Harrington patrolman rescues five from fire

Ad alert Harrington police officer, and got them safely out of the building. the local force last March, came to the said later that Gormley's quick action rescue of a Hanley Street family early. was responsible for saving the lives of Sunday morning when their home caught on fire.

Gormley was on a routine patrol in the vicinity of Hanley Street when he saw the fire at 4:54 a.m. and were on the smoke coming from the residence at #9. scene for about an hour. The officer immediately notified Kent house where he arroused five persons caused by an overloaded wood stove.

Patrolman David Gormley, who joined Assistant Fire Chief Gary Harrington the five, all residents at the home of James White.

According to Deputy State Fire Com dispatch center and went to the Marshal John Hurd, the blaze was

He estimated it did about $7,000 in damage to the White home.

Hurd said the record breaking cold over the past few days had caused a number of problems with wood stoves as people overload them in an attempt to battle the extreme temperatures. He reported about seven such fire in the area from the St. George's Bridge south to the Md.-Del. line. He was called out six times in one night, all for fires involving wood stoves.

City hears more complaints on higher fees

As the reality of Harrington's new rates for water, sewer and trash fees hits city residents along with the January mails that bring their first quarterly bills for 1982, more complaints begin to surface. The Harrington City Council Monday night heard two of those. One came from the pastor of a local church, the other from a Petersburg resident who owns property in Harrington. For both, the utility bills they received came as a cold and unexpected welcome to the

The Reverend Joseph Brame, pastor of St. Paul A.M.E. Church, Harrington, said his congregation received a bill they had not expected to get at all. Heretofore, he said, Harrington has made churches exempt from the water, sewer and trash fees. His flock of 38, he reported, is made up largely of the elderly and of those on low and/or fixed incomes. He felt the fees assessed the church constituted charging those city residents twice. The Reverend Brame made a plea for a return of the policy of exemption for the churches. He said other ministers in the Harrington Ministerial Association would feel the same way after he discussed the

LOCAL YOUTH GETS TOP EAGLE SCOUT AWARD

FELTON-Earl R. McCall, Jr., son of Earl R., Sr. and Sally G. McCall of Felton received the Eagle Scout Award recently in ceremonies honoring local scouts. The award is the highest award given by any Scout troop. It involves a project of community service. He erected poles supplied by the Diamond State Telephone Co. at the playground at the Whatcoat Methodist Church in Camden, Delaware in order to make the playground a safer place. He also was awarded "The God and Country Award" from the same church as a result of his work around the church, visiting nursing homes and working at the day camp. He also volunteered his time at Camp Lenepe east of Felton for the past 4 years.

Earl is currently enrolled as an undergraduate student at Western

Also present to voice a complaint was Mary Dudley, a Petersburg resident Citizens for Fair Utilities and the group that challenged Delaware Electric Cooperative last year, Mrs. Dudley said she learned of the extent of the fee increases when she received her first quarterly bill for 1982.

Speaking for herself as a local property owner and, she said, for the citizens group, she castigated the Council for not publicizing the fee increases as well as it had the referendum last year to approve borrowing $189,000 to pay for the city's share of the sewage treatment plant construction. She said, "The people of Harrington have been ripped off by this City Council.'

Mrs. Dudley made a plea for a more gradual acceleration in the fees and for the city council to look for ways to cut corners. She suggested the Council could have saved $16,000 of the $28,000 it spent for the current property reassessment by hiring someone local for $12,000. Councilman Bob Quillen said hiring a local person would have led to charges of favoritism.

Mrs. Dudley pressed the Council for action saying "Are you going to do anything about it?" She said the "city fathers" had a responsibility to their constituents.

Legion will help VA find POW's

In order to implement the "Former Prisoners of War Benefits Act of 1981," the VA is launching a nationwide effort to identify all living former POW's and has asked the Legion for help. Dept. Service Officers have been asked to assemble all information relative to POW's they now have on hand and forward it to National VA&R Director R.E. Lyngh. Further, Post Service Officers have been asked to identify all POW's known to them, or those they can locate in their communities, and forward the data to their Dept. Service Officers. They've also been asked to pick up identification of any former POW's who may approach the Legion for assistance. The POW information their name, address, telephone number VA claim number, Social Security Number and whether or not they are presently receiving benefits - is being gathered so that the VA may contact the former POW's to tell them of this new legislation and to assist them in applying for benefits. and Council had a responsibility to keep the city solvent. There was some inconclusive discuss-Dudley, former president of Delaware exemptions or pro-rated bills to certain groups such as churches or senior citizens. But the Council agreed this was a matter which needed more careful discussion since revenues lost through reduced fees or exemptions would have to be made up elsewhere.

