

Sondra Warren - Junior Broiler Champion

In one of the most closely contested Delaware Junior Broiler Contests on record, Sondra Warren of Frederica has been named 1981 Champion. The Kent county 4-H'er's total score of 94.3 topped all other entries judged during recent finals at Lake Forest Senior High School in Felton.

Close behind Sondra was Anne Moore of Wyoming, an F.F.A. member from Caesar Rodney High School, with a score of 94.05. Third place went to Cheryl Warren, a 4-H'er from Kenton, with 94.0 points.

Only 4.3 points separated the 1st and 20th placings, an amazingly close race, says George W. Chaloupka, University of Delaware extension poultry specialist. There were 102 entries altogether.

Besides having the highest total score, Sondra Warren also shared top honors for the heaviest entry with 4-H'er Sheila Bass of Viola. The top weight was 39.25 pounds for seven live birds entered, or an average of 5.61 pounds per bird. The heaviest average live weight in last year's contest was only 5.5 pounds. Overall average weight for all 1981 entries was 4.90 pounds per bird--.31 pounds heavier than last year for the same growth period.

Scores were based on a number of factors, including confirmation, condition, appearance and uniformity of entry, weight, and record-keeping. Each contestant started with 50 wing-banded chicks. The best seven of each flock were judged.

This is the second year in a row that the grow-out period has been limited to 47 days, says Chaloupka. In 1975 it took competing broiler chicks 53 days to reach an average live weight of 4.74 pounds. In 1965 it took birds 57 days to

Clara Hinzman "Mother of the Year"

Mrs. Clara Hinzman of near Harrington has been selected Mother of the Year from the Lake Forest District. Mrs. Hinzman, a farmer's wife, is the mother of two children, Terry, 15, and Donna 21. Terry is a freshman at Lake Forest and Donna is preparing to graduate in Human Services at Del Tech in Georgetown.

Mrs. Hinzman is involved in 4-H and also serves as a youth leader at Hickory Ridge Congregational Methodist Church in Greenwood. She is married to William Hinzman who is a dairyman for Delbert Cain here in Harrington.

Mrs. Hinzman in winning at Taylor & Messick store in Harrington will receive a $15 gift certificate to shop at that store. She and her husband will also be the guests of the Greater Harrington Chamber of Commerce and the participating merchants involved in this gigantic town-wide sale, for a weekend at the Atlantic Sands Hotel in Rehoboth Beach. They will enjoy an ocean front room for two nights together with their meals.

The merchants reported good sales during this gala celebration which in saluting a mother from this area serves as a first in this category. The merchants of Harrington are endeavoring to stimulate good will between themselves and the retail buying citizens of this area. "The response was good to this sale" said a merchant in the shopping center as Bob Taylor of Taylor's Hardware added too for the merchants in the downtown district.

Other winners were as follows: JoAnn Clough at Mr. Burger. She will receive chicken dinner for two; Virginia Benson at the Salvation Army and she will

Rawding Appointed

Jean M. Rawding of Felton has been appointed Marketing Administrator with Diamond State Telephone Company in Dover.

A native of Felton, Mrs. Rawding is a graduate of Felton High School. She joined Diamond State Telephone in 1953 in the Commercial Department and has held several positions in both the Commercial and Marketing Departments prior to this appointment.

Mrs. Rawding is married to Harry C. Rawding. They have two children, Mrs. Nancy R. Sapp, Mrs. Shirley R. Killen. The Rawdings have two grandchildren, Tara Lynn Sapp and Stephanie Lynn Killen. She is active in the Caesar Rodney Council in the Telephone Pioneers of America.

Mrs. Clara Hinzman, "Mother of the Year" (left) was congratulated by Marie Messick at Taylor & Messick of Harrington where the winning entry was submitted.

World War II Honor Roll to be Rededicated

American Legion C.K.R.T. Post # 7 and Boy Scout Troop 76 of Harrington are making plans to rededicate the World War II Honor Roll which previously stood on the post office grounds. Ceremonies for the refurbished honor roll at its new location will be held on traditional Memorial Day, May 30, at 11 a.m.

Spokesman, Ray Gagne, said there will be a special speaker and the Chipman Junior Band will take part in the ceremonies which will be conducted on the grassy plot across from Outten Insurance.

Contributions for the project are still being accepted by the American Legion and can be given to Ray Gagne at Stone's Hotel in Harrington.

Lights Out!

Candlelight would have been both appropriate and practical at Harrington's Hi-Grade or Mr. Burger, as well as at any of a number of residences along U. S. 13, Friday evening as a bolt of lightning shut off power to about 45 customers of Delmarva Power and Light.

The lights went out at Hi-Grade at approximately 7 p.m. following a lightning strike seemingly close by. A number of customers were left eating in the growing dusk, and Harrington police officer, Patrolman Paul Yannucci who was in the immediate vicinity, came in to hold a flashlight or battery powered lantern for Hi-Grade employees making change. Richard Johnson, spokesman for Delmarva Power & Light, said Monday that the lightning damaged several lightning arresters in the area and hit a sectionalizer (similar to a household circuit breaker) near the railroad track. It was about 40 minutes before power was restored.

Johnson also said that minor damage resulted in power outage to about 15 customers in Houston and 18 in Frederica during Friday night's storms.

Elsewhere, some interruption in CATV reception was also reported on Friday evening and continuing into Saturday.

Meredith Trash Case Pending

The "mills of the gods" do seem to move at a slow pace, and whether or not they "grind exceedingly small" may be open to question. But they are still moving. Or so says Harrington resident Norma Meredith who told the Journal this week that her dispute with the city over trash fees has still not been settled, but it is pending in Superior Court.

The case stems from 1978 when Mrs. Meredith clashed with the city over paying the .75 per week trash pick-up fee. She does not use the service and feels she should not have to pay the fee. The city feels otherwise, and its contention was upheld in the local alderman's court. Mrs. Meredith decided to carry the case further, and the case has been pending ever since.

Mrs. Meredith's lawyer said her argument is based on three factors:

1. the contention that the city acted improperly in creating the ordinance or charter change setting up the trash collection fees.

2. the fact that the city uses trash collection monies for general budget purposes other than trash pick up makes it an unfair tax upon residential property owners. Commercial property owners do not have to pay the fee (they haul their own trash or have it

Academics to Count More

Lake Forest High School in 1981-82 will add a new dimension comprised of two categories - Distinguished High Honors and Distinguished Honors - to its honor roll system. Both will depend upon achievement in a minimum three academic level courses in any given marking period. The traditional high honors and honors listings will continue but earning the scholar letter at the high school will henceforth be based upon making either of the two distinguished honor rolls a total of six times.

Beginning with the class of 1984 (this year's freshmen), greater weight will also be given to academic subjects in determining class rank. To this end, a factor of 0.5 point for each academic course completed will be added to the student's cumulative grade average. The new procedures, recommended by a nineteen-member committee appointed by Dr. Margaret Phelps and chaired by teacher Jane Moore, received the approval of the Lake Forest School Board at its Monday night meeting. The favorable decision was 4-1, with Board member Rick Feutz casting the only dissenting vote.

Concern that the present honor roll and class ranking procedures make no allowance for the difficulty of the courses taken prompted the four months of study which preceded the committee's recommendations. Currently, it is possible for students in general, basic or even special courses to rank higher than those enrolled in subjects at the academic level. Thus, a student with academic ability might well choose to switch to general English, for example, and coast to a higher rank and a place on the honor roll which he might not have achieved in attempting the more difficult course. At least one aim of the committee was to provide an incentive for able students to remain in academic courses.

The new procedures adopted were not without their critics. Most outspoken if these was Assistant Superintendent Melvin Luff who claimed they may discriminate against vocational or agricultural students. He said a vocational or agricultural course may be as difficult in its own way as any academic course. Luff worried that vocational or agricultural students might have problems in scheduling the three academic courses required for distinguished honors and earning the scholar letter. He also said he thought the selection of academic courses might be somewhat subjective and that learning in academic fields might depend more on rote memorization than practical, useful knowledge or skills.

Dr. Phelps defended weighing academic courses more heavily on the basis that the word "scholar", by definition refers to what might be described as book-learning.

Assistant Principal Richard Moretti said it should be possible for a vocational or agricultural student to fit in the three academic level courses each marking period. But it would mean setting priorities and making choices. It would be impossible, for instance, for a student attending Vo-Tech to elect band and still take three academic subjects.

Committee chairman Jane Moore reported that all departments at the high school were represented on the committee and that all had been invited to submit subjects for consideration as academic level.

Courses so identified by the committee are the traditional academic levels

Harrington Rotary Remembers

The Harrington Rotary Club recently presented flowers to the following three churches in Harrington: Metropolitan Episcopal Church, A. M. E. and Holiness. The Rotary Club of Harrington would like to express their concern in regards to the terrible violation of human rights that has befallen the Black Community in Atlanta, Ga. These acts of violence have no place in a free society. When they do occur, it affects all of us who consider ourselves Christians and Americans. Our hearts go out to the congregations of these three churches and to all black Americans during this particular time of need. Let these flowers serve as a sign of our deepest concern and sympathy, was the message from the Rotary Club.

Board Sets Rate

The Lake Forest School Board Monday night set the local school tax rate for the coming year at $1.16 for each $100 of assessed value of real estate and $15.00 capitation. Eleven cents was dropped from the 1980-81 tax rate of $1.27 because that amount, slotted for special transportation under the tuition tax, was no longer needed when the state decided to pick up the special transportation bill.

The new tax rate for 1981-82 breaks down as follows: Minor capital improvements - .04, Tuition - .085, Current expenses - .90, Debt service - .135.

Reflected in that breakdown are two reductions in the debt service portion of the tax and increases in the current expense and tuition categories. By referendum last fall the Board received permission to transfer .15 of the then .35 collected for the debt service to the current expense fund. Since then, the surplus building up in the debt service account because of inflated values of real estate has still grown beyond State auditor's recommendation.

