It's Murphy's law again as Conrail train derails

by Barbara C. Brown

The rail train carrying 1500-1800 feet of continuously welded rail was due in several days, Monday probably. It arrived on Friday at 6:30 p.m. Once here, it was supposed to block crossings for a half hour to 45 minutes. Try two hours or more. For Conrail on Friday, it was Murphy's law all over again as a rail train arrived in Harrington ahead of schedule and promptly derailed, causing crossings at Clark Street and Delaware Avenue to be blocked for an extended period of time. Conrail officials (not to mention the Harrington police and fire departments) were probably nodding their heads in agreement with the legendary or fictitious Murphy who supposedly ruled, "If any thing can go wrong, it will."

The train was the first of several due in this vicinity to bring cars bearing lengths of continuously welded rail which should mean great improvements for the local lines. Trainmaster Joe Morris, speaking for Conrail locally, said the train had not been expected in on Friday, and especially not at the decidedly inconvenient hour of 6:30 p.m. with people rushing to the banks before closing time. However, once it was apparent the train would arrive, the fire company and the local police were notified.

The fire company had just a brief time to get an engine and an ambulance across the tracks before the crossings closed. It took a few minutes more before local police were able to arrive to direct traffic. Consequently, there were a few bewildered motorists before things started moving again.

Once the train was here, there was supposed to be a 30 to 45 minute delay while it was unloaded. But then the car closest to the engine derailed as a piece of the rail to be unloaded slipped off and wedged under a wheel. That happened at 7:01 p.m. Before a section of the welded rail was severed with a torch, the rail taken out from under the wheel and the car put back on the tracks, it was 8:45 p.m. By 9:30 or so the Clark Street crossing had been cleared as the unloading proceeded across Liberty Street. The Center Street crossing gates were down for most of the time because of the automatic signals. But traffic was directed through them.

The East Street crossing was apparently blocked by a section of the rail and, for a time at least, was unprotected because a signal did not function. Bob Taylor of the Harrington Fire Company arrived on the scene to find a lady with her car pressing against the section of rail that stretched over the crossing. She wondered why she was making no progress.

Actually, it was the local police and fire department who reacted quickly in Traffic came to a halt in Harrington Friday evening as a Conrail train bearing 1500-1800 feet of continuously welded rail moved into town.

Local police [above] and fire officials were called out to reroute traffic and clear up the confusion.

Crossings in Harrington were blocked for an extended time after part of the rail being unloaded slipped off and became wedged under a derailed car.

Historical Society gives go ahead on block house

by Barbara C. Brown

The Greater Harrington Historical Society last Thursday gave its board of directors approval to go ahead with plans to lease the block house from Conrail. The only stipulation was that the terms of the lease, in the words of society member Arthur "Buck" Cahall be "...no worse" than those mentioned in correspondence with Conrail and discussed at last week's general membership meeting. The Historical Society Board of Directors and Conrail officials, including Al Arnett, Assistant President for Governmental Affairs will sit down in a private session this evening to work out those terms. If all goes well, the block house, which once housed the signal and switching operations controlling the movement of trains through Harrington, will be preserved to become a working model of one aspect of the town's past. Closed by Conrail, last December, it had been slated for destruction.

Conrail's terms so far mentioned are [Continued on page 8]

Craftspeople sign up for 4th Heritage Day

With the 63rd State Fair fading into the past, Harringtonians can count their pleasant memories, relax a little as they soak up the rest of the summer and look forward to the Fourth Annual Heritage Day Celebration which has been planned for Saturday September 18. A big part of the festivities, as always, will be the demonstration and display of a number of crafts that have been practiced in the past and have been revived in the present. Some of the crafts may be more modern in origin.

Grace Welch, who is chairman of this year's craft show, reports that a number of familiar faces as well as several new ones have signed up to be a part of the 1982 celebration.

Among those who will be new to the Heritage Day Crafts Show if not to this area are Marie Messick and Dorothy Collins who will display antique dolls. Bev Turner with acrylic painting and Dot Hall with china painting.

Familiar since the very first crafts day are Carroll and Mildred Welch with their soap making demonstration, Jehu and Lillian Camper with their world of carving in miniature, Calvin Minner with his berry basket making operation and Eddie Mae Cooper who will have a quilting display.

Those who visit on Heritage Day can also expect to see Alexander Vogel making farm baskets and Charlie Hrupsa showing how a variety of brooms are made. Joe Ward will demonstrate cross cut sawing (and probably offer some first hand experience to volunteers); Claude Neeman will be here again to demonstrate chair caning.

