Deputy Will Face Murder Trial

Andre S. Deputy will finally face trial in the 1979 murders of Alberta and Byard Smith of Harrington. Deputy and the Smith's nephew William Henry Flamer were arrested on February 7 shortly after the elderly couple was found slain in their Vernon Road home. In the trial, held about a year later, Flamer was convicted of first degree murder and received the death penalty. But the case against Deputy was dismissed when Judge William G. Bush, III, of Superior Court, suppressed the evidence against him. Bush ruled that the state police did not have probable cause for detaining Deputy at the time he and Flamer as well as a third person were discovered walking along U.S. 13 near the Golden Crown Tavern south of Woodside. At the time the three were picked up, police had been looking for Flamer alone.

As a result of an appeal by the prosecutor in the case, Deputy Attorney General Dana Reed, Judge William Duffey, John J. McNeilly and William T. Quillen have overturned the earlier decision. In a lengthy opinion written by Quillen and handed down July 21, the higher court ruled the standards for probable cause to question a suspect do not have to be as strict as those for making an arrest. Therefore, the evidence subsequently obtained against Deputy is admissible, and Deputy can be tried.

Reed, who expressed satisfaction at the outcome of the appeal, said it would be some time this winter before the case could come to trial.

The murder was first reported by the couple's son, Arthur Smith, who discovered their mutilated bodies next to the wood stove in their living room. While Harrington police and Delaware State Police from Troop 5 in Bridgeville were searching the Smith residence for evidence, a report of an abandoned car on Church Street in Felton, investigated by Troop 3, Camden, turned up a vehicle registered in the victims names. An interview with an area resident turned up a description of Flamer. A search of Flamer's Mispillion Street, Harrington, residence produced a bloody bayonet and several items taken from the Smith home.

Information obtained a little later led investigators to believe that Flamer had gone to the Golden Crown Tavern

In checking that lead, detectives found Flamer, Deputy and the third person (later released) walking south on U.S. 13.

Deputy's evasive manner on being questioned led to a deeper probe revealing the fact that he had given a false identification and also that he was wanted for a 1977 murder in Wilmington. A search of the immediate area in which the suspects were picked up further revealed a second weapon, a hunting knife with small traces of blood.

Both Deputy and Flamer were subsequently arrested and charged with two counts of first degree murder as well as lesser charges of robbery, burglary and possession of a deadly weapon during the commission of a felony.

Flamer was convicted, but the evidence against Deputy including a tape recorded statement was suppressed, and the case against him dismissed as a result of Judge Bush's ruling.

Both men are in prison. Flamer, who received the death penalty, is awaiting the appeals process. Deputy is serving a 30 year sentence for manslaughter in the 1977 Wilmington incident.

Record
177,600
At Fair

"Good weather" and a "good show", according to George Simpson, the fair's secretary and General Manager, helped the 1981 Delaware State Fair become a record-breaker. Attendance at the 62nd annual event reached 177,600, topping the previous high mark of 163,000 set in 1979.

Skies were not always blue for the 1981 fair, but the rains that did come, did not hamper fair-goers spirits. Most were already on the grounds and involved when the heaviest downpours occurred. And although the days, for the most part, were seasonably bright and sunny, temperatures did not reach the muggy highs that may have kept some visitors away in 1980.

The good weather, said Simpson, "...was the number one reason" for the record attendance. Fair officials, he reported, were very pleased at the outcome. He also attributed the successful fair to a "good show....one more varied than in previous years." Simpson said the entertainment in front of the grandstand which headlined country music stars Loretta Lynn and Mel Tillis as well as the Australian rock group "Air Supply", offered "...a better selection from beginning to end."

The weather contributed to more than increased attendance according to Gary Simpson, assistant manager and secretary. He said this was one of the smoothest running fairs ever and said the relatively cool temperature helped keep tempers cool. Simpson was also pleased with the press coverage of the 1981 event.

Loretta Lynn attracted the biggest grandstand crowd, drawing a total of 7,000 for two shows. "Air Supply" and Mel Tillis each brought about 6,000 fans out for shows on the concluding Friday and Saturday nights. Grandstand and trackside seating at the fair can accommodate about 4,300 any one time, making a total of 8,600 for two shows a possibility.

An innovation with which fair officials seem pleased this year, was a change in the Children's Day program. It has always been difficult to schedule grandstand entertainment that would appeal to a wide range of young people - from youngsters to teenagers - and interest their parents enough to bring them, too. But by scheduling the Jack Kochman Auto Thrill Show, The Hell Drivers, fair officials may have found the magic drawing card. This year's crowd for the Children's Day show seemed to go much further toward

HERITAGE DAY KARATE

Reese Rigby's Isshinryu Karate group will be making its third Heritage Day appearance here on September 12. Actually, this will make the fifth time the group has performed in Harrington. Over the past three years it has proved to be a popular attraction on the Heritage Day program, drawing a crowd for each performance.

Reese Rigby, with his wife, Judy, started the Isshinryu Karate Club, which operates out of Dover, about ten years ago. But this form of karate has its origin in Okinawa where it was started by Master Shimabuku in 1934.

The Rigby's recommend Karate for physical fitness and self-control as well as for self-defense. Over the ten years that their group has been in operation, hundreds of adults and children have been students. But only about one in every one hundred has made the black belt rank.