At the same time tuition costs (the monies paid out by the district to enroll students with special needs in special schools, for those with hearing impairments, etc.) has risen. This year the .02 allocated for those costs did not cover the expense and it was necessary to pay part of the bill out of current expense funds.

The tuition tax is a discretionary tax that can be raised without referendum. The Board decided to raise that portion of the real estate tax by .065 to recover the funds borrowed from the current expense account and to pay the tuition costs anticipated for the coming year. Correspondingly, it lowered the debt service tax by .065 to .135, a move which will, in effect, keep the overall tax rate the same.

Assistant Superintendent Melvin Luff had first suggested lowering the debt service tax by .10. But sentiment expressed by teachers, some board members and others present at the meeting was in favor of retaining the remaining .035 (after the transfer of .065 to tuition purposes) with the idea that another referendum might be held to transfer that amount to the current expense fund.

The tax rate as set was approved by a 3-2 vote with Board members Garey, Chambers and Gussett voting in favor, and Price and Feutz opposed.

In other business, the Lake Forest Board of Education: hired Barbara Adams (Chipman English), Baxter Smith (Chipman Science), Barbara Shalley (Chipman and high school Spanish) and Beverly Rennie

By Joyce Jefferson

An organization called The Barbadees Company was brought into being in 1685 by merchants of the island of Barbadoes. On October 20, 1685 they purchased of John Edmonson, a merchant of Talbot County, Md., several large tracts of land as follows: Edmonds Berry, one thousand acres; Plains of Jerico, twelve hundred acres; Long Acre, one thousand acres; and Longford, six hundred acres, all lying on or near the main branch of Murderkill Creek and mostly in Milford Hundred. The most of this land was subsequently sold by Francis Gamble to the Pennsylvania Land Company. The latter Company was formed in London a few years after Penn's arrival in this country, and they continued in operation buying and selling land till about 1780 when their lands were all sold.

This information given in Scharg's History of Delaware precedes a list of some of the lands, located in what was then Mispillion Hundred, and the original owner. There is a long list of purchasers when the majority of the Pennsylvania Land Company holdings were sold in Philadelphia between 5 July 1762 and 7 June 1774.

By 1775 the name of the company had been changed to the London Company however the same agents were retained in Philadelphia. Jacob Cooper, Samuel Shoemaker and Joshua Howell after giving notice in the Pennsylvania Gazette on 8 July 1775 sold at public auction the last four parcels of land held by the company in this area. The company created by an Act of Parliament during the 33 years of the reign of George the 2nd sold the last property in Delaware during the 18th year of the reign of George the 3rd on 20 February 1777. Which was seven months after the signing of the Declaration of Independence.

The buyer of that tract of land was William Carpenter, Jr., yeoman, of Mispillion Hundred. The land was described as being in Mispillion Hundred and part of two larger tracks of land, one called Drapers Berry originally surveyed for Alexander Draper, the other called Longford originally surveyed for John Rawlings. Beginning at a corner of the whole tract and a tract called Ancaster standing by the run of the main branch of Murderkill Creek...to part of Ancaster possessed by William Carpenter...to the boundary of heirs of Benjamin Brown.

On 31 August 1775 the London Company had sold to William Cardeen, yeoman, of Mispillion Hundred a parcel of land containing about 36 acres lying in Mispillion Hundred and part of a larger tract called Plains of Jerico, bounded by other lands of William Cardeen and by land purchased by Mary and Thomas Williams also part of tract called Plains of Jerico...and to boundary of Daniel Smith Lands also part of the same larger tract.

On 22 November 1775 Daniel Smith yeoman of the Forest of Mispillion purchased from the London Company land containing 121 acres part of tract called Plains of Jerico and bounded by part called Pothalia Plains...sold by trustees to Thomas Williams...to intersection with Thomas Barkers Land, marked as No. 14 on the draught of the division and several sales of the land under the hand of Mark McCall surveyer...to a corner of tract purchased by Seth Catlin...to that land owned by Martha Start. On the same day, 22 Nov. 1774, Seth Catlin, Bricklayer, of the Forest of Mispillion purchased from the London Company 32 acres of land part of tract known as Plains of Jerico bounded by lands of Thomas Barker and also part of tract purchased by Daniel Smith...and bounded by land of Martha Start...and lands of Daniel Smith...to the line of the whole tract originally surveyed for Alec Peak called Pothalia Plains.

Thomas Robinson, of Sussex County, was prominent during the Revolutionary period for his Tory sentiments and antagonism of the patriots. He was tried on the charge of treason and found guilty of being "an enemy to his country and a contumacious opposer of liberty and the natural rights of mankind". Part of the charges brought against him concerned an incident which occurred 10 July 1775. "Peter Watson swore that he was at Robinson's store on the head of Indian River, and saw John Gozlin, clerk to Robinson, sell two parcels of tea, "one of which he delivered to a girl, the other to Leatherberry Barker's wife", the tea being taken out of a canister holding twelve to fifteen pounds." In response to a summons to appear and answer, Robinson sent a contemptuous message. He was fined 1000 pounds, had his property confiscated and was obliged to flee to Canada. Subsequently he returned to Sussex County, where he died. Thomas Robinson was a brother of Judge Peter Robinson, also of Sussex County, who was appointed justice of the Supreme Court of the State, 8 Oct. 1793.

The branch office of Pensupreme was robbed of $800 in cash and checks early Tuesday morning.

S/Sgt. William L. Biddle, U.S.M.C., who has been visiting his parents, Mr. & Mrs. W.S. Biddle, of Felton, has returned to his California base...Sgt. Biddle left Washington Tuesday on the Bataan, the private plane of Gen. MacArthur, which was being flown back to Korea to Lt.-Gen. Ridgway, United Nations Commander.

Nyle Callaway, near McCollees Pond, recently sent in town a copy of the "Harrington Enterprise", probably the town's first newspaper. This copy was of Dec. 11, 1884 and was No. 23 of Volume II. Thus, the newspaper was probably founded in the late summer of 1883. Editors and proprietors were J.E. Horney and J.P. Hopkins...The newspaper had four pages and was unusual in that it was 26 3/4 inches long and 19 inches wide. Consequently, the publication, which had eight columns, had a much larger sheet than is seen in current-day newspapers. Because of their large size, they were often referred to as blanket newspapers.

Some local items from the aforementioned copy of the "Harrington Enterprise":

- Chas. Warrington has bet that he can eat thirty partridges in 30 days.
- The Milford "News" says there has been 1,000,000 peach trees planted in Kent and Sussex counties this fall.

We think our good brother has over-shot a little.

- Joseph Booth will move in town at the end of the year. Mr. Booth is a solid Democrat after the Jeffersonian style. We are glad to have Mr. Booth with us.

been accepted for honors. A "B" is a grade between 83 and 91.

Mrs. Moore said her committee had contacted all public high schools in the state of Delaware for information concerning their procedures with regard to honor roll and class rank.

The new procedures will be subject to review after one year.

-Grading Policy Change-
The Lake Forest Board also approved as the first reading, a grading policy change which would eliminate the minimum grade of 50 for the final marking period of any course. 50 has been set as the lowest grade in any course that could be recorded on the report card. This was to prevent a student from receiving such a low grade in the initial marking periods that he would be discouraged from working at all since, no matter what he did, he would be doomed to failure. The change is intended to take up the slack on the other end by preventing him from coasting on his early record in the knowledge that he can get no lower grade than 50. From now on, in the final marking period of any course, if a student earns only a 10, his report card will show a 10.

reach an average weight of 4.39 pounds. Back in 1955 competing broilers averaged only 3.8 pounds after 74 days. Today's shorter growth period is possible because of newer strains of faster-growing, feed-efficient broiler chickens.

In addition to the first three winners, cash prizes went to the following contestants: Kelly McDowell, Newark (4th); Ernest and Nancy Skaggs of Clayton (5th and 6th); Lori Smith, Townsend (7th); Sheila Bass, Viola (8th); Holly Webb, Wyoming (9th); J.R. Blackburn, Wyoming (10th); Wayne Carlisle, Dover (11th); Jane Niblett, Bear (12th); Keith Warrington, Bridgeville (13th); Robby Mitchell, Laurel (14th); Dale Cook, Kenton (15th); Barbara McClements, Dover (16th); Wayne Wilson, Odessa (17th); Chris Majchrzak, Seaford (18th); Aaron Mitchell, Laurel (19th); and Kenny Warren, Kenton (20th);.

The Delaware Junior Broiler Program is an educational project sponsored by the Delaware Poultry Improvement Association and the Delaware Cooperative Extension Service. Its purpose is to teach boys and girls how to raise a good flock of chickens, keep records and develop responsibility. Hatcherymen, feed dealers, Vo-Ag instructors, 4-H club agents, as well as local service clubs, all cooperate in the event.

It is said that Louis XIV of France owned 412 beds.

WINTERTHUR, DEL. - Special family activities will highlight Wintertthur in Odessa's annual Spring Festival on Sunday, May 24, 1:00 to 5:00 p.m. The festival will recreate early nineteenth-century life in Odessa, one of Delaware's best-preserved communities.

This year's festival also marks the public opening of the new Brick Hotel Gallery of American Art, administered by the Wintertthur Museum. The gallery features the Sewell C. Biggs Collection of paintings, furniture and silver in a completely renovated building.

The State Theatre of Pennsylvania, the historic Bucks County Playhouse, will present "Man of LaMancha" at the Grand Opera House in Wilmington for 10 performances, May 28 - June 7. The Opera House staff and Playhouse officials are hopeful that this first visit to Delaware will lead to a future co-production arrangement between the Grand Opera House which is the Delaware Center for the Performing Arts and the Bucks County Playhouse which is the State Theatre of Pennsylvania.

