Harrington Patrolman Fired & Rehired

As a result of complaints that surfaced at the July 13 meeting of the Harrington City Council and a subsequent appeals process, Harrington Patrolman Paul Yannucci was first fired and then rehired - all in the course of a week.

At the July 13 meeting, Frank Soriano appeared before the council to register a complaint about Patrolman Yannucci's handling of a particular traffic violation. The complaint was heard in an executive session which lasted more than an hour. Following the executive session the council made no public comment and took no formal action in the matter.

However, it was subsequently learned that Patrolman Yannucci had been fired as a result of that session and the complaint or complaints aired therein.

Yannucci consequently exercised his right of appeal, and as a result of that appeal was later reinstated with pay for the period of termination by Harrington Police Commissioner Harold Brode.

Because of some confusion in the apparent facts and their bearing upon the rights of individuals involved in the case, it was impossible at this writing to clarify the situation any further.

Charlie & "The Willow" Go For 250 G's

by Harry G. Farrow, Jr.

Everyone in the Harrington area and the residents of Harrington Raceway are all happy for the Charlie Pitts family and the latest star in the harness horse world...Willow Bust. Not since the days of Direct Express, Royal Blood, Adios Harry, and Quick Lady have the barns been buzzing at Harrington as they are now.

In last week's Journal it was first reported how "The Willow" made it to the top in the $700,000 race at The Meadowslands. Then last Wednesday behind the valuable hands of the great harness driver, Herve Fillon, she won another qualifying race at Roosevelt Raceway for a new race record of 2:02.4. The win qualified her for

Greenwood Celebrates

"Greenwood Day" an annual event since 1976 was held in Greenwood last Saturday, July 19. An all day affair which featured games, booths and good food as well as an evening street dance, the event was at the Greenwood Plaza - the area near the library and the former railroad station.

This year there were 19 booths, and among the taste tempters offered were roast beef sandwiches. "Thunderbird" of Cambridge, Maryland furnished the music for the street dance.

The event was organized by a committee headed by Elizabeth Craft and consisting of Lester Craft, Mary Todd, Charles Todd and Greenwood Mayor Floyd McDowell. The flea market this year was in charge of Gladys Bowden.

Shur Leaves WAFL

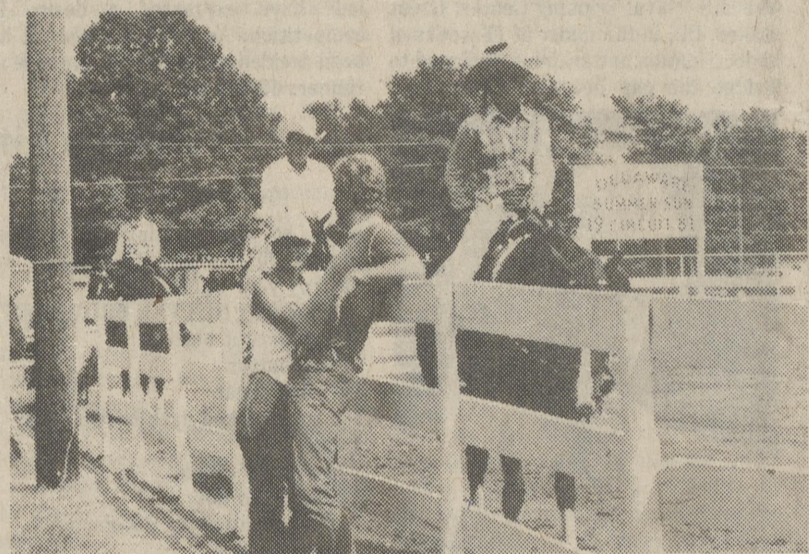

WAFL Radio today announced the resignation of Edward H. Shur as Director of News, Public Affairs and Sports. "I have been offered a full-time position as a staff writer-copy editor with The Daily Times of Salisbury, which, after much consideration, I have decided to accept," Shur said. "I want to thank all of the terrific people at the Country King as well as our listeners for making my work these past six months so enjoyable."

Shur announced that George Alexander, formerly in the news department of WCTD Radio in Federalsburg, has been hired to take over his position. Alexander has more than 18 months experience in commercial radio. "I am confident George will continue the fine tradition of quality reporting WAFL listeners have grown accustomed to," Shur added. "Listeners who have called in with news stories in the past, are urged to continue doing so."