Both Reese and Judy Rigby are fourth degree black belts. Their sons, Reese, Jr. and Kevin, hold brown belts.

High Speed Aftermath Raises Felton Tempers

A high speed chase which started in Felton on May 30 and involved a Harrington area resident as well as police from Felton and Little Creek along with the Delaware State Police was quietly settled some time ago....Or so the Felton Police, Felton Town Council and Felton Mayor William Myers thought. But it all erupted in an angry exchange between Felton Police Chief Mike Olliver and the mayor at Monday night's council meeting.

The exchange was triggered by Olliver who read a public statement by the police department and a letter written as a character reference for the defendant, David R. Sullivan, and signed by (among others) Mayor Myers.

Olliver and the two other members of the town's police force were miffed by the fact that Myers had signed the letter as Mayor of Felton. They questioned whether the signature had the backing of the Town Council and what the signature meant in terms of the town's support for the local police. Myers was angry at Olliver's reading the character reference letter in public and at the statement. He said Olliver's action was uncalled for and attempted to squelch the public reading and confine the discussion to an executive session. His attempt was unsuccessful as Olliver persisted in reading the letter and the statement which he said were matters of public concern.

The police statement questioned how Myers could sign a character reference for someone he had said in an earlier executive session he did not know, whether the mayor signed with the approval of the "commissioners of the town of Felton" and whether the Mayor agreed with the letter's allegedly "false statements about the police officers involved".

Myers said that as a character reference only and said that after some thought he later realized that he did know Sullivan although he had not at first recognized the name. Myers later said that the police chief action in the meeting was "uncalled for" and said he himself was within his rights in signing the character reference. He said he would do the same for someone else and claimed he signed as mayor rather than as private citizen because his involvement in and knowledge of the matter was connected with his town post.

Two Councilmen, Don Jacobs and Tom Jenner had praise for the police department and said the Mayor's signature was not connected in any way with Felton's governing body. Jacobs said in this particular case (the high speed chase) I backed the police department 100 percent." Jenner called the local force a #1 police department and said, "I support Mike and think that he's doing a fine job."

The incident which started the whole mayhem occurred at 1:07 a.m. on May 30 when Sullivan who had left a gathering cleared by the police from in front of the Felton Firehall, was clocked at 38 mph traveling north on Church Street. Sullivan failed to stop at the command of the police but sped off on County Road 240. After a right turn onto 241, his red pickup crossed U.S. 13 at speeds in excess of 65 miles per hour. He did not stop at the stop signs, but proceeded east on Rd. 385 where eventually failed to negotiate a 90 degree turn and headed instead through a field and in back of property owned by William Luff of Felton.

Sullivan eventually broke through a chain cable and headed across another field to Rd 33 where he jumped one ditch and landed in another. At that point his right rear tire became partially disconnected from the wheel rim.

By the time he passed through Canterbury and turned right toward Magnolia he was traveling on three Lloyd Mills of Milford has been a faithful fair visitor at the fair [call it the Harrington Fair, the Kent & Sussex Fair or the Delaware State Fair] for all of its 62 years. 1981 was no exception. Mr. Mills says the fair has been getting bigger and better all the time.

Assault On Strates

An assault on James E. Strates, of the Strates Midway Show at the Delaware State Fair involved the Harrington police department, which responded and made an arrest on Sunday, August 2, Strates was hit in the face by an employee, Carmen Seminoro, during the course of an argument over the manner in which Seminoro drove one of Strates' trucks.

The Harrington police were called, warrants were sworn out, and Seminoro who is from Bridgeport, Connecticut, was arrested. He pled guilty and, after paying a $50 fine and court costs was released.

The Harrington police were also called to the state fair on Saturday, August 2, to assist the FBI and the Delaware State Police in the apprehension of Jamie Burden, wanted by the state of Georgia on a fugitive warrant for burglary. Burden, who was working on the midway at a ride called the Yo-Yo, was taken into custody without incident.

Also on Sunday morning, August 2, the local police were called to Clark and Dickerson Streets, Harrington, where a vehicle had struck a utility pole splintering it. There was extensive damage to the car. The driver, James W. Riley, of 514 Church Street, Milford, had left the scene, but was later picked up on Coleman Street in Harrington.

Riley was taken to Milford Memorial Hospital where he was treated for contusions to the head. He was subsequently charged with leaving the scene of the accident (which he failed to report), careless driving, and driving without insurance. Arraigned in Court 6, he pled guilty to all charges and was fined and placed on work referral.

