Harrington meets Conrail

Harringtonians last Wednesday got a look at the sometimes faceless "they" who run the railroad as they met Conrail officials in a public hearing aimed at airing some of the complaints about the company's operations here. They asked some questions and got some answers. But whether there was any satisfaction obtained may depend upon the way in which Conrail follows up its promises to improve track conditions and "debug" sensitive electronic devices that have sent local crossing gates into a frenzy of misdirected activity. It may also depend upon an improvement in communications between the community and the railroad company.

By the conclusion of last week's hearing, it appeared that several of the better than 50 local citizens who were present were not all that certain that Conrail had accepted its share of that responsibility. Linda Chick, speaking as the meeting closed, charged Conrail with thrusting the main burden of maintaining open communications back on city residents.

Harrington Mayor Al Mann structured the hearing during which those who signed up as they came in were given three minutes each to air their grievances. After that, Conrail officials, principally Assistant Vice President and Philadelphia Division Superintendent D.E. Schaefer, were given the floor and, as citizens got a chance to aim questions at them, were placed on the firing line.

Harringtonians speaking to the point included:

Anne Minner - Mrs. Minner reported "more than a year" during which idling engines in center city disturbed the Weiner Avenue quiet. Her husband, former Mayor William Minner, kept a log which shows one instance in which an engine was left for over 40 hours. She said attempts to report the situation had gotten them "no satisfaction."

Leroy Calhoun - Calhoun's major beef was about blocked crossing which made it difficult for him to get from L & D Electronics west of the tracks to his other business, a laundromat, on the east side. Calhoun also said it took him 45 minutes one night to get from his Commerce Street store to his home (about two miles east of town). The hold-up was shifting trains which kept the Clark Street crossing blocked.

Jack Aptt - expressed his concern that "someone is going to get killed at one of these crossings" with the erratic operation of the gates. He also said he was frustrated in trying to get home for lunch (Aptt works at Delmarva Power & Light on Liberty Street and lives on Commerce Street) when crossings were tied up for 20 minutes. His wife, Louise Aptt, expressed her fear that the noisy idling engines would move from the north end of town to the south end, nearer their home.

Gary Harrington - as president of the local fire company had concerns and questions about the operations of the gates, the speed limits for trains going through town and track conditions - all as they pertain to safety and the movement of emergency vehicles.

Edward Welch - asked about the movement of hazardous materials through town by rail, while Louise Burgess voiced another complaint about the noisy engines left in the north residential area. A Mr. Hawkins expressed further concerns about the amount of hazardous materials being moved and about traffic tie-ups at the gates which he said had gotten "about four times as bad since the block house closed."

Bob Taylor - speaking both as a line officer with the fire company and as a representative of the Chamber of Commerce, asked for improved communications and for "some consideration" from the railroad company. He said the Chamber of Commerce worried that the frequency and duration of blocked crossings would adversely affect business, driving shoppers to other communities. However, Taylor insisted the overriding concern was public safety.

Council member Curtis Melvin mentioned the fire company/railroad station "hot line" which once rang for more than 18 times before it was answered and said he has tried it that night, and the phone was answered before the end of the first ring. Arnett of Conrail replied, "That's because it now hurts our ears." (The railroad has installed a loud alarm on the phone that distinguishes its ring from that of other lines.)

Another Council Member Richard Henry diverted attention to poor crossings and said the one on Clark Street is rough enough to cause "anyone with false teeth" to lose them as they go over. "It's happened to me several times," Henry said. Arnett said that was in the hands of the State of Delaware. Reportedly, some funds are in the works to repair the Clark Street crossing.

Ray Gagne - presented petitions bearing signatures of 359 townspeople concerned with the situation. Dr. Vincent Lobo underscored the comments of other council members; Robert Quillen reported school buses have been made late by crossing delays, and Jack Wyatt questioned the effects on rail traffic of a possible coalport in Lewes.

Taking the floor, Al Arnett offered apologies for Conrail's not being the good neighbor it intended to be. He reiterated much of what he told the Journal last week:

1) Since track at the deisel pit near the water tower has been repaired, noisy engines should no longer be parked all over town.

2) Conrail bears the responsibility for seeing its crossing gates are respected however, the newly installed automatic signals were victims of "Murphy's law" (If anything can go wrong, it will). They are being "debugged" and orders have gone out to inspect them every 48 hours.

