

LAUNCH SITE? The Delaware State Fairgrounds this week is seeing some very strange arrivals which promise to unfold into familiar and unfamiliar rides sure to thrill visitors to the 63rd state Fair which opens Friday. A very familiar face will be on hand for the first Saturday night grandstand show as Glen Campbell comes to Delaware.

63rd State Fair ready to open

HARRINGTON With it's 63rd annual With it's 63rd annual opening a mere day or two away, officials of the Delaware State Fair are anxiously awaiting what represents the culmination of efforts for hundreds of volunteers and thousands of hours of preparation. Last year's event was the most successful ever in terms of attendance and Fair people are hoping to top the 177,000 mark that was set then.

As has been the custom during the past few years, fairgoers will get a free sneak preview of the Fair on Thursday night, July 22. Featured will be Delaware Development Fund harness races for 2-year-olds. The James E. Strates carnival will also be open for business. This year the Strates Shows will feature two new rides which represent an investment of more than a million dollars and places Strates among the leaders in this country in offering the world's most spectacular rides.

Headlining the star-studded grandstand lineup is country & pop crossover artist, Glen Campbell, July 24, starts of the 'big band era', Glenn Miller Orchestra, July 29, Louisiana's brand of southern rock, Le Roux, July 30, and country music giant and current holder of the hottest country music song in the nation, Charley Pride, July 31. Fair officials cite this year's talent as some of the best and also the most expensive.

These acts join such traditional grandstand favorites as stock car racing, July 23 & 28, midget auto races, July 24, professional rodeo, July 25, Demolition derbies, July 26 & 31, automobile thrill show, July 27, and a tractor pull, July 28. A fireworks display will be held on the evening of July 24, 27, 29, 30 and 31.

Special days have been set for Monday, July 26, Tuesday, July 27 and Thursday, July 29. On the 26th, all boy scouts and girl scouts either in full uniform or merit sashes will get into the Fair at half-off the regular admission. There's also a special midway promotion going on from Noon until 8:00 p.m.

The following day, the 27th, is Children's Day at the Fair and all school age kids get into the Fair absolutely free. There's also a special "2 for 1" ride discount until 6:00 p.m. Each child will also be able to get into the grandstand without charge for two shows at 1:30 and 7:15 p.m. to see a new stunt show billed as "Fantasy On [Continued on page 2]

Lake Forest C.A.T. scores reveal progress

"We're making progress... (The growth is)...slow....but sure," said Lake Forest Supervisor of Curriculum and Special Programs, Dr. Arthur Gilbert. Gilbert was speaking of the academic progress of district students as revealed in the results of state-wide California Achievement Tests released just this week. The tests, administered this spring for the 4th straight year, show students in this district improving their scores both as ranked against others in the state and in terms of their own past records.

Gilbert was pleased with the good comparisons with state scores, but said the fact that "...we're competing against ourselves..." in improving on past performance is even more important.

In a lengthy report submitted to the Lake Forest Board of Education Monday night, Dr. Gilbert:

- compared Lake Forest scores on the C.A.T. to those of sixteen other districts in the state,
- traced the progress of individual grades over the four years and
- submitted a detailed item analysis showing district strengths and weaknesses in specific objectives tested.

-C.A.T. ratings/scores up
The 1982 figures presented by Dr. Gilbert show Lake Forest moving up both in comparison with other districts and in terms of its own 1981 record.

Out of nine grade levels tested, district students in all but two grades (fourth and eleventh) improved their rank in comparison with other districts. 1982 fourth graders here were seventh in the state as compared with first for the 1981 class. However, those same fourth graders had actually moved up in rank from the tenth place they had achieved as third graders tested in 1981.

Although district eleventh graders ranked fourteenth as compared with twelfth last year, there were more districts (16 instead of 14) included this year, and the local junior class actually improved its test scores by 3.5 percentage points over the class of the preceding year.

In the nine grades tested throughout the state, 1982 C.A.T. results show Lake Forest's third graders ranked first; its first, second and fifth graders ranked second; its sixth graders, third; fourth graders, seventh; seventh graders, ninth; eighth graders, eleventh, and eleventh graders, fourteenth. (See Charts 1 and 2)

Based on a Normal Curve Equivalent Scale of which the national average is 50.0, Lake Forest students in all but two grades (eighth and eleventh) stayed above the state average. (See Chart 3) This year for the first time, district scores for the total battery of C.A.T. tests did not drop below the national average in any grade. Last year's eleventh grade scores were 48.2. This year they rose to 51.7 (50.5 when students in special education classes are taken into account).