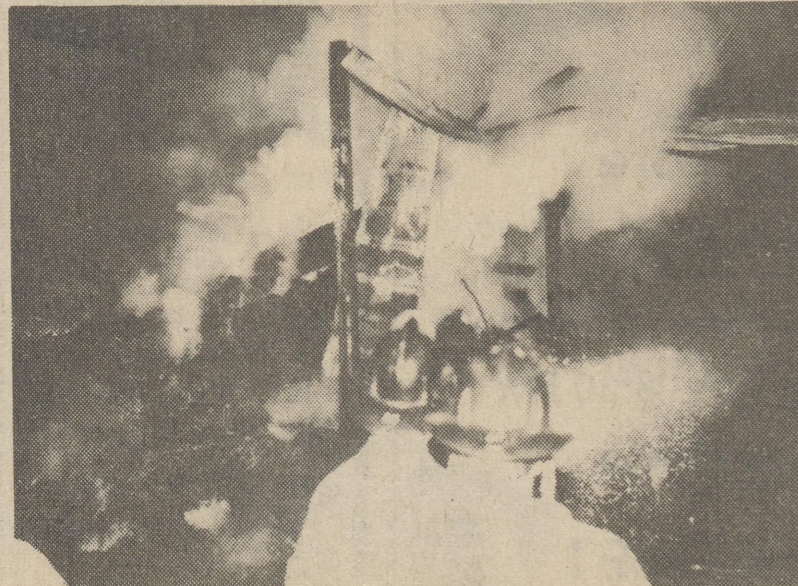

Coleman's arrest led to the solution of a July 22 accident in which a tree at the High Street residence of Mrs. Hammond was a hit and run casualty. Coleman's vehicle turned out to have been the car responsible for that incident. Investigation led to the arrest of a juvenile who pled guilty to four charges - failure to report an accident, leaving the scene of an accident.

Police Prevent Theft

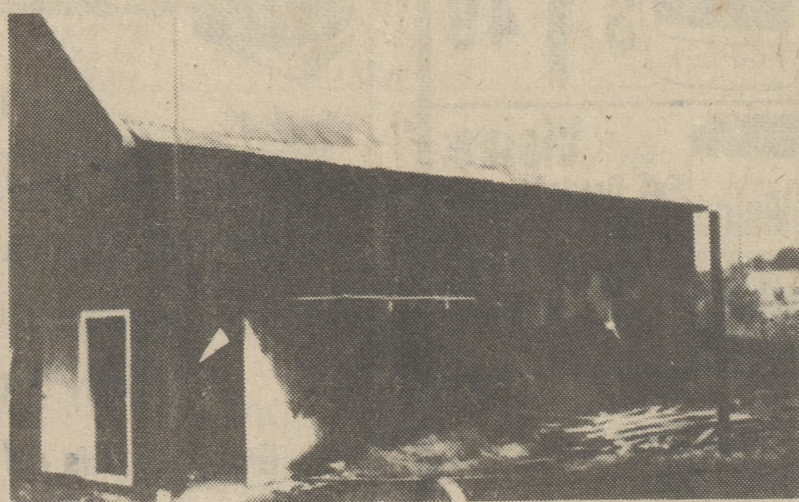

Action by the Felton Police last week prevented the theft of a back hoe/front end loader valued at $36,000 from Suburban Grading, the contractor at work on the community's new sewage disposal system. The attempted theft occurred last Thursday night, July 30.

On that date Chief Mike Olliver, PFC Ronald Fortin and Patrolman Roland Fortin were on a stake-out near the Suburban Grading equipment where there had been numerous complaints of criminal mischief as well as a reported theft of 500 gallons of fuel over the weekend. At 9:38 p.m. police observed an individual climb aboard the Case machine with keys and crowbar in hand. When two of the officers appeared with shotguns, Clarence C. Thompson, 28, of Wyoming gave up without resistance.

Arrested for attempted felony theft, possession of burglary tools (the keys and crowbar), possession of a concealed deadly weapon, (a knife) and possession of marijuana and drug paraphernalia, Thompson was arraigned in Court 7, Dover, and later committed to Delaware Correctional Center in Smyrna in default of $10,000 secured bond, awaits a hearing in Superior Court.

Joseph Barker had acquired through the will of Thomas Collins and by deeds from Enoch Joyce, William S. Barker, Caleb Sipple and George Stevenson a plantation and track of land in Murderkill Hundred on Jones Creek known by the name of Barker's Landing. It was bounded by St. Jones Creek and by lands owned by the heirs of Garret Sipple, Matthew Lowber and Daniel James and contained about 500 acres. In his will Joseph Barker gave to Henry M. Ridgely in Trust for William S. Barker, his son, all this tract of land with the power to rent and to apply the rents to the use of William S. Barker during his natural life. In case William at the time of his death should have no heirs of his body the land should pass to his sister, Maria Stevenson. William L. Barker died 27 March 1826 leaving no heirs and the property was conveyed to Joseph Barker's daughter Maria, then the wife of George Stevenson. Maria and George Stevenson sold the land to William Heverin on 1 February 1828. William Heverin and Deborah his wife in turn sold the tract of land to Jeremiah Nixon, John Ellmer and John Loper on 8 May 1829, "excepting and reserving to JACOB a servant of the deceased Joseph Barker the gratuitous use of the cabin and garden he now occupies during his natural life." 15 May 1829 John Loper and Hannah his wife of Cumberland County, New Jersey sold to Jeremiah S. Nixon of the same place his one third interest in the land known as Barkers Landing. Then 10 June 1829 Jeremiah S. Nixon purchased from John Ellmer and Phebe his wife also of Cumberland County, New Jersey, his one third interest and thereby became the sold owner of the 500 acre tract of land. Jeremiah S. Nixon purchased an additional 39 acres 11 November 1830 from John George and Sarah his wife of Philadelphia. It was the parcel of land allotted to his mother Patience George, as her dower in the real estate of her husband Joseph George, by order of the Orphans Court of Kent County. The land described as beginning at a red oak, corner of the whole tract late of Joseph George deceased, standing on the west side of a road leading from Canterbury to Barkers Landing, a corner of Daniel Jackson, John Orretts and Joseph Baker's land, upon the death of Patience George became the property of her son.

