"Hit a Homer for Jerry's Kids" Call 422-6096

The Harrington Moose Lodge will be the site this weekend of a marathon softball game sponsored by area Hardee's restaurants and employees for the benefit of "Jerry's Kids", those youngsters across the nation affected with muscular dystrophy. The game will tie in with the national Labor Day telephone effort by Jerry Lewis in that, at the end of the 48 hour Harrington softball game, the total funds raised will be phoned into the telethon.

Meanwhile, organizers of the local game are looking for both players and sponsors. A 24 hour line is open for those who would like to volunteer in either capacity. The phone number is 422-6096.

There will be two teams with rotating membership playing continuously for the 48 hours. Some of the players will be Hardees employees from at least seven and possibly nine restaurants on the peninsula. But it is not necessary to be a Hardees employee to take part. The organizers welcome all who are willing to volunteer their time.

Players will be given a card to fill out with the names of those who will sponsor them for so much an hour.

There is no minimum or maximum limit. But those who do not know someone who is playing and who would like to help are urged to call the 24 hour number.

The play at the Moose field here will be 48 hours non-stop (except for 10 minute breaks). It will begin at 6 p.m. on Friday, September 4 and run through 6 p.m. on Sunday, September 6. There will be sleeping arrangements at the field for players.

The game will be open free to the public, and there will be a concession stand with refreshments for sale. All proceeds from sponsors and from the concession stand will go to "Jerry's Kids".

Seven area Hardees have been definitely lined up to participate. They are Harrington, Dover, Milford, Seaford, Georgetown, Rehoboth and Millsboro. Organizers are also hoping Salisbury and Pocomoke City will join in.

Two Harrington residents have been the inspiration behind the marathon game. They are Dave Letterman, who is a Hardees assistant manager, and Phillip Fluhr, who is a Hardees supervisor in Dover. They hope to make the event a yearly affair.

Hail, the conquering heroes! This is no line up of bench warmers. Georgetown's Senior League baseball team had seats of honor in their hometown last Sunday and in the hearts of all Delawareans as they returned home after defeating Danville, California, to capture the 1981 Senior League World Series.

President Congratulates Georgetown Team

Georgetown's Senior League Baseball Team which was honored by a hometown parade Sunday after winning the Senior League World Series in Gary, Indiana last week, received a letter of congratulations from President Ronald Reagan. The text of the Reagan letter is as follows:

I am very happy to congratulate the Georgetown, Delaware, team on its exciting 13-5 victory over the San Ramon Valley team from Danville, California, to win the 1981 Senior Little League World Series. Your success establishes you as the best 13- to 15-year-old players in the world, and I know you must be very proud of your hard work and your hard won skills and teamwork.

In addition to the players, credit for your success goes to Russell Elliott, the team manager, Costen Shockley, your coach, and, of course, your families, who made it possible for each of you to participate.

Again, congratulations. You have my best wishes as you now return to school.

Ronald Reagan

The Harrington Journal adds its congratulations to those thousands of Delawareans who are very proud of the accomplishments of the Senior League team from Georgetown.

Bridgeville Man Murdered

A 63 year old Bridgeville man, owner of the Will-Lo Motel on U.S. 13, was the victim of a shotgun murder, according to Delaware State Police. Walter Betts, whose body was discovered on the floor of his kitchen after an area resident - a distant relative - called troop 5 to report the man had not been seen for several days, was felled by a shotgun blast at short range. The cause of death was determined after Betts' body was taken to the state medical examination facility in Wilmington.

Detectives from the Delaware State Police Criminal Investigation Unit at Troop 4, who responded to the scene after troopers from Troop 5 found the body, said Betts had been dead for about 10 to fourteen days prior to the discovery which was made on August 25.

Betts, who was unmarried and had no children, had retired from the DuPont Nylon Plant in Seaford on disability as the result of severe back trouble. He took over the operation of the Will-Lo Motel after his parents' deaths ten years ago.

So far, no motive for the murder had turned up, and the investigation by state police detectives was continuing.

Two Collisions Injure Eight

Eight persons were injured, and a section of the southbound lane of U.S. 113 north of Milford was closed for an hour and a half in the wake of two accidents which happened within minutes of each other Sunday night.

A head-on collision between a 1973 Pontiac driven by Riley Gibbs of Felton and a V.W. bus driven by Harry Fisher, 61, of Dagsboro was the apparent cause of a three-car pile-up which followed.

About 10:30 Sunday evening, the Gibbs vehicle pulled from the parking lot of Nu-Car Toyota near Milford into the path of Harry Fisher and his wife, Mary J. who were headed south on 113.

It was just moments later that William A. Layton, 21, of Georgetown came up on the smashed Gibbs' Pontiac. Layton successfully avoided hitting the Gibbs car, but was himself struck from behind by another driven by Fedia Johnson, 33, of Dover. Sammon Porter of Magnolia made the three-car chain reaction complete when he ploughed into the back of Johnson's vehicle.

Both Fishers were taken to Milford Memorial Hospital where Harry Fisher, who suffered multiple lacerations was reported in good condition. His [Continued page 3]

Heritage Plans

Harrington Heritage Day celebrants who want to make it a day's visit will have no trouble finding things to do or something to eat.

A full day's schedule of entertainment activities and displays or demonstrations has been planned. And the only trouble should be getting around to do or see it all.

A variety of food will be offered for sale throughout the day. The Greater Harrington Historical Society will offer a quick hot dog and soda; Asbury [Continued on page 3]

US 13/Rt. 35 Intersection Changes

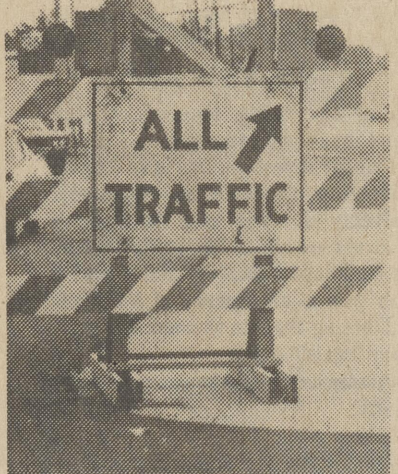

Delaware residents who use U.S. 13 - especially if they travel between Harrington and Dover - cannot help but be aware that the state's major traffic artery is undergoing an extensive repair and face lift. And Harrington area residents who cross U.S. 13 from Delaware 85 (the Frederica Road) have noticed that some changes are being made at that intersection.

Near the intersection, the westbound lane on 35 has been closed, and traffic rerouted to the right to intersect with U.S. 13 a bit north of the old crossover, which is to be eliminated. A new crossing has been added for those turning from Delaware 85 onto the southbound lane of U.S. 13.

Persons traveling south on 13 who turn left onto the Frederica Road will eventually have to use the south crossing which now serves traffic crossing from Delaware Avenue in Harrington to either Rt. 450 (the Jackson's Ditch Road) or Rt. 35.

Paul A. Welch, Community Relations Officer for the Delaware Department of Transportation, said this week that the separation of the two crossings by moving one farther north should make for a higher degree of safety. It will eliminate what is now almost a left hand turn in the face of oncoming traffic for those coming across 13 from Rt. 35. With the two current crossings so close together motorists leaving Delaware Avenue to cross 13 have to watch for two streams of traffic that may be turning left in front of them. Likewise, those turning left from the [Continued on page 9]

Motorists heading across U.S. 13 from the Frederica Road are channeled into a new direction as the Department of Transportation re-routes the intersection.

Woman Charged With Receiving Stolen Antiques

A Seaford woman, Joyce A. Howell, 34, whose home contained a cache of hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of stolen collectibles was arrested and arraigned in JP Court 4, Monday afternoon. Ms. Howell was charged with one count of felony for receiving stolen goods. She was released on $6,000 bond.

Investigation of what police believe to be the hub of an organized ring of professional shoplifters operating in the five-state area including Delaware, Maryland, Virginia, Pennsylvania and New Jersey was continuing this week. More arrests are expected. Joint efforts by the Seaford Police and the Delaware State Police led to a search of the Howell residence at 409 Pine Street, Seaford, on August 21. Upon entering the house investigators found the house filled with stolen items, many of them valuable collectibles.

Heading the list were two original Ward Brothers decoys dated around 1930 and a wood carving of a quail, the latter valued at $10,000. These items had disappeared from the Refuge Wildfowl Museum, owned by John A. Maddox of Chincoteague, Va.