As compared with 1981, average scores in all grades but fourth in the district rose in 1982. And again, the scores for this past year's fourth grades were higher than those for the same students when they were third graders in 1982.

Dr. Gilbert, in his report to the Lake Forest Board also looked at the scores of Lake Forest students over the four years as they have compared with a national percentile ranking. With few exceptions the number of students scoring higher than 51% or better of the nation's youngsters tested at the same level has steadily increased. In 1982 for example, 85% of Lake Forest first graders scored better than 51% or more of the nation's first graders. In 1978-79, that figure had been 49.8%.

In his report, Gilbert made the following observations based upon the 1982 item analysis of particular strengths and weaknesses:

Vandals smash windshields in Bridgeville

by Norris Workman

Vandals smashed the windshields of three vehicles and damaged two others early Tuesday morning, July 13, in Bridgeville.

Town police sergeant Norman Oates said Sunday evening that investigation is still underway, but that as of yet they are not close to making an arrest. He set the time of the vandalism between 12:00 midnight and 2:00 a.m.

Persons owning the damaged vehicles were the Reverend Charles Sorrells of 311 Walnut St., Charles Kelly of 301 Cedar St., John W. Shockley of 312 Lewis St., Scott Slacum of 304 Edgewood Ave., and Francis Lewis of 115 Sussex Ave.

The Sorrells car, a 1970 Cadillac, had the passenger side of the windshield smashed and the window in the passenger door scratched. The car, sitting in the back yard on Maple Alley, had recently had a new windshield installed because of stone damage. The Sorrells family had been away visiting a hospitalized relative in Pennsylvania and had just returned and gone to bed about an hour before the destruction took place. A neighbor heard "...four thuds at about 1 o'clock. We looked out at the windows but didn't see anything."

Mrs. Kelly, whose birthday was the 13th of July, discovered the smashed windshield on their Chevrolet that morning.

An Oldsmobile belonging to John W. Shockley and a Mercury Capri owned by Scott Slacum both received scratched windows. The cars were parked in the back yards.

A 1965 GMC truck owned by Francis Lewis, parked on Laws St.; had a water meter cover through the windshield. The cast iron cover was found inside the truck.

"Right through the exact center," said Lewis. "If he'd used a measuring rod he couldn't have hit closer to the center." The glass will cost about $300 to replace, he said. The loss of the use of the truck, which he uses for hauling, will cause further financial loss according to Lewis.

A piece of dirt-plugged water pipe, about 18 inches long, and a broken wooden slat, like the kind used on pallets, was found in a yard adjacent to the Shockleys. These were believed to be what was used in the vandalism.

A neighbor of one of the victims was awakened by a noise and saw someone running through the back yard. It was dark and there was no possibility of identification, however.

Bridgeville Police corporal John Shannon, an investigating officer, said that most people do not know how to call the town police when they need them.

"You should call 856-7011, which is the Sussex County Emergency Reporting Center. From there the proper authorities will be notified," said Shannon. "If you hear or see something that you can't be sure of, call the police. It may turn out to be a wild goose chase. But it might be that we can run up on somebody doing something like this."

Greenwood residents celebrate

Greenwood residents turned out Saturday to carve up and consume 100 lb. of barbecued beef, put away an untold number of oyster sandwiches and downed gallons of soda, lemonade, iced tea and ten cent beer. Between courses they browsed about a flea market or took part in a number of games. In the evening they would up their annual Greenwood Day celebration with a street dance for everyone, "...from eight to eighty", at Greenwood Plaza. Music was provided by The Thunderbirds.

Overall chairman for the event which has been an annual community fling since the town held a Bicentennial celebration was Lib Kraft. Lester Craft was chief cook in the preparation of all that barbecued beef. Among others who were instrumental were Charles and Mary Todd, Gladys Bowden (flea market and publicity) and Heddy Cannon (children's games - bike race, frog race, turtle race).

Norman Reed and Bobby Cannon were among those who handled the oyster frying; Gary and Tyson Cannon served up the homemade ice cream and pie.

Participating groups included the senior citizens, the VFW and Boy Scout Troop 186. The Scouts set up a clown dunk booth. Greenwood firemen volunteered as clowns.