Cyclist avoids dog, breaks hip

Blaine E. Lord, 28, of Harrington suffered a broken hip on Sunday after he swerved his motorcycle to avoid hitting a dog. Lord was admitted to Milford Memorial Hospital where he was still listed in fair condition on Monday.

State police said Lord was eastbound on Delaware Avenue near the Raughley Hill Road intersection when he swerved to avoid hitting the dog. In doing so, he lost control of the cycle which hit the north curb, went down on its side and slid approximately 250 feet before stopping. Lord was scraped up and suffered a broken hip.

His passenger, Donna Pleasanton, also of Harrington, suffered scrapes for which she was treated and released at Milford Memorial Hospital.

The mishap occurred about 1:15 a.m. on Sunday.

Bridgeville endures weekend traffic tie-ups [Part I of II]

by Norris J. Workman

Bridgeville withstood another traffic assault last weekend as beach lovers motored in caravan-like fashion through town. Every weekend during the summer tourist season, Bridgeville's streets become possibly the most traveled in Delaware.

What happens on a given summer weekend when the sun is shining and beach goers are on the move? Thursday night, all day Friday and Saturday, Market and Main Streets are almost uncrossable by automobile or pedestrian as thousands of people head toward Lewes, Rehoboth and other recreation areas.

Bridgeville becomes like the waist of an hour-glass, choking the flow of traffic to a trickle, causing backups involving hundreds of cars loaded with travel-worn, sometimes grouchy people.

Bridgeville's citizenry is sorely inconvenienced by the clogging of its main thoroughfare. It is possible to sit at an intersection for many minutes waiting for a break in the traffic.

The fun-and-sunners are sorely inconvenienced by the traffic tie-ups that sometimes seem to cause them to creep by feet and inches. The traffic flows freely for the home-bound travelers, but neither east nor west bound traffic appears to be a respecter of home-towners.

What causes the "Hour-glass Syndrome" and what are the effects and the product? Is there a solution?

Chesapeake Bay Bridge traffic splits where route 404 butts up to U.S. route 50. Route 50 takes many water-lovers

Wilmire reappointed in Frederica

by Barbara C. Brown

The Frederica Town Council last Wednesday reappointed Tom Wilmire to serve the unexpired term of former Mayor Ezekiel Dill. Wilmire, who had been appointed by the Council after Dill's resignation last fall, had been sidelined because of a legal question over the manner in which seats vacated between elections are filled.

A town resident had questioned the method of filling such vacancies by appointment, implying that a special election should be held. After consulting its attorney and a more specific look at the town charter which was silent on the subject, the Council went through the state legislature to get the power to fill vacancies by appointment. The appropriate charter change was approved and recently received the signature Governor duPont.

The reappointment of Wilmire leaves unfilled the vacancy left by Dan

Griffith, who succeeded Dill as Mayor. Citing increasing family and professional responsibilities, Griffith resigned in the spring. After his resignation, the Council tapped member Helen Powers to serve as mayor, but so far has not acted to name a replacement for him on the Council. Thus the five-member council is still one member short. Other Council members in addition to Mrs. Powers and Wilmire

Bowers elects a mayor, two councilmen

by Barbara C. Brown

48% of the residents of Bowers Beach turned out Saturday to elect a mayor and two council members. There are 198 residents; this year 96 voted in contrast to the four who showed up at the polls in 1981.

Frederick Eubanks, a retired Air Force officer who says he and his family "fell in love with Bowers" while he was stationed at Dover Air Force Base, received 90 of the 96 votes. He replaces outgoing Mayor James Parker of J.P.'s Wharf. Parker elected not to run for a second term. The new mayor is an insurance agent with Home Beneficial Life Insurance Company in Dover. He retired from the air force after 27 years in 1979 with the rank of E8, equivalent to a Master Sergeant. He and his family moved to Bowers in October 1979 and have since been active in the community, particularly in the Maritime Museum and the church.

William Poulin, owner of Frenchie's Dock in Bowers, will replace George Boone on the Town Council, while Arthur Penrose will keep his seat for another two years. Poulin got 80 votes in his bid to replace Boone who decided not to run for reelection. The incumbent Penrose had also decided not to run, but he agreed to serve after he received 47 write-in votes.

Three other persons received one write-in vote each for mayor. They were John Moyer, Bill Moore and Arthur Penrose. There was also a scattering of write-in votes for town council distributed among eleven different people as follows: George Boone, 11; Jane Boone, 5; John Moyer, 1; John Parker, 2; Margaret Shaver, 1; Sullivan (no first name given), 2; Casper Powell, 1; Wayne Irons, 1; Johnny Gosch, 1; Mike Gosch, 1, and R. Barlow, 1.