Hundreds of other stolen items found at the house required the efforts of 16 police officers working for five hours to box and transport by rented moving van to the basement of the Seaford

Police Station where they were put on display. The display was to continue until this afternoon when the remaining items would be stored in boxes. Persons who believe they may have been a victim of one of the thefts are asked to call the Seaford Police Department at 629-6644 for an appointment to see the stolen property. Police are asking such persons to provide either a copy of the police report of the theft or a detailed, list of the items stolen from them before they see the property recovered in the investigation.

Police from the five-stage area have been involved in the investigation. They believe the shoplifting ring operated in a geographic area anywhere within a day's drive of Seaford and returned to the Howell residence with the stolen property. They also surmise that the recovered items represent but a fraction of the goods stolen by members of the ring from antique shops, flea markets, auctions, gift shops and jewelry stores. They say the vast majority of the items were probably sold off at other area auctions, flea markets and antique stores.

Harrington Police Beat

A tool theft in Harrington was solved on August 23rd when local police staked out an unoccupied farm house on County Route 78 and apprehended an individual who had made off with a freezer and space heater from the building. When 24-year-old John Buckler of Harrington was arrested in the incident, he turned out to be the person who had taken a number of tools from the residence of Archie Steele on Wolcott Street.

Buckler, who was charged by State Police with burglary at the farm house which belongs to John Curtis and by Harrington police with the tool theft and with attempted theft of an auto battery from Steele's neighbor, pled guilty to all charges. He is currently serving 20 days in Delaware Correctional Institute.

The tools had been sold, but were recovered and returned to their owner. Local police have continued to assist Delaware State Police on numerous occasions, and, according to Chief Carl McLroy have also been called to deal [Continued on page 2]

Lake Forest Schools to Open With New Superintendent Guiding

When Lake Forest Schools open next Tuesday, September 8, they will be under the guidance of a new superintendent, Dr. Edward Powell. Dr. Powell, who was chosen by the Board of Education, to replace retiring Superintendent William E. Cline, has been at the helm for just two months now, and in that relatively short time he has moved quickly to make the office his own, reorganizing where necessary and working to establish new policies and directions.

The first thing he will be is a very visible superintendent. He sees it as a part of his job to be up front, to establish leadership, and to take the heat that often goes along with it.

Part of being visible in the office is becoming known in the community and in the schools. Although he still resides in the Seaford area, one of the first things Dr. Powell did after accepting the Lake Forest position was to transfer his Rotary membership to the Harrington chapter. In two months he has already met and worked with a number of the district's faculty and staff members. But with the opening of schools imminent, he plans to meet with the faculty of each of the district's five or six buildings.

Parents who have not already met him can expect to do so at the schools' open houses at the beginning of the year. He plans to attend all of them.

The new superintendent also plans to be very visible to students. Early on he will meet with them, probably in the form of assemblies - particularly at the high school level.

During the past two months he has been busy making a number of administrative changes. One of the more obvious of these has been streamlining school board meetings. Anyone familiar with board meetings in the past, which, with random and impromptu executive sessions, were often known to go on until eleven p.m. or later, may have been left slightly breathless at the July and August versions of the regular meeting. They were over by about nine p.m. Dr. Powell has scheduled an executive session at the beginning of every regular meeting during which all matters that must be reviewed in closed session are discussed. The executive session usually lasts about an hour. Then by the time the open session begins at 8 p.m. the board is ready to move ahead with business. Most of the hashing-it-out seems to be [Continued on page 2]

State CAT Scores Above Average

Delaware students scored well above the national average in all grades and in all regular school districts in tests of basic skills given last April, according to the State Department of Public Instruction.

Based on a national norm of 50, statewide average scores ranged as high as 59.9 for Grade Two. The average school district score for a single grade reached 64.5 for Grade [Continued on page 7]

As Labor Day approached, Harrington residents were reminded of the skills of the working force as a crew from Delmarva Power & Light with some assistance from the Diamond State Telephone Company worked all day to replace a power pole at the corner of Mechanic and Fleming Streets. A truck had hit a guy wire leading to a pole near the Raughley building, putting enough strain on the pole pictured above to cause it to splinter and snap about two thirds of the way up. The crew had the very delicate task of replacing the pole with the power - 25,000 volts - left on. The new pole [above left] was jacked carefully into place and then workmen had to maneuver carefully around rubber draped power lines to change the connection before the damaged pole could be removed.

Queries concerning sources for historical and genealogical research will be published and answered as you request.

Thomas Collins of the village of Milford in Kent County Delaware dated his will 30 May 1825 and divided his estate in an unusual manner. After his preliminary statement he began: "I give to my wife Sally Collins the west end of my present dwelling house from the petition in the two story part from the ground floor up to the garret, together with the kitchen, smoke house and other improvements thereon west of a line hereinafter to be designated as a division between my wife and Sally Clift, together with the lot or remainder of the lot on which it stands...Also an alley or street of 30 feet on the north side of the house to reach from street to street from east to west, it being an alley Joseph Oliver laid out but afterward let me have. She is to pay to the proprietor whomsoever he may be an annual ground rent of eight dollars. The above described property to belong to my beloved wife during her lifetime and then my will and desire is that my son, William Collins shall have the house and lot. I give to my daughter Sally Clift, wife of John Clift, the east end of my present dwelling house from the partition in the two story part from the ground floor up to the garret together with the shed adjoining built by John Clift together with the lot beginning at the side of the house opposite to the partition and parallel with it, running a straight course southerly...until it reaches a point in the garden which by running a westerly course straight to the road leading by the church and parallel to Evan James line will divide, the two lot I hold on ground rent and on which my house and improvements are, equally between my wife Sally Collins and Sally Clift...Sally Clift have all the ground to the east from the aforementioned line up to the street leading by the Methodist Meeting House and all the ground south of the line between Evan James lot and the said line.

I give to Sophia Collins widow of my son Thomas Collins the house and lot she now occupies and all the ground on the east side of the road up to my son, Edward Collins line, she paying the annual ground rent of three dollars and 60 cents, during her lifetime and after her death to the children of my son Thomas Collins equally.

I give to my son, William Collins my bay mare.

I give the rest of my estate to my beloved wife, Sally Collins during her lifetime, and at her death all to be divided between my seven children; Edward Collins, Henderson Collins, Mary Lowery, John W. Collins, Sally Clift, William Collins, and children of my won, Thomas Collins deceased."

Lake Forest Superintendent

over and done with. It somewhat eliminates the informal atmosphere in which anything could and often did happen. But Dr. Powell feels that board meetings should be for business, and not for "homegrown tales."

Since he has been here, Dr. Powell has worked with staff and board members to update or revise the district's policy manual. This is still in process. He has also been responsible for the preparation of handbooks - some of them in areas where there has not been one previously. These include cafeteria workers, special education and secretarial and custodial staff. In addition he has had a look at job descriptions - writing or rewriting where necessary.

Another change he has made is the centralization of personnel. With the help of Louise Burgess, all personnel files have been brought to his office where they will be kept. They will be updated, with applications more than two years old cleaned out. All applications will go through his office from which applicants will be referred to the school where a vacancy occurs. Personnel files of district employees will be kept in the superintendent's office.

Regular meetings between the superintendent and the chief officers are not necessarily new, but Dr. Powell has established an "administrative senate" in which he meets with the principals of the district's five schools each Wednesday.

In the near future he plans to centralize the purchase of textbooks for the whole district with his office bearing that responsibility. This will fit in with the five-year cycle plan for reviewing the curriculum already launched by Dr. Arthur Gilbert, the district's supervisor for curriculum and special programs. In 1981-82, the district will be looking at its math programs to see where changes do or do not have to be made.

Last fall district voters approved a referendum transferring a portion of the debt service tax to the general expense program. They did so with the understanding that the money would be used for the purchase of textbooks and the upgrading of the schools' educational programs. Dr. Powell reports that that money - around $70,000 - has been set aside in a special account. This year around $42,000 will go for the purchase of textbooks and the remaining $28,000 will be used to buy library books and materials or for capital outlay for other classroom equipment. Another $10,000 has been budgeted for library books.

