

United States Flag Represents Growth and Continuity

Flag Day - June 14

The flag which many Americans will honor on June 14 is intimately bound up with the history and the memories of this nation. The Stars and Stripes as we know them today represent the growth of the United States over its 200-year history. But they also show continuity. The number of the stars on the flag has grown from the original thirteen to the present fifty, but the basic format has not changed. Likewise, the country has gone through a lot of growth and upheaval in the process of growing. But the basic format - principals upon which it was founded - have not changed.

On July 14, 1777, the Continental Congress resolved that the United States Flag should have thirteen stars and stripes, alternating red and white, and thirteen white stars in a field of blue to represent a "new constellation" (i.e. the formation of a new nation). Although Betsy Ross is traditionally given a lot of credit, no one is really sure who designed or made the first U.S. Flag. After its adoption, Francis Hopkins claimed the honor.

The thirteen stripes have remained almost constant, standing for the thirteen original colonies. As states have been added, stars have been added.

One departure from the norm was the flag of 1795 which had fifteen stars and fifteen stripes. Other flags that have flown have included the one for 1818 which had 13 stripes and 20 stars and the flag of 1861, used in the Civil War. That flag had stars for 34 states including those in the south. The north never recognized the southern states as a separate nation.

The 48 star flag served from 1912 to 1959, longer than any other in our history. In 1959, Alaska and Hawaii were added giving us our present 50 star flag.

Normally the flag is to be displayed outdoors in good weather only from sunrise to sunset. It may be flown at night in certain conditions.

Congress has authorized the U.S. flag to be flown day and night at the Betsy Ross House in Philadelphia, over Lexington Green in Massachusetts, Fort McHenry in Baltimore and the Marine Corps War Memorial in Arlington, Virginia. It is also flown on a 24 hour basis by tradition at the east and west entrances of the U.S. Capitol, at Francis Scott Key's birthplace - Keyville, Md., and over Key's grave in Frederick, Md.

Lake Forest Holds 12th Commencement

Here comes the parade! Girl Scouts head the line as it moves up David Street in the prelude to Frederica's annual street fair last Saturday.

"We need you...but most of all...we need you to dream." Senator Joseph Biden told Lake Forest graduates in the baccalaureate address delivered at 12th annual commencement exercises held Sunday afternoon in the high school athletic stadium.

Biden compared young people seeking maturity with a nation on the threshold of acquiring its own maturity. Quoting the Irish poet, William Butler Yeats - "The world has changed; it has changed utterly." - Biden said, "It will never be the same again," and it would be only wishful thinking to suppose otherwise. Biden castigated two schools of thought whose only answers to current problems are more of the same political solutions that have been applied "with diminishing returns" for the past three decades or returning to be imagined "good old days" some forty years ago.

He said the U.S. is "at the hinge of history" and entering a "whole new dimension". And he insisted that young Americans at the threshold of such a world and in quest of their own maturity would need "discriminating minds" combining the "imperative to know" with the "capacity to believe". He charged the graduates with the need to be realists as he said, "Maturity is reached the date you no longer have to be lied to." But he also challenged the cynicism which holds that individuals cannot make a difference.

Biden's remarks were preceded on the commencement program by honors addresses delivered by the top four Lake Forest seniors. The four chose to expand upon the four "D's" that make for success - Desire, Discovery, Dependability and Dedication. Each speaker amplified one of the four characteristics. The addresses were delivered by Lisa Lynn Wyatt (Fourth Honors), Thelma Jean Tucker (Third Honors), Brenda Lee Dixon (Salutatorian), and Patrik David Williams (Valedictorian).

Following the baccalaureate address, Lake Forest Board of Education Cliff Chambers presented the Lake Forest Board of Education Award for Excellence in Scholarship to the following seniors who represent the top 5 per cent of the class: Patrik Williams, Brenda Dixon, Thelma Tucker, Lisa Wyatt, Loretta Latocha, Elizabeth Roach, Kay Sylvester, Charupin Charoentep, Sharon Spencer and Janet Brown.

Lake Forest High School Department Awards - A plaque for the senior in highest academic standing in that department and, in some cases, a certificate to one judged the most creative - went to a number of seniors: Agriculture - John Callaway (plaque) and Kevin Robbins (certificate); Art - Bryan Moehlenkamp (plaque) and Denise Huttie (certificate); Business - Brenda Dixon; English - Debbie Bell (plaque and certificate); French - Lisa Wyatt (plaque) and Karen Wothers (certificate); Home Economics - Cheryl Manaraze; Mathematics - Patrik Williams (plaque) and Lisa Wyatt (certificate); Music - Jay Howerin (plaque) and Brenda Dixon (certificate); Science - Lisa Wyatt (plaque) and Earl McCall (certificate) and Social Studies - Alan Courtney.

Lake Forest Board of Education Academic Letters were earned by Debbie Bell, Janet Brown, Mia Butler, Charupin Charoentep, Ken Clark, Brenda Dixon, Darlene Frechette,

City to Finish Drainage Project

The Harrington City Council Monday evening decided to finish the drainage work it has started in the North Street area, clean up, get out and let it go at that. If the residents like it - fine. If they don't - that's OK too.

Sometime ago, residents in the area of North and Calvin Streets and Weiner Avenue approached the City Council with a drainage problem that left yards flooded, sometimes to the extent of making it possible to float a small boat after any heavy rain. As time went on and no action was taken, the residents concerned threatened the city with non payment of taxes if something was not done.

Consequently the city council decided

Search For LF Superintendent

The Lake Forest School Board will begin interviewing candidates for Superintendent of Schools this evening. The selection has been narrowed down to six top candidates. A committee composed of faculty, administration and citizens from the general public has worked many hours to narrow down the broad selection to a reasonable number of qualified candidates. School board members themselves made the selection of the top six.