3) The new bell on the hot line will insure the railroad office answers when it rings.

4) Once Conrail spends six million dollars to rehabilitate track from here to the electric power plant trains should move through more quickly.

5) Town residents with complaints should register them immediately.

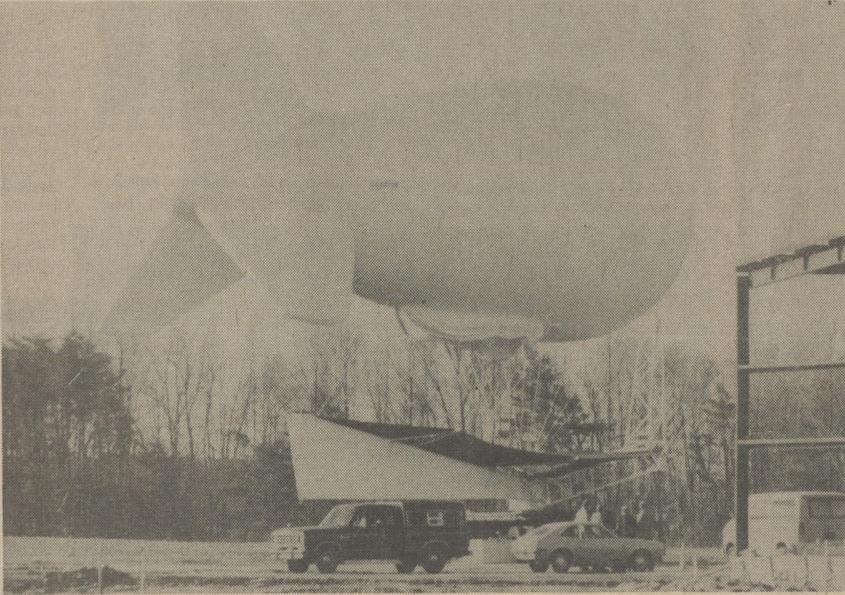

Philadelphia Division Superintendent Schaefer enlarged on some of the technicalities of the gates and the electric sensors which operate them. He said the block house would remain closed and might be taken down.

Before the hearing closed Frank Chick and Ray Gagne pressed the question of communications. Chick said, "Give us a deadline - and who to call if something is not done."

Anne Paladino asked why not a feasibility study to find out "...if we could use a commuter line." Arnett answered that Conrail has been ordered out of the business of providing passenger service effective January 1, 1983.

FACEOFF - Conrail executives Al Arnett [standing] and D.E. Schaefer [seated] hear from Harrington citizens [clockwise from right] Ira Huffman, Gary Harrington, Frank Chick and Louise Burgess.

NO IT IS NOT THE GOODYEAR BLIMP-If you are around ILC Industries at Frederica, De. these days the balloon seen here is something just completed for U.S. customs. The balloon, filled with helium, will be used off the Florida coast and Gulf of Mexico to catch dope smugglers. The balloon is riderless but uses instruments which record movements on the ground, and relays them back to ground. The balloon can reach a height of 3000 feet and is 19000 cubic feet in size. It is a baby version of the ones the US Air Force uses off the Florida coast to observe movements in Cuba which are 250,000 cubic feet in size and soar to 15000 feet. It is made of Kevlar a polyester with a polyurethane coating. The balloon is suspended on a nylon cable. George Durney was the manager of the project. Photo by HGF.

HPD, Jimmy Messick nab tractor thieves

On February 18, a Harrington businessman, James W. "Jimmy" Messick gave the Harrington Police Department an assist that resulted in the recovery of property stolen from Taylor & Messick and in the arrest of three thieves. Messick and Patrolman Cook cooperated in an early morning search which took place in a blinding snowstorm.

The search started about 2:10 a.m. on the 18th after a tip to the HPD that a pick-up truck pulling a brand new garden tractor had been seen traveling west a Delaware Route 14. Cook immediately went to Messick's home to find out whether someone might have been working late at the Taylor and Messick shop. When the answer was "no", Cook went to get a full report from the person who gave him the tip, while Messick went looking. After contacting Delaware State Police, Cook joined the search, and the two kept in touch by CB radio.

They were heading back to Harrington "in a blinding snowstorm when Messick spotted the truck stopped on County Road 279. He observed several men loading a garden tractor onto the back of the pickup.