The Bowers Town Council will hold its regular monthly meeting tonight at 8 p.m. in the fire hall. At that time the mayor and two council members elected Saturday will be sworn in.

City will put up maintenance shop

Acting on a report of its building committee, the Harrington City Council Monday night voted to advertise for bids on the construction of a pre-engineered steel maintenance building to be erected on city property near the water tower. The cost, estimated to be $28,000, will be covered by fines collected by the police in excess of those estimated in the budget. Sealed bids for the proposed project will be opened at City Hall at 7 p.m. on August 26.

-Water System, Phase I-

The council also voted Monday to spend $2,000 already budgeted to enact Phase I of a complete review of and projection for the city's water system. The $2,000 will go to the Salisbury engineering firm of to map out the complete system now in existence.

Mayor Al Mann explained this first step will provide the information necessary before the Council can sit down to project needs and set priorities for the future. That would be Phase II.

In a related matter, the city will ask the local firm of Richardson and Associates to do a complete chemical analysis of its water.

In other business the Harrington City Council:

--made Norma Short City Manager after eliminating her job as City Administrator. The position of City Administrator was created to circumvent a charter requirement that the City Manager be a town resident. That requirement has been eliminated by the state legislature. Mrs. Short's period of "unemployment" between Council motions lasted less than five minutes.

--set Monday, August 23, from 7 to 8 p.m. at City Hall as the time and place for public hearings on the demolition of four buildings deemed unsafe.

--heard the city spent $150 mowing a property on Peck Avenue owned by the Easter Seal Society. If the society does not reimburse the city, the matter will go to the town's attorney.

Bits & Pieces

A recent speedster paid his traffic ticket of $47.25 but expressed his displeasure in a visible form officials at Court 6 in Harrington are not likely to forget. It was paid by a check written on pink toilet paper and drawn on the Blue Ball National Bank in Blue Ball, Pennsylvania. The court called on David Jones, Executive Vice President and Cashier of the First National Bank of Harrington who said it was legal. It was processed by hand and sent directly to the bank in Blue Ball. The court received its money. Officials at the court said the check also contained some descriptive language which could not be printed. They confirmed that it was the most unusual form of payment they had ever received. The closest runnerup was a fine paid all in pennies.

The Greater Harrington Historical Society has planned a Harvest Dinner for October 2. It will be held in the Collins Hall at Asbury United Methodist Church. Roast beef and dumplings, ham, and homemade pie are on the menu. Watch The Harrington Journal for more details.

Mrs. Amelia D. McSweeney has done a painting showing the Harrington Railroad station, the block house and the old Reese Theater in a perspective looking south along the tracks as a train is arriving. Included in the foreground of the painting is a dog representative of the one which used to await the arrival of the train bringing his railroad engineer master home. The painting was displayed at last Thursday's meeting of The Greater Harrington Historical Society.

spite of short notice. Once the initial confusion was cleared up, there seemed to be no long delays as motorists were deflected around the crossings. Joe Morris, speaking again for Conrail, was quick to express the company's appreciation for the cooperation of police and fire departments. He said their reaction helped make a difficult situation easier. Morris also voiced Conrail's apologies to the community for the inconvenience caused by the situation on Friday. The continuously welded rail line, originally planned to stop south of Harrington's Clark Street crossing, is now to go through town. Once installed it should make for better and safer rail passage.

In addition to the rail line, there is word that crossings in Harrington are going to be improved. There are reports from various sources that the state is ready to supply funds for rebuilding or repair of those crossings, notably the one on Clark Street which is sometimes a jolting experience. If those reports prove true, there will be temporary traffic inconvenience as the work gets underway, but smoother traveling once it is completed.

Murphy notwithstanding, Conrail officials are probably counting on another adage, "All's well that ends....."

Frederica Council

are Virginia Simpler and Rosalie Cline. -Residents Complain of Vandalism- A number of Frederica residents appeared at last Wednesday's meeting to complain about late night vandalism and noise which has apparently increased with the summer months. Windows have been broken and a swimming pool has been ripped up. In addition residents in the downtown area complain of noise continuing into the late night and early morning hours with young people and others out on the streets.

The Council will ask the Delaware State Police with whom it contracts for 20 hours a week of coverage for more protection during the late night rather than the daytime hours. However, the coverage is provided by off-duty officers who volunteer for the extra assignment and are likely to come when it is convenient or possible for them. Frederica does not have its own police officer.