Council member Ray Gagne said the water, sewer and trash charges were fees for a service that had to be paid for and not a tax. He said the city went by its engineers estimates of the cost of operating the upgraded sewage treatment facility in setting the sewer rates and would not know until a year of actually operating the plant whether those rates are high, low or realistic. In other business, the Harrington

City Council:

•discussed providing trash pickup to out-of-city residents, who live close to city lines and who are along the regular route the trash truck must travel. A few now receive this service at the regular rates. It was decided to give this matter more careful consideration. The city does not want to go into the trash business beyond its borders, and several of those present suggested that it would have to be cautious about with Mrs. Dudley and go over the facts offering the advantages of living in town to non-residents. Mayor Mann said the recipients of such services should at least pay one and a half times the rate, since they do not share in paying city taxes. Councilman Wyatt agreed to get further information for future discussion. •agreed that the city should pay Wayne Brown for 111/2 hours of work it had authorized beyond the original contract for repair of a number of catch basins around town. Mayor Mann and Councilman Wyatt said Brown had done an excellent job.

Frederica to collect back taxes prompted the Frederica Town Council Monday night to consider ways and means of collecting the $10,000 owed the town by various citizens. Some of the accounts go back as much as three and a half years, and Mayor Dan Griffith said the total amount in overdue payments is better than a quarter of the town's entire budget for

The Town needs to increase its revenue, he said. And some consideration may have to be given to raising rates. However, the Council feels it unfair to raise rates while there is still such a large sum outstanding.

The Town will ask its solicitor to recommend the proper approach. Since the December meeting, the Council had found a way out of the state.

Unpaid tax, water and trash bills dilemma which threatened to cost the city an estimated $7,500 to replace three fire hydrants which one company said could not be repaired. However, the low bidder, Marvel Construction of Rising Sun, was able to produce the parts and make the repairs for $1,300.

Cahall challenges new rates

by Harry G. Farrow, Jr.

Former Mayor Arthur B. "Buck" Cahall, III challenged the new rates for services in the Town of Harrington. "We have been accused of refusing to raise rates...when we should have...or so they say, but my budget reflected the fact that we had money there--and there was no need to raise rates," said

Cahall also challenged the new trash rate saying he did not feel "the trash should be raised that high because the labor was too high for that service.

And...I also feel that setting aside $10,000 for a possible need for a new trash truck was just not necessary. I think the matter has been overstated."

The former Mayor in defending his position said "...we would have been remiss if we had raised everything Service office open when there was money there to pay for it. A budget must be based on reality. Starting Saturday, January 16, 1982, federal and state authorities dictate," their problems. said Cahall.

Harrington Fire Hall - Some 60 odd citizens of the Town of Harrington showed up on Monday night for the annual Town meeting. It was a night of introducing candidates for the upcoming election as well as one in which irate citizens could voice their disapproval of the new sewer, water, trash and tax rates. Although the new ax rate has not been set pending the new assessment outcome, most citizens feel taxes will be raised.

Candidates Curtis Melvin said he was running because of complaints, Richard Henry wants good government and Shirley Harrington Corrin said it was time a woman sat on the Council. Candidate Donald West was absent from the meeting.

Police Chief Carl McIlroy said in his report that the main goal is to protect the citizens of the Town, and reported that crime was up in the Town 15% with ordinary thefts up 31%, criminal mischief up 51%, burglaries up 40%, vehicle theft up 250%, and worthless checks up 214%, as the most accented ones. The Police Department now has 5 full time officers and one part time officer. The Chief reported 2776 cases in 1981, and he expressed the hope ..that J.P. Court #6 at Harrington will stay open 24 hours a day." Presently the Police Department must go to Dover after hours for a judge or for incarceration.