In honor of the day and for those who wanted to wash down those oyster and barbecued beef sandwiches with something a little more potent than lemonade, Ray's Tavern, managed by Herb Dayton, served 10 cent beer from 9 a.m. until 6 p.m.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY, MR. WHEELER! The gentleman who gave Harringtonians many hours of pleasure celebrated his ninety-third birthday yesterday, July 20, with a dinner party given by his nephew, Brooks Marvel in Preston, Maryland. Mr. Wheeler still goes out every day to pull weeds in the park he created. He attributes his long life of active years to hard work. He's been on the job since age 14 when he signed on at the Greenbaum Bros. Cannery in Seaford for 4 cents an hour. Later on he went to work for the railroad at $33.30 per month, a good salary then. He was to move to Harrington, but to remain with the railroad for 46 years. At one time, he was a railroad employee, owned and operated Wheeler's Radio Store [where he sold the first battery radio, the first TV - an Atwater Kent with a 6 inch screen, and the first microwave oven in this area] wrote a weekly column for The Harrington Journal and of course ran Wheeler's Park. The story behind the park is celebrated in the poem offered in celebration of Mr. Wheeler's birthday by a friend - Bessie Austin Burdziak.

MEMORIES FOR A BIRTHDAY

by Bess Austin Burdziak

[in honor of W.A. Wheeler]

The man started cutting brush away, and vines and undergrowth.
He grubbed and dug stumps and roots and pulled away the briars.
He left the stately trees - the noble
and the straight,
For, in his mind, there was a plan --
And in this plan, each would have its place.

After awhile there was a spot -- all cleared there in the shade,
A moss-covered space, but big enough to hold a table and a bench he had made;
Where one could set one's self down,
and rest a bit at end of day,
And eat the snack that he had brought, afore evening took sun's light away.

But, there was other work to do - in man's "Survival Race".
A job, it was, with trains to guide, a store to run, a seeming endless pace.

Yet all the while, a dream was held, a steadfast and strong,
To shape and mold -- from Nature's gifts,
A place where happiness belonged.
Where there would be the song of birds, high up in the trees,
And forming patterns, like finest lace,
all smooth and green,
Would be the leaves.

This man's dream began to grow,
more and more, by leaps and bounds.
He pictured boys and girls at play
and Moms and Dads around.
And in this dream, he began to hear shouts and laughter, too,
And he even thought that he could smell, the scent of cooking food!
And so - why not? In days and months,
and just perhaps,
Before summer time again,
He'd have a seesaw, some swings,
even a merry-go-round for tots,
And a wading pool! For toddlers' feet - when summer days were hot.

But then, there rose the need, for more benches in the shade
For the older folk to sit and watch, their siblings as they played.
Then, he knew, he'd have to build a lot of other things, like tables,
And grills, on which to cook the lunches folks would bring.

Time passed by, a year or two and Spring Time came again.
And, there, on a rounded knoll, was a track, a tunnel - and a TRAIN!
The whistle blew, the children yelled and you could hear the bell, As through the tunnel, steamed the train, run by ENGINEER -- BILL!

But sun and fun didn't stop with little folk, for Teenagers loved it, too.
So, this man knew - to be fair to all,
there were bigger things to do.

So he nailed some slats to the trunk of an Oak,
Like rungs on a ladder - to a limb up high,

And round the limb he tied a rope, with knotted end,
To hold the feet, so young Tarzans
could fly.
There was a stream of water, with paths by its side;
A monkey cage, and donkeys from the West
For budding horsemen and little women to ride.

All this was done to make true a dream,
And show thankfulness for Nature
And the blessings it could bring.
NOW, there is a lot of pretty paper, and colored ribbons you wouldn't believe,

Stashed away in a cupboard, to wrap some gift I would want to give.
But the thing I'd like the most to do,
from the bottom of my heart -- Is to wrap up all the MEMORIES of the children-- who ever played at Wheeler's PARK!!!

But, there is no paper big enough,
Nor a ribbon as long, you see--
To wrap this box of Memories
For, W.A. --
WHO, NOW - IS NINETY-THREE!!

Local man drowns

A Harrington area man, Darrell W. Benton, 23, was the apparent victim of drowning over the weekend. His body was pulled from the waters of Lum's Pond late Sunday afternoon, and was pronounced dead on arrival at Wilmington Medical Center at 7:30 p.m.

Benton's body was spotted floating in five feet of water 150 feet from shore by life guards about ten minutes after his friends reported him missing. He had apparently tried to swim across the pond.

Area girls injured

Elizabeth "Beth" Reed, 15, of Harrington and Christina M. Sarro, 16, of near Houston, were injured Friday afternoon when the van which the older girl was driving rolled over as it was rounding a curve on Kent 388 three miles west of Milford.