Houston Council Approves Budget

On Thursday night, the Houston Council approved the budget for '81-'82 fiscal year at $15,395. The budget is approximately $3500 over last year's budget due to the increase in trash collection.

The trash collection in the community is only assessed to the private dwellings. There are no trash fees for commercial establishments. On March 27th, the citizens of Houston voted in favor of a trash collection fee as opposed to a hike in taxes. The vote was 27 to 31 in favor of a trash fee. The trash fee per household will be $60 a year as a result of that vote. The taxpayer could have voted in favor of a tax increase from about 30 cents to 90 cents per hundred which would have raised everyone's taxes about $20 a year. This would have worked as a penalty to the commercial establishments because they contract separately for their trash pick up. There will be no increase in taxes for the next year, however, as it stands now.

The Town, without a police officer now for several years, is still experiencing speeders through the town "drag racing" as one council person stated. According to Mayor Connie Morgan, "we will be getting some help from the State Police who will be patrolling the town at different hours." The Council each year is faced with grass cutting problems in the town.

Some due to absentee owners, but regardless according to Mayor Morgan, letters would be going out to the violators.

Heritage Day in the community will be held this year on September 19th featuring food and games. The exact activity has not been determined at this time.

The July meeting of council will be the second Thursday (July 9th) due to the 4th of July holiday.

Merchants Sponsor "Wild West Days"

No resident of Harrington or the surrounding area should have to travel far to "Go West" this week. Courtesy of the merchants spearheaded by those in Quillen Shopping Center, the "Wild West" will come to town. All the fun is set to begin tomorrow, June 11, and last through Saturday, June 13.

The focal point of all the action will be the shopping center where would-be cowboys will get a chance to test their riding skills against the famous mechanical bull. For those - participants and bystanders alike - who get a little hungry and thirsty in the process, there will be refreshments available at a good, old fashioned price. There will be a special booth offering a soda and a hot dog - all for 50 cents.

Throughout the shopping center merchants are keying sales to the wild west theme. There will be bargains available on many items.

Elsewhere in town, Penny's Arcade, on Center Street, has announced that it will corral a country music band for the entertainment of its patrons and those who show up can expect to find all games discounted at the Arcade with five quarters offered for every dollar spent.

Tower to Be Cleaned, Sealed

The Frederica Town Council has decided to spend most of the approximately $7,300 from a 1979 HUD grant to sandblast, clean and seal the interior of the town's water tower. After considering several options at a special meeting held on May 14, the Council chose to contract with Corrosion Control Corporation for the work on the water tower. After the tower has been sandblasted and cleaned, two coats of epoxy will be applied as a sealer.

Council member Dan Griffith said at last Wednesday's regular meeting that the cost of the project will be $5,780. The work is to be started and completed sometime within 60 days, but it should take only about two to three weeks. Frederica Mayor Ezekiel Dill reported that it will be possible to bypass the water tower during that time, so that water service to the town's residents can continue.

At the Mayor's request, Joseph Richardson, Harrington contractor, attended the Council meeting and promised to give the town estimates on some work that needs to be done on the water system as well as a suggested retainer fee for his firm to be on call for maintenance.

As individual residential connections to the old water mains are gradually eliminated and as new hookups are needed, the town plans to have them connect with the new 10 inch mains put in with the 1979 HUD monies. The work will probably begin on St. Agnes Street. A water meter to measure the number of gallons the town uses each day is also under consideration and may be added while the work on the tower is underway.

In other business, the Frederica Town Council learned the town will receive $8,517 in revenue sharing funds for 1981-82 despite a population decrease from 1,092 in 1978 to 864 in 1980; that represents an increase over last year's allocation of $7,006. However, Council member Dan Griffith noted that the town should begin looking for other ways to finance its needs since the future of revenue sharing is uncertain. The Council also heard a report on a workshop session in which the Planning and Zoning Commission met with Kent County Planner Bob O'Brien. The Planning and Zoning Commission is still in the process of gathering information that will be useful in the

A track of land called "Clapome" or "Clapham" located in South Murderkill Hundred and containing 353 acres was taken up under a warrant dated 19 day of 2 month 1681 by John Albertson and John Mumford. This tract was in 1888 principally owned by the Rev. Jonathan S. Willis (born Oxford, Md. 1830 died Milford, De. 1904 buried Barratts Chapel Cemetary) and John W. Wright.

On the southwest side of St. Jones Creek, on the north side of Mill Creek and south of Barker's Landing was a tract of 840 acres called "Dover Farms" in 1888. This tract formerly "Gibbons Point" was taken up by Hubertus Francis who sold to John Burton who sold it to Edmond Gibbon in 1681. It was re-surveyed 20 Sept. 1693 for William Rodney. This land in course of time came into the possession of Garrett Sipple, who left it to his grandson, Garrett Hardcastle, from whom it passed to John M. Ford, who in 1856 sold it to James L. Heverin. It belonged in 1888 to Mrs. Mary Barnett, a resident of the village of Magnolia. (Sharfts History of Delaware) She was the widow of Jacob Barnett and when she died in 1903 her only son and heir, John B. Lindale was appointed administrator of her estate. He had married Eliza Ann Conner who survived his death in 1937.

To the north of Dover Farms and the tract Clapome and joining thereto lies a tract of land of 2000 acres known by the name of "Caroone Manor". This tract is often referred to in old deeds as the "King's Manor" and "Duke of York's Manor". This probably grew out of the fact that in 1683 at the request of William Penn, the court of Kent County issued a warrant to the surveyor to survey and lay out 10,000 acres of land for the Duke of York, "on the rich ridge in the road to Choptank and on the heads of the branches of Murther Creek, or where they will in any clear land that no other person have any just claime unto it, being for a manor for the said Duke of York granted by a special order from the proprietor and the court for the same". It does not appear upon the records that this land was ever laid out.