Many citizens raised objectives about the high rates for sewer, water and The hydrants are back in operating trash. Mrs. Doris Hurd said she can appreciaté an increase, but 72% was ridiculous. Gene Price, a local funeral director and Director of the Harrington Senior Center said he was there to represent 450 Senior Citizens who are need to advertise for bidders for the unable to pay the new rates based on their fixed incomes. We took music lessons, first from Miss Lila Lyons and later from Sara Albertson. I began when I was about ten years old. My sister and I studied together and often played duets. We were expected to perform graciously when we were asked, whether a visitor or at home. We had about eight years of lessons, thanks to the considerable efforts of my mother, whose inheritance furnished us the piano and who drove horse and carriage many miles for our education.

In 1921, I took county scholastic exams which entitled me to enter high school. My father said however that it wouldn't hurt me to take eighth grade in Lewes School; which I did, boarding with my sister at Mrs. Conwells next to the library. She supplied us good food, the best being a marvelous vegetable soup once a week. The following year, my father succeeded in setting up a state bus route to take rural pupils to Lewes High School. He bought the bus which the state paid him to run. My older sister drove the bus for a couple of years. This was a heavy responsibility which she discharged well. The roads were incredibly bad and after a period of freezing and thawing, the bus literally wallowed from one deep hole to another in some spots.

Through the years, Mother visited her relatives in Washington, sometimes taking us and sometimes leaving us with our resourceful father. He could make hot biscuits with the best. Most of all we enjoyed the taffy pulls he instituted. Of course our molasses was extracted from our own cane and was a nice dark strong color. Theshing time was fascinating. Our town friends liked to be invited to our home. The thresher was owned by the Veasey boys, who hired their equipment with them to run it. Neighbors helped each other on threshing day. We loved to see the golden straw pile up as it was blown from the thresher, although the steam engine with all its hissing and belts running, was a big frightening. We carried pitchers of lemonade to the men in the fields.

Hog-killing time was also a cooperative affair for neighbors. We had two smaller cast iron pots and one very large one in which we made scrapple over an open fire outdoors. We made sausage in a sausage machine and hung our hams and sausage chains from poles in the attic

The sea was also a daily part of our lives for on foggy days we heard the fog horns on the Delaware River. Many days would be fog-bound until about ten o'clock when the fog would "burn" off. Once we rented the Waples Cottage at Lewes Beach and often we went swimming in either Bay or Ocean. Just to be on the beach, in or near the water was the greatest pleasure. The harvest of the sea was a part of our lives as on Friday, the cry of "fresh fish" determined our supper dish. In cold weather, we kept a basket of oysters on the north porch, into which we could dip. Raw and stewed oysters were a regular feature of our diet. Crabbing was also an enjoyable pasttime. Our relatives would congregate at Shell's Landing on the Indian River estuary, where soft sand provided a home in which crabs could shed their shells. Soft shell crabs are an unforgettable delicacy and fish taste at their best freshly caught and fried on an open fire under the pines on the beach. At Shell's Landing, there were no improvements. The six foot reeds were our dressing room where we changed to enjoy the calm shallow water. There were lovely mallows that bloomed along the water's edge and of course the cry of sea birds.

I also remember I was fortunate in having many friends, and some incomparable teachers in school and in church.

Letter to the Editor

To the Editor, A dime is little money -Why this fuss and hue and cry of a dime; a dime's not money Tell me what a dime will buy.

Well, it all depends, my neighbors, If you see it right or not. If you'll only look behind it, a dime can buy a lot.

For a pittance may be princely if its mission is sublime It buys peace, and pride, contentment for the one who gives the dime.

ASK YOUR DOCTOR

When your doctor prescribes drugs, be sure to ask him precisely how often during the day (and night?) the drug is to be taken whether before, during, or after meals - with or without water or other liquid - and how much liquid. For correct and best results it is important to take medicines precisely as directed.

A similar but different program will be offered in February to the adults. This will be a course to assist those who wish to affiliate with the church or to learn more of Methodist history and belief.

On Sunday evening, January 20 at 7 p.m. we will begin a four-part showing of the American Bible Society film series: "How We Got our Bible". These half hour films will be followed by a question and answer period. The Women's Society of the Greenwood Church held their regular monthly meeting on Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Jack Scott.

Plans were being laid for a fund-raising covered dish dinner around the first of February. More details later.

Guests of the Reverend William Downing and family during the holidays were his mother, Mrs. Helen Downing of Clarksville, DE., his sister, Mrs. Carol Rash of Altoona, Pa., and nieces Terry and Suzy Reed also from Altoona.