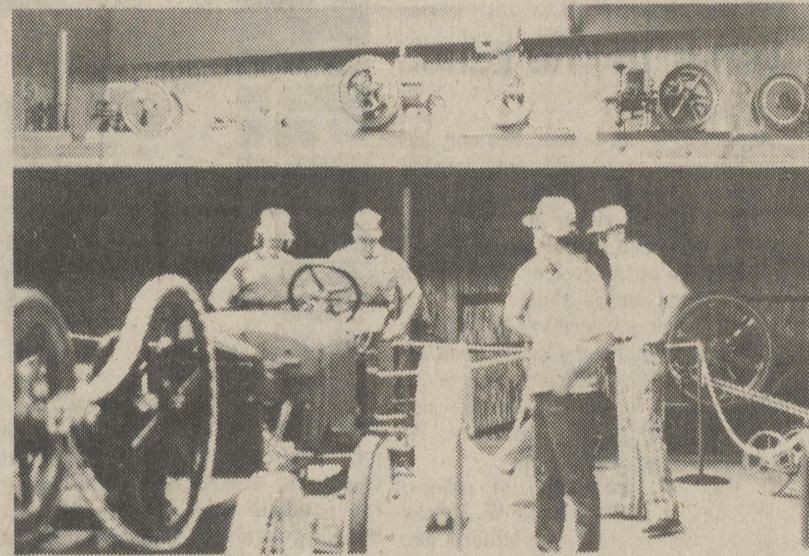

Carey Wynn will continue working in the news department under his new leader. She will continue anchoring the local news and sports on Saturdays.

The fun is all set to go 'round at the Delaware State Fair which officially opens Friday evening, July 24 to run through August 1. Tomorrow night is preview night with free gate and free grandstand. The Strates Midway will be open and the Delaware Development Stakes will go off beginning at 7 p.m.

Roger Moore and Shirley Matthews of Harrington relax for a few minutes as they take in the action at one of the seven quarter horse shows in the Summer Sun Circuit held at the fairgrounds here last week. Moore and Matthews were successful with their 4-year-old mare, Bobbie's Springtime, who won a third place in the Western Pleasurama Class and a fourth in the English Pleasurama held on Saturday and Sunday, July 18 and 19. Bobby's Springtime is owned by Moore and trained and ridden by Matthews.

A waystation and a stop of particular interest on the Kent County Crops Tour sponsored by the Kent County Cooperative Extension Service on Friday was Messick's Antique Museum in Harrington where Walter Messick and crew played host. The tour also visited the Homer Torbert Farm near Frederica, stopped at the corn demonstration plants at Lake Forest High School, had lunch at the Harrington Fairgrounds and paid a visit to the Al Warner farm to investigate drip irrigation on vegetables. The day concluded with a return to Bowers Beach for an afternoon of fishing aboard "The Tradewinds" where a chicken dinner was served.

Lake Forest Board Hires Saulsbury

The Lake Forest Board of Education Monday night hired Charles Saulsbury as Supervisor of Buildings and Grounds. Saulsbury received a two-year contract with an annual salary of $17,000. He had earlier turned down the position which had been offered to him at a lower salary. In accepting this position, he resigned from his post at the W. T. Chipman Junior School where he has taught Industrial Art since 1969. He is a Felton area resident.

Several other personnel changes were approved by the Lake Forest Board.

Resignations were accepted from Mary D. Drury, fifth grade at Lake Forest North Elementary (Mrs. Drury elected not to return from maternity leave); Keith Love, music at Lake Forest East; Mary Ellen Warner, Lake Forest North Kent-Sussex Pre-School Diagnostic Center, Speech and Hearing, and Kathy Klees, Psychometrist.

The following teachers were hired for the coming year: Cathy Draper, third grade, Lake Forest North; Glenda Bowen, fifth grade; Lake Forest East; Beverly Bresnahan, Special education at W. T. Chipman; Kathy Hoover, gifted and talented, part-time; Julie Burns, high school librarian; and Melody Miles, Special education, Lake Forest East.

Lake Forest Superintendent Dr. Edward Powell told the board that with the loss of at least eight key personnel in recent weeks, a real problem could be developing. He said it would be difficult to find replacements for such highly specialized positions as that of psychometrist in time for the school year. Higher salaries obtainable elsewhere, he thought, were a major factor in the situation.

In other business the Lake Forest School Board in what may have been one of the shortest and most streamlined regular meetings on record:

heard that Dr. Powell will set up a committee to review district discipline policies. The committee will consist of three parents, three members of the administration, one teacher from each building and two board members. Cliff Chambers, of the board, will serve on the committee as will its president, James Gussett.

voted its support of a New Castle County district opposition to legislation (HB 321) which would allow teachers three unexplained days of personal leave. The opposition was on the basis that the state only provides substitute teacher funds for four of the seven days sick leave or personal leave now granted to teachers. When that is used up, substitutes have to be paid from local funds. From his experience, Dr. Powell said it would be likely that unexplained personal days granted would be used. That would leave each teacher only about one day of sick leave for which there would be state funds to provide a substitute.

granted Category II status to the Harrington volunteer Fire Company for the use of the facilities at the W. T. Chipman school and the Lake Forest Elementary Schools.