Caroone Manor was originally laid out for Joshua Barkstead by the approbation of the "Court of Whorekill" and consisted of two parcels, one of which called "Caroone" contained 1200 acres; the other called "Caroone Manor" contained 800 acres. These two tracts extended in one body from St. Jones Creek to Double Run, a tributary of Murderkill Creek. In 1689 it appears to have been in the possession of William Darvall and purchased by William Rodney for the use of William Penn. On this tract of land were located the villages of "Barker's Landing and "Magnolia".

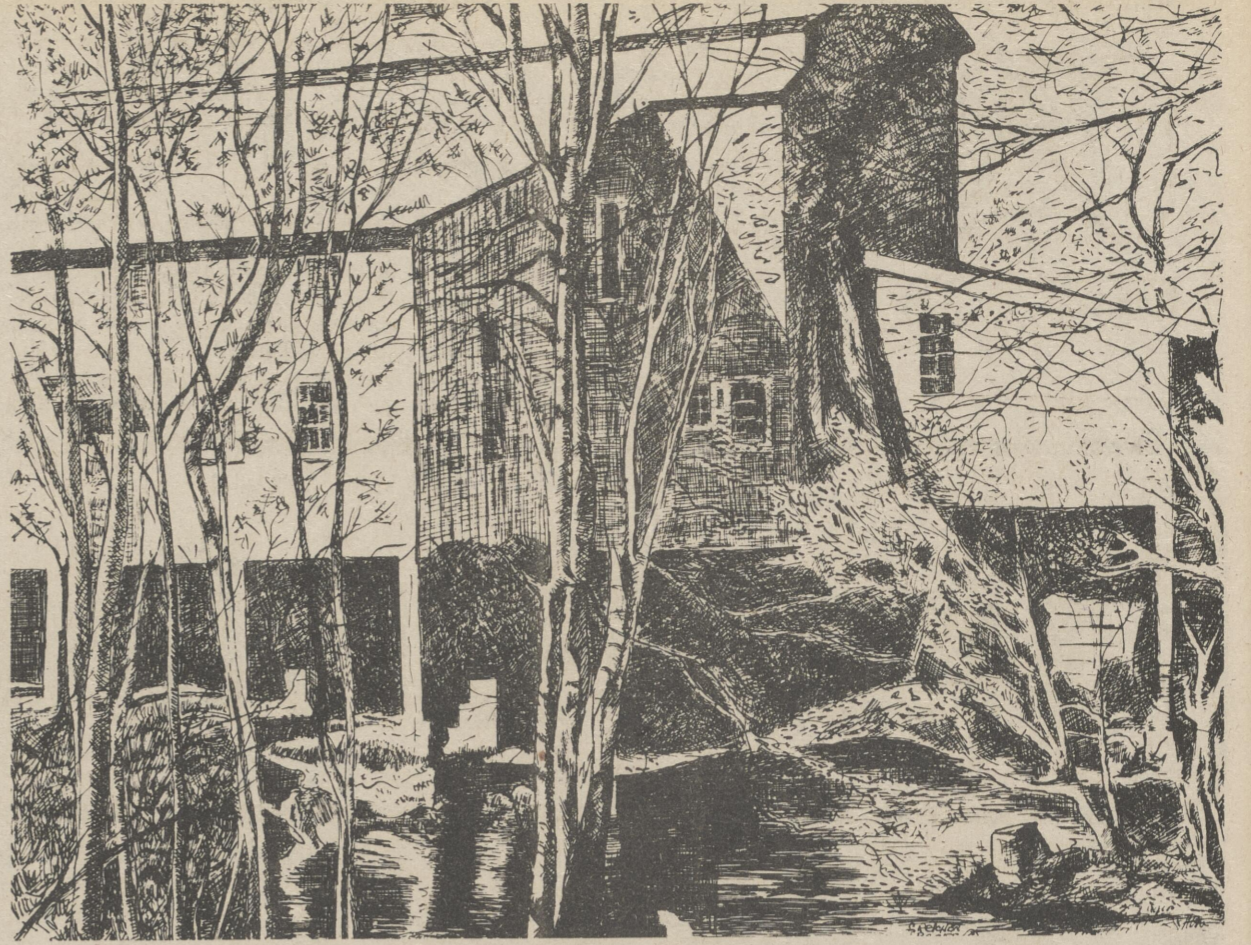

Barker's Landing in 1887 contained eleven dwellings and 35 inhabitants and served as an "entrepot" for the merchants of Magnolia, who exported grain, wood and fruits, and brought back coal, lime, lumber, fertilizers and general merchandise from Philadelphia and New York.

The village of Magnolia located on a tract of land part of Caroone Manor, was owned at one time by John Marim (28 Nov 1815 Jonothan Manlove and Anne his wife of Murderkill Hundred sold that tract of land "whereon Jonothan Manlove now dwells, which he purchased from Joseph Barker" to John Marim.) Upon John's death the land passed to Hannah Marim and Rev. James Bateman, his son-in-law. 19 Nov. 1818 they sold 110 acres adjoining a tract called "Lombardy Grove" to James Millichop, which was long known as "Millichop's Woods and is the present site of Magnolia. The town situated on the State Road, between Dover and Frederica may be said to have had no existence prior to 1845. The only building then standing was the old Lowber brick mansion, which was owned in 1887 by Edmund Stout, Esz. In 1845 the Mellvains came from Sussex County and built on this land. In 1847 there were five dwellings one store-house and one building used as an Odd Fellows Hall and for public school purposes. (Scharf's Hist. of Dela.)