According to police reports, the van failed to negotiate the curve and rolled over three times as Miss Sarro was trying to regain control.

Both girls were taken to Milford Memorial Hospital where Miss Sarro was treated and released for cuts and scrapes.

Miss Reed admitted to the hospital with a broken vertebra, was listed in fair condition on Saturday. By Sunday, all reports were that she was doing well. She was able to go home on Monday.

State Police said Miss Sarro was charged with inattentive driving.

Magnolia gets census count corrected

by Harry G. Farrow, Jr.

MAGNOLIA, DE - Mayor Shirley Jarrell received a letter this week from Bruce Chapman, who is the new Director of the Bureau of Census in Washington, D.C., reporting that the census count and the housing units had on a recount been lowered to reflect the correct respective numbers.

Through an error made in April 1980 when the boundaries of the Community of Magnolia reflected a rectangle rather than a circle, the count was made to be 700 people then living in Magnolia. This figure was such a sharp increase from the year before that. It placed the tiny hamlet in the distinct position of being the fastest growing community in the State of Delaware.

"It was a gross error. We didn't quite know at first what the problem was. We knew it was off, for we could only account for 327 people and 121 housing units. In addition to the error in the boundary lines, there was also some duplication of names on the tax records. There were some people who owned several properties and their names would appear several times on the tax rolls," said the Mayor.

The count by the Town has since been recorded as 327 people and 113 housing units "...which doesn't correspond with the one compiled with the federal government...." but still it is closer now to being correct than before, and that's what we are interested in, is getting the record right," said Mayor Shirley Jarrell.

The importance of all of this is that it points up the honesty of the town fathers of Magnolia. If the error had not been pointed out to the federal government it would have meant the Town would have gotten $7,000 (and no one would have known the difference) as opposed to $2400 which is what the Town will receive annually. For the work that Mayor Jarrell put into getting the matter corrected, she was given a vote of confidence last Wednesday night by her fellow Town commissioners to the extent that she was voted a salary. She promptly turned the salary down, but did reluctantly accept an expense account of $20 a month. It

Friends plug library into computer system

The Friends of the Harrington Public Library recently paid a $579 annual membership fee to plug the local library into the Central Delaware Library Consortium. The membership gives the library access to a computer terminal through which the resources of 25,000 member libraries are available. Through the librarian, the service can be used to help locate a book or information that might not be available locally but that is possibly obtainable elsewhere. The system is also used for cataloging. Thus the program offers and expands upon the services previously offered by the Delaware Rapid Inter-Library Loan (DRILL) program. The Harrington Public Library will have access to the computer through a terminal housed at the Dover Public Library. The terminal is to be shared by Dover, Harrington, Smyrna and the Corbit Callaway Library in Odessa.

Besides providing for membership in the Central Delaware Library Consortium, the Friends group has supported the library in a variety of ways. These have included a number of fund raising projects. One that will be ongoing this summer is the second-hand book sale held on the library lawn every Friday afternoon.

Wheels".

Thursday, July 29th will be a busy day at the Fair as it combines a number of separate promotions. It's Senior Citizen's Day and all 60 years of age or older will get into the Fair free and if they are 65 and register at a special Senior's booth beside the Fair's administration building before 6:00 p.m., they'll get into the grandstand show free and be eligible for special prizes.

Thursday is also Governor's Day and will see Governor duPont and members of his staff and most of the legislature converge on the fairgrounds in what has become an annual event since the days of late Governor, John G. Townsend. All former Governor's of the State are invited to the festivities and it is expected that most will be in attendance.

The Hardee's chain of family restaurants will again be involved in a carnival promotion on the 29th and will be offering coupons at each of their Delaware stores and all stores on the Eastern Shore of Maryland, that can be exchanged at the Fair with $5.00 for unlimited rides.

Hardee's is also sponsoring the Glenn Miller Orchestra show and while ticket supplies last, they are offering coupons that can be exchanged at the Fair for a free ticket to the Show. This is the first time that the Fair has had corporate sponsorship for one of their shows and they are anxious to see just how successful the venture will become.

Out on the fairgrounds, approximately 220 commercial and educational exhibitors have booked space months in advance of the Fair's opening. Food items run the gamut, as well as booths devoted to energy, agriculture and the home. The machinery display at this year's Fair has been estimated to represent an approximate cost of $5,000,000.00.

The Fair started 63 years ago as an agricultural fair and exhibition, as most fairs were started. While the grandstand entertainment and the glitter of the rides get most of the headlines, the agricultural hub of the Fair remains.