Reverend Downing and family wish to extend their appreciation for all the kindness everyone has bestowed to them since their arrival here at Frederica.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Conroy of Atlanta, Ga. have been guests of their uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph L. Rawlins. Friday, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Armstrong and son, Robbie of Illinois and

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Hudson, David and Karen of Felton and Mrs. Leona Hudson were visitors of the Rawlins. Miss Catherine Maguire of Chester spent the holiday with Miss Mildred

Coverdale. Mr. and Mrs. Bradford Holliday held Open House for the family Christmas Eve. There were 32 attending with two new heirs into the family. Mr. and Mrs. Zeke Dill and grandchildren Kevin, Cindy and Melissa and Mrs. Mena Bennett spent the holidays in Rock Ledge, Fla. with Mr. Richard Sipple. Mr. Sipple had recently suffered a heart attack. The family was happy to see how well he was recovering. After Christmas Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Payne of Newark, DE spent the weekend with his sister Mrs. Mary Purnell. On Sunday, Nelson honored the congregation with his singing and Doris accompanied him on the piano. We always enjoy their music.

Mr. and Mrs. Jay Sharp and daughter Vonda of Fountain Valley, Calif. were home visiting their father Mr. Jessie Sharp, Grandmother, Mrs. Anna May Sharp and Mrs. Jay Sharp's Mother, Mrs. Ida Clayville and family of Milford. On Christmas Day they were dinner guests of Mrs. Annette and family of Lincoln, Mrs. Jay Sharp's sister. Jay's brother Kenny and his daughter, Karen and Gail of Roanoke, Va. joined them on Sunday and all were dinner guests of their sister, Mrs. Joyce Dean and family in Salisbury,

A birthday dinner was held Dec. 31st at the Coral Reef in Little Creek in honor of Mrs. Anna May Sharp, Mr. Jessie Sharp and Vonda.

January 1, 1982, a buffet was held in their honor at the Sharp's in Frederica. Mrs. Sharp celebrated her 90th birthday. Jessie has stopped counting and Vonda is a lovely little young lady.

We wish to extend our deepest sympathy to Mr. William Schmick and Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Schmick, Annette and Stephanie due to the loss of their wife, mother and grandmother.

The loss of my dear friend from childhood is great, and I shall miss her-Pearl C. Schmick.

The M.Y.A.F. Progressive Dinner was postponed and will be held Sunday, January 17, 1982 at 5 p.m. Bus will leave Trinity Church at 4:45 p.m. If by any chance any member that has not been contacted, please excuse me. Call 335-5487 and I will let you know what group you are on. Thank you. To all that are ill, wherever they might be, our prayers and best wishes,

May God Bless. Give me a buzz and let me know what you plan to do in 82.

"Old hoary winter comes at last, All powdered like a beau,

Yet, though our summer joys are past, We'll frolick in the snow. Good old January (I'm trying to think) and the Wolf Moon hangs high. The little stanzas above came from past years of the Old Farmers' Almanac. A Happy New Year to each and everyone of you from the folks here at Trail's The second little verse doesn't fit too well here in our mild little state of Delaware. We have not yet been able to frolic in the snow and it could well be that we will not do so all this winter.

Ellen longs for snow, and I, too, love its beauty, but after we have enjoyed it for a few hours I'd like to wipe it off and start over, avoiding the slush. The weather has been kind to us in the matter of fuel bills, and we are grateful

The Almanac also tells us that January is the time the birches release their tiny seeds to go blowing over the snow, providing a welcome source of food for many birds.

I kept reading, hoping to find more, but the next interesting fact did not do much for me. It said that the first beer sold in cans was in Richmond, Va. in 1935. No, this did not turn me on at all! Do you all find it hard to get back into the swing of things after the glorious holidays? And what are you all doing with those long winter evenings? always have so many plans but I usually end up reading. I do love to Projected Study: Beginning this Wednesday evening we shall examine the Bible account of creation. This will no doubt prove interesting in the face of recent emphasis on evaluation vs. creationism. Everyone is invited to attend especially with your children so that they can be taught the truth of God's Word. They will be taught the theories of man in school, but unless they get the truth here they will not get it. Also, you may be surprised at how the Bible supports much of what science teaches. True science undergirds the truth in the Bible, and Bible truth agrees with true science.