State Fair Set To Open Here

HARRINGTON, De.--Based on advance ticket sales that have been double what they were one year ago, Delaware State Fair officials are anticipating record crowds for their event scheduled to open this Friday, July 24.

The previous record was set in 1979 when more than 163,000 people passed through the turnstiles during the Fair's 9-day run. Although Fair officials are hesitant to make estimates about the size of this year's crowd, they are confident that the old mark will be shattered and are busy making preparations to insure that all Fair departments are ready to handle the crowds.

As in the past, fairgoers will get a free sneak preview of the Fair on Thursday night, July 23. Featured will be Delaware Development Fund harness races for 2-year-olds. The James E. Strates carnival of rides and games will also be open for business.

Headlining the star-studded grandstand line up is the "First Lady of Country Music", Loretta Lynn (July 25); the holder of the current #1 record of the Top 100 chart, Air Supply (July 31); and a former "Entertainer of the Year", Mel Tillis (Aug. 1). Also appearing will be gospel and country music favorites, The Carter Family (July 30). Fair officials point to the diversity and current popularity of their talent as one of the prime factors which have motivated such strong ticket sales this year.

These acts join such traditional grandstand favorites as stock car racing (July 24 & 29), demolition derbies (July 25 & Aug. 1), a tractor pull (July 29), a super midget auto race (July 27), and an automobile thrill show (July 28). Professional rodeo will also be offered on July 26.

Children of school age will be admitted into the Fair free on Tuesday, July 28 and will be treated to a free show in the grandstand featuring the Jack Kochman Hell Drivers. The afternoon show starts at 1:30 p.m. and the evening show at 7:30 p.m.

Other special days include Senior Citizen's & Governor's Day on July 30th, Hardee's Day, also on July 30th and Handicapped Children's Day on July 31. On Senior Citizen's Day everyone over 60 years of age will be admitted into the Fair without charge and if they are over 65 and register at a special booth beside the Fair's administration building before 6 p.m., they will be admitted into the grandstand show featuring The Carter Family and the winner of the Fair's country music talent contest.

Hardee's Day will also be held on July 30th. Each participating Hardee's restaurant has coupons that when exchanged at the Fair for $5.00 entitles the person unlimited rides on the midway that day. The five dollar charge does not include gate admission into the Fair.

Handicapped Children's Day is a new feature at the Fair this year in recognition of the International Year of Disabled Persons. Any handicapped person up to the age of 21 can enter the Fair free of charge on the 31. A special magic and comedy show will be presented 4 times throughout the day on the grounds as well as many other activities that will take place for these kids enjoyment. Also taking place that day will be a large antique machinery show that has become a traditional fair favorite.

Another special feature this year is the 5th Annual Country Music Talent Contest which is being offered free on the grounds on Sunday, July 26. Close to 100 contestants have entered and the show starts at 2:00 p.m. in the Fair's indoor show arena.

Out on the fairgrounds, approximately 200 commercial and educational exhibitors have booked space months in advance of the Fair's opening. Such new exhibits as wind generating and solar equipment, french-fried mushrooms, wind chimes, carved wooden items, various home products and services including homes themselves as well as the landscaping that surrounds homes, are just a sampling of what's new in the way of the trade show exhibit.

The Fair started 62 years ago as an agricultural fair and exhibition, as most fairs were started. While the grandstand entertainment and the glitter of the rides on the midway grab the headlines, the agricultural hub of the Fair remains.

Fifteen buildings, including the free children's petting zoo, are filled to capacity with award-winning livestock which includes sheep, dairy and beef cattle, hogs, poultry, rabbits, horses and ponies.

Youth exhibits are given a strong emphasis at the Fair as evidenced by the thousands of exhibits on display throughout the week. Youth, as well as adults will vie for prizes in various arts and crafts classes, needlework, culinary, gardening, and floral exhibits. In all, 18 separate departments will be represented by exhibits at the Fair.

The Fair has continued its policy of free parking and gate admission is priced at $1.50. Ticket prices for the grandstand shows varies according to age, seating and performance. More information about ticket prices may be obtained by calling the Fair office at (302) 398-3269.

Stolen Horse Returned To Owner

Delaware State Police have returned a $60,000 horse to its rightful owner after confiscating the stolen horse near Harrington. The horse had been spotted by a trainer from North Carolina during a show at the Harrington Fairgrounds on Monday.