Letters-

To the Editor:

Mr. and Mrs. Homer Sherwood of Harrington deserve many thanks for being so caring and thoughtful citizens. Recently, a senior citizen got confused and tried to make his doctor's appointment in Milford on his bicycle. He rode from Bridgeville to Harrington and got lost. Fortunately, the house he chose to stop at for help belonged to Mr. and Mrs. Sherwood. They contacted the doctor who then contacted me and I went to pick him up. While he waited for me they gave him his lunch and a cool drink and made him comfortable.

This shows me that there are still thoughtful, considerate and caring people in this world who will help a stranger in need. To Mr. and Mrs. Sherwood, my sincere thanks for being so nice.

Sincerely,
Diane Yoder,
Executive Director

THE PROMISED LAND

While I would agree with the sentiments penned by a friend regarding the Republican Party's present handling of the national economy, it is important not to forget the erstwhile economic message sent by a recently departed Democrat from 1600 Pennsylvania Ave.

If my friend is right that Moses said to the children of Israel, "Pick up your shovels, mount your asses and camels, and I shall lead you to the Promised Land", and FDR said, nearly 5,000 years later, "Lay down your shovels; sit on your butt, light up a camel, this IS the Promised Land", then it was Jimmy Carter who, just five years ago, stole your shovel, kicked your butt, raised the price of camels and morgaged the Promised Land before Reagan taxed your shovel, sold your camel, kicked your butt again and told you there is no Promised Land!

What I really want to know is whether Moses, who started this whole thing, was a Republican or a Democrat? (Name withheld by the request of both political parties)

C.A.T. scores

1. Each school will have to study its individual scores to determine areas of strength and weaknesses as compared to total district, State and national results.

2. In general we, as a district, have made a significant improvement as compared to previous years.

3. Some of our areas of strength include:

- a. phonic analysis,
  - b. structural analysis (a & b are skills which help in recognizing words),
  - c. math computation - division,
  - d. reference skills and
  - e. language expression.
4. Some of our weak areas include:
- a. reading vocabulary,
  - b. spelling,
  - c. language mechanics - punctuation in particular,
  - d. mathematics computations - especially addition, subtraction and multiplication,
  - e. mathematics concept and application and
  - f. graphs.

5. Our new math curriculum will hopefully correct our weak areas. The second year of our curriculum revision cycle calls for a look at language arts and spelling.

The Lake Forest results reflect the average Delaware student performance which was above the national grade levels. Local C.A.T. scores also reflect the tendency state-wide to achieve higher levels in mathematics and language than in reading as well as for scores to be higher in primary grades than at the junior high and high school levels. In most Delaware school districts, score drop between eighth grade and eleventh grade. Attitudes toward the test, fewer math courses taken in high school and the gap in state testing in which high school freshmen and sophomores are not tested have been among the reasons cited for the difference. Lake Forest is now administering the C.A.T. to its ninth and tenth graders, a fact that may make a difference in future eleventh grade comparisons.

Commenting on the C.A.T. results, Lake Forest Superintendent Dr. Edward Powell was pleased with the fact that "...in no place was there no significant growth." Powell said the tests are important for at least two reasons: keeping track of the districts' growth or academic progress and the ongoing process of evaluating its curriculum in terms of what its students need to be learning. He pointed to the item analysis portion of Gilbert's report as a valuable tool in determining what teachers need to be teaching. Of this year's results and the potential for the future, Powell said "Somebody told me we couldn't be #1...I don't believe it."

In 1783 it took Thomas Jefferson 5 days to travel by public transportation from Philadelphia to Baltimore.

Summer is a wonderful season and I enjoy it, but I would say that there is one thing against it, and that's the bugs. Summer is real "buggy", but if you think about it a bit, they are God's small creatures and they are interesting, too.....just so they don't crawl down my neck or in my hair!

When I was a little girl growing up on a farm, summer brought us extremely tiny black bugs that arrived about wheat cutting time in June. We called them "harvesters". You could scarcely feel them wiggle across your arms, but having them around was kind of miserable on a hot, sticky day. I never see harvesters any more.

But we have a new bug this summer that I have never seen in these parts before. They seem to appear in the living room at night. They are a bit larger than a firefly and they are somehow repulsive looking. They mostly crawl, but they can fly, and they are very hard to kill. Fly swatters tell them nothing or a slap of the hand. You have to get your foot on them or squeeze between a tissue. Ugh!