A background presentation beginning at 8:30 a.m. will feature Dr. Suzanne Steinmetz, an associate professor of individual and family studies at the university and an expert on family violence.

Arts Calendar

The third and final exhibit of the summer at the Homestead will open Thursday, August 6 and run through Tuesday, September 8. A reception to meet the exhibitors and talk with them about their work from two until four p.m., Sunday, August 9, is open to the public at no charge.

Jan Geoghegan from Dover, Delaware, works in a variety of media. Her work varies and will include water based mediums on paper, often with a mixed media approach as well as collages. Some, not all, are abstract.

William Veasey from Elkton, Md., showing miniature and regular size decoys at the Homestead, is a prolific professional waterfowl carver and teacher—carving and teaching full time. Competing in national competition since 1973, he has won over 100 awards including the head carving trophy at the U.S. National Decoy Contest in 1976 and again in 1977. Since 1974, his students have captured well over 1,000 awards including many "Best in Show" in all classes.

Steve Rogers from Milford, De., who constructs ships with concentrated attention to minute detail will be exhibiting with Geoghegan and Veasey.

"Fantasy Prints," a traveling exhibit from the Gallery Association of New York State, will be on view at the Milton Public Library from August 6 to September 3 thanks to a grant from the Delaware Arts Council.

The ten etchings and lithographs from the Colgate University Collection, Hamilton, New York, offers the craftsmanship and dreamlike visions of contemporary artists.

Some of the prints visitors will see are Herbert Fink's etching, "The Back Shore," Michael Miller's color etching, "Bridge Over Monument Hill," and Peter W. Milton's "October Piece," a 1969 etching.

According to the Gallery Association, these prints explore the irrational and mysterious realms of the human psyche.

FANTASY PRINTS is open to the public Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday, 1:00 p.m. to 8:00 p.m.; Wednesday, 1:00 p.m. to 5:00 p.m.; Saturday, 10:00 a.m. to 2:00 p.m., free of charge.

The Delaware Art Museum will display selections from the Museum's collection of American photography on August 7 through September 13, 1981. The display will compliment the traveling exhibit "Photography of the Fifties: An American Perspective," also on view August 7-September 13, 1981.

A preview for Museum members and press will be held Thursday, August 6 from 5:30 p.m. to 7:30 p.m. The Museum is located at 2301 Kentmere Parkway (between Augustine Bridge and Rockford Park), Wilmington, and is open daily from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., Sunday 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. Admission to the Museum is free. For more information, call 302/571-9590.

The Rehoboth Art League will hold a reception at the Homestead on Sunday, August 9th for the following artists: Jan Geoghegan, Mixed Media; William Veasey, Decoys; and Steve Rogers, Ships. Reception hours are 2 to 4 p.m. These artists are on exhibit, August 6-September 8.

wheels and a rim at speeds over 85 mph. With the assistance of the Delaware State Police and the Little Creek Police, the latter who helped set up a moving road block in Magnolia, he was finally slowed to a halt.

Sullivan later pled guilty to failure to stop at the command of a police officer and to driving under the influence of alcohol. In exchange for his agreement to attend a school for rehabilitation as a first offender in the second charge, the state dropped the speeding charge. It was during his hearing before the Court of Common Pleas that the character reference letter mentioned by the Felton police came to light. The letter was written by Robert and Doris Biggs for whom Sullivan an inspector with the Dairymen's Association tests milk.

In addition to the high speed chase on May 30, all three members of Felton's police department were involved in another in which a Harrington resident Daniel W. Hurd was clocked as exceeding the speed limit on Church Street and was chased into Maryland.

Note: The text of the statement and the letter made public by the police department follow this article.)

filling the grandstand than any in recent years.

Another change this year was the addition of Handicapped Children's Day on Friday. On that day, Restaurant Systems of Delmarva, which holds the Taste Freez franchise on the peninsula, picked up the tab for free entertainment on the grounds by Tom Ogden. The restaurants also furnished some refreshments and gifts.

The combination of Hardees Restaurants and the Strates Show helped draw an even larger crowd than usual, Thursday, which has traditionally been Governor's Day and Senior Citizen's Day. That tradition held strong as Governor du Pont made the usual rounds, greeting seniors and participating in the FFA games of the day. But on the midway, crowds of fairgoers lined up to exchange their Hardees coupons and $5.00 for a bracelet that entitled them to ride anything as often as they liked (or could manage) for the entire day.

This year also saw a change in the Country Music Contest which was moved to the show arena where several hundred people appraised the efforts of 23 entries.

On the closing Saturday of the fair, the Sale of Champions left Raymond Vincent of Laurel $1,221 richer as his 222 pound grand champion hog brought him $5.50 a pound on the hoof from Safeway Stores.

Other champion sales conducted: Nancy Skaggs' grand champion lamb, which went for $4.50 for each of its 120 pounds. Skaggs, of Clayton, received $540 from the Dinner Bell Inn in Dover.

Tracy Green's reserve champion market hog which went to Hatfield Packing Company, Hatfield, Pa. for $951.20 - $4.10 a pound. Green is from Newark.

Katrina Workmans reserve champion market lamb which was swooped up by Red and White Mills of Delmar at $3.25 a pound Katrina, of Seaford, realized $373.75 in the sale.

inattentive driving and driving without a license. The individual was fined and released. The tree survived.