Daryl Lankin, a woman in her early twenties from Basking Ridge, New Jersey, was showing Queen Bay Muffets at the fairgrounds Monday morning. The horse was entered as a 3-year-old quarter horse mare owned by Donna Klimek, of Howell, New Jersey. During the show, Gene Parker, a horse trainer from Orram, North Carolina, felt he recognized the horse as one he was training in Raleigh, North Carolina when the horse was stolen in August, 1980. The horse was a 4-year-old mare named Sugar Glo Cabin, and valued at $60,000. Following the theft, the loss was covered by Allied Western, Inc., an insurance company of Oklahoma City, in the amount of $30,000. Parker called over some others who had also known the horse, and they concurred with his suspicion that it was indeed Sugar Glo Cabin.

Parker contacted the Delaware State Police and the horse's previous owner, Harold Carpenter, also of Orram, North Carolina. Since the horse was not being stabled at the fairgrounds, it was some time before the horse was located at a private farm. It was around 11 p.m. Monday when the state police seized the horse and stored it at the home of a trooper who has other horses.

Meanwhile, back in North Carolina (Kinda like "meanwhile back at the ranch"), Harold Carpenter made arrangements to fly to Delaware with Buck Jones in Jones' private plane. Jones is a breeder and trainer from North Carolina who sold Sugar Glo Cabin to Carpenter. After landing at Cheswold's Delaware Airport, both men made positive identification of the horse. Allied Western, the horse's actual owner, authorized the return of the horse to Harold Carpenter, who in turn will buy the horse back from the insurance company. The horse is now enroute back to North Carolina.

Donna Klimek reported that she had purchased the horse at an auction in Edison, New Jersey, some time during August or September, 1980. No prosecution will be initiated here, but the case is still under investigation in North Carolina.

Eakin Heads New Ethanol Plant

Greenwood agri-businessman Wayne Eakin of Eakin's Farm Supply and Seed Cleaning Service heads a new firm, American Synfuels which is soon to open the peninsula's first ethanol plant. Located in Federalsburg, Md., the plant will be capable of turning out an estimated 3.5 gallons of fuel yearly. It will employ about 35 persons.

Eakin, a major stockholder, who heads the new firm as president and chairman of the board, said much of the credit for the development of the plant goes to the Peoples Bank of Harrington, its officers and its Board of Directors for the support and encouragement they have given. He mentioned the bank's president J. Edward Taylor and its Executive Vice President and Cashier, Howard Wagner, in particular.

Ethanol, the form of alcohol used in gasahol, will be the plant's major product. But it is also expected to produce as a by-product, a high protein mash which can be added to farm animal foods. This will be marketed.

Another by-product of the process will be carbon dioxide (CO2) which will be used at the plant to keep stored grain fresh. It could also be sold if a market for it is developed.

Federal materials from which the ethanol will be produced are mainly corn and barley. The use of corn has the Delmarva Poultry Industry, which depends upon the local corn crop to feed its flocks worried that the increased demand could cause the price to skyrocket.

Those who have been in support of the development of the ethanol plant point out that barley, which is not used in feed for poultry, will also be used in the manufacturing process and that the mash-by-product could be used by the poultry industry.

Days of Our Years

-Thirty Years Ago-
July 20, 1951

The 32nd annual Kent and Sussex Fair opens Monday evening here with Jack Kochman's Hell Drivers, an automobile thrill show.... "I can judge by other fairs I have seen, just how good a fair we have here in Harrington," said Gov. Carvel Thursday night, July 12, at the annual stockholders' banquet of the Kent and Sussex Fair, Inc. The banquet, revived after a lapse of two years, was held at the fairgrounds restaurant. (The governor) took his cue from the creed of the fair association which was printed on the front of the banquet program. In part, the creed read: "I exist not for the personal glory of men, I exist for the good of the community." "This is just what the Harrington Fair has done," the governor continued. "You don't realize how many persons you have touched, how many lives you have enriched."

Jacob O. Williams, president of the fair association and the Kent & Sussex Racing Association, was the first speaker of the program. He said, "The will to go on has kept the Fair going." He explained that in 1942, when the Fair was closed for the next two years, some mention was made of abandoning the project and that there were two prospective buyers of the grounds. "However," he added, "the fair association decided to hang on."

Miss Helen Lorraine Oleksey, 23, daughter of Mrs. Eva Ronchak, R.F.D. No. 2, Box 137, Harrington, is now at the U.S. Naval Training Center, Great Lakes, Ill., in the midst of 11 weeks of indoctrination and training designed to bridge the gap between civilian and Navy life.

William G. Jones, son and Mr. and Mrs. Bernice Perry, Felton, recently was promoted to the grade of corporal while serving in Korea.

Max Terry, Dover attorney, was elected to succeed Dr. James Beebe as president of the State Board of Education.