When I sit in the yard chairs under the maple trees, various, extremely minute crawlers get on me. They are so small you can barely see them with the naked eye and yet I wonder about their life style. Tiny as they are, they live and move and carry with them that mysterious spark of life given to all living creatures that move. Truly we do not understand it but we have reverence for it.

On the doorstep recently I found one of the huge beetles that we call June bugs. I called Garith to see. He was fat and brown and with, as Garith said, "little horns on his forehead like a creature from outer space." And, like many others I've seen he had gotten himself turned over on his back and could not get up. After Garith and I watched him a bit, we turned him right side up and sent him on his way.

And then, of course, we spoke about the crickets before. I think they are to the insect world as the blue jays are to the bird world....they have a bad reputation! But, I'm sure in the beginning, when the world was created perfect, they both had their rightful place.

And the fireflies make magic on a summer evening. Children have always run around catching them in bottles and jars, and I'm sure I did my share of that, too, but I try to get the grandchildren to see it is such a waste to destroy beauty.

Soon we will have lima beans in the garden, and if I am able to pick some this summer, I shall enjoy the praying mantis. They seem to love the lima bean patch.

And maybe I'll get to renew my acquaintance with the big, gorgeous yellow and black garden spider. They tell me she is harmless, but I am not very trusting when it comes to spiders, so I stand off and just enjoy her beauty and her intricate, lovely web.

The Japanese beetles are gnawing away at the roses in spite of all our efforts. When I was a wee girl the rose beetles ate our roses. We called them rose bugs. I do not see them any more. So, enjoy the summer and get to know the bugs.

Senior Center

by Dorothy Graham

Smile! From listening comes wisdom, and from speaking repentance. Italian Proverbs.

Reverend and Mrs. Watson of Baptist Church Harrington were leaders of Bible Study Monday morning at the Center. Reverend Watson opened with a prayer. Mrs. Watson was at the piano for all the favorite hymns. The topic of discussion was "Sanctification." Present at the very devotional hour was: Florence Minner, Gladys Hill, Roxanne, Marion Brown, Mary Sapp, Elma Thorpe, Mamie Adams, Anna Mae Short, Bertha Dean, Juanita McLain, Tony Perrone, Etzel McCready, Thelma Legates, Lili McBride, Rev. Hackett, Frances Wright, Mary & Earl Nelson, Amy Poynter, Ethel Holden, Clara Judy, Mildred Vincent, Cecil and Sylvia Meredith Rev. Watson closed with a very stirring prayer.

Members Meeting - July 12, 1982 was called to order by Pres. Maurice Adams. Pledge of allegiance prayer by Sylvia Meredith, minutes of last meeting by Sec. "Andy" Anderson. Financial report by Merle Roth. Both approved as read. Old bills paid, display cabinet discussed, Mr. Brown offered to build it. Picnic at Killen's Wednesday, plans made for that. Motion to tune piano was made and seconded. Ask about people who are ill. President Maurice Adams adjourned at 1:28 p.m.

"I'm sorry I Made You Cry," well honestly, Ina, you and the Jolly Timers do anything but that for all of us every Tuesday morning when you call the kitchen band to practice. There were twenty present.

Irene Legates brought in several delightful colors of day lilies. She has 54 varieties, all absolutely gorgeous!

Picnic at Killen's. Oh, me, oh my, what a success. Barbequed chicken and every goody you can think of. Bingo was played and winners were extra rewarded. Fun for all who went.

Big, lucious red tomatoes, lettuce, tender yellow and green squash, cucumbers, cabbage, peppers and some potatoes have all been brought into the Center to be shared. Isn't that nice of the folks. Some of those vegetables comes with new recipes, too. It is interesting to find so many ways to fix squash. I like it any way. Then you take cabbage, well, honey, if you want to fill up and yet empty out all the same time, make yourself some cabbage soup. It is good, too!

Trip to Tilghman's Island Friday, sure the bus trip alone with friends was pleasant, then, of course the fantastic meal! Those left at home were busy doing whatever pleased us most. Pool, ceramics, bingo, TV, checkers, bridge, you name it, it is available.

Had a grand and glorious time Thursday with Mabel Jean Donovan showing us how to make beautiful padded picture frames. Watch your calendars for a repeat. Everyone liked it so much. Those that participated, 20, will have some for sale at the Bazaar this fall. Thank you so much Mabel Jean and Abby!

Best wishes to all. Thanks all volunteers! A good listener is not only popular everywhere, but after a while, he knows something. Wilson Mizner. FAITH!