Dr. Powell further plans to change the budget to a programmed system and to do a complete survey of the district's buildings with an eye to developing a comprehensive plan of needed repairs and improvements. This, he says, is needed so the district can snare a bigger share of state funds for minor capital improvements.

Dr. Powell sees the biggest problem faced by the local district as the fact that salaries are not keeping up with inflation. In the past two months, the district has lost several key persons who have left for more profitable positions elsewhere. Some of these are in professional areas in which it may be difficult or impossible to find a qualified replacement. Consequently the district may be forced to contract with outside firms for some of the services it is required by law to provide.

Lake Forest salaries are somewhere near the lowest of all school districts in the state. And Dr. Powell says that is a state problem. There is not much money on the local level to do anything about it. The district and its teachers are currently in negotiations over salaries. But the only thing negotiable is the share the local district pays. And hassling over that, Dr. Powell says, is "like fighting over peanuts."

The problems, of course, are compounded by rising costs in other areas - particularly in energy. Dr. Powell sees the only solution as being in the ballot box (local referendums to raise taxes) and the state legislature. Neither route, he says, looks too hopeful. Meanwhile the schools may have to learn to live with increasingly stringent priorities.

More immediately, he will be looking at some local problems that he feels need tackling.

One of these is the relatively low scores received by the district's eleventh graders in last year's California Achievement Tests (CAT). Although the trend state-wide seems to be that the scores in the upper grades go down, Lake Forest's last year in the high school (only the 11th grade was tested) were among the lowest in the state, while local elementary scores were fairly high.

He also wants to look at discipline problems at the high school where he says there is too much fighting and too many suspensions. He plans to call parents in earlier when students are involved in serious problems.

with an increasing number of complaints involving bad checks.

Still under investigations is an August 25 incident in which an 18-wheeler reportedly hit a guy wire on a pole at the corner where the Raughley Insurance Building is located and caused a power pole at the corner of Mechanic and Fleming Streets to snap. It was a hit-and-run situation.

PUBLIC NOTICE

The federal Family Educational and Privacy Rights Act and regulations promulgated thereunder control access to educational records maintained by the Lake Forest School District. The federal law permits the Lake Forest School District to release "directory information" to appropriate requestors.

The Family Educational and Privacy Rights Act includes the following in the definition of "directory information": a pupil's name, address, telephone listing, date and place of birth, major field of study, participation in officially recognized activities and sports, weight and height of members of athletic teams, dates of attendance, degrees and awards received, and the most recent previous educational agency or institution attended by the student. 20 U.S.C. §1231g (a) (5) (A).

Prior to the disclosure of "directory information," the Lake Forest School District must give public notice of the categories of information which it has designated as "directory information." This advertisement constitutes public notice that the above list of categories of information has been identified by the Lake Forest Board of Education as "directory information."

The parent of a pupil who is or has been enrolled in the Lake Forest School District, or a present or former pupil of the district who has attained his or her eighteenth birthday, may refuse to permit the release of any or all such directory information pertaining to the student. If a parent or present or former eighteen-year-old student objects to the release of any or all such "directory information" to requesting authorities, that objection should be stated in writing within 45 days of the publication of this advertisement. Written objections should be mailed to:

Dr. Edward M. Powell, Superintendent
Lake Forest School District
Dorman Street
Harrington, DE 19952

Questions concerning this public notice should also be addressed to the District Superintendent.

The Singing Players are holding a Preview Party, 7:30 p.m. September 9th, for their Christmas show, "Sing a Joyful Song" at the Reorganized Church of the Latter Day Saints, 11 West Camden-Wyoming Ave., Wyoming, Del. to which the public is cordially invited. There will be no auditions for this show which will include not only the Men's and Women's Chorus but a new Youth Chorus of Upper Middle School, High School and College age students. Divided rehearsals begin Sept. 14 with Sopranos and Altos meeting on Mondays and Tenors and Basses Sept. 16th, and subsequent Wednesdays at the same church.

Michael Hornbuckle, General Chairman of The Singing Players urges all interested people to attend the Preview Party Wednesday, Sept. 9th as this is their best chance to get acquainted with the music, and each other, for this is primarily a social meeting. Join now so that you don't miss any of the fun.

For additional information, call Mrs. Storey at 734-2094 or Mr. Hornbuckle evenings at 734-4929.

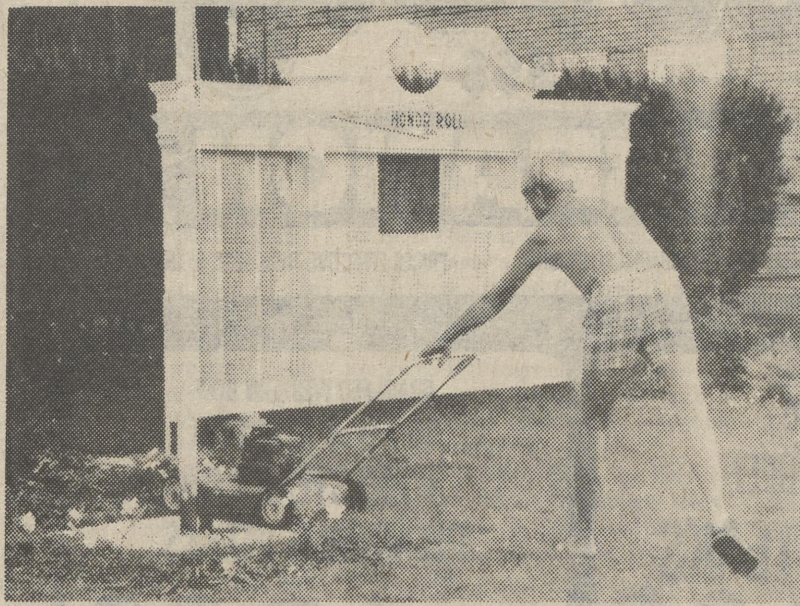

Arts Calendar

On Friday, Sept. 4 at 1:00 p.m. the Somerset County Art Association's Arts and Crafts Festival will get underway.

The Arts and Crafts Festival is being held in conjunction with the 34th Annual National Hard Crab Derby and will take place in the Todd Bldg., Main St., Crisfield, Md. The hours for the Festival are Friday Sept. 4, 1:00 - 6:00 p.m., Saturday and Sunday, Sept. 5 and 6, 10:00 a.m. - 6:00 p.m. There is no admission charge and this will be a great opportunity to pick up that special or unusual gift, do some early Christmas shopping or purchase a one-of-a-kind item.

Wednesday, September 9, Dover Art League will present a slide presentation and talk by John Bayalis, Milford Artist, whose photo-realistic paintings have been exhibited in New York and Washington, D.C. as well as other parts of the country. 7:30 p.m. in the Highway Administration Building (across from the Blue Hen Mall). Refreshments served, public is invited.

Over 350 artists and craftsmen will be exhibiting watercolor and oil paintings, acrylics, drawings, macrame, metal work, jewelry, pottery, and many, many other artistic items at the 21st Annual Brandywine Arts Festival in Josephine Gardens, Saturday and Sunday, September 12th and 13th, 10 a.m. to 5.

Eight Injured

wife, Mary J. was admitted to the intensive care unit in critical condition with multiple fractures and a neck cut. She was transferred Monday to the Chester Crozier Medical Center in Chester, Pa.

Layton was treated for facial cuts and released, and his wife, Diane was admitted to the hospital with a concussion and cuts.

Both Fedila Johnson and Sammon

Porter were treated for cuts. Aaron Skaggs, 38, of Felton, who was a passenger in Porter's car, received a sprained ankle.

Gibbs, whom police said had been drinking, refused treatment.

Charges following the accidents were pending investigation.

In addition to the Milford Carlisle Fire Company, firemen from Frederica and Harrington responded to the scene.

Get Together and Talk With Our Neighbors

Senior Center

By Dorothy Graham 398-3780

Smile and you know kind words never die.

The folks went to "Smith Island" Friday. Several reported on a delicious meal. Surely wish I'd been there. How's this for a menu? Crab soup, baked ham, macaroni salad, cole slaw, both with homemade dressing, fresh corn pudding, baked tomato with cinnamon, string beans (country style), crab cakes (so-so good), applesauce, custard pie, coffee and let's not forget the luscious homemade yeast rolls.

While, at the Center, things were going on as usual with - smiles, meals and then in the afternoon a big game of BINGO, with Elizabeth Anthony calling.