Gretchen Banks has sketched Hearn's Pond Mill near Seaford which was displayed recently at the Seaford Fair. The Hearn & Rawlins Mill is the last Delaware water powered mill in existence today.

-Hearn's Pond Mill-

Business as usual at the mill at the edge of Hearn's Pond where corn and wheat are ground into flour at the last of such millworks in Delaware. A 100 year old leather belt is still used to turn the huge millstone as water passes over the water wheel. White Dove Flour popular in these parts is still produced there by Hearn & Rawlins, Inc. The mill was placed on the National Register of Historic Places on May 22nd, 1978. The mill is currently operated by its owner Jacob Moore, 81, Fred Rawlins and two other part timers. The mill produces about 3000 lbs. of flour a day mainly for use by local scrapple dealers. The water wheel also provides enough power to operate a generator which supplies electricity to the mill. The mill, located about 3 miles north of Seaford on Alternate 13 is an attraction to tourists, who Jacob Moore accomodates with a "cook's tour of the premises from time to time."

"The 28th Annual Felton Street Fair will be held on Saturday, June 20, 1981 in Felton, Delaware. The Street Fair, sponsored by the Felton United Methodist Church will feature a parade at 12:00 noon, a fried chicken dinner served in the church Fellowship Hall from 3:00 P.M. until 6:00 P.M., and an auction at 6:00 P.M. During the afternoon and early evening there will be games of skill, rides, and entertainment for the enjoyment of people of all ages, from the youngest to the oldest. There will be square dancing by the Levis and Laca Club; Puppet Clown Show; Trooper Dan; Anything Goes by M.Y.F.; and a drill exhibition by the Felton Odd Fellows and Rebekahs. Come early and plan to stay late."

When the sun peeks over the horizon on Saturday, June 20, it will be dawning on sand waiting to be transformed into castles, fish waiting to take their first bite and tennis courts begging for the caress of rubber-soled shoes. It will be the beginning of a day full of fun and festivities at all of Delaware's 11 state parks.

For the exorbitant fee of nothing, (that's right—absolutely free), you and your entire family can help celebrate the Second Annual State Park Day.

Trap Pond near Laurel will be the focus of the day's events. There you can cast your line in the Delaware Bass Federation's Fishing Tournament and wait for the prize-winning fish to take a bite. Or, while the kids take a ride in an ox cart, you might like to show off in the paddle boat or canoe races.

would rather stay on shore there are cross-cut and bow sawing contests, with a cord of wood for the winners.

Once you have worked up a good sweat, you'll be ready to sit back and relax listening to the live music or watching the Levi and Lace Square-dancers perform on the bandstand. The kids will enjoy watching the Flip Richard's Magic Show followed by a marionette production. However, don't be surprised to look up and see Governor DuPont laughing at their side. The Governor is rumored to be a great fan of magic.

By mid-afternoon you'll be attracted by the aroma of a pig being roasted gently over open flames. Your day doesn't have to end after the feast; the park is providing free camping spaces both Friday and Saturday nights.

Although Trap will be the center of attention, all of the other Delaware state parks have special events planned as well. Sandcastles will be popping up at Delaware Seashore, while sand shovels will be traded in for canoe paddles at Lums Pond. In addition to races, Lums will be offering canoeing and boating instruction and safety tips.

You'll need to come prepared with sneakers if you plan on heading for Killens Pond and the annual Fun Run, or a Frisbee if you're off to Brandywine Creek or Bellevue State Parks where tournaments will be held.

Believe it or not, these are just a few of the activities planned for the celebration. So rise with the sun and visit a Delaware state park on June 20.

Library Summer Reading Program

"OUT OF THIS WORLD" is the theme of the 1981 Summer Reading Program at the state's public libraries, promoted and sponsored by the Delaware Division of Libraries.

Young people ages 6 to 12 are invited to participate in the program. Blind and physically handicapped children, as well as the children of Books-By-Mail patrons who cannot get to a public library, are also included. The readers will receive "space maze" reading logs and "robot" bookmarks as they start the summer project. Each child who reads ten books will receive a certificate and an iron-on decal for this favorite shirt.

One of the highlights of the program will be the state-wide "Find the Black Hole Contest". Children will guess the location of a black hole to win a T-shirt with the brilliantly colored decal which shows a rocket zooming into space with the caption "Reading Takes you Out of This World".

Children should consult their local public libraries for more information on the "Summer Reading Program".

The State Division of Aging, in cooperation with the Milford Parks and Recreation Department and Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Delaware, Inc., is sponsoring the "Second Annual Health Fitness Day" for older Delawareans. The event which will be held Tuesday, June 9, 1981 begins with registration at 9:30 a.m. at the Milford High School.

Arts Calendar

Three area artists, Betty Collins, Frank Delle Donne and Margaret Allen, formerly associated with the University of Delaware Regional Art Exhibition Committee, will be featured in art exhibitions during June and July at the university's Student Center on Academy Street in Newark.

Included in the exhibitions will be recent works, as well as paintings and drawings taken from the university's permanent collection.

Opening June 8 will be "A Focus on Figures and Faces," the collected paintings and drawings of Betty Collins. The figures and faces range in style from the realistic, often through a minimum of lines and shadings, to the more abstract, with the use of light and shade to create lyrical impressionism. Also on display will be several sculptures by the artist.

The exhibition will be on free public display from noon-4 p.m., Mondays through Fridays, through June 29. There will be a special public reception for the artist from 7-8:30 p.m., Friday, June 12.