After notifying Cook by CB, Messick hailed the truck. The three men dropped the tractor in the middle of the road, jumped into the truck and fled north. They got about 2000 feet before the truck turned into a field and stopped.

When Patrolman Cook learned that the Delaware State Police would be delayed in getting to the scene, he and Messick made the apprehension, securing the three until the state officers arrived. He was also able to identify the stolen property.

Arrested by the state police were Tyrone L. Clark, Walden B.L. Clark, Jr., and Harold S. Woodlin, Jr., all three were of Dover. They were charged with criminal trespass, second degree conspiracy and theft and committed to Delaware Correctional Center, Smyrna, in default of $42,000 bond each. The bond was later reviewed, and the three are awaiting trial in Superior Court.

Meanwhile Patrolman Cook expressed his appreciation and that of the whole Harrington Police Department to Jimmy Messick for the assistance he gave and the professional manner in which it was rendered.

Local artist places in duck stamp contest

Richard Clifton of near Waples Pond, Milton was the only downstater to place in the final five at the recent Duck Stamp Contest held in Dover. Clifton is 20 years old and paints as a hobby. He helps his father and uncle farm over 2000 acres and run the Clifton Canning Factory.

This year Clifton entered a drawing of a male and female hooded merganzers. He has been sketching since he was six years old. At that time he sketched things around the farm like tractors, trucks and combines. "About 11 or 12, I started sketching birds...of all kinds. I guess at the same time I became a bird watcher. When I became 15 or 16, I got real interested in hunting mostly waterfowl," said Clifton.

Clifton continues to watch birds and ducks today. He paints from memory "...just what comes out of my head. Of course, I live near Prime Hook. So I will take a ride down there and watch the ducks for hours in Slaughter Neck Creek." (He usually drives down in his Z-28 Camaro, which he drag races at U.S. 13 Dragway.) Clifton uses high powered binoculars so that he can get real close-up views of the ducks. "I have a good opportunity of seeing the ducks...because as a hunter I have to get up real early. The best time to watch the ducks is right about half hour before sunrise. You then can study their movements, and you get the feel of the subject," said Clifton.

Clifton drew as his entry this year a male and female hooded merganzers. "I guess most people don't realize that there are three types of merganzers - the hooded, common, and red breasted. We have them here on the farm and over at Slaughter Neck. I like to watch them eat. They eat a very small tiny fish. Watching them this way gives me a real good feel for the subject.

Richard Clifton came very close to winning this year's State Duck Stamp contest. The winning drawing will appear on all hunting licenses and the prints, which collectors are waiting in line to get, will bring $125 and more apiece. This year the winning artist will receive $5000 cash and 150 prints if they sell for at least $125 that comes to a cool $18,750. When I explained this to Richard, he came back with "...well I entered the contest not for the money as such. I like to draw waterfowl, but I thought if I won I could get my Camaro fixed and get back to drag racing at U.S. 13." America -- and our American Youth...I'm proud of them. Richard

Myers, Jacobs and Hopkins win in Felton

Felton voters Monday night returned William Myers, Sr. and Don Jacobs to the Town Council and elected John Hopkins to a first term. Defeated was a fourth candidate, George Egler, who made a bid for a Council seat. Myers got 64 votes; Hopkins, 63; Jacobs, 43, and Egler, 37.

The Council will meet Monday night to swear in the winners, reorganize for the coming year and conduct its regular business.

Frederica picks three

In Frederica 167 people turned out to write in names of a variety of candidates in Monday's town election. Only one person, incumbent Virginia Simpler, had filed to run for any of the three seats up for grabs. Mrs. Simpler, with 70 votes, was a winner as were Helen Powers, 131, and Rosalie Cline, 127. Mrs. Powers, who has served several terms on the Council, and Mrs. Cline were chosen as write in candidates.

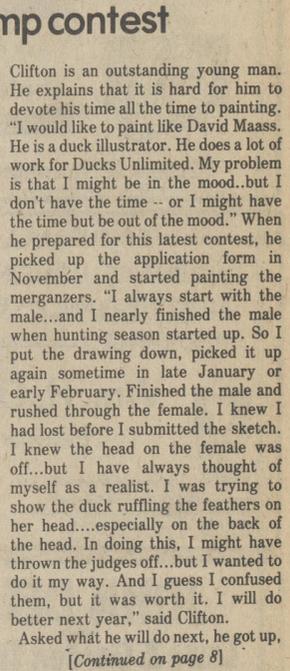

10 other Fredericians received write-in votes: Ed Warren, 55; Georgie Shahan, 29; Ezekiel Dill, 19; Arletta Faye Brownlee, 11; Donald Evans, 3; David Jones, 2; Asa Fleming, 2; Sam Shumar, 1; Traves Brownlee, 1, and Bob Edge, 1.