Reverend Markley of Trinity and Prospect Church was leader at Bible Study Monday morning. The Study was 1st Corinthians, Verse 1 thru 58. Reverend Markley gave a closing prayer and all sang "Beyond the Sunset". They all had sung many hymns at the beginning of the inspirational study. Present were Clara Judy, Tony Perrone, Juanita McLain, Catherine Donovan, Mamie Adams, Ruth Phillippi, Mildred Vincent, Sylvia and Cecil Meredith, Elwood Morris, Anna Mae Short, Thelma LeGates, Mary Sapp, Etzel McCreedy, Francis Wright, Florence Minner, Bertha Dean, Ethel Holden, John McCreedy, Laurence Kates and Marion Brown.

Jolly Timers will be performing on Heritage Day, September 12, 1981, at the parking lot at the Senior Center. Twenty-one were present. Such a nice group and surely make good sounds. Come on around and hear!

Mamie Adams had a turn at the piano and hymns flowed freely as several sang softly and expressively. Wednesday several folks got the letters ready for mailing. Velma finished a gorgeous strawberry cake and pronto, it was sold. Still have one. Lillian was doing owls, frogs, pheasants, quail. Turkey, ducks, chicks, roosters, cats, rabbits, horses, pigs, lambs, scarecrows by Florence, Lillian, Velma, Jo, Mary, Mildred and Kathleen. Bowling at Milford Lanes.

The Center is planning a Rummage Sale for October so if you have anything please call or bring it around. It will be greatly appreciated.

The dolls are going well.

Donna Webb of Modern Maturity Center, Dover, was here on Friday afternoon with a talk on "Snacks". Donna, as always, gave a most interesting talk. She made a delicious snack of fruits. Elwood said, "the only thing that the snack needed was eating." It was most tasty.

Best Wishes to all. Many thanks to all volunteers. Our prayers to those in sorrow. Be kind to each other.

The ladies will be serving refreshments at the parking lot on Heritage Day. Appreciate your patronage. Hot dogs, cupcakes, brownies, pepsi, etc.

Check Center for trips. Don't forget rummage, please. See you at the Center.

A true friend is the rarest of all the blessings!! Faith.

Gabfest

By Pat Hatfield 349-4255

Somebody named "Tabb" has written a neat little poem about autumn. It goes: "First the grain, and then the blade. The one destroyed, the other made: Then stalk and blossom, and again, the gold of newly minted grain." Because of the drought, I'm afraid that Delaware won't see too much of the newly minted grain this year.

Two of our Readers stopped in the shop the other day, and we had a lovely visit. We found, to our mutual delight, that we were kindred souls, in that we loved the birds, the sunsets and the flowers. They told about having a nest of baby blue jays in the back yard and being kept busy shooing away the squirrels until the babies learned to fly. Like me they love the beautiful blue jays in spite of their feisty dispositions.

I thought again how much color adds to our life here on earth. The other day we talked about the vegetables with their gorgeous colors that make them seem to taste even better.

And how wonderfully the Creator has dressed the birds. There is the cardinal and the scarlet tanager and the scarlet macaw with their brilliant red and the blue jay with the vivid blue, the evening grosbeaks with their touch of gold, the silver gray and white of the mockingbird, the sleek black satin of the blackbirds, the reddish brown of the brown thrasher with its speckled breast of brown and beige, the deep orange of the Baltimore oriole and the emerald green of the many kinds of parrots. There is never-ending beauty for us to savor and to soak in.

And there are the flowers. It would take many books to talk about all their colors, and their shapes, not to mention the delightful fragrance of some as a bonus. I am astonished that such a large portion of mankind seem bent on trying to destroy it.

Today is a wildly busy one here at Trail's End. Ellen is tending store. Here at the house, Teddy and Dad are laying the new linoleum in the utility room, and I am canning fourteen quarts of peaches. Hilary and her friends, Lisa and Vicki, are having a ball making Toll House cookies. The radio is going full blast, giving out with that heavy beat that the teens like, and they do a bit of disco around the cookie pans. No doubt everything will turn out fine though and soon we'll be having a cookie break.

It is good to be busy. "Heaven is blest with perfect rest, but the blessing of earth is toil." Life is good. Enjoy it and keep the faith.

Greenwood

By Pat Hatfield 349-4255

Greenwood Library Notes: A story hour for pre-school children will be held in the Greenwood Library on the second Tuesday of each month, starting Tuesday, September 8 at 10 a.m. Bring your pre-school children in for this hour of fun.

On Monday, September 21 the film, "Paddle to the Sea" will be shown at 4 p.m. The story of this film relates to a toy canoe, carved by an Indian boy in Northern Canada as it is put on the snow and finally reaches the Atlantic Ocean. This film would be more interesting to the children in the elementary school.

On Monday evening, September 21 at 7 p.m. the film, "The Swamp" will be shown in the library. This film shows the beauty and uniqueness of the plants and wild life in the Delaware wildlands. Come on out, you adults.

On Saturday, September 26 the films, "Mike Mulligan and His Steam Shovel" and also the story of "The Little Engine that Could", which tells about the little engine that pulled a trainload of toys to the other side of the mountain. This presentation should be of interest to the pre-school and early elementary child. Time 10:30 a.m.

All film presentations are open to all persons and each will last approximately 25 minutes.

New books in the library include: "The Ring" by Steele, "Goodbye Janet" by Robbins, "Noble House" by Clavell.

Mrs. Helen Workman had as her guests on Monday two retired teachers from St. Georges, Del., Mrs. Bonnie Harmon from St. Georges, and Miss Leona Hazel, now of Dover. They all enjoyed luncheon at Dillard's in Seaford.

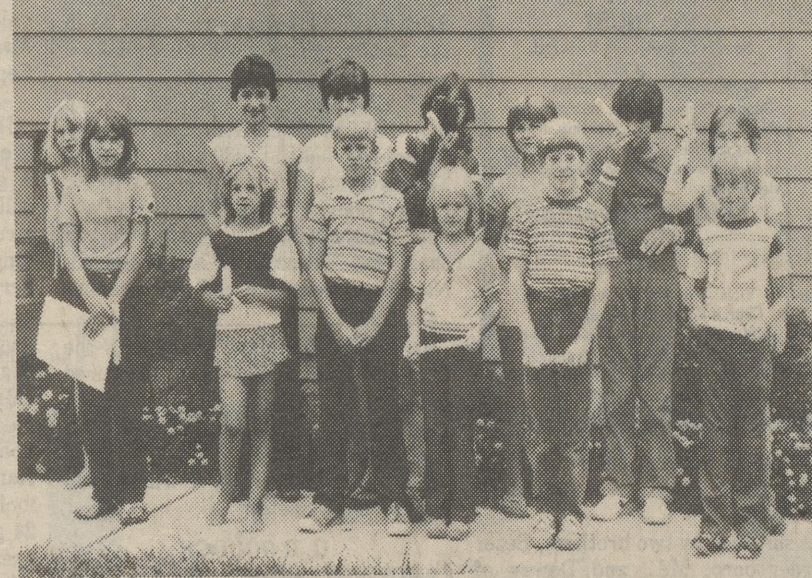

Callers this week at the Allison Davis residence were Mrs. Anna Draper of Greenwood with Miss Ethel Warren of Harrington, and Mr. & Mrs. Ralph Davis of Federalsburg, Md.

The Greenwood Lions Club held their annual picnic on a recent Saturday at Hobo Farm, the home of Lion Treasurer, Horace Maloney and his family. The guests enjoyed a Crab Feast, volley ball and horseshoes.

The Greenwood Lioness Club members met at the home of Jean Scott on Wednesday evening to honor their former president, Sue Collins, with a Stork Shower.

Lisa and Vicki Wragg were overnight guests of Hilary Keith in Bridgeville this week.

Mrs. Edna Sapp was a dinner guest on Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. John Lemmon and daughters of Milford. Mrs. Edward Brozofsky is a patient in a Wilmington Hospital and we hope she will be home soon.

Mr. William Dougherty is now recuperating at home after a recent heart attack and being a patient for several weeks in the Milford Memorial Hospital.

Mrs. Edith Pringle underwent surgery on her hand last week and is now recuperating at home. We hope she soon will be well.

Mrs. Margaret Thistlewood spent several days last week visiting her daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Fred McCreary and children of near Smyrna.