Anne's Kitchen

I'm having a wonderful time with all those fresh summer vegetables. Not only are they healthful and delicious, but they are beautiful to look at. One of my favorites is string bean salad. Use the most tender beans, French cut wine vinegar, Italian style is best. If them and don't overcook. Vegetables should never be overcooked, especially when we are fortunate enough to have them fresh.

If you happen to have a boiled or baked white potato left from last night's dinner, you can put it to good use in this salad. Peel and dice and toss right into the salad.

STRING BEAN SALAD
1. Wash and cut string beans. Boil or steam; drain and place in a bowl.

2. Mince ¼ clove of garlic and add to beans together with ¼ teaspoon oregano, salt and pepper to taste and 2 or 3 leaves of fresh, sweet basil.

3. Add ½ cup olive oil and ¼ cup red wine vinegar, Italian style is best. If you have the potatoes, toss them in also.

I prefer to chill slightly before serving to allow blending of spices and oil and vinegar. Goes very well with broiled meats and fish. Stores very well and you can make use of any leftovers by bringing it back to room temperature. Just set outside of refrigerator about half hour before you are ready to serve.

ENJOY!

Country style banking, like country style anything, is based on a set of tried and true principles like confidence, trust, understanding...the important things. Country style banking means knowing the importance of farms and ranches and the special needs of the rural community. The Bank of a Lifetime is a farmer's best friend. Asbury United Methodist Church

This past Sunday, Asbury welcomed a former pastor, Rev. Olin J. Shockley from Ocean City, Maryland as its guest speaker. Rev. Shockley used as his text, Genesis 28:10-22 relating to a portion of Jacob's life, applying it to our daily lives. Special music was rendered by Dale Jarrell, son of Donald and Marlene Jarrell. Everyone attending was greatly blessed by the message of these fine gentlemen. Our Church School is 10:00 - 10:45

Special music will be provided by Jill Oakley. We will be receiving "Maintenance Fund Sunday" during the worship hour. We encourage everyone to be present in the church of your choice each and every Sunday.

United Methodist Pennsula Confernece

A "missional trek" beginning this month across the Delmarva Peninsula will have an impact on thousands of lives, as United Methodists begin to search for people in need of help.

Known as Trek III, the project will involve every United Methodist church in the Peninsula Conference, and some neighboring churches of other denominations as well. Teams of five to 12 persons from local churches have been selected, to begin the process of interviewing knowledgeable persons in their communities to collect opinions about pressing needs not being met at present, or being met inadequately. The information will be catalogued and matched to the abilities of the churches and church members to deal with them.

In every community, people will be actively searching for ways of helping those who need it. They will be walking, driving, taking pictures, keeping records of impressions and conversations with such persons as storekeepers, teachers, welfare recipients, etc., who live in these communities.

"It is my concern that we evangelize in every nook and cranny of the Delmarva Peninsula," says Rev. Felton E. May, director of the Peninsula

United Methodist Conference Council on Ministries, "and to spotlight the tremendous plight of people living in horrendous conditions such as "squatter towns," unsafe, unhealthy migrant camps and inadequate facilities for the aged."

August will be spent organizing for action, determining how best to meet the challenges they have found, perhaps sharing resources and talents with other churches.

A goal of at least $2 million has been set by the conference, to be raised through a program called REACH, and these funds will be used to finance church and community projects selected from the wealth of information collected.

Two other missional treks are being conducted this summer: Trek I involves 30 members of the conference who left July 6 to visit Sierra Leone and Liberia in West Africa, collecting information on the needs they find in those countries. Trek II is a similar investigation by conference members into Appalachia and the island country of Haiti.

Reports from the three treks will be heard at a special session of Peninsula Annual Conference in Dover, Sept. 25.

YOUNG SWIMMER - Two and a half year old Alyss Lange gets some encouragement.....takes the big plunge.....paddles it out all the way to the end of the pool.....and gets fished out to a rousing reception. She was the youngest member of the New Wave [the Lake Forest Community Swim Team] to participate in last Thursday's competition against the Seaford Golf and Country Club.

New Wave drops 2 meets as it swims through tough early season

Lake Forest swimmers sharpened their skills as they took on two of the area's strongest competitors to get through the tough opening part of their season. The New Wave Team was defeated at home on Thursday by the Seaford Golf and Country Club (370-189) and again on Monday at Dover by the Kent Swim Club (400-149).

Despite the substantial losses, Coaches Murray Swain and Kathy Monroe continue to be pleased with the young team's performance and progress. Coach Swain said "...every swimmer has improved" over the two meets.