BEST GUESS - Tammy Rust, center, came the closest when she estimated there were 739 jelly beans in the jar at the Harrington Public Library. The actual total was 736. Librarian Chris Hayward, left, staged the guessing game as an aside to the library's summer reading program. She says the next best guess, 715 came from a young lady who counted down the wide of the jar and across the bottom and then multiplied. Tammy says she just guessed. Her prize? .....Anybody want a jelly bean? .....Kit Kelmchusky, right, who is visiting the Haywards, looks like he'd say, "Yes."

★ 27th ANNUAL ALL STAR FOOTBALL GAME ★

Blue/Gold All Star Game set for Aug. 14

Seventy outstanding high school senior football players will lock horns on the gridiron at 2 p.m. Saturday, Aug. 14, in the 27th annual Blue/Gold All Star Football Game. Pre-game activities start at 1 p.m.

Held to benefit the Delaware Foundation for Retarded Children (DFRC), the game will take place at the University of Delaware Stadium, Route 896, Newark. Players, cheerleaders and queen candidates representing every high school in the state will participate. Also in attendance will be nearly 170 All Star Children and the hundreds of volunteers who make the game and its supporting activities possible.

Game tickets are $5 per person.

The Blue squad has won 16 All Star Games; the Gold, 9. Last year's contest ended in an 8-8 tie.

The game will be preceded by a parade featuring more than 80 marching units, bands and floats. Scheduled to begin at 11 a.m. at the Newark High School parking lot, the parade will proceed west onto Main St. from Tyre Ave. and terminate at the Stone Building parking lot. Participants include the All Star Band, the Nur Temple Shrine, Miss Delaware, Lt. Gov. Mike Castle, U.S. Sen. Bill Roth and the All Star Children.

Earlier that morning, the third annual Blue/Gold All Star 10K will find the streets of Newark filled with runners of all ages. The 6.2-mile run will start at 8:30 a.m. at the university stadium. Advance entry fee is $5.

Last year's contest netted more than $65,000 bringing total monies raised by the game to more than $1.3 million. Each year the proceeds are distributed by DFRC as seed money for various programs, equipment and facilities geared to the education of the state's mentally retarded citizens.

How game participants are selected

All Star Game participants are chosen on the basis of personality and maturity as well as physical ability.

In December, all head coaches in the state are asked to submit a list of candidates from among their graduating football players. In January and February, the coaches meet as separate Blue/Gold groups with their respective game head coach. Game films are screened, the merits of each player discussed, and 25 players are picked for each squad. Those selected then are notified and asked to participate. If a player declines for some reason, replacements are selected by the head coach.

Blue players represent schools north of Newark to the Pennsylvania state line. The Gold team covers schools in Kent and Sussex Counties, and Newark and points south in New Castle County.

Once a player has accepted the invitation to play, he is requested to nominate a queen candidate. The All Star queen candidates model clothes at fashion shows in July -- one upstate and one downstate -- and are chosen on the basis of their charm, poise and maturity.

Cheerleader nominations are supplied by the various cheerleader coaches at each school. The nominees are asked to reply in writing why they would like to participate in the game. The final selection is made by the cheerleader coordinator on the All Star operating committee.

Fleming/Hemphill lead All Star squads

At the helm of the 1982 Blue team is Joe Hemphill, St. Elizabeth High School's head football coach for 10 years. Assisting him will be Alexis I. du Pont head coach Bill O'Connor and Frank Aiello, St. Elizabeth's assistant coach.

The Gold team will be led by Lake Forest head coach Jim Fleming. Fleming has coached at Lake Forest for seven years. Assistant coaches for the Gold team are Ron Dickerson, head coach at Seaford High School, and Bill Falasco, assistant coach at Lake Forest.

Meet the 1982 All Star Children

Representing Delaware's mentally retarded children at this year's Blue-Gold All Star Football Game will be Teresa Breslin and Michael Shipe.

Teresa, 15, the Blue All Star Child, is the daughter of Anita Breslin of Wilmington. Teresa attends the Meadowood School. Her "buddy" is Diana Bair of Tatnall.

Michael, 14, the Gold All Star Child, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Shipe of Lewes. He attends the Howard T. Ennis School. Michael's "buddy" is Lionell Maul of Cape Henlopen High School.

"We play that they may learn"

In a nutshell, that's what 27 years of Blue/Gold All Star Football Games are all about: young people and adults giving their time and talents so that Delaware's mentally retarded citizens can have the educational programs, facilities and equipment they so richly deserve.

To date, more than $1.3 million has been raised to defray expenses ranging from music therapy programs to scholarships. Funds allocated by the Delaware Foundation for Retarded Children have helped establish two "All Star Houses" -- one in Wilmington and one in Georgetown -- that provide an independent living experience for 18, 19 and 20-year-olds.