The harness racing program for the 32nd Kent and Sussex County Fair promises to be unusually inviting, with top stables competing for attractive purses. The Kirby and Holloway Stable of Harrington has entered Federal Hanover, a 2-year-old trotter which showed in a $7500 stake race at Roosevelt Raceway in his first start. Driver will be Polly Sipe of Harrington.....Olin Davis will have a classy stable in Bermuda, Quick Reward, Berty York and Ethel's Lady.

(At Bowers Beach) the Ida J.III, Capt. Irving Wright brought in 275 porgies, Thursday, July 12 for eight Pennsylvanians, most of whom were from Jersey Shore.

Delaware's biggest outdoors event of the year throws open its gates at 4 p.m. on Saturday, July 22....Special grandstand shows will be presented Sunday afternoon and evening featuring the best in Country Music with Minnie Pearl, Roy Acuff, Tex Ritter and the Smokey Mountain Boys.

The Kent & Sussex Fair in Harrington has announced that a three-mile foot race will be held for the third straight year. A number of younger lads have expressed a desire for competition. As a result of this, it has been decided to hold a 1 1/2 mile race for runners 15 and under.

No history of the Kent & Sussex Fair would be complete without pointing to the late Dr. William Thomas Chipman.. For many years, Dr. Chipman, who died, Sat., Feb. 26, served as physician (for) the fair and the Kent & Sussex Racing Association without pay.

-Ten Years Ago-
July 22, 1971

A processing plant of a poultry wholesale firm on U.S. 14, three miles west of Harrington was destroyed Friday afternoon in a blaze starting as a grass fire...A large barn, three sheds, a tractor, a walk-in freezer and food products belonging to Dorothy's Slic Chicks, a company which packages and distributes poultry and eggs, were destroyed. Owner of the firm is Mrs. Dorothy Price. She told the Harrington Journal if the equipment and buildings were replaced today they would cost between $75,000 and $100,000...Four local firemen suffered from smoke, heat and exhaustion. They were Bobbie White, Jimmy Callaway, the Rev. John Edward Jones and Jimmie Russell.

(Pictured this week in the Journal) Joe Iracani of Harrington smiles after his recent triumph at Georgetown Raceway with Joe Adamo's Lucky S, a four year old pacer by Tartport Count. Merle Haggard and Loretta Lynn, two of the nation's top country singers, will be among the talent presented in nightly grandstand shows as the 1971 Delaware State Fair opens this Friday and continues through July 31.

After a 4-2 upset by Cape Henlopen, Earl Everline's Harrington Big League entry tripped Woodbridge, 13-2, leaving the two clubs deadlocked for second place in the American Division with 8-4 records.

Letter To The Editor

To The Editor:
Big business can rejoice. Not only has the President proposed to cut taxes but proposed relaxing regulations. Big business can get richer at possibly the cost of workmen's state of health and possibly too at the cost of the state of health of consumers, thus.
And regarding Secretary of Interior Watts, his somewhat flippant indifference to public criticism seems to indicate he considers perhaps our country no longer a democracy. At least this is my impression.
Is this the impression of others?

Canoe rentals are also available from 1 to 4 p.m. on Saturdays. The canoes may be rented for $3.00 per/hour for non-members and $1.50 per/hour for members. All day rates are available.

Group tours and school tours are also conducted by appointment, and the Nature Center is closed all day Sunday.

A few of the summer programs being offered at the Nature Center are still not filled, they include: 'Sun Day on Tuesday' for ages 3-5, on July 28, from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. This program includes nature discoveries with games, crafts, and plant studies. For 6-8 year olds we have room for a few more children in two programs, they are "Special Places" on Thursday, July 23, from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m., and "Fun in the Sun" on Wednesday, July 29, from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. "Paper Nature" on Tuesday, July 21, from 9:30 to 11:30 for 7-12 year olds also has space for a few more. In this program children will learn to create creepy crawlers, silly spiders and blooming blossoms that will surprise their friends and fill those rainy days at home.

The Nature Center still has two canoeing programs for families with room for a few more people, "Canoeing Through Prime Hook" on Sunday, August 2, from 12:30 to 5:30 p.m. and "Cypress Swamp Canoeing" on Sunday, August 16, from 10:30 to 6:30 p.m. Transportation and canoes are provided for both programs.

For information on programs and membership at the historic Abbotts Mill Nature Center, call 422-0847. The Center is a non-profit organization and is located approximately 4 miles southwest of Milford, Delaware.

Giant space creature footprints? The creature's three foot hand reaching in over a curtain? See all of this and more at the Delaware Division of Libraries' Funmobile Exhibit, July 25 - August 1 at the Delaware State Fair, next to the Administration Building.

A seven foot high sign invites visitors to "Come in and See Creatures from Outer Space." Inside the Funmobile is an exhibit of outer space masks ranging from The Empire Strikes Back's Yoda to Dillworth the Outer Space Pickle.