A cucumber is not a vegetable, technically, but a fruit.

Anne's Kitchen

Sweet peppers are one of my favorites. Everyone who has them in their garden has been using them in salads and sandwiches and by now getting quite bored with them. I'm sure you remember that last winter sweet peppers were sold in the super markets for $1.29 per pound so don't let yours go to waste. Following are some ideas you may like to try which will give you a bonus on your crop.

FREEZING

Wash, cut, and remove seeds. Slice in desired thickness or rings and store in your freezer in plastic bags in portions to suit your needs. They will keep well several months. To fry, do not defrost. The result will be softer than when the peppers were fresh but still very good.

DRIED

1. Select a very sunny location in your yard. Find an old window screen and place on two saw horses or picnic benches allowing complete circulation of air. Use bricks on edges of screen as weights.
2. Wash and dry peppers. Slice in rings and remove seeds. Place on screen and cover with baby carriage net to keep insects away. Two or three times a day turn peppers. At night bring screen into house to avoid them getting damp. Repeat process 4 or 5 days till peppers are dry and leathery. Age in the house two days uncovered, place in a tightly covered jar and store on your pantry shelf.

3. When needed, place dried peppers in a bowl of water for a few hours before use.

RED SWEET PEPPERS

Red peppers are nothing more than fully ripened sweet green peppers. They are probably the best of all. Unfortunately there is only a short time when they are available to us. Follow my instructions for preparation and next week I will give you the recipe to prepare a true gourmet delight in the months to come.

1. Wash and dry red peppers.
2. Make a charcoal fire in your barbecue or use the broiler in your oven.
3. Have ready a double thickness of brown paper bags set in a large pot, a pair of tongs and some patience.
4. Roast or broil the peppers whole till their skin burns and blisters all over. As each pepper reaches this point, place it in paper bag and keep tightly closed. When all peppers are in bag, set aside for 1 hour and go take a rest.
5. Open bag and you will find the steam in the bag has made for easy removal of the skins. Remove seeds and skins and make strips about 1 1/2" long out of the peppers.
6. Have ready small plastic containers, old margarine cups work well and place pepper strips in them. Cover with lids and store in your freezer.

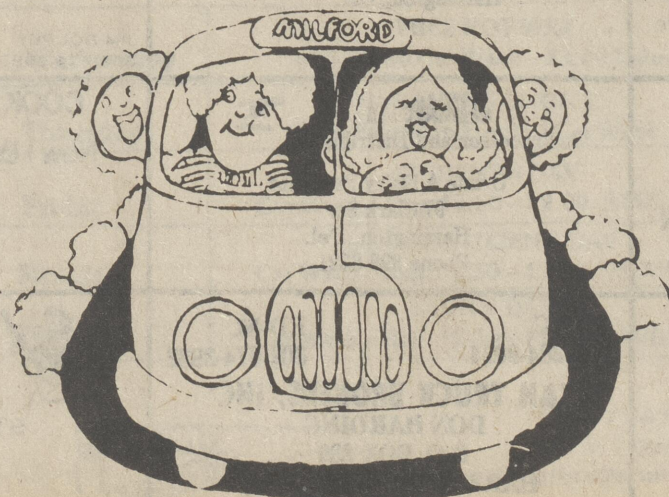

ENJOY!

Independent Bible Fellowship

Rev. Fred Whitman, missionary pastor in Italy since 1973 with Baptist Mid-Missions, will be with us in our prayer service this Wednesday evening, September 2 at 7:30 p.m. He has recently returned from Italy to report on his church-planting ministry there, with special emphasis on a daily T.V. outreach. The past four years have been spent in the pioneer stages of the work of establishing independent Baptist churches in Italy. Through home Bible studies and many personal visits the works has progressed to the opening of a Gospel hall in the central Italian town of San Sisto, a suburb of Perugia, where weekly worship services and Bible studies for children and adults are held in anticipation of the organization of an independent Italian Baptist church.

The Reverend Fred Whitman, a missionary pastor who recently returned from his church-planting ministry in Italy, will be featured tonight in the Wednesday evening prayer service at the Independent Bible Fellowship Church on Liberty Street in Harrington.

Since January 1979, Rev. Whitman has been seen daily throughout the central Italian province of Umbria, as well as in neighboring Toscana, Lazio and Marche. The Unique ten-minute Bible Study is now shown on three stations covering a population of about two million people that live in the area between Florence and Rome. Fred is a graduate of the Baptist Bible College of Pennsylvania in Clarks Summit, Pa., where he was active during student days in mission groups, student government, musical groups and sports. In addition to his studies at B.B.C., he also has a diploma of the University for Foreigners at Perugia, Italy where he studied the Italian language and culture for two years. Rev. Whitman speaks Italian fluently and welcomes contact with any area Italian-speaking folk. He comes with a ministry of preaching, special music, as well as an audio-visual presentation of this exciting T.V. outreach in central Italy. The public is cordially invited. Come expecting a blessing and a challenge as you see first-hand what God is presently doing in Italy. You won't want to miss it!

Two in the Cape Henlopen District.

Except for senior high schools, all public schools in the state but one attained an overall average above the US standard. The highest schoolwide average was achieved by North Star Elementary, Area II of the New Castle County District, which reached 76.7.

State law requires annual testing of public school students in Grades One through Eight and Eleven. Used are the California Achievement Tests which cover reading, language, and mathematics for all grades and spelling for Grades Two and above. Scores are reported in terms of normal curve equivalents, which, DPI officials say, make it easier to compare local, state and national averages and scores among different parts of the tests.

Scores for handicapped children are included in those reported for the state and districts. When they are removed from the figures, the state average grade goes up about two points.

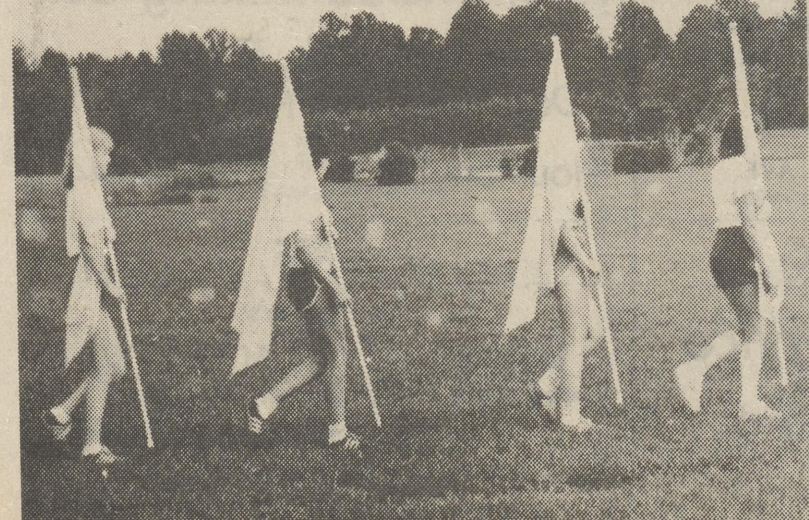

State averages have improved considerably since the tests were first used in Delaware in 1978. Total battery scores for regular pupils have gone up by 15 points in Grade One, for example, and by four points in Grade Eleven. The gains in elementary grades are higher than those in upper grades, according to the department, mainly because the California Achievement Test matches what's taught in the early grades more closely than what's taught at higher levels.

Results were reported to the State Board of Education August 20. Educators give some credit for the high scores to the State Board policy by which all districts must require students to show progress in basic skills in order to be promoted.