Also made possible through All Star Game monies are the Golden Opportunity Center, a Dover facility offering job skill training; the All Star Rehabilitation Building at the Hospital for the Mentally Retarded in Georgetown; and Independent Living, Inc., an apartment complex in Claymont maintained by handicapped persons in their 20's.

The Hand in Hand Program

Helping each other. That's what the All Star Game is all about. In 1974, this goal took on added meaning through formation of the Hand in Hand program.

Generated from the long-time symbol of the Delaware Foundation for Retarded Children -- a football player and retarded child walking hand in hand -- the program assigns each player, cheerleader and queen candidate a retarded child as his or her special "buddy" for several months preceding the game.

Hand in Hand buddies meet early in the year at parties held especially for them. Picnics, the opening day of camp and other activities help them get to know each other better and better.

For most of the high school seniors, Hand in Hand is an emotional experience that brings the true meaning of the game close to their hearts. For most of the children, it is an eagerly anticipated activity that only they can truly appreciate. No wonder many buddies stay in touch with their special friends months and even years after the final whistle blows.

Greenwood

by Pat Hatfield 349-4255

Library News release: Our Greenwood Library was dedicated on Aug. 26, 1978. During the week of August 23-28 we will celebrate four years of service to the people of the Greenwood area. Special activities will be happening during this week and you are urged to mark your calendar to visit your library during this time.

For those of you who are interested in stamp collecting, either as a beginner or a full-fledged collector, a program planned for Monday, Aug. 23 with Mr. Carl Hill will be of interest. Mr. Hill will be present at 3 p.m. to talk with you regarding the hobby of stamp collecting.

For the younger patrons, there will be a story hour on August 24, also at 3 p.m. when Mrs. June Reed will offer an entertaining time for the children. Bring in your children for this hour of fun.

Mrs. Dolores Batson will be at the library on Thursday, Aug. 26, to present an informative and interesting program entitled, "You and Your Horse". We know that there are lots of horse lovers among the patrons of the library, and here is a chance for you to secure more information about caring for and working with your horse. Mark your calendar now.

There has been much interest shown in learning about Greenwood and its earlier days. The library is fortunate to be able to present a program regarding Earlier Days in Greenwood on Tuesday evening, Aug. 24 at 7:30 p.m. Mrs. Mary Cahall is arranging what promises to be a most interesting evening. Come, bring your old photographs of the town, and learn more about the earlier times in Greenwood. Old-timers will enjoy remembering and our new residents will learn about their town. Remember, August 24, 7:30 p.m.

The library is also sponsoring the first annual Photography Contest during Anniversary Week. Everyone who takes photographs is invited to submit their snapshots for the contest and for display at the library during the week of August 23-28. More information may be secured by visiting the library or by calling 349-5309. By your participation you can make this activity something to talk about. Support your library in this endeavor.

Also during Anniversary Week, books returned between August 23-28 will be fine free. This will be a good time to check your book shelves and closets to see if you have any long overdue books. Bring them back. The library needs them.

Report from Greenwood United Methodist Church: Some of our Greenwood Youth attended the Lighthouse Ministries Christ Music Skate Night at the new Milford Skating Center on Monday

Gab Fest

by Pat Hatfield 349-4255

Trying to savor each wonderful day of life is trying to get the brass ring on the merry-go-round. And that dates, me, too! I don't suppose that there are brass rings to grab anymore for a free ride.

I can't believe that August has arrived. August...the drippy month. Each early morning finds every bit of foliage dripping with dew. It is a waiting time. Earth has come into full beauty and bounty of harvest. It is a time to enjoy the flowers, the fruits and the vegetables. The Frost King stalks in the not-too-far distant future, but no matter, we will live in the now and bask in its glory. The air is filled with lovely butterflies, and, one morning, I found a huge moth on my doorstep, waiting for her wings to develop and dry. This week I hear the buzzing of the locusts or cicadas. My mother always said they reminded her of hot grease sizzling in a frying pan.

We are enjoying all the fruits and the vegetables are superb. We like our vegetables melt-in-the-mouth tender. We do not care for them crunchy, but many do. However, we do not cook them as long as they do in the south.

They cook string beans three or four hours. I see by the 1898 almanac a recipe says to cook string beans and cabbage two hours and "pease" and onions one hour.

A little household hint given says that the best thing for cleaning lamp chimneys is a piece of sheepskin with the wool on, tacked around a stick. It was my job as a small girl to clean the lamp chimneys each morning, but I did not have this little help.

I'm always being kidded about my big collection of clippings and scrapbooks, but I read where I am in good company. The famous writer, Ralph Waldo Emerson, said that he hesitated before throwing away the smallest scrap of newspaper before looking on both sides of it, "lest it should contain some thought or fact or verse worthy of preservation."