Three file in Houston

Three candidates have filed for three posts which will be open when Houston holds its town elections on Saturday, March 27. Virgil Emory will seek a two-year term as mayor, and Richard Rollison and Carroll Jester will be looking for looking for Town Council seats. The latter are also two-year terms.

Rollison is the only incumbent who has filed. Assuming he is unopposed by any write-in candidate, this will be his second term on council. Council member Dorothy Silbereisen and current mayor Connie Morgan chose not to run for another term.

Morgan, who has served two terms and who was Houston's first elected mayor says she plans to return to night school to further her college education, a goal she earlier postponed in order to

Kent county woman beaten

State Police Detectives from Troop 3 in Camden have arrested 5 members of the Pagan Motorcycle Gang in the beating of a 21 year old Kent County girl.

Detectives say that Lori Strannahan, 21, of Hickman, Delaware, was asleep on a couch in the living room of her residence at 3 a.m. Monday morning, Feb. 22, when gang members walked into her trailer and demanded to know where an acquaintance of hers was.

Strannahan could not supply the gang members with the information they wanted and they began to kick her. Strannahan still could not tell the gang members what they wanted to know and they finally left her trailer.

State Troopers from Troop 3 in Camden were summoned to the scene and relayed the victim to the Kent General Hospital by police car.

Lori Strannahan was admitted to the Kent General Hospital suffering numerous abrasions and contusions on her upper body and lapsed into unconsciousness shortly after entering the hospital, the result of a rear lethal blow to her head. She has remained unconscious since then.

State Police immediately began an intensive investigation into the incident and finally arrested the fifth and final subject in the case late Monday evening.

The 5 defendants are: Wilbur L. Kernodle, Jr., Laurel; Paul R. Hamilton, Dover; Robert M. Lehman, Greenwood; David W. Beaver, Greensboro; and Paul C. Morris, Felton.

All 5 subjects were arrested on charges of 1st degree assault, 1st degree burglary and 2nd degree conspiracy. All were arraigned at Magistrate Court 7 in Dover and incarcerated in the Delaware Correctional Center in lieu of $115,000 bond each.

Anne's Kitchen

Does it pay to save that little bit of leftover spaghetti sauce? You bet it does! All you need is about 1 cup (a little more is better) and you will be all set with a tasty and delicious side dish. My family would like me to make it as a main course, they enjoy it that much. It's easy as 1, 2, 3.

Rice With Sauce

1. Cook 1 cup rice (not instant) according to package directions.
2. Heat sauce and mix completely with cooked rice.
3. Sprinkle generously with grated Italian cheese. Serve at once. Enjoy!

Gabfest

by Pat Hatfield

We always think of March as being the month of various moods, but this year February is about as changeable. We have had a rapid succession of different weather patterns...very cold, snow, rain, sleet and mud and the thermometer up to sixty degrees. With the warm sun and the balmy breezes we believed in spring again. We are in the middle of a northeaster today with the fierce winds hurling the heavy rain against the windowpanes, as my grandfather used to say, "A real weather-breeder". As I listen to the wind another old saying comes to mind. "February is borrowing days of March."

We have so many bunnies who live with us around the yard. We often watch them romp and play like kittens in the moonlight. I leave carrots out for them and we wonder if some of them are the babies we raised last summer and gave them back to the wild when they could fend for themselves.

Now, I will tell you a true nature story which is amazing to us. One night this week, just about wilight time, Dad and I were watching a rabbit hopping around the Japonica bush just outside our kitchen window. As we watched, he suddenly leaped into the air, much as a cat would to get on a chair or table. We waited. He did not come down. We started to eat our dinner and Dad said, I must go and check on that rabbit. Perhaps he is caught up in the twigs and is hurting." In a few minutes he came back laughing. He said, "You will not believe this. I have never seen it in all my eighty-two years. The bunny is nestled down in a crotch of a bush about a foot off the ground and has his little head down, fast asleep". The next night we checked and again he had gone to bed in the bush. At least his wee feet were not on the cold snow. We are calling him "B.B.", short for Bush Bunny!