Singer/songwriter Harry Chapin will perform at 8:15 p.m., Tuesday, June 16 in Mitchell Hall on the University of Delaware campus in Newark.

Tickets, at $6 for the general public and $5 for U. of D. students with I.D., are on sale now at the main desk of the university's Student Center in Newark and at Bag & Baggage Tickettown in Wilmington. For more information, call the Student Center at 738-1296.

Known as pop music's master storyteller, Chapin creates characters in his songs and then spins stories around their lives. He first became known with his hit "Taxi". Recently his continuation of that love story, "Sequel", has become another in his string of hits, which includes "Cat's in the Cradle".

Get Together and Talk With Our Neighbors

Senior Center

By Dorothy Graham 398-3780

Well, as you probably know by now, Dorothy is on vacation this month. I will be writing the Center news while she is gone. I would like to start this week by saying "Welcome Home Gracie". She is so kind to the Center members when she is home and she remembers them all year long with lovely cards during the Holidays. Thanks Gracie.

We were concerned that the transplanted Magnolia tree on the corner of our lot was just not going to make it. We were fooled; this past week several blooms appeared on the tree. That is God's way of letting us know that there is still hope.

I would like to apologize for the lateness of the calendars this month. It seems that our copier machine would not cooperate with us.

Please note the upcoming trips during the month of June: Washington, D.C. on June 18th, a day at Rehoboth on June 23rd, Gettysburg on June 30th. If you are interested in any of these trips please call or better yet stop by the Center for information on costs and times.

I would also like to take this time to say welcome to the new Board Members, and a thank-you to those who are continuing to serve for the 1981-82 term. They are: Pres., Ruth Phillippi; Vice-Pres. Jeanette Legates; Secretary, Merle Roth; Treasurer, Tony Perrone, Jr.; Elma Thorpe, Al Mann, Elizabeth Anthony, Fred Littmann, Jenny Asbury, Winona Deputy, James Harris, Carroll Welch, Reynold Kates, Agnes Harris, Rev. William Markley, Robert Everline, Kathryn Smith, Gertrude Morgan. It is also a good time to thank Earle Nelson, Amanda Quillen, and Bernadine Butler for their three years of service. It has been a pleasure working with people like yourselves. I hope that you will continue to visit and support us. Thanks very, very much.

Now, on to the week at the Center: Monday morning started with an inspiring Bible Study with Rev. Watson. 17 members were present. The message was delivered from the Chapter of 1st John. It is so nice to hear such hymns as "Glory To His Name", "Will Jesus Find Us Watching?" and "Beyond The Sunset". It really does start our week off on the right foot. Thank you to all the ministers who volunteer their time to bring us these bible studies on Monday mornings. Monday afternoon was filled with all the regular activities here at the Center. Ceramics, pool games, dominoes, various crafts and course just good old down home conversations.

Tuesday morning filled the building with the wonderful tunes of the Jolly Timers Kitchen Band rehearsal. We are very proud of this band. They are frequently asked to entertain at functions throughout the year. They also visit the nursing homes to present an afternoon of music and love. Thank you to all the band members who work so hard during the year to make a great impression for our Center. Tuesday afternoon we had to finish putting the calendars together and we got done just in time. Ruth Nasser was here with her monthly program. This time it was a slide presentation on Washington. How great, as they are planning on visiting there later this month. Thanks Ruth.

Wednesday was a day filled with a little bit of everything. But in the afternoon, Mrs. Anthony called bingo. The prizes: candy. It makes it very tempting to forget the diet and play bingo. 18 members played and they all had a good time.

Thursday was in preparation for our afternoon visitors. Milford Senior Center brought their band and chorus to entertain us. They performed several selections. Some of the faces in the crowd looked very familiar. Julia, Andy, Audrey, and Jackie are also members of our Center. We did enjoy seeing them so much. They even had a skit and a few jokes to make the afternoon very enjoyable. Thanks Pete and Karen from the Milford Senior Center and also to your group; we enjoyed having them and do come again.

Friday was what I called on the calendar, "a relaxed, lazy man's day". Everyone had their own little project to do. Mamie was busy placing pictures in the new photo album that was won last week. The men were busy at the pool table. What a delicious lunch: homemade soup, chef salad, hot blueberry muffins, and lemon tarts.

You really should try to stop by and visit with us; we are more than happy to give you a tour and answer questions. The Center is open five days a week from nine to four. We are open to anyone over sixty years of age, regardless of sex, creed, national origin or handicap.

Thank you to all the volunteers, and best wishes to all our homebodies. See you at the Center.

Anne's Kitchen

It's strawberry time again and what lovely strawberries they are. I usually do as many different things as possible with them as long as the season lasts. One of those I would like to share with you today, different and new to you, I hope, so you may add to your list of strawberry ideas. This recipe is an elegant dessert when served in a long stemmed wine glass. Dip the rim in sugar if you like and add a frosty look. This is one of those easy fix-ahead ideas which always come in handy. By the way, it works beautifully with sliced ripe, peeled peaches and any kind of melon balls, or if you really want to go for the brass ring, a combination of all three.

STRAWBERRIES [Fragola]
WITH MARSALA
1 quart strawberries
2 tablespoons sugar
1 pint Marsala

1. Hull and wash strawberries.
2. Sprinkle with sugar.
3. Pour Marsala over them.
4. Mix well, chill and serve.

If strawberries are not uniform in size you may opt to slice them. You can substitute Sherry or any sweet red or white wine.

ENJOY!

