although it was long, it was very interesting. Most people thought it was boring. The only thing I didn't like was that there was so much money, and all you could do was look at it.

Crystal Gibbs

When I went to Philadelphia, I saw the Liberty Bell. It is very big. Then we went to the museum, and we saw the biggest pearl from China. We saw the Golden Bull. After we left the museum, we went to Congress Hall where the presidents used to carry their meetings before they went to Washington. Then we went to the U.S. mint where you could see how they made them.

Tabitha Wyatt

When we went to Philadelphia, I saw the U.S. mint. And we went up two escalators to go where they were making dimes and quarters and silver dollars. After we saw that, we went down to where they were selling coins that were worth $80.00 and $50.00. They were also selling some that cost $.50 and $1.00 and $2.00.

Maxine Hicks

I liked the museum. It was fun. We went to see the mummy. The mummy was dirty. Some were clean. I guess they had to (change) the old bandages. It was fun. See you all. Bye! Love, LADDAWAN

In Philadelphia we went to the mint, the museum. We saw the Liberty Bell. We went to Congress Hall. At the museum we saw the Rosetta stone, tomb, Blue Brick, Golden Bull, meso columns, the lyre, crystal ball, Ramses II, the baby mummy, papyrus. But we didn't get to see the Egypt basement.

Mark Moore

The best part of the (trip) was the museum. It has all kinds of mummies and skeletons. It had two people clinging together in the time of death. It has a golden bull and the Rosetta stone. And the museum was big and pretty, and the things in it looked like the ancient Egyptians did.

Traci Cole

When we went to Philadelphia I had lots of fun. We went to a museum. We went to a mint and found out how the coins are made. We saw Congress Hall and the Liberty Bell.

Patty Usilton

The best part of the trip was the mummies, and I liked the baby mummy in the cradle. The funniest part was the shoes that they were wearing.

John Carter

I thought that the trip to Philadelphia was very interesting. We went almost everywhere. We went to the Liberty Bell, the University of Pennsylvania and Congress Hall. We also went to the United States mint. Going through the downtown part of Philadelphia was fun. I think that the best part of all was Congress Hall. The museum was interesting. I liked the Egypt and China rooms most of all. The Liberty Bell and the mint were interesting, also. Congress Hall was best. We were allowed to sit in the representatives' chairs, and we found out who sat where. We also heard a speech on what went on and how Congress Hall was started. I thought it was the best part. I think that the trip was fun, and I wouldn't mind going again.

The City Council shall designate the number and salaries of the individual policemen which shall comprise the Police Force, and the Police Commissioner, upon recommendation of the Police Chief, shall choose and appoint the policemen. All such appointments shall be without definite terms.

The Chief of Police shall have the authority to supervise and direct the Police Force. He/she shall be directly responsible to, and shall carry out the recommendation and orders of the Police Commissioner regarding the operations of the Police Department. Pursuant to that authority, he/she shall promulgate Police Force Rules and Regulations which shall be approved by the Police Commissioner and presented to Council for adoption.

The Council shall have the authority to discipline, including suspension and/or dismissal from the force of any policeman for cause. Upon disciplinary action, suspension and/or dismissal from the Police Force pursuant to the above paragraph, the policeman involved shall have the right to appeal to the Police Commissioner who, upon giving notice and an opportunity to be heard to those persons concerned, shall confirm the action taken by the Chief or reinstate the Policeman.

In the event that a member of the Police Force is not satisfied with the decision made by the Police Commissioner, they may file an appeal to the City Council. Such an appeal shall be filed with the Secretary of Council, in writing, within five (5) working days from the date of the Police Commissioner's decision. The City Council shall have a hearing, on the appeal, within fifteen (15) calendar days of the date that the written appeal was filed with the Secretary of Council. During and pending said appeal, the Police Commissioner shall have the power to suspend the member of the Police Force making the appeal.

This Ordinance shall supersede any previous Ordinance creating the office of Police Commissioner.

Berry Funeral Homes
Dear friends,
How does one define the 'success' we wish to our graduates? Is it affluence - wealth - the physical status symbols of life? Or is it self-respect, self-realization, the inner joy that comes with a lifetime of helpfulness and service to family and community? Each graduate must decide the definition of success for herself and him. Respectfully,
William C. Berry, Jr.