I hope you are all enjoying the summer as much as I am. The housecleaning is almost done, the freezer is filling up, life is good, and I'm sure I can lick my weight in wildcats!!

Anne's Kitchen

The easiest of all pasta dishes is "Fettuccine Alfredo". Most unknowing pasta lovers are awed by the mere mention of the name not realizing fettuccine is simply a medium size egg noodle. Alfredo makes it all sound impossibly difficult for the average homemaker to prepare; actually, Alfredo's connection with the dish is simply due to the fact that a popular Roman restaurant has fettuccine on its menu and the name of the restaurant is "Alfredo's". The dish was invented by imaginative Italian homemakers long before "Alfredo's" ever rented a storefront. They used what they had the most of in their larder to make a nutritious family supper. The cream and good Romano or Parmesan cheese is not in the pantry of our local homes, but it certainly is worthwhile buying for this simple delicious dish.

FETTUCCINE ALFREDO
1 pound medium egg noodles
1/2 cup soft butter
1 cup warm heavy cream
2 cups grated Parmesan or Romano cheese
Freshly ground (if possible) white pepper to taste.

1. Cook noodles according to package directions. Drain.
2. Have ready large skillet in which butter has been melted.
3. Add noodles to butter and stir over very low heat till noodles are coated with butter. Add cream and pepper and toss together. Add one cup of cheese and continue to toss till all is well blended. Serve at once and sprinkle remaining cheese over each portion.

If you use this as a first course, make sure your second course is light. As a main course, you can serve at least four; you can compliment the meal with a slightly chilled white wine. Cheese and fruit are excellent choices for dessert.

ENJOY!

Little baskets for your refrigerator, needlework for lots of projects, ceramics, pool, bowling, see you at the Center!

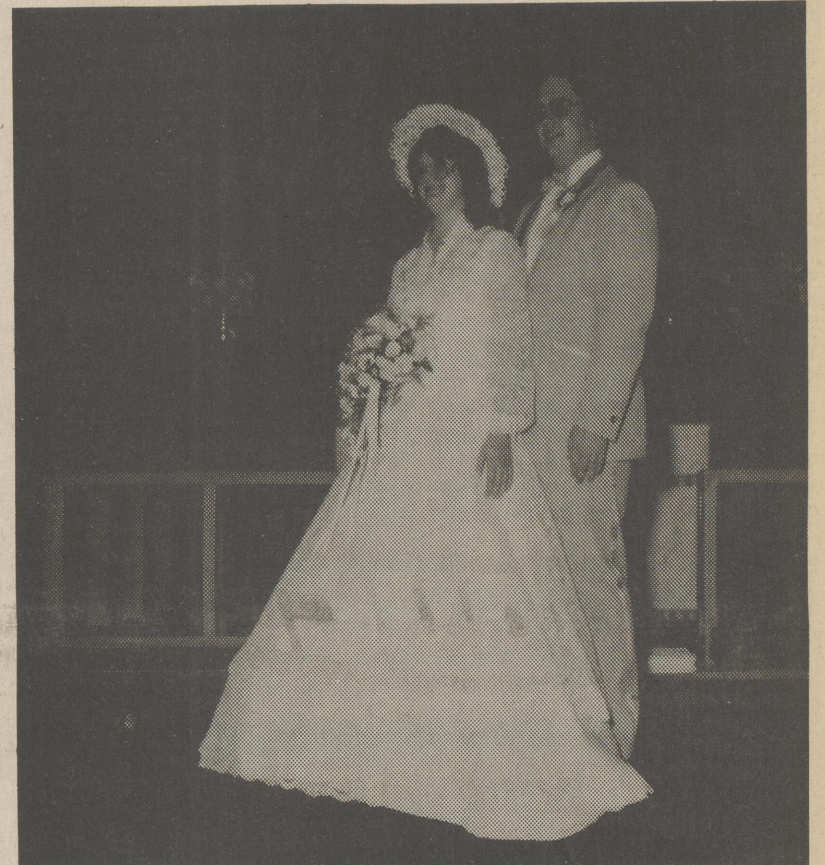

Saw some friends from Rising Sun, MD Wednesday at the Center. Mim and Jo Kirkly and their daughter, Mariam. It was simply wonderful seeing them again. We have been friends for a long time!

Gene, our director was in Dover, Monday to accept a hundred dollars from the store of Boscov's for the Center. He had a tour of the store and saw Dorothy Lamour. A bus load went from the Center to the new Mall Thursday morning and came home about 3:30. Everyone was enthusiastic about the Boscov's store. The big fans were a novelty and a real buy. One lady said, "no need to go to New York anymore now, Boscov's is elegant enough for anyone, yet in the reach of most pocketbooks. They liked the Mall to say the least.