A Fleming Street accident which resulted in chain reaction damage to three parked vehicles on July 31 is still under investigation. About 4 or 4:30 a.m., an unknown vehicle ploughed into the rear of a parked car owned by William Bright. The impact drove Bright's car into one owned by his son and that, in turn, to another vehicle. There was extensive damage to Bright's car and damage to a lesser degree to the other two vehicles. Local police are still looking for the offending vehicle and driver.

The Hand In Hand Program

Helping each other. That's what the All Star Game is all about. In 1974, this goal took on added meaning through formation of the Hand in Hand program.

Generated from the long-time symbol of the Delaware Foundation for Retarded Children -- a football player and retarded child walking hand in hand -- the program assigns each player, cheerleader and queen candidate a retarded child as his or her special "buddy" for several months preceding the game.

Hand in Hand buddies meet early in the year at parties held especially for them. Picnics, the opening day of camp and other activities help them get to know each other better and better.

For most of the high school seniors, Hand in Hand is an emotional experience that brings the true meaning of the game close to their hearts. For most of the children, it is an eagerly anticipated activity that only they can truly appreciate. No wonder many buddies stay in touch with their special friends months and even years after the final whistle blows.

"We Play That They May Learn"

In a nutshell, that's what 26 years of Blue/Gold All Star Football Games are all about: young people and adults giving their time and talents so that Delaware's mentally retarded citizens can have the educational programs, facilities and equipment they so richly deserve.

To date, nearly $1.3 million has been raised to defray expenses ranging from music therapy programs to scholarships. Funds allocated by the Delaware Foundation for Retarded Children have helped establish two "All Star Houses" -- one in Wilmington and one in Georgetown -- that provide an independent living experience for 18, 19 and 20-year-olds.

Also made possible through All Star Game monies are the Golden Opportunity Center, a Dover facility offering job skill training; the All Star Rehabilitation Building at the Hospital for the Mentally Retarded in Georgetown; and Independent Living Inc., an apartment complex in Claymont maintained by handicapped persons in their 20's.

Last year's game netted more than $80,000, an all-time record.

Glenn, Brooks 1981 All Star Coaches

George Glenn of Salesianum School and Jim Brooks of Caesar Rodney High School are the head coaches for the 26th annual Blue/Gold All Star Game. Head coach at Salesianum for the last five years, Glenn is making his All Star coaching debut as leader of the Blue squad. He was previously an assistant coach at Sallies and also coached at a high school in Virginia. A native of Wilmington, Glenn is a graduate of Salesianum and East Tennessee State College.

Glenn's All Star assistants are Jim Brazill, assistant coach at Salesianum, and Bruce Reynolds, head coach at William Penn.

Leading the Gold squad is Brooks, who served as an All Star assistant coach last year. A North Carolina native, Brooks has coached at Caesar Rodney for six years, the last three as head coach. He is a graduate of East Carolina University.

Assisting Brooks are Joe Shetzler, assistant coach at Caesar Rodney, and Jim Fleming, head coach at Lake Forest.

The All-Star House, a small group living center for 10 employable mildly retarded adults was purchased by the All-Star Committee and given to the state in 1970.

The All-Star Activity Center was purchased by the All-Star Committee and given to the state in 1972. Providing social and recreational activities for retarded adults who are unable to work, the center is open on weekdays from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. for 49 weeks each year.

Silver Anniversary Game Remembered In Poem

The 25th annual Blue/Gold All Star Game made such an impression on Karen Gallagher that she wrote a poem about the experience. Karen is a resident of the Mary Campbell Center, one of the game beneficiaries. "Blue and Gold" -- one of many poems that Karen has written -- is featured on the cover of the 1981 All Star Game program. The poem follows:

BLUE AND GOLD

Blue and gold...
Hands that hold,
A ball that is,
A pot of gold.
Men play,
On a very hot day.
The ball flies,
Past a child's eyes.
...tears of joy,
In that boy.
He has received,
His pot of gold,
From the blue and gold.

Blue/Gold Game August 8th

Seventy outstanding high school senior football players will lock horns on the gridiron at 2 p.m. Saturday, Aug. 8, in the 26th annual Blue/Gold All Star Football Game. Held to benefit the Delaware Foundation for Retarded Children (DFRC), the game will take place at the University of Delaware Stadium, Route 896, Newark. Players, cheerleaders and queen candidates representing every high school in the state will participate.

Also in attendance will be nearly 170 All Star Children, the hundreds of volunteers who make the game and its supporting activities possible, and a number of dignitaries. Game tickets are $5 per person.

The game will be preceded by a parade featuring more than 60 marching units, bands and floats. Scheduled to begin at 11 a.m. at the Newark High School parking lot, the parade will proceed west onto Main St. and terminate at the Stone Building parking lot.

Earlier that morning, the second annual Blue/Gold All Star 10K will find the streets of Newark filled with runners of all ages. The 6.2-mile run will start at 8:30 a.m. at the university stadium. Advance entry fee is $5.

Last year's silver anniversary contest netted more than $80,000, an All Star Game record. Nearly $1.3 million has been raised to support DFRC activities since the inaugural match in 1956. Each year the proceeds are distributed as seed money for various programs, equipment and facilities geared to the education of the state's mentally retarded citizens.