Gabfest

By Pat Hatfield 349-4255

Well, aren't there just some lovely people in the world? I have just received a lovely note from Anne Townsend Minner of Harrington, enclosing a couple of articles which the school librarian, Mrs. Clough, thought I might like to pass on to all our readers through Gab Fest. Thank you, Anne and Mrs. Clough. One of them I'm going to tell you about now because it is about strawberries, and this is certainly the time for it. The other article concerns Easter customs, and is also mighty interesting, but I think I will file it carefully away until Easter comes again, at which time it will be especially approp.

Now I'm quoting: "Strawberries: Nature's Medicine: You may have heard the old warning, 'leaffets three, let them be.' That warning, however, does not apply to the strawberry plant.

The strawberry leaf is rounded and has jagged edges. And, if you are lucky (in June and July), it will have juicy berries on it.

All three parts of the plant—fruit, leaves, and roots—have nutritional and medicinal values. The name strawberry comes from the old English word straw which meant strew. Strawberries strew runners along the ground in all directions, and these runners later form new plants. Many farmers will sometimes clear out old plants to give the new plants room to grow, because a strawberry patch can become thick and crowded. Wild strawberries grow only to be very small. Farmers like to sell large berries so they keep their patches thinned. Plants are sometimes grown a foot apart, and the plants sometimes grow to be more than several inches tall.

In addition to tasting good, strawberries contain vitamin C. Strawberries are not acidic enough to give anyone a stomachache. Some people use strawberry juice to reduce fever, and it is said that if left on the teeth for about five minutes, the juice will remove tartar. A cut strawberry rubbed on the face is also said to help heal a light sunburn.

Tea made from strawberry leaves is sometimes used to get rid of stomach-aches and is also said to help eliminate pimples. Some people even wash their faces with this tea in order to improve their complexions. The tea, (when consumed) also improves digestion and appetite.

Ground-up strawberry roots have been placed in cavities to reduce the pain of a toothache until the patient can get to a dentist. The roots will also do most of the things the leaves can do. And if you plant strawberries in your yard, it will never need to be mowed.

Spartans Win Olympics

By Keith S. Burgess

Junior Olympics track and field competition is based on a person's age, unlike high school competition, where a 14-year-old, like Lake Forest's Rob Prutzman would vie against rivals, as old as 19.

At Wilmington's Baynard Stadium, Saturday, Prutzman won the shot put in the 14-15 class, with a throw close to 42 1/2 feet and was second in the discus, although he was more than 10 feet short of his best throw of over 129 feet. Tony Scott captured the triple jump with a fine leap of 44 feet, 4 inches. Jerome Scott ran 16 seconds flat, in the high hurdles, to miss first place by one tenth of a second.

Brandywine started off Sunday, May 24, in a big way, with a familiar Roy Shudt "There they go-oo" and a million plus opening night handle.

The first night saw plenty of racing action with 5 straight sub 2:00 minute miles and a 1:57 victory for J Z leader and driver, John Campbell in the Can-Am Series.

Later in the week local favorites, Tom Kirby, of Milford and Bob Burgholzer, of Harrington scored a couple of impressive wins. Not to be outdone was Del Manges who guided Count Every Star home for the Star's first parimutuel victory.

To Ri Boy, the Gaylord Perry of harness horses, added another win, mile 2:03, to his credit, pushing his $400,000 plus career earnings even higher. To Ri Boy, an eleven year old Adios Harry gelding, is the kind of horse you dream of owning. To Ri Boy, former Delaware Valley Horse of the Year, is owned by Ethel Milby of Cordova, Md. and trained and driven by her sons Dale and Don.

Sunday night, May 31st, saw Toy Poodle capture the big half of the $35,000 Graduate Series purse with a win in 1:54:3 for driver Billy Herman. Toy Poodle is a 4 yr. old mare by Most Happy Fella. Toy Poodle's time was a new world record for mares on a 5/8ths mile track.

A couple of nights later a horse with a familiar sounding name, Ahr Two Dee Two, won his 8th straight in the Starburst Series with a mile in 1:58:3 remaining unbeaten in 1981.

Brown Jacket, a solid 4 year old mare, paced a mile in 2:03:2 in some tough company for the Traveller Stables, of Greenwood.

Brian Manges is picking up checks at the "Big B" with Harmonys Champ among others. The champ has been 4th closing from way back and 2nd beaten by a nose in his last two starts.

Sam Belote had a couple of winners with Inner Karamea in 2:00:4 and Rikisha in 2:02:1. While other local boys who made the grade were Jack Parker, a second with Bonus Creek, and Wayne Givens with a couple of wins, including a big win with Chipmans Junior in 1:59:1.

Closing our Brandywines first couple of weeks were two featured events on Sunday night, the "Battle of the Brandywine Preview" with the top four finishers in each race back next Sunday for the "Battle of the Brandywine" with a purse of $100,000 at stake.

FROG FINALS

Above - When it came down to the wire, "Speedy" [third frog from the left, owner Albert Burns] wasn't the fastest, nor did he travel very far. But he was definitely the biggest frog in the Second Annual Lake Forest Frog Jumping Contest staged in the Frog Arena [uh-Lake Forest Stadium] by the junior class last week. The race for the swift went to Fred Goodman's "Creature" [left] while Amber Irwin's "Gerpi" [second from left] was the longest leaper. In second place for both speed and distance was "Corki" [right, owned and trained by Gina Turner].

Right - In any sort of competition, it pays to keep your cool - or at least keep your contestant cool. In the heat of the contest, a little sprinkle goes a long way.

Guinea-Bissau is located on the west coast Africa. It is about the size of Delaware and Maryland with a population of less than 540,000. The average temperature year round is between 68 degrees to 77 degrees. The chief industry is farming, and rice is the principal crop. According to Ambassador DeVos, "...the natives associate Americans with food...and will thank you whenever they see you, for the rice which the United States has shipped to them. The Soviets have shipped arms where we have shipped food. Our government feels both countries are strategic to our needs," said Ambassador DeVos.