Bingo, pool and bridge Friday. Are you enjoying lima beans, big red tomatoes, nice green cucumbers, beets and corn on the cob, spaghetti squash, kale, onions, egg plant, cantaloupe, yellow squash, peppers, string beans, potatoes, carrots, broccoli and of course the dogs, cats, rabbits and chickens all in the gardens? Then there is peaches of course! Yum! Yum!

Be kind to each other, best wishes to all homebounds and to all who are ill either in hospital or at home. Prayers for those in sorrow. Thanks to all Volunteers!

Wherever there is a human being, there is an opportunity for a kindness. Seneca. Faith!

Mr. & Mrs. Clifton Douglas Crouse

Poore/Crouse Wedding

Karen Sue Poore and Clifton Douglas Crouse were united in marriage on June 19, 1982 at the St. Stephen's Episcopal Church. The wedding was officiated by the Rev. Joseph James of Christ Church Milford. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Poore of Harrington and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry R. Crouse of Felton.

The bride wore a gown of white organza featuring a chantilly lace bodice with a split neckline formed in floral venise lace and pearl beading. Chantilly lace formed the full bishop sleeves as the full skirt fell to a chapel length train accented in an all lace apron. Her matching picture hat covered in a chantilly lace at the crown and edged in scalloped venise lace, featured a satin steeper bow over tulle veiling.

Maid of honor for her sister was Linda Poore. Bridesmaids were Debbie Todd of Harrington, friend of the bride, Sandy Crouse of Felton, sister of the groom, Lisa Rosengren of Felton, friend of the bride, and Connie Harrington of Felton, friend of the groom. The flowergirl was Amanda Roberts of Felton, friend of the bride.

Best man was Glenn Whitt of Felton, friend of the groom. Ushers were Mike Everline of Harrington, friend of the groom, Doug Poore of Harrington, brother of the bride, Wilson Fry of Felton, friend of the groom, and Ken Crouse from Maryland, brother of the groom. Ringbearer was Jason Dean of Harrington, friend of the bride.

The guest book attendant was Dana Adams of Harrington, friend of the bride. Kelly Adams of Harrington and Linda Green of Harrington, both friends of the bride, handed out programs. The soloist was Jill Oakley of Harrington, friend of the groom. The organist was Melvin Brobst of Harrington.

A reception was held immediately following the ceremony in the Parish Hall of St. Stephens Episcopal Church. The couple honeymooned in Williamsburg, VA and are residing in Harrington, DE.

Bridgeville traffic jams

to Ocean City while the remainder flows eastward to Rehoboth and its neighboring beaches.

Some 30 miles from the Atlantic coastline two stop signs and two right angle turns through Bridgeville, a small town of 1,238 people put the crimp in the passage of the ocean enthusiasts.

The first stop sign for the eastbound crowd is where route 404 broadsides route 18. The motorists (many ignoring the stop sign) turn left, cross the railroad track and travel four blocks to the second stop sign (which again is ignored.) Here the traffic turns right onto alternate U.S. route 13 and proceeds through town.

The causes of the weekly jam-up in Bridgeville then, are the thousands of vehicles that are forced to halt at two "T" shaped intersections.

The effects of the situation are traffic backups on route 404 that are sometimes miles long. Radiators boil over and tempers flair. Incubation period for the accompanying impatience and irritability is the amount of time it takes a driver to travel from his first contact with the backup to his turn at the stop sign.

By now the driver may have resigned himself to the snail's pace, but more often than not the inconvenience has festered and he's ready to get through that "accursed town" as quickly as possible.

The product is a traffic violation, usually speeding, which culminates in a ticket. Speeders have been clocked on radar showing movement in excess of 50 miles an hour -- through a 25 mile zone.

The multi-trip driver learns that he can by-pass Market and Main Street and possibly short-cut his fellow travelers. He turns right on Railroad Avenue and then left down Delaware Avenue or Walnut Street. Maybe he'll even get more adventurous and experiment with Cannon Street, Edgewood and Jacobs Avenue. But still he wants to streak the pavements at 40 and 50 miles per hour.

Chief Lavery, Bridgeville's Town Manager:

"Radar is not a revenue machine, it's a lifesaver. We get people driving 50 miles an hour. I don't find a problem in stopping them."

A common scene is that of motorists pulled over by the town police. Tickets are issued and fines are subsequently levied. This sometimes brings accusations of "speed-trapping."

Town board members and policemen alike are quick to point out that the accusations are without foundation.