"Man of LaMancha" will open at the Grand Opera House on Thursday, May 28th and run through Sunday, June 7th, with matinees on Saturdays and Sundays.

Tickets range from $8.50 - $14.50 and are available at the Grand Opera House box office and via phone reservations and credit card charges at (302) 652-5577.

Stephen Gunzenhauser, music director of the Delaware Symphony Orchestra, will conduct the Orchestra at its debut on the Delaware Coast when, on July 6, it plays in Lewes to help celebrate the town's 350th birthday. The program for the Lewes concert will be announced later but a "rousing 4th of July" program is promised.

Photographer of the Year Award. The sweepstakes winner (highest total points accumulated by a school in the writing competitions) was Brandywine High School.

From Lake Forest High School, John Nored took second place in the Critical Review/Senior High Category.

Math League Awards Announced

The statewide Mathematics League for secondary schools, sponsored by the Delaware Council of Teachers of Mathematics, completed its fourth year of league competition again this year. Forty-four (44) high school teams and ninety (90) junior high school teams completed their season of five (5) meets each on March 2, 1981. A total of 1,850 students were registered from Delaware public, private and parochial schools. The state was divided into five (5) regions for the high school league and eighteen (18) regions for the junior high school league.

An awards dinner was held May 13, 1981 at the Sheraton Inn, Newark, Delaware, for the individual high scorers in each region and level of competition. A total of thirty-five (35) individual awards were presented.

Regional Team Awards went to Lake Forest High School in Region B at the ninth grade level and the W.T. Chipman Junior High School in Region F at the seventh grade level.

Lake Forest Freshmen John Donato and Michael Weis were regional winners in Region B.

In addition, each student participating in the league this year will receive at their school awards day a Certificate of Mathematics Recognition from the Council and each top scorer for each team at the local school level will receive a mathematics medal.

The awards dinner and the participation of two (2) Delaware high school mathematics teams in the annual high school Atlantic Region Mathematics League (ARML) was made possible by a grant to DCTM from the E.I. duPont Nemours Company - Committee on Educational Aid. The ARML will be represented by the top thirty scorers in the DCTM high school mathematics league this year. The ARML will be held at the University of Maryland, College Park, Maryland, on June 5 & 6, 1981.

Larry Guessford of Lake Forest High School will participate as a member of DCTM high school Team B in the competition.

Get Together and Talk With Our Neighbors

Senior Center

By Dorothy Graham 398-3780

In the golden chain of friendship, consider me a link!
Sylvia Meredith was leader of Bible Study Monday morning. She started with a prayer and several songs. The topic was Jesus walks on the water - Matthew, Chapter 14, Verses 22-32. Clare Judy read a poem, "Motherhood". Mildred Vincent read a poem, "Your Wings of Faith".
Monday afternoon President Marion Brown called the members meeting to order; Pledge of Allegiance; prayer by Sylvia Meredith. Sec. Andy Anderson read the minutes of last meeting. Merle Roth, Financial Sec., read her report. Both reports were approved as read. It was voted to buy a C.D. Certificate for the Building Fund.
The money from the Golden Eagle articles is going also to the Building Fund. Gertrude Morgan and Cleora Vincent are filling the post of Manna Counsel. It was vacated by Hazel Latch and Bertha Dean. Sylvia Meredith is Chairlady of the Nominating Committee. Meeting was adjourned.
Most of the band went to Christianna Mall Tuesday morning. Still those present did carry on first rate. Sylvia was at the piano. Andy Anderson, Tony, Cecil, Marion and Roxanne, Lili, Mamie, Elsie and Essie - as always their music was knee slapping, toe tapping good!
Over 30 went to Christianna Mall Tuesday morning. It was a special Older Americans' Day there. Ruth Phillippi was chaperone.
This week has been go-go-go. Wednesday, many from Harrington went county wide at Dover Senior Center (Modern Maturity). They thoroughly enjoyed the program and seeing the new center. They told of the dancing, pool, music, and the talk by the attorneys.

Thursday, Barbara Evans and Jeanette LeGates were here with crochet and macrame. It is pleasant to see such beautiful pieces finished and new ones begun.
Bowling at Milford Lanes - High scorers were Dave McCracken and Alice Houston. More power to you folks; keep up the bowling! Bingo was the order of business Wednesday afternoon. It is truly interesting when the card begins to get filled. Elizabeth Anthony called.
Thursday night, Carl Nelson, President of the Board of Directors, called the members to order at 7:30. Previous minutes and the financial report were read by the Board. Recommended for nomination: President - Ruth Phillippi; Vice President - Jeanette LeGates; Rec. Sec. - Merle Roth; Treasurer - Tony Perrone Jr., Kathryn Smith, Gertrude Morgan, Rev. Markley, Robert Everline and Agnes Harris. Many things were discussed. Why not come out and support your center? I want to thank all past Board members for their concern and consideration. The meeting was adjourned at 9:10 p.m.
Bill Philips gave a film on the heart Friday afternoon.
Best Wishes to All. Thinking of those in sorrow and they do have our sympathy. Hope those in the hospital or confined at home take care - we are anxiously awaiting your return; the rest of you come on over!
Do you have a favorite diary quote? Let's here from you. Don't put off till tomorrow what you can do today! Faith.

Local Interest

The Harrington Journal would like to apologize for the error in Joanne Wyatt's Column last week. The correct story follows:
Mr. and Mrs. Charles Peck, Dr. and Mrs. Robert Ricker, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Peck, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Blades and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Draper of Smyrna were dinner guests on Friday, May 8th, at the Shawnee Country Club in Milford. The group later returned to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Peck for ice cream and cake. The occasion was in honor of Charles and Nancy's birthdays which fall on the same day, May 8th. Happy Birthday Mr. Peck and Mrs. Ricker!
The Tuesday evening bridge club were dinner guests of Mrs. George Vapaa at her home at Moore's Lake in Dover.
Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Lewis are proud to announce the birth of their son, Jason Michael. Master Lewis made his arrival at 3:53 p.m. on Thursday, May 14th. He weighed a healthy 10 lbs. 10 oz. He will be welcomed home by his big brother and big sister, B. J. and April. Congratulations to the Lewis family.
The W. T. Chipman Jr. High School Band will be performing their annual Spring Concert on Wednesday evening May 20, at 7:30 p.m. They are under the direction of Mr. Alex Becton.
Last Monday evening, May 11, the Viola Fireflies 4-H held a drug seminar at Steele's Roller Rink in Felton. It was well attended!
The Lake Forest High School Jazz Band will be in concert Friday evening, May 22, at 7:30 p.m. in the Blue Hen Mall, Dover. Come on out and support them!
Mr. and Mrs. Everett Larimore called on Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Anthony on Wednesday evening.
Mrs. Sallie Needles and Elizabeth Morrow of Felton on Friday afternoon.
On Sunday evening, May 17th at 7:00 p.m. the Christian Youth Crusaders (CYC) held their honor council at Calvary Wesleyan Church. From the Jaybells, the Heralds, and the Cadets we heard nursery rhymes, pledges and songs of praise. They all received awards they earned throughout the year from leaders and parents. After the service, everyone saw displays of their crafts, pictures and a list of places they went and missionaries for this year. Thanks to all the dedicated leaders who put out a lot of love, time and effort to make this year and this honor council a success. Congratulations to each and every one of the children who received awards. They worked hard all year for them.
Brownies from Troop #332 spent Friday evening preparing for a camping trip. They made dunk bags and miser bags. They were served warm Brownies by Mrs. Smith. Then they had a slumber party at the home of Mr.

and Mrs. Ron Rapp. Those attending were, Chastity Emory, Diane Hayward, Theresa Hill, Mia Benson, Sonya Wessells, Shauna Wyatt, Brandi Winkler, Kate Vogelen, Schneir Johnson, Dawn Roberts, Sherri Rust, Lara Smith, and Stacy Frazier. On Saturday morning the girls went on a hike with Mrs. Linda Rapp, leader.
Saturday visitors of Mrs. Elizabeth Anthony were Mrs. Clarence Brown, Mrs. Chick Nichols, and Mrs. Howard Clark, all of Bridgeton, New Jersey, Mrs. John Donovan of Wilmington, Mrs. Lloyd Dimmitt of near Milford, Mr. Joe Brown of Baltimore, Md., Mr. Joe Gordan of Wilmington, North Carolina and Mr. Ashby Brown of Denton, Md.
Mrs. Sallie Needles and Mrs. Elizabeth Anthony visited in Seaford on Sunday afternoon.
Visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Brown this week have been Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bradley and Angel, Steven and Tra Visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Brown this week have been Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bradley and Angie, Steven and Tracy Brown, and Mr. and Mrs. Willard Cornish.
The Junior-Senior Prom was held Saturday evening, May 16th at Lake Forest High School.
Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Brown visited with Mr. and Mrs. Willis Rust on Friday afternoon.
Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wix visited with Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Welch, Sr. on Sunday evening.
Mr. Edward Collins is a patient in Milford Memorial Hospital. Wishing him well.
Sympathy is extended to Mrs. Elizabeth Anthony on the passing of her brother.
Mrs. Grace Welch is still on the sick list. Please keep her in your prayers. Get well soon, Grace!
Well wishes to all.
Take Care, Share a Smile, God Bless.