A green space creature costume is also on display. There are outer space maps and blown-up illustrations from science fiction books to see. Posters promote Delaware's library services - Programs for the blind and handicapped, books-by-mail, art loans, summer reading programs, the PDQ Line, and other free services.

All who visit will receive a memento of their trip to outer space in the form of a colorful T-shirt transfer, a space city placemat to color, or a booklist bookmark.

Parents can pause from the busy Fair while their children color the placemats with crayons provided at the picnic tables next to the Funmobile. Everyone will enjoy having a picture taken by posing behind a large space creature figure.

Come to the Fair and find out how "Reading Takes You Out of This World."

The Eastern Shore Threshermen and Collectors Association, Inc. will hold their 21st Annual Wheat Threshing, Steam and Gas Engine Show on August 7, 8, 9, 1981, located between Denton and Federalsburg, Maryland on Route 313. There will be demonstrations of wheat threshing, baling, shingle sawing, sawmilling, rock crushing and many others, along with rides on "Smokey Joe", a miniature steam train. Free admission and parking. Free country music shows each evening. For additional information call 754-8422.

At 9:30 a.m. on Wednesday, July 29th, the flags will fly and the drums will sound marking the start of the colorful Parade of States at the National Chicken Cooking Contest in Convention Hall, Ocean City, Maryland. Fifty-one contestants (one from each state and the District of Columbia), accompanied by a U.S. Air Force escort bearing the flag of their home state, will then enter the hall as the Dixieland Combo of the U.S. Army Band (Pershing's Own) sets the musical mood for excitement. The cooking champions will take their place and begin preparation of their winning chicken recipes at 10:00 a.m. When all is cooked and tasted and the judges have made their decision, one of these contestants will be declared the top chicken cook of the United States and will go home $10,000 richer. An additional $10,000 will be divided among four runners-up.

The contest is open to the public at no charge. Only the judges will be able to sample the chicken dishes, but spectators will have the opportunity to share in the excitement and take home copies of the award-winning recipes.

Arts Calendar

The Delaware State Arts Council is seeking visual and performing artists and poets to be listed in a new publication detailing the Artists-in-Education program.

Artists and poets selected for inclusion in the Artists-in-Education publication will be eligible for selection by Delaware educational institutions to spend one week to three months in residence conducting workshop activities which can include demonstrations, discussions, slide presentations, student workshops, exhibits and performances. Artists included in the publication are not guaranteed employment. Contemporary artists from any field and traditional artists representing varied cultural backgrounds are eligible to apply. The program will enable students and teachers to observe at work, learn new techniques and become more familiar with both contemporary and traditional ethnic arts. Lois Kay, coordinator of the Visiting Artist Series in New Castle County School District for the past two years, is compiling the Artists-in-Education publication. A section of the booklet will list artists with previous experience in the Artists-in-Schools program, returning participants from last year's Visiting Artist Series in the New

University By The Sea Continues

Two University of Delaware professors will be featured in the next free public program of the University by the Sea series, scheduled for Wednesday morning, July 29 in the Horizon Room of the Henlopen Hotel in Rehoboth Beach. Admission is by ticket only.

The program will focus on ethical issues in scientific research in two areas, gene splicing and the nuclear bomb, with discussion of how such work can be done to prevent health hazard and who should benefit from the results.

Dr. Walter Vincent, professor of life and health sciences, will talk on "Biological Research and Recombinant DNA: The End of Ivory Tower Innocence?" at 8:30 a.m. and Dr. Harry Shipman, professor of physics, will Castle County School District, and new artists to be selected from current applications by a citizen panel. New artists wishing to participate in the Visiting Artist Series must apply. Applications and further information are available from the Delaware State Arts Council, 820 North French Street, Wilmington, Delaware, 19801. The application deadline is July 31.

"The Best to All of You"

Greenwood

By Pat Hatfield 349-4255

The members of the Greenwood United Methodist Church welcomed their new minister and his family, the Rev. and Mrs. Paul Wragg and two daughters to a Sunday night supper in the educational building of the Greenwood Church.

After the delicious meal, the members of Todd's Church presented the evening program. Lay Leader, Leonard Chaffinch, in his usual humorous and delightful style, welcomed the members and their special guests, the Wraggs.

Members of Todd's Church then presented gifts of their various talents to the new family in a spirit of sharing. Mrs. Jeanne Warner shared her beautiful voice in a solo. The newly-organized Youth Choir of young men and women, directed by Dolores Jones and Ruth Ann Hamstead, presented several numbers.

The Quartet from the Adult Choir of Greenwood Church, consisting of Ruth Ann Hamstead, JoAnne Davis, Judy Dickerson and Janet Durig, presented several numbers. The evening ended in a fine time of sharing and fellowship.