I'm very much reminded of being a grandmother with three of my grandchildren having birthdays within a few weeks of each other. Our seventeen year old, Hilary, was spending a recent weekend with us, and while I was doing something special for her, she protested that I was spoiling her. So I replied that was what grandmothers were for. She thought a bit and said, "Yes, that's true. Our mothers can't spoil us because we would turn out to be nothing; so it's a grandmother's job."

Here's a little article from my scrapbook on grandmothers. The author is unknown, but surely she must have been a grandmother herself. Thus: "A grandmother is a lady who has no children of her own, so she likes other peoples' little girls."

A grandfather is a man grandmother. He goes for walks with the boys and they talk about fishing and tractors and like that.

Grandmothers don't have to do anything except be there. They're old so they shouldn't play hard or run. It is enough if they drive us to the market where the pretend horse is, and have lots of dimes ready. If they take us for walks, they should slow down past things like pretty leaves or caterpillars. They should never, ever say "Hurry up!"

They don't have to be smart, only answer questions like why dogs hate cats and how come God isn't married. They don't try to talk baby talk like visitors do, because it is hard to understand. When they read to us they don't skip or mind if it is the same story again.

Everybody should try to have one, especially if they don't have television, because grandmothers are the only grownups who have time."

Smile! Smile! To have and to keep a good heart and to always do your best is a positive way to always be blessed.

Reverend Markley of Trinity and Prospect Church was leader of Bible Study Monday Morning at the Center. The Study was opened with two songs - "Tis So Sweet To Trust In Jesus", and "Living For Jesus". Sylvia was at the piano. Reverend Markley chose St. John, Chapter 11, for his topic. Answers and questions and a very good blessing came from the hour, I was told by some. The hour ended with a prayer by Reverend Markley and a song by all present. Break Thou the Bread of Life to Me. Cecil Meredith, Tony Perrone, John McCready, Marion Brown, Watson Brown, Laurance Kates, Ruth Bradley, Florence Fortney, Roxanne Brown, Jo Burke, Florence Minner, Thelma Legates, Catherine Donovan, Mary Sapp, Mamie Adams, Anna Mae Short, Essie Redden, Ethel Holden, Francis Wright, Clara Judy and Mildred Vincent. Thank you, Mildred, for the names!!

A couple were trying their hand at matmaking Monday as well as exchanging crochet patterns. There are a great variety of squares to make into afghans. Ceramics were busy, lots of vases for birthday people, a great array of color!! Another beauty is a luscious looking strawberry cookie jar!! Boy is it a honey. Almost wish I was into making cookies again. Then there is the adorable kitty cat cookie jar with a ball of yarn, it is as sweet as can be. Just like an ornery kitten getting into the yarn and messing it all to pieces, cute, but useful also!! Jolly Timers had fifteen present Tuesday morning. Back in the craft room, I could not hear too much of the music for Watson Brown had a class of people doing print transfers, a few were doing ceramics, so between that and the pool room, the only bit of song heard was "There's An Old Spinning Wheel In The Parlor", still it goes without writing, but I'll write it anyway, they are just great!! Thanks to Mildred Vincent, she gave me those present: Ella Golt, Cleora Vincent, Andy Anderson, Lili McBride, Mamie Adams, Laurence Kates, Essie Redden Ola Tilden, John McCready, Roxanne Brown, Florence Minner, Jo Burke, Cecil & Sylvia Meredith. Sylvia tickled the ivories.

Tuesday afternoon, Irv Levitt of Kent County Social Security came to the Center and gave a most enlightening talk. Everyone there thoroughly enjoyed his delivery, though not all he delivered. But he told the truth as he saw it by law. (Such as an 8% increase in Social Security in July. Medicare premium going up to 12.20). He was interesting!

Legal Aid was here Tuesday also. She is a capable young lady. Your legal problems can be made lighter with her help. She makes a visit at the Center once a month. Make reservations.

Senior Sounds with Sylvia Meredith. The group gets "gooder and gooder"!