Gabfest

By Pat Hatfield 349-4255

The days go by and I am rapidly getting to feel like my old self again. It will be fun to resume my normal routine, but, in the meantime, I am one to enjoy whatever life presents to me. Of course it was not much fun during the days I was desperately ill, but that, too, has passed. As soon as I was better I enjoyed the loving attention of the nurses, and the jolly, encouraging visits from my good doctor and friend, "Robbie". A busy housewife does not get too much waiting on at home, so I settled down to appreciate it. It was a big treat to have someone always at hand to rub my back, adjust my pillow, or get me a glass of ginger ale. And the food was fantastic. As soon as I was able to eat, the pretty trays were a treat. Nanticoke Hospital does well by its cuisine.
Now, I'm still being spoiled here with Ellen and her family. And it is fun to be a part of an active growing family. Week day mornings are a glorious confusion with the children getting off to school. Ellen presides at the stove, filling the various orders. Teddy usually wants bacon, Hilary is looking for her favorite cereal, and Garith is asking for her special egg, which is an egg deposited in the middle of a hole cut in the toast. Milk is being poured along with orange juice, and "Baby", the macaw joins in yelling for "Apple, Cracker". The children run up and downstairs and we hear cries of: "Where's my blue blouse?", "Oh, no! Mom! You didn't wash my wrangler jeans", "I left my gym clothes in school", "I forgot to do my homework", "I did mine, but now I can't find it", "Why can't I wear the red dress, Mommy?", "Where's my lunch money?". The two small Yorkies start barking shrilly and are told by "Baby" to "Stop, it, Dog", and then he laughs loudly.... just like a person....which starts us all off. Eventually they head out the door with a "Bye-Bye" from "Baby", and Ellen and I sit down quietly to recover with the remains of our breakfast.

A few days after I got out of the hospital, Dad came down with pneumonia, also, but fortunately he was not quite so ill and is recovering quickly.
I'm still receiving cards and good wishes, and of course Mother's Day brought more. Thank you still and always, dear Readers, with all my heart.
By the way, who knows how to make a rose jar with the petals? Ellen has such lovely roses and she has the petals in a bowl to dry, but I think you do something else. Do you add spices or what?

Report from Hickory Ridge Congregational Methodist Church: On a recent Sunday we had a special blessing through a musical program. The Hartsville Christian High School Chorale of Hartsville, Ohio, a chorus of about thirty-five voices, presented "The Song of Love" at the morning worship service. The Mennonite people are well known for their beautiful singing.
We were also blessed on a Sunday evening by the beautiful singing of the Washington Bible College Women's Chorus. Prior to the service we enjoyed a time of fellowship and a delicious meal together.
It is good to have George Johnson back in our service again, after many months of illness. Lester Draper is still confined at home. Mrs. Mary Usher has had quite a stay in Nanticoke Hospital. Stephen Draper has had surgery at Milford Hospital and Mabel Farrow has been ill in Milford.
The ladies of our W.M.S. are planning a Tupperware Party on May 26. Everyone is invited. If you are unable to attend, you may call in your order.
On April 21 at 7 p.m. 38 youths and adults from the church met at the Woodbridge Jr. High School gym to enjoy two hours of fun. Many participated in the volleyball and basketball games, while a few watched the action from the bleachers. Both the participants and the spectators enjoyed this evening of fellowship and fun. Those that attended would like to thank Edna Sharp and Allen Everline for their thoughtfulness in helping sponsor this event.

Anne's Kitchen

Fresh asparagus are available for such a short time each year, I can't resist buying them in spite of the usually high cost. Most times I enjoy them simply boiled, sprinkled with salt and pepper and squirted with the juice of a fresh lemon. Other times I like to treat them with the respect they deserve and prepare them in my own special way. It changes from a vegetable to a main course. Add a crusty loaf of Italian bread, a salad, and a glass of white wine and you will have a meal fit for a king. That's Italian.

ASPARAGUS WITH PROSCIUTTO
1 bunch of asparagus -
8 (approx.) long thin slices of Pro-

ciutto or country style ham.
1/2 cup butter
3 tablespoons grated Romano cheese.
1. Cook tender part of asparagus in briskly boiling water 10 minutes or until tender. (A coffee pot serves well for this). Drain well.
2. Wrap 3 stalks in each slice of prosciutto and fasten with a toothpick.
3. Place in greased baking dish, sprinkle with half the butter and cheese and bake at 400 degrees 5-7 minutes. Remove from oven, pour on remaining butter and serve immediately.
ENJOY!

Girls 2nd In Henlopen Meet

By Keith S. Burgess

Lake Forests' girls were a strong second to Dover high, in the Henlopen Championship meet held at Dover, Friday and Saturday.

The Spartans' point total was 99 to Dovers' 119 1/2. Caesar Rodney was third with 81 points. No one else was close.

Carol Payne was Lake Forests' only winner, taking the 200 meter hurdles, in 31.8 tying her Lake Forest mark. Tracy Cramer, a splendid freshman hurdler, was second in 32.1. Cramer seems destined to merit a lot of ink, over the next three years.

Freshman Sharon Burton surprised by spinning the discuss 104 feet, 5 inches, shattering her own Lake Forest mark of 91-10 1/2. Sharon finished second. She has not learned the classic "spin" discuss technique yet. If she can master this art, she should put the state record, out of sight, for a few years.

Donna Pardee acquitted herself nobly in fast company. Pardee was third in the 400 meters in 82 seconds flat, with Annette Baynard next in 62.2. Pardee, at 800 meters, seemed out of contention, late in the race, but started a move that brought her into second place and just missed catching Laurel's Connie Brown. Pardee (2:31.8) might be champ today, if she had started her "kick", a little earlier.

Carol Payne's new Lake Forest mark of 15.9, broke her old school record of 16.2 to get second in the 100 meter hurdles. Muriel Green was fifth with a new personal mark of 16.6.

Freshman Nancy Badman, a long-striding blonde was used in relays and the triple jump, all season and performed admirably. After clocking 12.93 for 100 meters, in practice, Coach

Blades switched the McGinness Pond speedster, to the century. That's a lot of pressure, for a ninth-grader, to try a new event, for the first time in the league championship meet.

But Badman bolted past three of the conference's to sprinters to get third place, in 13.1, behind superstars, Michelle Stanley of Dover who set a new meet record and Chandler of Caesar Rodney.

Michelle Mango was fifth at 200 meters in 27.3, the first lady Spartan, to break 28 seconds, this season. Mango Badman, Pandora Scott and Sheri Durant were third in the 400 meter relay, in 52.2 1981's best Spartan clocking.

In the 3200 meter relay, a quarter of Sheri Coburn, Sheila White, Carolyn Winder and Annette Baynard was fifth, in 11:01.6.

Freshman Caritha Clarke was fourth, in the triple jump with a leap of 34-9, just off her school record.

In the 1600 meter relay, Woodbridge had beaten the Spartans twice, in earlier meets. Coach Blades changed his strategy for this one. He moved his best runner, Donna Pardee, from the first leg to the last leg, reasoning that she would run harder there, especially if someone was ahead of her. The strategy worked as Pardee left the Woodbridge anchor behind and finished a close second to Dover. The Spartan unit of Pardee, Baynard, Carolyn Winder and Carol Payne, clocked 4:15, almost three seconds faster, than any previous 1981 effort.

Lake Forest loses only two heavy scorers, by graduation in Carol Payne and Annette Baynard. If everyone else reports next spring, look for another excellent team, in 1982.

A Spartan hitter makes a connection as the Lake Forest girls faced Smyrna Monday afternoon.

Spartans Out Run IR

By Keith S. Burgess

Jim Blades' Spartan trackmen won all but four events in a one-sided meet with Indian River, the only Southern Division school to beat the champion Spartans in 1980.

Spartan speed merchant, Gerald "Peanut" Perry entered the Spartan record book, as he blazed to a 10.7 clocking for 100 meters. Jeff and Ray DeShields completed the sweep here. Perry completed a double by winning the 200, in a swift 22.7. Perry, Jeff and Jeffrey DeShields and James Browne clocked 45.7, in the 400 meter relay.

Page Pulley was first, in the shot put, hurling the 12 pound ball 45 feet, 8 inches, a new personal best. Pulley also took the discuss with a throw of 126.4.

Rob Prutzman, a freshman, recorded an excellent 43-4, for third, in the shot and 118 feet for second in the discuss.

Senior Jay Howerin and sophomore, James Lofland, were first and second, in both the 1500 and 3000 meter runs. Howerin clocked 4:22 and 9:38.

Indian Rivers' high jumper experienced an exercise in futility. He cleared six feet, a fine effort, but got only third as Fred Goodman and James Browne, managed the same height, but with fewer misses.

Manny Hernandez reached personal bests, by winning the 800 in 2:09 plus finished third in 4:34, in the 1500. Hernandez then joined Bruce Tolson, Sheldon Powell and Nelson Mosley to take the 1600 meter relay, in 3:52.7.

Tony Scott (43.8) Kevin Smith and Tony Pettyjohn swept the triple jump, with Smith also getting second, in the long jump.

Powell and Tolson were 2-3 in the 400 meter relay as were Jerome Scott and Ralph Young, in the high hurdles and Jerome and Tony Scott, in the intermediate hurdles.

Jerry Mosley, a sophomore, ran a good 2:12.8, for third, in the 800 meter run.

Girls Test Unbeaten Dover

By Keith S. Burgess

In a meeting between undefeated division champions, Grover Johnson's strong, Dover Senators, took a hard-fought 74-58 verdict over Jim Blades' youthful, Lake Forest Spartans.

The Spartans are loaded with freshmen and sophomores and should be the team of the future, in the Henlopen Conference.

Sophomore Donna Pardee was a double winner triumphing over strong opposition, in both the 400 & 62.2) and 800 (2:34.7) meter runs.

Gina Turner won the 3000 meter run in 12:42.5, then qualified for the state meet, by placing second to Dover veteran, Noreen Maher, in the 1500 meter run.

Carol Payne tied her Lake Forest record of 16.2, to get second, in the 100 hurdles, then took the 200 hurdles, in 32.1.

Freshman Sharon Burton spun the discuss 91 feet, 10 1/2 inches, to set a new Spartan mark. Sharon should put that mark out of sight by 1984.

Carolyn Winder, Payne, Pardee and Annette Baynard ran 4:20.2 to capture the mile relay.

Pandora Scott, Michelle Mango, freshmen Susie Johnson and Nancy Badman relayed 800 meters in 1:50.8, for another Spartan victory.