There are many tribes living in Guinea-Bissau, each of whom speaks a different dialect. The official language of the country is Portuguese. Ambassador DeVos speaks many languages, including Portuguese and Greek, which are two very difficult languages to understand. He is a graduate of Princeton University.

While visiting with his sister, Mrs. Banks, he reviewed her recent sketches and issued a request that she pursue her art in which she demonstrates a great talent. Mrs. Banks aside from her regular job as a teacher of art for the mentally retarded in the state is also the official artist for The Harrington Journal.

She and Ambassador DeVos made plans for her to visit with him during next Christmas when she will fly to Africa and on to Paris for a 15 day holiday.

Girl Scout News

Parents, grandparents and friends of Jr. Troop 738, Felton, were invited on Wednesday evening, May 27, at North Elementary for an evening of entertainment, to climax six weeks of Youth Aerobics.

With instructor, Mrs. Bonnie Blades of the Y.M.C.A., the troop danced to four dances. Mrs. Blades, explained to us, what the troop had learned over the last six weeks. All four dances had to be learned to earn their dancing badge. (Tuxedo Junction, warm-up, Celebration and Pennsylvania Polka, high level, Don't Touch That Dial, Cool Down).

After the troop had completed their routines, parents were invited to dance with their scouts to (Don't Touch That Dial). Mrs. Blades showed us the steps to the dance song. Some of the parents had taken Aerobics before. For some it was a first. It looked so easy sitting on the sidelines, watching the troop. I must admit, I had two left feet, but it was fun.

When the dance was over, Mrs. Blades gave each scout a Youth Aerobics Certificate, for having met all requirements, for their dancing badge. A well deserved reward. They really did a super job.

Refreshments were served by scouts and leaders and everyone enjoyed themselves, even dads.

The troop wishes to thank Mrs. Blades for a lovely job. Leaders, Mrs. Sylvia Kemp, Mrs. Dolores Swain, Mrs. Darlene Shahan. Scout Reporter, Louise Aptt.

Chipman Scores In Olympics Of The Mind

A five-member team, assisted by two classmates, recently represented the W. T. Chipman Junior School in state competition in the "Olympics of the Mind". The competition is designed to pose creative and intellectual problems as a challenge to gifted and talented young people.

The Chipman team chose a phase of the competition entitled "Emotionally Speaking" as the target of its efforts. Team members were required to select four out of a possible seven human emotions to illustrate in some way. One of the motions had to be demonstrated through the auditory sense only; a second, only by visual means, and the third had to be simply tactual. The fourth emotion could be illustrated through a combination of any of the senses. If the four emotions demonstrated could be woven into a story,

Chipman team members were able to take the successive emotions grief, adoration, hate and joy and tell a story of a family first separated through the efforts or enticements of an outsider and latter reunited. Their efforts won them third place out of seven teams in state competition.

Spontaneous problems were also posed to all teams in the competition. Here the Chipman team's instant answers won them the second highest total of points in the state.

The Chipman team was under the guidance of F.L.A.G. teacher Pam Reisenger. Its members were Barry Chaffinch, Pam Green, Michael Mosley, Darren Hammond and Susanne Allen. The two who assisted were Kim Kanoy and Tony Rodriguez.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Editor,

In a recent edition of the Journal, you published letters from school children, which, I believe, they were allowed to write themselves by spelling phonetically. I'm sure your readers thought the letters were "cute" and indeed the content was amusing, but I disagree with the decision to print them that way in the paper.

Children at any age cannot be allowed to believe that their writing is acceptable simply because they made the effort. And printing their work in a recognized newspaper is further encouragement.

In the early 1960's, we were taught spelling the way it should be, and no excuses could change that. My sister, six years younger, was allowed to write freely with no regard for correct spelling. Her classmates' progression to high school coincided with a marked national drop in S.A.T. scores for that period, a trend that has not stabilized to this day.

At the Channel 4 studio, I am working with four students from Caesar Rodney's TALENTED AND GIFTED program. You can't imagine what a joy these kids are to work with. Their fresh, unhindered ideas are putting new life into our programming! But the schools in your area are allowing "mediocre" to be the standard of achievement. (When I was at Lake Forest, they, too had a program for their talented and gifted. It was called S.Q.U.E.L.C.H.)

As an employer, I have applicants coming through every day who are frighteningly inadequate, but whose high school diplomas are the same as mine.

Those letters I referred to earlier are "cute" now, but they won't be when the writer is eighteen years old. At what age do the standards apply? When does the changeover to responsible learning begin?

Let's make things challenging again!

Dear Ms. Dill,

Time and space do not permit a lengthy reply to your letter. However, one of your sentences bothered me in that I thought it represented an unfair judgement made with little or no evidence to support it.

The sentence to which I refer is your statement that "The schools in your area are allowing 'Mediocre' to be the standard of achievement."

I think you do not realize that the children's letters to which you refer were shared with the "Blue Banana" section of "The Harrington Journal" by the recipient at our request. Neither the teacher nor the children who wrote them had any idea they were to be published.

I trust that your implication was both uninformed and unintentional. However, I do not think it fair to judge the schools of any district or area based on one instance in a random selection made without the involvement of anyone in the school in question.

I would also like to point out that the schools in this area also have fine programs for the gifted and talented and that if you had looked elsewhere on the same pages you would have found some excellent examples of the work of young people in the F.L.A.G. [Focus on Language Arts for the Academically Gifted Program]. These young people, who had the benefit of knowing that what they wrote was going to be published, did a fine job. However, it is not the purpose of this section of our paper to recognize merely those at the top level of ability and achievement.