Here are two dates to mark on your calendar right now. Daily Vacation Bible School will be held August 2 through August 6 at the Greenwood Church. The time will be from 6:30 to 8:30.

August 16 will be the date of the Charge picnic; more details later.

On Wednesday Mrs. Theresa Olt entertained a few of her local friends with a luncheon. Those present were Mrs. Alice MacIvaine, Mrs. Helen Maloney, Mrs. Norma Willey and Mrs. Jacob Hatfield.

Gabfest

By Pat Hatfield 349-4255

I really need to be doing pickled beets this morning, but the heat gets to me. All I really want to do is sit out in the yard chair and watch the mocking birds and the rabbits. On these hot, sultry July days the slightest effort becomes a major problem. The nights also are hot and still, and the moonlight is brilliant. The old folk say, "These are the nights you can hear the corn grow." And you know, this is true. Many years ago I slipped out into my grandfather's cornfield one night and stood quietly listening. Not a whisper of a breeze stirred the green stalks of corn, but, ever so faintly, there was a small rustle, a tiny tick, a wee creak here and there, and I believed it then, and I believe it still. In the rush and bustle of this hectic world we have lost much of our capacity for hearing the corn grow.

The parsley has gone to seed and has been taken over by the beautiful little green, black and buff caterpillars that seem to feed only on parsley. I forget which kind of butterflies they turn in to, but Ellen and I love their beauty and we stroke them gently with our fingertips which they permit, and we just let them eat. When they finish their cycle, we'll cut off the parsley stems and it will come again from the roots. I expect by the world's standard Ellen and I are a bit weird, but what's a bit of parsley?

More and more of my friends are telling me that they are taking advantage of the fresh vegetables available now and serving meatless meals. I could do this quite well myself, but Dad does like meat on the table three times a day. We eat lots of vegetables, though. Last night for dinner we had baked ham, but I also assembled a kettle of vegetables...cabbage wedges, carrots and onions. The onions went on my plate. I can never get enough of big, fat onions, boiled or baked, drenched with melted butter and passed over lightly with pepper. Cabbage is a great favorite of his, and he did manage to be real brave and eat a carrot.

Our first two tomatoes are ripening on the kitchen window sill. Small Garith and grandfather can scarcely wait until they get red enough.

This afternoon my ears are assaulted by the sound of the buzz saw ripping through plywood. This is only pleasant because of the end result. It means new lineoleum for our kitchen. We have lived so long, we have to renew and renovate our home! But there are other delightful sounds of summer, such as the soft whirring of the electric fan and the tinkle of ice in a tall glass of iced tea!

Anne's Kitchen

This is one of the recipes passed on to me by someone whose kitchen talent has all my respect. The result is delightful. I doubt you would care to serve these brownies after a meal, but they are wonderful for coffee and cake guests, a dessert table or a snack. I like to serve them in small squares displayed on a three tier dessert dish. I know you will like them well enough to want to make a double batch but resist the temptation of doubling the recipe. If you need more, make two individual batches. Another important step you should not try to short cut is the flour sifting. I use a three screened sifter. The brownies are rich and heavy, if you short cut the sifting they will be like lead and dry. They should be slightly

Lake Forest Community Swim Team Serves Notice . . .

"We have served notice that we are to be reckoned with," so said Lake Forest Aquatic Coordinator Dennis Berry after his young swim team's surprisingly 320-190 triumph over Rehoboth Golf and Country Club in a meet held at the local pool last Thursday. The Lake Forest Community Swim Team, in its very first year of competition, might have been counted as a sure candidate for the cellar in the Delmarva League. But no more.

The team, which lost its first meet (with Seaford) by 200 points but broke 55 of its own records in the process, had expected some success against Rehoboth. But perhaps no one was really prepared for the extent of that success. Not only did Lake Forest pile up a 130 point margin in the contest, but with six swimmers sidelined it also continued to break its own records - some of them set just the week before. Improvement, in this initial year, is the name of the game for the new team. And no one can say it has not been in evidence.

As with the first meet, a number of individual swimmers contributed to the team's success.

In the boys 8 and under class, Jason Monroe captured four blue ribbons and accounted for 14 team points.

In the girls 10 and under division, a strong unit of the Lake Forest team, Angie Stump who starred against Seaford, was sidelined with an injury. But her teammates were up to the challenge. Kelly Rawding took five

3rd Annual Great Wyoming Buffalo Stampede

One of the largest footraces ever conducted on Delmarva Peninsula is set to go off at 9 a.m. Saturday, July 25 in the old railroad town of Wyoming, Del.

About 500 runners are expected to compete in the Third Annual Great Wyoming Buffalo Stampede.

The race is sponsored by the Downstate Delaware Striders, a running club based in Dover, Del.