Caritha Clarke and Karen Gibbs were 2-3, in both the long and triple jumps. Gibbs was second and Kim Moehlenkamp third, in the high jump.

Indian Rivers' girls forfeited to Lake Forest, last week. In an impromptu, intra-squad meet, two pleasant surprises occurred. First, freshman Nancy Badman, here-to-fore, a relay and a jumper, became the first Spartan to run 100 meters, in 12.9, this spring.

No one had beaten 28 seconds, in the 200. Hurdler Carol Payne clocked 27.02, with Badman right behind, in 27.26.

Morris Compete In Local "10's"

On Saturday, May 16, Brad Morris competed in the Milford Hospital Fair's 10K run. In a field of over 130 runners, Brad finished 8th overall and first in the 25-29 age category. He covered the 6.2 mile course with a time of 38:07. On Sunday, May 17, Brad and Nick Morris competed in Ocean City's Sea Side 10 mile race. About 500 runners completed the scenic course which included the boardwalk. Brad finished with a time of 68:22, while Nick, recovering from a knee injury, covered the course in 79:29.

Harrington Senior League

To start off this week's Senior League activities the Monday's game between Taylor & Messick & Peoples Bank was rained out.

Tuesday Pitt's Farm scored 6 runs to I. G. Burton's one run. The I. G. Burton boys were hitting the ball but couldn't get it out of the infield. Danny Gemmill of Pitts Farm had a hit in deep left and a hit to center field & scored 2 runs for them. Jimmie Haines also had a nice hit between center & right field earning a run for Pitts. Scottie Fleming scored the only run for I. G. Burton.

Wednesday's game between Peoples Bank & First National Bank was a hard fought game to the last minute. Both teams were hitting & the final score was 10 runs for First National Bank & 9 for Peoples Bank. Timmy Stump & Gary Moore were credited with 2 runs for Peoples Bank, Bruce Enslin, Daryl Harris, Jeff Melvin, Lennie Benson & Keith Chandler with 1 each. Roy Killen, Martin (Buck) Bordley, Dana Murray, Vontrel Seft scored 2 runs for First National Bank and Kevin Sipple & Brian Baker one each.

Thursday I. G. Burton scored 4 runs & Taylor & Messick 3 runs. Frank Coverdale, George Acree, Jimmie Green & John Kirby did the scoring for I. G. Burton. Albert Silbereisen was on the mound & Frank Coverdale was catching for I. G. Burton. Joe Dopirak, Mike Cole, & Jimmy Moss scored for Taylor and Messick. Jimmie Moss was their pitcher & Gregg Sherman catcher.

Friday's game between Pitts Farm & First National Bank was also rained out.

Below are the league standings after the second week of league play. I. G. Burton, 3 wins and one loss. Pitts Farm, 2 wins and one loss. Peoples Bank, 1 win and 2 losses. Taylor & Messick, 1 win and 2 losses. First National Bank, 1 win and 2 losses.

Harringtonians Entertained at Rosecroft

About 85 people from Harrington and most of whom are employed at the First National Bank of Harrington were guests of the management namely Harringtonians...General Manager of Rosecroft W. W. "Pete" Shaw, Sr. and his wife Bernice, on Saturday night. A bus picked up most of its passengers in the parking lot of the First National Bank of Harrington and carried them directly to Rosecroft Raceway.

It was the biggest racing night of the year in Maryland for Rosecroft was hosting the William Miller Memorial won by Seahawk Hanover in 1:58. It was believed to be the largest crowd of the year at the Rosecroft track.

According to Exec. V. P. and Cashier David Jones, "...the affair was one of the best that I have attended. The buffet style meal was excellent and I think that everyone found the beef to be exceptional. Mr. Shaw, who is a member of our Board of Directors at the Bank, each year invites the bank officers and their wives, directors and their wives as well as his own personal guests to the track facility. It is a very nice gesture on his part and it shows that he has kept in touch with his many friends in Harrington. The Hors D'oueres were out of this world, which consisted of shrimp and crab balls. In addition to the fine meal, the guests of Mr. Shaw were treated to a fine card of racing."

Handlebar-Banging Finish

HARRINGTON, De.--It was the kind of finish this handlebar-banging, mud-slinging racing circuit deserved. In a way, the face for the American Motorcyclist Association (AMA) Winston Pro Series riding championship typified the kind of racing the competitors were involved in every week. In an word, it was CLOSE.

The 1980 championship went down to the final race. Randy Goss entered the final race of the season with a bare four-point lead over Hank Scott. Scott finished ahead of Goss in the face, taking third place in the 20-lap final. But Goss finished just two places back, enabling him to maintain his points lead by the narrowest margin in AMA history--one point!

Goss and Scott will be going head-to-head again this season. Area racing fans can watch them slug it out June 6 when the 26-race Winston Pro Series circuit returns to Harrington, Delaware's state fairgrounds for the Pabst AMA Classic.

The series championship won't be on the line at Harrington, but that won't make the racing any less exciting. The Pabst AMA Classic is held near the end of the first half of the series season and the points leader will earn the lion's share of the $35,000 distributed to the top 10 riders at mid-season. The Harrington race will help establish that big bonus winner. Also at stake is the $22,000 in prize money that will be paid out by race co-promoters, J.M. Productions of Hamburg, N.Y. and the Delaware State Fair.

The Pabst AMA Classic is sponsored by the Wilson Beverage Company of Delaware, Pabst Brewing Company and R.J. Reynolds. Ticket information may be obtained by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope to: Motorcycle, Delaware State Fair, Box 28, Harrington, DE 19952 or by calling (302) 398-3269.

Spartan Boys Vie In Loop Track Meet

By Keith S. Burgess

Lake Forest's boys' track team did not fare well in the point totals in the Henlopen Conference Meet, but showed improvement in several areas.

Gerald "Peanut" Perry won the 100 meters in 11 seconds flat and was fourth in the 200 meters, in 22.7. Perry, a sophomore, burst into prominence this season.

Freshman Rob Prutzman is by far the best ninth grade weightman ever at Lake Forest. Prutzman didn't score in the shot, but his 44 feet is a new personal mark. His discuss toss of 129 feet, 4 1/2 inches, got him sixth place in a Lake Forest High for 1981 and qualifies him for the State Meet. Junior Page Pulley threw the shot 45 feet, 5 inches, to get sixth place.

A young team in the 3200 meter relay came in sixth in 8:32.5. Manny Hernandez, Jerry Mosley, Kevin Greene and James Lofland carried the Lake Forest baton.

Freshman Jerome Scott, whose ability may have persuaded a couple of 1980 Spartan hurdlers not to return, was fourth in the 110 meter high hurdles, in 15.6.

Jay Howerin was fifth in the 1500 meters in a new personal, best clocking of 4:16.9. James Lofland was sixth.

Fred Goodman, a junior, was undefeated in conference dual meets and might have been conference champion, but did not compete because of religious reasons. A first place here might have moved Lake Forest, up a notch or two. Sophomore James Browne cleared six feet, to tie for fifth place.

Tony Scott, a sophomore triple-jumped 44 feet, 6 1/2 inches to again narrowly miss the Lake Forest mark.

Manny Hernandez, 2:06.6 clocking, in the 800 meters, did not pace, but was his best yet.

David Decker, Nelson Mosley and Sheldon Powell, sophomores and junior Jim Shuman relayed 1600 meters in 3:41.5, to set a 1981 mark and finish sixth.

Felton Minor League

In Felton Minor League action Tuesday night the Orioles came from behind in the bottom of the 5th to beat the Dodgers by a score of 7 to 6. A 5th inning rally sparked by losing pitcher John Wagenhoffer's triple put the Dodgers in the lead temporarily. Winning pitcher John Carter led his team in hitting with a 3 for 3 effort. Carter scored the tying run in front of Tony Bray's homerun which won the game.

In Felton Minor League action Saturday, May 16th, the Phillies went ahead in the first inning against the Orioles two to one.

The Phillies pitcher Tyron Giddens was credited with eleven strikeouts and held the Orioles to one run. While the Orioles pitcher Tony Bray and the relief pitcher John Carter were credited with eight strikeouts. The Phillies beat the Orioles eight to one with five of those runs scored in the fifth and sixth innings.

THOUGHTS FROM DOVER

By Gov. Pierre S. duPont

EUROPEAN BANKS TO LEARN OF DELAWARE BANK LAWS

While in Europe this week to address an international law conference on international trade and U. S. economic policies, I will have the opportunity to meet with top businessmen and the officials of the largest banks in London to explain Delaware's new banking laws.

In recent years, the London banks have all opened major U. S. subsidiaries and are engaging in major business transactions in this country. Most have established offices in New York City. Our State's new banking laws can be attractive to those banks, and I want to take the opportunity to acquaint the officers with what Delaware has to offer.

I will also meet with the corporate officers of the Imperial Chemical Industries, Ltd., which is the parent company of ICI Americas, Inc., one of our State's largest employers.

Interestingly, 33 states have a total of 66 offices overseas, compared to 19 states with similar offices in 1976. While we in Delaware have no such plans to open economic development offices in other countries, the activity of other states is indicative of the interests of other states in promoting economic growth from overseas investors. The National Governors' Association has established a Committee on International Trade and Foreign Relations, and hundreds of delegations of foreign officials have been hosted by the various states. All of this adds up to an important, growing segment of states' economic development.

Delaware has much to offer potential clients in the form of our corporate, banking and insurance laws, the Port of Wilmington, our location, and a high quality workforce.

Many Western European businesses and banks do quite a bit of business in the United States. The largest banks have all established subsidiaries in New York City and other financial centers. Delaware's unique location and its opportunities for banks, insurance companies, and other businesses will, I believe, be of interest.

I have been invited to address a transport law conference in France, which is gathering lawyers and businessmen from around Europe who engage in international business. I will take the opportunity to promote Delaware. We can generate some additional investment in our State.