Against Seaford Golf and Country, the New Wave swimmers narrowed their margin from a 400 point loss last year to 181 points last week. This was against a team that had previously won 54 out of 55 meets.

On Monday the New Wave faced the team that had defeated Seaford Golf and Country a week before. The Lake Forest swimmers lost 400-149. But they were still able to home their swimming abilities against the fine competition.

The pool situation on Monday, according to Lake Forest Aquatics Coordinator was also somewhat different. Berry says the Lake Forest pool with gutter and deck systems designed to reduce wave reaction within the lanes is possibly the "...fastest this side of the Naval Academy in Annapolis." Lake Forest swimmers, he said, did not have quite that streamlined a situation at the Kent Swim Club.

Team members as a whole performed quite well.

Lance Hogsten, an experienced swimmer recruited from the Dover area, has won five of his last six events and has spurred New Wave swimmers in the 18 and under class to more intense efforts.

Brian Hughes continues to record his best times.

Danny Haines, in the boys 14 and under class, continued to be "...on a tear". He lost for the first time at the Kent meet, but only by a tenth of a second.

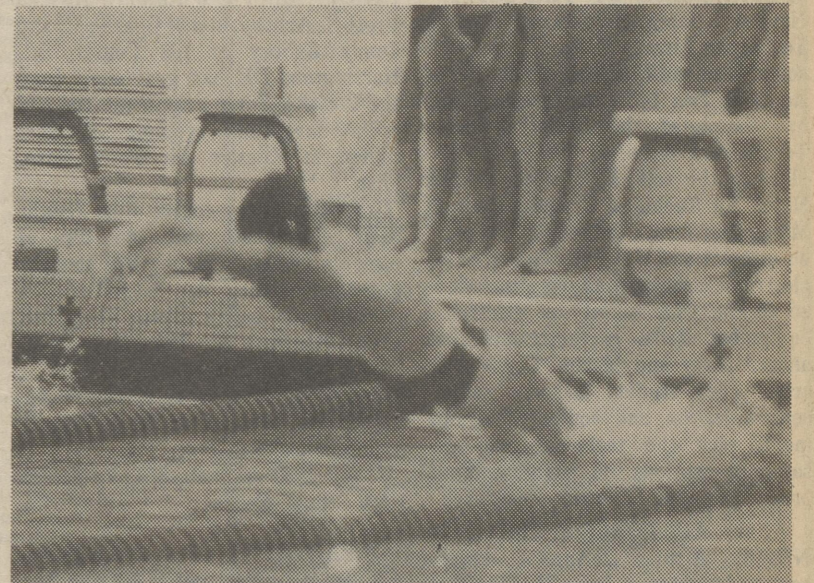

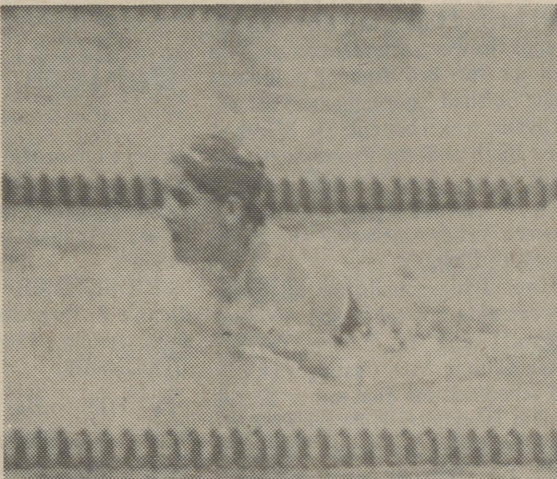

Chris Reid, Robbie Bates, and Jill Blades are among others who are also doing very well.

With the toughest part of its schedule behind, Lake Forest's New Wave should be ready to take on its remaining competitors, most of whom will be more in its class in size and experience. Not easy at all will be Ocean Pine and the Maple Dale Country Club which will come to Lake Forest for a tri-meet this Thursday, July 22. The meet begins at 6 p.m.

As her New Wave teammates roar encouragement from pool's end..... Heather Haines pushes toward the end of the breast stroke lap in the 100 meter individual medley. She won the event.

At the sound of the gun a New Wave back stroker takes off.

Swimmers surface toward the first strokes in a 50 meter event.

A woman remarked "Since taking B vitamins, I know what I went into the next room to get, or turned around to do, or what I'm going after when I get into the car and start driving." (Sound familiar.) "It's really a thrill to know I'm not losing my mind and that all I needed was vitamins and minerals - mainly B vitamins."