"The majority of motorists traveling through Bridgeville on any given weekend during the summer months on their way to and from the seashore do exceed the posted speed limit, some more than others," says acting chief of Police Otis Holloway.

"If this were a speed trap as some have said, the police department would be a much larger one than we have now. Our first concern is always crime. Traffic is further down on the list. Of course the safety of our citizens and their children play a heavy role in the enforcement of the speed arrest in the community of Bridgeville."

We've seen the cause, the effect and the product. But can we find a solution? (For a discussion of possible solutions see Part II next week).

Letter to the Editor

FOUND GUILTY! Beyond a reasonable doubt. "Beyond a reasonable doubt" are cherished words used in our Judicial System. This phrase is intended to insure that every American, every defendant and every innocent person accused of a crime is given a fair shake here in America. This phrase, through a juror, is supposed to protect a person from any influence which may jeopardize one's life and future especially the life of an innocent man or woman. Whenever a jury is charged, he is told over and over that his decision must be rendered beyond a reasonable doubt.

The jury for Bob Hughes was chosen with great care. Consideration was given to educational background, religious balance and employment. Bob Hughes himself chose and insisted upon an elderly black lady to serve on his jury as he saw in her a great quality of honesty and integrity. Bob appreciated the age balance which seemed to insure sincere dialogue and exchange of honest views of what was seen and heard.

Bob, being a Christian himself, often commented about the one juror that smiled at him occasionally and others that dabbed away tears as he told of finding his wife in the driveway and living with the nightmares of that sad experience for nearly six years. He also commented about the juror that carried her Bible to court each day and how it gave him encouragement that the truth would be carefully examined, especially by one not afraid to carry God's word.

We learned that two of the jurors fell asleep during the defense's summation and that Bob's mother-in-law distracted the court from important issues by her sign language, costume changes and demonstrations. Despite these points, we were told that the jury was alert and appeared to be interested in performing the job well. We honestly believed that the court would find Bob Not Guilty.

Ladies and Gentlemen of the jury, each of you placed your hand on the Bible and took an oath and made a promise before God as you were sworn in as jurors. Can you now honestly and truthfully say that you found Bob guilty beyond a reasonable doubt? Can you wrestle with your decision with great personal pride and satisfaction that you did your job well. It is my prayer that you will realize what you have done, which is to send an innocent man to prison for a crime he did not commit. It is also my prayer that you will remember above all else the following statement that Bob made from the witness stand: "I can sit here all day and look at you or anyone in the courtroom in the eye and especially my children and say on God's Word that I had nothing to do with Serita's death."

We find it extremely difficult to accept the fact that you sat through nearly six weeks of testimony and rendered a decision in four hours. What happened? Did Judge Wright tick you off because he could not furnish you a copy of the transcript of Bob and his mother-in-law's secretly taped conversation? Did you read Oberly's article in the Sunday Journal, July 18, and its reference to the Hughes case? Did you honestly believe the tale about the damp blanket, the blood (of which there was none) on Bob, the missing address book and the neatly stacked credit cards which Bob could not explain? One of the police officers may have placed them on the dresser and did not have the courage to admit it.

Ladies and Gentlemen of the jury. To me and hundreds like me that respect Ladies and Gentlemen of the jury. To me and hundreds like me that respect the law and want to respect the judicial process, I find your decision of "guilty beyond a reasonable doubt", totally disgraceful and without honor and integrity, and I dare you or anyone to write to me and justify your decision which once again sent an innocent man to prison.

Block house project

the erection of a fence around the block house, the maintenance of appropriate levels of insurance on the property, and the payment to Conrail of yearly rental fee of $125. The Historical Society agreed with the need to maintain insurance and got a low bid of $130 per year for the coverage. The fence is also a necessity to keep young visitors to the forthcoming railroad museum from wandering inadvertently out of the block house and onto the tracks. The society figures that to be a one time cost at an outside figure of $150 (with plenty of volunteer help to set it up). The length of the lease and the rental fee are still to be negotiated. Conrail had earlier suggested one year leases for $125 per year. The society was hoping for 99 years at $1 per year. Tonight there should be a meeting of the minds.

Among those interested in the preservation of the block house, which has been described as the last one of its kind on Conrail's northeast corridor (New England through the Carolinas), is Nyle "Soupy" Callaway, Jr. who works for Conrail in Harrington. Callaway thinks the electric board which once served to picture the movement of trains and the operation of switches can be put back in operation to serve as a working model so that present and future generations can understand the block house and its function. Callaway has offered his time and expertise to help with the project. He was invited to sit in on this evening's meeting as Conrail and the Historical Society get together.