The law conference is paying for the cost of my trip and no State funds are being used.

Keeping in Touch with Tom Evans

May has been designated Older Americans Month. It is a special time when we all pause and pay recognition to our "experienced generation."

Aging in America is a story of radical change, growing concern, and intended success. Our perception of aging and the very process of aging itself have undergone significant transformation in this century. So rapid has been the change, in fact, that public policy regarding the elderly has barely kept up.

Everyday in our country 5,000 Americans reach the age of 65. According to projections by the U.S. Bureau of the Census, the nation's elderly population will have increased 40 percent by the end of the century from 24 million in 1979 to approximately 32 million in the year 2000. With such an increased life expectancy it is of prime importance that we ensure the over-sixty segment of our population a life that is not only rewarding and productive but also stable.

The successful passage of President Reagan's comprehensive economic package is the hope for renewed stability and dignity for Older Americans. The rapid inflation caused by the inappropriate economic policies of the past has undermined the stability of the Social Security system. Inflation rates as high as 18 percent have severely eroded the life savings of retirees. President Reagan's economic recovery plan will ease inflation and reduce the tax bite on the limited budgets of the elderly. We will be attacking the problem on both ends, by working to end inflation and to increase income opportunities for the elderly.

Today, Older Americans are clearly a social and political force, as recognized in 1979 when Congress decided to develop the 1981 White House Conference on Aging. The two previous WHCOA were held in 1961, takes on added significance because it is the final step in a year long process to assess the needs and concerns of our senior citizens. Recommendations to the White House Conference will be channeled from the state and local levels.

Delegates have been selected to represent the States along with additional gubernatorial delegates and congressional representatives. Our four delegates from the State of Delaware to the national conference are: Jon Larkin of Wilmington, Wilbur Buckley of Kent County, Patsy Brown of Sussex County, and Charles Blake of New Castle County. They will join state Division of Aging Director Eleanor L. Cain, two delegates appointed by the Governor, and three congressional delegates. My personal representative to the White House Conference is Gertrude Lowell of Wilmington. Mrs. Lowell is a distinguished leader in Delaware; she has been an advocate of the elderly since 1963 and served as a delegate to the WHCOA in 1971.

We cannot wait for the future to make decisions on the key issues and programs concerning the elderly, over eighty thousand of whom live in Delaware. Now is the time to meet the challenge of determining their needs and finding ways to enhance their potential.

We must not waste our most precious resource—Older Americans. We all owe a deep debt of gratitude to our senior citizens. Let us remember them all year, as well as during Older Americans Month.

From Dover by Sen. Thurman Adams, Jr.

Last week I helped pass legislation (HB 214) to split the New Castle County School District into four smaller districts.

I voted for the bill to be consistent in my philosophy of local school control, even though the legislation technically had no effect on Kent and Sussex County. In effect, a vote against the bill—or no vote at all—was the same as voting to continue a single district for almost all of New Castle County.

The federal courts created the single upstate district allegedly to correct violations of the Supreme Court's desegregation order. Now the courts seem willing to allow creation of four smaller districts as long as the State Board of Education has full powers to oversee the desegregation process.

I believe that four districts are better than one because it places the school boards closer to the people who send their children to public schools. The closer the control, the better chance we have to maintain a quality public school system.

Passage of the bill, which was signed into law by the Governor last Friday, will ease some of the fears of downstaters that a single district upstate might encourage the State Board of Education to create single districts in Kent and Sussex Counties also.

As chairman of the Senate Executive Committee which screens all appointments of the Governor requiring Senate confirmation, I have been the subject of some criticism in the past for not moving those appointments fast enough.

I'm happy to report that last Wednesday, when the Senate confirmed two of the Governor's nominations, there was not a single appointment pending before the Executive Committee. In other words, we had cleared every one of the nominations sent to the Senate by the Governor for Senate action.

That situation lasted only 24 hours. On Thursday, the Governor sent three new nominations to the Senate, all of which were referred to my committee. As soon as hearings have been held, I expect the Committee will be able to say again that it has no Governor appointments hanging fire.

The latest nominations are Charles D. Broll of Centerville to be chairman of the Alcoholic Beverages Control Commission; Jay H. Conner, a Wilmington attorney, to be a judge of the Family Court; and former Rep. William H. Brady II to be a member of the Delaware Solid Waste Authority.

Bluejeans were so named after the original cloth, first woven in Genoa, Italy.

Biden Report

By Sen. Joseph Biden Jr.

The telephones in my Wilmington, Dover and Georgetown offices were busy for a couple of days last week.

And it's not much wonder. The Wilmington daily newspaper had misreported my vote on an important amendment affecting the Social Security cost-of-living adjustment designed to protect senior citizens against the effects of inflation.

The fact is that, both in the Senate Budget Committee and on the floor of the Senate itself, I had tried (and failed) to get money restored to the budget to maintain the cost-of-living increase in the benefits of Social Security recipients at its present level.

But an Associated Press reported in Washington apparently did not understand what took place in the Senate, and the AP story inaccurately reporting the vote appeared in the Wilmington paper's Saturday edition without the error being caught. The paper did print a correction in its Sunday edition, but unfortunately, while the Saturday paper goes to all subscribers to both the morning and evening papers, they do not all get the Sunday paper. So the correction did not reach all the readers who had seen the original, erroneous story.

That's why my telephones started ringing on Monday morning. When a newspaper gets a story wrong, it's hard for the truth to catch up.

But I have to try, so let me say it one more time.

I have consistently supported the full cost-of-living adjustment for senior citizens depending on Social Security to meet their ever-increasing bills. I sponsored an amendment with Senator Riegle to put back into the budget cost-of-living funds that had been cut by the Budget Resolution. In a close 49-42 vote, to my regret, the amendment failed to pass.

But the battle isn't over yet, and I intend to continue fighting to restore the full cost-of-living adjustment.

Everybody knows that for years I have supported proposals to reduce federal spending, and I still do. It's one of the critically important things we need to do to help reduce the galloping inflation that hurts the poor and the elderly more than anyone else in our society.

But I do not support proposals that ask senior citizens—our mothers and fathers, grandmothers and grandfathers—to bear more than their share of the burden of fighting inflation.

For the most part, they live on fixed incomes and they depend on Social Security to make ends meet. The cost-of-living adjustment was designed to protect them from the ravages of inflation, and it's a commitment to our senior citizens I believe we should keep. I know that older Delawareans are willing to do their part in getting inflation under control—many of them have told me so—but we must not allow their later years, after a lifetime of hard work, to be blighted in our effort to bring a halt to steadily rising prices.

That's why I have fought hard to maintain the cost-of-living adjustment that helps them keep pace with the rising costs of electricity and home-heating fuel, medical care and food. I believe that Delawareans, and all Americans, want dignity and security for their elderly—and I mean to keep on fighting for it.

Letters to the To The Editor

To the Editor,

To begin, the encouraged word is the "Bottle Bill".

It is not a bottle bill. It is a forced deposit on all soda and beer bottles and cans.

It means two things to you as an ordinary citizen of the State of Delaware. First, it means that if this stupid legislation is passed, it will impose upon you more useless governmental regulation and less freedom to you as a person. Secondly, it means higher prices for soft drinks and beer, inconvenience, and cockroaches.

The bill, if passed, will require that you pay a 5 cent deposit for every can and bottle of soda or beer that you purchase in Delaware. In addition, you can expect an increase in cost of beverages of at least 40 cents per six pack (the average in the six states which have fallen for this monstrosity.)

It will require that, if you want your deposit returned, you will have to return your cans and bottles to a grocery or package store. While you're going through the inconvenience of returning your cans and bottles, so will other people, and many of them won't care that their bottles and cans are infested with roaches, ants, and rats.

I saw a film recently about the "bottle" bill in Michigan. A lady, standing at a supermarket checkout with a trash liner full of cans and bottles was asked: "What do you think of Michigan's bottle bill-". Her response was: "It stinks."

People of Delaware

If you want this abominable legislation dumped into your lives, sit back and let it happen. If you don't, get yourself to your nearest grocery or liquor store and fill out the following form:

In closing, I will mention, that this bill has passed the House of Representatives. It is now in the State Senate. If the Senate passes it, Governor DuPont has said that he will sign it.

And Joe Six Pack will lose again.

Dear Editor,

People who are interested in sports may have seen in the May 18, 1981 edition of Sports Illustrated, on page 50, a reference to the Harrington Raceway.

The article is about the great harness horseman, Stanley Dancer who began his career at the Harrington Raceway back in 1948 when his horse Candor won his first two-heat race. As residents of Harrington, we can be proud that Mr. Dancer has not forgotten Harrington and remembered us in the article entitled "Back in the Driver's Seat Again", written by Sandy Treadwell. Yours for a greater Harrington,
Rev. William Markley

Dear Editor,

President Ronald Reagan pledged his full support to American gun owners this week, and promised to support efforts which would reform the Gun Control Act of 1968.

The President's commitment was voiced by his Deputy Counselor, Rear Admiral Robert M. Garrick USNR (Ret.), keynote speaker at the National Rifle Association's 110th annual meeting, held May 1-5 in Denver, Colorado. "The President's philosophy on the 1968 Gun Control Act is exactly the same as yours, Admiral Garrick told the Assembly, "He is a member of the NRA."

Admiral Garrick said that the President supported the McClure-Volkmer bill, designed to correct certain areas of the Gun Control Act which have allegedly been used to violate gun owners' civil liberties. The McClure-Volkmer bill, which was introduced in both Houses of Congress on April 29, will also shift the enforcement emphasis of the Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms, the federal agency which enforces the gun law and which itself has been subjected to four Congressional oversight hearings for civil liberties abuse. At the NRA annual meeting, Admiral Garrick said that President Reagan supported efforts to curb the BAIF's activities and anything else that assists in reforming some of the situations that have placed gun owners in a precarious position.