The course record was set in 1980 by U.S. Olympic Trials marathoner Craig Holm of Rochester, NY. He ran the 6.2 miles in 32 minutes and 22 seconds, about one minute ahead of U.S. military steeplechase champion Rex Wiggins of Dover Air Force Base.

The women's record also was set in 1980, as Jean Wallace of Chevy Chase, Md., raced home in 41 minutes and 26 seconds.

The race is built around a buffalo theme, with more than 32-buffalo related awards given to winners of various men's and women's age groups. Though the overall winners are trained athletes, the race welcomes recreational runners and joggers.

According to Dean Gardels, publicity chairman for the stampede, "It's really the recreational runners and joggers who make up most of the field, and it's for them that we hold the party afterwards."

The free post-race party includes a Country and Western band and a chance to visit the family of four American buffalo for whom the race is named, Gardels said.

The buffalo, owned by Wyoming businessman Frank DiMondi, are a full-grown male and female bison, their one-year-old female calf, and a newly born male that is so small he sometimes reaches freedom by crawling under the pasture fence, Gardels said.

Persons participating in the race also receive a buffalo T-shirt designed by local artist Larry Knox.

Registration fee to run in the Stampede is $6 in advance and $8 on race day.

Interested persons may register at the Athletic Attic on Lockerman Street in Dover, or call race officials at 302 734-1799.

tonight's John Chapman Memorial Race at Meadowlands where the quick filly of Meadow Skipper will be going for a paltry sum of $250,000. She has now raised her lifetime earnings to $359,360.

According to Fillon she cut out the last half, and had plenty left. Charlie Pitts said later that "....Herve was just adlibbing for the press after the race. I don't think she had much left."

In the big race where she was moved to first, Pitts had timed her in 1:58 and a piece. She will be in with fast company tonight. After this race "The Willow" will be rested for possible invitations at Meadowlands before they close "...or I might turn her out and wait for next year...then again I have been thinking of trying for a mark at the Lexington time trials...but they are so late in the season...and I would really like to take her out of training", said Pitts. The filly is groomed by Donna Elswick of Harrington.

first place ribbons and piled up 19 team points. Lisa Neilsen and Crystal Sinegar accumulated 10 and 9, respectively.

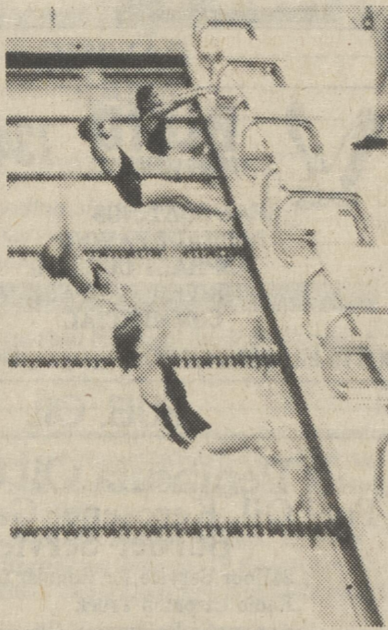

For the boys of the same age range, Scotty Pierce and David Chambers led with 12 points each.

Kristen Reid led the girls 12 and under and also moved up to compete with the girls 14 and under.

For the boys 12 and under, two young swimmers Robbie Burgholzer and Robbie Bates, accounting for 29 team points, were students. Bates came from behind for a win in the anchor (freestyle) leg of a medley relay.

Competing in the girls 14 and under class, Pam Pierce captured 4 first place ribbons, and Gary Price and Danny Haines were leaders for the Lake Forest boys in the same group.

In the girls 18 and under class Heather Haines continued to shine, winning every event she entered. She promises continued outstanding performances for the local swim team.

With the boys 18 and under, Charles Moeler and Brian Hughes, were each responsible for four 1st place ribbons. Hughes lowered the Lake Forest record (set the previous week) for the 50 meter freestyle from 33 to 31.3 seconds.

On Monday the team was back in competition against the Kent Swim Club which was expected to furnish tougher competition. It did. Lake Forest lost the meet 324-190. But Berry was still pleased with his team's performance. The Kent meet here and the next two with the Seaford Golf and Country Club and the Pepsi-Arby invitational (both scheduled away from home) were all expected to provide more in training and experience than in winning points.

In addition to Dennis Berry, Pat Dyal and Kathy Monroe coach the team and have been instrumental in its development.

Berry Funeral Homes

Dear Friends: Youngsters, like adults, need to accept and express their grief in times of tragedy. Children are more vulnerable to loss, particularly the death of a parent. Because of their complete dependence on adults, they consider it a form of punishment for misbehavior. Children should be encouraged to express their feelings by talking about the death - to realize that death is natural and inevitable.

Respectfully,
William C. Berry, Jr.