Following are the Delaware State Test Results 1981 (total battery average scores, selected grades, National norm equals 50):

Appoquinimink - Grade One 62.4, Grade Four 58.4, Grade Eight 56.2, Grade Eleven 51.8; Caesar Rodney - Grade One 62.4, Grade Four 60.6, Grade Eight 59.9, Grade Eleven 56.8; Cape Henlopen - Grade One 64.3, Grade Four 58.2, Grade Eight 50.7, Grade Eleven 51.8; Capital - Grade One 58.0, Grade Four 58.5, Grade Eight 55.3, Grade Eleven 51.9; Delmar - Grade Eight 55.8, Grade Eleven 53.5; Indian River - Grade One 63.2, Grade Four 57.7, Grade Eight 52.0, Grade Eleven 48.5; Lake Forest - Grade One 62.1, Grade Four 61.1, Grade Eight 50.6, Grade Eleven 46.6; Laurel - Grade One 58.6, Grade Four 56.0, Grade Eight 49.0, Grade Eleven 46.0; Milford - Grade One 60.5, Grade Four 56.3, Grade Eight 55.8, Grade Eleven 49.7; New Castle County - Grade One 59.1, Grade Four 56.5, Grade Eight 55.0, Grade Eleven 56.2; New Castle Cy Vo-Tech - Grade Eleven 46.5; Seaford - Grade One 58.3, Grade Four 56.2, Grade Eight 54.9, Grade Eleven 52.4; Smyrna - Grade One 57.7, Grade Four 58.8, Grade Eight 56.1, Grade Eleven 47.3; Woodbridge - Grade One 54.1, Grade Four 51.7, Grade Eight 53.3, Grade Eleven 48.1; STATE - Grade One 59.8, Grade Four 57.3, Grade Eight 54.7, and Grade Eleven 53.2. Handicapped students are included in these results.

Changes in the intersection of U. S. 13, Rt. 35 [the Frederica Road] and Delaware Avenue are re-routing traffic for safety's sake. The crossover X'ed out in the center of the sketch will be eliminated.

Intersection Changes

Frederica crossing have to be careful that none is pulling out of Delaware Avenue into the crossing just a few feet south of them.

Welch also said that the addition of acceleration and deceleration lanes should increase safety by getting turning vehicles out of the mainstream of traffic.

Work on the intersection is a part of a $3,350,822 project for the northbound lane of U.S. 13 from Harrington to Camden and the southbound lane from Camden to Canterbury. A second $1,425,801 project covers the southbound work from Canterbury to Harrington.

According to Welch, the work is described as a "3-R Project" - restoration, resurfacing, and rehabilitation. He says it is the closest thing possible to complete reconstruction of the highway. It involves permanent repair to areas damaged by weather and other factors.

Following the repair, the road is resurfaced in layers. Welch reports the top layer is an open grade or coarse hot mix which is porous and will allow moisture to seep through to the base layer and drain off at the side of the highway. It will also eliminate the glistening or shiny appearance of the highway after rain and reduce splashing. Work on improving traffic flow at various intersections such as the one at Harrington is also included, but a projected "Park 'n' Ride" lot at the first crossover south of the intersection of 13 and Rt. 450 has been dropped from the plans.

Both projects are targeted for completion by the end of the year.

Diamond State Twirlers Marion Tracy - Ballet
Stoney Creek Cloggers Aerobics in Action

Adding to the Heritage Day entertainment will be several groups demonstrating various forms of dance. Familiar to this area are the Diamond State Twirlers, made up of area residents attracted by the traditional figures of the square with its roots in the folkways of the past.

A variation of the square dance will be presented by the Stoney Creek Cloggers who will demonstrate a form of dance which combines some of the figures and patterns of the square with fancy footwork - a step that is almost like tap dancing.

On the classical side will be a demonstration put on by a class from the Marion Tracy Dance Studio, which is well known in this area. This group will be a Harrington Heritage Day first.

Perhaps a bit farther out will be the Veda Sereem Middle Eastern Dance Troupe (see separate story) which will demonstrate Oriental dance. The group was a popular and novel attraction last year.

Combining music and the principles of exercise with choreographed routines, the group Aerobics in Action in Southern Delaware will show off an activity that has attracted increasing numbers of participants over the last few years. This year will mark the group's first appearance on Harrington Heritage Day.

- THE WRANGLERS -

The Wranglers will perform from 8 - 11 on Saturday night for a Street Dance. Their style is mostly Country-Western, but they plan to play tunes suited to the younger generation as well.

The band consists of five members: Jim (bass), Dee (mandolin), Chet (rhythm guitar), Dave (drums), and Rick (lead guitar). For the street dance on Heritage Day, "The Wranglers" will also be featuring Jim Emberlin and his old-time fiddle.

- CHRISTMAS WREATHS -
Marilyn Mervine

Mrs. Mervine is a newcomer to our crafts list. Her husband, James (Pete) was the maker of the sweet-tasting maple syrup last year - one of our most excellent displays. On Heritage Day, Mrs. Mervine will be demonstrating the fabric Christmas wreaths she has been making this year. Her interest in them started with one she received as a Christmas gift last year. From this she developed a pattern for two sizes. For her original material she was well supplied with fabric scraps since she does a great deal of sewing for her family. The fabric is applied to a cardboard form, stitched, filled with polyester and then finished with tufting. In addition to sewing and making the Christmas wreaths, she has had a long time interest in refinishing furniture. Several of the pieces she has done are in her Raughley Hill Road home.

Grace Welch Will Keynote Heritage Festivities

Harrington will call on its own to keynote the day as it launches its third annual Heritage Day Festivities on Saturday, September 12. Grace Welch, an active member of this community since 1955 and currently serving as secretary of the Greater Harrington Historical Society, will be the featured speaker in opening ceremonies planned for 11 a.m. at the Senior Center parking lot.

Her theme will be "Do You Remember...?" as she calls on her listeners both to recall the past and to place a high value on their heritage.

That theme will be in keeping with both the overall purpose of the Greater Harrington Historical Society and with several of its projects. The Heritage Day celebration is, of course, one of those projects. Initiated in 1979 in conjunction with the Harrington Public Library, Heritage Day offers the community an opportunity to gather together to cherish the past and to enjoy the present.

The Heritage Celebration also offers an important means for the society to fund one project which may mean much to the preservation of the collective memory of the past for the future. Those projects are the restoration of the Fleming Street building, which was the site of the original St. Stephens Episcopal Church, for use as a museum. The church building was purchased this year by Mr. & Mrs. John Satterfield and given to the Historical Society for that purpose.

On this Heritage Day, Grace Welch will also encourage her listeners to participate in another project dear to the society and aimed at recording the remembered past for generations to come. That is the taping of oral history - as individuals respond to the question "Do You Remember..." with recollections of their own experiences.

These memories, according to Grace Welch, are precious and it is vital that they be shared before they fade forever. "Each year," she says, "we lose some of our senior citizens, and an important part of that collective memory is lost." Lost - that is - unless it is written down or recorded in some other way. On Heritage Day, there will be two reporters with tape recorders ready to record shared experiences and comments. Mildred Minner will be stationed at the museum location in the Raleigh building, and Anne Minner will serve as roving reporter.

History has been of increasing importance to Mrs. Welch who attributes this fact to her family and to their business. Her husband, Carroll and her daughter, Annette are both history buffs. She says, "you can't live with two people who live history and not have it rub off on you."

The family interest in history has extended to the point where they have planned vacations around such historical points of interest as the battlefields of Virginia and at Gettysburg.

And of course, Grace and Carroll Welch are the owners of Welch's Seed Service and "The Loft", both located in the old mill where Ezekiel Fleming operated a saw-mill, a spoke factory and wagon works and a grist mill. Parts of the old building are still intact and Grace Welch says, "Once I started working there - the old building kind of grew on me." She has a collection of memorabilia of the early years of the business. She also collects anecdotes, writing down stories shared by customers and friends and keeping a file.

At home she has a collection of ruby glass (mostly souvenir) and from time to time enjoys making corn husk dolls and apple head dolls.

Grace is a Milford native who was transplanted to Harrington after her marriage to Carroll Welch Jr. She is a 1948 graduate of Millford High School and was employed by International Latex Corporation until 1958. She has been a Harringtonian since 1955, a year before her husband took over Harrington Milling Public Library.

-On the Cover-

The former St. Stephen's Church building as it appeared at the time Mr. & Mrs. John Satterfield purchased it and gave it to the Greater Harrington Historical Society was sketched by Harrington artist Gretchen Banks. The building, erected in 1874, is to be restored as nearly as possible to its original appearance. It will be used as a museum. Ms. Banks has done a number of sketches of historical interest for The Harrington Journal. Some of her work has also been reproduced in the form of stationery and will be available on Heritage Day.

-Opposite-

DO YOU REMEMBER WHEN COMMERCE STREET LOOKED LIKE THIS? ...Probably not. But Heritage Day festivities once again come as a reminder that the unrecorded past may fade as surely as the photo framed here....And the Greater Harrington Historical Society, which sponsors Heritage Day, hopes it will serve to bring the community together both to share the present and to cherish the past.