10 Kilometer Run To Benefit All Stars Game

Runners of all ages will participate in the second annual Blue/Gold All Star 10K, slated to begin at 8:30 a.m. on Saturday, August 8, at the University of Delaware Stadium, Newark.

The 10-Kilometer (6.2 miles) run is being held in conjunction with the Blue/Gold All Star Football Game, played annually to benefit the Delaware Foundation for Retarded Children.

All entrants will receive a race shirt and one ticket to the All Star Game, scheduled to begin at 2 p.m. at the stadium.

Prizes will be awarded to the first three finishers in these classes: under 20; 20-29; 30-39; 40-49; 50 and over; and "Charlie Tuna" (over 190 lbs.).

Registration, at $5 per person, will be available by mail until August 3 by writing Blue/Gold 10K, Box 226, Wilmington, DE 19899; in person until August 5 at Marathon Athletic Shoes, 300 9th St. Plaza, Wilmington; or on the morning of the race ($7 fee) from 7:30 to 8:15 at the University of Delaware Stadium, the starting point.

The run is being held in cooperation with Marathon Athletic Shoes and the Delaware Sports Club.

Home Game Participants Are Selected

All Star Game participants are chosen on the basis of personality and maturity as well as physical ability.

In December, all head coaches in the state are asked to submit a list of candidates from among their graduating football players. In January and February, the coaches meet as separate Blue/Gold groups with their respective game head coach. Game films are screened, the merits of each player discussed, and 25 players are picked for each squad. Those selected then are notified and asked to participate. If a player declines for some reason, replacements are selected by the head coach.

Blue players represent schools in Newark and north to the Pennsylvania state line. The Gold team covers schools in Kent and Sussex counties and in New Castle county south of Newark.

Once a player has accepted the invitation to play, he is requested to nominate a queen candidate. The All Star queen candidates model clothes at fashion shows in July -- one upstate and one downstate -- and are chosen on the basis of their charm, poise and maturity.

Cheerleader nominations are supplied by the various cheerleader coaches at each school. The nominees are asked to reply in writing why they would like to participate in the game. The final selection is made by the cheerleader coordinator on the All Star operating committee.

Phillie Phanatic - Grand Marshall

The Phillie Phanatic will serve as Grand Marshal for the second annual All Star Game parade slated to begin at 11 a.m. on Saturday, August 8, in Newark. More than 60 marching units will proceed from Tyre Avenue west to Main St. The parade will terminate at the Stone Building parking lot on Main St.

Bands, floats, police and fire departments, and dignitaries will participate. Also on hand will be many of the state's mentally retarded children, for whom the game is played.

Marching units will include the All Star Band; Blue and Gold cheerleaders, queens and courts; the Nur Temple Shrine; a Mummies' band; Ronald McDonald; cartoon characters; and Miss Piggy.

LF Swim Swimteam Excited With 3-4 Season

On your mark.....get set [one set of swimmers gets ready]

Go.....[another set is off at the sound of the gun]

.....and an enthusiastic gallery roars to its feet in support of L.F. competitors.

Going into a meet scheduled last night with the Maple Dale Country Club of Dover, the young Lake Forest Community Swim Team had a 3-4 record. It was better than anyone had expected for the first year of competition, and everyone, coaches and players alike was excited. (As the Journal went to press, the outcome of Tuesday's meet was not known).

After losing a home meet to the Kent Swim Club on July 20, the local team traveled to Seaford Golf and Country Club where it was trounced 125 to 423. That outcome was expected. The Seaford team which was tops in the league last year and which boasts two kids ranked nationally in swim competition, completely dominated the Lake Forest Swimmers. But Dennis Berry and the other L.F. coaches felt the experience which "expose our kids to the best peer models" in Delmarva Swim Association Competition was a valuable one. Berry said he was also pleased with the performance of his swimmers in several events, particularly the relays at the end of the meet. The Lake Forest record at this point was 1-3.

On July 27 the L.F. Community Swim Team participated in a tri-meet with Rehoboth Beach and Ocean Pines. The local team lost 292-440 to Ocean Pines, but beat Rehoboth Beach (a second time) by a 292 to 180 score. This upped their record to 2-4. During the competition Berry said a number of individuals showed great improvement, and Lake Forest coaches were pleased to note that Lake Forest, down only 20 points in the final relays with Ocean Pines, forced its competitors to use their best swimmers at the close of the competition.

Last Thursday's home meet with the Green Hill's Yacht and Country Club proved to be the thriller of the season so far. Lake Forest edged ahead for a 287-256 victory which brought the local record to 3-4. But it was seessaw all the way. Berry said a total of about three seconds separated winners from losers.

In many events it was a fraction of a second on the touch-off that made the difference.

Last night's meet with Maple Dale would finish the dual meet season, and leave the local swim club looking forward to the Delmarva Swim Association Championships set for Saturday, August 8.

In addition to the dual meets, the local swimmers took part in Saturday's Kent Swim Invitational where Sarah Schmittinger of Lake Forest broke one pool record and Kelly Rawding broke two. The Saturday event where Lake Forest was classed as a novice (first year of competition team was especially exciting for Berry. Exactly one year ago he took 12 swimmers to that same meet. They brought home 14 ribbons. This year the new Lake Forest Community team boasts 50 young members who captured 65 ribbons (14 firsts, 21 seconds and 12 thirds) in the Invitational.