"Be assured," Garrick said, "that President Reagan stands with you. He understands the way you feel about our firearms rights. He fully understands the issues which confront America's law-abiding gun owners and he will do something about it."

Sincerely,
Andrew Kendzie

Merry-Go-Round

WASHINGTON--This is a story about a whistleblower--the dedicated employee in government or private industry who blows the whistle on misbehavior by the top brass.

The name of this whistle-blower is Thomas W. Applegate. What makes his story interesting is that he was a private investigator who was hired to dig up dirt on employees of the Zimmer Nuclear Power Facility in Moscow, Ohio.

Applegate did manage to dig up some dirt on the nuclear plant's employees. But he unearthed even more on his employer, the Cincinnati Gas and Electric Company, which owns the Zimmer nuclear power plant--and he has affidavits from employees and secret tape recordings to back him up.

But when he reported what he had found, his lawyer told my associate Indy Badhwar, he was told to shut up. When he persisted, he was fired.

Here are the details: Cincinnati Gas and Electric hired Applegate as an undercover agent at the plant. Company officials suspected that employees were cheating on their time cards, and they wanted Applegate to check it out.

The private eye was given an alias--Tom Jackson--and was hired as a cost accounting engineer. He did his undercover work--and found that cheating on time cards was the least of what ailed the nuclear plant.

Employees in the facility's control room were storing liquor there and drinking on the job, according to Applegate. Some workers were consuming "angel dust" and other drugs on the job while management looked the other way, the private investigator reported.

Applegate also told his employer about faulty welding of pipes and other construction mistakes, as well as the theft of copper cable for sale on the black market. He even reported the sale of stolen guns on the construction site. The Zimmer plant, he suggested, is another Three Mile Island in the making.

All of this, according to Applegate, fell on deaf ears. When he was rebuffed by the company, Applegate took his complaints to the FBI, the U. S. attorney's office and to the Nuclear Regulatory Commission.

According to Applegate's sworn testimony, the company not only fired him, but also sacked some employees on time card violations--and deliberately told them that Applegate was the culprit who had reported them. Since then, he says, he has been subjected to threats and even an attempt on his life.

The Nuclear Regulatory Commission conducted an investigation of Applegate's complaints but failed to confirm them. A spokesman for the utility company dismissed Applegate's charges as the products of a "vivid imagination."

But now, at the insistence of the U. S. Office of Special Counsel--that's the whistle-blower's official protector--the nuclear agency has reopened the investigation. With prodding from the Government Accountability Project, a private watchdog group, the agency will try to find out if its initial investigation was a whitewash.

It will also attempt to determine whether the nuclear plant in Moscow, Ohio, is indeed another Three Mile Island in the making.

WATCH ON WASTE: President Reagan's call for increased defense spending is laudatory in light of the growing military might of the Soviet Union. But it doesn't help the armed forces to waste money.

Take the Firebrand, for instance. This is a drone missile built by the Navy. It's supposed to simulate a Soviet missile launched against U.S. ships.

There is no doubt such a drone is useful. It will provide Navy gunners a realistic test of their ability to defend the fleet against low-flying enemy missiles. But the Firebrand project, which was begun in 1976, is already three years behind schedule and $165 million over budget.

The Navy doesn't admit this. We got the figure from confidential sources. When we asked the Navy how much the Firebrand is costing, a spokesman said he didn't have a clear idea. He also didn't know how much has been spent in the past or what the final cost of the project will be.

Meanwhile, the target drone has grown to such a size that nothing smaller than a giant cargo plane can launch it. The target missile is supposed to be reusable, and there's something to be said for that. But the cost of launching and recovering the Firebrand and then preparing it for the next mission will exceed $100,000 a shot.

HEADLINES AND FOOTNOTES: President Reagan's proposed tax reforms call for tax deductions for charitable gifts to be reduced from 70 cents on the dollar to 50 cents on the dollar. Charities fear the move would cost them upwards of $10 billion a year...Why doesn't the FBI catch more big-name mobsters and white-collar crooks? According to a secret Justice Department report: "The FBI has used substantial quantities of its scarce, high-cost criminal investigative resources to conduct low-priority, non-criminal investigations"...The federal government always has plenty of applicants for its professional improvement seminars. That could be because many of the courses are held in such spots as Las Vegas, Lake Tahoe, Palm Springs and San Diego.

A.C.T.

A. C. T. Public Meetings for May 1981

When Thursday, 21st
Where Seaford Inn
Address Front St., Seaford, Del.
Dinner Time 6:00 P.M.
Presentation 7:00 P.M.

Three associates of A. C. T. have had some very interesting experiences over the last three months. In a previous article we told you about them being arrested for operating a business without a license. We explained how it was not only a trumped up charge, but a sheer violation of Constitutional Rights.

Just recently they were offered a plea bargain by the State, get a license and we'll drop charges.

Well, the associates intend to go all the way to Supreme Court if necessary to stand up for the true law of the land (The United States Constitution). The associates have been in precedings since February 1981 and have seen so much injustice all the way through the Court of Common Pleas and into Superior Court.

In the office of John R. Ferrick, Deputy Attorney for the Division of Revenue, the associates were told by him that it does a citizen no good to write a letter to Richard Gebelien, Attorney General for the state, because he will not answer anything for anyone. Here we have an elected official who will not answer the very people that put him in office.

We must again as American citizens begin to check on politicians when they run for office. We need to find out where they stand in relation to the United States Constitution.

We have allowed such Beauracrat take over that there is hardly any recognizable Constitutionlists left in government. Remember the words of the preamble, We the People in order to form a more perfect Union, establish Justice, ensure Domestic Tranquility, provide for the common defense, promote the general Welfare, and secure the Blessings of Liberty to ourselves and our Posterity, do ordain and establish this Constitution for the United States of America.

Please remember it's We the People that are sovereign citizens and gave the powers and limitations to government. They were never intended to be our masters, but our servants and they were only instituted to ensure our liberty.

George Washington said: Government is not eloquence, is not reason, but it's a force, like fire it's a dangerous servant and a fearful master.

Dr. Warren to Judge Awards

The National Council of Teachers of English announces the appointment of Dr. William E. Warren, English Department, Lake Forest High School, Felton as a regional judge for the 1981 NCTE Achievement Awards in Writing Program. Through this nationally recognized competition, now in its twenty-third year, approximately 800 high school seniors are cited for excellence in writing and are recommended to colleges and universities for admission and for financial aid, if needed. NCTE also honors teachers and schools that have participated in the training of these young men and women. Seven thousand students have been nominated for NCTE Awards in 1981. Results of the contest are announced in October of each year.

The builders of Egypt's Great Pyramid of Cheops at Giza, living about 2900 B.C., existed largely on a diet of garlic and onions.

Two Make Dean's List

The University of Delaware has announced its Dean's List for the fall 1980 semester.

Named to the Dean's List are full-time students with a grade point average of 3.25 or above (on a 4.00 scale) with no temporary grades.

They are as follows: Louann Jackson, Viola and Jacqueline C. Moffett, Farmington.

TIME FOR MAKING...

Home Improvements

Would you like a change in housing without having to move? It could be that the costs of moving are too great. Or, perhaps certain features of your house have a special appeal to you, and you prefer to continue to live there.

You probably like the neighborhood, and you may already live near where you work. What can you do? The answer might be a home-improvement project, says Patricia Wilson.

Home improvement projects, either remodeling or repairing, need to be treated as investments, not as emergencies. Remodeling costs money, but if done wisely, it can increase the value of your home.

When improving your home, make sure that you do not over-spend. Under most conditions, it is not wise to invest more beyond the average value of other homes in your neighborhood.

If you do not have the money tucked away for a home improvement project, you will have to get a loan. Be sure to shop around for a loan so that you will keep the total cost of the home improvement project at a reasonable level.

Avoid making "fashion" home improvements. Housing styles, both interior and exterior, come and go just as clothing fashions do. It would be better to make improvements because the changes are needed and desired rather than just "in."

Crocking? Peeling? Blistering?

Nothing chases away winter drabness like a fresh coat of paint. Housepainting should be done when the night temperatures stay above 50 degrees F., but before the onset of very hot weather. That makes spring and fall ideal, says Delaware extension building specialist Ernest W. Walpole.

You can tell it's time to repaint when the paint film on your home shows signs of deterioration—cracking, peeling, blistering, and severe fading. Paint which is exposed to the south and west sides of the house, so the most sunlight deteriorates fastest, so the south and west sides of the house.

Paint It ... Now!

These paints don't crack, but they do eventually peel.

The most important step in housepainting is surface preparation. If we're lax in this area, we shouldn't wonder why we have to repaint so often.

Start with a clean surface. In most cases a plain water washing will suffice. For hard-to-remove dirt, use a detergent, then rinse with clean water. Any mildew must also be removed. Paint and hardware stores carry commercial products to make this job easier. Washing down with an ammonia solution will kill the mildew but it will have to be scraped off.

Whenever any cleaning products are used, finish with a clean water rinse. Repair any broken or decayed boards before repainting. Replace missing window putty. Seal cracks and holes with caulking compound. Sealing all openings prevents rain from penetrating into the wall and getting behind the paint.

Making Do With Your Present House

With the cost of everything going up—including heat and housing—many people are making do with a smaller house, rather than moving up to one with a bigger mortgage and bigger fuel bills.

What can you do to make your present house roomier and more energy efficient? University of Delaware extension agricultural engineer Ernest Walpole has several ideas.

Adding a room onto an existing structure can be very expensive, he says. But there are other ways to increase available space. It's often feasible to finish off a garage or basement, or to enclose a porch. If you have a fairly steep attic, you could even add dormers and make another room up there.

There are also many ways you can make your present home more energy efficient. First of all, check the insulation in the attic. If you don't have 12 inches up there, add to what you've got until it totals 12 inches.