Finally, I would like to say that if first graders are allowed to use only those words they know how to spell perfectly, they will indeed be extremely limited or even "S.Q.U.E.L.C.H.E.D." as you might say...Yes, we could change their spelling for them. But then the letters would be ours...not what the children wrote.

Thank you for your interest!

Associate Editor

Harrington Council

to go ahead and see what could be done to correct the problem even though it meant getting easements and doing work on private property. In starting the work the city thought it had an agreement with the owners that they would pay the cost of the pipe that had to be installed from a catch basin on the south side of North Street to a point behind one of the homes on Weiner Avenue where another catch basin would be constructed to collect water and drain it off the property.

The problem now is that the same area residents do not think the pipe was placed low enough to do an adequate job. According to Council member, Harold Brode, who reported their feelings to the city Monday, they now say they will not pay for the pipe unless the job is done to their specifications.

However, the city had its engineers, Edward H. Richardson Associates do a topographical survey to determine whether or not the drainage work could be effective. The results of that survey show that the drainage system installed by the city drains positively to the catch basin on the south side of North Street. From there the water travels to another catch basin on the north side of the street and thence into a ditch which Richardson Associates says has a positive northward flow into Browns Branch. The engineers also reported that the catch basin to be installed on the Weiner Avenue property at the upper end of the pipe is at the lowest surface elevation of any point in the surrounding area. Therefore, Richardson said, the drainage system as installed should do the job.

Not without dissent, the City Council decided to take the word of its engineers and go ahead with the construction of the remaining catch basin. After that, the property will be cleaned up, the grass reseeded and the city will consider its work done.

The actual vote on the Council was a tie which had to be broken by Mayor Al Mann who said the city had no business, in the first place, in doing drainage work on private property. He said it could open up a whole Pandora's box of problems. But since the city was already involved, he was in favor of getting the work done as quickly as possible.

Of the residents' apparent refusal to pay for the pipe installed, the Mayor said "If they're not gentlemen enough to stand by their word," we'll just have to "take any action we have to take."

The Council's vote to go ahead and complete the work ended in a 2-2 tie with Jack Wyatt abstaining, Bobby Quillen and Dr. Lobo voting in favor, and Ray Gagne and Harold Brode voting "NO". The Mayor broke the tie in favor of getting the work done.

Reportedly area residents concerned with the drainage problem are asking that the pipe be installed the way it was previously, that is, at the bottom of the catch basin. They feel it will not do them any good at the level at which it has been presently placed. But the Mayor and the city's engineers apparently feel that proper flow could not be maintained if the pipe were lowered to any degree.

In other business, The Harrington City Council:

- heard the Planning and Zoning Committee's recommendation that the property at 110 Center Street (the former Millard Cooper Funeral Home) be rezoned from C3 (a restricted commercial use) to R1 (residential, single family). The William Mussers, who now own the property, have made a number of unsuccessful attempts at rezoning it for various uses. The Council set a public hearing on the matter for Monday, June 29, at 8 p.m. in the Harrington Fire Hall.

- adopted a change to the personnel policy which would forbid any supervisor to hire or recommend hiring in any city department any relative by blood or marriage.

- agreed to buy a tamp for use by the street department and a saw for cutting pipe. The Council also decided to alleviate rising temperatures in the city offices with the purchase of two air conditioners - one 12,000 BTU and one 6,000 BTU. The total cost of the purchases is $2,650.

- accepted the resignation of Robert Hassett, Jr. from the city work force.

TIPS ON TRIPS

Samsonite's Traveler Advisory Service
A worry-free vacation can hinge on something as simple as the way you pack your luggage. Here are a few suggestions to help assure your packables will arrive intact.

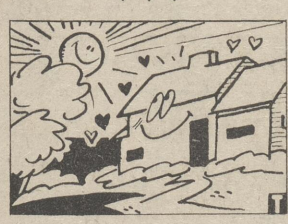

Place heavy items at the bottom of the case, near the hinges at the back.
Distribute weight evenly from side to side. A balanced case is easier to carry.
Pack shoes heel to toe. Use fabric shoe mitts to keep from soiling clothing.
Fill the space inside your shoes with neatly rolled socks or hose.
For convenience and safety put make-up and other liquids in plastic containers.

To keep all your beauty needs organized and readily at hand, consider Samsonite's innovative Silhouette II Beauty Case. This traveler's companion becomes a portable dressing table by simply hanging the tray on the front of the case. The mirror is adjustable and there's room for stand up cans and bottles.
Wet clothes or laundry should be folded flat and placed in a plastic bag on top of other clothes.
These are just a few of the many little secrets to successful packing. Try them out on your next trip. They'll work for you, too.

FACTS & FIGURES

Heating Water by the Sun
It may surprise some to know that solar water heaters are not new. There were thousands in use in Florida and the Southwest during the 1930s. Now, they're becoming increasingly popular in the Northeast. In 1979 alone, the number of installations doubled from 5,000 to 10,000 thanks to the efforts of the Northeast Solar Energy Center, which is operated in Massachusetts by the not-for-profit Northern Energy Corp.

The average family of four can save 40 to 60 percent of its annual water heating bill by heating that water with a solar system. A homeowner can get a 40 percent federal tax credit for having a system installed. Some states also have a state tax credit. This can bring the cost of installation well below $2,000.

Berry Funeral Homes

Dear friends, Before prearranging a definite funeral and body disposition, it is wise to consider and consult those survivors most affected by the death. Grant them the opportunity to be active planners, not just passive spectators. Assisting in funeral arrangements can serve as a healthy outlet for their grief and anxiety.