Over the weekend, Bob Moser, head swim coach at Evansburg, Pennsylvania and the only master teacher of competitive swimming in the country, spent several hours with the Lake Forest team, Moser, who was reportedly impressed with their progress, offered a mini clinic working with stroke mechanics to prepare local swimmers for the last night's dual meet and for the forthcoming Delmarva championships.

Felton Police Statement & Character Reference Letter

TO: The Commissioners of the Town of Felton, Delaware and the tax paying citizens thereof.

FROM: The Felton Police Department as a whole.....

DATE: August 3, 1981

On July 6, 1981 the Commissioners for the town and Chief P. Michael Olliver engaged in a conversation during "executive session" in regards to a high speed pursuit involving the Felton Police Department, the defendant Mr. David R. Sullivan, and assistance from the Delaware State Police and Little Creek Police Department. During this conversation, Chief Olliver was advised by Mayor William Myers, Sr. that there was no reason for the chase, that we knew who the defendant was, we knew what type of pick-up truck it was and we knew the tag number of the vehicle. He informed us he got this information from very reliable sources. Chief Olliver informed the Mayor that all of his information was incorrect and that the only people that knew exactly what transpired were the officers involved in the chase and the defendant himself. A long discussion followed in which the only directive given to the Chief was that in the future to use "common sense" in entering into and continuing high speed pursuits.

High speed pursuits are one of the most controversial subjects in police work today. To quote a policy statement, number 1-80, from the Delaware Police Chiefs' Council, "In each case when an officer realized he is engaged in, or about to become engaged in a high speed pursuit situation, he is faced with the decision with continuing or breaking off the pursuit. If he continues the pursuit he runs the risk of criticism by the public and the press, particularly if innocent people are injured or killed in the chase. On the other hand, if the officer decides to let the violator go, rather than risk continued pursuit, he is not only ignoring a violation committed in his presence, he may also be permitting a criminal or dangerous driver to escape."

We as officers of the Felton Police Department want the public to know that we will continue to operate as we have in the past, but with more knowledge and experiences gained each and every day. We do not feel that the people of the town of Felton would want us to engage in unnecessary pursuits but at the same time do any of the citizens want their police department to be responsible for allowing a criminal to escape or possibly a "drunk driver" to continue on his way only to be involved in an accident causing physical injury or death to another person?

Most of these topics were brought out during the executive session of the last council meeting and we as a department felt the situation had been resolved.

How wrong we were..... On July 13, 1981, the case of David Randall Sullivan came before the Court of Common Pleas and at that time Mr. Sullivan plead guilty to failure to stop at the command of a police officer, elected to enroll in a school/course of instruction or program of rehabilitation as a first offender for the driving under the influence charge and the state in turn agreed to nolle prosequi the speeding charge. Imagine the surprise of those involved when Mr. Sullivan's attorney introduce a character reference letter signed by the property owners involved and the Mayor of The Town Of Felton, De.

Allow me to read you this letter (letter follows this statement) As the members of the police department involved in the chase, we personally take affront to the fact that the head official of the town we represent felt it was his need, or job, or whatever to sign such a letter when it states so wrongly the untruths of this case. And we further take resentment to the signature of William Myers, Sr. as the mayor of the town noting that it could be construed as meaning that the town of Felton and its' citizens agree with this.

We as a police department would like to ask the commissioners as a whole ignoring a violation committed in his presence, he may also be permitting a criminal or dangerous driver to escape.....

1. Did the Mayor sign this letter as the "Mayor of Felton, Del." with the approval of the commissioners of the town of Felton?

2. Do the commissioners agree with this letters statements?

3. Does the Commissioners of the town of Felton support their police department?

4. How could the Mayor sign a character reference letter for someone he does not know? (he stated in the meeting he didn't know the boy)

5. If he was not signing as agreeing with the character reference part of the letter, was he in fact agreeing with the false statements about the police officers involved?

6. How do the tax-paying corporate town residents feel about the police department that is paid to "protect and serve" them? Do they support us?

We as the officers involved felt it was about time we stood up for what we believe in and would like to know if all the hours we put in both paid and unpaid have been wasted or misconstrued to and for the Town of Felton.

Yours for a safer and more peaceful community.

Character Reference Letter-

Delaware Attorney General
Richard S. Gebelein
Dover, Delaware 19901

Dear Sir,

In the event that the incident concerning Randy Sullivan occurred in a community we have lived in all our lives and concerns an officer of the law employed by said community to protect the interests of its citizens and since the majority of property damage occurred on our land, we sincerely hope that our feelings and concerns be of importance to this case. It is the belief of many of the citizens of Felton Township that the high speed chase would never have occurred without prior provocation from the officer. Indeed Randy Sullivan may have exceeded the speed limit when leaving town but when asked to leave the premises he readily got in his vehicle and showed no intention of violating the requests of the officer. We have known Randy for many years and have only heard people speak highly of him as a person. He is a very hard worker, is considerate and fair and has never been known to be involved in trouble and trouble making. Since the officer knew who was driving the vehicle that exceeded the speed limit and since no prior crime had been committed such as robbery or other major crimes, we believe that a high speed chase was not warranted. The officer could have waited at Randy's home for him to return. We get no consolation out of knowing that an officer we believe worthy of protecting ourselves, our families and our property finds it necessary to pursue a young man through our private property for a minor speed violation.