The Harrington Journal is indebted to Grace Welch for much of the material on the various Heritage Day craftsmen which appears in this supplement.

Have fun during Heritage Day

Candy and Cindy Gamito have been working very hard on a puppet show which they will present on Harrington's Third Annual Heritage Day as they invite their audience into a "Fantasy World". The two young ladies, who live on Center Street in Harrington, will be students in the sixth grade at Lake Forest South Elementary this year. Other Heritage Day entertainment for the young at heart will include a magic show by Flip Richards.

-PYSANKY (Egg Decorating)

Sandra Tucker

Mrs. Tucker will demonstrate an art form native to the Balkan Countries. The egg shell is pierced, the egg removed and the shell is then decorated in minute sections to become an article of great beauty. The egg decorating shows a people who love a lot of color in their life as well as extreme patience. Everyone knows how fragile an egg shell is. In her way, Mrs. Tucker is re-cycling, for the decorated shells will last almost a year if done well.

-TWO BANDS

Jolly Timers

Kevin Short & the Good Ol' Boys

Harrington's Senior Center Band, one of the liveliest groups in town, is better known as "The Jolly Timers". The band numbers about 20-25 members playing all sorts of likely and unlikely instruments - bazookas, washboards, a piano, a clarinet, a trumpet, a band box drum, bells, a triangle, a tambourine, mandolin, a saxophone and a beanpot. If you don't recognize it, it's likely an escapee from the kitchen that joined the band. The "Jolly Timers" performance here on Heritage Day should bring to life a number of pleasant musical memories. In addition to the Jolly Timers, a group new to the Heritage Day festivities will provide entertainment this year. They are "Kevin Short and the Good Ol' Boys"; who will appear from 2:00 to 2:30 p.m.

-CRADLES

Elbert Stevens

Mr. Stevens' miniature of Old Harrington will be displayed in L. & D. Electronics window as usual. He will also be demonstrating the art of making a baby cradle on the Nazarene Church parking lot.

Need a lift? It's a long way from the display area at Taylor and Messick to the other Heritage Day activities in Harrington. But it's not bad at all when you can sit back and take advantage of a leisurely ride on a tractor-drawn shuttle, courtesy of Walt Messick and company.

-DECORYS & DOLLS

William & Georgia Garton

Bill works for the Fish and Wildlife Commission. Perhaps that is where he gets the models for his true-to-life decors. Georgia makes her dolls from many different kinds of wood and in many styles. They will be a treasured collectible of years to come. Mrs. Garton has been a state and national award winner with her art. She appeared here in the flea market section on Harrington's first Heritage Day in 1979. This year the couple will demonstrate their separate, but complementary crafts along with other artists at the Taylor & Messick location.

-NEEDLEWORK ARTS

Eddie Mae Cooper

Eddie Mae Cooper, named, she says, for her father, will be in charge of the crafts displays and demonstrations to be located at the Harrington Century Club on Heritage Day. A native West Virginian, she is now a resident of the Harrington area where she has become known for her beautiful quilts. She has also been active in the Quilting Club of Dover and has taught in programs sponsored by the Kent County Department of Parks and Recreation. She will act as hostess at the Harrington New Century Club where several people will demonstrate needlework arts.

Museum a Major Project

In observing Heritage Day 1981, the Greater Harrington Historical Society is also marking a birthday. It is just over three years old. It's third year of activity here has been distinguished by the undertaking of a major project which it hopes will be of concern to the entire community. That is the restoration of the church building on Fleming Street, once the site of St. Stephen's Episcopal Church, for use as a museum.

The GHHS received the building as a result of the generosity of Mr. and Mrs. John Satterfield, who purchased it and presented it to the society.

First consecrated in 1874, the building served the congregation of St. Stephens until the dedication of the new church on Raleigh Hill Road in 1960. Then it became home to the Harrington Baptist Church until that congregation erected a new building on Liberty Street in 1969.

Since that time, the little church building has been mostly vacant and somewhat fallen into disrepair. The local historical society hopes that with some tender loving restoration it will become the permanent home of a museum of which the community can be proud. Some of the funds raised by the Society during Heritage Day will contribute to that end.

A number of concerned persons have already made donations to the museum fund, and the society encourages all who would like to participate in this way. Interested persons can contact Ken Mc-Knatt, GHHS president, or any other member.

-BERRY CUPS-
Calvin Minner

Mr. Minner comes from a basket making background. His father, Tom Minner, owned a basket factory near Masten's Corner for many years. Many local people made a winter time living making baskets for him. Mr. Calvin Minner has preserved the special equipment necessary to make these little cups designed to hold a qt. of berries. Today many of the berry cups found in our supermarkets are either pressed paper or plastic. Mr. Minner is also an accomplished carpenter and furniture maker.

-DULCIMERS & GRANDFATHER CLOCKS-
Edwin Reed

Mr. H. Edwin Reed is an average fellow with a love for beautiful things in life. His work reflects 2 of those. The construction of his clocks testify to a conscientious cabinetmaker. The sale of these support his other hobby, Dulcimers. His instruments are made of cherry and walnut wood.

The dulcimer is one of the musical instruments of the "Mountain Folk" of West Virginia and Tennessee. In 1973, the Reeds toured the south by motorcycle and fell in love with the dulcimer as it was demonstrated to them. Having played the guitar for some 30 years, he soon picked up the knack of playing the dulcimer. Last year there was quite a crowd around the Reeds as tunes such as "Wildwood Flower" floated sweetly on the air.

-MESSICK'S ANTIQUE MUSEUM-
Walter & Marie Messick

The museum opened by Walter and Marie Messick and their family in 1976 was a dream come true for them and has been a special source of pride for this community ever since. In carefully planned display areas, it houses many of the implements that tell the story of farming's past. A special touch is a farm country kitchen designed by Mrs. Messick and a sure bet to produce a pleasant case of homesickness. But the mainstay of the museum are the workhorses of the farm - the tractors. Walt Messick has amassed quite a collection, some very early models and others of more recent vintage. And nearby, at Taylor and Messick are the modern day giants that make antiques such as his prized Waterloo Boy look like a lawn and garden tractor.

The museum will be open to visitors on Heritage Day, and the grounds will also be the site of a late afternoon display of antique autos.

For the third year Walt Messick will be offering shuttle transportation service from the museum and the displays in the Taylor & Messick machine shop to the scene of activities in the center of Harrington.

-CHAIR CANING & RUSH WEAVING-
Claude Neeman

Mr. Neeman learned his art from one of our local masters of the trade, Mrs. Lillian Camper. After his retirement, he decided to learn rush and cane weaving. We're glad he will participate so others might become interested also.

He does both rush weaving, which he describes as using a kind of rope material, and caning. He always uses natural materials, saying the synthetics decrease the value of the chair or other item of furniture that he might be caning. Mr. Neeman will be demonstrating his craft on Heritage Day. This is his second year of participation. Raised on a farm near Canterbury, Neeman attended school in Felton. In 1942 he married and moved to Harrington where he worked for Bond Bread until 1970, except for two years of service as a Sergeant in the U.S. Army. During a part of those two years, 1944-46, he was stationed in Iran. After the closing of Bond Bread, he was employed at Callis Thompson here until his retirement. He and his wife Frances have raised two daughters, Claudia and Brenda.

Harrington started as a railroad town, and once again this year, the railroad will play host on Heritage Day as Conrail invites the public to inspect station and trains.

-SOAP MAKING-
Mildred & Carroll Welch, Sr.

Mrs. Mildred Welch has been making soap since she was a little girl. Her recipe is the same today as it was then.

She is one of 13 children of Nettie Daisey and Norman Wix Sr. She and her husband reared 10 children of their own. She has been active in Asbury Methodist Church since 1945.

She demonstrates soap making to school children at her home and has participated in the Sussex County program to teach old time crafts to youngsters. She has been asked to demonstrate at the Governor's mansion and the Delaware Ag. Museum in Dover.

Her husband Carroll Welch, Sr. assists her with the heavier tasks of soap making.

We want to congratulate Harrington on the celebration of their third annual Heritage Day

Witches' brooms or kitchen brooms - When it comes to making them, Charlie Hrupsa has the apparatus and the know-how.