You should be able to do this job yourself. Walpole prefers to use blown insulation because it scatters and fills up cracks better than blankets of insulation do. These may be hard to fit between ceiling joists if the joists weren't spaced evenly when the house was built.

Another disadvantage of blanket insulation is that it only comes in three sizes, whereas blown insulation can be made to fit.

Today's new improved gas dryers have energy-saving features—like pilotless ignition and automatic shut-off when the clothes are dry—that help conserve gas, according to the American Gas Association. And using less gas can help save money.

A new gas dryer can reduce the use of gas for drying clothes by up to 30 percent. Compared to an older gas dryer, a new energy-efficient model can save the consumer up to 162 in lifetime operating costs.

A gas clothes dryer requires very little maintenance and can usually be attended to in seconds. Keeping the lint screen clean is very important for efficient, economical dryer operation.

Dial the correct degree of dryness. Clothes will turn out better, especially permanent press) and drying time can be reduced. Consolidating drying loads saves both gas and money, so always wash and dry a full load.

More Efficient Dryers Use Less Energy

fit any space or shape. Several local suppliers have blowing machines you can borrow or rent, if you buy your insulation from them.

When working up in the attic, take care where you step. You're likely to make a pretty poor impression on the rest of your family if you put your foot through the ceiling. That also raises the expense of the insulating job.

Either fiberglass, rock wool or cellulose can be blown in. Which you use will depend largely on price and what's available. Fiberglass is the lightest in weight. If you do the job yourself, you'll probably have easier access to that or rock wool. Right now cellulose is available mainly to builders.

One problem when blowing in insulation is figuring out how to get a uniform layer. One way to do this is to count rather spaces and the total number of bags of insulating material. Determine how to distribute the bags over the area to be covered, using the rafters as a guide. The person operating the blower can help you keep track of the number of bags used. In each area, begin by spraying a thin layer of insulation over the whole surface. Then gradually build it up until you've used the amount allocated for that section. Then move on to the next space.

While you're working, it would be advisable to wear protective clothing, including a face mask.

Another part of the house that may need better insulation is the basement. In many older houses the ends of floor joists aren't sealed off where they sit on the foundation. If you check there, you're likely to find cold air is getting in. There's often a large crack between the foundation and the sill. Caulk this crack. Then pack insulation between the floor joists along the end of the house.

If you want to finish off part of your basement for a family room or extra bedroom, start by lining the cinder block wall with one-inch thick styrofoam sheets. Use just enough adhesive to tack them in place. It's important to use the right kind of glue. Anything with a petroleum base will eat a hole right through the plastic.

Once your insulation is in place, use masonry nails to tack 1x2 furring strips over it. The strips will provide support for the wallboard which goes on next.

Getting Porch & Lawn Furniture Ready For Summer

If you are ready for spring to begin, now is the time to get your porch and lawn furniture ready for warm weather, says Delaware extension home economist Jean Cranston.

The first step in brightening most outdoor furniture is a good scrubbing with mild detergent and water. Some outdoor furniture, such as the all-weather plastic type, may never need anything else. Most kinds, however, require some specialized treatment to keep their attractiveness.

WOOD FURNITURE: Redwood weathers well and has good resistance to moisture, insects, and decay from exposure. A good hosing is usually all that is needed to keep frames clean. It is good to apply a redwood stain at the beginning and end of each season. Screws and bolts should be tightened at the beginning and end of each season, too.

Kiln-dried, selected hardwood is used to construct some popular folding furniture, such as the director's chair. This is a folding armchair with a canvas sling back and seat. An occasional hosing keeps hardwood frames clean. Follow this with an application of auto wax to protect the finish. Always tighten screws and bolts. Canvas replacements for backs and seats are available through mail order houses, department or specialty stores.

ALUMINUM: Good quality aluminum furniture can stay outdoors for several summers before showing signs of deterioration. If oxidation or rust has begun, it can be removed by brushing a jelly cleaner on the metal, then hosing the cleaner away after a few minutes. Protect the surface by spraying on a clear lacquer. This finish won't last long outdoors, so you may have to spray several times during the summer.

If unpainted aluminum is just dull, dip steel wool in kerosene and rub the metal until it looks shiny. Then wipe with a clean cloth. Be sure the kerosene doesn't come in contact with straps, webbing or other upholstery material.

Color-coated aluminum can be washed with a mild detergent solution and rinsed. Apply auto paste wax to frames after cleaning.

WROUGHT IRON: Rust is the biggest problem with wrought iron. Rust will return unless you remove the rust, pocketers right down to the bare metal. To re-paint, use a good exterior oil enamel.

Broken or loose wrought iron joints can be repaired with epoxy cement. It will hold the metal almost as securely as welding if you follow directions carefully.

WICKER FURNITURE: Wicker furniture should never be used outdoors, except in a sheltered porch or covered patio. Rain and direct sunshine will make even the best quality look shabby in a year. The same is true of rattan, bamboo and other tropical materials.

Use the vacuum cleaner brush attachment to remove dust. Clean the furniture with a soapy sponge, then rinse and wipe dry. Rub on liquid furniture wax for sheen and protection.

If you give your porch and outdoor furniture proper care, Cranston says, it should give you years of comfort, attractiveness and convenience.

Mend Those Leaks!

As long as it's no longer raining or snowing, we like to forget about the leaking roofs or damp basements we experienced earlier in the year. However, now is the time to really solve those problems and eliminate the sources of the leaks so they won't be back to plague us next winter.

Even if a temporary measure has helped the situation (such as a pall to catch the drip right under the roof), remember it is just that—temporary. It's necessary to make a permanent repair to prevent future problems.

According to Delaware extension home economists, leaks in basements may be caused by cracked walls, improper grading, water in window wells, or water pressure under floors. The repairs can be handled from either the inside or the outside of the basement wall. A number of factors must be considered in deciding which side of the wall should be repaired.

One factor is the severity of the leak or crack, since repairs to the outside wall will be more effective on a larger leak or problem. Another factor is ease of access. Is there a porch, sidewalk, or foundation planings preventing easy access to the outside wall? Or is there a paneled or finished wall surface on the inside?

It is important to use watertight concrete in order to prevent water seepage into the basement. Fill cracks when the soil is dry, so cracks will be dry. It is best to do this when there is no artificial heat in the basement, so thin layers of mortar can cure.

Wide cracks (one-half inch or more) should be chiseled out to make a "V" opening about one inch deep and one inch wide at the surface. Then coat the crack with a creamy mixture of cement and water. Or use a chemically treated cement, available at hardware stores or building supply stores.

Hairline cracks can be filled with a cement base paint. With a scrub brush, apply a cement wash of Portland cement and water. Or check for other leak-stopping materials at your local lumberyard or hardware store.

Another alternative is to coat the wall with an asphalt emulsion or similar basement waterproofing agent. Be sure the wall surface is clean before you apply the waterproofing agent.

The ground around foundations should slope away from the house at a rate of at least six inches in 10 feet. You should regrade by cutting and filling if you notice water standing along foundations, or if the surrounding ground is flat or slopes toward the house.

Roof water should be carried away from the building by eave gutters and downspouts. Water from downspouts should be carried about three feet away from the foundation wall. Use a splash block, downspouting, or tile drain. Do not direct water from the downspouting into the drain around the footing at the base of the foundation.

Window wells may be another source of water leakage. Check window wells to be sure that surrounding ground ends a few inches below the top of the well.

To prevent water from seeping down the outer surface and under the well, compact several inches of dirt around the well. If there is tile around basement footing, dig a post hole inside the well to this tile. Fill with clean gravel.

If there is no tile around footing, improve drainage by laying drain tile from the bottom of the window well to a lower point in the yard. Remember, any time you add a drain or run water into an existing drainage system, there must be a natural runoff or slope from the building so that the water will drain away and not back to the foundation.

Reforestation In Delaware

Delaware's woodlands are rapidly disappearing, due to land development and agricultural practices. So much pressure is being put upon the remaining woodlands to supply us with lumber, pulp and paper products, wildlife, recreation, and aesthetics for the future, that very intense management techniques must be practiced to meet the demands.

One of these management techniques includes artificial regeneration, meaning planting a stand of pine either by hand or machine planting. Before the pines can be planted, some type of site preparation must take place, to remove unwanted competition. These site preparation methods, include roller-chopping and burning, diskling, rootraking, and shearing and piling. The method is prescribed and monitored by a forester after careful evaluation of the woodland site.

Once the site is prepared, pines are ready to be planted. These pines are planted at a designated spacing, calculated by the forester, so as to give optimum growth and yield of the tree species. Public interest is increasing every year.

and as a result more acres are being reforested. If many of these acres that have been cleared were left to grow naturally, a very poor and undesirable mixed stand would develop. With today's pressure on the private woodlot owner (also known as the non-industrial private forest owner), every acre of woodland must be managed to its fullest potential.

There are some programs available to the private landowner to help him or her manage their existing woodlands or reforest. These programs include FIP (Forester Incentives Program) for landowners owning 10 acres or more, and ACP (Agricultural Conservation Program), for landowners with under 10 acres. These programs give the landowner cost-sharing for the particular practice if and when approved by the Delaware Forest Service and the ASCS (Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service) of the USDA.

These programs will pay up to 75 per cent of a reasonable cost for the prescribed practice, not to exceed $10,000. If the funds are available. Also, the landowner can receive a 10 per cent tax break on his will raise the water to a level where it can be carried off through a drain line. A leaking roof may be another problem encountered during the rainy season. It may be caused by defective flashing, clogged downspouts, cracks, or holes. Methods of repair will depend on the kind of roofing and the nature and extent of the leak. Replace missing shingles with similar shingles or pieces of rust-resistant metal. Patch holes and cracks with appropriate materials or roof coating. Or check for other roof-repairing materials at your local lumberyard or hardware store.