In an effort to see this issue resolved in a fair manner I and several other concerned citizens approached the officer. He informed us that as property owners and citizens we have no rights when he chooses to pursue someone on, in or around our private property. I have my dairy herd grazing in a field directly beside the one the officer himself drove through and the animals could have easily been struck. If indeed the law officer need not be considerate of our property and we have no rights against him, we believe perhaps we need to be protected not only from those who break the law but also from those who supposedly uphold it.

Sincerely,
Robert D. Biggs
Doris L. Biggs

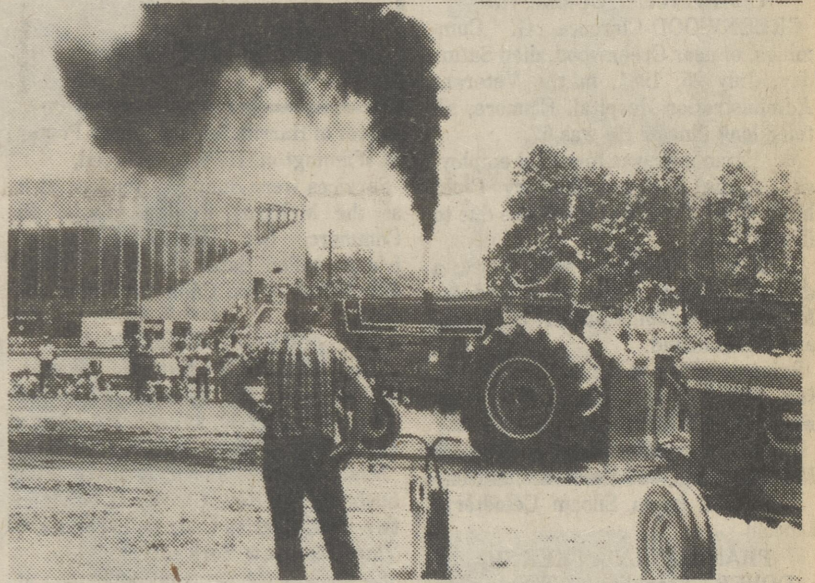

The signatures below represent only a portion of the concerned citizens but they feel that they are directly involved and share in the support of the above statements.

I can only agree with the prior comments in this letter and add that the potential hazards to property and life far and away exceed any gains from a cowboy-style high speed chase by someone presumably trained as an officer of the law to protect rather than possibly destruct.

It Happened At The

Crowned last Wednesday at the Delaware State Fair was the 1981 Delaware Dairy Princess, Lynn Bullen of Middletown (right). Runner-up was Lisa Dawn Melvin of Wyoming (left). The other contestants were Patti Draper of Harrington, Susan Urban of Milford and Kimberly Moore of Bear.

Mark Barczewski keeps things under control as Judi Wright tests the quality of the ice cream. Their peach entry won the competition for fruit flavors at the fair. The watchful trio in the foreground were anxious to be taste testers. But since just dubs went to senior citizens, they may have been slightly under the age requirement.

An expert, Harrington Hi-Grade's Ben Hughes presided over the home-made ice cream making contest at the fair.

Governor du Pont may be better at hitting the nail on the head politically than in actuality. However, with his annual visit to the state fair, he does a fair job of both. He did not win the FFA nail driving contest but he did manage to corral a pretty fair partner for the egg toss. It was later reported that Miss Delaware had egg all over her skirt as a result of the encounter.

Joe Higgins, left, who books the acts for the Delaware State Fair chats briefly with Fair Director, Judge Paul Neeman, prior to the Mel Tillis show on Saturday. Higgins appeared in a good mood "...but my job is one of pressure."

Despite all the hustle and bustle at the fair, Miss Delaware has a few moments for a friend.

Supervising the take-offs are Dr. Hiram N. Lasher, Delmarva Wing Commander of the International Chicken Flying Association (left) and his assistant, Dr. Cosgrove.

One more time - Mrs. Elwood Jester of Harrington was the winner of the 1981 Hanson Memorial Award for needlework at the Delaware State Fair. Mrs. Hanson has not lost count of the times she has earned this award. Pictured here with examples of her work is a photo of Mrs. Jester as she received congratulations and a hug from Governor du Pont.

Journal staffer Eva Gruwell is also active in FFA. She took a third place in poultry and egg judging competition at the 1981 fair.

Trophies for the top three flights in the Delmarva Chicken Flying Meet at the fair went to "Fly or Fry" [who decided it was healthier to fly] who captured first place and set a Delmarva record with a 88' 9" flight. "Fly" belongs to Raymond Banks of Millville. In second place was "Harbor Lights" whose 75' effort would have measured much longer had the bird not chosen to cross the wrong fence - the case of a fowl gone foul. "Lights", owned by Frank Lathbury, is an Ocean View bird. Third place went to "Bulk" owned by Rolland Marvel of Millville for a 70' 5" effort. The top three received trophies. Cash prizes of $15 went to the top bird in each of four categories. Winners were "Fly or Fry", "Harbor Lights", "Paradise Pearl" and "Freaky Freddie".

If you're going to plunge into competition, you might as well go all the way. Success is a pie eating contest demands courage? - stamina? - complete abandonment of all the niceties of Emily Post? - The requirements are here demonstrated by participants in the FFA games at the fair. Others demonstrated expertise in nail driving, soy bean spitting, hay bale tossing, watermelon eating, sack racing, egg tossing and the tug of war.