-BROOMS

Charlie Hrupsa

Charlie has always been one to find a way to do anything he thought could be done. One day after he retired, he began thinking about home-made brooms. So he set to work finding the right equipment to do the job. He contrived a device to scrape the seeds off the broom cornheads. Then he invented a piece of equipment to do the rest of the hard work. By now, he had everything down to a fine art and makes it all look easy, but believe me, it isn't. Charlie has put a lot of time and thought into his job. Besides demonstrating broom making at craft outings, Charlie is an enthusiastic fisherman and enjoys his farm west of Felton.

-OIL PAINTING

Dianne Bauer

Dianne Bauer, who lives just west of Harrington in the Whiteleyburg area, discovered oil painting when she picked up a brush and gave it a try. She says she had decided that if other people could do it, she could, too. That was ten years ago. Now, when her responsibilities on the farm (the family is currently raising 44,000 roaster-broilers for Perdue) and as the mother of three children allow any free time, she still wields the painter's brush. She also enjoys photography and gardening. On Heritage Day she will be at the New Century Club in the late afternoon to demonstrate her skill.

The Rigby family - Reese, his wife Judy and their two sons, Reese Jr. and Kevin - has an interest in karate which has blossomed into a business. That interest has been catching. The Rigbys are the center of a group that gathers for instruction and goes out for competition and demonstration. A number of Harringtonians have been active with the group which will return to interest visitors on Heritage Day 1981. They have been a popular phase of the entertainment for the past two years and were also here for the town Bicentennial celebration in 1976.

- VEDA SEREEM -

- MIDDLE EASTERN DANCE TROUPE -

Near Eastern, Oriental, or more commonly known as Belly Dance, is one of the oldest arts performed today. The dance was practiced thousands of years ago, but has been known to Americans for only 87 years. It would be common to see street dancers in Cairo, Egypt.

This kind of dance was and still is performed by both male and female dancers. One of the purposes of the male dancer would be the dance of 'combat' where a stick or cane is used to ward off evil or display skill; whereas, if a woman (or group of women) dances with a cane, it is used with much less aggressiveness and conveys a folklore (country) dance. Another type would be the Zar. The woman is possessed by a spirit and dances to pulsating music by throwing her head to and fro while her torso moves from side to side. Most people today are more familiar with the cabaret dancer. This dancer performs with music to entertain. The artist conveys fluid movements to the music of the flute, or vigorous hip work to the dumbeg - drum. All of this is with the accompaniment of zills - finger cymbals.

The members of the Veda Sereem Middle Eastern Dance Troupe have been educated in the field of Middle Eastern dancing through such well known artists as Ibrahim Farrah of New York, Veda Sereem of Washington, D.C., and Iis of Arabesque School of Middle Eastern Dance in Philadelphia. The troupe has performed in such places as the Middle East Restaurant in Philadelphia, the Hub Restaurant in Dover and other engagements such as the Arabic Festival in Washington, D.C. and many more. They performed here for the first time on Heritage Day 1980 and will return on September 12 for Harrington's third annual celebration.

All it takes is a lot of help from your friends. - Friends of the Harrington Public Library here were working hard on Heritage Day 1980 to offer up some barbecued chicken and thereby to round up a little financial aid for the library. They'll be at it again this year.

- CORVETTES & VANS -

1st State Corvette Club of De. will be on display in People's Bank parking lot. It was started as a hobby to preserve a special model car which is dear to many hearts. In the days of revival of old things and customs, this surely holds to tradition.

-And as popular as Corvettes are with some, vans are just as big with others. On Heritage Day the Dirty Dozen Van Club has agreed to bring its vehicles for display. Look for them in the Peoples' Bank parking lot.

- WILDLIFE SCENES -

DeLoi Moore & Mary Ann Melvin

DeLoi Moore, who appeared on Heritage Day 1980 with the musical group "Sand Creek", and who was also a member of the trio known as "The Lost Ophians", returns to Harrington this year in a new guise, that of artist and craftsman. He and Mary Ann Melvin will demonstrate the art of painting wildlife scenes on wooden planks. They will be located at the Taylor and Messick machine shop.

The decor that every well-furnished doll house should exhibit? This one is open for close inspection by a Heritage Day visitor.

- ANTIQUE DOLLS
Dorothy Torbert
 Dorothy Torbert's collection of dolls started with a bisque doll that was her mother's. She has been serious about the collection for the past ten or fifteen years, and it has grown to approximately a hundred dolls. They are mostly antiques from the early 1900's, but she does have one that dates before 1900. Her dolls come in a variety of sizes and shapes as well as different materials - bisque, wood, celluloid, metal, composition and china. She has one metal doll that Sears and Roebuck used to sell for $1.98. Mrs. Torbert and a selection of her family of dolls will be here on Heritage Day.
 The former Dorothy Condrigh, Mrs. Torbert grew up in Bowers Beach and attended school in Frederica, Magnolia, and Caesar Rodney before graduating from Wilmington High School. She is also a graduate of the Milford Memorial Hospital School of Nursing and of Catholic University in Washington, D. C. Now retired from nursing, she devotes much of her time to helping her husband, Homer Torbert, on their farm near Frederica.

- WOODCARVING & CANING
Lillian & Jehu Camper
 Mr. & Mrs. Camper are participating artists in the Sussex County Folklore program. Lillian is an expert in caning, and Jehu is a woodcarver and teller of tales. His woodcarvings recreate scenes from a rural and small town America that may be fading from memory. The scenes themselves reveal the storyteller's keen appreciation for the quirks of human nature. A skilled craftsman in her own right, Lillian Camper has lent her talents to her husband, canning a number of the small pieces for his display. They greet visitors again this year as Harrington celebrates Heritage Day III.
 Mr. Camper, a former State Representative and Senator, is a vice president of the Peoples Bank of Harrington and a director and vice president of the fair. The couple marked their 62nd wedding anniversary this year.

- CROSSCUT SAWING
Joe Ward
 This is a participation display. Anyone who can push or pull can try their strength and cut a section off the log. Joe will be on hand to give pointers and demonstrate how it used to be done. Joe will try to have an antique sleigh on display also.

Compliment You on Your Heritage Day

A little bit of ingenuity, a lot of hard work, and the right machinery - All combined to help Alexander Vogl fill a need for a good, sturdy farm basket. He'll be in Harrington on Heritage Day to tell how it's done.

- FARM BASKETS
Alexander Vogl
 Mr. Vogl comes from a hardworking family and so devising a machine to make his own baskets was just a matter of following in his parents footsteps. He had a need for good solid baskets, and so he learned to make his own. Come and watch him show the process and see the finished product. Besides inventing for his own needs, Mr. Vogl keeps busy farming with his brother and sister. His home is on the Historic Register.

-HANDWOVEN BASKETS-

Joe Hughes

Joe uses only the best white oak which he gathers from his own carefully managed tree farm. The complete process of these beautifully crafted baskets is demonstrated by Joe from beginning to end. Each container has its own special usage and Joe will explain to any who ask. This is just one of Joe's many interests and hobbies. He has been named Outstanding Young Farmer of the Year and Tree Farmer of the Year in the last two years. He serves on the several Agricultural Boards and Committees also.

-POTTERY-

Arturo Bassols

Sensitive hands and a potter's wheel make some exciting finished products. Mr. Bassols has other hobbies, but is willing to share this one with us on Heritage Day. Although he is first and foremost a sculptor whose works, both outdoor and indoor pieces, are displayed widely in private collections, museums and universities, pottery has also been an interest for about thirty years. And in this, too, he is a professional and has shown all over the continental United States (except California) since 1959.

A native of Havana, Cuba, Bassols has been a Delaware resident for the past nineteen years, living for most of that time in Sussex County. For the past seven years he has been at Delaware State College where he teaches ceramics and sculpture. Previously he was an art teacher in the Milford School District and prior to that he worked at the Franklin Mint and for seven years was associated with the America House in New York City. His interest in pottery grew from a course in ceramics taken while he was a student at James Madison University in Harrisonburg, Virginia.

Heritage Day visitors are invited to come and watch the clay in his hands become useful vessels.

-CORN HUSK WEAVING-

-TOLE PAINTING-

Mildred Williams

Mrs. Williams is an artist in many mediums. She does Tole painting; weaves corn husk mats and chair seats; she does china painting; reverse paintings on glass; teaches and sells ceramics. She lives near Cannon, De. where she helps with the family farm and peach harvest. She is active in farm organizations such as Farm Bureau of De.