There has been ceramics, crocheting mats, rugs, bingo, pool & Bible study, Jolly Timers, Senior Sounds, talk on social security, legal aid, tasty meals by Manna, (sponsored by Modern Maturity of Dover,) lots of chatting friendly visiting, reading, looking at the gossip and other papers and books, T.V. and needlepoint.

Barbara and Jeannette offered crafts to the folks every Thursday for the bazaar, April 2, 1982. Any white elephants will be greatly appreciated for the bazaar. Clint, the Dast Driver took those that wanted to go, local shopping.

Best wishes to all homebonds and to those who are ill. Our prayers too, of course to those in sorrow. Thank you, volunteers. Come on in to the Center, hear the chatter of the pool room, the clatter of the kitchen, the hum & buzz, the craft room the silence of the parlor, the hum of the T.V. room and a little of all in the dining room. Make your choice, chat with many or with one just as your heart dictates. Just be sure you make a visit to the Center. Bazaar, April 2, 1982. Faith!

The New Wave 10 and under girls' relay team of Jody Adams, Kelly Rawding, Jana Smith, Angie Stump and Crystal Sinegar was undefeated in 10 races.

New Wave has perfect season

On Saturday the Lake Forest Community Swim Team, the New Wave, completed a perfect dual meet season with a 448-72 rout of the Mid Delmarva YMCA of Salisbury, Md.

With the win, the Lake Forest team finished with a perfect season in its second full year of existence. Kelly Rawding and Danny Haines both broke pool records at the Salisbury YMCA. All Lake Forest relay teams swept Mid Delmarva, and the New Wave swimmers took 40 first place finishes out of a possible 48 individual races.

Several of the team members are now practicing for the Wilmington "B" Level Championships and for Junior Olympic competition.

The top point getters for the boys were Danny Haines (14 and under) 91, Mel Silicki (8 & under) 73, Gary Price (14 & under) 68, Charles Moller (18 & under) 61, and Bryan Hughes (18 & under) 57.

For the girls, Kelly Rawding (10 & under) and Kristin Reid (12 & up) both had 79 points. Heather Haines (18 & under) had 73, Beth Reed (17 & under), 70, and Joyce Oakley (14 & up), 68.

Most valuable boy swimmer was Danny Haines; the most valuable girls were Kelly Rawding and Kristin Reid.

The most improved boy is Mike Monroe, and the most improved girl Paige Parker.

There were seven relay teams which never lost a race this season. The boys' 8 & under group of Doug Reid, Mel Silicki, Danny Voshell, Brian Haley and Michael Drew won every free-style and medley relay. The girls' 10 & under group of Kelly Rawding, Crystal Sinegar, Jana Smith, Angie Stump and Jody Adams set records with every win, eventually setting pool records in both relays.

Head Coach Dennis Berry attributed the young teams outstanding success to "mental attitude" as well as to a lot of work. He said the New Wave swimmers started out the season learning how to be winners and finished the last two meets "believing that they were winners". Against Wicomico, an experienced, seasoned team, that attitude took them through the final relays to an exciting win with just an 8 point spread. The 448-72 victory over Mid-Delmarva was much higher than any of the New Wave coaches had expected.

This winter season marks the final one for Dennis Berry as coach of the swim team. The search is on for a replacement. Berry, however, will remain as aquatics supervisor at Lake Forest.

A jubilant Spartan team gets a festive welcome to the court from the Lake Forest cheerleaders as it prepares to take on Indian River in the final game of the regular season.

scored 21 points for the local five. Also scoring for Lake Forest were Dale Benson, 12; Kevin Moehlenkamp, 10; Tony Scott, 5; Jerome Scott, 4; and Young, 6.

On Friday night the Spartans stayed way ahead of Indian River in a 55-38 contest which gave the Lake Forest second string a chance to see a lot of action.

Points for Lake Forest came from Dale Benson, 18; Kevin Moehlenkamp, 15; Jerome Scott, 8; Tony Scott and Brian Gladden, 4 each, and Darryl Tolson, 2.

Spartans Pam Harris [44] and Pam Pierce [14] go after a rebound in the Indian River game.

The win over Delmar Tuesday night put then third place Lake Forest in a tie for second with the Bulldogs. Friday night's upset of the Indians plus a Laurel win over Delmar put Pat Dyal's team in solid second place and guaranteed them a ticket to the state playoffs. The Spartans finished their regular season at 11-5 in the conference and 14-6 overall.