Ezekiel Cooper was born in 1763 in Baltimore, to parents who were members of the Church of England. Freeborn Garrettson influenced him to join the Methodist Church as a young man, the service. Saturday evening, the and he became a preacher. He attended the Christmas Conference of 1784 and remained an active and able minister through the days of Confederation, the adoption of the Constitution, the War of 1812 and the rise of anti-slavery sentiment, becoming before his death in 1847 one of the honored elder statesmen of the church.

Cooper held pulpits in Wilmington, Baltimore, Philadelphia, Annapolis, Alexandria, Charleston, Boston and New York, and his work was closely interwoven with all the phases of early Methodism.

Francis Asbury had started the Methodist Book Concern in Philadelphia under John Dickens, who tried for five years to make a go of it. Finally Asbury put Cooper in charge, and in a few years it was a successful business, having moved to New York in the

Spartan girls in first place

Pat Dyal's Lake Forest girls varsity basketball team opened its Souther Division Henlopen Conference competition with a 56-43 win over Laurel on January 5. The victory, which took place on the Bulldogs' home court brought the Spartan season record to 4-1. The Lake Forest girls split their opening games in December when they lost to Sussex Central, but beat Dover. Both were Northern Division opponents. In the pre-Christmas Lake Forest Invitational, the host Spartans conquered Milford and Caesar Rodney.

Junior Anita Sherwood, who sank six shots for twelve points in the first quarter, led the Spartan scoring with 16 points. Stephanie Tolson and Dee-Dee White were also in double figures with 14 and 11 points, respectively. Pam Harris contributed 6; Lolita Seth, 5; and Carolyn Browne and Angie Akins, 2 each to the Spartan win. DeeDee White hit 50% of her shots at the foul line, sinking three out of six. But the Spartan record overall on foul shots was just 25% as the team netted 4 shots in 16 tries. However, the Spartans led the scoring from the floor for three quarters to keep the game under control. On Friday evening, the girls' team upped their record to 5-1 by rolling over Woodbridge 60-30.

Stephanie Tolson and Pam Harris were leading scorers with 15 points each. DeeDee White was close with 12; Anita Sherwood had 9; Lolita Seth, 5; and Cathy Johnson and Regina Benson, the scoring for Lake Forest.

Spartan boys split two games

Dale Benson and Kevin Moehlenkamp continued their high scoring ways as Bill Falasco's Spartan varsity basketball team took Laurel in a 66-42 romp, as Lake Forest opened its Henlopen competition last Tuesday. That win brought the Spartans season record to

The Spartan boys' first four games were appearances in the Seaford and Dover invitationals. In the holiday tournaments, Lake Forest lost to Middletown 67-73 in the opening round. In the consolation finals, the Spartans bounded ahead of Smyrna with a 66-42 margin. In both games the two tall seniors were leading scorers. Benson had 19 against Laurel and 18 against Smyrna. Moehlenkamp was good for 20 and 14 in the two games.

Jerome Scott (4), Brian Gladden (5), Tony Scott (7), Tolson (2) and Dixon (4) were other scorers for Lake Forest in the Middletown game. Against Smyrna Jerome Scott had 10; Brian Gladden, 6; Tony Scott, 4; Tolson, 2; Dixon, 1, and Thorpe, 9.

At Laurel, the Spartans broke away from a first quarter 12-12 tie to pull steadily ahead. In the second quarter, they added 15 points while holding the Bulldogs to two third quarter scores of 20 and 19 kept Lake Forest well ahead. Benson (2) points) and Moehlenkamp (19 points) picked up ten each in the first half. Tolson (8), Dixon (6), Jerome Scott (5), and Mosely, Thorpe, Tony Scott and Burris with 2 each completed

Six victorious matches, five of them 157 lb.: Hershel Harmon (LF) decision won by pins in the low to middleweight over Mullikan (E), 9-0; classes, got Tom Shaffer's Spartan matmen out to an early lead over Easton's wrestlers last Wednesday. The initial advantage held for Lake Forest as the team went on to defeat their Talbot County, Md. opponents 36-25 last Wednesday.

The evening also saw a 4-4 draw by Kenny Kline against his Easton opponent. Not successful at pinning any Spartan wrestler, Easton scored its points on two forfeits, two decisions, the draw previously mentioned, and a default in the heavyweight class which went to the Maryland team after the match was halted by the referee in the second period.
